Party Returning From North Pole

CHICAGO (AP)—The first men to reach the North Pole by surface travel since 1909 started their return trip Saturday by air — after spending almost a day at the pole.

The expedition of amateur explorers led by Ralph Plaisted, St. Paul, Minn., insurance man, boarded a twin-engine Otter airplane at 1:45 p.m. CST for the flight back to their base camp at Ward Hunt Island, Canada, 474 miles from the pole.

After reaching the pole at 11 p.m. CST Friday, the men waited for a U.S. Air Force weather reconnaissance plane to confirm they were at the exact geographic North Pole. They were. Gasoline-powered vehicles carried the explorers over the polar ice cap. Four members of the six-man team covered the final 10 miles to the pole, said a spokesman for the Deir Organization, a Chicago public relations firm which acted as contact for the expedition.

Plaisted reported via a radio connection with The Associated Press that the North Pole looked just like the huge ice cap they were at the exact geographic North Pole. "It's strictly a geographic location," said Plaisted, "and it's cold, too. The temperature is 20 degrees below."

It was the group's second attempt to reach the pole. Plaisted led an unsuccessful 35-day expedition last year. The starting point this time was 200 miles closer to the pole.

Injunction Sought In Rupert Annexation

By LIZ BOLTON
Times-News Correspondent

RUPERT—Representatives of the Citizens' Committee have filed a complaint asking for a writ of injunction against the City of Rupert.

The complaint asks that the court declare that the city of Rupert does not have the authority to act by or through the ordinance since it is illegal and contrary to the law and laws which allows for such annexation.

Several reasons were listed for the request, among them the premise—that the annexation does not promote the health, benefit, or welfare of the plaintiffs and that the health, benefit, and welfare of the plaintiffs would be irreparably harmed if the ordinance were permitted.

Other reasons listed for the request are that the annexed area contains an area or areas which have not been laid off into lots of five acres or less; the land annexed to the city is not adjacent or contiguous to the present city and that the ordinance is unreasonable and may not be reasonably assumed to be used for the orderly development of the city.

The complaint also listed several reasons for the last premise. It noted the area is unwieldy in shape and form and demonstrates a discrimination by the city in order to allow the council to annex an area which does not constitute a unit or complete subdivision.

The plaintiffs also contend that all the service facilities for water and sewer are presently owned by the individual landowners who very recently installed them and that the city ordinance precludes duplication of these facilities, which would cause an unreasonable financial burden and be to the disadvantage of the landowners.

Ordinance 470, cutting for the annexation, was adopted by the Rupert city council during their regular meeting Tuesday.

635 Minidoka Pupils Finish Flag Course

PAUL—About 635 fifth grade students in Minidoka County School District were presented flag study certificates Friday by Otha McGill, flag study chairman for the Paul American Legion and the State American Legion.

The flag etiquette course, sponsored by the Legion and area Chambers of Commerce, was instructed by fifth grade teachers under the supervision of Boyd Earl, county coordinator.

The course takes approximately five weeks to complete.

This is the fifth year this flag study has been offered in this county, which served as an experiment by the state to see how effective it would be. The study expanded statewide last year and flag booklets, which are compiled and printed by the Paul Post, are presently used throughout the United States and even Okinawa.

Mr. McGill conducted a simple ceremony in each classroom and students were given the opportunity to express their opinion concerning the study. The Legion presented each participating fifth grade classroom with a large framed certificate.

Mr. McGill noted that Legion posts in the fifth district have presented certificates to the Oakley, 34; Filer, 125; Eden, 60; Turley, 400; Murrumbo, 40, and Minidoka County, 635.

Dairy Week Is Featured At Rupert

RUPERT—Dairy Week which ended Saturday in Rupert and a discussion of the dairy industry in the Magic Valley was presented to the weekly gathering of the Rupert Chamber of Commerce Thursday.

Corley Tolman discussed the Pot Milk industry and its effect on the area's economy. Explaining the workings of the Dairy Herd Improvement Association were Reed Lewis and Glenn Hawkes. They explained how the monthly herd testing was handled and the advantages of such a test.

Mr. Lewis said that the results of the test can determine what the future production of an individual cow will be, and consequently, could save the dairyman money.

The Mini-Cassa Dairy Association was discussed by Joe Stueder and Verdon Hansen, who explained the purpose of the association was to promote the dairy products of the area.

George Beer spoke on the Ida Gem Dairy, and Dick Simons on the Youngs Dairy operation in the valley. Harold Nelson and Jack Hiltbrand represented the Holstein Breeders Association, whose purpose is to promote the Holstein cattle.

Tentative plans were made for the 1968 State Holstein sale, scheduled for May 4 in Rupert. A Black and White show is planned May 31, also in Rupert.

Nixon Explains His Stand

By RELMAN MORIN
MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Richard M. Nixon said Saturday he would rather lose the presidential election than promise immediate and massive aid programs to the poor in America and he called such promises "dishonest and a cruel delusion."

He said not only Negroes but all ghetto dwellers in the nation have been misled.

Answering a question at a news conference in Minneapolis, Nixon said:

"What we are talking about now is an immediate financial crisis. For any candidate or any political leader to come before the American people and tell a group of the poor, a group of people living in poor housing, a group of people who want jobs, that right now the federal government is going to massively increase its spending program—that's dishonest and it's a cruel delusion to whom it's directed."

"And I'm just not going to join that game, whether it costs the election or not."

"And at this time I, for one, am simply not going to join this parade of candidates who come before the American people with promises of billions in spending now when it just isn't in the cards."

Nixon described his own programs for the poor, referring to job banks, and his contention that the immediate and massive solution is to bring private enterprise into the picture, providing jobs for Negroes, "not just menial jobs, but former vice president said, 'but as managers and directors.'"

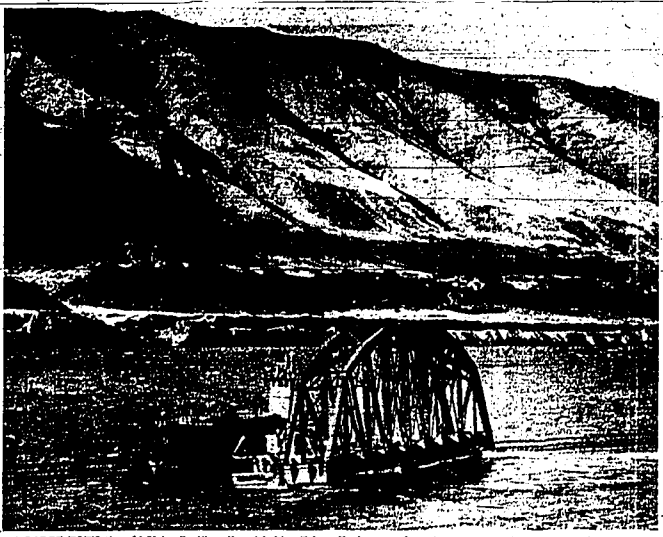

He was asked if he had discussed this matter with New York Gov. Rockefeller and that his reaction to his ideas was "very favorable."

White House Acts To Cut Red Tape For Many U.S. Travelers

By FRANCES LEWINE
AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—The White House moved Saturday to cut red tape for thousands of travelers, announcing a new one-step inspection system to be tried out at New York's John F. Kennedy International Airport.

It aims to cut in half the time required for processing travelers through U.S. customs, public health, immigration and agriculture inspections.

Under the new system to start by June 15, the White House said, a single officer will do the inspection job for all four federal agencies, with the help of computerized monitoring system and computerized information. At JFK airport last summer peak loads of 16,000 international passengers arrivals daily overtaxed inspection facilities.

The one-step inspection system for incoming travelers was recommended by a presidential commission that has been trying to find ways to increase foreign travel in the United States.

The travelers' aid plan was announced in Texas, where President Johnson is spending a relaxing weekend after an official trip to Hawaii.

These other items of presidential business were announced by his press office:

- Signing of three bills, including a measure assuring federal indemnity benefits for state and local policemen killed or injured while enforcing federal law. Johnson called it "an act of simple justice" for the nation's 350,000 policemen.
- Granting of an average $9-a-month cost-of-living increase.
- Nominating of Edward Weinger, 49, of Silver Spring, Md., for promotion from deputy solicitor to collector of the Department of the Interior; of Thomas A. Foran, 44, Chicago lawyer, to be U.S. attorney for the Northern District of Illinois for a four-year term; of Adm. U. S. Grant Sharp Jr., now commander in chief, Pacific, to the grade of admiral when he retires at age 62 next Aug. 1.

Housing Industry Stands To Suffer Most In Crackdown

By JOSEPH R. COYNE
WASHINGTON (AP)—The housing industry and the potential home buyer apparently will be the major issue before House leaders when they return next week to work on Monday after an Easter recess.

One government analyst noted that the Federal Reserve has had "a long time" and "time again" to spend more to fight more inflation as a tool against inflation, but it felt it could not go any longer without some additional "check."

Response to the board's move was almost immediate as major banks raised their prime interest rates from 6 to 6.5 per cent. This is the charge made by the banks on loans to their most credit-worthy customers, usually large corporations.

Thursday's action by the Federal Reserve raising its discount rate from 5 to 5.5 per cent is more than a tightening of the credit reins. It's also a signal to Congress that the board wants action to increase taxes and cut spending.

"If there had been fiscal restraint," one government source said, "there would have been no need for the rate increase."

The White House said the move underscores the need for the surcharge while the Re-Housingburg said, according to the source, that the move will be open from noon to 7 p.m.

Hailey Studies Watershed Project

HAILEY — An application will be filed for federal assistance in the building and maintenance of a watershed project for the Big Wood River, it was decided at a public meeting here last week.

Wayne Clark, president of the Upper Wood River Water Users Association, is chairman of a committee named at a previous meeting to gather information regarding construction of small dams at the headwaters of Trout Creek, Baker Creek, the East Fork of Big Wood River and the smaller of two previously considered dams at Hoelter Flats.

Blaine Morse, assistant state commissioner and head of water conservation for Idaho, explained multiple-purpose watershed projects under Public Law 566 and answered questions. Speaking heads were Forrest Cluser, who heads the state watershed planning group, and Floyd Deane, work unit coordinator for the Blaine Soil Conservation Service.

More than 40 persons from all parts of the Big Wood River valley, representing different organizations interested in retaining the waters of this area for use here, attended the informational meeting in the city.

Joseph Wurst, Gannett area rancher, stressed the importance of a series of small dams, saying "we could start-top the water down as we need it."

M. H. Esterholdt, who has just returned from the Idaho Wildlife Federation meeting at Lewiston, reminded those present that a good percentage of the fact that many of our state's beautiful streams are being allowed to deteriorate.

He pointed out that in 1966 some 75 per cent of the revenue paid the state for fish and game said. "We must get on our feet and have laws passed which will protect our streams."

Mr. Esterholdt also pointed out that a good percentage of revenue for business houses and taxes for the state comes from the tourist trade and that tourists come to Idaho for recreation, fishing and hunting.

Mr. Morse demonstrated graphically how irrigation water, fish, wildlife and recreation interests and flood control can be incorporated in one body of

Members of the committee are Mr. Clark, chairman, C. W. O'Connell, Woodrow Wain, James Edwin, Clayton Stewart, John McGeonjal, Mr. Esterholdt and Pete Fry.

Bodies of Children Are Found

BALTIMORE (AP) — The bodies of four youngsters were found Friday afternoon in a clump of woods in a Baltimore park, murdered and mutilated. Police have arrested an 18-year-old janitor who they say was in the area of the bodies. No charges have been placed as yet.

The neighborhood in the area of Cowens Falls Park, where the bodies were found, has been plagued with reports of missing children and molesting in recent weeks.

The teenaged suspect was spotted by suspicious area residents late Friday morning and carrying a lunch box in which there was parts of human bodies.

Three of the victims were identified as Mack, Jefferson, S. his brother, Larry, 9 and their cousin, Lester Watson, 10.

The identity of the fourth boy, who was decapitated, is still tentative.

By ALLEN M. BAILEY
BOISE (AP) — A change in methods of property taxation could go far to eliminate slums and blighted areas in America's cities, says Idaho's legislative council director.

Myran Schlichte, the director, says change is needed in Idaho, as well as in other states, but it will be difficult to bring about.

Schlichte says the tax change would shift emphasis from the improvements made on land to the land itself.

Presently, land is taxed throughout the United States and in Idaho by placing most value on improvements to land — structures built on it — and what their market value would be.

One of the advocates of the change is Bill Unweller, a Boise city councilman and real estate appraiser.

He says present practices contribute to slum conditions by taxing the improvements more than the unimproved land — or, by taxing new, modern buildings more than tenements or shacks.

A man who buys a $3,000 lot with a shack renting for $10 a month pays less tax than the man owning the lot next door with a new building on it — while both receive the same city services.

But if the tax were mostly on the land and its location, the neighboring landowner would pay close to the same amount of taxes — and the man with the slum dwelling would have to improve it or face a loss on his investment.

He would not make enough from the small rental to pay the taxes and get a return on his investment, while the man with the improved building next door would make enough in rentals to pay the taxes and make a good profit.

Unweller thinks the mere shift in emphasis from improvements to land would force improvements in slum conditions as well as reduce undeveloped areas.

Schlichte goes a step further, saying unimproved areas should be divided into areas of similar values, depending on what the land is used for and other factors.

Then the values of all land in an area would be averaged, so that a vacant lot and an adjacent one on which an apartment building was located would be taxed the same.

Such a process would make the owner of unimproved land either improve their land to bring a return or sell it to somebody who would do so, Schlichte says.

As an example, he said, an assessor could look at five downtown lots, four of which have buildings on them and the fifth of which is vacant — with assessed values of lot and buildings combined of $10,000, $30,000, $70,000, $50,000 and $70,000. The lowest valuation is the unimproved lot.

The average assessed value would be $72,000, Schlichte says, and the owner of the vacant lot would be taxed to either develop it or sell it to someone who would.

By the same process, those who have developed their land to the fullest would have their tax load reduced by the lower-valued lot. That, says Schlichte, would go even further toward inducing slum landlords to clean up and improve their areas than would a simple shift of property tax emphasis from buildings to land.

It would also, he added, eliminate the problem some cities have with large areas of undeveloped land within their borders, leaving isolated population areas and giving rise to suburbs separated from core cities by open areas.

Averages would be set up for property-by-area, with its value generally increasing as it gets close to the city center — or to commercially built-up areas in other parts of the city.

Major objections to any proposal for shifting real estate value for tax purposes from the improvements to the land itself have come from farmers and ranchers, Schlichte said.

But he insists that those are the people who would be affected least by the change.

Robert V. Hansberger, president of the Boise Cascade Corp. and a member of the President's Committee on Urban Housing, said such a tax shift would tend to reduce city sprawl and discourage speculation in real estate.

T.F. County Fills Petition For Wallace

The campaign to qualify George Wallace as a third party presidential candidate has gathered 315 signatures from Twin Falls County, according to Joe Stumph, area coordinator for the former Alabama governor's state campaign.

Mr. Stumph said that Twin Falls County is the first in Idaho to meet its quota of 150 signatures to meet its quota of 150 signatures. He said that several do support him should have the people are still circulating the Wallace petition and he expects at least 500 signatures from the county will be turned in by May 1.

Several signatures from surrounding counties also have been turned in, Mr. Stumph said. Mr. Stumph added that he believes Wallace has an excellent chance of winning Idaho's four electoral votes, particularly if the predicted lawlessness and violence for the summer are not brought under control.

"Many people who do not necessarily intend to vote for Wallace are signing the petitions because they believe those who FOR FAST-SELLING RESULTS USE TIMES-NEWS WANT ADS three of the Magic Valley members of the Governor's Comprehensive Health Planning Advisory Council, will be attending a two-day seminar April 29 and 30 in Boise. The advisory council and other health care representatives from throughout the state will be meeting to work out details of the comprehensive health plan for the state. It is planned to coordinate all local and state health agencies as well as private and voluntary services into programs that will best serve the local communities.

Coordination Of Health Services To Be Discussed At Seminar In Boise

Better coordination of health services in the local communities will be discussed during a Comprehensive Health Planning Seminar April 29 and 30 in Boise, announced County Commissioner Morris Carlson Friday.

Mr. Carlson is a member of the Governor's Advisory Council on Comprehensive State Health Planning. He said between 10 and 15 Magic Valley residents, all interested in health services in their respective communities, will attend the seminar. Other members of the advisory committee from the local area are Mrs. Irene Oliver, administrator of the Magic Valley Memorial Hospital, former state senator, George Bick, Castleford, and Dr. Howard Toews, Rupert.

Mr. Carlson said the comprehensive health program for Idaho is being developed to encourage local citizens to take a more active part in developing the state's health services. Representatives from throughout Idaho will be attending the seminar. There are 30 advisory board members throughout the state working on organizations in their communities.

Mr. Carlson said the responsibilities of the Governor's Council are threefold, including developing and periodically revising a comprehensive state health plan; providing information and consultation that will serve as a basis for responsible public decision making on health matters; and the promotion of coordination of health and health related programs between the public and voluntary agencies and private practice of health.

Theme of the Boise seminar will be obtaining information for the Governor's Advisory Council from citizens in local cities and towns and to develop and encourage "grassroots" ideas for planning future health programs.

During the first day of the seminar, the general public will be invited to contribute information and ask questions. The remainder will be for digesting information and shaping it into a workable plan.

Legion Official Reaffirms Stand On Flag Etiquette

HEYBURN — Otha McGill, Paul, flag education chairman for the Idaho department of the American Legion Saturday, reaffirmed his criticism of the half-staffing of the American flag in honor of a fallen soldier.

The action, which Mr. McGill pointed out last Sunday was an error of general flag procedure, was defended by the Rupert councilmen in the Times-News Thursday. Councilmen based their action on regulations in the post office manual regarding flag display.

Mr. McGill pointed out Saturday that post office directives pertain to that department only and are not intended to be followed in other situations.

"A city or community should derive its flag procedure from the same authority as the rest of the general citizenry, namely Public Law #82 passed by the 77th Congress. This is a joint resolution approved in 1942 to codify and emphasize existing rules and customs pertaining to flag display," the Legion official stated.

Under this law the limitations on half-staffing are unmistakable, as interpreted by the Americanism Commission, Mr. McGill noted.

The law states "Since the flag symbolizes the nation, it should be half-staffed only in cases where it is to indicate that the nation mourns, and then customarily by proclamation of the President of the U. S. when it is desired to show that a state, city, club, industry or society mourns, then the state, city, etc., or society flag or banner should be half-staffed or dressed crepe."

Mr. McGill noted that interpretations do allow for national half-staffing as a tribute to war dead on Memorial Day, but this is done on a unified, national basis.

"The seeming contradiction between the postal flag code and Public Law 82 is strangely unexplainable," he noted.

Mr. McGill also noted that the American Legion booklet "Etiquette of the Stars and Stripes," specifically said the flag should not be lowered in honor of a deceased person, as on Memorial Day. City, state, club and other emblems may be lowered to half-staff, but the U. S. flag should remain at full staff, according to the VFW booklet.

"If Rupert officials still wish to ease the operation of the city to the specifics of the postal manual, then there is little more we can do," Mr. McGill declared, noting he hopes for an end to published debate to avoid serious confusion in the minds of school children and others on the proper flag etiquette.

"As far as we can determine, all general usage flag manuals, including the two from which we have quoted, agree on half-staffing. The Legion manual, "Honor our Flag through Knowledge," bases its authority on such recognized information and this is what is being taught in schools, not only in Idaho, but throughout the nation," the Legion official said.

More than 500 fifth graders in Millidoka county recently completed the Legion flag etiquette course.

CODE CHALLENGED
SALT LAKE CITY—City employees went to court Friday to prevent city commissioners from enforcing an ordinance requiring employees to live within 15 miles of the city-county building within two years.

Mr. McGill also noted that the American Legion booklet "Etiquette of the Stars and Stripes," specifically said the flag should not be lowered in honor of a deceased person, as on Memorial Day. City, state, club and other emblems may be lowered to half-staff, but the U. S. flag should remain at full staff, according to the VFW booklet.

"Got The Makin's?" If Price Is No Object, It May Help You Break Habit

By FRED DODDS
Times-News Staff Writer
The roll - your - own fad has hit Twin Falls, but it is hard to determine if it is an economy measure or an effort on the part of smokers to cut down.
The price of cigarettes has risen steadily through the years, but because of today's inflated prices a real fear has hit the smoker. Many in the price of a pack of cigarettes in Florida has been seen, and price increases in other parts of the nation are expected.
Whether there will be a large increase in Twin Falls is unknown. Cigarettes sell for anywhere from 35 cents to 35 cents a pack, depending on the brand and where purchased.

In Florida, twenty the price went up 50 cents a pack. Coupled with the cancer scare, many local smokers have taken to roll-your-own to cut down, or quit.

Shakespeare Comes To Life In Twin Falls Production

By STEPHANIE HAMILTON
Times-News Correspondent
William Shakespeare's tragic tale of "Romeo and Juliet" was once again brought to life on stage when the Twin Falls High School presented it in four performances at O'Leary Junior High this week. Under the direction of Mr. Brad Hickerson, drama instructor at the high school, Student director of the play was Sandi Hopkins, a junior.
On opening night, Peter, a servant played by Mark Stout, broke the ice and brought the first positive reaction from the audience in the second act when he spoke the words of Juliet, played by Sandi Hopkins, and Romeo, played by Dave Haffel.
Aided by the humorous lines of Steve Webb and David Day as Benvolio and Mercutio, friends of Romeo, the service of the evening's production.
Between scenes, Julie, gave perhaps the best performance of the production, delivering her lines, as others failed to do with the rhythm and poetry belonging to Shakespeare's works. If matched in her performance, it would have to have been Miss Hopkins or possibly Dave Franz.
Between scenes, Toni Couch, Mary Kreckamp, Jennifer Shirley and Beki Sullivan, as visible stage hands, rearranged props as necessary in full view of the audience as was practiced in original productions of Shakespeare's plays.

Republicans In Kentucky Choose 24 Delegates To National Convention

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) - The Kentucky Republicans chose 24 delegates to the national convention, pledged officially but leaning heavily in support of Richard Nixon for president.
The delegates then named Gov. Louie B. Nunn as their delegate to the national convention.
"I'm uncommitted," he told them afterwards, with a smile.
The state GOP convention passed a resolution specifically mentioning that the delegates would be instructed for the national affair at Miami in August.
However, Nunn was state campaign manager for the former vice president in 1960 and, although on record for an uncommitted delegate, said he would go along if members chose Nixon.
The Nixons, incidentally, will be the guests of the Nunn at Kentucky's 174th annual Dorch Breakfast next month.
A highly-placed source in the state GOP administration said Nunn preferred an officially unpledged delegate which would be loyal to him in the event any bargaining became necessary at the national convention.
A pre-convention informal poll showed many delegates chosen in earlier district meetings favored Nixon. But after the state convention a number polled at random replied they were not committed to anyone.
Thruston B. Morton, the retiring Republican incumbent has been trying to promote the candidacy of New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller.
But in a brief speech today he

Stock Market Rally Runs Into Obstacle

By ED MOYER... The Associated Press average of 60 stocks, however, managed to retrieve a net gain of 1.3 at 322.7 giving it its fourth straight weekly advance.

It was an up market despite the Friday retreat. Of 1,655 stocks traded, 591 rose and 61 fell.

Volume for the week was 34,413,629 in the previous week, cut to three trading sessions by market closing on Good Friday.

Selling was triggered Friday by the previous afternoon's news that the Federal Reserve Board had increased the prime rate to 5 1/2 per cent from 5 per cent.

The market has higher interest rates. Chairman William McChesney Martin Jr. of the Federal Reserve Board warned that the country was "in the midst of a serious financial crisis we have had since 1931."

The Martin statement triggered most selling. The most active issues last week on the New York Stock Exchange were: Occidental Petroleum, up 1 1/2 at 33 1/2; Gulf Oil, up 1/4 at 34 1/4; and Gulf & Western, up 1/4 at 45 1/4.

A two-week rally spilled out, and Bond prices declined lower the past week. The decline increased after the Federal Reserve Board decided to boost discount rates (the Fed Reserve banks charge on loans) made to member commercial banks.

Intermediate and long-term government bonds lost. In the corporate sector, bonds declined most of the week.

Idaho's Vehicle Inspection Law Viewed

By LYNN-INSLEY
The Post-Register
IDAHIO FALLS (AP) — Question: Will the new Idaho vehicle law remove aging autos from the state's highways, or will it merely inflate the coffers of inspection stations?
Last week in Idaho Falls, I drove a 1957 station wagon, brownhatched into premature old age by numerous pets and passengers, to four service stations. Each was authorized to give the car an official state inspection.
The car obviously was not at the peak of high-powered health. It had a bald rear tire and a bad tail light. I was willing to concede that a professional mechanic could find even more shortcomings.
At the first station, the lone attendant gave the car what appeared to be a thorough inspection — between trips to the filling pumps. He raised the car on a lift and noted the treadwear on the tires and the bad signal light.

He removed the front tire and told me the brakes were in good shape. He honked the horn and demonstrated to me that the windshield wipers worked flawlessly. After some more checking, the attendant also concluded that the shock absorbers were in good shape.
"I will give you an inspection sticker if you let us fix that tire and the lights," he said. He told me I could get a good receipt for about $16 and the lights could be fixed for a little over $2. He added that I had to have the work done within 10 days of the inspection for it to be valid.
I paid $2 for the inspection.

At the second station, three men collaborated. They found the tire and the tail light and the good brakes and shock absorbers. They also found that the car had ball joints that needed replacing and an idler arm that wasn't doing a good job.
The price for my state inspection sticker leaped suddenly to almost $22. The attendant gave me the information about the 10-day grace period. I gave him $2 and drove away feeling that my right front tire was going to roll right off at any second.
A single attendant checked my car at the third station. He found the ball ball joints, idler arm and lights.
The bald tire wasn't mentioned.
The attendant gave me an estimate of $19.35 and then said the inspection would cost $2.50.

I objected and told him the rate was $2. He marked over the $2.50 he had already written on the sales slip and accepted my $2.
The attendant at the fourth station told me about the rear tire, the headlights, the rear signal light and the idler arm.
"You've probably got a tire coming loose," he said. "I can't tell you that bald one with," he said. He gave me an estimate on the other repairs that was considerably less than $20. It was closer to $15, not including the tire. He took my $2 and said he hoped to see me within 10 days.
In 1968, every vehicle owner in Idaho is required to have his car inspected.
But whether the inspection serves the purpose intended apparently depends on who makes it.

Idaho Youth Association Award Won By CSI Student John Elliott, Filer

John Elliott, 18, son of Mrs. Seth Blake, Filer, and a student at the College of Southern Idaho recently was presented one of four special awards made each year by the Idaho Youth Association of Fine Arts at a meeting in Boise.

His more recent dramatic endeavors include playing the lead part in "The Day After Tomorrow," a one-act play presented by the CSI Circus Theatre.
He spent most of last summer working with the Antique Festival Theatre in Buhl and plans to continue his education at CSI next year.

IDAHO YOUTH ASSOCIATION of Fine Arts award for the best character performance during the past year went to John Elliott, CSI student. He is the son of Mrs. Seth Blake, Filer, and is majoring in drama.

Glenns Ferry PTA Installs New Officers

GLENN'S FERRY — At the final Glenns Ferry Area PTA meeting for the year, Co-president James Kling installed the new officers.
They include Mrs. Lois McKeeth, president; Mrs. Georgia Lee Anderson, vice president; Mrs. Pat Jordan, secretary; Mrs. Carolyn King, treasurer. Mrs. McKeeth presented his past president's pin to Mr. Kling, and acknowledged Mrs. Carolyn King's service during the past year as her husband's co-president.
The members voted to send Mrs. Anderson to the national PTA convention in San Diego in May. The local unit will pay at least $100 of her expenses.

Kling announced that a measles clinic will be held shortly after May 1, with the date yet to be announced. An auditing committee was appointed, including Mrs. Jordan, Mrs. Barbara Crane, and Mrs. Johnson.
It was decided to discontinue the book of the month drawing at the meetings. Instead the attendance award will return to the practice of the room with the most parents present receiving $5 each month to be spent as the room decides. The final book of the month was "Why I'm McCormick."
Daryl Nelson and Wayne Hills, of the Hagerman High School faculty, presented the program which was an explanation of the new concept in teaching in that school. By means of slides and a filmstrip the audience was given a good look at the learning center. This includes tape recorders, records, individual television sets, books equipped with earphones, and other equipment that facilitates learning at each student's speed.

Mrs. Bonnie Messerly, publicity chairman at Glenns Ferry, said that the visitors reported that a student is thus able to progress at his own speed and get as much advanced work as he wishes. The school welcome visitors and last year had 12,000 of them.

Bang! Bang! Rockchuck, You're Dead--At 1237 Yards

By JAN ARTHUR SAINSBURY
Times-News Feature Editor

"The one thing I want you to be sure and write," said the owner of the big gun, Gary Gee, "is that we don't hit a rockchuck every time. Not at 1230 yards. But we get so close it scares the hell out of 'em."

The big gun's builder, Jerry Eisenhauer, chimed in with, "There's no sport in shooting rockchucks at 100 or 200 yards. They're too close. Very, very close. Nobody can hit every shot at that range, but we saw a lot of fun even when we miss. They sure do twist tail and run."

Believe it or not — Gary Gee, of Filer, and Jerry Eisenhauer, Twin Falls, hope to drop a rockchuck at one mile — a distance of 1,760 yards. That's their goal. They may not reach it, simply due to the fact that a rockchuck is a small target, and a mile is a long way.

One of the reasons Gee and Eisenhauer think their rifle can make it, is due to its block suspension. Besides the Weatherby action, used because he felt that it was the strongest and safest action on the market, they also decided upon a block suspension. Its advantage rests with the fact that with a block suspension the block itself, visible on the largest part of the stock, is the only part of the weapon that touches both the stock and the barrel. It is set in place with six bolts, each at 100 pounds torque.

The 21-inch stainless steel barrel was made by William Hough of Montana, and the stock for the Gee weapon was made by Clovece Edwards of Twin Falls. The entire weapon, excluding a good deal of the usual labor charge, was $650. A conventional rifle of the same caliber, however, would cost less than $475. It took eight months in all to get the parts rounded up, build the rifle, and fire the first shot.

Although Gee and Eisenhauer feel that the rifle can shoot at 2,000 yards accurately, others don't think so. Some have written this writer that with a man-sized target a hit would be made, but accuracy is something else.

Julie Hoyer feels that a weapon using the WWIIF should not be used for big game at over 700 yards. At 700 yards the results are good, says Hoyer. But he also believes that optimum can go wrong over 1,000 yards.

Julie attests to Gee's ability as a rifleman. "When he took my weapon we found we could hit rockchucks at 500 yards without much trouble. After we spotted for him, Gee hit three straight at that distance."

JERRY EISENHAUER, left, owner of Jerry's Gun Shop in Twin Falls, and Gary Gee, who along with Jerry, built the unusual rifle they hold, stand near the rim of a section of canyon from which they often take aim at rockchucks. The rifle was built specifically for shooting the small varmints. The interesting aspect of the rifle is that its special design allows the varmints to be killed at a much greater distance than most more conventional rifles.

And Julie also states, "At 1,500 yards it is a steady knock, but the rifleman must be good, and the conditions perfect."

The reason Julie and others like her, including Gee and Eisenhauer, are afraid of seeing the rifle used for big game at distances too great, is because of the danger of wounding the game rather than killing it. There is little doubt that they can hit the animal, but hitting it in just the right spot is something else again.

Sunday, April 14, Gee shot a rockchuck at 1237 yards in the canyon which runs through the Twin Falls area. The distance was measured with a range finder, and the rockchuck never knew what hit him.

Maybe the two will never quite make it at one mile. Maybe at a mile the rockchuck is safe to rear his varmint's head. But it's just a maybe.

Gary Gee and Jerry Eisenhauer both have enough confidence in their weapon that in casual conversation Gary states that he wouldn't give a rifleman a shot at his with the weapon at three miles. And Jerry answered by saying that he would. But that he wouldn't give him a second shot.

The rifle for those who would like to know a bit more, is prepared by a 16-power Uneril-Pragrammer. Since it was made out of native Idaho Walnut. It is 51 inches long, 3 1/2 inches across, and the blocks are 6 1/2 inches long. The rifle also weighs a hefty 34 pounds.

Anyone for shooting rockchucks?

Names known to all riflemen helped in its design. The original care in 30 caliber was designed by Roy Weatherby; Paul Wright of Arizona, came up with the idea of putting the 6.5 caliber case in it. And it was Alex Hoyer, Julie's brother, who worked on the 300 Weatherby case which was necked yet designed.

SHOOTING THE 6.5X300 WWIIF, Gary Gee takes aim at a rockchuck, while Jerry Eisenhauer observes through a spotting scope. The two men believe that it is possible to hit a rockchuck at one mile . . . and that is their goal. Both admit that you can't do it every time, but that the weapon is very impressive.

Hagerman Girl Ponders Problems Of Six Months In India

By WILMA LARSON
Times-News Correspondent

HAGERMAN — If you were going on a trip to a foreign land where you would live among the people — for six months, you know very little about the country, their customs, their way of life or their language, you were restricted to the amount of baggage you could take and you wanted to take something of your own — what would you take?

This is the dilemma facing Becky Sue Butler as the moment, if it could rightly be called a dilemma.

Miss Butler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Butler, was selected to go to India next September as an International Farm Youth Exchange student. Her assignment was announced by Constance Meyer, assistant state 4-H club leader of the University of Idaho extension service.

Although Becky was informed of her forthcoming trip last November, her official assignment did not come until January. Since that time, she has spent all her spare moments from college and practice — teaching, reading and studying all she can find out about India, its people, its customs and its way of life.

She has also been taking language lessons from Zatyendra Kumar Tripathi, a native of India. Hindi is the official language of India, but there are about 200 languages or dialects spoken there as each village has its own dialect.

"The Hindi language is quite hard to speak as there are so many words that are similar except for the accent," she said. "And putting the accent in the wrong place can change the whole meaning of the word."

English is taught in the schools in India and some of the better educated people speak it, but Becky will be living in the rural areas where formal education may not be as prevalent.

One of the "do's and don'ts" Becky has learned is that she should not wear dark glasses while there, "as the people are suspicious of anyone who wears them because it gives the appearance of trying to hide from them."

"I'm not going to India to study. At least not in the sense most people think of as studying," Becky explained.

"Some people have the idea that an exchange student studies in a regular school in the foreign country where they go. I'm sure I'll learn much, but it won't be in a formal school."

Becky will be living and working alongside the people of India, she will not be treated as a guest, but one of them.

When they play, I hope I play, too," she said.

"Besides learning their way of life, Becky hopes to be able to teach them of our ways and customs in the International Farm Youth Exchange, better known as IFYE, a U. S. 4-H program.

Each IFYE spends about six months living in agricultural areas, rural settlements or, most commonly, with a host family, such as Becky will be doing.

The purpose of the program is to "provide opportunities for young people to exchange ideas between youth organizations, to develop understanding of their own and other cultures and to our knowledge, to participate in it from Godding County. The contributes to social development, and agricultural productivity of her, she laughed, "I'll be home. I might."

But she explains allotted only 44 pounds and will have to squeeze a pair of shoes in.

She is a 1954 honor graduate from Bliss High School and is presently completing her senior year at the University of Idaho. She has had practice teaching this spring at Sand-

Becky said that she would have been in one suit larger than she could wear herself. For at least "Everything in my life, gifts for her host to find scrapbook she of her family, home in one suitcase, six months stay. C. She is planning on a few clothing items to purchase some things."

"What I take to be to be something. I'll be home. I might."

She will spend approximately two weeks in India before departing for

Rupert Doctor Of 32 Years "Retires" To Work In Africa With Peace Corps

RUPERT — To fulfill a childhood dream is the reasoning Dr. Rupert W. Moellmer used to explain his decision to retire from his private practice after 32 years in the same community in the Peace Corps.

DR. O. A. MOELLMER

From the couple will travel to Bethesda, Md., where they will be given a course in tropical disease and their primary mission will be to care for the members of the Corps here.

Public immunization will also be conducted by the couple, who will be replacing Dr. Steve Wilson, presently assigned to the area, immunizations in polio, measles, diphtheria, tetanus and whooping cough will be administered.

Dr. Moellmer was born in Hillman, Wis., in 1906 to Rev. and Mrs. Orlin H. Moellmer. He has four sisters, all of whom are registered nurses, and two brothers.

In 1926, he was graduated from the St. John's Lutheran and went on to study at the University of Colorado, graduating with a bachelor of science degree in chemistry.

A year of internship at the SDS Hospital in Salt Lake City, and a year of surgical residency completed his formal training.

While working at the Salt Lake Hospital, however, Dr. Moellmer met his future partner, Leah, who was also working at the hospital for her internship in dietetics.

They were married in 1936 in Salt Lake City and that same year moved to Rupert where Dr. Moellmer began his first private practice.

During World War II, Dr. A. D. Bailey joined Dr. Moellmer in a partnership, and about two years ago, Dr. H. W. Crawford made it a trio. Dr. Bailey and Dr. Crawford will treat Dr. Moellmer's patients following three sons, Karl, the oldest, is a graduate of the U.S. Naval Academy and is now serving as a third officer in command of a Polaris missile submarine.

William, now 28, and a student at the University of California, working for his doctorate in veterinary, Waltham, Mass.

Ralph spent the 1966-67 academic year as an exchange scholar at the University of Moscow in Russia, a government-sponsored project. His wife, Kay, is a lecturer in the Spanish language, and they have a daughter, 3-year-old Jennifer.

However, Ralph has not come to the end of his studies by any means. Now he is contemplating renewing his acquaintance with the Spanish language by having his wife assist in his becoming fluent in its use.

Ralph visited his uncle, John B. Blackston, in Glens Ferry, and his parents who live in Brook, Wash., were here, as was John's other sister, Mrs. Verna Orwien, Seattle, and a brother, Tom J. Blackston, with his wife from Edmonds, Wash., his retirement.

Dr. and Mrs. Moellmer raised high points already.

When he graduated from McCall High School, for his parents lived in McCall then, he was on to Harvard on a four-year scholarship and obtained his bachelor degree in '61 in the field of international government, with a side issue of Sclerotic Studies from California.

Then he went to Oxford University from Idaho he earned his master's degree in Soviet Affairs.

Dr. Moellmer is an Associate at the Russian Research Center at Harvard University, where his major dissertation was on Soviet Foreign Policy. He has accepted an appointment as assistant professor in politics at Brandeis University.

public health, with his emphasis on water pollution. Youngest is John, 20, who recently enlisted in the U.S. Army and is presently stationed in Fort Bliss, Tex.

During his years of service to the Rupert area, Dr. Moellmer served for about 15 years as the Blainville County doctor. He also was active on the school board for a number of years and enjoyed scouting activities with his growing sons.

In 1960, he was president of the Idaho State Medical Association and is presently active in the Rupert Lions organization.

Kosygin Hits U.S. Over Talk Delay

LAHORE, India (AP) — Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin accused the United States Friday of relating to go to the peace table with the North Vietnamese and said "this cannot but help put world opinion on its guard."

Kosygin finished a tour of historic sites in this ancient city of the Punjab by renewing his address to the United States in a speech at a civic reception.

He declared the United States was "frustrating the United Nations charter and attempting to break the will of the Vietnamese people."

Kosygin claimed the United States was "coming up against a mounting rebuff" that forced it "to agree to partial limitation of bombing."

"Amid wild cheers of 'Kosygin Zindabad' (Long Live Kosygin), the Soviet leader said North Vietnam was "ready to appoint a representative to discuss an unconditional end to air and other aggressive acts of war."

"This new initiative by Democratic Republican (North) Vietnam opens up a realistic way to bring ending the war there and restoring the normal situation in Southeast Asia," Kosygin declared.

"Further developments depend on whether the United States ends unconditionally bombing of North Vietnam and all other acts of war."

Primary In Indiana Is Crucial Test

By JOHN STOWELL

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — The chairman of Indiana's Democratic party said Friday Hoosiers must defeat Sen. Robert Kennedy and Eugene McCarthy in his state primary May 7 to prove the presidency can not be purchased.

"This is the testing ground of whether or not the presidency of the United States can be bought," said Gordon S. Angelo. "If I isn't stopped here, it will never be stopped."

St. Angelo charged that the organizations of Kennedy and McCarthy are spending $2 million each in an attempt to win Indiana's primary. The third Democratic candidate is Gov. Roger D. Branigan as a favorite son.

"From this point on, if I isn't stopped in Indiana by Hoosiers, it won't ever be stopped," St. Angelo said. "I'm talking about the future of this nation."

St. Angelo was one of three Democratic district chairmen who spoke headed the presidential campaign of John F. Kennedy in 1960.

"John Kennedy is not running, and neither of the other two (Robert Kennedy or McCarthy) can replace him," St. Angelo said.

St. Angelo said the Branigan for President organization's budget of $100,000 to $150,000 was being threatened by "too much Hollywood" from the other candidates.

He referred to a blitz by television star Garry Moore, actor Paul Newman and several Kennedy on behalf of the two senators.

British Social Life Changed By New Breath Test Law

LONDON (AP) — British social life has changed in many ways since the new breath-test law, six months old, has reduced highway deaths and brought a dramatic change in the nation's social life.

The Ministry of Transport reported that road deaths were down by 57 per cent, from 1,000 in the three months after the new law came in last October.

Deaths in December, usually a bad month, were down 33 per cent—654 compared with 980 the previous year.

There is no doubt about the effect of the new regulations, says a Transport Ministry spokesman.

The Royal Society for Prevention of Accidents comments: "The new regulations have had a spectacular effect in cutting deaths by 27 per cent and serious injuries by 15 per cent."

Life in MAGIC VALLEY

One of the most cosmopolitan towns in the Magic Valley is the community of KING HILL in Elmore County.

Born in Calcutta, India, educated in Italy, Mrs. Thomas Newby was living in England when she met her future husband, who was a staff sergeant for the U.S. Army. He is now section foreman for the Union Pacific railroad, a job which carries them here and there over several Western states.

Her father, an Italian, managed two restaurants in India, one of which was the largest in Calcutta. Her mother was English and she has one remaining sister living in England where the family returned in 1934.

She came to America in 1934. Her father was quite ill, and she was there serving to do all the work for the railroad. She was a rather good cook and housekeeper, but she learned the hard way that she does not sew, but knits beautifully.

The Newbys have lived in Nevada and Oregon, wherever his work for the railroad took them. As a girl, she always lived in well appointed houses and was a rather rich child. She found herself in America and not a "darned tuit" in the land, as she called it, furnished with the section foreman are no modern.

Karma Jeppesen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. V. K. Jeppesen, was quite leisurely for there were servants to do all the work for the railroad. She was a high school graduate from the Frankfurt-American high school in Frankfurt, Germany. June 11, spent this week in England. She is one of approximately 500 seniors of the school who are making the trip as the equivalent of American "senior week."

Traveling by train to Ostende, Belgium, the group ferried to Dover, England. While in England they will visit Westminster, St. Paul's Cathedral, Leicester Square, Buckingham Palace, Oxford Street, Knight's Bridge, Piccadilly Circus, Hyde Park, the Wax Museum, the Tower with Crowned Jewels, and the Tower Bridge and Shakespeare's County.

Miss Jeppesen was chosen from among the school's 250 senior girls as Senior Princess for the year of 1967-68. She writes that she and her brother, in law and sister, Captain O. J. McCutcheon, plan to visit the tulip fields of Holland before she leaves for home June 14.

When Ralph Raymond started to school he may have decided he liked to study. At least he is still taking further work, although he has achieved some high points already.

When he graduated from McCall High School, for his parents lived in McCall then, he was on to Harvard on a four-year scholarship and obtained his bachelor degree in '61 in the field of international government, with a side issue of Sclerotic Studies from California.

National Secretaries Week begins tomorrow.
It's observance will be noted in Twin Falls, and the surrounding area by a proclamation issued by Mayor Egan Kroll which states in part: "... ask that all business and industry join in giving due recognition to this group."
It is a fact that more anniversaries are remembered by bosses, more appointments kept and more business transacted, because of the talents of the secretary than any other single aid to the busy businessman.
She is his memory, his direct link with the business community and his shopping bag.
Without his secretary it is entirely possible that the average boss would be fired from his own company.
According to the National Secretaries Association, a secretary "shall be defined as an assistant to an executive possessing mastery of office skills and ability to assume responsibility without direct supervision, who displays initiative, sound business judgment, and makes decisions within the scope of her authority."
According to the local chapter of the NSA, "the first female typewriters as they were called, appeared on the scene about 1870. The Black Friday of 1869 had caused many female secretaries to seek employment in more prosperous businesses on Wall Street. Female secretaries in 1870 earned six dollars to eight dollars per week, for a six day week, compared to $20 received by male secretaries. But persistence paid off, and by 1902 there were 200,000 female office workers, with an average age of 21. Although men held only one sixth of all typing and stenographic jobs, society still considered the office for men only."
"During" both world wars, women secretaries were much in demand, due to increased paperwork, and lack of manpower. More and more women entered the secretarial field, not so much to find husbands as to secure their independence.
"In 1912 the National Secretaries Association was formed. The first chapter of the NSA was established in Topeka, Kansas, today, there are more than 200,000 members in 600 chapters in the 50 United States, Canada—and—Puerto Rico, with affiliates in Mexico, Panama, Argentina, the Bahamas, and Finland, with members at large and affiliates over the world."
"The Twin-Lida Chapter of the NSA was established in Twin Falls in April, 1961, with 14 charter members. Later, members joined from Burley, Rupert, and surrounding areas. This month, the Burley area members will begin operation of their own chapter, the Ca-Doka Chapter, sponsored by the Twin-Lida Chapter."
"Members of the Twin-Lida Chapter include legal and insurance secretaries, secretaries for utilities, title companies, banks, county offices, and a business college, among others. Most members join to get a better perspective of their job, to learn about other secretaries' work, and to keep abreast of new developments in the secretarial field. There is a higher side, including special events such as swimming, and camping, trips, picnics, and parties."
"Besides the events carried on during Secretaries Week, another function of NSA is the Certified Professional Secretary examination. Based on the order of the Certified Public Accountant exam, the test consists of six parts: Human Relations, Business Law, Business Administration, Secretarial Accounting, Secretarial Skills and Secretarial Procedures. The exam takes two days to complete, and is given once a year, in May, at an accredited college. There are now over 3,500 women who have passed tests to become this is the purpose of NSA."

The terminal is connected on a time-share basis with a General Electric computer in Seattle.

LIGHTING

Is a part of home decor which is all first of all, the lighting is important. It should have, effective lighting, good lighting, warmth and beauty, dramatize and highlights your furnishings, makes your home more livable.
But remember—the first purpose of all light is functional. You need general illumination provided in some rooms, like the kitchen, by built-in fixtures. You need balanced lighting in your living room—direct light for reading, background light for television, and spot light for dining, etc.
Even in a bedroom function comes first in the selection of lamps or fixtures. If you like to read in bed, you need direct bedside lighting. A woman needs good lighting for her dressing table or close to a dressing mirror.
So don't select lamps by looks alone. Good lighting results from a plan. First of all, determine the kind of light you need, where it must be placed, whether it should provide soft general light, reading or decorative light. Measure the height of lamp tables. Then choose beautiful lamps which will also serve their first purpose well.
In all of your interior planning, you'll find "interior lighting" a most helpful, bring us your problems and look over the fine selection of furnishings in our display.

Graduation From Boot Camp Is Only Beginning

Editor's Note: This is the second of several Sunday installments of our man's life in the Marine Corps.

"We have no brooms or guys?" he screamed. It was brooms. He started at one of the sergeants and the blankets clutched tightly around his shoulders.

By FRED DODDS
Times-News Staff Writer
Graduation from boot camp at San Diego came in the fall of 1947 and of us, trained and healthy, climbed into a green bus for the hour-long ride to Camp Pendleton.

"This may be true, but I doubt it. However, this statement is close to the truth in many ways. Camp Pendleton borders the Pacific Ocean and is a land of mountains and sagebrush.

We disembarked at Tent Camp 1. The Marine Corps Cavalry Training Regiment not far from San Clemente, Calif. The first sight to greet our eyes was "Old Army" mountains going high above us. It wasn't long before we found that "Old Army" was a maze of mazes.

Tent Camp 1 was a maze of mazes, with paved roads running in front of the huts and dividing the area into companies. We were assigned to Company, or Kilo Company, and were grouped in with nearly 150 other recruits that graduated in other platoons at San Diego.

All of us were told that officers were to be addressed as "Sir" and sergeants were to be called just that. We did not have to refer to sergeants as "Sir," as in the past.

We also learned that the Marine Corps operates on the Marine Corps Code of Conduct. We were especially helpful a few years later when we landed in Lebanon on orders of President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Our first indoctrination in this gear, accommodations, fishing information and, of course, recommendations. The first day of boot camp was a day of boot camp.

GOOSENECK LAKE (center) clusters with several others in Blighorn Crags. This is the Pillimito Area, where motorized equipment is taboo. A forester says that 50 lakes can be seen from one nearby ledge. Some of them are unnamed and unmaped. This country is rugged and spectacularly beautiful.

New Mountain Lakes Booklet Is Off Press

BY JIM HUMBIRD
Ibaho's Blighorn Crags are a forest of walls of shattered rock towering over dark belts of trees and lakes. These are set like gems in hollows at the feet of peaks, or they fall like steps down steep canyons. A forester says that 50 lakes can be seen from one nearby ledge. Some of them are unnamed and unmaped. The same kind of view is found on a ridge which splits the watersheds of the South Fork of the Payette River from the Big Queens River and the Middle Fork of the Boise in the Sawtooth mountains. There are three good routes to this high divide. One leads up the Middle Fork of the Boise from above Atlanta; one goes up the Queens River from below Atlanta; and the third runs up the South Fork of the Payette River from the west end of the road at Grandjean.

There are times when someone complains that he has "gone by the book" but still could not find one of the lakes described. Edson said that "this does not necessarily mean that a remote mountain lake is not there." Much of the high country has never been surveyed. But the lakes are located as accurately as possible, based on aerial maps and reports by people who have been there.

The Money Box

BY FRANK SCHELL

Seldom does this column feel as constrained to editorialize, but this time. Since only six of them were ever made, there was no chance of discovering one of them, although they have been counterfeited. The gimmick in these articles is generally that they want to sell you a "coin" book, or "catalogue" or some such item, and of course, even though the cost is generally low, if enough people buy one, it can run into a great deal of money. There is nothing outright dishonest about it—you get something for your money and we have no quarrel with that—but the sad thing about the whole sorry mess is the misleading way the ads are written.

Check your ads—If the dealer is a member of the American Numismatic Association, he will sell you, and his membership dues much towards keeping the coin-collecting hobby on the straight and narrow. The American Numismatic Association and the American Numismatic Society are two organizations which seek to keep the coin-dealer and coin-collector on the up-and-up. Recently they have formed an organization, the Registered Coin Dealers Association, which has the same object in view. The American Numismatic Association sponsors National Coin Week which occurs the third week in April.

Winter Practice Sessions Pay Off In Play-Off Meet

By NORMA-HERZINGER

Who says sports are for boys?

Girls, too, even though considered the "weaker sex," participate in almost every recreation program available in our communities, winter and summer, and most of them keep right in pace with the opposite sex.

Competitive sports, as well as those played just for the fun of playing, tend to build character as well as supply beneficial qualities for youngsters to apply in adult life—to say nothing of the enjoyment and social pleasure derived from wholesome recreation.

Today, the leaders of youth and of the nation recognize the importance of sports, for boys and girls alike, and more emphasis is placed on active recreation in schools as well as at home, church and play. City recreation departments do their part during the year by setting up organized activities in almost all phases of sports.

Sport programs are designed to facilitate the physical, social and emotional development of youngsters and it is known that physical activity provides a normal expression of natural impulses and is a good way to release tension and excess energy.

Speaking of energy, the seemingly inexhaustible supply exhibited by today's teen-agers is enough to make most adults weary just by watching them. A great amount of this energy was displayed recently by 150 girls, ranging in age from 12 to 19, who participated in the Twin Falls LDS Stake Volleyball play-offs.

These girls, who have been practicing all winter in preparation for the play-off, represented eight LDS wards, with the stake sports director, Mrs. Carl Halladay, getting activities under way by explaining the official rules and regulations to the players. She reminded the girls of the importance of good sportsmanship, which was later very evident in the losers as well as the winners.

The trophy table, displaying trophies presented to each girl of the two winning teams, was a center of attraction during the day's events, as each girl wondered if she would be the proud owner of one of these at the end of the day.

The special volleyball, which is signed by members of the winning team, was also displayed on the trophy table. The signed volleyball is considered the most coveted award given for sportsmanship.

Team coaches, who were just as excited with the activities as the players, included Mrs. James Lee, first ward; Mrs. Mariene Tolman, second; Karen Smith, third; Mrs. Martin Steloff, fourth; Mrs. Dell Harper, fifth; Cheryl Schow, sixth; Mrs. Judy Freeman, seventh; and Mrs. Ray McBride, eighth.

Umpires, who usually are not considered the good guys in the white hats, included Cheryl Halladay, Mrs. Sue Child, Mrs. Sherrie Hill, Mrs. Stan Earl, Shirley Bosma and Diane Baker.

Scorekeepers included Sherrie Bastow, Mrs. Mariene Tolman, Maria Fife, Mrs. McBride, Mrs. Velma Whitaker and Mrs. Vivian Atkinson.

In the senior division, members of the eighth ward team accepted the shiny gold trophies for placing first in the tournament and their coach, Mrs. McBride, proudly congratulated each and every one. The Beehive winners in the Junior division were members of the third ward, with Karen Smith as their coach.

Two special awards, present-

STAKE ACTIVITY LEADER, Mrs. Ray Stanger, arranges the trophies for display prior to the recent volleyball tournament held at the LDS Stakehouse. Approximately 150 local girls participated in the play-off.

THE SIGNED VOLLEYBALL, the most coveted award given for sportsmanship, is being autographed by Janet Schow, right, as Becky Sealey holds it steady. Sportsmanship is stressed in all competitive sports and much of this was displayed during the recent tournament.

EXPLAINING RULES AND REGULATIONS of the volleyball tournament to the girls prior to the play-off is Mrs. Carl Halladay, LDS Stake sports director. Mrs. Halladay emphasized the importance of good sportsmanship among players.

ALL EYES ARE on the ball as this girl returns it during a recent volleyball tournament at the LDS Stakehouse. The approximately 150 girls who participated in the tournament have been practicing for the event since January.

"Mother Of The Year" Shows Ensembles

FAIRFIELD — Mrs. Gwinn Rice, Idaho Mother of the Year, modeled some of the clothes she will wear when she attends the National Mother of the Year meeting, the week preceding Mother's Day, at the Waldorf-Astoria in New York.

Mrs. Rice told of some of the appearances she will make and modeled the costumes that she felt would be appropriate for the occasions.

Mrs. Rice and Mrs. Herbert Storey were hostesses for the Idaho Mother of the Year makers Club at the Hill City home of Mrs. Rice. Many women were in attendance. James Eskin, Blaine County agent, gave an illustrated talk on flowers and bulbs that are suitable for the cold, high altitude climate that prevails in Camas and Blaine counties. He gave instructions on the planting, fertilization and care of many flower plants. Mr. Eskin was presented by Mrs. Mary Lou Ruby, home extension agent.

Mrs. John Gaskill, Mrs. Walter Pearson and Mrs. Lono Baldwin reported on the district meeting of the Home Extension clubs held recently in Gooding.

The next meeting of the club will be at the home of Mrs. Loy Vanshike and those attending are asked to bring a favorite salad and the recipe for it. Mrs. Lowell Ruby assisted Mrs. Rice and Mrs. Storey at the refreshment table which was decorated in a blue motif.

MODELING SOME OF THE ensembles she will wear when Idaho is the National Mother of the Year contest is Mrs. Gwinn Rice, Hill City. In the first picture Mrs. Rice is holding one of her hats in the box as she is putting it away; second, is one of the suits she represents plans on wearing. In New York; third, she is wearing a coral-colored one-piece knit dress enhanced with a large black hat and accessories, and fourth, a two-piece suit and hat ensemble enhanced with large buttons on the collar. Mrs. Rice will compete in the national contest the week before Mother's Day.

She currently is visiting the conference in an attempt to train leadership and to help with any problems the women may have in their organization.

Bethel Conducts Special Meet

The three Bethel sponsored smorgasbord was one of the main topics discussed at the special meeting of Bethel No. 43. The smorgasbord was held recently at the Masonic Temple, and was to raise money for Grand Council to be held in Twin Falls this summer.

Also discussed were tickets and pictures members will sell. Those introduced included Larry Bell, associate guardian, and Betty Thompson, guardian, both from Bethel No. 43, and Lola Sonus, guardian.

"Jobie of the Meeting" was Vicki Young and birthday girls were Mrs. Sonus, Carolyn Sears, Sandy Sommers and Debbie Kofod.

Primary Holds Family Hour

Would You Believe — Fall?

FLORENCE, Italy (AP) — Most Italian designers settle for a moderate line in the ready-to-wear collections for fall and winter, they began showing in Florence this week.

Emilio Pucci was the starter with a parade of beach and patio wear all in terry cloth, given status with the beautiful prints for which he is famous.

Most designers played safe by producing winterweight, budget priced versions of the lines they successfully showed for spring and summer. Just above the knee was the average length. The '60s were evoked but not overlaid. Coats with contrasting or matching skirts and long-sleeved dresses worn belted were about as far as most designers were prepared to go. Lots of attention was directed to the waist area with seaming, cinching belts, pockets, buttons and buckles all contributing to

While talking to Mrs. Halladay after the tournament, it was interesting to note that in most volleyball tournaments, six players are used, but in this play-off, nine girls were used to allow more girls to participate.

Mrs. Halladay explained that volleyball can be played indoors or out and was first introduced by William C. Morgan, physical director of the YMCA in Holyoke, Mass., to provide recreation for the members of his businessmen's association. The first rule book for the game was published in 1928 by the United States Volleyball Association. In every type of game—official (usually written), rules must be observed, but the things most

DOWNTOWN PAID . . . G — REAR OF STORE

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I don't know if I have a problem or not. My next door neighbor is a sweet young woman who comes over Saturday afternoon. Her husband frequently "works" nights and she doesn't like to be alone. I am a widow, and I love having her, so that's not the problem.

But the other day I visited my niece in a nearby town, and when she should be her guest for the evening, but my neighbor's husband! He has seen me only when I'm throwing my trash out in the alley, so he has recognized me. He is all dressed up with my "face" on.

Should I tell my niece about him? Should I tell her wife? Or should I approach the husband? Or should I just keep my nose in and my mouth shut?

WANTS TO KNOW

DEAR WANTS: Tell your niece that you know her husband and let her take it from there.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have been happily married for four years, although thus far we have not been blessed with the children we both wanted right away.

After a year, I saw my physician, and he assured me that I was perfectly normal, and he could find no reason why I couldn't conceive. (He is a specialist in this field, and gave me all the tests.)

After another year, and no baby, more tests were made. My doctor's conclusions were the same, only this time he asked me to have my husband come in for similar tests.

Abby, when I suggested this, my husband hit me and said, "There is nothing wrong with me—I am man enough for any woman," etc.

We are still childless, after four years, and my husband still refuses to see a doctor. I have tried to tell him that even if he were found to be sterile, it wouldn't reflect on his so-called "manhood," but that hasn't helped. Have you any suggestions as to how I can get him to change his mind about seeing a doctor?

STILL HOPING

DEAR STILL: You probably can't, and any urging you may do in that direction will only toughen his resistance. Get someone else to talk to him—preferably a medically trained person.

Nellie Horejs Receives KOP Award At TOPS Party

The highlight of the three months Nixon-Pix Tops Club was the graduation of Nellie Horejs as a KOP.

To become a KOP, a member must reach the goal set by her and agreed to by her doctor and to maintain this goal. Mrs. Horejs joined TOPS at the insistence of her daughter who was also a TOPS member. It seemed imperative because of health reasons that she lose weight. Now she says, "Thanks to TOPS and fellow members, I have received the encouragement—necessity for me to reach this desired goal."

A low calorie luncheon preceded the crowning of the queen. Decoration committee members included Barbara Jackson, Wanda Mori and Nancy Wormsaker. The room was done in pastel streamers and place cards in an Easter theme.

The table was covered with white, with an Easter decorated placemat down the center. Barbara arranged the floral piece.

Mary Pietz was mistress of ceremonies and Mary Powell, president. The "big dress" parade and Easter hat parade were part of the program. The dresses were worn by members when they first joined TOPS, and are now many sizes too large! The hats were the same type, fashioned of articles found around the house.

Consequences consisted of a hog calling demonstration, and group singing of the Pig song, with accompaniment at the piano by Florence Mayer.

Ethel May was the biggest lover of the week with a 7 pound loss.

A duet was sung by Margaret Weeks and Arlene Robbins, accompanied by Mrs. Mayer at the piano.

Quizzes included Ethel May in Division No. 1, with a loss of 59 pounds; Stork Club Queen, Doris Baker, with a 10 1/2 pound loss; Division No. 5, Ardith Berny, 9 1/2 pounds, and Barbara Jacobs, runner up with an 8 1/2 pound loss; Division No. 4, Wanda Mori and Nancy Wormsaker tied with nine pounds, and Arlene Robbins with 8 pounds; Division No. 3, Daye Dickey, 8 1/2 pounds, and Florence Mayer, runner-up with 7 1/2 pounds; Division No. 7, Sharon Aeger, six pounds, and Nellie Horejs a KOP.

Barbara Jacobs auctioned a house worn in the big dress parade, with the money going to the club treasurer. The poedie was awarded to Mrs. Horejs, with the door prize going to Mary Pietz.

IF YOU HAD IT ALL TO DO OVER WOULD YOU MARRY THE SAME WOMAN?

Maybe she's not the world's greatest cook. But you think she has the world's biggest brain. Maybe at breakfast she looks like somebody's mother. But when you take her out she glitters like a model. Maybe she's not so great in little emergencies... but in a major crisis she's the family rock. Maybe, in fact you think she's the bravest, wisest, most understanding mother your kids ever had.

And you'd marry her again in a minute.

If you want to get symbolic about it, nothing beats telling her so like a second wedding ring. As a gift for her birthday. Or your next anniversary. Or whenever it happens to be Mother's Day again.

And since no one you know has a larger selection of fine diamond rings, why not see your Sterling Jeweler... tomorrow.

Picnic Special For Dieters

A picnic wouldn't be complete without potato salad. Just because you are dieting is no reason to have to forego this all-American favorite. Here is a tasty potato salad made with an ever-so-rim dressing that the calorie watchers can partake in and the rest of the family will enjoy.

This dairy product is similar to sour cream with the same tangy creaminess, but contains less calories. Potatoes are not high in calories, as some people mistakenly think. A three-and-one-half-cup boiled potato contains just 65 calories. The rich dressings and toppings that often accompany this versatile vegetable are what put it in the "better avoid" bracket. While the calorie count is low, potatoes abound in good nutrition. A serving of potatoes will provide one-fourth of the recommended daily requirement of Vitamin C, as well as other important vitamins and necessary minerals.

It's no fun to diet when you can't enjoy the foods the rest of the family partake in. Prepare favorite dishes such as potato salad, the low-calorie way. You'll see how much more successful and satisfying losing weight can be.

WEIGHT WATCHERS' POTATO SALAD
4 cups diced cooked potatoes
3 tablespoons low-calorie French dressing
1 cup chopped green onion
1 cup shredded carrot
1 cup diced celery
2 hard-boiled eggs, diced
2 tablespoons chopped dill pickle
1 cup low-fat yogurt
2 teaspoons prepared mustard
1 teaspoon horseradish
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
Salt and pepper, to taste
Crisp lettuce

Dice potatoes while hot. Add low-calorie French dressing and refrigerate until potatoes are thoroughly chilled. Add green onion, carrot, celery, eggs and dill pickle. Toss with mixture of yogurt and seasonings. Turn into lettuce-lined bowl. Makes 8 servings.
1/2 cup — approximately 65 calories.

ENJOY THE LUXURY of delicious potato salad with a minimum of calories made especially for weight watchers. The secret is in the dressing, made with a creamy yogurt similar to sour cream with the same tang and creaminess, but contains less calories.

Guests were greeted by a daughter, Linea Larson, Seattle, Wash., and a grandson, Fred C. Olds, Pocatello. The house was decorated with plants and flowers in an arrangement sent to the couple by friends and relatives.

Mrs. Edgar Vincent prestidid the guests. The anniversary was placed on a table containing a bouquet of yellow roses and a gold candlestick with a bronzed gold taper.

April Events Discussed By Rebekah Lodge

WENDELL — A varied program was presented recently at the meeting of Idaho Rebekah Lodge No. 98 by Mrs. Dale Bitterli, Mrs. Nolan Cooper, Mrs. E. Bishop, Mrs. Ray Lancaster. ## Taste And Tell Luncheon Scheduled Friday By YWCA

The annual YWCA Taste and Tell Luncheon is scheduled for 1 p.m. Friday at the "Y" building. The event is held for YWCA members and the public in celebration of National YWCA Week.

The luncheon came into being when the women, who prepare many of the luncheons and dinners at the "Y", were always being asked to "taste." There is a charge for the luncheon which includes the recipe book.

On the day of the luncheon, each woman brings her prepared dish for others to "taste." There is a charge for the luncheon which includes the recipe book.

Jerome Clubs Are Guests Of Senior Citizens

Members of the Canyonside and Barrymore clubs of Jerome were guests at a recent meeting of the Senior Citizens' Club. Mrs. Lawrence Harp, program chairman, introduced Mrs. and Mrs. Dick Stafford, Kimberly, who showed slides of the Holy Land.

Mrs. and Mrs. Stafford have visited the Holy Land and they compared for the guests the new state of Israel with the Old Testament. Many holy places were shown in Jerusalem, Nazareth, Bethlehem and Damascus.

New vineyards, orange groves and rose nurseries were shown thriving in a once dry desert now flourishing because of new irrigation systems used from water in the Jordan River and the Sea of Galilee.

Modern new universities, hospitals, museums and large apartment houses were seen in the city. There were only swamps and deserts.

A desert luncheon was served after the program.

is also a part of the afternoon's activities. There will be free baby sitting available for preschool children. Those wanting to submit recipes should mail them to the "Y" office by Tuesday.

The theme of National YWCA Week is "Where You Count — The YWCA," according to Mrs. Marvin Molyneux, executive director. "We believe this theme stresses what is at the base of all YWCA programs—the individual girl or woman who wants to find a place where she can develop her own potential and contribute to her community, nation and world," Mrs. Molyneux said.

Victory OES Chapter Meets

GLENN'S FERRY — Presiding at the regular meeting of Victory Chapter No. 60, Order of Eastern Star, at the Masonic Temple, were Mrs. Lee (Dorothy) Nichols, worthy matron, and Mrs. Nichols, worthy patron.

The altar was draped in memory of Mrs. Alice Lee Hualst, California.

In the dining room after lodge, birthday tables with cakes for each of the first three months of the year honored those whose anniversaries fell in that season.

Mrs. Nichols honored each month's celebrants with a poem. Installation of officers will be held at 8 p.m. Tuesday at the temple. Mrs. Theodora Henry will be installed worthy matron, and Mr. Nichols, worthy patron.

National YWCA Week, initiated in 1943, is the time when all YWCAs in the United States work together to reach potential members and help them as well as the total community have a better understanding of the national and international aspects of the YWCA.

Today, the association is in work in more than 75 countries, providing opportunities for girls and young women to develop their skills in observation and community leaders, as well as working with them as they seek to enrich their personal lives both by giving and receiving through the program of the YWCA.

Book Review

RIVERS I HAVE KNOWN

By Willard Price

It was the year 2000 B.C. or thereabouts when an artist of Babylon sat down with a day's tablet on his knees and carved a "map of the world." Across the center he cut a great river, to man turned to specializing in boat building, carpentry, work with metals, making fishing tackle. Groups gathered to river banks to hunt and hunt. There are animals come to drink. Man, too, must drink, and the water must be fresh. The Amazon is the chief highway in Europe and the Amazon is the chief highway in the human drama. Early cities were a hunter and hunting. When man, or probably some woman, dropped a few seeds of the ground, and they grew — the Amazon is the greatest of agriculture was born. The river wide at its mouth and it takes a plane thirty minutes at 400 miles an hour to cross. It has eleven hundred known tributaries larger than the Rhine. The Rio Negro, fifteen hundred miles long, reaches a width of twenty miles before it pours its black water into the brown Amazon. In all its length, not one bridge, not one place where man has dared to span the broad and unrelenting flood. Not a dam, not a dike, not a dam, not a dike, not a dam. Down this river flows one-tenth of the world's fresh water. It waters the land of the head hunters and the head shirkers and the author gives you a detailed description of their tech-

The Nile is the second longest river in the world. The building of the Aswan Dam has raised the level of the river so that scores of villages are submerged. The boat passes over a village and the author looks down on narrow streets, the flat roofs of houses, walled courtyards, the market place, the mosque who minister almost graced the keel of the boat. The island of Philae with the Temple of Isis was one of those submerged and now only when the dam is opened in the fall does the mud-like ghost of Isis emerge, and looks out upon the world that once amazed her.

The ancient Victoria Falls, blisher and wider than our Niagara, hurls its Zambesi River over the cliff at 75,000 feet gallons per minute. Here the ostriches and baboons block the traveler's path.

The Stanley Falls roars down the Congo in a series of seven cataracts. This river starts as a torrent a quarter mile wide and continues to widen until it pours into the Atlantic and continues out to sea for a hundred miles.

In China the author traces the "Grand Canal" and in Japan the "Inland Sea" both systems of many rivers and traversed by various modes of navigation.

The author tells about the rivers of India, the swans on the Rhone, the river of the Nile and our own strange Hudson and Mississippi miracle. His style is fun to read, since he shares with the reader his varied experiences and intense interest in everything and tells his story with zest.

Aid Okayed

BOISE (AP)—Some $170,000 in federal aid for municipal projects were approved today by the Idaho Fish and Game Commission, before ending its two-day meeting.

Federal funds will comprise $132,000 of the total based on a number of hunting and fishing licenses issued in Idaho and the site of the state.

The projects include: — Trapping, tagging and transplanting big game animals. — Big game surveys. — Operations of hunter check stations. — Research on deer.

FRITZ HAS A SHORT TEMPER AND A HARD FIST, YET HE IS AS GENTLE WITH THAT NEW COLT AS A MOTHER WITH HER BABE!

HE TREATS EUGENE LIKE A ROYAL PRINCE!

EUGENE AND OTHER "STUDENTS" OF THE HAUTE ECOLE WERE TRAINED THREE YEARS IN MANEUVERS AS PRECISE AS BALLET.

FRITZ IS MOODY AND SULEN. WHAT AILS HIM?

AH! YOU HAVE NOT HEARD THAT A REMOUNT IS BEING SENT TO THE FORCES FIGHTING THE TURKS!

AH! SO EUGENE LEAVES! NOW I UNDERSTAND!

I HOPE COUNT NEARH WILL UNDERSTAND I THINK HE'S IN FOR A SHOCK!

ARE YOU CRAZY, FRITZ? EUGENE IS JUST A HORSE! OF COURSE HE GOES WITH THE OTHERS!

THEN, SIR, I WILL GO WITH HIM!

I REPEAT, SIR. IF EUGENE GOES, I GO!

Ask Them Yourself

FOR COL. ELIZABETH HOISINGTON,

Director, Women's Army Corps
What are the duties of WAC officers and enlisted personnel in Vietnam? Are they ordered there, or are they all volunteers?—Mrs. Le Simlamar, Mitchell, Neb.

● A shortage of clerical personnel in Vietnam caused commanders to request that enlisted WACs be assigned. Most are stationed at Long Binh and Saigon and serve as clerk-typists and stenographers. WAC officers fill requirements in a variety of staff assignments. All WAC personnel are either volunteers or had no objections to assignment there.

FOR MONTY HALL,

of "Let's Make a Deal"
Are the gifts you give away on your show "publicity plants" or are they purchased?—Mrs. Ruth Shelton, Chandler, Texas

● The money for purchasing gifts that are given to audience participants is part of a budget provided us solely by the NBC Television Network.

FOR KENNETH, hair stylist

Some actresses seem to prefer an "iron curl" to a permanent. What is it, and can it be done at a local beauty salon?—Dorothea Kent, Cincinnati, Ohio

● It is an electric curling iron used by actresses primarily as a pick-up between sets and will hold only until the hair is washed. The technique is used in many beauty salons in the larger cities.

FOR DONALD FREY,

vice president, Ford Motor Company
Now that a "limit" has been established on the "size" of engines in cars competing in the International Manufacturers Championship races, will Ford enter the race at Le Mans next year?—M. H. Waterly, Iowa

● No, Ford does not plan an entry at Le Mans. Its major racing emphasis in 1968 will be on stock-car and drag events and on a Mustang team entered in the Trans-American Championship. The company will also continue to work with the Meyer organization in providing Ford power plants for use Memorial Day in the Indianapolis 500.

FOR FATHER NICHOLAS WEGNER,

director, Boys Town
I have heard that Boys Town receives only 40 percent of the donations sent to it. True?—Miss Ethel Sherman, Hion, N. Y.

● No. Of the money donated, 80 to 85 percent is used for the boys, and the remainder is used for expenses (stationery, postage) incurred in sending out our appeal letters.

FOR ART LINKLETTER

How did you get the idea for interesting children on your television show, "Hoarse Petaluna, Calif."

● I got the idea from a taped interview I had with my son Jack when he was a small child.

FOR JOHN HAVLACEK

of the Boston Celtics
Are you considering quitting the Celtics to become a pro football player?—Thomas N. Dradley, Altoona, Pa.

● This rumor keeps coming up, but there is no truth to it whatever.

FOR CARM TINTLE,

marketing director, Schenley Industries
Is it true that Americans are drinking more today than ever before?—N. D. Salt Lake City, Utah

● No. While the total consumption of distilled spirits in the U.S.A. is up because of the increase in population, the average individual consumption is down. The average American who drinks uses about 15 gallons a year. In the Prohibition era, the consumption was 2 gallons a year.

FOR BARBARA EDEN,

"I Dream of Jeannie"
How do you feel about an actress being at work all day and away from her children?—Diana Dale Trelorey, Greensville, Ky.

● An actress with children is just like any other working mother. I'm more fortunate than most because "I Dream of Jeannie" is in production about 30 weeks a year, leaving me five months free.

WHAT IN THE WORLD!

Teen Fad—Last year, authentic prison shirts were a popular fad for teen boys. They were so real looking one youth was arrested by a local sheriff who thought he was an escaped convict. This year the girls are starting a fad of their own. They're scooping up the elongated t-shirts by Miss Inague that bear such boldly printed confessions as "Stolen from Yale Athletic Department." The dress comes in a choice of six colleges. Or girls can skip the crime-wave-formists that proclaim "Love" or "Flower Power."

Cause and Effect In Maryland, they're talking about boosting the tax on alcoholic beverages. They want the extra money for community health programs to cure alcoholism.

Tourist Gap If L.B.J. has his way we may have a lot more foreign tourists joining us to "See America" this year. The President has a twofold plan to bridge the present tourist gap. He wants Congress to ease visa requirements and issue "hospitality cards" (for discounts) to foreign travelers. Private enterprises may help by cutting air fares for foreign tourists as well as giving discounts on hotels, car rentals, and guided tours. Many airlines and car-rental agencies have already agreed. Maybe this year you'll have to be multilingual even in the U.S.

colleagues do the worrying for me; 2) Maybe a few more problems of this stage don't shake me up as they used to; or 3) Maybe, just maybe, 12 years on TV finally have developed a small trace of acting talent!"

Name Change TV invaders are only half-joking when they suggest a new name for the Huntley-Brinkley newscast. Chet Huntley is an obvious hawk on Vietnam and David Brinkley is a dove. The new name: "The Birds."

Long, Long Ago Just to show how the world has changed, they've issued replicas of the first edition of the Encyclopedia Britannica put out by three Scotsmen—John Kay, Andrew Bell, and William Smellie. First printed 200 years ago, it summed up the world's knowledge in three volumes; it now takes 24. Back in 1768, America rated one paragraph ("one of the four main divisions of the world") and Woman rated a sentence ("Female of Man, See Homo"). Back in '68 that do-it-yourself era, however, Michigny got 40 pages—so explicit that authorities ordered editors to rip them from their copies.

Cruises Tailored for You

Are you a camera bug? A golf nut? A garden buff? Whatever your fancy, you can now buy a vacation that fits like a glove. By CLAIRE SAFRAN

"You! On a cruise!" the doctor spluttered at his lady patient.

For six months, he had been seeing her regularly as they worked together to whittle away the pounds. Now, he had a vision of his work disappearing in a gourmet orgy of French cuisine.

"I won't gain an ounce," she assured him calmly. As she explained, the cruise was made to order for people just like her. With her doctor's blessings, she sails next month on the M.S. Sagafjord for 16 luxurious but low-calorie days in the Caribbean. On this special "Diet Cruise," her food will look and taste fattening—but it won't be. Her husband, who doesn't have to count calories, will be issued a special "passport" when he comes aboard, entitling him to order from the fattening side of the menu.

If this cruise was just what the diet doctor ordered, another cruise, tailor-made for golfers, was just what a marriage counselor must have had in mind.

For 15 years, Sally Forsythe had been trying in vain to coax her husband off the putting green and onto the ocean blue. This year they compromised, and he followed her up the gangplank of the S.S. Constitution, abandoning his bag of clubs. While she snuffed happily at the salt air, he blasted out of deck-top sandtraps, stroked along specially built putting greens, and took free pro-instructions at driving ranges.

In the spirit of a second honeymoon, he held her hand while they sat in a deckroom and watched videotape replays of himself playing golf. When they steamed into a port, she shopped happily, while he tried out his new know-how at championship courses.

The news in cruising today is that there's a shipboard adventure especially tailored for every taste and interest—and at no additional charge. The SS President Wilson recently set to sea on a "Wall Street on the Pacific" cruise. As they steamed toward the Orient, passengers listened to expert lectures on the ups and downs of stocks and received daily market reports.

An "African Safari" cruise aboard an American President Lines ship takes its passengers within camera-shooting range of hippos and crocodiles. The same line sets a course for a special Bird Watching Tour of the Pacific.

One of the most popular made-to-order cruises is the Travel-with-Goren bridge cruise. When one of these cruises steamed into Antigua recently, four passengers from Baltimore, Md., put their bridge hands face down on the table, pushed back their chairs, and marched to the railing. For about 10 minutes, they stared at the sun-drenched, yacht-filled harbor—then they hurried back to their game.

They reported this scene at eight Caribbean islands, never once leaving the liner until it docked again in New York. They shook hands enthusiastically with Harold Ogurt, the bridge expert who hosted the cruise. "Great trip," they told him. "We'll do it again next year." They turned to leave, then added, "But we hope you'll be going to different islands."

Cruising, of course, has always been convivial, but lots of people are finding that it's even more fun to sail with a group with whom they share a common interest. On a camera cruise, for instance, swapping information about exposures, angles, and shutter speeds can be an instant ice-breaker.

Powerboat enthusiasts can go to a school of the sea—at sea—aboard the special Flower Squadron cruises which Grace Lines operates in the Caribbean. Aboard the S.S. Oriana's "The Sound of Music" cruise, passengers attended music classes and lectures, then visited the great concert and opera centers of Europe.

Although flowers don't grow at sea, flower-arranging cruises do. The S.S. Moriposa picks up enroute exotic South Sea blooms for table-decoration classes—even awards a floral diploma.

The Matson liner, the S.S. Monterey, invites its passengers to follow Gauguin's footsteps on an Art Cruise to the South Seas. And coming soon is an American Export Lines cruise which will offer businessmen the chance to vacation and have their annual medical checkups at the same time.

Traditionally, the fare for a tailored cruise is a standard, all-inclusive price for transportation, cabin, food, entertainment, and shipboard activities. Prices vary according to accommodations, season of the year, and a variety of family plans. They can begin at about $495 for 13 days in the Caribbean or $1,286 for 42 days in the South Seas.

According to the American Society of Travel Agents, some 283,000 people go on cruises each year, spending some $28 million. It's no wonder, then, that the shiplines are vying for travel officers with cruises of every description. Today, no matter what your special interest, there's bound to be a cruise designed especially for you. Any alert travel agent should be able to tell you when your ship will sail.

Even if you have no particular interest or hobby there's still a cruise made to order for you. It's called: "A Cruise to Nowhere."

How to raise your sights without raising your new-car investment.

Just do one simple thing many low-priced-car buyers should do, and don't. Price check an Olds 88.

You'll discover a lot of so-called low-priced cars cost as much or more.

Suddenly, you can raise your sights to a full-size Olds 88 and all its benefits.

You'll gain Olds big-car room,

Big-car stability and strength. The kind of deep-comfort ride you get on its full 123 inches of wheelbase. All the GM safety features, too. Plus the extra assurance that's yours in an Oldsmobile.

You'll also be rid of some problems, too. Like paying extra for a big V-8 engine. (And our Rocket 350 runs smooth and easy on regular gas.)

That's a pretty good return on an increase in investment, isn't it?

Why fight the mobs at Yellowstone this summer when there are other National parks

By GEORGE B. HARTZOG, Jr.

Director, National Park Service
U.S. Department of Interior

A GROUP of young people spent a brief vacation hiking entirely on sand last summer. They were exploring Assateague Island National Seashore, one of the new recreational areas of the National Park System.

"Assateague is fabulous," one of the hikers, a girl from Vassar, reported on their return. "Nothing but the ocean, sand, sky, and shore birds."

She could have added surf fishing and camping, too. Assateague Island is a 36-mile oceanfront beach and dune area extending from Ocean City, Md., to Chincoteague, Va. There are no roads except for two short access highways from the mainland—one on the Maryland end and one on the Virginia end.

Assateague is one of many National Park System areas where people and automobiles have not yet created a serious overcrowding problem. This article for the Travel America issue of FAMILY WEEKLY will acquaint readers with some of the lesser-known, generally uncrowded, areas of the Park System.

You can explore Early American historical sites, for example, without joining nearly eight million other visitors (1967 total) at Colonial National Historical Park, Va. Why crowd into Yellowstone National Park to water ski on Yellowstone Lake? Flaming Gorge National Recreation Area on the Wyoming-Utah border has fewer visitors—and more water.

Why join into Acadia National Park, Maine, or Cape Cod National Seashore, Mass., when Fire Island and Assateague Island National Seashore now have plenty of enjoyable shore space?

Why not learn, or return to, some of your country's historical and cultural heritage? The accompanying list of tours, prepared with the National Park Service, are designed for pleasant family driving, sight-seeing, and enjoyment.

Space doesn't permit detailed descriptions of the following tour: You can be assured, however, that scenery, historic attractions, camping, wildlife, and outdoor recreation are integral parts of them. What's more, they're wonders of our land relatively few tourists crowd into during the summer months. Why not try one or two of them yourself for fun and convenience?

(Brochures on the National Park System areas are available for 10 to 15 cents each at the Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C. 20402. Price List No. 35 names all National Park Service booklets which are, on sale.)

The woman driver looked at the mangled fenders. "I'm afraid this accident was mainly my fault," she said.

"No, no," the man protested. "I'm to blame. I saw you coming at least three blocks away, and I had plenty of time to swerve into a side street."

We can't change the shape of your foot. So we changed the shape of our boot.

"Why fight feet?" we asked ourselves.

They'll never change.

Your feet will always have five toes each and soles that are contoured, not flat.

So we changed the shape of our boots. And made them the shape of your feet.

We designed the amazing new Wolverine Foothold contour insole. It gives you the comfort you want when you're on your feet a lot.

And according to the thousands of satisfied wearers, from farmers and construction workers to lovers of the great outdoors, Wolverine boots with the Foothold contour insole are the most comfortable they've ever worn.

The Foothold contour insole cradles the back of your foot with firm, comfortable support. The arch is shaped like an arch. The ball is contoured with just a hint of gentle support. And the forepart is designed for more natural toe freedom.

All this means less foot fatigue. And much more comfort.

You can get the Wolverine Foothold contour insole in 6" and 8" boots, brown and black oxfords, even golf shoes. They're durable, lightweight, water repellent, made of soft, top quality leathers, and have steel shank support.

Now, the next time you've got your boots on, ask yourself what shape they're in. The shape of your feet? Or the shape of boots? And if the answer is what we think it will be, walk right in to your nearest Wolverine Dealer (write us if you don't know where yours is) and step inside a pair of Wolverine boots with the Foothold contour insole.

Your feet, too, will find that our change is as good as a rest.

Mexico—Land of Off-Beat Tourist Spots

By JOHN WILHELM

Author of "Guide to Mexico" and "Guide to Mexico City"

EVERY YEAR, millions of Americans visit Mexico—but very few see the real Mexico.

Most tourists restrict themselves to the fascinating cities of Acapulco and Mexico City, while neglecting the equally fascinating cities and villages of the interior. For the serious sight-seer, the interior is so much more fun to taste the true flavor of this delightful land.

The traveler planning to put the family in the car "and drive south across the border will be crossing some hot desert the first day, but in Monterey he will find not only good air-conditioned hotels but also wonderful rancho restaurants. The Grand Hotel Ancira is a distinguished old hotel, now remodeled, in the center of town.

San Miguel de Allende, a few hours north of Mexico City on a fine superhighway, and nearby Guanajuato are wonderful little colonial towns where you can spend hours wandering about the cobblestone streets. Both are high enough on the central plateau to be comfortably cool.

San Miguel is great for artists, or would-be artists, as it is small, cheerful, has an interesting plaza, a handsome Indian-Gothic church, and a rich history.

Guanajuato is an old silver- and-gold-mining town, set in steep hills, and its narrow streets include one called Callejon de la Besa. (Street of the Kiss) which is said to be narrow enough for a person on one balcony to lean across and kiss a neighbor on a balcony across the street!

Turning to the west coast, one comes to a most interesting array of recently developed resorts along the Pacific highway.

There is a very luxurious new air-conditioned ferry making several trips a week from Mazatlan, Mexico's principal Pacific port, to La Paz in Baja California. Mazatlan has a big expanse of fine white beaches, but it is also noted for its fishing and draws visitors the year around. It has a score of good hotels and motels.

The ferry trip to La Paz takes overnight, but it is a wonderful old town, first established by the Spanish conquistadors, and still connected to the world by an acceptable highway. It has some of the best fishing in the world and many luxury resorts built especially for sportsmen.

Of course, the hit of the Pacific coast among the newer places is Puerto Vallarta. "Discovered" only a few years ago, it has a big bay with miles of unused beaches. And it now has some pretty good hotels, although most still verge on the rustic.

You can fly directly to Puerto Vallarta from the States or via Guadalajara, Mexico's second largest city. Visiting Guadalajara along with a trip to Puerto Vallarta is fun. Shopping is much better in Guadalajara, although the thonged sandals of Puerto Vallarta (tailored to each foot) are one of the world's best buys.

Mexico City is really a must, and there are several hundred hotels there. Your travel agent can recommend one, or I list them all in my travel guide. It also has some fine restaurants—plus, of course, the Olympics in October.

From Mexico City, drive to Cuernavaca for lunch at that lush semi-tropical city, only 40 minutes away, and then on to Taxco, the silver city which has been preserved as a colonial monument. The silver shops here will make you drool.

We must mention Oaxaca. In the south of Mexico, with the great ancient stone cities of Monte Alban and Mitla, and farther to the south, if you wish more adventure and a more primitive society, you come to San Cristobal de las Casas, set high in the mountains of Chiapas. This old colonial city exists much as it did 400 years ago with native Indians still unable to speak much Spanish.

It is possible to take a bus or your car from Mexico City to the Gulf-coast town of Veracruz, which has good sea food and fair beaches and then go on a fascinating coastal trip along the south Gulf to Coahuacalco, Villahermosa (the capital of the states of Tabasco) and thence over a lovely island some 50 miles long past rows of palms set beside the sea to Campeche.

Such an array of vacation opportunities and sight-seeing pleasures must make Mexico the ideal vacation spot. And to think it is all so close!

How to get paid up to $157.50 a week, just like wages, while in the hospital:

Check how many ways you could use this Americare® "Direct Cash" while you are in the hospital:

Food for your family.

Clothing your family needs.

Rent or mortgage payments, utility bills, credit accounts, even your life insurance premiums.

Car payments and upkeep.

Help pay medical bills, even if you are enrolled in the Medicare Medical-Insurance program.

Private nurse, if not provided by your regular insurance.

Private room, if not covered by your present insurance.

Transportation to another city for special hospital treatment.

WHAT IF YOU should wake up to find yourself flat on your back in a hospital, facing a stay of weeks—even months? Check the ways you could use extra spendable cash (see panel at left). Think what $2,000, $5,000 or $8,000—on top of your hospital insurance—could mean to you, regardless of your age or family circumstances:

If you are under 35, you may be just getting a good start in life: With small children, rent or mortgage payments, new furniture and all the other expenses young families have, a serious injury or illness might "wipe you out" financially.

If you are 35 to 65, your children now may be at the costliest stage of schooling; living expenses probably are higher than ever; and chances of hospitalization are increasing every year. This is certainly no time to be in a financial bind!

Even if you are 65 or over, and eligible for Medicare, you still will have to pay part of your hospital bills—and you also will have other bills. Everyday expenses, private room, private nurse, other medical costs—bills that Medicare does not cover.

Regardless of your age, the American Republic "Direct Cash" Plan can pay you badly needed cash every week you are in the hospital... for up to one full year.

Easy As 1...2...3...

Protection under the American Republic "Direct Cash" Plan is available in individual protection "units." Each unit pays you $52.50 per week actual cash (at the rate of $7.50 a day) for every week you spend in the hospital due to illness OR accident... as much as $8,212.50 for a full year if you have the "3-Unit" Plan.

Compare All These Advantages:

• Pays cash direct to you in addition to any other insurance carried with any other company. Even pays in addition to Workmen's Compensation, Medicare, or any group plan. Cash to spend as you like.

• It's Life Guarded® Protection. This means it is Guaranteed-Rewardable. It is YOURS FOR LIFE as long as you make timely payment of the current premium. It can NEVER be cancelled by the Company because of age, health or number of claims.

• You are covered during any hospital confinement for any accident from the date your policy is issued; and for any sickness that begins after 30 days from date of issue. Unless, of course, your hospital care is due to war, mental disorder, maternity, dental work, or when you are in a U. S. Government or Veterans Hospital.

• NO MEDICAL EXAMINATION, regardless of your age—and there is NO AGE LIMIT.

Protection That PAYS

According to the latest 5-year figures, American Republic returned a greater percentage of premium dollars to policyholders in claim benefits than any of the other Top 40 insurance companies offering individual accident and health insurance.

THERE will be a great trek to the Caribbean this year—an estimated 3-million persons.

American travelers will venture into an area where "new" islands seemingly burgeon weekly as the old stand-bys become more and more familiar. And now you can travel the Caribbean for pocket money or go in grand style.

How will you get there? The great steamship lines cruise the Caribbean year round with prices to fit your budget. Or you can fly there in what seems no time at all, making it as simple and inexpensive as inter-city traveling in the U.S. What's more, in part of the Caribbean, you will be in the U.S.

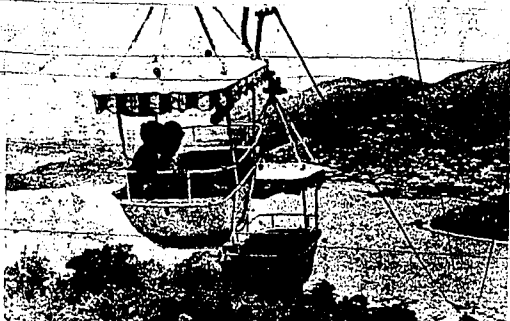

St. Thomas in the Virgin Islands is a U.S. possession, so you will feel very much at home. You can rent a nice furnished house there, if you are lucky enough to have the time, for as little as $175 a month. Meals cost about 75¢ an hour, live-in maids around $35 a week. Trade winds blow nearly all day but die down toward evening, and the nights are cool. Because of the gentle wind and the warm sun, palm hats are a familiar sight (wet the hat before wearing).

Just about everyone has heard about the shopping bargains in St. Thomas.

Don't feel guilty about spending American dollars there—it's still keeping our money at home. The last time I checked, St. Thomas had even better bargains in perfume than did famed Curaçao, which many consider the best free port in the Caribbean. When the cruise ships hit St. Thomas, it seems that everyone makes a bee-line for the Sapphire Club and its beautiful beach.

Many tourists who stampede off the cruise ships at Curaçao for its world-famed bargains never get any farther than Spritler & Fuhrman, whose establishments dot the shopping area. One of the most interesting islands in the Caribbean, Curaçao is Dutch and very clean and tidy, with some of the most interesting architecture in the islands. Its Hotel Curaçao-Intercontinental is the only hotel in the world with ship-collision insurance because it's built right into an old fortification directly on the water. If your room is located on the ocean side, ships will sail right past your window.

Curaçao also has lovely beach coves, all kinds of water sports, and fishing. Perhaps your itinerary will take you to Trinidad, a lush island where everybody's feet seem to be dancing. You will enjoy the calypso singers who can compose a song about you or your interests in no-

CARIBBEAN ISLANDS

serve the undersea areas is a must.

Among the wilder islands that are being tamed now for the tourist trade is Dominica, a British possession. The diving boys are getting so used to the tourist ships coming in there that they will no longer dive for mere pennies. Although the people of Dominica are very poor, they are not beggars. If you want to help, hire them as guides.

I have never met a Caribbean traveler who didn't love Bermuda, a year-round resort not technically in the Caribbean but included in many Caribbean cruises. May 24 is the official beginning of summer there, and the sea swimming is good then through October. Night-club entertainment, rotating from hotel to hotel, is tame but quite pleasant.

A nice place to have lunch is the Hotel School in Prospect which serves lunch on Wednesdays and Fridays from noon to 1 p.m. at the cost of the materials, for the sake of training their students. You may have dinner there Tuesdays and Thursdays but reservations two months in advance are advised. The most elegant dining in town is at the Penthouse, where dinner is about $7. You will like, too, the Waterfront in Hamilton which overhangs the bay.

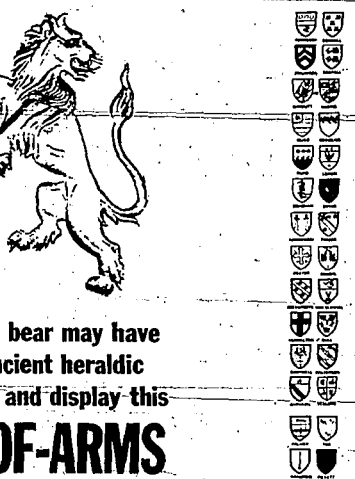

Practically no regular bicycles are seen any more in Bermuda except for the postman's and young children's. Tourists may not rent the few cars now permitted; but (if over 16) you can tear around on motor bikes.

Bermuda is a marvelous place to shop, but be sure you get British things. There is much American merchandise on the island, and there is no point in buying things you can get cheaper at home.

Puerto Rico, 100 miles long and 35 miles wide, is one of the biggest islands in the Caribbean. It is only 3½ hours from New York nonstop and is thoroughly bilingual (Spanish and English). Now a thriving industrial complex that virtually encourages commuters, Puerto Rico is the place for budget-conscious tourists.

One airline, for example, has a 10-day economy flight for $104 at certain times of the year, leaving at certain hours of the day. Puerto Rico, of course, uses U.S. currency. A million visitors are expected this year. Almost anything you can get here, you can get there, so don't go overboard in your shopping but look for unique shops such as Martha Steeper's in Old San Juan—this designer was once a well-known actress here. A famous antique shop is Jose Alegria, just around the corner. Sports-minded tourists and vacationers have found Puerto Rico's facilities for golf, tennis, swimming, and fishing exceptional.

One of the very nice things about the Caribbean area is that everybody will take American money, and you can be very sure of a warm welcome because the whole Caribbean economy is geared to the tourist—predominantly American, who finds his vacation money well spent. *

It was already necessary to designate towns as descriptive identification in order to distinguish one person from another. Thus, the John who lived here became John Blake, ... and the John who lived on the other side of the hill became John Over-hill. As children grew, it was not uncommon to refer to them by the name of their parents. Thus, the Scandinavian and English suffix "son" or the Greek "poulos" ... the Polish "syn" ... the English "r"

...all deriving the same. Similarly, the Irish O' means grandson, while the prefix "Mac," "Mc" indicates "son" in Gaelic and Scottish. Between the 11th and 13th centuries, all but names were new. When the Crusades began in 1099 most of the inhabitants of Europe were unable to read or write. This literacy included the nobility and landowners, lords, barons and kings ... as well as commoners and vassals. Therefore, the clergy and monks were called upon to write documents, make proclamations, record marriages, and award decorations. Each court had a member of the clergy — a "clerk" or "clerc" who performed these duties for the regent, maintaining permanent records or archives for the purpose. Thus, heraldry was born.

WHAT IS A COAT OF ARMS? It is generally believed that a coat-of-arms represents an ancient heritage when knights fought in tournament or used in battle, and shields of war and accomplishments were rewarded with a memorable symbol. While this is true in many cases, the coat-of-arms was more generally utilized as a practical symbol of identification, both on the battlefield and in everyday transactions of business. Since most people were illiterate, the coat-of-arms also became a signature device to facilitate the accuracy in having their carriage adorned with their family coat-of-arms. This remarkable man was so possessing in his craft that during his lifetime he initiated one of the most voluminous collections of heraldic crests in the world. We will not here digress among many of these ancient records may have passed into extinction. After the industrial revolution and the demise of much heraldry, the SCSO continued to expand his unique heraldic collection. These operations later brought together the entire library to the United States, and it is today the source of one of the most authoritative libraries of its kind in the world.

Enchiladas

Although their fillings may vary, enchiladas are a part of the Mexican and Southwestern cuisine.

FILLING: In a large skillet brown a mixture of 1 lb. ground beef, 1 chopped onion, and 1 minced clove garlic. Blend in a mixture of 1 cup drained canned tomatoes, 2 tablespoons red wine vinegar, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon sugar, 1 teaspoon ground cinnamon, ¼ teaspoon ground cloves, ¼ cup chopped raisins, and 1½ cups coarsely chopped ripe olives; simmer 15 minutes.

SALSA: Heat 1 tablespoon olive oil in a saucepan and add 1 chopped onion, 1 minced clove garlic, ½ cup finely-chopped celery, ¼ cup finely chopped green pepper, contents of 2 cans (8 oz. each) tomato sauce, 4 teaspoons sugar, 1 teaspoon chili powder, ¼ teaspoon oregano, ¼ teaspoon ground thyme, and 1 beef bouillon cube dissolved in ¾ cup boiling water. Stir and simmer 30 minutes.

TO ASSEMBLE: Spread warm canned or frozen tortillas with the Filling; roll up and place in oiled shallow baking dish. Spoon half the Salsa over them and top generously with shredded cheese. Heat in a 350° F. oven about 20 minutes. Serve on a bed of shredded lettuce and fill center with ripe olives. Accompany with remaining Salsa. 12 enchiladas

What Travel

A famous star tells of memorable

By WILLIAM HOLDEN

A FEW YEARS ago, I drove my Land Rover into Somalia, a small village near the border of Somaliland and Ethiopia.

—We were on an elephant hunt and stopped to ask the local chief where the herd was. He insisted that I remain at his mud-covered hut while he sent scouts to find it.

To show my gratitude, I offered the people of the village some orange soda and sugar. In turn, to show his appreciation, the chief brought me a gourd of goat's milk—filled with flies! Not wanting to insult him by turning down his hospitality, I asked my interpreter to tell him it was against my religion to drink goat's milk.

The chief frowned as he turned to my interpreter. "What is the Bwana's religion?"

I didn't want to specify a religion for fear the chief may have been familiar with it, so I told my interpreter to tell him I was an "agnostic."

The chief turned back to me with an approving smile: "Ahh—agnostic! No wonder you can't eat these things!"

Like many travelers, I derive some of my greatest pleasure as well as my most awkward moments by trying strange foods.

In Japan, for instance, a tuna-fish eye is considered a delicacy. I was offered an eye one night at a party in Kyoto. I simply couldn't bring myself to eat it and said, "No, thanks, I don't care for it."

When my host continued asking me, I felt I couldn't refuse. I popped the eye into my mouth and washed it down with my cocktail. That-eye-or-the-memory-of-it stayed with me for months!

My years of traveling have taught me many things. The most important being to familiarize myself with the customs of the people and country I plan to visit. This avoids embarrassing situations and insures getting along more easily with the native population.

I don't know how many tourists I have encountered in Japan, for instance, who climb into a taxi at their West-coast-style hotel, give the driver an address which he invariably acknowledges with a broad smile, and soon find themselves lost in the middle of town.

A little prep work would have told the tourists that a Japanese driver would lose face if he admitted ahead of time that he didn't understand the directions, and that most Japanese addresses are so ill-defined that even the natives of Tokyo get lost easily without very detailed directions.

Consequently, when in Japan, or any other country whose language I don't speak, I have learned never to leave my hotel unless I have the address written down in the native language, usually accompanied by a sketch of how to get there.

The earliest recess I have about taking a trip goes back to the time I was four years old, and my family moved from southern Illinois to California. After that, my travels were restricted to vacation trips with my family to places like Yosemite National Park, the Grand Canyon, and other fascinating sights in the western part of the United States.

Has Taught Me

trips and offers advice to would-be globe-trotters

with Peer J. Oppenheimer

Hisden's globe-trotting took him to Ceylon.

I was eight when I left the country for the first time, crossing the border into Mexico one weekend. Eight years later I left on my first lengthy trip without my family. With a school friend, I crossed the United States via what was called in those days the "long way around": we took the Southern Pacific Railroad, from Los Angeles to New York, then came back via the northern route through Canada. It was on this trip that I learned my first lesson in common sense, an "essential" in travel.

While playing pool during a stopover in El Paso, Texas, we were suddenly challenged to the use of the table by three burly Texans. When we refused to give it up, pool cues began swinging about. Before they could do any damage to our skulls, I decided that retreat was the better part of valor, and we got out of the pool hall. After that, we figured that at 16 we were better off avoiding arguments with strangers.

In 1952 I started traveling all over the world in earnest, not only to satisfy my own curiosity but due to assignments that involved working on overseas locations.

I've never really stopped. Since then, I've gone around the world at least once, sometimes twice a year, employing almost every type of conveyance imaginable.

I remember, for example, I took a camel safari along the northern border district of Kenya. After several days I ended up walking. It wasn't any slower than the camel—and a lot more fun than being spit at and nipped constantly by a truly miserable beast.

Thanks to my trips through the western U.S. desert when I was in my teens, I didn't grow up with the customary fear of snakes. A snake, I learned, is not as dangerous as most people think—if one is reasonably cautious and knows how to handle it.

In fact, I kept a cobra in my pet whip shooting "The Bridge on the River Kwai." My native servant kept close eyes on it and knew when to pull the fangs. The snake and I got along nicely until my wife Ardis joined me on location. She took one look at it in the bedroom and said if I wanted her to stay, the snake had to go! The cobra went.

When you travel as much as I do, sooner or later you get attached to some place more than to others. Curiously, the two places I enjoy most nowadays are on opposite sides of the globe.

There was a time when high humidity didn't bother me at all, when I enjoyed going into the jungles of Southeast Asia. Later my metabolism must have changed because I now prefer the desert, such as the northern district of Kenya where the humidity is rarely over 15 degrees and the temperature during the day ranges from 80 to 120 degrees. It is barren, rocky, volcanic like the moon, and so remote that one isn't running into people all the time. Very often there won't be another European or American within 350 miles.

The other place, hardly known for security and peace but with most of the other advantages of the desert country, is Palm Springs, Calif. There is a remarkable beauty about the stately mountains and the rolling sand dunes.

As an actor, I've traveled as much for business as I have for pleasure. I feel fortunate I've been to places that most people only dream about. And I know that if some interesting place comes to my attention, a place where I haven't been, I'll go to it my way to get there.

To me, it's more than just wanderlust—traveling is in my blood!
