Murder Charge Filed In Shooting Of Rupert Man

RUPERT — A 39-year-old Rupert man was arraigned on a first degree murder charge Friday morning in connection with the shooting death during the night of his step-son. Another step-son was hospitalized.

Daryl Hunter, 24, Rupert, died about 4 a.m. Friday at Minkola Memorial Hospital of bullet wounds received about 3:30 a.m. at the home of his step-father, James E. Murphy, a surgeon-brother, Dean Hunter, 47, is reported in good condition with gunshot wounds.

Sheriff and police officers arrested Mr. Murphy at his home, but the death weapon has not been located. Sheriff Theo Johnson said it is presumed a rifle was used.

According to Coroner Robert C. Walk, Daryl Hunter was wounded in his lower back and upper chest, but it has not been determined where the bullet entered the body. Mr. Walk was to confer with Larry H. Minkola County prosecuting attorney, Friday noon regarding details of the shooting.

Mr. Murphy requested a preliminary hearing during the arraignment Friday morning before Probate Judge LeRoy Blacker. No date for the hearing has been set and the defendant was represented by Roger Ling and Lawrence Duffin.

Officers declined to give any of the circumstances leading up to the shooting, but it was officially reported that the victim had entered the door of the Murphy home with a rifle in his hand.

Neighbors of the murderer indicated they had been warned by officers not to reveal any details they might know about the incident.

The younger Hunter boy, Dean, had been treated and released from the Rupert hospital Tuesday when he was involved in a traffic accident in which Clyde Slatter, Twin Falls, was killed.

Daryl Paul Hunter was born April 23, 1944, in Rupert, and on Aug. 9, 1963, he married Glenda Johnson here. He had been employed by the Kraft Food Co. the past four years.

In addition to his widow, survivors include a son, Scott Hunter, and a daughter, Katie Hunter, both in Rupert; mother, Mrs. James Murphy, Rupert; father, Paul Hunter, Burley; three brothers, Dennis Hunter, Douglas Hunter, and James Hunter, and two half-sisters, Mary Murphy and Jeanette Murphy, all Rupert.

Funeral services are pending at the Walk Mortuary.

Olympic Athletes Ousted

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The U.S. Olympic Committee suspended star Negro sprinter Tommie Smith and John Carlos from the U.S. Olympic team after midnight Thursday for "untypical exhibitionism" during an Olympic victory ceremony Wednesday.

The decision followed a complaint by the International Olympic Committee regarding the conduct of Smith when he received the gold medal for winning the 200-meter event and Carlos when he was presented the bronze medal for finishing third in the 200-meter final Wednesday.

Both Smith and Carlos raised clenched fists clothed in black gloves during the playing of the Star Spangled Banner and also wore black knee socks without shoes during the presentation ceremony.

They also wore identical buttons on their team uniforms with "Black Power" and "Soul Power" written on them.

Two members of the U.S. Olympic Committee's board of consultants, John Sayre, a lawyer in the 1968 Olympics and Billy Mills, the 10,000-meter winner in 1964, went to the Olympic Village after midnight to notify Smith and Carlos.

The statement from the U.S. Olympic Committee said that any repetition of "such incidents by other members of the team in any way be considered a willful disregard of Olympic principles that would warrant the imposition of the same penalties."

U.S. Jets Clobber North Viet Targets

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. fighter-bombers streaked through heavy monsoon clouds again Friday to continue their daily bombing of North Vietnam targets while the Saigon government continued to balk at agreeing to a bombing halt.

North Vietnamese leaders in Hanoi were reported studying new proposals for cessation of all bombing of the North in return for serious moves toward peace by the Communists. But South Vietnam's premier, Tran Van Huong, said his government could accept no such proposal unless it was favorable to South Vietnam.

Huong told the official Vietnam press any agreement by Saigon would have to be approved by the National Assembly, the U.S. will ask the executive branch. Top political figures including the leaders of the House and Senate have discussed the issue and are understood to be cool toward it.

Air Force, Navy and Marine jets today kept up their steady attack on enemy supply channels south of the 19th parallel. Reports there the raids will not be available until Saturday, but U.S. pilots jolted 100 missions over North Vietnam Thursday, concentrating on boats and bases along coastal waterways.

U.S. military sources said the American pilots are concentrating on the waterways because there is less truck traffic moving south.

Australia's small air contingent reported its biggest kill of the war so far, 40 Viet Cong killed by a Canberra jet bomber near Pleiku. In the central highlands, a spokesman said the bomber attacked an enemy troop concentration Wednesday night. The pilot reported "a large secondary explosion," and an observation pilot spotted the bunker the next day, the spokesman said.

Boy Scout 'Explorers' To Go Coed

NEW YORK (AP) — Girls in a Boy Scout troop? That's what the Boy Scouts of America says is in store for a unanimous vote that striking next Jan. 1, the Boy Scouts "who prepared" to admit girls to the Explorer program for boys 14.

THEY'LL BE 'FAMILY' together when their parents—Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy and Aristotle Onassis—marry Sunday. Mrs. Kennedy's two children, in top photo, John Kennedy Jr., and sister Caroline, will be brother and sister by marriage to Onassis youngsters, Christina and Alexander Onassis. The Onassis youngsters are pictured during a visit to Palm Beach, Fla., in 1961.

Jackie Reveals Rites Scheduled Sunday In Greece

ATHENS (AP) — Jacqueline Kennedy arrived in Greece Friday to marry one of the world's richest men, Aristotle Onassis, then went to his private island where they will be married Sunday.

A spokesman for Onassis, announcing the wedding date, said she had no further details nor did she have a guest list. The guests will be greeted by helicopter to Scopios, Onassis' island, she added.

The spokesman said Onassis wanted the wedding to be as private as possible and on reporters or photographers would be permitted.

A special Greek airliner brought the bride-to-be and her family to a military airport at Andravida, in southern Greece. As Mrs. Kennedy stepped from the plane and walked down the steps, she was greeted by Onassis, who had flown from Athens to take his bride on to Scopios, the small scorpion-shaped island he owns south of Corfu.

They will be married there Saturday or within three days of the date, Onassis told newsmen in Athens.

Onassis said they would spend their honeymoon on "Scopios" in the Aegean Sea, making a tour of the Mediterranean with Christina, his 18-year-old daughter by his first marriage, named for his palatial yacht.

Airport police confiscated all cameras and locked newsmen in the airport's waiting room about 30 minutes away just before Mrs. Kennedy jet landed.

Airport employees said Mrs. Kennedy was smiling as Onassis kissed her on the cheek. She wore a deep breath, looked at the bright warm sun, and took her two children for a brief walk along the runway to stretch their legs.

Then Onassis, Mrs. Kennedy, her party and his sister boarded the DC-8 which had brought Onassis and his wife to Athens from Preveza, on the west coast of Greece, where helicopters waited to ferry the group to Scopios.

Onassis Became Millionaire At 24

By The Associated Press

Aristotle Socrates Onassis was 16 years old and had $500 in his name when he arrived in Argentina as a Greek refugee from the Turks in 1922.

In his wildest dreams he could hardly have imagined that 46 years later, now one of the richest men in the world, he would win the hand of an American President's beautiful widow, Jacqueline Kennedy.

His mother and father had operated a tobacco business in Smyrna. Once in Argentina, Onassis too turned to the tobacco trade. By the time he was 24 his shrewd operations had earned him his first million and he was Greece's consul general in Buenos Aires.

Onassis wanted above all to be the master of a cargo fleet.

He got his chance in 1930 when he learned that Canada was preparing to sell at scrap value ten surplus cargo vessels ranging in tonnage from 8,500 to 10,000. Onassis bought six for $120,000 and launched a maritime career which eventually gave him control of much of the world's oil tanker fleet.

He married Athina Livanos, whose father was another big name in Greek shipping. Her sister, Eugenie, married Stavros Niarchos, who also had built up a huge ocean-going fleet. Both marriages ended in divorce.

Onassis liked to play host to prominent people. Guests aboard his yacht Christina included many well known names in politics, entertainment and sports, such as Winston Churchill, for example.

Marla Callas, the Metropolitan Opera star, was his guest and traveling companion for years. In 1960 his wife divorced him in an Alabama court, charging mental cruelty.

Onassis had in recent years attracted several admirers. One of the Kennedy family alone was Christina, including Jacqueline, her sister, Princess Les Rاذ and her late husband's brother, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass.

Big Tides Threaten Florida

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Hurricane Gladys drifted north in the Gulf of Mexico today just out of wind reach from the populous Florida coast.

The danger really is due to high water and not to winds, said Robert Simpson, director of the National Hurricane Center in Miami.

Simpson said he feared shoreline cities would drop their guard because of weak winds and then be caught unprepared for tides five feet above normal when Gladys makes landfall.

Ray Kraft said Gladys could turn northeast and hit land near Cedar Key in the Big Bend area of the Gulf Coast.

But the storm was barely moving. Forward speed was clocked at 5 miles per hour with bare hurricane-force winds of 75 m.p.h. The storm center moved eastward at a sluggish pace of under 10 miles—between the 6 a.m. and 8 a.m. sightings today.

Winds in the area of Tampa and St. Petersburg were mild with top gusts clocked at about 17-25 m.p.h.

Election Of Browning Is Reported

Chad Browning, Twin Falls recreation director, was elected vice president of the Idaho Recreation and Parks Society at the annual convention this week.

He also received a plaque for his work as secretary-treasurer of the group during the past year. This is the first time such an award has been made at a meeting of the Congress for Recreation and Parks was held in Seattle and the Idaho planning committee was headed by Browning, outgoing president. Other new officers are Jim Pope, Moscow, president, and Steve Lyle, Lewiston, secretary.

This was the largest convention of its kind in the United States. The Congress attracted 1,000 people from 20 states and the many aspects of parks, recreation and conservation. The four-day meeting was sponsored by the National Recreation and Parks Association.

Under the theme "Crisis, Challenge, Change," the program focused on the relationship of parks and recreation to major domestic issues. Discussed topics included loss of municipal park space, urban unrest, air and water pollution, personnel shortages and innovative technical and administrative practices.

Apollo Spurts Tail Of Fire In Test Of Steering Jets

SPACE CENTER, HOUSTON (AP) — With a jolting burst of energy, the Apollo 7 astronauts fired their steering engine today in the most powerful maneuver ever made by a manned spacecraft.

The automatic system failed. He reported that momentarily during the firing, the astronauts were jolted out of their weights in the most powerful maneuver ever made by a manned spacecraft.

The engine was the most powerful ever fired on a manned space ship. It had been ignited four minutes earlier on the Apollo 7 mission, with a maximum burn of 15 seconds. Thus, the amount of energy produced was a record.

Buhl Threatens To Remove Hydrants

Buhl—Eight residents living east of Buhl on Highway 30 must pay assessments that are now two years delinquent by Nov. 1 or the City of Buhl will remove fire hydrants which were installed in that area for use in fire protection, it was reported during the Buhl City Council meeting.

City officials reported that the property owners could not be forced to pay the assessments, but they also noted there was nothing to force the city to maintain the fire hydrants and they could be removed if payments were not completed according to the original agreement.

Lawrence Fawcett, street supervisor, reported the Buhl Highway District is planning a joint project with the city to install and sealcoat Condensary (Lund from the Burley corner) and the Clear Lake Road junction, a distance of three-fourths of a mile.

Three-inch oil mat would be put on the road after a build-up of the roadbed was completed. Council members agreed to place the approximate cost to the city of $4,500 in the 1969 city budget.

The council voted to invest $25,000 in U.S. Treasury bonds at the Farmers National Bank to mature Dec. 5, 1968. Total amount including interest will be $25,000. The council also approved a $50,000 bond issue to be invested $25,000 in U.S. Treasury notes at the Idaho First National Bank to mature on Dec. 28.

Ordinance 617 regulating the disposal of wrecked and dismantled motor vehicles on any public or private property was passed by the council.

Councilman Dale Christensen reported that 21 of the concrete planters placed in the Buhl business district by Buhl Concrete members several years ago will be removed within the next few weeks at the request of the property owners. Some of the planters will retain the planters and care for them.

The airport landing lease was renewed with W. Taylor for the period ending October 31, 1969. Card and pool table licenses were issued to Paix Clark, Storo for eight tables and five pool tables, Hal and Reta's Cafe for five card tables and the Sunset Bowl for one pool table.

Building permits were issued to M. L. Covey, 228 Fair, excavator basement and construction building, 4900; Rangon, Inc., 115 1/2 Ave. S., contract general building, 43,000; Joseph W. Miller, 1520 Poplar, 627; roof, 321; Clyde R. Mills, 627 1/2 Ave. N., contract concrete driveway from house to curb.

Engine Failure Is Blamed For Crash

BURLEY—Engine failure was blamed for the crash of a Cessna twin-engine airplane on Thursday on a landing approach.

Leo Pierco, Burley, FAA official, said investigation is continuing into the crash of the plane owned by the Casey Jones Flying Service, Ontario, but that after talking in eye witness and the four passengers who survived to feel the failure of one engine was the cause of the crash.

All five men aboard the plane were proposed to get out but only four were able to swim to safety.

By Gary Clark, 28, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy C. Clark, Edward was drowned and his body was found about 20 feet from the submerged plane.

The survivors were Stan Leggo, pilot for the Ontario Flying Service; Peter Holming, Ontario, former Burley resident who is Ontario's general manager for flying control, and Vern Koppford, Palo Alto, Calif., and Jack Hench, Boise, both employees of the Billimore Press packing firm.

The men were treated and released at Casita Memorial Hospital and several of the officials returned to Ontario Thursday. See PLANE CRASH, P. 2, Col. 4.

PUC Official Promises Early Action On Magic Valley Telephone Situation

Ralph Weickberg, chairman of the Idaho Public Utilities Commission, promised early action on the telephone situation in Magic Valley.

The commission held a public hearing at 3 p.m. Thursday and officials of the Mountain States Telephone Co. testified.

More than 1,800 people had testified at the commission hearing for extended area service to allow toll-free, long-distance calls between 14 Magic Valley communities. The service would be provided from house to curb.

See HYDRANT, Pg. 2, Col. 8.

Extended area service would raise the telephone rates of several communities in the valley, while Metropac would involve an increase only to those subscribers who want the special long-distance service.

Those choosing Metropac would face a monthly rate increase of about $4. It was feared.

Those who do not want Metropac would continue with the same monthly rate now charged.

Mr. Weickberg said the commission would make a decision soon.

There would be a lot less loose talk about "police brutality" if policemen knew how to handle lawbreakers and suspects with more subtle forms of physical persuasion than they customarily employ. One man thinks so, and he ought to know. He works in the city—Los Angeles. His name's Koga. He's a cop.

Report: Return Of Murray Chotiner

WASHINGTON — Working quietly and competently backstage at Richard M. Nixon's campaign headquarters in New York is a figure from the darker regions of Nixon's past: Murray Chotiner, mastermind of the early Nixon campaigns and his first political mentor.

Chotiner's help contributed greatly to Nixon's early Red-baiting tactics. Chotiner's influence with Nixon reached its peak in the 1952 campaign when he evolved the strategy used by Nixon in the "Checkers speech." Gradually, however, Chotiner became more of an embarrassment than a help to his protégé because of his deep involvement in political tactics and, more important, unsavory legal clients.

Medicine occasionally finds itself in a race against time in its efforts to control man's ailments. Most of these such races involve epidemics which come on with a suddenness and severity which threaten large masses of people.

Dear Abby

BY ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: If I live to be 100, I'll never be able to understand why a man says he can't stand to stay home and look at the four walls, yet he can go to a neighborhood bar and sit there for hours on end. How about the four walls there?

We are both 56 and have a good marriage, except for this one difference of opinion which seems to give us cause for argument - I'm not a drinking woman, but if I were, I'd just as soon stay at home and drink by myself. Why should I go to a bar and buy drinks for other people? I don't care for friends that much. They are a lot of trouble and expense. My husband is not a drunkard, but he likes to sit in bars. Why?

Maybe you or one of your readers can give me an answer.

DEAR LIZ: The "difference of opinion" that seems to give you cause for argument is that you don't care for friends and your husband does. The reason the neighborhood bar is so popular is that people need people. I say moderation is essential to the enjoyment of everything, but the man who drinks alone could be a bigger problem than the one who seeks companionship.

DEAR ABBY: The problem that concerns me right now is the bugging some of my buddies are giving me because of your being my "pin up girl." Yes, that is right, Abby, I cut your picture out of the STARS AND STRIPES, which all the guys here in South Viet Nam get, and I pinned your picture up on my wall locker.

I don't care what the guys think - Every guy has himself a pin up girl he likes to dream about, and mine is YOU. The thing that bugs me the most is that people say that the picture isn't really you, Abby. They say the newspapers get a picture of a beautiful girl and they say it's you.

So, please, do me a favor and send me a picture of yourself. It doesn't have to be in a bathing suit like all the other guys have in their lockers. Just a plain picture of your face so Laurie Baum, sister of the bride, was in charge of the guest book and Mrs. Paul Juchau and Mary Juchau, Eden, and Cindy Smith, Hazelton, arranged the gifts.

A reception was held immediately after the ceremony in the LDS Cultural Hall. The cake, arranged in three double hearts and topped by a layer of double hearts, was decorated with pink roses, and was centered on a large mirror. It was served by Mrs. Jim Christopherson, assisted by Mrs. Reuben Selmetz and Mrs. Kue Beames. The bride's table was covered by a lace cloth over pink satin. The punch was served by Judy Gies.

Guests were seated at quartet tables covered with white, and decorated with pink gladioli blossoms floating in large crystal snifters.

Master of ceremonies for the program was Esbee Myler, Hunt.

Guests attended from Hazelton, Eden, Twin Falls, Gannett, Hagerman, Burley and Rupert.

Jack Hawkins Returns To Acting After Losing Larynx

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

ROME (AP)—When Jack Hawkins lost his larynx in a cancer operation early in 1966, it appeared to mark the end of his acting career.

Yet he is now in Rome acting in two movies simultaneously—"The Adventures of Gerard" and "Monte Carlo Rally." His acting there appears unimpaired by his handicap.

When Hawkins appeared for an interview at the Grand Hotel, he seemed to be the same stalwart symbol of the British Empire as he appeared in "The Bridge on the River Kwai" and a host of other films. And then he spoke.

His speech is the "burp-talk" which is used by those who have no larynx. It consists of gulping air, then forcing it up by passing the esophagus. The words are soft but distinct, and Hawkins' "voice" retains his distinctly British accent.

The only alteration in his appearance is the air intake hole in his neck, over which he wears a medallion. The hole is needed because the larynx regulated air intake through the throat.

"It is amazing how quickly the human body can become adjusted to new conditions," he commented. "I find I can lead an almost normal life, with only a few minor variations." Among them—the inability to clear his throat or blow his nose; little sense of smell, since hardly any air enters his nostrils.

The return of Jack Hawkins is one of the more heartwarming stories of show business. His fellow performers were "shocked" to learn of his operation: David Niven, Robert Mitchum, Glenn Ford and other costars quickly offered their services if he should return to films in a production capacity. Raymond Burr Becomes Wrapped Up In New Role; Aids Paralyzed Veterans

By JOAN CROSBY
NEA Entertainment Editor

NEW YORK (NEA)—When Raymond Burr was Perry Mason, he was so associated with the courtroom that he often spoke before gatherings of lawyers.

Now he is Ironside, the crippled detective on the popular NBC-TV series. Once again he is so wrapped up in his role that (a) people are surprised to see him up and walk in a wheelchair, and (b) he is now associated with the Paralyzed Veterans of America.

"Do you know that of all the veterans' hospitals in the United States," he asks, "only seven have facilities to handle spinal cord cases? All the veterans' hospitals have had budgetary cutbacks and they are getting more cases every day. The cut-back was arbitrary, too. If a hospital didn't have many spinal cord cases on the day the cut-back was decided, no one took into consideration the fact that 25 cases might arrive the next day."

Surgeon Cites Euthanasia Need

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—Doctors may sometimes have to consider "euthanasia by omission of treatment in the old, helpless, hopeless case," a prominent surgeon said Thursday night.

Furthermore, the right to die cannot be denied the patient and should be considered by the surgeon, said Dr. Preston Allen Wade of New York City, vice president of the American College of Surgeons.

The surgeon "cannot sacrifice human dignity at the time of death if his treatment only prolongs the process of dying and adds to the suffering of the patient and his family," Wade said.

He emphasized, "We cannot deliberately end the life of an old person, or anyone else."

A decision to openly end treatment seems to conflict sharply with our ethic that euthanasia by a positive act, that is, an act of commission, is forbidden."

Columnist Says Jonathan Winters Is Badly Cast As Host Of Hour-Long Show

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—If there is one thing wrong with "Jonathan Winters Show," it is that the star is badly cast. The inventive, outrageous funnyman is a better guest than host.

Nothing seemed to have happened to the variety hour's format except that another distinctive comedian has been added to the program's regulars—Cliff Arquette—and he, too, isn't given much of a chance to do his thing.

The Wednesday night hour had its compensations, however. Ella Fitzgerald sang several numbers, a treat, and Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., took a little haunting number "Camelot," which was written for actors, not singers.

Winters spent most of his time in sketches—a short-tempered husband explaining football to his wife; an annoying little kid on an airplane, and an unfunny spoof of the old Jack Armstrong series. Except for an occasional mischievous Winters touch, all seemed to be the products of a tiring script writer. And somehow Winters in his earnest, glowing introductions of guests, seemed out of character.

The supply of Los Angeles-type jokes apparently is running thin because for the second year in a row, CBS' "Beverly Hills Billies" are in the midst of a number of programs shot mostly in England.

Wednesday night's situation would have been hard to set up in Beverly Hills. Jed and Grumpy see a drunken Scotsman in kilts and playing a bagpipe and

'Invisible' Border Divides Arab Village As 'Haves' Battle 'Have-Nots' For Life

By ATALLAH MANSOUR
 BARTA'A, Israel (AP) — Gone are the snaky coils of barbed wire; the deadly land mines and dragon teeth stone blocks that divided this all-Arab village for two decades. Barta'a was reunited, at least geographically, in June 1967 when the Israeli army swept through Jordan's west bank in the six-day war. But 16 months later this dusty collection of stone and stucco homes is still divided. This time the border is invisible. On one side of the unseen line are the Arab "haves" of Israel. On the other side are the "have-nots" of occupied Jordan. The answer is simple: The Arab who lived under Israeli rule for 20 years enjoys most of the benefits of his Jewish neighbor. He has a higher standard of living, is paid more and benefits from Israel's social welfare system. These Israeli Arabs live on the west side of Barta'a. Life is far grimmer for the Jordanian Arabs living on the east side under Israeli occupation. Their standard of living and pay packets have not changed since the 1967 war. But they must now pay Israeli prices for Israeli food and clothing. Mohammed Ali Kubbah is a 42-year-old farmer living on the Jordanian side. His brothers, Israeli Arabs, live a few hundred yards away. "My brothers use part of our father's land," explained Kubbah. "I have nothing to do... Under Israeli law I am an absentee Arab." Mohammed Hussein Kubba is a 28-year-old employe in the Israeli Ministry of Health. He has lived all but the first eight years of his life under the Israelis. His salary is about $228 a month, and half of this goes to a brother living in the Jordanian sector of Barta'a. "We go to the same grocer," says Kubba. "We eat the same food. We pay the same prices. But I earn 10 times what my brother does." Barta'a was not the only Arab village divided by the Israeli-Arab mapmakers following the Israeli-Arab war of 1948. Both Arabs to hold Friday prayers in Safata near Jerusalem also was split in two. And Jerusalem itself was divided into Arab and

Jewish sectors for 20 years. But Barta'a was an error. "In the autumn of 1948 two army officers visited our village," recalled the village's mukhtar, or headman. "One was Jewish, the other Jordanian." They told us a slight mistake had been made at the Rhodes armistice conference and that our village must be divided in two. The mukhtar, Haj Mahfouz Kubba, 57, stared into the past and sighed: "As you can imagine we were shocked. We tried to explain that it was very impractical." The officers, Kubba said, merely looked at the map and said: "We are sorry, but it is the agreement." The border was erected in a small, dusty valley that bisected the village of some 1,200 Arabs, most of them members of the extensive Kubba-family. In the early days, authorities on both sides were lenient, permitting Jordanian and Israeli Arabs to hold Friday prayers in the one village mosque. The villagers also shared a communi-

Cost Estimates Presented To Rupert City Council

RUPERT—Cost estimates for priority city projects have been presented to the Rupert City Council by the city's consulting engineers. Estimates presented include $191,000 total for Local Improvement District 12, which was originally set up at LID 11, but due to technicalities had to be begun again; $99,820 total for the sewer and water installation in the newly annexed Grandview Addition; $83,330 total for the A street trunk sewer; $106,270 total for the storm sewer and streets in the North Zone; and $85,570 total for the storm sewer and streets in the Southwest Zone. The total estimated cost of construction for the various projects is $665,990, $45,993 assessed, and $246,431 from the city.

Economists View Increase In U.S. Goods

HOT SPRINGS, Va. (AP) — A panel of industry economists predicts an increase of some $60 billion in national output next year, nearly matching 1968's giant strides despite the tax increase. The forecast was prepared for the fall meeting of the Business Council, blue-ribbon organization of industry executives, by its advisory team of some 20 professional economists. The growth estimate would lift the Gross-National Product to a total of about $115 billion. Sources said the forecast sees continued price inflation. Thus far in 1968 price increases have accounted for about half the GNP increases, which amounted to $21.2 billion in the first quarter, $21.7 billion in the second, and $17.9 billion in the third. Chairman Arthur H. Olson of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, who is attending the closed business session as a guest, has insisted that the administration's anti-inflation package—surtax plus federal spending cutback—will be felt with some severity later this year and early next. Simplot Expanding Heyburn Facilities

By LIZ BOLTON
Times-News Correspondent
RUBERT—the J. R. Simplot Company's Heyburn operations are in a bit of a turmoil this harvest season—but for a good reason. The plant has been in the midst of a $2½ million expansion program all summer, and the construction will probably take until next January to complete.

Of the schedule to make the already large operation even bigger and better are a $200,000 new parking lot and pedestrian bridge, a new French fry production line, a dry storage warehouse, and a frozen storage building which will enclose almost four acres under one roof.

The parking lot and bridge are already complete and will be put into use by the Simplot employees this week. Two hundred cars can park in the new lot—across the highway—from the main plant, although the area has the capacity for 400 cars when complete.

Prefabricated in August by Harlan Jensen, the pedestrian bridge, the first of its kind in the area, crosses the highway from the parking lot into a cloak room inside the plant. The bridge is covered for protection from the weather and does not involve any additional stair climbing as workers would have to climb stairs to the cloak room and adjoining cafeteria anyway.

With a completion date the first of November, the new French fry production line is being built a half-story above the main floor inside the regular plant. The line will mean a 35 per cent increase in overall production at the Heyburn plant, and will mean an increase of an undetermined number of employees.

For the new line, a 65,000-pound per hour steam boiler has been added at the plant. The boiler weighs about 78,000 pounds and was shipped from Pennsylvania in June. It measures 25 by 15 by 12 feet and brings the total production capacity of the Heyburn operations to 45,000 pounds of steam per hour.

Another addition for the new line is additional refrigeration equipment. Included is a compressor containing 400 more cubic feet of refrigerant, evaporating, condensing, and following the modern trend in anti-pollution. Much of the water is evaporated and condensed for re-use, rather than being run into the river.

An enormous storage tank is being installed outside near the plant building and will store fat for frying oil for the new production line.

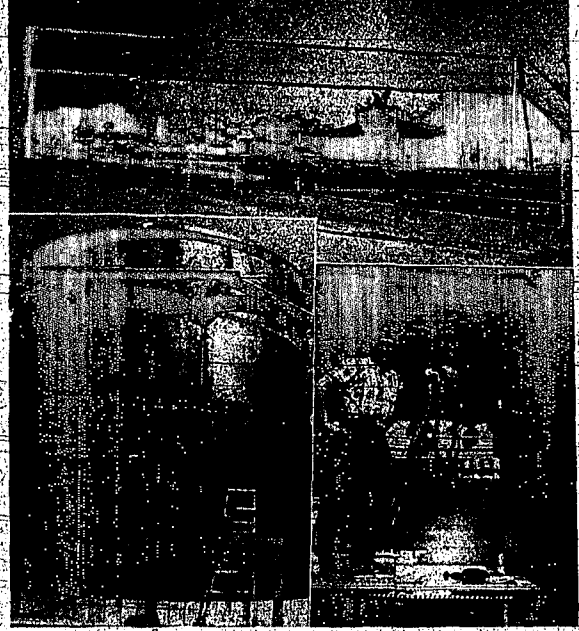

A second laboratory, called the main laboratory, is also new inside the regular plant. The laboratory is housed in two stories and is responsible for re-checking and re-venting the line work.

Covering an area 190 by 220 feet, a dry storage warehouse is another addition at the Heyburn plant. The building ties the production plant to the French fry plant and is for the storage of packaging materials. It was built at a total cost of over $100,000 and is now complete except for the installation of the heating unit.

The biggest addition to the plant, when completed, will be the new storage building, which will enclose nearly four acres of ground under one roof. The building, to cost an "exaggerated" million, is being built on railroad tracks to the northwest from the present facilities. It will cover 100,000 square feet and is expected to be complete by the first of January.

Although only the floor has been poured to date, the building will be constructed out of metal and will be for storing frozen potato products.

Also, to aid with the pollution problems of the plant, a huge Elmco filter has been installed to help with waste disposal. This filter will take the solids from the water so they will not go into the river. Research and experiments in the pollution problems of all potato

BUHL—Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Ward were elected alternate delegates to the state grange convention in Caldwell during the meeting of the Cedar Draw grange.

Cedar Draw delegates will serve on the constitution and by-law committee at the state meeting.

W. B. Stoneman, resolution chairman, presented 28 resolutions and members of the grange acted on them.

Mrs. Herman Reider, chaplain, reported that a plug had been sent to Mrs. Herman Van Zante and cards to Emmet Bauer and Mrs. Gene Rutherford.

It was announced that Mrs. Henry Dahlquist received first place in the state judging in needlework for an embroidered tablecloth. The cloth is now eligible for judging at the National Grange meeting at Peoria, Ill., in November.

The new Cedar Draw officers will be installed in Twin Falls grange hall during joint installation services with Pomona and other county granges.

Mrs. Henry Dahlquist presented an article on tips for gun safety and Mrs. W. R. Ward gave the closing thought.

The next meeting will be Oct.

25 with the new officers in their stations. Hosts for the evening will be Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Stoneman and Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Ward.

Commercial Dry Bean Output Up

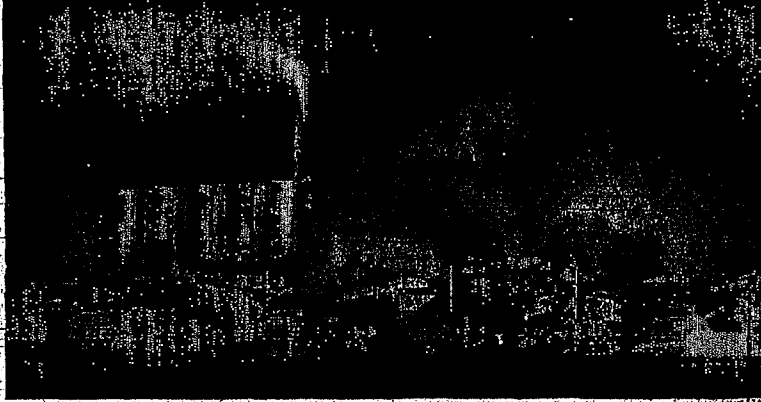

Commercial dry bean production in Idaho is expected to total 1,722,000 hundredweight, according to the Idaho Crop and Livestock Reporting Service.

If realized, this would be up 15 per cent above last year's production, but one per cent below the 1922-23 average.

Yield per acre, forecast at 1,600 pounds, is 120 pounds less than last year and 144 pounds below average.

STEAM ROLLERS from the Twin Falls factory, Amalgamated Sugar Co., as trucks haul sugar beets to the dump at the factory. Farmers throughout the area are busy harvesting beets. The sugar company says this year's crop will be the largest ever harvested. Some 48,000 acres of beets are to be harvested in Magic Valley.

Sugar Firm Sees Record Beet Harvest

OGDEN—Sugar beet growers in the three-state operating area of the Amalgamated Sugar Co., may harvest an estimated 3.3 million tons of beets, Harry A. Elcock, vice president and general agriculturist for the Ogden-based firm, said this week.

The tonnage estimate, based on Amalgamated field personnel reports, could exceed the company's 2.8 million ton harvest of last year by nearly 18 percent, despite adverse spring weather which caused extensive replantings in many fields.

If the estimated yield is realized, it will be the largest harvest in company history.

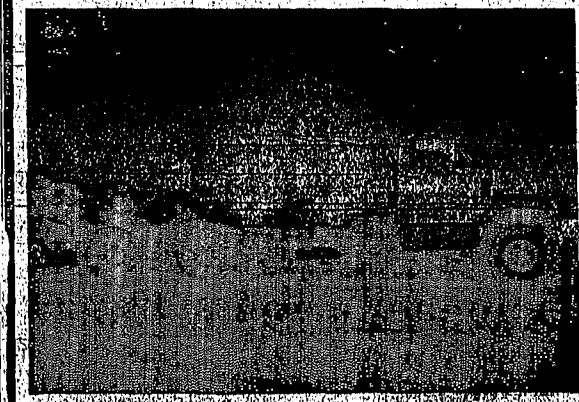

The increase is credited to larger plantings by farmers who have been unrestricted by acreage allotments in recent years, and by a favorable fall growing season. In most sections of general agriculture for the Amalgamated's tri-state territory of Utah, Idaho and Oregon, Company estimates also call for the same beet yield per acre as last year, which averaged slightly above 20 tons per acre.

Harvest and sugar-making operations began Oct. 1 at the Alyssa, Ore., and Nampa, Ida, factories. The Twin Falls (Mini-Cassa (near Rupert) and Lewiston, Utah factories began processing last week. The annual sugar "campaign" will range from two to five months, depending on the district. Mr. Elcock said.

- 1) Compare Price. Always a good place to start. It's no empty statement to say you get more for your American dollar with an English David Brown Diesel. The reason is British money. It takes fewer dollars to produce these fine diesel tractors. Britain's manufacturing costs are lower so the purchase price is lower—substantially lower. Compare price!
- 2) Compare Quality. David Brown is one of the world's oldest and biggest manufacturers of diesel tractors. Succeeding generations of David Brown employees have made excellent workmanship a tradition. Every detail of design and manufacture is checked, tested and checked again.
- 3) Compare Selectamatic. Thirty years ago, the Brown revolutionized tractor hydraulics by building the first tractor with hydraulic lift and 3-point linkage. This year they've done it again with Selectamatic—a unique new hydraulic system providing a choice of four hydraulic systems at the simple turn of a dial. (Standard equipment, too!)

The 4-in-1 Selectamatic system provides: 1) Draft Control—proper operating depth automatically regardless of ground contour. 2) Height Control—maintains operating height in relation to ground. 3) Traction Control—weight transfer assures maximum traction and eliminates wheel slip. 4) Remote Index Control—hydraulic power to remote cylinders with a flick of the Selectamatic switch.

Four Great New Models From Which To Choose: David Brown 770 Diesel—35 hp. David Brown 780 Diesel—45 hp. David Brown 890 Diesel—55 hp. David Brown 1200 Diesel—75 hp.

Come on in for more good reasons why the new David Brown Diesels are giving "Ruddy Yanks" unbeatable competition.

tributed to the outlook, giving the crops ample time to reach maturity with good sugar content. The weather has also aided farmers who are now pulling beets for delivery to Amalgamated's 88 beet receiving stations.

Nationally, U.S. Department of Agriculture estimates place the 1968 crop at nearly one-third higher than last year, with an estimated total of 21.1 million tons to be harvested.

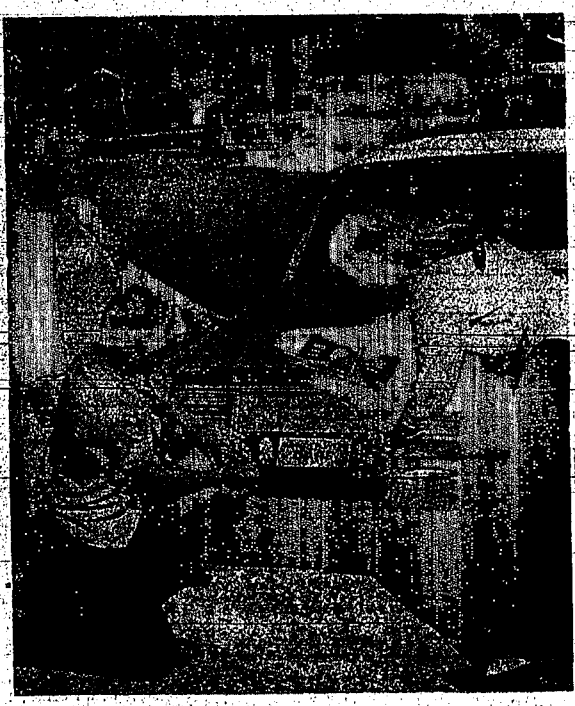

New Water Planning Study Okayed

Idaho Water Resource Board Director Robert R. Lee announced that a cooperative agreement provided for a Water Needs Study has been signed by the Water Board and Idaho Power Co.

Dr. Lee said the new study is one of a series of statewide water needs studies being conducted by the Idaho Water Resource Board.

The study, being made at no cost to the Water Board, is to be completed in May, 1969. It will include, among other related items:

1. A survey of potential hydro, fossil and nuclear supplies.
2. Existing and probable power development.
3. An analysis of power demands.
4. Projected energy requirements to the year 2070.
5. Water needs for hydroelectric and thermal power generation.

PLACING BUMPER STICKER on a car to remind everyone to handle potatoes with care is Carol Feldhusen, Kimberly, president of the Twin Falls County Teen-Agers 4-H Club. Helping him is Susan Billington, Twin Falls, while Mrs. Frank Southwick, Castleford, looks on. Mrs. Southwick is in charge of the Teen-Agers 4-H Club. Members of this club throughout the county are placing these stickers on cars, pickups and trucks to remind that Idaho's famous potatoes need to be handled with care.

Jerome NFO Has Hazelton Meet

HAZELTON — Love Spencer, president of the Jerome County NFO, presented a taped message from Corning, Iowa, to him at a meeting in the Frontier Grange hall.

A discussion was held on possible solutions. It was announced the NFO state convention will be held Oct. 26 in Twin Falls. Selection of delegates from this area was discussed.

The next local meeting is scheduled for Nov. 11.

Local 4-H'ers Helping To Protect Idaho's Potatoes

"Handle with care" is the cry of Idaho's potatoes, says Carl Feldhusen, Kimberly, president of the Twin Falls County Teen-Agers 4-H Club. Helping him is Susan Billington, Twin Falls, while Mrs. Frank Southwick, Castleford, looks on. Mrs. Southwick is in charge of the Teen-Agers 4-H Club. Members of this club throughout the county are placing these stickers on cars, pickups and trucks to remind that Idaho's famous potatoes need to be handled with care.

Members of the Teen-Agers 4-H Club are busy placing bumper stickers on cars, pickups and trucks throughout the county to remind everyone to not bruise potatoes.

"This is why the bumper sticker campaign is under way in the world," says Olan Genn, Twin Falls County agricultural agent. "Our soil conditions plus our knowledge for fertilizing them, how to irrigate our potatoes and our ideal climate condition produce the best quality potatoes than anywhere in the world."

"It is true that Idaho potatoes are famous in quality when they come out of the ground, but today our potatoes are becoming less and less famous from the time they come out of the ground until they are peeled by the cooks and housewives—all because of rough handling."

Mr. Genn stated, "They are banded, elevated and dropped, then today our potatoes are becoming less and less famous from the time they come out of the ground until they are peeled by the cooks and housewives—all because of rough handling."

"By the time they reach a point where they are peeled, often half of them has to be thrown away. After a housewife

Agricultural Engineers Are Praised At Regional Meet

BOISE — Agricultural engineers throughout the Pacific Northwest Region of the American Society of Agricultural Engineers annually meeting in the Downtown Hotel.

Theme for the event was "Food Engineering for the Future," states Jim Bonardant, Kimberly, chairman of the meeting. He is attending camp from Alaska, Idaho, Washington, Oregon, Montana and Canada.

Featured speaker at the event was Talcott W. Edminster, Washington, D.C., president of the national society.

"Agricultural engineers," Mr. Edminster said, "provide the engineering backbone for U.S. agricultural industry that employs 4.3 million workers, spends $3.2 billion annually for equipment, and $2.5 billion in research and has a yearly income of $1 billion."

"To properly perform this service, the agricultural engineering profession must provide the research, education and application of new developments."

Mr. Edminster said, "This takes personal involvement. Involvement in developing the public awareness of the profession, attracting new students—both men and women—to the profession, developing a sound and continuing education program, and strengthening the professional leadership."

"It is up to you," he said, "to reflect the agricultural engineer as a well-educated, trained, sincere, public-spirited citizen. Only such a person can help attract more young people into a profession in which job opportunities soar while engineering enrollments continue to decline."

Also speaking were Esting E. Finney Jr., Bellevue, Md.; James Nielson, head of the agricultural economics department at Washington State University, Pullman; H. S. Smith, dean of the University of Idaho College of Engineering; Dexter L. Chicago, national representative of International Harvester Co., Chicago; and Robert R. Lee, director of the Idaho Resources Board.

Speaking at one banquet on Idaho host towns was O.A. (Gus) Keltner, Twin Falls, executive director of the Times-News and editor of the Idaho Historical Society Bulletin. Speaking at another banquet was Dr. Ernest Hartung, president of the University of Idaho.

During the meeting, engineering development in various phases of agricultural production and processing were discussed.

Along Fences And Canals

Mr. and Mrs. Keith Darrington, Elba, and Mr. and Mrs. Merle Orley, Harlow, returned from San Francisco where they attended a Herford Filled Bull sale. They purchased two bulls.

Members of the Elba Cattlemen's Association have finished gathering the range cattle and the herd has been driven or trucked to the various ranches throughout the area, where they will be put on fall pasture.

Dale Shelby and LaDell Hardy, Butte businessmen, have purchased the Milton Neddor farm, Marley and the range pasture of Grover Ward in the Moulton area southwest of Almo. During the school vacation they, with their youngsters, have been fixing the fence around their newly acquired range land.

Farmers in the King Hill area are getting ready to harvest their beets, according to Lee-Trail who has several acres. Other farmers who will harvest beets are Don Carmichael, Lee-Trail and Wayne Craper, in Pasadena Valley, south of King Hill; Harold Van Sickle and William Pruett, southeast of King Hill.

Mr. and Mrs. Karl Caranahan sold their 400-acre ranch in Pasadena Valley, south of King Hill, to Mr. and Mrs. Allen B. Daniels, Jerome. Mr. Daniels is a retired Army Corps colonel and has been living in Jerome since the past several years. Mr. and Mrs. Caranahan will give possession of the ranch home in February and plan to buy a home in Glens Ferry. Mr. Caranahan says there are 172 acres under irrigation out of the 400 acres.

Mr. and Mrs. William Robertson, Glenn Ferry, have purchased the rental home of Mrs. Mary Knox, in King Hill and moved this week to their new location. The home is the former H. O. Hopson home.

Mrs. James Stokesberry and Mrs. Chris Dayoff, King Hill, have begun sorting potatoes at the Sallor Creek project cellar, west of Glenn Ferry.

However, if his net income falls below $1,600.00 or he cannot deduct his optional method would probably enable him to report a higher income for social security purposes without increasing the amount for income tax purposes. Under the optional method he can pay social security tax on two-thirds of his gross income, or at least $600.00 on up to no more than $2,400.00 of his gross income. Thus, by this optional method he can pay $1,600.00 or more by paying self-employment tax on $1,600.00. Of course, if his gross income is less than $2,400.00, he can report two-thirds of whatever the gross income is.

Q. — I recently went to my doctor for a routine physical checkup because I hadn't been to a doctor for five years and Medicare said I had to get a Medicare as a physicians service?

A. — No. Medical insurance persons can get social security routine examinations which are not for the purpose of diagnosing or treating specific symptoms; nor does it cover examinations required by third parties, such as insurance companies.

Q. — Must the doctor treat me in the hospital for his charges to be covered by medical insurance under Medicare?

A. — No. Services of physicians and surgeons are covered no matter where you receive the services whether in the doctor's office, in a clinic, or in the hospital.

Q. — I am a farmer and have heard that there is an optional method of reporting my farm income. Would you explain what that is all about?

A. — The optional method of reporting does not apply to a farmer whose net income exceeds $1,600.00 in a given year.

Cassia ASC Committee Elects Aides

BURLEY — Cassia County Committee officers of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation were elected with Carl Osterhout, Declo, retained as chairman.

Grant Wyatt, Burley, is vice chairman; Louis Eames, Elba, regular member; Elton Ellison, Oakley, first alternate and Lyle Durfee, Malia, second alternate on the county committee.

Electors were farmers chosen as convention delegates at recent ASC county committee elections held throughout the county. Electors include John Adams, Glen Ellison, Dallen Erickson, Lyle Durfee, Jack Erickson, Clark Ward, Leo Hurst, Owen Lewis, Louis Eames, Grant Wyatt, LaMar Hanks, Don Wright, Raymond Searle, Willard Bowen, Carl Newirth, Clark Robinson, and Max Bingham.

Officers were elected for a three year term this year and Mr. Wyatt, who was elected last year, has two years remaining to serve.

Mr. Eames has one year left to serve. The alternates are elected on an annual basis.

The ASC county and community farmer committees are in charge of local administration of national farm programs including the Agricultural Conservation program, the Cropland Adjustment program, the feed grain program, the wheat program, acreage allotments, the national wool program, the sugar program, commodity price support, loans and storage facilities.

Headquarters for the county committee is the ASCS Cassia County office at 2209 Overland Ave., in the Overland Shopping Center. The office also serves as the farmer's local contact for business connected with participation in the programs administered by the committees. Mrs. Osterhout stated.

SIX-EARED CORN was recently picked on the Grant Stevens ranch in Richfield. The corn had been late in maturing and was a sweet corn variety. Not all of the ears were allowed to mature as the corn was being chopped for silage at the time these ears were picked.

Pastures Need Fall Fertilization

Full fertilization of pastures throughout Twin Falls County is recommended by Olan Genn, Twin Falls County agricultural agent.

"Now is the time to put nitrogen on the pastures," says Mr. Genn, adding "as well as phosphate if needed."

"Most of the old pastures in this county are deficient in phosphorus. And for best yields of your pasture, put on nitrogen and phosphate now and then in July add another application of nitrogen."

Mr. Genn said that there has not been any maximum yet on the amount of nitrogen to apply. He said it is recommended that 100 pounds to the acre be put on.

To determine the deficiency of a pasture, a soil test needs to be taken, says Mr. Genn.

There are about 500,000 acres of pastures in Idaho that are irrigated and are capable of producing three to six tons of dry hay per acre. Yet only one to four tons per acre are being produced, depending on area and management practices.

Recent research and demonstrations on fertilization of irrigated pastures show that low fertility is main factor restricting yield and quality of feed produced.

All farmers are reminded to have a soil test taken now, apply nitrogen and phosphorus, if needed, for best results next year.

Officer Talks To Magic Grange

SHOSHONE — A poultry dinner was served at the Magic Grange meeting after which Chief Warrant Officer Henry Teves spoke on his experiences in Vietnam the past year.

Questions were answered and he explained the living conditions there, describing the people, living standards, climate, dress, buildings and touched some on the war effort.

He has 1,500 flying hours, has received the bronze star and a Vietnam award. He will return to Vietnam after his leave.

FILER — The Idaho Cattleman's Association will sponsor its 25th annual Filer-Fall Range Bull Sale on Friday, Oct. 25, at the fairgrounds, beginning at 11 a.m., according to word received from Pat Allen, Cascade, manager of the sale.

Allen stated there are 200 Herefords, both polled and horned, some Charolais and Shorthorns, all over 18 months and under 30 months of age, consigned to the sale by registered cattle breeders from Idaho, Utah, Wyoming and Washington. All of the bulls are registered and will be graded into classes of A, A-minus, B-plus and B by Jack Pierce, Malia, commercial cattleman; Lew Rothwell, Arco, purebred breeder, and Ed Duren, livestock specialist, University of Idaho-Springer, and other Idaho Cattleman's Association members.

Grading will begin at 10 a.m. Thursday, Oct. 24. Each bull will be inspected for visual defects by Dr. D. A. Jackson, deputy state veterinarian from the fairgrounds.

Allen also stated the Filer sale has maintained its record of being the largest mixed breed Range Bull Sale in the Northwest and has long been noted for its outstanding offering of top quality bulls of excellent type, breeding characteristics, classification, and ability to produce top calves.

Many of the breeders are working with herd improvement programs to improve the quality of their sale bulls.

Allen added, "You can depend on the Idaho Cattleman's Bull Sale to gather uniform bulls, grows for mountain ranges, to both the small and large cattle operators can purchase the type and quantity most suitable for their particular operations."

Minidoka Area Soil Survey Completed

RUPERT — A good many people are finding out that soil isn't just for farmers — it's for all of us, Harold Hansen, soil scientist for the U.S. Department of Agriculture, Soil Conservation Service, reports.

That's why soil surveys by the Soil Conservation Service, in cooperation with other agencies, are becoming increasingly important in land use planning, Hansen said.

A published soil survey includes general information about climate, soils, topography, crops and other conditions in the survey area. It also includes descriptions of each type of soil plus interpretations for agricultural, engineering and other uses. Also included are general and detailed soil maps of the survey area.

Who needs information from soil surveys? Anyone who lives on, grows crops or livestock on, excavates, builds homes, factories, schools, shopping centers, golf courses, reservoirs, highways — anything else on soil, plus people who want to leave the land like it is — that's who.

Pretty well takes in all of us, he observed.

The last acre of a soil survey of Minidoka area has just been completed. It required six summers of boring, digging, sampling, testing, mapping, classifying and correlating with three soil scientists to cover the 318,000-acre area.

Mr. Hansen said that 40 percent of the Minidoka area soils are of the Portneus series, which he described as silt loam soils having a very compact subsoil that contains a high percentage of lime. Other major kinds of soil in the Minidoka area includes Bald, Minidoka, Paulville, Portavin, Somers-

Indashay, Yining, and Wodekow. Altogether there are 25 different kinds of soils in Minidoka area. "Most people think of soil as that top layer we call topsoil," Hansen said. "Actually, we think of the soil in any given spot as all of the soil that goes down to its productive depth."

Slope is also a factor in determining how soil will behave. Other important factors are texture, erodibility, subsoil permeability, water table, rock outcrops or stones, salinity and so on.

Why is all this so important? Farmers, of course, want to hold their soil, fertilize, seed and use it in the best way possible — present and future, depends on it. But others have learned it pays to have a pretty good idea of what's going to happen when they do something in or on soil.

A school board learned just in time that their proposed site for building a new school was on unstable soil that could cause cracking. A pipeline installation was rejected because the proposed right-of-way was in unfavorable soil. A major urban freeway cut was an extra three quarters of a million dollars because of slippage which a soil scientist might have predicted.

City and county planning, tax assessments, zoning and building restrictions in many areas are now based on soil conditions shown by soil survey.

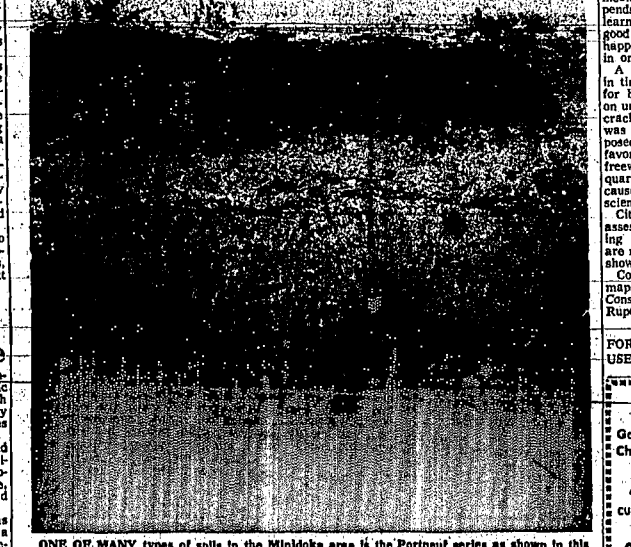

Copies of the Minidoka area maps can be seen at the Soil Conservation Service office in Rupert, Hansen said.

CARCASSES OF 13 HEIFERS entered in the "Super Beef" contest are viewed by cattle feeders, producers and other interested livestockmen who turned out for the contest the past two weeks in Twin Falls. Explaining the grade of each carcass was Dr. Leon Orme, University of Idaho meat specialist, background, facing camera. This was the second phase of the contest which ends after the carcasses are cut into retail cuts and sold by Albertson's in the next few days.

Carcasses Are Examined In Beef Contest

The 13 carcasses entered in the "Super Beef" contest, sponsored by the Idaho Cattle Feeders Association, were explained to some 30 livestockmen recently in the coolers of Independent Meat Co.

Dr. Leon Orme, University of Idaho meat specialist, told the type of carcasses are desired today by supermarkets and how each carcass is graded, according to fat, marbling and quality of meat.

The placings of the carcasses by Dr. Orme were different from the placings made by the group when the 13 heifers were judged on the hoof. However, the top two animals remained the top two in the final placing by Dr. Orme.

The group picked a 300-pound Charolais-Herford cross as No. 1 animal and a 340-pound Angus heifer as second place animal. However, Dr. Orme, after examining the carcasses of the 13 heifers, placed the 340-pound Angus heifer as first place, and the Charolais-Herford cross as second place.

The cooler measurements of the carcasses and the placings by Dr. Orme are still an educational estimate and is not the final placing. Albertson's will cut the carcasses in retail cuts and will keep accurate records of the weight of each cut that goes into the retail case as well as the fat-and-bone-lean from each carcass.

After the carcasses are cut into retail cuts, the figures will then be mailed out to those participating in the contest and to those who viewed the carcasses.

Cattle feeders who entered heifers in the contest were Richard Blincoe, Hoyburn, president of the Idaho Cattle Feeders Association; Independent Meat Co.; Fred Feedot; Howard Hill, Shoshone; Brunette Sheep Co.; Rupert; John Feldhusen, Kimberly; Olympia Cattle Co.; Twin Falls; Russell Lindstrom; Paul Frank Bodenhamer, Hazelton; Noy Brackett, Hagerman; Jones Feedlot, Eden, and R. Neilson, Paul.

FFA President Wins Contest

KANSAS CITY, (AP)—The 18-year-old president of the Future Farmers of America in Tennessee won first place Wednesday night in the FFA National Public Speaking Contest.

Donald L. Pilkinton of Knoxville, a freshman at the University of Tennessee studying agriculture, was one of four finalists who advanced from local chapters through state and regional meets. He received a $300 prize.

Other finalists were Dick Crone, 17, Harvard, Ill., second, $275; Charles Hannum, 17, of Ravenswood, W. Va., third, $250; and Rodney McCall, 18, Endicott, Wash., fourth, $225.

T.F. Man New Chairman Of Area Engineers Group

Robert Worstell, Twin Falls, was named chairman of the Snake River Valley Chapter of the American Society of Agricultural Engineers during a recent meeting in Boise.

Other officers elected at the meeting include Jerry Boser, Boise, vice chairman, and Galen McMaster, Blackfoot, secretary.

During the annual meeting, members discussed the final report of the society's Pacific Northwest Regional annual meeting to be held Oct. 15-18 at the Downtowner Motel in Boise.

According to James Bondurant, Kimberly, regional chairman, the program is well in hand and a large turnout is expected.

A. R. Robinson, director of the Snake River Conservation Research Center, Kimberly, reported on some special research studies conducted at the St. Anthony Falls Hydraulic Laboratory while he was there the past year.

Mr. Robinson noted that the laboratory is well-known for research and development of hydraulic structures such as spillways, small-passive out-structures and stilling basins. He also discussed his work in conducting model studies to develop design criteria for plunge pools for small reservoirs, drainage channels and other structures using culvert type outlets.

Idaho Wheat Growers Form National Unit

Wheat growers of Idaho have taken the initiative in organizing a national group to propose a new farm bill to Congress next year. It has been announced by the Idaho State Wheat Growers Association.

Ralph Bitter, Worley, ISWGA president, said his group's action was taken because the current effective farm bill will expire early in the term of a new national administration. Idaho growers propose to join with their counterparts in Oregon and Washington to form the nucleus of the planning effort.

According to Bitter, wheat is one of the most difficult commodities for Congress to build legislation around, since a great percentage of the crop is exported.

The original proposal for this action was by Hal Edwards of Tensed. An ISWGA board member, Edwards was an early president of the Western Wheat Association; foreign marketing organization. He is currently Agriculture Secretary. Orville Edwards said the challenge to the grower group would be in developing proposed legislation mutually beneficial to taxpayers, government and the growers. He said the group would consult with respected economists and agriculture educators in preparing the proposal.

Freeman's advisory committee

The U.S. peach crop is estimated at 3.6 billion pounds, 34 per cent above last year and three per cent more than the 1962-66 average, states the Crop and Livestock Reporting Service Board.

APPLE CROP DOWN

The nation's prospective apple crop of 5.3 billion pounds is two per cent less than last year and 10 per cent below the 1962-66 average, according to the Crop and Livestock Reporting Service.

THUNDERING HERD of buffalo from the national Bison range near Molese, Mont., are stampeded to corrals and sorting pens in the annual roundup held this week. The 450-head herd is cut back to 500 animals to prevent overgrazing of the 18,000-acre game preserve. Most surplus animals are sold to ranchers. The Montana herd was established in 1902 but in spite of years of management the bison remains a dangerous wild animal. (AP Wirephoto)

Cooperatives Are Important Exporters Of Farm Products

Farm cooperatives are important marketing organizations for agricultural commodities, states an Idaho economist. Quentin D. Banks, University of Idaho extension economist on marketing information, notes that many of the cooperatives are also powerful economic institutions in our national farm marketing system. Mr. Banks added that farm cooperatives are also important exporters of agricultural products from this country and they shop in foreign countries for products to be used on American farms. An article in the Sept. 23 issue of Foreign Agriculture, published by USDA, entitled "A Guide to Cooperatives in U.S. Agricultural Trade," emphasizes the contribution U.S. cooperatives have made to U.S. international trade. The article points out that many of the customers who buy agricultural products from other countries also are cooperatives. Twelve U.S. farm cooperatives have won presidential "Export Awards" for their contributions toward improving the U.S. balance of payments position. One of the award winners is Pacific Supply Cooperative, Portland, Ore., which provides both supplies and marketing services to producers in seven Western states. Pacific Supply serves a large number of Idaho farmers and maintains business locations in Idaho. "It is a member of the Idaho Cooperative Council, Idaho farm

Fall Is Good Time To Kill Lawn Weeds

Fall is a good time to kill lawn weeds with chemicals, advises Donald Youst, Twin Falls County agent. "Warm days of Indian summer favor action of herbicides. While grass and weeds are still growing, excellent weed control can be accomplished," says Mr. Youst. "The kind of chemical to use is governed by the variety of weeds. Dandelion and plantain will curl up after a shot of 2, 4-D. If the lawn contains chickweed and others that 2, 4-D does not control, a combination of herbicides is indicated. Autumn applications are usually effective," Mr. Youst said, because weeds are moving food up through their systems more vigorously than in summer. They are preparing for winter. If the process is hampered they die back more readily than in the case of other seasons. Even if they are not killed, they are in poor shape to survive severe winter. Most lawns will profit from a fall application of fertilizer, too, Mr. Youst said. Grass will go into the winter in thriving condition and have a green look earlier in the spring.

Idaho Wheat Growers Meet Set Dec. 5

The Idaho State Wheat Growers Association has released plans for its 1968 convention, according to Ralph Bitter, Worley, ISWGA president. "Idaho Falls will be the convention site," Bitter said. State wheat growers will meet there Dec. 5 and 6. "Chairman of the convention committee is Jack Coles, Latah County. Committee members are Jud Neely, Newdale, Donovan James, Idaho Falls, and Earl Hoses, Reburg. Wives and other members will organize a women's program for the convention." The Improvement Imps Home Improvement Club, with Mrs. William Sweet as leader; Camas Livestock Club with Wesley Fields, leader, and Mackamons Hacks Horse Club with Mr. and Mrs. Harold Choate as leaders. Robert Loucks is county agent and Mrs. Mary Lou Ruby is home demonstration agent.

"Miss-Idaho Wheat" Event Is Planned

The Idaho State Wheat Growers Association has announced its annual "Miss Idaho Wheat" contest, according to Ralph Bitter, Worley, ISWGA, President. Miss Idaho Wheat for 1968 will be selected in final judging Dec. 5 and 6 during the ISWGA convention at Idaho Falls, Bitter said. Five finalists are to be selected from among all entries to compete at Idaho Falls. A candidate for Miss Idaho Wheat must be between 18 and 21, single and the daughter of a wheat grower. Entries will be judged on the basis of poise, personality, appearance, enthusiasm, intelligence and knowledge of Idaho's wheat industry. U. Of I. Plant Pathologist Returns From European Tour

UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO, Moscow — "An excellent exchange of ideas" with this continent's plant pathologists, University of Idaho plant pathologist, summed up his recently concluded five-week visit with research workers in Europe. The trip was financed by the number of countries where he visited with scientists working fields of research similar to his own. A number of these scientists are either interested in or are already working with a technique for detecting bacterial pathogens developed by Guthrie at the University of Idaho. Guthrie left Moscow June 26 and flew to Europe via the polar route. His first major stop was research center for the Department of Agriculture and Fisheries of Scotland. While at the center, Guthrie met with Dr. Dennis Graham, The Scot's research reported that he had isolated a strain of Halo Blight that attacks the young canopy Japanese varieties. Guthrie noted that this variety commonly grows in Idaho. As Guthrie pointed out, this is of particular interest for Idaho since the Mung bean is being grown on a trial basis in one or two locations in the state. Guthrie also stopped in Holland. "One of the chief concerns of pathologists and plant breeders in Holland is the lack of resistance in American bean varieties to all of their strains of Bean Virus 1. They have one or two additional strains of this virus, one of which induces the black rot symptom," he said. On July 4, Guthrie flew to Budapest, Hungary. Two world renown plant pathologists, Drs. Zoltan Klement and Zoltan Kiroly met him at the airport. Although they are both excellent scientists, Guthrie pointed out, they also believe in the relaxed life. "They maintain that a scientist must have time to think, away from the rush of modern life. Dr. Klement took me to a beautiful mountain area on the Buda side of the Danube River and showed me where he escapes to think and write his research papers," Guthrie commented. While in Budapest, Guthrie lectured on bacterial diseases at the institute for phytopathological research. The lecture was necessarily made through an interpreter. A rather slow but interesting process, according to Guthrie. He also showed slides of the University of Idaho campus, including one of a Vandal football game. "The latter picture especially created great interest," he said. Guthrie's next stop was the northern part of Germany to the area of Oettingen. At the University of Göttingen, he visited with Dr. K. W. E. Rudolph, who is now using the serological procedures for detecting halo-blight pathogens in beans developed by Guthrie at the University of Idaho. Guthrie reported he was able to provide Dr. Rudolph with some of the more recent changes and improvements which were greatly appreciated. Still another European researcher who was interested in Guthrie's detection techniques was Dr. Paul Neergaard, director of Denmark's Institute of Seed Pathology for Developing Countries. "Dr. Neergaard is the administrative director of the program whose purpose is to assist developing countries in their new testing procedures for the detection of seed born pathogens. This includes all true seed such as the grains and vegetable seeds and includes beans and peas seed," Guthrie commented. While visiting in Denmark, Guthrie demonstrated to Neergaard and his staff the bacterial pathogen detection technique he uses at the University of Idaho. Neergaard told Guthrie it is his hope to incorporate these methods in his world wide testing programs. "Final stop in his European tour was the First International Congress of Plant Pathology held in London. Guthrie presented a paper at this congress describing his detection techniques. While attending the Congress, Guthrie received a telegram from the Idaho Bean Commission. The Commission needed information about the extent of drought conditions in the Balkans. Guthrie was able to report from personal observations and from contacts with two Hungarian acquaintances that the drought had damaged crops in general considerably throughout the Balkans. The necessity for next year's plantings may be critical. He also attended a number of sessions at the Congress including one on plant pathology problems in developing countries; groups of viruses as pathogens; survival of bacterial diseases, pathogens and pathogen variability of bacterial pathogens; most reactions and specifically in bacterial diseases, and epidemic diseases of plants in dry climates. Guthrie also attended two tours during the congress. One to the National Vegetable Research Station at Wellesbourne, Warwickshire. "While there I met with Drs. Maude and Taylor who have been working on methods for the detection of one halo blight infected seed out of a thousand. Their final identification process includes the serological procedure developed at the University of Idaho," Guthrie reported. Mrs. Guthrie accompanied her husband on the five-week trip.

The Professor was holding the queen of hearts to a rapt audience of students. His subject was the 4-3 trump fit. One pupil had just so complained that he could never get to first base when he held the dummy unless all the high trumps were among his seven. The Professor said, "The first step in playing a 4-3 trump fit only needed seven more tricks. It seemed silly to try to guess the location of the queen of clubs when I had such a nice diamond suit to work with. So I led a club to dummy's king, returned a diamond and got to first base when he held the king and queen. Nothing more appealing than a second trump was among his seven. I ruffed and was down to two trumps but I had three tricks in."

"Weren't you a trifle lucky?" asked the senior pupil.

"No," said the Professor. "I did find two suits breaking 4-3 for me but I lost the diamond finesse."

Montana State-Weber Tilt Is First Pivotal Battle In Big Sky League Chase

By The Associated Press
It's a weekend of decision for Big Sky Conference football teams, especially for Montana and Montana State.
The Montana State Bobcats can assure themselves at least a share of the league title by defeating Weber State Saturday night in the Wildcats' conference opener.

Wills Won't Give Hint On Future Plans

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Maury Wills was as elusive with his words Wednesday night when asked about his future in baseball as he was with his feet six years ago when he stole a major league record 104 bases.
The fiery center fielder was ejected from the Pittsburgh Pirates' roster by the expansion Montreal Expos after he had announced he would retire from baseball if he was made available on the National League draft list.

While in Las Vegas for the opening of Detroit Tiger pitcher Denny McLain's nightclub act, and preparing for his own band-playing show next month, Denny McLain's nightclub act, he would report to Montreal.

Olson Holds National Offense Lead

NEW YORK (AP) — The 1968 football season is well on its way to becoming the most productive offensive year in small college history.
In the previous history of small college statistics no two players ever have accumulated more than 1,400 yards in total offense after only five games; no player ever has had more than 50 receptions at the same stage and no player ever had passed for 10 touchdowns in one game.
But, at the five-week mark this year, all those achievements have been accomplished. Idaho sophomore quarterback Steven Olson and Bruce Swanson of North Park both have surpassed the 1,400-yard mark with 1,490 and 1,402, respectively. And Swanson has become the first 10-touchdown man with 11 completions—1042 yards; victory over North Central last week.
Meanwhile, Bruce Ceronc of Emporia State jumped from third to first in pass receiving, according to NCAA statistics released Thursday, with 55 catches.

Smith Won't Predict Any More Protests

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Tommie Smith, who won the Olympic 200 meters for the United States and then held up a black-gloved hand in protest at the award ceremony, said Thursday he did not know if there would be other protest gestures by black U.S. athletes.
In an interview with ABC television, Smith said: "My events are finished. The other black athletes have minds of their own and what they will do I don't know."
Smith, a native of San Jose, Calif., and bronze medalist John Carlos, each wore a black glove, black scarf and black socks to receive their awards. They extended their gloved hands in the air while the National Anthem was played.
Smith explained his actions this way: "The glow on my right hand signified power within black America. The glow that my teammate, John Carlos, wore on his left hand signified black unity. The black scarf that I wore was about my neck signified blackness and the socks, our power."
Smith added: "I represented black America and I am very proud to be a black man and also to have won a gold medal. I thought in this way I could represent my people by letting them know I am proud to be a black man."

WSU Readies For Stanford Attack

PULLMAN, Wash. (AP) — Final preparations were made Thursday by the Washington State University football team as the Cougars prepared for a Pacific-8 Conference game at Spokane against Stanford Saturday.
Coach Jim Sweeney had the offensive unit going over game plans while the defensive worked on methods to stop the Indians' passing attack. The squad also spent time on field goal kicking and punting.

Saturday afternoon in Pocatello to keep any title hope alive.
Both Montana clubs were rated likely to succeed by preseason prognosticators, and both are considered downgraded their squads' chances.

Weber is far from untested, however, and figures to be a major obstacle to every team looking for the crown. The Wildcats are undefeated as they enter league action. After Saturday they face Idaho State, Idaho and Montana in order.

Idaho travels to Eugene for a bout with Oregon Saturday in an interconference contest. The squad, newly aerial minded under coach Y.C. McGeorge, leads the league in most statistical compilations.
Idaho State figures it found a quarterback last weekend while losing to Montana State 31-14. Larry Kerychuk was sidelined with a bad back when sophomore Jerry Dunne took the controls to move the Bengals into two touchdowns and pass them to a third that was lost on a penalty.
Coach Ed Cavanaugh figures Dunne to start in the Bengal Homecoming contest with Montana.
Montana may need to bolster its aerial attack if it is to field an effective offense in this year's pass-minded league. The Grizzlies lead the conference in ground gains but are last in total offense.

And on defense, the Bruins have allowed 10 touchdowns by the aerial route, three more than their league cohorts. Overall, Montana second in the out-of-defense, allowing opponents an average of 234 yards per game. Weber State leads in this department.

Weber and Montana State rivalry is strong under any circumstances and doubly so now that title hopes hang on the outcome for the defending champion Bobcats. Weber won in the last Ogden tilt, 1965, but lost to the Bobcats the next two years.
The Bobcats' losses have been to formidable foes, San Diego State 34-22 and West Texas 35-20. But Weber, rated seventh nationally among smaller colleges in the NCAA, has scored nearly three times as many points as Montana State has in its history.

Montana State has a strong attack—in the running of Paul Schafer, the catching of Ron Bain and the razzle-dazzle of quarterback Dennis Erickson's handling of the option.
Defensively, the Grizzlies have a number one interception record of tying a school record. He has averaged one a game so far, five for the season.
Idaho's Jerry Hendren is another who is rewriting the record books. Each passer in the rest of the season sets a record since he broke his own of last season. He has 52 so far, compared with the old mark of 49. Quarterback Steve Olson should remain the nation's leader in passing with 102 completions now on the books in 197 games.
Oregon beat Seattle 30-14 last weekend.

Kinder Dies Of Heart Trouble

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Ellis Kinder, a former major league pitcher whose career record was 102 victories and 71 losses with six teams, died Wednesday in Baptist Hospital here.

Kinder, 54, underwent open heart surgery.
Kinder first made the majors in 1946 with the old St. Louis Browns, who traded him to the Boston Red Sox in 1947. He stayed with the Red Sox until 1955.

In 1956, he moved to the St. Louis Cardinals in the National League and ended his career with the Chicago White Sox the following year.

Grizzlies Favored Over ISU Saturday

POCATELLO (AP) — The Montana Grizzlies will carry the favorite's tag into a Big Sky Conference football battle here Saturday against Idaho State University.

Big offensive guns for the Grizzlies are former junior college all-American Ray Brum at quarterback, and burly fullback Tony Gabriel.

ISU has only gained half as much yardage on the ground as its four opponents and is expected to rely heavily on its passing game.

Neither team shows a victory in league action, but against common opposition the Grizzlies have fared a little better.

Coach Jack Swarthout's club has clobbered Portland State 59-9, while losing to Idaho 45-56. The Bengals of coach Ed Cavanaugh belted Portland state 52-30 and lost to Idaho 15-35.

Another backfield starter will be sophomore Jerry Dunne getting the touchdown and also scored one against Montana State while relieving Petrone.

Other backfield starters will be fullback Joe Clark, tailback Lewis Cook and flanker Carls Harris.

Idaho State will get some impetus since the game is homecoming, but it would get a bigger boost if ace passer Larry Kerychuk is able to see action. He's been laid up two weeks with a back ailment and is a doubtful performer.

Seniors playing their last game for the Bengals will be Clark and Jim Rackley. Guard Larry Bender, center Carl Romanow, left linemen Steve and Stan Millard and defensive backs Leroy Harris, Jim Gallagher, Billy Satterfield and Larry Thomas.

U.S. Swimmers Begin Gold Medal Harvest, Davenport Takes Hurdles

MEXICO CITY (AP) — U.S. swimming forces splashed to a perfect, record-smashing start in the Olympics with two gold medals Thursday after Willie Davenport won the 50-meter hurdles and U.S. officials apologized for a black American racial protest in an award ceremony.

The trio of golds gave the United States nine for the five-day-old Games. The U.S. also has three silvers and five bronzes for a total of 17.

A quartet of teen-age girls ignited what is expected to be a just harvest of gold medals with a narrow but double record victory in the 400-meter medley relay.

Kaye Hall of Tacoma, Wash., Cate-Bell of Jacksonville, Fla., Ellie Daniels of Elkins Park, Pa., and Sue Pederson of Sacramento, Calif., completed the race in 4:28.3, eclipsing the Olympic record and the listed world mark.

Then, when the waters of the Olympic pool had subsided, the men's 400-meter freestyle relay flashed to a second double record, winning in 3:31.7.

The quartet of Zach Zorn of the listed world record of 4:30 both set by U.S. teams.

The men's time of 3:31.7 eclipsed the Olympic mark of 3:32.2 and the world standard of 3:32.5.

Besides Davenport and Hall, Larry Young of San Pedro, Calif., was the only member of the U.S. track and field team to win a medal. He finished third in the 50-kilometer walk, behind winner Christoph Hohne of East Germany and runner-up Antoni Kiss of Hungary.

In winning the hurdles, Davenport tied the Olympic mark of 1:33 seconds while Hall was timed in 1:34, the same as third-place Eddy Otz of Italy.

Leon Chapman of Winston-Salem, N.C., was fourth in 1:36.

In the latest weightlifting competition, the Soviet Union won both the gold and silver medals in the light-heavyweight division.

Meanwhile, back at Olympic Stadium, all three medalists were in the women's 200-meter triple jump with Russia's Victor Sanyev taking the gold on a leap of 57 feet, 3/4 inches.

Nelson Frudencio of Brazil took the silver with 55.3 and Giuseppe Gentile of Italy won the bronze with 56.6. Gentile had established a world and Olympic record of 56-1/4 in the qualifying round.

Art Walker of Los Angeles finished fourth with 56.2, which exceeded his American record by 15 inches.

Hungary's Gyula Zsivotzky and Soviet world champion staged a stirring battle in the hammer throw before the Hungarian won before the Olympic record heave of 240 feet, 8 inches.

Klim took the silver medal at 240.5. Both athletes broke the Olympic mark of 238.2 set by Zsivotzky in the preliminary round. Klim held the old Games mark of 238.9.

Two Americans, Ralph Boston and Barbara Ferrell, smashed Olympic records in qualifying events. Boston broke his own mark in the long jump with a leap of 27 feet, 1 1/2 inches, before Miss Ferrell, from Los Angeles, shattered the women's 200-meter record twice.

Barbara, first broke the record with a 22.3-second run in a preliminary heat, then chopped another tenth of a second off in the semifinals.

Margaret Bailes of Eugene, Ore., finished third in Miss Ferrell's semifinal heat in 22.9.

Miloslava Reznova of Czechoslovakia won the high jump at 5 feet, 1 1/4 inches with two other Russians taking second and third.

Tunisia's Mohammed Gammoudi won the 5,000 meter gold medal fighting off a home stretch burst by Naftali Temu of Kipchoke Keino of Kenya.

Fenu, who won the first gold medal of the Games on Sunday in the 10,000 meters, finished third behind Keino.

Miss Ferrell, a silver medalist in the 100-meter behind Wymia Wells of the United States, minutes after Australia's Racene Boyle matched the American girl's 22.9.

Bob Freeman, an Arizona State University speedster from Elizabeth, N.J., led the American trio into the semifinals of the 400-meter dash, winning his heat in 45.3 seconds.

Lee Evans, a San Jose State teammate of Smith and Carlos who has a pending world record day at the new West German glove being used here is far superior to anything we've used before—and certainly far superior to the glove used in the Tokyo Games.

Dr. Blonstein, a London physician and for 13 years an amateur boxer in his youth, has long been interested in the development of a "pneumatic" glove.

"It's been in the testing stage for a 'Brain' for several years now," he said. "One major drawback," he said of the air-filled boxing glove.

"We just can't get a suitable bladder for it," he explained. "The problem has been with the valve. It leaks air with the punch, but it has great possibilities. We use it only in training in England. It's not accepted for actual contests."

The new West German glove is best because of the softness of the leather used in its construction, its inner filling of sponge rubber, and its fewer seams, he said.

Blonstein said U.S. boxing gloves aren't up to the quality of the new glove being used here.

"The leather in the American glove," he explained, "is too hard, and it has too many seams. It's the seams, you know, which cause most of the blisters."

Eight-ounce gloves are used in the Olympics.

Thompson Hits 300 MPH On Salt Flats

BONNEVILLE SALT FLATS, Utah (AP) — Mickey Thompson gunned his Ford Autolite special to 300 m.p.h. on a 100-mile course Thursday, then postponed until the week of Oct. 28 his assault on the world's speed record for wheel-driven wheels.

The glistering blue and gold car had run perfectly in shakedown cruises since Sunday, but rain Monday dumped just enough water on the salt's thin film straightaway to prevent an attempt on the mark of 409 m.p.h. by Bob and Bill Sumners.

It appeared unlikely the track would be ready by late Saturday when Thompson had to vacate the salt for a week of hot-rail racing. So he ordered his crew to shift the car back to his garage in Long Beach, Calif.

He plans to return Oct. 28, then try for the record a day or two later.

Thompson had two arduous moments during the week, when wind grabbed the car on the slick course at speeds of about 250 m.p.h. Each time the car flapped on two wheels, but did not overturn.

The sleek vehicle, powered by two 427-cubic-inch engines with a combined 2,070-horsepower, showed every sign of record capability.

Ford apparently was so confident Thompson would achieve the record that its advertising crew filmed a movie every celebration at the end of a practice run Tuesday. Workers rushed to the cockpit and pounded him on his back while Thompson smiled and shook hands.

Usually there is quite a delay between the end of a run and the U. S. Auto Club's official announcement of the speed.

The car is in the second-fastest class of racing, exceeded only by jet-propelled vehicles.

Highland Sophs Trim T.F. 12-10

(Highland's undefeated sophomores cashed in the only two scoring chances they had Thursday night in beating Twin Falls 12-10.)

Highland got its touchdown in the second and third quarters and its defensive unit held the Rebels six times inside the 20-yard line.

Three times Twin Falls had first downs inside the 10 but couldn't score until Pat Clark sneaked in from the run-off line after a 12-yard run by Richard Borah. Robert Warner kicked out of the four field goal attempts. One of the runs was blocked with three minutes left and another with just over a minute to play strayed left.

Olympic Unit Gets Apology From America

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The United States Olympic Committee formally apologized to the International Olympic Committee and the Mexican Organizing Committee Thursday for what it called the discourtesy displayed by two of its athletes in an Olympic victory ceremony Wednesday.

In a veiled threat, the committee also warned that it would not stand for a repetition of a display such as that by sprinters Tommie Smith and John Carlos.

The two athletes, after finishing first and third, respectively, in the 200-meter race, stood on the victory podium with gloved hands upraised in a black power salute and with eyes fixed on the ground during the playing of the Star Spangled Banner.

Everett Barnes, acting executive director of the U.S. Olympic Committee, came out of a five-hour meeting of the U.S. Olympic Committee, with his eyes damp from emotion and issued a statement.

The statement said no formal action would be taken against Smith and Carlos at this time but indicated that disciplinary measures would be taken if they repeated the act.

"That is the message we want to get across," Barnes said. "We worried the statement in such a way that we thought we will be able to solve the situation peacefully. I am going out immediately to talk with Payton Jordan, the head track coach."

The statement said that this immature behavior by the two members of the U.S. team warrants any formal action at this time.

"If further investigation over subsequent events does not bear out the entire matter will be reevaluated."

The statement said that the committee regarded the behavior of the athletes at this time as an isolated incident. It said that a "repetition of such an incident will be viewed as a willful disregard of Olympic principles."

Altitude Has Caused No Real Protests

MEXICO CITY (AP) — After five days of record-shattering competition in Mexico City's 1/2-mile altitude, just about the most serious problem faced by the Olympic medical staff so far has been a Russian athlete who ate a taco, skin and all.

Doctor Julio Ramos, director of the Olympic Athletics Stadium Medical Center, said Thursday that in spite of all the talk about the altitude problem, the Mexico Olympics so far have shown no center casualty rate among athletes, than the 1964 or 1968 games.

"The main problem here," he said, "is that the foreign athletes are eating too much. They seem to be too fond of Mexican food. Some of them, like the Russian, just are not used to this kind of food."

Ramos remarked that after one of the most exhausting events, the 20-kilometer walk, there were only four competitors who had to be taken into the recovery room. They all recovered spontaneously, he said without requiring any kind of additional or the standard treatment which is the inhalation of oxygen and oral administration of glucose.

Three Share Opening Lead In Golf Meet

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Defending champion Jack Nicklaus, big Bill Collins and Dale Douglass knocked four strokes off the lead on Thursday to share the lead in the first round of the $100,000 Sahara Invitational Golf Tournament.

Playing in delightful weather at the 7,000-foot Paradise Valley Country Club, the trio had identical rounds of 34-33-67.

One stroke back were Julius Boros and Kermit Zarley, with scores of 35-38-68, and a former Arizona amateur champion, young professional Joe Porter of Staustville, 32-35-68.

U.S. Open champion Lee Trevino finished with 36-34-70 in the heavily populated 70-bracket, while Billy Casper, the two-time winner for the year, shot 36-35-71.

Conrad Says He's Through With Cards

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Veteran flinker Bobby Joe Conrad said in a newspaper interview today he is "fed up" and aimed most of his displeasure at Coach Charley Winner of the St. Louis Cardinals.

The St. Louis Post-Dispatch story said Conrad was embittered for having missed trying to catch a record-setting number of at least one reception in 94 consecutive games.

He could have matched the mark—held by Green Bay's Dan Fouts—in just seven games against Cleveland in which the Cardinals won 27-21.

In the interview, Conrad said, "I can't make any lawyer face it, since he (Coach Winner) has been here, I haven't done anything."

"Maybe I'm washed up and don't know it, but I think the difficulty is partly a personality problem."

Winner was quoted as saying he didn't want to get into a controversy over present developments.

Conrad said his future to match Hutson's record influenced him in announcing this would be his final season with the Cardinals.

A newspaper noted that Conrad had made similar indications last December.

Gene Rinebold, Area Potato Specialist, Offers Pointers For Top Quality Spuds

BURLEY — "Potato Pointers" given by Gene Rinebold, area potato specialist for the University of Idaho, serving Cassia, Mindoka and Twin Falls counties.

Topics outlined by Mr. Rinebold include maintaining potato quality, pre-harvest crop and soil conditioning, harvesting, storage, storage management and potato vine malady, necessary to maintain quality and put the crop into storage in better condition.

"Sound tubers store best, but even bruised potatoes can be stored fairly well with good storage facilities and good storage management."

"Ground hilling occurs quite satisfactorily at 45 to 50 degrees provided the relative humidity is high. This is important that as high a relative humidity as possible be supplied right from the start. Wetting down cellar floors, using humidifiers and keeping doors closed as much as possible will all help. Use proper air flow and cool night temperatures to cool the potatoes to 45 to 50 degrees as soon as possible to keep water content high and per cent No. 1's in the field, the number of sacks of number one's for sale will depend on the humidity of the crop is handled during harvest, hauling, storing, removal from storage and handling through the roughhouse.

"Assuming machinery is in good condition, adjusted and ready to go, the first important step in maintaining soil fertility is good deep soil and crop conditioning prior to harvest."

"Kill vines 10 days to 100 weeks prior to harvest. (This should already be done). It takes longer if soil moisture is high, if temperatures are cold or if you get only a partial kill. Allow enough time for the skills to set."

"Apply a light conditioning irrigation if necessary to soften clods and have the soil moist enough to carry well up on the digger chain to cushion the tubers and reduce bruising."

"Adjust digger chain speed so it is only slightly faster than the forward speed. I suspect there will be a need to increase their field speeds if bruising is to be kept within tolerable limits."

"Run all other chains and conveyor all as slow as possible to prevent bouncing. Use carrier links or otherwise prevent roll back."

"All drops as short as possible especially from the boom to the truck, from the truck into the pile hopper, and from the pile hopper into the pad and protect. Use rubber-padded chain, rubber rollers, padded bulk beds, padded hoppers. Protect spuds from sharp projects exposed chain link ends and anything else that can gouge or bruise."

"Get the load in the truck so as to have the least amount of drop and the least amount of rolling from the top of the pile to the bottom of the bed. Build the cellar pile in stair steps to reduce rolling down the face of the pile."

"Train your crews and supervise them constantly."

"Don't dig unless the potato pulp temperature is 45 degrees or higher, 50 or 55 degrees would be better but over 55 degrees is too warm."

"Hard and serious bruises, the ones that make culls or number two's out of number one's will increase 50 per cent if tuber temperature is 50 degrees instead of 45 degrees and they will increase 100 per cent if you dig at 60 degrees."

T.F. Firemen Start Work On Presents

Twin Falls Municipal firemen have started earlier this year in preparing toys for the needy children for Christmas.

According to Clair Harkins, president of the firemen's benefit fund, the firemen have worked until Christmas eve in past years to prepare the toys for Christmas.

He asks that people wanting to donate repairable toys, bicycles, tricycles and wagons, bring them to the fire department. If they have no means of transporting them to the department, the firemen will pick up the toys.

Mr. Harkins would like to get the toys as soon as possible to have them ready for the holiday. The Good Will Club organizes and stuffs toys for the fire department.

The fire department works with the YWCA in determining what children will receive the toys. Off-duty firemen deliver the toys, using their own vehicles, on Christmas morning.

Fulbright Faces Test In Election

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., (AP) — Sen. W. Fulbright, Democratic chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, is running one of the hardest races of his career against a Republican farm-businesman seeking his first statewide office.

The campaign has pushed beyond Arkansas' borders, enlisting contributors for both sides from throughout the country.

Headquarters for Charles T. Bernard, the GOP candidate, has mailed thousands of letters seeking Fulbright's foreign policy record and asking for contributions. But Bernard denies reports that he is receiving the aid of large conservative organizations.

Bernard's letter says liberal groups are "pouring thousands of dollars into the effort to save Fulbright," who is seeking his fourth term and asking for contributions. But Bernard denies reports that he is receiving the aid of large conservative organizations.

Beermakers Query Law On Health

BOISE (AP) — Representatives of Idaho's beer industry questioned Tuesday whether the health department could enforce a proposed regulation on cleaning draft beer equipment.

The proposed rule would require beer lines, hoses and taps to be cleaned at least once a week and flushed clean with running water after each keg has been drawn. The cleaning after each keg would have to be done within 30 minutes of an indication that a keg is empty.

Lee Scott, Boise, public hearing of the board of Health that has been held on the proposed rule except for the provision on flushing lines a regular emptying of each keg.

The regulation is similar to one in Oregon is unenforceable. The proposed rule will go to the board for approval or rejection at its Nov. 7-8 meeting in Washington.

Judge Declines Ruling On Hair

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — A federal judge refused Thursday to inject himself into arguments over the length of a girl's skirt or her boy's hair.

U.S. District Judge Frank Gray Jr., declined to order the readmission of two Donelson High School students who were suspended because they refused to cut their hair and shave their heads.

When an attorney for the boys, Barry Barnes and Michael Jackson, both 16, brought up the argument about the length of the girls' skirts, Gray said: "That's God's something the federal courts have not yet been asked to determine."

Barnes and Jackson said they needed hair and long hair to make it as unexcusable in a rock band. But school officials told them to decide between school and a job.

City Ponders Development

POCAHELLO (AP) — City Manager Fred Walsky Wednesday briefed Planning - Zoning Board members on a proposal to design a master plan for the development for the entire county and each of its cities.

Cost of the plan, to be developed over a two-year period, Walsky said, would be about $121,000.

Viet Bombing Stirs Debate In Campaign

By The Associated Press
Reports of a possible development in the Paris peace talks have revived emphasis on Vietnam in the presidential campaign.

he knows about the Paris peace talks.
George C. Wallace, the third party candidate for president said he's feeling tired and suspended campaigning until his running mate, Curtis E. LeMay, returns from a tour of Vietnam.

Newsman questioned Muskie in Chicago on developments in the Vietnam peace talks, but Muskie replied: "Would you like to have a frank exposure of what I know about what's going on in Paris or would you rather have a ceasefire?"

A magazine of the publishing industry released a tally showing 483 of the nation's daily newspapers have endorsed Nixon, 93 have endorsed Humphrey and 10 have endorsed Wallace.

The magazine, Editor & Publisher, noted Nixon was also heavily preferred in 1960, when he lost to John F. Kennedy.

Reds Believed Disagreeing On Response To Peace Plea

WASHINGTON (AP) — Disagreement between "Hawks" and "Doves" in Hanoi may be delaying a response to Washington proposals for ending all bombing of North Vietnam, diplomatic authorities here believe.

U.S. officials say that arrangements for a bombing halt have been thoroughly covered in consultations with governments allied in the war, including the South Vietnamese government and that the "hangup" is now entirely in Hanoi.

he said the Republicans will support the President if a bombing halt is called and it meets Nixon's conditions.

Newsman questioned Muskie in Chicago on developments in the Vietnam peace talks, but Muskie replied: "Would you like to have a frank exposure of what I know about what's going on in Paris or would you rather have a ceasefire?"

Wallace said during a campaign swing through Texas "When you vote for the American Independent Party on Nov. 5, you've asserted your manhood in Texas. You've asserted your manhood in our region."

A SILVER PLATTER inscribed with "Idaho Agent of the Year" was recently presented to Dan J. Obenchain, right, at the annual Sun Valley convention of the Idaho Association of Independent Insurance Agents. The president of the organization, Walter B. Boies, presented the award to Mr. Obenchain. It is awarded by the Idaho Insurance Underwriters' Association on the basis of the agent's contribution to the insurance industry and his participation in civic activities.

U.S. To Halt Production Of $5 'Notes'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Treasury announced Thursday it will stop issuing $5 bills that carry the designation "United States Note" — thereby assuring that collectors all over the country will begin squandering them away.

Danger Of Fire Is Limited But Caution Is Urged

Although the danger of forest fires has decreased considerably with the recent rainy weather, Forest Service officials remind hunters that the possibility of fire is always present and care should be used with campfires and burning fires.

Participation in some form of the National Liberation Front, political arm of the Viet Cong guerrillas in South Vietnam, was said to have been conceded by the United States.

DARRELL V. MANNING

The Man In . . . motion

For United States Congress Second District

Darrell Manning thinks that government should be on a first name basis. He won't forget he's a farm boy from Preston when you put him in Washington. But he's been successful in politics, so he won't embarrass you back there either. Manning can talk, and he can fight, and he possesses the knowledge of the legislative processes to convert promises into programs. This man, a man in motion, has demonstrated clearly during his eight years in the Idaho Legislature that he can turn ideas into fact; he can change reasoning into reality; he can create action out of inertia. Manning makes good things happen.

Yearly, a more handful of men are chosen as the Outstanding Young Men in America. Darrell Manning got this honor by working tirelessly for you in the Idaho House. He served 8 years in the legislature, 4 years as minority leader. He was a powerful man in Boise, but he's giving all that up to make a run for the United States Congress.

when he described what was reasonable for educators to expect from Idaho's budget. Quite a crowd for Idaho!

Why? Because he cares what's happening to Idaho citizens. He's worried because some farm folks can no longer compete. He knows the beef men are having the squeeze put on them by imports. He doesn't see industrial development, when he knows it could flourish.

Did you know that Darrell's been in and out of Vietnam dozens of times.

And he's a guy who hasn't played hinky-panky with his own personal political philosophy in his effort to get elected. He's been downright conservative at times. About how your money is spent. About stricter law enforcement. About government getting so darn big that the people's needs and desires are ignored.

And listen—He's no desk jockey. He's flown those planes into all the hot spots in Southeast Asia. He flew more miles in combat zone missions last year than any of us will drive in our lifetimes. There's a good chance that shortly before you read this, or while you're reading it, or tomorrow Manning will be approaching Saigon from several thousand feet and asking for clearance to land.

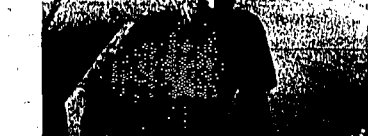

But he's won some good fights as a crusader, too. He spearheaded some legislation which made it a heckuva lot safer for Idaho kids to ride on school buses. He helped draft legislation which gave the handicapped a decent break and pushed the first reasonable state civil rights act in the entire country.

Yeah! He's got strong feelings about the place. He's got them from the guys in Vietnam—he's not been a pampered political tourist—he's quit courtage.

He stuck his neck out by taking on some big business because he felt the little guy wasn't getting his fair share.

Sound like the old campaign blarney? Sit still for a minute and listen.

Manning has been a parliament fighter for improved education in Idaho; Idaho teachers know he's been fair. It shouldn't surprise anybody that recently he received a standing ovation from five hundred parents and teachers.
