ARRIVING FOR TALKS with North Vietnamese envoys at the International Center in Paris, U.S. Ambassador Averell Harriman sits speculation of a "breakthrough" in negotiations on a bombing halt. In Saigon, U.S. and South Vietnamese officials conducted marathon conferences, and a senior Vietnamese official said a full halt in the bombing of North Vietnam was being discussed. The White House denied any plans were under way. (AP wirephoto)

U.S. Denies Bomb Halt Rumor

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House said today there has been no breakthrough in Vietnam war negotiations despite widespread reports of a proposal to halt completely the bombing of North Vietnam.

"The position of the United States with respect to Vietnam remains as set forth by the President and the secretary of state," presidential press secretary George Christian said.

"There has been no basic change in the situation. No breakthrough," he added in a midmorning statement prompted by newsmen's queries following reports of a possible major new peace move from here, Paris and Saigon.

A senior South Vietnamese political official said in Saigon earlier today the United States had proposed a full bombing halt and was discussing the proposal with the Saigon government.

In Paris South Vietnamese diplomats told newsmen they understood the United States had made the proposal as an attempt to further peace negotiations.

"Washington officials, although declining to say whether a full settlement has been reached, acknowledged the United States and North Vietnam have been discussing for several weeks a package plan to end the deadlock talks in Paris.

The Washington officials said a key element of the package is military restraint in return for a bombing halt.

Also being discussed, they said, is the way the South Vietnamese government and the National Liberation Front political arm of the Viet Cong would be brought into the second phase of the Paris talks.

The report from Saigon followed two meetings today between U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker and South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu. Later Bunker met a third time with Thieu who met with his cabinet and top political, legislative and government figures.

The Saigon source said Thieu told top members of his regime the enemy must guarantee they will not escalate the war if a bombing halt is ordered.

There was no indication during Wednesday's 27th meeting in Paris between U.S. and North Vietnamese negotiators of any breakthrough in the talks.

Ambassador W. Averell Harriman, top U.S. negotiator there, told newsmen after the session there had been no talk of the bombing issue.

North Vietnamese Ambassador Xuan Thuy declared "The 27th meeting was just like the 25 preceding ones." During the session itself Thuy repeated Hanoi's formula for progress in the talks: a total, unconditional halt in U.S. attacks on the North.

The United States has insisted on mutual restraint by North Vietnam as a condition for a full bombing halt. Hanoi has yet to give any word for him that the recent decline in its military activity is due to a deliberate decision to de-escalate the war.

What the "decline" means could not be immediately explained.

There is now another of the periodic lulls in ground fighting in Vietnam and U.S. military estimates show the infiltration of men from the North into the South has dropped roughly one third last month from the summer high of 30,000.

Apollo Mission Orbits On Course

SPACE CENTER, HOUSTON (AP) — Bearded, rested and feeling better, the Apollo 7 astronauts presented a television lesson in space-age cooking and plumbing on the Wally, Walt and Donn show Wednesday and Thursday.

For the third straight morning, the tediousness of the flight was broken by the daily television. The TV show was shortened from 15 minutes to nine minutes today because of initial reception trouble at a receiving station at Corpus Christi, Texas.

The show began as usual with Navy Capt. Walter M. Schirra Jr. holding up the usual introductory sign: "Hello from the Lovely Apollo Room High A-top Everything."

Then, in contrast to the hi-larks of previous days, the astronauts were more businesslike

Plane Lost

POCATELLO (AP) — A search is still under way for a missing Simplot Aviaton Co. plane which has been overdue since last Friday.

Simplot officials said the plane, a four-place single-engine Piper Comanche, was rented last Thursday by Gerald Compton of Pocatello. Compton was to return the plane Friday, but did not.

Federal Aviation Agency officials said Compton did not file a flight plan. They requested information from other FFA points on the aircraft and determined it last was seen in the St. Louis, Mo., area. A search is being conducted there.

The plane reportedly carried one passenger, James Ashpold of Idaho Falls. No Pocatello address is available for Compton.

Hurricane Heads North From Cuba, Threatens Florida

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Gladys became a full-blown hurricane today as she crossed the south coast of Cuba. Hurricane warnings were raised on Florida's west coast from Fort Myers to Clearwater.

Dr. Robert Simpson, director of the National Hurricane Center, said winds in the tropical cyclone were up to 80 miles per hour.

Simpson said Gladys was picking up forward speed as it moved and was expected to increase from 8 m.p.h. to about 12 m.p.h. and possibly 15 m.p.h. as it moved north.

"On the course it's on now and with the expected accelerated forward movement, it will probably reach Florida's west coast late in the day Thursday," Simpson said.

Earlier, Gladys pounded Fidel Castro's "island of youth" south of the Cuban mainland with gales up to 70 m.p.h. and heavy rains.

The Isle of Pines, a colony of the young 50,000 residents of Cuba, has about 50,000 residents.

The Cuban government suspended flights from Havana to the Cayman Islands because of the storm near the 44 m.p.h. level of a full hurricane. Forecasters said Gladys might reach hurricane strength even as it passed over the Cuban mainland, a passage usually counted on to break the back of hurricanes.

Even as heavy rains pounded the Isle of Pines, evacuation of higher ground began for thousands of people and cattle in Pinar del Rio and Havana provinces in western Cuba.

Elementary and high school classes in both provinces were canceled for the day. Protective measures were taken for crops and tobacco warehouses as the storm moved on.

Havana Radio said in broadcast casts monitored in Miami.

The daily two-plane refugee airlift from Varadero, Cuba, to Miami also was suspended, today for fear of the storm.

More than a year ago Castro began converting the Isle of Pines from a feared political prison into a vast Communist teen-ager community called Isla de la Juventud, Island of Youth.

CSI Sets Open House On New Site Nov. 3

Open house on the new College of Southern Idaho campus will be Nov. 3, according to an announcement by Dr. James L. Taylor, CSI president.

Special ceremonies will begin at 2 p.m. on campus and will be followed by guided tours. Faculty members and student government leaders will conduct the tours.

All facilities on campus will be open for public inspection. All three new buildings included in phase one should be complete in time for the open house.

Yet to be completed is the fine arts center on the west portion of campus. The building, scheduled to be completed by Oct. 30, is now expected to be done by Oct. 30.

Other new buildings are an academic facility where classes are now being held, and a maintenance building at the eastern end of the campus.

An art building, converted from an old residence on the college property, is located at the southwest corner of the campus and two office buildings also converted residences, are in use by the college.

Besides major buildings on the campus, several heating and cooling complexes have been decorated to serve as outdoor conversation and study areas.

The CSI tower, located at what will be center campus when future buildings are added, is the tallest structure in Twin Falls. The only building which came near matching its height was the old Perrino Hotel, which has since been demolished.

Rupert Crash Takes Life Of T. F. Man

RUPERT — A grinding two-vehicle collision on a county road north of here claimed the life of a Twin Falls man and slightly injured a Rupert youth Tuesday afternoon.

Dead as a result of the car-truck crash shortly after 1 p.m. Tuesday is Clyde Jacob Slatter, 46. He apparently died instantly when the 1955 Pontiac he was driving north on county road 400 east went off the road on the east side into a borrow pit and then back across the road where it slammed head-on into the truck.

State Police officers and members of the Mindoka County Sheriff's office aided Hunter as he treated and released from Mindoka Memorial Hospital with only slight injuries.

Officials said the truck, owned by Clinton Ranch and driven by Dan Hunter, 17, Rupert, was loaded with potatoes. The Hunter youth was headed south. The truck, owned by the Rev. Donald L. Hoffman, First Christian Church, was heading north.

Last rites will be held in the Filer IOOF Cemetery. Memorial contributions may be made to Idaho Youth Ranch, Box 524, Rupert, 83350.

Art Exhibit Slated

BOISE (AP) — The 33rd annual exhibition for artists of Idaho will open Oct. 2 at the Boise Gallery of Art. Deadline for submission of entries is Oct. 20. The show will close Nov. 24.

Probate Judge Will Study Decision On Collier Case

A Twin Falls County Probate Court decision on the fate of Leo Collier, 47, accused of first degree murder, will not be reviewed by the Idaho Supreme Court, Judge Reed gleans from the transcript of testimony in the District Court.

Mr. Collier's request for bond was denied in that District Court hearing and that decision has been appealed to the Idaho Supreme Court.

Attorneys have been given 15 days to file briefs, then allowed an additional five days to file counter briefs.

The briefs will deal with legal questions concerning the first degree murder charge facing Mr. Collier.

It is accused of shooting his wife to death on Sept. 2.

The briefs, according to the attorneys, will deal with a request for a reduction of the charge.

Judge Reed's decision will deal with either binding Mr. Collier over to the District Court for disposition of the matter or dismissing the charge and with considering the result of the charge as a lesser offense.

Nixon Claims Major States Favor GOP

By The Associated Press

Republican Richard M. Nixon claims he is leading the three-way presidential race every major state and says he is driving now for "the fastest finish in campaign history."

Democrat Hubert H. Humphrey clings to his North Vietnam bombing halt stand, meanwhile Tuesday, and said he will not compromise his civil rights position regardless of the effect on his election chances.

And a Supreme Court decision putting George C. Wallace on Ohio's ballot has made him the first third party candidate in modern history to go on the ballot in every state.

Nixon expressed high confidence about his chances at a Miami news conference Tuesday but said he is taking steps to ward off overconfidence. He said he is "driving between" now and election day "Operation Extra Effort."

Humphrey told cheering students in St. Louis, meanwhile, that polls show him losing states when he makes civil rights statements—but he'll not change his stand.

"I do not intend, in order to win this election," he said, "to compromise a lifetime of dedication to the cause of human rights."

"I said I would stop the bombing as an acceptable risk for peace—period," he said. "But I said period, not come or condition."

Mining Boom? Gold? No It's Just A Sale At Hailey Hotel

HAILEY — The scene here Wednesday reminded many pioneer residents of the first gold rush in the Hiwasse Hotel.

The management of the hotel decided recently to sell the furniture and fixtures in 67 rooms and apartments, the lobby, restaurant and bar. The furniture and fixtures ranged from excellent to junk, with some of it fairly modern.

Suits, dishes, beds, chairs and pictures sold rapidly.

A complete breakdown on the day's activity was not available, pending a study by hotel officials on what was sold and how much was raised.

The hotel will be remodeled in the near future. When work is finished, the hotel will sport a new look. An addition will include a swimming pool, officials said.

Many of the items sold dated back to the opening of the hotel in 1885, the days of the first mining boom in the Hailey area.

Mishap With Jack Kills Gooding Man

GOODING — William Ernest Briley, 77, 238 W. Center St., Gooding, died Monday night at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital of injuries received when his pickup truck struck a jack and fell on him.

Mr. Briley was pinned underneath his vehicle on Seventh Avenue West in Gooding Oct. 3. A neighbor jacked the truck, the injured man and he was taken to Gooding Memorial Hospital. Later he was transferred to the Twin Falls Hospital.

He was born in Glenn Rick, Wyo., July 20, 1891, and came to Salmon where he worked as a prospector for many years. In 1955 he moved to Gooding and has lived here since. He attended the Assembly of God Church.

There are no known survivors. Graveyard services will be conducted at 10 a.m. Friday at Elmwood Cemetery by Rev. Bob Slagel. Friends may call at the funeral home until time of services.

Wendell Gets Funds To Improve Park

WENDELL — The Wendell City Park is expected to get a complete face-lifting next spring.

City officials said funds are expected to be available after the first of the year. No action of approval of $7,000 in federal funds for the project came from Sen. Jim Jordan's office. The request made by Wendell

College Students, Slum Kids Benefit

Violations of college regulations "of a serious nature" or a civil conviction stemming from a violation of federal assistance for two years.

The higher education bill also contains a section removing from the Office of Economic Opportunity the Upward Bound program designed to acclimate ghetto youngsters to campus atmosphere. The Department of Health, Education and Welfare takes the program over.

The $3.1-billion vocational education bill contains a provision which allows some legislators and would nullify much of the $8-billion federal spending cut decreed by Congress.

The bill also removes the power of the President and the Budget Bureau to make any reduction in education funds below the amounts appropriated by Congress.

The biggest authorization in the bill, $1.8 billion, will make funds available for direct loans to students, federal scholarships, and government insurance.

About one-quarter of the more than six million students in college use one of these forms of aid.

The bill also contains a number of new programs proposed by the administration.

These include special services for disadvantaged students, grants to strengthen grantee institutions, provision for cooperative arrangements among colleges in a program called "Networks for knowledge, special services for training for public service personnel in federal, state and local governments, and grants to provide clinical experience in preparation and trial of cases for law students.

School-Aid Bills Total $10 Billion

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation is investing over $10 billion in the education of its young people—college students and slum kids.

The funds, authorized in two bills due to be signed by President Johnson Wednesday, extends school and student-aid programs for three years and increases funds for work training programs designed to break youngsters from slum poverty cycles.

Contained in the $7.3-billion aid to higher education act is a provision shutting off aid to students convicted of taking part in activities which disrupt a college or university.

 Then Air Force Maj. Donn F. Eisele took over the camera and pointed it at a puddle of water in the cabin of the cabin.
 Schirra said the water is caused by condensation from some of the cold tubing in the life support system but that the exact source was not known.
 Demonstrating how they cope with the plumbing problem, Eisele took a small vacuum cleaner-like device and Schirra described:
 "Now he's going to suck up the water with the accumulator line we have. It's a pretty good size job of water, it takes quite a while to mop up."
 He explained that the water is then spilled overboard through a water dump system.
 Following the mop-up operation, the camera was pointed around the cabin showing such things as the hand controllers and display panels.
 The only levity in the conversation, in contrast to earlier days, was this comment from Schirra, emulating an airline pilot:
 "This is your captain speaking. On this flight you can unfasten your seat belts and relax and if we can make this flight enjoyable for you."
 Apollo 7 was headed for the midway mark of its planned 11-day journey Wednesday night. No major highlights are planned in the last half of the mission as the astronauts continue the routine job of checking and rechecking the systems.
 They all slept well Tuesday night, each averaging about eight hours. This contrasted with the two previous nights when Schirra complained that they were awakened too early.

Candidate Asks Court Decision On Vote Outcome

POCATELLO, Idaho (AP)—One of two candidates in a postponed assessors race has asked for a court order to block a recount, commission proposal to decide the primary by a revote in the general election.
 Ralph Lacy, who was declared the winner in the Democratic primary, asked for the court order Tuesday following the commission decision by a 2-1 vote.
 Lacy edged out Lyle Anderson in the primary, then Anderson asked for a recount, which also showed Lacy the winner.
 There is no Republican candidate on the general election ballot.
 Anderson alleged there were irregularities in the recount.
 The commission asked for an attorney general opinion on the matter. The opinion did not make a determination, but only set out guidelines for the commission to make the determination.
 The commissioners said the attorney general's suggestions were too complicated and decided to let the voters decide.

Samuelson Asks End To Lobbying

BOISE (AP)—Gov. Don Samuelson advised state agency heads Tuesday to avoid lobbying activities during the coming legislative session.
 Instead, he advocated a "team" approach—one in which his office will assist state government leaders in selling lawmakers on desired legislation.
 "Lobbying on your part has left a bad taste in the mouths of many legislators in the past," Samuelson said at a meeting with department heads, "and I'm convinced it has led to the failure of some bills."
 "Let's be honest," he said, "Let's lay our cards on top of the table. We're a team. We think we can work together with you and do it smoother."

Speakers Supporting Changes In Idaho Law To Talk At Women's League Event

A speakers bureau urging support of six amendments that will appear on the November ballot has been organized by the League of Women Voters of Twin Falls.

Mrs. Ray Slotten, president, announced that any organization or club in the area may make arrangements for a speaker by calling Mrs. Robert Nelson, 733-3549.

The purpose of the speakers bureau, Mrs. Slotten said, is to encourage passage of the six amendments which embody support positions arrived at by all Idaho Leagues during their seven-year study of the Idaho Constitution.

The six amendments supported by the Leagues in Idaho are:

- SJR-3 (allowing Constitutional change by article rather than caused by legislative action)
- SJR-4 (making legislative pay a matter of law)
- SJR-5 (to the amending process)
- SJR-6 (to provide for judicial retirement, discipline and removal from office)
- SJR-7 (to clarify who fills executive office vacancies)
- SJR-8 (to provide for judicial retirement, discipline and removal from office)
- SJR-9 (to provide for judicial retirement, discipline and removal from office)
- SJR-10 (to provide for judicial retirement, discipline and removal from office)

The three other amendments on the November ballot are not being actively supported by the League since the League has not studied the Constitutional provisions involved and therefore has no stand or position on these. Mrs. Slotten pointed out she added that the League is neutral on the three other amendments and neither support nor opposes them.

"SJR 1 would provide prompt action, fewer costly delays in management of state affairs. It would also reduce problems of planning for two-year sessions of the Legislature," she said.

"SJR 3 would provide modernization of the present provisions for pay to legislatures and place them under statutory law and maintain closer citizen control over legislative costs."

In summary, Mrs. Slotten said, "Constitutional law is fundamental law and it should express important basic principles of good government. Constitutional law is implemented by statutory law which deals with emerging social, economic and political problems faced by the state."

FEDERAL FUNDS GRANTED
BOISE (AP) — The University of Idaho's branch experiment station at Caldwell has been given a $5,000 grant to finance research on breeding cattle with superior growth rates and on the effects of feeding cattle sprouted wheat. The Idaho Beef Council, which is making the money available, announced the award Tuesday.

"SJR 9 would remove from the Constitution the present provisions for pay to legislatures and place them under statutory law and maintain closer citizen control over legislative costs."

DOZENS OF COOKIES have been baked by seventh grade home economics students at O'Leary Junior High School for delivery to rest homes in Twin Falls. Here Julie Bergling takes a pan of cookies from the oven as Myra Olsen mixes another batch of dough. This week cookies were delivered to Hazeldel, Heritage and Sky View Manors. The girls' teacher, Mrs. Harold Horling, said that she plans to have her students do other projects for the benefit of rest-home residents.

Anthropologist Believes Student Unrest Caused By Attempt To Break From 'Cocoon'

By RENE J. CAPPON
NEW YORK (AP) — Is there rhyme or reason behind the current student unrest?

Parents, educators and others have agonized over the question since the student "movement," so full of sound and fury, so vague in its objectives, invaded the once placid campus scene.

To anthropologist Margaret Mead, the answer is affirmative, and the reasons fairly clear. She believes the students are trying to break out of a snug cocoon woven for them—and accepted in times past—but no longer useful.

She spells out her views in an article in the current Columbia Forum, at a time when the university, a storm center of student activists, is gingerly adjusting to the problems highlighted by last spring's great campus disturbances.

Dr. Mead is adjunct professor of anthropology at Columbia. Her article is entitled, "The Wider Significance of the Columbia Uproar." How the university solves its problems, she thinks, "matters to the whole country and, because of the interconnectedness of the modern world, to educational institutions in other countries and to our changing political institutions."

Rebellious students generally square off against the "system"—which may mean a particular university, the national "establishment," or the universe.

At Columbia, Dr. Mead writes, the system was "neither despotic nor systematically exploitative," merely archaic.

More fundamentally, she holds, students at Columbia as at other colleges until recently were treated as "wards of the academic institutions, a position that joins special controls with special privileges and immunities from the civil authorities."

The students' position was one of "tutelage, socially privileged but politically and economically in the role of minors," Dr. Mead writes, adding: "The moralists who have lost out in regulating the private lives of mature adults still attempt to regulate the private lives of young adults by treating the late teens as an extension of childhood."

This worked well acceptable to all concerned. But now, according to Prof. Mead, higher education is no longer a privilege; it has become a "prerequisite" for young people in the standards of employment in our society.

Since higher education has become a credential for a decent job in a technological society she suggests, the acquisition of this prerequisite should no longer take place in a glorified play pen.

"It is no longer appropriate," she writes, "to treat students as a privileged and protected group who, in return for this special status, abstain from political activity, submit to the regulation of their private lives, and risk expulsion for every minor infraction of outmoded rules."

But why do some students take to civil disobedience and violence?

Dr. Mead recalls that the suffragettes, when women impetuously were seeking the right to vote two generations ago, "resorted to similar types of behavior—marches, hunger strikes, throwing themselves in the path of mounted police."

And she adds: "Whenever a group that has been required to be docile, segregated, submissive, undefending, and unparticipating, glimpses the possibility of wider participation in the society, we may expect phenomena like these."

Her basic prescription for the student malaise is this: "College students should no longer be dependent on their parents—those whose parents have any funds—nor should they be dependent on scholarships grudgingly dealt out after a means test."

"They should be given full economic status, the status of an adult who is expected to marry, who works and has a Social Security number and may become a member of a trade union; someone who can get a mortgage and a telephone, buy furniture on time and can, if necessary, collect unemployment insurance."

"Under the guise of privilege and protection, we have been penalizing our student population, separating them from participation in the affairs of the real world and impairing their capacity to understand that world."

Crowd Jeers At Mayor Over Appeal

NEW YORK (AP) — Mayor John V. Lindsay was hooded and cursed by a hostile white audience at a Brooklyn Jewish center Tuesday night when he pleaded for understanding in the city's racially tense school crisis.

When the mayor finished speaking, a crowd of about 4,000 whites greeted him outside with shouts of "Lindsay must go!" and "Lindsay must go!"

But they are! But they are! shouted hecklers in the audience of about 1,500.

At the height of the disturbance, Lindsay had to shout to make himself heard.

Pointing out an official of the striking AFL-CIO United Federation of Teachers, Lindsay commended some of the teachers' actions with the predominantly Negro and Puerto Rican school district in Brooklyn which is seeking decentralization.

"Our city will not survive if teachers are illegally transferred any more than it will if this gentleman here leads the teachers in an illegal strike," Lindsay said, "I say to you that there have been acts of vigilanteism by both groups."

The strike against the 1.1-million pupil public school system is in its third day with no talk of a settlement. It is the UFT's third walkout of the six-week-old fall term.

"The walkout is over the refusal of the locally elected governing board of the Ocean Hill-Brownsville experimental school district to reinstate 80 ousted UFT members."

Rocket-Wise?

Space exploration, once the glamour of the national budget...

time in history were the voyages of Christopher Columbus and Vasco da Gama.

"Columbus showed that the world was round, and this brought a tremendous expansion of the human mind."

"Da Gama sailed around the southern tip of Africa and came back from India with two shiploads of spices and peppers that paid for all the previous ventures until that time."

"Now we are coming into the space age, and this, too, is a breaking away from certain man-made limitations."

Unless we move into space, warns Webb, we surrender the field to the Russians. We will not be there when the great decisions affecting us and the rest of the world are made.

At present budgeting levels, however, the launching of planetary probes and deep-space exploration in the early 1970s will be left to the almost exclusive domain of the U.S.S.R.

For the advantages of expenditure reduction, the United States is accepting a long time, perhaps for the indefinite future, the disadvantages of a second-rate position in space, says Webb.

For millions of Americans, the $4-billion-plus U.S. effort to land two men on the moon epitomizes the disordered values of men on earth.

However, James E. Webb, just-retired head of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, made some valedictory remarks on that subject that bear repeating.

As a world power, the United States had no choice but to enter the race to the moon, said Webb in an interview in the Cleveland Plain Dealer.

MR. SPECTATOR

It's A Sweet Discovery

If you look real close you can see a couple of guys nestled among a load of sugarbeets. They just happen to be the explorers of the "Sweet Discovery" film.

Dr. Lael Woodbury is on the left and Robert Day, of Brigham Young University, is on the right. They were caught as they were tending a beet train on their way to a modern Amalgamated factory.

The credits include "two years in the making" and "a cast of thousands" and it sounds like a Cecil B. DeMille spectacle, but at heart, it's the story of sugarbeets—those things some people make money off of, herbaceous and most of us eat, in the finished, granular form, of course.

Conceived in early 1966, Amalgamated's brand new film production, "Sweet Discovery: The Story of the Sugarbeet," is now ready for showing. The film is to be previewed in company growing areas this fall, and simultaneously distributed to a number of college and institutional film libraries.

Many school districts in eastern Oregon, southern Idaho and northern Utah also will receive a permanent copy of the film for use in connection with their studies of local agricultural and industrial activities.

Amalgamated's general offices in Ogden, each of the firm's five district headquarters, and several of its major sales offices will have prints available for showing, too.

Audience trials found that it holds the attention of a third or fourth grade audience nicely, and will also find the funniest of a woman's club member.

The film's producer, the motion picture department of Brigham Young University at Provo, Utah, is widely known for its skill as a maker of motion pictures. The institution's film facilities at Provo are perhaps the most extensive in the international west.

"Sweet Discovery" cast of characters, only two are given talking roles. The pair appear first as Egyptologists exploring a burial vault on the banks of the Nile River.

Director Richard Nell Evans transports them bodily halfway around the world to complete his narrative and the means of conveyance. (Great Scott, Melvin, it's an early Egyptian geographic transport) may make minor film history as one of the most improbable methods of transportation.

"Sweet Discovery" is a different kind of motion picture about sugarbeets and it's remarkably good. See for yourself. And soon.

DECLINE OF THE COW

Chalk up one more victim of modern technology—the cow. Milk sales are declining and sales of artificial milk products are on the rise.

WASHINGTON — It is tempting to dismiss the latest anti-poverty scandal with a "So what else is new?" but there is too much tragedy inherent in the whole national situation to dismiss it as just another example of how thieves will be thieves.

This time, the scandal involves New York City's Human Resources Administration, which operates on an annual budget of $1.38 billion — $300 million higher than that of the United States Post Office Department.

Investigators have disclosed that "many millions of dollars" have been embezzled from Neighborhood Youth Corps funds, designed to provide jobs for slum youths during the past two years.

The tragic overtone in this and other situations around the country, notably in Chicago, is that social welfare programs such as the Youth Corps have acquired a bad name—not because they are bad programs, but because politicians don't care enough to make sure they are administered properly.

New York offers a flagrant example of the mismanagement and perfunctory attitude of public officials supposedly responsible for keeping these programs clean.

It involves the case of Mrs. Helvyn Lewis, recently dismissed as the $19,000-a-year fiscal director of the city's anti-poverty agency, the Human Resources Administration.

Mrs. Lewis came to New York from the Pacific Coast. She had been born in the Los Angeles ghetto, Watts. She claimed to have attended four colleges and submitted an impressive resume of her working record. But apparently the only check performed on her consisted of a couple of telephone calls. Later, after investigators charged Mrs. Lewis had embezzled $22,000 in Youth Corps funds, more phone calls revealed that she rarely held a job for more than a year and that she held those jobs under at least six different names.

At least two of the four colleges she "claimed" to have attended never heard of her. Meanwhile, the investigation disclosed that other HRA employees had pocketed thousands of dollars' worth of weekly Youth Corps checks—at $33.32 each—by issuing them to fictitious youths listed as working at jobs that didn't exist.

One spot check by auditors showed that one out of five paychecks was fraudulent during the summer of 1967.

More than anything else, the New York mess exposes the almost total unfitness of most city officials to run an anti-poverty program. These officials grabbed that $1.38 billion appropriation—80 per cent of it in Federal dollars—and proceeded to the business of spending it without the slightest notion of whether there were people available capable of administering that spectacular expenditure.

Government agencies whose budgets total a mere fraction of $1.38 billion spend more time and effort in making competent guardians of their money than New York did.

What New York did do was pour the program was trying to help. This was a lofty idea, but it was also criminally impractical. An individual who never spent a dime of money with the spending of more than $50 is hardly the stuff of which prudent administrators are made.

Not only New York but other cities across the country cry has been for "participation by the poor" in their own programs, but the result is a mess that the U.S. taxpayer has been stolen blind.

massive government expenditures are not the answer to the poverty programs, that the problem should be turned over to private enterprise. Nixon is wrong. Only the Federal government can provide the kind of money needed to reconstruct the lives of the poor in such cities as New York and Chicago. It would make more sense, politically as well as economically, if he promised a continuation of Federal help, but with stringent controls aimed at avoiding the wholesale thievery that goes on under the casual eye of these instant bureaucrats created by local governments.

These programs are needed because the country is in a ghastly mess, made worse by political mismanagement of attempts to clean up the mess. A summer job program such as that offered by the Youth Corps is not a solution to the despair that grips the ghettos, and in New York and in other cities it has been sabotaged not only by the thieving but by a Federal government that won't make the effort to protect it from thievery.

ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK

Gilligan And The Paper Tiger

CANTON, Ohio—Stalwarts of Stark County's regular Democratic organization, drooping from large quantities of highballs, Swiss steak, and political oratory at their fund-raising dinner last week, were surprised for the evening's principal address delivered by John J. Gilligan.

They had expected from Gilligan, lighting an uphill race for the U.S. Senate, banal praise of the party and exhortations to greater efforts. Instead, he rocked the regulars out of their chairs with blunt language. His clear implication: The Democratic party and its labor auxiliaries constitute a paper tiger in this, the reddest of red states. Without a real party, said Gilligan, George Wallace is kidnapping Democratic voters by carload. Wallace is "the real cause of alienation," he continued, and instead of damning the Wallace voters, "we had better look at this pretty carefully and decide what these people are trying to tell us." Finally, Gilligan warned against trying "to con them" (the Wallace voters) into thinking their problems are going to be solved if they vote Democratic in November. Such heresy represents Gilligan's clearheaded assessment of his political situation today. He faces not only State Atty. Gen. William Saxbe, a moderate and a competent, if unexciting, candidate, but also a super Republican organization forged by Ray C. Bliss and kept in tune by his successor as state chairman, John Andrews.

Against this, red-headed Jack Gilligan, 47, longtime Cincinnati city councilman and short-time (1955-60) congressman, has only his own sartorial wit, style, and charisma. In Ohio, as in other key states, a candidate can expect no help from party and labor regulars. Recalling this, Gilligan is appealing to alienated Wallace voters over the head of the paper tiger.

Adding pungency to this is the fact that Gilligan was nominated in the May primary as the instrument of a purge directed by labor and the regular party as its S. Sen. Frank Lausche, an anachronistic conservative Democrat.

As he reported in August, the regulars quickly cooled on Gilligan since they meant him because of his dovish stand on Vietnam and refusal to quickly endorse Hubert Humphrey. To please them, Gilligan swallowed a couple of two and voted for Humphrey at Chicago.

It didn't work. At Chicago, one prominent labor leader bitterly told Gilligan: "You came over to Humphrey just two months too late." Since Chicago, Ohio labor (except for the breakaway United Auto Workers) has helped him little. While labor financed .85 per cent of his primary campaign, union funds will barely touch 20 per cent of general election costs.

With characteristic irrationality, labor is concentrating on the breakaway United Auto Workers campaign in Ohio while ignoring Gilligan's more realistic prospects. But even its pro-Humphrey efforts are grossly inadequate. In effect, Ohio labor exhausted itself purging Lausche.

The tipoff is voter registration in Republican areas such as Cincinnati and Columbus, voter registration is up. But in the traditional Democratic centers such as Cleveland and Toledo, registration is down. Indeed, labor did nothing this year to register in either black or white neighborhoods.

ART BUCHWALD

Curing A Phobia

WASHINGTON — One of the things that Gen. Curtis LeMay said at his press conference last week was that Americans seem to have a phobia about nuclear weapons. This struck home because I have to admit I do.

"But only after Gen. LeMay brought it up did I decide to do something about it. I went to see Dr. Adolph Straineduff, a psychiatrist who specializes in nuclear weapon phobias.

"On the couch," he said, "Vat seems to be the trouble?"

"Doctor," I said, staring at the ceiling, "I have this fear of nuclear weapons. I know it's silly, but it me it's very real."

"Aha, very interesting. Ven did you first become aware of such a phobia?"

"I think it was around the time of Hiroshima or Nagasaki. I'm not sure which. I saw these photos of all these people killed and they were miles and miles away and suddenly I got this thing about atomic weapons."

Dr. Straineduff tapped a pencil against his knee. "So tell me, how does this phobia manifest itself?"

"In peculiar ways, Doctor. I get the feeling if I ever see a mushroom cloud, I'm going to die."

"Very interesting, very interesting. You know it's all in the mind, don't you?"

"Of course, that's why I came to you. I don't want to do anything stupid."

Dr. Straineduff said, "You are a very sick man. You think that just because an atomic bomb killed a few thousand people 23 years ago, you are threatened by the possibility of another repressed hostility toward the weapons of war. In psychiatry we call this a military-industrial neurosis, a complex."

"I know I'm sick. You've got to help me," I begged.

"All right. First you have to get over your fear of nuclear weapons. Now I'm afraid of him.

get over this absurd fear of nuclear bombs. You must think of our vast defensive arsenal. We have half a billion H-bombs, and in war, one is just as good as another. You're not afraid of a knife, are you?"

"Well, I don't think about it a lot."

"Why should you be afraid of an H-bomb? It's another form of a knife."

"I never thought of it like that."

"Okay, so now let's look at some facts straight in the eye. In Bikini we blew up 20 bombs in an experiment. So we thought everything would be destroyed—that's how stupid we were. Do you know that now after all the boom boom, the place is flourishing and the rats are fatter than they ever were before?"

"It's good to hear."

"The coconuts are hanging from the trees, the fish are swimming up to the top of the voice of the turtle can be heard in the land. The only things that don't seem to be doing so good are the land crabs."

"I don't like land crabs," I said.

"So, then you don't half anything to worry about."

Dr. Straineduff started playing with the hand grenade which was attached to his watch fob.

"If you're going to be a happy person, you're going to be a stoic. You're going to have to stop with all these guilty peace feelings."

He was stomping around the room. "So get out of here with your lousy phobias, and all this stuff about being afraid to die. If you're not willing to take a little fallout for the good of the country, then go back where you came from!"

In spite of Dr. Straineduff's final outburst, he did cure me of my phobia. I'm no longer afraid of nuclear weapons. Now I'm afraid of him.

JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

About Cataracts

Dear Dr. Molner: Please print some information on cataracts. I hear pros and cons on the new method of not waiting for the cataract to become ripe, but I'm a mother and a person concerned. Her doctor told her she need not return for two years, but I feel it's possible to do something sooner we should have it done.

She is a very young 74, active, excellent health—Mrs. D. M. I don't know that there are any particularly valid pros and cons about "ripe" cataracts. This "ripening" notion is an old-fashioned one and doesn't mean much if anything.

Regardless of what you have heard from well-meaning friends, an important question concerning removal of cataracts is this: how much interference with vision has developed?

This development of a cataract is slow in nearly all cases. This is not always realized by patients, in whom the word "cataract" has a terrifying overtone of blindness.

Yet the fact is that vision remains quite good in the early stages of cataract and it may be several years before interference with vision warrants surgical removal of it. That is why surgeons are so patient with their patients, if they can be helped at all, it may seem to them that the patient has a year or two. The changes are slow and gradual, it is seldom urgent. So you must get along with the eyes the way they are until vision is dim enough to make it advisable to have the surgery. You begin using cataract lenses.

When a cataract develops in one eye, it is expected that one will follow in the other eye, also—but not ordinarily at the same rate or time.

Thus it is usual practice to remove the cataract in the poorer eye while useful vision remains in the other; and to operate on the other eye if or when the vision in the first eye is so poor that you are no longer able to do your work.

At the other extreme, if a person requires extremely keen eyesight in his work, surgery may become necessary much earlier than for the rest of us.

I doubt that you will find anything but confusion in trying to balance the pros and cons of cataracts. The wiser course is to depend on the eye specialist's judgment. He has seen many of these cases; he is best able to tell you when the time has come for surgery.

Note to Mrs. J. M.: Those prepared, canned liquids are well received and do not contain excessive sugar or calories. Hence I am sure that, with your doctor's approval, you could use one of these at lunch with your diabetes. One can contain about 280 calories.

Peace Plan Near

WASHINGTON (NEA) — It is not widely known, but when the Chinese communists stilled on peace talks in the Korean war, Secretary of State John Foster Dulles quietly sent word to Peking that unless there were meaningful discussions, the U.S. embargo against bombing the Chinese mainland might be canceled.

Dulles made no show of this. The word was sent secretly through an Asian country. But the Chinese and North Koreans came to the talks.

There were, of course, other reasons impelling Mao Tse-tung, Moscow, a faltering of the Red forces, some dissonance at home. But there are indications that Dulles message was an important factor in getting things going.

The deadlock in the Cuban missile crisis was broken when Washington made clear to Moscow the United States wouldn't hesitate to use force if the Soviets refused to move. So some administration men, reasoning in part from these examples, now believe that some similar move will be necessary to get the Paris peace talks going and the war in Vietnam ended.

These men think the president of the United States will be able to say to Ho, secretly but with credibility, that if he does not begin meaningful peace talks within "X" time, then northward areas of North Vietnam will be bombed intensely. They would expect the U.S. message to be sent through Moscow. As these men see it, the message would point out that Hanoi and Hanoi would no longer be spared. The timing of Hanoi's reply would be likely. No nuclear threat would be made.

It should be noted in passing that some of the men talked to in this assessment were military men or connected in any way with the Department of Defense.

The officials who hold these views believe that this is on our side. By next summer, they think, the U.S., South Vietnamese and Korean armies should have chewed up enough of Ho's North Vietnamese troops to make him uncomfortable. The war costs would begin to be felt by Ho's Kremlin suppliers.

The South Vietnamese army will be able to handle a significantly larger amount of the fighting. The Thieu government will have considerably more air support for any meaningful operations. Food production will be up. The men in whom this report was shared think President Johnson is in no position to take this tough stand. They believe he cannot afford to chance a breakup of the talks just before election. After November, it will be too late for Johnson; his remaining time in office would be too short for any meaningful Hanoi reaction.

But a new president will be able to begin with a clean sheet.

Hospital Progress Reported

GOODING — Plans for the Gooding County Memorial Hospital construction are proceeding very well, according to Lee H. Wagner, chairman of the hospital board.

He said he had conversed with Huey Reed, Boise, assistant director of the hospital facilities division of the state board of health, who assured him that the Gooding County application for Hill Burton funds had been approved on a regional level and approval will be announced as soon as Congress appropriates funds to the states.

The Hill-Burton law was extended by Congress for one year and there will definitely be appropriations to states for the funds. Mr. Wagner said the county anticipates beginning construction in the spring of 1969 and that completion could be expected in about eight months. Land has been acquired, the structure and the bonds have been sold, he added.

Hearing Set On Toll Free Phone Setup

An Idaho Public Utilities Commission hearing on proposed changes in Mountain States Telephone Co. service in Magic Valley will begin at 9:30 a.m. Thursday at the Holiday Inn.

Several residents of the valley have requested extended area service which would allow toll free calls between various Magic Valley communities.

The telephone company has listed the cost of such a service and has proposed a service called Metropac. Metropac allows a subscriber to pay extra to call between Magic Valley communities while extended area service would mean a rate hike for all telephone subscribers.

Metropac is for only those subscribers who want to make toll free calls between Magic Valley communities.

The public is invited to attend the hearing.

Testimony is expected from several area people who have petitioned for toll free service and from officials of the telephone company.

British Bans Alien Agitators

LONDON (AP) — The government today banned all foreign agents from entering Britain for an anti-Vietnam demonstration Oct. 27, officials said.

Diplomatic missions in London have been told that citizens arrested during the mass protest march would be dealt with harshly.

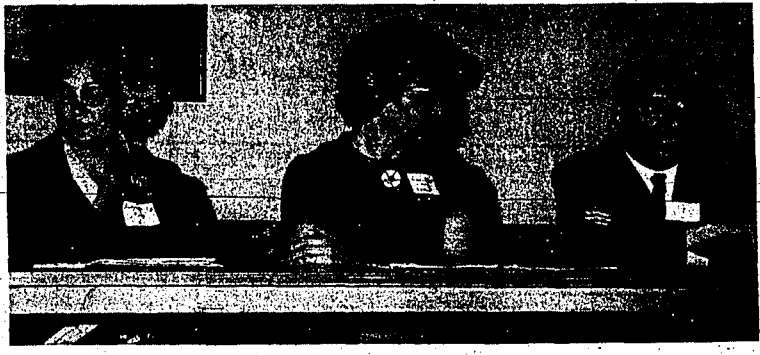

The informants said immigration officials at all entry points have been advised of the ban and will be sent in the next few days a list of students and others with records of violence.

The list was compiled by Scotland Yard with the help of foreign police forces and Interpol, the international police organization.

British police prepared to meet what may be the most violent and massive demonstration against the Vietnamese war and the United States ever witnessed here.

Demo Says Hansen Gibe Hit Sore Spot

The recent release about Congressman George Hansen's California supporters seems to have hit a sore spot, Lloyd Walker, campaign coordinator for Sen. Frank Church, said Wednesday.

The violence of the response seemed far out of proportion to the disclosure itself until one realizes that David Mead's latest harangue was obviously for the purpose of drawing attention away from Congressman Hansen and his record and avoiding the responsible debate on the issues that all voters want," Mr. Walker said.

"Making violent charges and phony claims rather than discussing the issues has been the hallmark of the Hansen campaign thus far. The latest example of this has been the violent and irresponsible attack by Joe Stumph, the American Independent Party state chairman and one of the Congressman's chief supporters on Congressman Hansen's Republican running mate Orval Hansen. It now appears that Orval Hansen will be subject to the same type of wild accusations as is Sen. Frank Church. As for Mr. Mead and the rest of the Wallace-Hansen supporters, it is sad that Congressman Hansen's record is so poor that they must resort to tactics deliberately designed to avoid the ineffectiveness of the Congressman's record.

"The public will not be fooled by this cover-up. Undoubtedly most voters, and especially responsible Republicans will not approve of his supporters attempting to destroy their party. Such conduct is not conservative. It is plainly irresponsible. Those of us who support and desire the election of Darrell Manning for Congress wish to thank Rep. Hansen and his AIP friends for their efforts to defeat his Republican colleague Orval Hansen. But as responsible voters we question the desirability of what Congressman Hansen is doing to the two party system. No real conservative wants to see it destroyed," Mr. Walker said.

He said he had conversed with Huey Reed, Boise, assistant director of the hospital facilities division of the state board of health, who assured him that the Gooding County application for Hill Burton funds had been approved on a regional level and approval will be announced as soon as Congress appropriates funds to the states.

The Hill-Burton law was extended by Congress for one year and there will definitely be appropriations to states for the funds. Mr. Wagner said the county anticipates beginning construction in the spring of 1969 and that completion could be expected in about eight months. # Mansfield To Speak In Idaho

By The Associated Press
The Senate majority leader and the secretary of the Interior are scheduled to come to Idaho to campaign for Democratic candidates.

Sen. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., will speak Oct. 23 in a Democratic rally in Idaho Falls, party officials in Bonneville County announced Tuesday.

Interior Secretary Stewart Udall is the scheduled speaker at a testimonial dinner Saturday in Coeur d'Alene for Sen. Frank Church, who is running for a third term.

Church's opponent, Republican congressman George Hansen, was in Nez Perce Tuesday, called for a new direction on farm policy by electing Richard Nixon president.

Orval Hansen, Republican candidate for Congress in Idaho's 2nd District, was to be in Blackfoot today and in remarks prepared for delivery at a rally in Blackfoot called for action to restore to Idaho ownership of phosphate in state lands to help finance education.

Hansen's 2nd District opponent, Darrell Manning, told a Driggs audience "We welcome Richard Nixon to our position on air and water pollution. We are glad he has accepted our basic plan of tax incentives for pollution control which he voted for in the state legislature."

The Democratic candidate said "expansion of the food processing industry will come to a stop with a devastating loss of markets for our farmers unless we solve these pollution problems."

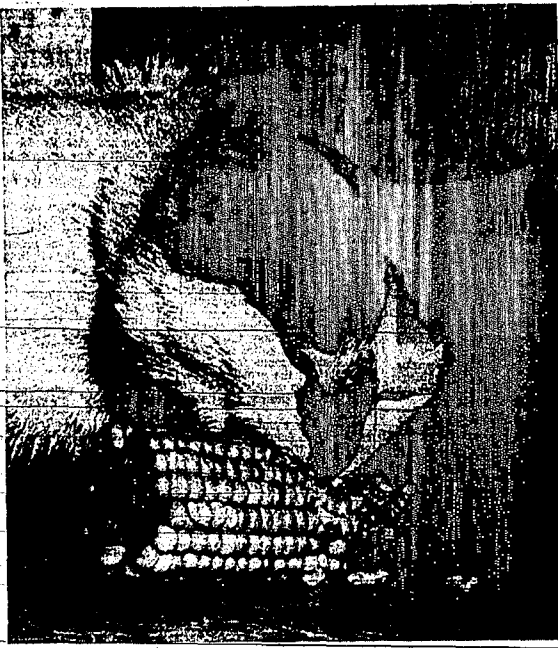

The two candidates for Congress in Idaho's 1st District were in the logging community of Horseshoe Bend Tuesday.

Incumbent Republican James McClure said there is need for a "permanent solution" to the log export problem.

"Excessive exports have posed a real threat to domestic industry," he said. "We cannot continue a trade policy which favors foreign interests over our own people."

Democrat Compton White said the growth of the Hoff Lumber Co. at Horseshoe Bend is "an outstanding example of federal and private cooperation."

The lumber company recently received Small Business Administration loans and White said

Oregon's Veteran Sen. Wayne Morse Faces Tough Competition From Portland Lawyer

By GORDON G. MACNAB
PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Wayne Morse is up for re-election to the U.S. Senate and he is the issue, as he has always been.

This stormy senate figure has been told every six years for a quarter of a century that in Oregon he is the people's choice.

It could be different this time. Morse is opposed by Republican Robert Packwood, a Portland lawyer, three-term member of the Oregon legislature and an amazingly able organizer of political campaigns.

At 36 Packwood is only a little more than half Morse's age.

He was Portland's Junior First Citizen in 1957, organized an annual Republican conference of young liberals that the old pros found it necessary to the loan program "is an outstanding example of progressive, Democratic-sponsored legislation that is of great benefit to all segments of our society."

join, and recruited and trained legislative candidates whose victories switched the state legislature from Democratic to Republican.

He is articulate, personable and generally moderate in his views.

In outlining the campaign issues he has alienated almost no one. His must not be tolerated but conditions that cause them must be treated; the United States must end the Vietnam war with honor, demanding land reform and an end to governmental corruption as a condition of continued military presence there.

"I tell myself the young fellow can't beat the old pro," says an Eastern Oregon newspaperman. And one from Southern Oregon agrees, adding that "they all say 'Morse is a stubborn old man but', and then they add 'they'll vote for him because he helped them on some local matter' or they want at least one 'maverick' in the Senate or for some other reason."

A poll taken for Morse in late August showed him ahead 49 to 40 per cent with 11 per cent undecided. A poll taken for the newspaper, The Oregonian, had almost identical figures for all voters but when pared to those most likely to vote it showed him ahead only 45 to 44 per cent with 11 per cent undecided.

The big undecided vote in both polls was puzzling. Nearly every voter knows Morse and seemingly has strong feelings about him. People like him or dislike him but they are not indifferent to him.

Packwood says it may be because many who don't want to vote for Morse aren't certain they want to switch to a man they don't know.

But his big chance comes Oct. 25 and some think that is the

Seattle Hospital Cuts 'Labor' Cost

SUN VALLEY, Idaho (AP) — closing former delivery rooms, A 10 per cent reduction in maternity charges has resulted from a pilot program in a Seattle, Wash., hospital, a speaker at the Idaho Hospital Association convention said Tuesday.

Sister Virginia Schwager, president of the Association of Western Hospitals, and administrator of Providence Hospital in Seattle, said the key to the program in her hospital was establishing labor and delivery facilities within the hospital surgical suite.

She said the program involves closing former delivery rooms, using rooms in the surgical suite for deliveries, and using personnel formerly assigned to delivery rooms in surgical activities as well.

The program was worked out with the Washington Board of Health which insisted on three-month reports on the number of babies born, simultaneous deliveries and the frequency of seven or more patients in active labor at once, she said.

She said hospitals must assume the leadership for the delivery of health care in this country.

"If we do not take the lead, then others will take it from us," Sister Schwager said.

The impact of the government in the health field was outlined by Andrew Battalio of the Kellogg Foundation, Battle Creek, Mich.

He pointed out that health is now approached as a national resource and thus is of importance to the federal government. Battalio urged that hospitals move together toward solving the confrontation between government and private health facilities.

NFO CHARTS PARLEY IDAHO FALLS, Idaho (AP) — The state convention of the National Farmers Organization has been scheduled for Oct. 25 at Idaho Falls. Erhard Pfingsten of Corning, Iowa, national vice president of the NFO, is the scheduled keynote speaker.

date the election will be decided. Morse and Packwood will face each other that day before the England City Club, and nearly all of the state's television stations.

"It is such a toss-up the debate may settle the election," says one of the vice speakers.

It will give Packwood great exposure to voters who now scarcely know him.

A man close to Morse agreed but said the courtly language of which Morse is capable would dispel the idea held by many that Morse is blindly allergic against every foe. He said it also would put down the idea of Morse being an old man. He will be 68 on Oct. 20 but is vigorous and looks it.

All of this, he said, would swing the undecided votes—and victory—to Morse.

New T. F. City Engineer Starts Work

JEAN MILAR

Jean Milar, new Twin Falls city engineer, was at work Tuesday in the City Hall.

The new engineer, who moved here from Boise, said he would spend the first few days familiarizing himself with city projects.

Mr. Milar has 20 years of engineering experience, having most recently worked with the Daum-Development-Corp., Nampa. He was head of their engineering department which designed and developed more than two and one-half million square feet of buildings across the United States while he was there.

Prior to that he served as a consultant with Hoffman Fieck and Milar for the Twin Falls sewer expansion program. He was Mountain Home's city engineer from 1962 to 1963 in addition to his consulting business. It was during this time Mountain Home was involved in its rapid city expansion.

In addition to the Twin Falls pollution abatement program, Mr. Milar considers a contract he held with the state highway department one of his major projects. He designed 29 miles of highway for the state in 1957.

Mr. Milar was graduated from Burley High School and received his B.S. and M.S. degrees in civil engineering from the University of Idaho. During World War II he was an Army major with the corps of engineers. He is now retired from the Army Reserve. He is also a member of the National Society of Professional Engineers.

He said he and his wife, Dorothy, and their two children are pleased to be able to move back into their home. Mr. Milar explained they purchased a home in Twin Falls several years ago when he was working here. They live at 831 Alturas Drive.

The city has been without an engineer since Sept. 13 when Ron Scheuffele resigned to accept a position in Commerce City, Colo.

George Michaels is assistant to the city engineer.

PRESCRIPTIONS In the good old days

If you were hit with a serious illness, you might spend only a dollar for a prescription... but you were likely to bed for those costly weeks. And an extra from the doctor, just a month's wages, and took a whole month of other things. So, nowadays, thanks to modern drug discounts, you need pay less now than in the doctor, you're out of bed in a couple of days, back on the job in a week. Yes, today's prescription costs you more... and isn't it a bargain?

Hunter's Body Found In Snow

GRANGEVILLE, Idaho (AP)—The body of one missing hunter was found Tuesday and the search continued for a second through new-fallen snow.

The body of Bernard Roscoe, 49, Cottonwood, Idaho, was discovered in a canyon in the Joseph Plains area 40 miles south-east of here by a sheepherder looking for lost sheep.

Roscoe apparently fell from a 12-foot ledge and rolled down a steep canyon into a brushy draw. Roscoe appeared to have survived the fall and remained alive for at least two days.

Searchers continued to look for Lowell Smith, 60, Fernley, Nev., who has been lost in another remote section of Idaho County since Oct. 6. New snow blanketed the search area Tuesday making tracking more difficult, Pitman said.

STEPS TAKEN in Twin Falls urban renewal planning are explained by Joe Cilek, standing. Local urban renewal people met with six men from Lewiston Tuesday. The Lewiston group was interested in the procedure and has submitted a workable plan to the government. On the far left is Bill Grange, Mr. Cilek, Herb Derrick, city manager, Dr. Frank Hyke, chairman of the Lewiston planning commission, and Warren Watts, secretary of the Lewiston urban renewal agency.

Okay Asked On Amendment At Jerome Chamber Meeting

JEROME — Approval of a proposed constitutional amendment which would allow the state to invest endowment funds in more profitable ways was urged Wednesday at a public meeting sponsored by the Jerome Chamber of Commerce.

The speaker, William A. Carter, Boise, administrator of the Division of Management Services for the State of Idaho, advised the joint meeting of the Chamber of Jerome Kiwanis Club at Woods Cafe. The public was invited and members of other local service clubs attended, according to Harold Stanfield, of the Bank of Idaho, who arranged for Mr. Carter's visit.

It is important that Senate Joint Resolution 4 be passed, the speaker declared, so that the Idaho Legislature can write new legislation specifying how Idaho's $75 million in endowment funds are to be invested. Presently, under state law, they may be used only to buy government bonds and state warrants.

Similar agencies in other states and in Idaho have realized a return on invested funds of up to eight per cent, while Idaho is required by law to invest only in government bonds which currently yield an interest rate of about 3.5 per cent.

If Idaho had been able to invest its endowment fund money in the same manner as did the Idaho Public Employees Retirement system in early 1967, Mr. Carter noted, the state would now be nearly $4 million richer.

He quoted a recent editorial in the Idaho Statesman as saying the "state is losing over $5 million a year. About two-thirds of that is money that should be going into the endowment funds for the public schools. Idaho's taxpayers are paying now for the failure to make this change years ago."

The amendment, one of nine to be on the ballot Nov. 5, is endorsed by the Idaho AFL-CIO, the state chairman of both political parties and the Idaho Education Association.

All the amendments were approved by both houses of the last session of the legislature as a prerequisite to being on the ballot.

Scouts In Snake River Area Council Depend On Aid

Twin Falls people would be asked to donate to the Scout program separately.

He said the Snake River Area Council serves nearly 60 per cent of the available boys, as compared to a national average of 25 per cent. The council ranks second in the nation in the number of boys served in its summer camping program and it has received recognition from the U.S. Department of Agriculture for its conservation program.

The area council also awards a greater percentage of Eagle Scout badges than the national average.

The Scout executive, who also serves as executive director of the United Fund, said the local council would not be able to accomplish what it has done without the help of volunteer workers.

There are 6,406 boys in the council's program and 2,800 volunteers with a trained staff of five professionals and three members of the office staff.

The Scout summer camping program includes sessions at Camp Bradley, which is 20 miles north of Stanley; the white water trip on the Middle Fork of the Salmon River for Explorer Scouts and their leaders; back packing trips into the primitive area; a day camp for 10 and 11-year-old boys; a week-long conservation camp for Boy Scouts under the direction of the soil conservation service, and a week-long aquatics camp with special emphasis on swimming and boating skills.

Mr. Roach said work on Camp T. E. Roach on the Snake River will near completion next spring and it will serve many area boys.

He said he feels the Snake River Area Council has an outstanding record and that this has been possible through the generosity of the local people who give of their time and money.

Passing Train Snags Bandit For Officer

AMITYVILLE, N.Y. (AP) — A bank was held up here Tuesday for only the second time in the memory of this Long Island community, and a suspect was caught minutes later when a popular haggard down a train, thus blocking the street and trapping his quarry in a taxi cab.

Police said the robber entered the Security National Bank, giving the teller a note demanding money and threatening to use a gun. The teller put $400 in a bag and the robber fled on foot.

Patrolman George Kirwin, on a motorcycle, flagged down a train passing a crossing on the street, creating a traffic jam. He then found the suspect, unarmed, in a cab.

Arrested and charged with first-degree robbery was Larry L. Hawkins, 24.

Drug Abuse Listed High In Utah

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Incidence of drug abuse and narcotics addiction in Utah is "about as high as any other state," said David W. Reynolds, narcotics and drug investigator of the State Department of Business Regulation.

Reynolds told the Utah Congress of Parents and Teachers Tuesday federal agents consider incidence of narcotics use in Utah "very high."

He said drugs and narcotics are easily accessible and their use is widespread in many junior and senior high schools in Utah.

Second District Juvenile Court Judge John Farr Larson told the group about 200 juveniles were referred to his court last year on drug and narcotics violations.

Reynolds said "We have a lot of out-of-state users come here because they know the stuff is easy to get."

Reynolds said his department would recommend legislation to require practitioners administering narcotics keep complete records of all dosages.

Provisions be written to cover forged prescriptions.

Unprofessional conduct he defined.

Certain drugs which can now be purchased without a prescription be reclassified for sale with a prescription only.

ONE OF THE enlarged departments at Cain's Furniture and Appliance after remodeling is the office area. Several departments were enlarged and new departments added in the remodeling of the entire store. Grand opening of the store is under way and will continue until Oct. 28. There are three floors for display in the buildings.

Furniture And Appliance Store Has Grand Opening

Cain's Furniture and Appliance is having its grand opening this week after remodeling the entire store.

Elvis Cain, president and general manager, said all three floors of the store were completely remodeled with departments enlarged and new departments added.

The remodeling job took about four and one-half months, says Mr. Cain, and cost about $50,000.

New departments added to the store include a television room, a stereo department, in the rear area of the main floor, a stereo room and a television room both on the top floor.

The maple shop and bedroom area in the basement were completely paneled as was the top floor where the television room, stereo room and dinette and dining rooms area.

Most of the windows on the top floor were closed over and paneled, said Mr. Cain. Also enlarged on the top floor, besides the dinette and dining room areas, was the TV repair shop.

On the main floor, two walls were taken out for the carpet department at the rear of the floor, formerly used as a storage area.

The office area also was enlarged and completely paneled. New offices were installed on the main floor for the sales manager and office manager.

Another new feature in the store, which is about completed, is a public address system to the three floors of the store.

Mr. Cain urges everyone to go into the store and see the new and enlarged departments.

2 BLM Aids At Shoshone Transferred

SHOSHONE — Reassignment of two officials in the Shoshone district of the Bureau of Land Management is announced by William T. Mabbitt, district manager.

Gerald L. Quinn will report to the Baker district, Baker, Ore., Nov. 3 where he will be the natural resource manager. Jack A. Dunn will be in charge of the administrative division in the district office at Salem, Ore.

Mr. Quinn served two years in the U.S. Army. He received a B.S. degree in conservation from Idaho State University in 1958. He started his government career with the Caribou National Forest at Pocatello, then transferred to the Bureau of Land Management at Boise. He then transferred to Jerome, Utah where he spent three years.

Mr. Quinn transferred to Shoshone in 1962 where he was the range manager in charge of the west division of the Shoshone district. He held that position until 1966 when he filled the really specialist position formerly held by Ben Gomm. Since that time he has been in charge of the district's land program.

Mr. Dunn has been in charge of the administrative functions for the Shoshone district since July, 1961. He worked for the Sawtooth National Forest from May, 1957, to June, 1958. He then was in private enterprise prior to becoming the administrative assistant in the Shoshone district.

World War II interrupted his higher education at Southern Idaho College of Education at Albion. Following the end of the war, Mr. Dunn continued his education in the College of Law at the University of Montana, Missoula.

U.S. Gives Allies Data On Use Of Nuclear Arms

By BOB HORTON
AP Military Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has given NATO allies a detailed outline of how demonstration-type nuclear bursts could be used to show an invading enemy the West is not afraid to resort to such weapons.

The American document was carried to Europe last week by Secretary of Defense Clark M. Clifford.

It assumes added interest due to the Soviet's August invasion of Czechoslovakia although it was prepared before then.

The defense chief submitted the paper to the seven-nation meeting of NATO's nuclear planning group.

Conclusions of the study are secret. But in candid conversations with newsmen, U.S. officials suggested one of two well-placed nuclear detonations could be considered in the early phase of a massive, uncontrolled assault by enemy forces over NATO borders.

The idea would be, as one official explained it, to show an enemy "that you were prepared to use nuclear weapons to deter them."

The study also sets forth disadvantages to such a move, was necessary" to repel any attack.

'Victim' Lives

DUMMERSTON, Vt. (AP) — Albert Grimaldi, 35, of Springfield, Mass., a bit fatigued from a day of bow and arrow hunting, decided to take a snooze in a field here.

He didn't last long.

He was startled to see a recruit team and some state police officers at his side.

An elderly couple walked by and saw him lying in a field with what looked like an arrow stuck in his back. But Grimaldi had only plunged the arrow into the ground for safety.

Oerter Nabs Fourth Gold Medal In Olympic Discus; Miss Tyus Repeats In 100

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Amazilia Oerter became the first athlete in Olympic history to claim a fourth straight gold medal in the women's 100-meter dash Tuesday, giving the United States four victories in eight track and field events.

Oerter, the 32-year-old veteran from West Islip, N.Y., tossed the discus an Olympic record-shattering 212 feet, 6 1/2 inches to continue a victory string he started in 1956 at Melbourne, Australia.

Miss Tyus-of-Griffin-Gaw-led a 12 American finish in the women's 100-meter dash, breaking the tape in a world record time of 11 seconds.

That smashed the mark of 11.1 which she shared with three others, including teammate Barbara Ferrell of Los Angeles, who took the silver medal Tuesday.

Miss Tyus' victory gave the United States a sweep of 100-meter events following Jimmy Hines' victory in the men's 100 Monday and ran America's gold medalist to four. The United States also has two silver medals and two bronze.

The U.S. basketball team, meanwhile, gained its third straight victory, overwhelming the Philippines 96-75.

The only American disappointment of the track and field competition came in the 400-meter hurdles where favorites Ron Whitney of Boulder, Colo., and Geoff Vanderstock of Los Angeles trailed Soviet Union winner, David-Paul Hemery of Great Britain.

Idaho Vandals Still Dominating Big Sky

By The Associated Press—A pair of Montana State University players—Paul Schaffer and Ron Becky—shared the week honors in the Big Sky Conference's football statistics.

Otherwise, Idaho and its Vandals continue to claim most of the laurels.

Schaffer, rushing leader in the Big Sky with an average of 121 yards a game, had 21 carries for 1,100 yards and a 6.3 average in Monday's game.

Becky, the team's leading passer, threw for 138 yards and a 6.3 average in Monday's game.

Steve Olson—has thrown for 1,421 of those aerial gains and nine touchdowns besides. He has added 59 to his rushing total in the individual offensive leader with 1,400. Montana State's Dennis Erickson is next with 917.

Weber State continues to claim the defensive team honors, allowing opponents an average of 28 yards per game.

Weber also tops the team's defense column. Montana is the rushing offense leader and Idaho is first in rush defense and pass offense.

Terry Hendon of Idaho heads the receiving department with 52 catches for 804 yards and seven touchdowns.

Ron Bailes of Montana has the highest punt return average, 14 per run, and C. Hingst of Idaho State is tops in kick-off returns at 27.8 yards per run.

Don Satterfield of Idaho State has snagged eight interceptions.

He is the league's best punting average, 41.7 yards on 35 kicks.

Special Water Areas Will Be Open To Fish

BOISE — General statewide trout season ends October 31, but certain designated waters in all regions extend through December 31.

The Idaho Fish and Game Department reminds anglers that many waters in all sections of the state will stay open for fishing for some or all species on a year-round basis.

New fishing regulations for 1969 will be established in Boise by the Idaho Fish and Game Commission at a regular quarterly meeting beginning October 23, but these will not go into effect until Jan. 1, 1969.

Current regulations, which list by name and area all waters which will stay open for fishing after December 31, do not expire until December 31.

Fishing on waters open for year-round fishing is a growing winter sport, especially on some of the big irrigation reservoirs in southern Idaho.

Steelhead trout angling on the Snake, Clearwater and Salmon rivers also is popular in the late fall and early spring.

Warm water fisheries such as perch, crappie, bass, along with channel catfish and white sturgeon, lure anglers in March, April and May, depending on weather conditions.

Larry Jackson Announces Retirement

BOISE, Idaho (AP)—Larry Jackson, for 15 years a major league pitcher, announced his retirement Tuesday at the age of 36.

Jackson said in a telephone call to Ray Griffin, sports editor of the Idaho Statesman, that he was officially retiring.

He said he has written a letter of retirement to the president of the National League and the commissioner of baseball.

"I had made up my mind before the expansion draft and this was in no way connected with Montreal drafting me Monday," Jackson told Griffin.

Jackson, a resident of Boise who is a business executive in the off-season, had a 13-17 record this year for the Philadelphia Phillies, Monday, he was taken by Montreal in the expansion draft of the National League.

Jackson also played at various times for the St. Louis Cardinals and the Chicago Cubs.

Alworth Says He Wants Ball All The Time

NEW YORK (AP)—Lance Alworth, a pass receiver for the San Diego Chargers, likes to get the football coming to him from John Hadl.

"To hear him tell it," says Hadl, San Diego's quarterback, "he's open on every play. I have to allow him four or five times in every game."

The Chargers' opponents only wish they could silence the great flanker. He did it again last Sunday, this time to the Oakland Raiders.

Alworth caught nine passes for 182 yards, including one touchdown, in the helping the Chargers down the Raiders 23-14, and was named Tuesday the American Football League's offensive Player of the Week.

Alworth's catches against the defending champion Raiders, gave him 30 for 571 yards, both high in the AFL.

Wills Undecided About Future

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP)—Maury Wills was noncommittal Tuesday concerning his baseball future.

The new Montreal team of the National League drafted Wills from Pittsburgh. The 35-year-old infielder is a free agent for the national parks and recreation commission said, "I just don't know what I will do."

Air Force Falcon Is Happy In Wild

CHICAGO (AP)—Elphonus, the Air Force Academy falcon which gave the Navy-Air Force football game the air Saturday when he escaped from his handler, was found Tuesday in the Santa Fe freight yard south of the Loop.

However, the bird was not captured.

Elphonus' handler, George Kotaiopoulos, tried to bait the falcon into a net with a live pigeon but Elphonus was already full of pigeon and he spat out the bait.

There are hundreds of pigeons around the freight yard, Kotaiopoulos said as long as they fast Elphonus will hang around.

Hemery ran away with the race in 48.1 seconds, smashing the accepted world record of 48.1 held by Rex Gawayle of the United States and the pending mark of 48.8 by Vanderstock.

Tom Farrell of New York put on a great finishing kick and won a bronze medal for third place in the men's 800-meter race.

Ralph Doubell of Australia took the race in 1:44.3, beating Wilson Kiprugut of Kenya in the action on a tying Peter Snell's world mark.

In the men's 200-meter preliminary heats, Americans dominated. Tommie Smith of LeMoore, Calif., and John Carlos of San Jose, Calif., each won both of their heats with Smith's 20.2 in his second tying the Olympic mark set by Australia's Peter Norman earlier in the day.

Larry Questad of Los Angeles ran 1:2 in his two trial heats.

Questad, a salesman who rarely competes in his specialty except for the Olympics, was superb in the final, winning by better than 3/4 second over Ludwig Danek of Czechoslovakia which ranked with 206.5.

John Silvester, a Smithfield, Utah, who has a pending world record of 224.5, finished fifth with 202.8 and Gary Carlson of Los Angeles was sixth with 195.6.

Oerter won the discus for the first time at Melbourne in 1956, then repeated at Rome in 1960 and at Tokyo in 1964.

"I guess I'm very jealous of the gold medal," he said. "I don't want to give it to anyone else."

The strong U.S. showing, on the heels of Monday night's 1-3 medal finish by 100-meter dashmen Jim Hines and Charlie Greene, highlighted the early U.S. success on the third day of track and field competition in the Olympic Stadium.

American carsmen swept through—speaking of second chances—qualifying heats in three events, with Harvard's eighth-ranked shell putting on a saving spurt to the finish, to give the U.S. spots in six rowing semifinals and one final.

The Americans' gold medal harvest stood at two after victories by Hines and shot put star Randy Matson Monday night.

The first event in the Olympic cycling competition was a narrow race for the U.S. spots in six rowing semifinals and one final.

Dunn Gets Starting Nod As ISU Meets Montana In Homecoming

POCATELLO — Idaho State's coach also had praise for flanker Bell, offensive guard Larry Bender, and defensive back Leroy Harris. Harris intercepted a pass, made tackles late and again in the open field, and generally did an excellent job. Bender, as has been the case all year, blocked exceptionally well and appears to be ISU's best chance for an all-BSC lineman. Bell grabbed eight passes to run his total to 28 for the year and was open all afternoon. Also on the team was Billy Satterfield's eighth interception of the year. He made it in familiar style, diving full length on the ground to grab it. He has now picked off at least one in every ISU game and he intercepts more passes laying on the ground than most people do standing up.

Weber State continues to claim the defensive team honors, allowing opponents an average of 28 yards per game.

Weber also tops the team's defense column. Montana is the rushing offense leader and Idaho is first in rush defense and pass offense.

Terry Hendon of Idaho heads the receiving department with 52 catches for 804 yards and seven touchdowns.

Ron Bailes of Montana has the highest punt return average, 14 per run, and C. Hingst of Idaho State is tops in kick-off returns at 27.8 yards per run.

Don Satterfield of Idaho State has snagged eight interceptions.

He is the league's best punting average, 41.7 yards on 35 kicks.

Special Water Areas Will Be Open To Fish

BOISE — General statewide trout season ends October 31, but certain designated waters in all regions extend through December 31.

The Idaho Fish and Game Department reminds anglers that many waters in all sections of the state will stay open for fishing for some or all species on a year-round basis.

New fishing regulations for 1969 will be established in Boise by the Idaho Fish and Game Commission at a regular quarterly meeting beginning October 23, but these will not go into effect until Jan. 1, 1969.

Current regulations, which list by name and area all waters which will stay open for fishing after December 31, do not expire until December 31.

Fishing on waters open for year-round fishing is a growing winter sport, especially on some of the big irrigation reservoirs in southern Idaho.

Steelhead trout angling on the Snake, Clearwater and Salmon rivers also is popular in the late fall and early spring.

Warm water fisheries such as perch, crappie, bass, along with channel catfish and white sturgeon, lure anglers in March, April and May, depending on weather conditions.

Larry Jackson Announces Retirement

BOISE, Idaho (AP)—Larry Jackson, for 15 years a major league pitcher, announced his retirement Tuesday at the age of 36.

Jackson said in a telephone call to Ray Griffin, sports editor of the Idaho Statesman, that he was officially retiring.

He said he has written a letter of retirement to the president of the National League and the commissioner of baseball.

"I had made up my mind before the expansion draft and this was in no way connected with Montreal drafting me Monday," Jackson told Griffin.

Jackson, a resident of Boise who is a business executive in the off-season, had a 13-17 record this year for the Philadelphia Phillies, Monday, he was taken by Montreal in the expansion draft of the National League.

Jackson also played at various times for the St. Louis Cardinals and the Chicago Cubs.

Alworth Says He Wants Ball All The Time

NEW YORK (AP)—Lance Alworth, a pass receiver for the San Diego Chargers, likes to get the football coming to him from John Hadl.

"To hear him tell it," says Hadl, San Diego's quarterback, "he's open on every play. I have to allow him four or five times in every game."

The Chargers' opponents only wish they could silence the great flanker. He did it again last Sunday, this time to the Oakland Raiders.

Alworth caught nine passes for 182 yards, including one touchdown, in the helping the Chargers down the Raiders 23-14, and was named Tuesday the American Football League's offensive Player of the Week.

Alworth's catches against the defending champion Raiders, gave him 30 for 571 yards, both high in the AFL.

Wills Undecided About Future

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP)—Maury Wills was noncommittal Tuesday concerning his baseball future.

The new Montreal team of the National League drafted Wills from Pittsburgh. The 35-year-old infielder is a free agent for the national parks and recreation commission said, "I just don't know what I will do."

Ohio State Safety Given Weekly Nod

By The Associated Press—John Tatum didn't carry the ball or throw any passes in Ohio State's 13-0 upset of Purdue Saturday. But he was named college football's Back of the Week by The Associated Press Tuesday for his efforts in stopping Leroy Keyes, a strong contender for Back of the Year.

Tatum, a 6-foot, 200-pound sophomore cornerback from Passaic, N.J., was "out of this world," according to Coach Woody Hayes. The rest of the Ohio State defenders weren't far behind.

"It was the greatest defensive effort I've ever seen," Hayes said after his Buckeyes stopped Purdue.

Tatum's contributions included breaking up three passes, a ton covering Keyes by himself. He was credited with three solo tackles and three assists and twice blitzed to throw quarterback Keyes off-balance for 18 yards worth of losses.

In gaining Back of the Week honors, Tatum won out over O. J. Simpson, who carried 47 times for 220 yards as Southern California nipped Stanford.

Report Meet Indicates United Fund Drive Is Getting Off To Good Start

Julie, David Keep Secret On 'Big Day'

ABLENE Kan. (AP) — Julie Nixon says she and David Eisenhower have set their wedding date. But they're keeping it a secret.

"I hope the wedding won't be turned into a TV spectacular," says David.

And while they were discussing their wedding plans, Julie's older sister, Tricia, was expected to be interested in politics. Tricia, 22, told reporters Tuesday in Newark, N.J.

Tricia, like Julie and David, both 20, has been campaigning for her father, Richard M. Nixon, the Republican presidential nominee.

Sometimes, she said, she brings Democrats home for dinner but, "Daddy doesn't mind. We try to convert them."

She said despite what "the gossip columns say, I don't have any special friends, but a number of friends."

Julie and David's remarks about the forthcoming marriage were made at a news conference held after they flew here from New York. They said Fred Grandy, a friend, will be best man and Tricia the maid of honor.

Young Eisenhower, grandson of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, said, regarding television coverage of the wedding:

"I tried to watch the Cleveland Indians and Boston Red Sox play baseball on television the afternoon Lynda Johnson was married but I couldn't because the network were saturated with pieces about her gown and so on."

Math Answer

The answer to the seventh grade mathematics problem is 15 pheasants and 12 squirrels. Let x equal squirrels, y equal pheasants.

The equation would read 2x equals y. Therefore, 2y plus 4x equals 76. Breaking it down further, the equation is set up this way: 2(27-x) plus 4x equals 76. The answer then easily comes down to x equals 12. Subtracting 12 from 27 and you get 15, for the number of pheasants involved.

Easy, isn't it?

Idaho Examiners Veto Two Travel Claims, Suggest Revision Of Current Policy

By EARLE L. JESTER BOISE (AP) — The Idaho Board of Examiners turned down Tuesday two travel claims for moving expenses of new state employees, but suggested present policy may need revision.

The policy requires advance approval by the examiners for paying travel costs for new employees moving to Idaho from out-of-state. The board said the two claims turned down did not have advance approval.

Involved in the claim for travel pay were two employees hired by the State Department of Education. One submitted a claim for $500 for moving from Laramie, Wyo., to Boise, and the other for $294 for moving from Provo, Utah, to Boise.

Atty. Gen. Allan G. Shepard said the board may need to set new policy. He said in some cases payment of such expenses may be justified if no qualified person is available in Idaho.

Samuelson said he agrees, but he added: "I don't think we've got a job in Idaho which we can't fill with Idaho people, and this includes the presidencies of the two universities."

Shepard suggested experts in business management and in personnel recruiting be invited to meet with the Board of Examiners to discuss the matter. The governor agreed. He asked that such a meeting be set up.

The board also instructed the State Department of Education to invite more than one proposal for preparing a film explaining Idaho's program for educating children of migrant workers. And it said state law prohibits payment of salary by a state agency to a state employee for work performed outside his regular duties. It suggested the legislature revise the law.

The Department of Education said it wanted to pay Dr. John Marks for teaching a course in Nampa on child psychology. Marks is superintendent of the Idaho State School and Hospital in Nampa.

The State Health Department said three persons on the staff of the Ada County Mental Health Center are teaching evening classes at Boise State College, which becomes a state institution next Jan. 1. The department asked approval of their continuing their teaching work. Shepard said state law requires a full-time state employee to devote his entire time to his job. He said strict interpretation of that law would prohibit outside work by any state employee.

Both he and Samuelson suggested the question be submitted to the state legislature for possible amending the law.

Congressman Finds Football Risky Business

MELROSE, Mass. (AP) — Rep. Torbert MacDonald, D-Mass., says his touch football days are over.

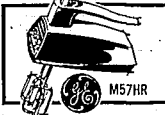

MacDonald, a former Harvard football captain and college roommate of the late President John F. Kennedy, was released from Melrose-Wakefield Hospital Tuesday after suffering a broken arm playing touch football with his sons.

"All during my football career, which spanned playing at Medford High, Andover Academy and Harvard," he said, "I never had a broken bone. But the age of 51 is not the resilient age of 21."

"From here on I will leave the playing to my sons and the watching to myself."

THE OVERLY MATCHED look in a room becomes dull and dreary, and cries out for change. The possibility has been avoided in this room by a mix of design and scale. The furniture, from Stanley's Grandee group, blends the classic lines of the square cigarette table, the Spanish scroll leg bench, carved acanthus leaves and a bonnet top for the interest of design variety. The wallpaper pattern placed high above the dado and the oversize lamp tend to minimize the size of the sofa. Small pieces, which add infinite charm, can achieve the proper proportions by grouping them.

His Outsell's Hers At New Wig Bar Store In London

LONDON (AP) — When John Stephen of C r n a b y Street opened a His and Hers Wig Bar a refundable 10 guinea deposit, eight months ago, they never expected that his would outsell hers, but that's the way it has turned out.

"We're selling a about 600 men's wigs a week," a Stephen's executive says. Not baldies, either. "Men of all ages and all nationalities are buying wigs, and most of them have plenty of hair of their own."

As they expected, many of their customers are business men who like something a bit more fanciful than short back and sides when they go out in the evening. But to the surprise, the converse is also true. Pop stars and other long-haired youths are buying short wigs for a change of pace.

Clients can choose from half a dozen styles, and prices start at 14 guineas. "Just the price of a jacket," There's the Jimi Hendrix, a vast mop of curls; the Scott Walker, long, straight tailed; the Beatnik, Brummel, ribbon-tied and hanging down the back; the shaggy Mick Jagger, and the unusual short crew wig. The Walker is hands-down winner in popularity.

To give the timid a trial run, the shop recently started a who really needs it who has to pay most for his scalp campaign. It costs four guineas plus postage. Made-to-order toupees cost 25 guineas. Full wigs of European hair are 25 to 30 guineas; Asian hair wigs sell for 14.

"Lots of American tourists buy our wigs when they see how much cheaper they are here," a salesman says. "They'd pay about $120 for the same thing in the states. Our mail-order wigs are especially popular with the Swedes."

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: Our 20-year-old son has just told us that he must quickly marry the little girl with whom he has gone steady since high school. She is 19. They are both in college and hope to graduate. Of course our hearts are broken, but what can we do?

Abby, the girl is really a sweet child, and she has adored our son for years. Our boy has never been in any kind of trouble, and we have always been so proud of him.

Since this has come up so suddenly everyone suspects it is a "have to" wedding, so am not going to deny it and look foolish seven months from now.

What do I say when people "congratulate" me, and kindly call me "Grandma"? Some have even tried to "comfort" me with the stories of how they've had "have to" marriages in their families and things have worked out well. I am terribly hurt and don't know how I should act. Can you help me?

"GRANDMA" (SOON)

DEAR GRANDMA: To all congratulations, say "Thank you." There is no such thing as a "have to" marriage. Every day pregnant girls are being deserted by bugs who refuse to accept the responsibilities of marriage and have no law in the land can "force" a man to marry a girl. If he marries her, it's because he WANTS to,

Round Table Discussion Held By Auxiliary

Mrs. Frank Horejs led the round table discussion when members of Stradley Auxiliary No. 5 met recently at the DAV Hall.

It was reported that T. M. Knight is still at the Twin Falls Clinic, but will be able to go home soon, and Mrs. Clarence Mitchell is home after being a patient at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital.

An announcement was made that the auxiliary membership quota is 64.

Proceeds from the rummage sale held in September will go to the DAV Veterans Hospital Christmas Fund for patients there and at the Mountain Home Air Force Base Hospital and Soldiers Home.

Stradley Chapter and Auxiliary will have a turkey potluck dinner at 7 p.m. Nov. 4 at the DAV Hall for members and state officers as well as R. B. Pender, Boise, national service officer.

Work day was announced for 11 a.m. Wednesday at the DAV Hall.

The social and potluck dinner will be held at 11 a.m. Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Emma Stone. Names will be drawn for the coming year. Members are asked to bring a gift to reveal names of secret pals; a covered dish and their own table service.

RICHFIELD: Mrs. Udell Robinson, Mrs. Lyle Piper and Mrs. Edwin Johnson, a guest, were prize winners when the Merriettes Bridge Club met recently at the home of Mrs. Louis Vaughn.

When I came home, nobody even asked me where I had been. I stole things out of stores, I lied, and did a lot of things I'm now ashamed of. I was never corrected or spanked or even bawled out.

My mother finally had a nervous breakdown, and I was sent from one foster home to another. I wasn't used to being corrected, so I'd keep running away. I'm writing from a foster home now. It took a while for me to realize that my foster mother corrects me and punishes me when I do wrong because she loves me and wants to teach me right from wrong. I would rather live here than with my real parents, but I still love them.

Peggy Annis, Jarolimek Say Nuptial Vows

RUPERT — Peggy Annis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Annis, Rupert, became the bride of Roy Jarolimek, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jarolimek, Burley, in an evening ceremony Aug. 2 at the Rupert Methodist Church.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Warren C. O'Connell in a surrounding of lighted tapers and tall baskets of pink gladioli and white chrysanthemums.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of Chantilly lace over tulle, styled with a scalloped neckline edged in sequins and long pointed sleeves. Four tiers of lace ruffles edged in sequins accented the floor-length skirt and draped into a train, with a big bow of nylon completing the back.

The bride's shoulder-length veil was held in place with a triangular hairpiece. A crown of pink and white carnations and pink rose buds made her bouquet.

Mickey Craven, sister of the bride, was matron of honor, and bridesmaids were Bonnie Annis, sister of the bride, and Mrs. David Jarolimek, sister-in-law of the bridegroom. Audrey Craven, niece of the bride, was the ring bearer.

Gary Waters was best man and ushers were David Jarolimek, brother of the bridegroom, and Bob Gibson.

Georgia Newman played the traditional wedding music and Claud Bowman was soloist.

Immediately after the wedding ceremony, a reception was held for the couple at the church. The three-tiered white cake was decorated with pink roses and pink gladioli on the base. A miniature bride and bridegroom rested on top.

Professionals Note Easy Ways To Launder Draperies

GLENN FERRY—"A gentle touch is needed to launder fiberglass draperies," cautions Marilyn Jordan, Elmore County extension home-economics agent.

Take a tip from the professionals about the best and easiest way to launder ready-made draperies.

A professional launderer carefully inspects all draperies for damage before washing, and makes repairs at that time. All hooks and weights are removed or covered with rubber protectors.

For excessively soiled draperies, the professionals pre-rinse them in warm water for a few minutes, drain, then add enough warm water for the draperies to float freely, a low suds detergent, and wash. A home-maker should gently squeeze and dunk the fabric. Scrubbing and agitation are not necessary with fiberglass.

Extremely soiled white draperies are treated by adding one-half teaspoon sodium perborate for safety-type bleach per gallon water with the detergent. For cigarette smoke or similar type soil, soak draperies after washing in a solution of one teaspoon ammonia per gallon of water for five to 30 minutes.

However, DO NOT USE the ammonia soak if you have used bleach in the washing procedure. And as with all fabrics, use ammonia and bleach with discretion. Use only the amount recommended. Careless use of these products can result in the removal of color from the fabric. Make certain bleach or ammonia is dispersed through water before adding draperies.

If a persistent stain remains, saturate the stained area with concentrated detergent, rub gently with soft sponge and detergent, and wash. Fiberglass draperies should be rinsed in warm water until water is clear.

Commercial laundries use the same drying method for fiberglass as homemakers. The draperies are hung on poles or rods. While still damp, the

On Contract
At Anaconda

COLUMBIA FALLS (AP) — Workers at the Anaconda Aluminum Co. plant in Columbia Falls will meet Thursday and Friday to vote on contract proposals negotiated by union and management representatives. A possible strike at the plant was averted when negotiators reached agreement about 12:10 a. m. Tuesday.

Gene Levitt, president of the Aluminum Workers' Trades Union, said details of the settlement would not be announced until the proposals are submitted to union members. The present three-year contract expired at midnight Monday.

Union members reported for work Monday night after Levitt advised workers to report for the graveyard shift at midnight.

Negotiations for the plant's more than 700 employees had been going on sporadically during the past month and had resumed Monday at 8 p. m. following a recess. The plant had not had a work stoppage because of a strike in its 13-year history.

The broadcast identified him by name but said revolutionary masses throughout the country under the leadership of Chairman Mao Tse-tung have now completely disposed of China's Khrushchev and a handful of his followers. That is the way the Maoists refer to Liu.

Two Hunters Fined, But Where Is Elk?

HAILEY—Two Blackfoot hunters have been fined for illegal possession of elk, but the whereabouts of part of the animal is still a mystery, officers reported Wednesday.

Mrs. Verda Allred, Halley justice of the peace, said she fined David Home, 40, and Robert Hume, 44, both Blackfoot, $150 each for possession of illegally taken elk.

The men were apprehended in Wolfson Gulch, a tributary of Deep Creek by Conservation Officers Ray Lyon, Halley, and Richard Bross, Burley. There were several other men in the group of hunters, but charges were filed only against the Blackfoot men. They did not have a permit for the special hunt in the area.

Mrs. Allred said that the Hume brothers had only the hind quarter of an elk in their possession and officers found two front quarters buried nearby under some leaves. But she still does not know where the one hind quarter went, she added.

Red Chinese
Pull Troops
From Vietnam

By GEORGE MCCARTHY
Associated Press Writer

HONG KONG (AP) — The Communist Chinese Government has begun withdrawing some of the more than 50,000 labor troops sent into North Vietnam during the 1954 bombing campaign, qualified sources reported Tuesday.

The initial withdrawals were reported "relatively small" but the decision itself was seen as an indication of Red Chinese thinking about the Vietnam war.

At the peak of the U.S. bombing, Red Chinese labor troops in North Vietnam numbered well over 50,000 according to American intelligence figures.

They worked mainly in the port of Haiphong, along the vital northeast rail and road lines from Hanoi to Red China and on the coastal highway network stretching south from Hanoi to the Mu Gia Pass, which enters Laos above the 17th Parallel. Some Chinese were also used along the Ho Chi Minh trail in Laos.

These worker troops were in addition to technical experts and the Chinese military forces which provided much of the muscle for North Vietnam's air defense command. These strictly military men presumably are still on the scene.

Intelligent sources are unsure exactly when the withdrawal of labor forces began. Evidence of the move came into the Western hands within the past few weeks.

After President Johnson ordered the end of bombing above the 18th Parallel on March 31, the North Vietnamese and the Chinese have been working to get the country's road and rail network back in operation.

The withdrawal of labor forces is believed to mean that North Vietnam's transport and communications network is back in working order above the 18th Parallel, although much remains to be done.

WEST DEFENDS AND BIDS BADLY

West didn't have much of a hand and succeeded in misdefending it first and misdefending it later.

Let's look at the misbidding. After South redoubled North's one spade opening, West was correct in passing. East would get out of the trap into some suit. If the suit were clubs West could correct to one of his four card suits. West would be monds was almost criminal. North really should have bid, but decided to gamble that his side could not make a game. It was a mighty good decision. Playing at clubs the defense can take a diamond and two aces; playing at hearts, a club lead will hold declarer to nine tricks. So would a diamond lead unless declarer played a low trump to force out East's singleton ace. How did West manage to misdefend? He opened the duce of diamonds. South won with the ace and drew trumps with three leads. This gave West a chance to rick up tricks and he threw first the four, then the duce of hearts—falsely showing heart strength.

South led a spade to dummy's ace. East took his ace and played the ace and another heart. This gave South a chance to discard dummy's second diamond and make five clubs instead of four.

happily if East bid hearts or diamonds.

East did get out into two diamonds and South bid three clubs. At this point West's hand should have begun to look good. He could see four diamonds to the king and what was almost surely a very valuable singleton. A jump to four diamonds would not have been much of an overbid. Failure to bid three diamonds

Trackers Seek 'Atomic Gators'

AIKEN, S.C. (AP) — Sonar-equipped scientists in powerboats, led by a University of Utah scientist, are tracking alligators through the waters around the Atomic Energy Commission plant near here.

Scientists at the plant say the alligators, once headed for extinction because of poachers, water pollution and development of the swamp-lands, appear to have gained a new lease on life because of the Atomic Energy Commission.

They say that water drawn from the Savannah River to cool the plant's reactors is returned to the river several degrees warmer because of its use within the plant. This water, the scientists say, seems to have a beneficial effect on alligators.

No radiation is involved, plant officials insist, since the water is only used for cooling.

Montreal Mayor Looks At Canada's Progressive Future

BY JOSEPH MACSWEN
Canadian Press Writer

MONTREAL (AP) — The man who runs the second largest French-speaking city in the world is off and running again as Montreal prepares to field Canada's first major league baseball team.

Jean Drapeau, re-elected mayor in 1966 by an unprecedented 88 per cent of the vote, doesn't know how to stand still.

There have been some flat spots in his career, but Drapeau's 32 years resemble the kind of kaleidoscope that could be seen at Montreal's Expo 67 or at the so-called Sun of Expo, a permanent summer fair formerly known as "Man and His World" which the city has set up at the Expo site.

Once known as a timid boy, Drapeau turned into a lawyer and a bustling prosecutor. He became mayor at 38, lost the job, then came back to help transform the city of 2½ million.

An array of skyscrapers, a new cultural center, a subway with trains on rubber tires—these are some of the developments in his reign.

A crucifix and a picture of Elizabeth II, queen of Canada as well as of Britain, hang in Drapeau's office.

He greeted a reporter with a cheery "Comment après-voilà?" then switched easily to English. He often talks in millions, but he observed:

"My own definition of prosperity is expressed in terms of the speed with which $1 changes hands. If in one day the same $1 changes hands 100 times, that makes 100 people happy. Perhaps it comes back to the first spender. But if the first keeps his dollar, there is no happiness and no prosperity."

To a suggestion that the advertising world could have used him, the mayor grinned:

"Ah, but you cannot succeed just by advertising a bad product. The product has to be good, and Montreal is good."

"Great cities can no longer set their industries within their borders... these establish in the suburbs. So sports business and show business are very big industries. They not only bring in thousands of people for themselves, but they are generators of business.

"The combination of baseball and Man and His World here—that's perfect."

Occasionally—citizens—boggle at the cost. They argue that the city's $26-million deficit can never be overtaken by a city lottery, now under attack in the courts. But he is optimistic, and says: "More and more great cities must provide their citizens with better means of living—not materially—but spiritually."

Some Quebecers think this province's future lies in separation from the rest of Canada. Drapeau is not one of them, but he suggests that the French-speaking people who dominate Quebec are among the nation's greatest assets.

He says Canada could not exist but for the French-Canadians who fought off American attacks after the Revolutionary War.

In July 1967 he heard Charles de Gaulle echo the cry of the separatists. "Long live free Quebec," at Montreal's City Hall.

Drapeau, descended from a French-tailor who came to New France 303 years ago, struggled for hours to compose a reply, only to discard his notes. Finally he rose at a civic luncheon and delivered an impromptu address, courteous to the French president—but staid—in-Canadianism:

"The best formulas... serve all of Canada best, and the North American continent..."

"Our ancestors, our grandparents, our parents have saved French Canada and, like France under their leadership, turn resolutely to the future."

U.N. Observers Ponder Biafran Ruins

IKOT EKPENE, Biafra (AP) — Screaming vultures circled overhead while seven members of a foreign observer team looked at corpses of Biafran soldiers in this ghost town 25 miles from the last secessionist stronghold at Umuahia.

The Nigerian army command claimed the Biafrans were driven out of the town early this month after a short occupation. But the fighting is far from over and the observers heard an occasional shot during their five-hour stay.

"We held Ikot Ekpene during the day," said a Nigerian officer. "We concede it to the rebels during the night."

The observers from the United Nations, the Organization of African Unity, Britain, Canada, Poland and Sweden—were invited by the Nigerian government to investigate charges of genocide and to watch the conduct of federal troops.

Thousands of refugees, mainly old women, crippled men and reed-thin children are swarming into the federal areas after months of hiding in the dense rain forests. Some observers, who did not wish to be identified, said the refugees were dying at a rate of 20 per 1,000.

The observers saw hundreds of children—lonely and starved. Many were in advanced stages of malnutrition. One young boy lay dying on the roadside. Others ran. "Show them how happy you are," ordered Col. Ayo Ariyo, sector commander.

The men started singing "Oh Lord, Show Us the Way."

One soldier, who surrendered, Israel Osofor, said his comrades were weary of war but a hard core was determined to fight to the death.

He said retreating Biafrans told civilians that federal troops would slaughter them. He said the Biafrans were herding the civilians toward Umuahia, which is the target of the final Nigerian push.

in forward areas there are another 130,000 civilians housed in churches and makeshift camps. Observers said the Nigerian army has a serious problem of feeding and protecting them. They said the refugees fear Biafran infiltrators who may kill them for seeking safety behind federal lines.

The Red Cross team, headed by Theodore Sachan of Kiel, Germany, is hampered by lack of medical facilities. It was providing refugees with one meal daily, and one member said children's deaths had declined but still remained high.

In Port Harcourt, before observers drove to Ikot Ekpene, the Nigerian army displayed of shirts and men-in fresh clean shirts who they said were Biafrans.
