TEN CENTS

Plane Is Diverted To Cuba

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP) — A Southeast Airlines DC3 carrying 21 persons was hijacked four minutes out of Key West Saturday and diverted at gunpoint to Cuba, an airlines spokesman said.

Paul Gallagher, Southeast's manager in Key West, said the Federal Aviation Administration received a call from the airline's Flight 101 at 3:21 p.m. with a report the plane was changing course.

"The FAA called us here and said our flight was four miles north of Boca Chica (at Key West) and said he was heading for Havana, Cuba, and that he had a pistol at his head," Gallagher said.

The FAA in Washington identified the pilot as George Prellzo. The plane landed safely in Havana at 4:24 p.m.

Flight 101 originated in Miami and had made a scheduled stop at Marathon, halfway to Key West, before it was hijacked, Gallagher said.

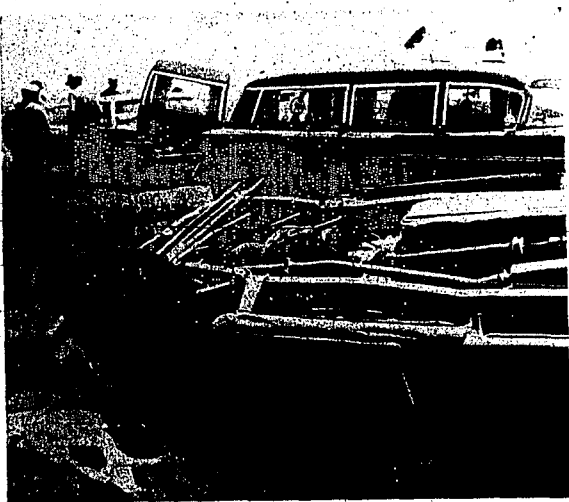

The airline official said the plane carried three crewmen, including a stewardess, and 18 passengers.

The Southeast flight was the third hijacked American commercial airplane since the first of the year. A Delta jet was forced to Havana by a single gunman Feb. 21, and a Northwest 707, piloted by a man with his staff held at the Swiss Embassy in Havana to arrange for the plane's return.

Quake Recorded On 'Anniversary'

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — An earthquake shook the Santa Barbara area at 8:33 a.m. Saturday, the anniversary of this city's heavily damaging quake in 1925.

Authorities said no damage was reported in Saturday's quake, which was felt within a 20-mile area. Gary Clark, a radio announcer, said he was delivering a newscast at the time and his swivel chair rolled across the studio.

A DECLO MOTHER, Mrs. Ace Nelson Jr., died when this pickup truck rolled out of control on Highway 30, 10 miles east of Declo Friday afternoon. The vehicle rolled over her. Two daughters and a 17-year-old passenger were hurt in the accident. The death rales Magic Valley's death toll to 19 for this year. Officials can be seen at the crash site here. Idaho State Police investigated.

40 May Sign

WASHINGTON (AP) — As many as 40 nations may sign the Nuclear Non-Proliferation Treaty at the White House Monday and the signers are expected to hear some new disarmament views from President Johnson.

U.S. officials made their estimate of initial signers Saturday and said that eventually the nations subscribing to the historic pact may reach 80 to 100.

In a Saturday speech at the White House, Johnson hinted that he will make the treaty signing the occasion to disclose some new maneuver in the long continuing U.S. efforts to slow the costly arms race between this country and the Soviet Union. He gave no specifics.

DIARY PUBLISHED

HAVANA (AP) — The diary of slain Cuban revolutionary Ernesto Che Guevara has been published in Cuba and will be given free to all Cubans starting Monday. It was announced here this city's heavily damaging quake in 1925.

Road Mishaps Kill 2 Valley Residents

Magic Valley's death toll climbed to 20 Friday evening, equal to the count a year ago, with the deaths of a young Declo woman, Mrs. Ace Nelson Jr., in a one-vehicle accident 10 miles east of Declo, and Bruce W. McConnell, Gooding, from injuries received in a two-car collision a week ago near Wendell.

Idaho State Police, who investigated the Declo accident on June 29, Friday at Magic Valley, said Mrs. Nelson, 30, was killed when her pickup truck she was driving went out of control and rolled.

Mr. McConnell, 22, died about 9 p.m. Friday at Magic Valley. He was killed when his car was struck by a truck which was driving west of control and rolled.

Huge Budget Deficit Recorded

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal government ends its 1968 fiscal year Sunday night with the fourth-largest budget deficit in its history—about $25 billion.

The performance for the new fiscal year which begins on Monday is expected to be improved, however, with the 10 percent income tax increase and $30 billion in spending cuts.

This could cut the deficit to as low as $2.5 billion in the new year if present projections of income and outlays hold up.

deficit in the fiscal year just ending is the Vietnam War which ate up about $27 billion of the Administration's latest estimate. War costs the new fiscal year are figured at $28.4 billion.

The latest swash of red ink is the largest since World War II when the budget deficit exceeded $45 billion over a year's run. The largest was $74 billion in 1943.

Cassia School Issue Presented

By GEORGIA LAYTON Times-News Correspondent
OAKLEY — The prospect of transporting Burley students to Oakley to attend classes this fall was looked at with dismay by parents who attended a special Cassia school board meeting Friday night at Oakley.

About 300 parents, nearly equally divided between Burley and Oakley residents, attended the meeting to present their views on proposals made by the board.

The proposals, which if approved will help overcrowding in Burley schools, were: Transport 300 senior and junior high school students from Burley to Oakley; and in turn bring high school students from Oakley to Burley, and operate Burley schools on split sessions.

A solution to the problem of overcrowding in Burley junior and senior high schools, particularly in the junior high school, may be reached before classes open this fall.

past three years which would change the condition which now exists.

W. B. Whiteley, chairman of the board, presented the three proposals to the group for consideration. Extra Moore, superintendent of Cassia schools, showed a diagram of displays of classrooms in a space which now exists in the Oakley High School and Oakley High School, a combined facility.

He also showed diagrams of the Oakley Grade School, a two-story and basement structure housing grades one through six. He said there is extra space in that school.

Under the proposals of transferring students, those affected would be people residing within a 200-mile radius.

danger involved because of road conditions.

During the meeting it was brought-out that if students were transferred to Oakley, the old gymnasium there would need to be remodeled to provide classrooms. This cost would be about $23,000.

This expense drew the brunt of many Burley objections.

One Burley parent stated that his children, over the age of 16, had wanted to quit school for two years, even after spending $23,000 on the building, the overcrowding would again exist, people said.

Speech On Salmon River Water Use Highlights Session Held In Burley

By O. A. (GUS) KELKER Times-News Executive Editor
BURLEY — Senator Len Jordan Saturday urged that Salmon River water be used to augment Idaho's irrigation supply and he came as close as possible without saying it in so many words — that he favored raising the American Falls dam instead of just replacing it at its present height.

The Senator's address, given before a "full house" of water officials, irrigators, conservationists and others from over Idaho and neighboring states, was one highlight of an organizational meeting of "Save Idaho Water" that was sponsored by the South Idaho Water Users association. The session at which the Idaho senator spoke marked the close of a day-long gathering that saw a regular session of the Idaho Water Resource Board completed, a special recreation session brought in from elsewhere, and the formation of the water organization "formed to provide ways and means of opposing any studies in Idaho or the Northwest on the feasibility of diverting water from any part of this area now or in the future for any purpose whatever."

By voice vote, those attending the water resource conference indicated backing of the proposal but stipulated that more detailed intent be developed and reported back at an early date. George Forscher, executive director of the South Idaho Water Users Association is temporary chairman of the Save Idaho Water organization.

In calling for use of the Salmon River water Senator Jordan said that this water "integrated with return flows from the Snake River by combination storage and pump-back system could make an important contribution to Idaho."

"Without Salmon River water, Idaho's reclamation will level off at less than five million acres with supplemental water from the Salmon River in a fully-plumbed system. Idaho's irrigated acreage could go as high as 10 million acres," he said. In calling for use of the Salmon River water, Senator Jordan said he thinks that George Crookham, chairman of the resource board, has a plan which advocates the integrated and coordinated "pumpback" concept of water planning.

"The people who thirst for Idaho water have learned to use this and other schemes to husband their water resources. In defense of our own water we must do no less. So before we decide not that there shall be no dams on the Salmon River let us weigh carefully our de-

DeGaulle Has Last-Minute Vote Plea

PARIS (AP) — President Charles de Gaulle, in an election appeal on radio and television, urged French voters Saturday to give him a solid National Assembly majority in Sunday's election so that France can "resume its march forward."

His hand strengthened by stunning first-round gains in balloting last week, DeGaulle called for a great effort by his countrymen to repair the damage caused by the crisis that shook France in May and early June.

"Last month everything was slipping away," said the 77-year-old president.

He said the strikes and student unrest were "first National Assembly majority in Sunday's election so that France can 'resume its march forward.'"

Interest In Water Brings Officials To Salmon Tract

By ROBERT VANAUDELN Times-News Staff Editor
Members of the Idaho Water Resource Board learned for the first time how badly extra water is needed on the Salmon Tract.

The board, along with federal officials, businessmen, politicians and farmers and ranchers, toured the Salmon Tract Friday so they might see why more water is needed.

While touring the Salmon Tract the group saw one farm with crops drying up because of lack of water and then a neighboring farm with fairly good crops. This neighboring farm had an extra well from which additional water is obtained for irrigating.

However, it was pointed out by Elmer Parrot and Lyle Schnitzer, directors of the Salmon Tract farmers, that some of the wells in the area are small and do not provide enough water for good irrigation.

Also many farms on the Salmon Tract do not have wells. Mr. Schnitzer and Mr. Parrot pointed out that Salmon Tract farmers plan their crops in the spring according to how much water they expect to receive during the irrigation season. During an average year the farmers will receive about 6 acre foot per share, but this means the farmers will only receive 3 acre foot of water, and there are thousands of acres idle on the Salmon Tract.

The Salmon River Canal Co. system was shown to the four members. A stop was made at Salmon Dam so the water board, reclamation officials and others on the tour can see where water for the Salmon Tract comes from.

Several projects for the Salmon Tract and surrounding areas have been proposed. These projects were explained. It was pointed out that most of these proposals are just the same as SALMON TRACT, P. 1, C. 2

Viet Cong Guerrillas Level Coastal Fishing Village, 88 Die

By EDWIN Q. WHITE SAIGON (AP) — Hurling mortar shells and explosives into hatched huts, Viet Cong guerrillas leveled a coastal fishing village and killed 88 persons Saturday in what a U.S. spokesman said "may be one of the worst atrocities of the war."

A U.S. officer at the scene said the villagers at Son Tra, 24 miles northeast of Saigon, had been warned repeatedly by the Viet Cong that their town would be burned down if they refused to supply recruits. The villagers refused.

Many civilians were burned alive in the attack. They had taken shelter in bunkers and their homes when the Viet Cong opened up with mortar fire about midnight. Sheets of fire jumped from hut to hut when the guerrillas began throwing in mortar shells.

"What else could we do," a peasant woman said later. "We were so afraid, we did not want to go outside our huts."

Other occupants of the refugee settlement of 4,000 ran toward the position of 14 U.S. Marines assigned to help defend the town and blocked the Marines' line of fire, one Leatherneck said.

86 were wounded, the U.S. Command reported. Viet Cong casualties were put at 12 dead.

Fire touched off by the explosives destroyed an estimated 82 percent of Son Tra. Reinforcements of the U.S. Army's 198th Light Infantry Brigade landed by helicopter on the Marines' hill, too late to catch any of the fleeing guerrillas.

When daylight came, many surviving villagers buried their dead and packed their scant belongings and started pulling out to other areas.

More Than 1,100 Go Home

The three-day Grand Bethel Convention of the Girls' Daughters, attended by girls from throughout Idaho, ended Saturday after being termed a big success by officials.

More than 1,100 girls attended. Main features of the final day, Saturday, included an all-membership banquet and formal installation for Grand Bethel and Grand Guardian Council officers.

Job's Daughters, represented by more than 60 Idaho Bethels, stayed in homes and motels in Jerome and Twin Falls during the three-day meet. All were kept busy with a round of meetings, luncheons and events.

Mrs. Ted Scott, Twin Falls, was elected Grand Marshal during the convale.

There was a dance Thursday night at the beginning and a picnic in Harmon Park Friday night.

Thieu Asks Anti-Red Leaders To Unite

By MICHAEL GOLDSMITH
SAIGON (AP) — President Nguyen Van Thieu has told South Vietnam's anti-Communist political leaders they must join together to win the political struggle that will erupt once the shooting war stops.

As a gesture of reconciliation, he announced Friday that the militant Buddhist monk, Thich (Venerable) Tri Quang would be released from prison within a few days. Tri Quang has been held since the enemy offensive

In February because, the government said, the Viet Cong "might make use of him."

Thieu's announcement was greeted with applause by the 200 politicians gathered in the ballroom of the presidential palace.

Including Roman Catholic leaders who have little sympathy with Tri Quang's near-neutrist views.

About 30 political groups and splinter groups were represented at the meeting. They agreed Thieu would meet again Monday—without

Such a mass merger, long urged by American officials, or agreement will be reached at the conference table. The day peace is established, when a political struggle takes the place of the fighting.

To win this struggle, he said, the political groups must unite into one or two political parties able to combat the enemy's attempts to "infiltrate our rear and arouse our people."

"The political parties must organize themselves to win the PARIS — Today it cost the French housewife 10 per cent more to buy a loaf of bread than it did two weeks ago. Her husband paid 20 per cent more for a pack of cigarettes. Husbands and wives all over France are thus angrily contemptuous of Finance and Economy Minister Maurice Couve de Murville, who has expressed the pious hope that price increases will not be "abrupt." To them, Couve de Murville must sound a little like the prize fight manager who comforts his badly battered tiger with the assurance that "they can't hurt us."

The workers strike for more pay, but once their demands are granted government and Big Business get together quietly to arrange matters so that the cost of the latter pay envelopes is borne by the worker. Sound Pollution

It has taken time, but the public now seems to be generally aware of the dangers of foul air and water. Studies have been conducted for years and some remedial action—such as the California law calling for anti-pollution devices on all cars—has been taken. The threat to human health, as well as animal and plant life, resulting from man's poisonings of the air and water merits all the attention it has received—and more. But another type of pollution, sound or noise pollution, is also a rising source of concern to scientists. Four hundred experts in this little-understood field convened in Washington to examine "Noise as a Public Health Hazard." They heard that noise can raise blood vessels to constrict, pupils to dilate and pulse rates to change, can produce poor work performance and create mental stress. One of the difficulties encountered in controlling noise pollution is that it is not dramatic. A pistol shot can damage hearing or a sonic boom

ART BUCHWALD Registration?

WASHINGTON — The Committee to Abolish the Registration of Automobiles and the Licensing of Drivers has just opened up a lobby in Washington. Mr. Crash was happy to visit with Roger Crash, their spokesman. Mr. Crash said, "We have formed this organization to cause the constitutional rights of all automobile drivers are at stake. There is no reason why anybody should not be licensed to drive an automobile in this country without his rights being infringed by local, state and federal authorities." "Registration of vehicles, then?" "Certainly are. Most people who drive should not be inconvenienced by some bureaucrat who wants to know what they intend to use a car for. There is a conspiracy in this country to get everyone to register their automobiles, so they eventually can be taken away from them." "Who is behind the conspiracy?" "The Communists. They know that America would collapse overnight if their automobiles were confiscated. This country is going through an hysterical period right now. The blame all the automobile deaths and accidents on the drivers. But they're not trying to prevent accidents by asking people to register their vehicles. If somebody wants a car to kill someone, it's no matter how many laws you have, you pass a traffic law you discourage someone from buying a car. Traffic laws do not prevent accidents." "How do you propose to repeal the registration and driving laws that are now on the books?" "By launching a mammoth letter campaign. We're going to ask everyone to write a letter to his congressman and senator demanding the repeal of all laws having to do with motor vehicles. Even if you pass a traffic law you discourage someone from buying a car. Traffic laws do not prevent accidents." "You're also against a driver's tests, aren't you?" "We certainly are. Why should you penalize the law-abiding motorist by asking him to take a driver's test, you are subjecting him to indignity and guilt by association. You can't punish the car-loving citizen who only uses his automobile for pleasure, in order to prevent accidents caused by lawless elements of our society." "Is your society for doing away with traffic laws as well?" "We are against what would be an increase in traffic laws in any way. People must be free to do what they want with their automobiles. Our economy depends on motor vehicles. Even if you pass a traffic law you discourage someone from buying a car. Traffic laws do not prevent accidents." "How do you propose to repeal the registration and driving laws that are now on the books?" "By launching a mammoth letter campaign. We're going to ask everyone to write a letter to his congressman and senator demanding the repeal of all laws having to do with motor vehicles. Even if you pass a traffic law you discourage someone from buying a car. Traffic laws do not prevent accidents." "You're also against a driver's tests, aren't you?" "We certainly are. MR. SPECTATOR Remember The Pueblo Four months and a week have gone by since North Korea took the U.S.S. Pueblo and members of her crew. Remember the big fuss at that time to get the men and the ship back. Well, the fuss is still going on but the ship and the men are still in the hands of the North Korean military. Latest national organization to get behind the efforts to get someone to do something is the American Legion and members of the national executive committee of that organization, in official session, have passed a resolution that urges "fust of whatever military force is required" to obtain the objective. The resolution was a strongly worded one. It declares the loss of U.S. hostages, announced its sympathy for all men of the Pueblo and their families, hoped that "persistent diplomatic efforts will soon result in the recovery of the men and the ship," and called for strong, immediate action on the part of the U.S. government to restore the men and the ship to our country. The committee also voted to send the full text of the resolution to President Johnson, both houses of Congress and all U.S. officials that could possibly be concerned. This resolution is gratifying because it really has been a long time now since the last time there has been in the news, just about the only people making any fuss at all, are the wives and families of the men who are captive. Sitting here in Twin Falls, enjoying the association with the fine people who have made in this area, enjoying the weather, enjoying the outdoor activities, enjoying the association with members of his family and enjoying things in general, Mr. Spectator has often wondered how the men of the Pueblo feel about the whole thing. Tonight, after you have finished reading the Times-News and have stretched out in your easy chair before "hitting the hay," why don't you think about these men? What message would you like to tell these men who would be enjoying the things we take for granted. Along this same line, national organizations are not only sending letters and telegrams to the strange Pueblo incident. Recently Mr. Spectator received a copy of the Manchester, N.H., Union Leader which carried a message from the editor of the paper, "Somehow the hot hold of the copy of this major newspaper and thought we would be interested in a page one editorial written by the Publisher. The editorial was blunt, and to the point, here it is in full: "On June 13th since the USS Pueblo and her crew were captured and taken into a North Korean port. So far nothing has resulted except that the Pueblo is in the hands of the enemy and the American boys are still being tortured and probably being tortured in a North Korean Communist prison. The United States should make it clear to the U.S. citizens to understand how the Pueblo came to be captured in the first place, nor has the passage of time made any difference in the fact that the United States accepted the Pueblo incident, like little white dogs that allowed themselves to be kicked around. What those strong words by the President and Secretary Rusk amounted to, is absolutely nothing. We are not in a position to bear the brunt of this burden, too." Quite aside from these issues which affect his pocketbook, the Frenchman-in-the-street has been made newly aware of the innate corruption of French politics. He may have scant faith in DeGaulle's opponents, but he now suspects they are no worse than Le Grand Chef. As a liberal, the French worker has found new disenchantment in De Gaulle's wooing of the extreme, jungle right for vote-catching purposes. The general's cynical action in pardoning those who plotted his overthrow, is an attempt to keep France's Algerian six years ago as seen for what it was—an appeasement of the military and the extreme nationalists for blatant political reasons. Perhaps the Frenchman never really believed De Gaulle was any different from the common run of French politician, but until now he was willing to be convinced. Put as bluntly as possible, the Frenchman has announced six years ago as "traitors and murderers," have suddenly been transformed into "patriots." No wonder, as someone once remarked, every Frenchman is his own political party. There is no one else around he can trust.

ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK Where Is The "Inferno"?

CLEVELAND — An intimate of Ohio Attorney General William Saxbe, Republican candidate for the U.S. Senate, watched a hearing Gov. Nelson Rockefeller's way through a dense crowd of admirers in Lorain, a manufacturing town near here. "Rock" means two points for Saxbe in November," he concluded, "if we could only get him on the ticket." With Rockefeller at the top of the ticket as the Presidential nominee, in other words, Saxbe would run at least two points better than with Richard M. Nixon heading the ticket. In Cleveland itself, Chester Gillespie, a Negro delegate to the National Convention from the 21st District, took the mike at a meeting Rockefeller had with 50 local Republican officials of Cuyahoga County and delivered an emotional attack on Nixon's Southern managers: "I'm a member of this country ought to demand for a Brother Nixon how far these bigots who are for him are going to coordinate his affairs." The unstated forecast: with Nixon on the nominee, the Republicans can put their share of the Negro vote in a phone booth. Of this and other ways, the blooming candidate Rockefeller struck some sparks last week in his whirlwind tour of the Midwest, capped with a mass rally in Chicago's State and Madison Streets. Having made one bad mistake after another in his tortuous campaign for again Presidential race, Rockefeller has finally moved himself and his campaign into high gear. But by all the conventional signs, it is too late to derail Nixon's plodding, methodical delegate train. And what is happening here is not the fielding of the shrewd political pro, Gov. James Rhodes, illustrates the deep problems besetting the Rockefeller campaign elsewhere. One year ago, during the all-but-forgotten front-running of President Johnson and Michigan Gov. George Romney, a confidential Ohio poll of undoubted accuracy showed Rockefeller decisively beating Mr. Johnson, while Nixon was decisively beaten by the President. By late March of 1968, Rockefeller had managed to "kick away this dramatic margin over Nixon, partly by his lamentable equivocation after Romney's withdrawal. Thus, by late March Nixon had moved up nearly 10 points, aided heavily by Mr. Johnson's pervasive unpopularity, and stood slightly ahead of the President. But Rockefeller was actually running behind Johnson. More than that, the assassination of Dr. King had had a harmful effect on Rockefeller's own campaign. Not only did it end the threat of another Kennedy-Nixon Presidential race, regarded as Rhodes as something to be avoided. It also forced Rockefeller to go back into hibernation for one week, time the error could not afford to lose. The delayed poll that was to have been taken in early June is just now being completed, and it is far too late to show Rockefeller essential for Rockefeller to prove to the Ohio high command that he is a winner, Nixon on a loser.

ROBERT S. ALLEN Perhaps: Pride Before A Fall

WASHINGTON — A highly touted, highly publicized special report on money from Washington for hundreds of disadvantaged youth in Washington's ghettoes is being extensively investigated by those individuals, although actually paid for with government funds. (1) Alleged large-scale payroll padding and other fiscal irregularities. (2) The killer of a liquor store dealer in a neighborhood where a Pride, Inc. employee. The police are checking on information that other members of the robbery gang also were Pride workers. (3) Two high-placed Pride officials allegedly rented a car to drive to Philadelphia, where they met with members of the Revolutionary Action Movement (RAM), an alleged Negro nationalist organization, and gave them $1,000. Investigators have definitely established that Pride was billed for the rental of this car. (4) Pride employees are reportedly attempting in extortion racket on a day-by-day basis concerning business ventures was ignored. (5) A U.S. Marshal memorandum in the building of the "poor people's campaign" headquarters in downtown Washington warning that unidentified persons were being using up government surplus food at various pickup points, selling it and pocketing the money. The Marshal stated the memo concluded: "The men are believed to be members of Pride, Inc." Sparking these extensive probes is Representative Joel Brody, R., from nearby Arlington, Va. A member of the House D.C. Committee, he has kept a close watch on Pride, Inc., since it was launched last August with much hoopla and fanfare. It was first headed by youthful Business Administration in graduate student Barry, a civil rights militant and black power advocate. Recently a non-profit subsidiary of Pride obtained a $25,000 loan from the Small Business Administration to acquire a landscape nursery. Vice President Humphrey is credited with aiding Barry in getting the SBA loan.

AUSTIN SCOTT The Last Mission

WASHINGTON — The last mission of the Scorpion may hold the pieces together. At the time of its disappearance last month, the nuclear attack sub was investigating the operations of two "hunter-killer" Russian submarines. These Soviet vessels were tracking a deep running Polaris submarine in an area near the Azores when the latter received its secret assignment. The Polaris submarine was en route to the Mediterranean to help in a secret submarine mission from which her 16 missiles could reach targets deep inside Russia in the event of war. Scorpion and the latter received reports from the skipper of the Polaris, the Scorpion succeeded in breaking up the surveillance by the Russian submarines. There is no clear indication, however, of what then happened. The Scorpion kept radio silence for several days. According to information furnished the House Armed Services Committee by the Navy, Scorpion in carrying out its mission could have been disabled or destroyed by: (1) Colliding with one of the Soviet submarines. (2) A check by the Russian submarines. (3) Hitting an uncharted reef; (4) A mechanical failure in water too deep for its safety. Speculation on a collision with or attack by one of the Soviet submarines has increased among Navy submarine officers because of the recent military operations of Russia's anti-submarine warfare forces. Since the first of the year Soviet nuclear-powered submarines usually have appeared and kept a low profile, being the American Polaris submarines as they left U.S. ports for their battle stations. The Soviet naval watch usually has only one mission: to outmaneuver its "hunter" and allow away or until other American submarines intervene. The Russians are obviously determined to find out just where the Polaris submarines are going in order to keep track of the positions of their 1,600 to 2,000 nuclear-powered submarines. As in the case of the Scorpion, it is the assignment of U.S. attack submarines to dart in behind the Polaris subs and bring their Russian ships, bouncing Soviet and radar signals off the Soviet hull to confuse the craft's detection gear. At the present time, the U.S. has more than 25 Polaris submarines on station off the shores of the Soviet Union and Communist China. All of these subs carry 16 missiles. Although the U.S. Navy has no firm estimate of the number of Soviet nuclear-powered submarines, it is believed that the Soviet navy has a number of these subs carry 16 missiles.

'The Cat' Returns After Long Shoshone Vacation

SHOSHONE — Mr. T. Hulet Edward, 'The Cat', has returned home after being gone since the middle of March. His return to the home of his master, David Helsey, Shoshone, was a surprise for the family because they had long since given him up as gone. Arrival of 'The Cat' was announced by scratching on the back door Thursday morning and a call from a neighbor who announced she could see 'The Cat' in the backyard flower bed. He left in the first place, probably because he overheard a certain conversation in which plans were made to have the veterinarian give him a tranquilizing shot so he would rest well on his next trip to Moscow to attend the University of Idaho with Mr. Helsey. On previous trips he had been nervous. Mr. T. Hulet Edward, 'The Cat', was so named after he came to the trailer house of Mr. Helsey one stormy fall day in 1966 while Mr. Helsey was at the University. The kitten seemed cold and hungry and was treated kindly. Before long he was part of the Helsey family, so to speak, and returned home to Shoshone for summer vacations with Mr. Helsey. The conversation about the trip took place on a Thursday prior to time to leave on Sunday in March. Friday morning 'The Cat' was gone.

He appeared thin with some scratches on his face after his return this week, but there is no doubt about it, he knew he was home again.

He is a Burmese and the inside of his fur had started to turn red when he left. Now it is all back to black.

Planet's Size Reported Larger

TOKYO (AP) — Two Japanese astronomers reported today that Neptune, third largest of the planets, has a diameter about 12 per cent greater than calculations made in 1943. The Japanese also claimed the planet, so remote from the earth it cannot be seen with the naked eye, is warmer than hitherto estimated by world astronomers.

Nevada Plane Crash Claims Four Lives

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — A plane on a flight from Salt Lake City to Las Vegas burst into flames and crashed Friday night 30 miles north of here, killing all four persons aboard.

The dead were tentatively identified as the pilot, Dr. James L. Fullmer, Richard B. Murdoch, an FBI agent, and J. Harold Brinley, all of Las Vegas; and Richard Taylor, Henderson, Nev.

The plane came down near Interstate 15, scraping the tops of two cars, hitting power lines and spewing flaming debris. No motorists were hurt. Fullmer had radioed nearby Nellis Air Force Base when the fire broke out, but he crashed eight miles short of the base.

Buhl's Sagebrush Days Celebration To End Today; Rodeo, Parade Featured

BUHL — The annual Sagebrush Days parade will begin at 3:30 p.m. today, according to Wayne Kimball, parade chairman.

The parade will form at 2:30 p.m. on Sixth Avenue, between the high school and the elementary school buildings. At 3:30 p.m. the parade will start down Sixth and turn left on Poplar. The parade will continue down Poplar to the Dairy Queen where it will turn left on Broadway. The parade will then proceed on Broadway to Truck Lane and on to the new rodeo grounds.

Former State Senator George Blick will serve as parade marshal. The Grand Marching Liberty Bell, the Jerome posse, the Jerome Junior Riding Club, and the Filer Wranglers are four of the riding groups appearing in the parade. Miss Rodeo Idaho, Yo Wilhite; Kathy Hart, Miss Sagebrush Days of 1967, and all the queen contestants will be in the parade.

Several floats have been entered in the parade including the Walden Brothers, Green Giant, Idaho-First National Bank, the West End Camp Fire Girls, and the Twin Falls Jaycees with the Synchronic band, winners of the district Battle of the Bands contest. Other entries include Garrett Freightliner's 1913 Reo truck, the City of Buhl School drill team, Alvin Machacek's steam engine, and Ed Vogel's steam engine, plus many other presentations including members of the Order of the Arrow in full dress and many old cars.

According to Mr. Kimball, many trophies and three $100 cash awards will be awarded to the winners of the divisions. The $100 cash prizes will be presented to the first place float, riding club and marching group. Second and third place trophies will be given in the float and riding club divisions. Trophies will also be awarded to the best individual entry, the most humorous entry, the best stock automobile older than 1940 and the best competition auto.

Following the parade, a free barbecue will be served at 5 p.m. at the rodeo grounds, courtesy of the Buhl Jaycees and the Buhl Chamber of Commerce. Last year over 3,500 were served. Everyone is invited to attend the barbecue this year.

The new Sagebrush Days queen will be crowned during the rodeo. Queen contestants include Donna Will, Jerome; Vicki Cobb, Filer; Susan Parvin, Kimberly; Jacki Bodenhofer, Gooding; and Carol West, Nelda Kuhn, Hank and Kris Anderson, all Burley. The winner will be eligible to compete in the Miss Rodeo Idaho contest.

A Junior princess will also be crowned to represent Buhl at the Twin Falls County Fair on Sunday, June 30, 1968.

IEA Chief Hopes For Support

BOISE (AP) — Wayne York, Idaho Education Association executive secretary, hopes a personal appearance before the State Board of Education will enlist support of IEA proposals.

York received permission to make a presentation to the board meeting July 10-12 at McCammon.

"In the past, we've outlined our proposals by letter to the board. We believe we can be more effective if we do it in person," he said Friday.

One of the major goals is money.

The IEA delegate assembly last spring called for a $19 million increase in spending for public schools in the 1969-71 biennium.

The current appropriation is $59.7 million — plus $4.4 million for teacher retirement.

The delegates also voted to ask teachers not to sign contracts for the 1969-70 school year if funds provided by the 1969 Legislature are considered inadequate by the IEA.

York said he will emphasize to the state board the IEA's concern over the use of letters of authorization which permit persons to teach without a teacher's certificate.

York said the most recent report from the State Department of Education showed the state board approved 170 such letters in the past school year. York said the IEA regards this as excessive.

York added some persons are teaching without even the letter of authorization.

Rehiring Of Dr. Kennedy Is Delayed

BOISE (AP) — District Judge Ray Burchett has granted a motion to delay again the reinstatement of Dr. C.H. Kennedy as chief state meat inspector, pending further appeal.

Commissioner Stanley Trenhaile Friday asked the court for the second time to direct the Personnel Commission to hold a re-hearing on its finding that Kennedy was dismissed for political reasons.

After Kennedy was first dismissed, he appealed to the Personnel Commission and the commission ordered him reinstated. Trenhaile appealed to district court and the court upheld the commission ruling, but asked the Personnel Commission to reconsider its findings on the question of political motives.

The commission issued a new set of findings, which still maintained that Kennedy was fired for political reasons.

Female Prison Inmates Will Move Soon

BOISE (AP) — Women inmates at the Idaho State Prison will be moved to the Nevada State Prison at Carson City next week.

C. L. House, chairman of the State Board of Corrections, signing an agreement with Nevada announced today for care of four women inmates.

House said the agreement was signed after careful consideration and study.

A women's compound has been built at the new Idaho State Prison site south of Boise. However, it may be used for a male prisoner reception center.

Appeals For Guns Unsuccessful

NEW YORK (AP) — Appeals for American gun owners to cast a vote against violence by surrendering their weapons have yielded meager returns, an Associated Press survey indicated today.

The public response has been particularly unenthusiastic in cities with a recent history of racial violence.

Indications that a proposed federal gun registration law faces hard sledding in Congress have prompted some cities and counties to action on their own. But so far, such instances of gun control at the local level are few and far between.

The Board of City Directors of Pasadena, Calif., home town of Sirhan Bishara Sirhan, accused of assassinating Robert F. Kennedy, turned down a proposal to require registration of guns. A resolution calling for investigation of possible gun control ordinances lost on a tie vote, 3 to 3.

In San Antonio, Tex., a city councilman asked for an ordinance prohibiting the sale of hand guns to the insane, mentally incompetent, narcotics addicts or convicted felons. The proposal failed for lack of a second vote after the city attorney expressed doubt that such a law would stand up in court.

However, looking ahead to the Republican National Convention in August, the Miami Beach, Fla., City Council adopted an ordinance requiring police permits for gun purchases and registration of all guns and providing jail terms for possession of unlicensed arms.

In Chicago, a city gun registration law became effective May 15 and city residents turned 1,211 guns in to police, who planned to melt the weapons into scrap iron. But another 200 persons were soon arrested for ignoring the ordinance.

Los Angeles has a city ordinance against carrying a concealed weapon without a police permit. Few permits are issued, but Police Inspector Otto Woods estimated "there are probably in excess of 2-million weapons in the city."

Los Angeles county officials are discussing a proposed county ordinance which would prohibit ownership of guns not registered with police.

Mayor Joseph Alito of San Francisco issued a plea for city residents to give their guns to the police. A total of 690 weapons have been surrendered, including one rocket launcher, and Alito said "we're expecting lots more."

Benny Bufano, a San Francisco sculptor, proposed melting down the surrendered guns and making a statue of St. Francis out of the metal, with heads of John F. Kennedy, Robert F. Kennedy, Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., and Abraham Lincoln decorating the saint's robe. The mayor approved the idea and said he would ask the city to provide a site for the statue.

T.F. First Security Bank Employee Secures Promotion

WESLEY STARTIN

Wesley R. Startin has been promoted to operations officer for the Twin Falls office of the First Security Bank of Idaho. Kenneth J. Newman, vice president and manager of the bank, made the announcement. Mr. Startin joined the First Security Bank in 1967 as a manager trainee and has been at the Twin Falls office since that time.

A native of Ogden, Utah, Mr. Startin attended Brigham Young University and graduated from Idaho State University where he was a member of Sigma Phi Epsilon. He has taken courses from the American Institute of Banking and is a member of the Bank Administration Institute.

Mr. Startin is a member of the Twin Falls Jaycees and has worked on various community projects, including the 1967 United Fund Campaign and the Twin Falls softball league. He is married to the former Diana L. Thomas.

News Of Record

Hansen Staff Members Threatened

POCATELLO, Idaho (AP) — Rep. George Hansen, R-Idaho reports, including the staff in Washington, D. C. have been threatened of violence and that he has been treated with picketing.

Hansen told a Young Republicans meeting Friday in Pocatello the window of a car belonging to an individual broken and a fire bomb tossed inside.

Action by the House Agriculture Committee, of which Hansen is a member, in refusing to expand the Food Stamp Program, resulted in a threat to picket the congressman's office and home, he said.

"My staff and I are just as concerned with the plight of the poor as anyone," he said. "However, we are more concerned with the lawlessness and civil disobedience that this administration either cannot cope with, or with which it refuses to cope."

Burley Woman Urges Action Against Marchers' Demands

Editor, Times-News:

Will you please put this letter in your paper? I feel it is of vital interest to all the taxpayers of our country. I think it is important that we know where we are living and have so much taken out of our income for taxes that we scarcely have enough left to live on. I have to go searching about the state where that tax money is spent.

I have been reading the paper listening to the news on the TV about the "Poor People's March" on Washington. Until they have respect for our government and obey its laws they really have no right to ask for those things for which they are asking.

We hear so much about the rights of the individual and nothing about the responsibility of the individual. With rights also come responsibilities. Before asking for anything, we must recognize that he does have responsibilities to our land, government and to himself and that he assume these responsibilities.

The Poor People's Marchers are asking for, among other things, a guaranteed annual income of five thousand dollars even when they don't work. I just wonder how many people who have to work hard all year long don't get that much salary. I am a school teacher. I had to get at least four years of special training to be able to teach fourteen years and my salary failed to reach that amount. I am not teaching at the present time but if I were I don't think my salary would go beyond that amount now and we have to keep going back to school in the summers to keep our standing and salary up. When I was teaching, so much was taken out in taxes that I had very little of it left to take home.

Now if Congress meets all the demands of the marchers and all the other poverty programs which we hear so much about, we will have more and more taxes tacked out of our wages. I urge all taxpayers to write to your congressmen and senators and tell them that you will withhold your vote from them at the next election unless they get busy and do something to take care of the taxpayers, a little relief. Also demand that a little law and order be enforced around Washington, D.C., and other cities where there are demonstrations.

Letter To LBJ Is Sent To Forum Column

Editor, Times-News:

I strongly urge you (President Johnson) to please change our stance on gun legislation. Every crime that has been committed with firearms has broken already existing laws. More laws are not going to change this. The only result will be more restrictions and resentment of us to the common good.

We all deplore violence and lawlessness. But let's face it Mr. President, the responsibility for this rests squarely on you and your administration. When you force police to stand by and watch arson, looting and other types of lawlessness without trying to do anything about it, what can you expect?

When your administration encourages lawless demonstrations, how can we have respect for your laws and order? Is this the responsibility of the average citizen and owner?

When your pet anti-gun senator has only been censored by Congress instead of put in prison for using a gun, legislation that is too glibly to change Congress or the Justice Department? Will taxing my guns until I can't afford them correct this?

Mr. President, the criminals are not going to register their guns, so if you take them away from the home owners you make it easier for them. Take a look at New York City for example. It has had unreasonable gun legislation for years and yet more criminals use guns lawlessly there than in any other city in the country.

So please, Mr. President, call off your hysteria campaign. If you are afraid of being taken when your tenure of office is over, then come on out to Idaho. While we admit that the sense of world Communism is believe in using our guns for target shooting, rodent control and for hunting small and large game.

At the same time Mr. President, one of us would be hesitant to pick up a gun to defend you. If we thought you were in danger.

Man Points To Social Unrest Sweeping U.S.

Editor, Times-News:

The Johnson Administration is running scared. After perpetrating the greatest blunder in history it has its back to the wall in a desperate attempt to escape judgment by salvaging a military victory, that will never materialize.

The mightiest nation on earth has pounded to smithereens a bunch of rice farmers in an area about the size of Maine, USA, for six years. The very fact that these people have taken everything we could throw at them and still come back for more has already beaten us in the eyes of the world.

Their indomitable spirit should give pause to all those reformers who would promote the goodness of Democracy to the four corners of the world while this very same Democracy has never yet attained to literal fact here at home, and is even now bordering on a state of chaos.

The Republican party could attain to victory this year as never before if its candidates would only put their ears to the ground and listen to the groundswell of unrest that is sweeping the nation and the world. Today America stands nearly alone, dragged on by an administration that is too glibly to change.

An administration that has cast itself into the role of world savior and forgotten an old truth, or perhaps never knew it. The sense of world Communism is a hallucination shared only by these egocentric world-saviors. Communism itself is the greatest foe Communism has. Any ideology that does not conform

Proposed Gun Legislation Is Scored By Writer In Rupert

Editor, Times-News:

I am taking issue with LBJ and his bureaucrats on gun legislation. I think he is completely mad. We have never had a president or a congress so gun shy before. They have done enough manipulating with the taxpayers' money that they should be scared as hell.

Everything LBJ has done has failed. The farm program, the war in Vietnam, poverty program, and monetary system. The commies should be well pleased with it all especially the gun law. I have read he did not fall manipulating a few thousand dollars into millions on Lady Bird's TV station in Texas, and the Brown Construction Co. in Washington. Check the records of his "cronies" in Congress. The "case against Congress" in the June issue of the True magazine and you will find their hands are not too clean either.

Many of them are too old and feeble to be eligible to make laws to govern this nation. There has been more crimes, rioting, under this administration than ever before and the average layman feels the tension knowing we are being sold down the river.

We should impeach all in favor of this insane gun law. It will cost millions to enforce it if it is passed. And, it will mean just that many more bureaucrats living off our tax money and after all it isn't the guns that kill people. If they want to do something constructive why don't they make a law to stop some of our Congressmen from manipulating millions through lobbying for gas, oil, steel and big industry.

One more administration like this and I predict our country will be under martial law. The human spirit tend to forget in self-aggrandizement. The human soul will always prevail, all the billions of them.

Any ideology, including Democracy, that does not rest its foundation, that holds any part of them in bondage will perish.

Gun Controls Are Favored By Writer In Buhl

Editor, Times-News:

I am reading a letter sent in to Mr. Spectator, Nada Rae Ward, a child, yet so adult in her thinking. Should put alot of groupups to shame and cause them to take a look at their selves. Most of all we should stop judging the younger generation because of mistakes, a few of them make.

It is so wrong to condemn a whole group or a whole race because a few break the law. The people we talk with are shocked and concerned about the terrible things going on in our country, yet they do nothing.

We should write our congressmen and tell them we want firearms controls. They should be licensed the same as automobiles. Therefore the law could check on them. Of course, the hunters and such groups are making a big fuss. However, this plan will not hinder them. It would give the law the right to know who owns guns and what they are doing with them.

Oh, yes, they say there are those who will steal them. They steal cars too, but they always get caught because cars are licensed.

Many other nations have firearms controls. They only have about one-third the crime as here in the United States. Therefore it does seem to help a lot. Many of us feel no one except law enforcement officers should be allowed guns.

The game birds and animals are so happy because a shame to shoot them. They are God's creatures. Sometimes they are wounded and suffer days and days. About all they do in Washington is spend money investigating things they already know about. No one is so dumb they do not know the cause of those assassinations.

Two Recent Articles In T.F. Paper Praised By Minister

Editor, Times-News:

I wish to comment on two features in your issue of Sunday, June 23.

First, Jan A. Salsbury's article, "The Role of the Christian in Religion." I, Hal-Jehal, who in the churches has been and destroyed it. We hear again that the church and the Christian need to do a lot more listening to persons and less talking. We are missing a lot of boats, but it's not all failure. By chance, right after cutting out the article, I read the latest quarterly from our own denomination's Division of Health and Social Ministries, and was again struck by the fact that many and varied institutions guided by only this one segment of our attempts at ministry to persons and society around the world. 4. The article was an excellent argument for Christianity; it upheld the righteousness of which we feel Christians betray in our imperfect lives. 5. Yes, the church is full of hypocrites - a people willing to make a commitment and to start out in a way of life, though we know we'll often fall. And a man who knows he is good is not an acceptable candidate for membership in the Christian church. The qualification for admission: admit that you are a sinner. Mr. Salsbury, come on in; there's always room for one more. And God loves you, too.

Second, the comment in the article for June 23 that some of our citizens downgrade Craters of the Moon National Monument. Not I! As a boy and youth in southwestern Idaho first heard much about it. I had never seen it till last week. It's worth every minute of time and ounce of effort. Relative from Denver were with us. They've been up and down and across the U.S. numerous times have toured Europe twice, and were en route to Alaska. They thought it was great. Bring it up.

Orval Hansen Speaks About Cattle Laws

SHOSHONE—State Sen. Orval Hansen, R-Idaho Falls, candidate for Congress, has proposed that Congress pass a law requiring all imported beef be labeled to show the country of origin.

Speaking to a fund-raising dinner sponsored by the Lincoln County Republican Central Committee at Shoshone Saturday night, Sen. Hansen said, "a labeling law would benefit both the producer and the consumer of beef products."

"I am confident, if given a choice, millions of American consumers would buy domestic beef and support an industry that has contributed so much to the nation's economy. The consumer can only exercise his right to make that choice if imported beef is clearly labeled as such."

Doctor's Fees Are Viewed

By FRANK CAREY
AP Science Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Welfare Secretary Wilbur J. Cohen said Saturday that if already-increased doctors' fees for millions of medicare patients get out of line there will be public pressure for government control over such charges.

He said that unless medical societies and other professional groups see to it that doctors act with restraint in this regard, "we are going to see pressures for some kind of control which I would not like to see."

The secretary made his assertion in connection with a White House news briefing to mark the second anniversary, July 1, of the medicare program which provides health benefits for nearly 20 million Americans aged 65 and over.

In his comments about doctors' fees, Cohen was referring to that portion of the medicare program, under which beneficiaries can sign up, on a voluntary basis, to pay a monthly amount towards doctors' bills. The government pays an equal amount.

All medicare beneficiaries receive hospital benefits.

The doctor-fee premium was set at $3 a month when the program started two years ago, but it was raised to $4 last April 1, because of rising doctors' fees.

Of 19.7 million of the nation's elderly enrolled in the medicare program, 18.6 million have signed up for the supplementary medical-insurance program, Cohen reported.

Cohen also reported that: —In connection with President Johnson's recommendation to Congress that medicare be extended to cover 1.5 million disabled workers under 65, Cohen has appointed a special 12-member council "to study the unmet needs of the disabled for health insurance."

The council would also study costs involved in providing hospitalization and medical services, and ways of financing such protection for such disabled persons.

—The government has been "doing fairly well" on financing the massive medicare program. But, he said, "utilization has been going up—that is, more and more people are becoming beneficiaries—and, if this continues, the financial basis will have to be reconsidered in the future."

Small Group Of Navajos Travel In 20th-Century Comfort To Exile

WINDOW ROCK, Ariz. (AP)—A small body of Navajos, whose ancestors walked nearly 350 miles to their reservation 100 years ago, rode Saturday in 20th-century comfort to the site of their exile.

The men, women and children boarded four air-conditioned buses, with reclining chairs, for the trip to Ft. Sumner, in east-central New Mexico.

It was at the adobe fort in 1864 that the Navajos suffered one of the greatest tragedies in their history.

The 150-member group will participate Sunday in re-enactment of a peace treaty signing.

Nixon Is Looking Past Nomination

By Special Correspondent
 WASHINGTON (AP) — Richard M. Nixon has now reached the point in his campaign where he is weighing it with more emphasis on winning the presidential election than on capturing the Republican nomination for that office. Nixon is his own best publicist. That's a $10 word for one who makes a scientific study of elections.

As such, he feels he is in a position today to look beyond the GOP national convention in August to the ballot box in November. He is now shaping his strategy with that in mind. Nixon intimates say he is confident that if the 1,333 GOP delegates were voting today, he would win the nomination and carry a $10 word for one who makes a scientific study of elections.

But his principal reason for remaining cautious, taking nothing for granted, is the astounding series of surprises that completely shattered the political pattern as it appeared six months ago — events pivoting around Sen. Eugene McCarthy and Robert F. Kennedy, Gov. George Romney and Nelson A. Rockefeller, and especially Lyndon B. Johnson.

Nixon does not envision a

Withholding Rate On Paychecks Will Increase 10 Per Cent July 14

WASHINGTON (AP) — Unpayable. Signing of the bill, which includes a mandatory $8-billion cut in federal spending, came without fanfare one week after Congress completed action and was in marked contrast to the raising controversy of nearly the entire past year.

On that date the withholding rate on your paycheck will increase 10 per cent, under the income tax bill President Johnson signed into law Friday.

If you get paid July 13 you won't feel the bite until the next Monday.

He said the nation can now withstand the threat to its prosperity — accelerating inflation, soaring interest rates and a deteriorating U.S. trade picture.

But Johnson said Congress cannot hope to cut $8-billion from its budget through regular appropriations process and this will shift responsibility for the cuts to the President.

This departure from tradition is "most unwise," he said.

Since the tax for individuals is retroactive to last April, 1 the amount withheld from weekly paychecks through next December will fall short of the amount due. The difference must be paid when income tax returns are filed by next April 15.

Under the new law, higher taxes can be collected after 15 days from its enactment.

Only exemptions for individuals are for single people earning $1,000 or less and married couples earning $2,000 or less.

The tax increase will expire June 30, next year unless the administration elected in November decides to extend it and Congress agrees.

The tax is retroactive for corporations to last Jan. 1 and also includes a spectrum of all tax payments for them.

Another section continues the excise tax on automobiles at 7 per cent and the telephone service tax at 10 per cent, instead of permitting them to drop to 2 per cent and 1 per cent respectively.

The tax package will increase federal revenues by more than $15 billion in the new fiscal year which begins July 1. Coupled with the spending cut it will reduce a potentially large budget deficit by more than $20 billion.

This could mean a deficit next year of as little as $2.5 billion if present budget estimates hold true. The government will end the current fiscal year at mid-night Sunday with a deficit of about $5 billion — the fourth largest in history.

McCarthy Says He Must Get Fair Shake

By JOSEPH E. MOHAT (of party officials) is to control the convention. It may kill the delegates pledged to the main Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy said Democratic Party, but it will prove something about John Bailey, the national party chairman, is supporting Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey's presidential candidacy.

McCarthy's remarks reflected his bitterness over his latest campaign setback. It occurred Friday in New York when his supporters walked out of a state convention.

McCarthy lit into Bailey and issued his warning about a possible November disaster in a letter to the presidential nomination said.

The whole daily operation awarded 15 of the state's 60 delegates despite the fact that he was not the state's primary winner.

His understanding was that we were going to get at least one third of those delegates."

McCarthy said, "I don't think it out of 8 is a fair distribution."

Gross weight on the overpass is limited to three tons and the cooperation of people in the area is urged by the Idaho Highway Department. A contract for permanent repair to the overpass is being prepared and it is hoped repair can be finished by harvest season this fall, officials said.

Humphrey Warns Against Insatiable Popularity Quest

By CARL P. LUEBS DORF
OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Vice President Robert H. Humphrey warned Saturday against "an insatiable quest for popularity" and said the American people would not want him to "repudiate a government and a policy of which he has been a part in order to gain votes."
 In an impassioned, impromptu answer to suggestions he repudiate President Johnson's Vietnam policies in order to accommodate supporters of Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, Humphrey brought the Oklahoma Democratic Convention to its feet by saying: "I have tried to be a faithful and loyal vice president and that is what I thought you wanted when you elected me."
 Humphrey's supporters were in firm control of the convention, preparing to give him at least 34 of the state's 41 national convention votes, possibly all of them under a unit rule."

 The vice president headed on to Des Moines where he hopes to woo delegates who had supported the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy into his presidential camp.
 At Oklahoma City, the vice president praised the President's decision to withdraw from politics to seek peace, then said people have told him, "If you'd only repudiate your President you'd be so strong and you'd be so popular."
 "Ladies and gentlemen," he went on, "the greatest danger to a man in public life is an insatiable quest for popularity."
 "Popularity pollutes the life-

Wallace Proposes Tax Relief

WORCESTER, Mass. (AP)—Presidential candidate George Wallace proposed federal income tax relief Saturday for the working man financed by "multibillion dollar foundations" which now pay no taxes.
 Wallace, a motorist from Massachusetts, also renewed his plea for a vote of support from "people of all races," and said "Negro citizens are entitled to every right that any other citizen is entitled to."
 He denied, as he has repeatedly during his campaign, that he is now, or ever has been, a racist as many critics describe him.
 "We are talking about a philosophy of government," he said, "about whether the people can run their own affairs without someone in Washington telling them everything to do. We're not talking about race."
 The third party candidate outlined, but only in generalities, the programs to raise the personal income tax exemption from $600 to $1,000 and make up the lost revenue by taxing large foundations with the same rate as the Ford Foundation, the Carnegie Foundation, and the Mellon Foundation.

Maritime Strike Talks Initiated

NEW YORK (AP)—Mediation efforts were initiated Saturday to solve a day-old National Maritime Union strike which hit 73 ship firms and already has tied up a union-estimated 100 ships.
 Theodore W. Kheel, arbitrator under the contract between the union and ship operators, sent telegrams to both sides asking them to meet in his office here Monday for negotiations.
 The strike over wages eventually could tie up 70 per cent of the American merchant marine, but should not affect the foreign flag ships in U.S. ports.
 American ships carrying military cargo to Vietnam would be cleared to sail, the union said Monday for negotiations.
 Joseph Curran, the NMU president, said such clearance would be arranged through a neutral committee of the union here on a ship-by-ship basis.

Need For Water Is Seen Throughout South Idaho

 "clison," the senator said.
 Among other things the Senator declared that building of the Nez Perce dam would not interfere with boating trips on the famed River of No Return.
 "As we search for new sources of supply it is only natural that we do turn to the Salmon," he said. "But here we run head on into the dams versus fish controversy. Fortunately, this is a decision we don't have to make now. The die may already have been cast. When the 10 dams are built that will provide slackwater navigation from the mouth of the Salmon to the ocean, we may have no more anadromous fish."
 "Or we may have learned by then to accommodate not only the upstream migrants but the downstream fingerlings over another dam."
 "Now, before someone starts throwing something, let me say that Nez Perce is one option we must not foreclose at this time. So say that it is our best option is an understatement."
 "I am not saying that we should build it now, or five years from now, but about 10 years from now we will have for more storage." He did say, however, that he did not want to become involved in any open controversy over the raising or the replacement of the present structure.

 But the inference got across to those who attended the session and there were a few raised eyebrows in the group.
 Others who spoke at the session included Cong. George Hansen and Cong. James McClure. Both told of their involvement in Idaho water projects, and urged that an eagle eye be kept open for those who would remove Idaho's water to other portions of the nation.
 Both said that it was important that it be made known that right now there is no surplus water in Idaho, that interested persons must plan for use of the water we have available.
 At the afternoon conference, Mayor Joe Peters welcomed the participants to Burley, and James G. Martin was master of ceremonies. Greetings from Gov. Samuelson were read by William Holden and a telegram of support was read from Senator Frank Church.
 The reference to the American Falls dam came when the Senator said that so far as upstream (Snake) dams are concerned, "new starts should include Lynn Crandall project and such additional storage at American Falls site as can best compromise the interests in conflict."
 He mentioned the cost ratio so far storage costs at American Falls is concerned and said in an aside, not carried in his prepared address, that "it's hard to pass up this opportunity

Anticipation Grows In Hailey As Celebration Draws Near

HAILEY — The feeling of anticipation which always comes to Hailey just before a Fourth of July celebration is filling the air. Here and there stands to sell things the younger generation beg their parents to buy are going up.

Everyone is wearing a "Days of the Old West" button, which proclaims the celebration of the birth of our nation on July 3rd and 4th. It entitles the wearer to a free barbecue feed following the afternoon rodeo July 4th at the rodeo park grounds.

Those not wearing appropriate old west costume are seen to

No Guns

COLUMBIA, Calif. (AP)—The mock gunfighters of Columbia won't stage their traditional "shootouts" this Fourth of July. They've turned their pistols over to law officers.

Recognition of the recent assassinations of public figures impels us to hereby resolve that during the 1968 celebration . . . we will not use or display our guns," says the proclamation of the Columbia Gunfighters Association.

Both beef and lamb, being donated by Mrs. Mary Brooks and Pete J. Cenarusa and their business partners, will be served at the barbecue following the July 4th rodeo. Paul Bovey is furnishing the potatoes. Tony Vitale is in charge of arrangements for this event.

Events on July 3rd include an all day Standard Quarter Horse Show, with trophies and ribbons for all open and closed events. Lawrence Johnson of Johnson Flying Service will again give airplane rides during the day.

Servicemen News Of

Ensign Darrell Pelley and wife, Waukegan, Ill., visited a week with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Pelley, and Boise Valley relatives. He is an instructor in mathematics and basic physics at Great Lakes Naval Base.

Capt. and Mrs. James (Luna) Lee left Wednesday for Fort Monmouth, N.J., where he will be stationed after completing his tour of duty in Vietnam. They have been visiting her mother, Mrs. Grace Beasley, since his return to Glenns Ferry a month ago.

Hourly door prizes will be given at the show and the grand prize will be a gold ring set with a six-ray Idaho Star Gem, net handcrafted and donated by Mr. and Mrs. Irving Kacalek of Bellevue and valued at $100.

There will be exhibits from Twin Falls, Idaho Falls, Pocatello, Wendell, as well as Hailey Club dealers exhibits from Idaho, Utah, Oklahoma, and Arizona.

Mr. Petersen said dealers from these states will bring with them finished jewelry, mountings and rough rock. They will have both United States and foreign material.

Field trips to local areas will be held each day. Gem materials to be found in this area include jasper, agate and petrified woods.

At the close of Thursday's rodeo the queen will be crowned. FOR FAST SELLING RESULTS USE TIMES-NEWS WANT ADS

Your Spine and Your Health

Dr. Ludwig C. Landwehr WILL PARTICIPATE IN SPORTS HURT A CHILD? In relation to the number of children participating in sports, the number of injuries is probably very small, and yet a parent's fear can be well founded even when there is no accident. Fast starts and stops, twisting, turning and body contact can cause sprains, strains and spine problems. Even if a child does not participate in formal sports, there still are falls and mechanical injuries. Developmental spinal problems may not result in immediate pain, but neglect is likely to result in disturbed function. Your doctor of chiropractic recommends that soon-past your active child against "sprain" problems with a regular spinal examination. Trade Difficulties Arise Between U.S. and France

By JACK LEPLER AP Business Writer NEW YORK (AP) — Difficulties over trade arose this past week between the United States and France.

These developments reflected this country's worry over its long-standing deficit of payments balance and its deteriorating trade balance.

France acted to subsidize its exports and to curtail imports in an effort to counteract the economic effects of the recent general strike.

Speculation Subsides On Stock Market

By JACK LEPLER AP Business Writer NEW YORK (AP) — Speculative fever that has surged through the stock market subsided last week and the trading pace slowed.

The securities exchanges and individual brokerage firms have been cautions against continued speculation which sent prices of many lower-priced stocks spiraling and rocketed volume to record levels.

The exchanges were closed last Wednesday, the third special one day weekly closing ordered by the exchanges to give brokers additional time in which to catch up on paperwork that has overwhelmed their clerical staffs during the heavy trading.

The Dow Jones average of 30 Industrials dipped 3.13 to 827.80 last week. The Associated Press 50-stock average slipped 1.1 to 337.7.

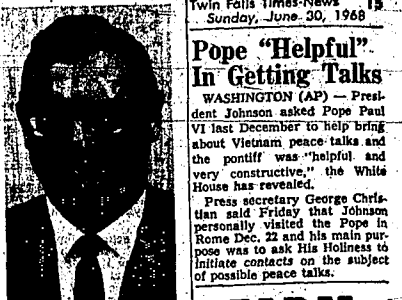

Volume on the New York Stock Exchange fell last week to 32,840,000 shares from 35,972,000 the previous week.

Exports topped exports by $32.2 million last month. In April the United States had a trade surplus of $248 million but in March there was a deficit of $158 million.

The Commerce Department reported imports at $2,500,000 in May, up 4.2 percent from April.

Pope 'Helpful' In Getting Talks

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson asked Pope Paul VI last December to help bring about Vietnam peace talks and the pontiff was "helpful and very constructive," the White House has revealed.

Press secretary George Christian said Friday that Johnson personally visited the Pope in Rome Dec. 22 and his main purpose was to ask his Holiness to initiate contacts on the subject of possible peace talks.

Cowboys Split Twin Bill With Caldwell; Finale Of Series Set Here Tonight

Nighthanders Paul Zahn and Row spun some 18-strikeout misery around the Magic Valley Cowboys for an 11-1 win Saturday night after the Cowboys edged the perfect baseball and struck out 13 — including 11 in a row — in the nightcap. But a combination of the cold weather and the four by Cub Manager George Freese that the over-handing fastballer wasn't ready to go further than five innings allowed the youngster after he had the win firmly in hand.

Twin Falls Legion Tops Burley 6-1

Twin Falls took the lead in the second frame and never relinquished it. Burley had an error to start things off, stole second and scored on John Giesler's triple.

Twin Falls added another run in the fourth. Patterson doubled, advanced to third on Steve McClain's sacrifice and scored on W.L. Ward's 1-1-1. Burley closed the gap in its half of the fourth as Benavidez walked, went to second on Jensen's single and with runners advanced on a double steal. Benavidez scored on a balk.

Twin Falls piled up three more runs in the sixth inning as Larry Eller walked, stole second and scored on Ward's single. Ward scored on Giesler's triple and Frazier singled to score Giesler. In the final inning, Twin Falls scored one more tally. Ron Blackwood led off with a walk, moved to second and scored on errors, and scored on McClain's single.

A NEW LIFE WITH... LIFE-LIKE HAIR FOR MEN

BEFORE AND AFTER COMPARISON

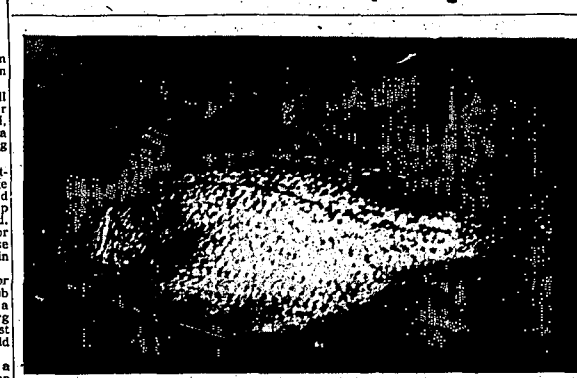

YOUNGER APPEARANCE:

It is often said that "hairpieces make a man look younger." Well, this may be true if you are accurate to say that hairpieces make a man look like his own, baldness makes a man look older. Men who wear LIFE-LIKE hair replacements now look like age or often younger and care that they are. They know how easy it was they would not have been so long.

- They can look truly natural and undetectable when made and worn properly.
- Wearing a hairpiece is not a job... but a vitally important wearing a hairpiece for many men and is now completely accepted by progressive people.

Greene, Hines Tie In 100 - Meter Dash, Two Clear 17 - 4 At Trials

By JACK STEVENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Jim Hines squared accounts with Charlie Greene in the 100-meter dash while both Bob Seagrave and Jon Vaughn cleared 17 feet 4 inches in the pole vault Saturday in the U.S. Olympic Men's Track and Field Trials.

Hines and Greene each was timed in 10.3 seconds as winds sent their times well above the 9.9 they and Ronnie Ray Smith clocked a week ago as all ran one-tenth second below the world record at the AAU meet in Sacramento.

Neither Southern California's Seagrave nor UCLA's Vaughn missed until after they had cleared 17-4, but each missed three times trying for a world record 17-8, one-quarter higher than Paul Wilson's world record. Wilson, hampered by a knee injury, was second in the trials but gets another chance in the high altitude trials at Lake Tahoe later this summer.

Seagrave eventually won in a vault-off with the crossbar lowered to 17-4. The added competition was needed because automatically qualifies for the U.S. Olympic team.

Bob Beamon of the Houston Striders won the long jump at 26-3 1/2, and again a world record holder in the 200-meter race. Ralph Boston, suffering from a knee ailment, was another okayed for a later shot at the team. Gayle Hopkins was second at 25-8 and Jerry Proctor third at 25-2 1/2.

Tracy Smith of the Army won the 5,000-meter run in a race which lost much of its glamor when Gerry Lindgren decided to skip it. Lindgren will run the 10,000, one of 11 finals slated Sunday.

Smith, of nearby Ardenia, ran a 13:42.4 before the 23,156 in the Los Angeles Coliseum. Steve Stageberg of Georgetown took second at 13:52 and Bob Day of the Army was third at 13:59 despite suffering from stomach cramps.

Hines and Greene each won while Saturday while facing headwinds and then came back to duel in the finals. Hines, of Texas Southern and the Houston Striders, gained revenge with strong second 50 meters over Nebraska's Greene who had won State star now representing Hocking Valley, Ohio. Stenlund Smith took third in the trials followed by Mel Pender with both at 10.4.

Schoolteacher George Young of Casa Grande, Ariz., remained undefeated for the season as he won the 3,000-meter steeplechase as expected. His time of 8:34.2 was a Coliseum record, bettering his mark of 8:32 earlier this year. But he failed to better the American record of 8:30.6 he ran a week ago.

Pat Traynor of the Air Force was second in 8:34.4 with former Kansas State star Conrad Nightingale third at 8:40.0.

Randy Matson, the 235-pound shot put champion, won his event with a throw of 67 feet 1 inch. The former Texas A&M star was well ahead of former California weightman Dave Maggard who took second at 64-3 1/2 with George Woods of the Southern California Striders.

Victor Frank Covell threw the javelin 257-9 to win followed by Gary Stenlund, former Ore-trace.

NFL Delegates Won't Comment On Meet

DETROIT (AP) — Representatives of players and owners of National Football League teams have refused to comment on their secret meeting Friday to discuss complaints and a possible strike by the some 640 league players.

An Associated Press newsmen and an area newspaper photographer both were asked to leave the Fine Lake Country Club just outside Keego Harbor, Mich., where the meeting was held.

Vince Lombardi, general manager of the Green Bay Packers, and Detroit Lions guard John Gordy, president of the NFL Players Association, have refused to comment on the talks. Gordy said he might make a statement after meeting owners representatives early today.

"I thought this was supposed to be a well-kept secret," Lombardi said when a newsmen arrived at the club.

The NFL Players seeks a minimum salary similar to that of the major baseball leagues. NFL players now get an allowance of $10 a day when in training or playing an exhibition game. They seek $500 each for all exhibition games.

In addition, the association asks that each club contribute $10,000 to the pension plan and pay a $15,000 minimum salary. Management of the 16 clubs have contended the demands are excessive, not commensurate with what the clubs now take in. The Players Association has asked to be shown which team profit margins cannot support payment of the proposed contributions.

The Associated Press learned Thursday that all NFL players had been polled by telephone contract Friday with the Miami and that most were willing to strike if their demands were not met.

TULSA PRO — Miami (AP) — Weber State center Dan Sparks, 22, signed a contract Friday with the Miami and that most were willing to strike if their demands were not met.

Graebner, Edlefsen Score Major Upset In Wimbledon Tourney

WIMBLEDON, England (AP)—American amateurs Clark Graebner and Tom Edlefsen scored major upsets Saturday in the sun-splashed All-England Open Tennis championships at Wimbledon while South Africa's Ray Moore eliminated third-seeded Andres Gimeno of Spain and defending champion John Newcombe of Australia, now a professional, advanced routinely with a 7-5, 6-0, 6-1 decision over Dave Lloyd of Britain.

19-Under Par Score Leads Women's Meet

A 19-under par team best ball proved the best Friday in the final day of the Blue Lakes Country Club's women's invitational. The team of Norma Robertson, Twin Falls; Margaret Hart, Boise; Mildred Barlow, Twin Falls; and Ruth Morgan, Burley, compiled the 125 on the second day of the event. The squad had finished in tie for third in the first—and separate—round.

ABA Pipers Moving To Minnesota

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Lured by the success of pro teams in three other sports and undaunted by failure of two previous professional basketball teams, the American Basketball Association is moving its championship team to Minnesota. Gabe Rubin, owner of the Pittsburgh Pipers, told a news conference Friday that the 25-per franchise would move to Minneapolis-St. Paul this fall. The shift had been rumored for several days.

Indians Take Pair From Red Sox

BOSTON (AP) — The Cleveland Indians rode the pitching of Luis Tiant and Sonny Siebert and some timely hitting to 6-1 and 4-1 victories Saturday in sweeping a day-night doubleheader from the Boston Red Sox.

Tiant struck out 13 in a six-hit effort in the opener and Siebert followed with a five-hit performance in the second game.

Tiant lost a bid for his seventh shutout with two out in the ninth inning. He walked Reggie Smith and Rico Petrocelli followed with a run-producing double. Tiant then got George Scott on an easy grounder to complete his 12th victory in 17 decisions.

Siebert, given a lift by National League reliever Lou Johnson's first inning homer, was in command all the way in the night game boosting his record to 8-5.

Mottion Lifts Orioles Over Twins 5-1

BALTIMORE (AP) — Curt Mottion's bases-loaded single snapped a tie and pointed the Baltimore Orioles to a 5-1 victory over the Minnesota Twins Saturday night.

Jim Merritt carried a 1-0 lead into the fifth but got into trouble when Don Buford doubled with one out. Merritt retired the next batter but then issued consecutive walks to Boog 1-0 to W. Frank Robinson and 1-0 to K. Robinson, forcing in one run.

Then Mottion singled to center, scoring two more.

Buford and Paul Blair clattered in insurance runs in the eighth.

Howard Hits 25th Homer; Senators Win

WASHINGTON (AP) — Frank Howard hit his 25th home run of the season and Mike Epstein hit a grand slam in the last three games of the Washington Senators' conquest to an 8-2 victory over the California Angels Saturday.

Jim Hanman pitched seven innings for the victory with the double plays helping him out of tight spots. Dennis Higgins finished up.

The Senators jumped on Sammy Ellis, who gave up three runs in his four innings. Howard scored Ed Strou in the first with a sacrifice fly. Torale Allen drove in a run with an infield hit in the second and DeWeaver a run with a twofler in the third.

Epstein hit a towering fly over the fence in right in the fifth inning following a single by Howard. The former was off Jim Weaver as was Howard's, solo shot in the sixth.

Crisler To Retire From Michigan Post

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Herbert O. "Fritz" Crisler, who helped lift college football from a "rah, rah" campus pastime in the 1930s into the modern multimillion dollar enterprise of today, retires Sunday as athletic director of the University of Michigan.

The 69-year-old Crisler, weaned on the gridirons of Chicago by Amos Alonzo Stagg and successor at Michigan, the legendary Fielding H. Yost, will be succeeded by Don Canham, long-time Michigan track coach.

Crisler, twice chairman of the NCAA Football Rules Committee and one of the few men ever named a permanent member of that body, spent 17 years as head football coach and athletic director at Michigan. He was a leader in formulating the NCAA television policy for college football.

D. Hawken Wins Golf Tournament

STANFORD, Calif. (AP) — It was Andy North's second consecutive chance to win the annual Western Junior Golf Championship, but Don Hawken of Tahoe City, Calif., did it by defeating Hawken, Brigham Young University student, beat North, 4 and 2 in the scheduled final 18 rounds of the 54-hole tournament Saturday, each is 18.

North, from Madison, Wis., was knocked out of the championship last year by Mike Goodart of Roswell, N.M.

The Brigham Young sophomore left North 1-up at the turn and increased it to 3-up after the Madison golfer missed short puts on the 13th and 14th holes.

Gibson Going For Record Monday Night

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Bob Gibson aims at one of Don Drysdale's pitching records Monday night. Don Drysdale will be aiming right back.

It was June 4 when the 6-foot-6-inch Drysdale stopped Pittsburgh 5-0 for his sixth straight shutout. The three-hit feat broke the major league record which had stood since 1904 when Doc White pitched five in a row for the Chicago White Sox.

Then on June 26, Gibson of the Cardinals spun his fifth shutout in a row with a 3-0 triumph over Philadelphia.

Gibson owns 48 consecutive scoreless innings, which puts him within shooting distance of the record 58 2-3 notched by Drysdale before the Dodger right-hander finally was scored upon June 8 by Philadelphia.

Drysdale takes a 10-4 record into Monday night's game with Gibson, who is 5-5.

National League All-Stars Staff Has 76-29 Mark

CINCINNATI (AP) — An eight-man pitching staff that posted a combined record of 76 (8-3) of St. Louis, Woody Fry's victories and only 29 defeats from Phillies and Jerry Kosman (11-2) of the Mets.

The four of them—Gibson, Drysdale, Kosman and A. Fryman—have earned run averages of less than two runs per game. Nationals picked five right-handers and three left-handers to oppose the American Leaguers in the game at Houston the night of July 9.

The pitchers are right-handers Don Drysdale (10-4) of the Los Angeles Dodgers; Juan Marchal (14-3) of the San Francisco Giants; Bob Gibson (8-3) of St. Louis; Tom Seaver (6-5) of the New York Mets and Ron Reed (8-3) of the Atlanta Braves who posted a 2.85 earned run average is the highest.

Marchal, Gibson, Drysdale and Seaver have been named to All-Star teams previously. This is the seventh time for Drysdale and the sixth for Marchal. Gibson has been named four times and Seaver twice.

Marchal has pitched 14 innings of All-Star competition and was the winning pitcher in one of the 1962 games and the 1964 contest.

Drysdale has a 1-1 record in 16 1/2 innings of All-Star competition. He was the losing hurler in 1959 and the winner last year. Gibson and Seaver have no National League All-Star games. Gibson has worked six innings and Seaver one.

Backing up that pitching staff will be the eight other starters already selected by a vote of the players and the remainder of the 25-man squad to be selected later by Schenck.

The eight starters will be Willie McCovey, San Francisco, first base; Tommy Holmes, Cincinnati, second base; Ron Santo, Chicago, third base; Don Kessinger, Chicago, shortstop; outfielders Pete Rose, Cincinnati, Curt Flood, St. Louis, and Hank Aaron, Atlanta, and catcher Jerry Grote, New York.

The American League pitching staff named earlier in the week consists of Detroit's Don Liddle, Oakland's John "Blue Moon" Odom, Sam Rice, and Luis Tiant of Cleveland. Boston's Joe Santiago, Mel Stottlemyre of the New York Yankees and Tommy John of the Chicago White Sox.

Pirates Use Error To Nip Phils

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Rookie Bob Moore fired a two-hitter and Maury Wills scored the game's only run on Bill White's ninth inning error as Pittsburgh edged Philadelphia 1-0 Saturday night.

Moore and Larry Jackson were locked in a scoreless duel until Wills opened the ninth with a single—Pittsburgh's fourth hit.

Gene Alley sacrificed—but Jackson got Willie Stargell for the second out.

Then Matty Alou grounded to first when White cut the ball off through his legs for a two-base error as Wills scooted home.

Beban Quiets Critics In Passing West All-Stars To 34-20 Win Over East

By RON SPEER
Associated Press Sports Writer
ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Gary Beban, king of last fall's college football heroes but snubbed in the first round of the pro draft, has quieted some of the critics who questioned his passing arm. The Helmsman Trophy winner from UCLA displayed a deadly passing touch Friday night and led the West to a 34-20 victory over the East in the eighth annual Coaches All-American football game.

Beban was only the 30th player picked in the draft by pro teams despite his impressive college credentials, with some pro coaches critical of his passing arm.

LARRY CONKA (83) East fullback of Syracuse and drafted by the Miami Dolphins, plunges through the West to score from the one in the second quarter of Friday night's Coaches All-American game in Atlanta. Conka, who scored twice, was named the game's most valuable player. West won the game 34-20. (AP wirephoto)

"I wasn't bothered about what people had said about my passing," Beban said. "But I wanted to do something about it."

"I'm satisfied now," added the dark-haired youngster who will play in the College All-Star game in Chicago later this summer before joining the Washington Redskins of the National Football League.

Beban hit 10-15 of 20 passes for 222 yards and two touchdowns, and his second scoring strike cracked a 20-0 lead in the game watched by a crowd of 21,120 in 80-degree weather.

The go-ahead touchdown was a 54-yard toss to Arizona State's Ken Byer.

Beban had thrown a 29-yard touchdown pass to Tulsa's Rick Eber earlier in the explosive game which ended with a 77-yard punt return by Jimmy Smith of Oregon which gave the West a 7-0 lead.

Minnesota's John Williams recovered a teammate's fumble in the end zone for another touchdown for the West, and quarterback Billy Stevens of Texas El Paso added the clincher in the final minutes on a one-yard plunge.

Larry Conka, burly Syracuse fullback, and quarterback Greg Landry of Massachusetts were the standouts for the East. Conka rushed 26 times—a record for the game—and gained 88 yards. He also caught three passes for 41 yards.

He scored twice on plunges and was named the game's most valuable player, an award Beban said "he probably deserves."

Landry hit on 16 of 24 throws for 180 yards, and scored the East's other touchdown on a two-yard plunge.

U.S. Player Eliminated From Meet

WALTON HEATH, England (AP) — Belle Robertson of Scotland, a matronly 32 with an amazing ability to make spectacular recovery shots, eliminated Shelley Hamlin of Fresno, Calif., last remaining U.S. player, in the quarter-final round of the British Women's Amateur golf tourney Saturday.

Miss Robertson defeated the 19-year old California-miss 2 and 1 after stopping Mrs. Anne Quast Welts of Mount Vernon, Wash., 1 up in the morning round over the par-75, 6,242 yards course which showed little effects of the week-long rains.

Peggy Conley of Spokane, Wash., only other U.S. player to survive Thursday's first two rounds, was sidelined by Mary Everart of England 4 and 3.

The three American girls left in medal play for Moslem Springs, Fla., where the U.S. Women's Open will be played starting Thursday.

Match play began Thursday with seven U.S. threats among the 64 qualifiers. Their complete collapse after winning the Curtis Cup from their British cousins two weeks ago, broke a tradition that goes back to 1948.

Yanks Split Twin Bill With Oakland

NEW YORK (AP) — Mickey Mantle's two-run pinch double in the eighth inning gave the New York Yankees a 6-4 comeback victory over the Oakland Athletics in the second game of a two-night doubleheader Saturday.

The A's won the opener 5-2 with Reggie Jackson's home run snapping an eight-inning tie.

Tom Tresh started the Yankees' winning rally with a long triple with one out in the eighth. Andy Kosco walked and then Mantle, swinging for Charlie Smith, doubled both runs home, wiping out a 4-3 Oakland lead.

The Yankees staked Fritz Peterson to a 3-0 lead in the nightcap on Roy White's first inning home run and a two-run single by Bill Robinson in the second.

Grand Slam Homer Gives Tigers Win

DETROIT (AP) — Jim Northrup's third grand slam home run of the week carried Denny McLain to his 14th victory of the season Saturday night and gave the Detroit Tigers a 5-2 victory over the Chicago White Sox. Northrup lined a wrong-field drive against the second deck facing in left field off loser Cisco Carlos, 5-4, after the Tigers loaded the base with one out in the third inning.

It overcame a 2-1 Chicago lead built on Bill Voss' two-run homer in the second.

Northrup now has four grand slams and 11 homers this season. Two of them came in one game last Monday at Cleveland. The major league record for a season is five, set by Ernie Banks of the Chicago Cubs in 1955 and Jim Gentile of the 1961 Baltimore Orioles.

Santo Keys Rally, Cubs Edge Cards

CHICAGO (AP) — Ron Santo wallpapered a three-run homer highlighting a six-run Chicago rally in the sixth inning that carried the Cubs to a 10-8 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals Saturday.

Santo's shot—his first in two weeks—helped the Cubs end an eight-game losing streak in St. Louis. The Cardinals had broken loose for six runs in the fourth and held a 7-4 lead when Chicago came back in the sixth. Santo, Adolfo Phillips walked with one out, raced to second on a wild pitch and scored on Al Spangenberg's pinch single. Decker and Billy Williams produced another run before Santo homered, giving the Cubs the lead.

Poor Campaign Asks End Of U.S. Price Support Programs

By DON KENDALL
WASHINGTON (AP) — One of the demands by supporters of the Poor People's Campaign in their crusade for expanded food programs is elimination of federal price support programs. Last week a group called "Women Strike for Peace" joined in and demanded that the Department of Agriculture solve the nation's hunger problems by dumping cash commodity support programs and using the money to feed needy families. "Why are wealthy landowners paid by the government to keep fields out of production while people are starving?" the women asked. The phrase "soil bank" has joined the lexicon of virtually everyone who has something to say about federal farm programs. It is particularly favored by those who want to exhibit flaws in the price-support structure. "Actually, it is an appropriate term," says Assistant Secretary of Agriculture John A. Schmittler. "If you consider that our commodity programs and subsidies to farmers are paid on the basis of not planting as many acres as they might otherwise," farmers receive government price supports—each subsidy price return for complying with restrictions on their crop production. Without the supports and restrictions, a farmer might plant 1,000 acres of wheat a year instead of 600, or 200 acres of cotton instead of 100. If the larger production occurred, the market price for the crops would drop, more farmers would be forced off the land and serious economic cracks would appear throughout the economy. A document popularly quoted by the Poor People's Campaign and its observers was drafted by the Department of Agriculture for Senate Appropriations Committee hearings earlier this year. The total direct payment made last year under the various federal farm programs was almost $1.1 billion, the report shows. Excluded are price support loans. But overlooked by many readers is a breakdown showing that of the total only 36 per cent was paid to farmers receiving $5,000 or more. About 60 per cent was paid to smaller operators who got less than $5,000. The remaining 4 per cent involved payments to nonfarmers such as vendors and contractors. Around $2.5 billion was paid to growers of cotton, wheat and feed grains. Other payments include those for sugar, wool and conservation. "The history of farm programs sooner or later has involved payments for not producing," a department spokesman said, "and this is the only way I can see to prevent surpluses from growing again." On the other hand, some farm leaders argue that the farm programs of the 1960s have failed, that the farmer suffered financially despite the subsidies and soil bank programs.

Church Asks Funds Be Transferred

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, has asked the Army Corps of Engineers to transfer hatchery funds budgeted for the Dworshak Dam Project to Clear Creek Fish Hatchery at Kootenai. Church said Friday the Appropriations Committee has provided no funds for the Clear Creek facility next year. The Dworshak Dam Hatchery cannot be operated by early next year, Church said, and the transfer "seems a logical solution to a serious threat to these great sports fish runs." Church also reported that federal money has been made available to two southern Idaho colleges. The Department of Housing and Urban Development has approved a $1,295,000 loan for student housing at the College of Southern Idaho. The money will finance a 155-student dormitory and a dining commons to accommodate 1,584 students. The Public Health Service has approved a $40.33 grant to Idaho State University. It will finance the second year of a three year health planning program, Church said.

SUN VALLEY — Rep. George Hansen told the Idaho Medical Association here Saturday that "malpractice" in government extends from the streets of America to the battlefields of Vietnam.

Elko Hosts Annual Event For Basques

ELKO, Nev. (AP) — Elko is the site this weekend of the annual Basque Festival — a time of gaiety and contests for the sturdy descendants of Pyrenees herdsmen. Many Basques, noted for their livestock handling, came to America in the 1870s. A large number of Basque now live in Idaho. The festival began Saturday night with a parade through town, and contests of sheep hooking and weight carrying at ram, where the boys' lives are on the line. We agreed to holidays — we tell the enemy we won't do this and we won't do that — and in general we give the enemy an advantage which is unheard of in a war where Americans are dying at the rate of nearly 400 per week. "Let's put the monkey on the back of North Vietnam and the Viet Cong where it belongs. Despite the malpractice of this administration, Americans don't deserve having the Albatross tied around their necks." This administration has tried every evasive political technique in the book. But one story is not being told nor lived. The real story of America is one which requires unity, courage and clear objectives. It's vital that we end malpractice in government before the patient expires.

Rockefeller Takes Case Before Texas Delegates

By CHARLES DUMAS
SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Gov. Nelson Rockefeller brought his case directly before Texas Republican delegates Saturday and reports Sen. John Tower will throw his presidential favorite son support to Richard M. Nixon next week. The New York governor flew here from Little Rock, Ark., to meet with the delegates at a private luncheon arranged by Tower several weeks ago. Rockefeller conferred first with Tower and other Texas GOP leaders in their downtown hotel. Newspaper accounts predicted that enough of Texas' 56 delegates will follow Tower's lead—if he declares for Nixon—to assure Nixon's nomination on the first ballot at the Republican national convention. Rockefeller declined comment on the report about Tower. But a close adviser contended privately that even if it proved true Nixon still will not have sufficient strength for a first ballot victory. The Texas delegation is pledged to vote for Tower on the first ballot as a favorite son. Rockefeller's recent strategy has been to encourage favorite sons to maintain their roles to keep votes from Nixon in the early going. Tower is said to be holding off his announcement until Monday because of Rockefeller's visit to Texas. Besides meeting with the delegates, Rockefeller came here to tour the HemisFair exposition and address a convention of a Latin-American citizens' organization. Rockefeller was questioned about the Tower reports in Little Rock and his response was: "When there is some statement from Mr. Tower, on the basis of which I could judge a factum determination, then I would be glad to comment." Earlier, during a television interview, the governor said he could not offer the late Robert F. Kennedy's Senate seat to New York Mayor John V. Lindsay because "the old Democratic machine" then would take over the city government. He added, afterward, however, that if Lindsay tells him he wants the appointment he will be given "prime consideration." Later a Lindsay aide said the mayor, of course, has not applied for the appointment and will not. FOR FAST-SELLING RESULTS USE TIMES-NEWS WANT ADS

Jarbidge, Nevada: It Was And Is A Gold Mine

By JAN ARTHUR SAINSBURY
Times-News Feature Editor

Between Twin Falls, Idaho, and Jarbidge, Nevada, there is a dirty, dusty, twisting road, the kind that makes you want to spit. Jackrabbits die on it. And its dust brown color is depressing. But the prize at the end of the trail, the fading town of Jarbidge, is worth the discomfort.

Travel south on 93 from Twin Falls, turn off at Rogerson and cross the Salmon Dam. From that point on for 60 miles or more there is nothing but sagebrush and dirt and ugliness. A few cattle dot the landscape, and a mountain capped with white can be seen in the distance, but for the most part there is nothing.

And then, finally, as the mountain gets closer and the dust gets thicker and the road gets narrower, shallow canyons begin to form and then within minutes the canyon is below and the road winds into it. And things change. The brown becomes green, and the ugliness becomes less, and the beauty becomes more. And the water seems to appear at the side of the road and follows the rest of your trip.

You enter Humboldt National Forest in Elko County, Nevada, and Jarbidge lies only a few miles ahead.

Jarbidge, Nev., about 125 miles from Twin Falls, has seven or eight residents in the winter months. During the summer the population swells to nearly 100, and often more. People come from Nevada, California and Idaho. Campers pull in for a day or two and are gone again. And the town remains essentially the same.

On the hill behind Jarbidge, a steep slope rising fast, the Elko mine sits quietly. It is decaying, and still. Windows are broken and old assay reports litter the floor, mixed with the dust of thirty years. A lonely swivel chair, broken arm and rusted hardware, sits without a person. And the assay reports of core samples are still there. Now meaningless. But at one time the samples spawned a thousand dreams.

Today, Jarbidge, complete with its sparse population, is an authentic mining ghost town. It is relatively unspoiled. There are only one or two places to buy hard or soft drinks, almost no facilities to provide food, and the only entertainment at night comes from a juke box in one of the rather primitive taverns. It is ideal for the photographer, the artist, or the sight-seer. It is a get-away-from-it-all place if there ever was one.

Jarbidge began in 1899 when the original gold discovery there was made by a man named Dave Born and his wife. They worked on a grubstake furnished by a Boise banker and ore from the mine received considerable publicity in San Francisco where Born took it to be assayed. A company was incorporated, and by March of 1910 nearly all of the ground around Jarbidge had been staked.

Supplies had to be taken in by pack mule up the middle fork of the BrunEAU River, 6200 feet above sea level. Supplies were packed from either Three Creek, or what was then Kitty's Hot Hole. The name was later changed, euphemistic it would seem, to Murphy's Hot Springs. Kitty's was located about 15 miles below Jarbidge.

Kitty Wilkins, the owner of Kitty's Hot Hole, was known then as the horse queen of Idaho and was said to have been seen often riding the range herself, and ran at one time from 1,000 to 1,500 burros in the Hot Hole country.

If you wanted to get supplies packed into Jarbidge, and there was no other way, the cost was 11 cents a pound. One story is told of a 700 pound tent packed in on a 1,400 pound mule. The tent became the Bear Creek Saloon, and shortly after the population of Jarbidge reached its high of 1500 persons.

The Elko mine was the real success of the camp, but other mines did well. The Bluster mine which ran after 1937 was one of the best. And the Success mine joined the Bluster on the north as another profitable venture.

The first road was a widened cow trail from Jack Hole in 1910, and in 1911 another was built from Elko, but snow made it impassable for many months out of the year. After 1917 the road was built to Twin Falls, Idaho. It is still nearly all gravel from Rogerson to Jarbidge.

The roads brought more people into Jarbidge. When the Elko mine was staked close to the first days of 1910, the man who staked it, Roy Riggsby of southern Nevada snowshoed in 25 miles from Charleston, over a 9,000 foot summit. He called the mine the "Long Hike."

An interest in the area was taken by the Guggenheim family in the East, and they took over much of the property in 1915 and 1916, and pumped much money into the town. Some estimates run as high as two or three million dollars.

As late as 1940 many were holding great hopes for the Jarbidge mines. Some said great strong quartz veins ran for eight miles through the district above the Jarbidge camp and were to be heard from "someday." The vein was said to be at an elevation of 9,000 to 11,000 feet in some places and that is given as the reason it was not prospected thoroughly. Fortunes are probably still sought by the streamers and the duffers in the little golden ghost town.

When the gold ore was being packed out of Jarbidge it was being assayed from $14.80 to $27.26 per ton from some of the mines. And the area's claim to actual gold mining fame cannot be disputed. In 1919 the Elko mine alone produced more gold than any other mine in Nevada. The full outcroppings in the Jarbidge camp covered a territory about seven miles long by four miles wide, and the mining territory was 28 square miles. The mother lode was traced. It was said, without a break for more than three miles, and virtually the entire territory radiated out from that mother lode.

But today the Elko mine is an apparent shell. Traces can still be seen of the Bluster mine, but most of the physical evidence that it was there is gone. The people who live in Jarbidge don't think of it as a ghost town. But in its own right, it is.

Jarbidge has always had one outstanding celebration which continues to this day. In 1911 the first Fourth of July celebration was held in the town, and there was dancing in the streets and hundreds of people dressed to go "downtown." The July celebration has survived.

It was revived last year by residents of Jarbidge who held what was to be their first annual celebration in the tradition of the old mining town. Money was raised to preserve the old Community Hall, and it needs preserving. It is quaint, delightful, and a part of the culture of the Old West.

This year further celebration will add to the coffers to preserve the old log building. Raffles have been held and dinners sold.

And rest assured, the Fourth of July will find Jarbidge far from being a ghost town. For one day, at least.

The Money Box

BY FRANK SCHELL

From M. L. B. Burley, Idaho: Will you please explain why some five dollar bills have "Federal Reserve Note" on them, and some "United States Note." I have a note which has the "United States Note" on it and it has a red seal on it. Is this a new note, just put into circulation, or what? Answer: I am sure you have had the United States Notes before—notes probably were looking very closely at your money and didn't notice the red seal.

The United States has issued "United States Notes," "Federal Reserve Notes," "Silver Certificates" and "National Currency" notes. All of these have circulated quite freely all over the country, but most people do not read the wording on paper money and consequently they are ignorant.

The United States Note was first issued about 1862. Various denominations were issued, called a "Legal Tender" note, of $1.00 up to $10,000.00 notes, the last of the $100 notes was issued in 1922, and since then the $200 notes have been discontinued, although the red seal $5.00 is still circulating.

Most of these red seals are issued on the East coast, hence not too prevalent here in Idaho, although tourist season generally brings them around. The seal is always in red color on these notes and the back of the note is green—"greenbacks" as they were called.

The obligation on this note reads "This is a Legal Tender for all debts, public and private." These notes are issued by the Treasury Department alone. The second note is the "Federal Reserve Note" and is backed by the various Federal Reserve banks, and issued by them.

At one time these notes were also issued to corresponding First National Banks around the country, and guaranteed by government bonds owned by these First National Banks and were signed by the cashier and president of the First National Bank of issue. Such notes were used by great many banks in Idaho and always have the name of the bank and the town of issue. Those were called "National Currency" and carried a brown seal, the same as the Federal Reserve Bank Note.

The other type of note was the "Silver Certificate" (now obsolete), which carries a blue seal. While at first glance, our paper money all looks the same, close examination will show you a lot of differences and this is what makes the study of paper money so interesting.

From L. C. Sun Valley, Idaho: I have a copper coin, about the size of a half dollar. On one side is a man with a sword and around him is lettered "Take the Responsibility" and on the back is what looks like a mule and around it the letters "The Constitution As I understand it." Is this a coin or for what is it?

Answer: You have what is called a "Hard Times" Token, issued just after Andrew Jackson retired from the presidency. His cancellation of the Bank of the United States caused inflation and created a depression in the United States. When the government suspended specie payments, a great many of these tokens were issued privately to be used as small change.

Some were struck in copper, some in silver. There are hundreds of varieties of these tokens and most of them are still obtainable in quantities. They range in value from a couple of dollars up to large amounts for the very scarce ones.

A great many tradesmen struck tokens at this time, some of them very closely resembling the current United States coin. The column wishes to thank Mr. Janicek of Murphy Hot Springs, for merchant's tokens he has sent. Also, we are still searching for tokens we have not seen. All information on such hickies will most certainly be appreciated.

(Questions on coins and currency should be sent to The Money Box, c/o The Times-News, Twin Falls, Idaho 83301.)

Mr. Greenwell has noticed that the birds have to take shelter while strutting in the wind so they don't get blown away. The Greenwells have four dark peacocks and two white ones. Wildlife officials say white birds are somewhat unusual but not uncommon either.

The beautiful peacocks are owned by the Greenwells, but they have provided a lot of enjoyment for and have become a part of the Paul community.

ALL WAS NOT LOST when the old peacock was killed by a car. Clyde Greenwell, Paul, holds the beautiful tail feathers salvaged from the sad accident. Several of the peacocks were killed by passing vehicles because they seem to prefer to roam around the busy county highway instead of the quiet road near the Greenwell farmhouse one-half mile away.

Life in MAGIC VALLEY

The adage, "When in Rome, do what the Romans do," appears to be the theory of six beautiful peacocks owned by Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Greenwell, PAUL.

The peacocks wander the Greenwell farm at will, eating grain with the cattle, eat hay with the horses, grass with the sheep and even race the sheepdog in his dish for the dog biscuit.

They are an agreeable bird and inexpensive to own—providing you are feeding a herd of farm animals already, as do the Greenwells. The birds roost in trees and create nothing but sheer enjoyment for everyone in the area.

Families often come to view the colorful attraction found at the intersection of 500 West-200 South on "Sugar Factory Road." Motorists frequently line cars along the road during "strutting" performances, which are usually done in the mornings and late afternoons.

Greenwell's peacocks appear fearless where highway traffic is concerned and many are killed by passing vehicles before they get very old. Although, the old father was 12 years old before he was hit by a car, which skidded nearly 100 feet before the impact, according to Mr. Greenwell.

The driver, feeling rather sick after hitting the bird, found Mr. Greenwell and expressed his regret in killing the peacock. The highway makes a dip in the area where the peacocks are located, making it difficult for motorists to see the birds crossing the road in time to miss hitting them.

Greenwells took the birds to winter in their yard located one-half mile west of the busy highway. But come spring, the flock headed down through the field to the other end of the farm. Apparently the satisfaction and pride received by strutting along a heavily travelled county road is worth the danger involved. The birds seem to get a certain amount of satisfaction and pride from strutting next to the highway between the home of Elaine Jones and Nylis Greenwell.

Mr. Greenwell said he now understands how the phrase "Proud as a peacock" got started. He said the birds strut, hold and show off to draw attention to the beautiful tail.

But after the birds shed their tails in August each year they also lose their pride and confidence and seem to suffer from an inferiority complex. They start hiding from people and become quiet until their new tail grows out several weeks later.

AS YOUR "MINISTER SEES IT"

"Playing It Cool"

By JOHN W. BOYD Pastor Seventh-Day Adventist Church

So this is the "mod" age! We are to have the "mod" virtues. It's really great to live in an age when the National Guard has to protect churches and other buildings in our nation's capitol; when it is unsafe to walk the streets of some major American cities by night, and perhaps even by day. Yes, what an age!

At the risk of being called a cynic, a pessimist, or an old-fashioned, I say it is time to consider some of the old fashioned good virtues and standards of our modern age. The ten commandments are too old-fashioned. "Whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap." Much of our social problems today are the reaping of seed sown for the last half century, or so. Unfortunately, responsibility for the laws of men are of less consequence. The result: the "new morality," increase of crime, riots, shootings. Still more unfortunate, we have religious leaders joining the revolt against lawful society, and teaching that we don't have to obey the law of God only the good ones. And still people wonder why we have assassinations!

As long as even two people live on the earth, the second part of the ten commandments is needed. As long as even one person and God exist, the first table of the decalog is needed; so it looks like God's law will be around for a while, yet.

People who do wrong really don't break the law of God; they only break themselves against it. It's like ramming your head into a concrete wall. The wall suffers no damage, but you probably would. Just so, for more than six millenniums now, the human family has been hurting themselves in self-destruction against God's law.

If we were wise, if we were smart, we'd find out that our lives and our society would be safer, better, happier, if we brought our actions into conformity to God's will, and this is possible for any Christian through the help of the Lord Jesus Christ.

Christ came to save us from sin—not in our sins. But you need His help. He declared, "Without me, ye can do nothing." It is time to wise up, before our modern irresponsibility huris us back to the Neanderthal age.

Group Of Educators Peers To Year 2000, Predicts Changes

By JACK MILLER

WASHINGTON (AP)—A group of educators peering toward the year 2000 predicts radical changes in the American size, general and learning in that generation ahead.

They foresee a greatly expanded system of education that would blend the wildly new with the distinctly old-fashioned to produce a higher level of learning and culture.

The thinkers, headed by Dr. Louis L. Bright, research director of the U.S. Office of Education, laid the groundwork for two federally financed "future centers" recently announced. One is to be run by the Stanford Research Institute, Menlo Park, Calif.; the other by Syracuse University in New York.

In a series of interviews, the educators emphasized that their goal—and that of the centers—is to determine possibilities rather than plans. But they generally envision a society 30 years from now in which:

- Children will start school around age 3 and continue studying regularly throughout their lives.
- Adults in nearly all work classifications, including professionals and top executives, will have to be retrained about every 10 years because of the outpouring of new knowledge and because machines and computers will be taking over their jobs.
- Most students will attend the equivalent of two years of college.
- Youngsters and adults alike will use new techniques and materials which permit them to learn on their own, in or out of school.

Traditional boundaries between school and work will be erased; work-study programs will be common.

Subject matter will emphasize general principles and methods of thinking and learning rather than specialized information that quickly becomes outdated.

Students will be taught more about how to express themselves, how to get along with others and how to live full lives.

Starting youngsters in school at age 3 is expected, Bright says, because research has shown that the learning experience of children prior to normal school age has "a tremendous and permanent impact on their abilities to learn."

He said the change should raise the learning capacity of most children and greatly improve the performance of youngsters from poor backgrounds.

The educators expect a great increase in the amount and efficiency of learning from use of a technique, now in developmental stages, called Individually Prescribed Instruction—IPI.

The approach, which many educators believe will have a revolutionary impact on education, is to provide materials specially suited for each individual at his stage of learning. This requires great quantities of materials and computers.

For better-tasting coffee, let your percolator perk once a week in just water and a little soap or detergent. This will loosen and remove the residue of coffee oil which deposits in the tube and crevices.

WORKING TOGETHER with migrants are students who are members of a group helping the workers this summer in Burley. The young people have organized a recreation program in the migrant camp providing a day care center for children who are too young to work. The students will remain in Burley until July 15 then change locations to Caldwell or a small town in Oregon to work with the migrants in the fruit harvest.

TALKING WITH MIGRANT workers in Burley are several students from various colleges in Arkansas who are members of the Baptist Student Union and trying to help and improve the lives of these people. The students are under the leadership of Gerald Cound who is Baptist Student Union director at Arkansas A and M in Monticello, Ark.

College Students Become Migrant Workers

By GARY STRODER
Times-News Staff Writer

Foregoing a summer of relaxing and vacation trips are 20 college students from Arkansas who have decided to try and make a positive influence on the lives of migrant workers in Burley.

These students, nine boys and 11 girls, are attending various state colleges in Arkansas and are members of the Baptist Student Union. The students are in Burley under the direction of Gerald Cound, who serves as a Baptist Student Union director at Arkansas A & M in Monticello, Ark.

Mr. Cound, who is in Burley with his wife and two children, was a Peace Corps member in Venezuela with his wife for two years. He taught for one year at the Navaho Indian Reservation at Crown Point, N. M., and taught physical education in the Corvallis, Ore., school system before his appointment with the Baptist Student Union.

Rev. Dick Horn, pastor of the First Baptist Church in Burley, commented on this program. "We had been interested in doing something with migrants in the labor camps. Mr. Cound came to Burley in February and had an idea to form his own group to work with the migrants. So we looked at the camps and laid the ground work and figured out what some of the problems would be of this type of operation. We distributed applications for students who wished to come. The group arrived June 6 and will be living and working with the migrants in this area all summer, remaining in Burley until July 15 then changing locations to Caldwell or Oregon for the fruit harvest. The students and their leader plan to remain with the migrant groups all summer.

The college students have organized a recreation program in the migrant camp providing a day care center for children who are too young to work. Before beginning this program the children were left to take care of themselves and sit in the back of a car or truck.

The Arkansas workers have provided a coffee house for people to relax and visit in. There are facilities for chess and checkers. The facilities are designed especially for the 16 to 25 age group.

Each Sunday morning the students hold a worship service in which, in an informal atmosphere, they sing hymns and feature various speakers.

The basic idea behind the student's help to the migrant workers is to do something practical to show their concern for the workers.

The students live in the cabins along with the workers and have received a wonderful reception from laborers who are grateful for the help the students have given them. At first, according to Mr. Cound, the people were reserved but soon developed a rapport with the student group. The cabins are about 10 feet by 12 feet or 12 feet by 14 feet and sleep four to five people. Mr. Cound and his family have one cabin and the students share four other cabins with one reserved for cooking facilities.

Rev. Horn feels there will be long range results from the student's efforts. For instance, the recreation program started by the students will, Rev. Horn feels, become a permanent feature of the camp.

One of the students has a sewing machine and has been teaching the women in the camp to sew; other students have been showing the workers efficient sanitary conditions and some have been helping children learn English and in return trying to improve their own Spanish. The response has been greatest in the under-30 age group, many of whom are high school graduates.

Shoshone Couple Attends Special Army Reunion

SHOSHONE — Mr. and Mrs. Claude Chess, Shoshone, were among those who traveled from 10 states to attend a rather unusual reunion at Ionia, Mich.

There were 26 Army buddies who met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles McDonald after 23 years since their World War II separation.

The event culminated six months of planning and real effort in preparation.

Mr. McDonald sent out tracers for the few whose addresses had changed and was able to locate most of the missing.

Those invited were of different rank, including Maj. Gen. Robert Linville, and Col. W. W. "Zig" Harvey.

Perhaps the most revealing part of the event, however, was the table of organization report McDonald gave the group who met at his home.

Taking the period Nov. 8, 1942 to May 8, 1943, he noted there were 28 officers and 685 men in the Third Battalion, Sixth Armored Infantry Division.

During that period 12 of the officers and 330 of the men were killed in action, two officers and 25 men were taken prisoners of war and 15 officers and 200 of the men wounded, to make a grand total of 650 thus accounted for.

There were 281 purple hearts awarded the men 23 of the stars and seven distinguished service certificates.

Accounting for the number that, for a remaining 28 to unite for a reunion after 23 years, Mr. McDonald felt was quite a success.

The group was activated at Ft. Knox, Ky., early in 1941. They landed in Ireland on June 13, 1942, went from there to staging area in England, through the invasion of Africa and Italy, reaching the Austrian border before the European victory.

They were flown back to Miami in July, 1945, and taken by train to Ft. Sheridan, Ill., to receive discharges.

Blaine Demos Set Picnic For July 21

HAILEY—Planning for a District Democratic pot luck picnic was discussed at the Blaine County Democratic Women's Club meeting Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Don Litzinger.

The picnic will be held at 4 p.m. July 21 at the Lee Berry home and the public is invited.

Special invitations have been sent Senator Frank Church; Dargell Manning, candidate for congressional representative for the second Congressional District; Jerry Morgan, candidate for State Senator for the 21st district, and Lee Schlender, candidate for state representative for the 21st district.

Mrs. Betty McDonald, re-elected president of the club, said "This will enable every one to become better acquainted with our candidates."

No speeches will be made. The picnic will be for visiting.

Mrs. Berry was named general chairman for the picnic. Committees are Mrs. Wayne Clark, Mrs. Mike Beltran, Mrs. Ray Brooks and Mrs. Florence Corti. Table arrangements; Mrs. Holger Albrethsen, Mrs. Lucretia Donahue and Mrs. Gene Drussell, menu; Mrs. Litzinger, Mrs. Evelyn Case, Mrs. Mary Habel and Mrs. Fred K. Povey, advertising; and Mrs. McDonald, Mrs. Charles Decker and Mrs. Frank Hewitt, special invitations.

Other officers elected at the meeting were Mrs. Ronda Hunt, vice president, and Mrs. Habel, secretary-treasurer.

Mrs. Clark and Mrs. Berry reported on the State Democratic Convention at Idaho Falls.

The National Convention, racial problems, gun control and strategy for the coming election were discussed. Donkey pins and dish cloths as fund raising projects were discussed.

Mrs. Brooks and Mrs. Corti were initiated as newest members of the club.

At the close of the evening Mrs. Litzinger served refreshments.

Art Students Learn Skills From Teacher

By WARREN GOSSETT
Times-News Night Editor

The ability to capture nature with a brush is a talent many desire but few take the time to acquire. Those that do take the time often find a lack of capable instructors. This was the case in this area until the College of Southern Idaho was established.

New practical art techniques are available through the tutoring of LaVar Steel, art instructor at CSI. Aside from instruction in painting trees, bushes, fields and even waterfalls, as several of the sessions were conducted at Shoshone Falls.

Mr. Steel guided the students through a maze of problems particular to watercolor, and at the end, all the students agreed that much had been learned and all were glad they had taken time to nurture their talents. (Times-News Photos by Warren Gossett.)

Families Getting Out In Tent Campers

A modern version of the covered wagon is hitching Mother to outdoor housekeeping. The message is, "Mother, no snakes, no worms, no soggy beds." New recreational vehicles such as tent campers provide everything from walk-in wash to nylon floors to four-burner ranges. Is Ma being wooed to the outdoors as a cook, floor mopper or outdoor companion? It's a little bit of all three, says industrial designer Andrew Kostanecki of New Canaan, Conn. He confirms that "the tendency to luxury in the outdoors—stillborn at the tenters in camping vehicles has Mother in mind" but it isn't because of cooking privileges. The outdoors has become a family enterprise, so why not make Mother comfortable, lie, relax.

Then too, it's one way to get certain men outdoors.

Some tent campers are automatic, unfolding at the turn of a knob—a function that appeals to enterprising men.

It isn't easy to design a camper to please the man who prefers hard work, Kostanecki explains. A great many rugged men—though unfortunately, the rugged men's numbers are dwindling—still want to live it up, trapper-like in the outdoors. We try to provide features that won't interfere with his feeling that he is in control of making camp. If he looks at the philosophy, he probably enjoys having more time to roam the woods, fish, build a fire or whatever. A man doesn't need to feel that being miserable and working hard is the only way to enjoy the outdoors.

Kostanecki is an outdoor man, himself, one reason why he has been interested in designing for the outdoors—stillborn at the woodland house, which won an award in 1960 and sent campers when he began designing three years ago.

One eight-sleeper, the hard-top Catalina (Trade Winds), has an automatic crank that pops up the double-decker 70-inch galley with range, stainless steel sink and 25-pound ice box below. There is a heater, a collapsible clothes locker and decorative accents such as walnut paneling, beige vinyl flooring, blue-berry-color cushions.

Kostanecki, who began his career with world-famed designer Henry Dreyfus and Elliot Noyes 10 years ago after graduation from Cornell, sizes up space and then designs elements to fit into it.

"It's the only way you can make space pay off, one reason why mobile homes are ahead of the building industry in space utilization. They have units to build compact space rather than relying on what is provided by architectural catalogs."

Kostanecki loves to sail but

MARTEL MORACHE, Regional Conservation Educator, Idaho Fish and Game Department, is shown viewing the beautiful scenery of the Selway River between Moose Creek Ranger Station and Selway Falls. There is an excellent trail along this section of the Selway and large, cutthroat trout are plentiful in the river. The Selway River is included as one of those in the Wild Rivers Bill passed by the U. S. Senate and presently being considered by the House.

Upper Selway River Makes Unusual Trip

By STUART MURRELL, Lewiston
Regional Conservation Educator
A backpack trip down the upper Selway River makes a beautiful trip. Opportunities for viewing wildlife and photographing it abound in addition to the spectacular scenery. During fishing season, which began June 1, large cutthroat trout up to 20 inches can be taken in the numerous, dark green holes. Whitefish are also abundant. There are numerous undeveloped campsites along the river including some nice sand beaches for swimming.
I had the opportunity to backpack the Selway River from Paradise Ranger Station downstream to Selway Falls the last week in April with four other members of the Fish and Game Department. It was a very enlightening trip and I learned much about the resources of the area and its problems.
During the trip of about 55 miles we observed 276 elk, 106 mule deer, 17 white-tails, 20 rufous grouse, one blue grouse, a coyote, numerous tracks of black bear, and a real rattle, a cougar.
In certain sections of the river steelhead could be seen migrating and several were observed spawning in tributaries and on gravel beds in the main river. We stopped and checked the three artificial spawning channels that we have constructed at Indian Creek, Running Creek and Ditch Creek. There are nothing more than ideal streams built with the proper sized gravel for raising salmon. At the mouth of each one there is a holding box so we can count the number of spring chinook that have hatched from our planted eggs.
We expect the first return from our Lewiston Dam on this program this spring. Many of the side streams, such as the Snake River, Snake River Creek and Bear Creek are fine steelhead spawning areas.
One of the things that impressed all of us was the clarity of the water. Even though we had rained the first night and day plus melting snow adding to the runoff, the Selway is the only stream in the Snake River system that still runs free and clear during spring runoff. The main reason for this is the protection of the Selway area. Bitterroot Wilderness Area affords to the watershed. However, when the Selway-Bitterroot was reclassified in 1963 a large chunk of over 400,000 acres was not included in the wilderness. In 1966, the Forest Service proposed logging 140,000 acres of this Area E as it is called. Biologists were concerned over the possible damage to the fishery resources due to all the logging roads. Twelve per cent of all the steelhead that enter the Columbia River spawn in this Selway. In addition, we have already spent over $12 million on anadromous fish in this drainage.

A special committee, appointed by the Secretary of Agriculture, indicated the Forest Service should take a second look at their logging proposal on the headwaters of the Selway. The committee stated, "It does feel very strongly that the further reading of the area as proposed by the Forest Service, would be hazardous with respect to water quality." Easily eroded soils were their main concern.
Another problem is apparent in the area from Moose Creek Ranger Station downstream to Selway Falls where brushfields are growing out of reach of big game and coniferous trees shading them out. This area has had a history of burns in 1910, 1919 and 1934. It is apparent that game along this section of the Selway could be benefited by a prescribed burning program, such as is presently being carried out along the Lochsa River in cooperation with the Forest Service.
Rafting the river is another method of gaining access to this area with people putting their rafts in at Paradise or flying into Shoshone or Moose Creek landing strips. Judging from the rapids we observed, only experienced boatmen should float this stream. It is full of large boulders and narrow chutes but small enough to swim out if you get dunked.
The area receives considerable use during the hunting season by hunters on horses and is known nationwide for its excellent elk hunting. The trails are good along the river and up Moose Creek and Bear Creek.
Backpacking equipment is somewhat specialized and I think it might help to enumerate some of the techniques of the sport. The first and most important is a good, well broken pair of leather boots. Most experienced backpackers you see will have faced to the fore boots with a good, well broken pair of leather boots. You can then adjust the laces clear to the toe for uniform fit and a minimum of movement inside the boot.
The next most important thing is a good pack frame and bag. The frame should be light, sturdy, and have padded straps and a "belly band" for fastening to your waist. The bag should be lightweight and preferably waterproof.
Clothing should be suitable for the weather you expect to encounter. I always stick a pair of lightweight longjohns in my pack since it gets cool in the high mountains even in the summer. Thick, wool socks over a pair of lightweight dacron or cotton socks work well and the rubbing occurs over the sock and not your feet and the shoe, thus avoiding blisters. A good hiking bag, in pad are very important. Again, they

Marine Story Continues Aboard "Helena"

Editor's Note: This article begins a series of articles on one-man-a-life-in-the-U.S. Marine Corps.
By FRED DODDS
Times-News Staff Writer
All parts in the South Pacific are alike, or nearly alike. Hong Kong harbor, resting between the sides of the island and the mainland, is muddy and jammed with Chinese junk, the kind people live in. A person born on the water, go to school, make a living and die without leaving the maze of wood that floats in the busy harbor.
Saigon, in 1957, was nearly the same. Yokohama and Yokosuka in Japan were similar and the many ports on the smaller islands, although miniature in scope, were like the big ones.
Performing the duties of an army officer, I was sent to all. The cruiser Helena sailed from one to the other with speed and dash.
This is where I left off more than a month ago in this series, and that being the case it seemed best to pick up the trail in the middle, nine months after I entered the Marine Corps.
The Helena is a giant ship and at the time was crammed with men. My duty was to keep the Seventh Fleet going from day to day.
The admiral, a gray-haired man about five foot 10 inches tall, had a master's degree and a soft but gruff voice. He lived in an air conditioned cabin under the bridge. The Chief of Staff's office, occupied by a Navy captain, was nearby and the Flag Lieutenant and Flag Secretary were in smaller cabins within shouting distance of the admiral's quarters. Everything happened in that portion of the ship.
It was at this nerve center, one night, that something happened. To this day I can't tell what the class which is usually covered in a round about way.
It was nearly 9 p.m. in Yokohama when the ship was in the harbor. Wilson, the admiral's driver, had gone ashore and was pleasantly drunk in one of the many bars near the sprawling Naval Base. The admiral was busy at his desk and at the time was crammed with men. My duty was to keep the Seventh Fleet going from day to day.

cause the chief of staff had gone to Tokyo to visit his family. "Yes Sir," I said, adding, "Sir, Captain... has gone ashore to be with his family." "Damn it," the admiral said. "Get a driver out to his hotel right away. Get him back here. In the meantime tell the Captain to get this ship under way." "I left the cabin and started across the metal hallway to the Captain's cabin. Before I got two steps the admiral called for me and returned to the cabin. He was putting on a pair of woolen socks and asked, "Did you get the Captain yet?" "I'm on my way, sir," I said. "I left again, gave the Captain the message, got flag pilot to call to hotel in Tokyo, then began to worry about Wilson. He would surely miss the ship and there wasn't anyone to drive into Tokyo to get the Chief of Staff." "I called my immediate superior, a Staff Sergeant, and told him the problem. "OK," he said. "I'll drive into Tokyo and get the Chief of Staff, you stick by the admiral." By then the tiny space between me and the admiral was filled with activity. Officers came running past in their bathrobes, and some even hurried by in their shorts, all of them carrying the Chief of Staff's bag.

Intermountain Arabian Horse Show Is Scheduled

Times-News Correspondent
FILER—Lovers of fine horses make the Intermountain Arabian Horse Show July 4-6 a first. There is a memorable experience in store for them.
Sitting in the grandstand and watching a band of riders in full Arabian costume ride by is a thrilling experience. The bearded men look regal and dignified in their colorful robes, and the ladies with their filmy garments and elaborate veils, are no less impressive. One can almost imagine oneself on the great desert watching a Bedouin sheik and his clan on the move.
Costumes for this class are as authentic as possible and as great deal of work goes into their making. Satins, velvets and heavy brocades are favorites and trappings of jewels and bangles complete the outfit. Since the Arabians never used saddles, the saddles used in this class must be completely covered with gay blankets or robes heavy with fringe and tassels.
The Arabian horse is conceded to be the progenitor of all eight horse breeds since the thoroughbred, the Standardbred, the American Saddle Horse, the Tennessee Walking Horse, the Quarter Horse, the Morgan and the Hackney all trace their lineage to original Arabian stock.
Hardness of the breed was developed centuries ago in the dry Arabian desert where horses learned to live with the extremes of heat and cold and to overcome the scarcity of feed and water. Since the Bedouin tribesmen did most of their fighting and raiding on horseback, the mounts developed responsiveness, hardiness and speed.

Although possessing extreme speed, the Arabian is not a specialized breed but has been developed for all-around use. To prove this versatility, the Arabian shows have classes for all the usual types of saddle work as well as harness.
Arabian horses are unexcelled as trail and pleasure horses but are equally at home on the ranch where they are used for cow-cutting. England trains the Arabians for jumping and for use in the hunting field.
Probably the most noticeable Arabian characteristic is the shape of the head, which is broad between the eyes, very small at the muzzle, and "dish-shaped" below the forehead when viewed from the side. A prominent forehead is another distinctive feature. The ears are alert and the eyes large and very expressive. The lower jaw combined with the delicate small muzzle, presents the desired wedge shape.
The Arabian is rather small compared to many other breeds. Because of his close association with man for many years, he is intelligent, affectionate and reliable. His gentle and willing nature makes him an excellent mount for women as well as men, and a good choice for boys and girls.
The Bedouins on the desert treated their Arabians as members of the family, keeping them near their tents at night. The Arabian does not require pampering though but rather becomes a trusted companion. Arabian horses are shown without any artificiality. The mane and tail are kept long, the forelock and chest lock are braided and no ribbons are used. Arabian exhibitors endeavor to show their horses as natural as possible with trimming kept to the forelocks, and the mane and tail tumbled up with any scraggly hairs removed.
A former misconception of Arabian horses being white with pink skin has been laid to rest as the Arabians are never "albino." Colors most commonly found are grey, chestnut, bay, brown and very, very black. White facial and leg markings are often seen in the breed especially on chestnut horses.

Archaeologists Uncovering Early Evidence of Humans

By DICK KLEINER
Times-News Correspondent
YERMO, Calif. (N.E.A.)—An air of quiet excitement and scientific anticipation filled the air as archaeologists dug for the earliest evidence of man's presence in the western hemisphere.
Here, too, all authorities felt that no manlike creature lived in this hemisphere before 20,000 years ago—at least, none had left any sign of life. But, at the Calico Mountains archeological excavation, there is something.
It was the internationally famous archeologist, Dr. Louis B. Leakey, who told the San Bernardino County Museum team where to dig.
The museum scientists had found some of the rocks that looked suspiciously like early man had chipped away at them. Leakey looked and was impressed. He visited the site—a dreary rocky eastern foot of the Calico Mountains in the Mojave Desert, 10 miles east of the ancient point to one particular spot and said, "Dig here."
For four years now, the museum has been digging. In fact, by now, they have created a deep layer of the soil, examined every pebble, classified every rock.
The National Geographic Society became interested in the work, and now sponsors it, jealously guarding their prerogatives. The Society permits no cameras on the site, and the press is discouraged.
But museum officials believe that some of the rock tools found buried in the soil here are more than 20,000 years old. No organic material has been uncovered—no bone fragments, no direct artifacts—but they still hope.
The rock tools are, to the archeologists, proof enough. There are ways they can tell that nature could not have fashioned the edges, the way they are formed. They are sure man made them.

Fresh Fruit Process Is Announced

By DON KENDALL
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP)—Would an orange by any other name smell as sweet or taste as good?
The Agriculture Department has announced a new process that will help give more fresh fruit flavor and aroma to processed citrus products.
The new process, says Dr. Mathew K. Velthuis of the Agricultural Research Service, provides 5 to 10 times as much fresh essence from citrus fruit peelings and processing liquids as from other methods.
He said use of the new orange essence in instant orange juice not only adds to the fresh fruit aroma but improved the flavor. Velthuis said the essence can help give more fresh-fruit appeal to frozen, instant, canned peaches, apricots, and other manufactured citrus products.

Predicaments Galore! But Don't Underestimate Women

By NORMA HERZINGER

HELP!—Another catastrophe! The word, "catastrophe," can take on a different meaning to almost every individual. But—the kinds I'm referring to—are the calamities a woman faces when she takes on the responsibilities of being chief cook, bottle washer, plumber, electrician, chauffeur, TV repairman, doctor, nurse—in short a "jack-of-all-trades."

Every member of the Military Waiting Wives Club can give sound testimony to the unforeseen adversities in day-to-day living when there is not a man around the house to share the responsibilities and offer a sympathetic ear or a shoulder to cry on when the going gets a little rough.

The Military Waiting Wives Club is a Y.W.C.A.-sponsored group for women whose husbands are stationed away from home in the Armed Forces. Some of them are wives without children, but most have the responsibility of small youngsters, which in itself keeps them on their toes.

They must be full-fledged mechanics to keep the toys in repair and know how to fix that bicycle chain or repair the electrical switch on the train set. With the smaller toys there is always the chicken pox, mumps, measles, etc., and time after time you can find them sitting up all night giving both, motherly and fatherly comfort to such illnesses.

Not all dilemmas are connected with children, though. Mercy, not picture yourself in their shoes. There's the time you find yourself faced with a flat tire on the old reliable sedan when you are out in the middle of nowhere—with not another soul in sight. After sizing up the situation, you go to the trunk of the car and begin to assemble a jack that surely consists of 15 different pieces, with as many different sizes and shapes.

Say you do get the jack together, what next? Chivalry is truly dead, because already half a dozen cars have driven by, eyeing the situation exactly, but, nevertheless, driving on by.

Or take that same reliable sedan that just up and stops—and, try as you may, it won't start again. This time though, you are in the middle of traffic with horns honking all around you, but no one offering a helping hand. So you and your two girl friends get out and push. You say it will never happen, that some good guy in a white hat will drive by and come to your aid. Well—it does happen, and much too often. Is it that everyone is in such a big hurry—all the time?

Then there are the times the bathroom sink won't drain and you attempt to don the role of a plumber. The wrench you have is 10 sizes too big and you are convinced it must weigh 10 pounds, but you labor with the inadequate equipment to rectify the problem. (If the truth were known, even with adequate equipment, you're not sure how to use it.)

The washing machine is always a good example. It is something the average homemaker uses each day—and invariably it breaks down on Sunday. One thing most "do-it-yourself" independents learn (after the first error) is to unplug the electrical device before attempting to use a screwdriver to make the needed repairs.

Every appliance seems to have a mind of its own and at times you feel it is all a part of a large conspiracy devised just to aggravate you.

Women alone are targets for many things including the insistent salesman, crank or anonymous phone calls, etc., or the hazards of everyday chores—that really aren't too difficult—but if you haven't done them before—problems could arise.

Take the gal who was mowing the lawn for the first time since her husband had been gone. The lawnmower ran out of gas. . . No one told her it has a two-cycle engine and required oil mixed with the gas.

Or the gal that was doing maintenance on her car getting ready for the winter season and drives her Volkswagen up to the service station and asks the attendant to put anti-freeze in the radiator.

Or what about the one that decided to wax the car. She had seen her husband do it many times before, so didn't bother to read the directions on the wax can. She decided to kill two birds with one stone, get a sun tan and wax the car at the same time. Needless to say—

Things aren't always so hectic and when you have friends in the same situation often you get together over a cup of coffee and even laugh at it all.

Never underestimate the abilities of women, though. Because when they set their minds to something and are working toward a common goal, to be reunited with their loved ones, all obstacles can be overcome. And the old saying, "They can because they think they can," certainly applies to members of the Military Waiting Wives.

The club was organized in October, 1946, by several women who found themselves drawn together by a common situation, a "misery loves company," type predicament.

Unlike other social military groups for women, in this unit it matters not whether your husband is an officer or an enlisted man—they are all serving their country and are away from home. As one member of the group said, "Our trials and tribulations are so very small compared to those endured by the servicemen. So we (husbands and wives) just make the best of everything until the time comes when we can be reunited."

What do you mean, this isn't the water pipe?

You did say . . . bumper jack?

. . . And they pushed, and they pushed, and they pushed.

Well, the wrench is adjusted—the rest should be a cinch.

Try this screwdriver, Mommie.

Good Grief! The motor fell out.

Local Catholic Women Hear Lutheran Pastor

BUHL — Rev. Henry Treit, pastor of St. John's Lutheran Church, Buhl, was guest speaker at the June meeting of the Buhl Council of Catholic Women. Rev. Treit explained the basic truths of the Lutheran faith.

The meeting was conducted by the president, Mrs. Robert McManaman. The group decided to hold a pancake breakfast at Eastman Park, with the proceeds donated to the "Light the Way" fund. Mrs. Pat Hamilton is chairman and Mrs. Tom Tappen is co-chairman.

Mrs. McManaman reported on the deanery executive board meeting at Jerome.

Hospital gowns, made from men's white shirts and rolled bandages, were shown. It was decided to make more before the September meeting.

Refreshments were served by the monthly committee, with Mrs. Rusty Johnson as chairman.

Poison Ivy At Peak During June And July

GLENN'S FERRY — "If it has three leaves, avoid it," advises Mrs. Marilyn E. Jordan, Elmwood County extension agent and economic agent. The plant is likely to be poison ivy. June and July are peak seasons for the shrub that causes skin irritation and swelling. It is prudent to recognize the plant and leave it strictly alone.

Children are the most frequent victims, but no age group and few individuals are immune. Poison ivy, also known locally as poison oak, is a shrub two to six feet tall. The shiny leaves occur in threes near the end of stems. The small flowers are greenish white, and the fruit berries are white. In autumn the foliage varies in color from green to delightful reds, becoming brilliant reds, becoming attractive color. Don't do it.

Toxic oil is produced in all parts of the plant. Contact with the skin generally produces inflammation, swelling and blisters. Do not touch the plant, Mrs. Jordan warned, and do not burn it. The smoke can cause severe eye irritation.

If exposed to this plant, repeated washings with warm water and laundry soap will often remove the oil. Tannin from boiled tea leaves will give some relief.

If there's a poison ivy growing in your yard, possibly your summer cottage or camp, you can eradicate it with weed-killing chemicals. Formulations contain 2,4-D, 2,4-T, aminolox, silvex, or ammonium sulfamate are the most effective.

FOR TENDER SKIN
Sun-kissed skin is tender skin that requires gentle cleansing. Pure baby soap made especially for tender skin is the way to cleanse your tanned complexion.

Golden Wedding Anniversary Is Observed

FILER — More than 200 friends and relatives offered their best wishes and congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Christ Frey, Clover, at their open house observing their Golden Wedding Anniversary.

Mrs. Frey greeted guests in a pink suit trimmed with gold accented with a white orchid.

Debra Gihring and Jeannette Frey, granddaughters of the couple, were in charge of the guest book and Barbara Gihring and Katherine Frey, granddaughters, took care of cards and gifts.

Ronald Gihring, Rodney Frey, Chris Haller and Paul Haller, grandsons, handled parking of the cars. All of the couple's children and 18 of their grand-children were present for the event. Guests attended from Pocatello, Idaho Falls, American Falls, Buhl, Filer, Hagerman, Twin Falls and Jerome.

The refreshment table was covered with a lace cloth over gold and centered with a four-tiered cake on a milk glass stand. The cake was decorated with gold flowers and leaves and topped with the numerals "50." Gold tapers in milk glass holders flanked the cake.

Mrs. Leo Gihring and Mrs. Rey Haller, daughters of the couple, were hostesses. Cake was served and coffee poured by Mrs. Martin Knipf, Mrs. Edwin Lierman, Mrs. Emil Linde-

Terri Robbins Is Married To Michael Spidell

Terri Lynn Robbins and Michael R. Spidell were married in rites June 8 at the Emmett Episcopal Church. Rev. Kale King officiated at the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Max Robbins, Rupert, are parents of the bride, and Mrs. Roy Grace, Hayward, Calif., and George Spidell, Los Angeles, Calif., are parents of the bridegroom.

The bride wore a street-length gown of white chiffon over white satin enhanced with a lace yoke and sleeves. Her headpiece was accented with a shoulder-length veil. She carried a bouquet of pink daisies.

Mrs. Richard Albertson, Burley, sister of the bride, served as matron of honor, with Rick Spidell, Hayward, brother of the bridegroom, as best man.

The couple resides in Rupert and plans to attend school in California this fall.

Carolyn Pence Is President Of Twin Falls Altrusa Club

Carolyn Pence was installed president of the Altrusa Club of Twin Falls during special ceremonies at a dinner meeting at the Colonial House.

A nautical theme was used by Margaret Watts, installing officer, with Margaret McCall as first mate. Other officers installed include Mary Helen Perry, first vice president; Adele Stoddard, second vice president; Jane Peterson, recording secretary; Norma Herzinger, corresponding secretary; and Ola Cannon, treasurer. Board members include Tine Hill, June Prater and Miriam Depey, with Betty Keiker a holdover member.

Dear Abby

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: We are a couple with four school-age children. Our problem is an old retired gentleman who lives next door. He just won't leave us alone.
 When the boys want to work out in the yard with their father, this old man comes out and talks to them. If they're planting flowers, he is right there, telling them how to do it. If I happen to be outside sitting with friends, he comes out and joins us.
 My daughters cannot even sun themselves without this old man coming out to sit with them. Abby, I hate to seem mean, but who needs an old man following you around and inviting himself over every time you go outside?
 My husband doesn't have the nerve to say anything to him, but if you tell me I should do it, I will.
PESTERED
DEAR PESTERED: The poor old gentleman is lonely, and he could also be getting a bit childish in his declining years, so be kind to him. Tell him, gently, that you and your family need a little more privacy. He may forget from time to time, but be patient, and remind him. One day, you, too, may be old and lonely.
DEAR ABBY: My husband is in the army and we are stationed 1,800 miles from home. My mother has offered to send the money for me to fly home several times as she wants to see me and her new grandson.
 My husband wouldn't hear of it. He says he does not want me going home unless he can go with me.
 Now my mother is going into the hospital for major surgery and she wants me home to be with her for a couple of weeks. My husband is up in arms and won't allow it. (We used our leave last Christmas and he can't go with me, so that's that.)
 I think my husband is selfish and unreasonable. I am just about ready to go anyway, but I hate to do it. What is your advice?
DEAR UNDECIDED: I think your husband is not only selfish and unreasonable, but he's also immature, tyrannical and shortsighted, and sadly insecure. If you can't make him realize that he is wrong in forbidding you to go to your mother in an hour of need, ask him to talk to an impartial party. The chaplain where he is stationed would be my Number One suggestion. Don't go without your husband's blessings, unless you don't want to come back.
DEAR ABBY: I'd like to add my two cents' worth about tipping: When I got to a hotel, for example, and see a "bell boy," who is a good 20 years older than I am, I feel like a heel for letting him carry my luggage.
 Then when I have to tip him a buck for doing a job that I am more physically fit to do than he is, I feel like a schnook. So what's the answer?
HEEL AND SCHNOOK: You'd feel like a bigger "heel" carrying your own luggage. Furthermore, don't judge anyone's physical fitness by his age. Most of the "old bellboys" are probably in better shape than you are.
CONFIDENTIAL TO RAMELDA: It's the same old story, you can wear out a mother, abuse her, neglect her, impose upon her and hurt her, and win her back with only four words, "Mom, I love you."
EVERYBODY HAS A PROBLEM. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 68700, Los Angeles, Cal., 90068, and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.
CHOOSE COLORS CAREFULLY
 How do you choose the color of your clothes? To follow the fashion trends too closely is not always wise. A color that's right for someone else may not be right for you. Choose shades that are most becoming to your own hair and complexion. Test your color-type by tucking fabrics of assorted hues under your chin (in the daylight). Stay with the ones that are most flattering.

If you are planning a switch from miniskirts to midi, make certain you are ready for the change. The current look is one of old-fashioned softness with new-fashioned charm and your hairstyle should reflect this.
 The word from many leading hairstylists is that the curly "Little Orphan Annie" style will sweep out the ever-popular straight ones. Others favor a midi hairstyle, neither curly nor both will be seniors at Phillips University this fall.

The ceremony was directed by Mrs. Beulah Shaffer, past Grand Matron. Halley, assisted by Mrs. E. L. Chaplin, Mrs. R. E. Neyman and Mrs. Alan Erwin. Gerald Martin, was soloist.

Special guests were Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Kevan and Rosemary Kevan, all Hansen, and Mrs. Mabel Budd, Hazelton, grandmother of the bridegroom. Out-of-state guests attended from Oklahoma, Kansas, Nebraska, Colorado, Germany, Florida and Michigan.

accompanied by Mrs. Merle Owsley.

Reports on the Grand Chapter were given by several who attended.

The committee will report at a later time on the time and the place for the summer picnic.

Guests attended from Wendell, Halley, Jerome and Cedar Grove, Wis.

Except for the summer picnic, meetings have been adjourned until September.

Refreshments were served by Mr. and Mrs. Newt Crawford and Mr. and Mrs. George Lenker.

SOFTENING TREATMENT

For those with dry, sensitive skin, try this soft treatment: Dissolve powdered milk (equivalent of one quart) into your bath water and add a half-cup of baby oil and two capsules of baby oil. Your skin will respond to this babying.

BEAUTY-TREAT FEET

Before a big night at the discotheque, give your feet this treatment to help them keep their comfort and cool all evening long. Pour about a half-inch of chilled baby lotion with built-in hexachlorophene into a pan and let your feet rest in the lotion for five or 10 minutes. Then massage your feet and legs with gentle upward strokes. The lotion will soften and soothe the skin and the hexachlorophene in it provides a natural deodorant.

Unit Officers Are Installed

Officers for the Valley Christian Church, Women's Fellowship were installed at a recent meeting at the church, with Mrs. Eddie Sutton as installing officer and Mrs. Dale Thompson, pianist.

Installation Held For Local Auxiliary

Josephine Wurst was installing officer when installation ceremonies were conducted recently for the American Legion Auxiliary at the American Legion Hall.

Arcilla Comness was installed president; Velma Treadwell, first vice president; Lavette Koutnik, second vice president; Esther Noble, secretary; Christina Petersen, treasurer; Lola Vice, historian; Rose Sinclair, chaplain; Arvena Jackson, sergeant-at-arms, and Adie Rudakovich, assistant.

An announcement was made that the winning poster, entered by Jay Bryan, ninth grade student, will be taken to the state convention.

A report on the poppy sale and rummage sale was given, noting proceeds will go for rehabilitation work.

Delegates to the American Legion state convention set for July 11 to 14 in Boise include Mrs. Comness, Mrs. Noble, Mrs. Koutnik and Mrs. Treadwell, with Mrs. Petersen, Izetta McCoy, Mrs. Jackson and Lena Kunkle as alternates.

A jeweled pin was presented to Miss McCoy, retiring president. Hostesses were the past presidents who presented the auxiliary silver candleholders for the tea table.

Margaret Wasko Is Married To Harry Lord

BUHL — Margaret Anna Wasko, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Wasko, became the bride of Harry Lord, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hal Lord, Rupert, in a double ring ceremony June 4 at the Buhl Catholic Church. The afternoon ceremony was performed by Rev. Thomas Heeran before a background of the cathedral's stained glass windows of blue and white tiles.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white street-length gown of dacron, fashioned in an A-line style and accented with pink and blue flowered panel trim from neckline to hem. Her elbow-length veil of nylon felt from a-tiara of tiny seed pearls and rhinestones. She carried a cascade bouquet of white roses and blue-edged white carnations accented with blue streamers.

Sandra Anderson, Pocatello, college roommate of the bride, served as bridesmaid. Jerry Swore, Pocatello, was best man and Milton Bullock, Pocatello, and Ronnie Kaercher, Buhl, brother of the bride, were ushers.

Nike Wasko, Moscow, a nephew of the bride, and Douglas Wasko, Warrenton, Ore., both brothers of the bride, assisted as altar boys.

Mrs. Ralph Assendrup, organist, played the traditional wedding music. Guitar Mass was celebrated with Mrs. Dave Monson, Diana Kaercher and Florence Wasko, sisters of the bride, singing. Marvin Kaercher, brother of the bride, accompanied the hymns with the guitar. A reception was held in the room of the church. The bride's table was covered with a hand-crocheted white lace cloth over blue. The three-tiered wedding cake was topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom and featured blue accents. The cake was baked and decorated by Mrs. Leonard Walcott, Buhl. Complimenting the table arrangements were blue fitted candles and an ivory border.

Mrs. Bessie Gilmore and Mrs. Agnes Hollinger, grandmothers of the bride, served at the reception table. Marilyn Lott, sister of the bridegroom, was in charge of the guest book, and Rick Kaercher, brother of the bride, was in charge of the gifts.

Packages of light blue rice in white net with blue streamers were given to each guest. Bridal-groom's cake in blue net tied with white ribbon was served. Corsages and flowers for the church were under the direction of Mrs. W. W. McCoy, Mrs. Denver Kinyon, Mrs. Gus Kudlac, Mrs. Fred Ringert and Mrs. Rudolph Petersen.

After a trip to Yellowstone National Park, the couple will reside in Rupert until returning to Idaho State University, Pocatello, in September.

The bride was honored at a shower hosted by classmates at Pocatello, and also at a shower at the Rudolph Petersen home, with Mrs. Leonard Leth assisting.

INEXPENSIVE LUXURY Luxury doesn't have to cost a small fortune. For a scented after-bath-rubdown, simply add a small amount of your favorite perfume to a bottle of baby oil and shake well. Right after your bath, while your skin is still warm and pores are still open, smooth the perfumed oil lightly all over your body. Let your skin absorb the oil for a few minutes, then towel off excess.

Beckie West, Hedrick Wed

MRS. WALLACE E. HEDRICK

Beckie West, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold West, and Wallace E. Hedrick, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence West of Twin Falls, were married in files June 28 at the First Presbyterian Church.

Rev. James Adams, assistant minister of the First Presbyterian Church, performed the ceremony.

The bride wore a Bianchi silk-laced gown, fitted, full-skirted, in an A-line with satin cut-away coat applied with pearl da-ange lace and seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of carnations accented with gardenia leaves.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Kathy Wheeler, Wallace, sister of the bride, with the Ames, Dennis, Nesbitt and Tammy Cliff serving as bridesmaids.

Howard Hedrick served as best man for his brother. Ushers included Tom Hedrick, cousin of the bridegroom, Gary Rasmussen and Mark Brown.

Sandra Bristow, Gooding, formerly sister of the bride, was soloist.

A reception was held immediately after the ceremony in Lindsay Hall, with Suzanne Hedrick registering guests. Kathy Kalpe and Connie Campbell, and Nannette Hedrick, sister of the bridegroom, and Ivy Broberg poled.

Special guests included grandmothers of the couple, Mrs. Edith West and Mrs. Lisa Engstrom, both Idaho. The bride and groom took a honeymoon trip to Yellowstone National Park and will reside in Twin Falls during the summer where both are employed and resume studies at the University of Idaho this fall.

A buffet supper was held after the ceremony, hosted by the parents of the bride and bridegroom at the home of the bride's parents.

Summer, Casual Shoes Feature Real Open Look

By HELEN HENNESSY NEW YORK (EA) — Fashion's successful ruffled and feminine look has worked itself into summer casual and sportswear categories with ease. Functional fashions for the coming months are sometimes touched with color, a ruffle or two. And because casual footwear is such an important accessory, it has had to keep pace with the new softer feeling.

Accessory footwear for active sportswear clothes is often functional and casual clothes demand shoes that are up-to-date in silhouette, color and texture.

Designers have come up with a special sandal group for summer with open toe and sling-back cuts. They included flatter, T-strap, panel and cross-over buckle designs. And a soft angle that follows the shape of the foot is finished with stitched extension to edge. Because these are in a quality canvas they are hand-washable and tend to keep bright and fresh all summer.

Bold colors offered in this group of sandals are yellow, pink, orange, blue, green and red. The neutral colors are a soft beige, white and black. They offer an excellent choice for wear with the range of summer fashions in prints, stripes, polka dots and clear solids.

Colorful sandals add the right accessory footwear note to ruffled-edged shifts and softer culottes.

Homer McClain of New Albany, Ind., wrote as a description of a humorist. H. Allen Smith quoted him in a book called "To Hell in a Handbasket." Lin said, "A humorist is a fellow who realizes, first, that he is no better than anybody else and, second, that nobody else is either."

Feathers Are For Birds - And High Fashion Designers

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON AP Fashion Editor NEW YORK (AP) — Feathers may be for the birds, but they are also for those with nest eggs plump enough for the likes of high fashion designers Donald Brooks and Pauline Trigere. Although they do not flock together, the feathers of ostriches, geese, pheasants and storks are due to flutter everywhere in a woman's wardrobe that may tickle her fancy.

This season is ornithology was a part of a week-long series of fall collection previews, which ends today.

Cock feathers, beige, speckled or white ostrich fronds, sometimes glistening with jeweled drops were used as sleeves, skirts, ruffs, cuffs and borders. Some had bodices of matching velvet. Others glowed with iridescent sequins.

Instead of fur, Pauline Trigere preferred to line coats with marabou. The bristling boss by the mile bounced around other costumes. A glitter for bare bottoms was another ticklish-fashion situation created by Trigere. Just as Brooks used feathers as fabric, Trigere treated leather as if it were woven by the yard. From it she fashioned bodices for gray flannel skirts which matched glove-like leather boots. Leather sleeves, leather for formal wear were more uses.

RUB OFF TOBACCO STAINS Fingers stained with tobacco look? Rub with a little lemon juice or hydrogen peroxide daily until the stains vanish.

Proper Care Of Wool Items Is Reviewed

GLENN'S FERRY — A lovely new wool garment deserves a good care. Marilyn E. Jordan, Elmore County Extension Home Economics Agent, suggests some ways to give it that good beginning. Give a new dress small under-arm shields and a back shield, or wear a shield that you can wash often. For a new coat, make shields of matching lining cloth. Sew them in under the arms where they will take the strain and the rub. Protect new trousers by sewing retrands inside, in the seat and knees. Heat runners around the lower edge of trousers prevent wear.

Let a garment rest after one or two days of use. The wool springs back and some wrinkles drop out, so less pressing is needed.

It's a good idea to brush a wool coat or dress after each wearing and let it air. Knit dresses and sweaters stretch if hung up. It is better to place them on a bed to air, then fold them for drawer storage.

On wet days, protect your wool clothes with a raincoat or umbrella. A soaked wool coat seldom is the same again. If wool clothes do get wet or muddy, dry them slowly at room temperature, never by a stove or radiator. When dry, brush them. The most important rule of all about spots is to remove as soon as possible. Prompt action reduces the chance of a permanent stain.

TRY BABY POWDER If you are a Miss Shiny Nose who has to repowder all during the day, try baby powder. Its supersorbency banishes the excess oil of your skin for hours.

Betty Canary's Wonderful World

I thought about it. After all, self-analysis and school reports it might be good reference material for journalism classes. I tried to do it but I couldn't. I couldn't find words describing emotions experienced when going through the mail, opening letter and reading. "I am doing a report in school on different ways of writing. Would you tell me if yours is humor or satire or what do you call the funny way you write?" It did bring back memories of an excuse I wrote for a child to take to school. The teacher wouldn't accept it because the penmanship was so funny she thought my son had written it. "I put emotions aside to answer the letter and help a Delaware boy with his homework. This wasn't as easy as it sounds being I dislike label pinning and besides, I had never thought much about the funny way I write. I found myself leaning toward the label of Humorist from the beginning because an editor said to me one time that humor is with the smile curved up and satire is with the smile curved down. BRIDGE

SUIT PREFERENCE ABUSED SIGNAL

The suit preference signal is one of the most abused, misunderstood and generally kicked around plays in bridge. Basically when you want your partner to lead a high-ranking suit, you would have had time to get rid of three of his four hearts. South didn't come up with this play but he managed to make six when the defense fell apart. South simply played ace and 10 of spades and covered with his jack. West took his queen and had to decide what to lead. East had played the nine of diamonds at trick one and proceeded to discard the jack of diamonds on that second spade.

West decided he was asking for a second diamond and obliged whereas South ruffed, drew trumps and made the rest of the tricks.

East wanted to know if West couldn't recognize a suit preference signal West wanted to know why East could not have spared the nine of hearts. East pointed out that the nine of hearts discard would have only set South one trick. With all hearts saved West could have led his ace of hearts and eventually used a small trump to ruff the fourth heart lead.

We are going to let them fight it out.

TODAY'S QUESTION
 You decide to bid four no-trump and your partner bids five clubs. What do you do now?
 Answer Next Issue

play a high card, while a low-card play asks for the lead of a low ranking suit.

Since from time immemorial you also play a high card to show strength in a suit and ask for a lead of it, and a low card to show weakness and ask for the lead of some other suit, there is plenty of opportunity for confusion.

South won the opening lead with dummy's ace of diamonds. He could have made 11 tricks at this point by ruffing a second diamond, leading a trump to dummy's 10, cashing the trump ace, returning to his own hand with the king of clubs, cashing his king of trumps and running dummy's clubs. West would ruff the fifth club but South

Young America's Date-Line
 By EILE AND WALT DULANEY

His Snooping Revealed Mom's Indiscretions

Dear Ele and Walt: I'll start by confessing I did something wrong; I snooped in my mother's dresser. I admit I was wrong, so don't bother lecturing me. What I need help with now is this: She has a stack of old letters there. I read them and they're pretty hot and there are some of them. Some of them are dated two or three years after my parents were married. I know it would kill my father if he ever happened to read these. He thinks she's a saint or something and is always lecturing me about how lucky we are to have her. I think the letters ought to be burned. But I can't tell her that or she'll know I read them. I thought of setting an accidental fire but I like her a better idea.

Dear Son: Don't try your hand at arson. There's no certainty you'll keep the house and that it would completely disguise your motive. If your dad hasn't snooped so far there's no telling how far he might go. The only worry then is that your mom might pass on before you and that in the process of going through her things, he Perhaps you might say lightly to her someday: "Got something you don't want me to use when it's our family now?" It might spur some housecleaning.

—Ele and Walt.

TO TYPE OR WRITE
 Dear Ele: I have an etiquette question. When can you type notes, and when is it rude not to handwrite them?—Tina

Dear Tina: You can find all sorts of complicated rules about this in etiquette books. I don't agree with them. If your handwriting is like Walt's, you do your reader a favor to type.

The sole exception is this: Letters and memos are always handwritten. For all occasions, I see nothing impersonal about using a typewriter; as a matter of fact, most people write longer, fuller letters when they type.—Ele.

SHE'S AFRAID TO ERR
 Dear Ele: I don't like someone who is afraid to see the good things NOT to do in their paper. I wonder if you can help me. What will you do about him?

It's like this with everything, Julie's best friend and I even pick my clothes and write my diary to impress her. I tell all the Julie never pushes her opinion or gets all tied up worrying about what I think. But I can't seem to think for myself. Julie is in the middle of my mind everywhere I decide something. Do I have to stop being with her to think for myself?

Dear Beth: You're timid, afraid to make mistakes and so you look to Julie's smile or from to relieve you of the burden of decision. Probably your self-confidence was undermined in childhood by super-critical relatives or teachers. Never mind the past, though; you can regain your own footing without expelling your friend from your life. Join a club, enroll in a hospital aid program, or take a summer school course where Julie won't be present. Then as a pro you can arise: "Should I accept this date?" or "Should I tell the supervisor?" ask yourself per habit, "What will Julie say?" But then this second question: "Do I really like this boy, dress, song, experience, etc.?"

Be willing to fail, but don't postpone decisions by year after year. Compare Julie's supposed feeling with yours, and then—You can do it.—Ele and Walt. Love, Ele and Walt.

Ask Them Yourself

FOR J. EDGAR HOOVER,

director, FBI
When was the "Ten Most Wanted Men" list started, and how many of the men on it have been apprehended?—Morgan Haynes, Troy, N.C.

● The list was begun on March 14, 1950. Its purpose was to enlist the aid of the nation's news media in locating badly wanted fugitives whose whereabouts were unknown. With the apprehension of Troy Denver Martin on March 19, 1953, 254 of these fugitives have been arrested—91 through information furnished to the Bureau by private citizens.

FOR ANNAMARIE HUSTE,

Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy's former cook
Is it true you may have your own to cooking show? Are you also writing a book?—D. N., Helena, Mont.

● My agents are talking with tv people about a cooking show. My book will be published by Bartholomew House next fall. It will be a cookbook—not a book on my service with Mrs. Kennedy.

FOR JOE CRONIN,

president, American Baseball League
Why do American League umpires use their chest protectors when their National League counterparts do not?—L. S. Perrett, Galveston, Texas

● The American League umpires have in favor of the outside protection. They feel there is more protection for the neck and shoulders against foul tips.

FOR DONALD BUKELOW,

assistant director, American Medical Association
How does the AMA feel about permitting fathers to be present in the delivery room at the birth of a baby?—Mrs. Ruth Lombard, Pacific Palisades, Calif.

● The AMA has no stated policy on this point. We recognize the hazards that could exist in a delivery room if an emotional and uninformed father interferes at a critical moment in a delivery that he did not understand. On the other hand, there are many physicians who believe that the birth of a child is a family experience which should be shared by both husband and wife. The ultimate decision is usually made by the hospital and the physician conducting the delivery.

FOR HILDEGARDE

Why did you decide to use only one name in your professional career?—R. L., Atlantic City, N. J.

● Hildegard Loreta Sell is my full name, but that plagued me. I tried writing in different ways to make it look better. The late Gus Edwards was responsible for me being known only as Hildegard. He said I needed a good, strong name, so I dropped the middle and last names and added an "e" to Hildegard.

FOR G. L. PAYNE,

president, Rose Bowl Association
What happens to all the flowers after the Jan. 1 anniversary of the Rose Bowl game?

● The flowers are mostly carnations. They usually are wilted and thrown away at the time the post-game parade is over. The precious rhinoceros orchids and the like are placed in plastic water-filled vials. These are still in good shape after the parade and are given to hospitals.

FOR HOPE HACK,

president, Tall Clubs International
How does the Tall Clubs International feel about the fact that the average man is 5 feet 10 inches tall in the stocking foot; a man's shoe is another 1/2 inch in size to 18, but topshoes worn by adult persons under 21 are 1/2 inch longer than the shoe?—L. S. Perrett, Galveston, Texas

FOR BUD COLLYER,

"To Tell the Truth"
I have heard that you are a minister. True?—D. X., Lowell, Mass.

● I am a lay minister, a member of the Presbyterian Lay Ministers Association. I preach and conduct religious services in Greenwich, Conn.

FOR ROALD BLAKEMEN,

president, National Academy of TV, RA & Sillness
How did the term "Emmy" originate?—E. H., Detroit, Mich.

● "Emmy," short for Image Girlchen, was suggested by the late radio pioneer Harry Lubcke.

The daughter of this world-famous star explodes many of the popular myths surrounding him and tells . . .

The Truth About My Father—Dean Martin

By CLAUDIA MARTIN

Claudia Martin and her father, Dino, have shared happy moments at home; now Claudia pursues an acting career.

YOU KNOW WHEN my father sings "Everybody Loves Somebody," he really means it. If Daddy had his way, the whole world would relax as he does.

He lives by a simple philosophy: make things easy for everybody—including yourself. It works, too. My father is so relaxed that tranquilizers act like stimulants on him.

Daddy is the hippest guy in the world, but he's kind of old-fashioned about his family. I guess that's his Italian upbringing.

The other night, for instance, we were out to dinner when a beautiful girl in a backless mini-dress walked by. My father gave her what could best be described as the Dean Martin look of approval.

Then he turned to my sisters and me and said: "If any of you kids wear something like that, I'll look you out of the house."

In other words, he's like most fathers. What he might leer at on other girls, he doesn't want his wife or daughters to wear. I think he would be happy if all of us joined a convent. It even took months for him to get used to his daughters wearing eye make-up.

When people learn I'm Dean's daughter, most of them will eventually get around to the question: does your father really drink? I have a standard answer: yes.

My father enjoys taking a drink and will take one or two while doing his tv show or making a movie.

But no one ever has seen my father drunk—not even his oldest friends. Daddy uses liquor; it doesn't use him. As he himself says, NBC isn't going to make a $34 million tv deal with a drunkard.

He is also the most naturally witty man I've ever known. His disciplinary lectures would make a good monologue for a stand-up comedian. But we get the message, nevertheless.

Once we were having a party with a live rock 'n' roll band. The noise was deafening. Daddy didn't order us to stop. He just called the Beverly Hills police and said he was a neighbor of Dean Martin's who couldn't stand that infernal racket. A couple of cops came by and asked us to tone down the noise. One of the "neighbors" had complained.

Daddy has seven children and has shown no favoritism with any of them. He loves us all equally, and he's really a soft touch. He never gave us any steady allowance, but then he never turned us down when we needed some cash, either.

As for discipline, he never spanked any of us, except maybe Dino. Boys often are a little tougher to handle than girls. He seldom is in a bad mood. About the only way we can tell that is when the jokes become less funny.

Golf is his profession, show business is a side line—the only difference being that his profession is costly and his side line is profitable.

Around the house, Daddy doesn't get involved in household affairs. He likes to eat but wouldn't be caught dead in the kitchen. Once he thought some trees were dropping too many leaves on the tennis court—so he had them cut down. It turned out that they were our neighbor's trees.

That was his last try at helping around the house.

He never involved himself much in our education, figuring that was our job and the teachers'. Once Craig, Dean's number-one son, got into a fight at school. Daddy went to the school—simply to make sure that Craig had won.

Another time Craig brought home a report card which showed him failing in woodshop. "So you won't be a carpenter," was all Daddy said.

But there is one area where he is very much involved. And that is our manners and how we behave at home and in public. He never wants us to act superior because we are a star's children or, worse, act ungrateful about anything.

In brief, our father wants us all to be naturally polite.

What's Daddy like at home?

He likes to play pool or watch tv. And he loves to have his family around him when he does it. If he had his way, we would all be in the living room every night with him. I guess that's the old-fashioned Italian in him, too.

He has a few phobias. He doesn't like elevators and would, if possible, sleep in the lobby of a hotel rather than the 10th floor.

I know he has a reputation as a swinger. But if you ever heard Jeanie trying to get him to dress up for a party, you wouldn't give two cents for that swinger image.

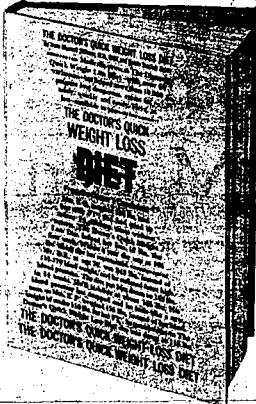

He fights all the way going, but when he gets to a party, he usually has more fun than anyone there.

It's nice having a father who loves his children so much that he always wants them around him. If Daddy had his way, none of us would ever leave the house. ▶

The Dean Martin Family

Claudia Martin, 23, unlike sister Gail, has been more interested in a film acting career than in singing. She has made several popular beach pictures. Dean's other children by his previous marriage are Craig, 25, Gail, 21, and Dana, 19. Dean also has three children by his marriage to his present wife, former model Jeanne Biegger: Dean Jr., 16, Ricci, 14, and Gina, 11. Dean recently finished "The Ambushers" and "How to Save a Marriage—and Ruin Your Life," for Columbia.

Get That Weight Off Quickly!

You can lose 5, 10, 15 or more pounds the first week!

Dr. Irwin Stillman's Quick Weight Loss Diet debunks the myth that the only way to lose weight is to lose it gradually. He proves with facts not theory that rapid weight loss is the most effective reducing method.

IN JUST ONE WEEK you can see the weight on the scale drop rapidly, and the fat melt away. Dr. Stillman's records show that...patients averaged a loss of 6 to 7 pounds in the first 3 days on the Quick Weight Loss Diet.

IN JUST ONE WEEK you can get rid of the pounds suddenly gained from too much "good living." Sudden slimming is yours with the Quick Weight Loss Diet.

IN JUST ONE WEEK you will be delighted and impressed by your decided drop in weight. If you have failed with other diets, the big loss of weight the first week from the Quick Weight Loss Diet will give you the confidence you need to continue.

DR. IRWIN STILLMAN developed the QUICK WEIGHT LOSS DIET in the course of his 45 years of medical practice. The diet has been tested and proved by over 10,000 patients. It works!

His first rule is: GET THAT WEIGHT OFF QUICKLY!

The diet helps you do that by burning up 275 extra calories of body fat a day! And that is the secret of its success. This diet requires no will power after the first week. As soon as you see that you've lost 5, 10, or even 15 pounds in just your first week, you'll have all the encouragement you need right from your scale.

EAT AS MUCH AS YOU WANT

The amazing thing about the Quick Weight Loss Diet is that you get all the nutrition you need...you do not count calories...and you eat as much as you want! Actually, by sticking to permitted foods, you put a "brake" on your appetite so that—without bothering to count calories—you eat far less than usual.

But should you suddenly feel the urge for a midnight snack, go ahead. You don't have to put up with hunger pangs. Nor do you have to feel guilty if you eat "a little bit extra." With permitted foods, you may eat as much as you want (but don't stuff yourself).

NOT JUST ONE DIET... BUT 61

In addition to the basic Quick Weight Loss Diet, there are 60 different quick-reducing diets that cover an array of emotional and medical needs. For example, there's an Anti-Acne Diet, Anti-Allergy Diet, 6-Meal-A-Day Nibbler Diet, Bread-Cheese-Wine Diet, High Fat/High Protein Diet, etc. And every one is a quick-reducing diet that allows you down in a hurry. If you're the type who must have variety, you can switch from one Division Diet to another...lose weight...and never eat a boring meal!

HELPS PEOPLE

WHO COULDN'T LOSE BEFORE

Hundreds of Dr. Stillman's patients were "veteran dieters"—people who have tried to lose many times before, and failed. Here are a few case histories:

MRS. F. G.—Five years ago she weighed 184 and was only 5'11". She had tried to reduce 14 times before without success, losing a pound at first, then gaining them back. With the Quick Weight Loss Diet, she lost over 10 pounds the first week, was so encouraged she continued eagerly. In a year she got to her desired weight of 105 and has maintained it ever since.

MRS. E. E.—At 5'2", she weighed 155 instead of her ideal of under 110. She vowed to reduce after overhearing people call her "butterball." In just two months she was down to an attractive 115. Letting up too quickly, she gained nine pounds in a month, went back to the diet, dropped back to 115 in two weeks, then to 110. If her weight goes up again, she knows that a few days on the Quick Weight Loss Diet will bring it down again.

MR. D. E.—He was 5'11", weighed 243 pounds and said he felt like an old man. He was only 52. His blood pressure was a dangerous 210/135...in 14 weeks he went down to 185 and his blood pressure dropped to a safer 150/100. He says he feels like a "new man." After holding this interim weight for a while he will lose about 20 pounds more, then stabilize at his ideal weight of 165.

WHY THE DOCTOR'S QUICK WEIGHT LOSS DIET WORKS

You, too, can lose weight fast. No matter how many times you've tried other diets and failed, this program will work. Everything you need to know is in the book, The Doctor's Quick Weight Loss Diet. Read it and you will learn:

- How to figure your ideal weight...
- What foods will start you losing at the amazing rate of 5, 10 or even 15 pounds a week.
- Dozens of hearty meats, fish, egg and cheese dishes which you may eat to your heart's content.
- Why this program works where gradual loss programs fail.
- Why calories count, but you don't have to count them.
- How to hold your ideal weight after losing it.
- Gourmet foods that help you stay slim.
- Facts to help "scare" the fat off you.
- How to help children, teenagers and the elderly to lose weight fast.
- Why overweight people must DIET, OR DIE YOUNGER!

HAILED BY REVIEWERS

"For example, the medical reviewer for King Features Syndicate, himself a physician, writes:

"This is a non-monkish approach to losing weight; it cannot help but work if you follow the [author's] directions...this book is probably the best medicine as well as the best friend a fat person could ever have...It also offers encouragement along with exercises. These two factors are as important as diet; the three together, written in such a pleasant style, set this particular book apart from being just another diet plan."

"This diet saved my life"

The author, Dr. Irwin Maxwell Stillman, was a "fat" over himself when he suffered a severe heart attack. Realizing that his life depended on losing 50 pounds fast, he used the Quick Weight Loss Diet to do it. His reducing method saved his own life and has kept him slim and vigorous ever since. Dr. Stillman is a Diplomat in Internal Medicine, has been Clinical Instructor in Medicine at Long Island College Hospital, and is a Fellow in both the American Geriatric College and the American College of Gerontology.

How to Spend a Summer Weekend—and Preserve Your Sanity

By GOODMAN ACE Author of "Book of Little Knowledge" and "The Fine Art of Hypochondria"

YOU KNOW those posters reading: "Send this boy to camp"?

Well, here is one boy who, with his wife, wants to be left to spend his summers in the city. And it is certainly no easy task fending off well-meaning friends with beach homes at the shore.

"You simply must come out this weekend and get some fresh, cool air," a hostess graciously invites. "How can you stand being in the city over the weekend in all that sweltering heat and traffic and fumes when you can come out here and relax with the ocean waves lulling you to sleep, where it's quiet and peaceful? Now why do you keep turning us down?"

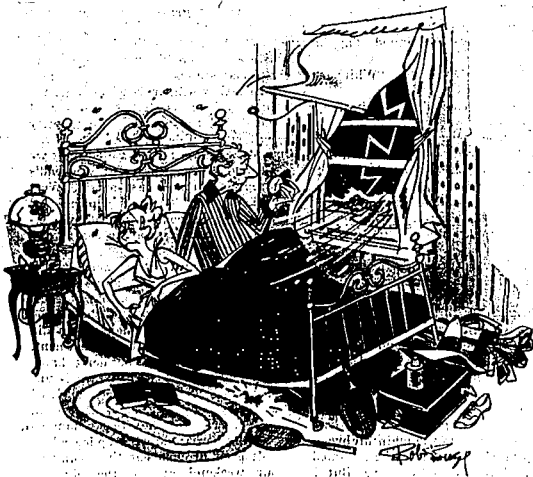

Well, all that ebullience is one reason. The other, and more important, is that this hostess and many others like her have not discovered the city during the summer weekends.

Shops are closed, streets are deserted, taxis are not only plentiful, they climb sidewalks and genuflect on their bumpers imploring you to take them. And besides, we have this terrace, high above the noxious fumes, and whatever breeze there is rifles softly through our awning without all the head-splitting noise of waves dashing against the rocks and the pillings of someone's pier.

In early spring, of course, we have our problems with the terrace. On May 1, all the pigeons in the world come flying to their own personal Capistrano, which happens to be our terrace. These feathered tourists check into our terrace with bag and garbage and voracious appetites, waving their credit cards as they come in for a landing.

We are on the Duncan Hines' list of preferred terraces. When they first arrived a few springs ago, my wife stood out there waving her arms and crying "Shoo!" Apparently in pigeon language this means "Welcome home."

One spring I was appointed house detective to throw out these unregarded guests. I searched around town and found something called "Pigeon Repellent."

Our pigeons were not repelled—they loved the stuff. They enjoyed it even more than the drippings of sultan oil which we left on our lounges. Sultan-oil drippings is their favorite meal. But it is not as filling as the repellent because an hour after eating the drippings they were hungry again. That, I suppose, is their chow mein.

That is why, in desperation, we came to accept an invitation to visit our friends for a weekend at the seashore. First I phoned them to say that we would rather come and stay Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday, and return to our terrace on Friday for the quiet and peace of the weekend in the city. The hostess was against. She had never heard of inviting guests for the middle of the week. It seems it was in the cook's contract that should prepare meals for guests on weekends only.

Then the host took over with the usual telephone instructions:

"Turn off at Exit 36 and go on till you come to a red supermarket. Turn right at the red supermarket. Go on till you come to a yellow filling station. Turn left at the third green light. Our house is a half mile south of that. Read it back."

I read it back, and the host said, "Roger, over and out."

Well, Admiral Penry never had more explicit instructions than that when he went for a weekend to the North Pole. I posted the instructions on the windshield, and, with my wife as a valuable copilot, we were quickly off and away.

By the time we had come to the red supermarket and turned right, then left, we didn't know our north from our south. So we drove back to the red supermarket to ask whither they handled compasses. They didn't. Did they have a phone we could use? They didn't. But we were told by a stranger there that there was a phone in a blue garage a half-mile west.

By this time I was color-blind, driving aimlessly about, passing the garage several times before we noticed it, nestled out of sight behind some brown trees. We phoned our hosts. They are always surprised to hear you're in a garage.

"Did you have a flat?" my host shouted.

"No, no, we just dropped in here to rest."

"How did you get there?" he wanted to know.

"It wasn't easy," I replied. "But here we are. Now where do we go?"

He commanded us to wait there and he would come in his car and we were to follow him to his house. He arrived with his two small sons, one three, the other five. I asked the five-year-old his name. He replied: "Andy." The three-year-old refused to be identified, and I assumed his name was Amos. Our safari finally arrived in time for dinner at this spill-level oasis on the ocean front, and our weekend began.

After dinner, we gathered in the living room to talk. The talk consisted entirely of listening to the small boys recite 1) the pledge of allegiance to the flag, 2) the Lord's Prayer, 3) "Jack and Jill," 4) "The Shooting of Dan McGrew." They did the last one in unison, with the three-year-old, who still refused to tell his name, finishing two lines ahead of the older one. Then it began to rain. "Only a summer shower," my host shouted as he closed windows all over the house. "Make a great night for sleeping."

We retired. Do you rhapsodize at or ever tried to sleep to the crackling croaking of a cricket in your bedroom throughout the night? Add to that the summer shower's lightning striking your pillow, thunder moving your bed, and the waves of the ocean, as if not to be outdone by a mere downpour, lapping at the door of your bedroom, and you have the picture of our first night there.

The following morning my wife and I came down to breakfast. Our hosts and their brood were nowhere about. The cook, a hulk of a lady who you could see felt put upon, came in to take our order.

"Do you want the small breakfast or the big breakfast?" she asked.

"What are they?" I said.

"The small breakfast is coffee. The large breakfast is coffee with buttered toast."

I took the small one. She seemed ecstatic. My wife ordered the large one. And as the cook went off to get my wife said, "Don't forget to leave her a nice tip."

Our host suddenly burst in. "Okay for tennis," he screamed.

If there was one word I wanted least to hear, that was it. I used to play tennis years ago. I really was quite good. I was too good. I had to give it up. When it came time to jump over the net, to shake hands with my defeated opponent, the top of my tennis shoes invariably hit the top of the net and I sprawled ingloriously all over the court.

Well, he dragged me out, and by the time we had slipped rackets to see who would face the sun, the sun, suddenly disappeared and (but, summer shower was back with us again. It was one of the happiest moments of my life.

Now we assembled for the indoor activities. That's when he spoke the second word I wanted least to hear.

"Okay, charades," he shouted.

"Mary and I will stand you and Jane," he proclaimed. "You go first, Honey."

Our hostess arose and, spreading her arms, began flapping them up and down at me.

"A bird," I said.

"No, you have to give the name," the host said.

"Eagle," I said. She shook her head. "A sparrow?" I asked. "Cockatoo? . . . red robin? . . . maybe woodpecker?"

"I was getting nowhere.

"A pigeon," my wife prompted.

"No," said the host, "you can't help him."

Our hostess continued flapping her arms.

"Bizzard?" I asked. "Whippoorwill?"

Suddenly a small voice piped up: "Lindbergh."

I looked down at the three-year-old. "I beg your pardon?" I said.

"It's Lindbergh when she goes to Paris in 1927."

The host grabbed his abridged version of the Encyclopaedia Britannica and pulled him screaming out of the room.

"He knows them all by heart," our hostess said. "We play the game so often, you see."

They do. With loaded dice.

The summer continued all that day into the night and into Sunday. As we prepared to take leave of our hosts, the sun came out in all its awesome glory.

Our farewells were something less than gay. Our host offered to lead the way for us to the main highway. In spite of all this rain, he assumed the highway was still there. But I refused his offer. I knew I could find the highway. As we got into our car, the two boys ran out to bid us. Goodspeed! The three-year-old felt the full length of his majestic 28 inches.

on the wet grass and set up a terrifying wail.

We departed as the father administered to the kid who was now in the last stages of a scratched knee. The father still insisted we wait for him to lead us, but I was sure I could find the way back to the city without trouble.

Much later that same evening we spent our first peaceful weekend's sleep in a motel just outside West Philadelphia. The red supermarket we had been looking for had evidently been washed away to sea by the summer showers.

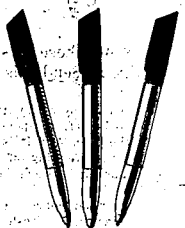

So now we are back home where the sun that doesn't shine on the beach always shines on our terrace. And when it gets too hot, there's the cool breeze in the shade of an air conditioner inside the apartment. And the stillness. You don't know what commingling with nature is until you've sat in the golden hush of a sunny city weekend afternoon, broken only by the steady hum of the refrigerator storing up ice cubes.

It even drowns out the cooling of our weekend guests, the pigeons, who, I must add, do not play tennis or any other games. They just eat and coo. And their cooing is not nearly as disturbing to the peace as a leg-rubbing cricket.

For an Exciting Vacation— Go Ocean Sailing!

A windjammer down the Maine coast, a schooner through the Caribbean—charter sailboating is the latest thing for landlubber and old salt alike.

By BEN MATTHEWS

DID YOU ever have the urge to go to sea, to leave the land behind and move with the wind and ocean into a world away from pollution, automobiles, and telephones?

If so, probably you were frustrated by not knowing just where to begin. You don't just buy a pair of nonslip boating shoes, a duffel bag, and foul-weather gear and become a sailor.

For out-and-out landlubbers, there is no more pleasant introduction to the joys of sail than a week on a windjammer, a great romantic relic of 19th-century commerce that plies the coast of Maine from June until late September.

Queen of the windjammer fleet is the Victory Chimes, a 200-ton, three-masted schooner that leaves the colorful port of Rockland, Maine, each Monday morning and heads east or west, up or down the coast, depending on the prevailing wind, to cruise the rocky coves and pine-shrouded islands of the rugged Maine coast.

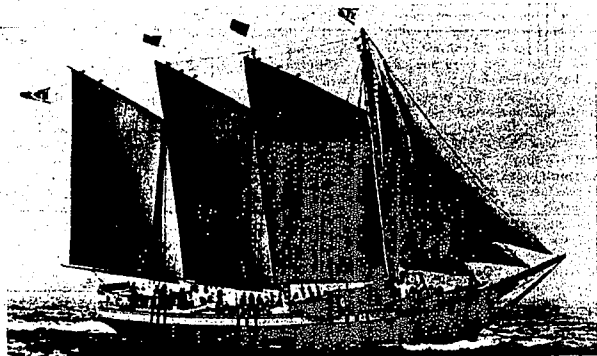

Under the command of Captain and Mrs. Frederick Guild, the Victory Chimes becomes a 132-foot floating world, stable enough for the queasiest landlubber, and there is very little to do but sleep, sun, read, swim, and eat. The price for the six-day cruise is only $175 per person for a double cabin.

The Victory Chimes has a counterpart in the warm waters of the Island of Jamaica, the 96-foot schooner Caribee. Owned by John Gusler, a retired businessman from Columbus, Ohio, the Caribee sails off Montego Bay, Jamaica, and is available for daylight charters at $10 per person for a two-and-a-half-hour cruise. On Tuesdays, Thursdays, and Saturdays, you can take a special 9:30 a.m.-to-midnight cruise at the low cost of $5 per person, including a floor show, calypso band, and deck dancing.

The Caribbean in summer, by the way, is a delightful place with moderate temperatures, reasonable prices, and no crowds. It is a favorite time for the year-rounders—and a favorite time for those who know about chartering a yacht, one of the rare bargains of today's travel. A week on a chartered yacht out of St. Thomas to sail the British and American Virgin Islands (or out of Antigua to sail the French Caribbean down the way to the Grenadines) offers some of the world's best cruising at nominal cost.

If there are four people (two couples or a family of four make an ideal charter group), the price averages $40 per person per day; food, drink, and crew included. You get a fine sailing craft, a skipper, and, perhaps, a cook-mate.

*Vacationers
enjoy modern conveniences and the thrill of the open sea aboard the windjammer, Victory Chimes.*

Most boats furnish skin-diving and fishing gear—and the snorkeling in the Caribbean is among the best in the world. You can help with the sailing or do absolutely nothing.

St. Thomas has several yacht charterers, most notably Blue Water Cruises and Island Yachts of Yacht Haven, St. Thomas. The best-known charterer in Antigua is VEB Nicholson and Sons, Box 103, Antigua, West Indies.

If you are interested in sailing charters in California, Florida, the Northwestern seaboard—or in the Mediterranean, Greece, or Yugoslavia, the best single source for you to know is Wakefield Fortune, 24 West 58th St., New York, N.Y., which deals with individual charters all over the world.

They arrange motorboat as well as sailing rentals. One of the newer ideas is to arrange what is called a "semiprivate" cruise. They get a party together for larger boat charters. So if you can't get friends to go with you, see what Wakefield Fortune can do.

If this exposure to life at sea with somebody else at the helm gets to you so deeply that you want to learn to sail yourself, take heart. In New York, Steve Colgate, a young former America's Cup race crewman, has established a school that is designed to turn you into a salt.

For out-of-townners visiting New York, the school is concentrated into four days at the course's shed at City Island in Long Island Sound. The price of the out-of-towner course is $115 per person. Four days after you begin, you are a sailor, able to handle a 27-foot keelboat.

The United States Coast Guard Auxiliary, a nationwide group of volunteers interested in boating safety, offers free courses in seamanship at almost any port big enough to send boats to sea. Their courses include such fundamentals as knot tying, rules of the sea, compass reading and navigation, and radio handling.

The most thorough course is given in eight lessons, nights and weekends, year round. For information, write Commander, Coast Guard Auxiliary, Third Coast Guard District, Governor's Island, N.Y. Or to the 11th Coast Guard District, Hartwell Building, 19 Pine Avenue, Long Beach, Calif.

Then, too, every yacht club in the country has a junior program for learning to sail. You have to be a member, of course, to enter your youngsters in the program, and there is a nominal charge. But if you are seriously interested in sailing, belonging to a yacht club is the best way to get the most out of it. ♦

The Fish Lure Guaranteed to Catch Fish... or it costs you nothing!

FISH GRAB MY HOOK WITHOUT CAUTION—Attack Ravenously!

Location Fishing Like Crazy

WORKS WHERE OTHER LURES FAIL

EMILE PLANES

By EMILE PLANES
(AS TOLD TO PAUL STAG)

Here is how I catch more fish than I ever caught in my life before... More fish than I ever dreamed of — and BIGGER fish than I ever suspected possible. Here is how you can catch bass, pike, perch, bream, trout, salmon, crappie, pickerel, walleyes and many, many other kinds of fresh water game and pan fish plus many salt water fish... the same way I do.

Since I invented my fishing lure, I catch so many fish, such BIG fish, and catch them so FAST, people gather to watch me. I've been followed FOUR TIMES in ONE day by a fish warden to find out if my methods are legal. But my entire secret is my fishing lure that's GUARANTEED TO CATCH FISH — or it costs you nothing. Yes, GUARANTEED to catch fish even when other lures or even live bait fails or no cost. My lure works in lakes, ponds, streams, salt water, saves you time, work, money and disappointment. It's ideal for amateurs, experts, trollers, casters, shore fishermen. My lure catches fish differently from anything you've ever seen before in fresh and salt water. Even veteran U. S. fishing guides have been surprised at its astonishing catches. And the French government itself has certified my lure by actual patent as UNIQUE.

An Underwater Discovery

I am a Frenchman, a science teacher, a skin diver and I have fished all my life. For years I have studied fish underwater — WHILE FISHERMEN ABOVE WATER were trying to catch

My Secret is My French, Patented Lure That Works in Lakes, Ponds, Streams, Salt Waters, Saves You Time, Work, Money and Disappointment

Perfect for Amateurs, Experts, Trollers, Casters, Shore Fishermen, All Kinds of Fresh Water Game and Pan Fish Plus Salt Water Fish!

What It Does For You!

- Catches More Fish
- Catches Almost All Kinds of Fish
- Saves You Money on Other Plugs, Bait and Lures
- Saves You Work of Catching Minnows
- Catches the Fish that Won't Bite on Worms, Bugs, Plugs, Spoons, Canned Bait, Flies, Cut Bait or Spinners!

them. What I discovered changed every idea I ever had about fishing and fish lures.

Lures Can Frighten Fish Away

I watched UNDERWATER exactly how fish reacted to every lure, live bait, every fishing maneuver and trick used to catch them. I watched fish approach even the best performing lures, even ABOUT TO BITE, then suddenly TURN AWAY. Something about even the best performing lures was obviously often KEEPING THEM FROM CATCHING fish. As for the average lure, mostly they seemed actually to BORE the fish — as though they looked to the fish as they looked to me UNDERWATER — shiny, painted bits of metal, plastic and wood. I saw live bait after it was cast turn white and die from my eyes — and saw fish often approach, then to strike — THEN TURN AWAY.

Minnows Irresistible

Then I saw the same fish approach actual live swimming minnows and without caution or suspicion STRIKE RAVENOUSLY. I saw the same fish that rejected the lure again and again attack without caution LIVE SWIMMING MINNOWS. In fact, these little minnows seemed to DRAW many fish from a distance — even before being seen.

Why Lures Often Fail

My talks with fish scientists and my own studies convinced me it was the swimming motion of minnows, particularly the swishing tail that attracted many fish, concluded that no lure I had ever used had SUFFICIENTLY duplicated the living minnow and its motion.

How, I asked myself, could a fish lure be created that would attract fish just as the actual living swimming minnows did — and that once attracted would get the same ravenous STRIKE as live minnows — WITHOUT the hesitation, suspicion and FEAR aroused by the lures I saw used?

My Man-Made "Minnow"
After 19 years of study and testing, I have finally created such a man-made "minnow", so like a living, swimming minnow in shape, form, texture and motion that fish ravenously STRIKE — without caution — and I catch more fish, bigger fish — faster than ever before in my life. Because my man-made "fish" looks, darts, wiggles, even "feels" like a minnow... bass, pickerel, pike, perch, trout and many other kinds of fresh and salt water fish attack voraciously — without suspicion or fear — even when they're not biting for another fisherman on the lake.

ASTONISHING CATCHES REPORTED

I call my lure VIVIF. Once I perfected VIVIF I started selling them to other fishermen. Soon news of astonishing catches came in — first France — then from other countries.

Yes, from all over come reports of amazing catches of fish biting where other lures failed — of the sureness, the simplicity, the effectiveness of this VIVIF lure. And what does this mean to you?

Simply this. Now YOU can get more out of fishing than ever before. Because YOU can catch more fish, bigger fish than ever in your life. It is GUARANTEED — or you pay not one penny. It means now no longer need you come back with an empty creel from a long day's fishing. It means no longer need you spend hours of work digging worms and catching minnows or other bait. It means you can save the endless expense of continually buying expensive spinners, plugs, bait and lures. It means you can often catch the fish that are not biting on worms, bugs, plugs, spoons, canned bait, flies, cut bait or spinners or no cost. It means you can troll, cast, or shore fish with my lure VIVIF. It means you can catch more fish, go out often and come back with large mouth bass, small mouth bass, pike, pickerel, perch, bream, trout, walleyes, salmon, red tute, striped bass, blue fish, weak fish and do it live and again over your money well refunded at any time. VIVIF is catching fish in 25 countries of delighted fishermen. 3,000,000 VIVIF's have been grabbed up. Already reports from U. S. fishermen say VIVIF is the greatest lure they have ever used. I predict VIVIF will be the world's fastest selling fish lure. But test the magic power of VIVIF yourself without risking a penny.

Fourth of July Patio Party

MELANIE DE PROFT Food Editor

Tuna Pizza, easy to make, is perfect for casual holiday entertaining.

■ Relax with friends on the patio while snacking generously on pizza and salad. Later bring on the ice cream with a cake besting this holiday celebration.

Tuna Pizza

Icy, cold cola beverage accentuates the full, rich flavor of tuna—have plenty on hand.

- 2 tablespoons olive oil
- 1/2 cup half slices of onion
- 1/2 teaspoon basil leaves, crushed
- 1 can (8 oz.) sliced mushrooms, drained (reserve 2 slices)
- 2 cans (8 oz. each) tomato sauce
- 4 cans (8 1/2 or 7 oz. each) flaked tuna, drained
- 1 pkg. (1 1/2 oz.) hot roll mix
- Olive oil
- 12 Mozzarella cheese slices
- Thinly sliced short green pepper strips
- Ripe olive, cut in half

1. Prepare two fish-shaped pans (see note); set aside.
2. Heat the 2 tablespoons olive oil in a heavy saucpan. Lightly brown onion in the hot oil. Add herbs and next three ingredients; simmer 10 min., stirring occasionally.
3. Meanwhile, prepare pizza dough from roll following directions on package. Divide dough in half and place each half in a fish-shaped pan. Pat out dough to fill pan.
4. Place each on a large baking sheet. Brush dough lightly with oil. Spoon one half of sauce evenly over each. Top with cheese slices. Use green pepper for "fish scales." Place an olive half on each pizza for the eye (see photo). Garnish each cheese slice with a reserved mushroom.
5. Bake in a 450°F. oven 15 to 20 min. or until lightly browned.
6. Serve immediately if desired, remove pizza from pans.

ful paper plates, bowls, cups, and napkins. 2 pizzas

Note: To make fish-shaped pan, design a cardboard pattern of a fish 20 inches long and about 12 inches at its widest part. Using the pattern and heavy-duty aluminum foil, cut out a fish 1/2 inch larger than pattern. Turn up 1/2 inch of the foil to form edges of pan.

Farmer's Chop Suey

Here's a tempting, easy-to-prepare salad of crisp, colorful vegetables with a dressing of snowy-white sour cream.

- 1 large firm cucumber, pared and cut in small cubes
- 1 cup sliced red radishes
- 6 green onions, sliced (including tops)
- 3 firm ripe tomatoes, cut in chunks
- 1/2 teaspoon Accent
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon pepper
- 1 to 1 1/2 cups dairy sour cream

1. Put chilled vegetables into a large salad bowl. Sprinkle with the Accent, salt, and pepper; toss lightly.
2. Spoon sour cream over all. Serve immediately. About 6 servings

Velvet Cake Cake

- 1 1/2 cups sifted cake flour
 - 1/2 teaspoon baking powder
 - 1/2 teaspoon baking soda
 - 1/2 cup butter or margarine
 - 1 cup plus 2 tablespoons sugar
 - 2 eggs
 - 2 oz. (2 sq.) unwetened chocolate, melted and cooled
 - 1 cup carbonated cola beverage
1. Sift the first 4 ingredients together; set aside.

2. Cream butter or margarine. Gradually add sugar, creaming until fluffy. Add eggs one at a time, beating thoroughly after each addition. Blend in the cooled chocolate.

3. Beating only until smooth after each addition, alternately add dry ingredients in fourths and liquid in thirds. Turn batter into 2 greased and waxed paper-lined 8-in. round layer cake pans.
4. Bake at 350°F. 30 min. or until a cake tester comes out clean.
5. Cool layers in pans on wire racks 10 min., remove from pans, and cool completely on racks.

6. Fill and frost with a white butter cream frosting. For flair, decorate top with well-drained maraschino cherries having stems.

One 8-in. layer cake

Banana Ice Cream

This double-rich ice cream, prepared in refrigerator trays, can be made days in advance.

- 2 cups cream, scalded
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 6 bananas with all-yellow or brown speckled peel
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- 1 teaspoon vanilla extract
- 2 cups chilled heavy cream, whipped (one cup at a time)

1. Stir the sugar and salt into the scalded cream to dissolve; cool.
2. Force bananas through a sieve or food mill into a bowl. Strain in lemon juice.
3. Mix banana and extract into cooled cream. Pour into refrigerator trays; freeze until mushy.
4. Turn into a chilled large bowl and beat until just smooth. Fold in the whipped cream. Return to trays and freeze until firm, about 2 hrs.

SCIENCE'S MIRACLE FORMULA THAT MAKES SKIN LOOKING AGED

Clinical tests by leading medical authorities prove that new Swedish formula with natural food ingredients solves the problem of lines, wrinkles, and flabby, dry skin — ACTUALLY MAKES YOUR SKIN LOOK UP TO 15 YEARS YOUNGER!

Before you read another word of this exciting news release... let us set the record straight on some startling medical facts just recently published. Briefly stated it reads like this: Thanks to new scientific breakthroughs, medical science now considers a woman of 60 to be just approaching middle age! — a woman of 45 to be just reaching her prime years of beauty — and a woman of 30 to be but a mere "newlywed" when it comes to the appearance of her skin! I know that at first glance this may sound overly optimistic on the part of medical science... but not when you consider the following events that have just taken place. Not when you realize that medical science has at last tracked down the 2 factors in nature that cause your skin to age — has found a new way to cope with them — and a new way to help reverse this aging appearance in just a matter of days!

(New York, N. Y.): At a dramatic new conference today, it was revealed to America how a leading European specialist disclosed that science has finally discovered how to restore youthful beauty to aging skin... and without the use of skin-damaged make-up, and beauty creams that only attempt to mask complexion problems, instead of solving them. The secret is a new scientific formula based on a new Swedish discovery. Yes, a totally new approach to the problems of aging skin — a chemical food formula that has been used in university tests, hospital tests and laboratory tests to actually make your skin look younger... up to 15 years younger. IN JUST 10 TO 30 DAYS!

Then right before the eyes of the assembled reporters and beauty editors, it was revealed how this world-famous scientist made a 39-year-old woman look 11 years younger with simple 5-minute treatments.

"IT WAS LIKE WATCHING A WOMAN GROW A FRESH, NEW SKIN."
After filling in the reporters on the background of the test-subject (39 year old Mrs. H. Dorland), we were told of the varied skin problems this 39 year old woman had suffered from in her 20's — problems typical of women 30 to 65. Problems like sunburn wrinkles in the forehead... deep, furrowing lines extending from nose vibrant youthfulness that you could hardly believe it had ever been tired, dull and dry. Yes, this new scientific discovery had transformed the 39-year-old Mrs. Dorland into a lovely 25. (Before our very eyes we had the distinct proof of how the actually looked 11 years younger!)

A DOCTOR EXPLAINS...
The amazing transformation you have just been witness to may seem like a miracle to unscientific eyes, but it is really a simple natural process based on medical facts scientists and doctors have long suspected... but only recently have finally proven — NOT a myth — moisture you

"You see, as we age muscles and glands beneath our skin start to shrink in size. Instead of staying firm and taut (like in childhood... they are soft and flabby... and start to collapse. As they collapse... hollows, lines and wrinkles form... your skin starts to sag and soon you are as plumped with those tell-tale lines and signs of age that broadcast your years to the world. What causes this skin tissue collapse?... NOT a lack of moisture you so often have been led to believe; because if only moisture was needed, you should simply rub the skin for an hour or two each day with a rich cream or soap and water. No — it is not moisture, but a gradual diminished supply of essential natural food ingredients you are able to supply to the tissues of your skin. In centrate of this Swedish miracle formula was applied directly to the skin it went to work in an amazingly short time to help restore the vital vibrancy of dull, tired skin... restore fresh, youthful beauty... and that dull, aged appearance of lines, wrinkles and crow's feet ONCE AND FOR ALL!

NOW LOOK UP TO 15 YEARS YOUNGER WITH THIS 5-MINUTE TREATMENT!

The name of this newly-discovered chemical food concentrate is NUTRIVENA B25... and never before has medical science been able to even approach the miracle results that: great new discovery delivers. Yes, whether you are only a woman of 30 who is first starting to disclose the first faint traces... lines... or even a grandmother who never believed you could look young again... here is the miracle that modern science now offers you.

If you are in your thirties you will see all those aging effects of lines, wrinkles and crow's feet start to disappear... MOST IMMEDIATELY. If you are in your forties... you will see that dry, sagging skin under the chin and neck start to appear... smoother, freer, lighter and tauter in a matter of days. And even if you are 55, or 60 or even 65 years old... you will see the harmful aging effects of sunburned lines at the nose and mouth begin to melt away... NOT IN MONTHS... BUT IN JUST 2 TO 3 WEEKS!... and you will be astonished to have people think you are actually 15 to 20 years younger.

NUTRIVENA B25 IS NOT YET READY FOR SALE... BUT FREE TRIAL SUPPLIES ARE AVAILABLE!

If like most women, you have spent fortunes on all sorts of creams, hormones, masques and beauty preparations without any real results... then you need a scientific approach to new-found beauty... one that has been medically proven can help you reverse 10 to 15 years of age... less than 30 days. Yes, you're old-fashioned... face creams, masques, etc. all fall because they cannot diminish ravaging effects of the aging process... they merely attempt to conceal them. NUTRIVENA B25 is the first scientifically sound approach to the aging process... an instant-acting clinical test for the treatment of aging skin. However, NUTRIVENA B25 is still so new it is still not available in the United States in retail stores... and will not come available until the middle of the summer. At that time, NUTRIVENA B25 will sell for $9.95... and well worth every penny. Because there at last is a thrilling new discovery for new skin beauty and new skin youth that REALLY WORKS. But if you would like to try NUTRIVENA B25 on a complete free-trial basis, without risking a single penny... if you would like to see yourself, in the privacy of your own home, how can you capture up to 15 years of your youth... here is all you need to:

HOW TO TRY THIS BRILLIANT NEW DISCOVERY ON A FREE-TRIAL BASIS — WITHOUT RISKING A SINGLE PENNY

Simply fill out the enclosed response-priority coupon. Then either send $5.00 or pay postman $5.00 plus C.O.D. postage on arrival. This money is returned to you, if desired, at the end of the 30-day trial period. But we must ask you for it initially as evidence of your good faith.

When your NUTRIVENA B25 arrives simply apply as directed to your face and neck. Make sure you don't miss a single spot... a single line or wrinkle... or the more complexion problems that may have been robbing you of your own God-given natural beauty. And here is that miracle that must happen:

In just days you'll start to see sunburned forehead wrinkles start to fade away... crow's feet begin to vanish... deep, ugly nose and mouth wrinkles become softer and smoother... loose sagging flesh under the chin and neck suddenly take on a new youthful, firm appearance. Yes, you'll see new youth restored to aging skin... new beauty in as little as 15 to 30 days... to your entire face. And remember... if you so desire, if you are dissatisfied in any way, you can get your money back at any time or at the end of the 30-day trial period. Simply send us a letter with the cap from the NUTRIVENA B25 jar requesting your $5.00 back and it will be immediately refunded. You keep the NUTRIVENA B25 as your gift... so you are not buying anything by trying... and it doesn't have to cost you a penny. Could anything be fairer?

But this offer can be severely limited... this offer cannot possibly be repeated... SO ACT NOW!

ALL LONG LAST — SCIENCE FINALLY SOLVES ALL 7 OF THESE AGE-REVEALING PROBLEMS

1. Lines on the forehead
2. Lines at the corner of the eyes
3. Lines around the eyes
4. Lines around the nose
5. Lines nose to mouth
6. Lines around the chin
7. Lines on neck, under chin to mouth... sagging, flabby skin under the chin... and the aging, thin, skin, with a series of clinical photographs he demonstrated their remarkable new discovery.

First, he disclosed how he took a soft white mixture from a jar and lightly spreading it over Mrs. Dorland's face. Notly patting it on — never rubbing it in — he massaged the mixture over the white mixture began to slowly disappear as it penetrated deep down into the woman's skin. Then he showed us actual slides made while he was treating.

First, we saw proof of how those stubborn wrinkles started to fade away... until that 39 year old forehead seemed as clear and unlined as a baby's. Next, the scores of unattractive crow's feet, appeared to melt away before our very eyes. Then the deep, ugly nose and mouth seemed to actually vanish in just a matter of hours... and her entire facial area was smoother, more even... softer to the touch... more satisfying to the eye. And then to our utter amazement, the sagging, flabby skin under the chin... the loose, aging flesh at the neck seemed to grow tighter, firmer... until the chin and neck looked like those of a woman of 25. And finally, Mrs. Dorland's entire complexion began to glow. It was such a other words, your body literally starves your skin into aging!

CAN NATURE BE CHANGED?

But what if medical science proved to you that with a new scientific food formula you could NOW actually diminish the ravaging effects of this aging process by actually restoring the youthful vibrancy to your skin. What if medical science demonstrated to you how with a thrilling new discovery compounded with natural food ingredients you could actually promote and encourage the appearance of fresh, new skin beauty... actually smooth away the scars, rough skin tissue that for years have been making the glow of your natural complexion... yes, actually revitalize and replenish the beauty of your skin so that all those lines and signs of age begin to vanish in an incredibly short time. And what would you say if medical science told you that this new scientific formula with natural food ingredients... put it into a chemical concentrate base that could be applied directly to the skin... youthful skin beauty began to bloom again on virtually every woman tested.

Yes, but all these tests and laboratory tests... when this powerful chemical con-
