Saigon Blasted By Reds

By EDWIN Q. WHITE
SAIGON (AP)—Enemy rockets blasted downtown Saigon early Sunday, the 78th birthday of President Ho Chi Minh of North Vietnam, starting fires and raising great clouds of smoke over the capital.

Police said many places were hit. They reported two rockets appeared in the eastern part of the Presidential Palace and another near the central market place. One rocket landed near headquarters of the U.S. Aid mission and started a fire that lit up the sky.

First casualties were reported when one shell blew up in front of a public market station. Police said three or four policemen were killed.

Most explosions centered on the heart of Saigon, but there were reports other rockets hit the eastern edges of the capital.

The South Vietnamese Joint Chiefs of Staff said it had received information that the enemy would mark Ho's birthday with widespread attacks on Saigon and other cities and military bases.

U.S. military spokesmen said there were "a handful of rockets" fired at Saigon.

They said they had no reports of other shellings across the country and no accounts of ground attacks on Saigon or other points. Reports reaching military headquarters here often are delayed, however, and sometimes held up before being made public.

2-Car Crash Kills Baby Near Burley

BURLEY—A 6-month-old Idaho Falls baby, Shane Godfrey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Delroy Godfrey, was killed Saturday afternoon in a two-car collision 18 miles east of Burley on Interstate 15W.

Officers said the baby was thrown from the 1958-English Ford driven by Ernest R. Shirley Godfrey, 22, after the car was struck in the rear by a 1965 Pontiac driven by Dan Riley, 27.

The Riley youth told investigators officers that Mrs. Godfrey had slowed down, but State Patrolman Charles Gough said that actually happened.

Mrs. Godfrey is reported in satisfactory condition in Cassia Memorial Hospital after being freed from shock and abrasions. Riley was treated and released.

Cassia county sheriff's officers assisted at the investigation.

The Godfrey vehicle skidded sideways, rolled onto its top and then went into the borrow pit, where it landed on the roof of the rest on its wheels. The baby was thrown out and the car rolled onto him.

The baby was not thrown out. Her husband is serving with the Army at Ft. Lewis, Wash. The baby's body was taken to Malheur Memorial Home, Burley, where services are pending.

International President Visits Civitan Club Convention Here

Francis Esch, president of Civitan International, made his first visit to a district convention when he arrived in Twin Falls Saturday to address the evening session of a two-day convention under way at the Holiday Inn.

Mr. Esch spoke at the 7 p.m. banquet before about 70 Civitan members and their wives. Those attending the convention were from Montana and Idaho.

The convention got under way Friday night with a coordinating and planning session and a fellowship hour. It concludes about 10 a.m. Sunday.

During business Saturday, Robert Adams, Idaho Falls, was named as governor-elect for the two-state district. He will assume the governorship a year from now.

Welcoming the convention delegates Saturday morning was City Manager Herb Derrick.

Special speaker for luncheon meetings was Richard R. Reed, probate judge.

A combined training session, conducted by District Gov. Dr. Howard Miller, Nampa, was held during the afternoon. Dr. Miller relinquished to Ernest Hill, Idaho Falls, who has served as governor-elect of the Interomni-District since the past year.

Activities for wives of the delegates also were held, including an art tour and a luncheon at the Civic Center Saturday at Kay's Supper Club.

Satellite Vehicle Is Purposely Blown Up

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—A Nimbus weather-watch satellite vehicle went away, was intentionally blown up Saturday night by Saturday with its two nuclear-powered generators.

The atomic capsules "were designed and tested to withstand ocean impact and sea water corrosion in case of such an abort," a U.S. Space Agency spokesman said.

"Extensive tests have shown that under ocean conditions the fuel will present no hazards to people or marine life."

A Navy vessel was dispatched to search the area "in preparation for undertaking possible recovery operations."

The device and its booster fell into the ocean between Vandenberg Air Force Base and San Miguel Island, 45 miles south of Vandenberg and 85 miles west of Los Angeles.

The 1,200-pound observatory, third and heaviest in the $200 million Nimbus program, was aimed south toward a polar orbit. Two minutes after liftoff it was destroyed by a nuclear booster.

The Thor-Agena D booster, a satellite of the Thor-Agena D booster.

Advancing Nimbus techniques are expected to extend forecasting and information saving $2 billion annually in industrial losses from weather.

The Space Agency spokesman said this was the first vehicle equipped to collect all data needed for computerized forecasting. It was the first Nimbus destroyed in the program. It had achieved orbit if it would have been called Nimbus 3.

Nimbus 1, orbited in 1964, operated a month. Nimbus 2, launched in 1966, has sent more than a billion pictures of cloud cover and is still going on.

The vehicle, launched Saturday carried two nuclear power generating systems, each with a half-podium pod of plutonium 238 worth $500,000.

The U.S. Geological Survey and the National Aeronautics and Space Administration begin a two-week program Monday to determine whether the equipment that might one day scan the earth from satellites.

Wreckage Of Plane Found Near Malad

MALAD, Idaho (AP)—A rescue team was dispatched Saturday night to search for wreckage of a light plane.

A Cessna 172 was spotted in an air search on a ridge in the Malad mountains eight miles west of Malad.

Robert Thompson, 23, an Australian national, was on a flight from Wichita, Kan., to Coeur d'Alene, B.C., for his employer, Hontz Corp., a Wichita-based plane ferrying firm.

He was last heard from late Wednesday when he radioed Malad, Idaho for a weather report.

Thompson had not filed a flight plan, but was expected to arrive in Yakima, Wash., early Thursday to visit his mother.

When he failed to arrive, his mother called the Federal Aviation Administration.

Downtown Development Meeting Set

At least five speakers—two of them from San Francisco—will detail plans for Twin Falls' proposed downtown development project at a public meeting scheduled Wednesday, starting at 7:30 p.m. in the American Legion Hall.

In in-depth session will feature a report on the economic effect of the proposed project, the role the city would play in such a development and just how the area will look at completion of the project.

Directed for the first time will be a model of the six-block area which would be included in the improvement. This model, as well as related pictures and color slides, will feature discussions by A. Jerry Koyser, vice president of Larry Smith and Co., San Francisco real estate consultants, and Robert Royston, senior member of the firm Royston, Hannaman, Beck and Abbey, San Francisco landscape architects.

Joe Cline, Twin Falls, chairman of the Twin Falls Urban Renewal Commission, who has members were appointed by the city commission, will discuss the proposed payment plan of the venture and will give details of Just where the money will come from.

Others to speak will include Mayor Egon Kroll, who will tell of the extent of the city participation; and David M. A., chairman of the design committee. Mr. Mead is also from Twin Falls.

Hill Grange, chairman of the board of directors of Twin Falls Futures Unlimited, will serve as master of ceremonies.

"The general public is welcome to attend this important city planning meeting," Mr. Grange said. "A special invitation goes to all property owners and tenants in the six-block area which would be affected."

The speakers, at conclusion of their remarks, will welcome constructive questions but of necessity, these questions will be limited to the subject matter at hand.

Interested persons feel that the questions they want to ask are of too personal a nature to ask in public. If a person would like to make a question or ask to the officials in private, it is in their interest to do so. In other words, "this session is to be informative and of the public will be ground as long as is required to answer pertinent questions."

Huong Appointed Vietnam Premier

By MICHAEL GOLDSMITH
SAIGON (AP)—Fran Van Huong, a political veteran esteemed by U.S. officials for his honesty, was appointed premier Saturday to head a cabinet that may be more receptive to the Paris peace talks.

Huong was the choice of President Nguyen Van Thieu and was opposed by Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky, who is against the U.S. policy of trying to end the war by negotiation and compromise.

The outgoing premier, Nguyen Van Loc, is an associate of Ky and used his resignation to declare that South Vietnam faces "grave dangers" from the U.S.-North Vietnamese talks now going on in Paris.

Huong, by contrast, is believed to be wholeheartedly in favor of the negotiations in the French capital.

The change in premiers did nothing to heal the rift between Ky and Thieu, who while expressing apprehension about negotiating with the Communists, went along with the decision for the Paris meeting.

Various sources in Paris saw the shakeup in Saigon as evidence of instability that would have an adverse effect upon the negotiations. They apparently were apprehensive of the Thieu-Ky rivalry.

Diplomatic sources in Saigon conceded that Thieu and Nonn ran into difficulties putting together a cabinet acceptable to the military leaders who hold most of the effective power.

They emphasized, however, that what was being sought was a government of greater stability. They said Huong, a former premier, will try to replace the cabinet of technicians with one that will embrace most political parties in a bid for popular support.

The whole trend of Huong's policy seemed turned toward peace and away from the all-out military victory long urged by Ky and his friends. For this, Huong has strong backing from the U.S. Mission.

Whether Huong will be able to carry through with such a policy may depend largely on the support he can get from military leaders.

Thieu, who has proved himself a master in maneuvering through South Vietnam's political labyrinth, was widely believed to have obtained private assurances of loyalty from a number of important military leaders before accepting Loc's resignation and appointing Huong.

Under South Vietnam's new constitution, the president alone is responsible for appointing and removing the premier. The premier is responsible for executing government policy and appointing key officials, but the president has the last word on all major decisions.

Both Sides Claim Issues Are Being Sidestepped

PARIS (AP)—In their long-running dispute, the United States and North Vietnam angrily accused each other Saturday of deliberately sidestepping the basic issues in their talks aimed at ending the fighting in Vietnam.

Neither side reported the slightest progress after the hour-long meetings. The discussions were recessed until Wednesday at the request of U.S. Ambassador W. Averell Harriman.

Harriman, in a tough worded statement, demanded that North Vietnam acknowledge it has combat troops in the South. This is a "question of establishment on some basis from which we can begin serious negotiations," Vietnam angrily accused each other Saturday of deliberately sidestepping the basic issues in their talks aimed at ending the fighting in Vietnam.

Resurrection City Begins Spreading

WASHINGTON (AP)—The little plywood pyramids of Resurrection City began spreading again Saturday as the Poor People's Campaign moved to shelter for thousands of demonstrators closing in from around the city.

Trucks delivering sections of the wood shelled gear just rising in the field alongside the Lincoln Memorial's reflecting pool, and awnings of black and white fabric were being hung with the sound of hammers.

To gain time, officials shunted the caravan of about 500 midwestern demonstrators for a two-day unscheduled stop in Baltimore.

They had earlier asked all volunteers not already on route to delay arrival until Memorial Day, when they plan the biggest demonstration ever held in America.

De Gaulle Returns To Deal With Social And Industrial Crisis

PARIS (AP)—President Charles de Gaulle rushed back from Bucharest Saturday night to a France in revolutionary ferment. He cut short a state visit to Romania to deal with the graves social and industrial crisis his 10-year regime has faced.

A paralyzing wave of strikes against a private and state-owned industry, railroads, air and bus transportation, post and telecommunications—nearly every branch of the nation's economy—has raised over factory after factory across the countryside. The big trade unions made clear the strike wave came from the grassroots. They urged its spread.

Premier Georges Pompidou conferred repeatedly with security chiefs, including the defense minister, Interior ministers, striving to hold the fort until De Gaulle could resume command.

The strike movement heavily curtailed operations at France's big Orly International Airport from which the general took off Monday for his visit to Romania. He had got intended to return until Sunday.

Dump Found Along River Near Burley

By GEORGIA LAYTON
BURLEY—Discovery of a number of dead and decaying animals at the edge of the Snake River near Burley last week has prompted a warning from Idaho Department of Health officials that this is in obvious violation of health laws.

The animals, there, created some discrepancy as to the extent of the action which has been taken in cleaning up the area, west of Burley.

Health Department officials say all persons involved in the problem have been most cooperative and, as a result, immediate action to correct the situation.

But this writer, going to the site Friday evening by boat, observed the body of a dead animal along the water's edge. Another black calf carcass was easily uncovered when my son climbed onto the bank and overturned an old car seat. Apparently the debris has been pushed by bulldozers to the water's edge and somewhat covered with dirt.

The situation was brought to light last week when Tom Hoover, who operates Tom's Marina on the Snake River, north of Burley, complained to Cassia County officials about the stench coming from a "dumpground" about a mile upstream from his establishment.

This writer accompanied Hoover to the area by boat and found some half-dozen or more dead animals dumped near the river's edge where they had been seen to be dumped. The odor was most unbearable.

Mill Levy Urged For Buhl School

By PAULINE DAY
Times-News Correspondent

BUHL—A committee recently established by the Buhl school trustees to study the present salary schedule of the Buhl schools as it relates to certified personnel has found the salary schedule to be comparatively low, according to Bill Watt, committee chairman.

For this reason the committee recommended that the board present to the public the question of voting on a five mill levy for a period of five years.

The committee pointed out that it would require the five mills, which would raise about $45,000 annually in new revenue to restructure and maintain the salary schedule to compete with other districts in the area.

Enlarging Of Airstrip Set For Hailey

HAILEY—Work on improvement and enlarging of the Friedman Memorial airstrip is scheduled to begin July 15, according to an official report after a meeting this week with the owner of the property which borders the field on the south.

Blaine county commissioners: George Allen, Hailey mayor; Chet Moulton, head of the Idaho Department of Aeronautics, and other state officials met with Edward G. Gage, Minneapolis, Minn., owner of the Half-Way Ranch which borders the airstrip on the south.

Mr. Gage said he was not satisfied with the price offered for the 12 acres of his land which airport officials want to purchase to "expand the current facilities from 6,500 to 8,500 feet."

Mr. Moulton said the runway addition would allow jets to land safely and substantially increase the field's capacity.

The owner requested a reappraisal of the property, Mayor Allen said.

Mayor Allen said that Blaine County commissioners advised him that the price offered for the reappraisal, which must be completed within 10 days of Tuesday's meeting, if a purchase agreement is reached, condemnation proceedings will be initiated immediately.

Body Taken From Plane Wreckage

IDAHO FALLS, Idaho (AP)—The body of George Hubler, former manager of the Canyonlands Airport at Moab, Utah, was removed from the wreckage of his light plane Friday.

Hubler crashed in the saddle between two peaks of Montida Pass, 80 miles north of Idaho Falls, Idaho Aeronautics Director Chet Moulton said.

Hubler, 47, a retired Air Force colonel, was last seen Monday when he refueled at Rexburg, Idaho on his flight from Moab to Thompson Falls, Mont., where he was going to inspect a mining venture.

He apparently flew into bad weather, the plane's right wing struck a tree and the craft nosed over, about 600 feet inside the Montana line on the north side of the pass, Moulton said.

Hubler's widow and one daughter live in Wallace, Idaho, and another daughter is attending school in Salt Lake City, a relative said.

PLANE UNCOVERED
CALAIS, France (AP)—Low tide Friday uncovered a plane, presumably of World War II, with the pilot still at the controls. Its origin could not be determined immediately. The body was taken to a cemetery.

Local Youth Appointed To Annapolis

Appointment of Roger Erick Mikesell, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Mikesell, 168 Juniper St. N., Twin Falls, to the U. S. Naval Academy in Annapolis, Md., has been announced by U. S. Congressman George Hansen, R-Idaho.

The Twin Falls youth will receive the appointment June 26, 1968, and has confirmed his acceptance of the appointment to Congressman Hansen. Young Mikesell received the appointment on a competitive basis, through tests following his application.

Mrs. Mikesell said her son decided several years ago that he wanted to attend the U. S. Naval Academy and was most grateful for the appointment announced Thursday. He is the eldest of seven children in the Mikesell family. Mr. Mikesell is a Navy veteran. The appointment is for four years.

Agents' Salary To Be Raised

RUPERT—A letter vouching additional funds to meet the recent demands of the University of Idaho Extension service for raises for county agents has been approved by the Mindoka County Commission and forwarded to the associate director of extension in Boise.

Two of the county's three commissioners signed the letter, which states that the additional funds, to amount to 500 percent per year, are being raised by private donations. In July, 1967, the commission raised the highest agent salary from $12,868 to $15,368 a year.

Commission chairman Burt VanEvery and Commissioner Howard Hanks signed the letter, but the third commissioner, Alex Roemer, refused to sign on the grounds that the agents' salaries are as high as they should be in a small economy community.

Mr. Roemer, who also cast one of the dissenting votes when the matter first went before the commission, said at that time that he did not feel the raises were justified because of the comparatively low salaries of the county's elected officials. The highest salary paid to any elected official in the county is $4,000 for county auditor.

At a January meeting of the commission with an advisory committee, called to discuss the county agent situation in the county, Gray Hall, district supervisor for the extension services, told the group that if individual counties failed to appropriate the salary increase "throughout the state would have to be eliminated or services curtailed."

He said a decision had to be reached before July 1, 1968. To date, all but about six of Idaho's counties have approved the payhikes.

Prior to the signing of the letter, Howard Hanks was officially sworn into office. Mr. Hanks was appointed to the position following the resignation of Lloyd Knodel who had moved from the district.

Involvement

Churches and church groups over the last couple of decades have shown an increasing tendency to become more involved in social concerns... Among religious leaders, the impetus for such involvement today appears to be even more stronger even though words continue to speak much louder than actions.

The significant thing, however, is that the trend in this country seems to be toward sideline roles the stickier the problem becomes... In 1957, a poll showed that those who felt the churches should express their views on such questions had a slight edge—47 to 44 per cent—over those who thought the churches should keep out of political and social questions.

Nothing In Particular

Trips to other communities are really nice things—they make you realize what a nice place home is... And speaking of gold when Mr. Spector is planning to visit the Bay area, he couldn't help but think that the flight from Twin Falls to San Francisco is a golden place for a barber to set up shop.

LONGEVITY If you are planning to live to a ripe old age, get listed in "Who's Who."... A 12-year study of 6,329 distinguished men listed in the 1935-51 edition of "Who's Who in America" revealed that they had a mortality rate average 30 per cent below that of white males in the general population.

Next time you go to Boise, and are not going by plane, be sure to drop out and see the big improvement and building program going on at the airport... They have taken the bull by the horns and are getting ready for the really big jet that will be here in a few months.

GIVEAWAY DEPT: Cats and kittens to give away... With OR WITHOUT? Government standards for canned chicken soup, it appears, do not apply to chicken chowder.

Then there was the ride from a downtown San Francisco hotel to the International Airport with J. James Kounin, the Twin Falls expert on all things at the airport... And at the Twin Falls airport, when your bags are unloaded from the plane, you walk outside the terminal building, pick up your car and walk away.

Testifying before a House Appropriations subcommittee, officials of the Agriculture Department said new regulations, requiring chicken soup in a can to contain a minimum of two per cent chicken by weight... But chicken chowder is in the Interior Department's province, the subcommittee was told.

Actual flying time from San Francisco to Twin Falls via Boise and Reno is 2 1/2 hours and 20 minutes... Like we said, the nice thing about a trip is getting back home and there are a heck of a lot of places that don't even come close to matching Twin Falls as a place to hang your hat.

LOW BIRTH IS THE world's population problem? What's all this talk about a "population explosion"? Consider two facts: The world's history goes back perhaps 5,000 years... The world's population increased an average of more than 1 per cent per year between 1950 and 1965.

The collapse of the Columbia University community may take 10 years to properly analyze and understand... I don't accept this criticism. I believe that the Columbia tragedy is symptomatic of a deeper and more widespread current malaise in our national life... The university trustees are having their headcracking sessions in private. Clusters of shocked alumni are trying to figure out where to send their money.

ing a $25,000 bulldozer. Our car was stopped several times on the road from Tel Aviv to Jerusalem... Do we really believe that this student generation, after being told by almost every leading presidential candidate that the draft is a shabby system, is going to serenade Gen. Hershey?

Idaho Life Underwriters Association Concludes Convention In Sun Valley

"Think positive, not only in the principles of everyday living, but in the business world," emphasized John W. Meisner, back, Seattle, Wash., when he addressed members of the Idaho State Association of Life Underwriters attending the state convention in Sun Valley.

Mr. Meisner, one of the outstanding young agency managers of the life insurance industry, and a dynamic and entertaining speaker, addressed the group at the Friday evening banquet.

"No man is a failure until he blames someone else," he noted as he talked on "Attitude," giving positive rather than negative attitudes as the basis of success.

Benjamin N. (Woody) Woodson, Houston, Tex., well known writer and speaker on life insurance, was featured speaker at the noon banquet Saturday, concluding sessions for the convention three days earlier. He chose a very fitting topic with so many wives in attendance, "A Word to the

Mr. Woodson, 1963 recipient of the John Newton Russell Memorial award, spoke twice during the convention first at the sales congress meeting Saturday morning, then at the banquet.

Convening underwriters for breakfast and were addressed by Paul A. Wallace, Seattle, Wash., chairman of the official guidance committee of the Seattle Chapter of the American Society of CLU's. He spoke on "Good Ethics and Peace of Mind," with Arden Robertson, Pocatello, as master of ceremonies.

After breakfast, delegates met in the Opera House for a sales congress session where they were addressed by Cleo F. Edwards, Cedar Rapids, Iowa, trustee of the National Association of Life Underwriters; Tyson Payne, St. Louis, Mo., vice president, health insurance operations, American National Insurance Co., and Mr. Woodson.

The Idaho convention has been held in Sun Valley the past nine years, and according to Grant Russell, Twin Falls, past president of the state association, this year's was one of the most outstanding. He noted approximately 300 underwriters, wives and guests were registered for the sessions.

"Guest speakers this year have been the most outstanding in the insurance business, and we were very proud to welcome them to the Gem State and the 33rd annual convention for the Idaho State Association of Life Underwriters," commented Wayne Barney, president of the host group, the Southern Idaho Life Underwriters.

JUDGES NAMED
BOISE (AP)—The Idaho Arts Association president, Mrs. Roy Maxey, and the chairman of the Idaho Arts and Humanities Commission, Grant Kilbourne, said Saturday their organization has named judges to select paintings from Idaho to be included in an eight-state exhibit.

The paintings will be included in the annual "Eight State" art tour sponsored by the Federation of Rocky Mountain States. The tour opens in September in Great Falls, Mont., and will be in Idaho in November.

The judges named are Millard Sheets, Claremont, Calif., and Richard Haines, Marion, Iowa. Both artists are art instructors at college level.

BOARD ENDS TOUR
SANDPOINT, Idaho (AP)—The State Highway Board visited Sandpoint and Bonners Ferry Friday, completing a four-day tour of northern Idaho road building.

The board planned to return to Coeur d'Alene today to discuss with the chamber of commerce there. The tour began Tuesday in the Lewiston and Grangeville areas.

BEVER ENDORSED
IDAHO FALLS (AP)—George Bever, Idaho Falls, a candidate for Republican National Committee from Idaho, has been endorsed by the Bonneville County Republican Central Committee, county chairman Keith Brower said Saturday.

Brower said it was the "overwhelming sentiment" of the Bonneville County committee that Bever, who has been active in the Republican party in that area, was best qualified for the job.

CANDIDATE TALKS
IDAHO FALLS, Idaho (AP)—State Sen. Orval Hansen of Idaho Falls, Republican candidate for Congress in Idaho's Second District, has attacked the present Democratic administration for bringing the "worst financial crisis in nearly 40 years."

Hansen told the Bonneville County Republican Assembly the administration "has no confidence in the dollar has evaporated. The threat of a flight from the dollar and a rush to gold is real."

BODY FOUND
MCCALL, Idaho (AP)—The body of a 17-year-old Boise youth, missing since late January, has been found in mountainous country about 2 1/2 miles east of McCall.

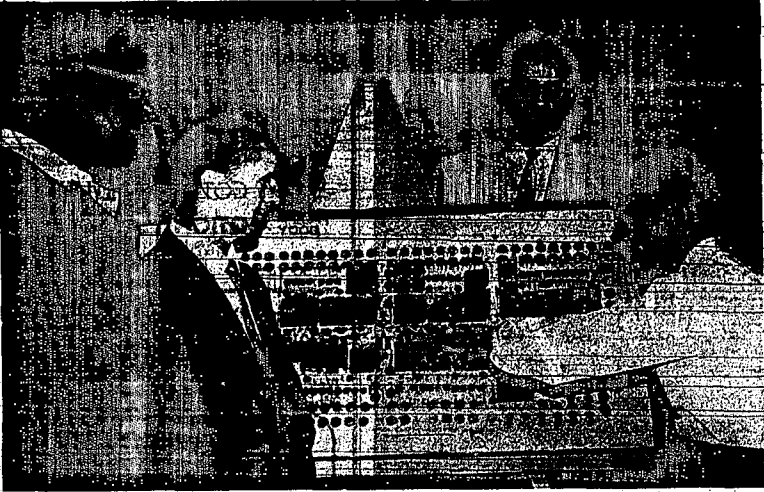

The youth, Rick Crabb, and a companion, Garry Shannon, 18, became lost in a snowstorm while on a snowmobile outing. Shannon's body was found Friday by two U.S. Forest Service employees.

Howard Ketchum, an art editor who was preparing for a concentrated weekend search.

MCCLEURE SPEAKS
BOISE (AP)—U.S. Rep. James McClure, R-Idaho, told a House Republican audience Friday the federal government is paying 75 per cent of the cost of the Poor Peoples March on Washington.

The federal government is paying, McClure told the Ada County GOP Central Committee, "because it got hold of a float and is trying to control passions and prejudices."

He said the government was "trying desperately to avoid confrontations that have built up."

Building Officials Hear Of T.F. Redevelopment Plans

Building officials from several southern Idaho communities heard a briefing Friday afternoon on the status of a downtown redevelopment program in Twin Falls, while attending a quarterly meeting of the Idaho and Eastern Oregon Chapter of the International Conference of Building Officials.

William Grange, member of Twin Falls Future Unlimited, outlined the progress and said that probably between $5 and $7-million will be invested in a better and more attractive Twin Falls business district before the project is completed. He said the entire program is based on what the property owners themselves want.

Financing, he said, will include Urban Renewal matching funds, local improvement district financing and a large amount of investment from the property owners who will be renovating and remodeling their own buildings and businesses.

Herb Derrick, Twin Falls city manager, also addressed the building officials, urging they pay special heed to their public relations.

He pointed out that inspectors and zoning administrators are working constantly with the public and they serve as public relations officials of the communities where they work.

James Obenchain, Boise, president of the association, said the next quarterly meeting will be held in August in Burley, George Ottens, secretary-treasurer.

Jerome Sneak Brings Seniors Blank Diplomas

By SARAH BEEM
Twin Falls Times-News Staff Writer

JEROME—About 60 senior boys and girls will receive a blank diploma at the Jerome High School graduation exercises May 27 as a result of an unauthorized afternoon holiday. The sneak was in direct defiance of an order by the board of trustees that no senior sneak would be permitted, Supt. William Lipscomb said. The 60 seniors who come about the graduating class, will be permitted to participate in the exercise, but will be required to attend school on May 27 and in order to get their diplomas. They will not be separated from the other members of the class in the procession, but will be placed behind the other seniors for the line of march into the gymnasium. Supt. Lipscomb said he made an announcement at the commencement exercises that the 60 youths will not receive blank diplomas unless they have fulfilled the stipulated requirements.

The sneak was held recently during a day when seniors held an assembly in the morning while the other classes held registration for next year. The group of about 60 seniors who walked out of the assembly before it was over and failed to return in the afternoon," the superintendent said.

Some surprise had been expressed in the community that any disciplinary action was being taken. One mother of a senior student who did not participate in the unauthorized sneak said, "I think parents who are upbraid their children in this area, doing them a grave injustice, as it was clearly known that such an outing was forbidden."

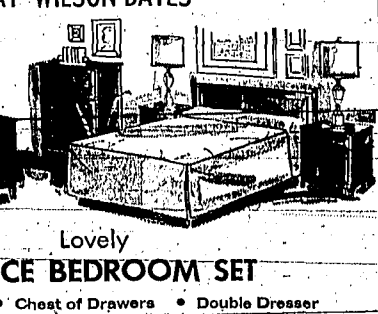

News Of Record

MINIDOKA COUNTY
Police Blotter
 About 50 gas caps from automobiles in Rupert were reported stolen sometime Thursday night. The caps were taken from autos parked in various car lots, and some of the stolen merchandise involves Federal property, according to Police Chief Ed Cutler, as caps were taken from cars belonging to the Soil Conservation Service. Fingerprints are being lifted and studied.

George Brock, 70, Rupert, was cited for backing when not reasonable and prudent Thursday after his 1949 Plymouth struck a 1966 Buick Oldsmobile. Deanna Yasatis, 27, also Rupert, causing $25 damage to the Pontiac. Brock was backing from the city in front of the post office in Rupert when the incident occurred.

RUTH TOLMAN JOYCE BEDKE

Two Oakley students named scholastic leaders of the class of 1968. The valedictorian, Miss Tolman, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Tolman, while the salutatorian's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Herschel Bedke, all Oakley. Baccalaureate services will be held at 8 p.m. Sunday and commencement exercises are scheduled for 8 p.m. May 24.

Ruth Tolman, Joyce Bedke Are Oakley Class Leaders

OAKLEY — Valedictorian for the Oakley High School Class of 1968 is Ruth Tolman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Tolman. Salutatorian of the class is Joyce Bedke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herschel Bedke, all Oakley.

Miss Tolman was district 4 vice-president of the Future Homemakers of America last year and is president of the local FHA chapter. Also she has served as Pep Band president, senior-class secretary and honorary historian.

Miss Bedke has been a leader in the drill team, a cheerleader, served as student body treasurer, flag carrier and represented Oakley High School in the YMCA Youth Legislature program in her junior year.

Baccalaureate services for the class will be held at 8 p.m. Sunday in the Oakley LDS Tabernacle. Susan Mullins will give the welcome and Mary Matthews will give the invocation. Speakers will be Susan Elison and Carol Smith. Keith Severe will sing a solo.

Featured speaker will be Berni Lundgren. Robert Helms will give the benediction. Processional and recessional will be directed by Mrs. Elaine Matthews.

Commencement exercises will be held at 8 p.m. May 24 in the Oakley LDS Tabernacle. The class has selected pink and lavender as their colors, the American Beauty Rose as their flower and their motto is "Youth of Today; Leaders of Tomorrow."

Welcome will be given by Joyce Baker and Renee Rosegrens will give the invocation. Speakers will be Ruth Tolman, student body president, and Glenda Martindale, senior class president. A musical number will be presented by Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Swan.

Miss Tolman and Miss Bedke will give the valedictorian and salutatorian addresses. The class tribute will be given by Mrs. Kathryn Mayes and the school song will be sung by the class of 1968.

Presentation of class will be by C. W. Hains, principal, and W. B. Whitley, Cassia County School Board Chairman, will present the diplomas. Keith Severe will give the benediction. Processional and recessional will be directed by Mrs. Matthews.

Hagerman Lists Cheerleaders

HAGERMAN — Cindy Neal, Robert Dalton and Marie Waita have been selected Junior Varsity cheerleaders for Hagerman High School.

The girls are daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Loren Graves, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Dalton and Mrs. Bernus Walter.

Police Rout Students From Building

NEW YORK (AP) — Police routed six demonstrators Saturday from a rundown tenement building in Morningside Heights that Columbia University plans to tear down in an expansion program.

Police led by Chief Inspector Sanford Garelik arrested 121 persons in the Columbia students in a pre-dawn operation, removing the unrelenting protesters swiftly and without injury. Fourteen were women.

The sit-in is the latest tactic by student leaders who have kept the Ivy League school in turmoil for nearly a month.

Among those arrested was Mark Rudd, chairman of the leftist Students for a Democratic Society and a chief organizer of the protests.

David B. Truman, university vice president, said in a statement that "this act of criminal trespass in unoccupied buildings... is an extension of the trespass committed on the Columbia campus two weeks ago. It was instigated by the same student group."

Truman charged that "the night's illegal act started on the campus itself, with the student leaders whooping up the students and outsiders."

Ketchum Slates Narcotics Meet

KETCHUM — Wood River Jay-Cettes are sponsoring a series of four programs on the subject of narcotics. A film will be shown, narrated by an employee of the State Board of Pharmacy.

First presentation will be at the regular meeting of the Ketchum-Sun Valley Rotary Club Tuesday noon, and will be repeated at 8 p.m. that evening for members of the Papoose Club at the home of Mrs. George Loomis, Jr.

Wednesday noon members of the Ketchum-Sun Valley Chamber of Commerce will see the film at their regular meeting at the Alpine Cafe, and at 8 p.m. the final presentation will be at the Ketchum school for the general public.

Funds Okayed For Hansen Sewer System

HANSEN — A $107,000 insured loan to a group of 70 rural families in Hansen, Idaho, to develop a sewer system and treatment facilities has been approved by the Farmers Home Administration, reports George M. Klein, the Agency's State Director.

The loan will enable the Hansen Sewer and Water Improvement Association to install a sewer system and the City of Hansen and to construct a two-stage aerated sewage lagoon for sewage treatment.

The proposed facilities will be provided by a private lender. Under the insured loan program the Farmers Home Administration makes and services the loan and guarantees repayment of the money borrowed along with interest. This loan will be repaid over a period of 40 years.

Officers of the association are Verly Blair, president, and Norville Reynolds, secretary-treasurer.

Since July 1, 1967, the Farmers Home Administration has made 26 loans to rural groups and small towns to install or improve their sewer and water systems. The total amount of money loaned was $2,575,220. In addition five rural communities were given development grants amounting to $403,270 to enable them to obtain water or sewage facilities and bring the cost within their ability to repay.

$140,000 In Aid Set For CSI Students

More than $140,000 is available in loans, grants and work study programs for academic students who are planning to attend the College of Southern Idaho next year.

T.F. Fulbright Scholar Ready For Trip To France

Cathryn J. Holm, a 21-year-old senior from Twin Falls, will be traveling to France this fall to study French at the University of Clermont-Ferrand.

Miss Holm, who has accumulated a 3.8 average during her four years at the University of Idaho, is the recipient of a Fulbright Scholarship.

She received straight A's in U of I French courses. "I know there will be antagonistic questions asked about my country by the French people, and I want to be informed to answer them," she said recently.

"I love my country and I'm proud of it. I plan to read a lot this summer and follow the political picture in both the United States and France before departing. In September," she stated.

There is no university credit attached to Miss Holm's work at the French university. The principal reason for the scholarship is to learn to communicate in a foreign language.

Miss Holm will spend nine months in France attending school, and then plans to travel through Europe. Tentatively she intends to teach high school after completing her education, which she hopes will include a doctorate degree.

She is the daughter of Mrs. Joyce Holm, Twin Falls.

Scholarship Is Planned By Club

HATLEY — The Hatley Rotary Club has formally sponsored the Lela Montgomery Memorial Scholarship, which will be awarded annually to some graduating student from Wood River High School in memory of a teacher who dedicated her entire life to education in this community.

Robert Riggen, chairman of a committee to evaluate the merit of the plan, recommended that it be adopted at the club's Thursday noon meeting.

Vernon Exner, county school superintendent and chairman of the Rotary Club's educational committee, said $25 already has been given and it is hoped that the first Lela Montgomery scholarship may be awarded at commencement this year.

Cafe Opens

JEROME — The Spot Lunch, Jerome's newest business, is located at 624 South Lincoln. It is owned and managed by Mrs. Robert Stewart.

It will be open six days a week from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. and have breakfasts; a special merchants lunch and a specialty of homemade pie.

funds already has been granted to students, but that most still is available.

Application blanks for applying for assistance are available in most Magic Valley high schools, or those interested can contact Mr. Perkins at the CSI office.

For the 1968-69 year about $32,575 in loans from the federal government, matched by 10 per cent of that amount by the college, is available.

Under the work-study program, where students may work up to 15 hours a week while attending classes, $80,000 has been appropriated to CSI from federal and local funds. The on-campus in various college departments.

Educational opportunity grants also are available to CSI students in amounts ranging from $200 to $800, depending on the student's need. Eligibility for applying for a portion of the $21,750 allocated to CSI is limited to students of exceptional financial needs. Mr. Perkins stated.

Last year with about 1,400 students at CSI, and about 950 of those students in the academic branch, nearly 200 academic students were provided financial assistance under one of the three programs.

Financial assistance also is available to vocational-technical students, but no figures have been released yet in that department.

New Color?

PARIS (AP) — Parisians love their Eiffel tower, but many would like to see it in a different color scheme.

The newspaper France-Soleil determined in a poll that nearly 25 per cent prefer gray, more than 15 per cent suggest tricolor—blue, white and red—applied in either vertical or horizontal stripes and 12 per cent want blue.

The present chestnut-paste is favored by almost 10 per cent.

Rupert Boys Treated For Gun Wounds

RUPERT — Two Minico High School seniors were treated for gun shot wounds and released from the "Maidoka" Memorial Hospital Friday afternoon following an incident at the Rupert Arcade Circle. Rupert city police officer said a .25 pistol, owned by Jerry Thompson, 18, Rupert, apparently accidentally discharged while in the hands of Mike Nussen, also 18 of Rupert. The bullet struck Gary Gray, 18, in the arm, traveled through his shoulder, and out again. It then apparently struck Bob Schmitz, also 18, in the arm. Thompson and Nussen have been charged with injuring another person by handling and firing a firearm. The charge is a misdemeanor. The youths told officers they thought the gun was loaded with blanks. The incident is under investigation by the Rupert City Police officers.

Ketchum To Promote Tourism

KEYCHUM — PRIDE is Ketchum's latest organization. Its members are engaged in the restoration, general development and promotion of a more interesting tourist and residential area for the greater Wood River Valley in particular and Central Idaho in general. Feeling this impetus, most of the business establishments in Ketchum are planning face-lift projects this summer. Richard Meyer, Ketchum designer and planner, said PRIDE, which stands for "Promote Recreational Idaho's Development and Economy," is a state-wide organization, non-political and non-profit. Serving as a board of directors are Robert Wright, Mrs. Mary Jane Snyder, John Delong, Mrs. Keith Evans, Ben Jewell, Mr. Meyer, Mrs. B. G. Fagan, Mrs. Peg Nelson and Mrs. Vern O. (Ike) Thomas. The group plans meetings at 2:30 p.m. each Monday at the Sawtooth Club and invites anyone interested to attend.

Sen. Kennedy Pounces On Humphrey

EUGENE, Ore. (AP) — Sen. Robert F. Kennedy pounced Saturday on Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey for what Kennedy called a misstatement about who shall take part in the Paris peace talks. Kennedy called for separate negotiations between the National Liberation Front and the South Vietnamese government. "to help avoid the embarrassment and confusion of the last two days, the contradiction between the vice president and members of the administration." He implied that the vice president's remarks might hamper the negotiations now under way in Paris. The New York Democrat's newest attack on his chief rival for the Democratic presidential nomination came in remarks prepared for a talk at the University of Oregon. They came at the end of a 124-mile whistle-stop-train-tour through the lush green Willamette Valley in Western Oregon. But for the second straight day, Kennedy failed in most places to draw the huge, enthusiastic crowds that have marked his campaign throughout the state. At Salem, the capital, with a population of 68,000, the candidate drew barely 1,000 persons to the railroad depot on a sparkling Saturday morning. Barely 100 turned up at Oregon City, and perhaps 1,000 surrounded the back of his train in Albany, with a population of 16,800. Kennedy's blast at Humphrey was prompted by the vice president's remark in Maine Friday that it has now been agreed at the Paris meetings that the North Vietnamese "can" have whatever they want if they want it. "We want our own, it's just that simple."

Taxpayer Can Get Hearing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Can an American taxpayer get a fair hearing from the same government agency which contends he owes more taxes?

The Internal Revenue Service says he can. Although expanding its system isn't perfect, IRS opposes any new style court designed to provide "impartial" judgment for the small taxpayer whose return is questioned.

Routes Open To Teaching Careers

BY RAY CROMLEY
NEA Publications

If you plan to be an elementary or high school teacher or are one now and have graduated from college, you may be eligible for a federal teacher fellowship.

These fellowships may run for periods up to 24 months. The stipend is normally $2,000 the first year and $2,200 the second. Additional stipends of $400 are available for study outside the normal academic year. Allowances are given for dependents.

Prospective teachers must seriously intend to pursue a career in elementary or secondary education. Men and women who are at present teaching must be recommended by the local school system to which they expect to return.

The fellowships are intended for graduate study leading to a master's degree or its equivalent.

For further information, write the Graduate Academic Programs Branch, Bureau of Higher Education, U.S. Office of Education, Washington, D.C. 20202.

may be awarded to persons who have completed up to two years of their Ph.D.

Each year, graduate institutions are invited to submit to the U.S. Commissioner of Education applications for allotments of fellowships.

For further information contact the Division of Graduate Programs, Bureau of Higher Education, U.S. Office of Education, Washington, D.C. 20202.

There are also federal teaching fellowships designed to encourage high-quality men and women to teach in developing institutions. These pay up to $8,300, plus $400 per dependent.

Highly qualified graduate students and junior faculty members are eligible. Appointments are for a maximum of two academic years.

Special CSI Courses To Be Offered

Two College of Southern Idaho summer school courses are being specially geared for those interested in becoming medical secretaries or desiring employment in other medical fields.

Dr. Adele Thompson, dean of women, said that the two course medical terminology and human anatomy, will be offered back to back for convenience to those taking the course. The human anatomy course, instructed by Mrs. Sonja Herbert, will be offered from 7:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m., preceded by the medical terminology course from 6:30 p.m. to 7:30 p.m.

Dr. Thompson, who will be instructing the medical terminology course, said that the two classes make good companion courses. Those now employed in medical fields can benefit as well as those seeking employment in medical occupations.

Warning Is Issued Over Vandalism

Recent instances of malicious destruction of property, involving public telephones, brought a warning Friday from Police Chief Frank Barnett.

He said a number of public telephones have been damaged, apparently by school children. In some cases, the officer said, dials have been pried from the telephones and other damage inflicted.

Parents, he warned, are responsible for their children and for what damage they do. If apprehended, he said, the children and their parents will face the responsibility of paying for the damaged telephones which could run to a high figure.

Mr. Barnett said this is also the time of year when air rifles or BB guns, sling shots and bow and arrows and other legal weapons showing up in many neighborhoods.

Here again, he said, parents are responsible for any damage or injury caused and the youngsters can be brought and referred to Probate Court for legal action.

Shoshone Slates First Practice

SHOSHONE — All persons and coaches interested in the next summer baseball program are asked to attend the first practice to be held at 7 p.m. Friday at the recreation field.

Joe Pagoga will be in charge of the two Little League teams this season and Wally Burkett will direct the Babe Ruth team.

Catches for the Little League teams are needed. All home games will begin at 7 p.m. this season.

PROGRAM CHAIRMEN for the Twin Falls Rotary Club's Golden Anniversary celebration at the Blue Lakes Country Club were Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Cook. They introduced a delightful "then and now" type program of songs and dances from 1918 to 1968. Rotarians were featured in the program.

Dinner-Dance Marks Golden Year For T.F. Rotarians

By NORMA HERZINGER

"Nonpareil," according to Mr. Webster, means "having no equal — unequaled," and this adequately describes the recent celebration hosted by the local Rotarians.

The event, held Monday evening at the Blue Lakes Country Club, marked the Golden Anniversary of the Twin Falls Rotary Club and the assiduous, long-range planning of the committee members was very evident in all phases of the evening's activities.

Although the weatherman didn't cooperate very well at the beginning of the evening, he came through with a beautiful sunset that provided a perfect background setting during the dinner hour.

The sunset, as seen from the Country Club dining room, reflected a golden glow against the steel structure of the Perrine Memorial Bridge, and was, indeed, a sight to behold.

The magic of "fun" people having a good time is contagious and those attending this special social couldn't help but enjoy themselves.

Speaking of fun, games usually go along with this. Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Havener put to test the ingenuity of the guests as they provided a perfect "ice breaker." They showed a baby picture of one of the Rotarians and went from table to table seeking identification of the photograph. When the results were in, Bob Warberg came in as a close second, but the picture was actually that of Harvey Cook.

No stone was left unturned to make this event the best ever for Rotarians, their ladies and special guests. Egon Kroll, mayor of Twin Falls, proclaimed May 13 Rotary Day. Harvey and Enid Cook prepared an outstanding "then and now" type program and James Kinney, president of the local group, and his lovely wife, Mary Jane, went out of their way to see everyone had a good time.

To add to the auspicious occasion, guests from throughout Magic Valley attended to join in the festivities. Special invitations were sent to presidents of various clubs in the district and among those attending, along with their ladies, were Mr. and Mrs. Harold Butler, Gooding; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Watts, Buhl; Mr. and Mrs. Perry Hadlock, Shoshone; Mr. and Mrs. Leon Scott, American Falls, and Russ Horn, Halley.

All guests were introduced, including Mrs. Anna Hayes, Twin Falls, and W. R. Priebe, the only living charter member of the group. A standing ovation was given to two special Rotarians, C. R. Higgins for 24 years of perfect attendance, and Ralph Pink, 46 years of continuous membership.

In recognition of the unit's Golden Anniversary, a plaque, signed by Luther Hodges, president of Rotary International, was presented to Mr. Kinney by Gordon Gray.

A special telegram from International was read congratulating the club.

 ating the group on its golden year and for its sponsorship of such commendable community projects as the Intract Club and the Twin Falls Easter Seal Center.

It is said laughter is the best medicine and the group got a good dose of this during the delightful program. The crowd viewed popular fashions from 1918 up to the current trends, presented by several of the women showing ensembles worn by one of the special guests, Mrs. Hayes.

The Rotary Rockettes, introduced for the first time, represented the flapper era as they presented a very mean Charleston. In contrast to this the frug was danced by several talented teen-agers, Mark Colby, Janice Cook, Lynn Havenner, Dennis Cook and Cliff Barnard. Cliff and Janice also did an excellent version of the cha-cha.

Neal Barth added bits of wit and humor as he narrated the fashion show and dance revue, giving persons in the audience who felt necessary, with background music played by Marge Pond, plans for anyone wanting a good Charleston-type program should be in the know on this Rotary Rockettes group which includes Mrs. Ted Raker, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Long, Mr. and Mrs. John Rosholt, Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Havenner, Janis and Mark (They aren't dead!).

Music during the program was dedicated to National Music Week, sponsored by the National Federation of Music Clubs.

After the program, guests danced to the music of the Allan Devries Orchestra.

The Rotary Club was organized in Twin Falls in 1918, with 25 charter members. It has grown during this past 50 year period to be one of the largest service clubs in Twin Falls and has been responsible for countless community projects beneficial to all residents. Congratulations, Rotarians, one and all.

Swiss Straw Demonstration Is Presented

BELLEVUE — Woodruff Homemakers Club members saw Mrs. Ann Riese give a demonstration on the use of Swiss straw for decorating purposes at their regular meeting at the home of Mrs. Iva Trowbridge. Co-hostesses were Mrs. Joe Macarillo and Mrs. Ernie Ebovy.

Mrs. Harold Johnston showed several kinds of flowers she made with the straw. Mrs. Elmer Byington displayed a sleeping net for bouffant hairdos she had made; Mrs. Theodore Heckert, a box of butterfly and flowers hand-crafted stationery; and Mrs. Donald Litzinger a package from a plastic bottle.

Guests were Mrs. Glenn Wright, Mrs. Heckert and Mrs. George Shoemaker.

The May 28 meeting which will be the last of the season will be held at the ranch home of Mrs. H. T. Bickett.

Class Memorial Service Held

BUHL — A memorial service, conducted by Mrs. Hazel Conroy, was held honoring the deceased members of the past year when the Philathen Matrons Class of the First Baptist Church met in the classroom of the church.

Deceased members honored were Mrs. Nettie Shriver, Mrs. Mary Leader, Mrs. Effie Starky, Mrs. Emma Fullerson and Henry Lehman and Ellis Woodruff, husbands of members.

Connie Hicks was soloist, accompanied by Mrs. Tom Fleming. A candle was lighted in honor of each deceased member. Those taking part in the ceremony were Mrs. Will Kyles, Mrs. Harry McCooly, Mrs. Ann Babcock, Mrs. Bertha Tilley, Mrs. Frances Langford and Mrs. Grace Beager. Mrs. Hazel Brabb offered the closing prayer.

Officers for the coming year were installed by Mrs. Clifford Harris, Jerome. Officers include Mrs. Conrad, president; Mrs. Mike Kambrich, vice president; Mrs. Bertha Tilley, secretary; and Mrs. William Stonemets, treasurer.

Guests were Mrs. George Carter and Mrs. Carrie Modin, both Twin Falls; Mrs. Volney Burnett, Mrs. Shelby Williams, Mrs.

Mary Schmitt Discusses Wills

SHOSHONE — "What is community property and who should make a will?" was explained by Mary Schmitt, Gooding, attorney-at-law at the Lincoln County Extension Homemakers meeting held at the courthouse. "Upon the death of either the husband or wife, all the community property goes to the survivor if there is no will," Miss Schmitt explained. Each state is different and one needs to be aware of his state's laws. Idaho is one of eight community property states in the United States. Others are Arizona, California, Nevada, Louisiana, New Mexico, Texas and Washington. However, there is no uniformity among these states.

"Do you think you or your husband should make a will?" This is a complex question, especially in case you have considerable property requires the advice of a lawyer. If you have a will, read it at least once a year. A will may be changed whenever the testator (person making a will) wishes. "When you make a will, you are not preparing for death, but rather planning for life," she concluded.

Furniture Talk

DESKS
 One of the integral parts of any good plan for a home's interior, simple as it may seem, they play such an active role in our lives.
 If a living room fold a place can usually be found for a desk chosen as much for beauty as for a functional purpose.
 The handsome part of the decorative scheme—without a doubt, the desk will make that scheme work better. Every home needs, close to the front door, a place for letters, bills and other mail to be placed and represented. If you don't have a desk, such material tends to be put on a table or chest near at hand, with the risk of being lost, mislaid or commingling in the point of clutter.
 A good desk offers a place for saving money and you'll find each of these desk varieties in our selection. In size and style to complement your decor beautifully. For home furnishings and accessories, be sure to visit our showroom.

Magic Valley Favorites

BANANA PECAN PIE

1/4 cup flour
1/2 cup sugar
3 egg yolks
2 cups milk
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 tablespoons butter
1/2 cup chopped pecans
2 bananas

Combine flour, sugar and egg yolks in a saucepan. Stirring briskly with a wire whisk, gradually add milk. Heat until mixture is very thick.

Remove from heat and add vanilla, butter and pecans. Cool. Slice one banana into a 9-inch pie shell. Pour half of mixture over bananas. Slice another banana over this, pouring the last of mixture on top.

Refrigerate several hours before serving.

(The Times-News will pay $5 each week for the best recipe submitted for Magic Valley Favorites. If you have a favorite recipe, just mail it to the Recipe Department, Women's Page Editor. The recipe becomes the property of the Times-News and cannot be returned.)

HANSEN—Plans were made at the Royal Neighbor meeting at the Woodman Hall to sponsor a benefit card party and cookout on Thursday at the Woodman Hall. The cooked food sale will start at 1 p.m. and the card games will start at 2 p.m. from 2 to 5 p.m.

Mrs. Arthur Adamson and Mrs. Vernon Ball as chairmen, will plan the benefit party details.

Mrs. Reed, Mrs. Ruth Wright and Mrs. Elsie Henry were appointed as a committee to place memorial flags on the graves for Memorial Day.

Pro tem officers were Mrs. Rose Wiseman and Mrs. Wright. Mrs. John E. Brown, former member, Norwalk, Calif., was a guest.

Mrs. Vernon Ball and Mrs. Reed were hostesses. Mrs. Ethel McDonald and Mrs. Henry provided entertainment.

Mrs. Leo Roberts and Mrs. Helen Remington will host the May 28 meeting.

Reunion Held

HANSEN—A family reunion and potluck dinner was held recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Steelsmith honoring Mrs. Fred Karl, Enterprise, Kan., and her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Karl, Washington, D. C.

About 40 members of the Steelsmith family were present from Boise, Burley, Gooding, Jerome, Twin Falls, Kimberly and Hansen.

Wayne Karl, an FAA official has been working out of Salt Lake City the past month coordinating Federal Aviation Base Centers in the surrounding area. He and Mrs. Karl visited at the Thomas Steelsmith home, his uncle, over the weekend. Mrs. Fred Karl has been visiting since the first of last week.

Dear Abby

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: My problem is I'm sure you haven't had before, although I'm sure lots of other people feel the way we do about it, but they're too ashamed to admit it. I am 23, and engaged to a man who is 30. We love each other very much and plan to marry soon. So what's the problem?

life "stuffed at." If you are not familiar with the most modern techniques of adding artificial fingers, you owe it to your son to investigate. If your family doctor can't direct you to such help, (offered by rehabilitation experts) write to me. I can.

We both detest children and have decided that we do not want any. Ever. We realize that no method of contraception is 100 per cent sure, but we don't want to take any chances. We do know that certain types of surgery can be performed on both the male and female to insure permanent sterilization, but we don't know whether a doctor would perform such surgery on unmarried people. We don't want to get married until this is done. Please don't say "After you're married, you'll change your mind." I assure you we won't. Our question: Will a doctor do this for us?

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to Abby.

DEAR HATES: Whether a doctor will sterilize you (and/or your fiancé, you must find out for yourselves. But let me warn you—forever is a long time, and to voluntarily throw away the privilege of bearing children is a decision you may live to regret.

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to Abby.

DEAR ABBY: When my husband drove me to work this morning I noticed that his right ear was perfectly clean. When he picked me up after work, I noticed there was lipstick on his right ear. What should I do about this?

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to Abby.

DEAR ELSINORE: Tell your husband either to have his friend kiss him on his left ear, or to start driving a British car so you will be seated on his left (if this doesn't work, kick him out either door.)

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to Abby.

DEAR ABBY: I have a 2-year-old son who was born with only a thumb on his left hand. No fingers.

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to Abby.

These people see my son every day, and I have explained that he was born that way, so the sight of a hand without fingers should no longer be a novelty.

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to Abby.

I suppose I should get used to the idea that my son will be stared at a lot, but I hate to see his defect pointed out as if he were some kind of freak. What should I do if this happens again? N.Y. MOTHER

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to Abby.

DEAR MOTHER: Don't tell me to go to hell. I have explained that he was born that way, so the sight of a hand without fingers should no longer be a novelty.

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to Abby.

Catholic Women Host Annual Marion Luncheon

St. Edward's Council of Catholic Women held its annual Marion luncheon recently at the Parish Hall, with Mrs. Leo Jankowski registering guests. Toastmistress for the event was Mrs. Howard Allen. The Glen Club, under the direction of Sister M. Myles, presented several selections. Mrs. Kenneth Walker gave a report on the state meeting of the Idaho Council of Catholic Women held in Wallace. Mrs. Walker is the incoming president of St. Edward's Council. Mrs. Fred Frith, immediate past-president, thanked the officers and members for their support during her term. A statue of the Madonna was presented to Mrs. Frith by Mrs. John Metzler, who made the statue.

15-Year Jewel Is Presented

JEROME — Mrs. Lloyd Overman presented her 15-year veteran jewel when the Syringa Rebekah Lodge met recently. Mrs. Glen Rolfe read a tribute to her. Report on the Mother's Day party was given and Mrs. Rolfe thanked all those who helped. Mrs. Russell Shaud reported on her official visits to Shoshone, Gooding and Palmyra. She said that Paul Warner of Jerome was the winner of the United Nations Pilgrimage tour. Mrs. Fred Clubb, staff captain, announced initiation will be June 10. Plans were made to attend the Hibbilly Fun Night Monday at Wendell.

Lady Lions Install Officers

BUHL—Officers were installed and corsages and pins were made by Mrs. Harry Eslinger when the Buhl Lady Lions met at the home of Mrs. George Farmer. Mrs. Terry Lechner was a guest. Simmons Super Size

Stretch your sleeping space with a Super size Beautyrest.

Beautyrest's independent coil construction gives you a firm body-fitting support ... no sagging, no rolling together. Now get the extra stretch-but comfort you want and need ... up to 54% more slumber space.

You can't spend money more wisely for anything than for bedding that assures you of energy-restoring sleep. No one works well, functions well, plays well, performs well, unless nightly sleep restores depleted energy and strength. It is always shocking to find out that many people of reasonable affluence and means have homes well-furnished except for bedding they have clung to years longer than it's worth keeping. Such people so gradually become accustomed to bedding that is becoming substandard, they don't realize how radically their bedding has declined.

Just come in and lie down on a perfect sleep set like this spring and mattress from Wilson-Bates, now specially priced. If you are used to sleeping in a curve that cushions your flesh and aggravates your normal bone structure, you'll know the difference immediately. Some people are just too busy for your body, seems anything and hard. This is an excellent sign you have been sleeping on bedding that's too soft. Come in and investigate. Choose your size. Try it. (Stretch out in private if you wish). Then make the move to better bedding and better sleep while the special price prevails. Nothing in your home should be of better quality than your bedding. No home is well furnished where the beds deprive the family, or some of it, of perfect sleep. Come see.

Has Second Weekly Loss

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market this week took its second weekly loss as it continued to correct a six-week upsurge earlier this spring.

Money and credit markets were mired into gloom by news that Congress had deferred until early June any possible action on the bill for a proposed tax increase combined with a cut in government spending.

World-financial jitters resulted from another big rise in the price of gold bullion, which soared well over $40 an ounce in markets abroad. This led to a flurry in gold-mining shares on the New York Stock Exchange.

Fear of further restrictive action by federal monetary authorities accompanied a steep decline in U.S. Treasury bonds. The Dow Jones industrial average this week fell 15.33 to 888.98, breaking below the psychologically important 900 level.

On the New York Stock Exchange was 63,000,300 shares compared with 67,701,310 the previous week.

The Associated Press average of 48 stock prices rose to 325.70. Of 1,672 issues traded on the Big Board, 860 fell and 601 rose.

New highs for the year totaled 219. The trading week began sedately as the long hoped-for peace talks with North Vietnam resumed.

Tuesday was another lackluster session but, as on the previous session, interest was centered on the news of a particularly special issue.

On Wednesday the number of gains and losses were 538 each. The Dow Jones industrial average strongly as the price of gold bullion spurted in the markets of London, Paris and Zurich.

The decline resumed Friday. Bond markets started the week with news of an additional delay in pending tax legislation before Congress.

Thirty-four issues of government bonds came out at lower prices, ranging up to as much as one point.

Legislation To Cut Spending, Hike Taxes Bogs Down Again

By JACK LEFFLER AP Business Writer NEW YORK (AP)—Legislation to boost income taxes and cut government spending bogged down again in Congress this past week.

The House Democratic leadership postponed until at least Wednesday a vote on the bill which provides a 10 per cent tax surcharge coupled with a $6 billion spending slash.

Indications were that the delay was decided on because the measure faces stern opposition, particularly over the amount of the spending reduction.

President Johnson has proposed taking $6 billion out of his budget, saying he would reluctantly accept a $5-billion cut if the Democratic liberals have the same view.

The Democratic opposition to the $6 billion cut doesn't want to let Johnson even vote on the bill to send the bill back to the Senate-House conference committee with instructions to return the surtax with a spending cut of only $4 billion.

Top administration fiscal officials renewed their pleas for higher taxes and lower spending to meet the goal of a balanced economy, actions to protect the economy.

Citing recent deterioration in the foreign trade sector of the nation's balance of payments, House Minority Leader Henry H. Fowler said the bill "is an early enactment of the President's budget cuts and related expenditure reductions is the key to the solution of the payments problem."

Fowler said very congressmen had indicated his position on the tax-budget measure "is going to determine his country's international economic strength of the dollar and the preservation of the international monetary system."

The House Appropriations Committee released earlier testimony of William McCleskey Martin, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, in which he urged a halt to fiscal action by Congress "we will have another run on gold" and credit will become tight enough to cause a great many worthwhile investments to be abandoned.

Hospital Administration, Personnel Given Praise

Editor, Times-News: Within the last year, I have had one of our Magic Valley Memorial Hospital employees at several recent occasions. His name was not for me but for members of my family.

The only reason that I can see for the gripes about each and every bill he published, and that the voting of the representatives of the district in the state legislature be published.

As for me I think God that we have this facility, the management presently in office and the devoted staff at our disposal, is more than reasonable charge.

RAY T. CRANDAL (Twin Falls)

Published Vote By Congressmen Is Requested

Editor, Times-News: Our hats off to your paper. We feel you have a very fine editorial page (which we deem one of the most important features of any newspaper).

Our best wishes to you and the staff of your newspaper in your difficult task of creating and maintaining an informed citizenry.

JAMES W. MECHAM (Bliss)

Woman Takes Exception To Article In Sunday's Paper

Editor, Times-News: In your column, "A Way With Words" on Sunday, May 13, the "one of Fisher's principles" artist ridicules the so-called "vanity press," saying: "If your book is good, a publisher will buy it. If it isn't, then you'd better write another one."

It is unfortunate if some persons are dissatisfied by the nature of the publishing industry. However, those "elderly ladies" who have the gumption, the creativeness and the experience to put out a book together usually have sense enough to read between the lines of an advertisement.

All letters must bear the address and name of the writer. The name of the writer will appear when published unless there is a personal request that it be withheld and the reason for such a request stated.

Forum Rules: Forum letters must be correct with the general interest and must be of a reasonable length.

"Good Things" Also Backed By Incumbent Legislators

Editor, Times-News: A recent editorial in the Times-News (Monday, May 13) gave publicity to a certain legislative proposal that is running for the office of State Representative from District 23.

To the extent that he is our opposition for that office, we would like to comment on certain statements and implications that were in the editorial.

The editorial quoted Harold Cook as saying "when Mr. Day died, I decided not to run because he is able to represent the interests that I would have represented, and our minds are alike and our feelings much the same on the issues."

Writer Believes Marijuana Should Be Legalized

Editor, Times-News: After reading the pros and cons concerning the controversial drug, it seems to me the pros far out weigh the cons.

The Justice Department gained a court stay blocking the merger of the Great Northern Railway and the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad.

Contrary to popular belief, marijuana does not lose its "kick" after a while. You never have to increase the amount you take, which dispels any rumor that you have to go to bigger drugs to get his thrill.

These are just a few of the arguments and still people think of marijuana as some sort of which doctor's poison. It is time to inform the people about the truth of marijuana.

It is a shame that people are afraid of smoking marijuana and are considered criminals when they are doing nothing more than just relaxing after a hard day's work.

DARYL RENZ (Paul)

Youth-Disgusted With Opinions About Teenagers

Editor, Times-News: I'm 13 years old and am thoroughly disgusted at the way people act when a teenager applies for a job or anything of that sort.

Teenagers are not juvenile delinquents and use drugs, drink, smoke and drive like they're going to a fire.

You know, only about 1% of every 100% are like what I described above.

They never publicize what we do in the colleges, and what we do to help stop riots, and so forth. Just in case you publish this, I think that most teenagers will agree with me.

GARY ADAMS (Rupert)

Hansen Honors John Sanborn

HAGERMAN (AP)—Congressman George Hansen cut short his appearance this Saturday and joined a tribute to former congressman John Sanborn who died Thursday.

John Sanborn was a dear friend and a man whom I respect greatly. He was one of the most honest and trusted public servants in this state's history.

Why in the world does the government spend all the money on space rockets and stuff like that, when they should use that same money on finding out ways to cure cancer, polio and the other diseases?

Women sometimes come around to collect money for cancer, but the few dollars they take, I think that they're going to help much against diseases.

Will you answer my question in the honest way you can understand it? If I still can't understand with your answer, I will write to other people until I do understand.

ISU Grabs Sixth Consecutive Big Sky Loop Crown

OGDEN, Utah (AP) — Idaho State University took eight first places in 18 events Friday and Saturday to win its sixth consecutive Big Sky Conference track and field championships.

ISU collected 93 points to second-place Montana's 88. Montana won first place in the 100-yard dash in 19.8 seconds, led by Idaho's 32, and Montana State 29. Twelve conference records were established, including the 100-yard of Tommy Robinson, ISU, in the steepchase, the first time the event's been held. Records were made in both events.

Rich Smith, Idaho, threw the discus 172.5, bettering the 171-7 record set by Keith Seim, Montana, in 1962. Jim Gilman, MSU, covered 49-3/4 in the triple jump, bettering the 48-9/4 record set by Bill Malson, ISU.

Montana ran the 220-yard dash in 20.7 seconds, bettering his own record of 21.1 set last year. He also tied his own record for the 100-yard dash in 8.4.

Larry Lewis, ISU, ran the 400 dash in 47.4 to break his 1967 record of 48.0. Montana covered on the winning 400 and mile relay teams.

His teammate Terry Love ran the 800 in 1:53.5 to break the 1967 record of 1:53.7 set by Dale Stag of Weber.

Another ISU trackman, Wayne Covert, ran the 120 high hurdles in 14.1, bettering his own record of 14.2 set earlier this year.

Washington Wins West Row Regatta

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — The West Coast Rowing Association cracked the 60-minute mark for 2,000 meters Saturday to win the varsity finals in the ninth annual Western Sprint Regatta by a length over deadweight UCLA and Stanford.

A following wind helped speed the shells on the Lake Washington course. Washington earlier had won the freshman sprint and placed second to Orange Coast of Costa Mesa, Calif. In the junior varsity event.

Stanford had been the only crew to defeat Washington this season, but Saturday the Huskies took the lead at the start and held it the full distance.

Washington's time was 5:58.7, Stanford's 6:00.4. The Bruins almost nipping the Stanford Indians at the finish. California was fourth, less than two seconds ahead of Loyola of California.

Oregon State trailed in the skobart race but was only five lengths behind the leader.

The powerful Orange Coast eight, a prurice favorite, moved into the lead immediately in the Jayvee event and was never threatened.

The Coasters had won their preliminary Friday, rowing at more than 28 strokes a minute, but they got all the way up to 33 Saturday and finished the last four yards at an astonishing 36 strokes a minute.

Final scores — Idaho State 88, Weber 44, Idaho 32, Montana 88, Weber 44, Idaho 32, Montana 88.

Negro Athlete Unrest Reaches Into Colleges Across Country

By TED SMITS
Negro athletes at 10 American universities have presented demands ranging from appointment of Negro coaches to selection of a Negro intercollegiate, and threatened boycotts.

In only one current case, however, are athletes at a major school remaining away from drills. This is at the University of California at Berkeley, where 14 Negro football players are boycotting spring practice.

Coach Ray Wilsey says they have demanded the right to say who should play which position when.

At other schools, the University of Oklahoma and the University of Texas at El Paso Negro athletes were dropped from teams after an exchange of recriminations, but at Oklahoma have since been reinstated.

At the high school level, by contrast, the head coach at White Plains, N.Y., Dean Lutz, resigned because he said he could not develop teams under the board of education's policy of settling disputes with students by negotiation.

Negro students at the school have several times refused to attend classes. Lucks was the varsity quarterback at Yale 10 years ago.

The incident involving the girl cheerleader occurred at the University of Kansas. Fifteen Negro football players boycotted spring drill for two days on the grounds there were no Negro girls on the eight member "pom pom" team.

No Negro history course and few Negro faculty members.

The university agreed to put a Negro girl on the "pom pom" team, the first ever. She is Barri Robinson, 20, of Kansas City.

The university also agreed to offer a Negro history course next fall and said it was always looking for good Negro professors.

The boycotting Negro football coach will be discussed later by the athletic department.

Eleven Negro track and field performers at the University of Texas-El Paso were dropped after a fuss that started when eight of the Negro athletes, including the star, James Henry Beaman, refused to participate in a meet at Brigham Young University. They said the attitude of the BYU campus, a Mormon institution, was that Negroes were an inferior people.

Four Negro track men at Oklahoma were dropped but soon reinstated. Both white and Negro members of the team had presented grievances but both sides apologized.

Six members of the Marquette University basketball team, including junior ace George Thompson, threatened to withdraw from school in a dispute over hiring of a Negro administrator. However, the Rev. Bernard Cooke, lone protester Thursday night that he and two other priests would quit the faculty if the Roman Catholic university failed to meet student demands in 48 hours.

Hiring of Negro coaches was at stake at Michigan State where 48 of the university's Negro athletes, led by football star Lamar Thomas, threatened to boycott all sports if seven demands were not met. These included a protest at academic counseling designed for blacks to place them in courses where they will maintain eligibility.

Michigan State recently hired a Negro assistant football coach and the trustees have approved the appointment of another in track. Football players missed one practice, but Thomas said officials had shown enough concern to warrant the return of the athletes.

Nine athletes claiming to represent most of the 40 Negroes on athletic scholarships at Arizona State, filed a list of grievances, a reply to which has been proffered by next Tuesday.

Jackson Hurts Phillies Past St. Louis 3-2

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Larry Jackson checked St. Louis on seven hits and singled to launch a three-run sixth inning rally that gave the Philadelphia Phillies a 3-2 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals Saturday night.

After Jackson's leadoff single in the seventh — first hit off loser Leon Briles since the first inning — Tony Gonzalez, singled and Cookie Rojas broke an 0-0 for 17 slump with a ground rule double, tying the game.

Briles walked Johnny Callison intentionally, filling the bases, and Gonzalez scored the lead run on Bill White's sacrifice fly.

The winning was first baseman Orlando Cepeda fumbled Johnny Briggs' grounder for an error.

Cepeda hit a bases-empty homer in the ninth, closing the gap.

Montana Wins Big Sky Title

OGDEN, Utah — The University of Montana held off Idaho in the final round to win the Big Sky Conference golf championship Saturday at the Ogden Country Club.

Montana finished the 54 holes with a team total of 918. Idaho had 928, followed by Weber State with 944, Gonzaga 960, Montana State 953 and Idaho State 971.

Rich Carpenter of Montana was medalist with rounds of 68, 79 and 76 for a 223 total. Other top individuals were Jim Link of Weber State with 227, Jim O'Connor of Montana 228, Skip Pierce of Idaho 230 and Greg Traub of Idaho 231.

Idaho's top golfer, Gary Evan, cut his hand before the last round and was unable to play.

Team Of Doctors Operates On Blue Lakes Links Par

Dr. John McKain of Twin Falls and Dr. Kircher of Burley coupled to win the two-man aggregate championship and Ed Harper and Mike Harper, and John Williams, Twin Falls, and John Leuser, Walla Walla, for the four-man title in the Blue Lakes Country Club Invitational Friday and Saturday.

The two doctors made a sweep of everything, winning Friday with an unexciting two-man best ball of 51 — 17 under par — and coming back to win the Saturday day money with a 53. That gave them the aggregate title at 104 — 32 strokes under par.

The four-man title was a horse race between the champions and the group of Judge Tom Ward, Rolfe Severson, Emmett Harrison and Roger Sherman. The Hills shot a 114 Friday and trailed the runner-up quarter by three shots. But after Saturday's play the AMA group held sway 229-230.

Running third in the four-man team at 229 were Jim Henry, Roy Roberts, Doug Borlace and Reed Peterson.

The two-man aggregate places and scores included Dr. McKain and Dr. Kircher at 104; Judge Ward and Rolfe Severson 114; Borlace and Peterson 115; and a tie among Harvey Schlagenhauf and Newt Carter, Joe McCollum and Ben McCollum, and T. V. Hudson and Clyde Raidy, all with 118.

The Saturday daily winners for four man teams included McCollum, McCollum, Dick Rees and Joe Dunn with 114; the overall champions at 115; Egan-Krell, R. C. Ashworth.

DeWitt Seeking NL Franchise

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Bill DeWitt, former owner of the Cincinnati Reds, resigned Saturday from the group seeking a National League baseball franchise for the city of Buffalo.

But a spokesman for the group said DeWitt's resignation would in no way deter it from seeking the franchise.

DeWitt was in Chicago to admit Buffalo to the circuit.

Idaho Falls Wins State Class A Golf Championship

BOISE (AP) — Idaho Falls upset defending champion Borah of Boise by two strokes and Bart Schuurman of Highland of Pocatello fired an even-par 71 for medalist honors in the Idaho State prep class A golf tournament Friday.

Idaho Falls, led by Joe Marano's 77 and a 79 by Rob Nelson, totaled 319 points while Borah's four-man team totaled 341 with Rich Hutchins making the second-place team with a two-over 73.

One disqualification was made when Moscow's Mark Deaton signed the wrong scorecard. The error dropped the entire team from contention and deprived them of a fourth-place tie with Boise of 228.

Caldwell finished third with 327, followed by Boise at 328 and Twin Falls at 329.

Dancer's Image Is Disqualified After Inquiry

By ED SCHUYLER JR., BALTIMORE (AP) — Forward Pass won the Preakness Saturday. Dancer's Image, disqualified as the winner of the Kentucky Derby, finished third but after a steward's inquiry, once again was disqualified. Out of the Way finished second.

Dodgers Take 1-0 Victory From Astros

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Don Drysdale pitched a five-hitter Saturday night for his second straight shutout as the Los Angeles Dodgers nipped Houston 1-0 in an unearned run, extending the Astros' losing streak to five.

Drysdale, 3-3, won a pitching duel from Dave Giusti, 2-4, when Houston shortstop Hector Torres fumbled Ken Boyer's two-out grounder in the sixth inning, allowing Wes Parker to score from third base.

Parker opened the inning with a single, was bunted to second and reached third on an infield out.

Drysdale walked two and struck out six to gain his third 1-0 victory of the season. It was the 43rd shutout of his career, ranking him ninth on the all-time National League list.

Howard Blasts Two Homers, Sets Record

DETROIT (AP) — Frank Howard blasted two home runs Saturday, setting a major league record for homers in the six successive games and leading the Washington Senators to an 8-4 victory over the Detroit Tigers.

The towering Washington slugger, major-league leader in home runs and runs batted in, blasted two homers in the first and fifth innings and poked his 17th homer of the year with two in the fifth.

Howard broke the mark of seven previously shared by Roger Maris of the New York Yankees and George Kelly, Walker Cooper and Casey Stengel, all of the New York Giants.

The record for hitting home runs in successive games is held by eight players, all of them in eight games for Pittsburgh in May, 1956.

Howard's homers, and a solo blast by Hal Hunter, backed the light pitching of Frank Bertolina, who held the American League leading Tigers hitless for five innings and finished with a five-hitter in squaring his record at 2-2.

Mickey Vernon, victim of Howard's two homers, took the loss, his second in four decisions. Washington 101 032 001—8 15 1. Detroit 010 002—4 8 0.

Cubs Batter McCormick, Giants 10-7

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The Chicago Cubs battered outpaw Mike McCormick for seven runs in the fourth inning Saturday and hold off San Francisco 10-7, snapping the Giants' winning string at four games.

Roy Hunsley started the fourth-inning uprising with a single and capped it with a two-run single as the Cubs sent 10 batters to the plate. McCormick, the 1967 Cy Young Award winner, before reliever Ron Herbel came on to get the hit out.

Nine more Cubs batted against reliever Andy McDaniel in a three-run sixth-inning surge that won the game. Herbel, left-hander Ken Holtzman, 3-2, who allowed 15 hits before being replaced by Jack Lamabe during a five-run seventh-inning.

Trailing 10-2, the Giants chased Holtzman and closed the game on a two-run double by Jim Hart, a two-run double by Jack Hillart and a run-scoring double by Dick Dietz before Lamabe pitched the final out.

Race Horse Disqualified For Bumping

BALTIMORE (AP) — Bobby Ussery, the silent sufferer when Dancer's Image was disqualified as the Kentucky Derby winner, saw his horse disqualified again Saturday after a third-place finish in the Preakness.

Ussery and his mount were involved in a bumping incident in the stretch run, but the stewards absolved him of any personal blame.

In addition, they fined apprentice jockey Willie McKeever, aboard Nodouble, $100 for misjudging the finish line. McKeever appeared to stand in the stirrups about 100 yards from the finish.

The stewards, acting on their own inquiry, ruled that Dancer's Image moved over Nodouble's back heels coming into the 3-16th pole, hit the hind quarters of Martin's Jig and "just tried to bull through the hole."

Joe Culmone, the rider of Nodouble, said he was "forced into making his sharp move."

"I had to change my course," Ussery said. "I started to move outside when a horse moved and I had to duck back inside. There was a hole but I just couldn't find racing room."

"There's no doubt I would have finished second if that hadn't happened. But after the slaughter, I dropped back to sixth and finally finished fifth."

Ussery, who lost more than $12,000 when Dancer's Image was disqualified as Derby winner

Two Carry Mets Past Braves 5-2

NEW YORK (AP) — Art Shamsky and Cleon Jones tagged three hits apiece and Dick Selma won his third straight game as the New York Mets trimmed the Atlanta Braves 5-2 Saturday.

Jones and Shamsky singled in the first inning and Ron Swoboda's ground ball brought in the first run of the game. In the fourth, Shamsky doubled and came in on J. C. Martin's single, making it 2-0.

The Mets picked up two more runs in the sixth when Jones opened with his third home run. Shamsky followed with a triple and came across when Martin delivered a sacrifice fly.

The Braves tagged Selma for a pair of runs in the seventh when Tommie Amos walked and Bob Tillman singled. The runners advanced on an infield out and both scored on Felix Millan's single.

But the Mets struck right back when Bud Harrelson singled and raced home on Jones' double in the bottom of the seventh.

Hank Aaron of the Braves doubled in the sixth inning for the 2,655th hit of his major league career. It moved him into 31st place on the all-time base hit list, one ahead of Ted Williams and Lafayette N. Cross.

Lotus Turbine Cars Grab First Two Starting Spots For Indianapolis '500'

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — Lotus turbine cars driven at record speeds by Californian Joe Leonard and Englishman Jim Clark, secured the first two starting spots in the 500-mile race May 30 at Indianapolis Motor Speedway.

The front row will be a bitterly disputed Bobby Unser, Albuquerque, N.M., who reported the track slippery with dirt when he made his run.

Leonard, a former motorcycle champion, left the record at 171.559 m.p.h. with a best lap of 171.953, after the first of four laps. Clark, who had the record for hours before his teammate ran, took about $10,000 in special prize money by finishing second.

The team's third car also was disqualified by Art Pollard of Medford, Ore., at a relatively modest 162.5 m.p.h.

Fifteen cars qualified in the first session, leaving 18 spots open in the starting field. They averaged 167.225 m.p.h., compared with 154.171 for the 1967 starters.

Leonard was spectacular in winning the Memorial Day pole. The San Jose, Calif., driver finished third in last year's 500-mile race, the rich event in which he will start in the pole position May 30 as a result of his Saturday performance.

Leonard has won 27 national championship motorcycle races, more than any other rider, but has concentrated on auto races in recent years.

He said after the record run, "This is a very exciting thing about and what we've been working for for two weeks."

Hill, 1966 winner of the Memorial Day 500, was the first driver to make an official 10-mile qualification at the speedway over 170 m.p.h.

The 1962 world road racing champion made the first 10-mile qualifying run of the season. His famed Lotus turbine whirled through the distance in 3 minutes, 29.27 seconds.

That figured out to an average of 171.208 miles per hour against the year-old mark of 168.892 by Mario Andretti, Nazareth, Pa.

Hill also shattered the one lap record in his first circuit of the venerable 2-mile track, going around the four corners in 52.38 seconds or 171.887 m.p.h. Andretti's one lap standard had been 169.779.

Bobby Unser, standard bearer for the piston engine contingent, became the second driver to pass 170 m.p.h. in speedway trials. The Albuquerque, N.M., veteran did two laps over 170 in his Eagle-turbocarged Offenhauser. But he saw he could not match Hill's record and backed off slightly for a 10-minute average of 169.507.

A. J. Foyt Jr., of Houston, the Indianapolis defending champion and three-time winner, qualified his Coyote-Ford at 168.21 after replacing a blown engine.

Each scored two individual victories and both ran on the Trojans' winning 440-yard relay. Each scored 24 points.

McCulloch won the long jump at 24-10 1/2 and the 120 high hurdles in 13.8 seconds. Miller swept the sprints with 9.4 for 100 yards and the 220 in 20.8. He won both sprints last year, also.

Southern California, the National Collegiate Athletic Association champion, regained the Pac-8 title with 128 points. Defending Pac-8 champion Oregon

Bob Seagraves of the Trojans set a meet record of 17-3/4 in the pole vault, then missed three times at 18 feet.

Don Domansky of UCLA raced an unofficial 4.9 final quarter in the mile relay to nip Pat Weddle of California at the tape. The teams were given the same time, 3:08.2. Domansky also won the 440 in 46.7.

Dick Fosbury of Oregon State retained his high jump title with a meet record of 7 feet. He won on fewer misses from California's Clarence Johnson, who also cleared 7 feet.

USC's 440 relay time was 39.3 seconds, short of its 38.6 world record set by McCulloch, Fred Kuller, O. J. Simpson and Miller at Provo, Utah, in last year's run here. The same quartet ran here last year.

The time broke the meet record, 39.9 by Southern Cal last year.

Oregon's great middle distance runners swept the first four places in the mile for 28 team points. Dave Wilborn won in 4:04.4 followed by Terry Dooley, 4:02.2; Tom Morrow, 4:03.0 and Scott Taylor, 4:05.2. Oregon's best miler, Arnie Kvalheim, who has a 3:55.5 best, did not compete because of an injury.

John Van Reenan of Washington State set a meet record of 194-10 in the javelin, bettering the 191-0 by Gary Carlsen of Southern California in 1967.

Another meet record fell to Geoff Vanderstock of Southern Cal, who won the 400 intermediate hurdles in 50.6. Roger Johnson of UCLA in 1965 and Fredy McCrary of California in 1967 had shared it at 50.9. McCrary was second again in 50.9.

FROM ALL ANGLES

By LARRY HOVEY
Times-News Sports Editor

The battle lines have been drawn in the latest battle between fishermen and landowners and it certainly will wind up in the courts somewhere.

This time the fight is being fought between fishermen and landowners — not all big game fishermen, but the resort and retired type who've got the money.

A whole ago a group of sportsmen floated a $1 million fight logs through the bulk of the Big Wood River. Now according to Idaho law, navigability is established by such a feat. And according to that means the lands with the high water marks along the stream are owned and controlled by the state land board.

Now doesn't that sound simple?

Here's why it isn't. The state land board isn't the most august and iron-willed panel in the state of Idaho. What's worse is it is made up of politicians. So it is hardly possible that when the legal documents and affidavits are handed over to them, the board will rise as one and say "thanks men for this prima facie evidence. From now on the Big Wood River bed is ours."

Hardly. What they will do is rise as one and say "good heavens, men, what are you trying to do? Get us killed? Where can we refer the matter? Besides, we are very busy peddling some prime state owned land in the Payette area off to private interests to be worried about something like this."

With that type of reception — and actually under about any circumstances — the second step would be a court test case. It will carry on for a heckuva long time and probably a long way up particularly if the private interests should be losing along the way.

The problem isn't entirely the matter of the river being guarded behind a bunch of no trespassing signs. The real problem is two fold. One there has been a tremendous amount of unchanneled work on Big Wood River both for flood control and to fit personal whims and there is no law in Idaho excluding it. That brings up the question: who owns the land? A knotty question. Tax rolls indicate that some landowners are paying taxes on the land under the stream while others have received stipulated acreage deductions that approximate the surface covered by the high water marks.

The last legislature worked on this situation and came up with a law that, when explained by the men who voted on it, was supposed to take all doubt away. It was evidently the legal boys found the loopholes and it settled nothing — except, as we understand, on lakes.

A little drive around the Wood River area would show any novice why the fishermen take alarm. There is one case where a wealthy retired man prizes the stream to flow nearer his house so he hired a bulldozer and backhoe and rerouted it here. Below there are long stretches of barren gravel shores, the bulldozers reaming the stream from the inside out.

To create a biological marine desert. "Nothing lives in these straight-shot channels and only Dick Fitzratty of the Idaho Fish and Game Department has been taking comparative samples of the water resources and the workings of man."

He electrically shocks above and below the eyesore and then sits on the bank with a couple of limps. This results show the natural course holding 12 to 15 times as many fish and more life as the reworked ones.

The necessity for action came several years ago but until some of the areas were opened there these flats there was nothing but lip service given to leaving nature alone. Now the past few years have left irreparable damage. Research on streams rechanneled 50 years ago and then left alone showed there was 10 per cent improvement in the river life habitat the first 10 years. In the past 40, there has been no measurable improvement.

This shows the need for immediate restrictions on rechan-

Hill, 1966 winner of the Memorial Day 500, was the first driver to make an official 10-mile qualification at the speedway over 170 m.p.h.

The 1962 world road racing champion made the first 10-mile qualifying run of the season. His famed Lotus turbine whirled through the distance in 3 minutes, 29.27 seconds.

That figured out to an average of 171.208 miles per hour against the year-old mark of 168.892 by Mario Andretti, Nazareth, Pa.

Hill also shattered the one lap record in his first circuit of the venerable 2-mile track, going around the four corners in 52.38 seconds or 171.887 m.p.h. Andretti's one lap standard had been 169.779.

"Little Profit"

We're cooperating with General Motors Chevrolet Division in the greatest sales push of all time! The profit Glen Jenkins net on each sale will be small . . . very small . . . you can see it reflected on the special sale-price tags.

Why don't we make more money per car? Because we can truthfully make more total dollars by selling a lot of cars at a little profit than we can by selling a few cars at a big profit. We'd rather sell 1000 new cars at $35 to $50 profit per car than sell 100 new Chevrolets at $350 profit per car. Our little profit policy is good business for us and for you.

You've never had an opportunity to get a beautiful new '68 Chevrolet at such a good price? This is Chevrolet's big sales push of the year and every model listed here is selling at the biggest savings we've been able to make in the last 10 years?

Pros May Be Allowed In Davis Cup

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — Don Dell, captain of the U.S. Davis Cup team, predicted today that professionals will be admitted to that international tennis competition in two or three years.

Since its inception in 1924, the Davis Cup play has been limited to amateurs.

If Dell's prediction proves correct, the Cup contest, which this year attracted teams from 46 countries, would greatly widen the scope of open competition.

Open tennis is being inaugurated this year at Wimbledon, Great Britain, and other major tournaments formerly limited to amateurs.

"Let's strengthen the pros and give the amateurs a goal to work toward," Dell said of open tennis, including the prospect of open David Cup play.

"I want the 7-year-old boy to see the pros play," he said. "Asho instead of Mickey Mantle or Johnny Unitas or Arnold Palmer."

Dell, who played on three Davis Cup teams, is the current pro tour "a" traveling officer of one- or two-night stands. That's bad for tennis.

He wants open tournaments, with 25 to 50 players.

Jurgenson Has Operation

DURHAM, N.C. (AP) — Sonny Jurgenson, Washington Redskins quarterback, underwent surgery Saturday for removal of a calcium deposit from the tendon muscles of his right forearm.

Dr. Lenox Baker, who performed the operation at the Duke University Hospital, said Jurgenson should be ready for football practice in the summer and there was no reason why he should not play next season.

Personality Has Operation

Personality — particularly the personal whim type. No one is quite enough to think there isn't a reason for a reclamation effort for flood control purposes. But in these instances, it is imperative that the reclamation effort there are ground rules for corrective projects.

The thing indicates that should the state ever be placed in full control of these areas, a great lot of money would have to be spent to return them to natural productivity.

It appears from this angle that the men doing the reclamation work showed a lot of fortitude, braving both the ire of the landowners and the occupied 10 per cent improvement in the river life habitat the first 10 years. In the past 40, there has been no measurable improvement.

This shows the need for immediate restrictions on rechan-

SAVE NOW FRIGIDAIRE WEEK SALE!

THIS IS OUR BIGGEST ANNUAL FRIGIDAIRE

TO THE PEOPLE OF MAGIC VALLEY:

We are in our 22nd year as Twin Falls Frigidaire dealer. Today, because of our carload buying direct from the Frigidaire factory in Dayton, Ohio, because of our regular delivery and service schedule to every community in Magic Valley, because of our slogan "If we can't service it, we won't sell it," and because of the values we have given on Frigidaire products through the years we have become one of the largest Frigidaire dealers in the Northwest (the largest in the Spokane district).

Because of this Frigidaire has set our FRIGIDAIRE WEEK quota higher than any year in the past. It is based on last year's sales during Frigidaire week. We must report our sales each night by telegram to the Portland regional office of Frigidaire; they in turn report to the Home Office in Dayton, Ohio. We have made our quota every year since Frigidaire week was started. Last year we were 2nd in the Portland region in our sales over quota.

If you plan on a new appliance for your home this year we urge you to come in during this important sales event. Select the Frigidaire model for you and be pleasantly surprised at the deal we will make you. Help yourself to big savings and help us make our Frigidaire week quota. We will be serving refreshments and we will have a gift for you as well as a valuable bonus with every sale. Be our guest.

Sincerely,

Elvis Cain

A NUMBER OF PHOTOGRAPHS taken at the State Youth Training Center at St. Anthony, Idaho, less than a week ago show some of the modern facilities and programs under way at the institution. On the far left, young men and women are seen working in the upholstery shop, one of the few vocational-training centers at which both boys and girls work. The three photographs running vertically the top picture shows the newly completed library and home-economics wing in the foreground. The large building which stands in the middle of the two wings was built in 1938 and is still used for classroom space. The far wing is new and contains classrooms. The other two pictures are of vocational activities at the center. On the right of the photograph of the sign is a picture of the girls' section of St. Anthony's complex. Below that is a photograph of Assistant Supt. Bob Parrish, and seated, Supt. Winston G. Taylor. On the right is a photograph of the greenhouse.

There Is No Such Thing As A Bad Boy--Or Is There?

By JAN ARTHUR SAINSBURY
Times-News Feature Editor

The State Youth Training Center at St. Anthony, Idaho, is a world apart. It is unlike any normal existence the average person knows. It is a world of contrasts.

For the visitor, the town of St. Anthony is clean, spacious, relatively small, and resembles a hundred other small towns, each widening the road at well spaced intervals throughout the state.

If the motorist isn't careful as he passes through St. Anthony he will miss the single clue that there exists something unusual about the town. It is a single sign post near the end of St. Anthony's main street, which reads, "State Youth Training Center - 1 mile."

If the motorist turns at that intersection and travels the one mile out of his way, he will notice what at first appears to be a college, complete with modern buildings, a few older ones, and the green lawn and well-kept grounds which mark most campuses. As he approaches, however, he may notice that the "caretakers" of the spacious grounds are not older as he might suspect, but extremely young. Very young.

Most of the buildings, modern and well cared for, are ordinary enough. But a few of them, seven or eight in all, have what appear to be barred windows. They are not exactly bars—they are iron, like reinforcements, the kind one might find on the inside of windows in a gymnasium to prevent a basketball from breaking out.

But there are things about the Center that its physical layout doesn't reveal.

There are 182 boys, between the ages of 16 and 18, who are in the custody of the Youth Training Center at St. Anthony. There are 60 girls.

The boys, most of them at St. Anthony because of larceny violations, live in six dormitories spaced centrally within a 200-acre area designated for campus use. It is the dormitories which have reinforced windows.

The girls, also spending indeterminate sentences, usually for larceny, occupy two dormitories of their own, separated from the male section of the campus. The entire complex is located on a total of 640 acres of State land, designated State Youth Training Center.

Between 450 and 500 juveniles are processed at the Center in a year's time. In March of this year more than one child a day was admitted. It was only slightly less in April.

Ninety-seven staff members are needed to control and care for the less than 250 young people confined at the State Youth Training Center. The Center is currently operating at a near capacity load.

On the average, according to the Center's Assistant Superintendent, Bob Parrish, four to five juveniles run away each month. "Sometimes it's less," says Parrish, "but when the weather breaks, and the kids get restless, we will have quite a few at once."

The boys are divided into the six "Cottages," as they are called at the Center. Cottage "D" is a receiving cottage, and "E" is the honor cottage. It takes at least four months to get into Cottage "E."

The period of time it takes to get into the Youth Center itself, is often considerably longer.

If a juvenile in Twin Falls gets into trouble his first contact with someone who tries to help may well be with Ernie Marlow, the City Juvenile Officer. He investigates and makes recommendations—into juvenile cases. If the case progresses, the youth may come in contact with Helen Henderson, the County Probation Officer. And if further action is needed, Lawrence P. Hauber represents the State level, as a Youth Rehabilitation Counselor for the State of Idaho Department of Health. It is Hauber's job to cover Twin Falls, Jerome, Gooding, Lincoln, Blaine and Cassia counties, as a representative of the State.

Under the policy that delinquency is an aspect of mental health, the State of Idaho through its courts will often commit a juvenile, who has been given chance after chance by the courts, to the State Board of Health, with a recommendation that he or she be held in the Youth Training Center at St. Anthony. If that happens then the court no longer has jurisdiction, and in turn the State Board of Health remands the youth to the custody of the Youth Training Center, which is in turn responsible to the State Board of Education.

In this immediate geographical area along with Larry Hauber, Duane Peterson is the Youth Rehabilitation Counselor in Minidoka and Cassia counties. And according to Hauber, "In these two eight county areas alone we have about 50 juveniles at the Training Center, and another 65 currently out on parole."

Youths who are put into the custody of the Youth Training Center are placed there for an "indeterminate" period of time. Most juveniles, however, stay at the Youth Training Center for about nine months. And most never leave sooner than seven months, and many stay as long as 14 months. And some return after violation of their paroles to remain at the Center for another "indeterminate" time, which could last until the youth turns 21.

For the most part the young men and women are released as close to the beginning of school semesters as possible so that they may return to their schools at a convenient time. A resident of the Training Center is released, however, only after a quarterly meeting by the counselors and staff at the school, in which recommendations on the individual involved are made. Juveniles are tested and placed in grade levels according to their abilities at the Center. Often the sad reality is that a high school junior has the reading capability of a sixth grader, and therefore is taught accordingly.

Vocational certificates are awarded in "Auto Mechanics, Body and Fender Repair, Vocational Horticulture, Livestock Management, Meat Cutting, Equipment Operation and Upholstery. Courses for girls are based on homemaking pursuits. Parents may visit once each month. Some do and some do not.

And, as one teacher at the Center put it, "Although this place is not meant to be a 'home' in the usual sense of the word, it is often the best home they have ever had."

And another said, "There is really little difference between most of these kids and any other average kid. That's what scares you."

Despite the fact that the Youth Training Center is clean and modern, it is not an enjoyable place to be. Even the visitor can see the waiting in the faces of those wasting their youth. Banks, showers, toilets are all side by side and luck partitions. There is no privacy. At night there is television, pool, ping-pong, or sleep. There is nothing to do, and although it is somewhat informal, the young people march to eat and to work and to sleep. It is not a normal existence for any man or woman. Youth makes it even more difficult.

The Youth Training Center at St. Anthony is an excellent facility. It is modern, and it cares about its responsibility. It is well managed, and staffed by responsible people.

The tragedy is that it costs the people of Idaho over $600,000 a year to maintain it. It is a direct reflection of our society's failure to understand and guide its young.

THESE FOUR WOMEN are each married to Jerry Anderson, Burley, and what's more each has the ring to prove it. It is perfectly legal because there are also four Jerry Andersons in Burley. Each Jerry Anderson is a different person, the public remains confused with identical or similar names. Seated from left, LuRae Anderson and Loraine Anderson. Standing are Elaine Anderson, left, and Betty Anderson. These four women first met face to face during the time they met to pose for the picture.

Life in MAGIC VALLEY

Four lovely women are married to Jerry Anderson, BURLEY. Lucky guy, huh? Ask him sometime. He may tell you that being married raising a family and holding down a job in Burley is a lovely situation—that is compared to the problem of being Jerry Anderson of Burley. Actually there are four Jerry Andersons living and working in Burley. There was another Jerry who had moved to Salt Lake City.

This situation is almost as frustrating to the public as it is to the person whose name is similar or identical to others in the same community. Several persons were called in the Magic Valley area to learn what difficulties they were experiencing with this situation, and the replies were almost identical. Each Jerry Anderson in Burley, and two Elaine Andersons living and working in Burley. There was another Jerry who had moved to Salt Lake City.

Other coincidences include: Loraine's maiden name was Anderson and because people often mispronounced her name as Anderson, she looked forward to getting married so she could change her name and end the confusion. Quite ironically she married an Anderson.

Further confusion comes from three Jerry Andersons living in the same church. Two Jerry Andersons went to the bank with another Jerry who had an official at Idaho Bank and Trust, said he "makes sure the accounts are kept correct." Jerry D. works at Simplot's as a manager for both the

Mrs. Katherine Eakin, Jerome, Has Devoted A Lifetime To Education

JEROME — Mrs. Sam (Katherine) Eakin is an active, enthusiastic little lady who has devoted a lifetime to education. She was born in Monmouth, Ill., and attended high school and two years of college there. She reminisced about taking a one room school for a year and then attending the same school to visit her sister for a year and stayed 40 years. She and her husband live on a farm north of Jerome.

Mrs. Eakin taught grades one to four one year at the no longer existing Grandview school, then one year in the Jerome High school and one year at Manhattan, Kan., teaching history and physics. She met Sam in Idaho and in December, 1922, she went to Kansas and they were married.

For a time she did not teach as married teachers were not allowed except as substitutes. During this time she was active in the Grandview community Sunday school and formed a group of Misses Grlis that she had for five years.

During this time their two sons were born. Paul was killed in World War II in the Battle of the Bulge. Bert, a chemical engineer, lives in Illinois and does research in gas engineering. During the war she returned to teaching and taught two years at the Falls City school, grades 5 through 8. The next year she taught first grade, and she is now teaching in the public school system.

In 1949, she became County Superintendent of Education, a job she held for 12 years until the schools were consolidated and the office abolished. As county superintendent, she insisted that all first and second grade teachers teach phonics because in every case it made her a better reader. During her early years as county superintendent, the first hot-lunch program was started without federal aid. At this time she got her first movie projector and Mrs. Eakin started a traveling library that was used six weeks at each school, with the Greenwood and Russell Lane schools.

She stated that she was raised very strictly and spent a lot of time reading and developed a love of books. Mrs. Eakin has a beautiful collection of African violets. She and her husband are Presbyterians and she is now teaching an adult Sunday school class. She said that her girls chose to be the first to use their robes in the Canary Islands and Spain.

Burley Holds Key-To-City Observance

BURLEY—"Key to the City" Day was held Wednesday in Burley co-sponsored by the city administration and merchants. The all-day program included music and entertainment, open house at City Hall, and special bargains in all the merchants businesses city wide.

Musical entertainment was staged on the outdoor bandstand on the front city hall. The W. G. Groups presenting the entertainment from 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. were Burley High School Ensemble under the direction of Mr. J. H. Burley, Burley Junior High Chorus, Burley Senior High Chorus, Singing K's, Barber Style Quartet, Burley Senior High Band, High School Vocal ensemble, Junior High Vocal ensemble, members of Idaho Fiddlers Association, High School ensemble, public a d Sweet Adelines.

City Hall was open for public inspection and tours of the building were arranged by Charles (Chuck) Shaddock, city clerk, and refreshments were served throughout the day. Mayor Joe Peters and city officials greeted visitors. An animated and lighted display was set up to explain the meaning of a citywarrant and other items of interest to electric power users.

Special bargains throughout the city were offered with the promotion under the direction of Grant Fillmore, chairman of the merchants group.

THE NEW ROMANS
By JOHN KEATS
In much of the conversation and writings of today, one hears about the affluent society and its effect on youth. "The New Romans" by John Keats is a fascinating insight into this topic.

The point is there are two Americas. One is great, progressive, a matter of first importance, that the only way of succeeding was to find a way to use or cheat the system; that since life itself was absurd (as Camus would say) the only point of it was to "take out for oneself."

The society of the returning GI's created for today's youth may have resulted from a religious spectacle—the worship of youth. It was fine to give youth the idea that it was good to be young, but it succeeded in glorifying youth the idea they had been set apart from ordinary humanity. Perhaps they were presented in a gold-plated playpen because they were used as a subconscious means of escape. The responses to the issues and the "wonder" of the postwar years, including the cold war, fear of nuclear disaster, rise of McCarthyism and others, was largely to shatter to the suburbs and play with their dolls.

The author brings home this point that we are in the stage of history—the Romans were. One never doubts Mr. Keats loves his country as he writes thoughtfully, ending with the warning, "that man in America is most free to be himself—and add other items of value." ALSO BUY — SELL — TRADE

Bickel PTA Is Recipient Of 2 Awards

Two national awards were announced for the Bickel PTA for the current year by Mrs. Glen Griffin, president.

She said Bickel PTA won the national magazine certificate for outstanding PTA work. The organization was also honored with the national Acorn Membership award earned by Mrs. Robert Lassiter's committee.

New officers were installed by Kenneth Shew, a former PTA president at Bickel. He presented Mrs. Griffin the outgoing president's pin and installed Mr. and Mrs. Chester Bullers Jr., as co-president; Mrs. Earl Moynihan, vice president; Mrs. Horley King, secretary, and Mrs. Don Parrott, treasurer.

The Money Box

BY FRANK SCHELL

From W. A. M., Burley: I have a coin which says United States of America and Half Do., on one side, with an eagle. The other side is a lady seated on something with a shield on her. The date is 1841 on it. Is this a regular United States coin? What is it worth?

Answer: Your coin is a regular fifty cent piece of the United States, called a "Seated Liberty" type. This coin was minted from 1839 through 1864. One kind was issued at Philadelphia, the other at New Orleans, and this one shows the Philadelphia mint. This Philadelphia coin is the scarce, bringing from three to eleven dollars, depending on condition, and this one brings from two and a half to eight dollars, also depending on quality.

And I love watching pretty girls on a windy summer afternoon, or any afternoon for that matter. Even a morning.

I drive a car I don't enjoy, but I hope to save money. I don't have to buy a car like but don't.

I like my wife's hair long when it's short, and short when it's long.

I go to bed after midnight every day, and each morning swear up and down that I'll go to bed at 8 p.m. from then on.

I believe in the philosophy of the Hippocrates, but somehow, his methods don't seem practical.

I enjoy riding a motorcycle, but I never do it anymore because I'm too afraid to die in one of those silly helmets.

I like off white dress shirts, but I don't wear them because they seem to be caught dead in a shirt. The evenness of the dirt notwithstanding.

I like tea but I seldom order it because I don't want to bring a small pitcher with one and one-half cups of hot water in it. How cheap can you get.

I'm all for freedom of speech, but I refuse to listen to fighting rantings on the local radio station.

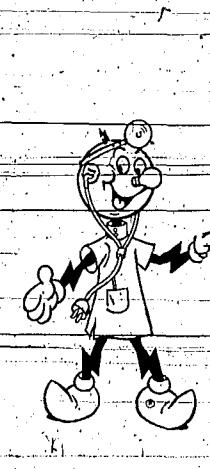

I like towns which have competitive newspapers, and I work for a newspaper which has no in-town competition.

In fact there is so much I like and dislike in the world of mine that I'm glad I'm an American. It gives me the right.

TODAY YOU ARE INVITED

a way with words

A funeral parlor in Washington, D.C., states, "We have been recommended many times by those we've served."

While an entertained audience watched "Bonnie and Clyde" and "Young Dillinger" in a Des Moines movie theater recently, bandits-held-up-the-box office and stole $500.

Today when you see a father and son having a man-to-man talk, the one with the beard is the son.

And speaking of beards, if Christ were to come back and visit this world today a lot of people wouldn't listen to Him till He shaved, and dressed in a more, "conventional" fashion. It seems a pity.

Seen passing through Twin Falls the other day was a large semi-truck-trailer with mud-flaps hanging behind each set of rear tires. On the left mud-flap it said, "Have Wife . . ." and on the right mud-flap it concluded, "Must Travel!"

Ever stop to think that in this day and age we put better air into our tires than we put in our lungs.

From the Christian Science Monitor, Thursday, May 9, come the following:
In English there are many words whose positive character has fallen into disuse while the negative character flourishes. Of course there are many positive-negative words in use: directed-misdirected; happy-unhappy; like-dislike.

"But take this sentence: 'He was disappointed to see his friend looking so uncouth and unkempt, and it was really distressing to him.' That makes sense, but suppose we say it in the positive: 'He was appointed to see his friend looking couth and kept, and it was really tressing to him.'

Also, why do we see signs on gasoline trucks sometimes reading "Inflammable" and sometimes "Inflamable"? The "in" prefix should certainly mean "not," as in "inane," and "incoherent." Some one just learning English might think it perfectly safe to toss matches "at something labeled "Inflammable." Oh . . . by the way . . . it isn't.

Department of lame excuses:
—I knocked over a man. He admitted it was his fault, as he had been run over before.
—I bumped into a lamppost which was obscured by a pedestrian.

—If the driver had stopped a few yards behind himself, the accident would not have happened.
And the granddaddy of all of them:
—A bus backed through my windshield into my wife's face.

The Chicago Sun-Times' Sunday women's tabloid supplement, called "Feminine Angle," contains a new column called "All About Dogs."

Now what do you suppose that means?

Bumper Sticker Department: "Help send a girl to Boys' Town."
Recently the Harvard Crimson reported that the Harvard-Radcliffe Sexual Freedom League disbanded. The reason? Simple. Fifteen men showed up at the first meeting, and the organizer of the group, a Harvard man, called it quits, saying, "That's not the type of sexual freedom I had in mind."

Contemplate this: The Otis Elevator Company's Chicago office is located in a one-story building.

The educated youth calls it an "anatomical juxtaposition of two orbicularis oris muscles in the state of contraction." Most others call it "kissing."

Newswatch's Periscope section reports an interesting aspect of the political scene, and so we quote them:

"Where do the Presidential candidates get those gags for their campaign speeches? Richard Nixon reportedly has used Hollywood personalities occasionally. Nixon's forte is snappy one-liners (to a banquet audience, "Go ahead and finish your dessert—these folks are only half the fifth graders were managing to get their homework done." In fact, 20 per cent spent up to three hours at it, and 22 per cent took four hours or more. The pressure gets worse as the student gets older. By the time the children are in the ninth grade, 84 per cent spend from 9 to 12 hours a day either in class or doing homework. The curriculum is so heavy that many students get extra lessons before the first and after the last period—the teachers simply cannot get all their work into the normal school day."
"Students pushed this hard . . . got so tired they cannot learn." Researchers report an alarmingly large number of children with high arterial blood pressure starting as early as the fifth grade. Many Soviet schoolchildren also don't get enough sleep, both because they stay up so late doing homework, and because they are so keyed up that they can't sleep. Too many of the children, the researchers feel, are nearsighted and have postural defects, the result of spending too many hours a day seated at a desk poring over school books."

School in the Soviet Union? What is it like? One quick look into the world of education in the USSR comes from a statement in a current issue of "Trans-action," a magazine of the social sciences. The statement says, "In the Soviet Union . . . in a recent study . . . the work load of Moscow school children has risen 'out of all proportion.' In 1966 researchers found only half the fifth graders were managing to get their homework done. In fact, 20 per cent spent up to three hours at it, and 22 per cent took four hours or more. The pressure gets worse as the student gets older. By the time the children are in the ninth grade, 84 per cent spend from 9 to 12 hours a day either in class or doing homework. The curriculum is so heavy that many students get extra lessons before the first and after the last period—the teachers simply cannot get all their work into the normal school day."

And let it never be said that we end on a serious note: Did you hear the one about the unfortunate voyageur who was apprehended at the peak of his career?

INSET SHOWS GOSLINGS just starting to pip and crack their way out of eggshell. Each spring, Fish and Game Department workers hunt for goose nests on islands of lower Snake and Payette rivers, then chart them on maps and record the number of eggs. Following up, work is done to learn the amount of hatching success. Resident goose populations in southwestern Idaho contribute large numbers of big honkers to local goose hunters each fall. Most of the local hatch stays in Idaho at least through the first year.

Goose Nest Surveyors Look At Size Of Spring Crop

By JIM HUMBRID
Idaho Fish-Game Department
Goslings, like chicks, should not be counted before they hatch. But in Idaho, the nests of wild Canada geese are found, and the number of eggs are counted long before the first downy bits of life stir and start slipping their way through shells. Calculating how many goslings do hatch during a season is done about a month later, when nests are empty. Hatching success is learned from the egg shells left behind. If no membrane clings to the shell, the egg hatched. Egg counting starts about April 1 in southwestern Idaho on the Snake River islands from Walters Ferry to Farewell Bend, and on the Payette River below Emmett. Evaluation of the hatch begins about a month later in these areas. The survey is continued at higher elevations in other parts of the state, where nesting is later.

Some of the things which can mean a poor hatch are flooding, trampling by livestock, predation, disturbance by man and of course, generally poor nesting conditions. All nests are rechecked after the hatch to estimate the amount of loss there has been. A strange kind of Easter egg hunt by helicopter crews on islands of the mid-Columbia River upstream from the new dam at John Day, Ore., drew much attention a few weeks ago throughout the Pacific Northwest. Right waters of the reservoir flooded nesting sites along the river for 50 miles or more. The rescued goose eggs were forwarded to incubator at the Washington state game farm at Kennewick. While some of the circumstances surrounding this conservation move were unusual, the destruction of goose nests through flooding is commonplace. Nesting platforms out of reach of flood waters are built for geese in many places as a means of overcoming the problem. Goose nest losses through predation, on the other hand, are believed to be slight. Higher goose production losses from eggs to goslings have been offset somewhat by the management of Snake River islands for migratory waterfowl as part of the Deer-Eat-National Wildlife Refuge under Earl M. Brooks. Although open for hunting during the waterfowl season, the islands are closed for trapping furbearing animals. People should stay clear of them during the nesting season.

Band returns show that the resident goose population centering around Lake Lowell and the Snake and lower Payette rivers makes a heavy contribution to the harvest shot by local goose hunters each fall. Most of the local hatch stays in southwestern Idaho throughout the first year, though some birds may migrate to other parts of the Pacific Waterfowl Flyway in their second year and later. A high percentage of first-year band returns come from birds that are bagged in southwestern Idaho.

Nesting surveys cover many islands in the Snake and lower Payette rivers, which are not part of the wildlife refuge, as well as several waterways elsewhere in the state. The 10-mile wide unit includes half a hundred islands in an 80-mile stretch of river above Hells Canyon, and the Glenns Ferry unit has about a score of islands in 25 miles of river. Size of the islands varies from a single rock to 50 acres or more. Other nesting units include islands in Mud Lake, Blackfoot and Island Park reservoirs, and the North Fork of the Snake River. The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service cooperates with the Idaho Fish and Game Department at Lake Walcott, C. J. Strike and Deer Flat.

AS YOUR MINISTER SEES IT

What Is Christian Fellowship?

By HAROLD N. NYE
Methodist Church
A group of local business men visited with us about their hopes of making next Christmas a time of beauty and fellowship. Our Ministerial Association met Tuesday morning at the YMCA for breakfast and fellowship. There, we discussed our hopes and dreams for the future. We learned that one of our group is back east for the last rites of his dear mother. Another of our group shared with us the concern on his part for his particular responsibility in Twin Falls. The sense of his responsibility was heightened because he is soon to leave our city for an assignment in another area. As it were.

The ups and downs of waterfowl numbers on big concentration areas are good indicators of duck and goose numbers around the state. Good habitat and public hunting in season are general characteristics of such places. Most sportsmen know that the limiting factor in waterfowl hunting in many areas is a lack of shooting grounds, rather than a shortage of waterfowl. Private hunting clubs are common in many states because of this shortage. Idaho so far is unique in having as many public waterfowl shooting areas as it does.

When God made us, he made us to be a certain kind. Some rebels at this philosophy. But others who have discovered this and have cooperated with the cause of the Lord. Mr. Jewell currently is serving on the Ketchum City Council, belongs to the Ketchum and Blaine County Planning and Zoning committee, is vice president of the South Idaho Chamber of Commerce and belongs to the Regional Airport Commission.

As a college youth in Lincoln, Neb., I would frequently hear over the local radio station a lovely and inspiring voice. I chanced one day to meet this young man with that voice. I was greatly surprised because his crippled and ill-formed body just did not seem to be matched with the voice. But what a dynamic personality! He had taken what was most certainly a terrific physical handicap and had made it a thing of beauty. In other words, he accepted himself as he was—and went on from there to develop a gracious personality and a dynamic voice that brought comfort to many.

The black "stocking" over head and neck, and the conspicuous white cheek patches are distinctive marks which make the Canada geese easy to identify. They nest on islands or in other fairly well protected spots, sometimes in rocky cliffs or even in trees. The entire family stays together until the young-of-the-year are ready to fly in the fall. Parent geese are faithful and determined in defense of goslings.

It is noteworthy that the large reservoirs of southern Idaho provide the main stopping and resting places for ducks and geese. These are Island Park, Mud Lake, American Falls, Lake Walcott, C. J. Strike and Deer Flat.

These great honkers are well known in all parts of the state.

JACOBY ADVISE ON TRANSFER-BID

If you want to use the Jacoby transfer, we have a few special words of advice. First, make sure that you and your partner are in complete agreement about it. Next, use it in response to no-trump opening bids only. The third bit is that you do not use it if someone has acted over your partner's no-trump.

but they were very good cards and South had opened one no-trump without a stopper in diamonds. Playing at four spades, South won the diamond opening and went right after trumps. He had to lose the ace of spades and the diamonds but the rest of the tricks were his. Three no-trump would have gone down because West would cash four diamond tricks.

It is interesting to note that without a diamond opening bid, the North-South cards would have produced 11 tricks at either no-trump or spades and if diamonds had broken 4-3, no lead would have beaten three no-trump. This takes nothing from South's fine decision. Bitter experience has taught us that if there is one opening lead to beat one of our unsound contracts, our opponents have a mean habit of making it.

North's two-heart bid showed at least five spades and South dutifully bid two spades in reply to the transfer.

North's second-round jump to three no-trump said, "Partner, I have already shown you that I hold five spades. Now I want you to know that my hand is suitable for play at no-trump game as well as in spades."

South's decision to place the contract in spades was a good one. He only held two spades.

All The High School Activities

Don't Always Mean Leadership

The guy was top dog in high school. Name a school honor and Jake had it in his pocket. In his senior year he headed the student council, served as president of the football team. When I wrote my college applications, I had to put in another page beside the form to write out all the things I did. That really impressed me. Man, I was a leader!

The stack of honors and the glowing recommendations won Jake his choice of colleges with nearly $2,500 in scholarship money. "I really thought I'd draw a blank meeting just when we'd start school. Name a school honor and getting honest with each other in our letter to the editor." "I'm not coping out, but I think a lot of my attitude then came from home pressure to make grades. My folks never asked me what I'd learned or what I'd done. They just wanted to know the grade and the honor. As long as I produced marks of a winner, they figured I'd won. That's a jalopy. I got A's in lots of subjects because I became a perfectionist. But if you tested me now, I'd draw a blank."

PASSPORT TO GLORY

And Jake went off to his East Coast college trailing whistles of glory and clutching an all-expenses-paid ticket to the glory. If he'd been a movie screen scenario writer, he'd have had the pasting of a true story, let's just say we saw him midway through his sophomore year. Here's what he had in store:

"I'm still in school. I'm doing OK, not spectacular, but OK. I like the school I picked. I respect most of the pros and I'm doing OK with my future. So I'm no dropout, emotionally or physically. "But what gets me is thinking about the way I got here and the chances I muffed in high school. "Too busy, too busy, too busy, that's the sad thing; I was busy, but I didn't really do anything."

THEY WERE PHONEY

"Start with that extra page of your Looking Back. How phony most of them were. I'd join an organization and, because I was used to taking over the reins of the members' work, I'd be impressed and elect me an officer. At one time I was holding seven offices simultaneously. Now you know you can't do that. So some of the groups didn't, or someone did my work for me while I took the glory. That was dishonest and selfish."

THEY DONT MAKE THE GRADE

"Since coming to college I've talked to several men who screen college applications, and I know they're beginning to wise up too. Too many of the 32-honor heroes are falling apart when they're really asked to produce—grades, thinking, and hard work. It's not that they just not get used to doing anything that goes deep. "If I were back in high school now, and understood the implications of everything I was doing. Then I'd underline all the things that were essential. Then I'd pick two or at the most three other things that I could do well in, in depth, and accomplish something of value. And I'd resign from the rest of the busy, busy stuff, and be real!"

Do You Know Your Rights—Or Guess At Them?

News Of Servicemen

NEW YORK (NAPS)—As an American you have a stake in practicing and preserving the freedoms that are your birthright and heritage. Yet if you're like many people, chances are you aren't always certain what these rights are or how they can be exercised. You may have heard a lot of questions, plus answers from lawyers can help you (5-17-68).

1. "If you collide with another driver at an intersection, who's entitled to collect—'you' or the other driver?"

2. "If you're stopped by a police officer, who has the right to stop you?"

3. "If you're stopped by a police officer, who has the right to stop you?"

without a warrant describing your wrongdoing? Usually not. The Fourth Amendment guards against a search of your person, searches and seizure. As a rule, before an arrest can be made, a warrant—stating a probable cause—must be sworn before a judicial officer. The warrant must be handed to you by the arresting officer. You can be arrested without a warrant if you are creating a breach of the peace, apprehended in the course of committing a felony (in actual practice in most states this also applies to a misdemeanor), or if the officer has reasonable basis for believing that a crime has been committed and that you've done it.

4. "If you are denied access to certain types of information, is this an encroachment upon your rights?" Yes. One basic freedom is the right to know. For example, the First Amendment guarantees freedom of the press and freedom of speech. This has helped keep American political writings and statements free from censorship except in war time. Presently, you can look at government lists of American car owners, beneficiaries and the like. But if someone people had their way, you would be denied this freedom.

5. "If a company uses your name or picture for commercial purposes without your consent, can you do anything about it?" It depends on the state you live in. You may be able to sue, and in some cases, even get a court injunction prohibiting further use. While there's no specific reference to right of privacy in the Constitution, many states have laws which guarantee it. In some cases, make invasion-of-privacy a misdemeanor.

Capt. Carl A. Schleich, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur H. Schleich, is serving on duty with the U.S. Combat Air Force at Pleiku Air Base, Vietnam.

Capt. Schleich is a accounting and finance officer. He was graduated from Burley High School in 1953 and received his B.S. degree in 1953 from the University of Idaho. In 1957 he received his M.B.A. degree from Michigan State University.

Potential Of Mighty Nile River Has Barely Been Tapped For Human Needs

By C.C. MINTICHER
ENTREPRENEUR (P)

The mighty Nile, winding more than 4,000 miles to the sea, has offered water for man's needs and a route for cheap transportation since man first saw it.

But its potential has barely been tapped.

In 1876 when Guglielmo Marconi was getting a patent for something called a wireless telegraph, a Frenchman named H.A. Becquerel was discovering radioactivity in uranium.

The Egyptian Ministry of Public Works began keeping records of the level of Lake Victoria near Jinja, Uganda, where the Nile begins.

About a dozen years later British colonial secretary J. G. G. named Winston Churchill visited Jinja and said it would be a wonderful thing if the immortal Nile were being its journey to the sea by plunging through hydroelectric turbines.

In 1935 engineers determined that the Nile could generate electricity from the Nile but concluded there was not sufficient market for such power.

Finally, in 1947, Uganda's British rulers concluded it should be government policy to provide electric power to provide for present and future needs of the area. The contract was awarded in 1949 to a consortium of Italian, British and French companies.

New York was the first state to have such a statute which is limited to commercial appropriation of a person's name or photograph in some states, entering a lady's bedroom without her consent, wire-tapping and taking down conversation on a dictaphone without a person's knowledge are also invasions of privacy.

"If your boss summons you into his office and falsely accuses you of being a thief, can you sue him for slander? Not unless there is at least one witness present. According to lawyer William Caplin, in 'Everson's Legal Adviser' one can freely make the widest remarks about another person, with no fear of libel or slander actions, if the remarks are said in the presence of one or more of any other person, and the writing is never shown to another person in order to injure or slander to take place, there must be what is called a publication."

"If you agree orally to purchase something, can you later open and inspect it before paying?" No. When you agree to purchase the item—cash or delivery—you legally forfeit your right to open it first, because it doesn't belong to you until you've paid for it.

10. "If you order a pair of shoes, for example, which are guaranteed to be genuine leather, but turn out to be paper, can you get your money back? Yes. Where goods are bought by description they must conform to that description. If the goods are defective, or have been misrepresented, according to lawyer Caplin, you may legally keep them and pay only what they're worth in their defective condition; pay the purchase price and sue for damages resulting from breach of warranty; refuse to accept the goods in their present condition; demand that the seller perform and sue for breach of warranty; or declare the sales agreement void and get your money back."

Donald R. Marlow, aircraft maintenance officer at the Marine Air Reserve Training Detachment, NAS, Willow Grove, recently received double bars, signifying his promotion to captain in the U.S. Marine Corps.

Capt. Marlow's commanding officer, Col. Robert R. Peebles, with assistance from Mrs. Marlow, made the presentation.

Capt. Marlow has been an aircraft maintenance officer at Willow Grove since reporting there from Vietnam in March, 1966. He began his military career as an enlisted man in 1953 and was commissioned a second lieutenant in Dec. 1965, while serving in Vietnam.

Capt. Marlow is originally from Buhl where his parents still reside.

He holds several service medals. He and his wife, Teruyo, have three children.

Pvt. Richard Bronson, returned to his home at Fayette after visiting his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. James Bronson, Springdale. He will leave soon for overseas duty in Vietnam. He has spent the past 18 months in Ft. Lewis, El Paso and in Indiana.

Sgt. Webster, a security policeman, is a member of the Pacific Air Forces. He is a graduate of Kimberly High School.

Prosperous South Africa May Have To Make Changes In Its Economic Policy

By KENNETH L. WHITING
JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP)—With gold piling up and money pouring in, prosperous South Africa may have to make some basic changes in economic policy.

South Africa's financial problems result from too much money. Foreign capital floods in. At the same time South Africa continues to stockpile its newly mined gold.

The resulting buildup of internal liquidity is likened by economists to a massive head of steam. They say runaway inflation threatens unless the pressure is eased.

South Africa's official gold and foreign exchange reserves have reached a record of 2.4 billion rand, or $474 million. They have grown almost 50 percent in seven months.

An immediate relaxation of controls on the exchange of money is advocated by some experts as the only way to prevent the economy from being swamped by an oversupply of money.

"These economists say South Africa's might be able to use its domestic need to reduce reserves and a desire to maintain the external strength of the dollar, not to shatter the international financial uncertainty."

F.L.J. Smith, president of the Federated Chamber of Industries, called for increased investment abroad as well as an easing of exchange control.

The chamber urges the government to implement without delay a selective but meaningful relaxation of exchange control as a potent means of draining new excess liquidity.

"At the present juncture it is essential that the investment of funds abroad should be strongly encouraged," he said.

Concern about excess liquidity was reflected in a recent order by the reserve bank which instructed other banks to hand over 40 percent of their extra deposits. This was a technical device designed to prevent a steady flow of money from falling in the money market.

Exchange control was introduced after faith in South Africa's shilling was shaken by Sharpeville mass shootings of Negroes in 1960. Money poured out of the country until restrictions were slapped on.

The controls worked well and money was kept in the country to help finance an industrial boom. Now some experts believe the measure have outlived their usefulness.

Gold poses a more complicated problem.

South Africa was notably chilly toward the twofold system of pricing gold, believing instead that an increase in the price of gold would be long overdue. Prime Minister Balthazar J. Vorster says gold should be "revalued at a value which is maintained as the true anchor of the international financial system."

Finance Minister Nicolaas Dierhies announced in March that South Africa would not sell gold on the official or free markets "in the immediate future."

Actually, South Africa appears to have little room to maneuver. It produces about 75 percent of the West's gold. Last year it won't worth $1.05 billion, or 40 percent of all South Africa exports.

In other words, if gold were demoralized, this country's exports could drop by more than a third.

Another source of concern is declining production. Mines say the peak years are past and that output each year can be expected for several years.

For years the policy has been to add gold to South Africa's reserves when a surplus in external payments developed, otherwise sell most of it for $35 an ounce through the Bank of England.

This policy is unlikely to be changed soon despite the present halt in sales. Some economists think South Africa should resume selling some gold through the Bank of England and sacrifice the extra profit that might be gained in the still glutted free market.

Three Named As Alternates For ISU Scholarship

Kathy Ann Anderson, a senior at Twin Falls High School, has been named one of three alternates to a $3,000 Idaho Nuclear Corporation scholarship to Idaho State University.

She and the other two alternates will receive $500 each.

Named as alternates from Magic Valley are Randy Bell, Jerome, and John Stevens, Gooding. They will receive $200 each.

Police Blotter

No citations were issued Tuesday evening when a 1967 Datsun, driven by Ida Cagel, 53, Rupert, was struck by northbound Union Pacific train No. 226 at 11th and 12th streets in Rupert. The car apparently stalled on the tracks. Damage to the car was estimated at $175, and at $30 to the engine.

1334 Will Get College Degrees

MOSCOW, Idaho (AP)—The University of Idaho is scheduled today to receive 1,334 candidates for degrees at the school this spring.

The university's 73rd commencement is scheduled for 2 p.m. at the Municipal Gymnasium June 2.

A total of 1,018 are seeking bachelor's degrees, 268 master's degrees and 47 doctorates, the university said. Last year there were 1,255 applicants.

Three Teachers Sign At Filer

FILER—Elaine Jackson, Mrs. Mary Nelson and Mrs. Grace Slatner have been awarded contracts to teach in the Filer Elementary School, according to Tom Turner, Superintendent of School District 413.

Karun Pendergrass has signed a contract to teach first grade in the Hollister School. Openings in the district still exist for director of music, director of guidance and an upper elementary grade.

School will open this fall Aug. 26. Holidays will include Sept. 10, the Twin Falls County Fair; Oct. 10-11, state teachers' convention; Nov. 28-29, Thanksgiving; Dec. 21 to Jan. 7, Christmas and holidays; and school closing, May 23, 1969.

Church Lauds Amendment Vote

WASHINGTON (AP)—In a vote of proposed amendments to a federal anti-Communist bill that would have imposed restrictive federal gun control laws was lauded Thursday by U.S. Sen. Frank Church, Idaho.

"These amendments would have worked a hardship on the sportsmen of Idaho because they would have placed new restrictions on the purchase of hunting rifles and shotguns," Church said.

Ask Them Yourself

FOR HENRY FOWLER

Secretary of the Treasury
Why are there different wordings: "Silver Certificates," "Federal Reserve
Notes," "United States
Note," on U.S. paper currency?
Phyllis Szwarc, Las Vegas, Nev.

● Since the enactment of Public Law 83-36, on June 4, 1963, Silver Certificates gradually are being retired from circulation and replaced by Federal Reserve Notes. No Silver Certificates have been produced since October 21, 1963; no United States Notes since May 13, 1964. Federal Reserve Notes have been the basic circulating currency for many years, comprising over 85 percent of all currency in circulation today. They are backed by collateral in the form of gold certificates, Government securities or short-term paper discounted or purchased by the Federal Reserve Banks.

FOR MICKEY SPILLANE

Are you ever bothered

What do you think of the new "no lipstick" look?
—D. K. Muncie, Ind.

● If by the "no lipstick" look you mean the natural lipstick color, I like it and think it looks fine if the woman has good color to her lips and only wears a colorless lip sheen. But if you mean the whitened or unnaturally pale lips, I dislike it.

WHAT IN THE WORLD!

Camping News—You can now rough it without getting roughed up. The recent International Sport and Camping Show featured a tent that comes equipped with table and beds. It all folds flat, drops your car, then pops open for an instant camp site. Other goodies: a survival kit as compact as a purse-size pack of tissues and a rugged minicar that takes you over sand, water, or ice.

Food for Thought—The smell of coffee perking, bacon frying, or cake baking makes your mouth water—but how much? That depends on whether you're an introvert or an extrovert. Professors H. J. and Sybil Eysenck of the University of London Institute of Psychiatry placed drops of lemon juice on the tongues of a group of volunteers. They found that, if you're an extrovert, your mouth will water less. The reason extroverts are constantly taking in more sensations: Introverts have senses that are less-blunted or jaded.

Give and Take—Jack Benny has given all his old radio and TV scripts, plus some personal letters and contracts, to U.C.L.A. Asked why some of the papers are to be sealed until 1983, Benny explained, "I don't know." At the last minute, he almost backed out of the whole thing. "Donation?" he yelped. "I thought I was selling them." On today's scene, his picks Bob Hope as the greatest entertainer, and Johnny Carson and Rich Little as the men who do the best imitations of himself.

Try 'n' Buy—The new trend in buying color TV sets is to rent them first. That way you can test out the set and the reception in your area before you make the big investment. If you decide to buy, more and more stores around the country will now apply the rental payments to the purchase price.

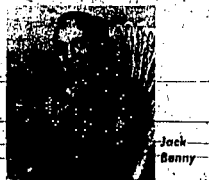

Trouble-Free—Do you know a man who's skinny, lethargic, works in a non-competitive backwater, dines mostly on fruits and vegetables, doesn't smoke or drink, and overexercises his frail frame? According to heart specialists, he's the man most likely to live free of heart trouble—if you call that living.

Doing Their Bit—The Four Seasons made the supreme sacrifice to help stop the gold drain. They sent all of their gold records for selling more than a million copies of a song-to

The Four Seasons

President Johnson. Mailed down, they'll be worth about $100 each. The singing quartet has only one regret that they have: but 10 gold discs to give to their country.

Every Olds is a step-up car— even when it's in the low-price range.

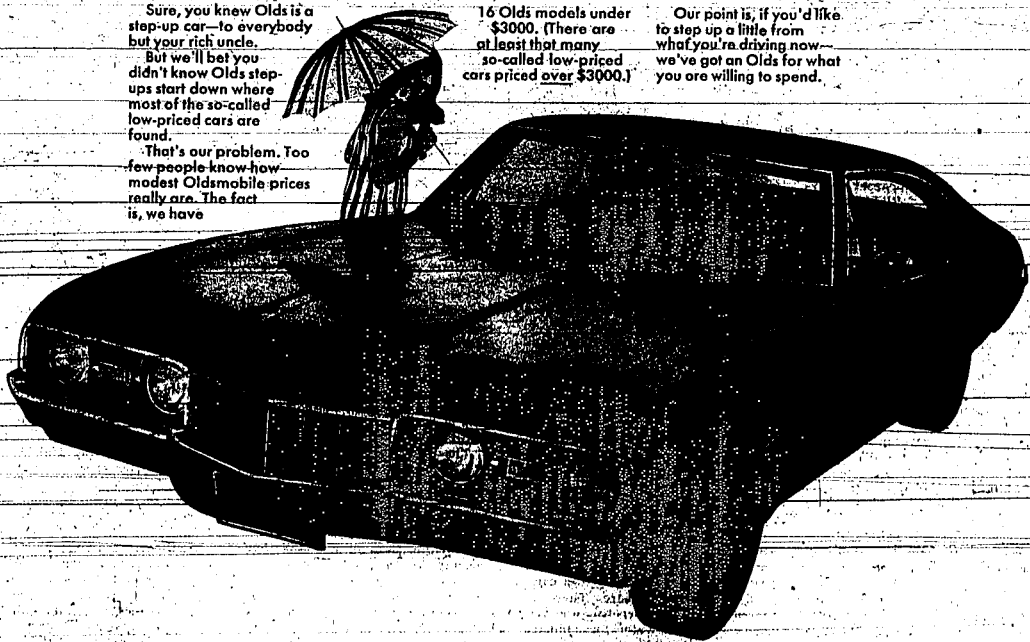

Sure, you knew Olds is a step-up car—to everybody but your rich uncle.

But we'll bet you didn't know Olds step-ups start down where most of the so-called low-priced cars are found.

That's our problem. Too few people know how modest Oldsmobile prices really are. The fact is, we have

16 Olds models under $3000. (There are at least that many so-called low-priced cars priced over $3000.)

Our point is, if you'd like to step up a little from what you're driving now—we've got an Olds for what you are willing to spend.

I Lived with the Beatles at —The superstars of the mad world have had a strange history— but nothing as

By SIMON REGAN

WHATEVER it is that the Beatles and other stars saw in the Maharishi Mahesh Yogi's circus world of high finance and meditation on the banks of the Ganges frankly eludes me.

I spent several days meditating with them earlier this year, and I have to report that there's more bohum than spiritual regeneration at the giggling guru's academy. At the Maharishi's retreat, celebrities take precedence. The poor and the unknown are kept out by the guards.

The bearded guru, who requires each of his converts to donate one week's net earnings to his cause, is making hay while the sun shines and busily laying plans for retirement at the end of the year.

Indeed, poverty is apparent everywhere in the town of Rikhikesh, India. Yet, nearby, the Maharishi is building a sumptuous new headquarters complete with air conditioning, hot-and-cold running water, ultralavish style chalets with wall-to-wall carpets, and landscaped gardens.

He told me during a lull in the bedlam of pop-star publicity that before he settles down—in America—he plans to go on a 100-city tour of India, a 30-city tour of the United States, and jaunts through Italy, West Germany, Holland, Sweden, Norway, and Canada.

"The Beatles have promised to help me reach up to 10 million new converts before I retire into silence," he declared.

And he disclosed that he plans to finance his globe-trotting by charging every meditator seven days' salary each year—half the proceeds going to the local meditation necca and half to himself. "With my new converts, I hope to plan world peace within 10 years," he added modestly.

What was it like at the Beatles' Shangri-la? Well, a favorite pastime for the visiting celebrities was: "Who can meditate the mostest?"

Although it is against all the established principles, there was keen competition among the converts to see how many hours each could blank out his mind.

Paul and Jane Asher (seated, l.), Ringo, Mrs. Starr, and George (seated, rear); John (on floor), and the Maharishi Yogi.

Before leaving, Paul McCartney led the Beatles' meditation league with four hours. John Lennon was runner-up with three-and-a-half; Ringo Starr (who returned to London declaring it was all like a holiday camp) and George Harrison managed only three apiece.

The Beatles, their wives, and a phalanx of friends which included Donovan, Mia Farrow, two of the Beach Boys pop group, and a cluster of agents, friends, managers, and secretaries, were in their own carefully guarded enclosure. They enjoyed wall-to-wall carpeting and hot-and-cold running water. I was billeted in a nearby building where I slept on a single blanket.

What bearing it all had on finding personal tranquility and solving the world's major problems I cannot yet see, nor, I suspect, can John, Paul, George, and Ringo.

Other holy sects in the area are calling the Maharishi's meditation center "The Greatest Show on Earth," and hecklers are accusing him of "egotism, ambition, materialism, and exhibitionism."

The holy men say it is against the principles of spiritual life to charge; seek for guidance; and they accuse the Maharishi of accepting only the rich and famous, leaving the poor outside the gates.

Pilgrims from all over India have been coming to seek the guru's guidance, only to find their way blocked by armed guards. Ironically, no one is barred from the other nearby holy places; all are welcome.

Worst of all, other holy men are seriously disputing whether the guru is a true yogi or not. They say that only a few years ago he was a humble employee of the founder of his order, guru Shankaratcharya of Jyotirpoeth.

When the leader died, there was an undignified scramble which ended with two senior priests haggling it out in court. While litigation bogged down, the Maharishi quietly took over the operation.

These days the Maharishi's sermons to the crowds outside his almod home have a bitter tone. They used to be given in complete peace in the shaded gardens of his ashram (house), with monkeys playing and jostling in the trees above.

Now hecklers dominate the scene. They scoff at the pop stars' avowed plans to "turn on the world without acid (LSD) and create world peace within 10 years through meditation."

Despite the chaos, which is rather like a three-ring circus operating in a madhouse, I decided to find out exactly what the Beatles were doing

strange as the happenings at this yogi's mystic academy at the feet of the master.

Meditation started each day at 3 a.m. with a violent banging on the door. One morning, devotees had to stumble down to the Ganges for a wash in the dark and freezing Himalayan dawn.

We were then herded off to a small temple where, under the benevolent stare of a sitar-playing goddess of music, we sat through a tedious two-hour meditation session—shoes off, of course.

At 5:30 a.m. prayers and chants started; and when that session was over, it was yoga time in a room full of writhing, contorted bodies. The Beatles were notable by their absence at this stage.

I tried a few simple exercises, but even crossing my legs and touching my toes with my chin sent spasms of agony through my creaking joints.

Yoga practice over, it was meditating time again.

The Beatles spent most of the time in their rooms and put aside five hours a day for meditation. Heads in hands, they had "an audience" with his holiness for at least two hours a day. He saw that they ate "very well" and were equipped with all the comforts of home.

Nevertheless, they claimed vehemently that the Maharishi's teaching worked wonders. They must be used to him, for I couldn't make head or tail out of what he had to say.

He told us in one session, for instance: "... now even intellectually we understand that the world is changing. All the time, that means it is eternally changing, and when it is eternally changing, that means the basis of change is something eternal... changing, changing, changing, and goes on changing in its very changing."

No, I'm not kidding—those were the words as I tape-recorded them! George Harrison, not to be outdone, told us all: "I want to be unseen, unknown, unheard." Quite a change for the Beatles.

Lunch time brought the end to the day's meditation. Everyone settled down for meals until the evening brought the beginning of the parties in the lush, tropical gardens or down on the small beach by the river.

One day, the Maharishi gathered the famous four and told them, "Today is Mahashivriti, the day of the Lord Shiva's wedding."

Paul McCartney quipped: "Who's he marrying? Mrs. Shiva, I suppose." Which startled several onlookers, Shiva being the most revered of all the Indian gods.

The Maharishi, an expert on publicity, knows the true value of a photo session. Whenever one was held, the Beatles brigade always was asked to join in.

He told me: "I devote a lot of time to the Beatles because they arrived later than anyone else. They are picking up fast and are getting lessons in what I call practical philosophy for action. I must admit they are playing a very important role in my campaign."

After a recent photo session, the Beatles retired to chant and mumble in the Maharishi's personal meditation room. They sat cross-legged on the floor, fiddling with the beads around their necks, intoning the age-old words from the scriptures.

As the guru spoke to another visitor after lunch, Ringo and his wife came up holding hands, looking decidedly worried. "Can you spare a minute?" he asked. The great man took them into his room for a 15-minute conference. "They were beset by some problem. Now they are both meditating happily again," he said afterward.

The next day we all trooped down to the banks of the Ganges for an impromptu party. Folk singer Donovan ("a great leader of youth," says the Maharishi) put Hindu chants to a modern pop setting, and the Beatles joined the group.

All the while the Maharishi sat gurgling squeaky happiness. "They are wonderful lads," he said. "They always make me so happy."

Then, of course, there was George Harrison's birthday party, complete with a seven-pound birthday cake and 25 candles.

The Maharishi put sandalwood perfume on the Beatles' head, and George hung flowers around a picture of a former holy man. Mike Love of the Beach Boys sang a song, and famous Indian musicians joined in the chorus with traditional music.

The Maharishi presented George with a globe of the world—turned upside down. "That's the state of the world today," he explained.

George promptly turned it the right way up. "That's what we're going to do about it," he replied.

But lately, one by one, the celebrities are becoming dropouts from the Maharishi's academy—first Ringo, then Paul, and then Mia Farrow. It could be that they have found their spiritual fulfillment, or it could be that, after serious meditation, they found their wallets becoming unfilled. Only time will tell.

Mrs. George Harrison and her sister Jenny, like their guru, are not camera-shy.

EVERY NAME HAS A BEGINNING. Eight centuries ago, the population of Europe was comparatively small, but it was already necessary to formulate names as a descriptive identification in order to distinguish one person from another. Thus, the John who baked bread became John Baker... and the John who lived on the other side of the hill was known as John Overhill. As children grew, it was not uncommon to refer to them by the name of their parents. Thus, the Scandnavian and English suffix "son"... the Greek "poulos"... the Finnish "nen"... the Polish "wiczak"... the Spanish "ez"... all denoting the son. Similarly, the Irish "O" means grandson, while the prefix "Mac", "Mc" indicates "son" in Gaelic and Scottish. Between the 11th and 14th centuries, all-lett names were new. When the Crusades began in 1095 most of the inhabitants of Europe were unable to read or write. This illiteracy included the nobility and landowners, lords, barons and kings... as well as commoners and peasants.

Therefore, the clergy and monks were called upon to write documents, make proclamations, record feuds, and award decorations. Each court had a member of the clergy or "clerk" or "herald" who performed these duties for the "rigit", maintaining permanent records or archives for the purpose. Thus, heraldry was born.

WHAT IS A COAT OF ARMS? It is generally believed that a coat-of-arms reflects an ancient heritage when knights, jousting in tournament or in battle, and deeds of valor and accomplishment were rewarded with a memorable symbol. While this is true in many cases, the coat-of-arms was more generally utilized as a practical symbol of identification, both on the battlefield and in everyday transactions of business. Since most people were illiterate, the coat-of-arms also became a signature or a "mark." When worn in "full" the coat-of-arms of a knight, vassal and follower was similar to the armorial bearing of the lord they served.

WHY DO SKEPTICS SAY "YOU DON'T HAVE MY NAME?" For many people it is difficult to believe that the ancient heralds in every country of Europe actually performed the monumental task of recording so many minute historic, geographic and personal details regarding common, everyday names as well as unusual, rarely heard of names. For other skeptics, it is hard to believe that the medieval archives of heraldry actually have survived the countless battles, sieges, great plagues... which swept medieval Europe, the invasions which occurred between warring kings, fires and inquisitions.

The Sanson Institute of Heraldry invites these skeptics to submit their names and authorize research for documented coat-of-arms (including, if not in our archives, Sanson Institute will guarantee immediate refund, with no thanks for enriching our knowledge regarding future areas of contiguous exploration.

SANSON INSTITUTE ARCHIVES STARTED OVER 100 YEARS AGO. In 1800 in a small art studio in Sheffield, England, a coach painter named William Hubert Seddon catered to families who desired to have their carriages adorned with their family coat-of-arms. This remarkable man was so painstaking in his craft that during his lifetime he initiated one of the most voluminous collections of heraldic archives in the world. Were it not for his diligence many of these ancient records may have passed into extinction. After the Industrial Revolution and the demise of coach painting, Mr. Seddon continued to research his unique heraldic collection. Three generations later his descendant brought the entire library to the United States... and it is today the nucleus of one of the most authoritative libraries of its kind in the world.

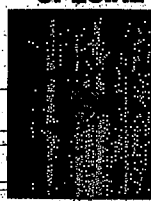

OVER 100,000 COAT-OF-ARMS FINDINGS IN SANSON INSTITUTE ARCHIVES. The foresight of the founder in amassing the heraldic library is rewarded today in the ability of the Institute to research the thousands of names which are requested daily. Names which had their origins many centuries ago in 33 different European countries are daily researched by the Sanson Institute.

HOW IS THE COAT-OF-ARMS USED TODAY? In today's modern world, a coat-of-arms is a personalized link with the past... a decorative badge for individual recognition... a family name that had its origin... centuries ago. While no direct genealogical representation is intended or implied by the Sanson Institute, many people thoughtfully take extreme pride in this symbolic link with a bygone era. These personalized historic emblems are proudly presented in the form of plaques, rings, embroidered black leather, and framed coat-of-arms wall decor. All are ideal... as unusual, thoughtful gifts for Mother's Day, Father's Day, birthdays, graduation, wedding, anniversaries, etc.

IS YOUR ANCESTOR'S COUNTRY OF ORIGIN HERE? If your name originated in any of the 33 countries listed, use the coupon below to authorize a search of name and coat-of-arms. If not in our archives, Sanson Institute will refund your money.

Kitchen Appliances Go Fancy

By ROSALYN ABBREVAYA

The gourmet, an inveterate collector of exotic kitchen appliances, may be in for some competition from the average housewife. That's a prediction with weight this season as many new basic and some first-of-a-kind appliances literally "turn on" in style and performance.

What puts them at the top of the class is their increased mobility, space-saving design, or ability to do a bigger job than their appearance indicates. And as important as the sleek new designs is the attention manufacturers are giving to ease of handling and upkeep. This, more than anything, goes a long way toward making the serving of food a delight.

◀A new portable butane cooker, with a range of temperatures, can do everything from preparing a juicy steak to a delicate sauce. It's made by Ronson.

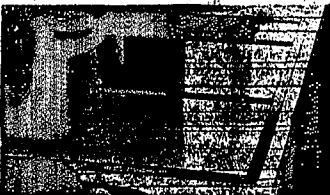

◀Wheel this 2.1-cubic-foot refrigerator from den to patio. It features door shelves and a freezer unit. The cart is optional. From Hotpoint.

◀Farberware's high-dome electric fry pan adds versatility with a new three-piece steam set that allows you to cook three foods at once—and fry, stew, braise, roast, and pan broil, as well.

◀A counter that cooks, from Corning Glass, Monnex, and other kitchen countertop electrical elements are indicated by sunbath.

◀The space age is near! Sunbeam offers an exciting new toaster designed to toast a slice area. Bread, waffles, or waffles are popped in, toasts automatically.

DUSTIN HOFFMAN—

The Agony of Overnight Success

By JACK RYAN

DUSTIN HOFFMAN is awakened in his Greenwich Village bachelor apartment these mornings by phone calls from producers offering him up to $350,000 a film. He turns them down.

He ~~is~~ is awakened at 2 a.m. by calls from his parents in Beverly Hills, Calif. "Dad and I were reading our new subscriptions to Variety and the Hollywood Reporter. Did you know you broke the house records in San Francisco?" Dustin mumbles politely and returns to his favorite state, deep sleep.

Success has been overnight for the male star of "The Graduate," but it is a success Hoffman himself does not recognize. "I made one picture, played one role. So I'm a star. How can anybody believe that on the basis of a single piece of work?"

shakes his tousled head in disbelief. "I figured John Voight (who plays the Midnight Cowboy) would automatically get top billing, but the agents fought it out and I ended up on top. It doesn't make sense, but it's only important to agents."

Hoffman is not without ambition, though. "Yeh, you flirt with Satan when you hear those big money offers. But I don't want to get out of my economic stratum. I'm comfortable there, and I work best there. I'm going to sock away my money and form my own producing unit someday, then do just what I want to do."

Hoffman comes from a movie-mad family. His mother named him after Dustin Farnum, the silent-screen movie star. Brother Ronald was named after Ronald Colman. His father, says Dustin, wanted to be a director "but found out he could make a lot of money in furniture. Now he's got a son who's an actor and another who's a prominent economist, so maybe he's happy."

For more than six years, Hoffman has been just a shadow in the New York theater world, getting enough work to live the comfortable nonpressurized life he so far has refused to abandon. He moved into an apartment on 11th street in the Village on the same block where producer-director Mel Brooks and his wife Anne Bancroft live.

"I'd always admired Mel's work," says Hoffman, "and one day I stopped him on the street and told him so. We got to know each other—though I never met his wife—and eventually he cast me as the German in his comedy, 'The Producers.' But 'The Graduate' came along, so I left Mel to do that picture. Mel said, 'Traitor! But at least, you'll meet my wife; she's going to seduce you in the picture.' None of us thought 'The Graduate' would become such a success.

"So far, this success business hasn't got to me much. But some guy who looks like me is signing my autograph in a needy Greenwich Village hangout for creeps, and I don't like that at all.

"But on the other side, I get letters like the one from a kid in Duluth. She wrote me, 'Please come and share Pass-over with my family and me. PS—if you're not Jewish, tear-this-up.'

"I liked that. That part of success is okay. The rest? Oh, it takes more than one role to make you feel like a real success, whatever that is anyway."

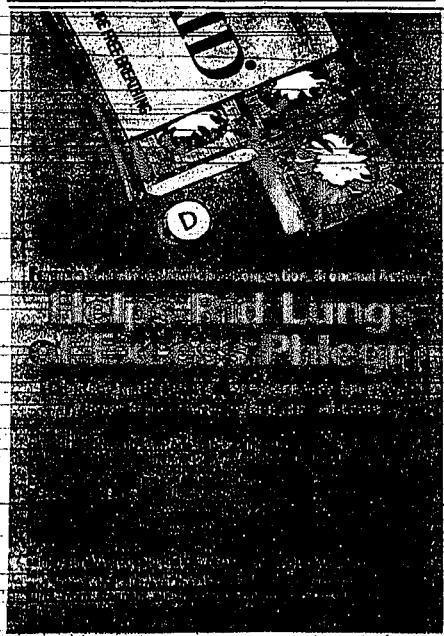

Hoffman claims he's an "alienated adult."

He speaks haltingly as if each word is dragged painfully from inside his soul. He hangs his head low, and you have the feeling he is looking at you from under a rock. But he is the darling of the young, alienated world.

"Funny," he says stumbingly. "Some people come out of the movie and say, 'He didn't act the alienated kid in 'The Graduate.' He is an alienated kid! But I'm 30 years old, an alienated adult, who did have to act the role."

After turning down a dozen money-laden roles, Hoffman went to work in "The Midnight Cowboy" in a secondary role because "it felt best for me at the time." He

Tests By Doctors Prove It Possible To Shrink Painful Hemorrhoids

And Promptly Stop The Itching,
Relieve Pain In Most Cases

A scientific research institute has discovered a medication which has the ability, in most cases—to actually shrink hemorrhoids and to promptly stop the burning itch and relieve pain.

In case after case, the sufferer first notices relief from itching and pain. Then painful swelling of the inflamed hemorrhoids is gently reduced.

Tests conducted on hundreds of patients by doctors in New York City, in Washington, D.C. and at a Midwest Medical Center proved this so.

The secret is Preparation H. There is no other formula for the treatment of hemorrhoids, like Preparation H. In addition to actually shrinking hemorrhoids—Preparation H lubricates, soothes irritated tissues and helps prevent further infection.

Just ask for Preparation H Ointment or Preparation H Suppositories. No prescription is needed.

How You Can Be a Better Fisherman

By ERWIN A. BAUER

Author of "Saltwater Fisherman's Bible" and "Tackle In Action"

THIS SUMMER an estimated 40 million Americans will go fishing—but a fraction of the fishermen will catch more than half of the fish.

The reasons? They know the basics of fish behavior. They make the best use of splendid new fishing equipment. They are on the water during the best possible fishing periods. If you want to be among the better fishermen this season, take the quiz below.

• What is the best time of year to fish? Addicted anglers will say that it's any time you have the slightest opportunity. But for most popular freshwater species—black bass, pike, panfish, walleye, trout—it's in springtime. Water temperatures are ideal, and many species are hungry after spawning.

• How about the best time of day? Morning and evening normally are better than midday, so concentrate the most serious efforts at these times. Later in the summer, the best fishing may occur at night.

• Is weather important? It is, although the experts cannot always agree how. But dull days average better than bright ones. Rainy weather and high winds discourage fishermen more than fish. An especially productive time to be fishing is during the approach of a storm.

• Is fishing best by boat or from the bank? Anglers in boats are much more successful than shore fishermen when fishing lakes anywhere in the country. They can "cover" much more water.

But except on the largest trout rivers, trout fishermen must wade or cast from the banks.

• Can you describe a good fishing rig which a beginner can use for trout, bass, and panfish? Yes, two. First, a six-foot "medium-action" (so-called by manufacturers) spinning rod with an open-face spinning reel containing 8-pound test monofilament line. Or a 5½-foot casting rod with a closed-faced, spin-cast reel and 8-pound mono. Anyone with average coordination can cast easily and accurately with these combinations.

• Is live or natural bait better than artificial lures? Surprisingly, no! The biggest game species every year are caught on the counterfeits. But they must be cast where fish are likely to be and retrieved, usually according to the maker's instructions.

• Where are fish likely to be? Most common freshwater fish will be found around "edge," rather than in open expanses of water. Edge may be an aquatic weed bed; a reef, shoal, or rocky pile, old pilings, sunken boats, or docks. Cast artificial lures in these places.

• Does saltwater fishing differ greatly from freshwater fishing? Deep-sea angling for the giants of the saltwater, swordfish, marlin—is greatly different. But more and more sportsmen are discovering that their freshwater tackle and techniques will catch many smaller saltwater species in bays, lagoons, tidal rivers, and in the surf. Found for pound, saltwater fish are stronger and more exciting than sweetwater kind.

• Are the new electronic fish finders merely gimmicks or are they really helpful to average fishermen? Some are precision sonar instruments (the principle is the same as the Navy uses to detect submarines) which give the fishermen a constant reading of the water depth and also spot any fish beneath the boat. However, the greatest value of any fish finder is in locating the hidden "edge" underwater.

• How can an angler who is new to the sport select the best waters to go fishing? For the best advice and information on local fishing, contact the local game warden or conservation officer. Outdoor columnists on local newspapers also are reliable persons to call.

Follow their directions and this advice, and you'll be among those select few who are real fishermen. ♦

Helps Relief Come
Naturally

New York, N.Y. (Special)—Research has discovered a wonder-working substance that helps correct constipation without laxative!

Doctors say most constipation occurs when waste loses moisture in the colon. To give nature, laxatives have to force action—flush, irritate or distend the intestine.

The new miracle substance works in a completely different way. It helps natural moisture in the colon work more effectively. Thus by working on the problem, not on you, it helps correct constipation as no laxative can.

This discovery is now available under the name Resorcol. It is not habit-forming. No warning on the label—no prescription needed.

Clue to Your Personality — How You Sign Your Name

DO you ever find yourself in a situation where you want to size up a person's character in a hurry?

Well, science has found that you can tell a great deal about a man's personality just by having him write his signature on a slip of paper.

There are eight ways a person can write his name: John Paul Jones, J. P. Jones, John Jones, etc. And psychological tests have shown that, while all writing is a manifestation of personality, how you write your name tells a lot about you.

The noted research scientist, psychologist John A. Blazer, conducted a scientific study of a random sample of 800 Americans. The only requirement was that each subject have three names: a first, a middle, and a family name. Each was interviewed and his signature noted.

Each person then was given standard personality tests to determine character traits and tendencies, general outlook on life, etc. It was found that in more than 85 percent of the cases the people in each signature category had different personality traits.

The tests showed each of the eight signature types to have these characteristics in common:

- "John Paul Jones": People who used each of their three names in their signature tended to be highly competitive and striving to surpass others. Equipped with a strong drive for success, they were willing to work hard to achieve it.

- "J. P. Jones": People who signed their names this way enjoyed following the direction of other people, disliked unconventional behavior, were sympathetic, affectionate, and generous. They also tended to be practical-minded.

- "J. Paul Jones": Personality tests showed this signature type tended to have a good sense of humor, enjoyed telling of personal experiences, liked to regale listeners with anecdotes. Quick to anger, his low-boiling point sometimes got him in hot water, but he could extricate himself.

- "Paul Jones": The study showed that people who employed this form (using their middle and last names) sought personal fame, enjoyed leading people and influencing them. Tests showed them to have persuasive ability—but they themselves were not easy to persuade.

- "John P. Jones": Personality tests showed that people who use this signature style had these tendencies: dislike of change and uncertainty, preferring to make plans and organize their lives according to schedule. A desire for neatness in work was also evident. Other characteristics—they were inclined to seek help and sympathy from others and had a need to form good interpersonal relationships at all times.

- "John Jones": Tests showed people who used this signature type tended to have these traits in common: they were gregarious, liked to analyze themselves and others. Their insight into other people's character was surprisingly acute. In addition to being better-than-average judges of human nature, they had a great capacity for friendship.

- "J. Jones": The great majority of this type—who used only the initial of the first name, disliked responsibility, were independent-minded, did not like being dictated to. They tended to be unconventional, bored by routine, liked change, and new places.

- "P. Jones": People in this category, who used only the initial of their middle name, shared the characteristics of J. Jones people to a marked degree. But there were differences. These people tended to be lacking in self-confidence, were inclined to "put themselves down" but had marked capacities for achievement.

PROCTER & GAMBLE

Buffet Supper the Gracious Way

Plump, juicy peaches filled with fruit and nuts rest on beds of creamy pudding in Glamour Pudding 'n' Peaches.

MELANIE DE PROFT Food Editor

■ Buffet service is a popular choice of today's busy homemaker. It permits her to entertain graciously and with ease. Here are recipes for an interesting buffet menu.

Cucumber-Salmon Ring with Turkey and Ham

Accompany with a relish dish of ripe olives and green pepper strips.

- 1 pkg. (3 oz.) lime-flavored gelatin
- ½ teaspoon seasoned salt
- 1 cup boiling water
- 1 cup cold water
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice
- 1 cup grated pared cucumber
- ½ cup cold water
- 1 tablespoon (1 env.) unflavored gelatin
- 1 cup mayonnaise
- 1 teaspoon seasoned salt
- 2 tablespoons cider vinegar
- 1 can (1 lb.) salmon, drained, and flaked
- ½ cup chopped celery
- ½ cup chopped sweet pickle

1. Dissolve lime-flavored gelatin with ½ teaspoon seasoned salt in boiling water. Stir in 1 cup cold water and the lemon juice. Chill until mixture is slightly thicker than consistency of thick, unbeaten egg white; stir occasionally.

2. Stir in cucumber; turn into a 1½-qt. ring mold. Chill until set, not firm.

3. Meanwhile, soften unflavored gelatin in ¼ cup cold water; set over low heat and stir until gelatin is completely dissolved. Blend with a mixture of the mayonnaise, 1 teaspoon seasoned salt, and vinegar. Mix in salmon, celery, and pickle.

4. Spoon salmon mixture into mold over first layer.* Chill until firm.

5. Unmold onto a large tray or chop plate. Surround the mold with alternating and overlapping slices of cold cooked ham and turkey. Tuck in greens between mold and slices. One 1½-qt. mold.

*It is desirable to have mixtures for both layers of same consistency when layering to avoid separation.

Fresh Asparagus with Herbed Crumbs

While fresh asparagus is cooking, prepare the topping. Crush the desired amount of packaged herbed croutons and toss in browned butter with a few drops of lemon juice. Arrange asparagus on a platter and sprinkle with Accent; top with crumbs and hollandaise sauce.

Whole Wheat Popovers

- ¾ cup regular all-purpose flour
- ¼ cup whole wheat flour
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- 2 eggs (about ½ cup)
- 1 cup milk
- 1 tablespoon melted shortening

1. Blend first three ingredients in a bowl until well mixed.

2. Add a mixture of eggs, milk, and melted shortening; beat until thoroughly blended.

3. Pour batter into ungreased 5-oz. heat-resistant glass custard cups until each is half full.

4. Bake at 450°F. 15 min.; turn oven control to 350°F. and bake 35 min. Put into a napkin-lined bread basket and serve hot. 4 popovers

Glamour Pudding 'n' Peaches

Along with this dessert serve chilled white grape juice in stemmed glasses and steaming cups of coffee.

- 1 pkg. (2¼ oz.) vanilla pudding and pie filling
- 1½ cups milk
- 1½ cup white grape juice
- Chilled heavy cream, whipped to soft peaks and sweetened
- 1 can (1 lb. 13 oz.) cling peach halves, drained
- ½ cup chopped drained orange peel
- 2 tablespoons dried roasted almonds

1. Prepare pudding according to pkg. directions using the 1½ cups milk for the liquid.

2. Turn pudding into a bowl and cool slightly, stirring occasionally. Stirring constantly, gradually add grape juice to pudding. Fold in the desired amount of sweetened whipped cream.

3. Divide mixture equally among dessert dishes. Place a peach half, cut side up, in each.

4. Mix the remaining two ingredients and spoon some onto each peach. Chill. 3 to 3 servings

Beauty isn't a matter of birthdays. Whether you are in your teens, twenties, thirties, or well over forty, these can be your loveliest years—if you learn to make the most of your looks. And now, for any woman who wants to become more attractive, here's a chance never before available—a remarkable new WORLD OF BEAUTY CLUB.

To help you discover for yourself the benefits of a planned program for beauty, the Club is offering a wonderful bargain: A Beauty Kit of cosmetics and beauty aids worth at least $10.00—all for only $1.00, plus, you'll also receive a wonderful Beauty Guide Free.

Mailing the coupon below is all you need to join over 900,000⁺ beauty-conscious women who have already taken advantage of this fabulous "get-acquainted" offer. As a Member, you will be entitled to receive—on approval and entirely without risk—a new and different Beauty Kit of famous-name beauty aids approximately every three months.

Famous-Name Cosmetics in Every Kit

Your introductory Beauty Kit is just the first of many delightful surprises you will receive from the Club. For example, one recent Kit assortment brought members: 1444 cream, syndicate, headband, bath oil, beauty mask, clear complexion soap, 3 lipsticks, 3 nail colors, nail hardener, hair conditioner, and all-purpose lotion. Another lovely collection included pressed eye shadow, cologne, eyebrow and eye liner, cream sachet perfume, eyebrow brush, lipstick, cleansing pads, perfume, and bath oil.

Frequent "Bonus Gifts" Too!
