WASHINGTON — A most extraordinary thing has happened in this extraordinary election year. Sen. Gene McCarthy has a reasonable chance of being elected President of the United States — not as a Democrat, but as an anti-politician.

Hubert Humphrey will be forced to make his run as a fourth party candidate. But in this extraordinary year, the prophets have discovered that they no longer can place their absolute reliance on mathematics.

Hubert Humphrey has enough delegates to win the Democratic nomination. But as Humphrey himself admits, most of his delegates are not legally committed to his candidacy by either primary or state convention.

On Aug. 26, and things could happen in that interval that could force the delegates to switch.

Communist dictatorship. But McCarthy seems to be offering the alternative of ruling with a policy which condemns X number of American fighting men to death or gambling that the South Vietnamese have not successfully resist a Communist takeover.

Violence And America

Fashionable polemics about a national state of violence are typical of the view-with-alarm school which in every age substitutes righteousness for reason.

Discussions of violence are meaningful only in terms of a general condition traceable to a series of identifiable causes.

There is considerable doubt, in fact, that violent offenses in the United States exceed those of past generations either here or in other nations, taking into account the scale, mobility and unrestricted habits of modern Americans.

One would think that violence is a recent phenomenon in the world, attributable to clearly understood causes. In comparison to years following the Civil War in America, one can marvel at the disparity.

Not only was the frontier marked by harsh and irregular standards but urban centers of earlier years displayed an indifference to human suffering which the more backward community today would find intolerable.

In New York City, 1865-1880, from 50,000 to 100,000 homeless children roamed the streets without public assistance or private concern.

Law and order in many areas were subject to personal vengeance and extra-judicial intervention. Lynching, by no means confined to the South or to black victims, was a frequent occurrence.

Political assassinations in the United States of the 1960s have shocked the world. They stood, however, for nothing more than the isolated actions of psychopaths acting on their own initiative.

Although four presidents have been slain and other public figures killed or wounded, nations of Western Europe historically the fountainhead of civilized enlightenment, have a history much more unpleasant.

Assassination of statesmen, monarch personalities and plain politicians have been so commonplace that only the more significant are even remembered.

Violence is no more a characteristic of the American society than student demonstrations are a characteristic of education. And to equate crime at home to U.S. involvement in Asia is as irresponsible as it is misleading.

India's Problem

India seems never to be without food problems. This year, with plenty of rain, more land in production, better hybrid seed yielding more grain, and the use of more fertilizers, India isn't facing famine.

Quite the contrary, it's getting so much agricultural production that the problem is how to handle it.

Wheat harvest, for instance, may garner more than 100 million tons of the grain, an increase of 25 percent over recent years. Now the problem is where to store it so the monsoon rains won't ruin it, and how to dispose of the surplus.

Government officials expect to sell much of it to rice eaters in West Bengal, but rice, too, has shown a great increase this year. The Bengalis aren't likely to choose wheat when they can have rice.

Also, India is committed to buying 7.5 million tons of grain, much of it from the United States, and this will further overload storage facilities.

Somewhat, this problem just does not tug-at-the-heart strings. The Indian government (and its American agricultural advisers) knew there was a good chance of an excellent harvest this year. It's inexcusable that there has been so little preparation.

This platitude turns into a big problem. The inflexibility and unrealistic application of U.S. aid and trade programs are illustrated in this example.

If India wants suggestions, the best place to store surplus grains is in the bellies of the poor of India, who seem perennially underfed, no matter what the harvest.

India had better, also, be looking toward reducing its grain purchases from abroad. That's going to create some problems for American farmers, perhaps, but it will have to be done.

And she'd better get to work building better granaries, and establishing some kind of processing plants which can hold this year's harvest for future use.

If India becomes self-sufficient in food — and under current conditions she could do so in two years — then she will have established a sound base for building her economy. She could take off like a jet rocket, and quit being a beggar nation.

But if she cannot handle this abundance of grain, and build sensibly, then the future looks dark for India. There might be more of a crisis than adversity has been.

Red Chinese Sub—A Threat

WASHINGTON — The Chinese Communists have built one missile submarine and may be preparing to build another.

That is the burden of intelligence reports presently under study at the Pentagon and already relayed to House and Senate military experts.

Red China's new submarine is conveniently powered with diesel engines. With that non-nuclear propulsion it does NOT rank as a sophisticated submarine by U.S. or Soviet standards.

Importantly, the submarine is built to carry ballistic missiles. For the present, while China's experts are perfecting intermediate range ballistic missiles (IRBM) and nuclear warheads, the new submarine is believed to mount short-range missiles of Chinese manufacture. Late last year Congressional experts were told of reports that Red China was building a Soviet type G2 class submarine. Such a vessel has, in the past, carried three missiles with a range of about 400 miles.

The new reports indicate that the Chinese have now demonstrated the technical competence necessary for construction of ballistic missile submarines with some, if not all, of the capabilities of the nuclear-powered U.S. Polaris subs.

Still to be determined is whether Red China's leaders, having built one submarine and proven their technical competence, will seek to build a fleet of missile-armed submarines. They face a decision on priority allocation of their financial and technological resources.

Since Communist China joined the nuclear club, with its first nuclear test in October, 1964, U.S. nuclear experts have been debating how the nuclear — and more recently, the thermonuclear-potential would be exploited. Some have predicted that the Chinese would seek to join Russia and the United States as a major power with intercontinental ballistic missile (ICBM) potential. Others have said Communist China would seek to secure its military position in Asia by building a large force of intermediate range missiles.

With the building of a missile-armed submarine a new weapon even a small ally employing relatively unsophisticated submarines, would be a big strategic plus for the Chinese Communists. Such a vessel would greatly complicate the strategic problems of both the United States and the Soviet Union.

Anti-Fortas Attack Crumbles

WASHINGTON — The reason the Senate Republican attack on a nomination of Robert Fortas as Chief Justice is crumbling under carefully regimented White House pressure is that from the outset it was almost entirely an instinctive partisan attack against President Johnson.

As such, there was not enough strength in the attack to avoid withering under the pressure, and the Senate probably will confirm Mr. Johnson's court appointments before his departure. Instead of gaining adherents, the original 19 Republicans who agreed to fight the nomination are breaking ranks.

To understand this, it is necessary to go to the source of the Republican opposition. Contrary to the avowed argument that Fortas is a Jew, it is necessary to get the future course of the Court, what really triggered the Republican Senator who was their catalyst, the switch of Fortas for Earl Warren, was a typical example of Presidential cronyism and there, by fair game for an election-year outrage.

These Republicans felt the decision to promote Fortas, Mr. Johnson's closest personal adviser, would mean the end of their political careers. Fortas, a U.S. Circuit Court judge, could be used to dramatize all the President's political liabilities. Moreover, it was the first chance the Republicans have had since March 31, when Mr. Johnson dropped out of the 1964 race, to cash in on their liabilities.

But such political reasoning was not sufficient to withstand the pressure that started the very day that Sen. Robert Griffin of Michigan, a shrewd Republican moderate in his freshman term, announced that he and the other 18 Republican would fight the nomination. Although the President's well-known capabilities for inflating have infuriated the Republicans, they have been effective.

The most blatant White House tactic has been to suggest the debate, wholly untrue, that Griffin and his allies are guilty of anti-Semitism in opposing Fortas, the first Jew to be nominated as Chief Justice. (The absurdity of this implicit suggestion is evident in the fact that one of the Republican senators — not Griffin — thought Fortas was a Greek, not a Jew, until he heard from prominent Jewish contributors.)

Special target of the White House pressure has been Griffin, who was so aroused he called a press conference last week to protest. Among those who sought to soften Griffin's attitude was Republican in-law, a major bankroller of Gov. George Romney's abortive Presidential campaign and a national leader in the Jewish community.

James P. Duss, the politically potent American Airlines lobbyist, urged Republican opposition to take off. High officials of other powerful companies, including former vice president John Biggs of Ford, made similar efforts in behalf of the Administration.

The White House has other resources. The possibility of rolling back appropriation bills against the disadvantage of anti-Fortas senators was seriously discussed.

Even without this campaign, Sen. Thurston B. Morton of Kentucky, one of the original 19, had detected. He now intends to support the nominees and to oppose any effort to filibuster the nominations to death before adjournment.

Several others among the 19 have no intention of engaging in a filibuster. Sen. Gordon Allott of Colorado and Sen. Clifford Church of West Virginia do nothing to prevent a vote in the Senate (although both are committed to vote no).

In fact, the very thought of a filibuster by Senate Republicans now seems implausible. With the Fortas nomination to be taken up by the Judiciary Committee today (Thursday), the willingness of Griffin and his dwindling allies to use parliamentary delaying tactics on the Senate floor won't become clear until after the committee vote, likely by Friday.

There remain only four weeks left in the session. Mr. Johnson now seems likely to get what he wants. The irony is that, if any President other than Mr. Johnson had sought to fill the Chief Justice job and one other vacancy in the Supreme Court in his last year in office, there probably wouldn't have been any fight at all. It is true that heavy White House pressure had to be brought into play to get the anti-Fortas filibuster of partisan arguments.

MR. SPECTATOR

Rules For Revolution?

Interesting bit of so-called information trickled across Mr. Spectator's desk the other day. It was supposed to be something that was dug up by George A. Brantigan, state attorney, state of Florida, and said to be the Communist rule for the party which is to be used by the Allied forces in May, 1910.

Reading through the "rules" reveals that, even that far back, one of the basic ones was to cause the registration of all firearms with a view toward later taking them over entirely and leaving the people without arms of their own.

Be that as it may, it does make for interesting reading, and so Mr. Spectator herewith prints the "Communist Rules for Revolution" for your edification.

Here they are: 1—Corrupt to young, get them away from religion. Get them interested in sex. Make them superficial, destroy their ruggedness.

2—Get control of all means of publicity and thereby: 1—Get people's minds off their government by focusing their attention on athletics, sexy books and plays and trivialities.

2—Divide the people into hostile groups by constantly harping on controversial matters of no importance. 3—Destroy the people's faith in their natural leaders by holding the latter up to contempt, ridicule and obloquy.

4—Foment unnecessary strikes in vital industries, encourage civil disorders and foster a lenient and soft attitude on the part of the government toward such disorders.

5—By specious argument cause the people to believe that moral virtues, honesty, sobriety, continence, faith in the pledged word, ruggedness.

6—Cause registration of all firearms and prevent, with a view to confiscating them and leaving the population helpless.

The note said that the attorney had secured these "rules" from a known member of the Communist party and that they are still a part of the Communist program.

So there you have it — for what it's worth.

TAXI It is probably a sign of our growing up. A change in government rules was made recently. Late working girls in government offices will be allowed to take their cars home and the government will pay the tabs, including 10 per cent tips. Some men will be included, when circumstances warrant, each case judged on an individual basis.

Up With The Feet

Dear Dr. Molner: Healthwise, is there any benefit in sitting with one's feet and legs elevated, as an old man I am told it is conducive to better circulation. A. C. L.

Generally speaking, we'd all be better off if occasionally we put our feet up and relaxed.

If you don't get the circulation in general throughout the body, but it certainly can help if there is any impairment of circulation in the feet and legs and that is usually the first place such trouble develops, if it is going to develop at all.

Why? Just the law of gravity. Blood can flow downward to the feet very easily — provided the blood that is already there will move back to the heart's pump.

There comes the rub. Blood that has flowed to, say, your big toe, has to be raised about four feet, more or less, to reach the heart.

If blood vessels have developed some flaws, if any degree of varicose veins has developed, if there is any interference in the circulation, the return of this blood from legs and feet becomes much more difficult.

If you don't get the blood back to the heart, lungs, and kidneys for purifying, then there isn't room for fresh blood to flow down.

Sitting with the feet raised merely means that the feet are a shorter distance for the blood to be lifted by your circulatory system.

Of course, a reasonable amount of exercise also helps. Sometimes other measures are necessary, such as the use of elastic veins so the work is transferred to other, healthier veins sometimes is urgent. Sometimes medication is necessary to help fully to stimulate faulty circulation.

But in answer to your question, yes, putting your feet up does every thing on your back and raising first on a leg and then the other) is a good way to encourage circulation.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have a spinal hernia, but also want to do some exercises (for my waist-line and posture). Do you think exercises, not strenuous, for such a hernia would be injurious to the hernia?—T. Y.

The answer depends on the extent of the hernia, and how much fat you have in your abdomen. Some folks with a hernia have discomfort in bending as well as lying on their backs. Try some exercises; if no distress, continue.

Dear Dr. Molner: Is it dangerous if you don't get a hernia have three or more that I have a black color. I am 18 and my mother says I should see a doctor.—Mrs. J.

I agree with your mother. See your doctor. Black moles, or moles that turn from brown to black, can be very dangerous.

Dear Dr. Molner: Our son, 20, is aware of his hernia and the doctor says he has too much uric acid. That's what causes gout, but he says gout is no longer associated only with the big toe, but with a lot of one's joints.

What causes uric acid? Can it be eliminated, and how? How serious is it? Is diet as well as medication important?—Mrs. W. H.

Gout has been associated with the big toe, because that is the commonest place for an attack. It can occur in any of the joints.

Excessive uric acid (which also contributes to kidney stones, and should be controlled for that reason), may result from a metabolic disorder, but the exact process is not yet clearly known.

Medication is extremely effective in relieving the pain, but level, but reasonable dietary restraint helps, too. For fuller details I refer you my booklet, "Gout, the Modern Way to Stop It." For a copy, send 25 cents in coin and a long self-addressed, stamped envelope to Dr. Molner, care of Times-News.

Nuclear Talks

WASHINGTON — Inspection undoubtedly will be the major stumbling block in the forthcoming U.S.-Soviet nuclear talks, as announced by President Johnson.

In these negotiations are to be made, the agreement, the United States would be well-advised to stop up sharply its already considerable research in four areas.

Long-range detection of underground blasts. Efficiency of U. S. "spy-in-the-sky" satellites.

Effectiveness of U. S. analysis of Soviet missile production and missile characteristics from the pulp analysis of U. S. launch factories and of empaced missiles.

Securing of data on Soviet missile improvements in advance of Soviet production and emplacement. The record shows the Soviet Union and Communist nations generally are not as forthcoming to permit on-the-spot or aerial inspections.

Insure of on-the-spot checks. President Eisenhower's proposal for mutual aerial inspection was rejected out of hand by Moscow.

In the Korean truce talks, the United States wanted aerial inspection for mutual aerial inspection was rejected out of hand by Moscow.

Senate Will Protect Idaho Water, Sen. Church Vows

Idahoans must look to the United States Senate for protection of its water, U.S. Sen. Frank Church declared Wednesday in Twin Falls in an address before the local Lions Club.

He said the Colorado River Bill, passed by the House of Representatives, will meet its final tests in the Senate.

"We must therefore look seriously into the problems generated by the bill which is designed to divert upper Snake River water into the Colorado River," he said.

"This means that Idaho must look to the Senate for protection of its water—once again. Fortunately, Idaho is the only Western state with both its senators holding ranking positions on the crucial Senate Interior Committee," the senator added.

"We have won this fight before and we intend to win it again this year," he pledged.

Sen. Church was introduced by George Fry, and the weekly Lions Club meeting was conducted by Herb Derrick in the Roundup Room of the Roper-son Hotel.

The Idaho senior senator, who seeks reelection this fall, told Lions that while industry should be encouraged in the Twin Falls area, it cannot compete with the outstanding agricultural production of this area as a basic economy.

Rep. Hansen Protests Gun Law Effort

POCATELLO — Rep. George Hansen, R-Idaho, recently presented to Rep. William M. Colmer, D-Miss., chairman of the House Committee on Rules, a strong statement protesting the enactment of federal gun legislation.

Hansen, who stated that his views were shared by an overwhelming majority of Idahoans, said, "I feel that the matter of gun control should rest in the hands of state and local authorities. At a time when many of the rights of the state have been usurped by the federal government, this further encroachment should not be allowed."

In the statement to the chairman Rep. Hansen said, "Conditions are not the same in Idaho as they are in New York. They are not the same in Idaho-Falls or Boise or Pocatello or Moscow as they are in Boston or Philadelphia or Chicago or Detroit. Therefore, blanket federal laws are not the answer to the problem."

Land Board Action Urged By Legislator

RUPERT — Sen. Mary T. Brooks, District 21, has appealed again to the State Land Board for emergency measures to prohibit tampering with the riparian rights of the Clear Creek Canyon and who has long been an avid supporter of Blaine County and Idaho.

The letter is concerned with the river conditions on the Big Wood River near Ketchum. Sen. Brooks said she had been working on that particular problem since the last Idaho Legislature and has testified in front of the State Land Board asking them to take action about the destiny of the fishes in the Big Wood River.

Mr. Bramble writes, "Once again in writing you concerning river conditions of which you may not recently have been apprised. In the town of Ketchum, besides Warm Springs Creek, near its confluence with the Big Wood River, there is an outfit engaged in making asphalt."

"The equipment is on privately-owned land. But the material used to feed the operation is being bulldozed from the bed of the stream. The result, of course, is that the water in the Big Wood is loaded with mud as far as Halley, some 10 miles down."

"While inspecting the above condition, I also walked to a delightful area through which the creek meanders, but no more. Bulldozers have blocked the natural course and the water is now in a straight flow between high gray banks. The beauty has been destroyed. There are no trout."

Mr. Bramble continues, "Several years ago I was fishing on the Big Wood with a friend, Walter Binson, from Phenix. It was an idyllic day and I remember Walter saying to me, somewhat whimsically, 'You know, I'd rather not catch fish on the Big Wood River than on any other stream I've ever fished.' He doesn't say that these days. Much of the quality of the course of the Big Wood river has been destroyed by bulldozers. And the river itself is dark brown."

"I hope, Mary, and hundreds of others hope, that this steeking condition can be corrected. I hope that bulldozers for commercial purposes can be kept out of the streams and that, as you have suggested, a permit be required for any other purpose," he said.

Roaring '20s Is Theme Of Burley Fete

BURLEY — "Roaring '20s" was the theme of the 20-year celebration of the High School Class of '48 held recently at the Burley Elks Hall.

Keith Stoker, Othello, Washington, gave the opening prayer, and a memorial service for the seven deceased members of the class.

In line with the theme of the reunion, the dance floor was decorated as an outdoor dance pavilion featuring old, light posts, ornate, painted furniture and a 1920 car and a couple dancing in silhouette. The Dale Piott dance band played from within a band shell effect.

Charles Loveless, Spokane, Wash., acted as master of ceremonies for the program which included a barber shop quartet, a rallying song by Barbara Norton Brown, a pantomime by Mr. and Mrs. George Pace Provo, Utah, and an authentically costumed "Charleston" dance group made up of Mrs. Gordon Blair, Mrs. J. Young, Mrs. Gene Stoker, Mrs. Manuel Gutierrez, Mrs. Chris Dietz, Mrs. Elmore Plocher, Mrs. Jack Snow and Mrs. Jack Karlsen.

This was followed by a "Gay '20s" swimsuit revue with models Dale Shelly, Mrs. Jack Frank, Mrs. Vaughn Hobson, Mrs. Lola Wagman, Don Wrigley, Larry Carlson, Marvin Miller and Mrs. David Lenzen, narrated by Mrs. Clark Barlow. Noel Bowcut and Mrs. Gordon Blair were general chairmen for the reunion.

Elected to the committee for the 1973 reunion were Merlo Sagers, Mrs. Clark Barlow and Mrs. Frank Urigen.

Historical Tour

People interested in taking a historical society-sponsored tour through the Featherfall area this weekend were reminded Wednesday that the tour starts at 12:30 p.m. Saturday at the Fairfield city park.

The tour group will visit the Fairfield Cemetery and travel to Featherfall for an overnight stop. On Sunday, the group will visit the ghost town of Rodey Bar and lunch in the Trinity Lakes area. The tour will end at Anderson Ranch Dam.

Those wanting to go on the tour must bring food and overnight equipment.

BERRY'S WORLD

"I promised my folks that if Johnson lets his hair grow long - I'd cut mine short!"

Passage Assured — WASHINGTON (AP) — A bill to provide more money to Oregon area schools has been approved by a House subcommittee and Rep. James McClure, R-Idaho, says the measure is virtually assured of passage.

Schools in the area are over-crowded due to an influx of construction workers on the Dwo-shak Dam.

"Coverups" Can Protect Children Against Sunburn

SHOSHONE—Mothers can protect their young children against sunburn and breezes of summer by making "coverups," suggests Miss Esther Nyström, clothing specialist of the University of Idaho extension service. The clothes for outdoor play can be coordinated with bathing suits.

Fabrics are the first consideration, Miss Nyström said. Terry cloth is excellent for a hooded robe. Choices include cotton terry, stretch terry, and velour terry in solid colors, bright prints and stripes. Select a bathrobe pattern one size larger than the child usually wears. You can decorate it with an applique or write his name across the back like a prize fighter's.

A simple poncho easily made without a pattern, can double as a resting and sun-bathing mat. Cut a crosswise slit in the center of a towel, and either line it with a gay print or finish the raw edges with colorful binding.

A child should wear a hat with a brim on blazing days; plus a coverup that is light and airy. A tie-at-the-sides pinafore in an eyelid embroidered fabric is easy to make. So is a sleeveless coat made of sheer lawn, voile, or dotted swiss. Choose a fabric that launders quickly and easily and requires no ironing.

It is important to wash these coverups as regularly as you wash bathing suits, and that means right after every use. Shake both the suit and the coverup to remove loose soil. Launder them in soap or detergent suds to remove sunan lotion, food and beverage stains, lake scum, or pool chlorine.

Today's Fashions Separate Wealthy Ones From Masses

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Fashion has always separated the rich from the masses. But never more so than now.

Induced by fall it will be possible to tell wealthy women not only by their furs and gems but also by the width of their skirts and the length of their sleeves.

The less expensive clothes will be bayer, lighter, and shorter.

This lesson in economics was taught Thursday as the New York Couture Group held its second day of fall collection previews.

Two years ago hardly more than 1 in every 1,000 women could afford to pay the prices of the high fashion houses—that is, more than $100 for a dress.

Tony there may be even fewer. Union wage contract increases will result in another 7 to 10 per cent hike in prices, said Vincet Monte-Sano, president of the Monte-Sano, Pruzan Coat and Suit House.

And as modesty increases, costs go up for the couture customer. Obviously it takes more fabric to cover a female from her throat to her wrists and at least to her knees than it does a minimum the amounts they use.

Mrs. Nelson Is Guest Speaker

Guests were Mrs. LaVern Hansen and Mrs. Carl Rosenbaum. Mrs. Gene Rühner was welcomed as a new member. The opening devotional services were led by Mrs. Don Arrhart and closing services by Mrs. Duane Einsparh.

Contest Set

GLENN'S FERRY — Girls planning to enter the Make-It-With-Wool contest should be selecting their material and pattern, advises Mrs. Marjorie E. Jordan, Elmore County extension home economics agent. "Don't forget to get the name of the manufacturer of the material and the wool content and show that it is U.S.A. wool, too," she reminded. District competitions will be held in the fall with the state finals at the Wool Growers Convention in Pocatello, N. V., 24 through 28. Idaho girls have won eight national titles in 20 years.

Dear Abby

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN should we call them? BETWIXT

DEAR ABBY: My husband is a physician who has just passed his 50th birthday. He tells all his male patients who reach 50 to "slow down." If they smoke, he orders them to quit or cut down, but HE'S a two-pack-a-day man. He puts all his overweight patients on diets, but HE is considerably overweight himself, and can't stay on a diet for two days. He insists that daily exercise is a MUST, but HE doesn't exercise at all.

He says that an annual vacation away from one's daily work is essential to good health, but HE hasn't had a vacation in six years. And this will floor you. He wants all his patients to have a three-checkup every year, but HE hasn't had one since he was in the service in World War II. What's wrong with him, and how can I get thru to him?

DOCTOR'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: He's human. He finds advice much easier to give than to take. You can get thru to him (maybe) by insisting that HE consult a colleague for a check-up. And if he refuses, ask him to keep paying those life insurance premiums, so you and your next husband can retire in luxury.

DEAR ABBY: My husband grew up in Kansas City, Mo., which is where we spent the first 12 years of our married life. There he got transferred to St. Louis. We still have lots of friends back in Kansas City, so we go there for week-ends and vacations quite often. My question: Should we call up our friends when we get to Kansas City or should they call us? Everyone knows in advance when we are coming and how long we're staying, because my husband's mother lives in Kansas City and she has a big mouth. Since our friends know we're in town and where we're staying, shouldn't they call us? Or places were toured during the camp including Shoshone Falls, Niagara Springs and the Fish Hatchery. They made first-aid kits, slippers, dunking bags, buddy burners and nature plaques. This group meets each Tuesday afternoon at the VFW Hall. All girls interested in camp should contact Mrs. Woodrow, leader, at 733-8379, or Mrs. Mary Bennett, Junior Leader, 733-8557.

Mrs. Martin Is Special Guest

HANSEN — Mrs. Sam Martin was a guest at the Latawah Club meeting at the home of Mrs. R. F. (Bill) Bailey. She was welcomed by acting president, Mrs. Grant Carlson.

The budget was read and adopted by the group. It was decided to dispense with the August meeting. When the meeting resumes in next September, the date will be changed from the first Tuesday of each month to the third Tuesday of each month. This will allow some of the members to attend the Twentieth Century Club in Twin Falls.

The acting program committee were asked to serve again next year. This includes Mrs. Clarence Hofffield, Mrs. W. C. Kluitz, Mrs. Carlson and Mrs. Thomas Steelsmith.

Mrs. Kluitz read an article on fishermen, and she read several articles about past members in old Latawah Club minute books dating back into the thirties, but mostly from 1946 through 1956.

Milk-Products Are Boon To Budget-Wise Shoppers

SHOSHONE — Milk and milk products are a boon to budget-wise shoppers because they contain more nutrition for the money than many other foods, says Mrs. Esther Wilson, nutrition specialist of the University of Idaho extension service.

For the weight-wise as well as the budget-wise, she says, you can't beat non-fat dry milk. It is particularly high in potassium, calcium and vitamins. It is convenient because it can be used in many ways and has especially no storage problems.

Evaporated milk with all the nutrients of fluid whole milk is popular food for infants. For ready use with last-minute preparation it has no equal.

There are so many fluid milks to choose among that one has to be well informed to know that all is not equal that comes in milk cartons, Mrs. Wilson advised. Consumers will do themselves a good turn to read and understand labels. There are va-

"You pays your money and you takes your choice!"

Remember how nice it was to have old Mr. Bailey (or Mr. Banducci, or Mr. Bernstein) say Good Morning? And ask about how the oldest was doing at school this semester? And tell you about his azeales and wasn't it a shame the way the Town Council was handling the park?

And maybe we forget that there wasn't any lettuce in the winter. That you had your choice of one brand of canned Salmon. That in the summer, the one sure topic at the dinner table was whether or not the butter had really turned too much to use.

The fact is, Mr. Bailey had the only game in town. He didn't have too much competition — and you didn't have too much choice.

These days, if your regular store doesn't have bagels or fresh strawberries or convenient parking or nice clocks or seven different kinds of snack crackers... well, you don't even stop to think about it — you just go to a store that does. That's the way the system works — "you pays your money and you takes your choice", including conversation, if you want it.

Buhl Couple's Anniversary Is Celebrated

BUHL—Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kucera celebrated their Golden Wedding Anniversary recently with a potluck dinner at the ZCBJ Lodge, followed by an open house at the Buhl First Christian Church.

During the potluck, held at the Fairview Hall, program was presented with Mrs. Tom Novacek serving as mistress of ceremonies. Sherry Escue presented a vocal solo accompanied by Linda Foukal on the guitar. Poems were read by Jan and Votrubra and Mrs. Walter Foukal. Vocal solos were performed by Michael Escue and Linda Foukal. Miss Foukal was accompanied by Penny Kusy. Mrs. Ludia Votrubra gave a talk entitled "Appreciation of Mom and Dad." Mrs. Oldrich Cejka gave a biography of the honored couple.

Four original members of the wedding party were present, and a corsage was presented to Mrs. Victor Huff. Corpus Christi was the theme of the wedding party who was not a member of the immediate family.

Mr. and Mrs. Kucera were presented with a gift from the group following the program.

A similar program was presented at the Christian Church fellowship hall where relatives and friends called between the hours of 3:30 and 5:30 p.m. Mrs. Blanche Smith served as accompanist at the church.

The reception table was covered with a lace cloth and centered with a three-tiered gold and white cake topped by the gold numerals 50. The cake was flanked by gold candles and the silver coffee service and crystal punchbowl completed the table appointments. The cake was baked and decorated by Mrs. Leonard Walcott of Buhl. Mrs. Walter Foukal and her daughter, Mrs. Lloyd Escue, were in charge of the decorations at the church and the lodge hall.

Guests were seated at banquet tables covered with white cloths and centered with crystal bud vases with single roses.

Mrs. Walter Foukal, Mrs. Lydia Votrubra, Mrs. Jerry Pait and Mrs. Joe Pait poured during the afternoon. The cake was cut and served by Mrs. Tom Novacek, Mrs. Lloyd Escue and Elmer Hixon. Mr. Kitch's assistants were ladies of the First Christian Church under the direction of Mrs. Al Kleinkopf.

Jan Votrubra and Linda Foukal were in charge of the guest book.

Special out-of-town guests for the occasion were the couple's two daughters, Mrs. Lydia Silverkhal and daughter, Linda, Silverkhal, Ala., and Mrs. Lydia Votrubra and family from San Francisco. Also present for the occasion were Mrs. Lloyd Escue; granddaughter of the couple, and her family from Birmingham, Ala.

Other out-of-town guests were Mrs. Sherry Escue; granddaughter of the couple, and other nearby communities.

All of the out-of-town guests in addition to the honored couple were entertained at dinner by Mr. and Mrs. Joe Pait, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Pait and Mr. and Mrs. Tom Novacek.

Jerome Couple Exchanges Vows In June Rites

JEROME — In a candlelight ceremony June 15, at the First Christian Church, Cathie Bentzinger became the bride of Robert D. Hopper. Rev. Harold Robbins, Eugene, Ore., performed the ceremony. The invocation was given by Rev. James Hughes, Twin Falls. Both are uncles of the bride.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bentzinger and Hopper is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Hopper, all Jerome.

The wedding marches were played by Mrs. C. Judson Smith, Moscow, who also accompanied her husband, C. Judson Smith as he sang, "Whither Thou Goest." The Lord's Prayer, and "Walk Hand in Hand."

Security baskets of lavender gladioli tied with white ribbons flanked by candelabra with white tapers, accented with lavender ribbons formed the setting.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a semi-fitted A-line gown of peau de soie, fashioned by the bride's aunt, Mrs. LeRoy Bentzinger. The sleeves were lace bell shaped and the gown had a lace waist train. Her veil of English silk tulle was held by a white lace rosette, made by Mrs. Florence King, Meridian. She carried a white orchid accented with white carnations and white ribbon streamers on a white Bible.

Carole Bentzinger, twin sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Janice Bentzinger, sister of the bride; Shirley Sheppard, cousin of the groom, and Mrs. Robert Rambo, Ore. Flower girl was Sherry Miller.

Kent Gochnour, Caldwell, cousin of the groom, carried the rings on a white satin pillow. Gary Snell, netted-as-best-man and ushers were Arlen Raugst, Larry Wampler and Cecil Wright, Twin Falls.

wedding bells backed with a white heart entwined with purple-velvet ribbon topped the cake.

The couple plans to attend college in Eugene, Ore. this fall.

Color Explodes At Designers' Swedish Event

STOCKHOLM (AP)—The International Association of Clothing Designers staged a veritable explosion of color at its semi-annual showing of men's fashions Tuesday night.

Some of the models looked rather like national flags. There was a British combination of bright red jacket, blue trousers and white shirt and a blue jacket with yellow trousers from a Swedish designer.

The show included designs from the United States, Great Britain, Sweden, South Africa, The Netherlands and Italy. But the emphasis was on American designs.

One American designer went back a few hundred years for inspiration and produced a jacket which started off double-breasted and ended up single-breasted in the back, with the lining in contrasting colors showing through in the Renaissance manner.

Pleats on jackets were omnipresent, usually in the back and often in combination with belts. Even the tailcoats which closed the show had pleated tails, a welcome novelty in evening wear. Inverted center and side vents were also a recurring feature.

Pockets were of all kinds—patched, hidden, slanted, cash, etc. One American designer had his built-in "suspender" in curves-in-harmony-in-design curves and presented a jacket with four crescent shaped pockets.

Collars were a little out of the ordinary. Several jackets had the Nehru collar. One very striking yellow tunic, worn with flared trousers, and matching scarf, featured the emperor collar, and there were also some interesting small variations of the usual jacket lapel.

Trousers emphasized the slim silhouette generally, trim around the waist, but sometimes they flared at the bottom, which were often slanted.

Dear Abby

By ADJGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My husband is a physician who has just passed his 50th birthday.

He tells all his male patients who reach 50 to "slow down." If they smoke, he orders them to quit or cut down, but HE'S a two-pack-a-day man.

He puts all his overweight patients on diets, but HE is considerably overweight himself, and can't stay on a diet for two days. He insists that daily exercise is a MUST, but HE doesn't exercise at all.

He says that an annual vacation away from one's daily work is essential to good health, but HE hasn't had a vacation in six years. And this will floor you. He wants all his patients to have a three-checkup every year, but HE hasn't had one since he was in the service in World War II. What's wrong with him and how can I get thru to him?

DOCTOR'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: He's human. He finds advice much easier to give than to take. You can get thru to him (maybe) by insisting that HE consult a colleague for a check-up. And if he refuses, ask him to keep paying those life insurance premiums, so you and your next husband can retire in luxury.

DEAR ABBY: My husband grew up in Kansas City, Mo., which is where we spent the first 12 years of our marriage. Then he got transferred to St. Louis. We still have lots of friends back in Kansas City, so we go there for weekends and vacations quite often.

My question: Should we call up our friends when we get to Kansas City or should they call us? Everyone knows in advance where we are coming, and how long we're staying, because my husband's mother lives in Kansas City and she has a big house.

Since our friends know we're in town and where we're staying, shouldn't they call us? Or

Milk Products Are Boon To Budget-Wise Shoppers

SHOSHONE — Milk and milk products are a boon to budget-wise shoppers because they contain more nutrition for the money than many other foods, says Mrs. Esther Wilson, nutrition specialist of the University of Idaho extension service.

For the "weight-wise" as well as the budget-wise, she says, you can't beat non-fat dry milk, which is particularly high in protein, calcium and vitamins. It is convenient because it can be stored in many ways and has practically no storage problems. Evaporated milk with all the nutrients of fluid whole milk is popular food for infants. For ready use with last-minute preparation it has no equal.

There are so many fluid milk choices among that one has to be well informed to know that all is not equal that comes in milk cartons, Mrs. Wilson advised. Consumers will do themselves a good turn to read and understand labels. There are va-

places were toured during the camp including Shoshone Falls, Niagara Springs and the Fish Hatchery. They made first-aid kits, slip-upons, dunking bags, buddy burners and nature pictures. This group meets each Tuesday afternoon at the VFW Hall. All girls interested can contact Mrs. Woodrow, leader, at 733-3378, or Mrs. Mary Bennett, junior leader, 733-5552.

"You pays your money and you takes your choice!"

Remember how nice it was to have old Mr. Bailey (or Mr. Banducci, or Mr. Bernstein) say Good Morning? And ask about how the oldest was doing at school this semester? And tell you about his arthritis and wasn't it a shame the way the Town Council was handling the park?

And maybe we forget that there wasn't any lettuce in the winter. That you had your choice of one brand of canned Salmon. That in the summer, the one sure topic at the dinner table was whether or not the butter had really turned too much to use.

The fact is, Mr. Bailey had the only game in town. He didn't have too much competition — and you didn't have too much choice.

These days, if your regular store doesn't have bags or fresh strawberries or convenient parking or nice clerks or seven different kinds of snack crackers...well, you don't even stop to think about it — you just go to a store that does. That's the way the system works — you pays your money and you takes your choice', including conversation, if you want it.

Color Explodes At Designers' Swedish Event

STOCKHOLM (AP) — The International Association of Clothing Designers staged a veritable annual showing of men's fashions Tuesday night.

The models looked rather like national flags. There was a British combination of bright red jacket, blue trousers and white shirt and a blue jacket with yellow trousers from a Swedish designer.

The show included designs from the United States, Great Britain, Sweden, South Africa, The Netherlands and Italy. But the emphasis was on American designers.

One American designer went back a few hundred years for inspiration and produced a jacket which started off double breasted, and ended up single breasted in the back, with the lining in contrasting colors showing through in the Renaissance manner.

Pleats on jackets were omnipresent, usually in the back and often in combination with belts. Even the tailcoats which closed the show had pleated tails, a welcome novelty in evening wear. Inverted center and side vents were also a recurring feature.

Bowties were of all kinds—patched, hidden, slanted, cashmere, etc. One American designer had as his motto "Symphony—curves is harmony in design" and presented a jacket with four crescent shaped pockets.

Collars were a little out of the ordinary. Several jackets had the Nehru collar. One very striking yellow tunic, worn with matching trousers, had a matching scarf, featured the emperor collar, and there were also some interesting, small variations of the usual jacket lapels.

Trousers emphasized the slim silhouette generally, but some times they flared at the bottom, which were often flared.

School Staff Is Complete At Shoshone

SHOSHONE — Trustees of the local school district have offered a testing contract to Larry Jackson, Ogden, Utah, for the music in the Shoshone school system. This completes the faculty for the 1968-69 school year, according to Supt. Kenneth Crothers.

Approval was given to the conversion of the heating plant at the Lincoln School to the use of natural gas. Bradley Boiler Co. was employed to make the conversion. Work on the boiler was authorized to remodel the kitchen in the home economics department at the high school.

Supt. Crothers reported that the speech therapy program for Lincoln County would have to be discontinued. The therapist will not be available for this year.

Ordinance OK'd

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A city ordinance aimed mainly at clearing sidewalks off Hollywood sidewalks has been approved tentatively by the City Council. The law would prohibit sitting, lying or sleeping where people walk.

Chamber Has Address By Hospital Chief

BURLEY — Robert Barton, administrator for Cassia and Mindoka Memorial Hospitals, was guest speaker during the noon luncheon Monday of Chamber of Commerce at Bryans Cafe.

He noted in Idaho over 90 per cent of the hospitals are 100 beds or less. Here in the two counties we have two such hospitals. Barton stated. Many of the services are duplicated in the two hospitals as kitchens and laundries which means a duplicate cost of operation.

"At present plans are being made to establish a hospital planning committee to study the needs, present facilities, and report findings to the hospital board," reported Barton.

The average stay per patient in Cassia Memorial Hospital is four days. The average in the United States is nine days. On cost per day at Cassia Memorial the average is $35. Also 85 per cent of the patients admitted are selective admissions (know they will be a patient in the hospital) and 15 per cent are emergency cases.

She for the past month a new policy in admittances has been in effect at Cassia Memorial Hospital," stated Barton. "The new policy is a deposit of $50 when admitted if the patient has insurance and a deposit of $100 if the patient has no insurance." Barton said. "This policy is very common on the West Coast," Barton added.

In the improvement areas at the hospital, Barton reported glass doors have been installed across hallway on medical floor. This has cut down on noise. Doors have also been installed on the cafeteria dining room which opens onto the medical floor.

A "question period was held following Barton's talk. Chamber members were invited to attend a tea from 2 to 5 p.m. Thursday in honor of Mrs. Jeanette Chamberlain at home of Mr. and Mrs. George Forscher, 550 Birch Drive, Burley. The tea is being hosted by Cassia County Republican Women. Mrs. Chamberlain has served over 20 years as Cassia County Treasurer and is retiring at the end of this term.

DOUBLE MADE THINGS TOUGH

"Golly!" said East. "You wouldn't think anyone could make a slam against my hand."

"Blank, blank, blank!" said West. "They might well have gone down if you hadn't doubled."

We feel sorry for East and cached the black aces, led his nine of spades to dummy's 10 and thought things over. Should he take a club finesse? Without the double, he might well have done so.

Based on the double, South assumed that he would find East with the ace of diamonds. In that case, if East also held the queen, it would be better technique to try to ruff out the clubs. He led a club to his king and pulled a club in dummy. Then he led a diamond from dummy. East played low and South finessed his jack. Since clubs had broken 4-2, he needed to find both the ace and queen of diamonds in the East hand.

He ruffed another club to establish his jack and led dummy's last diamond. East took his ace and South took the rest of the tricks, game, slam, rubber and everything else that wasn't nailed down.

Lightning Struck—Five Times A Day

Most of the self-made millionaires of the last 25 years are dropouts. Mr. Charlton Heston is Chuck to his inner ring... it has not been necessary by law to capitalize the "M" in thermos bottle since 1962. Mrs. Hubert Humphrey hates turkeys, individually and collectively... average teenage girl is known to weigh a shade under 115 pounds.

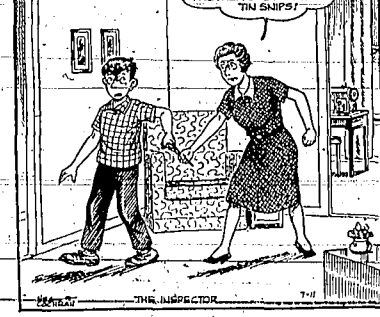

Have often wondered how that deeply religious Argentinian Mrs. Herman Flos finally came to regard his God-Respectfully, no doubt. It is a matter of record that during a single day approximately a decade before he died of pneumonia, lightning struck him—bang, bang, bang, bang bang!—exactly five times.

Who can confirm this client's claim that "H" is the only letter of the alphabet with which no word in the English language ends? Can you come up with an exception? I can repeatedly asked to list typographical errors. How about that engraving on the tomb of the Tasmanian lady? "Lord, She Was Thin," reads the inscription. Stonecutter left the "off" thin.

A bathroom scale that weighs up to 300 pounds must be a member of the Take Off Pounds Sensibly clubs complain about this. They cannot figure out why some manufacturers order guns into the gap. Yava does not turn-out-a-scale suitable for heavyweights. Who, after all, would more readily buy same? To weight themselves now many of these clever ladies put two scales side by side, and stand with a foot on each, then add the total.

In the traffic: The trucker waves me on—"After you, Gaston"—but the lady of religious order guns into the gap. Yava does not turn-out-a-scale suitable for heavyweights. Who, after all, would more readily buy same? To weight themselves now many of these clever ladies put two scales side by side, and stand with a foot on each, then add the total.
