

Panel Explores Violence In U.S.

By O. A. (GUS) KELKER, Times-News Executive Editor

Violence in our society — its causes, its effects, its relationship with modern living as compared with past eras — was the subject of a panel discussion at the College of Southern Idaho Monday evening.

The occasion was the first in a series of Community Forum sessions sponsored by the Magic Valley Council of Churches. Participation by a distinguished panel of three speakers attracted a capacity audience, members of which were conversant with this crisis in American life.

Panelist was Dr. Kenneth W. Briggs, Twin Falls psychiatrist; Ralph Marshall, Ph.D., professor of sociology at the College of Idaho at Caldwell, and Ruth Harris, Boise, holder of a master's degree in social work.

Moderator at the session was the Rev. John Riley, local attorney and president of the Ecumenical Council, presided.

Discussion for the evening centered around four stated questions. In order, they were: (1) Is American society becoming more violent, and if so, what do you believe is contributing to the increase of violence in our lives? (2) Some people believe that one cause of violence in our society is a disrespect for authority, particularly in the home. Do you think that this is an important factor? (3) This has been suggested that there is a connection between violence and the depiction of violence in movies and on television. Do you think that there is a relationship between the two? (4) Do you believe that the way to reduce violence in our society is through more vigorous enforcement of the laws by police agencies.

Others suggest that violence cannot be controlled in this way and that only through the alleviation of social complaints can violence finally be reduced. What is your opinion on either of these?

Opinions by all three panel members came at a rapid clip during the two-hour session. Rather than the each opinion down to a particular speaker, there was not much dissent between them. It is best to develop the various ideas as though presented by the group thinking as one.

For this reason, in this story, no direct quotations will be made. Rather, the ideas will be forwarded and detailed as such. The conclusions thus reached can be summed up in more or less conclusive thoughts as follows:

(1) One thing that no one seems to get any evidence to prove or attempt to prove is that things are getting better. Just how much worse our society is today than it has been a number of years is a little difficult to say. But there seems to be little doubt that we are adding trouble — with violence — particularly in this respect. I am speaking about violent crime in the ordinary sense.

(2) I do believe we have had more trouble over the last 10 years than we have had previously.

(3) We have more race disturbances today, but this isn't the first time we have had such disturbances.

(4) There are some very major social changes in the making in this country. This has to do, in part, with our technology which is way ahead of our social and economic organization.

Salmon Tract Gets Sympathy, But Chance For More Water Is Remote

By BONNIE BAIRD JONES, Times-News Staff Writer

More than 50 Twin Falls county residents who attended a small watershed project meeting in Twin Falls Monday to discuss the future of the proposed Rock Creek project, left the meeting with a new conviction that realization of the project will not be an overnight accomplishment.

Lee Morgan, state conservationist, told the group that under the present rate of funding projects, it would be as much as 15 years before the present approved and ready-to-go projects are complete. This, he said, would give some idea of the future of the Rock Creek Watershed project.

Under this project, from which an application has been made, studies are requested on the feasibility, cost and procedure for installing one to four small reservoirs for storage of Rock Creek water to be utilized on lands now receiving minimal water supplies.

Mr. Morgan, a principal speaker at the lengthy meeting, told interested delegates that federal funding under Public Law 566 is also in danger of cuts as the government attempts to hold down spending. While he pointed something of a pessimistic picture for the future of the project, the state officials said that on the state level there are about three projects now in the priority stage which could be under way within the next year.

"We are always looking for good, sound programs to develop and as these other projects are completed our office, at least, would be most favorable to a project such as this which appears to have all of the local support," he added.

At the conclusion of the meeting Mr. Morgan, a principal speaker at the lengthy meeting, told interested delegates that federal funding under Public Law 566 is also in danger of cuts as the government attempts to hold down spending. European Vote?

PARIS (AP) — Campaign committees supporting the Democratic presidential ticket have been set up in France, the Scandinavian countries, Britain, Belgium, Ireland, Italy and Austria, Philip Coalinga told today.

He is chairman of the European Committee of Americans Abroad for Humphrey-Muskie.

The question he was referring to prior to the Middle East question. He already had discussed with Secretary General U. Thant and with U.N. Secretary-General J.arring his full support.

"The time for movement in this area is now," he said.

"On the question of joining the other big powers in guaranteeing compliance with the Middle East peace agreement, Wiggins said that, both as a member of the United Nations and as a permanent member of the Security Council, the United States had obligations in the area which he believed were of the highest priority.

City To Ask Bids On New Building For Joslin Field

The Twin Falls City Council authorized Ed Woods, airport manager, to advertise for bids for the contemplated addition to the Twin Falls Municipal Airport, which is known as "George's."

The construction would be a model fire department plan which also will include a salary study. The firm agreed to complete the contract by Dec. 15.

The cost of the study will be $3,000, which is the amount the city had budgeted for such research.

A claim for damages from Charles Cllett was referred to insurance carriers by the council. Mr. Cllett was injured Sept. 17 while working for Cron Pressing as the old city reservoir. He is asking $250,000 in damages and is represented by Rayborn and Rayborn.

Mr. Derrick took a request from the chamber of commerce and Twin Falls merchants to install Child Associated Research, Salt Lake City, for an in-depth study of the fire department.

The researchers will present a model fire department plan which also will include a salary study. The firm agreed to complete the contract by Dec. 15.

Workers Cut Major Phone Cable In T.F.

A major telephone cable near the Twin Falls Clinic construction site was cut Monday afternoon and workers busy through the night repairing the damage Tuesday.

At noon nearly 200 customers were without service, but Mountain Telephone officials expected the repair work to be finished late Tuesday.

More than 500 customers were without service when the cable was cut about 5:30 p.m. Monday.

Frank Long, district manager of the telephone company, said customers in the northeast section of Twin Falls were affected by the cable damage.

"It's a tough job trying to splice those wires back together. In fact, it's something like trying to match the ends of a bowl of spaghetti," he said more than 400 ends of wire have to be matched in the cable.

The cable was underground and was cut by workers digging a trench, Mr. Long said.

HHH Asks Annual Talk With Enemy

By The Associated Press

Democrat Hubert H. Humphrey, pledging "I shall be a peace president," it is expected that he will address a national working summit conference between the United States and Soviet Union.

Republican Richard M. Nixon, meanwhile, says as president he would seek a Vietnam settlement of both honor and generosity — but a settlement that would offer no comfort to Communist hawks and would discourage future wars.

And third party candidate George C. Wallace, spelling out his foreign affairs goals, says "I would not consider nuclear warfare at all in Vietnam. I would regard it as a failure."

Nixon would not increase bombing of North Vietnam as president and said the next president should stop the conflict unless he can be sure that to do so would result in fewer American deaths, not more.

U.S. Vows To Guard Mideast

WASHINGTON, D.C. (AP) — Secretary of State William P. Rogers today said the United States is prepared to carry out its obligations as a member of the United Nations to help guarantee any Middle East peace settlement.

"In an informal meeting with the press, the new U.N. representative said that efforts to find a solution to the Israel-Arab conflict were a matter of utmost urgency," he declared and that the United States was ready to give Jarring its full support.

"The time for movement in this area is now," he said.

"On the question of joining the other big powers in guaranteeing compliance with the Middle East peace agreement, Wiggins said that, both as a member of the United Nations and as a permanent member of the Security Council, the United States had obligations in the area which he believed were of the highest priority.

City Okays Study Of Fire Department

Twin Falls City Council voted Monday night to accept a contract with Child Associated Research, Salt Lake City, for an in-depth study of the fire department.

The researchers will present a model fire department plan which also will include a salary study. The firm agreed to complete the contract by Dec. 15.

The cost of the study will be $3,000, which is the amount the city had budgeted for such research.

New Dispute Threatens School Term

NEW YORK (AP) — A rebellious experimental school district in Brooklyn refused today to assign teaching duties to 80 teachers who are on strike, a move that could trigger the third teachers strike in a month against the city's 1.1-million pupil school system.

The Board of Education said the 80 white teachers in the predominantly Negro and Puerto Rican district of Ocean Hill-Brownsville were assigned today to non-teaching duties, apparently carrying out the threat of a walkout by the 80 white teachers.

But as the school day opened, students and teachers at one of Ocean Hill's eight schools streamed into classes without incident. Some of the 80 unwelcome teachers were among the 1,000 people who filled the rows of police were stationed around the school and about 80 demonstrators sympathetic to the teachers' cause gathered at the nearest intersection.

Lawyer Avers Draft Trial 'Complicated'

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — A lawyer today said that the draft trial of the North Vietnamese Selective Service records likened their trial today to the trial of Socrates and Jesus.

William M. Kanister of New York drew the analogy as the trial began in U. S. District Court with a warning from the judge that "order must be maintained."

Arthur G. Murphy, first assistant U. S. attorney, said in his opening statement that all that is involved is whether the defendant willfully destroyed the record as charged in the indictment.

"The case is not as simple as the trials of Socrates or Jesus would be simple," said Kanister. He urged the jury to decide the case on "principles and facts."

Chief Judge Rowland C. Thomas interrupted at this point, telling the jury he would instruct them to decide the case on the facts and the law.

Koreans Claim Pueblo Crewmen Offer 'Apology'

TOKYO (AP) — A broadcast dispatch from Pyongyang said today crewmen of the U.S. intelligence ship Pueblo, seized by North Korea Jan. 23, have issued a joint statement apologizing for "their criminal acts" and asking leniency of the North Korean government.

The statement, which was quoted by Pyongyang's official Korean Central News Agency as urging the United States to take prisoners of war into consideration.

The agency said the petition was filed today with the North Korean authorities by all the 82 crewmen.

Landslides Rip Indian Province

CALCUTTA, India (AP) — Major landslides have killed at least 57 persons in the Himalayan kingdom of Sikkim, whose capital is American-born Hope Cooke Mangyal, the United News of India news agency said today.

The agency said the landslides occurred last Friday as a result of heavy rain that claimed an even greater toll in India.

Heifers To Be Judged In Contest For Cattle Feeders

An educational contest is under way for cattle feeders throughout Southern Idaho to teach them how to recognize high yielding animals for feedlots. All feeders are urged to participate.

This contest, called the "Super Heifer" contest, will be held in Burley, Idaho, for feeders for heifers who the animals will be judged on the hoof, then slaughtered and later fabricated into hamburger for market retail sale by Albermarle.

Today, it is important that the cattle feeder as well as buyers know the capability of each animal. For years the producers with high yielding cattle were not getting top dollar for their animals as they should have been. Now with new federal grading standards, those livestockmen producing high yielding animals will get premium money for their cows.

Each feeder participating in the contest will select a heifer from his lot and will deliver the animal to Independent Meat Co. in Burley, Idaho.

Anyone interested in the livestock industry should attend the live judging Wednesday morning, viewing of carcasses Friday afternoon and the retail sale on Oct. 16.

Apollo Crew Hones Skills For Flight

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The Apollo 7 crew honed their flying skills in a spacecraft simulator today as they prepared for the launch of the Apollo 7 three-man crew on Friday's launching of the nation's first three-man space crew.

Navy Capt. Walter M. Schirra Jr., the command pilot making his third trip into space, Air Force Maj. Donn F. Eisele and civilian astronaut William S. Pogue climbed into the simulator in midmorning and planned to spend several hours there, in the afternoon they were to attend a countdown review.

Meanwhile, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced that Wednesday it will roll to another launch pad the Saturn 5 rocket that is to boost the Apollo 8 three-man crew on its first voyage to the moon.

If Apollo 7 is successful, Apollo 8 may attempt to orbit the moon in a vital rehearsal for a manned lunar landing in 1969.

As preparations proceeded smoothly, Dr. George E. Mueller, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration administrator, said that the administrator for manned space flight, said "Apollo 7 is as ready for flight as people can make it. It is the first stage of the Saturn 5 rocket that is almost as stable as the Brooklyn Bridge.

The vehicle "is almost over-engineered in the sense of safety and strength," Schirra said.

"It's very stable. This has eight engines on the bottom of it. One of those engines could fail and we would have no problem achieving orbit. In fact, two can fail as time goes on and we can still get into earth orbit. The 45-year-old astronaut said.

Blatoff of the Saturn IB rocket is scheduled for 11 a.m. Friday from 142 to 176 miles high. By firing their spacecraft engine, the astronaut will shift its path several times, reaching a maximum altitude of 200 miles.

While circling the globe 104 times, the astronauts are to test all the craft's complex systems to qualify the Apollo ship for man-to-the-moon missions.

"One of the prime requirements of the flight is to test the Columbia said "is to take back with the feeling that all of the spacecraft systems are capable of supporting a flight duration that would take you to the moon and back."

Council Hires Gene Milar As Engineer

Gene Milar, Boise, has been hired to fill the position of Twin Falls city engineer. It was announced Monday night at the Twin Falls City Council meeting.

Twin Falls has been without a city engineer since the resignation of Ron Scheuffels on Sept. 13. Mr. Scheuffels accepted a position as public works director at Commerce City, Colo.

Mr. Milar, in a telephone conversation with Herb Derrick, city manager Tuesday morning, said he would be able to assume the duties on Nov. 15.

The new city engineer was formerly associated with Hoffman, Fiske and Milar, consulting engineers for the Twin Falls sewer system. He lived in Twin Falls from 1960 through 1966 when he took a position with B. A. Development Corp., Boise.

The 1940 graduate of Burley High School, Mr. Milar has B.S. and M.A. degrees from the University of Idaho in engineering. He is registered in Idaho, Nevada and Washington.

The city council voted to hire him at the top of the five-year salary scale in view of his experience and qualifications. They also said they would pay his moving expenses to Twin Falls. Mr. Milar owns a home here.

Mr. Derrick and Paul Newton, former city engineer, expressed confidence in Mr. Milar's professional capabilities. They both said the city was fortunate to hire such a qualified man.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Enrollment of a national training program for Federal aid to job training programs in private industry has been recommended by two cabinet members. Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz and Secretary of Commerce C. I. Smith made the proposal Monday in a report of the President's Task Force on Occupational Training in Industry. Mrs. Presnell Idaho Road Toll Soars As Wrecks Kill Two

By The Associated Press — Idaho's 1968 traffic death toll has exceeded 244 — eighteen more than at this time last year following the deaths of Ruby A. Switzer and Post Police Officer Mrs. Switzer was killed Monday night when an unidentified car pulled onto U.S. 10 in front of her. Her car hit a guard rail and plunged over a 200-foot-embankment, state police said. The accident, 18 miles east of Coeur d'Alene, happened on wet pavement, police said. A passenger, Clara Austin, 49, Spokane, was injured in the accident. Delbert Pliman Sykes, 49, South-Gate, Calif., was killed Friday night when his car in which he rode went over a 150-foot embankment from a narrow mountain road 33 miles east of Coeur d'Alene, state police said Monday.

Educators Hear Warning By Rampton

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Representatives of state boards of education were told to set their own houses in order as they met Monday in Salt Lake City. The warning was given by John D. Rampton, executive director of the National Association of State Boards of Education. He said the boards need to accept the challenge of organizing their own houses, specifically for leadership roles. Rampton urged state-wide education planning, and added that the federal-state relationship should be one of partnership — not one of takeover. Earlier Monday, Dr. Sam Halperin, deputy assistant secretary for legislation of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, said increasing federal aid to education was necessary but the federal-state relationship should be one of partnership.

Boise voters will decide whether to spend $4.95 million for construction of new elementary schools, additions to six junior high schools and two high schools and remodeling of a third high school. Idaho Falls residents must decide whether to spend $3.3 million for a new city library. Approved by two-thirds of the voters in each city is necessary for passage. If they pass, the cities will sell bonds to finance the projects and repay them with property tax revenues.

Court Refuses McCarthy Order

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court refused today to issue an order to put the names of Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., and Black Panther leader Eldridge Cleaver on the presidential ballot next month. A McCarthy group, called Call for an Alternative in November, had gathered only 100,000 signatures of the 300,000 required under state law. For this reason California courts struck their bid. The Supreme Court refused their appeal, saying whatever may be the merits of the controversy it is too close to election day to interfere with the ballot. Cleaver, who sought ballot space for his Peace and Freedom party, was turned down last week. The California courts had ruled that at the age of 33 he is not eligible to run for president. The Constitution puts the minimum age at 35. In a third action the court refused to order Virginia election officials to make way for a Wallace-Keagan Conservative party.

Idaho Land Board Endorses Oil Leases On 4,700 Acres

BOISE (AP) — The Idaho Land Board approved today oil and gas leases on some 4,700 acres in Payette and Washington counties. Members said the lease applications apparently were prompted by reports that extensive drilling in the area had uncovered some traces of oil and gas. They said there had been no indication to put the leases available in commercial quantities. The leases went to Howard Mitchell, L. W. Hawk, the Gay Co. and the Western Gas and Oil Trust Association, all of Boise. The board delayed action on a request for leasing of some 200 acres in Idaho County for mining exploration. Sylvester E. Bruce, Riggin's motel operator, said he applied for the leases on the unannounced company. He said he also holds leases on private and federal land. He said he did not want to be put in a position where the company until granting of the leases is complete. Atty. Gen. Allan G. Shepard said he expects to issue a peremptory order of public instruction, both board members, urged against granting of the leases until more information is provided.

C. J. Krefl Is Wounded In Vietnam

Sgt. Courtney J. Krefl, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul L. Krefl, 153 Austin St., Twin Falls, has been transferred to a hospital in Tacoma, Wash., after being wounded by mortar in Ban Me Thout in Vietnam Sept. 21. His parents were notified by the Defense Department that Sgt. Krefl was wounded in the chest by flying mortar, but his wounds were not considered serious. He was first hospitalized in Vietnam. Sgt. Krefl, who attended Twin Falls school, first joined the Army when he was 17 and served during the Korean War. Before re-enlisting, he was a member of the National Guard at Jerome. He arrived in Vietnam Nov. 10, 1967, with the 70th Engineer Battalion.

Panama Leaders Shuffle Solons

PANAMA (AP) — The government majority in the National Assembly unseated four opposition deputies early today and then swung a four-provision amendment candidates in their places. The four deputies had all been issued credentials as deputies-elect for the 1965 term, but subsequently charges had been filed against them of electoral coercion on voting day last May 12.

AEC Studies River Site For Facility

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Atomic Energy Commission has sponsored a survey to learn if a Knife River, Minn., site on the northern shore of Lake Superior would be suitable for a $2 billion uranium fuel production facility. But AEC spokesmen say the study—conducted by the Union Carbide Corp.—was intended for cost comparison purposes only, with no thought given to actually proceeding with construction. The AEC explained that its three gas diffusion facilities for the production of fuel for nuclear reactors are now operating at only a third of their full capacity because of a production cutback which began in 1964. But AEC scientists expect a rapid increase of nuclear power plants and other civilian uses of atomic energy to increase demand for uranium fuel at a steady rate through the 1970's.

'Voteswagon' Plugs For GOP Votes In T.F.

REPUBLICAN WOMEN in Twin Falls County are going after a clean sweep in November, and to illustrate the point Mrs. Robert Stephan, left, county Republican Women's Club chairman, takes a broom from Idaho State Sen. Mary Brooks, Mrs. Brooks arrived in Twin Falls Monday aboard the "Voteswagon," a large bus on a trip from Washington, D.C., to Los Angeles in an effort to get the woman's vote.

By FRED DODDS
Times-News Staff Writer
Political campaigns and pretty girls go together and Monday when the GOP "Voteswagon" pulled into Twin Falls, there was plenty of politics and an abundance of pretty girls.

In fact, there were girls in all shapes and sizes, all ages. A waitress counted 105 women crowded into the Rogerson Hotel Roundup Room for "Voteswagon" arrival speeches. However, snacks ran out at the 105 count and more donuts were rushed to the scene.

It's possible more than 250 people wandered through the room in the two hours the GOP rally was held.

Before arrival of the huge bus—chartered through Greyhound—people gathered in the Roundup Room to talk of brooms and meet candidates Orval Hansen, for Second District Congress; Wade Quigley, county treasurer; and Richard Reed, Probate Judge.

The room was decked out in all its GOP splendor. White hats with Nixon-Agnew—printed—were seen here and there and at least five flags, all of them with 48 stars, were placed in corners and near the center-piece on a huge table.

One man at the gathering commented that the flags with 48 stars were displayed reluctantly. He said that conservative friends have been unhappy ever since we went past 13 states," he said.

The "Voteswagon" is a large bus bearing every kind of political poster imaginable. The bus has a bedroom, shower, living space, and enough room left over to carry at least 100 brooms. The brooms have been given out enroute as a symbol of a "clean sweep for the GOP."

Idaho State Sen. Mary Brooks, who joined the "Voteswagon" at its launching in Washington, D.C. two weeks ago, was with the bus when it came into Twin Falls at 3 p.m. Monday. With her were Mrs. Ruby Samson, wife of the governor, and Gladys O'Donnell, president of the National Federation of Republican Women.

Also on the bus were two pet dogs and two pretty Nixon girls, Mollie and Jackie Coll. The latter two are Chicago girls who find the trip and the people they meet "fascinating."

The "Voteswagon" effort, its 6,500 mile trip, is designed to get out the women's vote in the November election.

Campaign pointers were outlined by Mrs. Brooks and Mrs. O'Donnell. "Each of you have two contacts. Get them out, get them to vote."

The bus tour has hit 17 states and 56 cities to date. Monday afternoon the bus went to Mountain Home, then on to Boise Tuesday. It's scheduled to go on to Missoula, Mont., Spokane, down Washington into Oregon, then to Portland, and finally its journey in Los Angeles.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—South High School has not removed the portrait of retired Gen. Curtis LeMay for good—just for repairs.

Principal Harold Washburn said the picture of LeMay, who received his diploma at South High in 1921, was being moved from a hallway to a "special place of honor" in the school office so it would not appear to be a political endorsement.

The picture was dropped last week while being taken from the wall, Washburn said. The glass was shattered and the frame on top is being repaired. Last week, Washburn reportedly said the portrait had been removed because students protested that LeMay was running for vice-president with "an avowed racist" third-party presidential candidate George C. Wallace.

Wall Stolen

AUBURN, Maine (AP)—Someone stole 81 feet of stone wall from the Lake Auburn cottage of Lucien Cloutier.

Cloutier said Monday that the wall, valued at $1,500, was in place when he visited the cottage Sept. 29, but was gone a week later.

New York Court Backs McCarthy

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—The Appellate Division of State Supreme Court says the name of Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy must appear on the presidential ballot in New York in the November election.

The Appellate Division, in overturning a decision by a lower court, upheld Monday the position of the Coalition party to place McCarthy on the ballot.

McCarthy, who lost the Democratic presidential nomination to Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, had told the secretary of state he did not want his name on the ballot.

Rebel Leader Hears Court Order Death

KINSHASA—Congo (AP)—A complete rebel leader, Pierre Mulele, was sentenced to death by a special military court today after a 15-hour trial.

Mulele, who had returned to the Congo on a safe conduct "provision under amnesty laws, immediately appealed for clemency to President Joseph Mobutu.

The news of the verdict was announced by Kinshasa radio. Mulele, chief of the rebels in Kwilu province, had spent four years in exile. A leftist, he had led one of the bloodiest uprisings of the Congo's eight years of independence.

He returned to the Congo on Sept. 28 from the Congo Republic, the Congo's neighbor.

The court, composed of three superior officers of the Congolese army whose names were withheld, met behind closed doors at an undisclosed location. The trial began Monday afternoon.

Agency Schedules Safety Hearing

DENVER (AP)—The Labor Department's Bureau of Standards will hold a hearing in Denver Tuesday on a charge that Western Nuclear's Golden Goose mine near Jeffrey City, Wyo., is unsafe.

Western Nuclear officials have denied the charge, saying the 10-year-old uranium mine is being operated at a safe level of radiation with all necessary precautions being taken.

The hearing is the first to be held in accordance with the newly adapted radiation safety standards.

If the hearing reveals that Western Nuclear has exceeded exposure levels, the Labor Department could recommend that the company receive no uranium purchase contracts from the Atomic Energy Commission for three years.

It could also force Western Nuclear to install filters and fans to reduce the radiation exposure level.

Community Forum Panel Explores Violence In U.S.

(5) We are going to have to find out what to do with our lives if we do not have to scratch for a living.

(6) The most popular murder weapon is the handgun. The second most popular murder weapon is the butcher knife.

(7) When you are talking about crimes of violence, you are primarily talking about the age group from 18 to 24 years. It just so happens that right now that age group happens to be over-represented in our society, so that tends to balloon the things a little bit. But even talking that into account, the rate of violent crime is increasing.

(8)—The groups that tend to be more violent are also the groups that are concentrated in our larger cities.

(9)—Anytime you have an open society you will probably experience more violence than you will in a traditional society where everyone recognizes his position and there is an assurance of an opportunity to move up. In an open society you are bound to experience violence when one group begins to realize they do not have the advantages the other group has.

(10)—How can you respect an authority that isn't there? How can anyone grant permission if they aren't there physically or mentally? I refer to the phenomena of the absent father. The members of the family are losing track of each other, especially in the raising and tending of the children which is being sub-contracted out. I think there is a great tradition on how to be a mother and I think it still thrives, even among working mothers. I think our great trouble at this time is the absent father, the father who maybe means well but doesn't know what to do, so he hides behind the paper, goes down to the corner or gets lost in his work.

(11)—What we have here is called the female bias culture. Many of the homes here (in lower class neighborhoods) are those in which the mother is the only parent or the only effective parent. The basic difficulty with homes of this kind is that boys grow up with no adequate knowledge of what a male is. The boys tend to leave the homes (which are crowded) and spend a large time in the streets. The boys tend to be a male, the way they understand the male, and violence comes up.

(12)—Exposure to TV and movie violence tends to activate a tendency (in the individual) that is already there. In other words if the youngsters has a violent personality his observation of violence on television may add to his trouble. If a person is changing his pattern, in changing his pattern, this exposure may agitate him for awhile, but yet it seems to have little effect in changing his pattern.

(13)—TV could, and does, have a vast effect on the habits of individuals.

(14)—If you are talking about the letter of the law, I think we can get into a lot of trouble. If you are talking about the spirit of the law, I am all for that.

(15)—I think we need more policemen, but I think they should be closer to the people. They should have the opportunity to become acquainted with the people in the areas in which they work. (Editor's Note: In other words more police on the neighborhood beat and on foot.)

(16)—In a small town, when I grew up, what you had was not so important. Everyone had his own work, his own reputation, and that was the basis on which he was evaluated.

(17)—In an urban situation, especially in our large population centers, where we don't get to really know people and where we are concerned with what we possess, we find that our status is now more important than it used to be.

(18)—There are today less meaningful ways for teenagers and adults to hit it together.

(19)—Most people are law abiding, most people don't get murdered, most people aren't victims of violent crime.

(20)—I am concerned with the effect mass media has on the mind of the adult.

(21)—A portion of violence is caused because one class of people do not want another class to be a part of themselves and move into the neighborhood. The second in the series of four forums will feature Robert Flynn, Ph.D., College of Maria, San Rafael, Calif. He was former dean of students at San Francisco State College. His topic will be "The Crisis Among The Young: The Hippie Phenomenon and The Student Revolution." This presentation will be on the evening of Oct. 21, also at College of Southern Idaho.

Fire Truck Has Crash On Duty Call

A Twin Falls City fire truck, en route to a fire, and a pickup truck collided Monday afternoon at the Points East according to Twin Falls City Police.

The accident occurred shortly after 1 p.m. when the truck, with the driver and another fireman on board, was traveling through the intersection.

It collided with a 1960 Ford pickup truck driven by Lloyd E. Elliott, 57, Twin Falls. He was taken by Magic Valley Ambulance service to Magic Valley Memorial Hospital where he was treated for head wounds and released.

Driver of the fire truck was Earl McAdams, 57, Twin Falls. The vehicle driven by Mr. Elliott was attempting to cross the intersection officers said, and that the green light was in his favor.

The fire truck had both its siren and flashing red lights in operation at the time the accident occurred.

Mr. Elliott was charged with failure to yield to an emergency vehicle and also for driving on an expired driver's license.

Another truck and three firemen were dispatched to the fire at 265 Madrona. Firemen said the blaze was contained in the bedroom area of the home, occupied by Mrs. Barbara Mills.

There has been no estimate made of damage to the house. It is believed the fire was started by a cigarette.

Firemen were back at the station by 2:30 p.m.

Probation Is Ordered In Death Case

Larry D. Morrison, 33, who pleaded guilty recently to an involuntary manslaughter charge, was placed on 12 months probation Monday when he appeared in Fifth District Court.

Judge Theron Ward ordered the probation.

Mr. Morrison was accused of killing Larry Moran in a pickup truck and motorcycle collision at Eastland Drive and Kimberly Road on June 10, 1967. The truck was driven by Mr. Morrison, records show.

Salmon Tract Gets Lots Of Sympathy, But Chance For More Water Is Remote

"We have had a lot of studies, planning—but no water," said Lyle Schinker, farmer and member of the Salmon River Canal Co. board of directors.

Clarence Hedrick, local area conservationist, Soil Conservation Service, outlined the proposed project. He said originally the small watershed project application, sponsored by the three soil conservation districts of the county, county commissioners and the Rock Creek Water Users Association, covered 79,000 acres of land.

It included proposed reservoirs for storage of water during early spring to prevent flood damage and provide additional irrigation water and enhance recreational opportunities of the Rock Creek area. Since the original application, amendments have now been made to include the Salmon River Canal Co., and the city of Twin Falls. This increased the area covered to about 92,000 acres of land.

Proposals call for reservoirs on Rock Creek to store as much as 14,000 acre feet of water, pumps to lift the water 535 feet into the Salmon River Canal Co. and the construction of 4.2 miles of canal. This would give supplemental Rock Creek water, now wasted, to the needy Salmon Tract area, about 6,000 acres of irrigated lands, and represent some $1 million additional income for the area per year.

Emphasis is throughout the meeting was in the local effort and local support from all interested persons.

George Ottens outlined the county's comprehensive plan which is now in the early stage and W. A. McGregor, Boise, area engineer, Bureau of Reclamation, explained the broad reclamation proposal for providing water to the tract. Both agreed the Rock Creek watershed project would dovetail into those plans and benefit from both.

Mr. McGregor urged area supporters to work through their congressional delegates for approval of the overall Reclamation Bureau plan, but said if it were approved immediately it would likely be eight years before it could be completed. It would bring water from the Snake River to the Salmon Tract, allowing for existing and additional land irrigation.

Heber Loughmiller, County Commissioner chairman, conducted the meeting and reports were heard from sponsoring organizations, state legislators and other agencies.

Road Board Bans Summer Tire Studs

BOISE (AP) — The Idaho State Highway Board met again today after approving Monday an April 16-Sept. 30 ban on use of metal-sectored tires on motor vehicles in the state.

The ban would not apply, however, to the fighting vehicles and tires of shorter duration than one originally proposed by the board.

Members of the board endorsed a letter-number marking system for Idaho's major county roads. Yellow and blue markers would designate the routes, which would be included on state road maps where possible.

The board also approved use of markers on interstate highways to designate exits for universities, colleges and other traffic-generating public institutions.

A group of spokesmen from Bliss asked the board to build a

Idaho Democrats Seek Farm Backing

By The Associated Press

Idaho Republicans urged election of a Democrat to succeed a potential candidate and passage of a proposed Idaho constitutional amendment Monday, while a Democratic group announced it had formed the Idaho Farmers-Ranchers Committee for Humphrey-Muskie.

Democratic Chairman E. T. Waters said the committee, headed by Theodore Roth of American Falls and Ralph E. Johns of Lewiston, would represent Idaho's agriculture industry and gather economic facts on it to use in future political campaigns.

State Sen. Orval Hansen, running for the 2nd Dist. congressional seat, said approval of a proposed amendment allowing investment of the $75 million in public school endowment funds in issues other than the low-interest government securities would provide more money "without adding a penny to the tax burden."

Rep. George Hansen the GOP Senate candidate, urged a Boise gathering to vote for Boise candidates on all levels so Idaho would send "a GOP team to Washington this year to ensure new direction in America."

In Marsing tonight, a national coordinator for the American Independent Party is speaking at a Youth for Wallace rally. Richard Bradley, the advance man for presidential candidate George Wallace, will give Saturday speech in Boise, will speak to the group.

Also planned in Marsing are an Oct. 16 Young Republican rally and an Oct. 17 Young Democrat rally.

Idaho Gov. Jack Murphy and William S. Campbell, co-chairman of the Nixon-Agnew for President Committee, said Monday State Rep. Donald Winder of Caldwell was the new director of the Idaho Young Republicans for the group.

Winder, they said, will travel throughout the state and coordinate with Nixon headquarters on all levels of state activity.

Gov. Don W. Samuelson was among speakers Monday night at a Young Republican rally in Boise sponsored by YRAs from Greenleaf, Friends Academy near Caldwell.

Other speakers included Rep. James McDonald and State Sen. Phil Batt of Wilder.

Vietnam Hill Given Name Of 'Boise'

BOISE (AP) — Boise Mayor Jay Amodeo said Monday a hill recently seized by U.S. forces in South Vietnam had been named Fire Support Base Boise.

Lt. Col Daniel G. Clark brother of Boise's city clerk Robert Sharp, named the hill after Boise.

"The mountain itself overlooks the coastal plain from a point just north of Da Nang, and northeast beyond Hue," the letter said. "Looking west, you are able to see over the lower mountains well into Laos."

Sharp said the name would be used as a point for operations of the 101st Airborne Division for some time.

Schools Neglect U.S. Minorities, Speaker Avers

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Schooling largely is designed for the white middle-class American student, while minorities, especially Negroes, are left behind, said the president-elect of the National Education Association.

George D. Fischer, in Salt Lake at the National Association of State Boards of Education conference, said Monday the NEA's recommendations for instituting equality in education include:

- An enriched school program. —Reduced class size.
- Teacher training especially trained to help each minority, rather than using teachers just out of college.
- Greater effort to establish dialoging between teachers and those they serve.
- Fischer said Monday the NEA calls for greater allotment of decision-making responsibility by parents in the affairs of schools.
- Fischer, of Des Moines, Iowa, was in President Johnson's Human Rights Task Force last year.

Court Backs Legislators Bidding For State Business

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — State Supreme Court Justice J. Monte Creech proclaimed Monday that state legislators are not barred from bidding for state business.

Justice Phil Hansen's opinion forbidding legislators and their business partners from entering into contracts with the state.

State Finance Director Herbert Y. Smart said Monday he would remove notices barring legislators from bidding and would accept bids as was done prior to Hansen's Aug. 28 conflict of interest opinion as soon as he received the court order.

The court gave Hansen 20 days to answer the brief filed by State Sen. W. Hughes Brockbank, R-Salt Lake, who filed suit because of the state, operating under Hansen's opinion, would not bid for the firm, Maglo Chemical Co., for janitorial supplies.

Hansen contends legislators, with absolute power over state monies, should be prohibited from making any personal, substantial and pecuniary gains from contracts with the state.

Brockbank's attorney, Kent Shearer, said the constitutional

Recruiter To Find Dates

CHICAGO (AP) — Many a man would envy James McDonough.

He has been assigned to recruit 1,800 girls, age 18 to 22, as blind dates for Air Force cadets and Naval Academy midshipmen at a dance Saturday after the Navy-Air Force football game in Soldier Field.

But for McDonough, city commissioner of streets and sanitation, it's a big headache.

"He's given less than two weeks to sign up the lassies."

The last time girls and academy men were matched after the game was in 1965, when 5,000 females applied to be dates for 1,800 males.

The lucky 1,800 girls—who must be high school graduates—will be allocated to the men according to lists provided by the academics.

And, true to military form, they'll be matched with the men "who are the best looking."

"They've given the name of their date—his in Squadron 10, No. 7," said McDonough, who was appointed date-recruiter by Mayor Richard J. Daley.

"But they tell me that only lassies 'top white' he added. "Then the guys start grabbing the best looking girl that comes along, and running."

Some 800 girls showed up Monday night for interviews with the screening committee in a "normally masculine" stronghold, the City Council chambers.

Chicago, which will pay a $250,000 bill for transporting and entertaining the sailors and airmen, has told the girls they'll have to provide their own rides home.

Folk Guitarist Stirs Anger With Version Of National Anthem At World Series Game

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Jose Feliciano says he has had no adverse reaction to the way he sang the Star Spangled Banner at the World Series on Monday and that he "sang it that way to express my love for my country."

There were many boos from the more than 53,000 at the Detroit Tigers-St. Louis Cardinals game in Detroit and critical comment afterward. Sample adverse comments: "It was non-patriotic" and "It was a disgrace and an insult."

Feliciano, a 23-year-old blind folkie, led the game during the fifth inning to return here for his nightclub show.

After his first show Monday night, he told a newsmen "I'm very proud of my country. Detroit was extremely nice" and that since people stood and applauded at his show when he mentioned his World Series appearance "everything seems all right."

"I love America," said Feliciano, a Puerto Rican who lives in Newport Beach, Calif. "The only reason I sang it that way was to express my love for my country. I'm very happy that I did it that way."

Feliciano, who has been singing since the rendition—Joe Taylor of Harrison, Ind., said "he was nonpatriotic." Mrs. Arlene Reichert of Detroit called it "a disgrace and an insult." Michael

Cousins Of Missing Indian Search Snake-Infested Hills

TISHOMINGO, Okla. (AP)—Brothers and cousins of a missing Chickasaw Indian man went today on a rattlesnake-infested hills of southeastern Oklahoma to hunt down their fugitive kin who has hidden for several days apparently with his frail 4-year-old son.

The search for Loy Factor, 43, and his son, Donald, followed a family conference that lasted most of the night.

Factor is named in a murder warrant in the death of his wife, Juanita, 31.

The Indian man has one artificial leg, suffers from diabetes, and is subject to epileptic seizures. He lost his leg earlier when bitten by rattlesnakes in the same hills where he is hiding.

Bloodhounds, airplanes and hundreds of searchers foot and on horseback failed to find any significant trace of Factor or his son since they disappeared into an 18-square-mile block of wilderness last Wednesday.

Also on that day, Factor's 14-year-old stepdaughter, Deborah, led officers to a shallow grave in the edge of the woods that yielded the body of her mother. Deborah told officers of a two-week trek through the woods during which Factor told the seven children their missing mother had been bitten by a spider and was in a hospital.

Deborah, and five younger children finally fled the home of relatives.

New Cessna Fanjet 500 Is Unveiled

HOUSTON, Tex. — Cessna Aircraft Company took the wraps off its new Fanjet 500 here today and announced details of the new executive jet scheduled for production in late 1971.

At a press conference prior to the kickoff of the National Business Aircraft Association convention, Cessna unveiled a full-scale mockup of the pressurized Fanjet 500. It has an eight-place cabin including crew plus substantial space for luggage and optional equipment. With a guaranteed price of $395,000 on orders placed now, it is expected to be the lowest priced business jet on the market when first customer deliveries are made in January, 1972.

In making the official announcement, Robert L. Lair, Cessna's vice-president of aircraft operations, described the Fanjet 500 as a new way of thinking about air transportation. "We have brought design concepts of proven merit together in a wholly new combination to become the most innovative new aircraft in its time. Years of experience, engineering development, market research and a combination of highly complementary design elements has resulted in the missions it can perform," he stated.

Lair said the Fanjet 500 would operate in and out of most fields which light- and medium-twins now use. It will operate comfortably from 3,000 feet up, at sea level. Full control is maintained on final at 104 knots (120 miles per hour) while still speed 113 knots (91 miles per hour).

Famed Anesthesiologist, T.F. Lawyer To Speak At Sun Valley Nurses Meet

SUN VALLEY — Speakers for the Idaho Association of Nurse Anesthetists annual meeting here Saturday and Sunday are announced by Mrs. George T. Davis, Twin Falls, program chairman.

The two-day conference will be held in conjunction with the annual meeting of the Idaho Hospital Association which begins Monday.

The speakers are Dr. Robert A. Hingston, director of anesthesiology at Magee Hospital, University of Pittsburgh, Pittsburgh, Pa., and Douglas D. Kramer, Twin Falls attorney.

Dr. Hingston has spearheaded numerous campaigns for the mass inoculation of entire nations. His list of accomplishments includes the development of block methods for childbirth anesthesia and the needless let-guns-of-mercy with which he has conducted immunization programs in many countries.

Mrs. Davis said Dr. Hingston is recognized internationally as the prime mover in new and progressive thinking in anesthesiology.

In May, 1968, Dr. Hingston was awarded the highest honor in anesthesiology when Dr. Leopoldo Arellano presented him with the "Maximum-heros" medal of the Order of Gen. Francisco Morazan for planning and accomplishing the inoculation of 863,000 Hondurans against smallpox and another 241,000 against measles.

The entire program, which used $1,000,000 in vaccines, was conducted by volunteer workers and was financed by Cleveland and the Brother's Foundation, of which Dr. Hingston is founder and director. He has been instrumental in similar programs in Nicaragua, Liberia and Costa Rica.

Mr. Kramer was born and raised in Idaho and received his B.A. and law degrees from the University of Idaho. He has a practiced law in Twin Falls since 1951 and is a partner in his law firm there.

He is past-president of the District Bar Association and has served on the legal medicine staff at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital, Twin Falls. He also is a past department commander of the American Legion and active in civic affairs.

His topic will be "The Nurse and the Law."

$300 Raised From Rupert Candy Sales

RUPERT — More than $300 profit was realized during the recent annual candy sale by the Mindoka County Kiwanis Club, according to Allison Lane, president.

The third annual peanut brittle sale was completed last week with some 750 boxes of candy sold and the remaining boxes donated to the Key Club to sell during the ball games.

The money from the sale, which for the past two years has been the only major money-raising project for the local organization, is earmarked for youth projects. Mr. Lane said.

It will be used for such projects as the annual 4-H Club Congress and the major project this coming year will probably be for youth recreation, possibly the construction of a tennis court, Mr. Lane said.

Ammunition, Arms Found In Mexico

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The Defense Ministry said today 57 guns and 5,000 rounds of ammunition had been found in a housing project near the Plaza of Three Cultures, the scene of a bloody gun battle between students and police last Wednesday.

The weapons included seven machine pistols, 14 rifles, five shotguns and 31 pistols. Residents of the housing project told newsmen they had seen "strange looking persons" carrying the weapons into the building the day of the gun fight.

"An arrested student leader, Ayax Segura Garrido, told newsmen the university strike movement had been betrayed by a minority of radicals who wanted to change the nation's political structure through violence."

This extremist wing, he said, formed shock troops who operated beyond the control of the student strike council. Garrido named several extremist leaders who he said provided weapons, among them Secretaries Ayax de Campos Lemus and the Gonzalez Guardado brothers.

The official death toll in Wednesday's gun battle was reported as 43, but the student claim 190 persons, including 40 soldiers, were killed.

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Books that buzz are the latest gimmick to cut down on student thefts from the Michigan State University Library.

A THOUGHT TO REMEMBER

WILLIAM BOYD

Childhood should be a gay time in life. For the most part, it is for most children in our land. But there are millions of miserably sad children in this gay world of ours. These children have never had the luxury of a hand me down dress from a sister or pants from a brother. Homeless and unblanketed on cold nights, they sleep where they can, often cuddle with sheep or goats for warmth.

An abandoned baby in any community in our land makes front page headlines. Elsewhere in the world, abandoned babies are commonplace, a way of life. Unequipped for the struggle against disease and hunger in a merciless world, many die a merciful death. No love. No feeling. No missing. No mourning. In all 55 countries where this disgrace . . . ANY clergyman in ANY church will welcome your help in an attempt to erase this disgrace.

Wounded Hunter Sore—In Two Ways

By RUTH KOONCE MILLER, Times-News Staff Writer

Bill Umbaugh of Twin Falls is sore—in more ways than one. He can't walk or sit comfortably since he was struck in the lower hip Saturday by a rifle bullet. Despite his pain, however, he's mostly sore at whoever shot him, and then ignored his pleas for help.

Mr. Umbaugh, 48, and Boyd Ash, also Twin Falls, were elk hunting in an open area on Five Mile Creek up Yankee Fork northeast of Sunbeam, when the accident happened.

The shot was fired while Mr. Umbaugh was in a clearing, leaning a horse on the trail. "The shot came from about 50 to 70 yards away," he said.

"It spun me around and I fell between two logs and started hollering. I know he could hear me—some hunters about a mile and a half down the canyon," he said, hollering, but he never showed his face."

"The way I was hollering, I know he couldn't have helped but hear me—and for all he knew, I might have been dying."

Mr. Umbaugh was wearing two sweaters, a pair of blue jeans, a pair of overalls, a flannel shirt and a leather belt, which, physicians feel, may have helped save his life.

The bullet came up on Mr. Umbaugh, went through the fleshy part of his hip and exited about one-half inch from the spine, through his belt. Doctors feel the belt may have deflected the bullet enough to prevent it from going into his spine.

Mr. Ash, who was about 30 yards down trail from Mr. Umbaugh, came to his hunting partner's assistance when he heard his cries for help.

Despite the wound in his body, Mr. Umbaugh mounted his horse and rode seven miles out to the road. An ambulance from Challie took Mr. Umbaugh to Sun Valley Hospital where he was treated before his wife came after him. He was then placed in Magic Valley Memorial Hospital.

He was released from the hospital Sunday. Mr. Umbaugh, who works for the Twin Falls City Street Department, feels that he was "100 per cent lucky," but still would like to get hold of whoever took the shot at him.

And, even though he has been the victim of a gun in the hands of an irresponsible person, he thinks gun control is one of the worst things that could happen in the United States.

"It wouldn't stop something like this. I'm sure of that. If gun registration would help," he stated, "I'd be willing to go along with it, but there's no idea it's going to prevent incidents like this."

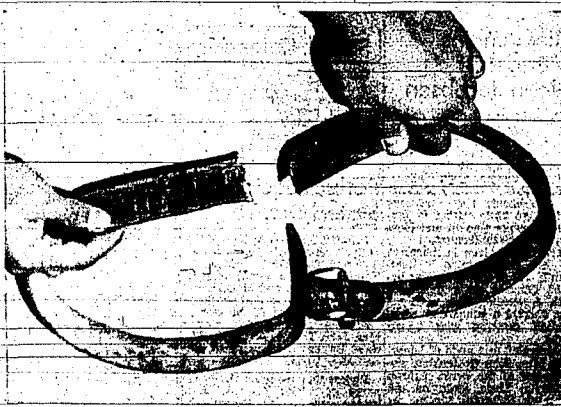

"People like whoever shot me should not be allowed to have guns, but gun control isn't going to stop them anymore than it's going to stop crooks from using the guns they steal."

Mr. Umbaugh owns two rifles, a shotgun and a pistol and says he won't register any more than if gun legislation is passed.

TRADE FAIR OPENS
PRQVO.—Utah (AP) — The Valley Industrial Development Conference and Trade Fair is under way in Utah County to encourage industry to locate in the area.

THE HOLES IN Bill Umbaugh's blue jeans are not from wear — they're the results of a bullet which went through several layers of clothing and into his body Saturday when he was shot by another hunter near Sunbeam. Mr. Umbaugh received a wound in the lower hip when he was felled by the bullet. Mr. Umbaugh was released from Magic Valley Memorial Hospital Sunday.

THIS LEATHER BELT may have saved Bill Umbaugh's life, physicians believe. A bullet which struck him Saturday while he was elk hunting near Sunbeam went into his body and came out through the belt. The exit wound is only about one-half inch from his spine and doctors feel the belt may have deflected the shot just enough to prevent damage to his spinal column.

Fruit Growers To Improve Labor Homes

YAKIMA (AP)—Fruit industry leaders in Washington's fertile Yakima Valley are proposing to replace dilapidated farm labor camps with "pleasant" rent-free, industry-run migrant labor reception centers.

The plan, calling for new reception centers that would deal with social and economic welfare of seasonal farm laborers, has been presented to Yakima County commissioners and the Yakima Valley Growers - Shippers Association and made public rent free for newly-arriving laborers until they find jobs or get help from other local agencies. Shields said association members would foot the bill and pay rent to the housing authority for the new or renovated units, enabling the "latter" agency to maintain the centers.

The association represents a majority of the area's giant fruit growing industry. The most dilapidated units in camps now operated by the housing authority would be demolished and new units built, Shields said.

Other units in the much-criticized farm labor camps would be renovated so that "pleasant" housing would be available for laborers and their families, he explained. The plan calls for housing at the new reception centers to be free for newly-arriving laborers until they find jobs or get help from other local agencies. Shields said association members would foot the bill and pay rent to the housing authority for the new or renovated units, enabling the "latter" agency to maintain the centers.

The association of the 15,000 seasonal workers in valley fields and orchards every harvest season, about 4,250 come from outside the state and 1,250 from other parts of the state. The out-of-state group will require the most housing and employment assistance, he said.

Technique Of Comparing Drugs

By FRANK CAREY

WASHINGTON (AP) — Is a drug prescribed by your doctor under its generic name as effective as the same drug prescribed under its brand name?

The question has embroiled government and industry in a sometimes-bitter, years-long argument which soared to highest heat during still-continuing hearings before a Senate monopoly subcommittee headed by Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis.

A recent report by a federal task force representing the Department of Health, Education and Welfare cautioned both sides, in effect, that the returns are not yet in.

"The report put the problem this way: "Given two drug products containing essentially the same amount of the same active ingredient—that is, two chemical equivalents—will they give essentially the same clinical effect?"

"The argument has focused on whether drugs sold under their "generic," or nonproprietary, names are as effective as the often more costly brand-name, trade-marked, products having the same active chemical ingredients."

It is estimated that 90 per cent of all prescriptions call for brand-name drugs, presumably because doctors are more familiar with them and with their quality.

The debate has particular relevance now because there are proposals—including a plank in the Democratic platform—to add some of the out-of-hospital costs of prescription drugs to Medicaid benefits for millions of beneficiaries.

Question to be settled: If any such proposals become law, would the government require that doctors, in prescribing for such patients, use only generic names for the prescribed drugs?

Comparison of the viewpoint that brand-name drugs are the most dependable — and that generic versions are not necessarily as effective and, in some instances, might even be risky — is the Pharmaceutical Manufacturers Association—PMA.

The trade organization for the nation's major drug firms.

"The PMA also says cost differences — between brand-name and generic drugs have been unduly stressed and that generics may sometimes cost as much as brand-name products."

In the rival camp—as evidenced by witnesses at hearings conducted by Sen. Nelson's subcommittee beginning in May, 1967—are a number of individuals in pharmacology, physiology and other medical personnel not associated with the drug industry.

Because the hearings entitled "Competitive Problems in the Drug Industry" are still under way, Nelson's committee has not yet issued a complete report or specific recommendations.

"But Nelson said in a Senate speech in March: "During the monopoly subcommittee hearings... the issue of therapeutic equivalency has been debated for many months."

"The question has always been whether drugs—either generic—drugs or brand-name drugs—which meet standards set down by the U.S. Pharmacopolia—USP—and the National Formulary—NF—the official compendia of the U.S. government—are fact therapeutically equivalent.

"Eminent pharmacologists, practicing physicians, hospital staff doctors and pharmacists have testified to the committee that drugs which meet the same USP or NF standards are of equivalent therapeutic value with proven exceptions are."

"The drug industry has consistently argued that even though two drug products meet official compendia standards, therapeutic equivalency cannot be claimed for them unless there is an actual clinical test."

"This argument (of the drug industry), of course, serves the purpose of protecting brand-name products against competition. Of the several thousand drugs in the market place, there are less than a half-dozen proven cases in which drugs meeting compendia standards produced differences in clinical performance."

Against this background, there now comes the recent report of the federal task force on prescription drugs.

The group said the "whole question of clinical equivalency of chemically equivalent drugs is now under careful consideration by the scientific community."

But it added: "Objective research has shown that in certain instances the clinical effects may not be the same."

But the report continued: "The task force has found, however, that lack of chemical equivalency among chemical equivalents meeting all official standards has been grossly exaggerated as a major hazard to the public health."

"Where low-cost chemical equivalents have been employed in foreign drug programs, in leading American hospitals, in state welfare programs, in Veterans Administration and Public Health Service hospitals, and in American military operations—instances of clinical non-equivalency have seldom been reported, and few of these have had significant therapeutic consequences."

Up to that point, the task force appeared to be definitely in the camp of those who favor generics.

But then it added: "Even though such cases (of clinical non-equivalency) are few, and others may well be reported in the future, these cannot be ignored, and the problem deserves careful consideration because of the medical and economic policies which are involved."

In this connection, the task force recommended that current clinical tests of "important" chemical equivalents, being conducted or sponsored by the Food and Drug Administration with human volunteers, be continued on a high-priority basis."

These tests began last year and aimed for completion by 1970—are designed, among other things, to try to determine whether different manufacturers' versions of chemically equivalent drugs, brand-name or generic, are "biologically equivalent."

For example, do they produce comparable blood levels in normal humans under comparable conditions—a possible gauge of whether they are equally effective in a sick person?

The PMA, declaring that "there is a movement afoot to encourage doctors by law to prescribe drugs in generic terms," says this would be a threat to "the historic right of the physician to determine his patient's precise treatment."

Nelson says that some "heavily promoted" brand-name drugs may cost between 10 and 20 times more than their generic versions—and that this is especially hard on "the poor and the aged."

Politicians Sign Accord On Tactics

SPOKANE (AP) — Spokane County Republican and Democratic Party officials signed a fair campaign practices pact Monday, then Democratic officials went behind closed doors to discuss circumstances surrounding the hiring of a stunt who headed Spiro T. Agnew.

Signing the fair campaign pledge were H. Henry Higgins, Democratic county chairman, and John R. Nesbitt, county chairman of United Citizens for Nixon-Agnew. The signing came three days after Nesbitt charged that local Democrats hired Spiro T. Agnew, the Republican vice-presidential nominee, when he appeared at a rally here Friday.

Democratic officials did not comment on the results of their Monday night meeting about the heckling incident.

Nesbitt filed a complaint with the National Fair Campaign Practices Commission Saturday, charging that Warren Kemper, Spokane County Humphrey-Muskie campaign chairman, and Jane Corrick, executive director of the county Democratic Central Committee, paid about 38 hecklers $5 each to attend the Agnew rally.

The Democrats publicly admitted paying the demonstrators, but he said the money "was for lunch and bus fare."

In signing the fair campaign pledge here Monday, Higgins said it is incorrect to pay people to carry campaign signs of one candidate at a rally for his opponent.

Agnew's campaign committee times more than their generic versions—and that this is especially hard on "the poor and the aged."

Women's Section

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: For the umpteenth time a minister's wife has taken upon herself the impossible task of representing the clergy. This time it has to do with wedding fees, no less. Might I encourage her to attend one of her husband's Bible classes, and there possibly learn that God has full option on her husband's time to serve the people who called him and the community into which he was called.

Ministers are already working 24 hours a day, so "moonlighting" is out. He dare not take a double fee, but must return any fees to the rightful owner, namely, the congregation.

Maybe if her husband were to look on every marriage as an opportunity for worship rather than a duty, it would make his job a little easier. And the "thank you's" a little more meaningful. You may sign this, "A LUTHERAN PASTOR" who "LOVES A WEDDING".

DEAR ABBY:—May I say a few words to PASTOR'S WIFE who wrote in requesting that you remind the bridegroom to favor... the minister with a monetary compensation.

This fall I will begin my study for the ministry, and I, along with my pastor, disagree with her request. A few months ago a letter was printed in our bulletin stating that a minister is a salaried official, paid by the church, and as such he is compensated for weddings, funerals, and other official occasions. It went on to say that he does not desire nor would he accept money for these duties.

If the minister's wife who wrote to you is fed up with the long hours and extra work her husband puts on her, she should get up with a minister's wife.

A pastor is not an eight-to-five job, and should not expect to be paid for overtime. A minister's wife who is all that interested in the extra duty her husband performs performing a marriage ceremony, should have married a justice of the peace. Sincerely yours, FUTURE PASTOR

DEAR ABBY: Ro the minister's wife complaining about non-paying bridegrooms, who should be a teacher's wife! Here are some of the off-duty chores teachers perform without pay: grading papers night after night; holding students after hours; taking tickets for school activities and supervising same; coaching groups for contests; directing school plays and collecting costumes, scenery, and setings; judging debates; taking students on field trips; and attending educational meetings. Also they are expected to teach Sunday School classes, belong to civic groups, and direct action for nothing.

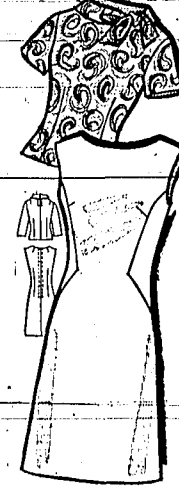

get NONE of the following benefits which most Protestant ministers get: paid housing (without taxes); paid car; paid life and insurance for same; paid mileage; paid retirement; paid vacations; paid convention trips; paid assistant; and expense allowances at Christmas. In the same town, a minister and the average teacher might get about the same monthly salary, but the teacher gets paid only nine months and often uses the other three months to get more education at his own expense. So, who should complain?

Very truly yours, TEACHER'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: YOU should. And you have.

DEAR ABBY: The letter from that nut from Elizabeth, whose boyfriend wears Texas-type cowboy boots all the time just burned me up.

Never-Say-Die Tigers Take Cards 5-3; Need Win Wednesday For Tie

DETROIT (AP) — Al Kaline, who sweated out 16 lean years to get into a Detroit World Series, kept the Tigers alive Monday with a two-run single in the seventh inning for a 5-3 victory that sent the Series back to St. Louis for a sixth game Wednesday.

Mickey Lolich, the only Tiger winner in the first four games, came through again despite a heavy bombing in the first inning when Orlando Cepeda's two-run homer capped a three-run spurt.

It was Mickey who opened the winning rally in the seventh with a single, when Detroit bounced back as they had done all season. Then Lolich closed out a ninth inning threat by fanning Roger Maris and throwing out Lou Brock, who had collected three hits earlier.

The sellout crowd of 53,634 gave Kaline a standing ovation when he went to the right field porch to start the eighth after his big single off relief pitcher Joe Hoerner with the bases loaded and the Tigers trailing 3-2. Naron Cash then knocked in the third run of the inning with a single.

The clubs will take Tuesday off for travel before picking it up with the sixth game, with St. Louis leading 2-1 in Busch Stadium Wednesday afternoon.

The Tigers, fighting desperately to avoid elimination, clawed back with two runs in the fourth inning, and finally burst through for three in the seventh when they knocked out Nelson Briles and rapped up loser Hoerner.

Lolich came through dramatically in the ninth inning when the always-dangerous Cardinals stirred up a fuss. Tim McCarver opened the ninth with a single to center, but pinch hitter Phil Gagliano flied out. Ed Spiezio, another pinch hitter, fouled off eight, including two foul tips that catcher Bill Freehan fumbled, and then singled to left.

With the tying run on base, Manager Ed Schoendienst sent Maris up to the plate to bat for pitcher Ron Willis. Maris, a bench warmer today who will retire after the Series, struck out.

The Cards still were alive with Brock, who had 11 hits in 21 previous at bats, the batter. Brock fouled one to left, took a ball and then tappy back weakly to pitcher Lolich on a checked swing, ending the exciting game.

Bright sunshine and a chilling breeze provided a contrast to Sunday's rainy, sloppy game. There were many exciting plays and dramatic moments in the best played game of the Series to date.

Brock was thrown out trying to steal by Freehan in the third and was nailed at the plate, trying to score from second on Julian Javier's single, in the fifth. A perfect throw from Willis to Horton to Freehan got Brock, who did not slide.

Dick McAuliffe also came through with two fine defensive plays, taking Brock's slider in the seventh and throwing him out and grabbing Flood's smash in the eighth in time to force Javier at second.

Brock also started out like another chapter of a Series that has been lopsided for the Cards. Brock, hitting .500 coming into the game, opened the attack on Lolich with a double to left field. With one out, Flood singled to right, scoring Brock. Cepeda then slammed a two-run homer into the left field stands.

Despite this early bombing, Lolich maintained his poise and blanked the Cards the rest of the game, striking out eight.

DETROIT (AP) — The Cardinals' early bombing of the Tigers in the seventh inning led off with a triple to right and scored on Cash's sacrifice fly to Brock. Willie Horton followed with a triple to deep center, sliding into third, and scored on Jim Northrup's single, a smash that hopped over Javier's glove.

The Tigers finally got Briles for two in the fourth when Stanley led off with a triple to right and scored on Cash's sacrifice fly to Brock. Willie Horton followed with a triple to deep center, sliding into third, and scored on Jim Northrup's single, a smash that hopped over Javier's glove.

The veteran Tiger right fielder, their top hitter in the Series, swung—and missed—and then ripped a single to center scoring for two in the fourth when Stanley led off with a triple to right and scored on Cash's sacrifice fly to Brock. Willie Horton followed with a triple to deep center, sliding into third, and scored on Jim Northrup's single, a smash that hopped over Javier's glove.

McLain Might Pitch Game If Necessary

DETROIT (AP) — Denny McLain saw his doctor Monday and decided to come pitch the sixth game of the World Series if necessary.

McLain, Detroit's 31-game winner who has lost two games to the St. Louis Cardinals, had said Sunday he might not be able to pitch again if the Series got past Monday's fifth game.

The Tigers won that game 5-3 so now a sixth game is necessary.

"My shoulder feels real good," McLain said after the game. "I can pitch if there's a seventh game. In fact, if he'd like me to pitch Wednesday, I'll go out Wednesday. God knows I'm not counting on using Denny Wednesday."

Asked about the possibility of McLain's pitching in Wednesday's sixth game, Manager Mayo Smith said, "I could conceive of anything. It's like a woman's prerogative. I could change my mind. But right now, I'm not counting on using Denny Wednesday."

McLain, however, left no doubt he's ready for Wednesday or Thursday.

"FAVORITE"

LAS VEGAS (AP) — Bookmakers made St. Louis an 8-5 favorite Monday to win the sixth game of the World Series beginning Tuesday.

CLUTCH HIT IS RAPPED OUT BY Al Kaline of the Tigers as he delivers a single in the seventh inning, scoring Mickey Lolich and Dick McAuliff with the tying and go-ahead runs. Detroit beat the Cards 5-3, and forced a sixth and possibly a seventh game in St. Louis. (AP Wirephoto)

Ex-Coach Recalls Notre Dame 'Injury Offense' Strategy

NEWARK, Del. — (NEA) — Several years ago, two very fierce quips were making the rounds on the banquet circuit, based on the misfortunes of "historical greats" as seen through the eyes of a sports writer.

Humor has always made its presence felt in sports and especially in sports reporting during the last 40 years.

The majority of athletes and coaches have learned to laugh with and at themselves. This probably has come about because of the influence of gifted writers like Grantland Rice, Ring Lardner, Stanley Woodard, Frank Graham, Damon Runyon and others who gave the world of sport a touch of class and tons of humor.

One of the great wits of the fraternity is Forest Evashevski, athletic director of Iowa and played Notre Dame at South Bend in 1953. The Irish had an unbeaten streak extending over several seasons; the Hawkeyes had hopes of breaking it. As it turned out, they didn't, and Notre Dame went on to a 9-0 season.

Iowa led, 14-7, with less than two minutes to play and Notre Dame had the ball deep in its own territory. The South Bendies had used all their time-outs. As they drove downfield, they stopped the clock with injured players dropping on the field after every play in what looked like a revival of the "Great Plague. Time was out enough and Notre Dame scored and tied the game, 14-14. This game was the "cause celebre" which brought about the Football Rules Committee action in regard to feigning injuries to stop the clock.

When the fowls team returned to Iowa City that night, Evashevski was hoisted to a baggage cart and asked to say a few words to a huge crowd that met the team. Evashevski was disappointed in the tie and his only comment would be a parody on Grantland-Rice's famous lines. He spoke these words and then dramatically leaped from the cart and moved into the darkness.

"When the One Great Scorer comes To mark against your name, He writes not that you won or lost But how you were robbed at Notre Dame."

To say the least, there were many in a town in northern Indiana who saw no humor in these lines, but it has become a part of the history of hump in sport.

There is a problem in the Big Ten brought about by members' inability to win consistently against nonconference teams this fall. The record last season against nonconference foes tempts me to take a shot at one of those historical misfortunes as a sports writer would write it.

It seems to me that the Big Ten problem is similar to George Washington's when he

Olympiad Squad Said To Be Toughest Yet

MEXICO CITY (AP) — This was an apparent reference to the "Spangled Banner" that rang out over Olympic Village for the first time Monday and the head of America's potent sports army at the Games to dramatize the warned Mexicans they had better get used to it.

"This is the finest Olympic team ever fielded by the United States," said Douglas F. Roby, Detroit president of the U.S. Olympic Committee, at the official flag-raising ceremonies.

The U.S. ambassador to Mexico, Fulton Freeman, who also participated in the early morning ritual atop one of the Aztec pyramids, called upon all American athletes to exercise team spirit and cooperate with one another.

While he declined to use the words, "black" and "white," these threats now have been issued if not eliminated, according to both top U.S. officials and militants of the black movement.

Some 200 of America's finest — the men draped in blue jackets and gray slacks, the women eye-catching in red coats, white vests and blue skirts— assembled at the plaza of flags to receive their official welcome.

Roby declared that no team in the Games has been better trained for the rigorous two-week competition following official opening ceremonies next Saturday.

Freeman spoke of the good relationship between the U.S. and Mexican governments and then turned his attention to the athletes themselves.

"We hope you will exercise team spirit, not just as a basketball team or a crew," he said, "but as one of the flag. You must lift up your fellow athletes when he is down, give him a pat on the back when he wins. This involves all U.S. team members."

The U.S. flag was the 102nd of the 119 expected national bodies expected to send 7,725 athletes to the games. The U.S. team numbers 333.

Sherman Was Not Happy With N.Y. Win

NEW YORK (AP) — Head Coaches Alie Sherman and Tom Fears were both disappointed by their teams' showing Sunday. But at least Sherman and the New York Giants had the consolation of a 38-21 victory over the New Orleans Saints.

"It's better to win that loss," Sherman said after the Giants' 14-10 victory over the Saints.

"But the best thing I can say about our defense is that their rush was better. It's a good thing we kept possession. This was a real tough club (New Orleans). They scratch at you and use plenty of muscle. It's the best expansion club by far, but we were dropping passes all over today and that kept the Saints close."

Sherman said with a shake of his head.

The Giant offense—which wasn't sharp—turned numerous New Orleans mistakes into touchdowns.

On the opening kickoff Gene Howard's fumble gave the Giants the ball on the Saints 28 and New York promptly made it 7-0. An interception and penalty helped New York to a 24-14 half-time margin and the Giants pulled away in the final quarter on some crucial New Orleans penalties.

Ordaz Promises Success In 19th Olympics; Team Enters Amid Controversy

MEXICO CITY (AP)—The president of Mexico, Gustavo Diaz Ordaz, told the International Olympic Committee Monday that he is confident that the 19th Olympic Games starting Saturday will be a success.

Czech Crisis Hurt Hoopie's Grid Picks

By MAJOR AMOS B. HOOPLE
I have wasted three easy weekends by concentrating on and correctly predicting the difficult games and haven't paid close attention to the overall picture on the intercollegiate grid scene.

Being an advisor to both major political parties and counseling the U.S. on the Viet Nam and Czech situation cuts into my prognosticating time somewhat. But the one thing that has come unforeseen into this unhappy football season is the boltonism that is plaguing the Olympic games in Mexico.

Drafting the Olympic committee would for once try to straighten out its own situation rather than seeking twice-and three-time daily personal and telephone interviews which cut deeply into my study periods.

However, I shall rebound this week. I foresee no problems in the college games but the high school battles give one pause.

The ballot includes such toss-ups as Buhl-Wood River and Wendell-Valley.

Our champion for last week was Bill Goodman of Rupert who missed only two—including, of course, Minico. He broke a tie with several others, and will receive $10. In second place is Kaylene Galley of Twin Falls, who will receive $5 and the third prize of $2.50 goes to Linda Simmons, Twin Falls. Egad! The women did well this week.

Honorable mentions go to Chris Meyerhoefer, Twin Falls; Bob Galley, Twin Falls; Mike Ridgeway, Kimberly; Warren Glenn, Burley; Bertha Campbell, Twin Falls; Martin Judd, Heyburn, and Larry Simmons, Twin Falls.

Last week there were 23 late entries and these, naturally, had no chance at winning. Remember the noon Friday deadline. Afternoon postmarked Oct. 11 p.m. is out of the running.

President Ordaz, President Avry Brundage of the IOC and Mexican organizing chairman Jose Saez addressed the formal opening session of the 72-member IOC in the jammed Palace of Fine Arts.

The dignitaries arrived in the massive downtown theater passing through a cordon of alternating steel-helmeted, rifle-bearing soldiers and pretty Olympic-skirted girls serving as Olympic guides and interpreters.

President Diaz Ordaz said in his welcome speech to the IOC delegates.

"These Games have been preceded, as never before, by a multitude of serious problems of all kinds. Never before have we had questions of a political nature, so alien to the games, interwoven with their preparation.

"We have made great efforts to accomplish our task well. We sincerely believe that we are honoring the solemn commitment which the Mexican people have made to the athletes of the world, and we are confident that we shall fulfill our duty."

The 51-year-old Brundage, whose reelection as president for his fifth Olympic quadrennium is a matter of conjecture during the weeklong IOC plenary session, spoke confidently before the throng in the many-tiered theater.

"For weeks, I have been receiving communications from all over asking whether the Olympic Games would be postponed or abandoned," said Brundage.

"If our Games are to be stopped every time the politicians violate the laws of humanity, there never will be any international contests. Is it not better to maintain and support the Olympic Games, one of the most precious and powerful instruments of our present civilization, and try to expand the fair play and sportsmanship of the athletic field into other areas?"

The IOC later in the day went into its first regular session. The item of the presidency, it was learned, may not come up until Friday's closing meeting.

Mexico City has been troubled by student riots over the last 24 months and a reported 30 people have been killed in clashes between troops, students and their supporters.

Olympic officials have said the riots were in no way directed against the Olympic movement.

Clutch Performer Kaline Tough Man To Get Out In Tight Spot

DETROIT (AP)—"It wasn't one of my hardest hits... but it was one of the sweetest."

Al Kaline, who waited 16 years to get into a World Series, was talking about the base hit that kept the Detroit Tigers in the 1968 classic, a two-run go-ahead single in the seventh inning of Monday's 3-2 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals.

Kaline's bases-loaded single, a soft line drive to center off reliever Joe Hoerner, erased a 3-2 Cardinal lead and helped send the Tigers back to St. Louis for Wednesday's sixth game.

"I would have hated not to win a game here," said the 33-year-old Tiger mainstay. "We owed it to those fans to win one after the way they've been backing us this year... and all the rest."

Kaline, who's hitting at a .381 clip in his first Series, slammed a two-run homer in last Saturday's 7-3 loss to the Cardinals.

"That felt mighty good," he said, "but it didn't hold up. When you lose it takes the glory away—any personal accomplishment."

"That's why this one was a great big hit for me."

"I can't think of a better guy to leave up there in a spot like that," said Kaline's manager, Mayo Smith. "This man is a real professional, a team player."

Kaline has been delivering in the clutch for the Tigers since 1953 despite a string of injuries, including a broken right forearm this season. But the thrill of Series competition was something for Kaline to read about in the papers until Detroit won its first pennant in 23 years.

"It's been just great, even the bad games," he said. "It's been everything I thought it would be and probably more."

The Tigers are still down three games to two in the best-of-seven series, but Kaline thinks Monday's come-from-behind victory could turn the tables.

"I know we're going back to St. Louis," he said. "We'll be giving it our best... and maybe we can squeeze it out."

Player Killed

PORTLAND, Maine (AP)—A 24-year-old Norwegian soccer player has died here of injuries sustained when he apparently tried to butt a soccer ball with his head during a game between Bates College and Brandeis University at Lewiston Saturday.

Otessen of Brandeis died Sunday of hemorrhaging.

Lolich Gets Surprises In Series Game

DETROIT (AP)—It turned out to be a day of surprises for Detroit left-handed Mickey Lolich Monday as he tossed the St. Louis Cardinals to keep the Tigers' World Series hopes alive.

Lolich, who finished up strong, was rocked for three runs in the opening inning by the Tiger pitching relief corps went into busy action.

"After giving up those three runs, I figured to myself 'whoops, Mayo will be getting you out of there if you don't settle down,'" said Lolich in the bullpen Tigers' dressing room.

Lolich said he was a bit surprised that Tiger Manager Mayo Smith stuck with him after the rocky start that saw the Cardinals post all three of their runs with only one man out in the first inning.

"The motorcycle riding Lolich got his second surprise when in the Tiger seventh with one out and his team trailing 3-2, Smith let him hit.

"I kept looking over my shoulder as I walked in on the deck and I was scooped up to the plate in a hurry before Mayo might have a chance to change his mind," said Lolich with a big grin.

Smith for his part, declined to answer questions as to whether he had given some thoughts to pinchhitting for Lolich, who came through with a clean single that ignited the Tigers' three-run winning rally.

Lolich's single sent Cardinals' starter Nelson Briles to the showers and brought on relief pitcher Joe Hoerner who was punched hard, setting the stage for Lolich's triumph.

Beathard And Houston Look Bad So Far

HOUSTON (AP)—First string quarterback Pete Beathard of the Houston Oilers is the only Oiler officially hit by the over-all play of the team recently has been a little sticky.

The Oilers dropped their third straight game Sunday as the Miami Dolphins upset them, 23-7, and the Astrodom crowd of 26,000 soundly booed the Oilers.

The Oilers, pre-season pick to repeat as American Football League Eastern Division champions, now have one victory and four losses. They are tied with Buffalo for last place in the division, three games behind the leading New York Jets.

Last year the Oilers were the talk of the league, winning the division title after finishing last the previous season.

Beathard underwent an emergency appendectomy last week and missed Sunday's game. He is expected to be out of action at least another four weeks.

Needing young linemen and veteran Don Trull could move the Oilers with any consistency Sunday while the Oiler rushing offense, Na, 1 in the AFL last season, managed only 86 yards.

Two Plays Spelled Doom For Cardinals

DETROIT (AP)—There were two plays—one controversial, the other unusual—which could have been blamed for beating the St. Louis Cardinals and prolonging the World Series Monday.

Instead, Manager Red Schoendienst got the credit to Detroit pitcher Mickey Lolich.

"He settled down after that first inning and did a good job," Schoendienst said simply. Most of the Cardinals spoke simply and to the point following their 3-2 loss to the Detroit Tigers.

"That bad hop single turned the whole game around," continued Schoendienst referring to the fourth inning when the Tigers scored two runs. The second scored when Jim Northrup capped the ball to Julian Javier, the Cardinals' biggest play of the game.

"The last instant, the ball veered over Javier's head for a single allowing Willie Horton to score from third.

"I don't know what happened to it," Javier commented after the game. "It just took when it got pretty close to me. But we don't worry about that," he added quickly.

Lou Brock, who had another first day at the plate even though he had to create a base, had a different idea about the key play in the game.

"In my opinion it was the turning point—the biggest play of the game," said Brock referring to his attempt to score from second on a single by Curt Flood in the fifth. He was called out at the plate by umpire Doug Harvey.

Eagles Trade King Hill To Minnesota

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Philadelphia Eagles traded quarterback King Hill to the Minnesota Vikings Monday for an undrafted National Football League draft choice.

The Vikings were sorely in need of a quarterback after Gary Cuozzo broke a shoulder Sunday and Joe Kapp, another Viking quarterback, was badly shaken up in a game against the Detroit Lions.

Hill, 32, an 11-year-NFL veteran, had been a backup man for the Eagles most of his career until this year.

Cavanaugh Leaves Team

POCATELLO (AP)—The Idaho State University Bengals worked out Monday without head football coach Ed Cavanaugh, who died Friday.

Cavanaugh went to Waterbury, Conn., for the funeral Monday of his father, Tom Cavanaugh, who died Friday.

The coach was expected to rejoin his team Tuesday as it prepares for a Big Sky Conference game at Montana State University Saturday.

WHEN WEAK JUMP OVERCALL FAILS
Back in the early days of contract, a young player named Oswald Jacoby invented the weak jump overcall. The basic idea of the weak jump over-but won the next spade. He knew all about weak jump overcalls and was willing to gamble that West held exactly six Oswald Jacoby invents the weak jump overcall. The basic idea of the weak jump over-

A—Bid five hearts. Your partner has stoned off but you are looking at a sound opening bid opposite an opening two-club bid. You can and should make a real slam try.

TODAY'S QUESTION
Your partner continues to five spades. What do you do now?
Answer Next Issue

call is to deprive opponents of bidding room and make it difficult for them to get to the right contract.
Today the bid is in almost universal use. It is a general purpose bid and probably never will. The bid doesn't always work as can be seen from today's hand, played in a match-point duplicate.
West's two-spade overcall put a lot of pressure on North but he was not going to be shut out and came through with a three-club bid. This put some pressure on South also, but he responded nobly with a three-trump call.
West opened his king of spades. South ducked that lead

Women Outdo Men In Swimming Competition

Among swimmers, the champion man swims short distances faster than the champion woman. It is no secret that, but over longer distances—such as the English Channel, for instance—the women generally are faster. Much faster. Records of hand show the average male channel swimmer required about 17 1/2 hours to get across. The average female channel swimmer made it in a little less than 16 hours. This is thought to be because women are more buoyant. As to the why of that, let's drop it. No need to take up a lot of space here with mundane comment about fatty tissue.

Am told the child of a certain Acapulco sounds like a loud kiss and a stroll through thereabouts like a seat in the balcony. There is a book salesman in St. Louis named Handsome Hardy Bull. At what age should a man begin to plan for his retirement? Dr. Maurice Goodwyn says age 55. How about 45? Exactly 86 out of every 100 girls named as the other woman in divorce cases are brunettes. Not a single other seeking soul, or with what all souls seek, which is (by any name) God.

The poetic Last Will and Testament of the retired Mrs. Lois Cole, a precursor of recent medical bulletins, reads in part as follows: "My heart I leave my daughter; my kidney my son; colored gown, it's just stunning. The combination blinds, most mystically, and the girl suddenly gives the perfect illusion of being a statue in the nude." That's a fine piece of advice to spread among our honey blondes. Now you won't be able to go any place without seeing some "honey blonde who looks like a nude statue. To the credit of us who are somewhat shy, it will be discourteous.

Customer Service: Q. "Two inquiries, sir. First, what's your favorite feminine name? And second, what does your Name Game man say about girls called Lorraine?" A. In regard to the first, to mention any but Patricia would be unsatisfactory. That's the ladyfriend's name and I like none better. As to the second, the N. G. man claims Lorraine normally tends to be the thoughtful sort of girl whose humor runs gently and whose conversation generally goes right to the point. Incidentally, he says he has never known a "Lorraine" who didn't have large, soulful eyes, usually dark.

Feeling profound on one fine day, the wife Mr. Don Marquis said the following mouthful: "All religions, all times, all art, that's a little late, I'd say. How about 45?" Exactly 86 out of every 100 girls named as the other woman in divorce cases are brunettes. Not a single other seeking soul, or with what all souls seek, which is (by any name) God.

'Y' Charts Father-Son Guide Plan

THE YMCA father-and-son Indian Guide program will get under way with an information and organizational meeting at 7 p.m. Wednesday at the Y building.

All fathers with boys in the first, second or third grades are welcome. The boys should attend also. Chet Bartlett, executive director for the Magic Valley YMCA, said.

"This program is the most rapidly expanding in the entire 'Y' movement," he said. "At just one meeting, there were 19,500 tribes composed of 253,000 big and little braves coast to coast."

Y Indian Guides provides opportunities for fathers to be active with their 5- to 8-year-old sons. The program also encourages young braves to turn to their fathers for guidance and reassurance.

"Boys develop self reliance," Mr. Bartlett said, "and dads learn the value of taking time to be a real father to their sons."

The movement started in 1926 when an Ojibwa Indian, Joe Friday, told some Midwestern YMCA officials he didn't think white fathers were as close to their sons as they should be. One St. Louis YMCA director, Harold S. Keltner, listened to the Indian's suggestions for improving father-son relations, and when he returned home he formed the first Y-Indian Guide tribe.

At tribal meetings a prayer is offered to the Great Spirit, dues or wampum are collected, legends and stories are swapped and Indian games are played.

Year-around activities include hikes, trips, tours to historical sites, industrial plant visits and handicraft and hobby programs.

Interested fathers should attend the first meeting. If unable to do so, call Chet Bartlett at 733-4334.

ADMIRING HER HUSBAND'S bronze star is Mrs. Peter Kelly. Capt. Kelly recently completed a 12-month tour in Vietnam and is visiting in Twin Falls. He will leave for McDonald Army Hospital, Fort Eustis, Va., on Oct. 15. Capt. Kelly received a bronze star and two oak clusters for heroism and achievement.

plane and the second was probably saw more trauma in awarded June 6 for aiding a man wounded at Lai Khe. He in a lifetime of regular medical service," he said.

Following his Army duty Capt. Kelly hopes to specialize in some medical field and he said some day he would like to return to Twin Falls to practice. Capt. Kelly and his wife, Sally, and their 9-month-old son, Charles Pat, will leave Oct. 15 for McDonald Army Hospital at Fort Eustis, Va., where he will complete his army duty.

Prior to his service duty Capt. Kelly completed his internship at Los Angeles County Harbor Hospital, Torrance, Calif. He is a graduate of Twin Falls High School, the University of Idaho, and the University of Washington Medical School.

During his tour in Vietnam, Capt. Kelly served both in the field and at the Lai Khe clearing station as a surgeon.

He explained, contrary to some belief, most men wounded in the field do receive medical attention from a doctor within a half hour. Most divisions, he said, have a doctor with them in the field. From the field the wounded are flown by a medical evacuation helicopter to the clearing station. If major surgery is required they are flown to a surgical hospital.

The clearing station where Capt. Kelly was stationed was an old French building which would accommodate approximately 50 patients. He said it was seldom filled, that there were usually 10 to 50 patients there, and three doctors on duty. There were no nurses at the clearing station, Capt. Kelly explained that medics assumed the duties usually taken by nurses.

The captain said he found his most rewarding work at the station where he served as general medical officer.

Capt. Kelly received three bronze star medals for heroism and achievement while in Vietnam. The first was awarded Feb. 4 when he gave medical aid to a pilot in a grounded

Londoners Keep An Eye On Thames As City Sinks Under Its Own Weight

By TOM A. CULLEN
LONDON (NEA) — When the water rises above a certain height in the Thames, London subway authorities send a man to look over the river wall.

Upon this man's judgment may depend the lives of thousands of Londoners. If it looks as though the river is about to overflow, the embankment walls, the lookout informs the controller of London Transport, who, in turn, orders the floodgates to be shut in subway stations all underground.

This has never yet happened, but it could any time. For the sand truth is that London is something of a flood risk.

For one thing, this city of 7.8 million is slowly sinking — at the rate of 13 inches a century. London is now about 15 feet lower than it was in Roman times.

For another, surge tides of the kind that could literally swamp this city are getting progressively worse.

In the past 40 years, the Thames estuary has had three bad floods with loss of life, though London, itself, was largely spared.

To complete the picture, London is almost totally unprepared for a flood disaster of the type that devastated Florence in November of 1966 when the river Arno went on a rampage.

Not a single brick has been laid to raise the height of the river embankment which protects central London, nor has any plan been agreed upon to build antilood defenses in the future.

Until now the only means provided for warning the public of flood danger has been police cars equipped with loudspeakers. These are due to be replaced by a siren system similar to that used during the Blitz.

What is called a "surge tide" results when an Atlantic gale forces a great head of water down the narrow North Sea and into the Thames estuary. There have been three bad surges in the last 40 years. The first occurred in 1928 when people in London basement flats were drowned in their beds.

In the 1953 surge, which was the worst to date, over 300 people were drowned on the East Coast and along the lower reaches of the Thames, though London itself escaped.

In January of 1965 the river came 10' within six inches of overflowing and inundating London at the rate of 550 million gallons of water an hour.

Even a small flood would be enough to knock out 14 telephone exchanges, cripple communications by cable and wire.

The biggest casualty of all, however, would be the London subway system, which appears least prepared. Subways are equipped with floodgates to seal off sections of tunnel, but these cannot be shut until all trains have been cleared out of the affected area.

A surge flood would come in by the sewers, as well as by
