

HHH Told To Ask Bomb Halt

Twin Falls Times-News
Sept. 19-20, 1968

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic doves supporting their national ticket are increasing pressure on Hubert H. Humphrey to propose an experimental Vietnam bombing halt.

Sen. John O. Pastore of Rhode Island, President Johnson's personal choice for keystone at the 1964 party convention, said he had suggested to the vice president's advisers that this is about the only way Humphrey can regain the support of Democratic dissidents.

"In my judgment," Pastore said, "Hubert Humphrey will have to speak out on his own Vietnam if he expects to win this election."

Conceding that Pastore's was only one of many similar suggestions, Sen. Fred Harris, main top advisers to the nom-in Oklahoma, a key Humphrey adviser, said he does not believe the Democratic presidential candidate will yield on this score.

The vice president has said that the party platform plank provides him with flexibility in dealing with Vietnam, Harris said. "But any decision on a bombing halt is up to President Johnson and the vice president obviously can't control that."

Harris said that a suggestion by Minnesota Sen. Walter Mondale that the bombing of North Vietnam be stepped up to get the Paris peace talks off dead center reflected a personal opinion and not Humphrey's position.

Harris and Mondale served as co-chairmen of Humphrey's pre-convention campaign and recommendations, Sen. Fred Harris,

Pastore sided with Mondale's view that it is worthwhile taking an additional risk to learn whether peace is actually being sought by the limited U.S. air strikes are halted.

President Johnson has said there must be some significant sign that the North Vietnamese will exercise military restraint before bombing can be suspended. Humphrey has backed this position.

Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine, the Democratic vice presidential nominee, has said he is more willing than either the President or Humphrey to take risks for peace.

Pastore, once considered a hawk, took the same attitude.

"We have had eight bombing halts which failed to bring out peace talks," he said. "We took risks with each of these. Why shouldn't we take another risk for peace now that the circumstances have changed?"

The North Vietnamese are at least in Paris now and our action might start some serious talks," Pastore said. "He thinks some move of this sort by Humphrey will be necessary to get the intellectuals and the youthful war dissenters who supported the presidential bid of Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy back into Humphrey's camp."

Even in Rhode Island, which he called one of Humphrey's strongholds, he said college professors and students opposed to Vietnam policies are likely to stay home on election day unless the vice president speaks out.

MAGIC VALLEY DEMOCRATS met Wednesday night at the Holiday Inn to organize for the upcoming election. Shown are Vince Smazal, standing, Twin Falls County Democratic chairman, and E. T. Waters, Idaho Democratic chairman.

Nixon Pitches For Vote Of GIs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Richard M. Nixon is making a special pitch for servicemen's vote, pledging to bring them back "to a peaceful home in a secure America."

The Republican presidential candidate has bought full-page advertisements in three special-ized newspapers which claim about 485,000 servicemen read.

The ads, appearing in the current issues of the nonofficial Army Times, Navy Times and Air Force Times, quote Nixon's declaration that "it is essential that we end this war, and end it quickly."

"Under the heading, 'Your Help—is-Needed,' the appeal says:

"Richard Nixon and Gov. Spiro T. Agnew have served actively in the defense of our country. They know your problems; know your double value as citizens and as part of our vital defense system.

"They ask your vote and your interest to help restore decency and stability to our national life and clear a better society for all."

"Your vote will also help determine whose hands will steer the defenses of our 'ship of state.'"

"Richard Nixon and Gov. Agnew are pledged to renew the kind of home and country you want to return to. They are pledged to bring you back to a peaceful home in a secure America."

Cardinal Penalizes Priests On Ruling

WASHINGTON (AP) — Patrick Cardinal O'Boyle, calling dissenting Catholic priests in one by one, has penalized at least 11 of them for refusing to retract their stand on Pope Paul's birth control encyclical.

The penalties Wednesday ranged from complete suspension of one priest, the Rev. John L. Fenlon of nearby Rockville, Md., to a prohibition against hearing confessions.

Cardinal O'Boyle called in 18 of the 44 priests and was to interview most of the others today and Friday.

He ordered the meetings after the priests reaffirmed their stand Saturday that Catholic couples under some circumstances may be guided by their consciences in deciding to use artificial contraceptive methods.

The 11 full-and-partial suspensions were reported by the Rev. John E. Carrigan, chairman of the Association of Washington Priests, who himself was forbidden from hearing confessions or teaching on any aspect of birth control.

The National Council of Catholic Bishops issued a new appeal to Catholic priests and laymen, meanwhile, to support the Pope's encyclical against use of artificial contraceptive methods.

The U. S. bishops said in a statement they joined with the Pope in calling on priests and the people to "form their consciences in keeping with the encyclical."

The Rev. Fenlon, 27, was the second of the 44 priests to be completely suspended from the ministry. The Rev. T. Joseph O'Donnoghue was suspended two weeks ago.

Both said they were suspended for treatment of the birth control issue in Sunday sermons.

Conferees Reach Accord On Bill For Wild Rivers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate and House conferees agreed today on legislation to establish a national system of wild and scenic rivers.

All or parts of eight rivers were designated for immediate inclusion in the system designed to protect the natural environment and free-flowing characteristics of streams with outstanding scenic, recreational, historic, scientific or cultural values.

The legislation provides for continuation of the roughly one-quarter mile wide along each side of designated streams, and for acquisition of scenic easements.

A invitation of $17 million for acquisition of land was written into the bill, which now goes to the House and Senate for final action.

Among streams the bill designates for "instant" inclusion in the system are all or parts of the Clearwater, Middle Fork, and the Salmon, Middle Fork, in Idaho.

Firm's Founder To Pay Damages

BOISE (AP) — The founder of Rocky Mountain Chemical Corp., Rupert, has been ordered to pay a total of $31,000 in damages to 17 persons who held stock in the company.

The order was from a U.S. district court jury which brought in 13 separate verdicts against L. M. Buhler.

The suit against the potato alcohol manufacturing firm was filed nearly four years ago and alleged the company was guilty of fraud and misrepresentation of its financial position in stock sales.

Individual damage awards ranged from $70 to $23,000.

University Adds Yugoslav Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Yugoslav writer Milovan Djilas was to be a member of the Princeton University faculty this fall, it was announced Wednesday.

Djilas, 57, once fell apparent to President Tito, furnished the philosophical defense of Yugoslavia's 1948 break with the Soviet Union.

He later fell into disfavor with Tito and was jailed for eight years on charges of writing anti-Yugoslav propaganda. He was released in January 1967.

Djilas will be accompanied to Princeton by his wife.

Balking On Nuclear Treaty Is Foolish

WASHINGTON — Lyndon Johnson may go down as the hardest-working President in history, but he seems never to get a break. Now, one of his greatest achievements is in peril because this is an election year and politicians are behaving like politicians. That achievement is the nuclear nonproliferation treaty, which would restrict the spread of nuclear weapons to nations not now possessing them. Its ratification by the Senate is very much in doubt—indeed, may never come to a vote this year—as a result of Congressional and grassroots anger over the Soviet Union's invasion of Czechoslovakia. This is the sort of a situation which makes foreigners wonder about the American system of government. By its very nature, the non-proliferation treaty is not a suitable subject for domestic politics as usual. It is international in scope, not simply an arrangement between the United States and the Kremlin, and thus should be regarded in the same light as, say, the honoring of passports. Yet there has been a great deal of Gee-Whizzing on Capitol Hill about the necessity of teaching the Russians a lesson, and Dick Nixon has been monkeying with the issue as if it were an attempt to surrender to Moscow. President Johnson's stand is sensible and responsible. He is pressing for ratification on the grounds the treaty is "very much in the interest of the United States, despite any recent developments." He may not be oversteering the case when he says the treaty is the most important since the dawn of the nuclear age. But his emphasis on American interests gets to the gut of the issue. This is that the brutalizing of Czechoslovakia is irrelevant. The treaty is not a payoff to the Russians. It does not, as some foolish politicians have suggested, require either nation to disarm. It is not a bilateral agreement but one among scores of nations, many of which already have ratified it. The yes-buters are chanting that the U.S. should employ hesitation in ratifying the pact to apply diplomatic leverage on the Soviet Union. This is sheer tomfoolery. Sure, the Russians want the treaty. That's why they signed the ruddy thing. But they know that we also want it, and so does most of the rest of the world, notably excepting the paranoid rulers of Communist China and Gaullist France. The pragmatists in the Kremlin are not about to be moved, except possibly to mirth by this campaign on Capitol Hill to force Uncle Sam to bite off his nose to spite his face. Admittedly, Russia's primary interest in the treaty is to bar a Germany armed with nuclear weapons. After Czechoslovakia, the West Germans have made it plain they'll take their time about signing up. This is, presumably, their privilege, although the exercise of it hardly makes them popular in Washington. But there is no reason why the United States should join in attempting to sabotage the pact. Aside from the hard fact that it is our particular baby, there is the question of whether we want to give aid and comfort to the German militarists. The trouble with Americans, and especially those on the Left, is that we have not learned to apply a practical eye to the Russians. We have been the slightest thaw in Moscow, we tend to see it as the budding, if not the ripening, of romance. We have not matured to the point where we expect the signs and signs of Soviet foreign policy as a fact of life, yet remain determined to do what business we can with the Russians, without illusion. A treaty which would restrict the spread of nuclear weapons to nations now possessing them, after Czechoslovakia, as it was yesterday. It will be just as desirable tomorrow, even if the Russians move into Romania. It is desirable because, to put it crassly, the United States desires it.

Ingrown Whiskers

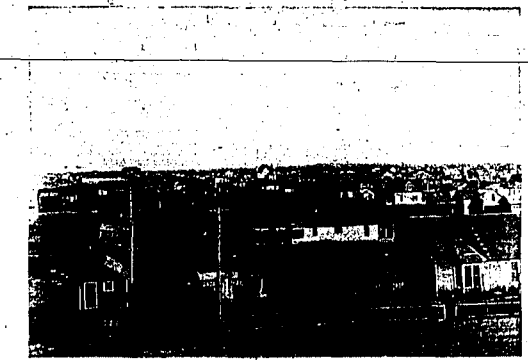

Dear Sir: How can you care for ingrown hairs?—F.M. Ingrown hairs become a thorn because the hair shaft grows at an unusual angle. For example, it can zigzag where whiskers hairs or whiskers meet and grow in different directions. Another cause, sometimes a contributing cause, is a skin condition called keratosis pilaris. This is featured by a thickening of the skin at the outlet of the hair shaft. As the hair shaft grows, the thickened skin forces the hair to bend and grow downward. Yet another factor which may be involved is shaving too closely. The closest whiskers are turned under before they fully emerge in the skin surface. Then, of course, the hair, as it grows, is forced to cut underneath the skin and becomes painful and sometimes infected. The type and texture of the skin so often is an important item in the trouble. I most definitely suggest having your skin condition checked by a dermatologist. As to what you can do for yourself: Shave with the grain. This is not always possible in areas in which the hairs grow in varying directions. Don't shave too close. If you shave straight-bladed razor, try an electric, or vice versa. It sometimes helps. The hair can be pulled out, if you prefer, but that will not prevent a new hair growing in time. A further possibility is electrolysis, in spots where you are particularly subject to this trouble, permanent removal of the hairs (whiskers) can reduce the amount of trouble. Dear Dr. Molner: Please send me a diet for a person who is anemic.—Mrs. J.H. I can't conscientiously do so without knowing the type of anemia in his case. For example, it is pernicious anemia, vitamin B-12 is required. If excess bleeding is the cause, diet won't correct it. You should substitute for a thorough examination to determine cause and type of anemia. Dear Dr. Molner: What causes excessive itching of the legs at about bedtime?—C.C.R. Several possibilities: excessive dryness of the skin due to (1) too frequent bathing, (2) certain soaps that may irritate the skin, (3) a result of aging, (4) sensitivity to something in history. Using a bland skin lotion before retiring usually will stop the itching. Dear Dr. Molner: I'm afraid to go to the doctor without knowing what caused my urine to stop. Twice lately I have been unable to urinate after drinking beer. Now it is normal again. Could the beer have caused it?—This is potentially dangerous—I would assume that you have an enlarged prostate gland and a temporary obstruction as a result. The beer wouldn't cause the trouble. Your logic is all backward when you expect to go to a doctor without knowing what causes your trouble. It should be the other way around—go to a doctor, get a diagnosis, and then correct the trouble. I would see the doctor promptly, because you have the signs of being a permanent candidate for acute urinary obstruction. Dear Dr. Molner: You wrote that there is an effective medication for vaginal trichomoniasis which can be taken by mouth. What is it?—M.N. "You Can Stop Sinus Trouble" is the title of my booklet explaining what sinus trouble really is, and encouraging sinus sufferers to do something about it. For a copy write to Dr. Molner in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents to cover cost of printing and handling. Dr. Molner is happy to receive readers' questions, and whenever possible, will answer them in this column. However, due to the great volume of mail received daily, Dr. Molner regrets he cannot answer letters individually.

Space Exploration

With the exception of the planned Apollo three-man flight next month, 1968 is likely to end as one of the least exciting years of space exploration. This does not mean advancements will not be made this year, but it does show the pace has cooled considerably for a few years ago. The Apollo flight itself—America's first flight for a three-man crew—will be a milestone. If the October mission is successful, it will be a giant step toward the moon rendezvous NASA scientists still hope to complete by 1970. But the total U. S. space effort has slowed considerably. So far this year the U. S. has launched 22 rockets with 31 payloads. During the same period last year 54 payloads were launched. The Soviet Union has increased its tempo this year with 40 launchings, each with one payload. This is five more than in 1967. It appears obvious the Russians will complete more launchings this year than the United States. This will be the first year since 1957, when the Soviets started the space race with two Sputniks, that the Soviet Union out-launched the United States. Something else happened in Soviet rocketry in 1968 which may prove more significant than mere number of launchings. Russia has tested only one of its Fractional Orbital Bombardment System Cosmos 218 rockets. This was brought back to earth in less than one orbit. In 1967, the reds engaged in nine FOBS tests. The small number in 1968 could indicate the Soviets have perfected at least the initial part of this potential nuclear weapon. Fully responsible for the slowdown in U. S. space activity, of course, are budget reductions which have hit the National Aeronautics and Space Administration particularly hard. There are indications NASA budget limitations may be lifted somewhat next year, but uncertainties over space exploration funding have had an effect on both long-range military and civilian space planning.

MR. SPECTATOR

My--The Town Has Changed

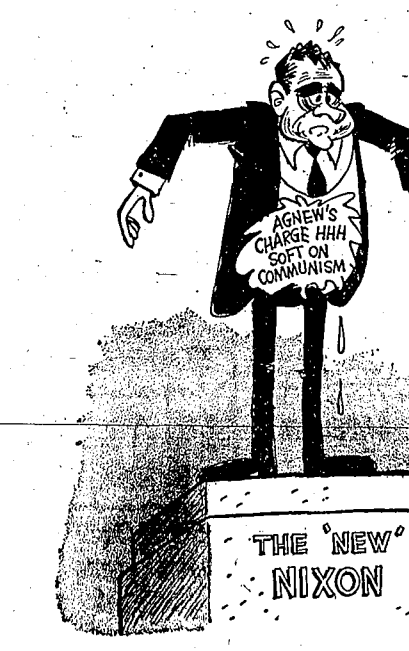

The picture you are looking at was taken about 1910 by C. E. Bischoff, the pioneer photographer of these parts. The town—it is Twin Falls we are talking about—was only four years old at the time. With no paved streets at that time and with much farmland put to first use, it's a wonder that Mr. Bischoff could get such a clear day to take the picture. But he did, which proves that the wind didn't always blow in Twin Falls. But getting back to the picture, Mr. Bischoff took them to aid in advertising the Twin Falls Tract and for publication in eastern newspapers to get people excited about coming to Twin Falls. Now, folks, take a look at the picture.

DEFENSE REAPPRAISAL From The Oregonian Secretary of Defense Clark Clifford's statement that no spending cuts will be made in construction of the mid-1970s "thin" and ballistic missile systems represents a change in U. S. policy. But taken with other developments it represents a cooling of attitude toward détente with the Communist bloc and a reappraisal of recently improved U.S.-Soviet relations will be re-examined, State announced. Secretary Clifford's assertion that U.S. military strength must be maintained in Europe was coupled with a sensible call for reappraisal of the North Atlantic Treaty Alliance. ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK

Report: Wallace-Thurmond

COLUMBIA, S.C.—Although stopping short of anything so blatant as a formal announcement of support, the Democratic Presidential strategy here is to give quiet aid and comfort to the third party ticket headed by segregationist George Wallace and hence keep South Carolina's eight electoral votes out of the grasp of Richard M. Nixon. Two weeks after the turbulent Democratic convention, which left loyalist party leaders here climbing the wall, Hubert Humphrey's national organization has quietly pointing out that reconstructing the party from the expected shambles of November 5 will be easier against what they hope is the temporary phenomenon of Wallace's than against the tough, pragmatic Republican politicians who have already built a substantial base in this state. Thus, when Wallace was invited at the last moment to appear at the Burlington race track and address 70,000 people, old-line loyalist Democrats had a hand in the invitation. Sen. Strom Thurmond, Nixon's leader here who held the Southern flank against Ronald Reagan, is making his whole prestige on winning South Carolina for Nixon. In sharp contrast to Democratic passivity, Thurmond's astute political agent, State Chairman Harry Dent, has blocked out the most extensive GOP Presidential operation ever staged here. Dent will come aboard later in Manhattan on Tuesday to put finishing touches on what may become a $100,000-plus campaign. After-electoral committee to be headed by retired Gen. Mark Clark, is in the works. James F. Byrnes, the most glamorous name in the state, will come aboard later. But Thurmond is now feeling a certain uneasiness from his own traditional hard-core supporters whose natural loyalty in this election is Wallace, not Nixon. His own reputation, as much as Wallace's, is squarely on the line. "I hate to say it about Strom," a Wallace businessman in Orangeburg told us more in detail about the matter. "I'm bound to say he's let us down." Thus the Presidential race here is a classic contest between the South's two notorious former Democrats—Wallace and Thurmond—with Humphrey and Nixon playing secondary roles. And even if the result does not affect the national election, it will have massive implications for the Republican party's future in South Carolina, and for Wallace and Thurmond. A Republican strategist said "You can't do this to me." "The old" Nixon cried. "I've given the best years of my life to the party and you can't throw me out now." A Republican strategist said gently, "We're not throwing you out, Dick, but you had your chance before and you blew it. If you blow it again, it could mean the end of the Republican Party. We can't take that chance." "What does the 'new' Nixon know about politics?" shouted the "old" Nixon. "Does he know how to get in there and fight? Does he know how to do it and how to get in the groin and knock them over the head? Does he know how to action them of being about the same natural luxury on Vietnam and disrespect all over the world? Can he slug it out one-to-one?" "You're exactly what the Democrats expect us to do. But we're not going to play their game. We're going to talk about the forgotten man who works and pays his taxes and we're going to talk about how wonderful it is to live in the

ART BUCHWALD

"New Nixon" Takes Charge

WASHINGTON—As everyone knows, there are two Richard Nixons, the "old" Nixon and the "new" Nixon. It is not generally known that just before the presidential campaign got under way, the two Nixons had a bitter fight at a strategy meeting in Miami Beach. The "old" Nixon was told he was no longer needed, that the Republicans had decided if they were going to win in 1968 they were going to have to go with the "new" Nixon. "You can't do this to me," the "old" Nixon cried. "I've given the best years of my life to the party and you can't throw me out now." A Republican strategist said gently, "We're not throwing you out, Dick, but you had your chance before and you blew it. If you blow it again, it could mean the end of the Republican Party. We can't take that chance." "What does the 'new' Nixon know about politics?" shouted the "old" Nixon. "Does he know how to get in there and fight? Does he know how to do it and how to get in the groin and knock them over the head? Does he know how to action them of being about the same natural luxury on Vietnam and disrespect all over the world? Can he slug it out one-to-one?" "You're exactly what the Democrats expect us to do. But we're not going to play their game. We're going to talk about the forgotten man who works and pays his taxes and we're going to talk about how wonderful it is to live in the suburbs and how nice it is to go to the seashore in the summer." The "old" Nixon jumped to his feet and yelled, "What kind of campaign is that? You have to go for the Juggler, Nice guys finish last." The "new" Nixon said, "Sit down, Dick, and listen carefully. This is a unique election situation. We don't have to attack the Democrats because they're going to make miscalculation out of each other. In order for Humphrey to get anywhere in the election he's going to have to attack Lyndon Johnson's policies in Vietnam. Then he'll have to attack Nixon because Nixon is going to have to attack Hubert Humphrey. Gene McCarthy will attack both of them, and he'll do it in a big way and talk about grabbers in the United States." "It's too risky," the "old" Nixon said. "You'll have the heck out of the people. The public doesn't want a 'new' Nixon. They want the 'old' Nixon they used to kick around all these years. They'll use it to do it and they know what to expect. You throw another Nixon at them now and they'll slug you out and vote for Humphrey." One of the Republican strategists said, "Dick, you know that I have more respect for the old Nixon than you do. But in this room, Dick, things have changed and we need a fresh lance, someone, and I have to do it now. We'll have to ask the voter for the 'old' Nixon." The "old" Nixon pointed his finger at the "new" Nixon and

'Splitting' Of Funds Suggested

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sharing of federal revenues with state and local governments to help them deal with deepening urban problems has been endorsed by a bipartisan body of law officials, legislators and distinguished citizens.

The Advisory Commission on Intergovernmental Relations, in a bulky report issued Wednesday, called for an overhaul of the $20 billion-a-year federal grant-in-aid system.

Local authorities should have greater discretion in using federal funds to prevent "serious disruption of the American federal system" as cities become increasingly reliant on federal financial aid to deal with rapidly expanding needs.

"If the states lose control over the metropolitan problem they lose the major responsibility for domestic government in the United States and in turn surrender any really significant role in the American federal system," the report said.

The study included surveys of major metropolitan areas indicating that center cities are carrying a far larger load of welfare cases and other "high cost citizens" than the suburbs and, as a result, a disproportionately heavy tax load.

Central city local taxes, measured against personal income, average more than one-third higher than suburban taxes, the commission reported. The central cities are spending $100 more per capita for police, fire sanitation and other services than the suburbs, the report indicates, but are spending $135 less per child for education across the country.

Racial Bias Indicated In Survey

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal officials say first probes into Northern school systems since evidence of racial discrimination but it's going to be tougher to prove than they thought.

"We're going to have to have some help from the courts for this," said the director of the effort, Mrs. Ruby Martin of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. "There's going to have to be a lot of litigation fast or nothing much is going to happen."

Mrs. Martin, director of the department's Office for Civil Rights, said in an interview that investigators have found declines by some school boards have caused or perpetuated segregation. But, she said, "it's really hard to dig the stuff out. You have to go through volumes and volumes of school board meetings and so forth, sometimes back for many years."

Mrs. Martin said attacking discrimination in the South has been easy, by contrast, because schools were segregated by law. The Supreme Court, she said, has ruled that such laws were unconstitutional. In the North, schools now tend to be white or Negro because of highly segregated housing patterns. No court has ruled that school segregation regardless of cause is unconstitutional.

The Justice Department has just begun a legal attack on Northern school discrimination. Its first case produced a ruling by a federal judge that schools in South Holland, Ill., a Chicago suburb, must be integrated.

The department began last April by applying anti-discrimination guidelines to the North as well as to the South. They have so far completed full-scale investigations in six cities and preliminary reviews in 24 others.

The six are South Holland, Ill.; Union Township, N.J.; Watertown, Conn.; Toledo and Middletown, Ohio; and Pasadena, Calif.

Officials Deny Personnel Shift

HAMILTON AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — Air Force officials have denied that an officer and two enlisted men were ordered to travel to Vietnam because they helped organize a peace march.

The three are Lt. Hugh Smith, 26, Paul Alton, 21, and a sergeant transferred to Taiwan, and Airman Michael Locks, San Jose, Calif., and John Bright of San Francisco, both ordered to transfer to 11th AFB near Ogden, Utah.

A spokesman said Wednesday the three were classified as surplus when records of the 34th Military Air Wing were transferred to Hamilton AFB. They had been members of the wing. Smith filed for a federal court injunction to prevent his transfer. He said he, Locks and Bright were ordered transferred because of their part in an Oct. 12 peace parade in San Francisco.

Officials said the airman had applied for separation from the Air Force as a conscientious objector.

FIREMEN IN LOCKPORT, N. Y., tested a new firefighting foam Thursday in an abandoned building. When they opened the doors and windows following the test, thousands of gallons of foam poured out and a group of young spectators couldn't resist the impulse to dive in. Said one foam-covered youngster as he prepared to take another dive: "It's even better than a pile of leaves," and sure enough, it is firemen report. (AP wirephoto)

Panel Shuns RFK Death In Query

WASHINGTON (AP) — The assassination of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, which triggered creation of the President's commission on violence, has faded almost entirely out of the focus of the panel's probe.

The blue-ribbon commission, which went into its second day of formal hearings today in its broad survey of American violence, heard virtually no mention of the senator's slaying in Wednesday's opening session.

Controversy over the bloody clashes between Chicago police and antiwar demonstrators at the Democratic National Convention dominated the first day. FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover praised Chicago police while Attorney Gen. Ramsey Clark criticized undue police violence.

Both Clark and Hoover strongly endorsed the drive-for-stiffer gun controls at the very start of the Senate hearing. The committee was rejecting a proposal for registration of all firearms.

Lloyd Cutler, executive director of the commission, said there was practically no mention of assassinations at the initial session.

President Johnson created the National Commission on the Causes and Prevention of Violence as Kennedy lay dying June 5. He asked for a wide-ranging study of violence including efforts to seek insight into assassinations.

Cutler said no witnesses connected with the investigation of the shootings of Kennedy or civil rights leader Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. are likely to be called to the panel's Oct. 22 hearings on the specific subject of assassinations. Instead, he said the panel would hear general testimony from psychiatrists and security personnel.

U. S. Envoys Study Louisiana Locker Holds Explosives

PARIS (AP) — American diplomats at the Paris peace talks are trying to determine if Hanoi's leaders really believe their own boasts of runaway military victories in South Vietnam.

The Americans fear the Communists may be making political judgments on the basis of phantom battlefield conquests. This could damage peace prospects by giving the Reds a false sense of power, the American delegation feels.

U.S. Ambassador Cyrus Vance signaled these fears to Xuan Thuy of North Vietnam when they met Wednesday in the 2nd session of the peace talks.

"I am genuinely concerned that your government may be under the illusion that inflated boasts have some basis in fact," said Vance. "That kind of illusion could produce mistaken and dangerous calculations... (and) would be a tragic mistake."

American officials are examining two other possible explanations for what Vance called Hanoi's "wild and distorted claims," a need to pep up the morale of Viet Cong and North Vietnamese troops; and a campaign to mislead world opinion about the course of the war to rally support for an American retreat.

NEW YORK (AP) — The Men's Tie Foundation Inc., is fit to be tied over a photograph of Canadian Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau playfully wrapping a tie around his neck in parrot-fashion after accepting it as a gift from the National Press Club in Ottawa.

Myron H. Ackerman, foundation president, mailed Trudeau another gift Wednesday and enclosed a note pointing out that National Tie Week opens Monday and saying, tongue-in-cheek, "When the choke's on you, the joke's on us."

NEW YORK (AP) — The U.S. Army and Air Force are clearing luggage lockers in a depot Wednesday when they came across a small brown suitcase stored past the allotted time.

Inside there was a sign that said "explosives" and another that said "mines." Hooked to the labeled packages were a roll of primer and a detonator.

"I said something to Alvin," Jeter said. "I don't remember what it was, but when I turned he wasn't anywhere around. I felt that Alvin had a pretty good idea there."

A demolition squad from Ft. Polk dismantled the device and found the detonator was dead and the containers contained Army C rations.

Borneo Fuss Stirs Split

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP) — Malaysia announced today it is suspending diplomatic relations with the Philippines in retaliation for the new Philippine law "incorporating" the Malaysian Borneo State of Sabah into the Philippines.

Prime Minister Tunku Abdul Rahman said the annexation law "has completely undermined the very foundation which led to the normalization of diplomatic relations between Malaysia and the Philippines." They had been suspended from 1963 to 1966.

Rahman said he was recalling his ambassador and his entire diplomatic staff from Manila. He also announced abrogation of the treaty between the two countries designed to cut off the smuggling trade between Sabah and the Sulu Islands which costs the Philippine government an estimated $100 million a year in customs.

An official source said Rahman's action was "just short of a break in diplomatic relations but not quite all the way."

In Manila, Philippine President Ferdinand E. Marcos withheld comment until he heard from his embassy in Kuala Lumpur.

Malaysia's diplomatic move coincided with a strengthening of her military guard on Sabah, the former colony of British North Borneo.

Naval patrols were ordered to step up their watch for foreign naval vessels, and civilian vigilantes suggested the British lunatic-style patrols were expected to be mobbed along Sabah's eastern coast, 20 miles west of the Sulu Islands, at the southern tip of the Philippines. Sabah annexation law Wednesday but said his nation would pursue its claim by "peaceful means." Rahman said the Philippine fighters took off from Hong Kong today on a flight in the aggression and vowed to Philippines and then to Sabah. "meet force with force."

Georgia Demo Official Bolts Party In Protest

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Georgia Comptroller Gen. James I. Bentley resigned from the state Democratic party Wednesday, informing party officials that it is at last month's National Democratic Convention in Chicago.

Bentley advised the party of his intentions in a letter to state party chairman James Gray. Meanwhile, it was reliably reported that four other prominent Democratic office holders also have mailed letters resigning from the party.

They are Agriculture Commissioner Phil Campbell, State Treasurer Jack Ray, and Alpha Fowler and Crawford Plicher of the Public Service Commission.

Bentley, a long-time personal and political associate of Sen. James Eastland, confirmed that he has resigned from the party but declined to discuss the content of his letter until it is received by Democratic officials. It was learned, however, that he informed Gray the party no longer represents his views.

Neither Campbell, Ray, Fowler nor Plicher were available immediately for comment. The wholesale resignations are certain to be a staggering blow to the state party, already fragmented by a credentials defeat at last month's National Democratic Convention in Chicago.

The Credentials Committee stripped the regular Georgia delegation of almost half its votes because of a challenge of dissidents led by controversial state Rep. Julian Bond.

Nixon Enthralls Salt Lake Crowd

By LEE BYRD
SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — A hushed, attentive audience listened as the 375 voices of the Mormon Tabernacle Choir moved softly, majestically through "This is My Country," a selection requested by an Irish Quaker, Richard M. Nixon.

If the polls are correct, so was the song.

Nixon, a former Sunday school teacher, took the Tabernacle pulpit Wednesday night for the second time in eight years. His message was solidly Republican. The congregation, 10,000 members, and another 4,000 pressed against the buildings loved it.

A few changes in those eight years. The new Nixon's wavy hair and "you could hit me with your heavy eyebrows. And, as he tells it, the nation sits more perilously above decay because of Democratic inaction. Johnson and Hubert H. Humphrey.

His strongest attack on Vietnam policy since the GOP National Convention, "Never has so much military, and economic, and political, and diplomatic power been used so ineffectively as the administrative has conducted the war in Vietnam."

On other foreign policy: "You could throw a dart at a map of the world and you could hit the country where the United States is not worse off now than it was eight years ago."

On civil rights-law and order: "I don't believe that the first civil right is to be free from domestic violence."

"America has a deep need to restore a climate of public and private morality that will sustain and uphold our entire system of laws."

Nixon came to Utah with his homework done. He paid glowing compliments to each of the state's major GOP candidates and said "It is essential that you elect where the people want."

Michigan Gov. George Romney, a former presidential aspirant who once challenged Nixon to a debate and got turned down, opened the meeting with a ringing, partisan speech and made it clear he endorsed Nixon fully. "I had wondered if I should make a political address in this holy place," Nixon said. "But I got the message—from George Romney is a Mormon."

Nixon pleaded that if Vietnam negotiations have not succeeded by election day Nov. 5, "give us a chance and we'll bring the war to an honorable end. That's what we will do."

Nixon did not explain how he would end it, but said "I will make no statements to threaten the administration's chance to negotiate an end."

He hit the law and order theme hardest, citing a Mormon article of faith that calls for "obeying, honoring and sustaining the law."

He attacked violence, pornography and unclean business practices. His text added prominently to the list, but he dropped it in his delivery.

There also were repeated references in past months: "Some of the courts have gone too far to weaken the peace forces as the administrative has conducted the war in Vietnam."

Idaho Firm Seeks Help To Pay Bills

BOISE (AP) — A federal receiver in bankruptcy has scheduled Oct. 20 for a hearing on the liquidation of the National Steel Service Center Co., which has headquarters in Wallace.

The firm filed a petition in federal court in Boise Wednesday for extension of payments due creditors.

Paul S. Boyd, the federal receiver, said the firm has $10 million in outstanding obligations and he has instructed the company to prepare a plan for payment.

The petition was filed under a section of U.S. code which provides for court supervision of an indebted corporation that shows to the satisfaction of the court

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — A detailed study to be made of all cancer cases occurring in 11 areas of the United States from 1969 to 1971 was announced today.

The third national cancer survey, to be directed by Dr. John C. Bailar, II, of the National Cancer Institute, will update similar projects completed in 1937 and 1947.

Ban Sought On Revealing Vote Results

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bill to prohibit the broadcasting or telecasting of election results or projections of results in federal elections in a state before that state's polls have closed was introduced Wednesday by 17 congressmen.

Rep. John H. Buchanan, R-Ala., one of the sponsors, criticized the projection of election results based on a small percentage of returns and the "compulsion of TV networks to be first to guess the final outcome."

He said in a statement that not only are such projections often in error but that they could influence the outcome of a national election, particularly where California, for example, is subject to three hours of conjecture by the networks before its polls close.

NLRB Steps In To Dam Dispute

BOISE (AP) — An attempt to stop a threatened strike in a union-contractor dispute at the Dworthak Dam has been made by the National Labor Relations Board.

A petition for an injunction against Teamsters Local No. 651 in Lewiston was filed Wednesday by the acting regional director for the NLRB, Patrick H. Walker.

Walker said he believes the union is engaging in "unfair labor practices" and alleged it is attempting to force the joint venture of contracting firms known as Drayco Corp. to cease "Hello Dolly!" today after a virus infection.

Sen. Church Plans Idaho Appearance

Sen. Frank Church, running for his third term in the Senate, was to return to Idaho today. He was to attend the Nez Perce County Fair in Lewiston.

Church's Republican opponent, Rep. George Hansen, was in Caldwell Wednesday and told a service club audience he believes the Democratic administration has been making budget cuts in the wrong areas.

Hansen said "There have been drastic slashes in necessary programs, such as the soil conservation, service budget, while there have been only minute, if any, cuts in controversial Great Society programs."

He listed about $1.68 billion in cuts from Agriculture, Defense and Transportation Department budgets and noted there had been only $6 million cut from budgets of the Departments of Labor and Housing and Urban Development and the Office of Economic Opportunity budget.

Church, after attending the Nez Perce County Fair, was to go to eastern Idaho for a series of campaign appearances.

Another congressional candidate, State Sen. Orval Hansen of Idaho Falls who is running for Congress from Idaho's Second District, was in Salmon Wednesday.

Hansen called for a "realistic program of beef import quotas" and a requirement that foreign beef be labeled as such.

Idahoans Sue Medical Firm Of Colorado

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — The Medical Institute of Colorado, a profit-making school, was sued for $6,685 by a Salmon, Idaho, man and his daughter who claim the school failed to live up to its promises on medical training.

The action was brought in District Court by Dwight D. Stevens and his daughter, Marlene.

The complaint said she signed an agreement with the school for training as a medical assistant. The suit claimed the school did not make good on representations that it could furnish complete instructions, equipment, instructional materials and books and uniforms.

The suit also charged the school falsely claimed to be accredited by the State Board for Community, College and Occupational Education. The school faces a hearing Oct. 9 before the board, which has received similar complaints from other students.

The Idaho residents ask for return of the $1,685 they said they paid for the course, plus $5,000 damages.

Lack Of Crowd Vexes Caterer

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Dole was left holding the cookies in Julie Nixon's program in support of the presidential campaign of her father, Richard M. Nixon.

Dole, a caterer, said he was told to bake 10,000 cookies for the crowd Wednesday. About 400 persons showed up.

Law Vetoed

BOISE (AP) — An Idaho statute known as the "Filled Milk Law" has been declared unconstitutional by District Judge Merlin S. Young of Boise.

The court case resulted from an attempt by Agriculture Commissioner Stanley Trenhaile to prohibit Sun Ray Drive-In Dairy, Inc., from retailing a product with a milk base and other non-milk product additives.

Young prohibited the agriculture commissioner from enforcing the law, saying he saw no reason why vegetable oils or other products cannot be added to a milk-based product if it is wholesome.

The judge said any possible fraud or danger to the public could be remedied through legislation requiring honest labeling.

Danish Official Praises Hospital

BOISE (AP) — The social welfare director for Denmark has praised the hospital portion of the Nampa State School and Hospital.

Nils Bank Mikkelson was in Boise Wednesday and outlined his country's program for treatment of the mentally handicapped to an audience of state agency personnel.

Mikkelson was in Idaho at the invitation of Dr. John Marks, administrator of the Nampa institution.

Mikkelson said Denmark has abandoned the large institutional custodial care approach to treatment of the mentally ill. He said Denmark has been divided into mental health districts with service units — which are like small, self-contained communities — for care of mental patients.

Dr. Terrell O. Carver, Idaho's health department administrator, said he would like to see Idaho develop such a system but this would take time and money.

Fish Facility Nears Finish At Dam Site

LEWISTON, Idaho (AP) — Dworthak National Fish Hatchery below Dworthak Dam now under construction will be sufficiently completed to utilize this fall's Clearwater River steelhead, according to hatchery manager John R. Parvin.

The multi-million dollar hatchery is being built downstream from Dworthak Dam in an effort to offset the loss of spawning grounds. The dam is on the North Fork of the Clearwater about 40 miles east of Lewiston.

Parvin said testing of equipment to serve the hatchery fish holding ponds will start Sept. 30. Soon after that, steelhead trapped at the damsite will be transported to the ponds for holding this winter. By the time the spring run arrives and the spawning season starts, the hatchery will be in full operation, he said.

Although some steelhead migrate upstream in the fall and others in the spring, all spawn in the spring.

The hatchery building is to be finished next March and the entire project — by May — Parvin said.

Gun Alarm, Ropes Amuse Utah Throng

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Some of the lighter moments during Richard M. Nixon's visit to Utah late Wednesday: As a crowd of 2,000 waited nervously for more than an hour and one-half past Nixon's scheduled arrival, someone yelled "There are two men on the roof with guns."

Police and security agents jerked their heads upward to see two more policemen.

As Nixon's plane wheeled up, officers demanded a group on the apron to "Get behind the rope."

"What rope?" a cameraman asked.

"The one you're standing on," came the reply.

One of the first to greet Nixon and his wife Pat was Bobby Davis, a sixth grader at Canyon Rim School. He presented letters and drawings from classmates and headed the Nixon honorary members of the Canyon Rim PTA.

"Who could beat that?" laughed a Nixon advance man. Signs among the crowd: "Nixon's Geary," "Nixon's got Soul!" and "Humpty Dumpty." Anti-Nixon efforts included "Heckle, Jeer," and "Irresponsible Opposition."

Michigan Gov. George Romney, speaking before Nixon at the Mormon Tabernacle, said of his own short-lived campaign for the presidential nomination: "Many campaigns are like mini skirts — short and revealing."

Romney added that "only in America could a political dropout share the same platform with the honored graduate."

Nixon blushed but got a good laugh when he read a honest slice of the tongue while describing the first time he had heard the Mormon Tabernacle Choir on radio. He meant to say "When my parents bought their first radio set" but it came out "When my parents bought their first radio station."

The crowd — particularly the women — also cackled when Nixon declared he and Romney had both proved "We had the ability to make our own selves." Romney, incidentally, had used the same joke a day earlier at the Rotary Club, referring then to himself and Gov. Calvin Rampton.

The audience laughed a little harder when it came from the presidential nominee.

Invasion May Kill Arms Pact

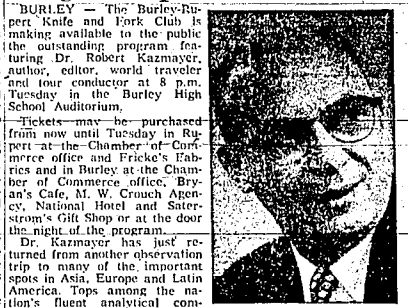

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield said today that one of the victims of the Soviet invasion of Czechoslovakia could be the treaty to ban the spread of nuclear weapons.

In a report to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, the Montana Democrat said the pact is in danger because of "suspicion which the pro-Soviet action has undoubtedly aroused among the signatory nations to which nuclear weapons are not to proliferate under the treaty."

Should these non-nuclear nations ratify the treaty, Mansfield said, "they will have encircled, in effect the nuclear powers." His newspaper reported Egyptian army authorities "expect a violent explosion" on the canal at any moment.

Despite their new Soviet equipment, the Arab states are judged by some military observers still to be in no state to take on the Israelis. Another defeat could well bring down Nasser and all his allies. But considerations such as these have rarely dictated events in the turbulent Middle East.

Arabs Lose Hope Of Regaining Lost Land

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — The Arab nations seem to have abandoned hope of regaining their lost lands from Israel by political means, and war talk once more pervades the Middle East.

A rash of gunfights, ambushes and artillery duels, marks the 15-month-old cease-fire lines. Jordanian and Israeli troops exchange fire almost daily across the Jordan River, one of the main points of tension.

The dogged efforts of U.N. mediator Gunnar V. Jarring to obtain a peaceful settlement are now virtually ignored by the Arab press. Arab governments apparently have dismissed his mission as a failure.

Aggressive speeches from Egyptian leaders are ominously reminiscent of those which preceded the six-day war of June 5-10, 1967.

Israeli authorities, too, speak of a new round of hostilities. If war comes the Arabs will learn once more that they are as powerful as ever before.

Prime Minister Levi Eshkol declared this week. His defense minister, Moshe Dayan, warned Israel to be prepared and called for a very heavy investment in arms.

On the other side, President Gamal Abdel Nasser indicated last weekend that Egypt was entering the phase of "retaliation" against Israel. He addressed the 1,700 members of the national congress of his ruling Arab Socialist Union in a speech which seemed aimed at putting the country on a war footing.

There was speculation in West Bank capitals that the 50-year-old Egyptian leader was seeking a mandate for a military thrust into Israeli-held Sinai.

Egypt's armed forces, he said, are the "only means of liberating occupied territory."

Lt. Gen. Mohammed Fawzi, Egypt's war minister and armed forces commander, assured the congress it "has now become absolutely impossible" for Israel to cross the Suez Canal.

He reported on military preparations and spoke-gleefully of his troops' combat ability and morale. He emphasized Arab-Soviet cooperation in armaments.

The Egyptians are known to have concentrated 100,000 to 150,000 troops behind the canal's west bank. They have received short-range ground to ground missiles from the Soviet Union. About 3,000 Soviet advisers are believed to be serving with Egyptian forces. The Egyptian air force destroyed on the ground in June 1967, has been rebuilt with MIG21 fighters and Sukhoi SU7 fighter-bombers.

Al-Ahram and regarded as a close confidant of Nasser, has predicted: "The battle is coming." His newspaper reported Egyptian army authorities "expect a violent explosion" on the canal at any moment.

Despite their new Soviet equipment, the Arab states are judged by some military observers still to be in no state to take on the Israelis. Another defeat could well bring down Nasser and all his allies. But considerations such as these have rarely dictated events in the turbulent Middle East.

Romanian Victims Of Stalinist Trials 'Rehabilitated' By Ruling Of Court

BUCHAREST (AP) — Fourteen Romanian victims of Stalinist trials, some long dead, were rehabilitated Wednesday by a ruling of Romania's Supreme Court.

The names of four former Communist party leaders and 10 prominent non-Communist, mostly engineers and administrators, were officially cleared in a move with anti-Soviet overtones.

The party leaders, purged in 1954, included Vasile Luca, a Moscow-trained trade union chief who died in prison in 1950. The others, all former party secretaries, were Dumitriu Cerinca, Alexandru Iacob and Ivan Solymont.

Men of the non-Communist group were sentenced to death or long prison terms in the Danube Canal trial of 1952. This was a hoisting-reported staged-on orders from the Kremlin after collapse of Soviet-sponsored Danube Canal project on the Black Sea.

Among the defendants was a chief engineer, Nicolae Vasilescu. The Supreme Court ruling, published in the Communist party newspaper Scinteia, said the innocence of the men of both groups was established clearly. The action against them was described as "illegal and without justification."

It was not specified how many are still alive. The Romanian Communist Party Central Committee had denounced the verdicts last April. Both trials occurred in the regime of Gheorghiu-Dej, the president and party chief who died in 1955, and the Central Committee attributed to him a large part of the blame for the purges.

This approach toward rehabilitations coincided with similar operations in Czechoslovakia, whose reform program—slighted by Soviet-led occupation forces—won sympathetic support from the Romanians.

President Nicolae Ceausescu, who is also chief of Romania's Communist party, indicated at the time that this regime would take a more liberal course in domestic affairs, though under close party control.

U. S. Extends 'Apologies' For Incident

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department says the United States has apologized to Poland for gun shots directed at a Polish ship in Miami harbor Monday and will launch an investigation.

Press Officer Robert J. McCloskey said Wednesday no one was injured when an unknown gunman fired at the freighter. There were reports anti-Castro Cuban refugees were suspected.

Polish Ambassador Jerzy Michalowski lodged a protest. McCloskey said, and was told the United States regrets the incident and will do what is necessary to launch a full investigation.

The Polonians were reported to be carrying equipment for the Polish team which will participate in the Olympic Games in Mexico City next month. The ship continued on to Mexico after the shooting incident.

'Mothers' Musical Message Comes Closely Combined With Wild Rockin' Rhythm

By ROGER DOUGHTY

NEW YORK (NEA)—Frank Zappa's father didn't raise his son to be a mother, but he came one anyway. In fact, Frank grew up to become the Head Mother of them all, the leader of the Mothers, a band that he admits to being 30.

It takes just one look at Frank to realize he's not your average run-of-the-mill mother. But, as he likes to point out, "Good people come in all kinds of personal packaging." Those who take their rock seriously think Zappa is one of the greatest of them all. But there are those who suspect that Frank and the other Mothers take their own sound with a grain of salt. One national magazine reviewed their recent record, "We're Only in It for the Money," and concluded, "the Mothers' perversity is getting to be a drag—and since they put down everything, we suspect that they are only doing it for the money."

But no matter, Zappa is used to being zapped. The music of the Mothers has been called meaningful, warped, brilliant and terrible by a variety of reviewers over the years. Take your pick.

"There's a message behind our music," says Zappa, "but I'm not going to tell you what it is. Listen to the music and figure it out for yourself."

Frank plays guitar, piano, vibes and drums. He also composes, arranges and rattles off social commentaries. The other Mothers are Roy Estrada, Bunk Gardner, Jimmy Carl Black, Ray Collins, Don Preston, Jim Sherwood, Art Tripp and Jan Underwood.

"These guys have been through every type of music," Zappa says proudly. "They're a real mixed-up bunch. One guy used to be a truck driver, another was a bartender and carpenter and one was a salad chet and auto mechanic. We have another guy who used to work for the gas and electric company in Kansas. He's also a part-time alcoholic. With such a wide variety of experiences, what's not to be seen through the eyes of the Mothers. Their spiffy, nifty pattern, as Frank describes it, contains some of the most biting social comment of our decade. The only way you can fight for survival is outrage," Frank explains.

"Madison Avenue," he smiles, "has made a lot of money by getting everybody up tight about their bodies. In that way they become rich by intimidating people to the point where they buy a lot of stuff to kill body odor and bad breath." But such wisdom comes with age, Zappa admits.

"The average age in our group is 39," he says. "There are a lot of kids in other groups who are saying profound things, but they're so young that you have to find it difficult to believe that they know what they're talking about. There's room for people over 30 in rock."

"Rock music," he feels, "is a necessary element of today's society."

"Demonstrations," he says, "are the logical thing to expect from an oppressed minority. And there are a lot of oppressed minorities around these days. Television has been very helpful. You can learn how to stage a demonstration just by watching the tube. I'm for 'em, demon-

Humphrey Evokes Spirit Of JFK

BOSTON (AP)—Hubert H. Humphrey, eagerly welcoming the public embraces of two heroes of dissident Democrats, today evoked the spirit of the late John F. Kennedy against Richard M. Nixon.

After a scheduled introduction by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, the vice president, in remarks prepared for a rally, said of the Kennedy presidential nomination in Chicago.

"This race is a contest between the comfortable and the concerned, between those who believe that we should rest and lie at anchor and drift, and between those who want to move this country forward in the Kennedy and Lyndon Johnson campaign. The public appearances with McGovern and Kennedy are seen as a step toward unifying the Democratic party."

He also is expected to visit Illinois, Kentucky, Ohio, California, Washington and Oregon.

Humphrey, recalling that President Kennedy closed his speech in Boston, repeated these words of the late president:

"I believe that the time has come when we must decide, 'do we have the courage, do we have the common sense to keep this country moving forward?'"

Humphrey again hammered at Nixon's opposition to a ratification of the nuclear nonproliferation treaty, even though he has endorsed the pact.

Humphrey asserted that all those who supported President Kennedy and all those who worked for the party—the last eight years still have a stake in the 1968 election despite the interparty feuding.

Rate Drops

LONDON (AP)—The Bank of England cut its lending rate today from 7 1/2 to 7 per cent. The cut was taken as a sign that the British economy is improving.

The bank lending rate governs all financial transactions in Britain. A cut had been expected in the wake of Britain's improved trade figures for August, announced earlier this week.

Wallace Decries Nixon Debate

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—George C. Wallace says Republican Richard M. Nixon should not accept an offer to debate other presidential candidates on national television.

In a fund-raising dinner speech at Kansas City, he paraphrased his oft-repeated slogan: "I think he should refuse, because if he debates, it's a waste of time. He should talk about his record and the record of the Republican party and Democratic candidates."

Now, he said, "a few things they are saying aren't 10 cents worth different from what I've been saying."

He referred to Nixon's speech last night before returning to his advocating "law and order."

"They ought to be willing to restore order for nothing," Wallace said. "After all, they took it away from us."

He said the Republicans started a trend toward loss of law and order with appointment of Earl Warren as chief justice of the United States.

Wallace spoke earlier Wednesday to some 3,500 persons at Cape Girardeau where he attacked liberals "who harp about Chicago and the police."

And he spoke of demonstrators "graveling around in their beads and fih" in Alabama streets.

'Mini-Auction' Aims To Draw 'Ordinary' Folks

NEW YORK (AP) — "It was just marvelous. Two women came in with babies," said a spokesman for the laid, elegant and very expensive Parke-Bernet auction galleries Wednesday.

The occasion was the first sale at PB 84—a sort of "mini" auction gallery opened by Parke-Bernet in a converted garage about 10 blocks from the main establishment.

The aim of PB 84, the spokesman said, "is to bring art and a certain down to the price level of the ordinary person. It's particularly aimed at young couples."

"Prices at regular Parke-Bernet auctions usually run into the thousands. The bottom price at PB 84's debut of furniture was $1, paid by a young man for a set of 15 glasses. The top was $300 for a Charles II-style oak Welsh dresser.

Protests Set

CHICAGO (AP) — An anti-war coalition which organized demonstrations that grew into street violence in Chicago announced plans Wednesday for protests across the country wherever the presidential candidates appear.

Rebecca Davis, 28, Chicago, and Tom Hayden, 23, New York City, co-directors of the National Mobilization Committee to End the War in Vietnam, said at a news conference that a voters strike is planned for election day, Nov. 5.

Davis said: "We feel the peace forces beaten down inside the rigged Democratic-National Convention and the peace forces beaten in the streets of Chicago will not be unrepresented this fall."

"We intend to be a major force; we will look to the streets," he added. "Pickets will be erected at thousands of voting booths throughout the country on Nov. 5," Davis said, "and two mass rallies will be held where the two major candidates vote."

Hayden said the demonstrations could result in violence "depending on what the police do."

Jekyll Canines Roam At Night

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Some dogs have Jekyll and Hyde personalities, a doctor says. They stay home in the daytime and join wild packs at night.

Dr. R. B. Phillips, chairman of a Georgia Medical Association committee, told a wild dog study committee hearing Wednesday.

The committee heard reports that wild dogs have killed $1.5 million worth of Georgia cattle this year. It is proposing legislation to control the estimated 30,000 unvaccinated strays in Georgia.

One dog lover told the committee to love our dogs just as much as you love your cattle. I want you to take this into consideration.

Doctor Treats Friend's Son
 NEW YORK, Minn. (AP) — Dr. Peter Kitzberger was called out of the Rotary Club luncheon on an emergency just before the speaker got up.

By the time Richard Wilfrith had finished speaking, Dr. Kitzberger returned.

"My emergency patient was your son Danny," the doctor told Wilfrith. The boy, age 12, had been hit on the head at a school playground but was not seriously hurt.

Largest Jetport Begins Building

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A dynamite blast in the cypress swamplands of the Florida Everglades signaled Wednesday the start of construction of a jetport. Builders expect to become the mightiest of the super-size age of air travel.

Embracing 35 square miles of the former nursing grounds of the Miccosukee tribe of Seminole Indians, the port is so big that the Los Angeles, San Francisco and Washington international airports and New York's Kennedy all could be fitted into it. And there would be plenty of room left over for Washington Dulles.

Two six-mile long runways are planned, capable of handling 1,000-seat airliners of the future, and its designers were planning forward to the era of space travel.

"We've got plenty of room out there for gantries," said Alan C. Stewart, director of the Dade County Port Authority which launched the visionary project.

The immediate goal is construction of two 10,500-foot runways which will handle nearly 200,000 training and transitional flights of big jets in and out of Miami International Airport each year.

This will reduce noise and air space congestion at Miami International and clear the way for the 380-passenger 747 and the 400-passenger super-jumbo transports coming along soon, which Miami has the runways to handle.

Killer To Die In South

CHARLESTON, S.C. (AP) — A white man has been sentenced to die in the South Carolina electric chair for the fatal shooting of Charleston policeman James Owens, a Negro.

State officials say it may be the first time in South Carolina that a white man has received the death penalty for killing a Negro.

A jury of six men and six women, including one Negro, returned a guilty verdict without a recommendation of mercy Wednesday against Wilson Cornelius Atkinson, 25, of Hartsville.

Atkinson, a construction worker, stood quietly as Circuit Judge Louis Rosen passed sentence. Asked if he had anything to say, Atkinson said he hoped the court would show mercy towards him.

Judge Rosen set Nov. 8 as the date of execution at South Carolina's penitentiary in Columbia. South Carolina's electric chair was last used April 20, 1962, when two men were electrocuted.

Debate Measure Meets 'Trouble'

WASHINGTON (AP) — A backer of a bill that would open the way for televised debates between the major presidential candidates says the measure "is in deep trouble."

Rep. Brock Adams, D-Wash., of the House Commerce Committee gave that appraisal Wednesday after the committee put off a final decision on the senate-approved measure until today.

The bill would suspend requirements that broadcast stations or networks who allow time to a legally qualified candidate must provide equal opportunities to all others competing for the same office. This was done in 1960.

The committee approved the bill 15-14 last week, but Rep. W. Stuckey, D-Ga., offered a motion to reconsider at Wednesday's closed session.

Youtz, Robertson Claim SIC Leads

Twin Falls quarterback Jeff Youtz is running first in passing yardage and second in total offense in Southern Idaho conference statistics and junior tailback Jack Robertson is third in rushing, according to figures released today by conference coaches.

Youtz has completed 11 passes for 292 yards and four touchdowns. Robertson is averaging 6.8 yards per carry on the ground with 229 yards in 29 carries. Overall Youtz has piled up 350 yards running and 292 passing, placing him 15 yards behind pace-setting Chuck Vaughn of Meridian.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Philadelphia's ranscoring single in the seventh inning off Bob Veale broke up a pitching duel and handed Jerry Johnson and the Philadelphia Phillies a 2-1 victory over Pittsburgh Wednesday night.

The Pirates took a 1-0 lead in the fourth inning on Donn Cleveland's RBI single. Andy Glynn Sutherland and Mike Ryan singled for the Phillies in the seventh and the tying run scored on Tony Taylor's grand slam. Brings followed with his hit.

Club Discusses Dove Hunting

RICHFIELD—Reports of dove hunting, a popular sport, and trout fishing were made at the Richfield Rod and Gun Club opening fall meeting Monday night at the school cafeteria.

Don Hinz reported finding the birds very scarce since rains and colder weather. Pheasants are rumored to be scarce, also. Reports from farmers and irrigators, pheasants seem to be very small due to late hatching of spring rains. Light catches of trout are the rule now, the men said.

Raiders Boast Minus Column In AFL Starts

NEW YORK (AP) — When the Miami Dolphins play the Oakland Raiders Saturday night, they'll be facing a plus defense that has held the opposition to minus yardage.

According to American Football League statistics released Wednesday, the Raiders are the only team to have a minus figure on their record. In their only game, the Raiders held the Buffalo Bills to minus 10 yards.

Aaron Boys Bat Braves Past Astros

HOUSTON (AP) — Phil Niekro cut down Houston on three hits and Hank and Tommie Aaron sliced run-scoring doubles, sending the Atlanta Braves to a 9-3 victory over the Astros Wednesday night.

Niekro, 12-12, gave up a single to Rusty Staub in the first inning and an inside hit by Leon McFadden in the eighth in out-pitching Denny Lemaster, 10-15.

Felix Millan singled with one out in the first for the Braves and Hank Aaron doubled him in. After Joe Torre reached base on McFadden's error, Tommie Aaron slammed his double.

Angels And Twins Trade Decisions

MINNEAPOLIS — ST. PAUL (AP) — Jim Fregosi tripped home on a first-inning run in the California Twins trade with some daring base running in the seventh, leading the Angels to a 4-1 victory over Minnesota Tuesday night in a doubleheader.

The Twins took the opener 4-3 as Bruce Lott singled home two runs in a three-run fourth inning and Ken Boyer's hit with one out in the eighth.

Sox Erupt In Seventh To Trim Orioles

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Red Sox held hitless for six innings by Roger Nelson, erupted for three runs in the seventh and defeated the Baltimore Orioles 4-0.

Mike Andrews' leadoff single broke up the no-hitter. Carl Yastrzemski walked and Ken Hensley singled to fill the bases. Reggie Smith grounded a two-run single to right to finish Nelson, and another run scored as reliever Peter Richter walked Joe Foy with the bases loaded. Smith knocked in an eighth-inning walk with a sacrifice fly.

Grimsley's Upset: Sooners Over Irish

By WILL GRIMSLEY
 Friday Night
 NEW YORK (AP) — Two of college football's giants, Notre Dame and Oklahoma, crash into each other going around the first corner Saturday, and the question is which one will fall.

The odds-makers say it has to be Oklahoma, smaller, with less depth yet more speed. Notre Dame is ranked third nationally, Oklahoma fifth. But chances are the Fighting Irish will be looking over the head of the Sooners for the following week's game with Purdue.

Redlegs Stop Late L.A. Bid For 2-0 Win

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Gerry Arrijo survived a shaky ninth inning with relief from Ted Abernathy and the Cincinnati Reds defeated the Los Angeles Dodgers 2-0 Wednesday night.

Arrijo, 12-9, had a three-hitter entering the ninth when a walk and Ken Boyer's hit with one out brought on Abernathy, who got pinch hitter Len Gabrielson to hit into Los Angeles' fourth double play.

Stenerud Is Top Scorer In Pro Loop

NEW YORK (AP)—Jan Stenerud, Kansas City's Norwegian kicker, has jumped in front in the race for the American Football League scoring title he missed by just eight points as a rookie last year. Stenerud, whose 108 points in 1967 were only of George Blanda's 116, led scorers in NFL statistics showed today. He's compiled that total on three extra points and eight of nine field goal attempts. Mack Houston, rookie kicker, scored three touchdowns for 18 points. Another second-year man, Dick Post of San Diego, leads in rushing yards with 1,000 and an 8.8 average while a veteran running back, Houston's Sid Blanks, tops pass receivers with nine catches. Joe Namath of New York is the leading passer, having completed 58.6 per cent of his passes for 302 yards. Pete Beathard of Houston has thrown the most touchdowns passes, three. Perhaps the most impressive figures are found in the punt return statistics. Lookie George to test the Trojans at Wendell. Wendell is 1-1 while Shoshone has lost both outings.

Losers Leaving, Winners Training After Olympic Trials In Nevada

SOUTH LAKE TAHOE, Calif. (AP)—It isn't hard to tell the winners from the losers at this mountain gambling resort on Nevada's border. It's all a question of destination. The winners are staying and will be back for more. The losers are leaving, sadder but wiser. For the next month, plenty will be said about the winners in the U.S. men's Olympic track and field trials that were just completed here. Herewith, therefore, is a last look at some of the losers. —In 1964, a wealthy young Marine of Indian ancestry, provided the United States with its most thrilling victory at the Olympic Games in Tokyo, winning the 10,000 meters. Today Billy Mills is just another runner who couldn't make the team. Troubled repeatedly by a back injury, Mills struggled through the grueling 10,000 in the trials here and finished fourth. —When he was 17, and even skinnier than he is now, Gerry Anderson beat the Russians at 10,000 meters in a duel meet. Since then he won the collegiate three-mile, six-mile, 5,000-meter, and 10,000-meter crown a total of six times. But after setting an American record at 5,000 meters this spring, Anderson injured an Achilles tendon and was never quite right thereafter. He finished fifth in the 10,000-meter and then failed in a desperate attempt to take third in the 5,000. —For a couple of years Richmond Flowers was a good record-and-place hunter. Suddenly his hard work started to pay off. He began to win and felt sure he would break the world record at 100 meters. Then his knee gave out and for 10 agonizing weeks he had to stay off the track. By the time the knee had healed Flowers had had many operations and, though he made it to the final, he finished fifth and off the Olympic team. —Then the indoor collegiate championships in 1967, Dave Patrick had his finest moment.

O'Leary Cops 7-0 Win Over Minico

Steve Parr bowled into the end zone from the eight yard line under one minute into the fourth quarter Wednesday night to lift the O'Leary Cubs past the Minico frosh 7-0. After three even quarters, O'Leary drove to the Minico 10 yard line. Minico's punt was short and the Cubs drove 35 yards for the game's only touchdown. Dale Anderson got the extra point.

Hagerman, riding a 2-0 record, brings its trip to Eden Saturday night to try to defeat the Vikings. The Vikings have a problem to face in Ray Lapp who can beat you running or throwing and there are enough blockers to help him to give a defense fit. Kimberly hosts the Hanasen Huskies in a rivalry renewal. The Huskies used to play annually but haven't met now since at least 1957. Kimberly is winless going into this one while Hansen is 1-2, having won his first game last week. Shoshone, losing to Gooding last week despite a good defensive showing, goes today to try to play a rivalry game to test the Trojans at Wendell. Wendell is 1-1 while Shoshone has lost both outings. Oakley, knocked deep behind in the Magic Valley Conference chase last week, tries to recoup in a battle at Castleford against the Wolves. Oakley is 1-2 while Castleford has a pair of ties and a loss so far. Murtaugh, or Declo if Oakley should drop Castleford, could find a place to play in the conference lead by winning a major test at Murtaugh Friday night. Declo has a 3-0 record while DeLo has a tie and two wins. Declo's tie came out of the conference. In eight-man action, the Camas County Muehlers will be at the top of the Magic Valley Conference as they are hampered by the injury to quarterback Randy Lee. The Muehlers are romping behind Jerry Gilpin. Bliss leaves the area to test the Bulldogs at Gray View. In addition to the Jerome at Wood River game, Saturday offers two other area contests at Malita. It will be something for Coach Ruel Barber's Trojans.

Rookie Earns Honors With Punt Return

NEW YORK (AP)—On only his first try, Oakland rookie George Atkinson did what it took the entire American Football League 332 tries to do last year. What Atkinson did was run back a punt 55 yards for the touchdown and generally get wreck the Buffalo Bills and get their coach, Joe Collier, fired. Including the touchdown return, the defensive back from Morris Brown ran back five punts for a league record 205 yards last Sunday and today was named The Associated Press' AFL defensive player of the week. And he did all of this in his first regular season game. It was on his first runback that Atkinson returned the league's entire 1967 output. In 332 returns last year, Floyd Little of Denver scored the only touchdown, doing it on a 72-yard romp. The rookie's 86-yard scoring run started the defending champion Raiders on the way to a 46-6 triumph over the Bills. His second return, of 57 yards, gave the Raiders the ball at the Buffalo 9, setting up another TD. It might take a little longer to determine, but Atkinson's performance certainly gave at least some credence to a statement by Al Davis that the youngster "could be the best player in the league."

Davis, the man who runs the Raiders, just might be going a little overboard, but there's no doubt that the seventh-round draft choice is one of the most aggressive Raiders. Curiously enough, on the same day Atkinson equalled the 1967 total of one touchdown, Kansas City's Nolan Smith also returned a punt for a touchdown. His 88-yard punt almost propelled the Chiefs past New York and earned him recognition.

Also considered for the honor were Houston's Ken Houston who raced 66 yards with an intercepted pass for a TD, and John Elliott, a defensive tackle who plagued the Chiefs' backs all day in New York's victory. Elliott made four unassisted tackles and helped in nine more.

Curiously enough, on the same day Atkinson equalled the 1967 total of one touchdown, Kansas City's Nolan Smith also returned a punt for a touchdown. His 88-yard punt almost propelled the Chiefs past New York and earned him recognition.

'Sore-Armed' Sonny Is NFL Back Of Week

NEW YORK (AP)—Poor old Sonny Jurgensen. Too bad his arm is sore. If he were healthy there's just no way of telling how many touchdowns Sunday through the Chicago Bears' highly touted pass defense. Although Sonny had appeared in only one exhibition game after undergoing surgery on his right elbow last spring, he was on the beam in the opener. Jurgensen's performance—14 of 21 pass completions for 276 yards and four touchdowns—made him the Associated Press' first National Football League offensive player of the week for 1968. "Until the exhibition game in Richmond," said Jurgensen, "I wasn't at all sure I'd ever throw right again. But my arm got stronger as we went along." Jurgensen unloaded quickly, as usual, in the Washington Redskins' 38-28 victory over the Bears. Don Meredith of Dallas also had himself quite a day with 16 of 19 for 228 yards and two scores in a 59-13 romp over Detroit. Ronnie Blye, New York Giants' rookie, rocked Pittsburgh with three kickoff returns for 151 yards, including runs of 59 and 66 yards that set up the first two scores in a 34-20 victory. Earl Morrill stepped in when John Untch couldn't make it at Baltimore due to a sore arm.

Cowboys And Vikings Have Best Offenses

NEW YORK (AP)—The Dallas Cowboys and Minnesota Vikings shape up as the offensive powerhouses of the National Football League after the first week of play. Dallas, with Don Meredith at the controls for only a bit more than half of the game, rolled up total yards of 542 yards on the Detroit Lions who pride themselves on a tight defense. Minnesota scored 47 points against Atlanta, a total they didn't reach last year until half way through their fourth regular season game. Cleveland showed the best opening day defense, holding the New Orleans Saints to 208 yards but once again Minnesota was in second place, yielding only 234 yards and but seven points to the Atlanta Falcons. The Cowboys gave up the least yardage on the ground, 68 in their opener, and St. Louis shut down on the Los Angeles Rams' air game, permitting only 84 yards and nine completions in 22 attempts.

Adolfo Homer Helps Cubs Rap Mets 7-2

NEW YORK (AP)—Jim Hickman's single in the eighth inning broke a tie and Adolfo Phillips followed with a home run as the Chicago Cubs tripped the New York Mets and Jerry Kosman 7-2 Wednesday night. The Cubs had tied the contest 2-2 in the seventh when Phillips doubled and Glen Beckert singled him home. Kosman, 18-11, hit his first major-league homer in the third, moments before the Mets set a major league record by striking out for the 1,100th time this season. The Mets held the old mark of 1,099—1965—Chicago 100 100 132-715 New York 001 000-2-9 1 Hands, Nye (7), Regan (9) and Hundley; Kosman, Koonce who plagued the Chiefs' backs (8) and Martin. Huskies Score Twice In Drill

SEATTLE (AP)—After a sluggish start, the Washington Huskies knocked down in Wednesday's football practice and scored a pair of touchdowns on 25-yard runs. Fullback Tom Manke, starting quarterback much of last season, and Carl Wojciechowski, broke through the second-string defense for the tallies.

BELLEVEUE — Jane Lynne Bennett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Bennett, Parma, and George David Myers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifton S. Myers, Bellevue, exchanged nuptial vows Aug. 20 in Roswell-Stevenson Memorial Presbyterian Church, Roswell.

The evening ceremony was performed jointly by Rev. Stanley Banks and Rev. Raymond Wilson.

The church was decorated with beauty baskets and arrangements of white and pink gladioli and dahlias. The candles were lighted by Marie Elliott and Martha Elliott, Othello, Wash. Mrs. Clair Severson was soloist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of white organza trimmed at the bateau neckline and elbow-length sleeves with Chantilly lace. She carried a bridal bouquet of white gladioli centered with pink rosebuds.

She wore a single strand of pearls to complement her gown and carried a wedding handkerchief that had been carried by a great-great-aunt on her wedding day.

Susan Bennett, sister of the bride, was maid of honor with Mrs. Severson serving as bridesmaid.

John Myers, brother of the bridegroom, was best man, with David Bennett and Jon Elliott as ushers.

Debbie Bartles was flower girl.

The reception was held after the ceremony in the church basement. The bride's table was covered with white linen and accented with a silver service. The three-tiered wedding cake, decorated in pink and white, was the handwork of an aunt of the bride.

Ann Fisk was in-charge of the guest book. Reception assistants were Mrs. John Church, Mrs. Clesley Fisk, Mrs. Norris Allen and Mrs. Marvin Elliott.

Both the bride and bridegroom are graduates of Idaho State University. The bridegroom will teach at Parma Junior High School this year.

Efficiency Of Home Heat Discussed By County Agent

SHOSHONE — Is your home ready for cold weather? Summer has been cooler than usual in many parts of Idaho and the trend may continue, bringing wintry days earlier than usual. So it's time to think about the efficiency and safety of your heating plant, advises the county home economics agent. Although heating systems usually last about 20 years without major repairs, annual checkups are necessary for best operation, according to University of Idaho extension specialists. A dirty system uses more fuel and can endanger lives and property. Annual servicing should include the chimney or flue, the central heating plant, thermostat, and the heating distribution system.

DANGER LURKS IN SACRIFICES

"Flag flying" is doubly dangerous. Sometimes you pay too much in penalties as a result, other times your opponents bid on and make their contract by taking advantage of the information your bids have provided.

West's two heart call was one of those weak two bids which are standard in modern expert play. They show a good six card suit and just below an opening bid in high card strength.

and Edgar found a four no-trump bid. At this point West flew the flag with a five heart call. Sidney Lazard, who held the North hand, might well have doubted to show dislike for a slam. He and Edgar use the double of an interference bid for this purpose, but Sidney rather fancied his hand and did not want to discourage Edgar.

Edgar's response was a jump to six spades and now all he had to do was to make it. West held the first trick and shifted to the six of clubs. Edgar won and started on trumps. This caused Edgar to try a finesse against East rather than a drop club and note that West had started with four of the suit plus six hearts and one spade. That left him with only one trump so a finesse against East's queen of diamonds was clearly indicated. It worked and one more flag had waved successfully.

TODAY'S QUESTION

You bid five no-trump and are going to shut out Edgar Kaplan, your partner bids four diamonds, to show one king. What do you do now?

North's double is normal and East raised to three hearts in an effort to jam his opponents' bidding.

It failed utterly. No one was going to shut out Edgar Kaplan, one of the world's greatest players who sat South. Not that anyone needed to be a great player to find a bid with Edgar's hand and Edgar found a four no-trump bid.

Girls See 'Flirting' Men As Serious Romantics

Our love and war man would like to point out the following phenomena. If a girl flirts with a fellow, he usually just thinks she's playfully flirtatious. But if a fellow flirts with a girl, she is apt to be interested in him. That is, a man rarely assumes he is the object of affection. He has to be told. But a woman tends to detect amorous inclinations if a fellow where she never needs to be told. A woman at a cocktail party knows within 15 minutes how many of the men there if any, will want to see her again in some private rendezvous. But a man at the same party will never know how many women, if any, feel like wise, unless he asks.

Just found out what gives some pearls a yellowish cast. Too much salt in the saltwater. A St. Croix Falls (Wis.) fellow says she once knew a widow named Harv and Yale Princeton. ... Have you ever noticed how increased the expert angler gets when he hears you refer to his fishing rod as a pole? ... The slide rule boys now say we work a day and a half out of every first we just to pay our taxes. friend. ... It's said--not one man in 100 knows what size gloves he wears. Here's a letter from a Montanna girl who wants to verify the claim her hair will grow faster if she smears mayonnaise on it for half an hour before every shampoo. All right, don't believe me, but that's what she asked. I'm not going to try the mayonnaise. Astor, Box told you, my hair grows fast enough already. Am looking, instead, for a budding researcher who's sufficiently interested in spray hair-growth-to-its-around like an open-faced sandwich once a week to check this matter out.

"Come on Buddy, who cares about what you think of blondes and brunettes?" writes a San Francisco member of the "Inner Sanctum" radio show was introduced by a squeaking door, but can you recall what show always opened with footsteps? ... A. Certainly can. That was "Buildup Drummond."

"American women seem to come off production lines so rapidly that they look like members of a dancing chorus. If a man misses the type he wants one year, he will find her when she comes off the high school or college assembly line the next year. She will be definitely blonde or platinum, flat chested or high bosomed, bold or coy, as such is the style of the year." So wrote Helena Kuo, that Chinese critic of the girl next door. Anniversaries Observed By Rebekah Lodge

WENDELL — "Chilean Independence Day" and the 117th Anniversary of the Founding of the Rebekah Lodge were observed at the recent evening meeting of the Rebekah Lodge No. 95 at the IOOF Hall.

The program was presented by Mrs. Roy Bishop and Mrs. Ray Lancaster.

A change was made in the date of the annual harvest dinner, which will now take place Oct. 19 beginning at 5 p.m. Mrs. T. L. Kendrick, Mrs. A. N. E. Byce and Mrs. M. A. McCloud were appointed as the planning committee and Mrs. Dale Bittel and Mrs. Edward Otton to make posters. The Rebekah Club is in charge of the bazaar and other sales.

Fifteen sick and visiting calls were reported. Mrs. Nard Watson, Jerome, was welcomed as a visitor.

Mrs. Cooper, Mrs. Glen Bright and Mrs. Melvin Gibson were each presented a gift by Mrs. Lancaster as members of the "funeral aid."

Mrs. W. H. Niccum, Mrs. Bishop and Mrs. Blanche Bungum were in charge of the social hour.

MR. AND MRS. H. LARRY LEASURE

Patricia Cobb, Leasure Recite Nuptial Vows

FILER — A 10 a.m. ceremony Aug. 19 in Cova Chapel of the First Methodist Cathedral of the Rockies, united in marriage Patricia Lee Cobb, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jay Cobb, Filer, and H. Larry Leasure, Caldwell, son of Mrs. Charlotte Leasure, Stockton, Calif., and Paul Leasure, Osage, Calif.

The rites were performed by the Rev. Douglas Tiffany, chaplain at the College of Idaho.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of conchshell silk, soiled, fashioned with a lace and pearl-encrusted bodice, bell-shaped sleeves and a-panel lace-covered train.

The bride's shoulder-length veil of illusion fell from a crown of silk roses. She carried an informal arrangement of white chrysanthemums enhanced with ivory and baby's breath. She wore a pearl and cameo necklace belonging to her grandmother, Mrs. E. A. Beery, and carried a handkerchief which had belonged to her late great-grandmother, Mrs. C. W. Crump.

Vicki Cobb, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Lynn Leasure was best man, and Tom Atkins, Santa Barbara, and Tom Leasure, Romona, served as ushers.

A wedding breakfast for the guests and wedding party was held at the Downtowner. A rehearsal dinner was hosted by Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Williams, Boise, uncle and aunt of the bride. The bride was honored at a shower given by her roommate, Sally Low, and Joan Karns.

The new Mrs. Leasure attended schools in Filer and was graduated with a B. A. degree in English from the University of Idaho in 1966. She is now teaching at the Boise High School.

Mr. Leasure attended schools in Santa Barbara and was graduated from the University of the Pacific with a B. S. degree in English from the University of the Pacific.

The couple resides at Route 3, Caldwell.

Pastor Speaks

FILER — Rev. Ralph Cairns, pastor of the Methodist Church, spoke to the members of the Woman's Society of Christian Service, using the topic, "We Have This Heritage."

Mrs. Lena Reichert was in charge of the business meeting, which preceded the coffee hour. Ruth McDonough, Mrs. Ethel Haag and Dorothy Thomas were in charge of refreshments.

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: Henry and I have been married for nearly 60 years. Henry is over 80 and he's still looking. Can you beat that?

All our married lives I covered up for him behind a door and wanted the children to know.

Two years ago Henry moved a nice looking younger lady into one of our bedrooms. (She was about 65.) I finally got so tired of having to go over there every time I wanted to find my husband, I gave her notice to vacate. Henry pointed for a long time but he finally got over it.

Now it's another woman. This one is about 60 and a real live wire. Please tell me what to do. I can't do much as all our money is in my husband's name. No publicity, please, as I am a proud woman.

NO NAME
DEAR NO NAME: Be patient. It won't last forever. Nothing does.

DEAR ABBY: Our 18-year-old son has informed us that he doesn't want to accept the 4-year academic scholarship offered to him by a fine college this fall. His reason is his 13-year-old girl friend, Abby, this has us baffled. He was always such a sensible boy until he met this girl.

The girl's parents don't seem to mind that our son stays over there until midnight every night. They treat the kids to movies and dinners and let our son use their car to take their daughter driving.

How can we make this girl's parents realize what a dangerous situation they could be pushing their daughter into?

WORRIED PARENTS

DEAR WORRIED: Don't expect the girl's parents to assume the entire responsibility. Go to work on your son and lay down a few rules about how much time he can spend with this girl. Furthermore, a lad who is ready to throw away a 4-year scholarship for a 13-year-old girl has proved himself to be sadly immature. He needs plenty of guidance, and as his parents, it's up to you to guide him.

DEAR ABBY: I have to leave town every few weeks for a day or two for legitimate reasons.

Whenever I am gone, some neighbors (a man and his wife) invite my husband over for a meal.

I have never been invited to this neighbor's home even to share a cup of coffee with the wife. Am I making an issue out of a trivial thing? Or should I be concerned, and why?

PUZZLED

DEAR PUZZLED: Perhaps you are concerned over nothing. As a gesture of appreciation for entertaining your husband, why not invite THEM to your home for a meal?

CONFIDENTIAL TO "HUMBLE": As soon as a person claims to be "humble," he denies that which he has asserted.
