Packing Plant To Reopen

GOODING — Reopening and full operation of the Stockmen's Meat Packing Co., Gooding, is expected in the next 30 to 60 days, according to an announcement Saturday by Lloyd J. Webb, Twin Falls, resident Idaho attorney for James Allan and Sons, a San Francisco meat packing concern.

Mr. Webb said the California concern and the Gooding plant have reached an agreement to purchase the Gooding facilities of Stockmen.

French Hint China Using Riots To Scuttle Talks

REHEARSING FOR THE second College of Southern Idaho Commencement exercises to be held at 2 p.m. Sunday in the High School Gymnasium are, from left, Jim Wilton, law enforcement student; Jan Miller, English education; and Dr. Adele Thompson, dean of women, who demonstrates transfer of the tassel to note the graduated student. A total of 202 students of the local junior college will receive their diplomas during the afternoon ceremonies.

PARIS (AP) — France officially accused "enemies of the peace" Saturday of trying to upset American-North Vietnamese truce talks by exploiting student unrest in the French capital.

An official statement did not identify these "enemies" but well-placed government sources claimed—privately—the charge was aimed at Red China.

The development came as U.S. and North Vietnamese envoys reached agreement on management details of their talks which on Monday will enter the substantive issues of ending the war.

Compliance With Inspection Law Discussed By Idaho Meat Packers

How Idaho's meat packing industry can comply with the new "wholesome meat act" that was adopted by the past session of Congress was the major concern of some 100 Idaho meat packers in annual convention sessions Saturday in Twin Falls.

Mr. Florence said the Idaho Meat Packers are willing to work out whatever methods they can to meet new regulations with the financial means of the state. Committees of the association are continuing work on proposed compliance measures.

Mobile butchering operations now working in certain parts of the state were also discussed by the packers.

15 Weary Miners Rescued No Hope Held For 10 Others

By HOGGER JENSEN
HOMINY FALLS, W.Va. (AP) — Fifteen miners, weary, blackened and chilled stepped into a pre-dawn mist Saturday and ended five days of labor in the flooded passageway of a coal mine.

The men had been in the Gaulty Coal and Coke Co. mine 118 hours, trapped in a coal pocket not high enough for a man to stand.

Rescue teams tossed blankets around the snugglers of the men and led them to safety at 6:20 a.m. (EDT). The men had been in the Gaulty Coal and Coke Co. mine 118 hours, trapped in a coal pocket not high enough for a man to stand.

"Code Blue" Gets Hospital Priority

By RUTH KOONCE MILLER
Times-News Staff Writer

"Code Blue," when flashed through the halls of Magic Valley Memorial Hospital is similar, on a smaller scale to the United States Civil Defense "Red Alert."

It means that someone's heart has stopped and is in immediate need of artificial resuscitation.

As of last October the hospital, which joins with others this week in celebrating National Hospital Week, is fully equipped to handle such emergencies.

The staff recently has been undergoing full orientation in the use of equipment which the hospital has purchased. Thursday night most of the nurses and a good deal of the doctors who practice out of Magic Valley Memorial were in on a session conducted by members of the University of Utah Medical School staff.

Those attending watched a detailed film outlining the steps to be taken in giving a patient heart beating after cardiac arrest. They also practiced mouth-to-mouth resuscitation and watched demonstrations of the complicated machines used in resuscitation processes.

The education of nurses has been under the direction of Mrs. Nell Wheeler, RN, as part of the hospital's in-service education program.

In each strategic point of the hospital is located a "crash cart" containing all the supplies necessary to start the resuscitation process.

"Code Blue," as set up at the hospital, involves four nurses. Three of the nurses are first responsible for beginning the resuscitation process and one of the nurses immediately notifies the switchboard, which flashes the "Code Blue" sign, indicating that any physicians in the hospital are to go to the alert area. Each nursing unit also will send one nurse to the alert area.

Magic Valley Memorial Hospital has plans to set up an intensive care unit this fall, which will be administered by Mrs. Elizabeth Linde, RN.

The unit, which has been planned at a seven-bed capacity, will house the cardiac arrest equipment.

Time is of the essence in cardiac arrest cases. Since most heart stoppages occur to patients outside the hospital, it is important that the public be aware of the need for haste, correctness and consistency in administering artificial resuscitation until the patient can be taken to the hospital where mechanical resuscitation devices can take over.

Mrs. Irene Oliver, administrator of the hospital, stresses the importance of public education and the education of the hospital's nursing staff.

Mrs. Oliver said since Magic Valley Memorial has no resident physicians, it is extremely important that all nurses, both registered and licensed practical, be aware of the steps to be taken in reviving a cardiac arrest victim.

In many cases the few minutes when the nurse is there before the doctor arrives means life or death to the patient, since the time element is so important.

Wedding Gift

ROME, Ga. (AP)—When Sally Green, 30, an inmate of Floyd county jail, married Claude Massengill, "an outsider," Friday, she had all the wedding trimmings.

The jail cook baked her a wedding cake and she had a small reception for other inmates.

Mrs. Dorothy Benvenue, jail manager, and county deputy sheriff Bill Riffey acted as bridesmaid and best man. Justice of the Peace Bill Rice performed the ceremony.

But the best gift of all came from City Court Judge Jerry L. Minge. When he learned of the nuptials, he released the new Mrs. Massengill, who was in for probation violation.

Predicted Cost Of Medicare Is Termed Too Low

WASHINGTON (AP)—Forecasts of the probable cost of Medicare in 1972 made just last week have been described by the secretary of health, education and welfare as "too low" by at least 50 percent.

"Nobody could have anticipated the way medical costs have gone up," Secretary Wilbur J. Cohen said in a statement responding to questions posed by Sen. Carl Curtis.

Curtis had made his inquiries prior to Senate confirmation of Thursday of Cohen's appointment as head of HEW. The new secretary's answers were released Friday.

Proclamation Notes Mental Health Month

A month-long education campaign that began with a proclamation by Gov. Don Samuelsen designating May as Mental Health Month in Idaho is under way by the state Mental Health Association.

Mrs. Sally Donart, president of the state association, pointed out there are some 20 million persons in the nation suffering from mental illness, but there is a great need for public understanding of their problems if they are to receive proper help and recover.

Mrs. Donart also urged residents of Idaho to lend their financial support to the fund drive being headed by Mrs. Eille Kiser, Boise chairman.

In Idaho, she said, the mentally ill are hospitalized in State

"Don't You Realize The Gravity Of The Situation?"

LEON DENNEN

Mother

There have been crises in world history when the responsibilities of motherhood and the dangers of rearing a family were such that it would have been little wonder if the instinct for that high function had been blotted out... Today the instinct for motherhood is at so high a point that students are writing warningly about the world's exploding population... Mothers are accepting more responsibilities while modern methods and customs become more intricate. They have problems adjusting fresh young lives to the neighborhood to say nothing of trends in the world about which they can do little. In the field where mother has way,

Hospital Week

Scan today's headlines and the impression is that we live in a self-serving society. We are, it might appear, a people dedicated to fulfilling our personal whims at the expense of any who stand in our way. It only appears that way, in truth, because a nation of people who care about others. And nowhere is this concern for others more evident than in the nation's more than 7,000 hospitals. Within these hospital walls is an army of dedicated men, women and teen-agers working in concert toward a common goal—the provision of the highest quality patient care. The highest seldom sees the majority of the hospital people, but they are there in force. Hospitals now employ more than two million persons, and hospital-based occupations are among the fastest growing in the nation. The people who fill these occupations come from every walk of life and from varying educational backgrounds. High school graduates, through on-the-job training, fill such jobs as nursing aide, electrocardiograph technician, food service supervisor, dietary aide, laboratory technician, psychiatric aide, or surgical technical aide. Professional nurses complete at least three years of education and training beyond high school in preparation for their work. College graduates pursue careers in hospital engineering, purchasing, public relations or personnel. Persons with postgraduate training work as occupational therapists, physical therapists, medical social workers, hospital administrators, health science librarians, or speech pathologists. The 1968 observance of National Hospital Week, sponsored by the American Hospital Association, starts today. It is a fitting week in which to recognize the vital contributions made by these rarely seen and too often forgotten hospital employees.

Asia Peace Hinges On China

NEW YORK (UPI)—President Humphrey introduced a realistic note into the current debate on American foreign policy with his suggestion that now is the time to build "peaceful bridges" to Red China. He was looking beyond the Vietnam conflict when he said that the United States could usefully pursue toward the Chinese the same policy of increased contact that has been followed in Russia and Communist East Europe. It takes courage for a presidential aspirant to suggest a rapprochement with Peking at this time, but President Humphrey did so. He said the most important diplomatic element in strategy—military or political—is clarity about one's intentions. He said that the United States should engage in meaningful negotiations with the Russians, clear that the Russians, plagued by troubles in their own country and in the satellites of East Europe, would like to liberate themselves from the costly North Vietnamese albatross. Moreover, the Kremlin rulers have always been convinced that the Communists stand to gain more at the negotiating table than on the battlefield. But it is fear of Red China that is the reason for the tortuous twists and turns in Sino-American negotiations. As long as Mao seeks in his isolation, a Chinese nationalistic, He Chai Minh is in no position to engage in meaningful negotiations. There is still another compelling reason why Humphrey's suggestion should be taken seriously. If the Russians have their hands tied in Europe, the Middle East and Latin America as long as

Thailand Plan

These major improvements are obviously aimed at coordinated operations over the years ahead. Even more serious here is an attempt to train many Thai Chinese residents who have been sent to Communist China over the past years for schooling. It is known that numbers of these young men have returned from Red China only to disappear from sight. With few exceptions, they are apparently not connected with the Communist underground terrorism in northeast Thailand or the fighting in the northwest. City gardens increased 12 million in one year, now total 42 million. In 57 million families there are now 81 million home gardeners working 45 million gardens. Gardening is presently the most popular adult hobby. Through the percentage of new homes declines (in favor of apartments), the number of new gardens continues to increase. Consumers now purchasing 17.5 per cent more home-computer than last year (figures reports sales up 28.2 per cent). What are our young people coming to? Apparently, they are coming home.

MR. SPECTATOR. This Gal Sees Her Chance

Every now and then Mr. Spectator gets an amusing letter. He came into possession of one from a Jerome woman and is of the opinion it ought to be passed on to Washington. I know this is the opportunity of my lifetime to visit our National capital, which my limited means have always prevented in the past. I have heard the grapevine that the Office of Economic Opportunity or the Community Action Programs are furnishing transportation while the recruits actually searching for value. I always wanted to be a sensation on T.V., so I know this is for me! I'm sure my financial status is within the poverty bracket (you might check my income tax report in case you doubt my statements). Don't be troubled by the acres of ground I own. I intend to get it into the bank because I won't need it anymore for my legs, since I am also going into the not-rainfalling business. (We get large subsidies for that.) I have considered cashing in on my insurance policy (Social Security) that I have been paying on for 30 years and my parents have been for 10 years, but I find it has no cash value. I have a few acquaintances that are doing so much better on their welfare checks than I can do in business for myself, that I have decided to keep them. If there are several bureaus that handle these transportation costs, please give me the names of all of them, and I will make separate applications to each one. I will have to bring some extra cash as I plan to drop by the Home-Fair at Houston before I come home. I don't wish to become involved in the Civil Rights Administration, as I'm not a racialist. Furthermore, the Communists have infiltrated that movement and it has become too riotous and destructive. If you would strive to keep the movement separate. We should get Nelson Rockefeller or Robert Kennedy to lead our march as they have

PAUL HARVEY What About Our Young People?

School-age Americans returning to sewing, gardening, canning? I don't believe it. FBI crime reports show youth crime increasing 11 times faster than the population is increasing. Daily headlines recount the activities of young gangsters ranging from mischief to murder. School-agers appear to flock to kookie-cakes, nutsy dances and goofy fashions. If you look at tomorrow's citizenry, the mirror of today's front page, they appear frightfully irresponsible. But what's this? More young Americans are turning good than are going bad! The discovery was made inadvertently during routine market research. A Columbus, Ohio, manufacturer was surveying the extracurricular activities of a cross-section of young Americans. Unbelievable at first, the findings have since been corroborated by A. C. Nielsen and further confirmed by sales figures. Such sales figures as this: Kerr is now selling more jars, caps and lids for home canning than freezing that any time in six years. What do you know about that? Completing the jigsaw puzzle picture of today's average youngster, these additional pieces fall into place. Increased sales of sewing machines, thread, zippers and fabrics for home dressmaking. A phenomenally increased publication and distribution of books on all facets of homemaking. While a handful of young people focus attention on the crackpots and troublemakers, my findings, however, with extremes of deportment, the "new youth" is reverting—or progressing—to toward a psychology of realism, responsibility and self-reliance. I have been mightily encouraged by recent and frequent campus visits, the crackpots and troublemakers notwithstanding, but this is the first corroborative evidence of the new sociological revolution, irrefragably figures show that today's youth are determined to be useful: This is their first heading; it is not their last. I would like to refer to the concept of "instant everything" and despite all-time high family incomes, young people are wearing a new look as a result of three separate research projects: 1—Marriages of young persons are at an all-time high—most women now marry at 18 or 19. 2—Young marrieds are now interested in making a career, switching to home economic consumer programs. 3—Young marrieds are now likely to start gardening the first year of marriage (traditionally, the third year) and they plant 50 per cent bigger gardens than 10 years ago. 4—City gardens increased 12 million in one year, now total 42 million. 5—In 57 million families there are now 81 million home gardeners working 45 million gardens. 6—Gardening is presently the most popular adult hobby. 7—Through the percentage of new homes declines (in favor of apartments), the number of new gardens continues to increase. 8—Consumers now purchasing 17.5 per cent more home-computer than last year (figures reports sales up 28.2 per cent). What are our young people coming to? Apparently, they are coming home.

Rates Set Up For Use Of Fine Arts Center At CSI

CSI trustees have approved a fee structure recommended by the College of Southern Idaho Fine Arts Commission for public use of the facility now under construction and scheduled to open this fall.

The commission met Monday afternoon at the Holiday Inn where members reviewed several applications area groups have submitted for use of the nearly 1,000-seat facility.

High rate for use has been set at $250 a night for evening performances by groups charging admission. Evening rehearsal fees for groups in this category have been set at $50; and $75 per day and evening use for building sets, placing sets and other technical work, has also been set. Maximum number of days such groups can use the facility has been set at 10 days.

Fee charges for groups charging no admission have been set at $50 per evening performance; $25 per evening rehearsal; $50 per afternoon performance; $25 per afternoon rehearsal; and $25 per day for building sets, placing sets or other technical work. Maximum time any such group in this category will be allowed to use the facility has been set at three days.

However, the commission noted that if no conflict in scheduling is in evidence, the time limit could be subject to change.

Commercial use of the facility has been set at $25 an hour for 24 hours. Maximum time limit in this category has been set at 72 hours.

For state entertainments, the limit also has been set at 72 hours. Charge for such groups will be $10 an hour, with no admission charge. If admission is charged, the rate fee will be set at $25 per category. No more than $250 per performance.

These costs have been projected on an estimated public use of 25 per cent of 365 days a year. Estimated upkeep of the facility, including light, heating and cooling and janitorial services, for 100 per cent of 365 days has been set at $300,000.

The public's share of this cost based on the 25 per cent usage, has been estimated at $7,500, or an estimated daily cost of $15.

Dr. James L. Taylor, college president, noted during the meeting that the cost charged organizations for use of the building, compared with that for use of other buildings, can be justified.

The seating in the fine arts center will be about double that available in any other building in this area. Special lighting, already constructed, and many other items will be available, which groups would normally have to buy or construct.

LaVar Steel, chairman of the CSI art department and chairman of the CSI Lyceum committee, set up to schedule and arrange for college related functions, announced at the meeting that open house for the fine arts center has been set for Oct. 9-12.

Scheduled for that week are an art exhibit by Max Peters, chairman of the College Art Department, a concert by Helen Laird, soprano of the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music; a concert by the Utah Symphony Orchestra, and a production by the Idaho State University drama department.

The college already has set other activities on the fine arts calendar. Mr. Steele noted that continuous art showings have been scheduled. He said that these showings will not interfere with other use of the building because displays will be set up in the halls for the enjoyment of people who are at the center for other activities.

WRITER IS DEAD
ANN-ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—Allan Seager, 62, novelist and short-story writer, died Friday of cancer. Seager was a professor of English at the University of Michigan. Among his novels were "Equinox," "Amos Berne," and "Death of Anger."

Scores Skirts

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—The University of Arizona newspaper, The Wildcat, complained editorially that the brevity of noon skirts is creating a crisis among men students.

"More thigh is revealed than practically any other school in the country," said the editorial.

"The average miniskirt, it said, is four inches above the knee at 70 degrees but goes up two inches for every 10-degree rise in the temperature."

It noted with alarm that the temperatures would be in the 90s by mid-May, "a near catastrophe before final exams."

Gem Sheriffs Are Opposed To Proposal

SALMON, Idaho (AP)—A proposal that county law enforcement officials has been opposed by the Idaho Sheriffs Association.

In a special meeting Friday, 32 of the 44 association members voted against the suggestion of the Legislative Council's staff that county law enforcement be directed by an appointed county law enforcement committee.

The association's president, Gem County Sheriff Don Dekow of Emmet, directed the association's legislative committee to prepare a program of positive recommendations on improved law enforcement for the county's legislative study committee.

The association adjourned the meeting, which had the best attendance in its history, after noting that "the sheriff, as now constituted, is the only law enforcement officer of general jurisdiction who is still directly responsible to the voters."

The chairman of the association's legislative committee, Ada County Sheriff Paul W. Bright, Boise, said, "We have no recommendation of the Legislative Council committee, but I want to offer constructive suggestions which will be helpful in formulating a program for a better police system."

Bright said the sheriff "refuse to relinquish the thought that the chief law enforcement officer of each county should be a constitutionally elected officer as is the sheriff."

Rupert Citizens Conduct Study

RUPERT—A fifteen member nucleus Citizen's Committee has been selected by the Minidoka County School Board of Trustees to study the possibilities of construction of two new junior high schools for the district.

The board has been contemplating the aspects of the construction since receiving results of a University of Idaho survey team, which evaluated the county's school system about a year ago. The team decided the system's schools were overcrowded and that possibly construction of the new schools, one in the east and one in the west, would alleviate the situation.

The newly-appointed Citizen's Committee, in addition to several other citizens they will select to help, will work with the trustees in the consideration of all aspects of the proposed construction. The committee includes Mrs. Dick Ashcraft and Ralph McCombs, Hazelton; Frank Urqugen, Rodney Hanson, Oscar Arstelt, and Bob Greer, Paul; and Don Ballantyne, Mrs. LaVonne Colbert, George MacDonald, Mrs. Wayne Hollister, Ross Hunsaker, Mrs. Martin Hoebelhenrich, W. R. Paul, Mrs. Jerri Chugg, and G. L. Guilford, Rupert.

They represent the five school zones in the system.

According to the present school enrollment, some 1300 students would be housed in the new schools if constructed. Officials estimate the cost of the structures would amount to approximately $2 million. The building attorney, firm of Millard Harris, Caldwell, whose services have been hired by the school system for consultation in the matter, suggested that the money for the construction be raised by increasing the present school levy of 3 1/2 mills to 11 mills.

HOW-TO-USE COLOR

Is one of the most difficult things for the amateur decorator to learn, and a floor for color is one of the most important factors in the professional decorator's work.

Yet there are a number of guidelines anyone can use for selecting color.

One factor is personal preference. People react to particular colors, and experience teaches most people are partial to a particular color range. A good decorator will work with that color preference, because the homeowner will be happy in a setting.

But the repetition of one color range while useful in any home interior as the basic scheme, can soon become monotonous. How to avoid the "muted" color scheme, the contrast color or opposite in the color spectrum which will serve as a catalyst, bringing the beauty of the basic color scheme, emphasizing it by contrast.

A warm color (one is enough) will make a room, formed of cool tones more livable, and a cool color will keep a room of reds and oranges from getting too hot and too warm. The bright, vivid color in a room of neutral shades will have the same effect.

You'll find it useful to bring swatches of fabric and color chips, which you take you come in to see the store look of new furnishings. We can help you achieve the happy color combination you want. Stop in and talk over your plans.

Trapped Miner Recounts Days Of Terror

Editor's note: Otis Junior Walton is one of the 15 coal miners rescued today after spending five days in a flooded shaft at the West Virginia mine. He sat with his wife and five children and recounted the five days of terror which followed the newsman Holger Jensen by OTTIE JUNIOR WALTON (As told to the Associated Press) HONOLULU, W. Va. (AP) — He was getting out. Frank Davis, our superintendent, said there were 10 other men with me. He was going after them with (Edward F.) Bozo Rudd. He told me to get my bunch out of there up to high ground. That water was coming in like a river. In about 20 minutes there were five inches and then it was up to two feet in no time at all. The water was touching the ceiling in the swag (a long deep dip in the mine floor)—just like that.

There's not much room to move around down there—it's only 22 inches high. But down by the edge of the swag it's six feet and a man can stand. I got the men who were with me out of there. There were 18 of us. Then we waited. Nobody panicked. Everybody was real cool. As soon as he got to a phone, Davis called the side and told them to ready the pumps. I knew we were going to get out because I had faith in the rescue officials who also were the first into the mine to take the lead the men out.

"We just talked. Some of us slept. For a while we just sat and had a good old bull session. All the boys had a good sense of humor. And they told a lot of jokes. I wouldn't care to repeat them here in front of my wife. After a while we had trouble breathing. There was plenty of air but we had pressure in there because of the rising water. Our ears nearly blew up when they punched that hole through (an air and supply hole drilled from the top of the mountain.) That hole meant life for us, food, blankets and drinking water. Before they sunk that hole it was cold if you didn't move around. We were pretty disappointed when they didn't get us out

Employment Official Here Is Promoted

James E. Catterton, 43, Twin Falls, has been promoted to manager of the Department of Employment Office at Pocatello. He Fred Garrett, executive director of the department, announced the promotion to his new post Monday. He has resided in Twin Falls for 12 years.

JAMES E. CATTERTON has been promoted to manager of the Department of Employment.

A native Nebraskan, Mr. Catterton began work for the state of Idaho in 1957 at the Twin Falls office of the Department of Employment, where he became assistant manager in 1967. He entered the employment security career field in 1956 with the Nebraska State Department of Security as farm placement interviewer at the Kearney office. Mr. Catterton has been active in professional and community affairs here. He was president of the Idaho chapter, International Association of Personnel in 1964. He has been a member since 1957 and was president of the Twin Falls Grange for one year. He was also president of a Cub Scout pack in a member of the Chamber of Commerce and worked for two years in the Twin Falls United Fund program.

Co-Ed Dorms Suggested In England

LANCASTER, England (AP)—A university dean has reportedly suggested that unmarried men and girls students should be allowed to share bedrooms in a dormitory at a new college here.

The proposal reportedly made by Dr. David Craig of Lancaster University was rejected by the college staff committee, the student newspaper Carolynine said. It gave this reason:

"Craig, a 35-year-old lecturer who is married with four children, predicted the scheme would be adopted by all universities. 'In my lifetime' and 'I think students should sleep together if they want to do.' 'A university cannot stop this happening outside, and I don't see any reason why they should prevent it—on the university campus.' 'It may be good psychologically for students to feel safe about sleeping together without fear of being thrown out of the university.'"

Craig won a partial victory in his campaign. University authorities are agreed to an alternative arrangement for "mixed corridors" in the college dormitory with men and girls students in separate rooms, but on the same floor.

Dr. John Creed, college principal, said: "I am totally against the idea of unmarried students sharing bedrooms, but I voted for the mixed corridors scheme."

Report Claims Viet Project Corruption

BY GAYLORD SHAW WASHINGTON (AP)—A secret Senate report charges there are definite indications of kickbacks in a U.S. construction project in South Vietnam—a country where it says millions of dollars are being squandered because of inefficiency, bribery, corruption and foolishness.

The 73-page document, prepared by Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., after a tour of southeast Asia last December, urges a broad congressional investigation of U.S. operations and programs in the war zone.

The report, which has been filed with the Senate permanent investigations subcommittee. The document has not been made public but The Associated Press obtained a copy of it.

Ribicoff describes the agency for international development mission in Saigon as "one of the most overblown bureaucracies I have ever seen." He claims, "Vietnam's society is riddled with corruption, and said there is collusion between Vietnamese racketeers, military and civilian personnel."

"It is obvious," Ribicoff writes, "that a thorough investigation in depth would swiftly bring about corrective measures which would save many millions of dollars in federal funds which are now being squandered because of inefficient administration—corruption and foolishness."

In reporting on U.S.-financed construction projects in Vietnam, he says the General Accounting Office should examine contracts held by Pacific Architects & Engineers Inc., a Los Angeles firm, and RMK-BRJ, a joint venture that includes Raymond International of Delaware Inc., Morris-Knudsen of Asia Inc., Brown & Root Inc., and J.A. Jones Construction Co., Pacific Architects & Engineers received $132 million last year to operate and maintain physical facilities and utilities at Army installations through investigations subcommittee. The document has not been made public but The Associated Press obtained a copy of it.

BID OPENING SET IDAHO FALLS (AP)— Bids will be opened May 22 for a one-year janitorial and maintenance service contract for the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission's Idaho headquarters building in Idaho Falls.

The contract for fiscal 1969 will include labor, supplies and equipment necessary to perform the work.

LICENSES SUSPENDED BOISE (AP)— Driving privileges of 285 persons were suspended in Idaho Sunday by the Idaho Department of Law Enforcement.

"Driver Improvement" supervisor Paul R. Hale said the total included 21 persons from outside Idaho and suspensions were from 30 to 90 days.

Hale said suspensions included 131 for driving while under the influence of alcohol, and 74 for reckless driving.

In which 31 drivers lost their licenses temporarily.

CHECKS POSTPONED BOISE (AP)— North Idaho demonstrations of the use of aircraft to check highway speeds of motorists have been postponed, announced Friday by the Idaho Department of Law Enforcement.

State Police Lt. Ervin Dunn said the check will be at Lewiston May 21 and Coeur d'Alene May 22.

Ribicoff says, "Some $125,000 was spent in Singapore, in spite of the fact that assistance in kind funds used to pay (the firm) are provided by the government of Vietnam to U.S. forces for use only in Vietnam."

There were also definite indications that some of the PAE employees were receiving kickbacks for giving the business to certain Singapore firms. There are further indications that the contracting officer, if not directly involved, was purchasing inferior commodities at higher prices.

Ribicoff reports using assistance-in-kind funds circumvented a statute and violated military regulation. He said, "We understand the Army contracting officer did not necessarily agree with this arrangement, but indicated that this was the only way he could get the funds and that he was going to burn all the records shortly after completion of the project."

The Senator writes the "matter of kickbacks involving a PAE civilian employee" was referred to the Justice Department which declined prosecution "apparently because witnesses were scattered around the world."

Silva Feels Limit Needs To Be Raised

BOISE (AP)— Idaho Finance Commissioner John Silva says the interest rate limit on farm loans should be raised to 10 percent. He contends this would lower the average interest rate, which is now the highest in the West.

Silva said the present eight percent limit in Idaho makes every borrower an average customer.

An increased limit, he claimed, would allow lending institutions to charge higher rates for poor risks and lower rates for preferred risks, bringing the average down.

Silva supports his contention with figures from a report by the Federal Reserve Bank of San Francisco, which surveys loans in the eight-state area under its jurisdiction.

Idaho has an average interest rate of 7.5 percent on farm loans, Silva said.

Arizona has the lowest average at 6.5 percent. Silva noted the average amount of a farm loan in Arizona is more than $2,000, compared with about $3,500 in Idaho.

In California, he said, the average is 6.6 percent and the limit under state law is 12 percent.

Israeli Says Guerrillas Losing Battle

TEL AVIV (AP)—The Israelis, utilizing hot pursuit into the Jordanian desert, are winning their battle against Arab guerrillas, a former army intelligence boss said today.

At a news conference here, Gen. Haim Herzog, now a military analyst on the Israeli State Radio, said in a broadcast that recent Israeli successes have created a feeling of demoralization among the Al Fatah commando groups. He added that 31 were killed in one week alone by the Israelis.

"The turning point in the anti-guerrilla war came last March when the Israelis smashed the Jordan River to raid the Karameh camp and other commando bases, killing 100 guerrillas and capturing 100.

The Israelis have employed helicopters to pursue the raiders, sometimes across the frontiers. They also have mounted artillery and aerial strikes against the commandos and have set up a wire fence along the Jordan River which presumably employs "modern techniques of detection," the general added.

RUSSIAN DIES MOSCOW (AP)—Marshal Vasily D. Sokolovsky, 70, Soviet military strategist who planned the operation for the capture of Berlin in World War II, died Friday after a grave illness. He held the posts of first deputy defense minister and chief of the general staff after the war.

Petitions filed this week guarantee races in the nomination for sheriff and second district county commissioner, both on the Republican ticket. The Democratic ticket in the county, in fact, only two persons filed petitions. They are incumbent Howard E. Adkins for prosecuting attorney and Floyd O. Kising, legislative district chairman.

Thomas W. Conner is seeking election as sheriff and Max E. Behr, Richfield, has filed to oppose him on the Republican ticket in the primary election.

Others filing for office on the Republican ticket here are the incumbent, with the exception of Mrs. Shirley Tews, who has been acting deputy assessor since the death of assessor Ray E. Oyer in February, and D. S. Hiatt, north Shoshone, who has filed for State Senator, Legislative District No. 21. Mrs. Tews is seeking the Republican nomination to the office of assessor. She has no opposition at this point.

Others filing for office on the Republican ticket are Treasurer Myron D. Johnson, Probate Judge C. M. Wilson, Coroner R. G. Neher, Glenn L. Sorenson, third district county commissioner.

Sorenson will seek a two-year seat he has been filling by appointment since the death of W. E. Bolton.

The county vacancies on either party may be filled at the Central Committee meetings.

Washington School Students Receive Awards For Fitness

Presidential physical fitness badges and certificates signed by President Lyndon B. Johnson have been awarded to 18 students at Washington Elementary School. The students, all fourth, fifth and sixth graders, competed with about 300 other Washington students, Washington school was the only one in Twin Falls where students took the test.

To receive the presidential citation, a student had to place in the 85th percentile or above. Exercises in which they took part included sit-ups, pull-ups, broad jump, 50-yard dash, shuttle run, softball throw and 600-yard walk-run.

Those receiving the awards at an assembly Friday were Debbie Arrington, Ricky Martice, Scott Cignelli, Rex Gintewer, Kevin Packard, Ronald Yaker, Kristine Stanger, Billy Davis, Alana Smith, Kristy Lynn Cofield, Mary-Tjarks, Betsy Sanger, Suzanne Wikem, Julie Woyat, Mel Harder and Sally Ryan.

At the time of the budget meeting the information was put out that the mill levy for the '68-'69 budget would be less than the mill levy for the '67-'68 year, he said. For '67-'68 the M and O levy was 30 mills, bond interest and redemption, 9 and 1/4 mills, and school plant facilities levy, 2 mills, for a total of 41 and 1/4 mills.

For the '68-'69 year budget the M and O levy is 30 mills, for a total of 40 mills. The district must qualify to levy the mill emergency levy, Mr. Hankins continued.

Mr. Hankins said, "May is the time to express your wishes, not next December. Qualified electors of the district will decide. If you do not use your voting privilege, you have no sound basis of complaining about what those who do vote, decide."

Annual Shriners Big Dinner-Dance Rated 'Best Ever' In T. F.

DANCING TO THE music of Allan Devries Orchestra are guests at the Twin Falls Shrine Club's annual dinner-dance at the Blue Lakes Country Club. After the music began, the dance floor was never empty.

T. F. Shrine Club Hosts Annual Spring Social

By NORMA HERZINGER

Who has more fun than Shriners? Well—if the question had been asked during the group's spring dinner-dance at the Blue Lakes Country Club—any member would have assured you, "no one."

A fun party must include congenial people, lots of food and refreshments and plenty of good dance music—and the Shriners had ample amounts of each. In fact, the attendance far exceeded what was expected, and additional tables had to be set up to accommodate everyone. As guests entered the club, they were met by the "ticket takers," Morris Roth and Lee Hunter, who seem to be devoted members where this type job is concerned.

General chairman of the social, Dr. Frank McAtee, and his lovely wife welcomed guests and pointed the way to the hors d'oeuvres table, which is a sure way to get a party off to the right start.

The event began with a refreshment hour at 7 p.m., with dinner served about 8:30 p.m. Erlor, to Juncos, Vic Graybill, president of the Twin Falls Shrine Club, greeted all guests and presented a past president's gavel pin to Archie Langdon. Several special prizes were given to lucky persons holding the magic numbers. Guests attended from Shrine Clubs throughout Magic Valley and a special guest was Wilbur Dakin, Boise, chief rabbi, El Korah Divan. Mr. Dakin was featured speaker and congratulated the group on its outstanding and most successful party.

Shriners and their ladies like to dance, and as soon as the music began the dance floor was filled the rest of the evening. Music was provided by the Allan Devries Orchestra.

Shrine Clubs are well known for their many worthwhile projects and successful functions, and hats are off, even if we do not all wear fezzes, to many, many more.

ONE OF THE LOCAL Shriners, Glenn Jenkins, right, stops to chat with a guest from Gooding. Guests attended the annual social from throughout Magic Valley and the Boise area.

THE DANCEST Couple ARISE here was Gordon Shaw, partner with the Bureau of Reclamation, and his lovely partner, Sheila Wagner. They danced practically every dance, and very well, too.

Dear Abby

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: Joe and I have been married for 13 years and have had a fairly happy marriage. Joe isn't the jealous type, but I think he carries it to the extreme.

We've been very friendly with a rather weird couple who live across the street from us. Pete is 52, short, fat and very unattractive. Aggie is his third wife. She's cute and sexy and about 25 years younger than Pete. She obviously married him for his money.

Lately Pete is getting much too friendly with me. He puts his hands on me, and once made a direct proposition, which I turned down gracefully. It seems the four of us are spending more and more time together during which time Pete tries to play "fast" with me. Last night he even took his foot in my lap. I loudly told him off, and my husband just laughed.

I play pool with as long as it isn't her. (I think she must have something else going for her.) Anyway, Pete suggested the four of us take a month's vacation together. I started making excuses but my husband was all for it.

Is our marriage sick? I don't care to spend all that time with this couple. Why should my husband want to? And why shouldn't he be annoyed that another man makes passes at his wife?
 JOE'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: Your marriage is sick, and so is Joe in the area of husbandhood. A man who respects his wife and his marriage would not tolerate any monkey business, much less encourage it. Tell Joe that if he enjoys Pete's company, he should see him without you. And you could be right about Aggie's having something else going for her. Just make sure it's not Joe.

DEAR ABBY: Two weeks ago I met a very attractive eligible bachelor for a party. I was "free" (divorced) and we seemed instantly attracted to each other. He asked me for my telephone number and said he'd call me. He also gave me his business card and wrote his home telephone number on the back. He said that he goes out often on short business trips frequently which is probably why I haven't heard from him as yet.

I have had my hand on the telephone several times to call him, but so far I have been able to resist. Today I received an invitation to a very nice party for which I'll need an escort. Do I dare call him? I know he liked me. We just seemed to "click." If I call him to invite him to this party do you think it will look like I am chasing him?
TEMPTEE

DEAR TEMPTED: Yes, Don't call him. Most attractive light-colored hair is also spelled by women who pursue them. Don't join the pack. If the attraction was mutual, you'll be hearing from him.

DEAR ABBY: I have a wonderful husband, but the trouble seems to be the girl he went with before he married me. She keeps sending him "Miss You" cards, birthday telegrams and Christmas cards, etc. And she signs everything "Love."

I have begged my husband to please call up this old girl friend and tell her that he and I all she should leave him alone, but he won't do it. He says he has never done anything to encourage her, and he doesn't like but I feel if he really loved me he would do something to put a stop to all this. I am 68 and he is 68 and we have been married 17 months.
WORRIED

DEAR WORRIED: You would be wise to quit begging your wonderful husband. He's right. He has done nothing to encourage her, and by ignoring her he is discouraging her in the best possible way. His old girl friend probably never met him, his mind—and YOU bring her up.

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 9770, Los Angeles, Cal., 90098 and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Special awards were presented to Mrs. Russell Tigert, Soda Springs, traveling the farthest; Mrs. Fred Rogers, Rupert, most grandchildren, and Mrs. Rava Jones, Burley, most children. The breakfast was sponsored by Xi Omega Chapter and Alpha Zeta Chapter, both Burley, and Beta Eta Chapter, Rupert, at Cousin Roy's Cafe.

Area Hobbyettes Conduct Meet

DIETRICH—The Dietrich Hobbyettes convened at the home of Mrs. Duane Alesett with Mrs. Willard Nelson as co-hostess.

Mrs. Delbert Nelson reported on a meeting she attended at the Lincoln County Courthouse concerning "Women's Rights and Responsibilities," given by Mary Schmidt, Gooding.

Demonstrations in flower making and arranging were presented by Mrs. Asstet and Mrs. Ferrel Cook, North Shoshone. Mrs. Cook and Mrs. Del-Hiatt brought several arrangements of crepe paper and tissue paper flowers as well as samples of plastic flowers.

Annual Spring Banquet Held

SHOSHONE—Members of St. Peter's Catholic Church Altar Society held their annual spring banquet and installation meeting at the Mannattan Cafe.

Mrs. Robert Haddock was installed as president; Mrs. Fred Gehlin, vice president; Mrs. Louise Logosec, secretary, and Mrs. Frank Legerucia, treasurer.

Retiring president, Mrs. Gilbert Sweet, was presented a gift from the group.

Floral table decorations and corsages for all officers were made and donated by Mrs. Leon Sapoga.

There will be no more meetings until fall.

Members have decided to hold one meeting a month during the summer, with one picnic party planned during that time.

Birthday names were drawn and refreshments served by the hostesses. There were three guests present.

Women's Group Has Program

KING HILL — "Dare" was the theme of the program presented by Mrs. Martin Woodward when the United Presbyterian Women met at the home of Mrs. Arthur Greer.

Mrs. Nathan Miller read a letter from Mrs. Jean Wood, Ontario, Ore., announcing that a project is being started for a college fund for Shirley Jones, Ontario, daughter of Rev. Woodley Jones, former King Hill resident. The project will be a three year project and all groups of the United Presbyterian churches in the Boise Presbytery are asked to participate in this project. The project is being sponsored by the Presbytery and each member is asked to donate $1.

Miss Jones will attend Treasure Valley College at Ontario this coming year. No list of literature books will be available for 1969, according to the literature secretary, Mrs. Mildred Carnahan. Books are available for reading material from Arthur Greer, assistant secretary.

Mrs. Woodward announced a meeting of the nominating committee will be held soon to nominate officers for the coming year. Members are Mrs. Woodward, Mrs. John Baple and Mrs. Jack Crater.

Members are asked to furnish articles for the baby layette for the sewing project.

Elizabeth Lawson, local service chairman, gave a report on the clean-up work at the church, and the manse for Rev. and Mrs. Dwight Wilcher. Rev. Mr. Wilcher is the Methodist minister at Glenns Ferry and also minister here in King Hill.

Mrs. Marie Lawson, executive secretary, gave a talk on a report on "The Wall" in East Berlin and Youth Temperance Week. Mrs. Wilcher, stewardship secretary, gave a talk on chaplains in the armed services who are serving in Vietnam.

Mrs. Greer, least coin chairman, talked on "Cleansing" Japan. Guest was Mrs. E. Hamilton, Redonda Beach, Calif. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Greer.

MR. AND MRS. WILLIAM L. CASH

W. M. Payne, Cash Marry In Temple Rites

CAREY — The Idaho Falls LDS Temple was the setting for the April 20 marriage ceremony for W. M. Payne and Mrs. Roy Payne. Carey and William L. Cash, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Cash, Riverdale, Utah.

The couple was honored at an open house held in the Carey LDS Ward Cultural Hall that evening. Shades of pale pink to deep rose were used in the decorations.

The wedding party received guests at a background of deep rose crepe paper streamers, accented with roses in pink shades attached on the streamers. Quarter tables were covered with white cloths and centered with bouquets of roses. Large baskets of shaded roses were placed at each end of the receiving line.

The gift table was centered with a deep rose azalea plant. Patsy Payne and Janice Blasedale were in charge of the gift table. Mrs. D. E. Adamson, Mrs. Shirly Reay and LaDonna Lee presided at the refreshment table. Carolyn Wilberg registered guests.

Out-of-town guests attended from Ogden, Cedar City, Roy, Utah; Albion and Ketchum, Idaho. The bride wore a Bridal original gown of full brocade, fashioned with a slim skirt and long tapered sleeves. Pearls were applied at the neckline and wrists giving accent to the gown. She carried a long stemmed deep pink rose.

The couple will reside at 5100 S. 1850 W. Ogden.

In charge of decorations for the reception were Mrs. Carl Payne, Mrs. Mac Barton, Vicki Erickson, Mrs. Ruth Justesen, Maryann Justesen and Muriel Sparks.

The bride was graduated from Carey High School and Brigham Young University and fulfilled an LDS mission to Japan. She is employed at Hill Field Air Force Base, where she was employed prior to her mission.

The bridegroom is employed as a railroad engineer at the Supply Depot, Ogden.

Silent Auction Conducted By Women's Group

A silent auction was held when the Ladies Auxiliary Patriarch Millant met recently at the Twin Falls Odd Fellows Temple.

Mrs. Island Hudson, president, was in charge of the meeting with Mrs. George Easton giving the opening thought. The club's tonight was presented by Mrs. William Hopkins.

It was reported cards have been sent to the ill and bereaved. Flowers sent calls made. Time spent in community service and funerals attended.

Members voted to donate $10 to the Department Association, IAPM provided for her project.

A no-host potluck dinner was held prior to the meeting. Mrs. Dale Bowman sang two selections in honor of Mother's Day and the anniversary of the auxiliary.

The next regular meeting is set for June 3 at the Buhl Odd Fellows Temple.

Plans Made For Summer Camp

GLENN'S FERRY — Day Camp planning committee, composed of Mrs. Calvin White, Mrs. Hazel Lee, Mrs. Elden Allen and Mrs. Ernest Pasborg, met recently to coordinate plans for a five-day summer camp to be held in the Hull Memorial Park here June 10 through 14.

Mrs. Tews is Day Camp director and handicraft chairman. Assistant directors are Mrs. Allen and business manager, Mrs. Robert Sims. Most leaders will work as unit leaders but do need assistants. Mrs. Allen reminded any parent or interested person who can give an hour a day

IRIS LEHMANN

Iris Lehmann, Johnson Plan July Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Lehmann announce the engagement of their daughter, Iris, to Dale Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Johnson, Wendell.

Miss Lehmann is a 1967 graduate of Wendell High School and attending Twin Falls Business College.

Mr. Johnson attended Wendell schools. He is now engaged in farming.

A July wedding is planned or part of any day is urged to call either of the directors. Day Camp training will be given on May 21 and 22 by Mrs. Nell Garrison, Mountain Home, and Mrs. Jean Allen, Glenns Ferry. All adults who will be working in Day Camp for the week are urged to attend the training sessions.

22 Grandmothers Honored At Tea

By MARY THOMPSON
Times-News Correspondent

GOODNESS—Everyone has a mental picture of what a grandma should be and should look like. One conceals it of the "dainty" who makes cookies, rocks, a lolly pop grandchild, wears an apron, and always has time and patience to answer questions, and another is the modern grandma, who enters the work-a-day world as a secretary, clerk in a store, waitress or whatever.

Everyone, however, would have to agree that all these types and more were represented when 22 grandmothers from all over Gooding County were honored by the Gooding Civic Club at a tea recently, and after much thought and consideration one was selected as a representative grandmother from among all these, and a hard job it was, too.

Mrs. Verdie Johnston was chosen for this honor, to the delight of all present, and of course, for the other 21. The choice was a great honor of being chosen by their respective organizations as the most typical from that group.

In the words of Mrs. Johnston, "Being a grandmother means the fulfillment of a long, useful and satisfying life. What a thrill to see these children, who are part of you, grow into wonderful men and women, able and willing to serve their country and their God."

How wonderful to receive a letter telling you one of them has been chosen "Soldier of the Year" from among 800 other soldiers. Each accomplishment makes you happy, regardless how small; and how humble you feel when one tells you what you have meant in his life, that your teachings have made him able to understand and accept the problems of life, and how much your love and care has meant to him.

Being a grandmother becomes more wonderful each time you have another grandchild added to your family tree, the gender never matters, only that it's healthy and normal.

And perhaps the most important thing is seeing your own children become fathers and mothers, the care and love they give those wonderful, wonderful grandchildren.

Mrs. Johnston is in a position to know since she is grandmother to 14 and great-grandmother to 14. All her neighbors and neighbors' children will attest that she is mother and grandmother to all of them.

Mrs. Johnston has been active in civic organizations and affairs for a long, long time. She is very musical and is always called upon to play her fiddle or banjo. She is always willing to lend a helping hand and helps anyone needing help, whether it be cooking for them, taking care of their children, caring for the ill, visiting at hospitals or shut-ins at home and comforting the bereaved. She is also the grandma with flour on her cheek, hot cookies in her oven, and a hot rock, a child or wife away a tear.

There were 21 other grandmothers who fit in all the categories of love, caring, service, and all the rest.

These included Mrs. Helen Bray, nominated by the Bliss Helping Hand Club; Mrs. K. T. Butler, Twentieth Century Club; Mrs. A. V. Carter, Gooding Garden Club; Mrs. Margaret Chigbrow, Gooding Golden Hour Club; Mrs. Hannah Cromwell, Auxiliary of World-War-I, Gooding; Mrs. Florence Dedyck, Mary Circle of First Baptist Church, Gooding; Mrs. Charles Gec, Celia Circle of Methodist Church, Gooding; Mrs. Richard Gonsales, Bliss Garden Club; Mrs. Ethel Heller, PEO Sisterhood, Gooding; Mrs. Debra Hill, Senior Aid of Gooding Christian Church; Mrs. Wayne Holloway, TOPS-KKK-Club, Gooding; Mrs. Johnston, Sorosis Club, Gooding; Mrs. Omar Melton, Good Neighbor Club, Gooding; Mrs. Eva Mae Moore, Marguerite Rebekah Lodge No. 98, Gooding; Mrs. Tydia Nilsson, Gooding Ward LBS Relief Society; Mrs.

Kendal North, Gooding Baptist Women's Missionary Society; Mrs. Edith Ohlinger, Esther Circle of Gooding Methodist Church; Mrs. Augustin Sabala, Gooding Catholic League; Mrs. James Scott, Shoestring

A REPRESENTATIVE GRANDMOTHER, Mrs. Verdie Johnston, is crowned by Mrs. Murva James during the recent Grandmother's Tea hosted by the Gooding Civic Club. Looking on are Mrs. Doyle Allen, granddaughter, and Mrs. Phyllis Young, daughter of Mrs. Johnston. Mrs. James was last year's honored grandmother. Twenty-two grandmothers from all of Gooding County were honored at the recent tea. In the bottom picture; members of the Social Hour Club presents a skit as part of the program for the tea.

Sunshine Club; Mrs. Margaret Watts, Martha Circle of Gooding Baptist Church, and Mrs. Maude Weber, Trinity Episcopal League, Gooding.

The attending tea was treated to a fashion show, with styles suitable for grandmothers and modeled by grandmothers, although it was hard to believe that those silver-haired young ladies were grandmas. Styles ranged from a swinging striped dress—complete with millimeter, modeled by (who else) "Minnie" Jensen. She was topped out in a vivid orange striped model, topped off with white tux. Red stockings and psychodelic shoes, and a picture to behold.

"Grandma" Ruth Allen, Bliss, modeled a very dignified outfit, but surprised the audience with a swinging version of the Charleston. Other grandmas who showed daytime, evening and sportswear and even included bedtime outfits and hand-sewed numbers included the following:

Doris Vaughn, Helen Gilpin, Beulah Dains, Arlene Johnson, Halinae, Erna Bryap, Clara Dains, Dorothy Bush, Clara Wood, Alice Lenke, Eleanor Freeman, Esther Adams, Fern Brown, Edith Hawkes and Bessie Patterson.

All the members of the Civic Club sang "I'm a Grandmother" and plans call for this to be an annual event. Last year's grandmother, Mrs. Murva James, was present to crown the new grandmother, and also added special to the program with a very clever poem about grandmas.

Other entertainment was provided by the Social Hour Club with a skit; Linda Olson and Linda Mathis, vocal solos, and Dawn White, vocal solo. Miss Olson also played a piano solo.

The sentiments of all can best be summed up in a poem written by Mrs. Johnston's daughter, Phyllis Johnson to Young King Hill. While it was written for her mother, it could certainly apply to all grandmothers everywhere.

If you are chosen "THE Grandmother,"
Of you so proud I'll be,
But no more than the pride I have,
That you're the Mother of me!
Your honesty, your truth and faith
Have been to me a guiding star,
I've hoped someday I'd be
The kind of person you are!
Your ever smiling face,
The way you look on life,
For the beauties hidden there,
And never for the strife!
The sprightly way you get around,
The many things you do,
The happiness you give to others,
Make your days so wonderful, too.

VICKI BETH HEITTER

Vicki Heitter Is Engaged To Dwight Sliger

Tea Slated

PAUL — The annual Mother's Day Tea is scheduled for 2 p.m. Tuesday at the Paul American Legion Hall.

Sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary, the tea will honor all community mothers. Mrs. U. U. Locander is chairman of the event, assisted by committee members Mrs. Marvin Lonnie, Mrs. Otha McGill, Mrs. Earl Brower and Mrs. John Martin.

Musical selections will be presented by Minico High School students. Special prizes and favors will be presented.

You must be a chosen one of God,
The work you've done for Him,
And this I know you'll always do
Until your eyes grow dim.
And if you're not the one that's chosen
As Grandmother of the Year—
I'll love you ever, just as much—
To me you'll always be so dear!

INTERIOR DESIGNER, Delbert Bowman, chats with Mrs. Loren Johnson, owner of Bonnie's Flowers, during the shop's grand opening recently. Mr. Bowman, a former Buhl resident, designed the interior of Mrs. Johnson's shop and has made quite a name for himself in the designing field. While in San Francisco he designed such places as the head office of S and H Green Stamp Co., the western branch of New York and Newweek Magazines, the offices of Fidelity Insurance Co., and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's offices at the Cow Palace before the 1964 Republican convention.

Buhl Man Makes Name In Field Of Interior Design

By PAULINE DAY
Times-News Correspondent

BUHL — "Regional designing," influenced by the surrounding nature, is the theme of the Magic Valley area, is the phrase used by Delbert Bowman to describe the unique interior design of Bonnie's Flowers, Buhl's newest shop.

Mr. Bowman, a graduate of Buhl High School and a personal friend of Mr. and Mrs. Loren Johnson, owners of the shop, was happy to prepare something new and different when the opportunity to design the interior of a new shop in his home town presented itself.

He chose natural materials to enhance and complement the plants and flowers in the shop. A canopy around the inside of the shop is of thick cedar shingles as is the paneling on the walls between the shelving. The color scheme of blue, green and gold is symbolic of water, foliage and the sun. The entry into the store will feature a planter with a fountain for the display of potted, blooming plants.

After he was graduated from Buhl High School, Mr. Bowman did graduate work at San Jose College in California, while working in San Francisco. He designed the head office of S and H Green Stamp Co., the western branches of New York and Newweek Magazines, the offices of Fidelity Mutual Insurance Co., and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's offices at the Cow Palace before the 1964 Republican convention. He noted that one of his most challenging assignments was the designing of the Levi showroom in San Francisco.

Since returning to his native Idaho, Bowman has done the interior design for the governor's executive suite in the state house and recently completed the renovation of an old home in Boise for use as a beauty salon. He is on the staff at Sherm-Perry Furniture in Boise and has gained an outstanding reputation in the Treasure Valley area for his unique work in design. Bowman is also teaching a class in interior design at the Boise College.

WCS Leader Is Re-Elected

HAGERMAN — Mrs. Alfred Sandy was re-elected president of the Women's Society of Christian Service at a recent meeting at the Methodist Church.

Other officers elected include Mrs. Robert Tupper, vice president; Mrs. Edna Bell, secretary; Mrs. Ralph Miller, treasurer; Mrs. Bill Jones, Christian social relations; Mrs. Ray Clawson, missionary education; Mrs. Verne Carson, spiritual growth; Mrs. Leonard Titmus, local church responsibility; Mrs. Hazel Russell, membership; and Mrs. Ben Taylor and Mrs. Mary Allen, nominating committee.

Mrs. Thelma Butts presented the lesson, "Women in the Mission." Mrs. B. J. Hargreaves presented a poem in tribute to mothers. Mrs. E. V. Hargreaves reported on the Idaho Conference of Christian Service held recently at Pocatello.

Members voted to send a delegate to the School of Missions to be held in Caldwell July through 11.

Billie Sabala Is Bride Of Michael Smith

JEROME — In a double ring ceremony April 12 at the First Christian Church Billie Sabala became the bride of Michael Smith. The bride is a daughter of Mrs. Marcella Sabala and Tony Sabala and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Pete Smith, all Jerome.

Rev. Harold Livingston performed the ceremony. Keith Johansen was soloist, accompanist and organist.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, Mr. Sabala. She wore a white gown with white and green sash and sleeves and sash of green satin covered with Chantilly lace. The gown was fashioned with a high rounded neckline and a wrist-length veil was held in place with a white satin bow. She carried a white orchid on a Bible, surrounded by yellow roses with green streamers.

A reception was held after the ceremony. The cake was made by Mrs. Falconberg, sister of the bride. Hostesses for the reception were Mrs. Falconberg, Ed Mattison, Shoshone, Mrs. Ken Stanger, Twin Falls, and Mrs. Aubrey Fullerton, Mrs. Jessie Sabala, grandmother of the bride, was a special guest.

The couple took a wedding trip to Ogden.

Search Is Under Way For Idaho's Ideal Homemaker

The search is again under way for Idaho's ideal homemaker, a woman who can cook, sew, drive, shop and devise her way into the title of "Mrs. Idaho."

Mrs. T. H. Hazzard, Five Mile Road, Boise, contest state chairman, announced today that the deadline for entering the competition is May 21. Contestants will be interviewed in their respective districts and the winner will compete for the "Mrs. Idaho" title June 7 and 8 in Boise.

Mrs. Hazzard said entry blanks for the contest may be obtained from her, from Inter-Mountain Network radio stations, or from Gold Strike Redemption Centers throughout Idaho.

Homemakers must be at least 21 years of age. They may enter the contest themselves or be sponsored by a friend.

church groups. Judging will be based on homemaking abilities, safe driving in the family car, family philosophy, grooming, poise, personality and general attractiveness.

The new "Mrs. Idaho" will be crowned by the 1967 title holder, Mrs. Larry Harvey, Twin Falls.

The new winner will receive valuable gifts plus an all-expense-paid trip to Minneapolis-St. Paul to compete in the "Mrs. America" Pageant—Aug. 14 through 23.

"Any of our Idaho cities may produce the winner for Idaho, even the national winner."

Woman, Three Children Found Safe In Mountains

KETCHUM — Mrs. Herman Marlicch, Ketchum, who before Monday had never heard of the Blaine County Sheriff's Search and Rescue Department, is now very grateful such unit exists. She and her three children were the objects of an extensive search by the rescue unit early Monday morning in various canyons from Ketchum, to Galena, after they were reported missing by Mr. Marlicch. And perhaps they would not have been found alive if Mr. Marlicch had not returned early from Utah and discovered his family and their four-wheel drive vehicle gone. He notified the sheriff's office at 10:15 p.m. and the rescue unit swung into action.

Trouble Is Encountered With Filings

HAILEY—Filings for nomination for state representative for District 21A, including Blaine County and four precincts in Minidoka County are not going as smoothly as could be desired. The petition of E. V. McHan, Republican, Ketchum, was not certified due to a miscount of signatures.

The petition of E. Lee Schindler, Democrat, Ketchum, and Paul has been certified, but a question as to residence in a "legislative district" or a "representative district" is debatable and may have to be decided by the state assessor.

Due to reapportionment of Blaine County, the No. 1 Commission District will reach halfway between Halley and Bellevue to Yale. Ray Sweat Carey, elected for a four-year term of office in 1966, will have jurisdiction over this area.

The No. 2 Commissioner district will reach from this line to the northernmost boundary of Blaine County, which is the bridge of the Salmon River to the north of Galena Summit.

Under reapportionment, Eugene Fredrickson, who was named to complete the unexpired term of the late George McGonigal as commissioner of District No. 2, will not be able to file for commissioner this year, his legal residence being within the new district No. 1.

Mrs. Rendon, Grantsville, is the oldest woman living in Utah.

Your Spine and Your Health

Dr. Ludwig C. Landwehr Health studies indicate that 74% of all school children have postural distortions or spinal defects. "A child tends to stand, walk and sit like his parents. Since the child's bones have not completely developed from the molds of collagen, faulty habits of posture may cause the spine to lose its normal shape of growing bones and the result is a child with a poor posture. . . of a parent with poor posture."

Dr. Landwehr — "Poor posture is more than just 'unattractive.' It is a damage to health. It reduces potential energy and interferes with the proper balance and function of the organs. Parents should take great care with the child's posture. They should set a good example. And when there are deviations that need correction, consult with your doctor or chiropractor. The health of the child depends on it."

(One of a series of articles published in the public interest to establish and illustrate the practice of scientific chiropractic, written by Dr. Ludwig C. Landwehr, whose office is located at 217 N. Main St., Twin Falls, Telephone 733-0322.)

Stickers Issued Copper Strike, Auto Contracts Hit in Survey

PUEBLO, Colo. (AP) — Pueblo chamber of commerce officials aren't for getting the capture of the USS Pueblo intelligence ship and its crew by North Korea last January. The bumper stickers they have produced reads: "Remember the Pueblo!" Chamber officials say requests for the bumper stickers are coming in from all over the country and Canada.

The University of Michigan which conducted the survey, announced the results Friday.

That last one will be the going against all comers in the state meet in Boise Saturday. Thomsen, son of Twin Falls pro Clyde Thomsen, took the medal pin with a three-over par 75 as Twin Falls four-man team turned the trick in 310 strokes. Second was Burley at 332 while Jerome and Mink had 341, Gooding, 339, and Butte, 337.

Many Things On Tap For Joint Meet

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Names on uniforms, Super Bowl site and proposed rule changes affecting points after touchdowns will be among the items discussed at a joint meet of the American and National football leagues starting Monday.

The leagues, pointing toward eventual merger, will decide whether or not to print players' numbers on jerseys. Other discussions will center around the site of next year's Super Bowl playoff between the champions of the two leagues. New Orleans is considered the prime candidate for the next game.

Also slated for discussion are demands of NFL players for increased minimum salaries, pole-vault, and by Rich Smith of Idaho (more pay for exhibition games).

Vandats Win Final Relay, Take Meet

BOZEMAN (AP) — The University of Idaho Vandats won the relay — the final event — to defeat Montana State 76-69 in a dual track meet Saturday.

Leading the Vandats was Ted work who captured first in all three distance events. Sophomore Jim Tillman was a stand-out for the Bobcats, winning three firsts and anchoring the winning 440-yard relay. Tillman also set two Gatton Field records. The 6-foot-8 200-pounder won the broad jump with 23 1/2 feet and captured the triple jump with 47-5/8. He won the 100 in 10.1.

Pearson Battles Late Problems To Win Rebel 400

DARLINGTON, S.C. (AP) — Pearson's fighting engine problems in his Ford Torino the last few laps, won the Rebel 400-mile stock car race Saturday at a record average speed of 132.69 miles per hour.

Darel Dieringer finished second in a Plymouth, running in the same lap with the leader. A time of 35:00.00, a record for this spring race at Darlington International Raceway, stood and cheered as the 39-year-old driver won the Rebel 400-mile race since 1961. He had won four short track events this season, and won the Grand National driving a 1969 Ford by mopping up on the short distance races.

His average speed for the 291 laps was 132.69 miles an hour, and his eighth lap was more than one-half mile per hour faster than the record of 132.900 set by Richard Petty, who finished third Saturday, his best superspeedway effort of the year.

Pearson picked up $13,700 of the $54,550 prize money, plus additional accessory and qualifying money. He led 131 laps, taking the lead for the last time on the 24th lap.

In the end, however, he almost didn't make it. Black smoke began streaming out of the engine as he drove deep into the banked turns. His crew said later the smoke came from an oil leak that was exactly on his last pit stop.

Nonetheless, Pearson slowed noticeably during the final 30 laps and Dieringer got into the same lap with him.

Then, as the race went down to the wire, Dieringer began to pull away from Pearson's car and I thought he might be in real trouble, but he put all the pressure on him I could," said Pearson.

Chuddy Baker, driving a Dodge Charger, finished fourth after having led for 116 laps. Lee Roy Yarbrough in a Ford, was fifth.

Sports FROM ALL ANGLES

By LARRY HOVEY Times News Sports Editor

Just off the top of the head, without really getting the full particulars to back it up, it would appear that the area is leading for its second straight Class A state track and field championship.

Track teams go to state in a car or two, Idaho has a single team and have to take a couple of buses. The Tigers piled up 83 points through a scorecard, ending that fifth-district regional Friday night.

So far, the news media in this area has managed to keep the results, times, and distances a secret but we assume they will have to put them in Sunday's papers.

It was, after all, a two-team race all year — between Idaho Falls and Minico in the Minico Invitational — which Borah won by a ton. Idaho Falls was still practicing in snowshoes there, but since the guys like Jim Colson, Fred Kirn, Larry Mannion, etc., have seen some sunlight and dry ground, they've been raising clouds.

It will be an interesting state meet because Borah, although it had to power through some tough competition and stubbed its toe twice Saturday, isn't left toothless. But the nice part about it is that the championship should be decided in head-to-head competition, namely the sprints and relays. Both are strong. Most of what has been left for state could well be championship calibre with only Idaho Falls capable of preventing a state meet.

The regional Saturday will be well remembered. Not since 1963 have the good boys taken headers like that. Consider, Del Ray brought off Borah, who could easily have won two hurdle state titles, hit a couple in the highs and didn't get in. Then Borah's medals was disqualified. The total there could be eight to 12 state points. They might be needed against Idaho Falls.

The disqualifications raised a lot of controversy because no one wants to admit something went wrong. Borah's overzealous exchange was blatant and the reason for it — being told to stand in the wrong place for the handoff — doesn't ring too true when the other five teams knew where the exchange zone started and ended.

The thing that lent itself to the argument was that just while everyone was aware — and watching — Borah dealt it self out. Capital misused in the same way — go with all eyes on Borah, the judge saw Capital miss it. Both were immediately disqualified — and went on to finish one-two.

Capital took films of the thing. Bob Donnoley, who will be athletic director in Twin Falls next year, took them. "We're going to have them developed and I don't want a fight," he said. In fact, a lot of people said Capital didn't — including some who would surely be watching Borah as we were. Four lately stated that Capital got a bad deal and

CSI Joins Intermountain Loop, Will Add Two Sports This Fall

College of Southern Idaho officially joined the Intermountain Athletic Conference Friday night in Boise. He added there was every possibility that Treasure Valley Community College, Ontario and Rangely, Colo., would come into membership in another year.

"We feel there is an advantage, particularly for our students and our fans, to be playing for a conference championship," Coach Sutton said. "We also feel that the scheduling advantage will be even greater when we begin playing football."

Coach Sutton said the members of the ICAC are Snow and Dixie in Utah, Mesa of Grand Junction, Colo., and Ricks of Rexburg.

"For some reason, TVCC wasn't ready to come in this year and Rangely says it will definitely apply for membership in another year. That will give us a good eight-school league. In the meantime, we'll play a home-and-home basketball schedule. A Big Sky conference will be picked out in 10 games," he pointed out. CSI will compete in basketball and baseball, as it did last year, and add tennis and wrestling next fall. ICAC rules require a member play in four of the six championship sports.

Coach Sutton also announced that Lynn Brokaw, a member of the CSI faculty, will handle the wrestling coaching chores. Brokaw, who assisted in last year's spring, wrestled for Colorado State in his college days. Sutton added some scholarship assistance will be made available to the three sports next year.

Chicago Takes 1-0 Win From A's

OAKLAND (AP) — Luis Aparicio doubled home an earned run in the third inning and three Chicago pitchers pitched a single inning to help Sox edged the Oakland Athletics 1-0 Saturday.

Tom Cullen opened the third with a single. Rick Monday and when Ramon Webster let Jim Nash's pickoff throw get away for an error. Aparicio's two-out double delivered the run.

Winner Joe Horlen, 2-5, allowed two hits over the first six innings but ran into trouble in the seventh when Rick Monday singled and John Donaldson and Joe Rudi drew two-out walks, loading the bases.

Wilbur Wood came on and got pinch-hitter Danny Cater on a rally-ending bouncer. Wood then set the A's down in order in the eighth and got the first two outs. A Big Sky conference will be picked out in 10 games," he pointed out. CSI will compete in basketball and baseball, as it did last year, and add tennis and wrestling next fall. ICAC rules require a member play in four of the six championship sports.

Idaho Sweeps Pair From Montana State

MOSCOW, Idaho (AP) — Idaho, behind the three-hit pitching of Ski Ivie in the first game and power hitting in the second, swept a Big Sky conference doubleheader from Montana State here Saturday. The scores were 2-0 and 6-1.

Ivie struck out 10 in his shut-out victory.

The Vandals scored when Gary Nitta bunted, moved to third and Phil Besser singled home home center fielder, Rasmussen's base hit in the first. John Thacker's double and Dave Closson's single produced the other run in the fourth.

Montana State jumped to a 3-1 lead in the third inning of the second game when Jack Elms tripled and Wayne Pitzer hit a home run. Roger Jenkins singled home a Montana State run in the first but Idaho came back in the second to tie it as Thacker walked, winning pitcher Craig Christensen singled and the Bobcats made an error.

Idaho Netters Edge Montana

MISSOULA (AP) — The University of Idaho's undefeated tennis team crushed the University of Montana netters Saturday 9-0 in their final Big Sky Conference matches before the conference championships.

Idaho had defeated Montana earlier in the season in Moscow, 8-1.

In the earlier match, Montana's number one player, Rick Farrell had defeated Idaho's top-ranked Darwin Walters. Walters took today's match 2-6, 6-1, 6-2.

Idaho's top-rated doubles team of Doug Deany and skip Rudd defeated Montana's Farrell and Brian Kekich 6-2, 6-2.

Trainer Urges That Dancer's Image Start

BALTIMORE (AP) — Trainer Lou Cavalaris said Saturday he would urge that Dancer's Image start in the Preakness even though he may not be able to saddle the 3-year-old-disqualified winner of the Kentucky Derby.

Cavalaris and owner Peter Fuller will attend a hearing Monday in Louisville, Ky., on a chemist's report of a drug found in a test of Dancer's Image after he finished first in the Derby.

The trainer could be suspended and barred from being listed as the saddle of Dancer's Image in next Saturday's $150,000-added Preakness.

Fuller has said he would not start the colt if Cavalaris is not the official trainer. The colt is scheduled to race at the Preakness even without me," Cavalaris said at Pimlico after the colt had galloped 2 1/4 miles. "The colt is good and fit and if things don't work out the way I hope, I'm going to make my plea to Peter even stronger."

Cavalaris said if all goes well at the hearing in Louisville "I'll be back here Tuesday for a breeze. Maybe I can get jockey Bobby Ussery down here and we can put on a show."

NEW YORK (AP)—A record 2,946 golfers will participate in qualifying tests at 55 sites May 26-31 for the U.S. Open Championship, the U.S. Golf Association announced Saturday.

The competition will determine 543 survivors who will join players exempt from local qualifying in sectional qualifying championships June 3-4 at 15 sites.

The Open will be held June 15-16 at the Oak Hill Country Club, Rochester, N.Y. A total of 150 players will participate, 110 from the sectional championships plus 40 who are totally exempt.

Jack Nicklaus, the 1967 Open winner, heads the list of totally exempt players. The others include Billy Casper, Gary Player, Ken Venturi, Julius Boros, Don January, Al Geiberger, Dave Marr, Bobby Nichols, Roberto Vicenzo, Arnold Palmer, Lee Trevino, Bob Goalby, Don Sikes and Bert Yancey.

A total of 3,038 entries was accepted by the USGA, marking the highest in the history of the U.S. Open since it was reformed. The field consists of 2,946 professionals and 942 amateurs.

Sylvester Batters Own Discus Mark

FRESNO, Calif. (AP)—Volcan discus thrower Jay Sylvester battered his West Coast Records Saturday with a throw of 204 feet, nine inches.

Competing in the afternoon program, the weightman from Utah bettered his 201-2/4 of last year. Also successfully defending his title in this 42nd renewal of the relay at Ratcliff Stadium was former-Olympian star Ron Whitney who took the 440-yard hurdles in 58.2 seconds.

At O'Connell placed second to Sylvester with a 195-10 throw while Tom Wyatt of Oakland's Athens Track Club posted the second fastest 440-yard hurdles time—51.5.

Arizona State's Jerry Jobski turned back two dozen foes in the 5,000-meter race in 14 minutes 23.6 seconds. Scott Brimhurst of Utah took second in 14:25.1.

Giants Strike Barber, Weiskopf Lead At New Orleans

CINCINNATI (AP)—Ollie Brown dressed in three pinstripes with a bases-loaded double in the first inning and the San Francisco Giants went on to a 5-4 victory over the Cincinnati Reds Saturday night.

An unearned run in the fifth inning snuffed a 4-4 tie and tagged the Reds with their fifth straight loss.

San Francisco loaded—the bases on walks against Jim Maloney in the first before Brown's double gave Juan Marchant an early bulge.

But the Reds chipped away at Marchant, finally tying the score in the fourth on Pete Rose's fourth home run of the year.

San Francisco regained the lead for keeps in the fifth when Hal Lanier singled and stole second. He moved to third when brought Lanier home.

Then Ron Hunt's grounder brought Lanier home.

Hall Rallies Angels Past

ANAHEIM (AP)—Jimmie Hall cracked a two-run single, Kevin Ake a three-run fifth inning California uprising, sending the Angels to a 6-1 victory over Minnesota Saturday night.

Right-hander Sammy Ellis, 24, went the distance for the Angels allowing eight hits, five runs, six earned runs and eight walks.

The only run scored on him was Jim Perry, 4-3, who pitched an eighth-inning home run in the fourth inning.

The Angels fifth-inning rally opened with singles by Bobby Knop, Ellis and Jim Fregosi. Don Mincher walked, forcing in the first run and then halting

WSU Negroes Refuse To Play

PULLMAN, Wash. (AP)—Negro players on the Washington State University football team didn't suit up for a scrimmage Saturday, team officials said.

They were absent, according to a spokesman, in protest over an incident on the WSU campus Thursday night in which a group of 55 visiting Negro high school students were allegedly insulted.

The students, from Garfield High School in Spokane, were on campus on a chartered bus after the incident, according to Ammon Schmalzer, an athletic director at WSU.

The students were touring Washington and Oregon under a federally sponsored program.

Call Me Prince Wins 93rd Race Of Withers Mile

NEW YORK (AP)—Call Me Prince grabbed the lead shortly after the 16th pole and drew away for a 2 1/2 length victory, the fourth in as many starts this year, in the 93rd running of the one-mile, Withers Saturday at Aqueduct.

James P. Miller's Salerno finished second in the $28,800 stakes with Max Glueck's Verbatim another neck back and one length in front of Robert J. Kieberg's Out of the Way.

Call Me Prince, owned by Mrs. Adele L. Rand, is eligible for next Saturday's Preknex, but it is known that the main pole of trainer Max Hirsch in the 100th running of the Belmont Stakes June 1.

"The Preknex?" Hirsch said after the race. "Well, you've have to say it's possible. We'll see in a couple of days."

In scoring the first stakes of his six-race career, Call Me Prince ran the mile under jockey Bill Boland in 1:31.4 and returned $2.50, $3.40 and $2.40. He was coaled in the bushes with Out of the Way, one of the other field of nine three-year-olds.

Salerno paid $5.00 and $4.40 and Verbatim was $3.20 for show.

If you don't want to pay the price of America's roomiest car try the second roomiest:

a new Chevrolet like this

If things like head, shoulder and leg room are important to you, take a close look at the new Chevrolet.

Automotive News and its 1968 Roominess Index shows Chevrolet is the second most spacious of all American sedans.

The roomiest? That distinction, we're not at all embarrassed to admit, goes to America's most popular luxury car. Based on the Roominess Index, only one other car has even more interior dimensions to the fraction of an inch. Chevrolet's 4-door sedan scored 290.7. A tenth of a point behind is the 4-door luxury model.

A pretty good showing when you consider how much more the expensive models sells for. And some of the other cars Chevrolet topped carry just as impressive price tags.

But that's just a sample of the pluses you get at a Chevrolet price. You'll find a lot more of them in the fine things Chevrolet has designed around all that space.

Borah Wins, Cryder Hurt And Filer's Shank Stars In Class A Regional Meet

Scott Cryder, Idaho's all-time pole vault king, was injured high in the final attempt at the Borah trials in Twin Falls. Borah failed to qualify in the high jumps, but developed two relay team disqualifications and the Borah 100-yard dash was won the Class A region II track and field championship Saturday. In another surprise, only two records were broken as Capital trailed Borah 58-37 for second and Twin Falls nipped Nampa 33-32 for third.

One of the records failed to go because Cryder was injured in a mishap that kept the youngster out of state next week. But even before the injury Cryder gave his fans a scare. He passed to 12-6 then missed twice before sailing over it. He took 13 feet with no trouble and lost all competition there. Then he started record setting and the trouble struck on the first vault.

Coming down from 14 feet, the two-time state champion saw how he might step on the fallen crossbar. He avoided it, but missed the pit, his foot catching the planting. He was angry and when he will go for a third state title next week in Boise will not be answered until the middle of the week. His father, Don Cryder, said doctors thought there might be an indication of some cartilage damage. "If there isn't any when he's examined next week," said Don Cryder. (Scott) could vault by taping the ankle. If there is a little slippage or separation, he won't be allowed to vault for a month.

Maughan, for two years in the place to beat in the high hurdles and went to the state last year. The lightest event of the day, Maughan appeared a trifle ahead of a blanket four-man race. But he hit the hurdle and spun off to his right, costing him a stride. That allowed Borah's Dan Cafferty, Emmett, and Von Wells of Twin Falls to move ahead and that's how they finished. From the second hurdle on three-four appeared moving in unison.

The free-for-all erupted after the medley relay. On the third exchange—to the anchor man—Borah in first and Capital second. Borah's 880-yard man ran well past the line and was an obvious disqualification. But while just everyone was watching that, Capital was detected by the exchange judge to forward the balance outside the record-breaking time of 4:37.7. After the race was over, Twin Falls was disqualified.

Immediately after, Borah's 880 man said he had been instructed to stand in the middle of the zone while Capital coaches stoutly maintained their crew had made a legal exchange. That controversy was being watched when the stadium was being locked up.

The two records that fell came in the halfmile and the 400-yard relay. In the halfmile, Allan-Ludd dropped his own halfmile record from 1:38.0 to 1:35 flat. He hit 85 seconds on the first lap and then burst into the victory with a 57-second final lap.

Borah's quartermile quartet of Don Miller, Franklin, Cady and Tichel hit 1:57 in their specialty, retiring the 43.3 record established by Twin Falls in 1963.

In addition to Maughan, one other favorite was upset when Sevedy of Capital came from behind in the stretch to nail Borah's Eric Wadsworth by a yard in the 400-yard dash in the time of 49.2.

Billy Shank of Filer carried the banner of Magic Valley's tracksters as he qualified for state in two individual events and another in the 400-yard relay. Shank, third in district last week, romped in second behind Borah's Don Miller in the 100-yard dash and was there again in the furlong. He also put a strong anchor leg in the 400-yard relay, nearly snatching second place from Capital in the record-breaking race.

Cryder got the district's only victory in the pole vault as overall the Magic Valley landed only seven individual spots. Filer led with Shank in two individual events and two relay events. Wadsworth and Buhl Medley relay teams setting in after the three disqualifications in that event.

Jay Ulrich of Twin Falls was beaten by three inches in the shotput. Borah's Stan Smith getting one put out 63-3/4 in the final. Ulrich was only a quarter inch ahead of third place Crist of Boise. It was a matter of two inches for Burley's Jay Wadsworth the long-jumped senior getting 20 feet, 8 3/4 inches and watching Meridian's Gunther and Pirle get one-two at 20-11 3/4 and 20-10 1/2. Minico sophomore Mike

Oregon State Snaps Ducks' Win Streak

CORVALLIS, Ore. (AP) — Sprinter Willie Turner and Oregon State snapped Oregon's string of 14 consecutive North Division track and field championships Saturday, 84 to 81.

Washington State was third with 71 points. The University of Washington was last with 22. Turner won the 100 after a slow start at 09.6 and nipped teammate Eric Smith at 21.9 at the 220 and 20.9. He also ran anchor on the 400-yard relay team, whose time of 1:01.1 was a division record.

In the feature race of the day, Gerry Lindgren of Washington State arrived an earlier loss of 15.5 in the three mile relay with a victory in the three mile relay. Kvalheim stayed tucked to Lindgren's hips through the first 11 laps, then made his move away through the final lap. It appeared for a moment as though he would pass Lindgren, but then Lindgren started his kick and won by 15 yards. The time far eclipsed the division record of 1:03.45, set by Lindgren in 1967.

At other divisional meets were broken, Ross Miller of Washington State threw the javelin 258 feet 2 inches; Dave Wilson of Oregon won the mile and won by 15 yards. The 400-yard hurdles in 51.2, and John Van-Reasoner of Washington State won the discus at 193 feet 10 inches.

Rod Pau of OSU tied the record for the 440, set in 1937 by Loren Benke of WSU, at 48.9.

Aaron Homers Atlanta Past Dodgers 5-1

ATLANTA (AP) — Hank Aaron stamped a pair of homers driving in four runs and powered Atlanta to a 5-1 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers Saturday night.

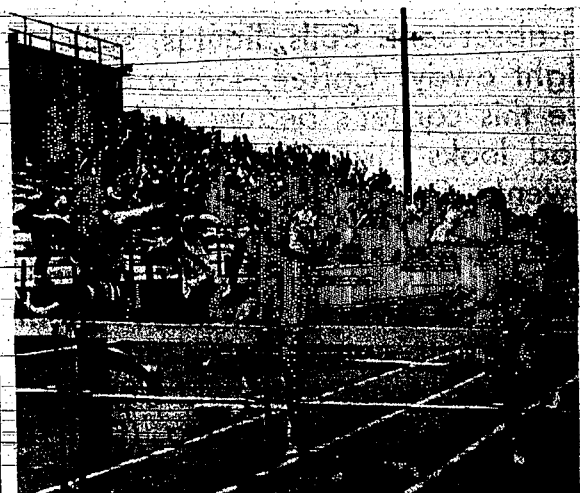

The two blasts — a solo shot in the first inning and a three-run smash in the third — boosted Aaron's career total to 488.

Bob Tiltman cracked a homer with the bases empty in the fourth for an insurance run for Atlanta. That homer still blanked the Dodgers for six innings.

The Dodgers' Rocky Colavito stamped a pair of winners in the seventh when he singled, took third on Bob Bailey's double and raced home on pitcher's hit. Ted Anderson's infield bounce.

Two Power Tigers Past Senators

WASHINGTON (AP) — Bill Freehan and Willis Horton cashed slammed home runs and drove in three runs apiece as the Detroit Tigers pounded the Washington Senators 12-2 Saturday.

Freehan smashed a three-run homer getting the Tigers started in the third and Horton and Don Wert had consecutive shots, climaxing the romp in the ninth.

Freehan also had a single and double in addition to his sixth homer. The single touched off a two-run Detroit spurt in the seventh.

Horton drove in a run with a sacrifice fly in the fifth and another with a seventh inning single.

Joe Sparms broke a personal three-game losing streak on a four-hitter and was in command after an early wild streak. He walked leadoff batter Del Unser who scored on an infield out and two wild pitches.

The Tigers struck for four runs after two were out in the third. Mickey Stanley walked 2-3, Eric Detroit, Freehan (6), and Jim Northrup doubled him home, but strained a leg muscle running to second base. Al Kaline walked and Freehan followed with his homer into the Senators' bullpen.

Stottlemyre Hurls Yanks Past Boston

NEW YORK (AP) — Mel Stottlemyre scattered seven hits and Roy White smacked a seventh inning homer, giving the New York Yankees a 3-0 victory over the sliding Boston Red Sox Saturday.

The loss was the third straight for the defending American League champions and the sixth in their last eight games.

White led off the Yanks' seventh inning with a liner into the right field bullpens, the third of five New York hits off right-hander Jose Santolago. The New York center fielder's second homer of the season snapped Santolago's string of 12 straight regular season victories, including four this year.

Stottlemyre struck out 10 and did not allow a Boston runner past second base in gaining his fourth victory against three losses.

Error Lets Cards Nip Astros In 12 Innings

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Pinch runner Bobby Toland raced home on pitcher Mike Cuellar's throwing error in the 13th inning giving the St. Louis Cardinals a 4-3 victory over the Houston Astros Saturday night.

It was the second error of the inning for Cuellar.

Johnny Edwards opened the 13th with a double and moved to third when Cuellar threw wide on Dick Simpson's bunt. Then Toland ran for Edwards and scored. Cuellar threw wide to second on Dal Maxvill's bouncer.

Both teams robed in the 12th. Pinch hitter Norm Miller's single delivered Bob Aspromonte with the lead run for Houston in the top half—but the Cards tied it again when Lou Brock opened with a triple and scored on Julia Javlor's sacrifice fly.

Brock scored the Cards' first run in the opening inning after his double and two walks had loaded the bases with none out. Mike Shannon popped to second and was out under the infield rule, but Brock scored, giving Shannon credit for a very short sacrifice fly.

Maxvill singled, moved up on a sacrifice and scored on Brock's single in the second.

Houston got a run in the fifth on a walk and John Bateman's double and then tied the score in the sixth on Jim Wynn's triple and Rusty Staub's single.

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Weber State College took the Big Sky Conference baseball lead by taking a doubleheader Saturday from Idaho State University, 2-1 and 4-0.

The Wildcats now have a 6-2 record as compared to the Bengals 7-3 mark.

In the first game, WSC third baseman Steve Gardner collected 2 hits including a 8th inning home run which broke a 1-1 deadlock. Gardner's hits were the only hits given up by losing ISU pitcher Bill Ingram. Gardner earlier knocked in the Wildcats' other run with a single.

Freeman, right-hander, Rob Lee of Weber State picked up his seventh win of the season against two losses.

In the second game, freshman Tony Smith scattered five hits but pitched to come away with a 4-0 shutout. The Wildcats scored two runs in the fifth inning when shortstop Roger Reid clouted a 400-yard home run.

In the sixth, Weber first baseman Fred Thompson hit a solo homer—and second baseman Mike Hall laid down a suicide squeeze but to score left-fielder Craig Gladwell who had tripled. Smith ran his record to 5 wins and 2 losses for the season.

Conway Paces Ricks Past Boise

BOISE (AP) — Ricks College's Dayton Conway set a conference record in the mile run and paced his team to a victory Saturday in the Intermountain Collegiate Athletic Conference track-and-field championships held at Boise College.

Conway's time of 4:29.1 is said to better the earlier mark of 4:29.8 set in 1959.

Team scoring was: Ricks 83; Boise College 70; Mesa College 38; Dixie College 24; and Snow College 23 1/2.

VARDIS FISHER

VARDIS FISHER

VARDIS FISHER

Above there are three portraits of the world-famous Idaho author, Vardis Fisher. Two are formal portraits and one informal. On the left is a reproduction of an oil painting which hangs over the Fisher bed in his home at Hagerman, Idaho. It was painted by A. B. Teater, and Vardis Fisher commented that when he first saw it he thought of suing the artist, but later Dr. Fisher reported to Teater that he was not that bad, and besides, "I don't look that much like Richard Francis Burton." The second portrait is a self-portrait taken with the author's own camera in his home. It is his favorite picture of himself. The third portrait, an informal one, was photographed by Jan Arthur Sainsbury at the Fisher home May 7 of this year, in some ways it shows the remarkable vitality and youthfulness of the 73-year-old author. He is sitting in his "writing room," a den located in the basement of the home he built, himself, from the ground up. The other walls in the room are lined with books, and covered with notes thumbtacked to the wooden edges of the bookcases. The notes are all important, says Dr. Fisher, "and I'll get to all of them sooner or later."

Will The Real Vardis Fisher Please Stand Up?

By JAN ARTHUR SAINSBURY
Times-News Feature Editor

Vardis Fisher is not a usual man. The books he writes are not usual books. The life he lives is not a usual life. And most opinions about Vardis Fisher are not usual opinions. I was told by a close friend a few weeks ago that if I ever had a chance to meet Vardis Fisher, I wouldn't like him. I asked the reason.

"Vardis Fisher," he said, "is a mean old man who is senile, and—unfortunately—has little talent."

I asked the man how much of Fisher he had actually read, and the answer was typical. "Not much, but I heard a lot about him."

Most of the people in Idaho have heard a lot about Vardis Fisher, and most of it is probably false.

One lady told me that Vardis Fisher would never write a great book, and I asked why.

"Because," she said, "he's an atheist—that's why."

And another woman won't admit that any of Fisher's books are good, let alone great, because none have made the best seller lists. The fact that critical acclaim is a common thing to Fisher proves little to her. The fact that his books have been best sellers in Denmark and Germany still do not convince her.

I was told by people who supposedly know Vardis Fisher quite well that he is irascible, opinionated, and at times so rude that it is impossible to tolerate him. Especially to newspapermen.

I was looking forward to my visit with him.

It is fair to say that under more ordinary conditions I might never have had the privilege of meeting Vardis Fisher and his charming wife Opal, if it had not been for two close friends of the Fisher family, Gus Keizer, Executive Editor of the Times-News, and Sallie Turner, owner of a book and gift shop in Twin Falls. Mr. Keizer and Mrs. Turner had both met Vardis Fisher many times before, and Dr. Fisher was at ease with them.

It is true, however, that he does not enjoy meeting strangers because he is rude or irascible, but because like all men who become literary successes, his privacy is one of his most treasured possessions.

We drove to Hagerman and down through the lush green that surrounds the Fisher home. We arrived on time, and Vardis Fisher was outside, waiting to meet us. I remember thinking as he embraced Sallie Turner, and greeted Gus Keizer, with the warmth of an old friend, that I would evidently have to wait a while to see the legendary ruddiness of Vardis Fisher.

I was introduced to Dr. Fisher and the shook my hand with the firm and vital handshake of a young politician. He asked for my name again and after I told him, he never forgot it and has called me by name the rest of the day.

The hospitality of the Fishers could not have been better. Refreshers and the finest homemade cookies I've tasted for years were given to us. Concerned with our comfort, Opal and Vardis Fisher proved excellent hosts.

Throughout our conversations, which covered many subjects, I could not miss the fact that Vardis Fisher spoke with the conviction, certainty, and confidence of a young man. His face, form and actions are those of a man 50. Vardis Fisher is 73 years old.

And then we talked about the book.

According to his wife, Vardis Fisher has never looked better. He is a happy man with the completion of his latest book, "Gold Rushes and Mining Camps of the Early American West."

There are reasons he should be happy.

According to Fisher "Gold Rushes" has sold more copies in Idaho already than all his other books together. Over 800 copies have already been sold in Idaho, and the book is not due to be published until the date of Fisher's autobiography in Twin Falls.

Ironically Vardis Fisher is better known in his home part of the country than he is in his own area. He is considered one of the greatest of American writers. But Idaho, his state of birth, fails to realize greatness within its own boundaries. As Fisher says, "If it wasn't for Betty Benson, 'Women's Page Editor of the Idaho Statesman,' Nancy Shingfellow (manager of the Boise Bookstore) and Sallie Turner (of Sallie's Gifts and Books), no one in Idaho would know who I was."

And he means it. His gratitude for their interest in his work was genuine. And I found myself being invited for some evidence of a rude and irascible man.

"Vardis Fisher's humor is subtle and warm. He smiles more contently," Fisher says, "that he rather than broad."

But throughout our conversations it was obvious that his great interest was in "Gold Rushes and Mining Camps of the Early American West."

The book is large, both physically and in the scope of its content. Fisher says that he has not glorified the Old West, nor has he made folk heroes out of "some of the most cowardly men the old West ever had."

"Billy the Kid and Wyatt Earp are two of them—throw in Wild Bill and make it three." A chapter in "Gold Rushes" is devoted to this kind of thing, and is called "Brave Men and Cowards."

Fisher points out that one state historian who gave him a good deal of assistance was afraid that he would glamorize the prostitutes and others of their ilk, but in another chapter called "The Immigrants," Fisher points out that a lot of "bad women" had a lot of good in them. And to quote Fisher, "Calamity Jane was a woman of sorts, a drunkard, a psychopathic liar but she had a heart as big as an Idaho watermelon."

Vardis Fisher and his wife Opal spent over 150 hours running down one picture believed to be a picture of a woman named Jane Bulet. According to Fisher "the historian simply detests the name of Julia Blount, but there must have been some good in the woman or all of Virginia City would not have turned out for her funeral."

The book is crammed with excellent photographs which the Fishers spent considerable time ending up with cost them nearly $600 for the prints alone. There are 229 photographs in all.

Autographs

An autograph party will be held Saturday, May 18, from 2 to 5 p.m. at Sallie's Gifts and Books in the Lynwood Shopping Center, for all those who would like to have the author's "Gold Rushes and Mining Camps of the Early American West," and his wife Opal, Laurel Holmes.

Based on primary sources, books written by persons who were in one or more of the camps, the book is the most comprehensive Fisher has written.

Fisher chose Caxton Printers in Caldwell to publish the book, and after seeing it—the reason for such a choice is obvious. The book is four times the size of most books, and it is richly bound and stamped in gold.

The photographs are of such excellent quality in their reproduction that the book is a joy to handle and read. It is as justifiably large as its subject matter. A complete index makes it easy to find work on the American West.

And the book is rich with humor as well. Tales of lost mines and a few which aren't fill the pages. And the history reads well.

Vardis Fisher enjoyed his task so much, and it is evident from the way the book reads, that his next project, with his wife's help, will be a "big book on the American West: The World's Greatest Physical Wonderland." It too will be produced in limited quantities.

Vardis Fisher's books in many cases are now collector's items. A rare book shop in the east now sells Fisher's first edition "Tragic Life" for $37.50, and a copy of "No Villain Need Be," written in 1936 by Fisher, is selling for $40.00.

Fisher's new book, "Gold Rushes," sells for $15.00 in this first edition. Subsequent editions will sell at a unit price of nearly $18.00.

Fisher is a most prolific writer. In his "The Testament of Man" series there are 12 full length books. There is "The Vidlar Hunter Teratology," and Fisher has published ten novels, a book of short stories, and five non-fiction books.

We were going to stay at the Fisher home for one hour. We had told him that is what we had planned. Throughout the afternoon no one mentioned time, the enjoyment of the conversation and restful atmosphere of Fisher's home somehow made the time seem less important.

I had mentioned, because of my interest in writing, that one of my favorite books by Fisher was "God or Caesar," a book on "The Writing of Fiction for Beginners." The book is devoted to one of Fisher's principles that an artist should write for meaning, and not for dollars. It seems an extension of a comment he made while we were talking him about his other books.

"I have never made any move to promote my own books myself. I have said to hell with you all my life—that's why I'm not a best selling author."

The reviews of "Gold Rushes" do not come out yet, but Fisher comments that if the book is accepted by the libraries as a book that should appear in their shelves, it will gain much acceptance; Fisher finds it interesting that both "Newsweek" and "Playboy" have asked for the new book. A review is also expected to appear in the "New York Times."

As we left the Fisher home after four hours after we had arrived my initial worries about meeting Vardis Fisher were gone. He had made us not only feel welcome, but a part of his world, and we were glad to see him.

And the world of Vardis Fisher is no small thing.

OPAL LAUREL HOLMES, Vardis Fisher's beloved wife, autographs a copy of her husband's most recent book, "Gold Rushes and Mining Camps of the Early American West," for Sallie Turner, left, owner of Sallie's Gifts and Books. An autograph party will be held for Vardis Fisher, and Opal Laurel Holmes, whose name appears with her husband's on the book. As Dr.

Fisher puts it, "Because my wife, in research, has shared so many thousands of books with me in the stacks of great libraries all over the country, not only for this book but for many of my other books, her name appropriately appears at least with mine on a title page." The couple will start another project soon.

Twin Falls Times-News A-1

a way with words

The publication, "Editor and Publisher," written for members of the journalism profession, often comes up with a few choice reprints of mistakes which have appeared in other papers. Mistakes will always happen but most of them are not as entertaining as these actual ones:

New York Press . . . "The McCulloch Oil Corp. of California paid $2,460,000 for the bride and will rebuild it as part of a recreational park."

New Castle (Pa.) News . . . "Employees have back pay coming to them since January 9 because they have received salary increases which were retroactive to that date."

Atlanta (Ga.) Constitution . . . "The school's growth through the last 10 years during which enrollment has soared from 27 students to almost 30."

But the nice thing about all of this is that it just shows to go that here at the Times-News we never make mistakes.

Here is an interesting item. We quote, "WASHINGTON (AP)—The Food and Drug Administration announced today new labeling requirements for birth control pills because of new evidence it says indicates the pills may be hazardous to health."

"The FDA cited findings recently published by researchers indicating those taking the pills reduces their chances of death or disease due to blood clots by seven to 10 times.

So the upshot of all this is that in the future when you purchase your monthly dispenser of birth control pills, assuming you choose to do so, along with it will come a small magnifying glass used for reading the inscription chiseled into each pill.

"Caution: Using This Product May Be Hazardous to Your Health." The only real problem is . . . who cares? If it doesn't work for cigarettes it isn't going to work for sex.

There is a brand of book publishing called "Vanity Press" and the name implies a great deal. All true. Although most of the books published by "Vanity Press" in this country do not find their way into libraries, other than in the home towns of their authors, many people are fooled by the impressive nature of a friend's name on the cover of a book.

The "Vanity Press" and there are scores of them operating in this country work like this: A man or woman who has written a book submits it to a legitimate publisher and it is rejected. So he re-submits it to others and again and again it is rejected. Very likely the book is no good, or at the very best it may be fair, but not commercial.

Although a good publisher will tell almost anyone that if a book is well written and has something to say there is always a market for it. So the book is repeatedly returned to its "author."

Finally he learns of the Vanity Press, and sends his manuscript to a company which advertises for manuscripts. One such advertisement taken from a magazine reads:

"Author! Your book can be published, promoted, distributed by successful, reliable company. Fiction, non-fiction, poetry, scholarly, religious and even controversial manuscripts welcomed. For free booklet write Vantage Press, Dept. P.N., 120 W. 31 St., N.Y.C., N.Y."

Vantage Press, one of the oldest of the "Vanity Press" representatives in this country, is essentially a printing plant, set up to distribute a few of the books they print as well as print a small amount of promotional material . . . all at the author's expense.

For $200, say, the author might have Vantage Press agree to publish his book, and no matter how bad it is if the author has the money his book will be printed. For that $2000 he will receive a few promotional copies which will be sent to his friends, the ones he wants to impress, and a few will be sent to reviewers.

The reviewers, almost without exception, throw "Vanity Press" books in the trashcan. The only reviewer who ever "admittedly" "caught" in the web of a vanity publisher is the hometown newspaper. They sent a copy and a letter describing the book as a great work and give it to the reviewer as a "pre-publication copy."

If the newspaper falls for the legitimate looking promotional letter and doesn't recognize the company as being a vanity publisher rather than a legitimate publisher, a review will most likely be published. And the man who couldn't sell his book to anyone becomes an "author."

The only trouble is, it cost the man or woman $2000 to publish the book, and he sells a hundred copies to close friends and the gullible for $3.99 each. He loses over $1,600 on the deal . . . which is a good price for false prestige.

If your book is good a publisher will buy it. If it isn't then revise it or write another one. In Idaho and in Magic Valley several men and women called themselves "authors" because on their shelves they have one or two books published by a vanity publisher. The Vanity Press does a big business in poetry from elderly ladies who want to see their work in print. The sad thing is that they promise everything, including a possible best-seller . . . and it never happens . . . not that way.

In this day of increasing air travel almost anything can happen. A stewardess walked past a man who was asleep in a seat on a large trans-atlantic airplane, and she was carrying a bowl of potato soup forward for one of the passengers. She saw the man, she stumbled and poured the potato soup down the front of the sleeping man. Thinking fast she put the soup bowl behind her and leaned over the man who was waking up because of the warm soup, and she said, "I do hope you're feeling better now, sir."

And in Twin Falls last weekend someone saw the first Robin of the belated spring—frozen to the ground.

Hospital Volunteer Worker Details Task Accomplished in Local Program

By THELMA ANNE DEAN
(Editors Note: This article is the first of a series of articles on the local hospital program. The second article will be published in the next issue of the Times-News.)

This work from May 12 to 18, 1967, was the first of its kind in the state. A time that we read about but do not give much thought to unless we have just been in a hospital or are just going to one.

Hospital means to people a great deal of fear and pain. It means to them a great deal of help and relief. It means to them a great deal of love and care.

It means to them a great deal of hope and faith. It means to them a great deal of courage and strength.

It means to them a great deal of understanding and respect. It means to them a great deal of dignity and pride.

It means to them a great deal of compassion and kindness. It means to them a great deal of patience and tolerance.

It means to them a great deal of love and care. It means to them a great deal of hope and faith.

Changes For Guards To Help Other States Is Diminished

WASHINGTON (AP) — Intentionally, he killed any chance for a proposed "mutual assistance pact" which would allow states to send their National Guards to help other states cope with riots.

Life in MAGIC VALLEY

Cheryll Ann Blake, 6-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Blake, Bonanza, Utah, had 11 grandparents when she was born Sept. 3, 1967.

Her great-grandfather J. C. Maxwell, Las Vegas, Nev., had 10 grandparents still are more than the average person can witness last October, he blessed the church blessing of the baby at the McKay Building on the BYU campus.

Cheryll Ann's mother is the former Carol Ann Maxwell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jay S. Maxwell, Paul, Nev. She was graduated from Mt. Lincoln High School, and attended BYU. Mr. Blake was graduated from BYU. The couple are currently residing in Bonanza, Utah, where Mr. Blake teaches at Viewmont High School.

When the little girl was born, she had seven maternal grandparents and four paternal grandparents.

Paternal great-grandparents include Mr. and Mrs. Harding, Orem, and Mrs. Estella Blake, Centerville, Utah. Maternal great-grandmother is Mrs. J. H. Seymour, Salt Lake City.

One of the "youngsters" at HANSEN, Charles B. Pyron, celebrated his 50th birthday recently at his home April 4. He and his wife both said they were both just like a couple in their 20s.

The Nevadans, too, are very active in farming. He does a lot around the place, and makes lovely furniture from myrtle wood which shows in many lovely places in his home.

They have a front room set dining set, bedroom set and many things including a large grandfather clock which Mr. Naylor built. He has made a lovely altar, pulpit and lectern in Little Rock, Ark., and a collection plates for the Hansen Methodist Church, which merged nearly three years ago with the Kincaid Methodist church in the Idaho Ranch for Youth, at RUPERT.

Mrs. Naylor has a "recent" thing she is doing to advance around the place. She can just get anything to grow. They attend their lodge, church and their community activities. They are another couple that everyone enjoys visiting.

SOME EXPLORER SCOUTS of Boise Post 307 are shown here helping build goose nesting platforms out of reach of floodwater. This post was organized four years ago to interest members in fish and game problems and to stir interest in shaping careers in wildlife management. They have volunteered to capture moulting geese, clear debris out of fishing waters, work in clearing stations, and go on winter survival, snowshoeing outings. From left to right are Tom Saker, Pat Benson, Arnold Coleman and Jim Coleman, all of Boise.

Wildlife Is Main Interest Of Five Explorer Posts, Says Fish And Game

By DONNA HURD
Idaho Fish and Game Department

Boys and the outdoors go together. This is actively recognized by the Idaho Fish and Game Department through its sponsorship of Explorer Scout Posts.

Official Department policies state that "The Idaho Fish and Game Department recognizes the Boy Scouts of America as one of the nation's outstanding youth organizations and acknowledges the service it renders to the conservation of our natural resources. As a result, it promotes understanding of the problems of wildlife management and a sense of responsibility for perpetuation of wildlife resources, and (2) to stimulate interest in careers in fish and game management."

Although the Department has for many years made it a policy to work and cooperate with Boy Scout groups, four years ago Department participation in the Boy Scout movement became more complete with the actual sponsorship of an Explorer Scout Specialty Post in Boise.

In addition to the Boise post, the Department is currently sponsoring other posts in Lewiston, Jerome, Idaho Falls and Pocatello.

In addition, the project is a national recognition of the Boy Scout movement in the North American Wildlife and Natural Resources Conference held in Houston, Texas. This conference has been held annually since 1935 to bring together individuals, organizations and agencies interested in the restoration and conservation of wildlife resources.

presented a paper explaining the Department's role in this unique project.

According to Williams, "Credit for the establishment of this new conservation support group and its subsequent counterparts around the state can be attributed to Department Director John R. 'Dick' Woodworth.

Director Woodworth has been an active scout most of his life. When he became Director in 1963, he brought many new ideas to Idaho—one of them was Explorer Post sponsorship. Specific objectives were twofold: (1) to develop in these young men concepts of wise resource use and to promote understanding of the problems of wildlife management and a sense of responsibility for perpetuation of wildlife resources, and (2) to stimulate interest in careers in fish and game management."

Williams noted that the obvious success of this program is illustrated by a list of accomplishment and activities of the five posts. During its first year, Post 60 of Boise helped with Canada goose banding by serving as "chasers" to run down the moulting geese, helped clear and burn debris from sawmill ponds which were developed into a public trout fishing water; helped gather management data during weekends at several trout hatcheries; and held a winter survival-and-snowshoe outing.

Post 307 at Pocatello has participated in game counts, goose banding and many of the boys have accompanied conservation officers on actual field patrol.

Post 188 at Lewiston participated in mountain goat trapping and translocating operation for majoring in wildlife management of related fields.

and from the two trapping sites was helicopter. This Post also went on a fifty-mile hike with the fisheries biologist to assist him in sampling and surveying trout populations for management purposes of a chain of high mountain lakes.

Idaho Falls Post 309 has put its own "signature" on the lake. It is the trout population in that famous fishing water. Post 307 at Jerome is too young yet to boast significant accomplishments, but a full slate of activities is planned for this year.

For their outstanding efforts in conservation, three of the Explorer Posts have been awarded the Beaver statuette as Youth Conservationists of the Year by the Sports Foundation and the National Wildlife Federation.

Explorer Posts 60 of Boise, 188 of Lewiston, and 300 of Idaho Falls received the statuette.

Williams summed up his paper in the following way: "Sponsoring Explorer Scout Specialty Posts has worked out rather well for the Idaho Fish and Game Department. It is the considered opinion of the administrators and many of us in the Department that the benefits have more than outweighed the expense."

BY FRANK SCHIHL

Question from V. D. B., Twin Falls: "Will you please identify those two coins I have drawn?"

Answers: The first picture is that of an English One-Penny piece, 1817. Issued under George the Fifth. It is a standard coin age item and there is a large supply available to the collecting field. Collector value on this coin, in average condition, is about 30 cents.

The second coin is also a One Penny of Great Britain, but somewhat older. This one is dated 1811 and was issued under Queen Victoria. Collector value is about the same as for the first mentioned coin.

Question from R. V. M., Kimberly: "I would like to know how much an 1840 half dollar in fine condition is worth and also an 1852 half dollar in Very Good condition. How much are 1837 and 1847 pennies in Very Good condition worth? I also have the following silver dollars: 1850, 1851, 1852, 1857, 1859, 1896, 1921, 1922.

Answers: Your 1840 and 1852 dollars are pretty valuable coins. The 1837 and 1847 Large Cents (not pennies) are quite common and are worth only a few cents in Very Good condition. I would question the date 1893 on your silver dollar, since there is no such date. There are quite a few dollars that are

Dredge Mining Question May Go On Ballot

Anyone traversing the Yankee Fork district on the edge of Idaho's Primitive area has seen the vast lands of piles of gravel left by dredge mining operations back in the 1940's.

Denuded of top soil, with vegetation gone, this land still stands 20 years later as an eyesore to mar the beauty of the forest and a detriment to the conservation of fish and wildlife.

To try to prevent any further abuse of natural resources, sportsmen throughout the state are working toward getting a Dredge Mining Initiative on the ballot this fall.

Working through the Idaho Wildlife Federation and its affiliated clubs, the sportsmen and interested persons are now circulating petitions to put the Dredge Mining Regulation and Water and Land Reclamation Act on the ballot.

Although there has been legislation regulating dredge mining in Idaho for the past 15 years, Vernon L. Smith, Twin Falls, is coordinating the petition drive locally, points out it has not been effective and the proposed bill would give more control to the State Land Board over dredge mining operations.

The sportsmen are not disturbed by fishing and hunting, provided the ground disturbed to compare reasonably with the natural contour of the ground prior to such disturbance.

Any watercourse disturbed by the operation, with the top soil on top of other material. He also would have to replant the vegetation.

The proposed legislation will limit the dredging or more than 10 cubic yards of dirt per day without a permit, whereas under existing law, up to 400 yards may be excavated per day without a permit.

The initiative legislation also provides for close supervision of dredge mining operations by the State Land Board.

In the Magic Valley area petitions may be obtained for circulation or signing from the following people: Bert Wright, Vern Ravenscroft, Tuttle Marshall, Everheart, Ben Zuck, Twin Falls, president of the Southern Idaho Fish and Game Association, and Vernon Smith, who is a national officer, committee member for the Idaho Wildlife Federation. Mr. Everheart is newly elected president of the Idaho Wildlife Federation.

The officials point out that signatures of 30,000 qualified voters are needed throughout the state to put the initiative on the ballot. Petitions also are available meandering lines with pool and stream structure conducive to good fishing and wildlife habitat and recreational use. The operator also will have to replace the rocks and soil displaced by the operation, with the top soil on top of other material. He also would have to replant the vegetation.

Book Review

THE BLACK CLIFFS
By Gunnar Gunnarsson

Gunnar Gunnarsson who wrote "The Black Cliffs" is the most Icelandic author of today. He was born in 1889 and curiously enough has usually written in Danish, a typical procedure for Icelandic authors for whom there are so few readers in their native language. Mr. Gunnarsson had visited and explored the black cliffs of northwestern Iceland, one of the most sensational murders of Icelandic history, ten years before he decided in 1928 to present the story in this novel "The Black Cliffs". The book has only recently been translated and published in the United States.

"The Black Cliffs" has a dark, exotic mood and one that one cannot conceive of any American author producing. The human conflicts and problems here are starkly simple—thrown into deep relief against the somber majesty of the setting. Put in the simplest terms, "The Black Cliffs" tells the story of a man and woman who love each other and put to death their respective wife and husband in order that they might marry. They are brought to justice in a dramatic, psychologically fascinating trial.

It is a terrifying tale; yet one that enthralls the reader's involvement and pity. We feel that Bjarni is not a criminal but one of us—a headstrong, likable human being trapped in circumstances wherein he loses his moral balance. He lives with his family on an isolated farm called Svindness, miles from the nearest town. The author evokes for us the bleak and lonely terror of Svindness as few writers could do. Bjarni loves his two sons and patiently endures his complaining hypochondriac of a wife who coughs and whines constantly.

When the sons die and Bjarni, "his yellow, curly beard fluttering in the spring breeze, and his blue eyes sparkling, as though made of pure crushed crystal . . . standing tall and powerful, a creature rolled from the blue skies and bright cloud bank," takes the sons to be buried. For two years he suffers deeply and then another couple comes to the farm to work and Bjarni and the woman love, each other. Her mate too in a quarrelsome, suspicious, petty creature and she and Bjarni's whining wife undermine the essential goodness of the other two and bring them to the despairing violence of a double murder.

Until you experience this book, it is quite unbelievable that two who could commit such a monstrous crime could touch your sympathies—but they do. Their story is told by the young curate, Reverend Eliuv who signed the original deposition against them and helps them keep their faith. "What was evil and what was good," Eliuv asks. And though he can give no answer, the author seems to say that all men are one creature in good and evil and they must help each other.

"The Black Cliffs" is not one of the world's great classic novels but it is a beautifully written, human story that will haunt you long after it has been returned to the shelf.

HANSEN—Residents of three zones in districts one, three and five are reminded to vote for trustees Monday. Polls will be open from 1 to 7 p.m.

Those in zone 3 may vote for GEORGE BUTLER, the only candidate listed. Lester Naylor, who has been a trustee for 16 years, is not running.

In zone 4, Lee McCoy, incumbent, is opposed by Robert Petty, George Clifton, Haynes, through an error, had filed for this district, but it was the wrong one, so he is not a candidate.

In zone 5, Raymond Butler, Incumbent, and Edwin D. (Ted) Crockett, are competing. After a tie vote at last year's election between Butler and Crockett, Butler was appointed to fill out the term for one year, until election time again, but the winner this time will serve his full term of three years.

Up, Up And Around The Gyrocopter Way

By MARGARET JONES
Times-News Correspondent

KIMBERLY—Some sage once said, "If man was supposed to fly, he would have been born with wings." And others have added to it by saying, "If man was supposed to fly he would have been born with wings, or an airplane, or a gyrocopter."

William (Bill) Whitehead prefers the gyrocopter.

"Bill Whitehead hopes to realize his dream in the near future of the past two years labor" on his gyrocopter. He purchased the kit from Benson's of North Carolina in 1965 after reading an article in Popular Science about the "one-man" copters. Whitehead has always wanted to own his own airplane and the gyrocopter was especially intriguing.

He purchased the kit and had it assembled to fly as a glider within a few months and after a few trips aloft he wanted to improve the design of the controls, and after considerable re-designing and work, had the machine where he felt it would fly "hands off" at 45 m.p.h.

Whitehead's "flying machine" passed its first Federal Aviation Administration examination last Wednesday when it was examined for an air-worthiness certificate. The engine will be tested and inspected further and Whitehead will have to pass a flying demonstration before he will qualify for a gyrocopter pilot's license. He hopes to complete his qualifications in the near future.

The one-man gyrocopters are catching on throughout the country, with California leading the field, boasting of several organized flying clubs.

The aircraft is available in three sizes. The Model T such as the one built by Whitehead, selling for approximately $1,000; a slightly larger model selling in a middle price range; and the largest kit, a one-man helicopter for $3,000.

Whitehead's machine has a 72 horsepower motor with a 44 inch propeller; tip to tip overhead blade measurement is just over 20 feet. The "copter" requires a runway of approximately 300 feet and will cruise at 40 ft. or about 80 mph. Once airborne the aircraft will travel from 45 to 80 mph and has a load capacity of approximately 300 pounds.

Travel with the gyrocopter is quite economical; it will average at cruising speed about 20 miles per gallon of fuel.

Whitehead has an additional set of all metal blades which is being made in a tip-to-tip measurement of 22 feet providing an additional lift of 100 pounds.

With either the metal or wood blades, the copter will glide to a safe landing in case of engine failure. It will climb to a maximum of 12,500 feet with the average cruising altitude between 200 to 400 feet.

Whitehead hopes there will be enough interest shown in flying the gyrocopter to form clubs such as those formed by the Palouse hills. All members and parents are invited.

BILL WHITEHEAD prepares to start the engine of his gyrocopter as his daughter Nancy waits with the can of starting fluid and her foot on the brake pedal.

BYSTANDERS MOVE AWAY as William Whitehead taxis his gyrocopter along a Kimberly parking lot. The gyrocopter was constructed by Whitehead from a kit purchased from Benson's of North Carolina.

What This World Needs Is A Stamp Machine That Works

By JAN ARTHUR SAINSBURY
Times-News Feature Editor

Some things just aren't right. The other day I walked into the post office at 9:45 p.m. to mail an airmail package. I had weighed the package at the office because I knew it weighed more than the toy scale provided at the post office for weighing letters registered. I was told the package would cost $1.24 for airmail to New York City.

Confident that I would get the package into the airmail slot before the 40 p.m. deadline, the post office official quoted over the telephone. I sauntered into the main lobby digging into my pocket for the quarters I had saved, and made change to get so that I could feed the stamp machine. But the stamp machine had a large handwritten sign stuck to it with dry transparent tape that read "Out of Order."

Ordinarily I don't get mad at little things, but somehow the thought of a stamp machine that would not work made me mad. I thought it was a joke. I tried to find a stamp machine that would work. I tried to find a stamp machine that would work. I tried to find a stamp machine that would work.

After what seemed like two minutes and was only one, I promptly informed me that I couldn't get any stamps there even if the machine was out of order. I suggested I try "across the street."

"Across the street" from the Post Office in Twin Falls is the Travelodge Motel. I actually, directly across the street is the Travelodge Motel swimming pool, but assuming the man who is in that literal, I tried the motel lobby.

It's always out of order! The man is nearly right. In the past two weeks the machine has been out of service at least half of that time. It is almost completely unreliable.

Twin Falls Rotary Club Has Golden Anniversary

By MARY JANE FINNEY
 (Editor's Note: Rotary Club will celebrate its 50th Anniversary locally Monday night at the Blue-Lakes Country Club.)
 When Rotary was born in Twin Falls in the year 1918, the little city of Twin Falls felt it was quite mature. Already 14 years old, the "Twin Falls News" carried a column entitled "Ten Years Ago in Twin Falls."
 This January 3, 1918, "News" reported that volunteer-census takers had covered the entire city and had found the population had reached a total of 7,236. Booth Mercantile, one of the top department stores, ran large ads picturing the stylish lady dressed in gowns just a bow and length, and large, wide-brimmed hats were in vogue.
 Mary Eckford was playing in the movie "The Little Princess" at the Idaho theatre, and marvelous stage shows and concerts were continually being presented at the magnificent Lavering Theatre. In January, 1918, the Lavering was featuring "The Bird of Paradise," an exotic drama. Advertisements proclaimed this "The Greatest Dramatic Treat in the History of Twin Falls." Prices for seats were $1.00, $1.50, and $2.00 plus war tax.
 In 1918 the nation had been at war against "The Kaiser" for a year and Twin Falls was knee-deep in Liberty Bond Drives, making surgical dressings, and sacrificing in many ways to help the war be won. Patriotism ran rampant, and there was much in feeling against Germans. A huge advertisement plugging War Savings Stamps featured this quote: "Save a quarter a day To keep the Kaiser Away!" The ad advised residents to "Be courteous to the committees," "Remember for 'Victory Bonds'—use four substitutes were in great demand. The Boy Scouts combed the city for burial bags to sell, all proceeds being given to the Red Cross. And all the boys leaving for the service were escorted down Shoshone Street to the depot with the City Band playing and hundreds of flag-waving residents cheering the boys on, and Ralph Pink, son of Mr. and Mrs. Max Pink, was reported as being a member of the 20th Infantry, regimental band at Fort Douglas.

 On April 11, 1918, Twin Falls had a Loyalty Day, and more than 2,000 people witnessed the flag parade, and heard the speeches. This occasion was the 1st anniversary of the U.S. declaration of war against Germany and also the initial day of the 3rd Liberty Loan Campaign in a few weeks from this day.
 Twin Falls had almost met its apportionment of $550,000 Liberty Loan Bonds, and the Warberg Coal Co. was selling coal—2-1/2 ton coal at $1.50, R. S. Lump Coal at $3.30, and Utah Lump and egg coal at $3.80.
 But the big news of 1918 appeared in the "Twin Falls News"

Feb. 14, 1918 — and on the front page and with big headlines, no less. "Rotarians form an Organization in Twin Falls."
 The story continued: "Hailed as a permanent contribution to the economic development of this district, the Twin Falls Rotary Club, affiliated with the international organization, was installed on Tuesday with 25 charter members from among the businessmen of the city, by a delegation of 18 members of the Salt Lake Club, headed by George O. Reil, Manager of the Hotel Utah, and District Governor of the Rotarians organization. The session began at 1:30 o'clock and continued until evening. Speakers on this occasion, besides the district governor, included Joel Priest, industrial agent of the Oregon Short Line and member of the Boise Club, F. D. Richmond, president of the Salt Lake Commercial Club, and many other distinguished guests. The visiting Rotarians arrived here in a private car, coming from Pocatello and Idaho Falls where they installed clubs. The Twin Falls Club is the 4th in the state, one having been installed in Boise about a year ago."
 On March, 18, 1918, a three day campaign was waged by more than 200 Twin Falls businessmen to secure increased plantings of sugar beets as a patriotic necessity. These men called on area farmers to urge sugar beet planting, and the Rotary members were the force behind this campaign. W. R. Priebe, currently the only living charter member in Twin Falls, was chairman of this successful campaign which resulted in the addition of over 800 acres to the aggregate of about 2,500 acres covered by contract in Twin Falls.
 The Commercial Club Members (Twin Falls' early Chamber of Commerce) voted to change their name to "The Greater Twin Falls Club." At that time they "definitely" voted against naming themselves the Chamber of Commerce.
 Officers in the Commercial Club were all Rotarians — then its new Rotarians served in all areas of service in the city. Stuart Taylor was one of the most active in the Commercial Club — He was a charter member of Rotary, and remained an active Rotarian until his death.
 The "Twin Falls News" in its May 16, 1918, edition headlined "Flagpole Gift of Rotarians to City." The story "The silent policeman" which has stood for several months past at the intersection of Main Avenue and Shoshone St. is to be replaced in the near future by an immense flag pole which is to be the gift of the Twin Falls Rotary Club to the city. Mr. W. Priebe was chairman of this Rotary project. Thus began the first of 50 years of service and gifts to the city by the Twin Falls Rotary Club.

Ward Rulien Wins Award At Camporee

GLENN'S PERRY — Ward Rulien won the award of Outstanding Senior Patrol Leader for Camp Wilson for 1968 at the camporee on the South Fork of the Boise River above Pine. He also was nominated for the Order of the Arrow.

Troop No. 26, the Glenn's Perry Troop which is sponsored by the Methodist Church, placed second in the Elwyhee District for total points won in the contest which included projects and cooking. Adult Troop Leader is Bill Thompson.

Elwyhee takes in Grand View Bruneau, Mountain Home, and Glenn's Perry Scouts. There were several carloads of visitors from the Mountain View Council in Boise observing the camporee this year.

Included are 20 patrols and 11 troops, or some 200 boys who participated for the three-day event.

Ron-Thompson, Wes-Wootan, and Nathan Jones all became second class Scouts as a result of the training, while Ward-Rulien won three merit badges. Troop 26 won the attendance award.

Soviet Tourism Slowly Emerges From Infancy And Prices Keep Going Up

By MICHAEL JOHNSON
MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet tourism is slowly, painfully emerging from its infancy—and as it develops, the prices go up.
For the right price, Russia offers tourists a taste of its rich past in the form of magnificent old churches, classic military monuments and its own exotic mixture of Eastern and Western cultures.

Regulations Given For Flying Flag

PAUL — Otha McGill, chairman of flag education for the State American Legion, issued a reminder for persons who plan to display flags on Memorial Day—May 30 and Flag Day June 14 to make certain the flag is in suitable condition to fly.
"Flags which are soiled should be laundered or preferably dry cleaned," he noted. "Any dry cleaning establishment which cleans flags free of charge for owners who will agree to fly them on Flag Day."
The official stressed that flags which are frayed or torn, should be mended or replaced. He said that Memorial Day is designated as a day honoring all those who have served in the United States Armed Services.
For persons wanting instructions concerning proper flag flying procedure, he said that an regular flag flying from vertical poles, the flag should first be raised to the top of the pole and then lowered to half-staff from sun-up until noon, and then raised to the top of the pole until sundown.
Small flags on staffs may be placed on graves of men and women who have served in the armed forces. These flags are These sights can be seen with fewer complications, as visa restrictions in some categories gradually relax.

But many tourists complain that hotels are overpriced and service is below standard.
"We used to offer foreigners a stay in a resort sanatorium for $2 a day," says Vladimir Babkin, director of the Soviet Board of Foreign Tourism. "Nobody believed us. They thought it could be any good for that price. If you want to sell something you have to find the optimum price—not too high and not too low."
In an interview, Babkin seemed to be repeating a line from a book he had read on private enterprise. An intense man of about 40 with a fine command of English, he is anxious to promote the Soviet Union as a tourist mecca.
"You Americans think we have no competition in our country," he said with a grin. "You're wrong. Every Soviet city is trying to attract more tourists than the other."
Babkin thinks that tourists disappointed in the past by bad facilities soon will have no complaints.
"We have finished our hotel," he said. "It was rather normal—about 10 years ago."
The Soviet Union is building up its hotel and restaurant facilities, however, it is doing little to meet the needs of tourists than the other.

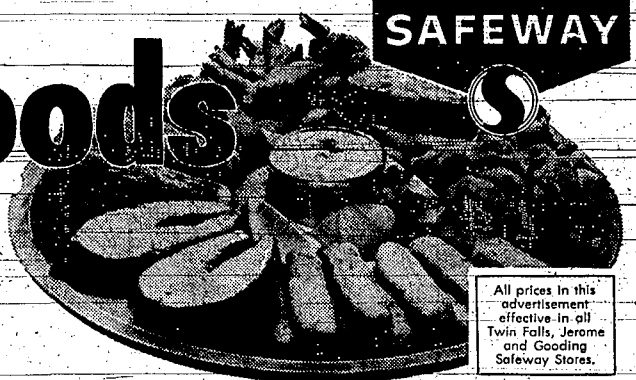

around the country, the Soviet Union offers such diverse attractions as the old tsarist capital—Leningrad; the Central Asian marvels, Samarkand and Tashkent; and the Riviera-like resorts, Sochi and Yalta.
But for tourists looking for the feel of Russia's turbulent, colorful past, relics abound. Ivan Terrible and Catherine the Great have not been forgotten.
Many tourists feel that the least of Vladimir and Suzdal, dating to the 11th and 12th centuries, are among Europe's most impressive sights. Moscow has Red Square, crowned with the 16th century St. Basil's Cathedral—a feast for the eyes that must be seen again and again to be believed.

Highway Aide To Speak At Glenns Ferry

GLENN'S FERRY—A representative of the State Highway Department will attend the Glenns Ferry City Council meeting May 21 to review the latest developments on the interchange proposals for Interstate 80 route.

Councilmen have received notice from the department that suggestions have been received from the Department of Parks and the Union Pacific Railroad Co. concerning the proposed grade crossing which would give a c c e s s to the interplanted Three Island State park.

Councilmen ruled against any more getting at Full Memorial park because of damage to the grass in the bar area. The school has been notified of the galling.

It was decided to sell the city granary to Bert Waller for $100. Girl Scouts were authorized to use the park June 10-14 from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Mayor T. L. Feeny was authorized to negotiate a lease agreement with the Snake River Trail riders and the city for a plot of ground on which to build a motorcycle race.

E. D. Bacon's water meter application was approved, and it was decided to install a new 3/4-inch water line to his property. Purchase of 200 feet of 3/4-inch pipe was ordered.

Building permit applications were approved for Ralph Thompson, $8,000 for addition to his industrial building, L. T. Frazier, $3,000 and Jerry Bybee, $3,000, both remodeling.

Vacation for Eugene Spencer, Chief of Police, was approved for July 18 through 24 and for Melvin Helwich, policeman, June 3-through 9. Salary of the fire chief was set at $55 per month and that of the assistant fire chief at $25. The water rate for the Elmora County Fair Grounds was set at $3 per month and the sewer charge at $10 per year.

The council requested the Chief of Police, the Fire Chief and the Health Inspector to investigate the water problem at the Golden Lish property. The city's water truck rental was set at $10 per hour and the firemen will be paid $10 per hour plus $2 per hour after the first hour wet call. This equipment is sometimes used on rural calls.

The street and alley committee was authorized to investigate the request of Idaho Power Co. to rent the city backhoe and operator and either approve or reject the request.

The council approved expenditure of $437 for fire works for the Fourth of July celebration.

Miss Payne Is Guest Of Ketchum Club

KETCHUM—Special guest of the Ketchum, Sun Valley Rotary club meeting last week at the Alpine dining room was Colleen Payne.

She is the club's "adopted daughter." A victim of arthritis in her hands and feet, she was barely able to walk and could not use her hands when sent by the Rotary Club for treatments at the Elks Rehabilitation Center in Boise last January.

She will return to Boise soon to accept an office position in which she will use typing. Miss Payne was introduced by E. V. McLean, chairman of the committee, which has spearheaded raising the necessary funds for her rehabilitation. She is the granddaughter of Mrs. Ova Crack, Pueblo.

President C. E. Atkinson introduced Rev. William M. Kelly, who gave a preliminary report on the sponsorship of two scholarships for Ketchum and Hailey for the annual Music Camp at Sun Valley this summer.

John Harrison circulated a petition requesting the Blaine County school board to re-appoint the Blaine school district on population basis.

Joe Poltevan told of the annual Inter City meeting of Ketchum, Sun Valley and Hailey clubs to celebrate their "Ladies Night" on May 18 at Sun Valley. Music by Hal Miller's orchestra and dancing are planned, he said, and extended an invitation to members of all Southern Idaho clubs and their ladies.

Secretary Gene Sowersby told of an invitation to club members to participate in a "Safari to the West" in a "White Water" trip down the Salmon River.

The first trip for scouts will

Controversy In New York Schools High

NEW YORK (AP)—The attempted firing of 19 teachers and administrators in a predominantly Negro local school in Brooklyn emerged Friday as the newest controversy in the city's volatile experiment with community controlled schools.

Three special districts have been established in Negro and mixed neighborhoods in the past two years to test the efficiency of giving the community more control over a school system that is more than 50 per cent Negro and Puerto Rican.

All three have been roof-high in controversy one time or another with the citywide Board of Education. The latest battle erupted as the state legislature was about to consider the entire future of decentralization with the huge 1.1-million pupil system.

The 19—including a Negro and Puerto Rican—were named a jury Thursday by a special district elected board in a special district composed of six schools in the slums of Brooklyn. One was a high-Brownsville area. The Board of Education told the 19 to ignore the notices, and said the local board had no power to hire and fire.

be made this year July 7-13; the first adult trip July 14-21; the second trip for scouts July 21-27 and the last trip Aug. 4-10.

A. W. Ensign, Jr. and Jerry Johnson were visiting Rotarians from Hailey and Mrs. Robert Tucker, Boise, was a guest.

McCarthy Tours

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—Sen. Eugene McCarthy took a handshaking walk through Portland's Negro district Friday and addressed the city's most prestigious club of businessmen.

Then he flew to the eastern Oregon farm centers of Pendleton and La Grande for appearances before continuing to Sacramento, Calif.

It was a swift foray in quest of votes in Oregon's May 28 Democratic presidential primary.

He called for a ground swell of individual participation in politics as a remedy for what he called an imbalance in the government legislative and executive branches.

Larry Plott Is Winner Of Pistol Shoot

BURLEY—Larry Plott, Hailey, Idaho state policeman, was the champion shooter at the Magic Valley Pistol Officers' association annual pistol shoot Wednesday at Burley.

A total of 31 individuals participated, including seven women and nine four-man teams. This was the largest turnout for a pistol shoot in the history of the association.

Jim Kistler, Twin Falls police department, was second, with Jim Finch, Gooding, Idaho State Police, third.

In other matches winners were, Class A—Ron Strubberg, Twin Falls police department, first; Don Sawyer, Burley, Idaho state police, second; Wes Dobbs, Twin Falls, College of Southern Idaho, third, and Ray Lyons, Fairfield, Fish and Game Department, fourth.

Class B—M. J. Bays, Boise, Idaho state police, first; Dick Burns, Boise state police, second; LeRoy Hess, Gooding deputy sheriff, third, and Paul Fries, Rupert, police department, fourth.

Class C—Wes Woodall, Albion, first; Don Saxman, Fish and Game, second; Wayne Hankins, Liquor Law Enforcement, Albion, third; and Deputy Sheriff, Twin Falls, fourth.

Class D—Charles Pugh, Burley, Idaho state police, first; Gary Brewer, Rupert, Idaho, second; Bryce Chugg, third, and Floyd Higgins, Burley, State Probation officer, fourth.

Winners in the ladies division were Mrs. Lynn Brown, Burley, first; Mrs. Juanita Stroberg, Twin Falls, second, and Mrs. Gayle Hayes, Burley, third. Dennis Hayes and Jim Kistler, second; Bob Vasquez, Tom Majors, Jim Purdy and Wayne Hankins, third.

The trophies were presented at the Ponderosa Inn following a no-host dinner by Floyd Higgins, Burley, president of the association, and Wayne Hankins, Twin Falls.

The team trophy was sponsored and presented to winners by George Forscher, Burley, presented Forscher a trophy in appreciation of work he has done on behalf of the association.

Bill Dayley, Burley, is serving as secretary-treasurer. Next meeting will be in July at Twin Falls, at which time road-block problems will be discussed.

Visitors were U. J. Mason, Ron Rapp, both Idaho Falls, and Bill Morgan, Boise, all Idaho State Police.

Samuelson Slates Honolulu Trip

BOISE (AP)—Gov. Don Samuelson is scheduled to leave Idaho Saturday for the Western Governors Conference in Honolulu.

Samuelson will participate in panel discussions on natural resources and transportation, an aide said.

Also scheduled to attend the conference are: Dr. Albert Wilson, an Idaho State University professor and a member of the Idaho Nuclear Energy Commission; William Holden, Idaho Falls, Idaho—representative on two interstate water compact; and Norman Vignoe, Kellogg, president of the Idaho Mining Association.

LI. Gov. Jack Murphy will be acting chief executive while Samuelson is away. (The governor will return late Wednesday or early Thursday, the aide said.

MISTAKES ARE PART OF BRIDGE

We don't care how well or how poorly you play bridge. You always will make many mistakes. But the better the player, the fewer the mistakes. So your partner would be given an immediate raise, South would bid long strongly.

The defense would start with West playing ace, king and jack of clubs. South would ruff the third club and most declarers would draw trumps and lose the heart finesse. Later, these declarers would lose a diamond and say something about finesse always losing for them.

Today's South was a better player. At trick four he led a trump to dummy's jack. He ruff now one more trump to pull the one outstanding and led his eight of diamonds. West played the jack. Dummy's ace won the trick. South led a diamond back to his king and West dropped his queen of diamonds under the king. West could see an end play developing and wanted to keep South's four spades intact. He would still get his king of hearts. Since East held the 10 of diamonds, when South played the third diamond, East was able to gain the lead. East led a heart and West's king set the contract.

South's play was good from a technical standpoint, but expert South had not played the hand as well as he might have. He had drawn a blueprint of his plan of campaign and expert West had stayed out of the trap. Real technique would have been for South to lead his king diamonds as soon as he ruffed that third club.

West might still have guessed enough to drop a diamond honor, but we doubt if he would have been that alert.

The Generation Gap Needn't Be A Chasm

Recently we asked a number of young people and adults... "What does the other generation do that hurts you the most?" Despite the differences in age, their answers were surprisingly similar.

Young people, for instance, hate to be put down by adults... "Well, when you've lived as long as I have, you'll see things differently."

Adults are no less sensitive to age slurs... "I nearly hit my son the last time he said 'I don't understand at all. Things have changed since your time!'"

Be they 16 or 60, people simply don't want to be treated as though they were too young or too old to have any value as a person.

The generations often become super-critical of one another... "The father who constantly squawks at his son for being clumsy only succeeds in making junior more nervous and awkward."

Relatives need to develop tolerance for each other's tastes and permit one another to enjoy the songs, shows and styles they will without needless criticism.

Do they think you're too young? Maybe our "Time-Table Newsletter," with a tentative schedule for when teens should date, go steady, etc., can help you bridge the generation gap.

Send a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to Teenage Date-Line, in care of this newspaper.

2,500 Purple Hearts Go To Navy Medics

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy's medical chief says Navy medical corpsmen serving with the Marines in South Vietnam have saved more lives than the 2,500 Purple Heart medals for death or wounds in action.

FOR GEORGE GALLUP, Jr.,

director, Gallup Poll
What went wrong in the 1948 Presidential campaign when you predicted Gov. Thomas Dewey would defeat Pres. Harry Truman?—K. R., Utica, N. Y.

● Last-minute developments can always shift opinion, especially of persons in the "undecided" group. In 1949 a drop in the price of farm products just before the election was an important factor in shifting farm voters to the Truman side. The lessons learned in 1948 made it necessary to find ways to poll right up to the end of a political campaign.

FOR DR. JAMES T. CRACE, Jr.,

director, Russell Park Memorial Institute
I have heard rumors that cancer is contagious. Is this true?—B. R., Atlantic City, N. J.

● No conclusive evidence exists that human cancer is contagious. Leukemia has been reported occurring in population clusters, but no evidence of contagion has been proven.

FOR LAWRENCE WELK

What has happened to Madeline, the violinist who recited poetry on your television show?—Mrs. James Ean Thru, Highland Park, N. J.

● He left so he could devote more time to his acting. In fact, he recently completed a movie with Julie Andrews. Madeline will make guest appearances on our show, though.

FOR ORVILLE FREEMAN,

Secretary of Agriculture
There are surpluses of all farm commodities and too much land already under cultivation. Why then does the Government continue to develop more farm projects?—Vincent O'Brien, Aberdeen, Idaho

● Governmental policies recognize that we now have more cropland than is currently needed. But we also have active programs to divert cropland to nonfarm uses, such as forestry and recreation. Where new land is developed or irrigated, it is usually part of a multipurpose project which often produces specialty crops not in overabundance.

FOR WILLIAM SURFACE,

author of "The Poisoned Ivy"
How many college students did you find to be using marijuana or other dangerous drugs? Is the trend increasing?—L. P., Kankakee, Ill.

● My firsthand research in the "Ivy League" alone convinced me that nearly 50 percent of today's college students have smoked marijuana at least once and that probably 25 percent would try it or another illegal drug if they could obtain it. Yes, the trend is increasing.

FOR MARLO THOMAS of "That Girl"

Is most of the filming for your show done in Hollywood or on location?—Dee Dee-Groenendaal, Lancaster, Pa.

● Most of the filming is done at Paramount-Cahuenga Studios in Hollywood, but we also do some location shooting in New York and Philadelphia.

FOR BISHOP FULTON J. SHEEN

With the new spirit of ecumenism in the Catholic Church, have you any plans for returning to it with your "chalk talks"?—Mrs. R. W. Perrault, Racine, Wis.

● Yes. I am preparing a new series of TV addresses which will be available for screening in the near future.

FOR JOHNNY CARSON

Do you ever get annoyed when a guest on the "Tonight" show upstages you on a punch line?—B. G. Hunt, Austin, Texas

● No, but sometimes I get angry at myself because I thought of a good line too late. The best lines come on the spur of the moment and must be delivered then. On a free-wheeling show like "Tonight," some good lines are thrown away, but not often; most of our guests are "pro" at timing.

FOR CARL YASTREMSKI,

Boston Red Sox
What pitcher has been the hardest for you to hit against?—Ryan Ryan, Lowell, Mass.

● Up to now, it has been Whitey Ford (now retired) of the New York Yankees.

WHAT IN THE WORLD!

International Eyes—Though Franco-American relations are at the hissing stage, French singer and actor Charles Aznavour still found a warm welcome on his recent visit here. "Politics are one thing," he says, "people are another. Politicians are just like actors. Charles De Gaulle and Lyndon Johnson, for example, are both big hams. They have to be, to play a successful role in public life."

All-American Ghou! The ladies have been sending love notes by the sackful to Jonathan Frid, who sings as vampire Barnabas in the TV soap opera, "Dark Shadows." What do they see in this ghoul? "They like my courtly manners," Jonathan explains, "and my guilt. I need blood, but I feel bad about it. Mostly, they like the tragic love in my part. They know I'm searching for a modern replacement. One bite on the neck, and I can make her my eternal bride." Bachelor Jonathan has no tragic love in his own past, "but some pretty tragic infatuations."

Raking It In—Now that shag carpets are "in," housewives have a new headache: keeping them fluffy. For this, an everyday garden rake may be just the thing. Shag carpetmakers recommend the rake—only bamboo will do—for a fast fluff before a party and a quick cleanup afterward. After your regular vacuuming, it will also rake away footprints and vacuum streaks, leaving nothing but border-to-border fluff. It might be a good idea, though, to have a separate rake for actual gardening.

Fido's Ups and Downs Dog psychiatrist Arne Sorenson offers some tips for keeping your canine off the couch. 1. Never shout commands; a dog's hearing is 16 times keener than a human's. 2. Never lose your temper at him or in front of him; family quarrels can make pup "insecure." 3. Choose a dog that fits your temperament. 4. See more than one litter before choosing. Women often fall for the shy little fellow and men take a shine to the strong, dominant one; but both types may be problem dogs.

Weird New Sonic Lure Caught Fish Like Crazy!

By Lyman Walton, Co-Inventor

As Told to Paul Stag, The Weekend Fisherman

Think of it! My new VIBRATING LURE gives loud, GURGLING, SPLASHING, BUBBLING sounds as you skitter it along the surface of the water! Sends out up to 200 vibrations every minute underneath that water! Looks COMPLETELY UNLIKE ANYTHING THAT ANY FRESH WATER FISH HAS SEEN BEFORE.

And has already used this weird sight and weird sound and weird sonic vibrations — in one of its very first Summer trials — to lure fish into attacking it so savagely that they actually knocked it out of the water. Hauled in trout, bass, muskie, walleye, and pike, even when other lures had caught little or no fish right next to it! Here's why —

CAUGHT! 120 FISH IN ONE HOUR!

Yes! Imagine that YOU were there — at Catfish Lake, Illinois, on August 20, 1961. A hot summer day! A beautiful stream-fed pond — 80 by 60-foot-wide! Fishermen trying lures, flies, natural bait! But despite the fact that this is a stocked trout farm with no limit, there is only an occasional strike. It looks like a wasted day!

And then, three die-hard friends decide to try their luck with me! We start to cast from the edge of the water. At the end of our lines is an ENTIRELY DIFFERENT LURE — a weird little metal monster that casts like a bullet, and flutters back through the water like a drowning bat!

EVEN EXPERIENCED FISHERMEN WATCHED IN AMAZEMENT!

Almost at once THAT QUIET WATER EXPLODES INTO ACTION! The first strike causes a shout of excitement! And then a second strike! A third, fourth, sixth, seventh, eighth! Beautiful rainbows and browns still shimmering from the water — being pulled in at the rate of more than one every minute!

Now the water is almost exploding with fish striking! Sometimes four and five trout savagely attack one lure at the same time! Fifty — seventy — ninety fish are caught and released! People along the shore stop to watch the spectacle!

In one short hour, we have caught and released 120 fish! All WITH the very same weird little lure that can go to work for you next week, without your risking a penny!

WHAT'S THE SECRET? UNDERWATER SONIC VIBRATIONS!

Why did this bat-shaped lure catch fish by the stringer-full — even after ordinary lures, and natural bait have caught little or nothing? For this simple reason —

Because this lure gives off unique GURGLING, BUBBLING, SPLASHING SURFACE NOISES — plus up to 200 sonic vibrations every minute underneath that water — that I believe FISH FIND IRRESISTIBLE!

Yes! I am certain that sonic pulsations are the answer to every fisherman's prayer — I have studied — the Navy-Fish Biologist reports about the sounds fish make between themselves in the water. I have seen fish follow the propellers of a boat as though they were hypnotized by the sound!

And I have always believed that if I could take those gurgling, bubbling, splashing surface sounds and underwater vibrations — that actually seemed to CALL FISH TO THEM — and build that sound into a "Vibrating Lure" then it could haul in eye-popping catches, even where ordinary lures had caught little or nothing at all! Even in hard-fished waters where the wise old fish run away from ordinary lures!

JUST READ THESE FISH-CATCHING ACHIEVEMENTS!

TRY IT AT OUR RISK!

Yes! Research showed me that lures, like fish, create Sonic Vibrations in the water by their movements! So I have designed a lure that sends out UP TO 200 VIBRATIONS THROUGH THAT WATER UP TO 200 TIMES A MINUTE! Wing-shaped — bat-like — JERKING AND FLUTTERING MADLY THROUGH THAT

THIS IS AN ARTIST'S CONCEPTION OF THE VIBRA-BAT LURE AND ITS SONIC EFFECT UNDER WATER! I believe it to be irresistible to fish! Try it entirely at our risk!

WATER — SENDING OUT IRRESISTIBLE SONIC WAVES — GURGLING, SPLASHING, BUBBLING SURFACE SOUNDS THAT TRAVEL THROUGH WATER IN EVERY DIRECTION AT THE RATE OF 300 FEET EVERY SECOND THE ACTUAL SPEED OF SOUND UNDER WATER!

No wonder this "VIBRA-BAT" lure caught a 10 pound 7½ ounce Northern on one of its first tests — only moments after it hit the water — hauled in six bass in sixty minutes in another test, all 2½ pounds or larger — pulled in perch by the dozens in a third test at Belmont Harbor, Illinois, even after live bait and lures had scarcely a strike, and CONVINCED to land so many fish, so quickly, THAT FISHERMEN WATCHED IN AMAZEMENT!

No wonder our tests show this revolutionary new lure hauls in trout, bass, muskie, walleye, pike, salmon and other fresh water fish even in hard fished waters — produces strikes even when other fishermen alongside it are going almost unrewarded!

AMAZING 6-MONTH TRIAL OFFER

— You simply cannot believe the fish-catching powers of this amazing lure until you try it yourself, FOR 6 FULL

MONTHS ENTIRELY AT OUR RISK! We cannot guarantee, of course, that these amazing VIBRA-BAT SONIC LURES will produce for you in every pond, river or lake everywhere you go fishing — WE DO GUARANTEE that these VIBRA-BAT LURES will definitely catch MORE FISH for you — make you agree that this is the greatest little lure you've ever used — OR SIMPLY RETURN THEM ANYTIME WITHIN SIX FULL MONTHS FOR EVERY-CENT OF YOUR PURCHASE PRICE BACK!

You and you alone are the only judge! You have nothing to lose! Send in the Six Month Trial Coupon—TODAY!

SPECIAL NOTICE

Sportsmen's Lures has told on this page the amazing story of the VIBRA-BAT as related to us by Lyman Walton.

If we have received signed statements from Lyman Walton and other fishermen that these facts are correct.

Incidentally — the words "Gurgling — Splashing — Bubbling" are Walton's particular translation of the weird sound. Actually we use ULTRASOUND as a description of this sound. But you will agree on its amazing results, or your money back!

MY UNFORGETTABLE MOTHER'S DAY GIFT

I Visited My Marine Son

She overcame everything from red tape to enemy danger to spend

ON MOTHER'S Day last year, my husband, a doctor in Vancouver, Wash., gave me a most unusual gift. He handed me a prescription blank on which he had written, "Good for one trip to Vietnam."

The gift had a particular significance for me. My 20-year-old son Robert had joined the Marines and was on orders to duty in Vietnam.

It took months to get the necessary inoculations, visa, and U.S. and military credentials (as a free-lance writer), but I was intrigued with the idea of seeing Bob in Vietnam, though maybe he had some doubts about a tough Marine at war having "Mama" visit him.

Finally, I boarded a commercial Pan Am jet destined for Southeast Asia. Stops at Honolulu, Tokyo, and Manila completed the passenger list, but at last I flew over the jungles and rice paddies of Vietnam, knowing that somewhere up north, near the DMZ, Bob waited for me.

The plane landed at Saigon airfield, and I had many miles and days of traveling throughout the country before joining Bob. During my first days in the field, I was most aware of the noises of war. The crack and boom of artillery is so much a part of the nights that its absence awakens one with the feeling that something is wrong.

One night when the artillery had stopped briefly, I heard a scraping on the wooden door of my billet. I grabbed the nail that served as a door knob, jerked the door open, expecting to see a rat. I saw instead a tall GI with an embarrassed smile on his young face. "Could you come over and talk to us, ma'am? The guys sure would like it."

We talked and drank coffee for three hours, until 2 a.m. The raw light from the bulb hanging in the ceiling and the coffee, lukewarm, with a paper-cup taste, would not promote intimacy under ordinary circumstances. Yet this night, we talked with the candor and trust of lifelong friends.

"A blond medic leaned forward on a wooden chair and turned his paper cup around and around in his hands while he took me into his private world of horror.

"... then I ran out of supplies. Lord! The company ambushed, and I ran out of supplies." He raised his head and looked at me with eyes that begged, What could I do, ma'am? "Four of my buddies lay there bleeding, and I couldn't help. My job—and I couldn't help them."

The harsh light spared no feature on the face of war—a young man's face twisted with pain and guilt for which there is no comfort. I put my hand on his arm and said, "You helped most of them, don't ever forget that. You were there, you stayed with them, you did the best you could. They understood, their families will understand."

"Thanks for that, ma'am. I know you're tellin' the truth; it helps."

It was not easy to be a mother in Vietnam even though the GIs, with their wonderful humor, made most things bearable, for them and for myself. One evening I was sitting on the ground in front of a tent with seven GIs, all experienced in combat and all eager to indoctrinate me.

A sandy-haired fellow said kindly, "Now look, ma'am, you can have our bunker. It's right over there." "Never," I said. "You guys need it more than I do."

The young soldier looked right at me and insisted, "You won't be making us uncomfortable—the bunker's got three feet of water and a family of water moccasins in it!"

Another GI slapped the ground and shouted, "But there's a friendly family of moccasins—very friendly, ma'am." Laughing, he barely dodged the dirt I threw at him.

They're not saints, you understand, not by anybody's standards; especially their own. Some are doing the same things their fathers did in other wars. Things like stealing, getting drunk, selling to the black market, and leaving wives and babies in a country at war. Also, like their fathers, these generation of soldiers has found that two things—dogs and kids—can provide tenderness and a touch of home in the rotten world of war.

The GIs are not supposed to keep dogs as pets, so naturally, every base has a good supply of dogs who are pampered and loved and whose presence is conveniently overlooked. I saw puppies being smuggled all over Vietnam; concealed under a flak jacket, peeking over the rim of a helmet, or sleeping innocently in the arms of—a tough sergeant who wouldn't light his cigarette because, "Well, the pup's asleep, and I hate to wake him up."

The children are a different situation entirely. On a DaNang street I stopped to talk with a Pfc who was tossing a child up in the air, to the delight of both participants. "Yeah, he's a good kid," the GI said.

"I saw my lieutenant killed when a seven-year-old kid threw a grenade, and I s'pose I should hate all them, but they have such a rotten life. How can you hate anybody who lives like this?"

The Pfc put his friend down gently on a dry spot and said, "We've got to help them, ma'am! We've just got to. They're smart and they're cute, and I don't care how long it takes, we've got to help them." As he turned to leave, his young friend ran after him. The two boys, American and Vietnamese, walked across the street hand-in-hand.

Walking was a good way to get around. Whether I was on the busy streets of Saigon or slogging along a road at some outpost, hitchhiking was simple. Every few minutes was a jeep or a truck would slow down and a smiling face would lean out and ask, "What are you doing here, ma'am? Do you need a ride?"—No matter what my destination, the drivers always said, "No trouble at all. It's not out of my way; besides, you're the first American mama-come I've talked to since I've been here."

Not all our sons live with daily horror. Thousands of them plug away at jobs behind desks or counters, unheralded and unnoticed. Their absence or failure to do their jobs decently would be noticed, but it's not much fun to be a nonhero. One evening 11 of us were sitting in a three-sided tent drinking coffee and listening to stories of freights.

A forlorn kid spoke up, "Yeah, that's outstanding, all right; but how about me? For three months I've been burning garbage. How do I explain that to my mother?"

The meeting she had waited for—Mrs. Walz embraces her son Bob at Phu Bai airfield.

a few days with her boy—and found herself adopted by an army

There was a moment of startled silence, then everyone shouted suggestions at once. Among the repeatable ones were, "Tell her you're a sanitary engineer." "How about saying you're a member of a health team?" "Destroying secret material?" "Can you forgive me when I tell you our laughter was louder than the frogs or the crickets or even the artillery?"

Riding in a convoy that carried supplies to outposts was a jolting, risky experience not soon forgotten. Children by the hundreds came running at the first noise of a convoy. They waited expectantly for handouts from the Americans, and they were not disappointed. Everybody waved and shouted "allo." Many of those same people would try to kill Americans at night.

Among the supplies carried by convoys, nothing is more precious to our sons than mail from home. They would ignore the food and gather around the large plastic bags, bright red, that contained packages and letters. The letters are read with a hungry eagerness, and if one should include pictures of home—ah, that's a good day for some GI!

One day a convoy left me in a village deep in the boonocks of Charley country where I stayed a couple of days with 10 Marines, aged 18 to 26, who are fighting the "other war," the war of pacification. These men speak Vietnamese, help the villagers dig wells, build market places, treat them medically, distribute clothing, and are a welcome part of village life. At night the Marines go out on patrols where they protect their village by killing Charley or getting killed themselves.

Doc, a carpenter just turned 20, lives in the village and has delivered nine babies. Every morning he opens his dispensary and people line up to be treated for worms, cuts, sore throats—or maybe they only want the prestige of wearing a bandage put on by Doc.

One night, while the monsoon rains pounded on the tin roof of our hooch, the sounds of machine guns, grenades, and rifles were loud and close, but a voice called from the darkness, "Don't worry, ma'am, everything will be all right."

Embarrassed at first, Mrs. Walz soon found herself the adopted mother of all the GIs at Phu Bai.

Three weeks later this village and four others I visited were wiped out by the Viet Cong. My beloved friends and part of my heart were gone.

The skies above Vietnam are just as saturated with traffic as the surface of the country. I stood one day and watched helicopters land on the pad outside a field hospital. The rotating blades threw dust at us with such violence that we felt it sting through our shirts. Four medics, carrying stretchers, ran out of the hospital directly toward the chopper. As they leaned into the fury of the wind their trousers snapped against their legs and the dust swirled viciously around them. They kept running. Quickly, but oh so carefully, they put the wounded man on the stretchers and carried them into the air-conditioned sanctuary of the hospital. Inside, one of the men took my hand and smiled while the doctor removed shrapnel.

I walked, rode jeeps and trucks, flew in choppers and old C-130s, and spent two days on a carrier in the Gulf of Tonkin, watching the jet bombers take off. After all this traveling, I finally got up to Phu Bai where my son was stationed.

When the plane landed, I jumped out and ran across the wet field, not even noticing the rain or the fact that I didn't have a raincoat on. The only thing in the world at that moment was a big Marine Pfc grinning foolishly at me.

When Bob said, "Hi, Mom," I thought, Now don't cry, no matter what, don't cry! We stood there and just grinned at each other—we couldn't stop smiling.

To tell the truth, we were a little embarrassed. I didn't want to do anything wrong, and Bob wasn't sure what the guys would think about his mother coming, but we needn't have worried. Every man on the base was happy for us. I would be stopped by muddied Marines who smiled and asked, "Enjoying your visit with your son, ma'am? It's great to have you here, sort of like having our own mothers around."

By this time, Bob's embarrassment had vanished, and he was actually proud of me when he saw the warmth and friendliness with which the Marines accepted me. A visit to the enlisted man's club one evening convinced him once and for all. The men bought beer for me, and I rarely had a chance to drink mine since the fellows invited me from table to table "just to talk." Several of them were already calling me "Mom."

I was in and out of Phu Bai for five days, spending time farther north at Dong Ha, in the villages, with convoys, and at hospitals. Each time I returned I'd drop by Bob's.

or an international spy

Before you take Broadway by storm, you'll have to learn to be an actress. That's common sense. It also stands to reason that becoming a mature and graceful woman will be easier if you learn certain things now, like proper posture, speech and manners. There are some other things, too, that'll make femininity easier. Like Tampax tampons. The sanitary protection that was developed by a doctor to be worn internally. Tampax tampons are made of pure surgical cotton. The silicon-smooth container-applier assures hygienic insertion and easy disposal. Your hands need never touch the tampon. And there'll be no more pins, pads and belts to limit what you can wear. Try Tampax tampons. They're one of the little things that just might make it easier to become a famous woman.

DON HO: Hawaii's Wonder Guy Is Coming!

By PEER J. OPPENHEIMER

MOST OF the U.S. has never heard of singer Don Ho, a 37-year-old native of Hawaii.

I believe, though, that after NBC's May 27 special, "Singer Presents Hawaii-Ho," Don's name is likely to become a household word along with Dean Martin's.

Muscular, stocky Don Ho, Hawaii's biggest entertainment attraction, usually performs bare-chested, slipping scotch in the best Dean Martin style, with all the mannerisms of a Don Juan. Women of all ages are coaxed into coming on stage to sing and dance, joke, and kiss him on the cheek.

It is this animal-like magnetism, sprinkled with short but healthy amounts of arrogance, that makes him so attractive to women. And it's not put on.

While Don has a wife and six children tucked away on the other side of the island, he constantly holds court with a bevy of beautiful young girls who clean his apartments (he has two homes away from home), do his cooking, run errands, and perform with him at night at Duke Kahanamoku's, one of Hawaii's leading night-clubs. You walk away convinced that this man has found his Shangri-la.

One of six children, Don grew up on Oahu. "My life wasn't particularly interesting, but like most Hawaiian kids, I enjoyed myself," he says.

His tranquil existence was suddenly shattered when he was 19. "Till then I was convinced that life was a series of more or less happy events. And then one day we got word that my 18-year-old brother had been killed in Korea. From that day on my dreamlike existence ended. I finally knew that I had to face reality."

Don married his childhood sweetheart early in life, but, by his own admission, the marriage has been in trouble for some time. "It is unfortunate," he says. "My wife never believed in show business. But in a way, she's partly responsible for my success—she drove me to prove something to her. Still, she hasn't changed, and neither have I."

Don didn't start out to be an entertainer. After being graduated from college, he joined the Air Force and rose to the rank of captain "flying troops to Korea and bringing back the bodies."

He has a soft spot for Vietnam GIs who come to Hawaii on R&R (rest and recreation). On his insistence, they don't pay the $3.50 per night cover charge at Duke Kahanamoku's, which cuts into Don's own pocket since he participates in the profits (20 percent of the gross receipts).

When he got out of the Air Force, "Honey's" (a night club his father owned) was in trouble, and Don, who had a natural ability to sing, took over. Business improved rapidly, and word of his talents came to the attention of Kim McVay, owner of Duke Kahanamoku's, where Don soon became the star attraction. His contract still has 18 years to go.

Don has become a practical man in business matters. He has formed his own record company to join his growing commercial empire, which includes real estate, night clubs, and shopping centers. "I don't believe in hopes and dreams until they actually happen," he says.

The secret of Don's success is not just his voice but his easygoing mannerisms that disarm people. Last year, for instance, he attended a stuffy charity water show. Another guest was Jackie Kennedy, not exactly known for letting her hair down with strangers. Yet she sat so at ease with Don that she joked, "Wouldn't it be funny if we ended up in the pool?"

Don recalls, "This was a cue for me to pick her up and jump into the pool with her. You should have seen the faces of the Secret Service men! At that time, I didn't think it was a big thing until everybody started asking me about what I did." Don wrote Jackie a note of apology, but she replied simply, "Don't worry."

Anyone who can make Jackie Kennedy unbend must be a success with any audience. And success, as seen by Don Ho, means having a weekly TV show like his hit, "Dean Martin's Hawaiian Nights."

Don Ho's in Hollywood now, and the betting (except for his still unemployed wife) is that he'll conquer the mainland just as he did the island.

"I Believe in God... ISN'T THAT ENOUGH?"

Some people seem to think so.

They'll tell you they believe in a Supreme Being. But they have no religion... belong to no church... feel no need for religious worship.

They are convinced by their own logic and reason that there must be a supernatural power.

For what else could explain the marvels of the universe... the origin of life... the unique nature of man? This sort of belief, however, represents a minimum recognition of our Creator... a minimum understanding of divine truths... a minimum effort to learn the most important thing in our lives.

The wonders of the universe undoubtedly show forth the existence of God. But they do not establish it to everyone's satisfaction. The unique nature of man suggests our possession of an immortal soul. But such proof is not immediately evident to everyone.

The clearest proof we have concerning God is that He reveals to us. And the channel of His revelation is religion. Through the prophets, through the Bible, through the Church—He manifests Himself to us in ways we can understand.

He doesn't leave us to guess and theorize about Himself, of ourselves. He tells us what to believe—and why. Without religion we can only conjecture. As members of the family of God, we can be sure.

Belief in God is not enough to bring the true peace of mind that everyday living requires. There must also be understanding of God's relation to us and our relation to God. Though we can see how our bodies function and our minds think, we can understand why only when we understand our God-given place in the order of creation. While we can hope for an eternal destiny of joy, we can be sure of it only through the sure knowledge that comes from God Himself.

"Religion Means God and Me" is the title of a newly published pamphlet which we know will help you to achieve a better understanding of the divine and eternal "facts of life." It covers such topics as "God and Man—How Related?... Reason and Revelation... Christianity and Freedom... Morality and Religion." It is pocket size and can be read in a matter of minutes.

We'll be happy to send you a copy upon your request... and without cost or obligation. And nobody will call on you. Write today... ask for Pamphlet FM-18.

Discover the Subtle Flavors of TEA

MELANIE DE PROFT Food Editor

Lemon Tea Cake is served with freshly brewed tea.

Does your family UNDERSTAND YOU?

"Nobody in this family understands me." It's the teenager's great lament. It's the cry of any harassed mother, too. Or of any father, taken for granted in a family too busy with its own individual affairs.

Certainly family life can be disappointing. Its very closeness invites misunderstanding. As each member asserts himself, tensions explode into bickering, nagging, criticism, and resentment. Often it's not only the child who wants to "run away."

Disappointing? No family is immune. Not even yours.

An unusual new booklet discusses the family's failures, admits it's tough to live together in harmony. But it also shows what your family can be like—if you want it to be.

The insights of this book can make a difference. Here you will find a way to live in love, accepting each other with all your faults. Here is a prescription for family strength for a deep sense of belonging. Here are down-to-earth ideas for solving your family's problems—written by the father of 11 children. It's free; send for it. Let the whole family read it. The results may surprise you.

■ There's double the enjoyment in a cup of fragrant hot tea or in a tall glass of refreshing iced tea when the go-along sweets, such as our cake ring and mousse, are also flavored with tea.

Lemon Tea Cake

- 2 cups sifted cake flour
- 2 teaspoons baking powder
- ¼ cup butter or margarine
- 2 to 4 teaspoons grated lemon peel
- 1 teaspoon vanilla extract
- ½ cup sugar
- ¼ cup sifted confectioners' sugar
- 4 egg yolks (about ½ cup), well beaten
- 2½ tablespoons instant tea
- ¼ cup water
- ¼ cup undiluted evaporated milk
- 4 egg whites (about ½ cup)
- ¼ cup sugar

Hot Syrup (see recipe)

1. Sift the flour and baking powder together; set aside.
2. Cream butter or margarine with the lemon peel and extract. Gradually add ½ cup sugar and the confectioners' sugar, creaming until light and fluffy.
3. Add beaten egg yolks gradually to creamed mixture, beating well.
4. Dissolve instant tea in the water, then stir in the evaporated milk.
5. Beating until smooth after each addition, alternately add dry ingredients in thirds and tea liquid in halves to creamed mixture.
6. Using clean beaters, beat egg whites until frothy. Gradually add the remaining ½ cup sugar, continuing to beat until stiff peaks are formed. Carefully spread beaten egg whites over batter and gently fold together until blended. Turn batter into a greased (bottom only) 9-in. tubed pan.

7. Bake at 350°F. about 45 min., or until cake tests done.

8. Remove to wire rack and cool 10 min. in pan. With a spatula cut around tube and sides to loosen cake. Invert on wire rack set on waxed paper; remove pan. Evenly spoon Hot Syrup over top surface of cake. Cool completely. Garnish top with quartered lemon slices and cherries; One 9-in. cake ring

HOT SYRUP: In a saucepan mix ½ cup sugar and 2 teaspoons instant tea; add ¼ cup water and stir until sugar is dissolved. Bring to boiling. Remove from heat and mix in 1-teaspoon lemon juice.

Coconut Mousse

- 1 cup packaged grated coconut
- 3 cups milk
- ½ cup sugar
- 1 tablespoon (1 env.) unflavored gelatin
- ½ cup light corn syrup
- 10 bags green tea
- Few drops green food coloring
- Few drops yellow food coloring
- 1 cup chilled heavy cream, whipped

1. Heat coconut and milk to boiling in a saucepan. Remove from heat and stir in a mixture of the sugar and gelatin; continue stirring until gelatin and sugar are dissolved. Blend in corn syrup.

2. Add tea bags and allow to steep 5 minutes. Press liquid from tea bags and discard bags. Stir in enough food coloring to tint the mixture a pale green. Cool.

3. Chill until mixture is slightly thicker, stirring frequently. Beat until light and foamy. Fold in whipped cream.

4. Pour into a 1-qt. bombe mold and freeze until firm, about 8 hrs.

5. Unmold onto a chilled plate and garnish with fresh mint leaves.

8 to 8 servings

Sparkling Shower Punch

- 2½ cups sugar
- 1 qt. water
- 1 cup strong tea (¼ cup black tea or 4 to 6 tea bags and 1½ cups boiling water; follow pkg. directions for brewing)
- 2 cups lemon juice, chilled
- ½ cup orange juice, chilled
- ½ cup grape juice, chilled
- 2 tablespoons chopped fresh mint leaves
- 2 tablespoons chopped cucumber peel
- ¼ teaspoon cayenne pepper
- 1 qt. ginger ale, chilled
- Hulled ripe whole strawberries
- Sweetened fresh pineapple chunks (or drained canned)

1. Mix sugar and water in a heavy saucepan. Set over low heat and stir until sugar is dissolved. Cover and boil 5 min. Cool and chill.

2. When ready to serve, stir tea and next six ingredients into syrup. Pour over decorated ice block or ring in a punch bowl. Add ginger ale and stir gently to blend. Garnish with strawberries and pineapple.

About 4 qts. punch

The British Miracle That Creates

SUPER PLANETS IN THE GARDEN — IN THE HOUSE

Yes! From the greatest gardening nation on earth — England — comes a fantastic discovery! — Developed by Britain's leading gardener — winner of the famous Victoria Medal for horticulture — Alford used today OVER THREE MILLION British gardeners! And now released to you — through this advertisement — to try in your own garden WITHOUT RISKING A PENNY!

Think of it! Here is a gardening development that almost defies belief! It is a CONCENTRATED GROWTH FORMULA, prepared in the form of tiny pellets. It coats only pennies per treatment! And even a child can drop them in the ground — as little as ten seconds.

But once these tiny pellets are placed near the roots of your starved plants, they perform a scientific miracle that has been every gardener's dream for centuries! They STOWLY — AUTOMATICALLY — FEED YOUR PLANTS the life-giving nutrients they need — CONCENTRATED RIGHT AT THE ROOTS OF THESE PLANTS — POURING LIFE-GIVING ENERGY INTO THE VERY HEART OF THOSE PLANTS! DAY AFTER DAY — THROUGH EVERY VITAL STAGE OF THEIR GROWTH!

Just picture this breathtaking scene to yourself. The first result you will notice — almost immediately — is that these amazing English pellets give your plants a tremendous new burst of growth! — Whether your plants are new or old — they send out dozens of hidden shoots and buds! Some of your plants may actually EMERGE in the light — and bloom in the very first month!

But this is just the beginning! Within one or two short weeks — without you even touching your plant these amazing pellets AUTO-MAGICALLY aid your plants in the second vital stages of its growth! AUTOMATICALLY — still more wonder-working nutrients enter into every cell of your plants' bodies — fill those with health and strength and sturdiness and wonderful new resistance to disease and pests! Great, tall stems stand up with military precision! Giant buds begin to swell with vigor and vitality! Even tired old shrubs that you had almost given up for lost — begin to straighten out — fatten up — send out the young green growth that you had never hoped to see again!

And then — the most remarkable part of all! When these fantastically beautiful plants have reached their full glorious height and strength, simply drop another Magic Pellet next to them! These tiny English pellets automatically liberate still more wonder-working ingredients! These final concentrated stimulants pour into your roots — carried up through the stems and trunks and branches of your plants — are finally delivered to the great giant flower buds, at the top of those plants.

And when those precious ingredients reach those ripe buds — THEN YOU WILL BE BLINDED BY THE EXPLOSION OF COLOR THAT GREETS YOU IN YOUR GARDEN!

Flowers So Beautiful You Can Hardly Believe Your Eyes!

Yes! When you follow this Streeter plan, you will walk through that garden as though you were in a rose-dragon's nest. You will see bushes weighed down by masses of blossoms, of a richness and perfume and color that you have never imagined before! You will walk past cold, blazing rows of chrysantheums so thick that you can't even see a leaf in between! You will see dahlias, and asters, and gladioli and zinnias so massive, so exquisite, so breathtakingly beautiful that you hardly believe that they are the same plants that you put into the ground. And when your neighbors begin to inquire into your yard — when you watch them bend and touch these flowers to see if they are real — THEN YOU WILL KNOW A FEELING OF GARDEN ACCOMPLISHMENT AND PRIDE THAT YOU MAY NEVER HAVE DREAMED OF BEFORE!

A bonensis from Kent, England, who raises her own vegetables. The cabbage grown with your Streeter's Plant Growth Stimulus grows like the one in the picture. But this is the proudest day of her life!

NOW 200,000 PROVEN IN 100,000 AMERICAN GARDENS

"Enclosed pictures show how four eleven feet high, with a twenty-eight inch flower head, I didn't need your warning about dwarf plants however, and experienced with an indoor 'Red Regalia.' To my surprise and amazement of others we saw a 'Red Regalia' of such monstrous size.

G. D. R. R., San Royal, Calif.
This squash was 17 1/2 inches across, 22 1/2 inches around, and 3 1/2 inches thick. I have never seen such a huge squash before. The results were unbelievable.

Mrs. J. J. F., Houston, Texas
"Your claims for the Magic English Pellets are not exaggerated one bit as far as bulbs, flowering shrubs and roses are concerned. I have not yet tried the pellets on vegetables, but would expect the same results. I was raised in a nursery and have had considerable experience with shrubs and roses. Your product is the best fertilizer I have ever used. It is much more economical than liquid or solid fertilizers now on the market."
G. A. H., Augusta, Mass.

"Enclosing a snapshot of a cabbage I raised last year with the use of two of your Magic Pellets, and it weighs twelve pounds. My roses, manzanoras, naps, tobacco, dahlias were the largest and most colorful and beautiful in the block. All the neighbors made a pile with my flowers basket to see what wonders were being formed and my garden was the topic of this block. I shared my pellets with my friends and their flowers that were almost 300% extra in life."
Mrs. B. H. O., Nashville, Tenn.

"My zinnias grew six feet high, the blooms were bigger than the saucers. I had 'white-rose-bigger-than-saucers' they grew six feet tall, even so close to see them."
Mrs. O. M., Charlotteville, Va.

"I never saw anything in my life so much good. I had the most beautiful roses in Kent, but surprised, and my zinnias were just covered with blooms. I had to pinch them back more than usual but they were the talk of the town — I sold so many."
Mrs. L. O., Mr. Charles, Me.

"Two of my rose bushes died all the way to the crown. I had these plants around them and now they are twice their size in just one season. I also put some pellets around 'In part of holes and now they are twice their size in just one season."
Mrs. P. F., Shreveport, La.

"I have no garden now and use your pellets only for house plants. My African violets have been a mass of blossoms for months. The 'surfer' plant is growing like a weed, and another violet which did nothing for a long time is developing new buds now."
Mrs. L. O., Mr. Charles, Me.

"I am five feet two inches and use your glorious low-cost house sea and they are the most beautiful ones I have ever seen, and I know what garden beauty is because I am from Durham, North Carolina and before my father's death he won many trophies in Flower shows, but my flowers and garden could not rival anything I have ever seen since using your pellets."

How to Road Test That New Car

Try these engineer-proved experiments to learn which auto is for you

By TERRY GALANOY

HARDLY anybody spends $500 for a color television set without a lot of staring and twiddling. Or $2.29 for a pair of gloves without trying them on.

Yet this year more than 8-million buyers will spend anywhere from $100 to $11,000 each for a used or a new car, without twiddling with it or trying it out.

An auto-sales manager says, "Maybe one out of 20 car buyers knows what to look for in a car either in value or in personality. We're making personalized models for just about everybody, but it's amazing how few people buy the car designed for the way they live and drive."

There are 44 brand names and types. More than 400 combinations of models and engines. Literally thousands of body style-and-accessory-and-color combinations. And that's just this year's domestic cars.

How to choose? The experts say you should road test the car you're thinking of buying.

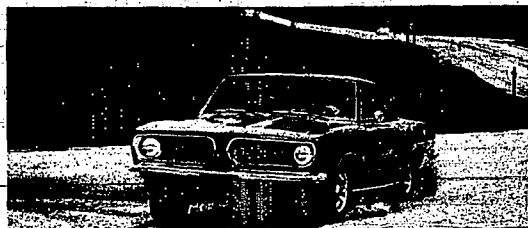

Road testing in this country has been restricted pretty much to trained engineering personnel on the staffs of automotive manufacturers plus a few independent testing laboratories. They use trained engineers and exotic testing equipment. Their job is to improve your car, not to enjoy it.

Out of their extensive testing procedures, they've come up with a series of judgments which you, too, can make with, no more diploma than a driver's license and no more equipment than a car and a watch with a second hand.

How Is It Made?

Sit in the car and adjust the seat to its various positions.

1. Are the instruments clear?
2. Can you reach all controls easily? Do they fall naturally to hand?
3. Check over-all visibility, especially under the hood and out of the rear-quarter windows or sections.
4. Does the seat support your back properly? Your thighs? Your shoulders? Is there enough leg room and head room?
5. Is the paint smooth?
6. Do the doors, trunk lid, hood fit into their openings tightly?
7. Are screws and bolts obviously missing? Is there evidence of sloppy workmanship in carpet fit or the chrome moldings or the upholstery? If everything feels good enough at this point, head for the street.

How Does It Ride?

1. Take the car over a variety of surfaces; asphalt, concrete, dirt, clinders, and rough road.

Is the ride too soft? Will it set up motion-sickness symptoms? Is it a wallowing ride? Be careful, cars that float around like balloons can be unstable at high speeds and during cornering. Is the ride too hard; does it jounce? On rough surfaces, notice the steering-wheel action. Pot holes and obstructions can wrestle the wheel right out of your hands.

2. What is the general riding comfort like? Good enough to drive to work and the grocery store? Good enough for a 10-hour-a-day, cross-country trip? What kind of roads will you be using? How is the car on those?

3. How is the noise level on smooth roads? On rough surfaces? Is there excessive vibration?

4. On rough surfaces listen for rattles and looseens. In most cases, these situations will only get worse.

How Does It Perform?

If the car salesman isn't along, take a friend as an observer. You'll need a second person to help with these tests.

1. From a stop light, accelerate out at full throttle. Is the power too much or not enough for your tastes? Is the car fast enough to stay with traffic? Is it too fast? Can you change lanes easily? Is there good maneuverability and vision?

2. Find a traffic-free open road. Slow to 15 mph and then floor the accelerator. Have your passenger start counting seconds on a stopwatch or a watch with a sweep-second hand until you reach 60 mph, or the legal limit, on that road. Write down the number of seconds. In your pickup fast enough to get you out of tight situations?

Pass slower cars. Check acceleration to see whether it is satisfactory for your type of driving.

How Does It Handle?

1. Find a series of bends and curves and enter each at a comfortable rate of speed for you. Does the car feel secure through the curve? At what point does your car lean become uncomfortable? Does the car "drift" sideways too easily, does it lose rear-end traction, or does the front end seem to "plough"?

2. Pick a tight parking space; try parking with the conventional parallel approach. Try parking it with the front-end-first method. In both, four tries should be sufficient. Any more indicate an extensive break-in period between you and the car.

How Does It Brake?

1. In a clear place only, simulate a "panic stop" (with power brakes use extreme caution). Does the car veer? Can you control it? Do several of these stops in sequence. How much brake pedal "loss" do you have? Is this brake fade alarming after four or five stops? Remember, stop-and-go driving and mountain driving both require constant braking, and brakes that overheat too soon can be highly dangerous.

By running these few tests, which can be done in as little as a half-hour, you can become more familiar with any make, model, size, or horsepower.

Most important, it will help you define and pin down the kind of driver you are, the type of driving you do, and the car that has been designed, assembled, and put on sale just for you.

Love Is a Many-Splintered Thing

THE GUEST of honor at the party was a German who'd just moved into town. He was the center of a friendly throng when the woman who lived next door was introduced.

Somebody had mentioned World War II, and she heard the guest of honor say he didn't see much of it because he was a prisoner of war.

The woman next door gasped. "Oh, my, how did they treat you?"

The guest of honor smiled politely. "I was a prisoner of the Americans," he said.

The woman next door wished she'd stayed there.

In a way, though, it proves a point. The German now lives peacefully in an American community. And the woman had completely forgotten that the Germans were the enemy 25 or 30 years ago.

Sometimes it's hard to remember whom to hate. The sneaky Japs bombed Pearl Harbor. The Americans annihilated Hiroshima. Now we're the best of buddies.

We don't get along with the Russians, except every other Wednesday from 4 to 5 p.m. The great Chinese people were the salt of the earth when we were flying the Hump. Now they're a dirty word. The gallant French were our playmates until Gabriel abdicated and De Gaulle was promoted. Life was lovely for tourists in Havana before the chicken plucker picked communism.

This year's hero is next year's horror. Yesterday's dearest enemy is tomorrow's bitterest friend. Yet in both friend and enemy there are selfishness, greed, and the seed of violence. In both enemy and friend there are also charm and warmth and the human heart.

How do we label that?

Dentures—especially older dentures—are harder to clean and keep clean than natural teeth. And because they are 15 times softer, they're easier to damage and scratch.

That's why so many dentists suggest soaking dentures clean in KLEENITE, instead of harsh brushing with abrasive pastes or powders. With KLEENITE you can now clean your precious dentures like fine jewelry—clean them thoroughly but safely.

Because it's easy-to-use formula combines 3 different stain-removing actions: (1) detergent; (2) oxidizer; and (3) solvent. KLEENITE soaks even dingiest dentures clean 3 times as once.

What's more, KLEENITE is instantly activated the moment you put it in water. It surges into every denture crevice. It penetrates toughest tobacco stains. It helps soak away film. The difference it makes—even in the dingiest denture—will surprise you.

Try it today! Write for your KLEENITE today at all drug counters.

MEDICAL BREAKTHROUGH:
A Vaccine to Save 200,000 Rh infants die every year, but science at

By CHARLES MILLER

WHEN Marine Cpl. Lyman Tracy of Covington, Ky., was discharged from service in 1953, the first thing he did was marry his childhood sweetheart, Geraldine Peake.

A year later, when their daughter Laura was born, the joyful Tracys had only one wish—to give Laura a little brother. In 1955 they got their wish—a seven-pound baby boy, but the infant lived only six hours. In the next four years, Geraldine had three more babies—two were stillborn, the third lived only for one hour.

Both parents were in excellent health, yet it was no coincidence that killed four of their five babies, since 200,000 other infants—10,000 in the U.S. alone—die from the same cause every year.

They are the helpless victims of a strange ailment called erythroblastosis fetalis—more commonly known as Rh hemolytic disease of the newborn—which occurs when the blood of one parent contains an 'element' incompatible with the blood of the other. This element is an elusive substance known as the Rh factor (so called for the rhesus monkey, in which it was first discovered), and it exists in 85 percent of all humans. Blood containing the Rh factor is classified as Rh-positive; blood without it, Rh-negative.

Actually, the Rh factor itself isn't a villain, but a sort of bystander that innocently unleashes a killer. If a mother is Rh-negative and a father Rh-positive, the baby may inherit the father's Rh factor; this, in fact, happens in one out of every eight marriages.

During pregnancy in such an instance, the baby's Rh-positive blood cells enter the mother's body through the placenta. The presence of these cells eventually triggers an automatic response in the mother's blood stream—the production of antibodies. These are chemical substances which resist or neutralize foreign "intruders," such as, for example, the virus of the common cold. Ironically, there's no need for this defense mechanism, since the infant's Rh-positive cells offer little, if any, threat to the mother. The mother's antibodies, however, can be fatal to a baby.

The first-born Rh-positive child of an Rh-negative mother, like the Tracys' Laura, is seldom endangered by the disease, since the mother won't manufacture her antibodies until several weeks after delivery. At that time, she may become "sensitized" (that is, permanently immunized against the Rh-positive cells), and the antibodies lie in wait, so to speak, for the next pregnancy with an Rh-positive fetus. Then, usually within 30 weeks following conception, these antibodies invade this infant's blood stream and literally set out to murder its cells. They do this by causing anemia, deadly to the unborn or newborn infant.

Until recently, a baby so-attacked had limited chances of survival. Massive blood transfusions (sometimes given while the infant was still in the womb), were the doctor's only weapon against the disease—but they worked only 50 percent of the time. Now, however, a dramatic medical breakthrough promises to eradicate this assassin. It will probably become available to mothers sometime before the end of this year.

The new agent is a vaccine, known medically as Rh immune globulin, which thwarts Rh hemolytic disease by preventing the mother from producing antibodies. Injected within 72 hours after the Rh-positive delivery, Rh immune globulin "blinds" the mother's Rh-negative blood stream to the presence of the baby's Rh-positive cells; without "awareness" of the cells, there can be no production of antibodies. To do this, antibodies contained in the vaccine destroy the baby's alien cells before they can trigger the mother's defense mechanism. Within several months, the vaccine's antibodies vanish entirely from the mother's blood stream—without having caused any damage.

Rh immune globulin is the fruit of eight years' intensive research by a team of three outstanding scientists: Dr. Vincent J. Freda and Dr. John G. Gorman of the College of Physicians and Surgeons at New York's Columbia-Presbyterian Medical Center, and Dr. William Pollack of the Ortho Research Foundation of Raritan, N. J., which sponsored the research project.

Their task wasn't easy. A host of formidably complex chemical puzzles faced them. They had to tackle the difficult, intricate problems involved in collecting, separating, and stabilizing Rh antibodies and to develop techniques for putting those antibodies into a correct, uniform dosage. In time, and at a cost running into millions, a product emerged. Now came the key question: would it work?

To determine the vaccine's effectiveness, the team prepared carefully designed tests to be conducted on animals, then last may have found the answer to this dread baby killer comprehensive studies on Rh-negative male volunteers, followed by exhaustive clinical trials at more than 40 different hospitals and laboratories throughout the world involving controlled tests on more than 1,400 Rh-negative mothers. The results were unequivocal: Rh hemolytic disease had at last found its master. Only Government approval is needed before it is offered commercially.

Manufacture of Rh immune globulin—also known as RhoGAM—is an extremely intricate process, using as its basic ingredient the natural antibodies produced by sensitized women. (Rh-negative male volunteers can manufacture the same antibodies when injected with Rh-positive blood.) By a technique known as plasmapheresis, technicians take blood from these sensitized persons; chemically extract the antibodies, and return the red and white cells to the donors. The antibodies are then dried into powder and mixed in a solution.

To be effective, RhoGAM must be administered after every Rh-positive childbirth because the vaccine's protection is temporary. Without the vaccine, the mother may produce the antibodies and become sensitized, and once this happens there is no way to alter her active immunological response, and all subsequent births will be threatened by Rh hemolytic disease.

Obviously, then, already sensitized mothers can't benefit from the vaccine, but they can benefit many mothers-to-be. Many of these women are helping by becoming blood donors.

Among the first of the volunteer donors was Geraldine Tracy, who wrote Dr. Gorman: "Nothing will bring back the four babies I lost, and I know it's too late for your vaccine to do me any good. But that's no reason why I shouldn't try to help keep some other mother-to-be from suffering as I did."

By volunteering, women like Geraldine Tracy are helping to make Rh infant deaths a thing of the past.

Now, a world-famous physician, who treats some of America's leading celebrities, says forget about drugs and realize that...

FOOD IS YOUR BEST MEDICINE

This is possibly the most controversial medical book for the general public ever written. We believe it may also be the most beneficial.

For in it, a leading physician (who cured himself of dangerous illness with food alone) asks you to:
 1) stop taking dangerous drugs—
 2) switch today to an enjoyable, NEW way of eating that makes you glow all over with great energy—glorious vitality and above all, ROBUST HEALTH... even if you've spent the last forty years feeling "rotten!"

Look At The Photo Of Young-Looking Dr. Bieler Again. Then Realize That He Has Been A Hard-Working Physician For More Than 50 Years!

Dr. Bieler's message to you is quite simple. He wants you to know that, as a practicing physician for the past fifty years, he has seen just about every illness and weakness that the human body can suffer, and he believes that the vast majority of ALL illnesses DO NOT HAVE TO EXIST AT ALL!

Let him tell you about this thrilling discovery, right now, in his own words:

"I have reached three basic conclusions as to the cause and cure of disease. This book is about those conclusions."

"The first is that the primary cause of disease is not germs. Rather, I believe disease is caused by a toxemia which results in cellular impairment and breakdown; thus paving the way for the multiplication and consequent spread of germs."

"My second conclusion is that in almost all cases the use of drugs in disease is harmful. Drugs often cause serious side effects, and sometimes even create new diseases. The obvious benefits they afford the patient are completely offset by each chemical drug developed. It increases poisons in the body. Yet the number of drugs on the market is now increasing so rapidly that the physician is indeed aware of the potential danger from the side effects of all these drugs."

"My third conclusion is that disease is caused, not by the excess use of correct foods. This statement may sound absolutely simple, but I have arrived at it only after intensive study of a highly complex subject: colloid and endocrine chemistry."

"My conclusion was based of experimental and observational results. I have reported to the use of drugs in emergency situations, but those times have been rare. Instead, I have sought to prescribe for my patients' illnesses, antidotes which Nature has placed at their disposal."

"This book deals with what I consider to be the best food and the best medicine."

The same principles, and "FOOD medicine" headed a dangerous discharging ulcer that kept a man bedridden. Don't miss this story (page 200) and the key paragraphs that follow it.

The same simple nutrition methods cured a man who was too weak to walk, with a body temperature of only 96.5—a slightly acidosis base—and other symptoms of advanced, deadly hypoadrenalism. After 11 days of Dr. Bieler's food treatment, he felt fine. In 14 days he was strong and capable. (page 211).

And above all, on page 17, read Dr. Bieler's own story! Remember, he proved his method on himself when he was ridden with kidney trouble and asthma, and grossly overweight. In fact, when you get your approval copy of FOOD IS YOUR BEST MEDICINE, we think you'll want to turn to page 17 first and read his own personal story of his discovery of the "health magic" that waits in proper nutrition.

The author: Henry G. Bieler, M.D.

"I BELIEVE THAT NATURE, IF GIVEN THE RIGHT OPPORTUNITY, IS ALWAYS THE GREATEST HEALER... I often have been in disagreement with doctors who stand the rich, privileged patient with constant drugs, and then are forced to remedy the remedy."

"Early in my career, when my own health broke down, I investigated the dangers of drugs and the chemistry of foods. I came to the conclusion that I must give up drugs. It was not long until, after repeated, verifiable results, I abandoned nearly all drugs in treating my patients."

"You can save a great deal of the money you now spend on pills and doctors' bills, and spend it on good food and fun."

"After half a century of practice, Dr. Bieler's attempt to revive but found the world heading a path in his door. He still is treating movie stars and singers, professional men and Pasadena showmen—farmers and government officials. Many had a personal knowledge of this physician for health restored after it had been given up for lost... for making life full of joy and well worth living."

Coming into the Stretch

We're watching his height, and it's time to begin to Take measurements we are in doubt of,
As we wait for our younger child to grow into What our older child has grown out of.

QUIPS AND QUOTES

It's wrong to kick a man if he's down, and it's dangerous to kick him if he's not. —Jack Herbert

"Now, tell me about this dream you had," the psychiatrist urged.
"Well," his lady patient began, "I dreamed I was walking down a crowded street with nothing on but a hat."

"And did you feel embarrassed?"
"I certainly did," the lady answered. "It was last year's hat!"
—Scott Keller

A minister protested to his wife that doing the dishes was not a man's job. He had to take back his words when she produced a Bible and quoted this verse: " . . . and I will wipe Jerusalem as a man wipeth a dish, wiping it, and turning it upside down." (2nd Kings; 21:13; King James).

—Herm Albright

I just saw a movie on tv that was so old, France was on our side! —Robert Orben

Vietnam

hooch. It became a natural to sit on his cot, drinking a Coke and talking of home in the middle of war. How much I wanted the magic and peace of these moments to last forever.

Sometimes Bob and a buddy visited my hooch, which was more elegant than theirs since I was quartered in a section where the commanding general lived. I had become friends with the enlisted men who served in the general's mess, and they would bring refreshments over to us, then stay to talk about their families. The last night I was with Bob he came over and was sitting on the floor talking, when he said, "Think I'll take a shower. After all, how many Pfc's get to shower in the general's quarters?"

"Go ahead," I told him. "I'm only sorry it isn't General Westminster's bathroom."

So we kidded each other and acted foolish, and I never realized Bob was worried about me until I got home and talked to his grandmother. She said that when I went into the village to stay, Bob wrote, "I'd know where Mom was going when she swiped my air mattress, I wouldn't have let her go. It's too dangerous." All I know was that Bob was disgusted because I'd seen more of the war than he had up to then, and somehow that didn't seem quite the right thing for a Marine to admit.

I left Phu Bai hurriedly, and I'm glad I hustled over to Bob's hooch and said, "There's a flight leaving for DaNang in 15 minutes, Bob. I'm going out on it." Then I just stood there—so much I wanted to say and couldn't, Bob understood, and he helped me. "Yeah, I know, Mom. Thanks for coming. The guys loved it, and I'm very proud of you, but I'm glad you're going home." I walked out into the rain and mud of Vietnam, left my son grinning foolishly at me, and then I ran.

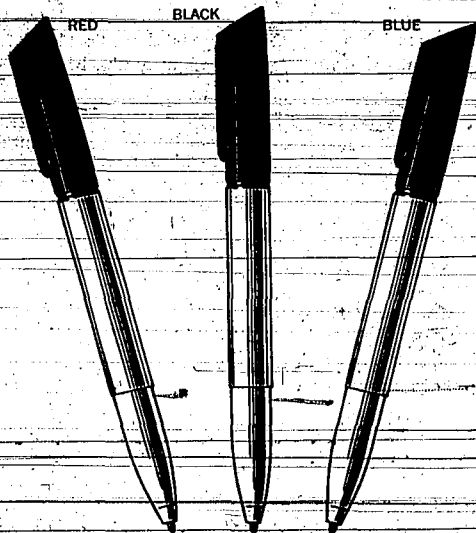

Even though Bob went up to Khe Sanh for the siege there, I have worried less about all our sons since I've seen them at war. It's rotten business, don't get me wrong, but they're wonderful boys, and they'll pull through. This Mother's Day, pray that they will be back with us safely and soon. ☐
