Enthusiasm Marks Nixon Visit

By O. A. (GUS) KELKER
Times-News, Executive Editor

BOISE — Richard Nixon told Idaho Republicans just what they wanted to hear Tuesday and they absorbed every bit of it at a rally in front of the State Capitol building.

"Thousands of them—many of them youngsters in politics—cheered, waved banners and popped and floated balloons as the presidential candidate urged them to go all the way by electing George H. W. Bush, or as James McClure so he could have a "team in Washington."

Contrary to most political rallies, this one went off without a hitch. Security was tight but there were no incidents to mar the day. The weather was more like an overwarm June one than the start of the fall season. Whipped into the feeling of the situation by music from Boise's famed and garlanded "brass" band and garlanded over by remarks from several of the principal candidates and even a TV celebrity—the Virginians—they were ready to yell when Dick Nixon, his wife Pat and members of his party arrived only six minutes later than the time they were scheduled. They had flown in by jet from Bismarck to be there. In fact, the Nixon party added up to two big jets, one of them carrying 40 newsmen covering his campaign.

And Nixon, the candidate, sensed he was on fertile ground as soon as he saw the audience. Young voters—and even sub-

Nixon Asks 'New' U. S. Leadership

By ALLEN M. BAILEY
BOISE (AP) — Richard M. Nixon told an enthusiastic crowd from Idaho's Capitol steps Tuesday that "it's a time for new signals, new plans and a new team in Washington."

"This is not a time for the old policies," he said.

The Republican presidential nominee stopped for about two hours in Idaho in the afternoon and spoke to a crowd estimated by state police at more than 10,000 persons.

Nixon intensified his campaign attack on Vice President Hubert Humphrey, saying "One who nominates a man who helped to make the policies of the last four years."

"He has not indicated any one of those policies that he disagreed with while he was vice president," Nixon declared.

"We all know the old quarter-back is still calling the signals," he added. "It's time for new plans, new signals in Washington."

Nixon said if he were elected he would adjust the U.S. foreign policies so that other Free World nations could carry their loads in the defense of freedom.

He also said that instead of having "four million people on welfare rolls," America should make sure those people "are on payrolls."

"America has become great," Nixon said, "not because of what government did for people, but because of what people did for themselves." He also suggested cost-of-living increases in Social Security benefits.

Reacting to the on-vice presidential service, Nixon said he had served "eight years under a pretty good teacher." During President Eisenhower's eight years, he said, one war was ended and others prevented.

Envoys Clash

PARIS (AP)—The United States and North Vietnam clashed head-on today over claims for the Vietnam war, both vowing it will never bow to peace demands of the other.

"The United States never will be able to prevent its military as well as political—in South Vietnam," Ambassador Xuan Thuy of North Vietnam declared at the 23rd session of the peace talks.

"Peace will be impossible," countered U.S. Ambassador W. Averell Harriman, chief U.S. delegate, "so long as you refuse to join us in this effort for a political settlement."

The three-hour meeting ended with an arrangement for another exchange next week, but with complete deadlock over ways of phasing out the fighting.

Gunfire Erupts

TE LUVIE (AP)—Innards and Jordanians clashed briefly over changed fire across three areas along the Jordan River today.

BOSTON (AP)—Public schools, the scenes of disorders Monday and Tuesday, opened today without incident.

Several hundred Negroes, students and adults, gathered at Franklin Park in the Dorchester section, but there were no reports of disorders there.

Police, including plainclothesmen, were present but stayed on the outskirts of the park area.

Some youths told newsmen they belonged to the Black Panthers, a militant Negro group, and some told white newsmen to stay away.

Priests Join In Burning Milwaukee Draft Records

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP)—Fourteen persons, including five Roman Catholic priests, were arrested after the destruction of thousands of draft records seized from a Selective Service office Tuesday.

The 14 sang, prayed and waited for arrest while the flames ate at the piles of paper they carted in burlap sacks from the office building to a park across the street.

"Some property has no right to exist," the protesters said in a news release prepared in advance of their action.

The protesters, who referred to themselves as the "Milwaukee Fourteen," said they were "one with the history of mercy and protest."

The action was designed to prevent induction for an estimated 27,000 draft eligibles. Records from four draft boards were taken.

The 14 were held in bond for, said inductions will probably not be prevented or delayed by the action.

"A draft board can reconstruct records which have been destroyed," he said. "But it takes an enormous amount of work and the cost to the taxpayers is terrific."

He said there was no way to estimate the total damage.

The 14 were held in bond for $25,000 to $30,000. All were charged with arson, burglary and criminal damage to property.

An additional charge of theft was lodged against two of the 14 for allegedly snatching a key to the draft board office from a cleaning woman. The raid was staged just after the office closed for the day.

Police Sgt. Fred Stein said the demonstrators, most of them Catholic pacifists, "overpowered a cleaning woman, took away her keys, opened the door, came out with the records and burned them."

One man jumped out of a panel truck parked by the park and doused the bags with an inflammable liquid which the protesters said was "homemade napalm."

Burley Hosts Water Works Convention

BURLEY—Some 200 delegates were assembling in Burley Wednesday as opening sessions of the Intermountain section of the American Water Works Association begin a three-day convention.

Employees of firms involved in construction, operation and maintenance of water works in Utah and part of Nevada and Idaho are attending the 11th annual meeting. Registration and a golf tournament were held Wednesday morning with business sessions beginning in the afternoon at the Ponderosa Inn.

Lowell Felt, irrigation water superintendent for the Weber Basin, Utah, spoke on water problems there, and Edwin Haycock, planning director, division of water resources, Utah State Department of Natural Resources, and Keith Higginson, Idaho State Reclamation engineer, both spoke on "Emergency Water in the Event of a Disaster."

A banquet and social hour is slated for Wednesday with additional registration Thursday. A panel discussion on water system records is slated for Thursday morning's agenda as well as a talk by Herb Derrick, Twila Falls city manager, on "Public Relations Through Employee Image."

Also speaking Thursday will be W. Savage, Washington, D.C., assistant director of engineering and development for the Saline Water Conservation Co.

An Associated Press survey showed that opponents have enough votes to keep the debate going indefinitely if they want it, but Mansfield said he will attempt to cut off any filibuster by invoking the Senate's debate-limiting closure rule.

Florists Get Ready For T. E. Meeting

W. JOE LETTERMAN
EULALAH OVERMEYER

W. Joe Letterman, Indianapolis, Ind., an expert floral designer, will appear as a commentator representing Florists' Transworld Delivery Association during the annual Idaho Florists' Association Convention Friday, Saturday and Sunday at the Holiday Inn.

Mr. Letterman will act as design workshop scheduled for 10 a.m. Saturday.

He has been a member of the floral industry for 27 years and has owned his own FTD shop for the past 15 years. During that time, he has held a variety of FTD positions, including district chairman and director, chairman of the publications committee and member of the national executive committee.

A prize-winning florist himself, Mr. Letterman was appointed as a judge at the Indiana State Fair.

Appearing in the design school will be Mrs. Eulalah Overmeyer, Florist, Toledo, Ohio.

She is well known in her business as a florist and panel designer and commentator for national events held throughout the country. Mrs. Overmeyer is past vice president of the Toledo A.F. of Florists Association.

The convention will open Friday afternoon and a barbecue will be held that evening at the country club. The following two days will feature business meetings, special design sessions and speakers. New officers will be elected Saturday and the president's banquet and ball will be held that evening at the Holiday Inn.

GI's Kill 55 Reds In Fight

SAIGON (AP)—A crack enemy force swarmed out of the jungle today in a furious attempt to overrun a U.S. Special Forces camp near the Cambodian border and kept fighting after losing 55 men in the first assault.

The enemy pounded the camp at Katum with rockets and mortars and then charged a few hours before dawn. The 400 South Vietnamese defenders and their 10 to 12 U.S. Green Beret advisers repulsed the attack and moved out on the offensive at daylight.

The allied garrison reported finding 49 enemy bodies and capturing six enemy soldiers, apparently wounded, unable to withdraw. But later reports said the enemy stayed to fight some more.

In the first assault, five of the defenders were reported killed and an unknown number wounded. The camp is located about three miles from the Cambodian border and 70 miles northwest of Saigon.

U.S. headquarters said the attackers were in fresh uniforms and evidently had been newly equipped.

The camp is a watch post along heavily jungled border of Cambodia and Laos. It is a strategic infiltration toward the provincial capital of Tay Ninh, 15 miles to the south, and toward Saigon.

Monday night, U.S. B52 bombers have dropped some 1,750 tons of bombs on infiltration routes in northern Tay Ninh Province, usually a sign that allied intelligence has detected enemy movement in the area.

Cloture Vote Considered On Fortas

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate began debate today on a motion to take up the nomination as chief justice, Majority Leader Mike Mansfield declared he intends to stay with the issue until it is disposed of one way or another.

Mansfield said the Senate has a responsibility to "confirm or not confirm" Fortas and the only question is whether the nominee is qualified for the nation's highest judicial post.

Although Mansfield told his colleagues he hoped they would keep their speeches short and to the point, opponents already have served notice that his motion will be discussed at length.

An Associated Press survey showed that opponents have enough votes to keep the debate going indefinitely if they want it, but Mansfield said he will attempt to cut off any filibuster by invoking the Senate's debate-limiting closure rule.

Troops Stay

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Clark M. Clifford said today his government has no intention of lowering the troop level in South Vietnam "either by next June or at any time in the foreseeable future."

Clifford's statement was issued at the Pentagon after Rep. Melvin Laird, R-Wis., said Tuesday night in Senate that American forces in Vietnam likely would drop by 50,000 men by next June unless the military situation deteriorates sharply.

The Clifford statement did not mention Laird by name, but obviously was in reply to the statement by the GOP member of the House defense appropriations subcommittee.

Red Cap Corner Officially Opens To Traffic On Friday

Red-Cap Corner, near Kimberly, will officially open Friday, although it has been used for some time.

Blaire Sessions, district highway engineer, said a directional sign will be installed Thursday. The sign will read Hurley-Pocet, eastbound on 50 and Kimberly-Hansen, southbound on 30. It will also direct traffic to Interstate 80.

In other state highway construction work Mr. Sessions noted that the Carl E. Nelson Co. is paving 13.4 miles in the Hagaman area. Their work is from near the Meland Bridge to the Grizzly Bridge to the top of Banbury Hill. The contract is for $397,073. The Nelson company also has a contract of $12,800 to pave 5.1 miles between Filer and Twin Falls. They are expected to start this week soon.

Rest areas on Interstate 80 in Jerome County, which are under contract to Gary Jones, Burley, for $233,800, have a day was marked by demonstrations outside some schools, fist fights at several, arson, stonings of firemen and violence directed at neighborhood storekeepers.

It was triggered when Negro students at Boston English High School demonstrated to protest the rescinding of permission granted last week for them to wear African garb to classes.

White students, contending that they should be allowed to attend classes without wearing neckties if exceptions were made to clothing regulations, joined the demonstrations.

Several Negro and white students entered Boston English today without neckties, and at least one Negro wore African garb.

Six hundred policemen were ordered into school districts today to prevent a repetition of Tuesday's disorders.

The School Committee had asked Tuesday that National Guard troops be alerted to stand by, but Mayor Kevin H. White, cautioning against overreacting, said he did not think troops were required, and Police Commissioner Edmund S. McNamara agreed.

W. E. Clark Honored For Long Service

Idaho Power Co. announced Wednesday that W. E. Clark, Twin Falls, assistant southern division accounting manager, is marking 40 years of service with the utility—all but six of them here.

The veteran employe has been presented with a distinctive award recognizing his long service, according to division manager E. E. Haroldson.

"During his 40 years with Idaho Power, Mr. Clark has had a consistent record of dedicated and efficient service both to the company and to its customers," Haroldson said.

A native of Boise, Clark joined Idaho Power there as an assistant service clerk.

Following a series of clerical responsibilities, he transferred to Twin Falls in 1934 as southern division storekeeper.

Clark continued in this capacity until 1932, when he was promoted to his present position.

During his long Idaho Power service in Twin Falls, Clark has participated in such civic activities as the Community Concert Association, Boy Scouts, Men's Club and Exchange Club.

Thant Denies He's Seeking Resolution

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — In a statement coinciding with the start of the annual autumn General Assembly, U Thant denied Tuesday that he sought to put in a resolution demanding that the United States end the bombing of North Vietnam.

The secretary-general's denial overshadowed the ceremonial opening session of the 23rd assembly, which elected Emilio Arenales Catalan, foreign minister of Guatemala, as president.

The assembly also admitted Switzerland "the last colony of Britain in Africa to gain independence, as the 125th member of the United Nations. The original membership in 1945 was 51 nations.

Taking note of the shadow of cold-war debate hanging over the assembly, President Arenales pleaded his acceptance speech that the session go down in history as one of "reconciliation and redress." He warned that failure to resolve differences would risk outbreaks that could lead to World War III.

Corneliu Manescu, foreign minister of Romania and president of the 22nd session, urged in his final address that all nations be united in a common effort for peace.

ROBERT ALLEN AND JOHN GOLDSMITH Anti-Poverty Scandals Are Ignored

President Johnson's Consumer Advisory Council seems determined to make a name for itself, even if it is a derogatory one.

The fact that he may choose to give away trading stamps, or premiums, on chances of a jackpot, or merchandise, or his mother-in-law is his business. Obviously he gives away something in the hope of selling his merchandise or attracting greater numbers of customers to his store.

MR. SPECTATOR About The Caste System

The caste system in America is not dead. If you will take the word of Mr. Spector on this point, it is still very much alive, practically a breathing, living thing and apparently it will be around for some time.

It operates under the name of "Rush." And the "Rush" in question has to do with the college level fraternity and sorority. Each year about this time the system gets under way. Every year, the system is doomed to die. But every year about this time it starts again and away it goes.

When Mr. Spector was a college boy a fraternity was something other guys joined. Why? Those were the depression days and it was hard enough to pay a tuition fee let alone an initiation fee.

But then the University of Washington isn't the only school where the girls bring their belongings.

WASHINGTON—The administration controlled House Education and Labor Committee is continuing to flatter itself to investigate the scandal-riddled anti-poverty program—on which more than $8 billion has been spent since it was launched in 1964.

chairman has brusquely rejected demands that two new outrages be added—as he has unyieldingly balked at acting on numerous other similar requests.

Perkins' reaction to these latest anti-poverty scandals is the best response he has given to them, as he has many others before them. The veteran Kentucky legislator has unyieldingly followed.

ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK Wallace Is Picking Up Steam

DALLAS—Glib predictions of early summer that George Wallace's roaring Presidential campaign would "heat" as soon as the money machine is working overtime for Wallace, another sure indication that Robert Humphrey and Richard Nixon could make no more serious mistake than to assume that the Wallace tide is receding.

Wallace is cutting far more deeply into the labor vote, both union and non-union, than any one thought possible. Here in Texas, for example, one informal estimate now gives Wallace between 40 and 60 per cent of

Reds Challenged To Seek 'Peace'

PARIS (AP) — Ambassador W. Averell Harriman served notice today that the United States "will be impossible" so long as North Vietnam refuses to join the search for a political settlement.

In sharp terms the U.S. chief delegate at the Paris peace talks accused the Communist side of attacking South Vietnam "in open defiance of international law and of the charter of the United Nations."

Harriman's declaration at the 23rd session of the conference was made in the presence not only of Ambassador Xuan Thuy, who is North Vietnam's envoy, but also of Politburo member Le Duc Tho and Col. Ha Van Lau.

Xuan Thuy had opened the proceedings with a long statement of his own which was not made immediately available to newsmen.

The American, setting forth the international legal aspects of the war as he saw them, said: "North Vietnam bears full responsibility for the war."

"It must, therefore, assume its responsibility for restoring peace."

It was at this point that Harriman called on the North Vietnamese to cooperate in a settlement permitting the South Vietnamese to defend themselves.

name "to make their own future in their own way" free from external force and violence.

"We ask that you join us in this effort. So long as you refuse to seek peace, we will be impossible."

As Harriman arrived for the session, newsmen asked him about suggestions that the conference be recessed until a new American president is installed in January. Such suggestions were made after a prominent neutral Western diplomat, in touch with both the Americans and the North Vietnamese, said no advance in the Paris talks seems likely until a new U.S. administration takes office.

Harriman observed: "Hanoi has not indicated they have wanted to break these talks—and certainly, from our side, we have no intention of doing so."

Harriman said at the session today he would accuse the North Vietnamese of using only war and violence as instruments with which to achieve their objectives.

"Their whole policy has been violence in all their activities and they have failed to carry out the obligation undertaken in 1954 (at the Indochinese peace conference) to end violence."

"They don't seem to want to achieve their objectives by peaceful methods which is, of course, what we are going to insist on."

CLOVERDALE, B.C. (AP) — An old dog with a new trick has joined the battle against illegal drug traffic into Canada, Royal Canadian Mounted Police said.

On his first day on the job after intensive training, Dirk, a 6-year-old German shepherd, sniffed out a marijuana cache in a car from the United States at the border in this town 25 miles south of Vancouver.

AWOL Marine Admits Error In Holdout

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — An AWOL Marine veteran of Vietnam, who took sanctuary for two days in the Harvard Divinity School, had a change of heart Tuesday after his apprehension by military police.

Cpl. Paul Olimpieri, 21, of Fairfield, Conn., wearing a new Marine uniform, and with his straggly beard shaved off, said in a statement his actions of the last few days were a mistake.

"I feel I was used by various groups to publicize their political goals, whatever they may be," the statement said. As Olimpieri and his wife stood by, the statement was read by a Marine officer at the Barracks at the Boston Navy Yard.

Olimpieri's "sanctuary" at the Divinity School was supported by the New England Resistance, an anti-war, anti-draft organization which has been active in other "sanctuary" cases in New England, and by the Committee of Religious Concern for Peace.

"I do not want any further association with these groups," Olimpieri's statement said.

Olimpieri declined, on the advice of a lawyer, to answer any questions by newsmen.

Lt. Col. Andrew E. Anderson, executive officer of the Marine Barracks, said the news conference was held at Olimpieri's request.

Olimpieri served 13 months in Vietnam and was wounded twice there.

Chevrolet introduces 1969.

Caprice. Match this, you other 69's!
There is no joy in the land of our competitors today. But let us ask you this. Should we have made the Caprice shorter instead of the longest Chevrolet ever built? Or adorned it with flashy nick-nacks to make it look less expensive? Just because competition doesn't should we not have offered you washers to clean your headlights, the new variable-ratio power steering, liquid tire chain that you can apply to your rear wheels at the touch of a button? Should we not have included the new 327-cubic-inch engine, the biggest standard V8 in its field? Should we have skipped the many improvements in the interior and in the quietness of the ride? Some people think so. Our competitors.

Camaro. Who needs to say "announcing" or "new". Look at how it all hangs together. No gingerbread anywhere. Not a line that isn't leaning into the wind. The interior is also much improved. The ride is quieter. The power range is very impressive.

Standard V8 is 210 hp. SS engines available up to 325 hp. For added SS appeal: striping that flanks the nose and charges up the side, power disc brakes, wide oval tires with raised white lettering. And when those big, fat tires grab the ground, you can almost hear the suction.

About Advice

President Johnson's Consumer Advisory Council seems determined to make a name for itself, even if it is a derogatory one. The council has decreed that there ought to be a law requiring stores offering trading stamps to offer customers a choice of cash instead.

The fact that he may choose to give away trading stamps, or premiums, on chances on a jackpot, or merchandise, or his mother-in-law is his business. Obviously he gives away something in the hope of selling his merchandise or attracting greater numbers of customers to his store.

insisting on an equal concession, the North Koreans immediately concluded that our position was deteriorating. They became more aggressive and even less conciliatory.

Only the administration's fear of shocking and embarrassing revelations could be the reason for the failure to use the powers of the oversight functions of the committee, Ayres contended.

Stieglitz caustically assailed this administration-imposed gag order. He said that the daily reports of the committee read with monotonous regularity details of scandals involving fictitious checks, payroll padding, embezzlement and other abuses in this program.

It is extremely regrettable that while these situations are being investigated, Congress must ascertain the details from newspapers and other media.

As in the past this bill would draw no reply from committee Chairman Perkins, the White House will continue until and unless responsible leadership and the necessary oversight is provided for this multi-billion dollar program.

Several months ago, in a public attack, Ayres charged that the committee "under administration pressure" had been neglecting under the rug many of its major inadequacies and maladministration of the anti-poverty program.

MR. SPECTATOR About The Caste System

The caste system in America is not dead. If you will take the word of Mr. Spectator on this point, it is still very much alive, practically a breathing, living thing and apparently it will be around for some time.

It operates under the name of "Rush." And the "Rush" is something that goes with the college level fraternity and sorority. Each year about this time the system gets under way.

When Mr. Spectator was a college boy a fraternity was something other guys joined. They were the depression days and it was hard enough to pay a tuition fee let alone an initiation fee.

And, at that time, Mr. Spectator didn't even own a car. He didn't even plan one in the immediate future. But that is all beside the point.

The point is that last week Mr. and Mrs. Spectator were brought to the university of Washington at Seattle for Rush. She and about 800 other girls with at least as many mothers and a smattering of fathers who couldn't get out of the truck tottering along.

Some of the parents were dressed to kill and some looked like they would like to kill someone. The daughters ran the gamut from sophisticated to innocent.

ABOUT HURRICANES Defense against the force of a hurricane is a near-hopeless task.

Most prognosticators look upon 1968 as a banner hurricane year, and it is therefore not surprising that all-out efforts are being made this year to strengthen warning devices.

This year the first step could be taken toward the day when man is able to do more than just hunker down in a shelter. More than 200 scientists and aviators of Operation Stormfury are in readiness at Roosevelt Roads Naval Station, Puerto Rico, to fly into the heart of a hurricane.

While instruments on board their planes will record data about the storm, crystals or silver iodide will be dropped to see if they lessen the hurricane's intensity. The chemical reaction resulting from the seeding will release heat.

New York Strike Still Deadlocked

NEW YORK (AP) — All sides in the New York public school teachers' strike met face to face today for the first time since the walkout began, but the session produced agreement on only one point—there was no progress.

"I regret to say that there has been no movement on the part of either side in the dispute," said Mayor John V. Lindsay who summoned the various officials to his Gracie Mansion residence Tuesday night.

"There was absolutely no progress," declared Albert Shanker, president of the 55,000-member AFL-CIO United Federation of Teachers which has struck for eight of the first 10 days of the fall term.

Rhody McCoy, administrator of the embattled Ocean Hill-Brownsville district in Brooklyn, left first along with members of the community elected local board. He said the status of talks was "absolutely sickening."

Long Chase Nets Arrest Of 2 Teens

BOISE (AP) — A 45-minute chase Tuesday afternoon through Boise streets and Southwest Idaho highways ended in the arrest of two Ontario, Ore., teen-agers.

Boise police said William Bowen, 18, was arrested and charged with petty larceny for sets of allegedly stolen motorcycle keys found in the youths' pickup truck.

The truck's driver, a 17-year-old, was held by juvenile authorities on charges of failure to stop for an emergency vehicle, resisting arrest, reckless driving and negligent driving, according to police.

Officers said the pair was arrested about 25 miles from Boise after attempting to evade pursuing officers by turning off Idaho 55 on a gravel road at Horseshoe Bend Summit.

Court Tells Man To Supply Funds To Aid Wife

NEW YORK (AP) — A wealthy oil company executive was ordered Tuesday to provide his estranged wife with $5,000 so she could investigate any extramarital activity on his part.

The bill which cleared Court Justice Margaret Mary Mangat two weeks ago, is being sued for divorce by her husband, Munroe Spaght, board chairman of Shell Oil Co.

Spaght charged his wife with misconduct in London, Rio de Janeiro, Caracas, Puerto Rico and Australia. In a countersuit for separation, Mrs. Spaght accused her husband of misconduct in England and elsewhere.

Justice Mangat said in her ruling: "The plaintiff is a man of wealth and position, and his counsel conceded had an opportunity to conduct an investigation of the allegations and counter-allegations. . . . It seems no less than fair that the defendant wife should have an opportunity to do likewise."

Note on Wall Cited As Will

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A note to a belly dancer scribbled on a bedroom wall was offered Tuesday as a legal last will and testament.

An 18-inch square section of the plaster wall was saved out under the supervision of Register of Wills John E. Walsh and submitted to Probate Court.

The note, signed by Hermann Schmidt, 49, who died Sept. 15, said in part:

"Genevieve: You take care of all my belongings. This give's you authority, Love, Hermann. 9-14-1968."

Attorney Leo T. Connor said he believes this entitles Genevieve—Genevieve Decker, 42, a belly dancer and Schmidt's fiancée—to Schmidt's $12,000 estate and plans to file it for this purpose.

Wyoming Congressman Urges Diversion Of Water Into Colorado River System

By The Associated Press

A bill has been drafted directing the Interior Department to study diversion of water from other rivers into the Colorado River.

The bill offered by Rep. William Henry Harrison, R-Wyo., would wipe out a 10-year moratorium on studies of routing water into the Colorado. The moratorium was included in the recently passed Colorado River Bill.

The Colorado River bill affirmed California's rights to a certain amount of the river's water.

The only supporter for the Bennett study was Joseph Jensen, chairman of the board of the Metropolitan Water District of Southern California.

He said "We should not rebuff Senator Bennett in this," and reminded that California would be only one of the seven states involved.

William H. Jennings of La Mesa said, "No matter who in the basin started it (the study), California would get the blame for it. It could ruin the Western States Water Council."

Idaho Democrats Believe Humphrey Will Carry Idaho In November Election Tally

BOISE (AP) — Idaho's Democratic congressional nominees, Darrell Manning and Compton I. White, predicted Tuesday that their party's presidential candidate, Hubert Humphrey, would carry Idaho.

Speaking at a press luncheon, the two candidates gave differing assessments of the presidential race.

White, running for the 1st District congressional seat he lost two years ago to Rep. James A. McClure, said Idaho's electorate at present is 10 per cent for Wallace, 40 per cent for Nixon and 40 per cent for Humphrey.

But he predicted that those now supporting Wallace would change their minds by the November election and vote for Humphrey.

Manning, the Democrats' 2nd District nominee, said he believed Wallace has 20 per cent of Idahoans' support, Humphrey 41 per cent and Nixon 39 per cent.

White said he favored getting more support from other South-east Asia Treaty Organization nations in the Vietnam war, both in pushing for a negotiated settlement and in the military effort.

He also said he favored halt-

Quotas Enacted On Cheese Buying

BOISE (AP) — Emergency action has been taken to limit cheese imports into the United States, Rep. George Hansen, R-Idaho, said Tuesday.

Hansen said the emergency quotas would be effective for the rest of the year.

"Although serious harm has already been done, I am pleased the Johnson administration has finally awakened to the peril faced by the domestic dairy industry."

He said the quotas would remain in force, if necessary, until an investigation into the cheese import situation was completed by the U. S. Tariff Commission.

Judge Urges Merit Plan In Gem Courts

(Editor's note: This is the second of a series of three articles written by Fifth District Judge Sherman J. Bellwood, Rupert, discussing Idaho's method of electing judges.)

By SHERMAN J. BELLWOOD, Judge, Fifth Judicial District — A merit plan for the selection of judges by appointment calls for a hue and cry that the right of the people to elect is again being chipped away.

"The people" do not in fact elect judges in Idaho. An overwhelming majority of District Judges and Supreme Court Justices attain their offices by executive appointment. When there is a contested election of judges under our nonpartisan election system, the voters stay home in droves, leaving it to the minority.

about 28 per cent of the registered voters cast ballots in the recent election. Three remained unused about 72 per cent (18,000) of the available ballots. It is suspected similar percentages prevail throughout the state.

Wills Attends New-Car Meet

Henry L. Wills of Wills Motor Co. recently took part in a new car display meeting in Los Angeles. More than 2,100 dealers from throughout the nation attended. An exhibition was given by Craig Breedlove, world land speed record holder, while the dealers met in Los Angeles.

hard to raise in a nonpartisan judicial election. Such "issues" are virtually meaningless, at least they lack popular appeal. Judicial experience was rejected as an issue in the last election. Nonpartisan candidates find it difficult to establish themselves in the minds of the voters on the basis of identifiable issues.

If a merit plan for judicial selection cannot be obtained in Idaho, then an alternative suggested by some political leaders may be considered. We can retrace our steps back to the partisan judicial elections of the pre-1935 era. Thus all the candidates for judicial office can participate equally in a free-swinging gut-fighting campaign on real or fanciful issues with ready-made campaign organizations behind them; everyone will know where he is. Thus the voters can identify with a candidate and the issues. Thus the judicial branch of government can regress to a system found wanting in 1933. To regress will require us to overlook a lot of real faults which resulted in legislation designed to take the judicial office out of politics. But the idea does have some support.

BOISEANS SIGN PACT LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Boise Cascade Corp. has signed an agreement for work on a 13-acre urban renewal project in Long Beach. The agreement signed Tuesday is the fifth urban renewal project undertaken by the company since it entered the field late in 1967.

'Hoover Dam' Poses As Target Of Attack For Testing Of Missile-Guidance Devices

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Using a make-believe world for deadly serious intentions, a team of missile guidance experts here regularly "attack" Hoover Dam, a 1 1/2 mile long Friendship International Airport and Philadelphia's harbor.

They also zero in on a Vietnamese airstrip, roads and mountains such as those in Southeast Asia, oil storage areas, a power plant, railroad and bridges. The object of their warlike attentions is 20 square miles of terrain compressed onto a 40-foot-square platform inside the Guidance Development Center at Martin Marietta Corp.'s Orlando Division. Built on a scale of 600:1, the three-dimensional terrain model is constructed with detail that would make a model railroad buff drool.

lot, or a missile, would encounter in trying to zero in on a target on the ground," said George E. Smith, general manager of Martin's Orlando Division. "With the aid of the moving terrain model, television display screens and a bank of computers, we can program an infinite variety of flight missions and flight test any kind of optical or radio frequency guidance device. We can do in a matter of hours what would take several weeks of expensive flight testing in the field to accomplish," Smith said.

Teater Is Issued Building Permit

Willard E. Teater, Kimberly, has been issued a building permit to construct a restaurant at 1007 Blue Lakes Blvd. N. Mr. Teater, who formerly operated the Perrine Lounge, plans to serve chicken, shrimp and finger steaks at his new establishment.

Cost of the 28 foot by 84 foot concrete and brick structure was set at $7,500.

Students Delay Production Featuring Nudes

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — The second performance of a student production of the musical "Peter Pan" — which featured six nude coeds — was postponed abruptly on the University of Wisconsin campus Tuesday.

Members of the cast voted against going on with the matinee performance after university officials warned that police might make arrests. Stuart Gordon, director of the musical, said the cast hoped to perform before University President Fred Harvey Harrington and other people "who are respected by the straight world." In the opening night performance Monday, six coeds performed in the nude for about 10 minutes. Gordon said he wanted the actresses to portray innocence. Other portions of the production also differ sharply from the screen version of the play by J. M. Barrie. The pirates in the revised version are portrayed as brutal policemen. Tinker Bell dies at the end of the production, and Peter Pan leaves Never-Never Land and becomes an adult.

Hagerman Citizens Plan School Study

By WILMA LARSON
Times-News Correspondent

HAGERMAN — A planned citizens committee will conduct a study of the Hagerman Elementary School.

The foresight, the completeness, and the clarity of the study will do much to determine the needs of the present elementary school. With the final product will come a recommendation to the Hagerman School Board to build a new building, remodel the present building or leave the building as it is now.

It is the expressed intent of the study committee to reach all decisions affecting the elementary children of the Hagerman School District in the light of what they believe is educationally sound, as distinct from what may be expedient, popular or momentarily appealing.

A pilot committee met Aug. 8. The main goal of the pilot committee was to select a policy committee of eight people. The pilot committee selected the chairman and vice chairman.

It was agreed that, depending on the scope of the study as it developed, additional people will be involved. These people will act as sub-committees. Current lists of people in the community will be maintained to assist the policy committee members in the study.

The overall philosophy of involving those directly concerned with the study will be observed. Reasonable effort will be made to insure representatives of all organizations and groups within the community on the various sub-committees. The policy committee will coordinate all activities of the sub-committees.

The pilot committee members were Mrs. LeRoy Jolley, Albert Gregg, and John LeRoy.

Present policy committee members are Lloyd Jensen, chairman, and John Barton, vice chairman. Other members of the policy committee are Mrs. G. P. Russell, Mrs. Ed. Larson, Mrs. Bob Tupper, Mrs. LeRoy Jolley, Stanley Hoskovec, and Ralph Miller with Jack Martin as acting secretary to the group.

Subcommittee members are Bill Scruggs, George Lemmon, Bill Maude, Bill Choules, Glenn Hendrickson, John Kaster, R. K. Bradford, Richard Dalton, Mrs. Kenneth Hulme, Mrs. Bill Jones and Vern Cax.

The list of subcommittee members remains open for other interested citizens.

The study assumes that the community desires the best elementary education possible for the children of the district. It also assumes that information is desired about the expectations of the citizens and parents as to the future of the children of the community after they graduate from the elementary school, about the current educational status of the children, the curriculum or subjects that are important to educate youngsters, alternative methods of teaching, the kinds of facilities and buildings that might be needed to provide an outstanding educational program, and approaches for financing such programs and other problems involved.

It is further assumed that from the information gathered, citizens and the Board of Education will be in a position to make wise decisions for providing a sound educational program.

With these guidelines, the policy committee has launched its study by forming a questionnaire that will be sent to the citizens of the community to seek their desires. From the questionnaire will come further information for the extended study. The questionnaire will be mailed within the following month.

Along with the questionnaire the policy committee is now seeking information as to the current pupil status in the present school.

Princess Grace Arrives in Texas

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Princess Rainier and Princess Grace of Monaco arrived at International Airport Tuesday night, leading an entourage of French models, aristocrats and socialites for Thursday's fashion gala in the plush St. Anthony Hotel.

A crowd of about 650 waited in the rain to welcome the prince and his wife, the former actress and motion picture Academy Award winner Grace Kelly. They arrived separately.

A welcoming party at the airport included 65 members of the Chamber of Commerce and newspaper committees, Gov. John Connally and several HemisFair officials.

After private tours of the San Antonio area today and trips to the Alamo and HemisFair Thursday, the royal pair will be the guests of honor Thursday night at the fashion show and dinner.

Burley Firm To Build Bridge

HAILEY — Ralph Thornton Construction of Burley, has been awarded the contract to construct a 110 foot long by 24 foot wide, pre-stressed concrete and metal bridge over Big Wood river at the site of the "old black bridge" between Bellevue and Broadford.

Blaine County commissioners, in a recessed meeting Monday, opened the only two bids submitted and found the Thornton Construction Co.'s bid of $24,193.75 to be low. The bid by Clark Brothers, Idaho Falls, was $29,441.75.

Specifications call for work to commence before Oct. 1 and be completed before Nov. 30. Plans were furnished by the Ready to Pour Concrete Co. of Twin Falls.

In speaking of the present bridge, C. E. Atkinson, chairman of the board of county commissioners, said while he has no authentic information as to the year it was built, "it was back in the horse and buggy days." The structure is no longer safe to haul heavy loads such as ore from the Federal Resources mill at Broadford to the railroad for shipment from Bellevue.

He said it was the understanding of the board that the old bridge, with steel superstructure over the top, was originally built along the road between Hailey and Ketchum and was old when moved to its present position. He said it cannot be put to use as a bridge elsewhere.

Mr. Atkinson said that for the new bridge 12 feet, each 10 feet long and each weighing 45,000 pounds, will be precast and brought to the site to be set on the existing abutments of the old bridge.

"There will be a little inconvenience," he said, "during the week or so it will take to remove the old bridge and set the new structure up."

"During that time it will be necessary for traffic between Bellevue and Broadford to go around by Hailey."

Mr. Atkinson said that future plans call for three new bridges over Big Wood river. The old Bullion street bridge, to accommodate traffic from Hailey to the west (Rotario, Camp Creek canyon and the Camas-Prairie area on this route), the Deer creek bridge and the East Fork bridge.

'Stakeout' Kills 2 Men In Holdup

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — Two holdup men were killed and a companion was injured Tuesday by police staked out at a branch bank that was robbed five weeks ago.

Four policemen, two of them armed with rifles, were waiting behind a decorative partition in the University Heights Shopping Center branch of Rhode Island Hospital Trust Co. when two men entered with drawn revolvers.

Lt. William C. Lawton said that as one man pressed a .45-caliber automatic revolver to the chest of a male bank clerk he told him: "Put the gun down, we're police and you're under arrest."

Lawton said the man pressed the gun harder into the bank clerk's chest and turned at the sound. Lawton said he then fired at the man, who staggered and fell to the floor.

Officers outside who closed in on the getaway car said a man who slid from the passenger side to the driver's side in an attempt to speed away was killed by one or more of 10 bullets they fired through the car door.

The man killed in the bank was identified by police as Antonio F. Cope, 26, of New Bedford, Mass., and the second dead man as Frank Bianchini, 25, of North Providence, shot to death in a car outside the bank.

Douglas Gomes, 20, of Providence, was wounded as he sat in the getaway car.

Arrested in the bank, and not injured was Robert Hareld, 36, of Providence.

No customers were present in the bank when the gunmen entered and no one else was hurt.

Five weeks ago, four men robbed the same branch of $19,000. Four suspects were arrested a short time later and police said most of the money was recovered.

Senator Urges Antitrust laws

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., said Tuesday that, instead of price increases, the automobile industry needs "antitrust enforcement to restore serious competition and reasonable profit levels to the industry."

He called for "continued pressure on the industry to roll prices back to the 1966 levels or lower."

Chrysler Corp. and General Motors Corp. have announced price increases on 1969 models. The Ford Motor Co. and American Motors have yet to disclose their pricing plans on new models.

Nelson said the industry is experiencing record sales and "this is scarcely a setting for increasing car prices."

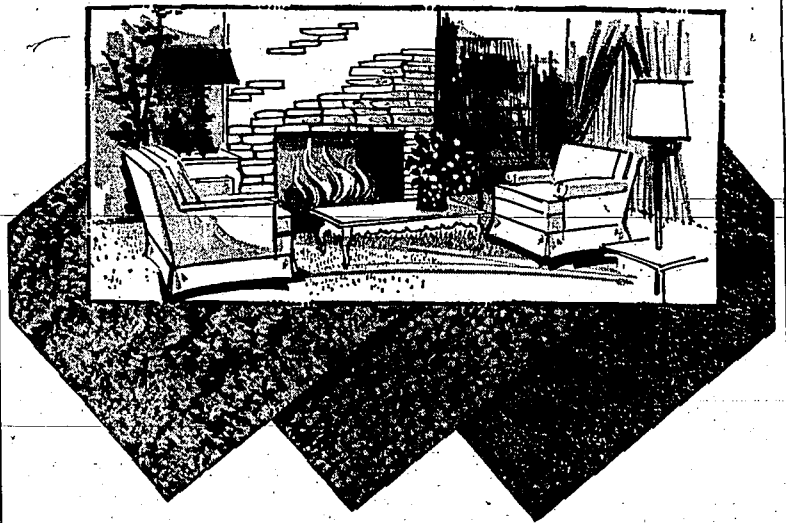

He commented in a speech prepared for Senate delivery Wednesday, but made public Tuesday.

'Big Wind'
Swerves
From U.S.

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Not a single major storm has come howling out of the tropics to attack American shores this year, but "don't write off the hurricane season yet," says director Robert H. Simpson of Miami's National Hurricane Center. "It takes only a week," Simpson said, "for a vast change in atmospheric conditions that could yield a whole rash of storms, or develop one giant hurricane. We don't predict that, but it's possible."

For U.S. residents, Simpson said, it has been a tame season for two reasons.

The first is that the upper atmosphere of the tropics has been abnormally cold. The air column of a hurricane, rising like a giant smokestack to great heights, cannot develop and hold together without a concentration of heat all the way up.

The second restricting factor is that surface winds have been blowing from the east and upper winds from the west, making it impossible for an air column to grow.

Simpson said the winds blow like this in the wintertime, "and that's why we don't have hurricanes then," but such a situation develops only periodically in the storm season.

While it has been a dull season from a public standpoint, Simpson said, it has been a humdrum for the forecasters. Of the 15 hurricanes that have formed in the western Pacific this year, virtually all of them were tracked for thousands of miles by Miami thermometers.

"They're up to the letter 'O' in the alphabet over in the Pacific," Simpson said, "and they get virtually all of them from us. We probably cracked the record for the number of organized disturbances we have tracked."

Unable to develop in the Atlantic, they found the proper conditions in the Pacific, although none grew into major hurricanes.

Miami forecasters have given names to only four Atlantic storms this year. The first, Abby, drove thousands from their homes in western Cuba and moved across Florida, but her winds never exceeded 25 miles an hour and damage was minor.

Conny formed in the Gulf of Mexico and brought heavy rains to Texas. Brenda, Dolly and Edna never crossed a coastline.

'Time' Bill
Decision Sought

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Commerce Committee called up the equal time bill today amid faltering hopes that congressional action can be completed in time for preliminary debates between the presidential candidates.

Even if the measure finally is shaken loose from committee chances for debates this year appear slim unless Republican Richard M. Nixon recants repeated declarations he will not take part in a debate involving third-party candidate George C. Wallace.

The bill still must be debated on the floor by a House that is finding it increasingly difficult to get enough members together to do business.

A similar measure suspending equal time requirements was passed in 1960, making possible the historic debate between Nixon and John F. Kennedy. That bill, however, passed the Congress in plenty of time for the first of the four debates to be held Sept. 30.

The current bill, now modified to include provision for Wallace to be part of any debates between Nixon and Democrat Robert F. Humphrey, almost made it to the floor last week. Democrats suggested the Republican action was tied in to Nixon's stated position.

The Senate has passed a suspension bill. The House Commerce Committee approved the measure with only a minor change but then, last week, backed up recorded time for the earlier action and accepted an amendment directly relating to Wallace.

The equal time requirements may—broaders—who allow time for candidates must provide equal opportunities to all others competing for the same office. The proposed suspensions relate only to the office of president and vice president for the 1968 campaign.

Adventure Proves Costly

STOCKHOLM (AP) — A bill for $20,000 is waiting for a Swedish adventurer who tried to follow explorer Fridtjof Nansen's path across the Greenland ice cap.

Robert Klinteberg, 32, of Stockholm, skied into an American radar station nearly two-thirds of the way across Southern Greenland Tuesday. He asked for coffee and a sandwich and hoped to go on to Sondro Stroenford, 155 miles to the west, to complete the crossing of the ice cap first accomplished by the Norwegian Nansen in 1888.

The Americans told him the Danish government had been making a big search for him and had ordered him put on the supply plane that visits the station every week.

Klinteberg set out from Angmagssalik, on the East Coast, in early June with nine sled dogs and two Greenlanders for guides. He assured the authorities he would try to cross the ice cap, a route to get around the Danish government's demand for a $20,000 deposit to pay for any rescue operations that might become necessary.

Interviewed by telephone from Stockholm, Klinteberg said the two guides left him when the weather got bad and he ran short of food. Then he lost six of his dogs when his sled fell twice into cracks in the ice.

"I didn't know anybody was searching for me," said Klinteberg when told the Danish government wants to collect the $20,000 he didn't deposit. The government says the search it has put on cost at least that.

Somber Europeans Ponder Shift Of Power Experienced By Czechs In Russ Invasion

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

Europeans now have had time for sober reflection on what a sudden change in the military situation in the heart of their continent might mean, and many are worried.

The Soviet military intervention in Czechoslovakia has been accompanied by heavy political pressure on Yugoslavia and Romania and by threatening gestures toward West Germany.

There is speculation about the Kremlin's ultimate purposes. Why the angry posture toward Yugoslavia? What sort of pressure is Romania feeling? What is the meaning of the Soviet declaration of a right to intervene in West Germany? How far might the Russians go in Europe toward risking a Western response. Who in the Kremlin is calling the shots these days?

These are questions of critical importance to Europeans. In Yugoslavia, a prominent political leader told a Serbian rally a few days ago that "we are incorporating a system of defense, more than ever before, in the entire social structure."

Yugoslavs are receiving defense manuals in which President Tito advises them to be prepared for "war" as if it could break out tomorrow, while working as if peace might last for a century.

Last week, the Russians sent Ivan L. Yakubovskiy, the Soviet general who commands Warsaw Pact forces, to Bulgaria on an unexplained mission. Yugoslavs eyed the development suspiciously.

Since 1948, the Yugoslavs have successfully conducted their affairs out of reach of the Russians, with whom they have no border. Soviet troops on the border of the Bulgarian part of Macedonia would radically change the picture. So would the presence of Soviet troops in Romania, which still is a Warsaw Pact member. There have been signs of edginess in Romania about the possibility that the Russians might have such a demand in mind.

Editorials in the Soviet press have been lambasting Yugoslavia because of Tito's criticism of the Czechoslovak intervention. The Soviet press pictures Yugoslavia as just as damaging to world communism as the Red Chinese with their Peking brand of defiance.

As for West Germany, the attacks have been furious. Prussia, a few days ago, insisted that the West Germans, in league with the United States, have been hatching plans "to weaken the defense system of the Warsaw Treaty, change the balance of forces to their advantage in Europe and consequently in the whole world." West Germany, said, was "concerned" by the role of "shock force of world imperialism" in "an attack on the positions of the Socialist world."

Against that background, the Russians have been claiming a right, under "coercive states" clauses of the U.N. Charter, to intervene at will in West Germany.

In counterpoint, however, Soviet diplomats are reported to be privately telling Western colleagues that the Russians plan to precipitate action against West Germany of West Berlin, an isolated city which is always available to Moscow should it want to provoke a crisis.

Soviet gestures could have a number of objectives; halting West Germany's "bridge-building" to Communist nations; gradual pressure to separate West Berlin from West Germany and general tightening of reins on the Communist empire; the moves might also be aimed at manufacturing a foundation for future Soviet moves.

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My son is being married soon. Two years ago, his father and I were divorced, and his father is now married to the woman he has been living around with for the last five years.

Under the circumstances I feel that my husband's new wife does not belong at our son's wedding.

My son and his fiancée feel that the father finally married this "little homewrecker," she should attend the wedding.

I am considering asking them to make a choice. If they want me at the wedding, father's wife can stay home. If they want her, I'll stay home. What is your opinion?

WAITING

DEAR M.R.H.: No one can "use you" without your cooperation. And if you are "used" once by inconsiderate, nervous acquaintances, shame on them. But if it happens twice, shame on YOU!

CONFIDENTIAL TO ALL: There is no sense in locking the barn after the horse has been stolen. Go after the horse, you fool!

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal., 90069 and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 14-year-old girl, and my best girl friend is worrying me to death. She is also 14, but she is very developed (physically) for a girl her age. She looks like about 18. She told me that for the last 3 months a 19-year-old boy has been coming over to her house to see her in the evening while her parents are at work. Her parents don't even know this guy exists. She tells me that all she wears when he comes over is a BIKINI bathing suit, and there is no place to swim within 3 miles of her place, so you know what I mean. I think that can mean big trouble.

I keep telling her to be careful, but she says nothing has happened so far, and nothing will.

What can I do to prevent trouble? I can't tell her not to because her mother will probably tell her how she found out, and my girl friend will never speak to me again.

WORRIED

DEAR WORRIED: Tell YOUR mother. She'll know what to do.

DEAR ABBY: I have been married for 2 years and have no children. Because I have no children, my friends, relatives and neighbors think I am the perfect baby-sitter. I love children, and I don't mind baby-sitting in an emergency and I never charge for my services.

Is there a nice way to tell these people to find somebody else? I am sick and tired of being used. One girl actually drops her child off at my house without even asking me first. Many times my own plans have been ruined because parents don't come back to get their child when they say they will. Thank you.

How Much Force . . . And When?

Police Cite Need Of 'Teamwork'

By NOEL GROVE
WASHINGTON (NEA)—Teamwork and temperance. Leadership and latitude. These are the guidelines by which police must deal with riots and demonstrations, according to a report of police officials in some of the nation's largest cities. The alternative includes more cries of police brutality, the risk of even bloodier confrontations, and the further tarnishing of an already clouded police image.

The guidelines are not new. Banded around within police departments for decades, they came into focus with the coming of civil rights demonstrations, and are now under even closer scrutiny with New Left activism.

Problems of resentment, self-identity and an intellectual gap complicate a hippie-cop confrontation in a unique way, some authorities agree. Without proper controls, and in the face of extreme provocation, these feelings can burst into a fury of swinging clubs and spitting.

Mace.

With recent evidence of this fury still fresh in the public mind and threats of more confrontations—rioting—emerging, control guidelines have taken on fresh importance in police departments. Following are special meanings some officials ascribe to those guidelines.

Police have a military appearance, officials point out, but they do not operate like an army.

"A policeman is used to working on his own," said John Ingersoll, formerly police chief at Charlotte, N.C., one-time director of field services for the International Assn. of Chiefs of Police, and now head of the division of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs in the Justice Dept.

"But in crowd control it's absolutely imperative that no officer go off unilaterally with action of his own."

How much force, and when? The answer is often steeped in generalities but it generalities carry little weight when the test is human emotions.

"Your policemen are cool-headed professionals," said Philadelphia's controversial police commissioner Frank Rizzo. "We use only sufficient force."

"Sufficient force" used to break up a Negro demonstration against the Philadelphia Board of Education meant club-swinging that yielded 20 injuries and charges of police brutality that went all the way to the Supreme Court. The police were ordered, but the uproar was such that observers felt even the hard-line Rizzo altered tactics in the next angry gathering of the group, in which there was a notable absence of uniformed police, billy clubs, and consequently—violence.

Fear, resentment, provocation—these are the seeds that can sow excesses in police handling of a volatile crowd. On the harassed man in blue, caught up in a youthful riot, he neither accepts nor understands, lays the awesome burden of self-restraint that determines whether he will have a cry of bloodshed and bad publicity or a crowd-and-mob have their own personalities, police say.

And, police leaders must have the versatility and skill of a battlefield commander in dealing with them individually.

An impromptu gathering will act and respond differently than one that has been planned in preparation. The impromptu crowd may be more easily broken up because it lacks organization, but the planned demonstration may be more responsive if police include themselves in the planning.

In Atlanta, Ga., Police Chief Herbert Jenkins, who helps write the Kerper Report, virtually participates in planned marches.

"The mayor and the chief have gone right out and led them," said a local admirer. "One time a group of militants organized a march and said they didn't want us, whitey, walking with them, so the chief just moved up a block and walked ahead of them."

Washington's Poor People's campaign openly committed to nonviolence, required different treatment within a matter of hours. Bulls pitted between greatly debating with demonstrators on Capitol grounds and brusquely clearing the streets and breaking up angry groups and looting headquarters several blocks away.

The tactics were effective in dealing with both situations.

Chicago? It would never happen here.

The statement comes from not one, but several cities. Yet in most of them, the guidelines and training procedures in riot and crowd control are identical.

"Preventing civil disorders is always easier than suppressing them," said a training official of a major metropolitan police department, issued months ago to all personnel. "The police officer, by disciplining his emotions, can do much to prevent a tension situation from erupting into a serious riotous episode. The main was issued by the Chicago Police Dept., well before the Democratic convention ended with accusations that police officers ran rampant in clashes with demonstrators.

Attitudes and pronouncements of administrative officials are often reflected in the actions of the rank and file, many authorities agree. And temperance and coolness in leaders are important right down to those in the field.

"During the April riots and the Poor People's campaign, we had high-ranking officers out there handling the situations," said Washington's Commissioner Patrick Murphy.

"Assistant Chief (Jerry) Wilson was at the head of the police line in those Poor People's demonstrations. One time when they started making arrests, he told the boys not to hurry. 'We've got a 12-hour shift to fill out, so we might as well take our time. It set the kind of mood that kept things calm.'"

"The men in the ranks know how he (Murphy) feels about handling people," said Police Sergeant O. E. Brown. "They know he wouldn't condone any excessive use of force."

"When you make statements about shooting rioters and dealing harshly with demonstrators, the men know they're justified in some violent action."

Enterprising Hollanders Test Skills At Unending Variation Of Contests

By JOYCE VAN MEER
THE HAGUE, Holland (AP)—It was not a long hot summer in Holland this year, but they made up for it with a rash of summer contests—some crazy, some serious.

For instance, they still tilt at rings from horseback, like knights of old. The modern "knight" may be wearing a fiberglass helmet and a safety harness, trying to spear a ring dangling in the air.

In older times, the exercise helped train a knight to put his lance through his enemy's heart. Sometimes nowadays, since there aren't so many horses, they do their tilting in a gym.

In July there was a rooster-crowling contest. Twelve at a time, the roosters competed in crowing. It was noisy loudness that mattered, just frequency. For every crow, a bean was placed in a dish atop the rooster's cage, and the rooster with the most beans won. It's not recorded what the winning rooster got. His owner got all the beer he could drink.

building contests, a woodcutting contest, street organ contests, carillon contests and organ improvisation.

Then skills were matched in beer tapping and sheep shearing. Loosdrecht had a jazz contest; there were pancake races, fishing contests and a sailing race for old bulky Dutch barges at Skutjesluis in Friesland. Some 40 town criers matched their voices at Edmond aan Zee. Youngest entrant was well past 40, the oldest over 80. They rarely all still work in their villages, announcing sales, auctions, lost and found—proving that even radio and newspapers have not completely ousted the town crier. The winner got a silver gong.

In the province of Drenthe, an epidemic of roof sitting broke out. The winner sat on the roof of her house for 100 hours, aiming for the title "World Cham-

$611 Million Suit Filed After Strike

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—A $611 million lawsuit has been filed against United Steelworkers of America by two copper workers as a result of the recent eight-month copper strike.

Leroy Houser and Joseph G. Sierra filed suit in U.S. District Court, naming the national union and its two locals at Magna Copper Co. mines in Arizona as defendants.

The suit asks $112 million in lost income by 2,000 Arizona employees during the strike, $100 million for employee losses of credit, property and emotion strain and $500 million punitive damages.

The suit states, "In negotiations which were irrelevant and immaterial to the welfare of the employees of Magna. One such issue was requiring industry-wide bargaining in which there would be literally one contract for all employees of all copper companies in the copper industry."

The suit contends industry-wide bargaining was an illegal objective "in that its natural effect was a restraint of trade in violation of Federal Antitrust Laws and the Labor Management Relations Act of 1947 and the Labor Management Reform Act of 1959."

The suit also contends the union employees by bargaining outside the interest of the workers at the two locals.

Houser and Sierra have fought the Steelworkers' U. M. W. a since the union absorbed the former Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers local there on July 1, 1967.

A trial date on the lawsuit has not been set.

Agnew Doubts AIP Entrant Poses Threat

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Gov. Spiro T. Agnew of Maryland says he sees no threat from George C. Wallace, the third-party candidate for president.

"Wallace is simply not electable," Agnew told a news conference in Hilo, Hawaii, before flying to Los Angeles Tuesday.

The Republican vice presidential nominee was met by a small group on his arrival in Los Angeles, where he spent the night. He remained in the islands for three days.

Agnew flies to Baltimore today.

Republican candidate said he was pleased by crowds along his campaign and has "a particularly good feeling about our chances of winning in Hawaii."

He said he had planned to go to all 50 states but would go to Anchorage, Alaska, because he considers it important to campaign in the newest state.

Agnew was asked why he went to Hawaii, which has only four electoral votes. He said he didn't go for the votes, adding, "I don't think it's going to be that close."

Samuelson's Opposition To Liquor Question Continues

BOISE (AP)—Gov. Don W. Samuelson said Tuesday he still opposes sale of liquor on Sundays in Idaho and the sale of wine in grocery stores.

He vetoed a "similar bill last year."

The governor also said he favored private sale of packaged liquor, rather than sale by the state at present, provided local jurisdictions lose no revenue in any such change.

Samuelson did say, however, he would take a step farther than the committee recommendation that counties be allowed to grant liquor licenses on local option.

He said he favored legislation enabling border counties to bring liquor laws in conformity with those of surrounding states.

"Idaho is surrounded by six states," he said, and some Idaho counties suffer economically because of more stringent laws.

Samuelson said any such legislation of county laws should be allowed only after a vote of the county's residents.

LOW BID LISTED
BOISE (AP)—A Spokane firm, Hazen and Clark, was the apparent low bidder Tuesday for construction of a new vocational-technical building at Lewis-Clark Normal School in Lewiston. The firm submitted a bid of $22,322.

Realization of county laws should be allowed only after a vote of the county's residents.

Business Mirror

NEW YORK (AP) - No matter which party wins the congressional elections, tax reform will be one of the big issues of 1969. In fact the arguments are expected to begin shortly...

By the close of the year President Johnson must offer his recommendations on the subject, which involves hundreds of millions of dollars and millions of pages of decisions...

So complex have taxes become that entire businesses today are built on interpreting and advising how best to use the laws...

But tax reform is expected to be concerned as much with complexities as with complexities. This move was indicated here last week by Treasury Secretary Henry H. Fowler in a speech before the National Industrial Conference Board.

Fowler indicated that the administration is especially concerned about the tax burden on the poor compared with the serious problem of those taxpayers with very high annual incomes who make little or no contribution.

This suggests that a very heated discussion of the new type income tax might be on the schedule. This proposal, which has adherents and enemies of every political leaning, would pay money to those who earn a poverty income.

The discussions also will involve the manner of collection and distribution of tax money. Tax sharing, in which the federal tax collectors would turn part of their revenue over to the states, will be very much an issue.

Distribution of federal money to other governmental units now is through the medium of grants in specific project. Some critics believe the money should be turned over with no strings hanging, to be spent as the local unit decides.

This, they say, would permit greater freedom and autonomy for local governments and would help solve their rising costs, which under existing tax laws often cannot be met.

Washington local programs often die for lack of funds. Expansion of tax sources could be a major issue. Two years tax experts have been studying means of obtaining revenue from sources other than incomes. The present income tax rates up to 77 per cent on personal income and nearly 93 per cent on corporations, which are high compared with other industrial nations. The answer lies in the source of American tax money. Except on the local and state level, where real estate and some other taxes are high, the greatest amount of American income and tax money comes from personal income. This is not so in many other countries. Increasingly popular in Europe are indirect taxes, excise and sales taxes levied on the value added to goods as they move through the production process to their final emergence as finished products. A similar tendency could develop in the United States.

Bomb Blasts Jolt Homes Of Executives

TORONTO (AP) — Bomb explosions early Tuesday jolted the homes of eight top executives of Hawker Siddeley Canada Ltd. vice president, De Havilland Aircraft of Canada, which supplies Caribou transport planes for U.S. forces in Vietnam.

Shattered windows were the chief damage in the blasts, set off at intervals in the two hours before dawn. No one was injured.

"We have no labor problems or strikes," said Patrick Kelly, executive assistant to the president of Hawker Siddeley. "My only conclusion is that this is a fanatical antiwar demonstration."

P. Y. Davoud, a vice president of De Havilland, said the bombings appeared to be the work of a highly organized team, not one individual trying to settle a grudge. Two windows in his home were wrecked.

W. Wallace Muir, a Hawker Siddeley vice president, said the bombers apparently did not want to hurt anyone. "They just wanted to scare us, but I don't know why," he said.

Toronto police, pursuing an investigation that a spokesman called the biggest in the history of the city's forces, said they had not established a motive for the bombings.

Hawker Siddeley is a British-run company with worldwide interests in manufacturing steel and transportation equipment, including planes.

Land Board Closes Doors On Discussion

BOISE (AP) — Members of the Idaho State Land Board discussed behind closed doors Tuesday proposals on which they have been unable to reach agreement in formal sessions.

State Land Commissioner Gordon Trombley, the board's secretary, said the meeting was not an official one and there were no decisions.

Pending before the board for more than two years has been an application by four Southwest Idaho businessmen to purchase 1,700 acres of land along the Payette River just north of Payette Lake.

The four, including Idaho industrialist J. R. Simplot of Boise, want to develop the area for recreational purposes. Plans call for construction of a golf course and the plotting of a number of summer homesites.

The land board previously suggested the tract be sold with a clause reverting it to the state after the cost of the improvements had been amortized. The developers turned the proposal down on grounds it would make financing difficult.

Also pending before the board are problems involving land and water usage in many sections of the state and involving lease or sale of land.

Trombley said there was some discussion, too, of the land department's financial budget for the next biennium.

Denver Cleric Loses Power In Dispute

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — The Rt. Rev. Joseph S. Minnis, leader of Colorado's 6,000 Episcopalians, was stripped of his ecclesiastical authority and banished from the Diocese of Colorado Tuesday by a church court hearing charges that he breached his ordination vows.

Minnis, 64, was ordered to leave the diocese, which includes all the state of Colorado, by Oct. 15. He would be allowed to return only with prior permission from the presiding bishop.

His attorney, Harry King, objected to the order, claiming the nine-bishop court exceeded authority given it by church law.

In New York, the church's president bishop, the Rt. Rev. John E. Hines, said that while church canons do not appear to provide specifically for such expulsion, the action probably would be sustained if challenged.

The court also decreed that Minnis refrain from retaliation, particularly via lawsuits, against any participant in the proceedings, including the 17 priests and laymen who brought the charges.

Hijacker Held After Attempt To Enter U.S.

CHAMPLAIN, N.Y. (AP) — Federal agents said Leonard S. Bendicks, 33, is the first person to be charged with hijacking an airplane after reaching Cuba and then returning to this country.

Bendicks was deported by Canadian officials Tuesday and seized at this border crossing by the Federal Bureau of Investigation on charges of air piracy and kidnapping.

He was arraigned and ordered held at Clinton County Jail in lieu of $100,000 bail. He is charged with forcing the pilot of a chartered single-engine plane to fly him to Havana on July 12.

A complaint filed by the FBI in Miami also charged him with kidnapping the pilot from Key West, Fla.

Air piracy is a federal crime carrying a maximum sentence of death.

'Berets' Help

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Lebanon's Red Berets had to come to the rescue of John Wayne's Green Berets in Beirut Tuesday night.

A riot broke out during the showing of Wayne's movie about the Vietnam war, "The Green Berets," and Beirut's red-capped riot police were called in to quell it.

Spectators threw eggs and ink bottles at the screen, then trooped into the street outside chanting pro-Viet Cong slogans.

A local Communist newspaper said that the film was banned because it supports American "aggression" in Vietnam. Most local film critics panned the film, calling it childish, elementary and untrue.

INFILTRATORS KILLED

SEOUL (AP) — South Korean troops trapped seven North Korean infiltrators on the western front just below the demilitarized zone and killed them all in a fierce one-hour battle Tuesday, the government said today.

Seizure Of Enemy Arms Cited In Apparent Lack Of Power

WASHINGTON (AP) — Thinning casualty lists and big arms seizures are being cited by military men to back their contention the enemy in Vietnam has been seriously weakened.

Pentagon officers are not speculating on what effect, if any, the enemy's weakened posture may have in the Paris negotiations.

The apparent failure by the enemy to get his so-called "third wave" offensive off the ground in August also is considered a significant barometer of the war's progress.

According to top officers, the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong tried to launch this offensive about Aug. 18 but were thwarted by the spilling operations of Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, the U.S. commander.

After an eight-week "lull" in which U.S. losses averaged 178 a week, the enemy stepped up action to a level that claimed 203 U.S. troops the third week of August, then 408 the final week.

The tempo then dropped and U.S. losses fell sharply to 185 the first week of September, nearing the 166 average for the summer of 1967.

In contrast to the brief August move, the enemy had kept the Tet offensive going about six weeks in February and March, claiming an average of 480 U.S. troops killed per week during the period.

A followup drive was staged in May but lasted only about four weeks during which enemy troops killed an average of about 495 U.S. troops per week.

Then came the summer "lull"—which some interpreted as a signal that Hanoi was de-escalating—and the short-lived August effort.

For the past 12 weeks U.S. losses have averaged 213 dead and officers expect the weeks ahead will bring mainly sustained low-level attacks "in hopes of wearing us out."

"They are inflicting fewer casualties on us because they don't have the equipment to sustain longer contact," one officer said.

Discoveries of major enemy arms, ammunition, food and other supplies have been confiscated in recent days.

Police Will Pay For Wrong Entry

CHICAGO (AP) — The Police Department said Tuesday it will pay Alice Bielinski, 62, for breaking down her door.

'Bail-Out' Devices Studied For Astronauts

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Engineers studying emergency escape devices believe bail-out capsules could be built to bring astronauts back to earth safely if disaster struck an orbiting space station.

Except for deciding whether the bailout craft should be cone-shaped or round, "We have pretty well settled down to one concept," said Warren Carter, manager of the study for Lockheed Missiles and Space Co.

Lockheed engineers—working under an eight-month $200,000 contract from the National Aeronautics and Space Administration—have generally agreed on internal subsystems, flight operations, re-entry trajectories, sequence of events and splashdown characteristics for an earth orbiting escape device, Carter said.

Their final design concept, he presented to the space agency before the end of this year, may form the basis for building bailout craft to fly with manned earth orbiting space stations in the 1970s or 1980s. No operational escape system could be available for several years, during the Apollo man to the moon program.

"Visualize some kind of space station with an escape device attached to it on an airlock," Carter said in describing the evolving bailout concept during an interview.

"An emergency occurs and it becomes obvious that the only way to get back to earth is by using the escape device. Three astronauts get aboard, seal it off, activate it and use an explosive charge of some kind to separate it from the space station."

Once away, the astronauts will have to remain in orbit for up to 12 hours to give ground controllers time to compute and send re-entry instructions and calculate the best landing zone, the study manager said.

They then will fire retro-rockets and parachute to a landing on water, he said.

Opponents Of Fortas Ask Vote

By JOHN CHADWICK
WASHINGTON (AP) — Opponents of Abe Fortas' nomination to be chief justice are considering a parliamentary maneuver that could kill the appointment without the bloodletting of a filibuster.

The move would involve a vote to recommit the nomination to the Senate Judiciary Committee. Opponents are counting noses to see if they have the strength.

The move surfaced Monday as one of several developments on the embattled nomination. Others included:

—Two senators previously not counted for or against the nomination lined up against Fortas, increasing opponents' known strength to at least 29.

—Sen. John Sparkman, D-Ala., said he had a feeling the nomination will be withdrawn.

—And absenteeism plus extensive debate on a tax bill slowed Senate machinery, possibly enough to delay start of debate on the nomination until later in the week. It had been expected to start today.

Majority Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana had a bill he will take up the big defense appropriation bill before calling up the Fortas nomination.

Word that a move to return the nomination to the Senate Judiciary Committee is under consideration came from Sen. Mark O. Hatfield, R-Ore.

Hatfield, who has not taken a stand on President Johnson's nomination of Fortas to succeed retiring Earl Warren, told a retiring speech contending that further hearings by the Judiciary Committee are essential before the Senate acts.

Adoption of a motion, returning the motion to committee would be tantamount at this stage to killing the Fortas nomination, and it would give senators a chance to register a straight-out vote on confirmation.

It also could avoid a threatened filibuster, enabling an early windup of a pre-election session plagued by increasing absenteeism.

Meanwhile, Sen. Lister Hill, D-Ala., told a reporter that he will vote against confirmation of Fortas. And Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper, R-Iowa, also was reported to have joined the opposition.

Hickenlooper was not in Washington, but an aide said the senator has written constituents that he will vote against confirmation.

Hickenlooper had been listed as uncommitted and Hill as unreachable in Associated Press survey Sept. 19 that showed 26 senators against the nomination and 46 for it. Sen. Milton Young, R-N.D., later announced his opposition, raising the total to 27 against, before Hill and Hickenlooper.

A two-thirds vote of the 100 members is needed to end a filibuster. A simple majority is needed for confirmation.

Angry Mailmen Growl Over Rising Threat Of Dog Bites

WASHINGTON (AP) — The mailmen's union is doggone mad about dogs nipping postmen and complains that a government study on safety being conducted too slowly to take the bite out of the problem.

"By the time the study is completed, 17,500 more letter carriers will be bitten," said James H. Rademacher, president of the National Association of Letter Carriers.

To make matters even worse, the projected 21-month study by the Labor Department probably won't even go into the canine threat.

"It has nothing to do with dog bites," said Robert Goodell, director of Labor's Office of Occupational Safety. He said the study will primarily concern the safety problems of mail handling the motor vehicle operation.

If dog bites are considered it will be "a very fringe element," Goodell said. But it is dog bites that seem to most arouse the postman's ire.

Unleashed dogs are not only causing too much damage to mailmen, but they are taking too much of a bite out of the taxpayers' dollar," Rademacher said in the union's publication, the Postal Record.

He said 10,000 mailmen were bitten by dogs last year, more than 1,000 of them serious enough to require hospitalization.

A government report estimates the average cost of a mailman's dog bite is $546 in medical bills, lost manpower and other expenses, according to Rademacher.

"The annual bill is well over a half-million dollars to taxpayers," he said.

Abandoned Farm Yields Narcotics

MONTPELIER, Vt. (AP) — In an old barn on an abandoned farm at the end of an isolated dead-end dirt road, state police said they found enough marijuana to turn on all of Vermont's 400,000 population.

Detectives reporting discovery of the "marijuana mill" in Morris town, about three miles northeast of Stowe, estimated they seized 600 pounds.

The find was accidental. Mrs. Catherine Taylor of Sherman, Conn., who owns the 80-acre farm, told police she had gone there to check on the property and some beaver dams. She said she had not visited the place for a year.

BOISE (AP) — State Highway Department crews are ready to clear snow from Idaho highways' State Maintenance Engineer Roy W. Jump reported today. But he urged motorists to use extra care in driving on wet highways.

"Speeding, oil and water-slick roads can create a lethal combination," Jump said.

"At high speed, on a wet surface, an automobile can 'hydroplane.' The vehicle actually skids along on a thin film of water which can affect steering and possibly throw the car out of control," he said.

Biafrans Use Bulldozers To Slow Foe In Unusual Inter-Tribal Conflict

By ARNOLD ZEITLIN
LAGOS, Nigeria (AP) — Road-cutting bulldozers are helping Biafran fighting men slow federal Nigerian brigades pressing in upon the secessionist republic.

Government soldiers said the Biafrans use earthmovers to chew craters in invasion routes and stall federal military columns for sniper fire or direct assault. The pits average about 40 feet wide and 15 feet deep.

The informants said Biafrans beat drums and shouted Ibo tribal epithets in one such encounter on a road they had cut northwest of Aba. Some, lacking firearms, battled with sticks.

The large-scale guerrilla warfare sworn by the Biafran leader, Col. Oumegwu Ojukwu, so far has not materialized. Some here doubt it ever will.

"Compared to the small Vietnamese, these Africans are giants," said an East European diplomat who was based for a while in Vietnam. "But do they have the patience? Can they hide in the bush for two or three days waiting for something to happen on the basis of a scrap of intelligence? I do not think so. These people are too impatient."

Nigerian military men insist the Biafrans cannot launch a major guerrilla war once the federals have taken the major towns in the east. They say that, unlike the Viet Cong, the Biafrans have no major outside source of supply. The core of territory left to the Biafrans is landlocked and ringed by the federal forces.

The Nigerians are bearing down now on two airstrips, Annabelle and Carolina, in Ullihala, in western Biafra, and on Lago airstrip in the north-central area. These are the last known fields at which the Biafrans are receiving airlifted food and arms.

A spokesman for the U.N. Children's Emergency Fund, UNICEF, in London reported one of the organization's two helicopters flying emergency supplies to Biafra was shot down by federal troops Sunday over Benin, in the Midwestern region of Nigeria.

A UNICEF spokesman in Lagos confirmed that the helicopter crashed and was destroyed on a food-ferrying mission, but said he had no information about the report it had been fired at. He said none of the three men aboard was injured.

The pilot was identified as Luther Brant Beck, 25, of Old Lyme, Conn., a former Marine flier in Vietnam who is a financial analyst in civilian life.

Despite the thin line of the Nigerian 3rd Marine Commando Division on the southern front, the Biafrans seem unable to penetrate areas taken by the federal side.

The division's commander, Col. Benjamin A. Adekunle, has eight brigades which are believed to add up to about 10,000 men in the Dec. 21 shooting spree.

The date of execution was suspended pending appeal.

Wife Of Killer To Leave Prison

DRAPER, Utah (AP) — Donna Lance, wife of convicted murderer Myron Lance, will be paroled Dec. 10 from Utah State Prison.

The 29-year-old Salt Lake City woman appeared before the state board of pardons. She was sentenced to serve one to three years "for furnishing implements to aid a prisoner to escape."

She was charged with attempting to smuggle a handgun to her husband when she went to the prison to visit her husband in July.

Lance, 29, and Walter Kelbach, 128, were sentenced to be executed for killing two men in a Salt Lake City tavern in December of 1966. Lance and Kelbach were charged with five killings, but were tried only in the deaths of two men in the Dec. 21 shooting spree.

fighting men, spread across 100 miles from Oguta in the west to Arochuku in the east. It is possible to drive for miles through rattlecan swamp and rain forest without seeing any soldiers.

The fighting there sometimes takes on guerrilla characteristics.

The Biafrans plant homemade mines, which fling shrapnel and broken bottles in all directions when detonated from auto batteries.

Federal combat troops report only about a quarter of the Biafrans carry regular arms—usually captured Nigerian rifles or Czechoslovak-made automatic weapons.

Biafran War Brings Death To Many

OWERRI, Nigeria (AP) — A slim young Biafran woman with wide, hollow eyes walked dead and barefoot through the muddy, deserted streets of Owerri. "Get to the refugee camp" shouted a patrolling Nigerian soldier. In an aside, he added: "All the time I tell her to go, she no go."

Over her bony shoulder lolled a gaunt, naked baby boy. He was dead of starvation.

There soon may be more like him in Owerri, the Ibo tribal heartland town which fell seven days ago to federal troops methodically crushing the secession of predominantly Ibo Biafrans in eastern Nigeria.

In early September Owerri, which had a prewar population of 25,000, was jammed with thousands of refugees fleeing the federal advance. Now it is "virtually empty," the secessionist leader said.

Two days of work by army patrols brought nearly 200 persons from hideouts in nearby forest brush to the town hall, where they bedded down on the floor.

"Men in one place, women in another for security reasons" said a federal captain. "Women fight. They all fight. All are dangerous."

With the adults were a few children, gaunt and sick with malnutrition or worse. A Nigerian soldier complained the Ibo "never surrender."

"They keep punishing themselves," he said. A lieutenant heading a detail round up Ibo soldiers in the bush said his men found many dead of starvation.

The Nigerians have reduced Biafran territory to a tenth of the 20,000 square miles the rebels held at the time of the secession.

But the Biafran soldiers still fight. And civilians still flee into the ever more overcrowded land as if they were bent on suicide.

The reasons are many why they keep fighting and keep running.

"If you do not leave the place, Biafran soldiers shoot you as a saboteur," said an Indian schoolteacher, B. Asiruadam, 45.

With his wife and eight children, he stayed in Owerri during the fighting because he wanted to be on the federal side of the line.

"They are running because they are misled by Ojukwu propaganda," said Benjamin Azualim, 24.

An Ibo soldier, he defected from Lt. Col. Oduumgwu Ojukwu's Biafran army to join the federals.

Nigerians and lead them through backroads to surprise troops—defending Owerri last week.

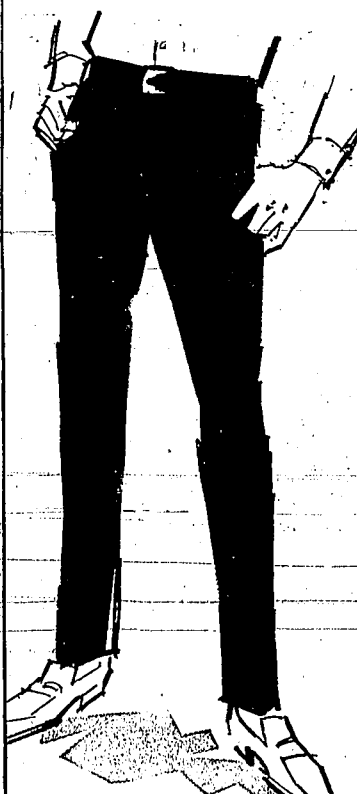

But to another Ibo, Cyril Ohi Njoku, his people flee because they fear the federal troops will kill them. He surrendered here and lived.

The army is feeding the refugees out of meager supplies.

barely replenished by the few trucks able to drive up the muddy bushroad from the 16th Brigade headquarters 30 miles to the south at Elele.

The 3rd Marine Division commander, Col. Benjamin A. Adekunle, has forbidden the Red Cross to work in the area, insisting the army can handle the relief job better.

Kroffts Fashion Fantasy For All

By DICK KLEINER
NORTH HOLLYWOOD — (NEA) — From the outside, it looks like an ordinary factory building. It all began when Sid and Marry Krofft, tired of their night club puppet act, opened the Krofft Theater and put on "a dirty puppet show" called "Las Vegas de Paris."
This was — and continues to be — so popular that other people asked them to devise puppet shows. Gradually, they added new twists until today there are Krofft-built shows at giant parks around the country.

This year, they moved into their new plant here. Now they have the room and the personnel — nearly 200 employees — and the facilities to do some of the intricate, imaginative things their restless minds dream up.
A huge signboard for a new hotel in Las Vegas, with a woman on a swing. She's pretty cute; her dimensions are 126-84-126.
A singalong beer parlor for the amusement area of the Queen Mary, in Long Beach. Customers will sing along with the trees, which sing, too.
A new ride, called the Time Machine, for Coney Island in Cincinnati. You'll ride a boat into the past and run up against dinosaurs, a n e c t Egyptian and even Christopher Columbus.
A ride call-The Briar Patch, for Six Flags Over Georgia, in Atlanta, in which all the creatures of the Greenback Swamp co-operate to give the ride-taker a few thrills.
A ride for Six Flags Over Texas, in Dallas, with the customers scooting around on a dragon and being menaced by a runaway bus and a volcano.
Those are in the works now. But the Krofft team is thinking beyond, to the 1971 opening of Six Flags West (or it may be called Six Flags Over California) in Oakland, and even to the 1976 Bicentennial World's Fair in Philadelphia. The people putting the latter together have asked the Kroffts to design an amusement park which would run for 20 years.
The world of amusement park attractions has changed considerably in the last decade, since Disneyland revolutionized the business. A roller coaster and a merry-go-round won't do any more. Now more imagination is needed, and the Kroffts have that, in ample supply.
"I'm to Disneyland at least once a week," Sid Krofft says. "Let's face it, it's the Bible of the business."
But the Disney people mostly just build for themselves. Other park operators, who want something of the same sort, have no place to go — except, now, to Krofft. They already have shows running at HemisFair '68 in San Antonio, at the two Six Flags parks — and at other parks.
They're now getting calls in other areas. They'll do a lot for that new Las Vegas hotel, to be called the Circus. They're currently creating a real Tony the Tiger for Kellogg's commercials. They're planning many things for the Queen Mary, even to the approach to the ship.
And, like everyone in any form of show business, they're concerned about violence. One of their rides, in Dallas, had a scene with a bunch of boys shooting at the public. Since the anti-violence campaign, they took the guns out of the boys' hands.
Now the boys point their fingers and go "Bang, bang."

Cry Of 'Cat' Termed Clue To Defects

SUN VALLEY, Idaho (AP) — A cat-like cry, lowered hairline or extremely short neck may be tips to chromosome defects in newborn babies, nurses were told today.
Dr. Kurt Benirschke, a professor of pathology at Dartmouth School of Medicine, spoke at the Region 8 conference of the Obstetric, Gynecologic and Neonatal Nursing Association.
He said nurses play an important role in early detection of infants with "chromosomal errors" which often are overlooked at birth.
The errors, occurring in about one of each 100 births, can cause abnormality ranging from slight retardation to mongolism, Dr. Benirschke said.
Although the outlook for children with chromosome defect is bleak, he said, love and care can allow them to reach "more or less elevated standards" of living.
About 285 nurses from western states are attending the conference, which concludes Wednesday.
Monday the delegates were told inadequate diets may be correlated to premature births and complications of pregnancy. The warning came from Dr. Roy S. Holly, of the Jefferson Medical College of Philadelphia, Pa.

Soldiers Plead For Legal Aid

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — An attorney for the American Civil Liberties Union, said today he has received requests "from several enlisted men" at Ft. Carson, Colo., to represent them in legal action against the government, charging they were illegally activated from Kansas and Iowa National Guard units.
The attorney, John T. Maley of Denver, said he had been contacted in the past two weeks by former guardsmen and Army reservists from Illinois, all stationed at Ft. Carson.
An Army spokesman said Monday that Ft. Carson officials had been unable to uncover "petitions reported to be circulating among members of the 69th Infantry Brigade protesting the callup of guardsmen and reservists."
Maley said he had been informed many members of the brigade believe the callup to be illegal because President Johnson activated the brigade May 13 without a declaration of war by Congress.
Maley said he was awaiting further word from the soldiers before taking action.

AEC Detonates Test In Nevada

The test, involving the equivalent of less than 20,000 tons of TNT, was the 21st announced this year.

Admiral Seeks Anti-War Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — Retired Adm. Arthur W. Radford asked Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark to prosecute who "spread anti-war propaganda among American troops" at U.S. Army bases.
The former chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff sent a telegram to Clark on Monday, asking what steps the Justice Department is taking "to halt such blatant activities which clearly give aid and comfort to the enemy who is daily killing American men in Vietnam."
Radford cited press reports which he said told of 28 U.S. anti-war activists meeting in Budapest Sept. 5-9 with representatives of North Vietnam and the National Liberation Front.
At the Budapest meeting, he said, plans were discussed to "sponsor an anti-war '41 Week' immediately before the November elections and to intensify efforts to subvert servicemen through propagandists operating in vicinity of Army camps."

'Revenooers' Use Many Skills

By TOM TIEDE
AMERICUS, Ga. (NEA) — There were a half-dozen men crouched on the floor of the pine forest. It was hot and buggy. Small fruit flies swarmed in the steam, some landing on bare skin and drowning in human sweat.

"O.K.," said Cecil Kent, "any questions?"

The men had none.

"I've got it all a.m."

The group co-ordinated the time.

"Take places," Kent ordered. "We'll raid at 11:30 sharp. Branches cracked under falling feet as the small band scurried to preselected stations in the forest. Cecil Kent, 42, a federal government tax agent, spit out a fruit fly and belched down a twisty, narrow road.

"See," he whispered. "Hear that noise? Listen. Thump, thump thump. That's the still working to crash the moonshine still for over a month.

The investigation had started, as most of them do, with rumors and educated guesses. Kent had been informed that known moonshiners were purchasing large amounts of sugar, bran and yeast around the county.

The foodstuffs are the traditional ingredients of moonshine. And whenever they are purchased in quantity by individuals, revenooers begin inquiries.

Within a short while, a local politician and large landowner called Kent to report the still was operating on some of his unused property. He said one of his sharecroppers was "in cahoots" with the caterer.

So the T-men went to work. With stealth and secrecy the still was located by eyeball surveillance. Sometimes agents' planes are used, but this time they weren't necessary. Agents on foot found the still erected a mile from the nearest highway and well into an uncultivated forest.

Agents were assigned a 24-hour watch. Shifts of camouflage men studied the still's activities with binoculars. They recorded the coming and going of still hands and established the habits and capacities of the machinery.

Meanwhile, throughout the county, other agents traced down sources of supply. Ferreted out distributors and drew up lengthy lists of accomplices.

Paperwork mounted. No facts were overlooked. After licenses were recorded, secret photographs taken, principals were followed day and night. Conversations were recorded, transactions witnessed, figures checked and rechecked.

Evidence collection was time consuming, tedious but all important. Kent is a tax man for 14 years, and had bitter experience with trials where small legal loopholes led to cases being thrown out of court.

Finally, after three weeks, the case was ripe.

Agents determined that the still was operated by two local men, both with long records in the business. One of them, 22, had been a whiskey hand for eight years. The other, 38, had spent six years in jail on frequent charges of moonshine fraud.

Several others were implicated, but they did not work at the still site. Agents said all would be charged with conspiracy to commit a felony. The maximum charge: Five years imprisonment, and fine.

The still itself was catalogued as "large." It ran on a four-day cycle—three to prepare the mash, another to brew the spirits. The stakeout had determined that, on the average, it produced at least 1,500 gallons a week.

Federal tax for whiskey is $10 a gallon. Thus, agents figured that the total revenue loss from the one still was $15,000 every seven days.

Cecil Kent stopped in the forest.

"Now?" somebody asked.

"Wait," Kent cautioned.

The still, situated in a clearing, had the caters free to fall kill the smell of cooking brew.

Cattle manure, however, was only a fraction of the visible filth. The whiskey water was drawn from a stagnant hodge which was blanketed with an inch of scum. The still itself was uncovered and rodents, insects and birds were free to fall in the mash. The final "filter" was nothing more than oily rags impregnated with crushed dirt and dead flies.

The two still hands were totally occupied. The still was dripping fresh whiskey into an old garbage can. From there the liquor flowed through a garden hose to a row of transparent plastic containers. The workers were filling the containers half full and then "cutting" them with wire.

It was now 11:30.

Agent Kent raced nobly into the clearing. So did his men. Somebody yelled, "You're under arrest" from a stagnant hodge en masse toward the workers.

The officers grabbed for arms first. No guns were showing, but no chances were taken; 13 federal men had been killed doing this kind of thing. There were more shouts, heavy breathing, grunting, light-wrangling.

Then, in a wink, it was over. The two men were leaped against trees for a search. Nothing. Handcuffs were extracted. Click! The captives breathed heavy. They were wet and dirty and smelling of yeast. Their faces were flushed, the other's ghost-white.

"O.K.," somebody ordered, "sit down!"

The still workers squaled and pleaded about in search. Cog Dard had them there. The cog was turned off, the water pump stopped, hoses were yanked from their couplings. Then axes began to crash against metal.

The workers looked at each other, then at agent Cecil Kent.

"Good grief," one of them said, "how'd you know we wuz here?"

CONSERVATIVE PLAY HAS NO APPEAL

There are a number of logical ways to bid the North-South cards to a diamond slam. Some pairs may get to seven diamonds but most will stop at the proper contract of six. Not that seven diamonds won't work. South wins the heart lead in dummy, cashes dummy's king of spades, and then he can lead the ace of diamonds and play the ace of spades. West would produce a three card ending. Then he could consider the possibility of throwing East in with the nine of spades to get him to lead a club or he could take the club finesse and hope. Conservatism had no appeal. He paused for a second and led the queen of clubs. West's king lost to dummy's ace and now South had 12 top tricks. He ran off all the diamonds and high spades and finally finished off against West's ten of clubs to make the overtrick. He was the only player in his group to be in six no-trump, so the overtrick meant nothing.

quarrel with success. South took all the tricks. He won the heart lead and cashed the king of spades. Then he returned to his hand with a diamond and played out his ace of spades. West would produce a three card ending. Then he could consider the possibility of throwing East in with the nine of spades to get him to lead a club or he could take the club finesse and hope. Conservatism had no appeal. He paused for a second and led the queen of clubs. West's king lost to dummy's ace and now South had 12 top tricks. "To a woman, the consciousness of being well-dressed gives a sense of tranquility which religion fails to bestow." So said Mrs. Helen Bell. Do you suppose there's something to that? (Once known a woman who left her church to marry a rich agnostic, and 30 days after the wedding, she showed up in my knee. Finally, it figured out $5,000 worth of new clothing, and said, "I've never felt better in my life." NEW EXECUTIVE SECRETARY of the Governor's Committee on Employment of the Handicapped is Tom N. Jones, left, shown here with Gov. Don Samuelson, center, and Bob Zimmerman, who resigned effective Oct. 1 after serving nearly six years as the committee's executive secretary. Gov. Samuelson and Mr. Jones are holding the 1968 Idaho "Ability counts" poster promoting Employ the Physically Handicapped Week, starting Oct. 6.

Boisean Heads Committee On Employing Handicapped

Tom N. Jones, Boise, has been appointed executive secretary of the Governor's Committee on Employment of the Handicapped at informal ceremonies held in the office of Gov. Don Samuelson.

Among those with Jones for the occasion were James B. Cruzen of Boise, chairman of the Governor's Employ the Handicapped Committee, and Bob Zimmerman of Boise, who recently resigned as the committee's executive secretary.

Jones, who is State Youth Services Supervisor in the Department of Employment, also has been named to head the agency's Handicapped and Older Workers program. He succeeds Zimmerman, who is leaving the Department of Employment after nearly 14 years to begin his new job Oct. 1 as civilian personnel officer in the Idaho Military Department.

Jones began his career with the Idaho Department of Employment in June, 1959, following graduation with a Bachelor of Science degree in psychology from the University of Idaho. He was employment counselor and assistant manager of the Coeur d'Alene office for three years prior to 1963 when he went to the Department of Employment's administrative office in Boise as state supervisor of Youth Services. He is presently working on his Master's thesis in psychology.

The native Virginian is 35 years old. He is a Korean War veteran with four years U. S. Air Force service and had 10 months duty in Korea during the military conflict there.

He was president of Emerald Empire Guidance Association and the Snake River Guidance Association; served on Coeur d'Alene Mayor's Committee on Employment of the Handicapped; is a member of the Idaho Personnel and Guidance Association, Ada County Mental Health Association, American Personnel and Guidance Association, International Association of Personnel in Employment Security, and B. P. O. Elks.

Jones married the former Jillian Lemmon of Arrol, in 1954. They have two boys. The Joneses reside at 2610 Ingletwood Road, Boise.

'Snow' Thrills

CLIFTON, N. J. (AP) — Alaskans have been sold on artificial snow.

For the fourth straight year, an Anchorage store has ordered 1,000 aerosol cans of the stuff.

Fred Musante, who works for the manufacturer, said the orders were entirely unsolicited. Each can, he said, is enough to spray one Christmas tree.

Ballard Enters Innocent Plea

Donald Gene Ballard, Twin Falls, entered a plea of innocent Monday to a charge of first degree burglary.

He is charged in connection with a burglary at the Albertson's Store in Twin Falls.

Fifth District Judge James Cunningham continued the bond previously posted by Mr. Ballard. A trial date has not been set.

— STATE LAND SOLD BOISE (AP) — Sale of 80 acres of state-owned land in Madison County was reported today by the State Land Department. Maxine Briggs of Teton paid the appraised price of $5,850, the department said.
