Shoshone Falls is a big attraction to tourists the year around. But it's more interesting when water is running. After a dry spell, the falls roared again Sunday when water was released from Miller Dam. The tourists were pleased.

Jan Arthur Sainsbury, Times-News Feature Editor, is not a tourist by any stretch of the imagination, but he's a Shoshone Falls faithful, and he has captured the mood and beauty of the falls in pictures.

When the falls were dry during the spring months, tourists registered disappointment and surprise. They failed to consider the irrigation problems of the valley. Everything was OK Sunday, however, and cars from many states could be seen in the Shoshone Falls parking lot. Tourists came from Mexico, Canada, New York and Florida.

In the top picture, smooth water can be seen spilling over the dam just above the falls. In the bottom picture, a lone woman sits and wonders about the beauty of the 212-foot drop of water.

Mist rises high into the air and the roar can be heard for better than a mile. Children run in the park and others sit on the grass and speak in the clean air.

Shoshone Falls, although it has been there for ages, still is a place to see.

Mass Enemy Surrender Nets 121 Red Regulars

SAIGON (AP) — The largest mass surrender of the war took place today when 121 enemy soldiers gave themselves up to South Vietnamese marines on the outskirts of Saigon.

—Pleading for the marines not to shoot, the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese regulars emerged from bunkers in Gia Dinh suburb and turned over 50 rifles and six larger weapons.

—There were three other developments in the war:

—The U.S. Command said it had received reports of more North Vietnamese helicopters operating around the demilitarized-zone Monday night. No additional information was given but other sources said as many as 10 to 20 enemy choppers had been spotted on radar.

—The U.S. Command still refused to confirm or deny reports that somewhere between two and 12 of the Russian-designed enemy helicopters had been downed by artillery and U.S. warplanes in and near the DMZ Saturday and Sunday nights.

—A Communist MIG-21 shot down a U.S. Navy Phantom jet on Sunday over the North Vietnamese panhandle, the U.S. Command said. The two fighters

Broadway Actors On Strike

By BOB MONROE
NEW YORK (AP) — Dolly didn't say hello and Fiddler didn't fiddle as a strike by Actors Equity closed 19 Broadway shows.

Curtain time Monday night found only a slow procession of pickets under the darkened marquees at such hits as "Hello, Dolly!" and "Fiddler on the Roof."

The strike also closed nine roller shows in cities from Wilmington, Del., to San Francisco. But it did not affect Broadway productions.

The walkout was called by Actors Equity after it failed to reach agreement with Broadway producers on wages and other items to replace the contract that expired two weeks ago.

Producer David Merrick, who announced the start of two of his shows after the strike began, said after a City Hall meeting: "This strike could last for five years. There'll be nothing left of the theater when it's over."

The pickets who strolled the theater-lined streets of Times Square carried signs reading "Actors on strike—no show until we get a contract." They distributed "fact sheets" to passers-by.

At the theater hour the normally thronged sidewalks in the area were largely empty, restaurant marbles piled, and deserted tables and taxicabs were available for the asking.

Disappointed playgoers, some of whom had bought their tickets months ago, lined up at box offices to get their money back or to trade their tickets for future performances.

City Center LID Effort Passes Mark

Officials of Twin Falls Futures Unlimited said Tuesday they have enough signatures on a petition to put the city on a Local Improvement District in the core area.

To date, 39 signatures have been obtained on the petition. Under a broad interpretation of the law, 28 were needed. The petition will be presented to the City Council at the council's July 1 meeting.

The LID is part of a total downtown improvement project which the LID board is studying as a local improvement proposal.

The news was given to members of the Futures Unlimited at a breakfast meeting Tuesday morning.

Bill Approved

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate Judiciary subcommittee approved today the bill urged by President Johnson to ban mail order sales of shotguns and rifles.

The bill was approved with only one change, an amendment tightening restrictions on the sale of destructive devices like antique guns, bazookas and mortars.

The subcommittee voted 9-0 to report the bill to the full Judiciary Committee after rejecting a 3-a substitute bill that was called up by Sen. Roman L. Hruska, R-Nebr.

Heyburn Man Is Killed In Vietnam

HEYBURN — Spec. 4 Gary G. Evans, son of Mr. and Mrs. Grady Evans who lives in the Emerson district west of Heyburn, has been killed in action in a Skau Valley in Vietnam, his parents have been advised.

Evans, 21, was a member of a helicopter crew which was shot down in flight by small arms fire on a tour of duty in the Army in April, 1967, and was sent to Vietnam Nov. 7, 1967.

His parents said their son had written them that he thought he should be over there.

Gary Gene Evans was born Dec. 22, 1946, at Twin Falls and attended the local high school. He was employed in local processing plants and at Twin City Foods before going into the Army.

He belonged to the Baptist church. Survivors, in addition to his parents, include two brothers, William Glenn Evans, Elk Harbor, Wash., and Kenneth W. Evans, Heyburn; two sisters, Glenn May Evans and Mrs. Susan Evans, both in Heyburn; grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Bishop, Nyssa, Ore.; Louis L. Evans, Willow City, Tex., and Mrs. Mary D. Evans, San Antonio, Tex.

Funeral services will be announced by Payne Mortuary, Burley.

Power Company Denied Water

Officials of Idaho Power Co. issued "no comment" answers Tuesday to questions about a denial of a company application for water from Box Canyon and Banbury Springs near Jiggman.

The denial was issued in Boise by Idaho's reclamation engineer, Keith Higginson. Mr. Higginson said the application for water "made by Idaho Power was for speculative and definy purposes."

It had been rumored, after the denial was issued, that Idaho Power wanted the water for a proposed power plant. In spite of the "no comment" answers, several sources indicated there were no known plans to build a power plant in the area, and there are no known plans to divert the water to a present power plant in the state.

Idaho Power had asked for 400 second-foot of water from Box Canyon and 400 second-foot of water from Banbury Springs from both flows into the Snake River.

Mr. Higginson, in issuing the denial, said, "The only purpose which could be served by the application (made by Idaho Power) is to preserve a priority right to prevent others from getting the water."

Idaho Power officials in Boise said they wanted to study the matter before making any comment. They said, as soon as the study of Mr. Higginson's report is finished, the public will be informed.

Mr. Higginson said requests for information about the need of the water have been met by replies that Idaho Power is not ready to release any information.

Mr. Higginson said Idaho Power contends denial of the application for water is a detriment to the state. Idaho Power also contends the water is on Idaho Power land and cannot be appropriated by anyone else, Mr. Higginson said.

Mr. Higginson contends the water cannot be private. If public water subject to appropriation by others without consent of the power company."

State Park Urged For Fossil Quarry

HAGERMAN—Hagerman citizens Tuesday hailed the statements of two state agency heads agreeing with an Idaho State University professor that the horse fossil quarry near here offers unique opportunity for development of a state park.

State Parks Director Wilhelm Berchert said the site, located as part of a collection at Dinosaur National Park on the Utah-Colorado border. However, he said the area would be excavated in a quarry. The site is surrounded by high, sandy ground.

Dr. John A. White, curator of the Idaho State University museum vertebrate paleontology, said the quarry contains bones of a small, zebra-like horse which roamed the area more than three million years ago. The area also contains bones of ducks, rabbits, beavers, awans, otters, saber-toothed cats and other animals.

Rouse Shaddock, executive secretary of the Department of Commerce, said, "We have long known that area has only scratched the surface as far as fossil attraction is concerned."

Hagerman Mayor Frank West, who is chairman of community development for the Chamber of Commerce, said, "See STATE PARK, pg. 2, col. 2."

Churches Protest City Proposal To Eliminate Shoshone Street Parking

The Twin Falls City Council and officials of two churches met Monday night in the First Baptist Church to discuss plans for keeping the parking, and ended, "Are we going to close our church? The way things are in America today, we need our churches. Where are we going to try to get back to civilization?"

Mayor Egon Kroll agreed the situation was an emergency, but added, "We must consider the safety of motorists in that area. He said the street was 34 feet wide, and the Sixth Avenue North and Five Points, while the First Sixth Avenue to the downtown Baptist Church opposed the move.

J. O. Esslinger, trustee of the First Baptist Church, made proposals for keeping the parking, and ended, "Are we going to close our church? The way things are in America today, we need our churches. Where are we going to try to get back to civilization?"

The city has proposed an ordinance which will widen the street from 34 feet to 44 feet between Sixth Avenue North and North Five Points, by removing all parallel parking in that area. The ordinance is part of the First Christian Church and the First Baptist Church.

Extradition Hearing Set For June 27

By LAWRENCE MALKIN
LONDON (AP) — A British magistrate today scheduled a hearing on June 27 on the U.S. government's application to return James Earl Ray to Tennessee for trial on a charge of murdering Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

Ray's British attorney, Roger Fryday, indicated in Bow Street Magistrate's Court that the 40-year-old escaped convict would fight extradition. The lawyer asked Chief Metropolitan Magistrate Frank Milton for as much time as possible to prepare his case.

Milton said he wanted to hold the hearing as soon as possible, and they compromised on Thursday of next week.

British extradition hearings usually last a day or two, and the magistrate generally gives his decision as soon as he hears all the evidence.

Ray was brought to Bow Street today for the second time since his arrest 10 days ago. The magistrate ordered him returned to Wandsworth Prison. Two attorneys from Birmingham, Ala., Arthur J. Hande and his son, Arthur Jr., are expected in London Wednesday to assist Ray's British attorney.

The hearing today was the customary two-minute session held when a court has decided on a postponement.

Ray, wearing a blue checkered suit and glasses, sat impatiently in the dock while attorneys and the magistrate discussed details.

Court Turns Old Rights Law Into Ban On Housing Discrimination

By BARRY SCHWEID
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court has turned a long-obscure civil rights law into a far-reaching ban on racial discrimination in the sale and rental of housing.

Beyond that, the 7-2 decision Monday hinted that the 13th Amendment banning slavery gave Congress the power to strike at private acts of discrimination generally, if it wants to use the power.

The ruling, one of several stunning deals out at term's end, said housing discrimination—private or officially sanctioned—is a "trifle of slavery" that was outlawed in 1866.

The Reconstruction law, an outgrowth of the 13th Amendment, "bars all racial discrimination, private as well as public, in the sale or rental of property," Justice Potter Stewart declared.

His majority opinion, opposed only by two justices, goes far beyond the 1865 civil rights law signed by President Johnson in April. This year's law exempted many small residential units and would not have a major impact until next year.

The court's ruling spoke of no exceptions. And while the 1866 law has no specific federal enforcement machinery, Stewart's opinion means Negroes can go to court now to assert their rights.

Chief Justice Earl Warren and Associate Justices Hugo L. Black, William O. Douglas, William J. Brennan Jr., Abe Fortas and Thurgood Marshall comprised the majority with Stewart.

Justices John M. Harlan and Byron R. White dissented, saying the finding that the old law applies to purely private actions "is almost surely wrong and at the least is open to serious doubt."

Because the court prefers to announce its holdings in benches instead of spilling them out in the housing decision overhauled, the court's ruling is a landmark.

Among them were:

1. Sanction for police to keep jailing chronic drunks found on the city streets.

2. A ban on denying welfare to needy children because of their mother's sex conduct.

3. Freedom for community antenna television operators to pick up copyrighted movies and cartoons from TV stations without having to pay for them.

The 5-4 decision on drunks was surprising, particularly since the court 16 years ago said California could not make it a crime for a person to be addicted to narcotics.

Marshall, in the court's judgment, stressed that facilities for treating impoverished alcoholics "are woefully lacking throughout the country."

"It would be tragic," he said, "to return large numbers of helpless, sometimes dangerous and frequently unsanitary inebriates to the streets of our cities without even the opportunity to sober up adequately, which a brief jail term provides."

Stewart, who in several instances this term showed new liberal leanings, dissented with Fortas and Brennan.

The welfare decision, a unanimous ruling given by Warren, struck down Alabama's version of the "mother-in-law" rule and could knock out similar rules in 17 other states.

Alabama said Warren violated the 1964 Social Security law and federal policy by barring assistance to needy children solely because their mothers had extramarital sex relations.

The CATV decision, a 5-1 ruling announced by Stewart, said end cable relay systems antennas people put on their roofs to improve TV reception.

The ruling said with Fortas objecting, it did not amount to public access. Thus, he reasoned, copyright law does not violate copyright law when they copy copyrighted movies and cartoons to subscribers without compensating the firms that created the material.

Churches Protest City Proposal To Eliminate Shoshone Street Parking

The Twin Falls City Council and two churches met Monday night in City Hall and the winner of that clash still is to be determined. Police Chief Frank Barnett stated in after nearly 45 minutes of discussion to offer an idea that could be used as a compromise. The city has proposed an ordinance which will widen the present lanes of traffic on Shoshone Street North and East between Fifth and Sixth streets, by removing all parallel parking in that area. Trustees of both the First Christian Church and the Baptist Church opposed the move. J. O. Esslinger, trustee of the First Christian Church, made a plea for "keeping" the parking, and ended, "Are we going to close our church? The way things are in America today, we need our churches. When we are dissatisfied we get back to civilization?" Mayor Egton Kroll agreed the situation was "serious," but added, "We must consider the safety of motorists in that area. He said the street was 55 feet wide between Sixth Avenue North and Five Points, while the street was 65 feet wide, "allowing enough lane room for cars." Presently the street provides four narrow lanes of traffic. The city wants to make it four wider lanes. Chief Barnett suggested the council consider making two lanes of wide traffic and allow the parking to stay. Final reading of the ordinance will be July 18. City officials said they hope to have something done with the street by Aug. 1. In other city council business: City engineers are hard at work See CHURCHES, pg. 2, col. 2.

ment told the magistrate that Ray is wanted on a charge of murdering Dr. King in Memphis April and also on a charge of escaping from Missouri State Prison while serving an armed robbery sentence. Documentary evidence already had been produced in London, the American lawyers told the court, and a fingerprint expert will testify Wednesday at the extradition hearing. Ray was arrested at London airport June 8 and charged then with entering the country on a forged Canadian passport and carrying an unlicensed loaded gun. After a preliminary hearing before Milton June 10 on the passport and gun charges, he has been held under round-the-clock guard at Wandsworth Prison while Scotland Yard tries to reconstruct his movements and "contacts" during the three weeks he is believed to have spent in London before his arrest. The U.S. Embassy forwarded the request for his extradition to the British government last Wednesday. Under the 1931 extradition treaty between Britain and the United States, British courts can grant extradition only if U.S. authorities present evidence sufficient to send Ray to trial under British law. Extradition of Ray was also asked because he is wanted by Missouri to complete a prison term for armed robbery. While extradition on this charge would be almost automatic, the U.S. British treaty specifies that a suspect only be tried on the charges for which he has been specifically extradited. Therefore unless he is extradited for the murder of the Negro civil rights leader, he cannot be prosecuted on that charge in the United States.

It would be especially nice if we could have a museum here to display fossils which have been and may be uncovered in the future." Vernon Ravenscroft, state representative for District 22A, who has helped spearhead the groundwork for making the site into a state park, said, "I feel the fossil beds will have a distinct appeal to a certain group of tourists interested in geology and science. I think it would be good to develop the fossil beds in conjunction with the Malad canyon, Niagara springs and the lava tube cave north of Bliss. "In this way we would have a state parks program in the area which would include history, science, geology and recreation as well as scenic beauty." The legislator noted that Dinosaur National Park and other similar sites have been successful in attracting tourists. State park board members and ISU officials toured the quarry last week and Harold Brown, board member, indicated the request to make the site into a state park is expected to be made at the parks board meeting in McCall in August. The horse fossil quarry was discovered by the late Elmer Cook, loggerman, in 1928 and has had several expeditions from the Smithsonian Institute as well as Idaho State University.

work designing restroom facilities for Cascade Park and bids will be opened on the work at 4 p.m. June 11. Lloyd-Cox was given permission to have three parking stalls in the downtown area after he moves his Yellow Cab business from the Perrine building, across the street to City Drive. The city agreed to enter a cooperative venture with the state in an effort to help reduce the increasing number of Idaho highway traffic accidents. The action had been requested by Gov. Don Samuelson in connection with a set of uniform national laws. The city building inspector was asked to submit the names of three people to replace people now serving on the city Planning and Zoning Commission. The terms of the present three expire soon. Those whose terms expire are David Mead, Dr. Arthur Frantz and Joe Salisbury. An ordinance vacating the right-of-way of a section of Minidoka Avenue West and an alley in the area was approved. The action will allow a warehouse of 20,000 square feet to be built in the area, U. I., Stanfield, Burley, made the request. The city engineer will work with the city's Highway Advisory Committee to come up with a solution to the safety of the intersection at Blue Lakes Boulevard and Filer Avenue. A road near Harrison School will be named James Avenue, in honor of James Schmitt. The new city water tank is full and nearly complete. Final tests will be run soon and Blue Lakes water will be turned into the city's system in the near future. Mrs. Constance Leiser was honored for 22 years of service with the city. Councilmen who told problems with juveniles still exist in the area of Addison Avenue West.

Reasonable Search

The U. S. Supreme Court, in upholding the right of a policeman to stop and frisk suspicious-looking persons for weapons, has given police an assist in the fight against crime. The ruling could result in a reduction in the number of robbers and rapists roaming the streets in search of prey.

MR. SPECTATOR

Latest From The Oldest

Thousands of youngsters graduate from colleges and universities every year. But there are still some who graduate from certain special colleges. Miss Donna Payne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Payne, Paul, was recently graduated from the College of the Ozarks. In case you never heard of the school, it is in near Arkansas.

BERLIN—Quite properly, the French students got most of the headlines because they precipitated a government crisis by defying the undefeatable Charles de Gaulle. But the future may show that the Kids' Revolution in Europe got its biggest shot in the arm here in stolid, conservative Germany.

Student unrest, after all, has always been as much a French product as good perfume. Barricade-building runs free love a close race among extra-curricular activities at French diploma factories. This sort of thing, however, was not supposed to happen in Germany. That it has happened shows how deeply disaffection among the young has penetrated. If the students can get away with their violent carrying-on in this bulwark of family discipline and respect for police authority, the commissars had better see to their chores at Moscow University.

Later, perhaps, they will be supplanted by—or submerged in—another movement. But officials here admit frankly that the student now have both the numerical strength and the will to give Germany a taste of the chaos their brethren meted out to France.

As in the case of so many other similar movements, the peril the German students pose is that they are admitted and determined anarchists. As one student leader told me, "We will destroy all bureaucracies, East and West. When victory comes, social will be ruled by workers' committees. There will be no formal governments, as such."

Until then, the left felt it had a spokesman in Brandt, whose Social Democrats had always snubbed the Establishment. The students were outraged by Brandt's desertion and even Peter Brandt's 19-year-old son, Peter, took to the streets to protest. Peter was arrested during disorders last April.

Although they insist that anarchy is good enough, the students suffer from the malaise of all anarchists—they spread themselves too thin. They need a cause the populace can understand if they are to fulfill their promises—or threats—of a viable political force. Their movement had its beginnings in a series of genuine grievances against West Germany's obsolete educational system, whose benefits are still the privileges of the few rather than the right of the many.

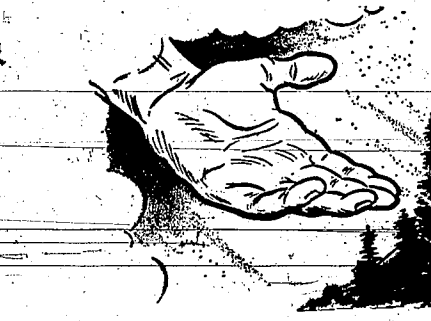

When the students get their leader, he probably will not be called a "Jehreic." But because this is Germany, he will have to be in the Hitlerian mold—a leader who will promise specific boons to those who follow him. At the moment, the German students, and despite their caterwauling about "citizens' committees" who retain the pragmatic "father's" A-supplanted, Dutschke c.o.v.I.d. do worse than build a platform on the promise of no more exams and free rides on the streetcars.

New Academic Dean Is Hard At Work At CSI

Dr. Terry Smith, new academic dean at the College of Southern Idaho, has reported recently for his new position in Twin Falls, and says he "wouldn't be here if he wasn't tremendously impressed with CSI."

The new dean has just completed his doctorate degree at the University of Texas, Austin. Born in Missouri, he claims Oregon as his home state by right of tenure, having moved there as a child.

He took his bachelor's degree at the Oregon College of Education and taught for several years on the high school level in Oregon. He also has been involved in student personnel work in California.

Dr. Smith is busy now organizing the catalogue for the fall term at CSI.

Dr. Smith's doctorate was taken in education, with special emphasis on junior college administration. He was in a special program, junior college leadership, financed by the Kellogg corporation, at Austin, Texas. Dr. Smith's wife also is an educator, having taught for the past five years.

"But, Dr. Smith commented, 'she's retiring now.'"

CSI Receives Federal Grant To Buy Science Equipment

As bids for science equipment for the College of Southern Idaho were being opened Monday afternoon, Dr. James L. Taylor, CSI president, received notification that a grant of $9,492 for such equipment had been made to the college.

Dr. Taylor said the funds were allocated to the college from Title 6 of the Higher Education Act.

The funds will be used to purchase microscopes, p.h.y.s.i.c.s and other scientifically related items.

Dr. Taylor said the application was among those on which a congressional moratorium had been called. Also included in this category was CSI's application for funds for a health-plan building.

The college president stated that since the funds for the science equipment have been released, he is hopeful of receiving notification soon on the application for the building grant.

Using Hypnosis To Stop Smoking May Be Harmful

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Using hypnosis to stop smoking may hurt more people than it helps, a psychiatrist warned today.

Sheldon B. Cohen of Alhambra told the annual convention of the American Medical Association, "longtime smokers of ten, run into psychic trouble when they stop smoking."

He cited the case of a man who gave up smoking under hypnosis and a few weeks later got drunk at a party and beat up his wife and his best friend.

"I had to suggest that he resume smoking while undergoing intensive psychiatric treatment," Cohen said.

The psychiatrist said a study of available scientific literature and 10 cases in his own practice had persuaded him "no one has yet demonstrated that hypnosis is generally indicated to help people stop smoking."

Cohen said, "There may be some cases in which hypnosis is helpful," he said, "but nobody knows enough about smoking yet to say that this or any other technique is sure way to help the longtime smoker."

"Unless you have something better to give people as a tension-reducing device, perhaps it is better to leave them alone," Cohen said.

Cohen said all 10 of his cases had serious illnesses, aggravated by smoking. But taking cigarettes from them, he said, appeared to present hazards greater than the obvious risk of continuation of smoking.

In another talk, a doctor reported that a patient had contracted hepatitis by injection once every three months.

The substance, commercially available but approved only for therapy, is medroxyprogesterone acetate-MDA, said Dr. Edward Tyler of the Family Planning Center of Los Angeles.

Taylor said there were no pregnancies among 218 women to whom he gave the drug over the past three years.

He said monthly injection of other hormonal drugs—progesterone and estrogen—was effective with 64 women.

Many women were willing to continue with the drugs despite such side effects as nervousness, bleeding irregularly and nausea, he said.

Taylor said neither method is likely to become readily available before congressional testing by the Food and Drug Administration.

Drought Aid Is Offered

Government cost-sharing has been approved for emergency conservation practices to be performed by drought-stricken farmers in Twin Falls County, according to the chairman of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

Irrigation practices on which cost will be shared by the government on an emergency basis are lining irrigation ditches and reorganization of irrigation systems, including the installation of pipelines. These practices will help prevent water waste.

Cost-sharing will be at the rate of 50 per cent of the actual cost of the practices up to $2,500, including both range and irrigation conservation practices.

Range practices for cost-sharing include livestock wells, springs and seeps, and installation of pipelines for stock water and range fencing. These conservation measures help stockmen manage herd placement so that land and watering places can be given a chance for recovery.

The areas of Twin Falls County approved as eligible for the emergency conservation program are generally those known as the Roseworth, Rock Creek and Salmon Tracts.

Applications for government cost-sharing at the present time and those wishing assistance should apply soon. The cost-sharing practices must be completed and the best of the drought period to qualify for emergency assistance.

Strikers In France Head Back To Jobs

PARIS (AP) — Thousands more French strikers headed back to work today, led by the 85,000 workers at Renault auto plants who voted overwhelmingly to accept a settlement worked out by their union leaders.

The return to the Renault strikers plus 10,000 at the Saytem truck plant in Lyon and about 30,000 shipyard workers at St. Nazaire, Bordeaux and La Seyne left less than 250,000 of the 10-million strikers still out, according to union estimates.

The major holdouts were the personnel of the government radio and television network. Those strikers on Monday rejected new proposals by Information Minister Yves Guéhen.

The central issue was the strikers' demand for a government pledge to seek parliamentary action insuring freedom of the network's news programs from government control.

Guéhen offered only to set up a "commission of notables" to work out new legislation.

The radio-TV strike has reduced campaigning via those media for the National Assembly elections to a few news bulletins and brief TV appearances by party leaders.

Premier Georges Pompidou was to defend the government's record in a broadcast to the nation tonight. It may be his last before the first-round balloting Sunday.

Poor People's Campaign Far From Reaching Goal

WASHINGTON (AP) — Just a little more than five weeks ago, the Rev. Ralph David Abernathy drove a symbolic stake into a grassy mall to mark the start of his campaign to "end poverty in this nation of plenty."

That original spot has long since been obscured by a steady stream of the trappings of Resurrection City, just as the original goals have been somewhat obscured by the enormous problems developed in running the campaign.

Today, on the eve of a big march he had planned to use as a demonstration of national support for the Poor People's Campaign, seems as far from reaching its ambitious goal as when it started.

Despite a generally sympathetic reception from government agencies, the hundreds of pages of detailed answers they gave to campaign leaders added up to few concessions.

And despite Abernathy's promise to "rain plague after plague on the pharaohs of this nation," campaign leaders themselves been visited with plague after unexpected plague, leaving them little time to devote to their original objectives.

While Southern Christian Leadership Conference staff members argue over what the campaign has become, most agree the "what-ifs" must be out to make it.

"We've had a little trouble," conceded Hosea Williams, director of the nonviolent demonstrations, last week.

Congress was the announced focal point, but almost all of the demonstrators so far have toceeded on government agencies. Both Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. before his April 4 assassination, and Abernathy, his successor, promised nonviolent civil disobedience that would jail thousands.

But despite repeated public pronouncements at rallies that the day for mass arrests was close at hand, no more than two dozen participants have been jailed.

Resurrection City was intended to be a kind of "model shantytown," a city of tolerance and love that would serve as home for the 2,000 "basic" Washington officialdom.

But the wettest spring in decades has brought almost daily downpours, driving more than two-thirds of the 3,000 who were once in the nation's capital to seek shelter with friendly families, or else return home.

Perhaps most important, as Abernathy made clear repeatedly early in May, the campaign was to publicize what life in poverty is all about, to expose usually hidden conditions of life in America so that the people would demand that congress act.

King called it a last chance to prove that nonviolence worked, and Abernathy again and again voiced fear that if it failed, violent elements would come forth to further split the races, with drastic consequences for the nation.

Wednesday's Day-of-Support was originally planned to demonstrate to Congress how Americans would flock to Washington to support the things the campaign stood for.

But now, even that aim is clouded by the resignation of march organizer Bayard Rustin who left his successor, Sterling Tucker, only 10 days to make nearly all the arrangements that took three months of planning in the 1963 March on Washington.

In many ways, the future of the campaign hinges on what happens Wednesday. Sagging spirits at Resurrection City could be revived by a strong show of support, perhaps even to the point where people and money would begin to flow back in.

On the other hand, a turnout considerably under the 40,000 predicted Monday by Tucker might make moot the question of whether the campers stay beyond the June 23 expiration date of their permit.

There simply wouldn't be enough people left in the Lincoln Memorial campground to make keeping it up worthwhile.

LA CANADA, Calif. (AP) — The odds have been figured at 400 billion to 1 that any one American knew both Sen. Robert F. Kennedy and Sirhan Sirhan, the obscure Arab immigrant accused of killing the senator.

But a young California social worker from La Canada is in that rare position. He is John McGrain, 22, who was a classmate of Sirhan in John Muir High School in Pasadena in 1962 and 1963.

McGrain met Kennedy, who was then attorney general, on a visit to Washington as president of the California Association of Student Councils.

He also met President John F. Kennedy and Sen. Edward M. Kennedy.

"Robert Kennedy impressed me in a way that I'll never forget," McGrain said.

Kennedy, he explained, epitomized youth and strength. Sirhan, on the other hand, "seemed fragile."

As for Kennedy, said McGrain, "you could feel that he had things to do, and that he knew what these things were and that he would do them. You could absolutely feel that he had the capacity to do good for our society."

McGrain, a graduate student in political theory at the University of Southern California, said he felt disturbed in high school by the class distinctions between students from well-to-do areas such as La Canada and those like Sirhan from more humble surroundings.

As president of the United States council, McGrain said he initiated the contact with Sirhan.

"He was not the sort who would approach you," McGrain said. "He wouldn't begin a conversation, for example, with a stranger. But once contact was made he was very warm."

"He was a conscientious worker on these school projects. You could count on him when you gave him a job to do. I must say I liked him."

Sirhan entered into various council activities, such as dance arrangements, or placing signs

Solons Oppose

Gun Laws

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Idaho Congressional delegation says it remains opposed to federal gun controls because that is the wish of most constituents.

The four Idahoans in Washington said there was some increase in unfavorable opinion of gun controls, but not as strongly against federal firearms restrictions.

The congressmen said most of the letters appeared to be spontaneous and original although some contained prearranged groups opposing controls.

Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, said opposition letters outnumbered the pro letters three or four to one. He said, however, that more Idahoans favored gun legislation since the assassination of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy — greater than after the slaying of President John F. Kennedy.

Sen. Len Jordan, R-Idaho, said most letters ran against gun controls, with about two to one, with an increase in letters favoring firearms restrictions.

Idaho state gun controls should be made stiffer to the state level, said a federal law would encounter enforcement difficulties.

Rep. George V. Hansen, R-Idaho, also said he favored state control of firearms traffic. He said he was receiving 90 letters opposing every letter supporting gun controls.

Rep. James McClure, R-Idaho, said he received 100 letters in the past year. Only 13 favored federal gun legislation, and 12 arrived after the slaying of Senator Kennedy.

U.S. Violence Preoccupies World Press

LONDON (AP) — Violence in the United States continues to preoccupy the world press, and one commentator expresses doubt that America has learned anything from the series of shattering assassinations.

Desmond Rushe, of Dublin's Irish Independent, wrote after covering the funeral of Robert F. Kennedy: "A baffling incongruity in the United States — and one which leaves a sour, bitter and angry feeling against America and America — is the communal and political attitude toward firearms control."

"One wonders," said Rushe, "if America has learned anything at all from the series of shattering assassinations which has overtaken it. Or indeed, if Americans are not more cynically and selfishly preoccupied with guarding their vested interests than in curing the racial ills which afflict their land."

Sir Denis Brogan, British historian writing in the Spectator, depicted the United States in the title of his heavy book:

"At the moment," he said, "many Americans think little of their country and have good reasons for their lack of faith in the last, best hope on earth."

The press of other nations had depicted America in the same dark hues, a survey by The Associated Press showed.

"Murder is part of the American way of life," said Joachim Schuren in the liberal Die Zeit of Hamburg, Germany.

"The shaking indignation can still be felt, the shame and the condemning fear of Americans after the assault of Los Angeles," said Schwellen. "But don't deceive ourselves; soon the indignation will die down and leave room to the careless equanimity which always sets in again after political murders."

Runner-Up

PALM BEACH SHORES, Fla. (AP) — An Idaho State University student, Anthony Tatro of Boise, has been named a runner-up in the National College Queen contest.

She is to be crowned Monday night in Palm Beach Shores with 48 other girls representing U. S. colleges.

Crowned queen was a coed from San Jose State College in California, Valerie Laverne Dickerson.

Arraignment Set In Idaho Murder Case

ST. ANTHONY, Idaho (AP) — A 26-year-old Ashton, Idaho, man is to be arraigned on a first degree murder charge Wednesday in the Saturday shooting death of Ralph L. Brown, 25, Ashton.

Charges were filed Wednesday in a complaint signed by Fremont County Sheriff Jess Butts.

In a preliminary arraignment before Probate Judge Phillip Huskinson Monday, Rexburg attorney Ray Ripley was appointed counsel for Olesinski.

Venezuelan Ships Seize Soviet Tug

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — Venezuelan warships seized the Soviet ocean-going tug Idonobon Gomovoy, reportedly crammed with electronic equipment, after the tug was spotted in the South Caribbean, Defense Minister Ramon Florencio Gomez told newsmen Monday.

Gomez said the tug was taken inside Venezuela's 12-mile territorial limit Friday and escorted to Puerto Cabello, 60 miles west of Caracas.

He reported nothing "abnormal" was found during a search of the vessel.

The defense minister said the tug, towing a barge-like craft was spotted by a patrol boat off Orchilla Island, 100 miles northeast of Caracas. When the Soviet refused to heed the patrol boat's orders to stop and tried to flee, other ships were summoned. They forced the tug to change course outside territorial waters, Gomez said.

The disposition of the vessel and its crew is up to President Raul Leon, Gomez said.

Land Board To Consider Lease

BOISE (AP) — The Idaho Land Board will meet within a week to consider leasing 32 acres of land to the city of Boise for a golf course.

The decision came at a board meeting Monday, where members also said they intend to study park, board policies, and change any with which they disagree.

The board officials have accepted a land holder offer to lease the land, formerly used for prison farming, for four per cent of an agreed appraisal value.

while he has a little fainting spell but he'll outgrow it. Besides, it can't be epilepsy because we have never had any insanity in our family!"
I tried to tell her that I knew an epileptic seizure when I saw one because my younger sister had had one. I hope you will print this letter with a few facts of your own to wake up people like my neighbor.
SYCAMORE LANE

DEAR SYCAMORE: The notion that epilepsy is something to be ashamed of dates back to biblical times. At that time, those who couldn't be readily diagnosed were attributed to witchcraft, insanity, or the work of the "devil."
It is a safe estimate that about one out of every 100 Americans has epilepsy. The exact cause is not known, but it can be the result of prenatal influences, infectious diseases, or brain damage.
Although the "tendency" toward it can be inherited, it is not considered a hereditary disorder. In recent years medication and drugs have become extremely effective in controlling epilepsy. With proper care, most epileptics are able to attend school, hold down a job, eventually marry, and live normal lives. I hope your neighbor sees this, and I will save a dog's life. Thank you.

DEAR ABBY: A neighbor recently acquired a 90-pound "puppy." When he cries at night, he sounds like one of the hounds of Baskerville. We live in a city and the echo of his barking can be heard for miles.
The noise at night is bad enough, but we also have a day time problem. The puppy barks up through the tulips (ours) regularly every morning.
All the other neighbors are up in arms, too, so maybe it is a city and I will save a dog's life. Thank you.
ALSO UP IN ARMS

DEAR ALSO: A dog, like a child, cannot be expected to know what it hasn't been taught. The real culprit is the dog owner, so I hope over there and tell him to print this. If you want your child fertilized, you'll do it yourself.
DEAR ABBY: The man who advised "love-hungry" women to greet their husbands at the door every day for a year with a Geritol embrace must have mojo red blood in his veins
