Jerome Farms Flooded By Big Break In Canal

WAITING FOR THE water to recede at the George Trappen farm is Lady, Trappen's Labrador dog, sitting on porch. The Trappen home is one of several homes which were flooded when a break in a Northside Irrigation District canal occurred Wednesday evening and canal water poured over the countryside.

JEROME — Water will be turned back into the North Side Canal system Friday and should be back to normal by the second day of the week, Douglas Finkelburg, manager of the North Side Canal Co., said Thursday noon as crews were completing repairs on a break in a lateral northwest of town which forced evacuation of Jerome and surrounding areas.

PUSHING DIRT AND rocks into a break in the Northside Irrigation District canal northwest of Jerome, bulldozers, ten trucks are being used to haul dirt and rocks to the break area, and several tons of dirt will be hauled before the break is fixed. Several homes below the break were flooded Wednesday evening, shortly after it occurred.

Heavy Fighting Rages Through Fourth Day At Hue And Dong Ha

By GEORGE ESPER
SAIGON (AP) — The Vietnam war's heaviest sustained fighting since the Communist command's Tet offensive in February raged through a fourth day today in the northeast corner of South Vietnam. Allied forces reported 1,139 enemy killed in continuing battles near Hue and Dong Ha.

Heaviest force of the floodwaters was received at the George Trappen farm, about three-eighths of a mile west of the break. Here water covered the entire area around the buildings, and reportedly got into granaries full of grain and stock feed.

The Trappen family left their home to stay with relatives, as the water rose in the morning. At the Harding farm, where the break occurred, the water flooded over a pasture but no damage to crops or buildings was reported.

ANDREW TULLY
WASHINGTON—Probably the most Gene McCarthy can hope for is to exert some influence on the choice of a Democratic Presidential nominee in Chicago, but he has already been good for the country. He has shown that it is possible for a Presidential candidate to offer the voters glimpses of honesty and candor.
There is a dreadful risk in such a departure from the norm, especially among the bloc voters, because people generally don't want honesty unless it offers them something they prefer for a candidate who speaks their language; that is to say, one who agrees with them and endorses their aspirations. A man who says the voters with a confident voice that he will keep the rules and oddly surviving in New York and New Jersey the other day, he passed up a chance to win the millions of Negro voters in that neighborhood by declining to address them as Negroes. He declared he would not make a "racial appeal to either black or white" to win votes, and shunned the opportunity to promise that if Negroes would only support his candidacy everything would be all right.
While defending his record on civil rights, which is virtually spotless from the liberal viewpoint, McCarthy rejected the demagogue's role. Cities, he declared, cannot be saved by "televangelical tours through the slums, or vague promises that if the ghetto-dwellers will only pull their throats together, everything will be well for them."
To be sure, McCarthy is running with the Democratic crowd in demanding that he not spend billions to "rescue" the cities. But he eschews the simplification that money is all that is needed, and that sounds more like Dwight D. Eisenhower than his former idol, Adlai Stevenson.
To McCarthy, the urban problem is a moral one. "The black man's claim should be upheld not because there are a million poor in Watts or on the West Side of Chicago—but because the black man's cause is just." Eisenhower and McCarthy, he said, if for eight years, McCarthy quotes the virtually verbatim in warning that nothing will be accomplished if racism is eliminated. Black racism may be a problem, too, but because the whites are in a majority, it is white racism that is the major obstacle to space between Negro and Caucasian.
All the candidates are running on a pledge to unseat McCarthy and it is here that McCarthy's personality and manner give him an edge over Bobby Kennedy as they enter the McCarthy campaign. McCarthy is low-key and so are his supporters, and his enemies. His supporters admire him sometimes love him, but they are not overly emotional about it. He is criticized by the opposition, but practically never hated.
Kennedy, on the other hand, sometimes seems too controversial in demanding that he not spend billions to "rescue" the cities. He is criticized by the opposition, but practically never hated.

In Due Time

Defense Secretary Clark Clifford has followed the administration's new line of offering hope for an early end to the escalation of U. S. participation in the Vietnam War.
He says South Vietnam will take on more of the fighting itself, allowing "us to level off our effort—and in due time begin the gradual process of reduction."
These words recall similar expressions which Mr. Clifford's predecessor, Robert S. McNamara, probably prefers to forget. On Oct. 2, 1963, Mr. McNamara reported that training of South Vietnamese forces to fight for themselves—then the chief objective of the U. S. military mission in the south of that country—was progressing so well that "the major part of the U. S. military task can be completed by the end of 1968."
At that time there were 17,000 U. S. military advisers and training personnel in South Vietnam. But by November of 1965, there were 165,000 American soldiers in Vietnam; even then Mr. McNamara returned from South Vietnam spreading confidence that the tide was turning, at least to the extent that "we have stopped losing the war."
Today, nearly 2 1/2 years later, the American force is up almost to 520,000 and nearly 30,000 new men are to be added in the next few months.
Circumstances have changed, and Mr. Clifford may have grounds for expecting the South Vietnamese to do more for themselves. He points to their high morale and to an attempt to draft 135,000 more men by September. This would push the South Vietnamese army to 775,000. Speeded delivery of modern U. S. weapons and other equipment could also make these soldiers more effective. And if peace efforts get anywhere, there could be less fighting to do.
As for American withdrawal, however, Mr. Clifford spoke only of a beginning, and that "in due time." Mr. Clifford's appraisal, nonetheless, amounts to a move—though slight—back toward President Kennedy's declaration of Sept. 2, 1963, that "in the final analysis it is their war."
The secretary also reflects administration awareness that the public feels the United States is in deep enough.

Smoke-Filled Room

WAYNE BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Rural Deaths

Why are there more fatal accidents of all kinds in rural areas than in cities? There appears to be several reasons for this. One is that farming, lumbering and mining—occupations with special hazards of their own—field areas where adequate first-aid measures are not always available. You need not be a doctor to know that the conditions mentioned to be involved in a rural accident are many a vacationer has found out.
A recent study revealed that over 50 per cent of the persons who were injured in rural surroundings and who died without having been moved to a hospital. Of those injured in cities, the corresponding figure was only 25 per cent.
In an analysis of a series of deaths due to pesticides it was shown that most of them were caused by confusion and carelessness. The manufacturer's labels have either given incomplete instructions regarding the safe handling of their product or have couched their warnings in technical terms many users do not understand.
In the matter of traffic accidents, it is also possible that such activities as "Drive Safely" and "Don't Be a Statistic" studies have shown that from 75 per cent of severe or fatal traffic accidents involved drinking drivers, but many important things have not been done. People who drink wine or beer should be more careful. Small communities might have to subsidize such a service but the saving in lives would make it worth every cent of the cost.

Failure And Safety

Management and unions of the railroad industry, which rarely see anything in the same light, are apparently squaring off on a go-round on a new or less new subject—maintenance of tracks.
There were 7,089 train accidents last year, an increase of 71 per cent over 1961.
Management should be applauded for recognizing as it sometimes is hesitant to do, that a problem indeed exists. And the unions should be commended for not resurrecting the removal-of-firerem issue of a few years back.
The major source of trouble in the down-spiraling safety record is track failure caused by longer, faster and heavier trains—of which, built in greater numbers, are equipped with more powerful engines.
Accidents caused by track defects increased 140 per cent from 1961 to 1966.
The Federal Railroad Administration is under fire for not being more aggressive in investigating and reporting accidents. But in defense it says it can test rolling stock and signs and does not actually cover tracks and right-of-way structures.
The unions charge that the railroads "punch pennies" on safety and their employees and the public pay the price in deaths and injuries. The railroads contend that it is increased volume of business, not overly long trains, that account for the most wear and tear and that, anyway, labor has a basic responsibility in the safety issue.
Behind this sparring there is a new effort under way to establish strong regulation over maintenance and inspection. Labor wants it, management says it doesn't like it or need it.
As of now, labor's voice is being heard loudest.
Legislation calling for federal control may be ready for submission in this session of Congress.

Redheads And Brunettes

NEW YORK (AP)—Jumping to conclusions: Redheaded girls have been maligned. They are actually sweeter natured than most brunettes.
A study of the young people in a small town in Pennsylvania found that the young people who were redheaded were more popular than those who were brunettes.
The study was conducted by a group of students at a local high school. They found that redheaded girls were more popular than brunettes in terms of popularity and social life.
The study also found that redheaded girls were more popular than brunettes in terms of popularity and social life.

MR. SPECTATOR
Pity The Headline Writer

Critics of newspapers, Mr. Spectator has found, often do not seem to be aware of the difficulties facing the writer.
If you don't believe it, just read a story after you've read the headline and without peeking, try to write one of your own.
"Rubber-type" is an old joke in all news papers. It is the headline writer's job to write headlines that are short, snappy and to the point. Headlines do not just happen to fit the columns easily and perfectly. They usually get heavily edited and corrected, letters are counted and counted. When a line is long or short, a synonym must be found for one of the words.
This is the reason why "recreation" has been replaced by "recreation" in many conferences by party and investigation by probe. The headline writer is keen for short. His fingers are easier to handle. His fingers are easier to handle. His fingers are easier to handle.

Life: First Order Of Business

Reds Brake Drive On Royal Laotians

VIETNAMESE (AP) — Western diplomats in Vientiane say the Communists have put the brakes on their drive against the U.S.-backed Royal Laotian forces.

Casualties from Communist probes and mortar attacks now daily instead of in the hundreds as they did during a big enemy push from Jan. 1 into April.

A "Royal Army" spokesman conjectured that the Communists might be regrouping for a new offensive. But several Western diplomats believe that the restraint is to pressure the Soviet Union, which possibly is anxious to block any Communist military action that could erect new barriers to peace in Vietnam.

Western diplomats say the Communists do not seem likely to overrun the Laotian-Lao border.

They could come down to the Mekong any day they wanted to," one Western military source said. "The real significant thing is that they are not exploiting their obvious military advantage."

The 5,000 Royal Laotian troops, beset by shortages and a lack of fighting spirit, have been a poor match for about 40,000 North Vietnamese troops.

From mid-January to the end of March, the government lost substantial ground in the north and northeast sectors. A division-strength government force fell in disaster on Jan. 16 from the Nam Ban Valley 60 miles north of Luang Prabang, the royal capital. The army reportedly lost 5,000 men in the battle and retreated.

The United States observes the 1962 Geneva agreement provision that no foreign troops be sent to North Vietnam and U.S. bombers support Laotian troops against Communist forces. And the government army as supported by more than $10 million in U.S. aid each year.

The United States also operates radar stations in Laos, manning them with American civilians, to guide American bombers, and reconnaissance planes to North Vietnam and to targets in Laos. Eight of the 12 American technicians at one station were killed in March 11 when a North Vietnam aircraft crashed the post, which was in Sam Neua province, 5 miles from the North Vietnamese border.

Minidoka County Entrant Named For Miss Idaho Fete

RUPERT—Susan Alexander, 19, Rupert, has been selected by the Rupert Lions Club to represent Minidoka County at the Miss Idaho Pageant June 13-15 in Boise.

Miss Alexander is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Alexander, Rupert, and was the first runner-up to the present Miss Idaho Kris Phillips, in the 1966 Miss Rupert pageant.

Her talent for the state competition is the French novelty dance number.

Miss Alexander graduated from Minico High School in 1964, and attended the University of Idaho, majoring in sociology. While there, she was named Miss Wool. Recently, she has completed a course with Weaver Airline Stewardess Training School in Kansas City, Mo., and will become a stewardess for United Airlines in October.

London Gold Price Rises To New Highs

Russell Jacobson and Dr. Robert C. Phillips are co-chairmen for the Miss Rupert Pageant, which the Lions have underwritten once more after two years. The club had sponsored the pageant for many years, but stepped aside to permit the Lions to sponsor the 1966 pageant.

Dr. Phillips explained that there was not sufficient time to sponsor a local pageant this year prior to the state competition, but plans are being made to hold one following the state event.

LONDON (AP)—The price of gold in Europe's bullion markets rose to new highs today despite indications from Washington that Congress is preparing action to reduce the U.S. foreign payments deficit.

In the London market, the price was fixed at $39.25, up five cents on Wednesday night's close. This was the highest level since the reopening of the London market April 1.

The rise has been steady for 10 days since Federal Reserve Chairman William McChesney Martin's warning of the danger of another financial crisis.

On the London foreign exchange market, the pound dropped 13 points at the opening, apparently on the news from Washington with its implications of tighter-selling conditions for British exporters in the United States. The pound opened at $2.30, down from $2.3975, then eased another point to $2.3925.

Dealers in the London gold market said turnover was very brisk but they believed much of the demand was coming from industrial users, especially American, rather than speculators.

Musical Prodigy To Present Free Concerts In Area

Fourteen-year-old musical prodigy Attila Galamb will present a free concert at 10 a.m. Saturday at O'Leary Junior High School.

His appearance will follow concerts in other Magic Valley cities. The junior high school performance is being presented through the courtesy of the Twin Falls Music Club.

He will be at Shoshone High School at 8:30 a.m. Friday, the young performer is a veteran of many tours throughout the world and has been featured in New York City and other United States cities.

Committee Prescribes Formula For LBJ's Tax Hike Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Appropriations Committee has prescribed a formula to year beginning July 1 plus a $14 billion tax hike authorized or appropriated for the fiscal year 1969. The committee's action moved a big roadblock in the Senate to a week-long dead-end tax proposals progress through the committee proposed Congress, where it has been Wednesday that any tax hike be since last August.

But Sen. John J. Williams of Delaware, senior Republican on the House-Senate conference committee trying to work out a compromise, said the Senate will not pass a tax-spending package that doesn't contain a $6 billion cut for next year's control. Rep. Melvin R. Laird, R-Wis., for the Agriculture Department said: "The real tension has been broken here today. This opens the way for the conferees to go to the Appropriations Committee's recommendations—include a $3 billion spending cut. The full House continued its budget-cutting drive, passing a bill to appropriate $5,525 million for the Agriculture Department. The real tension has been broken here today. This opens the way for the conferees to go to the Appropriations Committee's recommendations—include a $3 billion spending cut. The full House continued its budget-cutting drive, passing a bill to appropriate $5,525 million for the Agriculture Department.

In other economy-related developments: The high interest rate maturing in 1975. The Treasury Department tightening credit and offering a 6 per cent rate-high competition among borrowers. The department also will offer the same rate in seeking to borrow $3 billion in new Treasury securities which mature through a 15-month security exchange them for a seven-year Price Stability said efforts to control inflation are endangered by spiraling wage hikes in the construction industry, where the average settlement has amounted to an eight per cent increase. Administration officials also voiced disappointment in the pattern of union wage contracts in the first three months when pay increases averaged six per cent. Rusk Urges OK Of $2.1 Billion Foreign Aid Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk urged congressional enactment of a $2.1-billion foreign aid bill, saying the United States can afford to spend less than one per cent of its wealth to help build a safer, more prosperous world.

Rusk told the House Foreign Affairs Committee aid must be continued for South Vietnam and other Southeast Asian nations, as well as for the continent of Latin America and Africa.

His testimony was prepared for delivery today.

"Some say we should postpone or eliminate foreign aid because of the cost of our effort to help defend freedom in Africa, also engage our forces in Asia, and are directly related to our own security and well-being."

Development has been gaining momentum in poorer countries but if that trend is reversed the consequences for the peace of the world could be disastrous, he said.

In South Vietnam, said Rusk, the Viet Cong offensive that began Jan. 31 and funding requirements will be down substantially the rest of this year.

With improved security, however, and recovery of a demand for imports, it is estimated that the $100 million proposed for the next fiscal year will be needed.

He said South Korea "must increase its military readiness but without impeding its strong economic development effort."

Both economic and military requests have heightened importance, he said.

Thailand has been steadfast and loyal to the United States, he said.

"The Thai government has counted on our aid program for the end of her tour with the military and strengthened security."

Branigin, Kennedy, McCarthy Are On Indiana Ballot

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — The names on the ballot are Branigin, Kennedy and McCarthy. But two other names—Nixon and Humphrey—are cast in shadows over Indiana's Democratic presidential primary May 23.

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey publicly proclaimed himself a candidate too late to enter the primary.

But less than two days later he was talking about Indiana Gov. Roger D. Branigin, who is running as a favorite son. Humphrey commented in a nationwide television interview: "If I anything I can say will be helpful to him, I want to do that."

Is Branigin a stand-in for Humphrey? Branigin and Humphrey say no.

But the fact remains that Branigin is in a position to knock off Humphrey's two major opponents for the nomination—Sen. Robert F. Kennedy of New York, making his first bid in a major primary, and Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota, trying to keep the momentum of victories in New Hampshire and Wisconsin.

Richard M. Nixon is all by himself on another ballot—the Republican presidential primary—but he's got a fight on his hands holding Republicans' interest in his uncontested race and putting down the Republicans' temptation to record their votes in the white-hot Democratic battle.

Both Branigin and McCarthy have openly courted Republican crossover votes. Technically, a crossover is illegal in Indiana. But, as a practical matter, the enforcement lies in the challenge at the polls, and the challenges have been minimal in the past.

With write-in votes forbidden, Nixon faces no greater threat in Indiana than the possibility of a low vote total resulting from either crossovers or apathy.

His backers figure the entry of New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller as an announced candidate may serve to keep Republicans in their own primary.

As for Nixon, he's aimed his campaign guns elsewhere so far. The former vice president's appearances in Indiana today and Friday will be the first since February.

On the Democratic side, the three-way battle is gathering a head of steam the likes of which Indiana voters have not seen since the legislature inaugurated a presidential primary in 1953.

Branigin motorcades from town to town, shaking hands and asking for votes "in the best interests of Indiana." With the full backing of the regular state Democratic organization, Kennedy is barnstorming the state by jet, train and car, and McCarthy is speaking as much as eight times a day on a schedule running from early morning to late at night.

Branigin, a lame-duck governor barred by law from re-election, got into the race as an incumbent stand-in for President

Johnson. When Johnson withdrew, Branigin became a favorite son candidate.

He argued that a Hoosier, not a foreigner, an outlander, a tourist, should have control of Indiana's 53 votes in the Democratic National Convention.

Indiana law binds delegates to the primary winner on the first ballot. They can make their own course after the first ballot.

Branigin and his backers have hammered hard at the bitzkrieg aspects of the Kennedy and McCarthy campaigns, hitting the senators regularly to buy the presidency.

How much is really being poured out of the coffers? Gordon St. Angelo, state Democratic chairman, said Kennedy and McCarthy each would spend $2 million in their bid to sew up Indiana.

McCarthy replied that if he spent one-fourth that amount he would consider the campaign well-financed.

The Kennedy people ignored the St. Angelo statement.

Twin Falls Expected To Claim 11th Consecutive District Track Trophy

The Twin Falls Bruins zeroed in on their 11th consecutive district track and field trophy Friday evening and are so far out in front that the battle really will be for second place. The Bruins could win as many as 14 first places with 10 to 12 being more logical and in about third potential champion is sophomore Shultz of Burley with points.

Hurdle Field Completed In Class B Meet

GOODING—The final two events of the Class B North and West sides of the district were completed Tuesday. Dut to high winds, the hurdles were not run in the meets held at Gooding State's field Friday. The top two in each race will advance to the district finals in Twin Falls Friday evening.

Northside—High hurdles—Murdock, Carey, Patterson, Richfield; Harg, Camas County, Rush, Carey, Sorenson, Richfield, 18.5. Low hurdles—Saras, Richfield; Harg, Carey, Sorenson, Richfield; Riley, Richfield, 22.3. Westside—High hurdles—Overlie, Hagerman, Kinson, Casleford, Thim, Glenn, Perce, Alfred, Casleford; King, Wendell, 16.0. White Sox Drop Solons; John Fans 1-2

CHICAGO (AP)—Luis Aparicio hit a two-run homer and Tommy John struck out 12 batters as the Chicago White Sox beat Washington 4-1 Wednesday night. John, who has two of Chicago's three victories this year, shut the Senators out on three hits for the first eight innings.

Angels Hang Fourth Loss On Boston

BOSTON (AP)—Roger Reppe's ninth-inning single drove in two runs Wednesday night as California beat Boston 5-3 and the Angels hung their heads in a straight game. The Red Sox have lost four in a row. Bobby Knapp led off the ninth with a single and scored on a double when Red Sox reliever John Wyatt fielded a smash by Paul Schaal, but threw wildly to second.

Reds Nip S.F. On Ninth-Inning Run

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Steve Marshall's "big league" error in the ninth inning allowed Lee Gardens to go all the way in third and the Cincinnati shortstop scored on Mack Jones' sacrifice fly Wednesday night as the Reds beat San Francisco 6-5. Cincinnati 102-100; 101-69.0. San Francisco 100-100-69.0. Pappas, Abernathy (7), Davidson (8), Lee (9) and Bench; McCormick, Baird (4), Jones (8), Hill, Barton (8), W. Davidson, 2-1. L—Linzey, 1-3. Bengal Mile Relay Team Is Sixth-Best

POCATELLO, IDAHO (AP)—Largest NCAA track and field statistics credit Idaho State University's mile relay team with the sixth best time in the nation in the dual Coach Dick Breiten Wednesday. ISU's 4:00 and 800 relay teams also ranked among the leaders in the nation this year. The Bengal mile relay team, which posted a 3:08.3 Saturday in its first place in the Colorado Relays at Boulder. The mark broke the school record by more than two seconds. The Kentucky ISU meets the University of Idaho in a dual meet at Twin Falls, Breiten expects his club should win quite handsily in four previous meets with the Vandals. ISU has lost but once.

Salmon Charge Over New John Day Dam In Drove As Biologists Find Key

RUFUS, Ore. (AP)—It took the ladders last Saturday, "a little of this and a little of that" during a frantic week of effort, but the Chinook salmon finally started up the fish ladders on Saturday and nearly 12,000 on the new John Day Dam, Sunday.

"It was just a matter of learning to speak their language," said Dave Larson, project engineer for operations. "We tried a little of this and a little of that until we had the right attraction in the channels, approaching the ladders," he said. Larson said, "They must have been down there all the time, resting in the deep pools below the dam, until they smelled the right water." Pacific salmon return from the ocean to the stream beds where they were born to lay their eggs. Larson described some other experiences which indicate the delicate nature of the salmon's biology. "Just put your hand in the water of the ladders and you'll stop the run for 30 hours," he said. "We sent a diver into the ladder and the salmon quit running for another hour. Even a change in the wind can cause a change in the run," he said. The big run over the John Day dam was slowed as the backing of salmon is over the fish ladder. The count Tuesday was 3,511 at John Day, compared to 3,321 at The Dalles and 2,074 at Bonneville. The count at McNary Dam.

Area Soldier Helps Solve Talk Barrier

LAI KHE, Vietnam—A difficult language problem in this battle-torn land has been solved by First Lt. Dale Drage, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Drage, of Twin Falls.

The Army combined Lt. Drage's efforts Thursday and said a special tri-language tape designed to communicate with villagers in the Quan Loi area is perfected here, a study by Staff Sgt. Russell Davis of Fort Worth, Tex., was given credit along with Lt. Drage.

This new language technique is being used by First Infantry Division psychological operations troops.

The technique contains an assembly message broadcast in Vietnamese, Cambodian and English, directed to Montagnard tribesmen. The broadcast is a complete understanding of directions given to villagers by soldiers who must seek local villages in search of Viet Cong.

One tape informs the people of rewards for information leading to the Viet Cong and tells villagers the allied soldiers intend to help them.

Another tape tells the villagers not to be afraid of airplanes dropping chemicals on trees in the area. The chemicals are used to defoliate the trees.

The third tape appeals to the Montagnards to help American soldiers.

Army officials said, "The development is significant because it broadens the capabilities of all units in the area to communicate with these villagers."

Humphrey Calls For New Commitment

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey called today for a new and complete national commitment to human rights to meet the problems created by the indecent denial of human equality in this country.

His speech was prepared for the 38th quadrennial session of the African Methodist Episcopal Churches here.

Humphrey, who is seeking the Democratic presidential nomination, outlined these steps to achieve progress in human rights.

Meeting the problem of hard-core unemployment of rats and roaches and rotten housing and disease—poverty—in America's urban and rural areas.

"Listening closely" as the nation's government, to the demands of the Poor People's marchers in Washington for their rights is an authentic voice of the America which has been left out.

"Dealing squarely and effectively with those who defile the streets by violence and riots and civil disorders for they undermine the determined efforts of those of us who are working to bring our equal rights into equal reality."

Pip-Squeak Planet Moves Earthward

By FRANK CAREY
AP Science Writer
WASHINGTON (AP)—The minuscule, asteroid "Icarus," a pip-squeak planet about a half-mile in diameter, starts hurtling earthward today at 20,000 miles per hour.

Navy astronomers say it will come within four million miles of earth on June 14, its closest approach since its discovery in 1881. It won't be visible to the naked eye.

The Navy assured there is no danger of a collision with earth.

There have been similar reassuring words in recent years from the high ebullence of astronomy—all aimed at countering acting reports that rocky objects just might be on a collision course with the earth. Such a catastrophe would be equivalent to dropping 100 hydrogen bombs at one time.

But one American astronomer, Dr. Robert S. Richardson, while conceding there is no apparent chance of a collision during Icarus' upcoming visit, has said this might not always hold speaking for the graduating class of 1968 of Camas County High School.

Commencement exercises will be held at 8 p.m. May 13 in the high school gymnasium.

Mrs. Calvin Eckles will play the professional and recessional on the piano. The Rev. W. James Post will present a vocal number. Bishop LeRoy Packham of the Fairfield Ward LDS Church will give the invocation and the Rev. Post will give the benediction.

Steven Miller will give the salutatorian's address. Co-Valedictorians are Marilyn Baucher and John Weaver. Supt. Harry Durant will present the class and diplomas will be presented by Zane Harrison, chairman of the school board.

Class colors are blue and white. "Life Is What We Make It" is the class motto. Mrs. Phil Drackenburg will sing.

GIRL ELECTED
HAGGERMAN—Marilyn Adams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Adams, has been elected vice president of the Golden Year home society at Birch College, where she is a sophomore. She was graduated from Hagerman High School.

Jean Mizer To Address Camas Class

FAIRFIELD—Jean Mizer, Blaine County School Counselor, will be the commencement speaker for the graduating class of 1968 of Camas County High School.

Commencement exercises will be held at 8 p.m. May 13 in the high school gymnasium.

Mrs. Calvin Eckles will play the professional and recessional on the piano. The Rev. W. James Post will present a vocal number. Bishop LeRoy Packham of the Fairfield Ward LDS Church will give the invocation and the Rev. Post will give the benediction.

Japanese Want Okinawa Back
TOKYO (AP)—Nobumoto Okinawa, Japanese government's chief adviser on the status of Okinawa, says the United States should return the island to Japan by 1972 and that the time has come when there should be operated "on the same basis as those in Japan."

Okinawa is the Western Pacific depot for American nuclear warheads, but Obama said Wednesday night they should be hurried after Japan gets the island back.

The United States has said it would return Okinawa to Japan at an "appropriate date."

Mr. And Miss Teen Of Year Named At Area High School

HAGERMAN—Mike Madari, son of Mr. and Mrs. Felix Madarieta, and Lana Butler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Butler, were selected Hagerman High School's Mr. and Miss Teen of the Year and were crowned at the dance recently climaxing the school year's "Mr. and Miss Teen of the Month."

Each month one boy and one girl is selected by the student body as Mr. and Miss Teen for the month. As the school year comes to an end, each of the monthly winners compete in a Teen Pageant at the school and one boy and one girl will be chosen to represent Mr. and Miss Teen of the year.

Those competing in this week's pageant other than the winners were: Holly Wendy, Linda Dahlen, and the popular student, Gloria Britton. She is also a member of the cheer squad. Other participants were: Pat Madarieta, Frank Alvestad, Eric Bright and Dan Neal.

During the pageant, each contestant presents a talent, including a speech, a song, and a skit. The winners were crowned at the dance.

Unit Secretary Resigns Post

GOODING—Mrs. Jack Bygones resigned her post as secretary of Marguerite Robsack's unit of the regular meeting of the lodge. Due to the illness of her husband, she felt she could no longer continue to serve. Her resignation was accepted by members, and Mrs. Jack Martin was elected to complete the year as secretary.

In other business, 26 sick calls were reported. Mrs. Robert Montgomery stated that her committee has purchased eight sets of dishes to replenish the supply in the IOOF kitchen.

Members were invited to attend the Bearfield Lodge meeting May 9 at which Mrs. Alta McMinnis will be the assembly president. Mrs. Helen Berg will be the hostess.

Mrs. Madeline Brock read a history of the IOOF Lodge. Hostesses were Mrs. Verla Bolte, Mrs. Ralph Vaughn and Mrs. Don Carrico.

Secret Fathers Honored By Bethel No. 19

Members of Bethel No. 19, International Order of Job's Daughters, held their Secret Fathers' Father Night recently at the Masonic Temple, with Vicki Knight, honored queen, in charge of activities.

Introduced and welcomed were: Jane Anderson, past honored queen of Bethel No. 19; Jeanne Dosselt, Grand Bethel auxiliary; Mr. and Mrs. Art Wiley, associate guardian and guardian of Bethel No. 19; Egon Krull, past associate guardian; and several members of the auxiliary.

Each father introduced his secret father and presented him with a gift.

Commencement reports on a trip to Shoshone when a new Bethel was instituted, Grand Council was discussed and a car wash was scheduled for May 18. Senior Night and Mothers' Night were announced as forthcoming events.

Ray Brown, librarian, gave the report.

Social Calendar

GOODING—Melody Squares will dance at 8:30 p.m. Saturday in the Gooding Grange Hall. Myra Hill is the caller. All those attending are asked to bring a plate. Ice cream will be furnished. All square dances are welcome.

Dear Abby

By ABIGAIL VAN-BUREN
DEAR 'ABBY: All went fine with my marriage, until my loving spouse got so heavy from Manhattan, beer, pizza, candy, etc. that the bed sagged on her side. Although the sagging caused me to roll down near her, I must confess this carries over no romantic interest whatsoever. My partner angrily declared me "impotent," and look to her own bed in another room. I was determined to prove to myself that I was not impotent; the details are only incidental, but let us just say that it didn't take me very long to prove it. My question: Should I share this happy discovery with my wife?
SWINGER

DEAR SWINGER: Go ahead, she'll never believe you.
DEAR 'ABBY: I am an average 19-year-old college student (male) living on-campus in a college town. My home is 200 miles away. My mother has an old friend living near campus, so she wrote and asked this friend of hers to look me up. What for, I'll never know because I'm not lonesome and this woman is a 65-year-old widow and we don't have one thing in common.

Well, this old lady invited me to her house for Sunday supper, so I went. She was very nice to me. Too nice. There were just the two of us there and she made me feel very uncomfortable. She kept wanting to hug me and touch me, and she made all sorts of remarks about how she "had a crush" on me.

A few days later, she called me up and invited me over for dinner again. I told her I had to study. ("I did.") Then she sent me a silly "I could go for you" card with a $10 bill inside. Today I got a box of cookies with a note: "Hooby, when am I going to see you again?"
 Abby, she keeps calling me and I tell my roommate to tell her I'm at the library. I want to see this old lady again like I want to go to Vietnam. I hope to insult her, but I sure don't want to see her again. How should I handle this?

SOPHOMORE

DEAR SOPHOMORE: First, return her money with a "thank you" note, and thank her for the cookies, but ask her not to write any more. Then continue to be "out" when she calls. In time she will be sufficiently discouraged to forget you.

DEAR 'ABBY: Several months ago my mother passed away. She and my father had been married nearly 50 years, and seemingly had a good life together.

To me, it seemed disrespectful to my mother's memory, but ONE WEEK after my mother's burial (my father—a minister) began seeing other women. Less than three months later he remarried. This marriage lasted four months; they got a quick divorce, and within 30 days my father remarried again. Now my father insists that his grandchildren call his new wife "Grandma." My children all remember their real grandmother and it doesn't seem natural to them. (Not to me.) Should I insist they call this woman "Grandma" just because their grandfather demands it? Or am I within my rights to tell them they don't have to? So far they call her "Mrs."

DAUGHTER
DEAR DAUGHTER: Tell the children to call the lady whatever comes naturally.

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69799, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069 and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

PRESENTING BEEF educational material, furnished by the Idaho Beef Council and distributed by the CowBelles, to Mrs. John Anderson, home economics instructor at Twin Falls High School, is Mrs. Tom Sharp, Filter president of the Desert-Gold-CowBelles. The educational material concerns the beef industry in Idaho and the many ways of preparing beef and has been presented to high schools throughout Magic Valley. The Desert Gold unit will present each high school in Magic Valley a beef cookery cookbook for use in their home economics departments. This is one of the many projects concerning the beef promotion conducted by CowBelle locals throughout the state.

Cinda Evans, Dick Kleinkopf Wed In Alaska

BURLEY — The Central Lutheran Church, Anchorage, Alaska, was the setting for a double candlelight ceremony uniting in marriage Cinda Marie Evans and Dick Lee Kleinkopf, both Anchorage.

Miss Evans is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Evans, Tacoma, Wash., and Mr. Kleinkopf is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Kleinkopf, Burley.

A. L. Abrahamson performed the evening wedding March 16 before a background of white chrysanthemums and pink gladioli bouquets flanked by candlelight.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore an organza gown, appliqued with aluminum lace roses featuring a sweetheart neckline and short bell sleeves. The floor-length chapel train fell from her shoulders and was appliqued with matching lace roses.

Her shoulder-length silk veil of illusion was held by organza leaves, excelsior and jewel petals. She carried a cascading bouquet of white chrysanthemums and gardenias.

Famela Sue Evans, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Elyna Barrett was flower girl. George Barrett was best man. Ushers were Wayne Boedecker, Charles Mortimer, Ralph Gentili and Joe Lastufka.

Mrs. Arlyn Furman played the traditional wedding music. After the wedding ceremony, the couple received at a wedding reception at the Anchorage Elks Lodge. Guests were registered by Mrs. Charles Mortimer.

The bride's table was centered with a three-tiered all-white wedding cake which was divided into white-pink accents with pink roses, and topped with a wedding cross and a miniature bride and bridegroom. A decorative fountain, the champagne fountain. The cake was cut and served by Mrs. Wayne Boedecker. Kathy Dlenhi poured assisted by Mrs. Joe Lastufka.

Gifts were displayed by Mrs. Kevin Christian.

Guests attended from Idaho, Washington and Alaska.

After a wedding trip to Mt. Alverca, Alaska, the newlyweds will reside at Anchorage, where the bride is employed at Anchorage Community College and the bridegroom is employed at Physicians Optical as an optician.

MR. AND MRS. JAMES L. LINGNAW (Shig Media photo)

Patricia Bull, Lingnaw Recite Nuptial Promise

Patricia Ann Bull, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dave Bull, Twin Falls, became the bride of James Lewis Lingnaw, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lindor Lingnaw, Boise, in a double ring ceremony March 30 at the First Baptist Church.

Rev. James Hughes performed the ceremony before a background of aqua and white feathered chrysanthemum flowers which were arranged in two white vases.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white flower-brocade, styled with an empire waistline and silk trim around the neckline and the edging of her bell sleeves, enhanced with a removable-brocade chapel train. Her gown was accented with a single drop pearl, a gift from the bridegroom. Her elbow-length veil of illusion was held in place by a crown of small pearls and tiny white flowers.

She carried a white Bible covered with lace and topped with white feathered chrysanthemum flowers accented with aqua feathered fluff, with streamers of white ribbon draping from the Bible.

Mrs. Carl Snow was soloist, accompanied by Mrs. Rider.

Madeline of honor was Shirlee Bull, Twin Falls. Bridesmaids were Jan Thornley, Aberdeen, and Margie Hancock, Twin Falls.

Dennis Hawk, Twin Falls, served as best man, with Dick Lingnaw, brother of the bridegroom, Twin Falls, and Joe Rowberry, Boise, serving as ushers.

Lohry Molnar, niece of the bride, Boise, was flower girl and David Bull, nephew of the bride, Twin Falls, was ring bearer.

Mrs. Pat Rutherford presided at the guest book table which was skirted in a ruffled lace cloth accented with a white feathered fountain pen. Mrs. Renee Smith was in charge of the gift-table and helping her display gifts were Mrs. Rita Whitehead, Mrs. Ruth Hunter, Mrs. Pam McClellan, Claudia Sanger, Mrs. Carolyn Wildman, Vickie Meyers and Dee-Dee.

The bride's table was centered with a square three-tiered wedding cake topped with a milky-lure bride and bridegroom standing beneath a half-arch decorated in aqua flowers and white bells. The cake was flanked by white swans and decorated with aqua flowers and white satin bells.

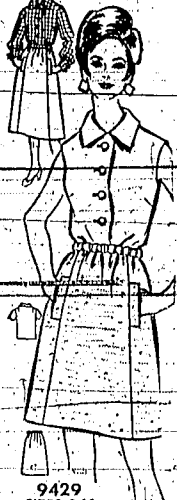

At the reception Pam Bennett and Mrs. Carol Molnar, sister-in-law of the bride, Biscuit cut and served the cake. Mrs. Nedra Lingnaw, sister-in-law of the bridegroom, served the punch and Mrs. Arnie Bull, sister-in-law of the bride, served the coffee.

The bride was honored at a pre-nuptial shower here at the home of Shirlee Bull and Mrs. Renee Smith. Mrs. Sally Taylor, aunt of the bride, hosted a miscellaneous shower and Mrs. Nedra Lingnaw, sister-in-law of the bridegroom, had a dinner in honor of the bride and her mother at Kay's Supper Club.

Patricia and James will reside at 864 Rose St. N.

Out-of-town guests attended from Oklahoma: Miralinda, Bull, Boise; Jerome, Peter, Rimberville; Pocatello and Aberdeen. The bride's brother, Kenneth Bull, accompanied with the Army Air Guard, was a special guest.

FALSE-CARD IS SQUEEZED

Here is a hand from the early '30s which Fred Karpin calls as beautiful a false-card as he has ever seen.

Fred does not mention the declarer's name, but it was the late Louis Weston. We know the hand well. At least one of us—James Oswald—Jacoby sat deuce of spades, East would have sufficed that and cashed the ace of clubs to set the contract, but West just continued with the 10 of spades—East was convinced that Louis was going to lead that third spade and East dropped his three of clubs.

West had to lead again and selected a diamond. Louis was in with the king and at first glance it appears that Louis would still have to lose a trick.

A second glance shows that he did not have to—Louis simply ran off all his trumps and discarded four clubs from dummy. This left dummy with the ace-queen-seven of diamonds while Louis held the king-eight of clubs and nine of diamonds. East couldn't keep the ace of clubs and three diamonds so a squeeze had materialized and the false-card was properly rewarded.

By ELE AND WALT DULANEY

He's Opposed To Clammy Costumes

Dear Ele and Walt: Before the teenager's No. 1 job is to tell you my problem, I want to make it clear that my par on his own foot (I know). These outfits are wonderful people and do everything possible to make his talents, and coming to something good for their children. I would like to appear in the range. Obviously, that of the But the thing is that they buy matching shirts and dresses for the whole family (two parents and four children), and we are supposed to wear them when we go on trips. When we do this, people turn to look like we were a parade or something, and we (the children) are embarrassed.

Dear Brad: Since neither of the Dolanys like it, I would like to suggest you say something along these lines: "You know, after the red-and-white check outfit, your outfit let's not get any more group costumes—it was fun when we were younger, but even though we love you more now, that's not our parents' fault. Their kids, we don't like to look like cheap salesmen when we go together. The club has always been nice, but now we want to look more individual, really pleasing others by being You understand, don't you? They will like Ele and Wall."

TEENAGE RESPONSIBILITIES

Dear Ele and Walt: What are the responsibilities of being a teenager? This is not just for me, but also for my American friends.
