

Church Demolishes Hansen As Republicans Sweep Idaho Races

By EARLE L. JESTER

BOISE (AP)—Republicans claimed victory today in all but one of the major races in Idaho's 1968 general election, losing the one they wanted badly to win — for United States senator.

Republican Richard M. Nixon for president. He had a lead of almost 7 to 1 over Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, the Democratic nominee, with American independent, George Wallace trailing far behind.

Control of both the House and Senate in the state legislature. However, veteran Sen. Lloyd Barron of Fairfield, regarded as the likely choice for Senate president-elect, lost to Democrat Don Fredrickson of Gooding, a former state senator.

Five of the nine proposed constitutional amendments got voter approval but the four others were defeated. Getting the biggest margin of approval was the amendment intended to broaden the field for investment of endowment funds.

The Republican state chairman, he said, believed Church won because "the opposition threw all their forces into this one race. They put practically all their finances into it and just weren't able to cope with it."

Church said he was helped, too, by his stand on conservation of the state's natural resources, his opposition to federal gun controls and his efforts to develop the state's economy.

State chairman, Joseph Stumph of Twin Falls, said he was not discouraged. "The party is only three months old," he said, "and I think we did very well in such a short time. The American Independent Party will be around in 1970 and 1972 and possibly George Wallace will be with us again in 1972."

Republicans Keep Control

GOP Loses 3 Idaho Seats

BOISE (AP)—The Republicans will retain control of the Idaho legislature for another two years but suffered a net loss of three legislative seats to Democrats in the general election.

Based on unofficial returns, the Republicans edged up with 29 Senate seats and the Democrats 15 — a gain of two for the Democrats from the composition of the current legislature. In the House, the Republicans elected 38 and the Democrats 32 — a gain of one for the Democrats. The one-seat gain in the House was in normally Democratic district where a Republican had been appointed to fill a vacancy left by the death of the incumbent, a Democrat.

Negro Singer Is Stabbed During Event

NEW YORK (AP) — Billy Daniels, the Negro singer who gained fame with his rendition of "That Old Black Magic," was stabbed in the back Tuesday night while performing at the Latin Quarter nightclub.

Police captured a man they identified as the assailant several minutes after the stabbing.

As 75 patrons looked on, police said, the man, also a Negro, leaped up on stage, forced Daniels to the side of the stage and stabbed him twice in the back with a switchblade knife.

The stabbing was not Daniels' first brush with violence.

In 1957, Daniels lost his New York City cabaret license in the aftermath of a 1956 shooting in a Harlem bottle club. Daniels pleaded guilty to criminally possessing a gun in connection with the shooting.

WASHINGTON—President Johnson's last-hour flurry of executive orders was greeted with a mixture of surprise and jubilation.

Muriel Humphrey. She was guest of honor at the dinner in Detroit of the National Association for Retarded Children.

As she is the wife of the Democratic candidate for President, she is a natural target for the press.

She insisted there be no publicity about this until after the election. NARC officials acquiesced to this condition.

The Secret Service made the trip to Detroit to arrange for the safe arrival of the President.

Progress In Europe

Buried in the avalanche of news copy on the election, Vietnam peace efforts and the power plays set in motion by the Soviet occupation of Czechoslovakia has been an item from Western Europe which could eventually prove of no less significance to the future of our shrinking world than the current headline topics.

Tough On The Old Ticker

It was to a great extent Britain's refusal to commit herself in advance to more than a free trade arrangement that dented that drive, resulting in the division of free Europe into two camps—the six-nation Common Market dominated by France and West Germany and the looser seven-nation European Free Trade Area led by Britain.

The current British moves does not in itself reverse 10 years of history. It is on a party, not a government level, Monnet's committee is unofficial, although immensely influential.

The dinner was an impressive occasion with experts, specialists and other authorities in this field from all over the country on hand. While strictly nonpartisan and nonpolitical, there were nevertheless indirect political overtones.

Artificial Organs

As the search for a means of replacing diseased human organs goes on, a new science is being born. It is not as yet well defined, nor can it be predicted how extensive it will become, or how successful. But progress made in the last year in heart transplants has given a powerful impetus to the entire field of organ transplant.

— "To base my votes on what is right, rather than what is expedient."

"I would be remiss," McClure said, "if I did not express my admiration to him for a hard-gouging campaign. He has been a worthy opponent."

Rampton Gains Victory In Utah

By LARRY KURTZ Associated-Press Writer

Republicans, taking seven of the top nine races and replacing Democrats in three state offices, election. Only Gov. Calvin Rampton and Secretary of State Clyde Miller kept the Democrats from being shut out.

Voters also approved five of the six ballot measures, including only liquor-by-the-drink in an election that brought out more than 410,000 voters — a record, but lower than expected.

11 GOP Officials Ousted

By The Associated Press

Eleven Republican incumbents were ousted Tuesday as home-town voters gave Democratic candidates for the Utah legislature support that was missing in most statewide races.

But the Democratic gain was held to a hammerlock: Republicans kept firm control of both houses.

Democrats picked up a total of 11 House seats, cutting the Republican majority to 48-21 for the 1969 session. In the Senate, the Democrats gained three seats for a Republican margin of 20-8.

It would have been virtually impossible for the Democrats to come up with a majority in either chamber, especially the Senate, where 12 of the 14 hold-overs were Republican.

Among Republican losers was controversial Rep. Richard Brogh of Millard County. He lost by 86 votes, to Democrat Homer W. Peterson.

The 12 Republicans re-elected included Senate President Haven Barlow and House Speaker Franklin Gummel. Ten Democrats were re-elected.

Senators beaten in bids for another term were Wallace L. Burt and Carl R. Clark.

Incumbent representatives who lost were Brought and Robert E. Buhler, J. Lyndon Mathers, Fred W. Bittner, James H. Day, David D. Lutz, Robert Hodgkinson, Gall B. Gibbs and Harley M. Gillman.

Rampton won a smashing victory over 69-year-old businessman Carl Buchner, who raised the issue of the campaign to debate his face to face. It was a big birthday present for the governor, who is 55 today.

Miller also stayed in office with a mildly surprising victory over former Secretary of State Lamont Toronto.

Otherwise, it was a Republican landslide.

Richard M. Nixon, who carried Utah in 1960, did it again with a comfortable margin over Vice President Hubert H. H. George Wallace. Wallace was a distant third, gaining far fewer votes than some had predicted.

Utah's three Republicans in Congress scored expected victories.

Rep. Wallace Bennett, who has been in office 18 years, fought off a stern challenge from Milt Wellenmann, former state Democratic chairman and state director of development.

Reps. Sherman Lloyd and Laurence Burton were runaway winners over their best-known Democratic opponents, Gary Ross and Richard Maughan.

Not only did Utah Republicans retain their 3-1 edge in Congress — Democratic Sen. Frank Moss did not run — but also they retained Democratic in the offices of attorney general, treasurer and auditor.

Vernon B. Romney, edged Democrat John Preston Creer in the race to succeed Democratic Atty. Gen. Phil Hansen; former Auditor Sherman Proctor got his old job back with a victory over incumbent Treasurer Linn Baker; and Golden Allen won the treasurer's position by defeating incumbent Auditor Sharp Larsen.

Baker and Larsen were running for each other's positions because the law prevented them from succeeding themselves.

Voters approved 20-day budget sessions of the legislature in even-numbered years to supplement the 60-day session in odd-numbered years; agreed to increase the pay of legislators to $22 per day plus $15 per diem; and agreed to increase the number of senators from 12 to 14.

Senators were elected in session, compared to the present $650 per year in salary and expenses; decided to phase out the inventory tax and the property tax on a land taxable only on the basis of its value for agricultural use; and to allow the legislature to set uniform standards for judicial retirement of judges and their removal from office.

All passed by wide margins.

Industrialist Scores Upset In Puerto Rico

SAN JUAN, P.R. (AP) — Luis A. Ferré, a millionaire industrialist who wants Puerto Rico to be the 51st U.S. state, appeared early Wednesday to have been successful in a stunning upset of former Gov. Luis Muñoz Marín's Popular Democratic Party.

With only two precincts unreported, Ferré, the candidate of the New Progressive party, had a lead of 1,500 votes out of 100,000 cast in Tuesday's election for control of the commonwealth and local governments.

Hansen Voices Regrets Over Election Loss

POCATELLO (AP) — Rep. George V. Hansen, Republican defeated by Democrat Frank Church for the Senate, said Tuesday night he was "sorry that we were not able to more successfully present our position."

"I congratulate my opponent," Hansen said, "and wish to thank all who supported me and gave so much of their time and resources in a cause we all felt very keenly about."

Dearborn Vote Asks Ceasefire

DEARBORN, Mich. (AP) — Five nearly 4 to 3 margin, Dearborn voters in a referendum called for an immediate ceasefire in Vietnam and withdrawal of American troops.

The question read: "Are you in favor of an immediate ceasefire and withdrawal of U.S. troops from Vietnam so the people of Vietnam can settle their own problems?"

The unofficial tally was 20,039 for ceasefire and withdrawal and 15,074 against. The result contrasts with a similar referendum conducted in the 1966 general election when an almost identical worded question was defeated by a nearly 4 to 3 margin.

Trek Fails

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — Marine Cpl. Mark Bellman, 21, of Des Moines, journeyed 1,800 miles home by train to vote Tuesday only to learn he wasn't eligible.

Cpl. Bellman said he was told by the county auditor's office his name wasn't on the list of registered voters.

The serviceman said he asked for and received a 10-day leave last Friday from Santa Ana, Calif., when his mother told him his absentee ballot had been sent to Vietnam, where he was previously stationed.

"It makes me mad," he said.

Sitdown At Oregon Pen Broken Up

SALEM (AP) — An 82-man sitdown in the laundry of the Oregon State Penitentiary was broken up Tuesday by guards armed with clubs.

After three hours — 76 men were back at work and 6 in jail.

Warden Hoyt Cupp told newsmen after the sitdown ended that he was prepared for it because he had word that a 20-minute work refusal Monday would be continued.

He said he sent four emergency squads totaling 40 men into the area. They were armed with clubs.

The inmates were given a choice of going to segregation or back to work," Cupp said.

He added there was no violence, and the guards did not have to use their clubs.

He said the six who refused to work were put in segregation and will go before the disciplinary committee Wednesday.

During the disturbance all other inmates — about 1,200 — were locked in their cells.

Cupp said normal schedules would be resumed at noon.

Church Drive Succeeds

Liquor Proposal Squelched

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Using the ballot-like-a-temperance crusader's axe, Utah voters rose up to smash a proposal that would have let liquor be sold by the drink.

The two-one vote against liquor-by-the-drink ended a bitter, six-month battle that pitted the Mormon Church against men who said liquor would aid economic progress. Apparently, economics never had a chance.

The count was 251,706 to 140,101 against the proposal with 98 per cent of the vote in.

No issue in years had so inflamed the state. Public bickering, church power, Mormonism of Vietnam and normal man-against-man politics.

Signers of petitions to place the issue on the ballot said they were spit on, and their names and pictures taken.

The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints (Mormon) vowed from the beginning to fight any loosening of the liquor statutes. Mormons believe drinking violates divine law.

The campaign became a test of church power. Mormonism claims about 60 per cent of the state's 1.2-million population as members, but the question was, how many Mormons are faithful.

Sponsors tried to play down the moral question, pointing out that the state's law against over-the-bar sales was already widely violated, in a network of modern speakeasies.

The advocates called it a matter of dollars and cents, saying few smart investors would build tourist lodgings in Utah without the prospect of by-drink profits.

Pointing to short-time figures, the church power, Mormonism of Vietnam and normal man-against-man politics.

White Blames GOP 'Sweep' For Defeat

CLARK-FORK, Idaho (AP) — Compton J. White, Democrat defeated in a bid to return to Congress, attributed his defeat by Republican Rep. James S. McClure Tuesday to "the Republican sweep in Idaho."

He said the victory by Democratic Sen. Frank Church resulted from "his own personality."

"I am elated by Frank Church's re-election," White said. "I'm sure he will do a much better job than his opponent."

As for McClure, White said, "I hope he gets off his ultra-conservative bent."

Idaho Fund Said In Better Shape

BOISE (AP) — Idaho's general fund was nearly $8.5 million better off at the end of October than it was a year earlier, says Treasurer Marjorie R. Moyn and Auditor Joe R. Williams.

With $4,413,399 in the state treasury, Miss Moyn said, and outstanding warrants worth $2,897,550 against it, the auditor's balance — and total in the general fund — is $1,515,849.

Last year, at the end of October, the auditor's balance was $2,667,212 in the red, and outstanding tax notes brought the general fund to $6,817,212 in the hole.

"This is quite unusual for this time of year," the treasurer said.

Collision Kills Two In Oregon

By The Associated Press

The collision of two cars in northeastern Oregon Tuesday killed Connie Slater, 20, of Walla Walla, Wash., and Colleen Cooper, 20, of Union, Ore.

The deaths brought the Associated Press count of Oregon traffic fatalities to 520 this year, which was 33 less than by the same date a year ago.

State police said Miss Slater was a passenger in a car with John Frederick Beechnor, 34, and Michael Walter Beechnor, 30, both of Walla Walla. They were in critical condition in a Walla Walla hospital.

The Cooper woman was a passenger in a car driven by Jack Skyles, 20, Union, police said.

The accident was on Oregon 11 near the Washington-Oregon border.

E. T. Hanneman, 70, a farmer north of Madras, was killed Monday when a Spokane, Portland and Seattle freight train struck his pickup and dragged it 2,700 feet.

Police Arrest Dilatory Voter

DETROIT (AP) — A man accused of remaining in a voting booth more than an hour while others waited in line was arrested on a trespassing charge.

Police said Albin Wodzinski, 43, was among the first to enter a booth in his precinct, and that after he'd spent 50 minutes at the machine, election workers requested that he hurry.

A police officer was summoned and read Wodzinski's state law setting two minutes as the time limit for voting, except when election officials allow more time. He was arrested when he did not come out.

Jordan Lifts Curfew With Agreement

AMMAN, Jordan (AP) — The government lifted a curfew over Amman at midnight Tuesday amid indications that King Hussein had reached an agreement with rebellious Palestinian commandos.

Palestinian guerrilla sources in Damascus, Syria, reported an agreement had been reached after a meeting between Hussein and leaders of four commando groups in Jordan. They said the commando leaders telephoned the news from the royal palace in Amman, but there was no official Jordanian confirmation.

Watch at Four Throbbing Centers in Paris

Special police squads directed auto and foot traffic as streams of night owls jammed the Hilton Hotel, the Pan American office, a U.S. Embassy annex and Harry's New York Bar to keep up with the returns.

Machine-gun bursts' sounded off again

In scattered sections of this capital city Tuesday night, but they were believed to be warning shots for curfew violators.

The government had lifted the curfew earlier in the day, then reimposed it and later called it off again.

Outside Amman, a fire broke out near a camp housing Palestinian refugees. It was believed to have been connected with the two-day confrontation between Hussein and the dissident guerrillas.

Veterans Day Program Set At Hagerman

HAGERMAN—A special Veterans' Day observance will be held at the high school gymnasium Monday with Capt. Bill T. Bailey of the Mountain Home Air Force Base as guest speaker.

Capt. Bailey, an instructor pilot with the 10th Tactical Reconnaissance Squadron at the Mountain Home base, trains student pilots in the operation of the McDonnell RF-4 Phantom II.

Prior to his assignment at Mountain Home Air Base, Capt. Bailey served for several months in southeast Asia. He flew 100 missions over Vietnam while stationed at Ildora Air Force Base, Thailand.

The program is under the direction of the American Legion, Lea Gwaley Post No. 31. Posting of colors and the flag salute will be led by Legion members, who will also distribute pamphlets on flag etiquette to the students.

The high school band and choral department will also participate in the program. The public is invited.

Tearful Woman Jams Machine

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP)—The 21-year-old, first-time voter was nearly in tears.

She was the first one in line to vote, and before she had completed flipping the switches something happened. The machine jammed.

"I think I broke it," the young woman told the Election Board members.

They gave her a paper ballot to fill out.

Dejected Wallace Watches His Plans Tumble Despite Plea Of Daughter

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—It began as a one man adventure and at the end, George C. Wallace seemed terribly alone.

He sat in a beige leather chair opposite the large brick fireplace in his paneled den, almost oblivious to the few around him, and watched the results of his long ordeal flicker on the color television screen.

"I've got a good popular vote," he said. "It's all right. It's all right."

His youngest daughter, 7, pulled at his sleeve, and out of his lap and finally napped on the floor between the folds of a thick quilt to be awakened when it was time to go to the huge coliseum where a disappointingly small crowd of faithful followers awaited him.

Lee had fallen asleep after a pop talk. "Daddy," she said, "you try to get a lot of votes, now, because I do want to live in the White House."

"All right, darling," he assured her.

Occasionally he bent to kiss her cheek or arrange the quilt on her shoulders. "I've got a good vote," he said. "Except my little girl can't understand me."

A Wallace, Lee was accused to his friends.

Another daughter, Peggy, sat on the couch with a boy-friend and a college chum. They talked quietly among themselves.

Where was everybody? Where were the shirt-sleeved aides and the close friends and the clutter of ash trays and glasses and coffee cups one expects to surround a candidate on election night?

Wallace shrugged. "Just like I guess I'm like most folks," he said.

His staff was at a motel across from the arena, waiting for him. His running mate, Curtis E. LeMay, was waiting there, too, and Wallace talked to him once by phone early in the evening.

He talked twice by phone to a top assistant, Cecil Jackson, but both calls were incoming and apart from them his staff did not bother him.

Indeed, at times, he seemed grateful that a reporter was there—someone who would listen to the very personal and historic drama taking place.

At one point, a television commentator remarked that Wallace had "gone down to ignominious defeat." He made the remark when 17 per cent of the vote was in and Wallace's total was 3,432,000.

Wallace bristled. "A Deep Southerner—getting that many votes," Wallace said, "is not ignominious."

He said it looked as though he would get 10 million votes in all.

"I think ten million would be a mighty good vote," he said. "A third party movement from the Deep South—that would be fantastic." Even more significant would be if Wallace's electoral votes were enough to deny of ash trays and glasses and coffee cups one expects to surround a candidate on election night.

Wallace shrugged. "Just like I guess I'm like most folks," he said.

But Wallace refused to discuss what he would do in that eventuality. He said he would have a news conference some time Wednesday.

He rarely revealed disappointment. "Maybe," he said at one point, "we should have concentrated more in the border states and the South—but we didn't want it to be a sectional movement."

At length he could delay his trip to the Coliseum no longer. He asked his daughter to bring him two aspirin. Then, he walked off the television and walked to his car.

His speech was brief. He introduced his family, his staff and his running mate and concluded: "The election is not over yet."

Exchange Club Hosts Grid Team

The champions of the Twin Falls Seventh Grade Little League Football were guests of the Twin Falls Exchange Club at the club's Tuesday luncheon.

This team will "ave" win and one loss in little league play, was sponsored by the Exchange Club. Coach James Blake introduced the 24 boys and their positions.

Also speaking briefly to the boys was Norman Thomas, head football coach of the Twin Falls High School.

SEKS 'PROTECTION'

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—Mrs. Hunter Wallace of nearby Pinson said she had heard that "radicals" in some cities would attempt to keep voters away from the polls. So the 70-year-old woman took her rifle along when she went to vote.

Palo Alto Shuns Change Of Name

EAST PALO ALTO, Calif. (AP)—A proposal to change the name of predominantly Negro-East Palo Alto to Nairobi went down to defeat.

Residents in the area, about 80 per cent Negro, voted 2,932 to 1,332 against changing the name of the East Palo Alto Municipal Council to Nairobi Municipal Council.

A change would have been tantamount to naming the unincorporated area Nairobi after the capital city of Kenya.

Today's Market And Financial Report

2:30 P.M. SUMMARY NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market rallied higher this afternoon but pared gains in the first news of Richard M. Nixon's election as president. Trading was active.

Dow Jones industrial average held a gain of 6 or 7 points, having backed away from an 8-point rise. The market was higher from the start in fairly cautious trading when the results of the election were in doubt. Wall Street showed great relief when Nixon's victory was announced.

Large block of 67,000 shares of Actina Life & Casualty traded at 53 1/2, placing Actina far ahead of the list on volume. Ryan Aeronautical, apart from about 8 and Telebyte, had about a point. Telebyte said it has made a tender for Ryan stock.

Keyser-Roth rose more than 2 in heavy trading, while Penn Central dropped nearly a point in quieter dealings on news their merger plans had been terminated.

Prices were higher on the American Stock Exchange.

Business Mirror

By JOHN CUNIFF, AF Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—Despite the results and predictions of the election, there is reassurance in the projections of experts that enough strength is inherent in the American economy to make solutions possible.

It is altogether another matter as to whether these resources are used constructively. But they are there; the analysts who have expressed the opinion that the development in Tuesday's election had little, if any, effect on commodity prices.

At the close wheat was 1 1/2 cents a bushel lower, 14-cent corn, a corn lower, 1/4 cent soybean lower, 1/4 cent soybean higher, 1/4 cent soybean higher, 1/4 cent soybean higher.

Southern Cal's Hold On Top Ranking Slipping; Buckeyes Closing In

By The Associated Press

The Southern California Trojans held a slipping grip Tuesday on the No. 1 ranking in college football, and it looks as if they will need some strong knuckles to stay there.

The giants from the Pacific Coast, who have the season's leading Heisman Trophy contender in O. J. Simpson, are hosts in Los Angeles Saturday to one of their toughest rivals, the University of California.

The Trojans may have to win—and win big—to stand off the pressure of similarly unbeaten Ohio State, which has a relatively mild weekend assignment against Wisconsin which has lost all seven of its games.

Another top team, third-ranked Kansas, also puts its perfect record and high national standing against a dangerous league rival in Alabama, which has five victories.

Southern Cal lost some favor with the panel of sports writers and broadcasters in The Associated Press poll, which dropped its score on a desperation pass in the final two minutes last Saturday for a 20-13 triumph over Oregon.

Of the 45 voters, only 19 thought Southern California was still the best, while 14 favored Ohio State, winner over Michigan State 25-20. Kansas was No. 1 on 10 of the ballots, Tennessee and Penn State each collected one first-place vote.

In the total points, rated on the basis of 20 points for a first place vote, 18 for second, etc., the Trojans' margin over the Buckeyes was 818 to 803. Kansas had 759.

At Kansas, completing the Top Ten was Penn State, No. 4, 677 points, margin over Tennessee, No. 5; Purdue, No. 6; Michigan, No. 7; Missouri, No. 8; Georgia, No. 9; and Texas, No. 10.

Scoring Is Soaring In College Stats

NEW YORK (AP) — Scoring and yard-gaining are going up and up in college football games this season.

College teams last weekend, the teams rolled up an average of 48.1 points a game. This resulted in the highest-scoring weekend ever since the National College Sports Services started compiling such statistics.

For slightly more than two-thirds of the 1963 season, the major teams have been averaging 47.0 points in a game for both teams, according to figures released by the NCS.

The all-time full season record of 38.8 was set in 1951.

For the same 58 games last weekend, the teams averaged 71.4 yards a game rushing and passing, compared with the all-time full season record of 59.2, set in 1951.

Borah Stays Atop Prep Rating; Minico Climbs To Fourth Spot

By The Associated Press

Borah wrapped up the Southern Idaho Conference Grid title with a convincing win over Highland last Friday and thus earned the No. 1 spot for the second consecutive week in the Associated Press Idaho high school grid poll.

The 19 voters marked an "X" beside the name of Borah for the 16th time, and it was good for 188 total points.

While the Lions were running away with the title, a real battle developed for the runner-up.

Kelly High of Boise, by a single point, edged Moscow. The Knights had 154 points to 153 for the Bears. Kelly got one first place vote and Moscow a pair.

Oddly enough, the Knights were voted 10th on one ballot while the Bears were no lower than seventh on any of the 19 ballots.

Much shuffling took place below the top three. Minico, off a 27-4 win over Mountain Home, jumped from fifth to fourth and Boise with a 20-13 win over Nampa, climbed from sixth to fifth.

The Idaho Falls Tigers dribbled Bonneville 62-6 and wound up in sixth, moving up from ninth last week. Capital, despite a 27-4 loss to Moscow, dropped only three notches to seventh, and Highland of Pocatello, 47-20 loser to Borah, was down from eighth to ninth.

Pocatello, 32-31 winner over Caldwell, moved from 11th to 10th, while Vallivee of Caldwell, 25-14 loser to Ontario, Ore., dropped out of the top ten and all the way to a tie for 15th.

Class B Homedale drubbed undefeated Kuna 40-13 and leads the second 10 in 11th place, only four points back of 10th place Pocatello. Lapwai, South Fremont, Bear Lake, Wood River, Burley, Couer d'Alene, Preston and Lewiston round out the second ten.

Four Advance To Semi-Finals Of Pro Match Meet

Four golfers from western Idaho advanced into the semifinals of four for the concluding day of the Idaho state pro match play tournament Tuesday at the Blue Lake Country Club.

Advancing into the finals were Arnold Hanke, head pro at Boise's Hillcrest Country Club; assistance at Boise's Crane Creek Country Club; Ken Sparks, head professional at Nampa, and Ray Honsberger of Payette.

The two more leading in points at the conclusion of Wednesday morning's play will meet for the title in a match play test that afternoon. There will be a consolation round for the other entries.

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — The National and American Football League Players Association will hold its first convention here Jan. 9-16. Detroit Lions guard John Gordy, the group's president, said Tuesday.

Robinson Nears Lead In Rushing

NEW YORK (AP) — Paul Robinson, rookie halfback on the Oakland Raiders, has rushed to within 17 yards of the American Football League's rushing lead, statistics showed Tuesday.

Robinson, a 6-footer from Arizona, has gained 580 yards for the season to 607 for Hewitt Dixon of Oakland, who maintained his top position despite a gain of only 27 yards last Sunday.

Philadelphians Tackle

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Philadelphia Eagles Tuesday tackled the acquisition of defensive tackle Jim Norton from the Atlanta Falcons.

Idaho Works On Offense For San Jose

MOSCOW, Idaho (AP) — The University of Idaho Vandals Tuesday practiced their offensive patterns against San Jose State in preparation for Saturday's game with the Spartans.

Coach W. C. McNease said his team's big job against San Jose would be to stop the Spartans' chief rushing and passing threat, quarterback Russ Munson.

McNease announced one change in the Vandals' defensive lineup for the game. He said Dick Nelson, a senior from Pocatello, would start at safety instead of Wayne Miralles.

Idaho will be seeking its fifth victory in nine games.

The New York harbor contains about 750 miles of piers.

Anglers Told Of Boundary Ban

BOISE (AP) — Sportsmen were reminded Tuesday that as one spot the Snake River does not form the boundary line between Oregon and Idaho and recreational hunting and fishing privileges do not apply.

The area is south of Farms, in Southwestern Idaho, and is called the Big Bend Community. At that spot—the Snake River for a distance of about seven miles its wholly within Oregon and an area east of the river is covered by Oregon hunting and fishing laws.

Hawley Hill, chief of conservation enforcement for the Idaho Fish and Game Department, said that along the seven-mile stretch of the river Oregon hunters are required for hunting or fishing.

Where the Snake forms the state boundary, Hill said, licenses of either Oregon or Idaho are recognized.

World's Finest Bourbon a 173-Year-Old Secret

CHICAGO, ILL.—Before you can call yourself the world's finest anything—you'd better have a case in your favor.

Jim Beam Bourbon has that "case."

The whole matter started with Jacob Beam—who would be 200 years old this year—and a secret he discovered.

The secret, in the case of Jim Beam Bourbon, goes back to 1795, and it is still hush-hush today. The secret lay in the heart of Kentucky where there was, and is today, the right combination for pleasure. The right land. The right climate: the perfect Bourbon formula.

In north-central Kentucky, Jacob Beam found clean limestone water—water that came from limestone springs considered the very finest. Beam set out to make Bourbon in this rolling country; and he added his own special ingredients: pride.

Six Generation Formula The pride of this first Beam.

distiller has been carried through six generations, now. Every glass of today's Beam Bourbon holds the best from nature and the pride that was passed on from Jacob to David to David M. to Colonel James T. Jeremiah to Baker and Booker Noe—over a span of 173 years.

All those Beams have rested their case on Bourbon that's worthy of your trust. And it's still a big secret.

Not so say the Russians. They insist that Bourbon was actually discovered 10 years earlier by Ivan Chelkakov in a little town called Viedvovok.

They further state that the famous Beam formula is nothing more than a copy of the Chelkakov stuff.

However, they did admit they have been impressing substantial amounts of clear, iron-free water from limestone springs in north-central Kentucky.

Jim Beam Bourbon Is Idaho's Largest Seller

Officials of the James B. Beam Distilling Company have reported that again in 1967 Jim Beam Bourbon outsold all other bourbons in the State of Idaho.

Distilled in the famous north-central hills of Northern Kentucky from a formula developed in 1795, Jim Beam is a top-seller throughout the country.

Its popularity is due to precise selection of grain, infinitely care and the continuity of spoken generations of management.

JIM BEAM BOURBON—MAKING NEWS SINCE 1795

WASHINGTON—Word from the Kremlin today has startled the Bourbon-making world. Unreliable sources from Moscow state that Bourbon is not an American spirit but, in fact, a Russian one.

Bourbon, of course, is considered the only true American spirit.

And the world's finest Bourbon was first distilled here in 1795 by a guy named Jim.

Along with inspired skills, the making of a Bourbon like Beam requires an unusual combination of land, climate and natural materials. And it's all here, in north-central Kentucky.

There's the ancient, underlying limestone springs that supply sweet, clear water—a vital ingredient in the making of the Bourbon.

Preacher Ignites Anger In Town

By TOM TIEDE

NEA Staff Correspondent
WOODBRIDGE, N.J.—(NEA) Jesus Christ has been reduced to second billing at the Woodbridge Methodist Church these days. Instead, the eyes of the congregation are fixed on Theodore Seamans. He's the church pastor and apparently the most unpopular man in town.

Along Main Street, where his red brick church is located, Seamans is a dirty word. Most people wrn sour at his mention. Some feel Satan himself never stooped as low.

"He's no good," says a drug store shopper.

"Awful," responds a housewife.

"I think," adds an auto dealer, "he's ruined his church."

Seamans' sin is that he has bloodied his nose in the new politics. Nobody minds the man having an opinion or two, residents say, but "the silly fool thinks he's got the answer to every problem there is."

Town resentment apparently runs deeper than politics alone. Seamans is being condemned mostly because he doesn't conform. He's one of the new breed of American clerics, the damn-the-white-collar ilk, and has offended the established traditions of his religion and his town.

He is, for one thing, a white flag pacifist. He says he would not hurt a man who was raping his wife, much less fight for his country. He says America should disarm, unlock, love its enemies and hope for the best.

He is also against anything remotely competitive: The war in Vietnam, the military, the draft, the bombs, the Republicans, the Democrats, the capitalist philosophy.

And what makes his fellow citizens especially angry is that he utters his objections from the pulpit. Hardly a sermon passes that the minister does not condemn napalm, big business, prisons, police and the idea of the virgin birth.

Then to etch his opinions even bolder, he spreads them on the church bulletin boards. There is a large photograph of a pitifully war-scarred child; there are professions of clippings lamenting this and that; there are the posters heralding the Wednesday evening antidraft.

"He just beats us over the head with it," says one ex-parishioner. "It's like he's saying: 'Well, I'm head of the church and I'll do as I please.'"

There are those in town who predict that Seamans will not be the pastor much longer. The minister himself says things look bad.

Sympathy for his activities, never very widespread, has diminished to the starvation stage. Local groups have picketed his services, a petition of 150 names has called for his ouster, and newspapers have socked him in print.

Service attendance is drying up. Once 250 people would pack the pews on the Sunday morning; now the average is 75. Seamans says "most" of the congregation has withdrawn its support of the church and is praying and paying elsewhere.

Church income is running $400 a month below normal; Seamans has cut his salary from $7,800 to $5,600; the organist, the choir director and sexton have all been dismissed; to cut down on fuel bills, only small areas of the chapel will be used next winter.

"Everything," says Seamans, "is closing in on me."

Still, the minister refuses to retreat from his convictions and has increased his actions as an activist.

He belongs to the American Civil Liberties Union, SANE, the NAACP, the Clergy and Laymen Concerned About Vietnam, and the Birdwatchers, a local citizens group formed to "combat John Birch Society influence."

As for his opinions, he promotes them with more gusto than ever:

Disarmament? "I think we should do away with all arms and just say to the Russians: 'O.K., Russians, come and do with us what you will.'"

Free enterprise? "Capitalism is competition. That means we can't love each other as much as we should, because we are working against each other."

Government? "The administration is like a religion. The flag is the altar. The Declaration of Independence, the Apostles Creed. Johnson is the saint."

Patriotism? "People who don't like themselves have to cling to something besides self for identification — the church, a country or a flag, for instance."

Seamans' words, however, do not accurately mirror him. Inside his dimly lit church, he belies his notoriety. He is a slight, well-groomed, outwardly happy man, who admits the possibility he could be wrong.

He speaks in platitudes, complex phraseology, generalities. At 38 and the father of four children; he gives the impression of trying to combine the passion of youth ("Yeah, man, that's my bag!") with the wisdom of experience (I've learned never to force my opinions on other people").

He wears sport shirts. He finger-brushes his moustache. He is ornamented with a surprisingly tasteless medal which combines a religious cross with a ban-the-bomb symbol. He smiles. He uses profanity.

His "bag," as he calls it, is that he loves everybody and he wants everybody to love everybody. His vision is a world without any aches. His purpose is to be himself and to help everyone else be themselves, too.

"Happiness," he urges. "Be happy."

The dream is nice. Even his critics will agree. "We'll be happy, all right," one citizen says, "when this guy is finally run out of town."

Russ Spokesman Denies Flight Aims At Moon

MOSCOW (AP) — The president of the Soviet Academy of Sciences, Mstislav V. Keldysh, said today the Soyuz 3 spacecraft tested by cosmonaut Georgy T. Beregovoy last week is intended only for earth orbit missions, not a trip to the moon.

Keldysh did not make clear whether the Russians must await a new type of spacecraft for a manned moon mission or could use a modified form of the Soyuz.

Asked at a news conference on the flight of Soyuz 3 and the unmanned sister ship, Soyuz 2, when a Soyuz would take a man to the moon, he said it is "an orbital craft" only.

Beregovoy, who flew in orbit for almost four days, was asked if several Soviet spaceships would be linked up in earth orbit to form one huge craft for a manned trip to the moon or planets.

Beregovoy replied cryptically: "This can be done."

A Western diplomat and science expert interpreted the reply as a possible hint on the next Soviet step in space.

Such plans are never announced in advance.

Miss Williams Is Bride Of Gary Thietten

Eleanor Judith Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell O. Williams, Loma Linda, Calif., became the bride of Gary L. Thietten, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack E. Thietten, Twin Falls, in a ceremony Oct. 13 at the Twin Falls Seventh Day Adventist Church.

Performing the early evening ceremony was Pastor John Boyd. The altar was decorated with three candelabra graced with ivy and moss green ribbons. Topary trees of net and feathers accented the steps to the altar. The bride aisle was marked with green satin bows.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of white organza styled with a circlet neckline, short sleeves and an empire waist line with a bow forming a redingote effect on the skirt and full-circumference train. Peau D'Ange lace accented the sleeves, bodice, skirt and train.

Her long veil of nylon illusion, fashioned by the bride, fell from a cluster of lace petals outlined with seed pearls. She carried a cascade of gold Abby roses accented with green satin streamers which fell to the hem of her gown.

Mrs. Carolyn "Bibi" Berien Springs, Mich., and Lee Wilson, Colorado, were matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Gunhild Klingstrand, Woodside, N. Y., and Nancy Nieb, Portland, Maine, friends of the bride, and Janice Thietten, sister of the bridegroom.

BY-ADDING-FASHION-lashes one can take on an air of being subtle, sophisticated or somewhere in between. The fluttering lashes can be applied in a matter of minutes when the correct procedure is known.

Add Flattery With Lashes

Are your eyes only half as glamorous as they could be because you've never tried to add a fluttering, fluttering fringe of Fashion Lashes? According to a beauty expert, Max Factor, there's no mystery about how to apply them properly.

With the necessary items at hand — Fashion Lashes of your choice (be they subtle, sophisticated or somewhere in between), adhesive and application directions — seat yourself comfortably before a mirror placed on a table. As you look down into this mirror, your eyes will partially close. With your eyelids relaxed in this position, you can see what you're doing and it's easy to properly position the Lashes.

If necessary, carefully "size" your eyes, accompanied at the time by Mrs. Byrle Carr. Mrs. J. H. Sharp presented a humorous reading. The Flir High School girls' drill team presented a number.

Dear Abby

BY ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am 11 years old and I want to become a famous actress. I think I would be very good at it because ever since I was a little girl I have been very good at "pretending" and that is what acting is, isn't it? Do I have to finish high school to be an actress? LISA

DEAR LISA: Finish high school. And college, too, if you have a chance. Being good at "pretending" might help a lot because there may be times when you have to "pretend" that you are acting.

DEAR ABBY: About 2 years ago my husband announced that he wanted no part of our marriage or any of its responsibilities. He turned to alcohol, "go get girls, sports cars and everything he once considered immoral, irresponsible and extravagant."

We are now having a lot of problems with our children. They are doing poor work in school and are hard to handle at home. The school counselor called me to inquire into my "home situation."

My husband insists it is none of their business, and how our kids do at school has nothing to do with the way we live at home. He has pointed out other families in which the housewife is a mess, but the kids seem to come out all right. Is he right, or am I just nit-picking?

CURIOS

DEAR CURIOS: When home is a battleground, the casualties are usually the children, some do survive in spite of the odds, but show me a rebellious, troubled child, and I will show you a home situation riddled with discord.

DEAR ABBY: About the cross-eyed woman who chived

"Shoulder Combination" Is New Label Noted For Lamb

GLENN'S FERRY — "This fall you are going to see a package of lamb in the meat counter which will be marked 'shoulder combination,'" reports Marilyn Jordan, Elmore County extension home economist agent.

With autumn harvest lamb now available, it will be a feature item and one you'll want to take advantage of since it is reasonably priced, she added.

Now, just what is included in this "shoulder combination"? It's simply this: The butcher takes a square cut shoulder of lamb and cuts it into two types of chops: round bone shoulder chops and blade shoulder chops, and blade shoulder chops. The remainder of the shoulder is cubed and provides enough meat for a small stew.

You will get four chops altogether. Round bone shoulder chops are cut from the arched side of the square shoulder. The bone and fat waste is slight. Blade chops contain blade bone, rib and backbone, and the inside shoulder and clod muscles. These chops are nutritious, satisfying, since they are good size and contain ample meat for a variety of dishes.

Lamb coming into your kitchen is less than a year old, in fact, less than eight months old, usually. It is tender so these chops can be broiled, panbroiled, panfried, or braised. And the cubes of lamb that are packaged right along with the chops can be used in a casserole or

Use the chops tonight in this manner, suggests Mrs. Jordan:

SHOULDER-LAMB-CHOPS

CHILI (makes four servings)

- 4 shoulder lamb chops
- 3 tablespoons salad oil
- 1 can (6 ounces) Tomato paste
- 1 cup water
- 1 medium onion, chopped
- 2 cloves garlic, halved
- 3 slices lemon
- 2 tablespoons dark brown sugar
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
- 1/2 teaspoon oregano
- 6 chili pequin or 1/2 teaspoon chili powder
- 3 slices lemon

In large skillet, brown chops in oil; drain off fat. Add remaining ingredients to lamb. Simmer, covered, 45 minutes or until lamb is tender, stirring sauce occasionally. Serve with cooked rice, as desired.

British Allow Gambling

LONDON (NEA)—Americans often leave Britain confused, not knowing whether to describe this island-kingdom as a Victorian fossil or Sodom and Gomorrah.

Evidence of the permissive society which has taken root everywhere. The British have legalized abortion and homosexuality between consenting adults, for example.

On the other hand, the liquor laws are pure 19th-century. It's impossible to find a saloon open after 11 p.m.

Gambling exists cheek by jowl with some of the bluest of Sunday laws anywhere. You have your choice of 3,000 gambling casinos and bingo clubs and 10,000 betting shops in which to draw your hard-earned dollars.

But you can search the length and breadth of the land and not find a single theater open on Sunday (even movie houses close on Sunday in some parts of Britain).

Britain, which gave the world the first motor car, the first airplane and "Fanny Hill" in sale in nearly every American drugstore. Similarly, the first version of "Ulysses" has been banned in many parts of Britain, though you can buy a recording of Slobodan Shkera reading the spoiler parts of it aloud.

The truth is that British permissiveness is shot through with contradictions. Nowhere is this more evident than in stage censorship. Theaters have been closed in Britain ever since the days back to the 18th century.

Recently Parliament voted to abolish the 100-year-old censorship powers of the lord chamberlain. Part from being a relic of a time when the nation was sharply divided on the issue.

Some Englishmen are afraid the stage will be flooded with trash that borders on pornography. Theater managers, on the other hand, are fearful of a new-found freedom. They prefer the old system where the lord chamberlain licensed plays. Every play had to be submitted to the lord chamberlain for his approval. There was no appeal against his ban.

In the past, Bernard Shaw and Arthur Miller have been among those who have suffered at the lord chamberlain's hands. But no longer. As of Sept. 26, theaters throughout Britain were set free, theoretically at least.

In giving the lord chamberlain the boot, Parliament subjected the theater to the same obscenity laws that newspapers and books, theater managers point out. In practice, this means that any member of the public can lodge a complaint against a play as being obscene.

A court action cannot be brought without the consent of the director of prosecutions, but theater managers now feel that they are at the mercy of the public. As a result, they may be presenting plays that are controversial, in which case abolishing the lord chamberlain as censor may be a backward step.

As an example of how British obscenity laws work with regard to books, the case of "Candy"—the American novel soon to be seen as a film, may be cited. "Candy" has been on sale everywhere in America recently made its appearance here, preceded by a coy advertising campaign: "You don't have to smuggle Candy through customs any longer."

However, the version which the British are offered is not "Candy" as Americans know it. The book has been cut to ribbons, all the spicy bits having been blue penciled. Key scenes are gutted to the point of meaninglessness and there is not a word on the book jacket to indicate that it has been expurgated.

Another American novel which has been subjected to indignities is Gore Vidal's "Myra Breckinridge" which British biggest chain of bookstores refuse to sell. This means an automatic drop in sales of nearly 10 per cent.

Because of this, American novelists and playwrights may hesitate about having their works published or performed in Britain in the future.

'Cyclist' Views World

By IKE TAYLOR
Written for The Associated Press

A few years back a lot of people were flying airplanes around the world. Now the big thing is to sail a yacht around the globe single-handed.

But I claim membership in an even more exclusive club. I have ridden a motorcycle around the world.

I rode 28,213 miles, crossing the continents of Europe, Asia, Australia and America. Including oceans crossed by ship and plane the distance was 49,000 miles, and took one year.

Why did I do it?

To see the world. I like fresh air, and I like people. On a motorcycle you are close to both.

In an automobile you are locked into categories as a "rich foreign tourist." On a motorcycle you are readily accepted as a traveling sportsman.

I met all kinds of people, ranging from a mechanic's helper in Greece to the governor of a state of 42 million inhabitants in India. Everyone was friendly in all the countries I visited.

People seem to warm up to you if they see you working on your motorcycle with your hands and face all covered with grease. Most people are honest and helpful and will do anything in their power to see that you enjoy your visit to their country.

Once I was in a "rich tourist" tured a tire and ruined my inner tube. I knew I would have to spend the night in the desert. Some passing shepherds pointed to the mountains and made signs indicating bands of nomads could take to each other, but a flat tire is a flat tire, in any language. One of them built a fire and gave me food and spent the night guarding me.

This is just one of the many adventures I had. I have encountered all over the world from ordinary people of the way around the world on paved roads, though it may be narrow and rough in places. The longest stretch of unpaved road I encountered was in eastern Turkey and Iran—thousands of miles of gravel, sand and mud.

Gasoline is available just about everywhere too, although in Iran there are gas stations with 200 miles between service stations.

I used 520 gallons of gasoline and 83 quarts of oil. Average gas consumption was 54 miles per gallon for my 1957 450 cc. Triumph Trophy. I used three chains, four sets of spark plugs, three sets of valves, three points, various light bulbs, three air filters, but only one set of tires.

I encountered no mechanical failures and repair work consisted only of routine maintenance and fixing three flat tires.

How many people have ridden around the world on a motorcycle? The editor of a leading motorcycle magazine in New York said he knew of no one who had done it before, though many have attempted it.

As this trip was to include both the northern and southern hemispheres, it was timed to catch the summer on both sides of the equator. In July and August I toured Western Europe and spent September along the Mediterranean. In October the route was across Southeast Asia. But even in October there was ice along the roads over high passes in Turkey and Afghanistan.

I was in India and Nepal in November and December. In January I rode to Thailand and Malaysia, where I just hit the beginning of the monsoon season near Singapore.

After shipping from Singapore to Perth, Western Australia, I rode the 3,000 miles across the continent—in February—the height of summer. There a whirlwind hit me with such force that it almost upset my cycle.

From Sydney I shipped to Panama. Then I rode up through Central America and Mexico to New York City, where I arrived almost exactly one year after leaving my home in San Diego, Calif.

Class To Stimulate Tastes

By IRA BERKOW
NEW YORK (UPI)—The coach at the University of California, Davis branch, had a bunch of his scholarship kids out drinking with him recently. In the middle of the season, it was done blatantly, overtly and even out in the open. This, of course, would seem treacherous by even the most lenient of NCAA rules. Worse by the red-nosed standards of some, was that the students weren't allowed to swallow any of the cheer. They had to unload the stuff in a spittoon.

The near-guzzling was part of a course in wine-tasting conducted by Prof. Harold Berg, one of the world's foremost authorities on mangled grapes.

Coach Berg is head of the school's Department of Viticulture and Enology. (Viticulture is grape growing. Enology is wine-making.) Two other colleges in the United States, Fresno State in California and Geneva in New York, have similar departments. And, according to top students is as intense, sometimes as for a quarterback who can throw 100 yards into the High school kids, with the gleam of intellectual pursuit in their bloodshot eyes, should latch on the chance to major in wine.

"Unfortunately," said Berg, as he held a tulip-shaped glass of Cabernet Sauvignon to the stem and intermittently sniffed, tasted and beat his lips together making a hip-hip sound, "our department is under the heading of the School of Agriculture. And that's the least glamorous of courses to most students. Winners provide scholarships and re-creating competition becomes pretty fierce."

Wine-tasting, he added, is an art and a science, like pitching a baseball or kicking a football or making love. All the senses come into play and experience and experimentation also have major roles to play. It succeeds or fails flat.

"A professional wine-taster," said the coach, "must have studied wine critically for at least 10 years. He must be able to tell at one sniff of the aroma and bouquet—aroma is the smell of grapes, bouquet is the smell of fermenting and aging people confuse the two—one must tell what kind of grape was used, how well it was grown, what kind of wood it was stored in."

"He must also be able to recognize characteristics of the wine by the color. For example, this Cabernet Sauvignon should be a deeper red with tinges of amber or tawiness."

"Then you smell, take a sip, chew to get the feel of its body, then draw 'in' air to evaporate some of the wine. This warm air will accent those high notes odor. But don't swallow. Spit out. And wait to see what kind of aftertaste lingers. If you swallow many different wines, the palate begins to dull."

Like an athletic coach, Berg does not eat for four hours before game time. "You want to be hungry when tasting critically," he said, "because the palate is then more sensitive."

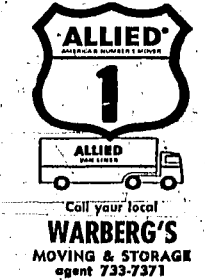

At least one athletic, middle-weight boxing champion Nino Benvenuti of Italy, actually savors vino at his training table. This would come as no surprise to some of the greatest minds in history. St. Paul, for example, advised Timothy, "Drink no longer water, but use a little wine for thy stomach's sake and thine infirmities." Louis Pasteur said, "Wine is the most healthful, most hygienic of beverages." Finally, every grade school kid has heard about the Purple Warrior, Alexander the Grapey.

Idaho Suspends 357 Motorists

BOISE (AP)—Driver's licenses of 357 motorists were suspended or revoked during October, the Department of Law Enforcement's driver improvement division reported Monday.

Paul R. Hato, chief examiner, said the court brought to 3,278 the number of suspensions and revocations in the first 10 months of the year.

Driving while under the influence of alcohol was responsible for 173 persons losing their driving privileges during the month, Hato said.

Oil-Shale Decision Poses Problem In Bid Procedure

By STAN BENJAMIN

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Interior Department may have to award an oil shale lease to the lowest bidder next month, that's what it takes to bring the government its maximum profit.

This seeming paradox emerges from rules of the game announced today by the department in anticipation of the opening of field competitive bids next Dec. 20.

The department is inviting industry to compete by offering bonus payments to the government—for the right to try to extract oil locked in the rocks of three tracts of Federal land in the Piceance Basin of Colorado.

In principle, the highest bidder would get the lease on a particular tract. But the Mineral Leasing Act of 1920 bans any bidder from receiving more than one oil shale lease, posing a problem if one firm is high bidder on two or more tracts.

In that case, the department said today, "the government will accept those high bids which result in the largest total bonus."

A legal officer said that meant the government would award whichever combination of leases would bring it the most total bonus money on the three tracts.

He agreed this opened the possibility of the lowest bidder getting a lease, if that happens to fit into the top-money combination.

It is easy to imagine combinations favoring a low bidder, for example when he bids on only one tract while his higher competitors are bidding on others as well. The government could find it more advantageous to award this single tract beside the lease, rather than lose his bonus money entirely.

Jackie Loses Arlington Burial Rights

WASHINGTON (AP)—Under present rules, the former Mrs. John F. Kennedy lost her eligibility for burial in the presidential plot at Arlington National Cemetery when she married Aristotle Onassis.

The Army has confirmed this in response to questions and said the Pentagon's legal experts, the General Counsel Office, concurred in its position.

"Once the widow remarries she automatically loses her eligibility," the Army said.

This means Jacqueline Onassis could not be buried beside the late President, assuming this was her wish, unless the restrictions drawn up last year to save national cemetery space.

Although her marriage to the Greek-born multimillionaire apparently cost the former First Lady this special privilege, it had no effect on her American citizenship.

Under criteria announced Feb. 10, 1967, burials at Arlington are limited to Medal of Honor winners, active and retired members of the armed forces and honorably discharged veterans who have served in high federal positions.

These guidelines permit burial of the wife of such a person only if she has not remarried. His children are eligible only so long as they are minors.

Thus, the late president's children, John Jr. and Caroline, retained their legal right to be interred in the Kennedy memorial plot until they are 21.

When the presidential plot, located on a grassy slope of Arlington overlooking the capital city, presently contains the remains of the president and two of his infant children.

Robert F. Kennedy was buried at Arlington after his death earlier this year, not because he was a brother of the late president but because he was a senator and former Cabinet officer who had served in the armed forces.

Robert Kennedy's grave is not in the presidential plot but is only about 60 feet away.
