

Chicago Police Drive Protesting Youths From Conrad Hilton Hotel

CHICAGO (AP) — Youths throwing bottles and glasses down on Illinois National Guardsmen patrolling the street in front of the Conrad Hilton Hotel today brought police to the 15th floor where they quickly ordered 50 of the young people to the lobby.

The guardsmen were stationed on Michigan Avenue guarding the Democratic National Convention headquarters hotel against singing, chanting and antiwar demonstrators across the street.

Thursday night they fired tear gas on some 3,000 antiwar demonstrators and a number of convention delegates, and 79 persons, including eight convention delegates or alternates and two newsmen, were arrested several blocks south of the Conrad Hilton.

Today helmeted police swept through Hilton rooms facing Michigan Avenue—a lobby adorned with the blue and white flower symbol of Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy—and ordered about 50 youthful occupants downstairs to the main lobby.

The youths filed into elevators, some pushed by police, and the hallway of the 15th floor was cleared within minutes.

Down in the lobby area, some 30 of the youths sat on the floor in an elevator area singing, "We Shall Overcome."

There were no arrests. Police said the majority of those ordered to the lobby were not hotel occupants.

In the confrontation Thursday night, the demonstrators—from varied backgrounds—protested administration war policies, the conduct of the convention and alleged police brutality.

Humphrey Starts Drive With Little-Known Solon As Hand-Picked Hopeful

CHICAGO (AP) — With a little-known senator from a small state as his hand-picked running mate, Democratic presidential candidate Hubert H. Humphrey starts a campaign that will require plugging the gaping holes of party unity.

At Humphrey's request, the Democratic National Convention Thursday night dutifully delivered the vice presidential nomination to Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, a former Maine governor who has acquired the reputation of a capable senator, but not national popularity.

The convention closed after a week of discord, sometimes vitriolic, on a night marked again in downtown Chicago by police firing tear gas and swinging clubs to break up demonstrators by anti-Vietnam war protesters.

for the post. O'Brien was Humphrey's convention manager. Others thought that Sen. Fred Harris of Oklahoma, co-chairman of Humphrey's pre-convention campaign was in the running and there was some talk that Delton Houtchens, Missouri general and a long-time political force in the state, might be in line for the post.

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) — FBI agents rescued a four-year-old boy from a kidnaper today after the abductor tried to use the boy as a shield following a gun battle during a high-speed chase.

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — A B-52 bomber was seen skimming over populated areas and a nuclear submarine before crashing Thursday night in a remote area of Cape Kennedy.

A member of the Webster crew, Communications Specialist Terry Castle of Gibsons, S.C., said "We were sitting in the bus near the submarine, waiting to go to town. We saw the plane come 200, to 250 feet over the submarine with one wing pointed toward the water tower. When it hit we felt the heat and shock waves. The explosion was so big we couldn't look at it."

Max Behr Files For Sheriff

SHOSHONE — Max E. Behr has filed for election to the office of Lincoln County sheriff on the Democratic ticket.

Mr. Behr who lost the nomination to incumbent Thomas W. Conner by only 45 votes in the Republican party primary election, states, "Since the primary election, I have been requested by many voters to continue to seek the office of sheriff of Lincoln County. I am deeply gratified for the many who supported me in the nominating election.

"Since I received the highest number of write-in votes on the Democratic ticket and since I am advised that this makes me eligible to run, I have paid the necessary fee to place my name on that ballot in the general election.

"It is my hope," Mr. Behr continued, "to conduct a fair campaign, offering to the public my sincere effort to conduct an honest and efficient running of the office of Lincoln County sheriff."

County officials have pointed out that Mr. Behr is the only person who received enough write-in votes on the Democratic ticket at the primary election to be eligible to run in the office in the general election.

THE WESTERN CONTINENTALS, a popular barbershop quartet and current international champions of S.P.E.B.S.—Q.S.A., will appear Nov. 18 in Twin Falls as headliners on the annual quarter show. The group has appeared on the Jimmy Dean show, on television, and with Fred Waring's show in San Francisco. From left are Paul Groum, Phil Poole, Ted Bradshaw and Al Mau. They are from Phoenix, Ariz. It will be their first Twin Falls performance.

McGovern Will Back Humphrey

CHICAGO (AP)—Sen. George S. McGovern pledged Thursday to support Democratic presidential candidate Hubert H. Humphrey, but sharply criticized police handling of antiwar demonstrators and called for an end to the political convention system.

"I saw American youth being savagely beaten by policemen simply because they were protesting policies about which I had had very little to say," said McGovern, whose bid as an anti-Vietnam war candidate lost to the vice president's steamroller nomination Wednesday night.

McGovern, of South Dakota, told a news conference that he is planning to back Humphrey.

"I want to make it clear that support includes a determination on my part to bring our political system most be restructured and revitalized."

McGovern said he had told Humphrey of his differences with him, especially on Vietnam, "are very profound" and indicated his support would take the form of trying to bring the vice president closer to his own views on how to end the war.

McGovern contended, the national candidate and replace it with presidential primaries in every state.

"Every citizen in this land wants to see law and order restored," McGovern said, "but we can't do that by the methods used out on Michigan avenue last night."

Democrats Continue 'Odd Year' Trend

By JEAN HELLER
CHICAGO (AP)—What went on at the Democratic National Convention this week fits in with the unpredictable and unusual character that has set down 1968 as the year of the political oddities.

Little has been normal about political '68. Nothing has been predictable except unpredictability and coincidence. And from the bitter fights over delegate credentials and a Vietnam plank to the naming of a little known Maine senator as its vice presidential candidate, some party members said he had a loser's image, that he couldn't win.

When the Democrats nominated Richard M. Nixon as its presidential candidate, some party members said he had a loser's image, that he couldn't win.

When the Democrats nominated Hubert H. Humphrey, again some party members said it was a mistake, that he couldn't win.

They said, too, that Humphrey's foreign policies were inconsistent with the feelings of American voters.

What the many voters neglected to take into account, however, was that in political '68, the will of the voters has been a dubious force so far.

The polls said New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller was the man who could pull in votes most successfully for the Republicans. The polls said Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy was the man most likely to get elected for the Democrats. Yet neither could get elected by his own party.

Within each party, there was bitter dissension. The Republicans had a miniwar over their vice presidential choice. The Democrats fought a bitter battle over a real war in Vietnam.

While Democratic delegates fought each other verbally in the convention, antiwar demonstrators knocked heads with Chicago police and Illinois National Guardsmen downtown.

There were other ironies and oddities to political '68.

Eight years ago, John F. Kennedy's Catholicism became a major issue that dogged him down the campaign trail. If Eugene McCarthy or the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy encountered similar religious prejudices, they did not mention it.

The two principal contenders for the Democratic nomination, Humphrey and McCarthy, both are from Minnesota. The third candidate, Sen. George McGovern, is from South Dakota where Humphrey was born. And while he was in the Senate, Humphrey lived next door to McGovern. Both challengers owed Humphrey a great deal politically.

The two top Republican candidates, Nixon and Rockefeller, are from New York and, in fact, both have apartments in the same big grey stone building on fashionable upper Fifth Avenue.

The two men who finally won the nominations don't live anywhere near each other, but they have worked in the same place. Both have held the office of vice president of the United States.

And both, of course, want to go higher.

Federal Funds For Land Fees Hit New Peak

WASHINGTON (AP)—Government checks totalling a record $272 million are being sent this week to states sharing in fees collected for use of federal land administered by the Forest Service, the Agriculture Department announced Wednesday.

A total of $207.4 million was collected during the year ended July 30, the department said. The previous high was $184.4 million a year earlier, with a state share of $44 million.

Thirty-nine states and Puerto Rico share about 25 per cent of the total collection, based on their forest acreages. Fees are paid to the government for use of national forest land for such purposes as timber harvest, livestock grazing, recreation and power projects, the department said.

Six states will get more than $1 million each this year. Oregon heads the list with $22.5 million, followed by Washington $8.8 million, California $8.6 million, Idaho $1.8 million, Montana $1.7 million, and Mississippi $1.3 million.

Wallace Sees 'Problems' Of Nation

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—George C. Wallace says, "One thing wrong with our country is we have complicated solutions to simple problems."

The American Independent party candidate for president spoke to about 7,000 persons at a rally Thursday night and, according to campaign aides, to 400 at a $25-a-plate dinner in a downtown hotel.

Wallace takes his campaign to Louisville, Ky., today.

Applause at the Knoxville rally interrupted him 38 times as he continued criticism of the Republican and Democratic parties.

"It is those like you and millions like you that are causing the national parties to be concerned, not me as an individual," said Wallace.

The former Alabama governor said "For the first time in your life you're hearing a national candidate say what you want to hear," and he predicted it would carry him to the White House.

"I'm going to turn back to you in Tennessee and Knoxville the right to control your own schools... unions... and other institutions," he said.

"I'm going to tell those garbage writers there are more of us than there are of you."

Sen. Kennedy Uses Broadcast For Comments

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP)— Sen. Edward M. Kennedy chose Thursday to remain at his family's summer residence and address the Democratic National Convention by closed-circuit television rather than travel to Chicago.

Standing on the lawn outside the home of his parents, the senator made a television tapo-in the afternoon to introduce a film about his assassinated brother, Robert, to the convention's closing session.

After introducing Robert's wife, Ethel, and three of their 10 children—their oldest son Joe, Robert Jr. and Kathleen—Kennedy praised his brother as a "special kind of man who directed his attention not to those who voted but to those who suffered."

Indians Will Defy Fish Laws
 SEATTLE (AP)—Indians protesting state off-reservation fishing restrictions plan to begin net fishing on the lower Nisqually River between Tacoma and Olympia next Wednesday.
 Hank Adams, a director of the Survival of American Indians Association, said Thursday the action will be taken to assert what the Indians say is a treaty right allowing unregulated fishing in ancestral areas.
 Adams said the fishing will begin at noon Wednesday near Frank's Landing on the river, and the next day for an Indian protest rally in Olympia and then continue daily into the fall.
 The state recently won a U.S. Supreme Court decision upholding its right to regulate off-reservation Indian net fishing as needed for conservation, providing there is no discrimination against the Indians.

Air Patrol
 BOISE (AP)—Aircraft patrolling of Idaho's highways will be used again during the Labor Day weekend in an effort to better control traffic. State Police Supt. L. Clark Hand announced Thursday.
 He said every available trooper also will be on duty during the holiday period.
 Aircraft were used during the Fourth of July holiday period and Hand said they proved successful in curbing speeding.
 Hand noted that Idaho's traffic toll is running well ahead of that a year ago.
 The State Highway Department reported that through July, Idaho's traffic death rate was 6.89 per 100 million vehicle-miles compared with 6.47 a year earlier.

Utah Schedules Court Probe
 SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—Proposals to streamline Utah's judicial system are expected to be presented to the state legislature when it convenes in January.
 Brigham City Judge DeVoy Christoffersen once again has proposed a "unified court" system he said would be more efficient, and Utah State Bar committee is studying a proposal for a county court system.
 Christoffersen said his proposal is similar to one he recommended four years ago and was introduced in the 1965 Legislature. The legislation was tabled during that session.
 His proposal would create a court of justice, divided into a supreme court and a district court, holding all state judicial powers with the State Senate sitting as a court of impeachment.
 It also would provide the district courts with the authority to appoint magistrates which would have jurisdiction over misdemeanors.
 This would eliminate the juvenile and city courts and a system of justices of the peace, Christoffersen said.
 The proposal by the state bar would absorb city and justice of the peace courts into the county court system.

Congressman Scolds Agency On Grain Policy
 SANDPOINT (AP)—Campton I. White, Democratic congressional nominee, asserted Thursday that "judicious on heretofore" by the U.S. Department of Agriculture is causing Idaho farmers to suffer needless hardship.
 Speaking to supporters while visiting the Bonner County Fair in Sandpoint, White said farmers need to know now the average limitations they will have for next year's crops.
 "They have enough troubles already, without being subjected to—still—more—uncertainties," White said.
 "I'm in agreement with the many Idaho farmers who believe perhaps they should have their own national farm commission which would have the authority to get acreage allotments."
 "Most of the present headaches facing agriculture today have been brought about because the farmer does not have a strong voice on the local level."

Tropical Storm Leaves 20 Dead
 TOKYO (AP)—Tropical storm Trix left 20 persons dead, six missing and 41 injured in Japan, the national police said today.
 The storm moved out toward the North Pacific after sweeping across the three Japanese main islands from south to north with 64-mile-an-hour center winds.
 It dumped torrential rains over a wide area, destroyed 66 houses and flooded more than 17,000 homes and more than 12,000 acres of farm lands.

Hair Pieces Play Vital Role In Fall Styles

START-OFF WITH A SHORT HAIRCUT and let your imagination do the rest. Here, Margo Butterfield, local beautician, cuts the hair of Jan Hartluft to fit the flare of the hair styles.

Jan wants to wear. By adding a wiglet, Jan wears a high, yet somewhat style or can go in for a little piece of curls which gives her a more cosmopolitan look. The hair used in the picture at right gives her an entirely different appearance. Hair pieces are playing an important part in the new styles for this season. With these added pieces, the movement of the waves and curls can be distributed, adding varying and dramatic interest.

By NORMA-HERZINGER

The old cliché, "Only her hairdresser knows for sure," is much more appropriate now than it was when it was originated. Only now it does not necessarily apply to the color of a lady's hair, but whether or not she is wearing a wig, a wiglet or a fall.

And... from the increasing popularity of these added attractions, almost every woman you see is sporting one of them, but with the beauty and ease in wearing them it is almost impossible to tell for sure.

Remember back when—when the only reason a woman would wear a wig was if by some freak of nature she began to lose her hair. Now they are constant companions of many. One can be a blonde, brunette or redhead (and many shades in between)—have short hair, long hair, curly hair, straight hair or what have you, just by adding or blending depending on one's likes or dislikes.

There is something in the hair accessory line to please one and all—all you need to do is experiment. If one's hair looks nice, you usually feel good all over and hairpieces have made it possible for the working girl as well as the housewife to be ready to go out on a few minutes notice and still look her best.

According to some of the local hairdressers, wiglets have never been as popular as they are right now, for young and old alike, and are perfect for the current hair styles, many which feature curls, curls and more curls.

According to a recent release from the National Hairdressers and Cosmetologists Association, Inc., "The blend of curves and curls will be highly featured for all hair styles. Generally the curves are modern and quite new in feeling, a far cry from the rigid finger-waves of the thirties. They flow freely in a seemingly casual play of soft, loose waves, but actually are directed to bring out the best in one's particular facial proportions."

"By the same token," the association noted, "curls, too, exhibit a great variety, but are selected always for the particular role one wants to play this fall. Basically ornamental, the curls may be large and loopy circles, ringlet curls, spit curls or corkscrew curls. Each reflects a personal taste, and each is influenced by the wave motions in the hair fashion. The curls can be placed around the hairline, both at the face and nape area, but must always look like a natural part of the design."

This is why hair pieces are playing such an important part in the new styles. With these added pieces, the movement of the waves and curls can be distributed adding varying and dramatic interest to individual styles.

With the cooperation of Margo Butterfield, a local beautician, and Jan Hartluft, the above pictures show a variety of hair styles that can be created quite easily.

Jan preferred to start off with a very short haircut. This is not necessary for falls and wiglets, but very becoming on Jan. By adding a wiglet she can have a high, yet smooth style or can go in for the little swirl or curls which gives her a more cosmopolitan look.

Rodeo—Last Frontier Of The Wild West

Rodeo is the last frontier of the once wild west. It was born on a bet, and bred of the same ingredients of history and courage that created the once sinful cities of Dodge and Abilene.

It began shortly after the Texans came from the Civil War to find that their longhorn herds had multiplied unchecked. Southern cattle markets, already depressed by the collapse of the Confederacy, were soon platted. So the Texans turned their herds to the north and to the west, driving them across the plains, first to better markets, then to encroaching railroads at Abilene and Wichita and Dodge. Later to the greener pastures that stretched across the great plains clear to the Canadian line.

The trail drivers were tough men and independent, who lived in the saddle and slept under the sky. They sat their mounts like centaurs, the two animal and man — becoming one. They drove the sword-armed cattle through drought and dust and blizzard, across some of the wildest country man has plowed.

They knew their cattle as a craftsman knows his tools. They carried guns — to kill coyotes and other range varmints, but they worked with a rope on a horse.

Occasionally they'd hit a trail town, where they blew off enough steam in that brief moment of history to keep four generations of frontier warriors busy ever since. In the long monotony of their lives, was an unexpected pleasure: a binge of, a few days, perhaps, between towns. They made up their own amusement. These tough hands created a recreation that was typically tough. The best of the different cattle outfit coming together on the trail or at roundup time; bet their next wages on their skills at riding rank horses or roping longhorn steers. It was a rough sport for short stakes. The prize money—the cowboys own bet—was held in a hat.

The cowboy sport might have flourished briefly out there, on plains, to slip quickly, quietly into fading rank horses or roping longhorn steers. It was a rough sport for short stakes. The prize money—the cowboys own bet—was held in a hat.

The cowboy sport might have flourished briefly out there, on plains, to slip quickly, quietly into fading rank horses or roping longhorn steers. It was a rough sport for short stakes. The prize money—the cowboys own bet—was held in a hat.

bankers and buyers and merchants to build depots and stock yards and banks along the same routes — along the right-of-way.

This was the era of the torchlight parade, the Fourth-of-July rodeo, the town bandshell on the courthouse square. In a generation of proud and bustling burghers who liked their civic celebrations big and wild, the building towns on the western frontier were the busiest, the proudest and the wildest of all.

They went out on the plains and invited the cowboys to bring their contests into town. At Cheyenne, Wyo., in 1872, they passed the longhorns on the courthouse lawn and roped them down main street. At Prescott, Ariz., five years later they built a grandstand, and sold tickets to a rodeo.

In a short generation the wild west settled down. The open range was fenced and posted, the gunfighters and hunters down and hung and the front street saloons were closed up by a wave of civic respectability. But throughout the west the best of the rough string riders and the toughest hands with a rope, still rode for the money at the contests the townsmen kept alive.

They still do. At Cheyenne, where they call it Frontier Days. At Calgary, where it's a Stampede. At Salinas and Pendleton and Denver and Ft. Worth. In nearly 600 communities in the United States and Canada, the cowboy contests are put on by the townsmen who serve on the committees without pay. A half-mile frontier spirit alive in a city wide bust the whole town turns out to see.

But more than the spirit of the frontier, more than the skills of the early days, are kept alive in rodeo. More than any man in the west, the competing cowboy holds a close kinship to the pioneer who won against the wilderness.

Regardless of what TV westerns would have us believe, the West is not the United States tables. Nor was it settled by the six gun. Its history was written by thousands of trailing herds across trackless miles of thirty plains. It is a story largely of individuals and raw courage. They crossed the plains seeking better land or more freedom. Their driving urges, the rugged individualism, the personal courage is alive today. The cowboy still rides the far reaches of the West, still stakes his life to win his living because he prefers that to the creeping restrictions that go with the fringe benefits of a steady job.

The rodeo cowboy earns no salary, draws no expense allowance, has no guaranteed annual wage. His only income is what he can win in a fiercely competitive sport, where he must win over not only the cowboys he competes against, but the rank animals he competes on. And he must pay for his privilege — entry fees that run up to $100 per event per rodeo.

The competing cowboy can win more in a minute than most men earn in a month. But he can be killed or crippled for life by the wild flick of a hoof or the thrust of a horn — and he knows it.

What draws rational men to this contest, where the rules are stacked against the man who favors the animal? The money, you might say. This is part of the answer. If he's good, he might get rich. The world's champion all-around cowboy wins over $35,000 a year and his traveling expenses and entry fees cost him only half of that.

But if he's only average — and every sport has more losers than champions — he'll win closer to $2,000 a year, slim pickings indeed in this high-cost era of inflation. Obviously, money isn't the whole answer.

Why does he do it? You can ask the cowboys themselves. Their answers are — neither articulate nor very revealing. One battered, veteran puzzled long over this strange question and answered at length: "Well, I'm sure not bothered by insurance salesmen."

The answer lies in the nature of men who answer a challenge — the challenge of a bronc "that can't be rode" or a roping time that can't be bettered. It is not an unusual phenomenon. The pioneers answered the challenge of the wilderness. The businessmen answer the challenge of new markets. Man still answers the smaller challenge of unclimbed mountains while he prepares to answer the greatest challenge — travel in space.

The cowboy competes partly from boastfulness, partly on a bet and partly from sheer bravery. He chooses rodeo because he's willing to ride against the odds as long as he can ride in freedom.

As a rule, the cowboy who draws an animal he's never seen before, he'll find out how he bucks, how best to set his saddle and where to take the reins. Who does he ask? The other bronc riders who are trying to beat him.

In steer wrestling, whether he wins depends on how fast he can catch a running steer jumping from the back of his high-balling horse. To keep the steer running straight, he asks someone to haze for him. Who does he ask? Another steer wrestler entered in the same contest.

In rodeo this is a quality of honesty not taken for granted that it doesn't have a name. It's simply part of being a man.

The cowboy's herds nowadays are whittled down super-high ways in big trucks by contract haulers. His cattle are calmed by tranquilizers and branded in chutes. He may ride out range in a pickup truck and turn on the television at night like everybody else. But in the arena he's still a cowboy. That's why you'll find him, a sound horse under him, a stout rope in his hand, riding the last frontier.

boys he competes against, but the answer, "If he's good, he might get rich. The world's champion all-around cowboy wins over $35,000 a year and his traveling expenses and entry fees cost him only half of that.

Specialty Act Announced During Rodeo

Any act that plays Madison Square Garden for 21 years has to be sensational — and that's exactly what the Madison Square Garden Precision Quadrille on horseback is.

This act will be seen at the Twin Falls County Fair and Rodeo.

First presented in the New York City citadel of big arena attractions in 1910, the Quadrille was such a hit with the sophisticated big city audiences, that rodeo producers repeated it each fall when the rodeo held shows for a full month there. In 800 performances over those years, the act never failed to draw warm audience response.

When the Garden dropped out in 1950, so was the Quadrille dropped. In 1967 Lex Corneily and Cotton Rosser hit on the idea of reactivating the routine for Jay Spear and the Flying U Rodeos.

All maneuvers in the arena are done at a dead run — spilling is essential, and spills are frequent.

From its introduction at San Bernardino, Calif., it will tour nineteen rodeos in seven states, including the Twin Falls County Fair and Rodeo.

FBI Arrests Holdup Suspect

SEATTLE (AP) — The FBI Thursday arrested a man it accused of helping in a $50,015 bank holdup here last Friday — a time he was free on $33,000 bail in two other bank robberies.

Agents charged Huberto Raymond LeBlanche, 24, with participating in the Aug. 23 robbery of the Queen Anne Branch of the Pacific National Bank, in which five persons got away with the largest loot of any single bank holdup here.

A woman, Karol May-Olund, 21, was arrested with LeBlanche at a Seattle address. FBI agents said she and a man waited in a car outside the bank while three armed men conducted the hold-up.

LeBlanche, of Seattle, is under indictment in the $36,000 robbery of a Seattle bank last February and also is charged in a June 15 holdup in which $1,500 was taken.

Dear Abby

BY ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I recently attended a beautiful wedding ceremony that was marred by a "practical joke" perpetrated on the bridegroom by a "close friend." This idiot had painted "M.V." on the soles of the bridegroom's shoes, so when the couple knelt for prayer, it could be seen by everyone.

I felt this was very poor taste and would appreciate your comments, M.D.

Well, I don't, so please print my letter with the following statement: I have NOT had any pranks whose commercials offend me, and I hope other mothers who feel the same will follow suit.

BOBBY'S MOM

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of parents who go off on a vacation and leave their children with relatives, and they return of a later date than scheduled without notifying the babysitters?

TAKEN ADVANTAGE OF

DEAR TAKEN: Not much. And if you are ever again taken advantage of in this manner, remember, you asked for it.

DEAR M. D.: I agree with you. And I'm printing your letter knowing full well that it will give some other "idiots" ideas but hoping that all bridegrooms will think twice before for the work of heels.

DEAR ABBY: I'm nearly 15 years old and have a brother who is 16. This is my problem. I have my own room with twin beds. My brother has his own room, too, but he has only a fan in his room and I have an air-conditioner in mine. With the warm weather here, my brother complains that the fan doesn't help much, so he wants to sleep in my room because of the air-conditioner.

I don't want him in with me because I think I'm too old to be sleeping with an older brother, and I want privacy.

My folks say I'm silly, and I should let him use the other twin bed. I would like your opinion.

BOILING

DEAR BOILING: It would help to know whether you are a boy or a girl. If you are a girl, I don't blame you. If you are a boy, and your "privacy" is that important to you, be a man and trade rooms (for the hot spell) with your brother. (Or would you rather fight than switch?)

DEAR ABBY: I was shocked and disgusted today when I took my 4-year-old daughter shopping with me. As we approached a certain toothpaste display she pointed to it and shouted, "Oh look, Mommy, SIXX appeal!" I nearly fainted. This is just one example of how TV commercials influence young children. Another thing with regard to the toothpaste:

What good does it do for parents to try to teach their children not to make personal, insulting remarks to people when they see it done day after day in television commercials?

I have a friend whose little 4-year-old boy tells people that they have "banned teeth, body odor and dandruff." Everyone laughs and thinks it's cute.

Action On Area Office Is Praised

SHOSHONE — Lincoln County Tax Equality Association expressed gratitude for efforts of Cassia County in retaining their county extension agent without the $500 per agent raise demanded by the State Extension Service.

"This is the exact text we were urging local county commissioners to give the state service," D. S. Hilt, president of the Lincoln County group, asserted Friday.

Local Tax Equality officials said that by use of legal means, if necessary, the extension service could not remove the office of County Extension Agent, nor demand the $500 per agent

Judge Curbs Police Acts On Newsmen

CHICAGO (AP) — A federal court restrained the Chicago police Thursday from interfering with reporting of disturbances during Democratic National Convention week.

The U.S. 7th Circuit Court of Appeals issued the order after Judge William J. Campbell of U.S. District Court had rejected the complaint saying that the four photographers who filed it were not employed by Chicago news media.

Three of the four live in Chicago. One, Frederick T. Schnell, is a member of the Chicago chapter of the American Society of Magazine Photographers and does work for Time and Life magazines.

Judge Campbell had also ruled that the complaint failed to list individual policemen, and that it erred in naming the City of Chicago and Police Supt. James B. Conlisk Jr. without submitting proof that they participated in alleged beatings.

Judge Elmer J. Schnackenberg of the Court of Appeals granted a temporary injunction forbidding Conlisk and all policemen to interfere "by force, violence, or intimidation" with the rights of newsmen and photographers to cover public events.

Conlisk's civilian legal coordinator, Charles Finston, stated that policemen had been complying with the spirit of the restraining order since Tuesday.

On that day, after allegations that two dozen reporters and photographers had been victims of police brutality, Conlisk ordered all policemen to show special courtesy to the press and assign lieutenants to escort them and leave their offices.

Finston, a former reporter, said there are reports that "some of these photographers actually encouraged rioters to demonstrate for the purpose of a live picture."

He also said many hippies carry cameras and take credit, and that three rocks and missiles at policemen.

Many newsmen and photographers have complained they were victims of unprovoked police brutality, including beatings, camera-smashings and insults, often by officers who had removed their name tags and badges to prevent identification.

The suit was filed by the American Civil Liberties Union's Illinois chapter. Other complainants were P. Michael O'Sullivan, a Business Week Magazine photographer; Howard M. Berlunt of Milwaukee, a free lance photographer, and Daniel D. Morrill, also a free lance.

Jurors Lag On Verdict For Trial

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — A U.S. District court jury of seven women and five men deadlocked Thursday night in the case of former Gov. William W. Barron and four other men charged with conspiracy.

The jury pored over the evidence for more than nine hours Thursday without reaching a verdict. It has given indication of any progress toward a decision.

The jury resumes deliberations Friday afternoon, and will be in the night by special Judge J. Robert Martin Jr. of South Carolina.

Indicted with Barron last Feb. 14 were Burl A. Sawyers, a former state road commissioner; Vincent J. Johnkosi, a former state road commissioner; Bonn Brown, an Elkins attorney; Alfred W. Schroath, a Clarksville auto dealer, and Leonard L. Gore, a former state finance commissioner.

Gore was dropped from the current proceedings after his attorney became ill. However, he remains under indictment.

The six were charged with conspiring to violate a 1961 federal anti-trust statute, which prohibits the use of interstate commerce to carry on certain activities which are crimes under state laws. The state law involved is the West Virginia bribery statute.

Sen. McGovern Hints Dislike Of Demo Slate

CHICAGO (AP) — Sen. George S. McGovern gave a lukewarm endorsement Thursday to the presidential candidacy of Hubert H. Humphrey, but said Humphrey must be certain "he owns man" on the Vietnam war.

McGovern coupled his support for Humphrey with a scathing denunciation of Chicago police treatment of young protesters.

He told a news conference he will support Humphrey but will not still his own criticism of American involvement in the Vietnam war.

McGovern said he will resume his campaign for re-election to the Senate in South Dakota Friday. He said he won't have time to campaign for Humphrey outside of South Dakota.

RON SCHEUFFELE, Twin Falls city engineer, announced his resignation earlier this week to accept employment at Commerce City, Colo. Mr. Scheuffele's resignation is effective Sept. 13. He has been working for the city of Twin Falls for the past three and a half years.

Engineer Leaves Top Work Record

Twin Falls City Engineer Ron Scheuffele will leave Sept. 13 to accept employment at Commerce City, Colo. Mr. Scheuffele's resignation is effective Sept. 13. He has been working for the city of Twin Falls for the past three and a half years.

He will begin work there Sept. 16.

Mr. Scheuffele will be concerned with the development of the residential and industrial area in Commerce City, a suburb of Denver, and will work on street projects.

Following his graduation from the University of Idaho in 1963, where he received a degree in civil engineering, Mr. Scheuffele was employed by the State Highway Department. He began working for Twin Falls in January, 1965 as assistant city engineer under Paul Newton. When Mr. Newton resigned that September, Mr. Scheuffele became acting city engineer.

While serving as assistant engineer he did all the surveying in Snake River Canyon in outlining the new city water project. After taking over the duties of city engineer he continued to work on the city water system and has seen it become a reality.

During his three years as city engineer the city has been paving streets at the rate of two and a half miles per year. He has also been instrumental in establishing the comprehensive city plan for the next five years and has worked for expansion of the municipal airport. Cascade Park has been another project in the city during his time in office.

Mr. Scheuffele has expressed his reluctance to resign, but he is leaving "a beautiful and progressive city."

Handbook Prepared For Buhl Liaison

A handbook for the improvement of communications between the student and school administrators and to better the understanding of the student's parents or guardian, has been developed by Frank Chilton, principal of Buhl High School.

Listed in the front of the handbook are the names of the school board members, office personnel, faculty members and the student body officers and cheerleaders. A time schedule of the class periods is also included.

The handbook contains general information covering student pride and loyalty, student-faculty cooperation, the guidance program, building a good reputation for the school and student classification.

School rules and regulations are stated covering such areas as approved dress, student driving, tardiness, attendance, truancy and absence, excused and unexcused. Whenever a student is absent, one of this parent or guardian must call the school and explain the reason for their absence and the anticipated number of days they will be absent.

Other major areas covered by the handbook are study hall regulations, general rules and regulations regarding extra curricular activities, athletic policies, rules of manuscript, and graduation requirements. Subject areas offered to students in the four grade levels are also listed. Schedules - outlining football, basketball, and wrestling along with a school vacation calendar have been included in the back of the handbook.

be issued, these handbooks should be taking them home to their parents or guardian during the first part of school.

The number of class periods during each school day has been changed from six to seven this year. The student attends six 50-minute class periods and then participate in a 40-minute activity period. The class is set aside for such activities as athletic practices, band practice, class meetings, assemblies, club meetings, and annual staff school paper work periods. The drill team will also use this time to practice.

Students not participating in an activity can use this period in the library or as an extra study hall. Students will also be able to seek any special needed help from the various instructors, since this time will be free for them also.

Total enrollment in the high school is 480 students.

Fifteen junior and senior boys have enrolled in the vocational education program at the College of Southern Idaho. Participants in the program attend classes at the college facilities in Twin Falls each afternoon from 1 p.m. to 3 p.m.

Wagon Days Event Drew Top Horses

KETCHUM — The first approved Quarter Horse Show ever to be held here lacked only 25 entries of the required 200 to qualify for all-All Show. The show, held Sunday as a feature of the 1968 Wagon Days celebration, drew top horses from Montana, Washington, Oregon, Utah and Idaho.

"Some of the top horses in the Northwest participated in the show, which started at 9 a.m. and continued through the day until the lights were turned on," said Harold Monk, who, with Frank O'Donnell and Mrs. William Brand, secretary, made all arrangements for the show.

The beautiful estate of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Gruener up Warm Springs canyon, perfect weather and the feeling of companionship which prevailed at the show brought forth such expressions as Melvin Trotter of Snoqualmie, Wash., judge for the show, expressed.

Classes Offered

GLENN'S FERRY — In cooperation with the El-Aida Action Agency, Superintendent of Schools George Powell reports the school district is offering adult education classes at Hammond this fall. Tentative subjects include government, history, mathematics, and English. Mr. Powell said, below eighth grade level. These will aid some persons in obtaining a passing grade in the G.E.D. test.

Driver education class will be started in November for the Glens Ferry students. First "kickoff" game of the season is Friday, with Dec 10 at Glens Ferry.

Supt. Powell reported enrollment totaled 713 the first week of school which opened Monday. There were 365 in the elementary grades, 132 in the junior high, and 216 in high school, essentially the same as last year. There are four new faculty members, a very small turnover for the system.

Otto Florence Jr. Is Given Twin Falls Kiwanis Award

Otto Florence Jr., general manager of Independent Meat Co., was presented the agriculture achievement award by the Twin Falls Kiwanis Club at the group's Thursday luncheon meeting.

The presentation was made by Gene Hull, program chairman. Mr. Hull thanked Mr. Florence for his contributions to the livestock industry and for his hours spent with 4-H and FFA young people.

The featured speaker, Mr. Florence discussed "Meat Today and Tomorrow." He pointed out that the American people are eating more meat, especially beef, and will continue to do so in the future. He said the meat of the future will have extra quality and will be packaged and prepared for greater convenience of the housewife.

Mr. Florence said the meat produced in the United States has greater flavor than that of other countries because we have the grain to feed animals. Other countries are using grains for human consumption.

He noted that the average household spends 20 per cent of its income for food products and five per cent is spent on meat.

Mr. Florence said there are two operations within the meat industry — the slaughtering and the processing of meat. In later years the slaughtering has become more specialized and centralized from the Chicago area. He said the slaughtering has moved to where the stock are produced. Mr. Florence pointed out that the processing is conducted on three levels — the national, regional and local.

Two-thirds of the animals grown in Southern Idaho are shipped out of state simply because this area cannot consume as much meat as it produces, Mr. Florence said.

The certificate came as a surprise to Mr. Florence, who received it following his talk.

Tunnel Falls, Kills 2 Boys

PENDLETON (AP) — A tunnel collapsed and killed two boys Thursday in northeastern Oregon.

Rescuers at the scene identified them as David Kendall, 13, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Kendall, and Leiford Norquist, 13, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Norquist, all of Pilot Rock.

A third boy, Dick Kendall, 12, was taken to Pendleton for hospital treatment.

Mike Harris, a Pilot Rock youth who escaped from the tunnel before it caved in, told rescuers the boys had been playing in the tunnel above the creek about six miles northeast of Pilot Rock.

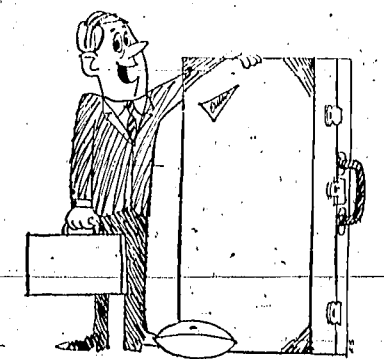

Umatilla county sheriff's deputies, road crewmen, Pilot Rock teachers and farmers dug into the mud and rock for the boys. They reached Dick Kendall first, who was still breathing. Artificial respiration failed to revive the other two.

Sheriff's deputies said the tunnel collapsed three times while they were digging.

Humphrey Pledges To Seek Peace In Vietnam

By JAMES R. POLK
CHICAGO (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, taking his first step out of the shadow of Lyndon B. Johnson as Democratic nominee for president, has pledged to explore new policies if necessary to bring peace to Vietnam.

"The policies of tomorrow need not be limited by the policies of yesterday. If I am president, I shall apply that lesson to the search for peace in Vietnam," Humphrey told a cheering convention Thursday night.

With that pledge, Humphrey reached also for peace in a Democratic party torn by its deep divisions on Vietnam, scored by the antiwar demonstrators who clashed with police in a fourth night of bloodshed in downtown Chicago.

To try to heal the wounds, Humphrey took an elastic stance that appeared to endorse the Vietnam policies of the Johnson administration as long as he served as vice president, but edge open the door for new approaches if elected president.

In his acceptance speech he urged, "Let those who believe that our cause in Vietnam has been right—and those who believe it has been wrong—agree here and now: Neither vindication nor reprobation will bring peace or be worthy of our country."

Looking ahead to Inauguration Day, Humphrey said, "No one knows what the situation in Vietnam will be on Jan. 20, 1969. Every heart in America prays that, by then, we shall have reached a ceasefire in all Vietnam, and be in serious negotiation toward a durable peace."

He promised, both as candidate and vice president, to do everything possible to aid the Paris peace talks. But he then made his apparent declaration of political independence on the policies of tomorrow.

He spelled out no specific new paths, no areas of disagreement with present policies, but offered his vow to strive for "a prompt end to this war."

Humphrey spoke at the close of a convention marked by repeated battles over the Democratic position on that war. He told the delegates, "Had we papered over differences with empty platitudes instead of frank debate, we would deserve the contempt of our fellow citizens and the condemnation of history."

Humphrey asked losing candidates, Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy and Eugene J. McCarthy, both critics of the war, "to help America in the difficult campaign ahead."

But McCarthy stayed away from convention hall, denying Humphrey the traditional role of a plunk on the final night, withholding his support from the nominee, promising to campaign for a larger antiwar bloc in Congress.

McGovern said he would support Humphrey but not the Vietnam plank in the platform. He said his major effort would be to gain his own re-election.

The plank, preserved by Humphrey by a 3-to-2 ratio in a turbulent floor battle only hours before the nomination, links an end to all bombing of North Vietnam with a response from Hanoi and the safety of U.S. troops. Antiwar dissidents had fought for an unconditional bombing halt.

The same differences over Vietnam had prompted President Johnson to announce his decision last March not to seek another term, clearing the way for Humphrey to become the nominee.

The vice president told the convention history would surely record the greatness of Lyndon Johnson.

The convention erupted with applause.

Humphrey, at the outset of his acceptance speech, called the violent clash between police and protesters in downtown Chicago tragic and distressing.

Nigerians Will Allow Rebel Aid

— BONN (AP) — Nigerian Red Cross officials agreed today to confer with their Biafran counterparts on ways to speed food and medicine to the isolated breakaway state, an intermediary announced.

The proposal for a meeting of both sides within the next few days in Geneva was advanced by West German Red Cross chief Walter Bagaritzky, who has been conferring with Sir Adetokunbo Ademola, president of the federal Nigerian Red Cross.

"We are still awaiting word from the Biafrans, but we feel sure they will not turn down the proposal," Bagaritzky said through a spokesman.

The Nigerians and Biafrans, negotiating in Addis Ababa, Ethiopia, agreed over the weekend to open a road through the land corridors to transport relief supplies to starving Biafrans. But the talks stalled when they came down to possible sites.

Nigeria had previously opposed opening an air corridor to Biafra in the ground that it could be used to smuggle arms and ammunition to the rebels.

Biafra, in turn, rejected Nigeria's proposal for a land corridor, claiming incoming food might be poisoned by the federal government and give federal troops easy access to the Biafrans.

Biafra needs at least 300 tons of food and medicine daily to stave off mass starvation, Red Cross officials said. About eight tons daily now are reported getting through.

Demo Delegates Welcome Daley

CHICAGO (AP) — with the planks of sign-waving demonstrators and a band playing "Chicago, Chicago," that Wonderful Town, Mayor Richard J. Daley responded Thursday night to the wave of criticism aimed at him and his convention city.

At the Democratic National Convention session Wednesday night, delegates and speakers assailed the "Gestapo tactics" control antiwar demonstrations in downtown Chicago.

But when the mayor walked onto the floor of Chicago's International Amphitheater, Thursday night for the first convention session, hundreds of brightly colored signs, all reading "We Love Mayor Daley," sprouted in the spectators' section and on the floor.

As the crowd roared, Daley was boosted to the shoulders of Illinois delegates, Beaming, he waved to the spectators. The convention session was 18 minutes late in starting.

Valley School District Will Make Study

— EDEN-THAZELTON — Valley School District No. 82 authorized Dr. Thomas Uterback to investigate the possibility of Valley High School participating in a proposed program at the College of Southern Idaho.

This program would consist of five boys from Valley High School attending high school classes in the morning and on four days a week would travel to Twin Falls for vocational training in exploratory work such as auto mechanics, body repair, electrical appliance repair, welding, air conditioning, radio-television and law enforcement.

They may receive on-the-job training one day a week.

The state will pay 90 per cent of the transportation cost. The tuition will be approximately $50 per boy. High school credit will be given by CSI.

Trustees approved the student-teacher handbook and each student and teacher will receive one. This contains school policy related to student behavior, dress and appearance of students, program of study and student council activity. The trustees indicated that boys must have accepted haircuts and the girls' dresses and make-up in "acceptable" taste.

Wages for conks was increased approximately 10 cents per hour.

Humphrey Aide Shuns 'Lyndon'

CHICAGO (AP) — Norman Sherman, press secretary for Hubert H. Humphrey, probably didn't score any points at the White House Thursday when he was asked if Lyndon Johnson was a possible running mate for the vice president.

Nominee's Mom Sees Son On TV

WEST PERU, Maine (AP) — Mrs. Jostie Muskie sat on a kitchen stool, a glass of milk neglected before her, and watched on a portable television set as her son accepted the Democratic nomination for vice president.

Mrs. Muskie, who bore and reared two sons and four daughters in the paper mill town of Rumford, was smiling. Her chin trembled a bit but she shed no tears.

Unaccustomed to the limelight, she laughed in embarrassment when her senator son told the Democratic National Convention and a nationwide audience Thursday night what his mother had said. She told a television interviewer who asked her if she would vote for a Humphrey-Muskie ticket, "I'll be coming along, I guess I will."

"That's one vote I'll have to earn," Edmund S. Muskie told the convention.

"You bet he will," his mother told the little group of family and friends.

Mrs. Muskie was tired from three days of convention watching. She had been ill within the past year, but her laugh was as gay as a girl's, in spite of her 78 years.

Was she excited about her son's achievement?

"I hope he makes it all right, as long as he wants it," she said.

"I thought he went far enough being a senator."

Middle Snake River Dam Delay Urged

IDAHO FALLS — State Sen. Orval Hansen, Republican candidate for Congress, has voiced strong support for a 10-year moratorium on the construction of dams in the Middle Snake River proposed by Sen. Len B. Jordan.

"Several months ago I proposed that no new dams be built on the Middle Snake at the present time," Sen. Hansen noted. "Legislation to be sponsored by Sen. Jordan will implement this proposal and will have my full support."

"During this period possible ways to preserve the salmon and steelhead runs as well as other sport fishing resources can be studied," Sen. Hansen said. "The present and potential future value of the Snake River Canyon as a place of unique scenic beauty and as the habitat for wildlife should also be carefully considered."

"In another 10 years the cost of generating power by nuclear energy may be low enough so that the Snake River Canyon need not be sacrificed to build more dams whose main purpose is the generation of electric power," Sen. Hansen observed.

"A moratorium on dam construction in the Middle Snake, however, should not delay plans for construction of needed water projects elsewhere in the state," Sen. Hansen declared. "We should continue to push for early authorization and construction of the proposed Lynn Crandall Dam in order to gain additional upstream storage capacity to relieve water short areas in southeastern and southeastern Idaho."

Spokane Unions Back Ballot Issues

SPOKANE (AP) — Delegates to the Washington State Labor Council AFL-CIO convention here Thursday endorsed all but two propositions to be submitted to the voters in the Nov. 5 general election.

They opposed initiative Measure 242 providing for implied consent to intoxication tests by drivers and took no action on initiative 32 on local processing of timber cut from state lands.

The group endorsed the reelection efforts of Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., and Thomas S. Foley, D-Wash., and Lt. Gov. John A. Cherbeg, D-Sentide.

The delegates declined to endorse any candidates for governor or attorney general in the September primary election. A spokesman said they did not want to show favoritism among the Democratic candidates before the primary.

The convention endorsed incumbents Robert S. O'Brien, Democrat, for state treasurer; R. V. Graham, Democrat, for state auditor; Bort Cole, Democrat, for commissioner of public lands; and Robert C. Flitzky, Frank Hale, Walter T. McGill, and Marshall A. Neil for state supreme court seats. They endorsed Louis Brann for state superintendent of public instruction.

No endorsement was made for secretary of state. Karl Herzman of Spokane was a recommended for insurance commissioner.

The convention also endorsed a list of candidates for the state legislature. However, a motion to endorse Democratic incumbent William Day of Spokane's 4th district was voted down after a delegate charged from the floor that he used non-union labor to build an addition to his office here.

Vodka-Loving Russ Challenged

MOSCOW (AP) — Vodka, the joy and curse of Russia for centuries, is getting a boost this year as Russian workers face a new challenge—how to use their new long weekends.

The five-day work week, introduced last winter in most Soviet factories, appears to be driving the workers to drink.

Other unforeseen problems also have arisen, but drunkenness draws the harshest scoldings in the official press.

The humor magazine Krokodil summed it up in a cover cartoon recently: "Now I have two days off," the reeling husband tells his wife as he comes home brandishing two empties.

To the Russian reader, it was instantly clear that he had employed two quarts of vodka by the end of his two days off, probably because he could find nothing better to do.

The cartoon was painfully close to reality.

Vodka sales jumped more than 24 per cent when workers were given two consecutive days off. Industrial production, which was expected to benefit from the new schedule, dropped

McAuliffe's Return Buoy's Tigers' Hopes

DETROIT (AP) — Buoyed by the return to the lineup of second baseman Dick McAuliffe plus the return to winning ways of ace pitcher Denny McLain, Detroit takes on runner-up Baltimore Friday night in the opener of the most crucial series of the American League season. The Tigers, though, will be going up against the majors' hottest pitcher, Dave McNally, in the second game of the three-game set. Friday night's pitchers are Tom Phoebus, 13-12, for Baltimore and Earl Wilson, 11-11, for the Orioles. On Saturday, McNally will face John Hillier, 6-4 while Sunday's pitchers are expected to be Jim Hardin, 17-9, for the Orioles. McNally recorded his 20th victory Wednesday night after being beaten in his previous two starts. McNally, a southpaw, has won nine consecutive games since the All-Star break for a season's mark of 17. He has posted three shutouts and a 1.72 earned run average since the midseason classic. Saturday's game will be televised by NBC on its Game of the Week, starting at 2 p.m. EDT, Baltimore and Detroit will be broadcast out of the national telecast.

Sweeney's name was the favorite for the job. Gomez, 42, a native of Orléans, Ohio, and resident of Mexico City, will manage a big league club for the first time after 23 seasons as a player, minor league manager and major league coach. Gomez was only brief major league service as a shortstop during his first year of organized baseball. He appeared in 101 games in 1944 with Washington of the American League. Redskins Top Lions 16-10 In Exhibition

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Washington Redskins took advantage of Detroit's errors and penalties Thursday night for a 16-10 victory in a National Football League exhibition in D.C. Stadium. The Lions lost an opportunity to take the lead with 4:30 left in the fourth quarter when a 25-yard touchdown pass from Bill Musgrave to running back Earl McCullough was nullified because of a Lions' holding penalty. The Redskins' defense back, Pat Fisher, killed the drive when he intercepted a Musgrave pass five plays later. The Redskins scored two of their touchdowns in the second period, each time on a play after the Lions were penalized on third down in which a drive had stalled. Jerry Allen crashed across from the three after the Lions' offense foundered in the second period, holding on a third down incomplete pass with 9:03 remaining in the first half. Eight minutes later Jim Nantz hit Jerry Seal on a 25-yard pass, a play after Detroit was penalized for holding on another third down incomplete pass from the 30. Early in the second quarter, the Redskins scored a safety when linebacker Ed Breeding blocked a Jerry Depoyster punt in the end zone.

Hit And Miss Success Expected As Dove Season Opens Sunday

By LARRY HOVEY
Times-News Sports Editor

Hit and miss results a wail Magic Valley hunters prepared to open the 1968 mourning dove season one-half hour before sunrise Sunday.

Recent rains and cool weather have pushed the usually early-migrating doves out of Magic Valley and only a few resident and migrating bunches will afford targets it appears. The remaining birds are bunched up rather well in pockets and it will not be unusual for hunters to get shooting. But they will have to find these pockets.

Charles Blake, regional biologist, said two inspection trips made Thursday on the north side indicated there were some birds available. Larry Keeney, conservation officer out of Shoshone, observed moderate concentrations west of Magic Valley in the Burmah and Rich

Astros Rip Marichal And Giants 6-1

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The Houston Astros pummeled Juan Marichal for six runs in the first two innings and coasted to a 6-1 victory over the San Francisco Giants on Dave Giusti's four-hitter Thursday.

Marichal, now 23-7, failed in his second bid for victory No. 23 in the first inning as he was knocked out of the box after 1-2-3 innings.

Jose Herrera's double, an intentional walk to Denis Staub with two out and Rusty Menter's three-run homer accounted for the first-inning outburst.

Singles by Lee Thomas, John Bateman, Norm Miller and Jim Wynn combined with Herrera's squeeze bunt and three Giant errors—two by catcher Dick Dietz—accounted for the three runs in the second.

Fall Season On Columbia To Be Studied

PORTLAND (AP) — The Oregon and Washington fish agencies will meet Wednesday to consider a brief early fall commercial season in the lower Columbia River.

The staffs of the Oregon Fish Commission and the Washington Department of Fisheries also recommended the season open Sept. 9 in the lower 18 miles of the river.

That is about a week earlier than the usual fall opening. The purpose would be to harvest a large number of silver salmon that arrive early and head for the mouth of the river.

Gear would be limited to single wall floaters with a mesh size of 6 1/2 inches.

On the same day it meets with Washington officials, the Oregon Commission will be reviewing gear restrictions and fishing dates for the fall season above and below Bonneville Dam.

Palmer Holds Secret Meet

WASHINGTON (AP) — Arnold Palmer made a secret peace proposal to the executive committee of the Professional Golfers Association Thursday in an effort to heal the split between the PGA and the touring professionals.

Neither Palmer nor Max Elbin, president of the PGA would give the details of the proposal after they emerged from a closed 4-hour meeting.

Palmer, the all-time money winner on the professional tour, said he would be "fully" involved in the PGA. "The very fact that I am here is a move on my part to try to get the organization consolidated."

Most of the touring pros boycotted the PGA on Aug. 13 in a dispute over control of the tour. They announced Aug. 18 the formation of a new touring organization, American Professional Golfers.

After the meeting Thursday, Elbin said he was "pleased" by the executive committee's taking in under advisement Palmer's proposal.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Bruce Fleisher, a brash junior college student from Hillsdale, N.J., and steady Hubie Green, the young amateur champion from Alabama, snared the second round lead by one stroke Thursday in the 56th U.S. Amateur Golf Championship.

Fleisher, one of only two players to match par here in two days, added his 70 to an opening 73 for a three-over par 143, a 71 following a 72 and also stood at 143 through 36 holes.

One back of the co-leaders was British Amateur titlist Michael Bonallack, who finished with a 73 after taking a double bogey on the par three, 235-yard No. 14.

The handsome 32-year-old Englishman, who shared the first round lead with two others at 71, had an erratic round that included two birdies, three bogeys and the double bogey.

Forty-five-year-old salesman from High Point, N.C., who stole the spotlight with an ace Wednesday, got off to a poor start but rallied for a 73 and took in 145, two back of the frontrunners.

In fifth place at 146 was Jerry Courville of South Norwalk, Conn., who showed a pair of 73s for a 146.

The field of 150 was trimmed to the low 60 scores and ties for the final two 48-hole tests Friday and Saturday.

Among the athletes working on the project in addition to Alcindor are Emmette Bryant of the Boston Celtics, Ron Blaylock of the New York Giants, Tom Ivener of the Houston Mavericks, Bobby Hunter of the Harlem Globetrotters, Carlton Ortis and Jose Torres, the boxers, Oscar Robertson of the Cincinnati Royals, and Walt Bellamy of the New York Knicks.

Fat Stock Sale Set For Last Day At T.F. Fair

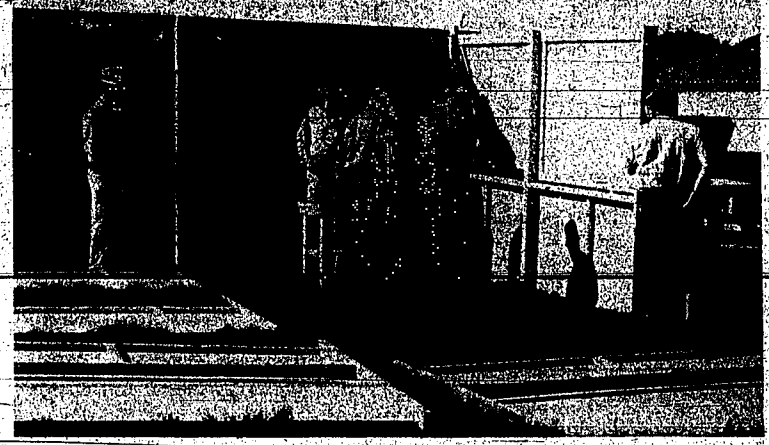

The Twin Falls County 4-H and FFA Fat Stock Sale will be held this year at the fairgrounds in Filer on Saturday morning, Sept. 7, the last day of the Twin Falls County Fair and Rodeo.

According to Olan Genn, sale committee secretary, the sale will begin at 10 a.m. in the sale ring in the front of the dairy barn. The regular judging at the fair will establish the order in which the animals will be sold.

Also, states Mr. Genn, is it planned to have floor price established by packer/buyers prior to the sale, so supporters of the sale will know how much they are paying if they decide to resell the animal.

Businessmen, business firms, packers, livestockmen and individuals are urged to support this annual event as the youngsters use the money, first, for education purposes, and second, aiding in starting a live-stock business.

Mr. Genn said that this sale will be a Twin Falls County and only 4-H's and FFA members in Twin Falls County will be eligible to participate in the sale and that each person will be allowed one animal.

FAIRGROUND CONCESSION stand at the Twin Falls County Fairgrounds in Filer are members of the Twin Falls Chapter of the Idaho Genealogical Society. Several organizations in the past few days have been getting stands ready for the Twin Falls County Fair and Rodeo next week. Almost every spot on the fairgrounds will be occupied.

Idaho Potato Processing Totals Given

Potato processing in Idaho (plus Idaho potatoes processed in Malheur County Ore.) from July 1967 through June 1968 totaled 35,077,000 hundredweight, according to reports compiled from processors.

This is down seven per cent from the record high total processed from the 1965 crop and slightly below the amount processed from the 1966 crop.

Of this amount used in Idaho from the 1967 crop, 22,200,000 hundredweight were accounted for in food products. Usage for starch and flour was 3,847,000 hundredweight, about one-half of the output a year earlier, and 61 per cent below the record high for the 1961 crop.

About 1,811,000 hundredweight were shipped into Idaho from other states, including some 1988 crop potatoes in June, 1968.

Along Fences And Canals

Elba well driller, Arlo Lloyd, has finished lowering a house well at the Gordon Edwards ranch in Almo and has moved his rig to Bridge where he will drill a stock well for Harold Ward.

The Louis Vaughn family have moved back to their ranch home in northwest Richfield. Her brother, Kenneth Kimball, and family have returned to Twin Falls after he had farmed in the Vandusen area spring.

Mr. and Mrs. George Croft of Elba are having a stock well dug at their ranch. The work is being done by driller, Keith McKinney of Super.

Many of the ranchers in the Elba area have resumed their haying after the heavy rainfall. The hay that was cut and lying in the fields is dark but has not rotted and is now in the process of being baled or stacked.

Doyce Ellison, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lano Ellison of Malta has been named to junior membership in the American Herford Association, the world's largest purebred registry organization, with headquarters in Kansas City, Mo.

The rearing of grain combining at Tuttle is planned for this weekend. If it does not rain again. Damage to the hay crop was considerable in the windrows and had to be turned before baling. One farmer who chops his, let it go into the wind to scatter.

Lloyd Lee started combining winter wheat this week. Richfield farmers were returning to field work after being hampered by a rainfall of 9-1/4 inches during the recent week-long storm.

Severe damage was done to the second crop of hay in the Declo area by the recent rains. One of the hardest hit farmers in the area was Devon Osterhout, who had 30 acres of hay in the windrow.

Work is progressing on the new metal storage facilities being built for beans at Morgan-Lindsay, Inc. of Declo. The new structures will hold between 18,000 and 20,000 sacks of beans when completed.

These farmers maintain their homes are Mr. and Mrs. Jack Adams and Mr. and Mrs. Bud Lynch.

Mr. and Mrs. Merle Clayville, Burley, and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Clayville, Declo, had a weekend of fishing and boating at the Payette Lake summer homes of Mrs. Clayville's brother, Jack Simplot.

Top Notch Rodeo Stock Scheduled At Filer

Spend the winter hazing under the imperial valley sun, where the average temperature is in the mid-seventies while most of the nation shivers. In summertime, visit the Rocky Mountain vacation land of Utah and Idaho. See the glamour fun spots of the west: Reno, Disneyland, Monterey, San Diego.

Work less than five minutes a year. Travel the highway on a $45,000 vehicle. Have a dietary and medical technician available in attendance.

Does this sound like a Madison Avenue come-on for an expensive travel tour? Or a dream of how the good life ought to be? In reality, this describes the rather pampered existence of the broncs and bulls of the Jay Spear Rodeo string, which will provide the livestock for the Twin Falls County Fair and Rodeo, Sept. 4-5-7.

These animals which through instinct or a twisted brain will not accept human upon their back should be among the most envied of the animal kingdom. They do indeed spend their time in the tourist centers of the season, for this is where the rodeos are held.

At 8 seconds per trip from the bucking arena to the staging area - use of 40 times does amount to less than five minutes work. The Golden State Rodeo crews which provide the rodeos were especially designed to provide maximum head room, ventilation and comfort - because it's good business. Each stock arrive on the scene feeling fit.

A full time livestock superintendent and his crew handle and care for the animals and in rodeos a veterinary is always on standby duty.

It's no wonder some broncs, like Andy Jauregui and cowboy, Whiz Bang and Cheyenne, eagerly continue their big league rodeo careers well past the ten-year mark.

The recognized measure of quality in any bucking animal is selection to the National Finals Rodeo, where every stock string in the United States and Canada is topped each year after a full season's inspection. Some of the top-owned broncs were at the first National Finals, 1959 in Dallas.

Whiz Bang has been selected eight of the nine years the Finals have been held; Cheyenne has been on the roster seven times. Both went to Oklahoma City last December for the rodeo World Series annual.

Despite their seniority, these two veterans must share the Jay Spear limelight with two younger boys and Billy Layton, who was purchased by Andy Jauregui last September, which made the National Finals trip, too. They are Harland Boy and Billy Layton.

The Jay Spear paid $4,000 for these two broncs and two lesser horses. One of the four were green bucking horses. Each had been brought along carefully through two summer seasons of occasional use of the Jay Spear Golden State "farm system" of rodeos in Montana and Utah. This farm system is as important to the development of new bucking horses as the minor league ball teams are to the parent clubs. Bucking, horse's scouts all over the northern states gather likely prospects during the winter and spring months; try the horses several times under contest conditions; weed out those who change their minds about bucking, then bring the remaining few to professional rodeos. A purchase price is set on the animals before they are tried. After a reasonable testing period, the animals are then accepted by the Jay Spear or turned back.

If any of these four horses come close to being another Whiz Bang, the $1,000 price is a steal. If the horse decides by mid-summer to quit bucking, it's just been another investment that didn't pay off.

With life expectancy less than half as long as the horses, bulls naturally don't play in rodeos as long. Still, the top performer of the Jay Spear string has been around a good while. Andy's Pet is a nine-year old, cross-bred Hereford-Strathmore. He went to four National Finals Rodeos between 1955, then weakened in 1956. Because he was truly "Andy's pet," the bull was held through the winter and bucked again at the early rodeos in 1957 on a last-chance basis. His record would rate a Comeback of the Year if any sport Andy's Pet, again wait to the Finals after bucking 14 of a 30 of 32 would be fitters.

Most of the broncs in the Jay Spear string were once useful saddle horses. One, Roper, an N. F. R. Pleck the last two years is a registered Quarter Horse used a full season as a roping horse in professional rodeo.

It animals truly do have a way of communicating between one another, the life these Jay Spear animals outlaws lead could state a series of horse-and-bull rebellions this summer.

THE THRILLS of big league rodeo are typified by reckless action of bareback bronc riding as shown in this picture. Broncs are fitted best for even the best riders of the Rodeo Cowboys Association. Last year, five Jay Spear bareback broncs were selected for Rodeo's World Series, the national finals. Jay Spear stock will be featured at the Twin Falls County Fair and Rodeo Sept. 4-7.

580 Farmers Insured By FCIC Against Wheat Losses

Five hundred eighty farmers in Magic Valley don't have to depend upon the weather this year to insure they will have a winter wheat crop.

Lyle P. Shafer, District Director for the Federal Crop Insurance Corp. from the district office at 626 E. Lakes Blvd. N. Twin Falls, says nearly 18,000 acres in the Valley already are under All-Risk protection for 1968 and 1969 as farmers are taking no chances on the weather.

And, Shafer says, it's paying off. Last year Federal Crop paid out $4,163 in wheat losses. Biggest losses occurred in Cassia County, $2,516, and Camas, $2,060.

Many Idaho farmers learned the hard way a year ago that weather is not selective when it comes to destroying crops. Excess moisture and wind caused severe damage to wheat in many parts of the state, he says.

But, he adds, Magic Valley farmers taking advantage of the All-Risk features of Federal Crop insurance don't have to worry since their crops are insured against damage by any natural cause. For the 1967 wheat crop, this added up to more than $6,000 in invested farm dollar protection in Twin Falls, Cassia, Gooding, Camas, Lincoln, Jerome and Mindoka counties.

Shafer is in the district office for a limited time explaining provisions of the government-sponsored insurance program and using applications for protection on the 1969 winter wheat crop.

Normal deadline for applying for the 1969 winter wheat program is 15, but this may be stopped at any time.

Federal Crop insurance, as designated by Congressional Act, helps farmers eliminate the uncertainties of weather or other natural hazards to crops by providing cash payments when yield falls below policy guarantees.

"This helps stabilize individual farming operations, enhances credit ratings and allows secured borrowing when needed, and provides for the return of dollars invested in the crop when failure occurs," he states.

Damage To Valley Beans Undetermined

The damage to beans in Magic Valley may not be as bad as expected from the heavy rain fall this past month.

Bean dealers in the area report that some white mold has appeared in the beans, but the condition is spotty. A week ago, after the rainfall, farmers and some bean dealers expected white mold to hit the beans worse than what has appeared.

It will be several weeks after the beans are harvested—before the exact extent of the damage to the bean yield of this area will be known.

Several farmers have started to cut the early beans, such as California Pink, while it will be a few weeks yet for other varieties.

Farmers are asked to not irrigate the beans heavily because there is enough moisture in the ground for the beans to mature.

Cornell Seed Merges With California Firm

Cornell Seed Co. has been merged with Waldo Rohrer Co. It is announced by Orla D. (Don) Cryder, president of the merger.

The merger was effective July 1 and the new firm is known as the Keystone Seed Co., at the Keystone Seed plant which has for many years been widely known and recognized as a sign of quality.

The headquarters for the new firm will be in the Berkeley, Calif. and St. Louis, Mo. offices, which were headquarters for Cornell.

Waldo Rohrer Co. was founded in 1937 by a pioneering man of that name who, after graduation from college, moved from Michigan to California to start his business career. At first the firm grew mainly flower seeds, but soon branched into vegetable seeds which became its specialty. It was one of the industry leaders in the development of small garden seed production in California's Imperial Valley.

The new firm, which is known and used today in nearly every county in the world.

Cornell Seed Co. was formed in 1917 by the merger of three companies, one of which was the Rice Bros. Co., originated in 1918. At first Cornell handled mostly field seed—but through the years it branched into the vegetable seed business with emphasis on beans, peas and sweet corn. Field seed were completely discontinued.

Production facilities include a large, modern plant at Twin Falls, a wholly owned subsidiary under the name of Keystone Seed Co., formerly known as Cornell Seed Co., Inc., and managed by Don Cryder who also is vice-president of the Idaho corporation.

The Twin Falls operation was first opened on the premises of the old Isabelle Seed Co., located at 204 4th Ave. S. In the building now occupied by the W. R. Grace Co.

In 1956, the company purchased the Gibbs warehouse in which office and processing facilities are currently operating. Expansion was so rapid it was necessary to acquire more warehouse space and in 1961 the warehouse adjoining the Gibbs building to the east was purchased from Haney Seed Co.

This building is now used solely as a shipping warehouse. Finding these facilities still inadequate, it was necessary to secure more space to the north in the form of a city block then owned by the Sinclair Oil Co. and Harley Williams.

In 1962, this property was constructed two large metal buildings having a total floor space of 25,000 square feet and a storage capacity of 4 1/2 million pounds of seed. At the corner of Third Avenue South and Third Street South also was constructed a modern bulk receiving station capable of unloading a 10,000-pound truckload of seed in a matter of minutes.

Unparallel processing configuration the Keystone Seed plant is capable of receiving, processing and shipping in the neighborhood of 14 million pounds of seed annually.

The Twin Falls operation is primarily a heavy seed plant devoted to growing, processing and shipping lima beans, garden peas and split pea seeds.

Crops now under contract are growing in Nampa, Twin Falls, Kimberly, Hansen, Marburg, Eden, Hazelton and the Rupert-Burley areas. Payments to growers are normally in excess of a million dollars annually.

The Keystone Seed Co. Twin Falls plant utilizes the very latest processing equipment. Its electronic sorting rooms are equipped with the English mark sorter, which brings multiple and represents the first commercial installation of these machines in the United States. They are now the standard in the industry.

A new automatic, self-cleaning, damage free treating line has been installed, a process that will allow faster packaging and shipping and increase efficiency.

Two companies were natural partners complementing each other in production and marketing. Recognizing this in 1950, Rohrer purchased the business, the sole owner of Cornell. In the ensuing years the parent and subsidiary continued their traditional business, but combined functions first in research, then in other areas.

The merger now announced is the culmination of plans to completely consolidate all aspects of management.

Donald Murphy, former manager of the Twin Falls warehouse, directs the stock seed program for all aspects.

Keystone's seeds are sold worldwide to vegetable growers, food processors, canneries, dealers and other seedsmen.

Officers of the new firm are Fred Waldo Rohrer, president and chairman of the board; James W. Chaney, vice president.

Gen't in charge of production William B. Carter, vice president in charge of marketing; John D. Atkin, vice president in charge of research; Kenneth W. MacCall, accounting; and Wayne Wolcott, credit, budget, taxes and insurance.

Soil Test Calibration Plots Toured

Soil test calibration plots in Southern Idaho were toured this past week by some 50 fieldmen, county agents and farmers.

Sponsored by the Idaho Soil Improvement Committee, in cooperation with the University of Idaho, potato plots established last spring under the soil test correlation project by the University of Idaho Agricultural Biochemistry and Soil department were viewed.

One of the stops of the tour was the potato plots on the John Burkhardt farm northwest of Twin Falls.

Treatments on the Burkhardt farm plots included plots with 100 pounds of nitrogen per acre, and plots with both 100 pounds of phosphorus and 100 pounds of nitrogen. Check plots where no additional fertilizer were used as controls. Each plot is repeated 10 times to be sure of accurate results.

The Burkhardt plot area was one of several locations toured. Other plot areas toured were in the Burley, Rupert, Aberdeen, Pocatello and Wallace areas.

The work for this project is financed by the University of Idaho, the fertilizer industry in Idaho, the Idaho Improvement Committee, and the Idaho Bean Commission, Idaho Potato and Onion Commission and the Soil Improvement Committee of the Northwest Plant Food Association.

Purpose of this project is to provide uniformly in soil test methodology and reporting between Idaho, Washington, Oregon and to update and improve the soil testing program in Idaho.

Also on the tour were Grant Baum, chairman of the Northwest Plant Food Association's Soil Improvement Committee, and Don Baker, chairman of the Idaho Soil Improvement Committee.

Social Security Question Box

If you have any questions concerning Social Security benefits or qualifications, address them to Jim Davis, Box 1238, Twin Falls, Idaho.

Q: My wife died four years ago and left me with two small children. I received only a lump sum payment when she died to help with the burial expenses. The claim officer told me that since my wife did not work a year and a half in the three years before she died I could not get benefits for the children. My wife worked for more than 10 years, and then stopped when our first child was born. Is there some change in the social security law just passed which would help us?

A: Yes, you can now receive benefits for the children. Since you received a lump sum death payment she had worked long enough to be fully insured. You stated you were advised that no benefits could be paid for the children because your wife did not work in the three years before her death. The current or recent work requirement no longer be met to pay benefits for children whose mother dies. You should take your wife's social security card and your children's birth certificates and take them to the nearest Social Security office.

Q: What evidence do I need to bring with me when I come in to sign up for my social security?

A: You should bring your Social Security card, your previous year's tax return and W-2 forms, and proof of your age. The best proof of age is a birth certificate or your records recorded before your 16th birthday. If neither of these records are in existence, we can use other public records such as census records, old life insurance policies, marriage records, election registers, military discharge records, etc.

Damage To Valley Beans Undetermined

The damage to beans in Magic Valley may not be as bad as expected from the heavy rainfall this past month. Bean dealers in the area report that some white mold has appeared in the beans, but this condition is spotty. A week ago, after the rainfall, farmers and some bean dealers expected white mold to hit the beans worse than what has appeared. It will be several weeks after the beans are harvested before the exact extent of the damage to the bean yield of this area will be known. Several farmers have started to cut the early beans, such as California Pink, while it will be a few weeks yet for other varieties. Farmers are asked to not irrigate the beans anymore because there is enough moisture in the ground for the beans to mature.

Corneli Seed Merges With California Firm

Corneli Seed Co. has merged with the Reno, Nev. firm of R. H. Rehner Co. as announced by Orla D. (Don) Cryder, local manager. The merger was effective July 1 and the new firm is headed by Rehner. The headquarters for the Waldo Rohnert Co. was Hollister, Calif., and St. Louis, Mo., was headquarters for Corneli. Waldo Rohnert Co. was founded in 1883 by a pioneering man of that name who, after graduating from college, moved from Michigan to California to start his business career. At first the firm grew mainly flower seeds, but soon branched into vegetable seeds which became its specialty. It was one of the industry leaders in the development of small garden seed production in California's ideal climate. Rohnert seeds are known and used today in nearly every corner of the world. Corneli Seed Co. was formed in 1927 by the merger of three companies, one of which—Plant Seed Co. originated in 1748. At that time Corneli handled mostly field seed but through the years grew rapidly in the vegetable seed business with sweet corn, dried peas and sweet corn. Field seed were ultimately discontinued. Production facilities include a large, modern plant at Twin Falls, a wholly owned subsidiary under the name of Keystone Seeds, Inc., formerly known as Corneli Seed Co., Inc., and managed by Don Cryder, who also is vice president of the Idaho corporation. The Twin Falls operation was first opened on the premises of the old Inabella Seed Co., located at 204 4th Ave. S., in the building now occupied by the W. R. Grace Co. In 1936, the company purchased the Gibbs warehouse in which its offices and processing facilities are currently operating. Expansion was so rapid it was necessary to acquire more warehouse space and in 1961 the warehouse adjoining the Gibbs building to the east was purchased from Hance Seed Co. This building is now used solely as a shipping department. Finding these facilities still inadequate, it was necessary to secure more space to the north in the form of 1/2 of a city block then owned by the Sinclair Oil Co. In 1962, the company purchased two large metal buildings having a total floor space of 25,000 square feet and a storage capacity of six million pounds of seed. At the corner of Third Avenue South and Third Street South also was constructed a modern bulk-receiving building.

LARGE BID IS GOOD AS PLAY

South's three-heart call was highly competitive but played the dummy like an overbidder

last spade and South was finally up to the problem which had worried him from trick clubs?

It had worried South at trick one but it wasn't worrying him now. East had already shown up with 14 high card points and a balanced hand for his opening bid. If he also held the queen of clubs, he would have held a perfect 16 point no-trump and East was not a man to miss the chance to bid no-trump.

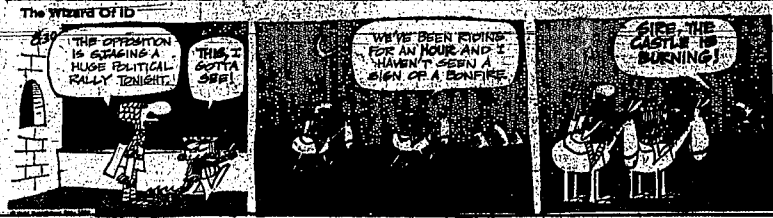

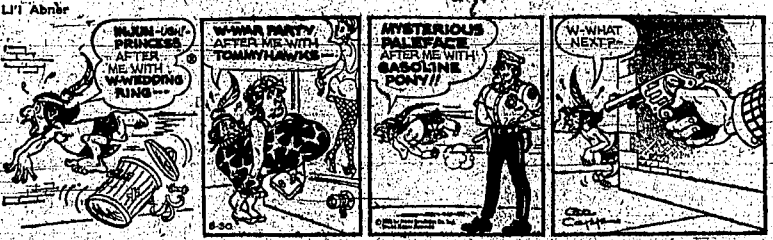

At a further check on the situation West had shown two queens and a jack for his spade suit. Even another queen wouldn't give him much of a lead, but without that queen it was very doubtful that he would have opened his mouth at all. Therefore South played his king of clubs and led a low club. He would have finessed if necessary but West produced the queen and saved South the bother.

WATCHING A COW being caught automatically in a chute gate devised by Clark Torel, supervisor of the Knoll Creek Field Station, University of Nevada, near Contact, is Mr. Torel's son, David. This type of gate now has a patent pending on it and is registered with the U. S. Patent Office. Mr. Torel plans to build several for interested livestockmen and a display of this gate also is planned at the Twin Falls County Fair next week in Filer.

Clark Torel Gets Patent Pending Notification For His Chute Gate

By ROBERT VANAUDELN Times-News Farm Editor

Clark Torel, supervisor of the Knoll Creek Field Station, University of Nevada, near Contact, has been notified by the U. S. Patent Office that his chute gate has been registered with the office and has a patent pending.

"This is what I have been waiting and hoping for after many months of work, time and money," says Mr. Torel. "Mr. Torel has built several experimental models and they have all proved successful and are a benefit to livestock men. Mr. Torel says these chutes or 'cow catchers' as known at Knoll Creek, help speed up the operation of running cattle through and only one person can do the whole operation."

Mr. Torel said with this notification from the U. S. Patent Office that he has a patent pending.

FILER, IDAHO
ACME

JERRY KRUSE, superintendent of the swine department of the Twin Falls County Fair, holds up a baby pig, one of a litter of 10 which stole the show in the building last year.

Fair board officials are hoping for a repeat performance of the "blessed event" again this year. In any event, entries this year assure the Fair will be outstanding.

Sow May Farrow At T.F. Fair

By MARJORIE LIERMAN Times-News Correspondent

FILER—Last year a "blessed event" in the swine department of the Twin Falls County Fair brought large crowds to view the ten baby pigs and their mother.

A Berkshire sow, owned by Jerry Kruse, Filer, gave birth to the ten baby pigs the opening day of the Fair. The sow had been brought home to the Kruse farm for the birth—but she and the baby pigs were taken to the fairgrounds the second day so fairgoers might view the new arrivals.

Mr. Kruse, who is superintendent of the swine department of the fair, hinted there "just might be" a blessed event occurring again this year. An exhibitor from Buhl is planning to enter a very expectant sow.

One of the ten born to Kruse's sow died shortly after birth. The mother and nine remaining pigs were sold shortly after fair time.

The seven classes of swine include Duroc Jersey, Spotted Poland China, Black Poland China, Berkshire, Yorkshire, Hampshire and Landrace. Premiums in three places will be paid in 13 classes and several classes list premiums to six places. Grand champion sow and sow will receive rosettes and purple ribbons will be awarded—reserve champion sow, senior champion sow, junior champion sow, reserve champion sow, senior champion sow and junior champion sow.

The fat or hog market class will include four divisions with grand champion barrow to receive a rosette and reserve champion barrow, a purple ribbon.

This year the swine department has four new special awards which are usually given only at state fairs, according to Mr. Kruse. First of these is an award to the exhibitor of the grand champion barrow over all breeds, provided it is a Hampshire out of a recorded litter.

The Poland China Record Association will give a gold bronze award to the exhibitor of the grand champion barrow over all breeds if it is a purebred Poland China out of the recorded sire and dam. This contest is open to 4-H Club and IFA members.

The American Berkshire Association will award a trophy to the grand champion barrow, providing it is from a record sire and dam.

This year's swine show at the fair should be one of the best ever, according to Kruse, who stated he anticipated a full barn-of-entries. He has received many new inquiries from exhibitors who have not entered before, also there should be a record number of 4-H Club and Futuro Farmers of America entries.

Robert R. Loucks, Fairfield, will be judge for the swine department. Entries will close at 8 p.m., Aug. 31. No entries may be made on judging date, Sept. 1.

The United Duroc Swine Registry will offer a cash prize to the owner of the grand champion barrow of a recorded sire and dam and also will offer a ball-point pen to the winner of the first prize for registered junior and senior gilts and a one-year subscription to the Duroc News to the second and third prize winners.

BUHL—Members of the Cedar Draw Grange met at the grange hall to sort beans and grain for the Twin Falls County Fair in place of the regular business meeting.
