Glenns Ferry Sets Auction On Utilities

GLENN'S FERRY A public auction was approved for 8 a.m. Wednesday in the Glenns Ferry hot lunch room to dispose of used refrigerators and freezers. The district is disposing of these appliances because new walk-in unit eliminates their need, said Mrs. Rebecca Montague, clerk. Mrs. Jack Craig, in charge of the hot lunch program, reports at the auction bond totaling this week, 10,049 meals had been served since school opened, for an average of 536 per day. George Powell, superintendent, discussed problems facing the district with the proposed decrease in the utility tax along with the current phase-out of the inventory tax. The board is planning a meeting to discuss the loss of income here. The assessment valuation of this district will be reduced about $288,000, reports Mrs. Montague, for an annual loss of about $100,000 in money. A trustee meeting will be held in Twin Falls Tuesday and some of the local board plan on attending.

Demo Talks About Water In Burley

BURLEY — "If my opponents were truly concerned with farm problems they would be concerned with the problem of trying to grow crops with polluted water," Darrell Manning told the Burley Exchange Club Thursday. "My opponents' six-point farm program mentions nothing in this area," Mr. Manning said. "Farmers do not have to be told that polluted water affects the quality of their crops and industry does not have to be told it has a problem with pollution." Mr. Manning continued, "We seek solutions, and so far both my opponents have been strangely silent."

Small 'Alert' Tag Can Save Lives By Warning Of Medical Peculiarities

TURLOCK, Calif. (NEA)—One day in 1953 a teenage girl in Fresno, Calif., was cutting a young farming town cut her finger. Because of that incident, today more than 300,000 people believe that a doctor should give them—or may someday be saved. The girl's name is Linda Collins. When she cut her finger, 15 years ago, she was taken to a hospital where the attending physician gave her a routine patch test, before administering tetanus anti-toxin, to see if she was allergic to that serum. She was allergic to the anti-toxin. The patch test alone put her in a coma for four days. A father who undoubtedly would have killed her. Her father and mother naturally worried that someday—a doctor, unaware of her deadly allergy, might give her such a dose. Her father would worry. But Linda Collins' father was a doctor—Dr. Marlon Collins—and he worried with directness.

The highway patrol in Montpelier, Vt., called about No. 147888 and learned what medication the diabetic was taking. The Los Angeles police department called about No. 253322 another diabetic with specific medication requirements. The police in Washington, D. C., called about No. 253322 and learned that the child having convulsions at the swimming pool was an epileptic, and what to do about him. A doctor in London, England, called when No. 133347 called on a "Tardis" street—old found out about his allergies. Chester L. Watts, executive director of the nonprofit foundation, says their work is two-fold—educating the 40 million people who should wear some warning on their persons about the foundation, and simultaneously educating law enforcement personnel and medical people to look for the Medic-Alert tags. The organization has uncovered a new kind of hypochondriac—those who might be termed jewelry hypochondriacs. They want to wear a tag, even without any dangerous condition. One woman applied for membership and requested that her tag read: "Patient Takes Dil Dil Dil." The foundation turned her down. A new wrinkle is a tag which reads "Organ Donor." These are supplied to people desiring of giving one or more of their vital organs for transplanting. If these people become accident victims, the doctor at the scene can call Medic-Alert and learn which of their organs can be used for transplanting. More information about joining Medic-Alert can be obtained directly from the foundation, Turlock, Calif. 95380.

War Victims Drop In Viet To 'Low' Point

SAIGON (AP)—The number of Americans killed in action in Vietnam last week was the lowest in eight weeks, the U.S. Command announced. Thursday, South Vietnamese and enemy casualties also dropped, reflecting the current lull in ground action.

The weekly casualty report said 177 Americans died in combat during the seven-day period ending at midnight Saturday.

This was the lowest number of Americans killed since 159 died in the week ending Aug. 17. In the week ending Oct. 5, 190 Americans were killed in action.

The U.S. Command also reported that 1,278 Americans were wounded last week, with 659 requiring hospitalization. A week earlier, 1,326 were wounded.

South Vietnamese headquarters reported that 176 government troops were killed last week, 630 were wounded and 14 were missing. In the previous week the totals were 322 killed, 1,065 wounded and 25 missing.

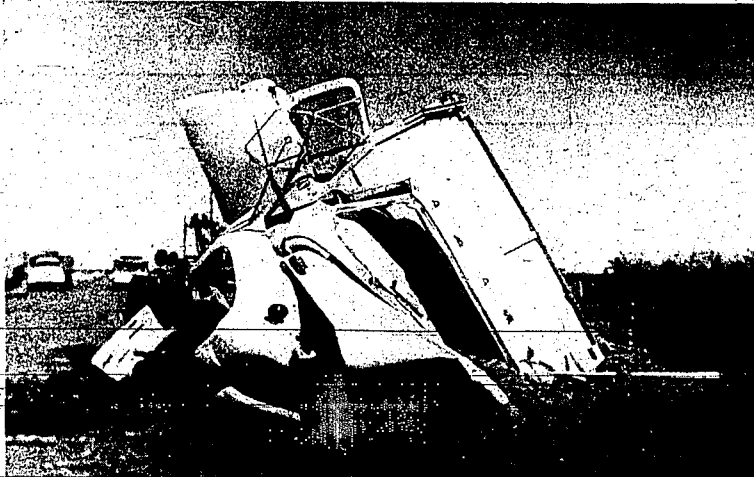

A total of 1,637 of the enemy were reported killed last week, a sharp drop from the 2,115 reported for the week before. But the latter figure was an upward revision from 1,654 reported last Thursday.

The weekly report raised to 28,825 the number of Americans killed in the Vietnam war since Jan. 1, 1961. In that period 180,829 Americans have been wounded in action, and 1,206 have been listed as missing or captured.

The U.S. Command said enemy dead total 496,276 from Jan. 1, 1961, through last Saturday.

Demo Candidates Rap Road, Truck Regulations In State

BURLEY—Strong exception to the highway safety and truck regulation policies that are now being used in Idaho was issued Thursday in a joint statement of the nine Democratic legislative candidates from South Central Idaho.

"We oppose the employment of 50 more state patrolmen. We already have a state police force that averages right at four men for each of our 44 counties. More patrolmen do not automatically mean fewer accidents, particularly when our roads are hazardous," the candidates stated.

As a constructive alternative, the nine prospective legislators proposed that Idaho should establish a specific program of highway safety engineering which would locate and remove traffic hazards and carry out the careful placement of accident preventative signs.

The candidates call for an examination of the handling of the state liquor law enforcement department. This department was criticized and reorganizations were suggested at the start of the present administration.

The candidates state, "Idaho should know what changes were made and whether or not the harassment and change of policies have contributed to the increase in our highway death rates."

"These candidates also charge inconsistent administration in the regulation of the trucking industry. They cite the fact that highway safety engineering was removed from Idaho highways and for a time the weight regulations were handled in a 'catch as catch can' matter with very little control. Abuses occurred and both bridge and road damage followed, they declare.

Now the highway law enforcement has gone to the other extreme, weight rules are being enforced rigidly without tolerance for fuel load, or any other necessary variables.

"A good share of Idaho's economy depends upon an efficient and prompt trucking service. Both the trucking industry and the operators of private carrier trucks are entitled to a consistent and reasonable administration of the rules under which they must operate," concluded the candidates.

The candidates pledge their support for needed amendments in the automobile safety inspection law. They cited the specific

Nevada To Trim 'Skill' Action

CARSON CITY, Nev. (AP)—Nevada's Gaming Control Board is moving to cut down the number of house-financed players in the state's 84 licensed poker games.

"You don't have much of a chance in a game which is filled with shills and stakes players," Chairman Frank Johnson said Wednesday. "They can freeze you out of the game."

A shill is paid a salary by a casino "to stimulate the action" while a stakes player is given cash by a casino to sit in a game for the same reason, said Johnson. The difference? A shill doesn't profit from any winnings, while a stakes player gets a share, explains Johnson.

The board ordered a limit of two shills and barred stakes players in recommending approval for Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Herzog to operate a poker game at the D&N Club in Sparks. The board said it was not singling out Herzog, but wanted other poker game operators to take a hint.

VETERANS CONCLAVE SET, BOISE (AP)—The status of employment of disabled veterans in Idaho will be reviewed at a meeting in Boise Oct. 29. It was announced Wednesday.

WASHINGTON—Red China is headed for another sizable grain shortage. The total crop will be at least 10 million tons less than last year.

There will undoubtedly be food rationing and belt tightening. Also, the Peking rulers will again be compelled to buy free-world grain.

Imported 4.3 million tons of wheat in the past five years. In the past five years averaged 5 to 6 million tons annually.

Fragmentation

For five years the Kremlin has been trying to stage a world conference of communist governments, with the overt purpose of regaining some of the lost prestige it has suffered as a result of the ideological tug of war between Moscow and Peking.

It nearly succeeded in promoting such a meeting for next month, but that is all off now as a result of the Kremlin's brutal subjugation of Czechoslovakia.

Former Premier Khrushchev started the movement toward a world meeting of communist leaders, with solidarity as its principal attraction. In 1963, the pudgy dictator was deposed in 1964 before he could bring his plans to fruition, but his successors in the Kremlin almost immediately continued plans for such a conference.

Finally, last February in Budapest, delegates from 68 communist parties met to plan for a world conference. November 25 was set as the date. Virtually all of the communist parties were represented at this preliminary meeting except the Japanese, North Vietnamese, Yugoslavs, Albanians, Cubans, North Koreans and of course the Chinese.

Then came the iron boot in Czechoslovakia and the destruction of any pretense that the leaders of that country had any say about how it was to be governed. But what happened was more than a brutal return of the Stalin era.

Destroyed along with the Czech concept of a more liberalized form of communism was the doctrine preached for years by many Western European communist parties of "democratic" communism.

Many of the delegates who had agreed to the Nov. 25 meeting have now withdrawn and the world conference has been indefinitely postponed. The Kremlin has alienated by its action in Czechoslovakia many of those communist parties which were among its strongest supporters in the tug of ideological war with Red China.

The international communist movement stands fragmented more deeply than at any time since it was born a half century ago. Those parties which had been showing considerable strength in Italy, France and Japan have been undermined, and some may be totally torn apart by internal dissension.

This is a moment of diplomatic opportunity for the Free West, but they will require finesse and an astute sense of timing to prevent the globe of world communism from recoagulating.

RAY CROMLEY

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Contacts with Hong Kong and other top nations and China's nuclear missile program has been arrested for treason.

Two of his closest colleagues have also been jailed for spying for the Soviet Union.

The vice president and the secretary-general of the prestigious Chinese Academy of Sciences have been charged with the same offenses.

This political rippling apart of Red China's brilliant nuclear-missile team would explain the recent slowdown in Mao Tse-tung's nuclear weapon development.

Moreover, it would indicate such serious disruption of Red China's top echelon of nuclear-missile scientists that it may be very difficult for Mao to regain his momentum in the nuclear field for some time to come.

These were no ordinary scientists. Chien Shi-chang, director of the Institute of Atomic Energy of the Chinese Academy of Sciences, is considered the most eminent nuclear physicist in Red China. He was a collaborator of Frederic Joliot-Curie. In 1946, his nuclear work was awarded the physics prize of the French Academy of Sciences.

But the Nixon camp knows that the debater and high-flyer affairs for front-runners. An off-hand remark or a wayward gesture could be extremely dangerous.

Rowland Evans and Robert Novak Report: Nixon's Toughest Issue

George Wallace will be included, and Nixon says he will not be a party to giving Wallace exposure on nationwide television.

But that excuse is no longer valid, because of Humphrey's offer to raise one-half the approximately $250,000 to buy work time and finance the kind of debate Nixon could not turn down.

With Nixon so far in front that the election seems to be in the bag, it is natural he would do everything to avoid the unknown pitfalls of a face-to-face confrontation.

Front-runners never want to debate their opponents. Thus, Nixon up to now has taken refuge behind section 315-B of the Communications Act.

This prevents the TV networks from offering free time to any presidential contenders unless they offer it to all the minor candidates too.

Even if Congress does amend that law, as now seems probable following the extraordinary all-night session in the House this week, it is a party nonline to accept the Humphrey challenge is already beginning to hurt him politically among rank-and-file Republican voters. They worry that, if Nixon continues to play coy in the face of Humphrey's harassment on the debate issue, Humphrey soon will charge him with cowardice and make the debate the central issue of the campaign.

But within the Nixon camp there is wide difference of opinion. Some advisers say privately that Nixon is now so confident of himself and the momentum of his campaign he might suddenly decide he wants a debate with Humphrey. But these same advisers worry that Humphrey might get under Nixon's skin and cause him to lash out in the old Nixon style or even lose his temper, as he did in his famous "last press conference" following his defeat in the 1962 California gubernatorial race.

That could be disastrous for Nixon. But the Nixon camp knows that the debater and high-flyer affairs for front-runners. An off-hand remark or a wayward gesture could be extremely dangerous.

Some Republican leaders have told us that Nixon's reluctance

MR. SPECTATOR

Ten Years Of Jet Flight

Like Mr. Spectator, most of you folks probably feel that the jet passenger planes have been around for a long time. Just isn't so. It was only 10 years ago in Oct. 26, 1958, that the first commercial jet went into service.

It was a Boeing 707-121 which was purchased by Pan American World Airways (now better known as Pan-Am) which carried about 120 people from New York City to Paris.

The first plane — shown above — was christened on Oct. 16, 1958, by Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower as Juan T. Tripp, now honorary chairman of the Boeing Jet Foundation. Lots of things have happened in jet flight since then and lots more will happen.

It was Pan Am's decision in 1955 to order 20 Boeing 707s that led to the opening of the jet age. It was Pan Am's decision again in 1956 that led to development of the Superjet, which the airline will introduce into commercial service a year from now.

Pan Am predicts that the approaching decade will bring improvements even surpassing the tremendous progress of the first decade of jet flight. The Superjet with its superior capacity and efficiency will have the same multiplying effect on air travel as the first jets did 10 years ago.

The new aircraft will be big enough to carry 400 passengers, but Pan Am will offer only 300 seats, affording accommodations more comfortable and luxurious than any airplane to date, and changing the atmosphere from that of an elongated tube to a spacious living room.

The subsonic Superjet will travel 10 percent faster than present jets and far higher, reducing consumption in the present airlines and opening up vast new unused airspace to commercial flights.

In spite of its size, the 747 will operate from the same airports as present jets. The increased power of its engines — which, incidentally, will operate at lower sound levels than today's jets — will lift it from or land it on the same runways, and its 18 landing wheels will distribute its greater weight on the pavement so that each point of contact bears less weight than today's jets.

The Superjet, however, will not be the ultimate airplane of the next decade. About 1972 the 122-passenger superjet Concord is due to enter service. It will speed passengers at 1400 miles an hour to any point on the globe within 12 hours. And before 1978 the United States super-jet transport, the Boeing 2707, will be carrying about 532 million passengers in 1958, the first year of jets; this year will carry 153.5 million, and by 1978 the total is expected to rise to 410 million.

This increase will bring many changes. First, there will be development of an automatic ticket vending machine. It will drop into his hand—confirmed, recorded and ready to use.

A new system is being developed for baggage handling. Experts are devising bins that will be loaded at check-in counters, then locked in the airplane belly, and unloaded in the destination terminal. Each bin will be matched to color-coded claim checks as each passenger can go directly to the proper bin and select his luggage from a smaller pile than now emerges from the hold of the 707.

New technology and new systems, particularly computer-aided concepts of air transport, will all lead up to a 20th anniversary of jet travel. In 1978, no place on earth will be remote, and the moon will be within his hand.

And Mr. Spectator—the hopes will still be living in Twin Falls!

BRUCE BLOSSAT Court: LBJ Should Try Again

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Deprived of a victory he did not deserve in the fight to gain Senate confirmation of Justice Abe Fortas as chief justice, President Johnson may give his adversaries victory they do not deserve if he falls to name another.

There simply was no glory for anyone in the handling of the Fortas case and nothing that has been said or done since the withdrawal of his name suggests any improvement.

If Chief Justice Earl Warren's letter of resignation is still operative (and there is no reason to believe it is not), then the President has confirmed his duty and responsibility to name another successor promptly.

Much is currently being made of the fact that Warren's letter did not fix a specific resignation date but made his retirement effective as of the date his successor had confirmed. But anyone who attended Warren's rare early summer press conference, as this reporter did, could have no doubt that he thought he was resigning at the end of a full Supreme Court term and that a successor would take over in the interim.

In this congenitally suspicious town, it was perhaps inevitable that Warren's thing should have been looked upon by some politicians and observers as a move to deprive Richard Nixon, if he is elected Nov. 3, of a chance to name a successor chief justice. During his decade as governor of California, Warren found his relations with fellow Californians Nixon severely strained.

Nixon suffered badly when, in 1950, Warren ran for his third term and Nixon ran for the U.S. Senate. Warren declined to endorse Nixon, and he felt pressure from Nixon forces.

More damage was done in 1952 when favorite son Warren learned that Senator Nixon was privately laboring to assure the Eisenhower forces of heavy support for the presidential nomination. In the 70-member California delegation looked up for the governor. (The delegation never did break away from Warren.)

This reporter knew Warren well in his years as governor. He was consistently honest and candid in dealing with his people his confidence with Nixon, there seems utterly no reason to doubt his sincerity when he said in a recent interview that he thought it reasonable and logical to return at the end rather than in the middle of a court term. And if a virtual replay of his summer press conference were possible, his intent as a farewell performance would be clear.

JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D. Pimple Squeezing

Dear Dr. Molner: I read recently in a campus publication that squeezing pimples can result in brain infection and sometimes in death. Is this true?

Yes, it can happen. It's not common, but sometimes when a pimple is squeezed (and the pimple means a small pocket of infection) germs can be forced into the bloodstream. Since some of the blood vessels of the face, especially around the upper lip and nose, are closely connected to the vessels carrying blood to the brain, the potential danger is considerable.

Not every ch'ang, deputy director of the Institute of Atomic Energy, received his Ph.D. in physics from the University of Berlin in 1947. He was a physicist in 1956 to 1961, deputy director of the Joint (Soviet-U.S.) Institute of Nuclear Research in Dubna, the Soviet Union. He is a specialist in the formation of heavy mesons and hyperons in cosmic rays.

Hua Lo-keng, director of the Institute of Mathematics of the Chinese Academy of Sciences, received his D.Sc. at Cambridge University. In 1957, Hua was first class winner in the Chinese Academy of Sciences awards for outstanding contributions in science.

For some time, China's nuclear and missile scientists were protected from the most vicious of the personal attacks that accompanied Mao's cultural revolution in many areas of Chinese life. They were a privileged and sheltered group.

But things have changed. Revolutionary groups have been formed at most of the test sites. There are reports that revolutionary workers at the Taichang rocket plant have "exposed" a group of "capitalist roaders." Top ranking scientists have been forced to appear in public with revolutionist placards around their necks.

The problem is, apparently, that many of the scientific group are former U.S. missile and rocket engineers who cooperated with the Soviet Union in order to take advantage of Russian technical know-how. This apparently led to their downfall.

Minico To Hire Officer

RUPERT — The Minidoka County School Board has approved the appointment of a security officer for the district.

The district, a newly approved position in the district, would be responsible for driving the Spartan bus, and would be on duty on the outside grounds at the High School and during games and other school activities. No one has been hired as yet to fill the position although the appointment is expected to be made soon, school officials said.

On Nov. 11, the board will open and review bids for the insulating of the Pershing Elementary School in Rupert.

Also during Tuesday's meeting, a request from Katherine Kraus, Heyburn, for the release of the district's option to buy her property was granted. The option was taken prior to the Sept. 17 special school bond election which would have provided for the construction of two new Junior High Schools for the district.

The board also approved a lease with the city of Rupert on the use of the school buses for recreation purposes, and a letter-lease agreement which would allow the school to lease the civic building from Nov. 1 through March 15 for junior high activities.

Dale Trantham appeared before the board Tuesday night and reported that the school district is offering a school bus drivers course each Monday and Wednesday at 7:30 p.m.

Teachers contracts for Barbara Shinn, teaching the sixth grade at Lincoln School, and Virginia Schrock, teaching second grade at Heyburn, were approved by offering a school election results and approved them. The results were those of the special facilities bond election.

Israel Ponders Annexing Region Taken in War

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israel may annex the territories it occupied in the 1967 Arab-Israeli war unless the Arabs show willingness to make peace, Defense Minister Moshe Dayan told a student rally Wednesday night.

The military hero urged Israelis to settle in the Golan Heights seized from Syria and Egypt's Sinai Peninsula. He also said the territory taken from Jordan, on the west side of the Jordan River, should be linked to Israel economically and administratively.

Foe Of Franco Jailed In Spain

MADRID (AP) — The National Court of Purgatory today sentenced a wealthy Italian opponent of Gen. Francisco Franco's regime to prison for the second time in eight years.

Antonio Manchaca, 45, Viscount de Bahia Honda and son of a multimillionaire Bilbao shipbuilder, was convicted of attacking the security of the state and the Franco regime in an article "Theory of the Opposition," which he published in a magazine in February.

Manchaca Carroaga was sentenced to six months in prison and a fine of $357. In March 1961, he was sentenced to a year in prison for plotting with other intellectuals to overthrow the Franco regime.

ROME (AP) — The Italian government has opened the door for passage of a bill legalizing advertising of birth control pills and other contraceptives in Roman Catholic Italy.

Health Minister Zeffino Lanzani told the Chamber of Deputies commission on health and hygiene that Premier Giovanni Leone's government would not oppose the bill.

Vatican sources said the Holy See also planned no opposition in approval of the bill but would remind Roman Catholics of their duty to abide by Pope Paul's ban on artificial contraception.

Birth control pills are available in Italy on a doctor's prescription. Other contraceptives are sold as hygiene aids, but a 37-year-old Fascist ban prohibits advertising of contraceptives. A majority in parliament favors repeal of the ban.

Determined Shipwright Works To Overcome Loss Of Sight

By H.W. KUSSEROW Of the San Francisco Examiner

POINT REYES, Calif. (AP) — John Omundson has all the qualifications — good hands, proper training, many years of professional experience — of an expert shipwright, except one — he is blind.

But he is proving in a wood-working shop in Point Reyes that he can pursue his trade in spite of the handicap.

Omundson, 36, is working on a 24-foot fishing boat, powered by a 10-horsepower Acadia engine — the maiden effort of the Omundson boat works.

"It's a double-end boat with a bustle stern," he explained, holding up a model and pointing to a flared-out protrusion of the hull at the waterline.

The "bustle" keeps the stern from dropping lower in the water as the vessel picks up speed. "It'll do a solid 8 knots," he promised. "Maybe better."

Omundson is the "company" man on the vessel picks up speed. "It'll do a solid 8 knots," he promised. "Maybe better."

himself, a six-month project. He salvaged thousands of feet of lumber, out of which he built a floor and workbenches in the rented shed where his boat works now flourishes.

"Flourishes" may be an exaggeration, Omundson admits; he works very slowly. "I can't afford to make a mistake."

But he expects to have his first boat completed by the end of October. He is putting a $3,000 price tag on it and hopes to receive custom orders when it is done.

"It's a tough upward pull," he said. "I know some of my friends are saying I can't do it. Some are even saying I'm crazy, but I know I can do it."

Alaskan cedar keel. Omundson prepared himself as a shipwright by working for shipbuilding and repair firms in Astoria, Ore., and Seattle for nine years and then in San Rafael and Sausalito from 1960 until he became blind.

In 1965 he received six months of special training at the Orientation Center for the Blind in Albany, Calif.

Omundson uses all the power tools in his shop and hammers nails like a carpenter. His only special tool is a metal braille yardstick. "But I don't use it very much."

His admix is was nervous when he started using the large bandsaw and planer but found that "relaxation was the key."

The only job he will not do is paint the boat, as "I don't want a splotchy job."

His boat is designed to accommodate six comfortably and to handle well in any kind of sea. As for quality, "the hull will last for 50 years."

Omundson has had financial help from the State Department of Vocational Rehabilitation and from Social Security, and he has borrowed money.

"Now I've got to prove I'm a good risk," he asserted.

'Disciplining' of Judges Sought

Ballot Lists Judicial Change

BY BUD JORGENSEN — BOISE (AP) — A constitutional amendment on the November election ballot would allow the legislature to set procedures for discipline or removal of judges. The effect of passage would be to allow a key portion of the 1967 judicial council act to go into operation.

The 1967 law set up procedures for forced retirement, discipline or removal of judges but there must be specific constitutional authority before it can be effective.

Both the Idaho State Bar Association and the Idaho Trial Judges Association have endorsed the constitutional change.

A second amendment on the ballot involving the judiciary deals with filling vacancies and would clear up a conflict between wording in sections of the constitution on the executive branch of government and the judiciary.

A section in the article on the judiciary says the legislature shall set the procedure for filling vacancies but a section in the article on the executive branch of government says the governor shall select persons to fill vacancies.

He noted, however, that three court vacancies have been filled since the Judicial Council Act was passed and in each case the governor appointed from the list submitted by the council.

Orval Hansen Asks Efforts To Meet Needs Of Indians

By The Associated Press — Orval Hansen, Republican congressional candidate in Idaho's 2nd District, has called for government incentives to industry for locating near Indian reservations.

Hansen, speaking Wednesday in Pocatello, called the Indian need for updating the sugar beet subsidy program. He said $550 million in surplus collections of excise taxes collected to go to farmers.

The GOP candidate in the First District, James McClure, said in Caldwell election of a Republican administration is needed to restore public faith in the federal government.

Hansen said today that there is a need for "stronger or former bargaining power... to save the family farm and to prevent food production in America from being controlled by a few giant corporations."

His Democratic opponent, Darrell Manning, said in remarks prepared for delivery to a Burley service club "both my opponents have been strangely silent" about pollution-control.

"Farmers do not have to be told that polluted water affects the quality of our food," he said. "It has a problem with pollution," Manning said.

The other candidate in that race is Joel Andersen, leader of the American Independent Party ticket.

Compton White, Democratic candidate in Idaho's First Congressional District, said he would like to see the state government take steps to meet the needs of Indians.

Democratic Chief Assails Governor

BOISE (AP) — Idaho Democratic Chairman F. T. Waters has accused Gov. Don Samuelson of not practicing what he preaches.

Waters, reacting to a statement by Samuelson that there is not a job in state government which couldn't be filled by an Idahoan, said residents of other states have been employed in several jobs in agencies under Samuelson's control.

He listed William Carter, head of the Division of Management Services; Charles L. Holley, chief of the Bureau of Public Accounts; and William H. Peterson, head of the Personnel Commission.

Waters also said some state administrators serving under Samuelson are retired federal workers receiving federal pensions in addition to state salaries.

He listed Col. Robert V. DeShazo, commissioner of public works; Col. Charles M. Rountree, head of Civil Defense; and Col. Kenneth C. Hammond, secretary of the Idaho Horse Racing Commission. All three came to Idaho only recently.

"If it is the governor's conviction that state jobs should be filled by Idaho people," Waters said, "then why has the Republican administration filled the more highly-paid positions with out-of-state people?"

Hunters Are Found Safe By Officers

Three hunters from Las Vegas were located late Tuesday by Twin Falls County Sheriff's officers after friends had reported them missing.

Sheriff Paul Corder said the hunters, Tom Perrin, Tom Sly and Larry Tremor, were found about 10:30 p. Tuesday by Deputy Lee Kistler.

He said the men had flown into the Murphy Hot Springs area Sunday in a Cessna 172. Three hunters from Las Vegas who were coming to the area "by car."

The last that had been heard from them was when they closed their flight plan in Boise, via radio.

The party that was expected to meet them at Murphy Hot Springs was unable to reach the area because of bad weather.

The three men, it was reported, had no supplies with them and friends in Las Vegas requested the sheriff's office to make a search.

They were located alive and well at the hot springs.

Warehouse Is Hope Symbol For Retarded

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — An old candy-tobacco warehouse in a predominantly Negro neighborhood is a symbol of new hope and a better life for thousands of mentally retarded.

The Philadelphia Association for Retarded Children obtained $185,000 to renovate its two-story work training center. Most of it came from federal grants.

It will provide schooling, diagnostic services, job training and placement for 200 persons, perhaps handling several times that number every year.

"Like the measles, I want this institution to spread," said Marvin Schwartz, chairman of PARC's training committee.

The center, started more than three years ago, hopes to do more than $200,000 a year in sales in packaging such items as party goods, catalogs and drug samples.

"Our trainees... are paid on a piece basis, according to their ability to produce," Schwartz said. Wages average from $10 to $20 weekly. And 18 former center trainees now are earning more than $100 every week as mall handlers in the post office.

Grant OK'd For In Depth Study Of Cassia Schools

BURLEY—Cassia School District has received a federal grant of $14,000 to study ways of improving special education programs in the district. The grant includes a provision to hire a psychologist to make the study.

Cassia is one of four counties in the state to receive this grant, reports Supt. Ezra Moore.

The school board tabled a proposal from school principals which included responsibility during a teaching walk-out.

The question arose because administrative responsibility problems have been created in other parts of the country during teacher walk-outs.

Moore said the proposal, if approved, gives guidelines to teachers on what support to expect on certain issues from their principal. No matter what happens the first responsibility of the principal will be to safeguard students and school property and include responsibility in delayed teacher contracts and holidays.

The proposal submitted is a joint project of Cassia County School principals and Minidoka county principals.

Herman Bedke, attorney, explained the legal side of the proposal. The school board stated that after further study, action would be taken on the subject within the next two months.

The policy of not changing school bus routes unless a student must walk over one-quarter mile to meet a bus was reaffirmed by the board.

The application by the First Baptist Mission Church, Oakley, to use the high school for church activities was tabled for further study.

Bob Hope Named To Lead Parade

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Bob Hope will lead the 1968 Tournament of Roses parade next Jan. 1, then fly to the Far East for his annual Christmas tour of U.S. military bases.

The comedian, who led the parade as grand marshal in 1947, is the third person to be picked twice. The others were U.S. Chief Justice Earl Warren in 1943 and 1955 and Richard M. Nixon in 1955 and 1960.

3 Minico Seniors Are Honored

RUPERT—Three Minico High School seniors have been selected for the second in the weekly series of selections for the new 110 per cent Club Boy and Girl, sponsored by the Rupert Chamber of Commerce.

Tony Mayer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Mayer; Dean Hunter, son of Mrs. Chrisen Murphy, and Mary Bank, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Isak, all Rupert, were named for the honor, according to project chairman Richard Maggard.

The weekly selections are made by numerous organizations and groups throughout the city of Rupert to help create enthusiasm for the Minico High School's athletic program.

Miss Isak is president of the Pop Club, of which she has been a member for two years, and is also active in debate, Radio Forensic Club, National Forensic League, Service Club, Minico and John's Daughters, of which she is presently the honored queen.

Her classes include American government, debate III, book-keeping, Greek mythology, art II and newspaper.

Playing offensive tackle and defensive middle guard, Mayer has been active on the school's football program for four years, two of which have been on the varsity team.

He is a member of M Club, German Club, Ski Club and Key Club. Tony's classes include physics, literature, mechanical drawing, advanced math and government.

Hunter plays defensive tackle and offensive strong guard and has been playing football for the school for three years. He also plans to go out for track this year and is active in French name.

Twin Falls Rotarians Hear Explanation Of UNICEF

An explanation of UNICEF, its history and its aims, was given to the Twin Falls Rotary Club Wednesday by Mrs. John Breckenridge, chairman for UNICEF in Twin Falls.

Noting that there is a feeling among some people that UNICEF gives too much help to Communist countries, Mrs. Breckenridge explained that this stems mainly from the period right after World War II when UNICEF assistance was given to a number of nations that eventually went behind the Iron Curtain.

She also mentioned that UNICEF—United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund—became simply United Nations Children's Fund after 1950, a permanent fund to help nations who asked for assistance establish programs that will benefit their children.

Mrs. Breckenridge said that for every UNICEF dollar that goes into a project, the country helped put up $30.

The UNICEF program comes to the attention of most communities around Halloween, the night on which volunteer children go from door to door to ask pennies as a "trick-or-treat for UNICEF." The donations are used to finance UNICEF programs.

Jerome To End Spring Vacation

JEROME—The school board has voted to eliminate the scheduled spring vacation so that the school year will end on May 29.

Teachers did not favor the late closing as many of them attend summer sessions beginning in June and many farmers also stated that their children are needed for field work at the earliest possible date.

The board voted at the monthly meeting this week to allow tuition for Angelika Maddox to attend the Twin Falls Rehabilitation School. The fee for lost books was set at $250.

The Neighborhood Youth Corps program was accepted for the 1968-69 year. It specifies no more than seven students can be hired as teacher or library aides.

Club, Key Club and Ski Club—His classes include architectural drawing, English literature, American government, art and physical education assistant.

The selections were made following the recent Minico-Duh name.

Today's Market And Financial Report

Stocks

2:30 P.M. SUMMARY
NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market gains in a boisterous "peace rally" were trimmed late in the session as heavy volume dilled with a possible new record for a day's trading.

The Dow Jones Industrial average backedtracked from an intraday high of 7 1/2 and showed a gain of less than 3 points in the day.

Heavy buying by institutions during the Wednesday closing session was combined with eagerness of traders to get aboard a "peace bandwagon" and gave the Big Board record first-hour trading of 1.6 million shares.

National Dairy up nearly a point, paced the list on activity. Bristol-Myers, up about a point, boosted the volume of the most-active, lost by a single block of 510,000 shares.

Occidental Petroleum, very active, made up a 1/2 point, had good news about shipment from its Libyan oil findings.

Among other very active shares, about 2 1/2 million Montgomery Ward, General Instrument and United Utilities preferred advanced but at a point each.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange remained well ahead despite some profit taking.

Calves were strong to 50 cents higher and feeder steers were steady to 25 cents higher at the Wednesday sale at the Twin Falls Livestock Commission Co.

Traders mixed and moved at fairly good pace and reacted in quick, nervous movement to the apparent lack of definite information on the oil bombing.

Trade in the major pits had opened on a relatively firm tone and after prices had advanced about 3/4 cent some profit taking developed and declines got underway.

Wheat prices were unchanged to 1/4 higher, December 66 cents; rice was unchanged to 1/4 higher, December 66 cents.

Calves were strong to 50 cents higher and feeder steers were steady to 25 cents higher at the Wednesday sale at the Twin Falls Livestock Commission Co.

Traders mixed and moved at fairly good pace and reacted in quick, nervous movement to the apparent lack of definite information on the oil bombing.

Trade in the major pits had opened on a relatively firm tone and after prices had advanced about 3/4 cent some profit taking developed and declines got underway.

Wheat prices were unchanged to 1/4 higher, December 66 cents; rice was unchanged to 1/4 higher, December 66 cents.

Business Mirror

NEW YORK (AP) — Figures this week that showed the economy continuing to overheat despite government efforts to cool it suggest that somewhere in the economy there is a very serious flaw.

The seriousness of this failure to make the economy respond to orders—the inability to bring supply and demand for goods and credit into better balance—is recalled by events of just a few months ago, when the U.S. dollar was challenged.

That challenge, come what may, might be priced too high to remain competitive with foreign products. That would make it difficult for the United States to balance its books.

Controls on the economy are primarily fiscal and monetary. Fiscal policy refers to government taxing and spending; monetary policy, a function of the Federal Reserve Board, refers to the availability and cost of money.

Some groups in the financial community now believe that the immediate failure to reduce the inflation-economy results from a conflict between the two policies. There is some evidence that the two canceled each other out.

A decision was made earlier this year to reduce inflationary demand through a 10 percent surcharge on income taxes and a similar reduction in federal spending. This was aimed at taking excess dollars out of the economy.

The Federal Reserve Board, monitor of money supply, was among the strongest supporters of fiscal restraint. But, for some reason, once the fiscal action began taking money out of the economy, the Fed began putting it back in.

This was like a homeowner stocking his furnace and lamping it at the same time. The heat level remained the same, but lot more energy was expended and the industry itself may have been damaged.

Why should the Fed, after seeking a slowdown, have made the money supply larger in July, August and part of September? Any easy answer very likely would contain only part of the truth.

The Fed's activities are incredibly complicated; even some of its own officials fall to understand them.

By raising interest rates and making money less available, for example, the Fed might hope to restrain a young man in a long hair, big mustache and a few dollars' worth of shipping point basis.

A — Most of your holdings fall into the growth category and thus offer very little income but merit retention unless you are desperately in need of funds.

However, American Airlines and National Cash Register are good income stocks. Because of your total holdings, have low yields and with 20 issues to which I would eliminate these two—L. J. Smith, Fisher Scientific on the basis of low yield and poor interim earnings.

Once-Feared Computers Prove Friend Of Man By Increasing Employment

POUGHKEEPSIE, N.Y. (UPI)—Computers, once feared by many people as tyrannical masterminds programmed to put them out of work, have turned out to be friends of the working man. At least that's the way some computer people see the situation.

"Industry," says Greer, "would like to see young people come out of high school with a basic understanding of what a computer is all about so that they will be in a better position to plan their careers and to take advantage of these new jobs. The problem has always been that there weren't enough teachers with a good understanding of computers to go around. That's what our program is all about."

apolls, Newark, New Orleans, New York, Pittsburgh, St. Louis, San Francisco, Seattle, Syracuse, Washington, D. C., White, N. Y.; Poughkeepsie, N. Y. and Philadelphia. About 40 teachers have been trained at each center in courses that ranged anywhere from two to six weeks. Dates for the sessions were worked out at the convenience of the teachers involved.

BERRY'S WORLD

"The teachers usually took over in the third week," says Greer. "As they go along teaching they come up with many new ways of getting their knowledge across to a class." Typical teacher in this summer program is Bob Livitt, a Poughkeepsie-Area math instructor, who was tutored last summer by George Heller, a staff member of the Poughkeepsie Education Center. Livitt then taught his seventh grade math class the same course.

Candidates Vie For 'Top Banana' At Memorial Fete

NEW YORK (AP) — The Democratic and Republican contenders, Hubert H. Humphrey and Richard M. Nixon, finally got into the same ring with the retiring champion, Lyndon B. Johnson, looking on and stealing the show.

While Humphrey kidded Nixon and Nixon praised President Johnson—sounding almost as if he rather than Humphrey were Johnson's vice president—Johnson spread the humor with a partisan hand.

The scene was the annual Alfred E. Smith Memorial Dinner presided over by New York Archbishop Terence B. Cooke. On hand were an array of political figures past and present—including New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller; former New York Gov. Thomas E. Dewey; Sen. Jacob K. Javits; James A. Farley; Franklin D. Roosevelt's chief political operator, and the three principal figures, Nixon, Humphrey and Johnson.

Humphrey recalled that he had been trying unsuccessfully to get Nixon to debate him in a face-to-face confrontation. With Nixon only a few seats away, Humphrey observed, "What the television networks, the United States Congress and my telegrams couldn't accomplish, Archbishop Cooke has accomplished . . . I wish I had Archbishop Cooke as my campaign manager and my advance man and my finance chairman."

When Nixon spoke he noted that there are times when people in politics had to be critical of each other but there are other occasions above politics.

And then, the man who's vice president said of Dwight D. Eisenhower's vice president said of Democrat Johnson, "He's the hardest working President we've had in this century."

Before the program began in the Waldorf's Grand Ballroom decorated with silver leaves and hundreds of red roses, Johnson and Nixon—with Farley sitting between them—engaged in an animated conversation while Humphrey worked on his speech three chairs away.

Johnson, at times looking almost glum, also was praised by Rockefeller, who said, "We know the tremendous burdens you have been carrying for all of us and the people of this great state, are deeply gratified."

Johnson spoke last. He noted all the veterans of the political wars around him. He kidded that no chief had ever been surrounded by so many Indians.

"I don't think any veteran can appreciate my feelings on this night, except maybe General Custor," Johnson said, bringing laughter.

He suggested that Humphrey, trailing in the polls, was looking to the archbishop to bring off a miracle.

But of Nixon's hope for a rebirth of his political career, Johnson said, "Mr. Nixon is hoping of course that the archbishop has come hear to witness a resurrection."

Nixon, the President added, "appears to be so confident of these days that he's already planning to change the name of Washington, D.C., to Resurrection City."

The President with Nixon smiling at his left did a parody of Nixon's now-famous 1962 news conference after losing the day against producer Ivan Tors. California Governor's race, Johnson, with laughter building in the audience, said, "This

Top Candidates Vote 'Together' On U.S. Policy, Differ On Spending

By JACK BELL, AP Political Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate voting records of Richard M. Nixon and Hubert H. Humphrey show them closest on foreign and military policy and farthest apart on spending.

Nixon, the Republican presidential contender, and Humphrey, the Democratic nominee, have laid out their differences in campaign papers and speeches. But these primarily represent promises.

But any comparison of actual performance, as nailed down in their own voting records, has to stretch back to 1952 when both were members of the Senate and were faced with decisions on the same issues.

This was the year of President Harry S. Truman's bitter fight with Congress, which ended with his domestic program in shambles. Almost without exception, Humphrey supported Truman and Nixon opposed him.

When the Senate killed Truman's veto of the controversial McCarran-Walter immigration bill, Humphrey voted to uphold the President and Nixon to override.

Nixon and Humphrey stood together in opposing foreign aid cuts. But Nixon voted to restrict the cost of the Point Four program and Humphrey against it.

They differed over other policies in this field.

Nixon supported and Humphrey opposed an amendment barring foreign aid assistance to countries exporting war materials to Communist bloc countries.

Humphrey supported ratification of the Greek-Turkish protocol to the North Atlantic Treaty, but Nixon did not vote. Nixon voted for ratification of the Japanese peace treaty, and Humphrey was recorded as favoring it in a "pair."

Both supported a Senate mandate for a 143-wing Air Force and both opposed an effort to cut Air Force research and development funds by $68 million in the service's funds.

But Nixon voted for and Humphrey against pigeonholing a military pay raise bill.

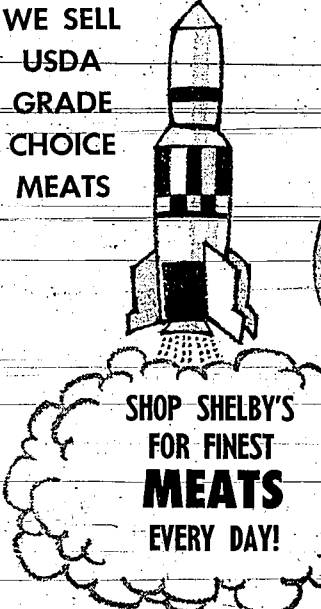

Nixon, who said in Chattanooga, Tenn., during the current campaign that he had always voted for TVA, was recorded as favoring that agency's funds by $45.7 million, a move that Humphrey opposed. The Senate subsequently added $14.7 million to TVA's funds as previously approved by the House, with Nixon opposing and Humphrey supporting.

On other spending proposals, Humphrey supported and Nixon opposed adding $6.5 million to Bureau of Indian Affairs funds.

When Truman asked for a two-year extension of price, wage and stabilization controls, Nixon voted to end rent controls and Humphrey opposed the action. Similarly Nixon supported and Humphrey opposed taking price controls off agricultural products.

In the eight years that he was Vice President, Nixon cast seven tie-breaking votes in the Senate. In all but one instance, when he was absent, Humphrey was lined up on the other side.

Murtaugh, Rocklan Meet For Title Showdown, 13 Other Games Set Friday

Murtaugh and Rocklan slug it out for the Magic Valley Conference championship and the right to advance to the fourth district playoff, both taking place in a tough game in a row and some of the area teams wrap it up this weekend in high school football.

A total of 14 games will be played with Minico leaving the area to play at Blackfoot. The Murtaugh-Bulldog battle will take place in Rockland with the winner going north to Gem of Bancroft in the special game Nov. 2, probably at Burley. And the easy one is scheduled for Friday, Oct. 13, when the two teams meet in a game at Blackfoot. It should be an aerial duel.

Bruins Return Home To Host Highland

The Twin Falls Bruins returned in three straight road trips, return to Bruin Stadium Friday night to host the air-Allen Dykeman, has one record and is threatening several Southern Idaho Conference titles.

The Bruins left their home in three weeks with a 2-1 record and have lost three straight — to what most consider the easier part of the schedule. In fact there is such a thing in the SIC.

Friday they face the league's closest thing to a passing circus — the Twin Falls pass-ers. A blocked punt and a bad pass from center in punt formation set up two Bulldog scores and a third came on a 53-yard play that saw one Nampa man and one Bruin hit the ball before it wound up completed.

Schoendienst Gets Healthy Pay Increase

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Red Schoendienst signed Wednesday to manage the National League St. Louis Cardinals baseball club again next season and expressed satisfaction with his one-year contract.

Schoendienst was not disclosed. Informed sources said he got a raise of about $10,000 a year which put him in the $35,000 range in his fifth year as manager.

A year ago, after winning the World Series, Schoendienst expressed disappointment that his 1968 contract was for only one year.

"Very satisfied" was the way Schoendienst described his new deal, especially since Mr. Busch took over. He's been just great."

Migratory Waterfowl Shoot Hours

The following hours are the best waterfowl shooting times for the 1968 waterfowl season in Lemhi, Carter, Butte, Camas, Blaine, Gooding, Lincoln, Minidoka, and Twin Falls and Cassia counties.

The duck season in the nine Magic Valley counties runs from Oct. 12 through Jan. 19 and the goose and merganser season is Oct. 12 through Jan. 12. Hunters should add one hour for daylight time if and when in use.

Linebacker Cited For Raider Play

NEW YORK (AP) — Chuck Allen is the American Football League's defensive player of the week as selected by The Associated Press today.

The 29-year-old middle linebacker was the focal point of the defense, which completely stifled the Oakland offense in the second half of the Chargers upset the Raiders 23-14, preventing them from equating the league record of 15 straight victories.

The Raiders, trailing 17-14 at the half, never could catch up because they ran off only 17 plays in the entire second half and gained a net of only 10 yards. The Charger defense also held Hewitt Dixon, the league's top rusher, to 21 yards in 10 carries.

Defensive Marks Are Drooping

NEW YORK (AP) — High scoring college football offenses are leading defensive figures to record proportions among major schools.

Miami of Ohio leads the major colleges in total defense with a low yield of 107 yards per game, according to NCAA statistics released Wednesday, but that's the most ever allowed by a leader over the first five weeks of the season.

Highland End Nears Receiving Records

Highland's Allen Dykeman has led all Southern Idaho Conference pass receiving record and is threatening several more, according to statistics released today by league coaches.

Currently the receiving department is monopolized by former Canton, a 1964 graduate of Caldwell who is starting split end at Oregon State. But Dykeman, after a slow start, has caught Canton in total touchdowns passes with eight and is only one behind the ex-Canton in conference TD receptions.

A comparison of the records held by Canton and the current totals of Dykeman include season receptions, 57 and 39; season yards gained, 481 and 729; and 478; season touchdowns, eight and eight; and conference touchdowns, eight and seven.

Dykeman has four more games left to try and wrest some of the records from Canton and will have an advantage in that he will play in one more league game than Canton. Meridian has joined the league since Canton left.

Not surprisingly, Dykeman's Highland teammate, Mike Trujillo, is leading in passing with 925 yards overall and 503 in 35.1-year-old only conference games have gone to Dykeman. Trujillo has tried more passes (121) and completed more (68) than anyone in the league.

Cowboys Obtain Sonny Randle

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — The Dallas Cowboys of the National Football League Wednesday obtained apt Sonny Randle, who was traded from the Redskins to the Cowboys by San Francisco last week.

The Cowboys said Randle will be activated in about two or three weeks.

Randle is a 10-year veteran and provides backup help for Bob Hayes and Lance Rentzel.

LAUREL, Md. (AP) — Training camp has made it difficult for Dr. Fager to get race in the Washington, D.C., international on Nov. 11.

The $150,000 race is 1 1/2 miles long on the turf.

Boxing Unit Rejects Idea Of Tests

MEXICO CITY (AP) — A request by the Medical Commission of the International Olympic Committee to test Olympic boxers for possible use of dope stimulants was rejected Wednesday by the Amateur International Boxing Association.

The latter organization is ruling body for the sport and the AIBA spurned the request when it was learned the Olympic Medical Commission is planning to immediately after boxers to take the boxers to a laboratory for testing by their doctors.

Dr. Lewis Bonstein of London, senior medical officer of the AIBA, said: "Only IOC doctors would check the fighters, locking out our organization. The results would be kept secret from us, but we would be informed if a test proved positive."

Big E Ready To Dish Out And Receive

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Elvin Hayes, the "big E" from Houston, says he'll dish it out as well as take it in his first National Basketball Association campaign.

The 6-foot-9 1/2 Hayes, last year's college player of the year, starts at center for the San Diego Rockets in the season opener Thursday night against Seattle at the Sports Arena.

Hayes is making brash statements, no predictions of ripping the league apart.

"Some nights I'm going to get smoked," he said, "and some nights I'm going to smoke somebody else."

Hayes will be matched in his debut against 6-foot-9, 225-pound center who rates as a physically tough opponent.

Whittingham Is Honored For Defense

NEW YORK (AP) — When the New Orleans Saints picked Whittingham called the defensive signals, made 13 individual tackles, six assists and stopped the Vikings twice in the final minute.

Whittingham was named Wednesday the defensive player of the week in the National Football League by The Associated Press.

This is the same Whittingham who played with great distinction at Los Angeles and Philadelphia before he came to the Saints in the expansion draft last year.

He was a member of the ill-fated Cal Poly squad that was involved in a tragic plane crash but he missed that trip because of what he calls a "lucky, very lucky" concussion.

"Fred did one of the most outstanding defense jobs that I've ever seen," said Jack Faulner, chief defensive coach of the Saints after the 20-17 victory over the Vikings.

In the final minute with the Vikings desperately trying for a first down, Whittingham stopped them twice.

Smith Takes 200-Meter, Seagren Wins Pole Vault Title In Olympics

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Tommie Smith, shrugging off an agonizing muscle pull in the 200-meter dash, and Bob Seagren, confidently passing up some of his turns in the pole vault, shattered records Wednesday night in bringing the United States its fifth and sixth gold medals of the Olympic Games.

Smith, who pulled up lame after winning his semifinal heat just two hours earlier and was a doubtful starter until moments before the final, hit the tape two meters ahead of goateed John Carlos, his San Jose State College teammate, and fast-moving Peter Norman of Australia.

The long-striding, 6-foot-2-inch, 170-pounder, finished in 19.8 seconds, smashing his own recognized world record of 20.0. Norman nipped Carlos for the silver medal, with each clocked in 20 flat.

The pole vaulters, meanwhile, were plodding along in the field of the track as darkness descended on Olympic Stadium.

Seagren, who celebrates his 22nd birthday Thursday, was awarded the gold medal over Claus Schiprowski of West Germany and Wolfgang Nordwig of East Germany on the basis of fewer misses.

All three missed their three tries at 17 feet, 10 1/2 inches, and the screwkipping had to revert to previous heights.

All had cleared 17-8 1/2, but Nordwig, missed twice before making it over while the other two missed just once. That put Nordwig in third place. Going to the next lower height, 17-3 1/2, Schiprowski had one miss while Seagren passed it up, which counted as a success for him since he cleared the next height.

Seagren also had passed his turns at 16-8 1/2 and 16-10 1/2. A three who were vaulting at the finish were credited with smashing both the Olympic record of 16-8 1/2 set by Fred Stans of the United States in 1954 and the listed world mark of 17-7 3/4 set by Paul Wilson of the United States last year.

John Pennel, the second American, went out at 17-8 1/2, said Christo Papanikolaou, a Greek national who attends San Jose State College. Pennel was placed fifth, behind Papanikolaou.

Colette Besson, a petite French brute, won the women's 400-meter dash, equaling the Olympic mark of 52 seconds. Russian strongman Janis Lusia topped a record-breaking javelin field with a toss of 225 feet, 7 inches and West German's Ingrid Becker prevailed

Hunters Urged To Help Improve Landowner-Sportsmen Goals

With the pheasant season opening just over a week away, Magie Valley sportsmen were urged to join in the 1968 program of "Operation Respect" of private property by members of the area Landowner-Sportsmen Council, currently known as the "Landowner-Sportsmen Council."

Meeting in Twin Falls Wednesday night, the council noted the lists of arm patches and identification cards, currently available to hunters at many license vendors, the Fish and Game Regional Office in Jerome or through individual members of the various outdoor groups throughout Magie Valley.

The project is aimed at separating the sportsmen from hunters and letting landowners know there are still many who appreciate the fact that trespassing on private property is a privilege and not a right. Proceeds of the operation will be used in areas of public education or perhaps direct relief in cases of private property abuse. Ed Scholes, regional conservation enforcement supervisor, urged the department cannot possibly hire enough men to adequately patrol all the pheasant hunting areas. He urged sportsmen to understand that the days of free public hunting will continue to dwindle unless every true sportsman becomes actively involved in ridding the fields of vandals.

"We (the department) can perhaps slow it down," Scholes said, "but without the active support of conservation-minded citizens we can't stop it."

He noted this support should come in the form of tips and reports on illegal activities of vandals. "We need this information as soon as possible," he said. "If it is allowed to cool off a day or so, it generally freezes out."

Persons wishing to help may contact the Fish and Game Office in Jerome but Scholes said the department, in cooperation with police and sheriff departments throughout the county, has developed a communication system. Persons reporting misdeeds to a sheriff's office will be put in contact with the department in a matter of minutes usually.

"We always try to keep sportsmen out of the cases but sometimes they must become involved. This is the thing that keeps so many people from helping us," Scholes continued. He said it was particularly true in matters of trespassing as the landowner must sign the complaint. Feeling vandalism in return, many landowners decline to help in prosecuting cases.

The council recommended that the legislature enact a law prohibiting carrying loaded guns in vehicles.

The next meeting will be held in January.

Brown Is Scoring At Record Clip

NEW YORK (AP)—If Bill Brown, the Minnesota Vikings fullback, continues at his present pace, he will top Gale Sayers' National Football League record of 22 touchdowns in 1968.

With only five games played in the 14-game season, the 5-foot-11, 230-pounder has scored nine touchdowns.

Sayers had scored eight times after his first five games in '66. When Jim Taylor of Green Bay set the record with 19 touchdowns rushing in 1962 he had only three touchdowns at this stage of the season.

Sayers of Chicago, despite a series of injuries, leads the league in rushing with 359 yards to 347 by Cleveland's Leroy Kelly, the runnerup. Brown is fifth.

Smith, Carlos Level Racial Blast At U.S.

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Tommie Smith and John Carlos leveled a bitter racial blast at the white social structure Wednesday night after winning the gold and bronze medals respectively in the 200 meter dash of the Olympic Games.

"Explaining their demonstration on the victory stand, where they held clenched fists in black gloves high over their heads, they said the reason was to show the solidarity of black America."

"While America would not understand," said Carlos, of San Jose, Calif., the militant spokesman of the occasion. "They recognize us only when it is something bad and they call me 'Negro.'"

In the middle of the press interview after the awards ceremony, Carlos took the bronze medal from around his neck and passed it on to his wife standing behind him.

"This is yours," the black athlete said. "I do not want it."

Carlos did most of the speaking for Smith. From Leonore, Calif., nodded his head in agreement.

Carlos said when he and Smith mounted the victory stand he heard applause from the crowd of about 60,000, but also heard a lot of booing and saw people, featuring white thumbs down, like a crowd at a bullfight.

"They look upon us as nothing but a bunch of niggers and monkeys and ants," Carlos said. "The reason for the closed Negroes in the United States and black men in America are united. We are gradually—no I mean rapidly—getting closer together."

Carlos and Smith said the reason they wore only one glove each was that they could get only one pair of black ones, which they shared.

They wore knee-length black stockings as an added gesture of protest against treatment of Negroes in the United States and green and white buttons which said "Olympic Project for Civil Rights."

Carlos was asked why all the Negroes were not following the same procedure.

"Each will protest in his own way," Carlos said.

Negroes Don't Want Medals From Officer

MEXICO CITY (AP)—U.S. Olympic officials and the famed Jesse Owens sought Wednesday to smother the newest flare-up among Negro athletes—an informal move to snub Avery Brundage.

A virtual gag was placed on the athletes—Owens, winner of four gold medals in the 1936 Olympics, said he planned meetings with team members to try to smooth over this situation.

Several American black athletes have let it be known that they don't want the 81-year-old president of the International Olympic Committee to present them medals.

Ralph Boston of Nashville, Tenn., veteran Olympian and co-holder of the world long jump record, joined U.S. sprinters in saying he preferred that he get his medal—should he win one—from someone else.

"This is not an organized thing—we haven't had meetings and talked about it," Boston, considered a moderate in the protest movements of black athletes for better civil rights, told a group of newsmen in front of the U.S. quarters at Olympic Village.

"Partly, it's because of Mr. Brundage's stand on South Africa. Partly, it's because of some of his statements which I resent. Maybe he was misguided. I have to believe what I read in the newspaper."

The IOC president was quoted before the Games as saying that any athlete demonstrated at the Olympics would be sent home. Brundage also has been criticized for favoring the admission of apartheid South Africa to the Olympic movement.

Brundage was in Acapulco Wednesday for the yachting competition and thus avoided a confrontation with the medal issue at the Olympic Stadium.

Deadline On Yule Parcels Suggested

This is the time of year for people who intend to mail Christmas parcels overseas to start Christmas shopping and mailing, Fred Sanger, Twin Falls postmaster advised Thursday.

Care should be used in preparing packages for overseas transportation, especially parcels headed for Vietnam and other areas of the Pacific.

All articles should be packed in boxes of wood, solid fiberboard, or strong double faced corrugated fiberboard.

All fiberboard boxes should be securely wrapped in heavy paper and each box should be well tied with strong cord.

Care should be used in packing to prevent any rattling or loosening of articles within the package.

Crumpled newspaper pages make packing material, he said. Unless they are tightly filled and packed boxes may be crushed under heavy loads while being transported.

Parcels should be addressed on one side only and should have the address and return address written again inside the package in case the exterior address label should come off.

The postmaster noted that special attention will be placed on the delivery of mail to servicemen in Vietnam and the surrounding area and stressed use of APO and FPO numbers on all overseas military mail.

Recommended deadlines for gift mailings to members of the armed forces overseas are: surface transportation (large packages), Nov. 9; space available mail (small parcels), Nov. 23; parcel air lift, Nov. 30 and air mail, Dec. 10.

Last year all Christmas mail posted before the suggested deadlines was delivered prior to the holiday. To be sure of on-time delivery, these deadlines should be met, the postmaster said.

Republicans Gain Historic Backing

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Florida's free-swinging light over the U.S. Senate is one of the hottest races in the South this year and for the first time in this century the Republican candidate is favored.

GOP Rep. Edward Gurney is given a slight edge over former Gov. LeRoy Collins in a campaign in which Vietnam has been the main issue but much of the speech time has been devoted to the candidates' past political bedfellows.

Gurney has toured the Florida peninsula trying at every turn to tie Collins tightly to the Johnson-Humphrey administration. The silver-haired former governor has attempted to shake Gurney to Florida's flamboyant GOP Gov. Claude Kirk, whose popularity dipped after an aborted drive for second spot on the Republican national ticket.

There is widespread animosity in Florida against the Johnson administration, Gurney says, and it will hurt his opponent because "Collins was a key member of the chain during his time in Washington and he supported LBJ all the way."

Collins resigned as president of the National Association of Broadcasters at President Johnson's request in 1964 to become the first head of the Community Relations Service. The next year, Johnson named Collins undersecretary of commerce.

The silver-haired former governor has replied that he served wherever he was asked, but that he remains his own man. And usually he counters with a charge that Gurney "is in the same political bed" with Kirk, who has been called the "Go-Go governor."

Collins has pointed out that his "Republican" foe—Winter Park law office handles business for the State Turnpike Authority and says, "I have been telling people that Gurney and Kirk were working intimately together, and what stronger ties are there than money?"

The candidates, both attractive and veteran vote-getters, are vying for the seat vacated by retiring Democratic Sen. George A. Smathers.

Gurney forces frequently refer to Collins as "Liberal LeRoy."

Collins says he rejects all labels, while Gurney invites his audiences to call him a conservative.

Gurney's Harvard-shaped New England tones sound much like those of the late President John F. Kennedy, but his views are closer to third-party presidential candidate George C. Wallace.

Collins calls for de-Americanization of the Vietnam war in a soft drawl common to his home area near the Florida-Georgia-Alabama lines.

"I am unalterably opposed to escalating the war further," says Collins. "We need to end the war as soon as possible."

Gurney says he espouses a "win policy" in Vietnam and urges increased bombing and closing of the port of Haiphong.

Gurney, 54, was elected to the House in 1962 and has been returned to office with increasing pluralities.

Collins, 59, was elected governor in a special election in 1954 after Gov. Dan McCarty died shortly after taking office. In 1956 he won a full four-year term.

Physicians Offer New Hope Of Curing Some Blindness

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — A few dozen people blind for years now are seeing again through a new method of restoring the windows of the eyes, a specialist reported Thursday.

One man passed his driver's license test a few weeks ago, said Dr. Louis J. Girard, of Baylor University College of Medicine in Houston, Tex.

A woman, blind for 48 years—since childhood—now is able to see the children she reared, he added.

The operation putting an artificial cornea or "window" into the eye might help 10 to 15 percent of the millions of blind people throughout the world, Girard said.

It applies only to those whose own corneas have been damaged by chemical burns or other injuries or certain diseases, or who have congenital defects affecting the cornea, he said in a report for the American College of Surgeons.

He predicted that most ophthalmologists or eye specialists should be able to perform the operation.

Girard said he has placed artificial corneas into the eyes of 60 persons in the last 3 1/2 years, and at least half are able to see.

"The results are the most gratifying I have had in my career as an ophthalmologist," Girard said in explaining the technique at a news conference.

The surgery uses a tiny shaft of clear plastic which acts as a thick lens. It has skirts or projections of mesh which hold it in place through the cornea.

The person's own eye tissue can adhere to the mesh to keep it firmly placed. To achieve this, the mesh is covered with human eye tissue, sclera and conjunctiva, taken from the other blind eye or from donated human eyes, he said.

Girard is professor and chairman of the department of ophthalmology at Baylor University and director of the Eye Institute at Texas Medical Center.

DEAR ABBY: Since they haven't found a cure for leukemia yet, could you tell me why they are spending so much money trying to get to the moon? My daughter has leukemia and I think the money they spend for this outerspace foolishness could be put toward a cure for leukemia and other fatal diseases.

DEAR ABBY: I understand and sympathize with your viewpoint. However, science's exploration of outer-space is hardly foolishness when one comprehends all of its implications for the future.

And present research on all forms of cancer, including leukemia, is absorbing about all the money that the research personnel and organizations can handle. Also, with all sincere respect for the victims of this dread disease, there are other areas of human misery that desperately need funds for relief.

In other words, there is no easy way to cut the inadequate amount of public funds available for mounting human needs.

DEAR ABBY: Our son is getting married soon to a girl who lives in the town where he now works and lives. We have met this girl, and she seems nice as far as we can tell on such short acquaintance. However, there are a couple of little things that should be taken care of, and I am at a loss as to how this should be handled.

Believe me, Abby, this is not easy to write, but her: goes is she forever taking off her shoes, and when she does, her feet smell. Also, she wears sleeveless dresses and it is obvious that she does not shave underneath her arms. Wait, I'm not thru. I don't think this girl has ever heard of an underarm deodorant. Not only is it offensive, but she has huge perspiration rings on her clothes.

There is no excuse for this!

Supreme Court Candidates To Appear At League Of Women Voters' Fair In T. F.

A judicial ballot again will be offered the voters of Idaho in November and the two judges seeking the post will take part in the candidates' "fair" to be held in Twin Falls Oct. 24, Judge Charles R. Donaldson, Boise, and Judge Boyd R. Thomas, Idaho Falls, will speak during the formal fair program, announced Mrs. Roy Slotton, president of the League of Women Voters of Twin Falls.

The League is sponsoring the event from 5 to 10 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 24, in the American Legion hall. All national state and county candidates were invited to participate in the formal program which begins at 7:30 p.m. Before 7:30 and after 9 p.m. the candidates will be prepared "booths" to meet the voters and distribute campaign material. The two judicial contestants for Justice of the Idaho Supreme Court will discuss their views of the role of the court in state government. The two men seek the position held by Justice C. Taylor and were a spot on the November ballot after defeating Sherman J. Bellwood, Rupert, and Steve Bistline, Sandpoint, in the primary election. Since none of the four men won a majority of votes in the primary, the top two must again face the voters. Mrs. Slotton pointed out.

The League will distribute nonpartisan information on all the candidates and the nine ballot issues during the fair. Mrs. Slotton said residents may attend the "fair" at their own convenience and be able to meet all the candidates in the same evening.

Treatment Ordered After Shooting

RUPERT—A 40-year-old Burley man, O'Dell Bird, was ordered sent to State Hospital South, Blackfoot, for treatment and evaluation Tuesday morning following a sanity hearing before Minidoka County Probate Judge LeRoy Blacker.

The man was arrested Saturday night and charged with assault with a deadly weapon following a shooting incident Saturday morning on Interstate 80N.

Cars driven by Harry Dunn, Dubois, and Chad Butters, Blackfoot, were reportedly struck with a caliber bullet while headed west on the interstate—a half mile east of the Meridian Road overpass.

A third driver, Hugh Galliger, Declo, said he had been running off the road by a man fitting Bird's description. Bird was arraigned before Probate Judge Blacker Monday morning on the assault charge and ordered held on $5,000 bond pending further investigation of the incidents.

Nelos Mettone, Salt Lake City, chairman of the Shrine Hospital Board, presented Mr. Roper the plaque. Tricia Nixon Outlines Idea Of Husband

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — The pretty, 22-year-old eldest daughter of Republican presidential nominee Richard M. Nixon revealed Tuesday her idea of an ideal husband.

"That's the first time that question has ever been asked me," Tricia-Nixon told reporters—mostly women—at a news conference.

Her requirements are that her future husband be "kind, sincere, honest and interested in other people, but he doesn't have to be interested in politics."

Asked whether she had any special in mind, the blonde Miss Nixon smilingly parried: "Despite what the gossip columns say I don't have any special friends, but a number of friends."

Miss Nixon's younger sister, Julie, plans to marry former President Dwight D. Eisenhower's grandson.

Wallace Writes New History Chapter

NEW YORK (AP) — Third parties in American politics have been like homely girls at a high school dance: they mostly fade badly but show up again and again.

But George C. Wallace's run for the White House on the American Independent party ticket in 1964 was a new and historic chapter in political handbooks.

Burley Hears Schedule For Gem Airlines

BURLEY — The schedule and rates, effective Dec. 15, for Sun Valley Airlines was announced at the Burley Chamber meeting this week at Burley.

The airline flights will make stops throughout Idaho, Salt Lake City and Aspen, Colo.

Robert Savvik, president, reported the Second Annual Business Seminar for high school students and businessmen will be held Nov. 7 at Idaho State University, Pocatello.

Information on winter tours at Yellowstone National Park has been received by the chamber.

Howard Matthews, with the U. S. Office of Education, Washington, D. C., and former Burley resident, spoke briefly.

Oct. 16 becomes 'Birthday Day' for Family

WOODBURY, N.J. (AP) — The Hudson family of Wenonah, N.J., will celebrate their birthdays on Oct. 16 from now on.

In 1912 — has the third party candidate placed second.

That election saw two Republican presidents, incumbent William H. Taft and his predecessor Theodore Roosevelt, battling each other, Taft on the Republican ticket and Roosevelt as a Progressive or Bull Moose.

Together, Roosevelt and Taft captured more than 50 per cent of the popular vote, 7 million compared with Wilson's 5 million.

The second best performance turned in by a third-party candidate since the Civil War was in 1948, a year that saw the birth of two new political parties: the Dixiecrats or State's Rights party and Henry Wallace's Progressive Party.

Strom Thurmond, then governor of South Carolina, won 39 electoral votes from five Southern states opposed to Henry Truman's stand on civil rights.

Thurmond's party never seriously took its campaign along the Mason-Dixon line.

Henry Wallace's party soon had the left wing label around its neck and pulled only about 2 per cent of the popular vote.

13 electoral votes as a Progressive and in 1952 James B. Eastland, running on the populist ticket, took 22 electoral votes.

Other than those four instances, third parties have not captured an electoral vote for over a century, despite repeated efforts of candidates such as Socialist Norman Thomas, who ran six times, and Socialist Eugene Debs, who was on the ballot five times.

Often the combined vote of all minor parties has fallen beneath 5 per cent. In 1936, for example, candidates from five minor parties — the Union, the Socialist, the Communist, the Prohibition, the Socialist Labor — received only 2.6 per cent of the popular vote.

In 1940, four minor party candidates received a scant 3 per cent, and in 1944, three candidates received 7 per cent.

Airline Officials Voice Fear Of Hijackers

By LAWRENCE MALKIN LONDON (AP) — "What we are afraid of," said an airline official in London, "is that some day some silly so-and-so will pick a gun into the back of his neck and try to force his way into an airport that he doesn't know, or that isn't equipped to handle his plane. He'll be forced to land nearby, plunk down his plane and crash."

It was talking about the score of hijackings or attempted hijackings that have taken place in the last few years.

'Stone-Age Guys' Could Crimp Court Action, Justice Fears

WASHINGTON (AP) — Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas, who turned 70 on Wednesday, says he wonders whether Americans would let "some Stone Age guys" alter the work of the Warren Court.

Douglas, two years shy of being the court's senior justice, was asked in a rare interview if he would ever step down from the bench before the end of his tenure.

Over the years Douglas has been the court's most liberal — even championing alone last Monday the right of schoolboys to wear their hair long.

A few days ago a political column said Douglas had decided to write his memoirs and to retire.

"I have no plans to retire," the Justice declared, "I will continue to publish anything, with the possible exception of a series of lectures he gave last March at New York University.

An electronic pacemaker was implanted in his chest last June to correct a slow pulse rate.

Douglas explained: "There was nothing wrong with my heart. When I went into a deep sleep it would like liberation, my heart beat would drop. Then when I woke up it would be beating fast."

In any event, he said, "I am probably in better health than I have been in years."

Wallace Visits 'Chicken House' That Was Home

ALAMOGORDO, N.M. (AP) — George C. Wallace looked around the house that was once a boardwalk shack where he and his late wife Lurleen, and their first child lived during World War II, and said, "When you're young, you don't really recognize the good times."

They used to call it the Chicken House, and it stands beside a dusty alley in an area slated for urban renewal.

Wallace, third-party candidate for president, took a few moments off from campaign rallies Wednesday to visit the house, now succeeded and with an addition.

Wallace recalled that the small structure had had chickens in it and had to be cleaned up before they moved in. He stood beside a picket fence and chatted with neighbors about times there with Lurleen and their daughter Bobbie Jo while he trained at Alamogordo Army Air Base as a bomber crewman.

A small group of neighbors gathered nearby and the candidate chatted with them.

Then he walked down an alley across a busy commercial street and onto the porch at the home of Josephine Robertson.

"Welcome home governor," Robertson greeted the former Alabama governor. They chatted a bit and Wallace kissed Mrs. Robertson on the cheek as he left.

Earlier he escorted an elderly couple, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Seary, to the speaker's platform in a city park. He said the Searys had a country store when he lived in Alamogordo.

At least eight times, he told anyone who would listen that Lurleen and I left town owing these nice folks $12. But he'll tell you, and don't forget to include this, we paid the bill."

Seary wasn't sure whether he remembered Wallace. "We think maybe we do," he said. "I remember someone mailed us some money after the war."

At one point, as Wallace was shaking hands with old neighbors, a young Negro boy called to him, "Governor, can I ask you a question? Let me whisper it in your ear."

Wallace leaned forward as the boy put a hand around the candidate's neck and drew him cheek to cheek.

"Are you prejudiced?" the boy asked.

"No, I'm not, I'm really not," Wallace replied softly.

"That's good enough for me," said the lad.

Another Negro youngster asked Wallace for his autograph. Wallace signed his name, put his arm around the boy and said, "You stay in school, now. Don't drop out."

By contrast, the Democratic Congressional Campaign Committee during the same period reports income of $307,850 and expenditures of $10,444.

The big financial edge enjoyed by the Republicans in House races is further increased by the money raised and spent by their Booster's Club, which concentrates on aiding GOP candidates who are trying to unseat Democrats. The regular income funds no incumbents seeking re-election.

The Booster's Club lists receipts of $758,652 and expenditures of $352,400.

The Democrats have no comparable organization. Two smaller Democratic committees have disbursed an additional $127,842 listed as campaign expenditures, however.

In the Senate, the Republican Campaign Committee spent $443,058, its Democratic counterpart spent $101,366.

One union that funneled its support to both parties is the Seafarers' Political Activity, which gave $15,000 to the Republican Congressional Committee and $5,000 to the Democratic Senate Campaign Committee.

STEVE BLAYE, a representative for Interact Club, points out bases where high school students will be sending Christmas bags to servicemen in Vietnam to Mrs. Irene Basom, executive secretary of the Red Cross. This is one of the many activities sponsored by the local Red Cross chapter for servicemen.

T.F. Red Cross Proves To Be A 'Busy-Beaver' Agency

The Twin Falls Red Cross Chapter received approximately 92 per cent of its operating funds through the United Fund Drive, according to Mrs. Irene Basom, executive secretary.

Mrs. Basom said the first responsibility of the Red Cross is to the emergency needs of the servicemen and their wives. She explained that within a year one out of three servicemen in Vietnam has some kind of contact with the Red Cross.

It delivers death and birth messages and reports on family welfare. In a few cases emergency financial help is given to the families of servicemen.

In the past five years the Red Cross personnel in Vietnam has increased from three to 740 people, Mrs. Basom said.

Local high school students have formed an "Operation Shop Early."

The home economics classes make sacks and various school clubs donate items such as nail clippers, pens and candy to fill the bags and send to GIs in Vietnam.

Last year the students received many letters of thanks from the servicemen and the project is being carried out this year. This project is co-sponsored by the Red Cross.

Contract For Coal Awarded At Hagerman

HAGERMAN — Contract was awarded to the Gooding Coal and Feed Co. for two carloads of coal for the Hagerman schools at the board meeting of Joint District No. 233 this week.

The board also agreed to allow new teachers, beginning this year, to bring an accumulation of 30 days sick leave from other school districts in the state to this district to be added to the

Mrs. Basom said since Jan. 1 first aid instruction has been given 440 people and mouth-to-mouth resuscitation instruction has been given to more than 2,000.

There are also some people trained by the Red-Cross to help in a nursing home. These people visit and run errands for the elderly.

Through a home economics program 40 to 60 high school students get instruction in caring for the sick and injured each year. This, too, is sponsored by the Red Cross.

The Red Cross also assists in a sick leave allotted here. It was noted the state will reimburse the school for 90 per cent of the transportation costs for high school students attending the vocational classes offered by CSI to high school seniors.

Two Hagerman students are taking advantage of this offer and are traveling to Twin Falls with students from Wendell High School. The Wendell and Hagerman school districts will assume the remaining 10 per cent.

Jack Martin reported on the new math program initiated in the elementary school this fall.

FUR COATS STOLEN - LONDON (AP) — Thieves crashed a party at the London home of violinist Yehudi Menuhin Wednesday night, stole five fur coats left by guests in an upstairs room and escaped.

Mrs. Basom said in addition to the Christmas bags for the servicemen, a new program is being started in conjunction with the Camp Fire Girls. They are making friendship boxes for displaced Vietnamese children.

'Missing' Youth Is Busy Hunting

THE PINNAC, (AP) — Twenty-five persons searched Tuesday night for Mike McCarthy, 17, after he failed to return from a hunting outing. McCarthy is a 17-year-old walker who was seen Wednesday with a four-point deer.
