2 Death Row Convicts Caught In Burley After Utah Escape

BURLEY — Three escaped convicts, two of them facing execution, were captured in Burley Saturday after police officers and two alert citizens.

Four more remained at large Saturday night but were not believed to be in Idaho.

It all started late Friday when a man escaped from the maximum security section of the Utah State Prison at Point of the Mountain.

The mass escape was apparently the result of a plan to break and "five dry runs," it was learned.

The capture of the three inmates in Burley came at a little after 11 p.m. Saturday. Lance, 29, was seen apparently trying to steal a car.

He was seen by Cleo Critchfield, the owner of the store, Critchfield called to his wife, then gave chase. Lance ran.

Mr. Critchfield was joined by Robert Hollinger, Burley, and the two citizens chased the escapee, murderer, to the Overland Shopping Center.

Passersby were apparently unaware of the drama taking place.

Lance was cornered and at this point police arrested. The inmate was taken into custody, and the story was revealed.

Apparently the mass escape had been discovered only hours before 200 miles to the south of Burley.

Lance said he was surprised the escape was not discovered before it was. He had been gone for more than 12 hours.

Lance told officers two other inmates were with him — Walter Kelbach, 28, and Delbert Carrot, Kelbach was convicted with Lance of the December 1966 slaying of Fred Lillie and James Sizemore in Salt Lake City. Garrett was serving time for a parole violation and apparently for a conviction of burglary.

The other six escapees, none of them thought to be in Idaho, are identified as: Richard Gill, robbery; James Gill, robbery; Michael Jones, murder; John Ridge, robbery; Frank Lipper, assault with intent to commit murder; and William Walters, burglary and murder.

Two of the missing six were captured in Utah late Saturday. The other four remained at large by press time Saturday.

Lance and Kelbach, as reported, were awaiting execution at the Utah prison. Death is either by hanging or shooting.

The condemned man has chosen.

It was reported the men all escaped by climbing through ventilator shafts in their security cells at the prison.

The shaft led into a tunnel, and the tunnel in turn led into a mechanical room at the prison. The men broke out of the mechanical room, then s in a chimney over the fence and escaped.

The car that brought the three men to Burley had apparently been stolen in Utah, it was reported.

Lance told Burley officers that he, Garrett and Kelbach went together after the escape and the other six went another direction.

Lance was apprehended in Burley at the corner of Nineteenth Avenue and Burton Street.

He was still wearing his prison clothes and told officers that the other two men — Garrett, and Kelbach — were in the city driving a white 1967 four-wheel drive vehicle.

Officers acting on this information, left the Burley police station and saw the vehicle almost immediately. Garrett and Kelbach were taken into custody in front of the Burley post office.

The escapees put up no resistance. They had knives and razors worked a long time in making the escape successful. Apparently, according to reports, the men would put dummys into their beds at night then crawl into the ventilator shafts and watch for guards. They did this five times before determining it was time to make a safe bid for freedom.

Police in four western states were alerted after the escape.

T.F. Firemen Plan Wage Hike Effort

Members of the wage committee for the Twin Falls Fire Department have submitted a letter to the city council asking action on their requested wage increase.

The firemen, in the letter, called attention to a previous letter they presented to L. Z. Bartlett, chief of the department on Aug. 22, pointing out their need for a salary increase.

L. W. Freeman, a member of the wage committee, said the letter was submitted to call attention to the department's request of a year ago. He said the firemen had been awarded the results of a survey of the fire department by Associated Research, Salt Lake City, but felt it must act now, since the next survey will be set soon. The study results are not due until Dec. 15.

In the letter to the council, the firemen pointed out that the Aug. 22 letter had never been acknowledged in any way. They noted that when they tried to act a year ago they were told they did not go through the proper channels.

This year the firemen said they had followed the council's directions for proper negotiations and still have received no action.

Herb Derrick, city manager, said the firemen had come to negotiate with a single city department, but with representatives of all the departments in a group. The firemen have been invited to join such a group, but have not done so yet, because Mr. Derrick also has no intention of giving up their union affiliation. He said they would like to join with the other city employees if it is possible for them to do so and maintain their union membership.

Air Cavalry Shatters Red Attack

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division troops, using mobility and firepower, shattered a North Vietnamese attack Saturday near the Cambodian frontier.

Brought from the northern front only recently to help face the menace of 20,000 enemy troops massed in the area, the cavalrymen had little trouble breaking up the attack.

The cavalrymen were in a night bivouac 75 miles north of Saigon when North Vietnamese in unarmored force struck with rocket-propelled grenades and automatic weapons.

The battle raged for an hour and a half, then the enemy began withdrawing under the blows of the division's helicopter gunships.

National Research Prize To Be Given To T.F. Scientist

Dr. Marvin E. Jensen, of the Snake River Conservation Research Center near Kimberly, has been recognized as one of five outstanding young civil engineers in the United States and has been named to receive the 1968 Water Resources Research Prize of the American Society of Civil Engineers. It was announced in Twin Falls Saturday.

Dr. Jensen will receive his award at the Water Resources Engineering meeting in New Orleans during the week of Feb. 13-17. The four other men who represented the states of Illinois, Iowa and Kentucky were given their awards at a meeting in Pittsburgh, Pa., on Sept. 30. Dr. Jensen was unable to attend the Pittsburgh session.

Dr. Jensen is cited for research on the application of engineering principles to the solving of soil and water problems in irrigation and drainage engineering.

He obtained his BS and MS degrees in agricultural engineering at North Dakota State University in 1951 and 1952. He received a Ph.D. in civil engineering at Colorado State University in 1955.

Upon his graduation from North Dakota State he began his studies of the water requirements of crops as a member of the school's agricultural engineering department staff until 1955.

Since then he has continued his research with the soil and water division of the USDA research center. He has authored over 50 technical articles. For the past year Dr. Jensen has been acting director of the research center. Membership of the American Society of Civil Engineers totals more than 60,000 in the United States and abroad, records show.

Re-Elected

WARSAW (AP) — Wladyslaw Gomulka was re-elected leader of the Polish Communist party today after a secret election which resulted in four new faces in the top leadership.

The election of a new ruling political and central committee, the climaxing event of a week-long quadrennial party congress, denied promotion to former Interior Minister and Secret Police Chief Mieczyslaw Moczar, the symbol of a loosely organized nationalist faction within the party, seeking changes.

The election confirmed the political demise of Adam Rapacki, the foreign minister who has withdrawn from the center circle of leadership after a combination of heart trouble and apparent disagreement over policy.

Eisenhower Miss Weds Colombian

VALLEY FORGE, Pa. (AP) — The bridegroom arrived early and the bride was a little late, but everything else went according to plan Saturday at the wedding of Barbara Anne Eisenhower and Fernando Echavarría-Urbe, of Bogota, Colombia.

The 19-year-old granddaughter of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower was calm and composed as she sat back in the ornate limousine for the Washington Monument in Valley Forge National Park about ten minutes before the nuptial ceremony was to begin. It was a double-ring Episcopal service.

When she emerged from the chapel some 30 minutes later, she was radiantly happy, but appeared a bit disconcerted by the press of newsmen and the 150 onlookers who had gathered to greet the couple. She smiled a bit timidly and, clutching Fernando's arm, made her way slowly to the waiting car.

The former President could not be present to share his love with his granddaughter's happiness. He is in Washington recovering from a heart attack. But the bride's famous grandmother, Mamie, came.

She told reporters that Anne had telephoned her grandfather earlier in the day, but said she did not know what they talked about.

Future first lady Mrs. Richard Nixon, attended the ceremony with her daughter, Tricia. The President-elect, however, was not there.

The Nixons' younger daughter, Julie, was one of Anne's bridesmaids.

Julie plans to marry David Eisenhower in the near future, possibly around Christmas. The wedding party he served as an usher for his sister.

Julie and David said they had decided upon a date for their wedding, but "we can't tell anybody yet."

17-Ton Sputnik Is Lofted By Soviets

MOSCOW (AP) — A powerful Soviet rocket hurled into orbit Saturday a 17-ton sputnik, the world's biggest man-made scientific satellite, an official announcement said.

The spacecraft, Proton-4, began orbiting Earth on Oct. 26. The scientific mission to study high-energy cosmic rays and electrons.

The announcement did not specify what equipment was aboard or indicate whether Proton-4 had any other mission than the space studies mentioned.

It came amid a series of recent Soviet space shots which Western scientists say could be building up to a Soviet attempt to send men around the moon before America's Apollo 8 attempt at Christmas time.

Another major Soviet spacecraft, the unmanned Zond 5, went around the moon last Thursday and headed back to Earth. Soviet officials have said it will fly to the moon, but Britain's Jodrell Bank observatory said the probe was expected to approach the earth around noon Sunday.

Party Leaders Plan Action On Nuclear Treaty

By JACK BELL AP Political Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Operating on the assumption that President Johnson will not call a special Senate session, party leaders are seeking for speedier action on the nuclear nonproliferation treaty in the opening days of the new Congress.

Influential senators believe they have an understanding that President Johnson would not ask the Senate to return to work this year, if they will expedite treaty action early in January.

But the White House does Saturday that Johnson had made up his mind about a special session call or that he had an agreement with party leaders on the matter.

White House press secretary George Christian said Saturday: "I have no idea where the story comes from. It is flatly untrue."

The President has made no agreement to call a special session, or not to call a special session.

There is some substantial opposition to some of the treaty's provisions and senators generally believe that this might spark lengthy debate. If the Senate is convened, it is expected to be brought back into session to consider it.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen said he will support the efforts of Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana to bring the treaty up as quickly as possible at the Senate meets Jan. 3.

Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., top minority member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said in a separate interview Saturday he thinks Johnson hopes for Senate approval before the Jan 29 inauguration.

Radziwills' Jewels Stolen

TURVILLE HEATH, England (AP) — Cat-burglars broke into the stately 18th century mansion where Mrs. Arlette Onassis is staying and grabbed jewels worth $12,000.

Police said the raiders struck Friday night while Mrs. Onassis was in the house with her sister, Mrs. Lee Radziwill.

Mrs. Onassis and her million-dollar shipping tycoon husband flew into London Thursday night and are staying as weekend guests of the Radziwills at Turville Heath, about 33 miles north of London.

The jewels belonged to Princess Radziwill.

Innocent Plea Is Entered By T. F. Defendant

Lee Collier, 47, accused of shooting his wife to death last Sept. 7, entered a plea of innocent when he appeared in Fifth District Court Friday.

The plea was entered before Judge Theron Ward.

A trial has been scheduled for Jan. 7. Prosecutor Michael Felton, who leaves office Jan. 13, will prosecute the case.

Mr. Collier is accused of first degree murder and is being held in the Twin Falls County Jail.

It is accused of shooting his wife to death at their home.

NATO Sets Zone Of Security Interest In Southeast Europe

By ARTHUR L. GAVSHON

BRUSSELS (AP) — The North Atlantic Treaty Organization set up a new zone of security interest in southeast Europe and the Mediterranean Saturday and posted a warning to the Russians.

"Clearly any Soviet intervention, directly or indirectly, affecting the situation in Europe or in the Mediterranean would create an international crisis with grave consequences," the 15 members of the alliance proclaimed in a communique.

Western statesmen led by Secretary of State Dean Rusk at the same time ordered a power buildup in case they have to meet a Soviet attack on their newly conceived security zone which includes both Communist and neutral lands.

In a parallel action, NATO strategic experts pushed ahead with emergency plans for the defense of such countries as Yugoslavia, Austria and Albania in the event a need should arise to rush to their aid.

The proclamation of shared security interests, issued at the meeting of the council of the alliance, was a direct response to the Soviet-led invasion of Czechoslovakia Aug. 20-21.

The communique, with tone-worked France among the signers, recalled how the Russians sought to justify the invasion.

"The contention of the Soviet leadership that there exists a right of intervention in the affairs of other states deemed to be within a so-called 'socialist commonwealth' runs counter to the basic principles of the United Nations Charter, is dangerous to European security and has inevitably aroused grave anxieties," the communique said. "It gives rise to fears of a further use of force in other cases."

Consequently the allies set out these occasions.

Gooding Holds Banquet For Jackie Bodenhofer

By MARY THOMPSON Times-News Correspondent

GOODING — "It was a bigger thrill to come home to Gooding than to attend the Miss Rodeo America contest in Las Vegas," Jackie Bodenhofer, Miss Rodeo Idaho, said at an appreciation dinner held in her honor Friday.

"I can't begin to tell you how much I appreciate all the Gooding community has done for me and I want all of Magic Valley to know that this should be my appreciation of them instead of the other way around. The community has always backed me and I never would have gone as far as I did without that support."

This is only a small example of what Gooding community has done, not only for me, but for all the young people here, she continued.

Miss Bodenhofer said Gooding was the only home town of the 22 representatives in the Miss Rodeo America contest to honor their contestant in any way.

The community in turn expressed its appreciation to Miss Bodenhofer by declaring Friday as her day and presenting her with a horse trailer at the dinner.

The presentation was made by Donna Maxwell, representing Gooding Chamber of Commerce. Tom Morrison was master of ceremonies and Harley Clippen, representing the city, spoke briefly.

Miss Bodenhofer described the national contest held Monday through Wednesday in Las Vegas. Girls were judged on horsemanship, personality and appearance. The finals were filmed for television and will be shown in this area about mid-August.

Druggist Condemns Article About Physicians And Drugs

Dietrich Writer Tells Of Need For Youth Center

In the Dietrich-Shoshone area there is a need for a recreation center. High school students are able to go to a movie or, few-and-far-between, a dance.

Recreation center would provide more kinds of entertainment more often and would help keep students off the streets and might even keep the problems of drugs, which we now have from growing.

A recreational center would help students meet more people and improve their relations with other people their own age.

There must be an organization which cares enough to see something done for the youth of this area.

The Odd Fellows in Shoshone have a good building which might be converted for this center's use. Other possible sites for this recreational center would be the Grange's buildings in both Dietrich and Shoshone.

Anyone interested in sponsoring a center for area teenagers should write me at the following address:

American Policy In Mid-East Draws Comment

By sending 58 jet bombers to Israel, American politicians are repeating the policy that got us into a war in Vietnam and this time will involve us in a far greater war in the Middle East.

Past American policy has left the Arabs no choice but to side with Russia and now we are witnessing the results, Americans who are disturbed about the war in Vietnam should wake up.

If they think Vietnam is bad, they should give a little thought to what is building up in the Middle East.

The editors of the Times-News reserve the right to refuse publication if, in their opinion, the subject matter is of a libelous nature, irreligious and has previously been thoroughly covered in the forum.

Letters must bear the signature and address of the writer. The name of the writer will appear when published unless there is a personal request that it be withheld and the reason for such a request stated.

Contrary Ways Of Parents Is Subject Of Note

I don't at all like the way teachers, parents, and grownups in general say one thing, turn around, and then say just the opposite. It's "No matter what, you have to do this," then, when one person can't or at least claims he can't do as asked, these grownups in general tell him that "It's all right if he doesn't do as asked if he will do so as next time."

How can grownups ever expect us to be responsible for getting jobs done on time or from knowing right from wrong, if they keep switching what they require of us teenagers?

Don't grownups know how badly this vacillation harms us? I think grownups should stick to their guns; when they make a request of us, they shouldn't accept petty excuses from those who can't fulfill their request.

Thank you for giving my letter your consideration.

Youth Approves Of Drama At Local College

Some of my classmates and I recently went to a play given by the Twin Falls Drama Club; the play was "Dear Sam." I think that the students involved in this presentation are to be commended for their fine acting job.

We are planning to attend more plays in your city; in fact, we are planning to attend one this Friday, given by the Utah State University Drama Club at the College of Southern Idaho. I really enjoyed the last play, and I hope to see many more of this caliber.

Japanese Minister Seeks Renewed Approval Of Nation As Vote Nears

TOKYO (AP) — Prime Minister Eisaku Sato seeks another two-year mandate from his party Nov. 27 to tend a Japan-made plan by the election of Shigeru M. Nixon as president of the United States.

The handsome Liberal Democrat wants a third term as president of the ruling party, which automatically will give him another leg on the prime minister's ship. He took over in 1964 from the late Hayato Ikeda.

He is being challenged by the party's elder statesman, Shigesaburo Muro, and the saturnine, dry-humored former foreign minister, Takeo Miki, their battle cry is: "We need a change!"

All three are concerned about the possibility that the new U.S. president will demand more from Japan in military-economic leadership of Asia, a role they are not prepared to shoulder.

Sato, 67, spelled out his position Nov. 7 when announcing his candidacy. He said he could not accept Nixon's blueprint for an Asia whose security depends on Japan as an Asian in which the Japanese take a preponderant role.

If the Japanese are reluctant to dip more than a tentative toe into the stream of Asian security, the Americans are partly to blame. A U.S.-sponsored postwar constitution outlawed, for ever as an instrument of Japanese foreign policy. Under it, Japan maintains a modest self-defense establishment, permits no Japanese soldiers to go abroad.

Japan's economic fast-dragging is less easy to explain. Now the third most affluent nation on earth in gross national production, it has a large favorable balance of trade with the United States; its biggest trade partner. Under Lyndon Johnson and the earlier Kennedy administration, the United States used kid gloves and muted diplomacy to suggest that Japan should loosen the restrictions it continues to put on U.S. and world imports and lend a hand in easing the U.S. aid burden in Southeast Asia.

Japan's reply to these pressures has been that it has special problems at home and is doing the best it can. Besides, the economic situation, whoever is prime minister will face some unsettling problems. Japan, like many others, is caught up in youthful unrest in half a hundred universities, students are smashing windows, battling the police, kidnaping their professors, staging strikes for a variety of reasons. Be a side recognizing reality, the non-combatant stance was designed not to anger supporters of Wallace (63 per cent of the vote) but to attract the newly-discarded their Lincoln birthright and rejected the Negro vote, the Mississippi Republicans now must vote to become a viable party here.

Without Williams', staunch-oriented Democrats won't convert either. Moore, Rep. Sonny Montgomery, a highly-regarded second-term Congressman who would prefer being a Republican, won't switch in order to help protect his committee chairmanships in Washington held by Mississippi Democrats.

How To Jump

To deduct or not to deduct? That will be the question for taxpayers who in some time to fill out their 1968 income tax forms.

Aye, there's the rub: Whether it will be smarter in the upshot for taxpayers to take arms against the surcharge now—that is, push as many deductions as they can into 1968—and defer as much income as they can to 1969—and by opposing, minimize it; or to apply just the reverse strategy on the chance that they will have to pay the full 10 per cent in 1969.

Nixon Seeks 'Subdued' Rites During Inaugural Ceremony

WASHINGTON (AP) Richard M. Nixon's inauguration ceremonies will include the traditional inaugural balls and a shortened parade keyed to the theme: "Bring Us Together."

Nixon advisers had been quoted as saying a "subdued" Inauguration Day was under consideration in view of the Vietnam War.

But J. Willard Marriott, chairman of the 1969 Inaugural Committee, said today in a prepared statement that there will be five — possibly six — inaugural balls and a two-hour parade with bands and floats.

Nixon believes the inauguration "is a national occasion in which all the people should have the opportunity to see and participate," Marriott said.

President Johnson trimmed the inauguration parade to three hours in 1965 and banished military hardware. He held five inaugural balls.

From 1945, when President Roosevelt was sworn in during austere ceremonies at the White House, until Johnson shortened the parade, the bands, floats and horses had taken five hours or more to pass the reviewing stand.

President Kennedy's inauguration parade lasted over an hour after sundown.

India 'Smiths' Hurt By Order

NEW DELHI (AP) — A member of Parliament claimed that more than 11,000 Indian goldsmiths have committed suicide because of a government gold control order.

The regulation, in an attempt to cut down gold hoarding, prohibits the manufacture of 24-carat jewelry. It has therefore cut into Indian goldsmiths' business.

RATES CHANGED
SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — New winter rates for natural gas service in Utah will mean increased revenues and earnings for Mountain Fuel Supply Co. president M. M. Fidler told shareholders in an interim report.

Together" motto in his first press conference after his election. He said he borrowed it from a sign carried by a young girl during a campaign appearance in Deshler, Ohio.

A departure from past years is the decision not to use the cavernous D.C. Armory for an inaugural ball. All five balls scheduled so far will be held in hotels.

Marriott said, "We will ask each state to be represented by a marching band of their choice and state float somewhat similar to the approach used by the Rose Bowl operation."

Schools Viewed By Governor

MOSCOW, Idaho (AP)—Creation of a "unified education system" in Idaho and an end to "sectionalism" has been urged by Gov. Don Samuelson.

"The only way we can maintain the schools at Moscow, Pocatello and Boise and hope to fund them properly is through coordinated and cooperative efforts to create a unified state-wide higher education system and construction program," Samuelson said. His comments were made Friday at a meeting of the North Idaho Chamber of Commerce called to host newly-elected legislators.

"Samuelson said the state's financial situation requires the most economical administrative setup for higher education be found.

"We cannot afford duplication any more than we can afford sectionalism," he told the legislators. "No one wants mediocre schools. For each to justify its future, each must concentrate in the specialized field for which it is best fitted and in which it can excel."

Samuelson said there must be a long range facilities construction plan for all campuses. He said there should be specific plans for future construction and not those formed on a "biennial-biennial basis."

"He said all government officials connected with higher education should make this an immediate priority project."

Samuelson, who was making his first speech since spending a few days in seclusion studying the 1969-71 biennial budget, talked in general terms about the budget but gave no indication of what his proposed general fund expenditure total might be.

Workshop Is Conducted At Shoshone

SHOSHONE — "Understanding Social Security Benefits" was discussed by Pat O'Marra, Twin Falls, at a workshop Thursday evening at the courthouse here.

"He distributed pamphlets and answered questions. Among the subjects covered were special information for self-employed farmers, farm rental income, retirement, survivors, and disability insurance under medicare."

"The medicare handbook was given to each present, along with proper card forms to use in filing necessary data with the district office."

"This was the first in a series of such workshops, each dealing with educational information that should be of vital interest to the adult population of the area, particularly farmers. Most of those present Thursday night were farmers, according to Ivan Hopkins, county extension agent."

"The extension service is promoting the project and Mr. Hopkins encouraged all to attend the second workshop to be held at 8 p.m. Thursday, at 1:30 at the courthouse."

Man Arrested In British Sex Killings

LONDON (AP) — Scotland Yard detectives investigating the sex killings of three little girls in the English countryside arrested a married man Saturday after the biggest manhunt in British criminal history.

Raymond Leslie Morris, a 39-year-old engineer, was charged with the murder of Christine Darby, 7. A jeering, hissing crowd gathered outside the court where Morris was formally accused.

Christine, a pert dark-haired child, was found raped and strangled 15 months ago in the undergrowth of remote moorlands known as Cannock Chase.

In the public outcry over what became known as the Cannock Chase Murders, British police organized a manhunt of unprecedented size.

Detective Superintendent Ian Forbes, a 54-year-old Scotsman with Scotland Yard's most sought-after record of solved murders, was assigned to the case. He spent more than a year in dorred research, aided by 200 detectives working fulltime on the inquiry. More than 80,000 people were interviewed, including every adult male in the nearby town of Walsall. Forbes also called on the international police organization to investigate leads in 11 countries overseas.

What Forbes established definitely was that Christine had been lured into a car near her Walsall home four days before her body was found. A main highway runs between the places where all three girls were found dead.

Idaho Demos Just Won't Give Up

BOISE (AP) — Idaho Democrats haven't elected a governor since 1954 and haven't controlled the state legislature in decades, but their leaders aren't giving up.

"We're not going to throw in the sponge," says E. T. Waters of Boise, the 35-year-old state chairman. "We're going to take it right off again."

Waters says he expects to contact members of the party's state executive committee and begin making definite plans for 1970, when Idaho elects a governor.

Those plans could include election of a new state chairman, although Waters declines any comment on that.

A source close to Waters, who declines to be quoted by name, says it is likely Waters will tell party leaders shortly after the first of the year that he wants to be relieved of his duties possibly at the annual Jefferson-Jackson Day dinner in February.

Normally, the state central committee meets then. It would be a logical time to name a new chairman. One of the problems is finding one who is qualified and who can take time from his business to devote enough hours to the chairmanship.

Waters is a retired business man and has worked almost full time as party chairman since he was chosen in October, 1965.

Although they were overwhelmed in the presidential voting on Nov. 5, Idaho Democrats didn't fare too badly either.

Democratic Sen. Frank Church won reelection to a third term, tallying more votes than did president-elect Richard M. Nixon.

Democrats won two legislative seats in normally Republican Canyon County and cut slightly into the GOP margin in the legislature. Republicans retained control in both branches, however.

Waters is optimistic regarding the party's future in Idaho, but says "we're going to have to re-evaluate the entire situation as a result of the presidential outcome."

"We're going to have to give the young people more consideration, more to say in our party councils," he adds.

James Herndon, 27-year-old Selkirk attorney who is president of Idaho Young Democrats, agrees fully. But he says the participation by the young people must be genuine. He says that although the Young Democrats have been given full recognition by the regular party leaders, it sometimes has been "put on the head" of a ballot.

"The senior party often doesn't realize the capability of the young people. It has made no specific place for them," Herndon says. "If the young people are in responsible positions it often is because they have just sort of edged in."

Herndon says the emphasis should be finding an important role for those in the under-30 age group.

"These are the young people who are just being exposed to politics—and who have fresh ideas," Herndon says.

Harry Wall of Lewiston, national Democratic committeeman, says he believes if the young people have not been utilized fully, "it's not by accident. Maybe we have not given enough thought to how we could bring the youngsters into more activity."

One thing that disturbs Democratic leaders in Idaho is the possibility that again in 1970 the party may be plagued by too many candidates for governor. They had that problem in the past three gubernatorial elections.

Lloyd Walker of Twin Falls, a former state chairman and a candidate for governor two years ago, says he thinks the state democratic organization should attempt to follow the "strictly not-by-the-campaign-pattern" of Sen. Church.

"The senator should have taught us," Walker says, "that one doesn't have to be fearful of the so-called conservative posture of the state of Idaho."

"The voter in Idaho responds to an intelligent, strong approach—such as he has given us in the past. The remainder of the party must take this approach—if we are going to be successful."

TWO BUHL TEENAGERS were hospitalized Friday night after the car in which they were riding struck some trees. Janet Smalley, 15, and Larry Silgemeyer, 17, were both listed in fairly good condition Saturday night at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital. They were passengers in a 1951 Buick driven by Miss Smalley's brother, Steven Smalley, 16, Buhl. He told State Patrolman Duane Owens he lost control when he hit a bush on the Clover Road one mile east and three and one-quarter miles south of Buhl. The impact tore off the front door on the passenger side, imbedding it in a tree. Young Silgemeyer was thrown out of the car, but his foot was wedged between the heater and floorboard. The youth was pinned in the wreckage one hour before being freed. Lincoln Pair Burned In House Blaze

SHOSHONE — Mr. and Mrs. Henry Anderson, who live on a farm north of Shoshone, were listed in good condition Saturday at St. Benedict's Hospital, Jerome, where they were taken Friday morning after their house was destroyed by fire.

The couple received second degree burns and were suffering from smoke inhalation. They were brought to the hospital about 2 a.m. Friday by Bergin ambulance after being treated by a Shoshone physician.

Neighbors said Mr. Anderson awoke late Thursday night and noticing that the stove was too warm, went outside and turned off the oil. He had not yet gone back to sleep when, he said, "it seemed as if suddenly the whole house was on fire."

He and his wife and a grown son who lives at home found their exit was blocked by flames, so the son forced open another door which was stuck and the Andersons credited the escape with saving their lives.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Anderson lost their glasses in the rush to leave the burning house and were unable to drive for help, but neighbors soon noticed the blaze.

Nothing was saved from the house and the Andersons and their son escaped with only their

Large Family

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Marie Reisman and Raymond Wiehagen got married Saturday and created a family of 101 brothers and sisters, aunts and uncles, nieces and nephews, and grandparents.

"It was an instant population explosion," said one of Marie's sisters after the ceremony.

The couple, both widowed, had been neighbors for five years and started dating last December. Their children, all 13 of them, used to play together in their backyards.

"It's not going to be much different," said Raymond Wiehagen, at 18 the oldest of the new brothers and sisters. "We'll just be living in the same house now."

underwear. The son was not burned.

Oscar Kerner, who was first on the scene, took the couple into Shoshone for treatment. Other neighbors assisting at the scene were Richard Haga and Paul Bancroft.

The Wood River Fire District truck was called about 11:15 p.m. Thursday and two Shoshone fire trucks also were sent, but the blazing house was too far advanced to be brought under control. No other buildings were burned.

A daughter who sleeps in the bunk house was not injured. The demolished house reportedly was constructed of frame and rock. It was not insured.

It is a story of four people striving to make his family happy. Its setting is the advertising agency of Smith, Young, Smith and Tattersall, where everyone is "learning to communicate." Nottingham Undersheriff Seeks Help

NOTTINGHAM, Britain (AP) — The undersheriff of Nottingham is seeking American help to restore Sherwood Forest to its former glory.

Much of the forest was cut down for fuel during World War I and wide areas of the land have not been cultivated since.

Wharton and two other local officials formed a company, Sherwood Forestry Ltd., and bought seven acres for replanting near the spot where the legendary outlaw lived with his merry men.

Construction Totals For State Listed

Total construction value in 34 major Idaho cities and the three unincorporated areas surrounding Boise in 1968, according to the First Security Idaho construction report.

New residential construction, as authorized by building permits in these same communities totaled $3,598,469 which was 32.6 per cent above a year ago.

Other construction activity included new commercial and industrial construction totaling $4,389,083, and alterations and repairs valued at $1,532,602.

Cumulative totals for the first 10 months show total construction value at $62,439,226, an increase of 11.7 per cent above the same period of 1967.

Residential construction for 1,077 dwelling units totaled $22,628,332 for an increase of 31 per cent in the number of units and with 1967. Nonresidential construction valued at $27,019,595 was 20.5 per cent above the 1967 level.

Alterations and repairs totaling $12,606,663, likewise, were 1.5 per cent above those during the 10-month period of 1967.

Nationally, new housing starts in September totaled 1,576,000 at a seasonally adjusted annual rate. This was the highest level since June, 1964. Likewise, new residential building permits (seasonally adjusted) in September at 1,405,000 units were the highest since March of this year. Pent-up demand for housing is the major factor in the increase.

Mortgage interest rates had declined during the summer months from the peaks reached in April. However, such interest rates advanced from 14.1 per cent in September to 14.5 per cent in October.

This resulted from credit accompanying increased credit demand.

Locally it was reported by Kenneth Newman, vice president and manager, that total permits issued in the southwestern area of Idaho numbered 4,089 during the first 10 months of 1968 with a total value of $11,809,826. This area includes Boise and its surrounding unincorporated area, Caldwell, Emmet, Gooding, Jerome, Mountain Home, Nampa, Payette, Shoshone, Twin Falls and Weiser.

In Twin Falls 212 permits were issued during the 10 months valued at $2,495,577. This included 29 dwelling unit permits for $651,500.

Other construction activity included new commercial buildings and repairs totaling $252,402.

Panel Member Quits Position

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — A member of the Utah Coordinating Council of Higher Education who supported the proposal for a strong, single governing board over the state's colleges and universities has sent a letter of resignation to Gov. Calvin L. Rampton.

The council turned down the single board proposal and recommended a stronger coordinating council while keeping the current separate governing boards at each institution.

Daniel L. Berman, a Salt Lake attorney, said he was concerned about "a lack of decisive leadership in dealing with the problems of higher education in this state."

These assisting with stage construction and lights are Jim Casad, Keith Coates, Jim Heworth, Dennis Hess, Mary Ann Justesen, Steve Kiley, Louis Owens and Mard Stevens.

Tickets are available from cast members or by calling the college office. Since there is limited seating, those wishing to attend the show should purchase tickets in advance if possible.

Doctor, 8 Refugees Are Convicted

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A former Havana doctor and eight other Cuban refugees were convicted Friday of conspiracy to blast ships of nations that the Fidel Castro's Communist regime.

Dr. Orlando Bosch was convicted on five charges. The government alleged Bosch was the man who revealed to the mysterious Ernesto who acted as spokesman for the shadowy group known as Cuban Power, which announced violent acts, sometimes before they occurred.

Bosch also was found guilty of sending threatening telegrams to heads of state in Spain, Mexico and England.

The U.S. District Court jury of eight men and four women also found Bosch, Barilo Barilo, 42, and Jose Diaz Morejon, 26, guilty of firing on the Polish freighter Polanco while it was in the port for Miami.

The lone woman on trial, Almee Miranda, 39, wept when the verdicts were read. The eight men showed no emotion. Judge William O. Mehrtens withheld sentencing pending background investigations.

Bosch could be sentenced up to 28 years in prison.

Mehrtens continued bonds at present levels, leaving six of the nine free. Bosch, Diaz Morejon and Andrews Jorge Gonzalez, 37, have been in jail, unable to post $50,000 in bail.

The others convicted, and free on bonds ranging upward from $2,500, are Marco Rodriguez Ramos, 24; his 43-year-old father, Antonio Gutierrez; and Jesus Dominguez Benitez, 27.

Asst. U.S. Atty. Donald Berman, who later praised an exile reformer for his testimony during the trial, described Bosch as "a man with a clear contempt for the U.S. system of justice."

Berman said "Ricardo Morales, an exile who infiltrated Cuban Power and sometimes carried a tiny tape recorder strapped to his chest, aided the investigation "at the risk of his own life and reputation in the saving of at least 34 lives and property in excess of $1-million."

Idaho Soil Conservation Meeting Held

COEUR D'ALENE, Idaho (AP) — America has destroyed more resources than some nations have ever had and wastes more than some nations have to live on, a speaker told the Idaho Association of Soil Conservation Districts here Friday night.

J. Burns Beal, Boise, a member of the Idaho Public Utilities Commission, was the speaker at the banquet which concluded three-day association convention.

Americans somehow have got the idea that "Providence will look after us but the fact is we are other people if we are to survive," Beal said.

Beal praised soil conservation districts for beginning a movement some 20 years ago that historians may record as "one of the most remarkable in our state."

Annual awards were distributed during the banquet. Among the winners were: Mrs. and Mrs. John Ludcke, Genesee, for their work in conservation education; The Nez Perce and Bingham Soil Conservation Districts for outstanding programs; Chuck Soderer, Coeur d'Alene newspaper reporter; Dry Creek Soil and Water Conservation Districts and its co-operator, Leonard Mace, Eagle; and Bob Burtenshaw, farm news editor for an Idaho Falls radio and television station.

ROBERT SMYLIE will lead an Idaho delegation to a five-state conference on health care costs. The conference is next week in Denver. Mr. Smylie, former Idaho Governor, is general chairman of the conference and will give the featured talk.

Film Series Is Slated Tuesday

The German club at the College of Southern Idaho, the Project Club, is initiating a foreign film series, with the first showing scheduled Tuesday.

The first film will be "The Grapes Are Ripe," a Russian cinema with English subtitles. This movie has received the Grand Prix for best picture and the Gold Palm for best director and best actress.

The showing will be at 7:30 p.m. at the CSI fine arts center. It is open to the public.

AN OPEN LETTER . . . FROM YOUR TWIN FALLS FIRE FIGHTERS: SO THE PEOPLE OF TWIN FALLS MAY KNOW OUR SIDE OF THE STORY!

Letter, August 22, from Wage Committee to L. Z. Bartlett, Chief, Twin Falls Fire Department:

LETTER TO BARTLETT:

TWIN FALLS FIRE FIGHTERS ASSOCIATION
LOCAL NUMBER 1556
August 22, 1968

Mr. L. Z. Bartlett, Chief
Twin Falls Fire Department

Dear Chief:

We are sure you realize that nearly eight months of the year 1968 are behind us, that there are only four short months until a new City Budget goes into effect. We know, that you know, how we stand as a fire department, compared to the other major fire departments in the State of Idaho. Not only wages, but sick leave, vacation time, longevity and the works. We think you will agree that the continued increase in the cost of living has more than wiped out the fifteen dollars a month increase we received this year. We have heard nothing about the survey, which was promised us by the council members, and so far as we know, there has been no communication between the governing body and the fire department.

Therefore, We the members of the Twin Falls Fire Department, would like to prevail upon you to contact the City Manager and if necessary the City Council in our behalf and find out for us what their plans are for this coming year.

Sincerely yours,
The Wage Committee

Letter, November 11, to all members, Twin Falls City Council, from Wage Committee, Twin Falls Fire Department:

LETTER TO COUNCIL:

One year ago at the end of our negotiations with the City Council, we were informed that we did not go through the proper channels, through the Fire Chief and the City Manager. However, we did appeal to both the Chief and the City Manager, before contacting the City Council.

We were also asked to drop our actions for more wages at that time, with a promise that a survey would be made in time for consideration for the annual budget for the following year. On May 23, 1968, a preliminary report of the survey, was made and no further action was taken at that time. Now after seven months and at the last minute the survey is being completed.

On August 23, 1968 we presented our Chief with a letter, who in turn presented it to the City Manager on August 27, 1968. We have wondered if the City Manager has brought this letter to the Council's attention? We hope not as we would not like to believe that the Council too, are disregarding their promise to the Fire Fighters of a year ago.

The time is over-due for some word from the Council, we feel that budget time is too near for the fire fighters to wait any longer.

We have been told several times by the City Manager, that we should organize the rest of the fire fighters into a bargaining unit, but we the fire fighters felt under the circumstances, it was not our place to organize the rest of the city employees. The other City departments have since organized and we were contacted to join, but with the stipulation that there would be no union affiliation. We do not have any intention of dropping our International Association membership. Therefore, we could not join with the City Bargaining Committee. However, we would be willing and glad to participate in the City Bargaining Committee, if our membership with the International Association of Fire Fighters would not interfere and can be accepted.

Sincerely,
Your Twin Falls Fire Fighters

PRACTICING FOR AN ART contest to be held Nov. 30 at the site of the Bank of Idaho construction is Maxine Aldos, president of the CSI art club. At left is Jack Sears, a member of the Downtowners which is sponsoring the contest. At right is Michael Green, CSI art instructor, who is organizing the contest. Prizes will be offered in four divisions.

Downtown Merchants Work With CSI In Sponsoring Christmas Art Contest

A Christmas art contest, sponsored by the Downtowners, a group of downtown merchants, will begin at 10 a.m. Nov. 30 at the site of the Bank of Idaho construction.

There will be four divisions in the contest and each entrant will be able to paint on a panel of the barricade encircling the construction site.

The contest is being organized through the College of Southern Idaho art department in cooperation with the college's art club.

Christmas themes must be used and only tempera paint can be applied to the three-by-seven panels. Paint and brushes will be furnished for elementary division entrants, but entrants must furnish their own water.

Entrants in other divisions must furnish all their own materials.

Contest divisions and prizes are elementary, $20, first; $15, second, two $10 third prizes, and $5, fourth; Junior high students, $25, first; $15, second, and two $10 third prizes; senior high school students, $30, first; $20, second, and $10, third, and the college division, adults included, $30, first; $20, second, and $10, third.

Space is limited, according to Michael D. Green, CSI art instructor. Those wishing to participate should contact him at the College of Southern Idaho Art Department, 733-9554, extension 90.

Bob Harvey, president of the Downtowners, said that if the contest is successful the panel will be washed and another contest may be held in the spring.

Protest Leader Faces Draft Call

IRVINGTON, N.J. (AP)—

Mark Rudd, one of the leaders of the student protests at Columbia University earlier this year, has been reclassified I-A by the Irvington Selective Service Board.

A board spokesman said Rudd, 21, automatically was reclassified because he no longer is a student at the university.

The spokesman said Rudd will be ordered to report Dec. 2 for a pre-induction physical.

Rudd, a Maplewood resident, is the son of a retired Army colonel.

During the spring disturbances at Columbia, Rudd was chairman of university's chapter of the Students for a Democratic Society.

Vehicles To Be Licensed By Mail

BOISE (AP) — One of every five vehicle owners in Ada County will be able to handle 1969 vehicle registration by mail.

County Assessor Virgil T. King said Friday the mail plan is an experimental one "to see if we can't get away from the mad rush" that normally marks issuance of motor vehicle license plates.

King said register-by-mail forms are being sent to about 10,000 vehicle owners, which is about 20 per cent of the total in Ada County.

North Idaho Chamber Has New Officers

MOSCOW, Idaho (AP) — F.A. Portfors, Orofino, became the new president of the North Idaho Chamber of Commerce here today, succeeding V.N. Thompson of Coeur d'Alene.

Portfors' election came during the final session of a three-day meeting during which chamber members selected Grangeville for their spring meeting.

Succeeding Portfors as first vice president was Marvin Wicklund, of Lewiston, and succeeding him as Nez Perce County representative was William Simmons, Lewiston.

Delegates approved nine resolutions, among them one urging continued phase-out of the state inventory tax. Another resolution maintains that development of Idaho's mineral resources should be encouraged and that no method of extraction should be prohibited permanently.

The delegates passed a resolution calling for continued improvement of U.S. 95 throughout the state, and recommended to the 40th legislature that it adopt legislation enabling Idaho to invest state funds in cooperative projects with neighboring states.

Other resolutions commend the staff and administration of State Hospital North at Orofino; urge the State Highway Board of Regents in regard to the manner in which they have performed their services; north and south of Salmon, endorse the concept of the formula being developed by the State Board of Education and the

LDS Church To Construct Temple Near U. S. Capital

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints (Mormon) has announced plans for a temple near Washington, D. C., to serve church members in the eastern United States.

Mormon temples are used primarily for marriages and other matters pertaining to church doctrine. They are not for public worship.

The First Presidency, a governing body of the church, said the new temple will serve more than 238,000 church members living east of the Mississippi River.

The temple will be built in suburban Maryland on a 57-acre site the church bought for $850,000 in October, 1962. It overlooks the National Capital Beltway and Rock Creek Park.

The First Presidency said it is expected that the area will be rezoned into a temple district and that the membership will be asked to contribute toward the cost.

Other Mormon temples include four in Utah, two in California, and one each in Idaho, Hawaii, Canada, Arizona, Eng-

Changes Proposed In Determining Fees For Livestock Grazing On U.S. Land

Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman and Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall announced Sunday proposed changes in current methods of determining fees for livestock grazing on national forests and public lands under their administration.

This action is in accordance with the instructions contained in the Bureau of the Budget's circular A-25 of Sept. 23, 1959. Circular A-25 established general governmental policy for all federal activities. It called for fair market value to be obtained for all services and resources provided the public through the establishment of a system of reasonable fee charges.

Fees charged livestockmen who graze their cattle and sheep under permit on public lands, the 1968 fee index factors, Forest Service fees cents per animal unit month. The current grazing fee on the public lands is 33 cents.

Although using the same common base and annual forage index factors, Forest Service fees will vary by each national forest according to long-existing fee bases. For cattle, the new fees are estimated to vary from 31 cents to $1.25 per cow month. Sheep fees on the western national forests are estimated to vary from 6 to 25 cents per sheep month. The new Forest Service fees will be applicable in 1969 for the national forests in western states. Changes in fees for grazing on other national forests and national grasslands will be determined in 1970.

"We want full industry and public review prior to putting these regulations into effect," Secretary Freeman and Udall stated. "When these regulations are approved, both agencies will use graduated increases over a period of time to reach the fair market value of the forage. This will give the livestock operators an opportunity to adjust their operations to meet the increased fees without undue impact."

The proposed changes in calculation of BLM grazing fees are being published by the Secretary of the Interior in the Federal Register. Proposed changes in national forest grazing fees will be announced by the Forest Service. A 45-day period will be given to interested parties in submitting their comments to both secretaries before a final decision is made by the two departments.

Buhl Council Buys Police Car And Gas

BUHL—Contracts for gasoline and a new city police car were awarded by the Buhl City Council this week to Texaco, Inc. and Glen Jenkins Chevrolet, Twin Falls.

Texaco's bid of .1442 per gallon for regular and .1642 for premium gasoline was low. Other bids to supply the city with 10,000 gallons of regular grade gas and 8,000 gallons of premium gas were American Oil Co. .1402 for regular and .1887 for premium; Continental Oil Co. .1492 regular and .1692 premium; and Sinclair, .1486 regular and .1858 premium.

Neither of the local car dealers bid, city officials reported after bids were opened for the purchase of a new police car. The lowest bid of $1,652.88 with trade-in for a 1959 Chevrolet Biscayne from the Jenkins firm was accepted.

Bids were also received from Willis Munroe Co., $1,138.05 on a 1969 Plymouth Fury, police special; and BHL Workman Ford Inc., $1,325.48 on a Ford sedan.

A call for bids will soon be issued by the council for comprehensive or liability insurance for the coming year. Local insurance agents will receive notices from the city clerk's office and must be submitted by Dec. 10.

Dave Munroe and Joe Fehrenbacher were authorized to attend the Associated Taxpayers of Idaho 22nd annual taxpayers conference Nov. 20 in Boise.

The purpose of the study was to compare charges or values for grazing on similar private and federal holdings. The intensive SRS survey produced data needed to estimate grazing values on 95 national forests in 19 districts in 17 western states. Some 10,000 individual ranchers were interviewed in the survey and more than 14,000 questionnaires were collected. Information was obtained from the ranchers on 13 non-for costs of using public and private lands and lease rates on private grazing lands for both cattle and sheep. Cost factors include such items as cost of handling, trucking, feeding and animal loss.

A common base of $1.23 per animal unit month, adjusted by an annual forage value index, would be used to calculate grazing fees for livestock using the national forests and public lands. The new base, which is considered the current fair market value, would be reached in even increments over a 10-year period starting in 1969. For the public lands, the 1968 fee index factors, Forest Service fees cents per animal unit month. The current grazing fee on the public lands is 33 cents.

That One Word Description of USU's Charley's Aunt Just Has To Be "Good"

By MATILDA CRACKENBUSH
Times-News Drama Critic

One thing for sure is that when I review a production it is either good or it is bad. There's no middle ground. So on this basis the Utah State University Old Lyric Repertory presentation of Charley's Aunt at the CSI Fine Arts Center Friday night would fall into the good category.

Of course most of the eyes were on Jerry D. Allen who played the part of Charles Wycham — Charlie, He's an orphan boy who hails from Burley and whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cleve E. Allen, live in that community. He played to perfection the part of the sort of shy, backward individual whose life on the stage was one problem after another — all different. Making the role of Charles's Aunt — was William Curtis who, as Lord-Fancourt Gabberly, brought the house down several times. He was just right for the part — small enough to look like a woman (although you know he wasn't) and active enough to make the fast moves and take the pratfalls the hilarious part called for. He fitted in well with big, athletic Dennis David who played the part of Jack Chesney. The contrast between the two aided the plot.

The play, which has been on stage longer than it has been on earth, is set in Oxford, England, in 1892. At first it was a little difficult for a hayseed reviewer like me to get the sounds — because the players sounded like they were indeed from England — but it didn't matter because the whole concentration — the phrases — came home to roost.

Refreshing is one word that would describe the entire effort. Refreshing because it is sitting and waiting for the commercials so you could run to the refrigerator for another snack — refreshing because of the old-time "asides" of the players to the audience letting them know that we were — refreshing because the sets were changed by the stagehands without the curtain being closed.

Refreshing, too, were the marvelous and authentic looking costumes. They were tops and brought many comments from audience members at intermission. In other words, as I saw it the entire production looked clean and scrubbed. If you will pardon the choice of words.

As I said, all the parts were played to perfection. David L. Alfred as Brassett the convincing butler; Ann Servanovet as Kitty-Verdure and Sandy-Timpson as Amy Speltigue, the love-sick girls; Norman McPhee as Col. Sir Francis Chesney Bart, the father of Jack; F. T. Morgan as Stephen Speltigue, the butting and putting old gent always running after Charley's Aunt; the excellent supporting cast — Donna-Lucia D'Alvadoro, Charley's "real" aunt; Sandra Wheelwright as Ella Delahay, orphan who would want to make you donate to the orphan's fund.

It was a case of one part blending into another with professional ease.

And the smiles on the faces of the hundreds of spectators seated in the brand new Fine Arts Center was evidence enough the players were weaving a story that was enjoyed.

And Charley's Aunt — the pre-fabricated one — probably hit the nail right on the head with a drink, he said: "To which I wish to add — how true it was!"

Up A Tree

WENDELL — An unusual problem confronted the Wendell Rural Fire Department when they were called to the Wayne Lafferty home, two and one-half miles west and one-half mile south of Wendell.

The pet monkey of the Lafferty family was up a tree. Department members, with the aid of Wendell Theate and a rope, rescued the monkey.

LBJ Names Nov. 28 Thanksgiving

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson said today there were many events during 1968 for which he said Americans should give thanks, including the beginning of talks with our adversaries that will see us pray for peace in Vietnam.

Proclaiming Thursday, Nov. 28 as Thanksgiving Day, Johnson said:

"These events inspire not only the deepest gratitude, but confidence that our nation, the beneficiary of good fortune beyond that of any nation in history, will surmount its present trials and achieve a more just society for its people."

"In this season, let us offer more than words of Thanksgiving to God. Let us resolve to offer Him the best that is within us — tolerance, respect for life, faith in the destiny of all men to live in peace," Johnson said.

"Other events he cited as deserving remembrance and thanksgiving included:

"The increasing prosperity of the people, including those who were denied any share in America's blessings in the past."

"The achievement of new breakthroughs in medical science and new victories over disease."

Stock Market Advances During Week

By Ed Morse AP Business Writer. NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market advanced again this week, reflecting rising confidence in the economy, the eventual prospect for peace in Vietnam and the election of Dwight D. Eisenhower as president.

The Dow Jones industrial average this week advanced 6.90 to 658.78. The advance was accomplished on considerably higher volume than in the prior week, with 49,302,660 shares traded.

The fact that the market had four uninterrupted trading days of bullish sentiment to accumulate without the usual mid-week interruption on Wednesday, Monday was taken off in lieu of an unusual "early start" on Wednesday.

The Dow Industrials were down a few points but "indications were higher" than there were some gains. After a 21-point rise in the Dow, this correction was fully expected.

The market, after some further irregularity on Friday, posted another gain and ended trading for the week with the ticker-tape late and prices rising.

The Associated Press average made new highs for the year on the final three days of trading. Broader indices, Standard & Poor's 500-stock index and the New York Stock Exchange index, which represent the main national general warrants (new), up 1% at 234.

The five most active stocks this week on the New York Stock Exchange were American Motors, up 1% at 167 1/2.

Prudent optimism on Wall Street there had some broad statistics to support it. The five most active issues this week on the American Stock Exchange were:

Amersol Oil, up 3 1/2% at 11 1/2; Westinghouse, up 1/2% at 47 1/2; National General Warrants (new), up 1% at 234.

Livestock Rate Of Economic Growth Is Posing Perplexing Question

By JACK LEFLER AP Business Writer. OGDEN, Utah (AP) — Cattle and calves this week, 1,300, with 200 calves, compared to 2,825 last week and 3,740 last year.

The rate of economic growth is posing a perplexing question as to whether the rate of economic growth is tapering off or whether business is holding firm. The conflicting signs in this past week...

The bank commented that the cumulative effects of the fiscal restraint program are likely to become more clearly visible as time passes. But it added, "the delay in getting the economy back to a slower rate of growth has unquestionably complicated the task of restoring reasonable price stability and reducing inflation."

Chase Manhattan bank, one of the country's largest banks, this past week forecast its lonely stand with a 6 per cent prime interest rate. It raised its rate to 6 1/2 per cent, the level which had prevailed since last September.

Looking further back, the Federal Reserve Bank of New York said the economy had expanded far more rapidly in the third quarter than most observers had expected. In the first 10 days of November, dealers sold 200,505 U.S.-made cars.

The auto industry considers November a key month for testing public reaction to new model cars. Automobile production this past week slipped to an estimated 211,100 passenger cars from 217,137 the previous week.

The Commerce Department reported that in October Retail sales slipped for the second straight month. The drop to $28.3 billion from $28.9 billion in September was only one-half of

Parents Seek Court Ruling On Discipline

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP)—Parents of two Negro pupils who were expelled from school for walking out on the playing of "Dixie" at a school function asked U.S. District Court today to forbid punishment for such acts.

The suit names as defendants the Jonesboro School Board, school bus driver Clarence Gels and Jonesboro High School Principal Charles Sims.

The suit stems from an incident Nov. 1, when about 30 of the school's 100 Negro pupils out of a total enrollment of 1,000 attended a school pep rally, and "Dixie" was played as a fight song.

The rally was in the school's gymnasium during classroom

Idaho State Overhauls Omaha By 16-13

Interceptions Help ISU Erase 10-Point Deficit

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Idaho State dominated the second half and came from behind to erase a 10-point deficit in a football action here Saturday.

Two key pass interceptions in the third quarter reversed the momentum for Idaho State.

Two Idaho State tallies in the fourth quarter involved long passes.

The first, a 46-yard screen pass from Terry Kerychuck to Jerry Dunne set up a two-yard key-chuck scoring plunge which left Idaho State trailing 13-10.

The game-winning score came on a 67-yard pass from Kerychuck to Ed Bell with 5:32 remaining in the game.

UNO led in the first quarter when it overcame an Idaho State six-yard field goal with a 17-yard pass play from Reco Gonella to Stan Standifer.

And the Indians went into the dressing room of the half with a 13-7 lead following a five-yard scoring loss from Gonella to Dan Crnkovich.

The game closed out the season for both squads and left both with 4-5 records.

Clemson Has Win Over N. Carolina

CLEMSON, S. C. (AP) — Billy Ammons, Ray Yaeger and Charlie Waters led Clemson to a 24-14 victory over North Carolina Saturday, besting the Tigers bid to retain its Atlantic Coast Conference football championship.

The Tigers won next Saturday's game against arch-rival South Carolina to stay ahead of N. C. State and claim the fourth consecutive full or shared ACC title. N. C. State has completed conference play at 6-1.

Ammons scored Clemson's first touchdown, passed to Yaeger for a second and sent Yaeger smashing over from a yard out for the third, by which time Clemson had victory well in hand.

Yaeger piled up 201 yards rushing on 35 carries, while Ammons had 176 yards passing, 113 Waters.

Yaeger, a 5-10, 190-pound sophomore from Uniontown, Pa., was injured early in the fourth quarter. He was carried to Greenwood General Hospital after the game for treatment of a fracture of his left forearm. He will be unable to play in the Tigers' final game of the season next Saturday.

The Seminoles gained their sixth victory against two losses in handling the Wolfpack its worst defeat in 15 years under Coach Earle Edwards.

Clemson had a muddled N. C. State's defense with passes, hitting three for touchdowns, Gantner, 17-pound halfback scored three touchdowns, all in the third period, on runs of one and 11 yards and a one-yard pass from Clemmons.

It was a dismal season finale for N. C. State which finished 6-4. The Wolfpack, plagued by fumbles and pass interceptions, fell behind early in the first quarter but trailed by only 14-7 at the half.

Florida State's first touchdown came early in the first period when Walt Summer scooped up a blocked field goal attempt and raced 35 yards to score. Summer had charged in to block an attempted 16-yard field goal by Gerald Warren.

Florida State made its 14th early in the second period on a 15-yard touchdown pass from Clemmons to Ed Phil Abramo, clinching a 49-yard drive.

N. C. State's touchdown came late in the second quarter on a 13-yard pass from Jack Klebe to Jimmy Fink, capping a 61-yard drive in eight plays.

Georgia Tops Auburn To Claim Loop Title

AUBURN, Ala. (AP) — Georgia captured the Southeastern Conference football crown Saturday, whipping Auburn 17-13 in a little showdown behind the key passing of Mike Gavett and an unrelenting defense.

The victory in the fifth-ranked Bulldogs' final league game gives Georgia a 5-0 mark, a little shy of the conference record dropped to 4-1.

The Tigers spoiled their championship drive with a rash of errors, losing the ball twice on fumbles and twice on pass interceptions.

Gavett, a cool sophomore who wasn't bothered by the muddy field, tossed a 22-yard touchdown pass to Kent Lawrence and scored once himself on a one-yard plunge set up by his passes of 23, 9 and 14 yards.

The touchdown toss came after an Auburn fumble on its 47-yard drive.

Georgia's Tim McCallough had kicked a 27-yard field goal after an earlier Auburn fumble on the Tigers' 27.

Auburn, which rode a three-game winning streak into the game, got its only points in the first quarter on a 28-yard field goal by John Riley.

Georgia, reportedly set to accept a Sugar Bowl invitation Monday, bounced back in the second period when the Bulldogs scored all their points.

Mantle Says He Will Not Play Again

NEW YORK (AP) — Mickey Mantle, slugging star of the New York Yankees for 18 seasons, is retiring from baseball, the New York Daily News said in a copyrighted story in its Sunday edition.

In a bylined story by Dick Young, Mantle, who celebrated his 37th birthday last month, is quoted as saying, "I just can't hit any more."

Bothered throughout his career by leg injuries, Mantle's average slipped to .237 last season—a career low. He did get 22 home runs and passed both Ted Williams and Jimmy Foxx in the all-time list of homer hitters.

Mickey has 526—third behind Babe Ruth's 714 and Willie Mays' 557.

Official announcement of Mantle's retirement, Young said, will be withheld until spring training when Mickey plans to join the team at Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

CINCINNATI (AP) — Ohio University, sparked by Cleveland Bryant who figured in five touchdowns, overcame an average Cincinnati passing attack and eked out a 60-48 victory Saturday.

Bryant, a junior quarterback, scored twice on one-yard snafus and passed for three touchdowns, one a 58-yarder to Bob Houmard, as the Bobcats, 17th in the nation, struggled to their first straight triumph without a loss.

Wright Makes 4 Scoring Catches To Lead Houston To 77-3 Rout Of Idaho

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Sen-sational Elmo Wright scored on four passes and caught a fullback's five-yard run for one of Houston's three other scores as the 14th yard scoring strike to Paul Daurio for another.

Jim Strong added another 10-yard run for the Cougars, victory over Idaho.

Gipson also scored on a one-yard plunge.

Idaho scored on Bob Young's 32-yard field goal in the second quarter, narrowing Houston's margin to 7-3. Idaho moved the ball 55 yards in nine plays during the drive, including passes of 11 and 17 yards from Steve Olson to Jerry Hendren.

Wright caught the ball seven times for 249 yards for a season total of 1,011 yards. This surpassed a school record of 808 yards by Ken Hebert in 1956.

The Cougars set a game-of-record career-best year-in-a-76.

They tied their single game scoring record—six last year—in a 76-0 Heiskell was the game's leading rusher, carrying the ball 22 times for 208 yards.

5000th ELECTRIC HEAT HOME

Boise doctor modernizes home heating after satisfaction with electric heat in office

MORE THAN 1100 existing homes have been changed to electric heat, including that of the Masons at 4020 Hillcrest Drive in Boise.

SATISFACTION with electric heating and cooling in his office at 808 LaCassia helped Dr. Mason decide to change his home to electric heat.

Ten years ago an electrically-heated home was a rarity. Today more than half of the new homes being built in our area—and more than 1100 older homes—include its many benefits. Among these is the attractive and spacious residence of the Dr. L. H. Mason family of Boise, who recently changed over to an electric heat pump for year-around comfort and convenience. In doing so, they became Idaho Power's 5000th electric heat customer.

"I was surprised to realize how many people already have electric heating," said Mrs. Mason. "It seems to be coming on fast as more and more people get to know about it."

"You don't have to build a new home to enjoy electric heat," said Dr. Mason. "After finding satisfaction in a new, all-electric office, I learned how we could make our home equally comfortable. The change-over was easy, and we are looking ahead to pleasant temperatures at home winters and summers."

Time to change your home to Flameless ELECTRIC HEAT

There's still time to make your home "electric-heat comfortable" for winter! Low-cost remodeling loans are available. You can get full details and planning assistance at your local Idaho Power Company office.

USC Bombs Beavers For Rose Bowl Bid

Sogge And Simpson Spark Trojans To 17 Points In High-Scoring Last Period

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Clutch quarterback Steve Sogge and the fabulous O.J. Simpson led unbeaten Southern California from behind with 17 points in the final quarter to defeat Oregon State Saturday, 17-13, and USC headed on to its third straight trip to the Rose Bowl. The victory sewed up the Pacific-8 conference championship for the No. 1-rated Trojans and wrecked an aggressive try by the belligerent Beavers from Corvallis to register an upset. The teams were undrunked through two quarters of scoreless football before USC's Memorial Coliseum and a regional television audience before Oregon State hit the scoreboard.

Bowls Bid For Teams Starting On Monday

Southern California virtually sewed up its third straight trip to the Rose Bowl in college football Saturday while Penn State, Georgia and Oklahoma seemed certain of invitations to a major bowl come New Year's Day. Officially no invitations may be tendered until Monday under NCAA regulations. However, the No. 1-ranked and unbeaten Trojans of Southern California whipped Oregon State 17-13 with a fourth-quarter rally for their eighth in a row and clinched the Pacific-8 Conference title, an honor that usually lands the Rose Bowl prize. Penn State, also unbeaten and ranked third in The Associated Press poll, crushed Maryland 57-13 before observers from the Orange, Cotton and Sugar Bowls.

Arkansas Over SMU

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Bill Montgomery and Bill Burnell, a pair of talented sophomores, and a reckless Arkansas defense ruined Southern Methodist 39-29 Saturday, setting up the 10th-ranked Razorbacks' Southwest Conference showdown with Texas Tech. Montgomery passed for two touchdowns and Burnell scored on runs of one, two and five yards. SMU quarterback Church Hixson, who entered the game as the nation's leading passer, threw four touchdown passes in the final quarter as the Mustangs battled back from a 35-0 deficit. Hixson's final touchdown shot a 20-yarder to Pinky Clements came with less than a minute left. The Arkansas defense set up three touchdowns with fumble recoveries and held Jerry Lewis, the top pass receiver in the nation, without a catch until the closing moments of the third period. The victory kept Arkansas in a tie for the conference lead with Texas and Texas Tech and eliminated the Mustangs from championship consideration. The Razorbacks will meet Tech next week at Lubbock. Hixson finally began connecting in the fourth quarter. He threw scoring passes of eight yards in Lewis, 10 to Frank Stringer, 13 to Mike Richardson and the 20-yarder to Clements. Montgomery passed three yards to Chuck Dicus for one touchdown, and tossed a five-yard scoring pass to fullback Bruce Maxwell. Arkansas had to travel 17, 21 and five yards for touchdowns after the defense came up with SMU bobbles.

Memphis Blasts Winless Wichita

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—Danny Pierce passed for two touchdowns and ran for another Saturday as Memphis State grabbed at least a share of the Missouri Valley Conference football title with a 40-8 victory over winless Wichita. Wichita scored first when Lynn Duncan blocked a punt and Rick Pierce scooped it up on the goal line and rolled over in the first period. The Shockers' final score came with only six minutes left in the game when Pete Robertson capped a 33-yard drive by going over from the six. Troy Anderson made good on a 45-yard field goal Pierce threw a 52-yard touchdown pass to Preston Rink and a 3-yarder to Frank Blackwell. Pierce got his own touchdown when he went over from the two.

CHERRY HILL, N.J. (AP)—Beau Brummel, ridden by Brullio Baccu, turned in the upset of the year in thoroughbred racing's 2-year-old division Saturday as he won the $12,600 Garden State Stakes. Alasco Stable's Prevailing was fourth in the field of 10. Beau Brummel raced the 1 1/2 miles of this 10th running of the Garden State in 1:44 3/5. The pre-race experting viewed the race as a walkover for Top Knight, before the Garden State considered almost a clinch to win 2-year-old division honors for 1968.

Arizona Staters Shatter BYU 47-12

PROVO, Utah (AP)—Arizona coach Frank Kush had no loss to Oregon State and a West-State turned its high-powered offense loose again Saturday, run-ning up a 40-point halftime lead and coasting to a 47-12 football victory over hapless Brigham Young. Three pass interceptions and fumble recoveries in the first half gave Arizona State the opportunities it needed to put the game out of reach early. Fullback Art Malone carried 13 times for 76 yards in the first half, scoring on a 3-yard run and on a 51-yard screen pass play. Quarterback Joe Spangola led the screen to Malone and also hit Fair Hooker with a 20-yard scoring pass as Arizona State opened for 27 points in the second period and led 40-0 at halftime. Oklahoma Turns Owens Loose To Whip Missouri

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — Oklahoma hurled its human battering ram, tailback Steve Owens, at the Missouri defense and the result was a 28-14 Sooner victory over the sixth-ranked Tigers.

Yanks Hold Two-Stroke Lead In Rome

ROME, Italy (AP) — A flash hail and rain storm abruptly halted the World Cup golf competition Saturday with the U.S. team of Lee Trevino and Julius Boros holding a two-stroke lead over the field with one hole to play in the third round.

The amazing Nationalist Chinese were in second place, two strokes back of the Americans with two holes to play, followed by Italy and Canada another shot back. The Canadians finished four-under and the Italians were four-under with one hole remaining.

These three teams, plus those from New Zealand, England and Ireland, were the only ones in the 42-hole field which had not finished when the storm struck, drenching the fairways and greens.

Fred Corcoran, tournament director, ordered all balls re-marked. Competitors will resume early Sunday at the place they left off, completing the third round and then plunging immediately into the fourth and final round.

The United States was seven under-par-72 for 53 holes on the 6,350-yard Olympic course.

Nationalist China, which started the day tied with the Americans at a five under par 283, was five under par through 52.

Alabama Tops Miami With Long Scores

MIAMI (AP) — Alabama's Crimson Tide stunning Miami with an aerial bomb in the first period and a long runback of an intercepted pass in the fourth, scored a 14-7 victory over the Hurricanes Saturday night and probably clinched his 10th straight bowl bid.

With two seconds to go in the opening period, Scott Hunter hooked up with Donnie Sutton on a 74-yard scoring pass. Early in the fourth, Mike Dean stole a throw from Law Fyfel and raced 69 yards for the second Alabama score.

Miami scored late in the nationally televised game on a two-yard run by sophomore half-back Bobby Best.

CSI Battles Boise State In Scrimmage

BOISE — "We've got a lot of work to do," said College of Southern Idaho Coach Eddie Sutton following his Golden Eagles' scrimmage of Boise State Saturday afternoon.

No score was kept in the workout, each team working on offense for 10 minutes against the other's defense before a game-long scrimmage. It appeared the first half was tight but Boise had a decided edge in the second period.

The two clubs will stage a similar showing at 7 p.m. Friday at the Twin Falls gymnasium and the public will be invited to that one.

"These were a few times that we looked pretty good but generally we went about the way I expected," Coach Sutton said. "We were ragged a lot of the time and four we still have a long way to come on both offense and defense."

CSI is basically a freshman team while Boise State is generally juniors with a few sophomores. That difference was evident Saturday, too, in some instances.

Notre Dame Coasts To 34-6 Victory

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Halfback Bob Gladieux smashed to his 12th and 13th touchdowns to match a 50-year Notre Dame single-season record as the Fighting Irish humbled scrappy Georgia Tech 34-6 in their rain-soaked home football finale Saturday.

Fullback Ron Dushney also scored twice on short plunges as ninth-ranked Notre Dame posted its seventh victory in nine starts with only top-ranked Southern California left to play.

Gladieux, on touchdown darts of three and one yard, tied the Irish season touchdown record previously shared by Creighton Miller and Bob Kelly. In the game-which-ended 49-almost-total darts.

Georgia Tech, among the nation's top ten passing teams, scored on a 15-yard toss to Steve Harley from junior quarterback Jim Person, making his first varsity start.

The raining wreck, however, the huge Irish defense in the rough, lumbie - marked game and wound up minus 40 rushing yards mainly on huge losses trying to pass.

ELEVEN FOOD brokers for Idaho Frozen Foods, Inc., paid a visit to the Twin Falls plant Friday. The men held an orientation meeting during the morning and discussed the market analysis of the Idaho potato crop. Later they toured the processing plant. The brokers, who were from eastern and midwestern cities, were en route to a convention of the National Association of Frozen Food Packers.

Arab Accused In Plot Is Out On Bond

NEW YORK (AP) — A Yemeni Arab accused of plotting to assassinate President-elect Richard M. Nixon has been released on $25,000 bond.

"I love America—I'm innocent," said Ahmed Rugeh Namer, 48, in his lawyer's office Friday after his release.

Namer's lawyer, Joseph Lovino, said Namer's bond was raised by Namer's friends and neighbors who put up $180,000 total. He said there was insufficient money to cover the $25,000 bail on each of Namer's sons, Hussein, 20, and Abdo, 18, who were indicted with their father Wednesday on charges of criminal conspiracy and illegal possession of weapons.

The bail had been reduced from $100,000 each, set Wednesday.

Crash Hurts Utah Man At Strevell

RUPERT—Vern Hoar, 52, Salt Lake City, was listed in satisfactory condition Saturday at Cassia Memorial Hospital. Dr. Roy Frey, who received him when the freight truck he was driving went out of control and struck two parked trucks about 11:20 p.m. Friday at Strevell. Damage was set at more than $22,000.

Rupert, who investigated, said Mr. Hoar was driving a Brownie-Freightliner tractor-south when he lost control on the slick road. The vehicle struck a parked 1956 PIE semi-trailer, then jackknifed and struck another parked 1967 Ford tractor owned by Joseph Cubic, Portland, in front of the Strevell safe.

Patrolman Bolton said damage to the Ford truck from Portland was estimated at $20,000, and $1,000 to the PIE trailer. Damage was set at $1,000 to a Norwalk trailer which was being pulled by the Browning Freightliner, which was demolished. No estimate was available on the cost of this vehicle.

Mr. Hoar was pinned to the cab of his truck, but he was freed by the other drivers before Patrolman Bolton arrived at the scene.

Pocatello Couple Buys A "White Elephant," Plans Elaborate Vacation Home

RICHFIELD — Imagine a town's most historic building have lived in large homes in Europe and their current residence is a 16-room home in Pocatello.

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon W. Webster, of Pocatello, have purchased the building from the Richfield School District and are slowly renovating and remodeling. Unexpected company never will be a problem when their project is completed as the old building can accommodate some 30 people. It will be converted to a vacation and week-end home and furnished in items of the late 1800's or early 1900's, the period in which the building was erected.

Richfield that very weekend and look at it," Mrs. Webster explained.

On arriving, they found the owner, the Richfield School District, negotiating with a group of out-of-state persons interested only in the land on which the building was located. Mrs. Webster said she and her husband knew if the out-of-state concern were to purchase it, the building itself would be demolished.

"We had to do some fast talking, but we appealed to the sympathy of the school superintendent who seemed to have a soft spot in his heart for the old building, and we came home with a two-story hotel," the Pocatello woman added.

This was in June, 1966, and the couple began planning for renovating the old building that has stood empty for many years.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Webster

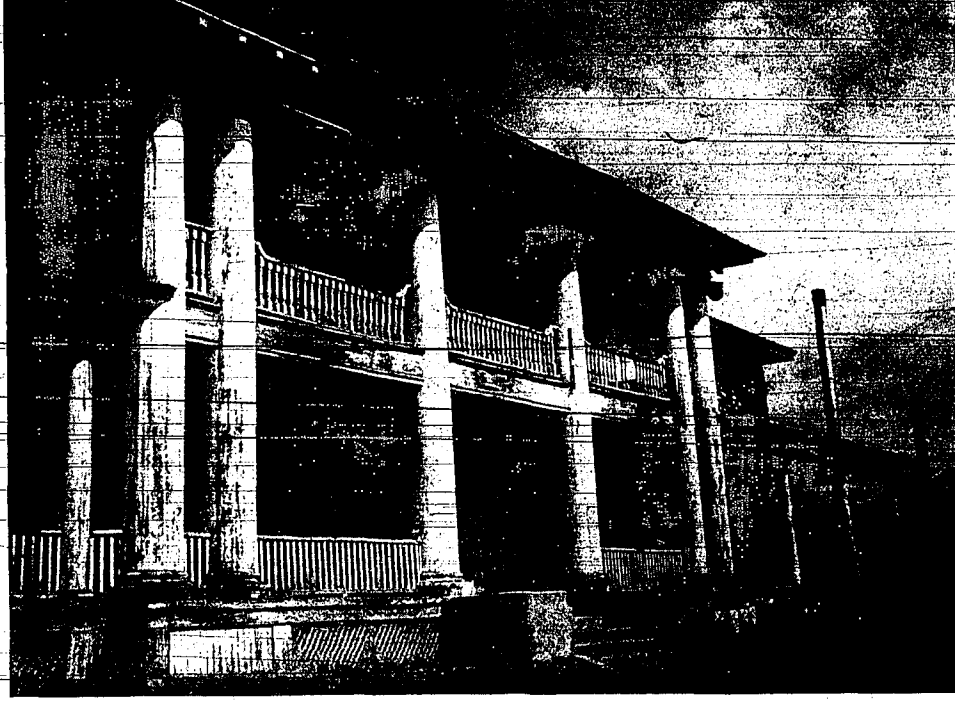

They hope to furnish it with a collection of furnishings they have already acquired dating back to the late 1800's and early 1900's, the era in which the hotel flourished. One major problem in their renovation thus far has been vandalism.

As the couple plans to do most of the work themselves, they have established an apartment on the second floor and spend weekends painting and refinishing. Much of this has been destroyed by vandals who have even cut holes in the foundation to gain entry.

"It will be a long time before we finish the building the way we want it but it is something to look forward to," Mrs. Webster said.

The old hotel may become something of a tourist attraction.

UNWANTED FOR MANY YEARS, the old Richfield Hotel can now look forward to a new and useful life, thanks to the interest of a young Pocatello couple. Mr. and Mrs. Vernon W. Webster have purchased the building from the Richfield School District and are slowly renovating and remodeling. Unexpected company never will be a problem when their project is completed as the old building can accommodate some 30 people. It will be converted to a vacation and week-end home and furnished in items of the late 1800's or early 1900's, the period in which the building was erected.

Your Life May Depend On Their Training

The sound of tires and the crash of metal and breaking glass followed by the wailing of a siren — and there has been an accident.

They are handled in such cases may determine whether the rest of their life is to be normal or spent in a wheel chair, or in fact, whether or not they continue to live.

With this in mind, the Twin Falls chapter of the American Red Cross is aiming extensive emergency medical care training toward law enforcement officers of the surrounding area.

Not only in the event of traffic accidents, but in nearly all emergencies from drowning and electrocution to heart attacks.

Attending the Tuesday and Thursday sessions were members of the Idaho State Police, Twin Falls City Police, Idaho Fire Department, Mountain State Telephone Co. workers, U. S. Forest Service officials and representatives from law enforcement agencies in other parts of Magic Valley.

There were no charges for the courses which included, two films, demonstrations and question and answer sessions. All participating directors and enrollees donate their own time to give or receive the special training.

Wesley Dobbs, law enforcement instructor for the College, said the first such program was held during a two-day training session in 1967 at which time about 200 officers and officials of various agencies were given the emergency training.

Dr. Harold J. A. Wiedemann donated his time to train officers and others in external heart massage, proper methods of mouth-to-mouth resuscitation and handling of persons with breathing obstructions.

Dr. Wiedemann said that many times a person will be dead on arrival at a hospital because of stoppage of breathing when an ambulance attendant or other person riding with him in the ambulance could have prevented the death simply by tipping the head back to clear the air passage.

This is even good for snoring husbands, Dr. Wiedemann said, in that snoring is simply an obstruction of air passages and can be stopped by clearing the passage.

Under the Federal Highway Safety Act there is a move to save lives through better engineering, safer equipment and more emergency medical care training. It has been recommended all officers, truck drivers and at least one member of every family have Red Cross first aid training.

Reports in connection with the program, Miss Griggs says, show that the nation's emergency care is in the dark ages. It is more likely under present conditions that a serviceman seriously wounded in Vietnam will survive than an average citizen who may suffer equally serious injuries in a traffic accident a few miles from his local hospital.

Surveys made at a Memphis, Tenn., hospital revealed almost none of the serious injury auto accident victims admitted there had received adequate or effective first aid.

WITH THE ASSISTANCE OF Resuscit Anne, Dr. Harold Wiedemann shows method of using a plastic mouth piece in administering mouth to mouth resuscitation. This is one of the emergency medical care items suggested as part of the first aid kits for law enforcement officers and other first aiders.

EXTERNAL HEART MASSAGE is demonstrated by pressure on the lower chest of the Resuscit Anne. State Patrolman Bob Brown breathes air into the victim's lungs while Dr. Wiedemann alternates with chest pressure to start the heart beat. Red Cross classes with the assistance of Dr. Wiedemann were open without charge to officers, first aid instructors and other interested persons.

USE OF A BAG MASK to assist a victim of an accident or drowning that may have stopped breathing is illustrated by Pat Hill, first aid instructor, Dr. Harold Wiedemann at left, stands by to offer suggestions on position of the victim's head, application of equipment and proper amount of air to force into victim's lungs. Emergency medical care training sessions stressing breathing and cardiac treatment were held during the past week for law enforcement officers and other personnel likely to handle accident victims or anyone in need of emergency treatment.

WITH MOUTHPIECE in place, Dr. Wiedemann shows the proper position of the victim and the amount of breathing pressure that should be exerted to start the victim breathing again. With the mouthpiece held snugly against the victim's mouth and fingers closing nostrils, air is forced into the respiratory system.

Old Newspapers Bring Halt To Remodeling Program On Cafe, Bar At Hollister

HOLLISTER—Everybody gets a kick out of reading through old newspapers, especially when they tell of people and places still prominent today. John and Vic Mancil are no exception. While they remodeling an old house as a restaurant and bar on U. S. Highway 93 in Hollister, the couple pulled out old newspapers from around window frames. The papers had been folded and placed between the walls for insulation and most remained in excellent condition. There were several old copies of the Twin Falls Times and a number of the Sunday editions of Boise. All were from 1914.

"We haven't accomplished much in the way of remodeling since we found the papers," said John Mancil. "We seem to spend most of the time reading."

The old papers have proven a source of some interesting and only for Mr. and Mrs. Mancil but for relatives, friends and just anyone who drops in. Salesmen calling on the couple because of their new business sometimes become so engrossed in reading the old papers they forget about sales.

News columns of a half century ago show many of the same problems plagued the country then. One account told of the lynching of a Negro woman and of riots and demonstrations that followed. Another indicated a bit of scandal. The headline proclaimed the husband of Matiane Schumann Heink had charged a police officer and lumberman were a bit too friendly with the singer.

In one of the Boise papers was a story of two young boys who dug up a gold cache from a hillside near Caldwell and collected a sizable reward for turning it in. There were no two-car garages around Twin Falls homes in those days. In fact the family with one automobile was looked on as something of a celebrity.

The news briefs from the town of Rock Creek, apparently a flourishing community 50 years ago, a reporter noted that following a July fourth celebration the one or two automobiles of the area did a bit of "dragging Main" in Rock Creek, Oregon, and the provision riders for those attending the celebration as part of the entertainment.

A small advertisement on the back page of the July 14, 1914, Twin Falls Times notes the many bargains at the Hoosier Near and Second Hand Furniture Store, with two locations, 270 Shoshone St., and 242 Main Ave. South.

The American Electric Co., in the price being offered, actually succeeded in getting onto a fence to get a look at what it is like on the outside of its backyard enclosure at Salmon.

in the advertisement shows a housewife holding the electric sweeper above her head like a weight lifter. "The light nine-pound sweeper," says the ad, "will end the problem of hauling threads a'nd all the old 'bugaboos' for all time."

A brief news item headed "Political announcement" stated simply, "I am a candidate for sheriff of Twin Falls County subject to the Democrat Primaries Sept. 14, 1914." Reporters were not always 100 percent accurate in those days either, as the name of the candidate is omitted.

The Twin Falls Times, a twice a week publication according to the heading, sold for $2 per year and a full page advertisement on the back of one of the issues, proclaimed a bargain for those who wished to subscribe immediately. The special offer was a year's subscription for $1.

For the new car buyer of 1914 an advertisement listed a new Maxwell for $750 with all the latest equipment. Agencies for the vehicle were named Johnson in Twin Falls and Helman and Helman in Shoshone.

A new speed record was established in 1917, according to the sports pages. An automobile traveled 25 miles over dirt roads which the writer described as rough and rutted, and set a record of 22.75 minutes. In the classified pages advertisements included one in which a firm was seeking 200 head of mules. Another offered for sale "the best driving horse in Idaho, with surrey and harness." Reese Williams placed the ad.

Another brief stated "postmaster C. V. Briggs of the growing town of Buhl transacted business in the county seat on Saturday."

In the Rock Creek local news columns was a note that Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Jones of Hansen, and became the parents of a son. The Rock Creek baseball team went down in defeat to Hansen, and the top bronze prize was awarded to the team. They were performed by Bronk Schipper and Morton Fear. Mr. and Mrs. Magnus Larsen went to Twin Falls from Rock Creek in their new automobile and E. M. Crockett was suffering acute stomach trouble and was to be taken to Salt Lake City because of a severe case of "grippe satisfaction" in Twin Falls.

There were numerous mentions of Mrs. John F. Hansel and a report that they traveled, by automobile, along with Mrs. Hayes' children to Oakley to visit Mrs. John Iverson. In another report, Mr. and Mrs. Magnus Larsen, apparently one of the few to own an automobile, were reported to have taken Mr. and Mrs. F. Larsen and children to Twin Falls.

Musical entertainment for many of the Rock Creek community functions was furnished by Mrs. E. H. Hayes, Mrs. Newton, Bernard Stricker, Howard Larsen and Mrs. John E. Hayes. Candidates of the day and political notes included James Wise running for district judge; the appointment of John W. Graham to the state Republican convention; the resignation of John W. Engelson, former Twin Falls county treasurer, who was seeking the office of state treasurer.

There haven't changed much for the Salmoon tract farmers. An account on one of the front pages told of Twin Falls Salmoon Settlers asking help from the state in the battle with bond holders. The story, mentioned that farmers had been advised by A. M. Bowen, their Twin Falls representative, that "there is enough water for some salmoon land, but not enough for 45,000 acres." The representative wanted the land owners and developers they must not bring more land under cultivation than could be irrigated.

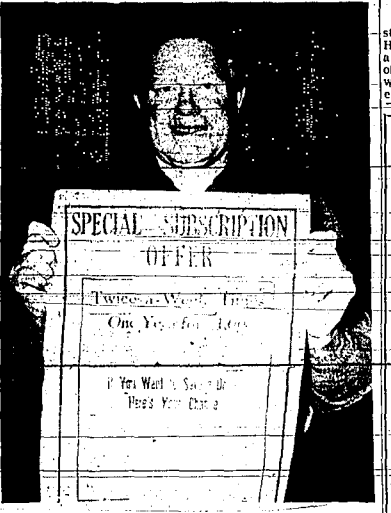

Those were just a few of the many stories the old papers that have kept the Mancil family and their friends reading for the past week. Mrs. Mancil said she may just keep the papers on display after the restaurant is open and let customers read them. The origin of the house which the Mancils are remodeling is unknown as it had been moved to the property by a previous owner. The papers were addressed to Ralph Johnson, Twin Falls.

"SIREN" THREE SIGHT—CALGARY, Alta. (AP) - Police are seeking a modern high-top woman who they estimate as furiously as possible on city streets in a white car carrying two aerials and a light on the roof, like a police car. They wish to stop motorists on byways and takes away any liquor he finds in their cars.

USE TIMES-NEWS WANT ADS FOR FAST SELLING RESULTS

PULLED FROM THE WALLS where they had served as insulation for more than half a century, some two dozen old newspapers hold the attention of Mr. and Mrs. John Mancil, Hollister. The papers have been spread over work benches in the building the couple has in the process of remodeling on U. S. 93 and have attracted many readers. Mr. Mancil said they have just about brought a halt to work around the place.

A FULL PAGE ADVERTISEMENT offers a full year's subscription to the old Twin Falls Times for only $1. The paper was published twice a week and regularly sold for $2 per year. John Mancil didn't have to add, "There was probably more news in it back in those days, too."

Phyllis Diller Show To Leave TV In January

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — "The Beautiful Phyllis Diller Show," after a short but not particularly merry life, will disappear from NBC's Sunday night schedule early in January.

It will be replaced by "My Friend Tony," a police series starring James Whitmore, and developed by Sheldon Leonard. During the past couple of months, the Diller show has pulled consistently low ratings in its late Sunday night spot where a number of other series have had a hard time. "The Rogues," "Wackiest Ship in the Army" among them. The show's critical success, had low going. Sunday night's hour was rather typical of the canceled series—a colorful, handsome show with imaginative settings and unusual musical numbers but falling short in the important areas of comedy and sketches.

Miss Diller, with her bizarre costumes and strange coiffures, has many demands upon her talents—hostess, comedy monologist, sketch actress and even participant in musical production numbers. Phyllis' monologue Sunday traveled over the usual territory—her drunken husband, her disordered house—and a meeting of the chiefs of state of Iran, Turkey and Pakistan without much laughter. R. B. Taylor, a comedy regular, read a long script consisting entirely of spoonerisms called "Prinderella and the Cince." It reached its comedy peak with such transpositions as "Shirty dame" for dirty shame.

There was, however, a charming number with the five little Pierce sisters dancing with the chorus boys, and the show wound up with a big bounce production number in mock tribute to Garris Nation. Miss Diller may have enraged the nation's temperance advocates by playing Carrie as a lush. Earlier, on CBS, the Smothers Brothers caught up with the election results by including a concession speech from his own Paulsen. The satiric comedian mouthed all the cliches of the defeated candidate and wound up paraphrasing a well-known farewell to politics: "Gentlemen—this is my last press conference and you won't have Paulsen to kick around any more." He got a lot of laughs.

"PILL" EFFECT REFUTED LONDON (AP) - Free issue of the Pill and other contraceptives to unmarried girls by Britain's National Health Service has not increased sexual promiscuity, the British Family Planning Association reported. Its annual survey said 44 out of every 100 new patients at birth control clinics get oral contraceptives by request or prescription.

'SUMMIT' Pondered
RAWALPINDI (AP) - Pakistani Foreign Minister-Arshad Husain told a news conference a meeting of the chiefs of state of Iran, Turkey and Pakistan will take place here before the end of December.

Book Review

Three special children's books, including two new stories and a perennial favorite, will be available on the shelves of the Twin Falls Public Library, along with hundreds of other books of good reading for youngsters during National Children's Book Week.

The week's observance is Nov. 17 through 23. The three books were reviewed during the past week by Margaret Hunt, the children's librarian. "Pick a Rascal, Pick a Whistle" by Allan Benson (Lodrup, 1966) is a story about a boy who you can have fun with leaves.

In the jungle of South America you can pick a cause leaf for a citizen or watch a man carry his leaves over his head for umbrellas. In the South Seas, you can cook with a leaf, cook in one, or eat from one. Everyday you probably eat or drink a leaf of lettuce or tea. You can sweep a floor, build a house, make a basket or a broom with leaves. Wherever you are, you can pick one for a whistle. Delightful full color illustrations.

On the adult scene, idealists may react negatively to the quest of personal glory recorded in "The Double Helix" by James Watson (Atheneum, 1962) if they picture a scientist as a fatigued Diogenes in search of truth for the author tells how he deliberately set out to win the Nobel Prize by ascertaining the structure and building a model of the DNA molecule. DNA (Deoxyribonucleic acid), the core of life and the gene bearing molecule that gives promise of control of heredity, was not strange to the research laboratory when Watson started his work in 1951.

Thus Pauling, as early as 1926, worked the protein model to be helical in shape and others were researching it. A spy operation to pirate other scientists' findings, clandestine communication channels, a romantic dandy, and attempts to bully a proud woman into disclosing details of her X-ray structure figure into Watson's attempts to obtain otherwise inaccessible information vital to his research.

Working with fellow scientists brought complications. Two of the men sharing the prize objected vigorously to parts of the text that Harvard, Watson's home campus, announced it. For the lay reader, the book shows how the scientific method really works. From the conductor of an orchestra and imagination that constitutes the scientific method, a model is invented, then the consequences tested.

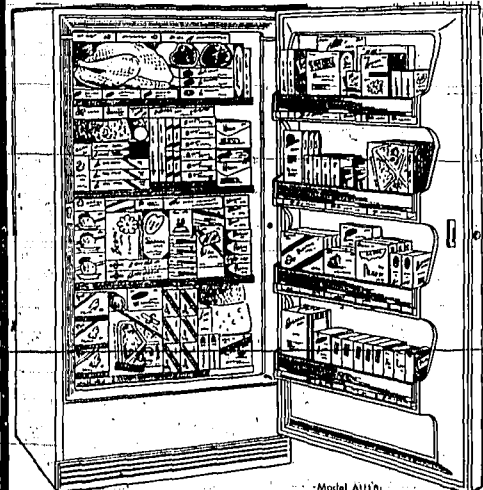

How the tinkerer model of the DNA molecule led to Watson's sharing of the 1962 Nobel Prize for science for identifying the structure is only part of the Double Helix story. The text is a personal expose of the author's ambition for recognition, his gradual acceptance of a woman as an intellectual equal, his metamorphosis from a scheming, grasping glory-grabber in what most refer to as the days of the incorruptible scientists.

For a fuller treatment of DNA, Watson's "Molecular Biology of the Gene" is recommended. He earned his doctorate in genetics in Indiana, has spent two years at Cal. Tech and is now professor of biochemistry and molecular biology at Harvard.

SCENES LIKE THIS are commonplace these days in the hills of Idaho. Lakes and rivers throughout the state are probably the most enthralling of all natural phenomena observed by sportsmen. Perhaps the movement of chinook salmon and steelhead trout returning mysteriously and against heavy odds after their sojourn in the ocean is the very thing where they were spawned is more meaningful to scientists. But fish certainly lack the spectacularity of migratory waterfowl. In the wings of a storm, possesses in such abundance. Much study has been devoted to the migration of ducks and geese. New vistas have been opened but there is much more to be learned. For example, there is good reason for believing that some species of ducks and geese sometimes fly so high they cannot be seen by observers on the ground, and they can be heard. Hunters at elevations of 7,000 - 8,000 feet claim that they often hear the call of wild geese and sometimes see them flying in black specks against the sky. Such birds have just got to be at least at 10,000 feet, but books and migratory waterfowl say little about the height at which ducks and geese cruise during long distances. If ducks and geese can cross mountains at 15,000 feet elevation which they unquestionably can do, then there is no reason why they might not fly over the lowlands equally high. They would be invisible from the ground. It seems logical that they would make long flights where they find a favorable wind, even if it happened to be two miles high. Birds seem to be able to get through "fog" to "stay" up there. Hunters who have tried to "talk down" a big flock of ducks coming over away up, highlighting it to distant parts, know that the weather can blow to a thousand feet noisy mallards and pintails on the water. They're travelling.

Studies Of Migratory Waterfowl Reveal Many Unique New Facts

By JIM HUMBIRD
Idaho Fish-Game Department

Twice a year the canvas-covered wings of migratory waterfowl are probably the most enthralling of all natural phenomena observed by sportsmen. Perhaps the movement of chinook salmon and steelhead trout returning mysteriously and against heavy odds after their sojourn in the ocean is the very thing where they were spawned is more meaningful to scientists. But fish certainly lack the spectacularity of migratory waterfowl. In the wings of a storm, possesses in such abundance. Much study has been devoted to the migration of ducks and geese. New vistas have been opened but there is much more to be learned. For example, there is good reason for believing that some species of ducks and geese sometimes fly so high they cannot be seen by observers on the ground, and they can be heard. Hunters at elevations of 7,000 - 8,000 feet claim that they often hear the call of wild geese and sometimes see them flying in black specks against the sky. Such birds have just got to be at least at 10,000 feet, but books and migratory waterfowl say little about the height at which ducks and geese cruise during long distances. If ducks and geese can cross mountains at 15,000 feet elevation which they unquestionably can do, then there is no reason why they might not fly over the lowlands equally high. They would be invisible from the ground. It seems logical that they would make long flights where they find a favorable wind, even if it happened to be two miles high. Birds seem to be able to get through "fog" to "stay" up there. Hunters who have tried to "talk down" a big flock of ducks coming over away up, highlighting it to distant parts, know that the weather can blow to a thousand feet noisy mallards and pintails on the water. They're travelling.

tion which would also be fine with the new owners. They plan to display a collection of old magazines and newspapers and many antiques in the building.

As for the gymnasium which covers the entire first floor and had a seating capacity of 2,000, it will be maintained as is for the time being. It will house Mr. Webster's athletic equipment which includes a large trampoline, fencing equipment, and other items. Mrs. Webster said they were retaining a part of the gymnasium permanently.

What will be done with the large dining room at the second floor has not been decided. There is also a complete basement with kitchen and service facilities.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Webster intend to live in their hotel near to Sun Valley and will permit them to host skiing friends. It is also close to the fishing and hunting and near Twin Falls for shopping. The couple has three children in school and will probably maintain their home in Pocatello for this reason.

The Richfield hotel dates back to the late 1800's or early 1900's. Long time resident in Richfield, Mr. Webster built the property, who brought wealthy individuals from the east to develop farm projects on vast south central Idaho lands. At that time there were very few communities, but the railroad could bring these persons to the remote regions of Idaho in comfort. Thus the promoters built several luxurious hotels along the railroad. These included the Richfield Hotel and a smaller building in Dietrich which burned down a number of years ago. The property land developers were housed in the luxurious sections and then taken by horse-drawn vehicles to inspect the land in a radius of 25 miles or so from the hotels.

Thus the hotel is actually much older than the town in which it stands. In later years the hotel was a favorite stopping place for persons traveling across south central Idaho to the mining centers in Wood River Valley.

When the Richfield School District became pressed for additional space, the building, which was then still in splendid repair, for hotel purposes was purchased by the district. The entire first floor was remodeled into a large dining room complete with kitchen and restrooms. It was one of the largest in the area with a seating capacity that usually amounted to "banking" the building. When the Webster family had its own gymnasium, the old hotel became something

Life in MAGIC VALLEY

Raymond A. Lind, former resident of Lyon, Utah, was here recently at a family dinner at the home of his son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Elden Lind, DEOLO. Mr. Lind's family was the first permanent settlers in Junction Valley, now known as Lyon. His parents were immigrants from Sweden and he calls himself an "American born Swede." They came to Junction Valley in 1881 and lived on a farm raising 13 children who attended what was known as "common school."

Raymond Lind married Verna Anderson, BURLEY, Mr. and Mrs. Lind lived in 1929 and later he raised Mildred-Bartlow, Grouse Creek.

They moved to Declo about 1930. Their home is in the north-east of Declo. Gardening is Mr. Lind's main hobby and he prides himself on raising all types of garden produce, including giant ing but delightful to all. What I've never been able to understand," said Mrs. Harold Hannebaum, club member whose summer home is just across the street from the Union and who was hostess to the group "is that instead of water you put oil in the radiator, and then you mix water with your diesel fuel. It's just all backwards to me."

Mr. Uhrig said it had worked for him "that way for a good many years when he used it for his farming operations."

Other Uhrig antiquies they were fascinated with was the old talking machine with "his master's voice" horn which he played for them, and the coffee grinder in which they ground the coffee beans for their drink. Arriving at BELLEVUE at 11 a.m., they drove to HAILEY and visited the Blaine County Museum and the Hotel Hannebaum. On their way back to the Hannebaum home for lunch they visited at the Federal Resource Silver Star-Queen mine and the mine and the Hotel Hannebaum. treatment at the accident scene. Many died in ambulances enroute to the hospital from strangulation or bleeding, both of which situations can be prevented by simple first aid measures. Miss Griggs said that since the establishment of the Magic Valley Ambulance Service by Cloyce Edwards, all ambulance attendants receive first aid training so that at least one such trained attendant is on duty for all calls. This, she added, means local area accident victims will be assured of better handling at the accident scene and of a greater chance for survival enroute to the hospital.

NORTH FORK of Big Wood River provided the background for the above painting, one of 20 that will be displayed Nov. 24 in an open house at the new art studio of Bonnie Keim in Ketchum. Mrs. Keim who was painting the scene added the

New Art Studio In Ketchum Plans Open House And Show Nov. 24

KETCHUM — Bonnie Keim is an artist ahead of her time. When most other children were drawing and painting on the conventional materials such as paper, Bonnie, now Mrs. Erwin Keim, was using weathered wood, rocks and other natural materials. No one took her seriously then but many leading artists have since followed the trend.

Mrs. Keim, who will hold an open house Nov. 24 in her newly completed Ketchum studio in Helen Meadows has been drawing pictures and painting scenes as long as she can remember. She recalls that when she learned to write she also learned to draw pictures and the greater part of the lead of her school pencils went for this purpose.

Her parents, who lived on the border of South Dakota and Nebraska were of meager means and could not afford art lessons. She became a self-styled artist, working with anything she could find. Discarded pieces of wood from the family wood pile and sun shaped rocks were her favorite media. She presently was drawing and painting on the conventional materials such as paper, Bonnie, now Mrs. Erwin Keim, was using weathered wood, rocks and other natural materials. No one took her seriously then but many leading artists have since followed the trend.

"My husband and I found it in one of the old deserted mining ghost towns we visited and although one board was a bit cupped when we nailed it up, we feel it is more beautiful than smooth expensive wall paneling," the local artist commented.

The 15 by 18 foot space on the second floor of the Keim home, which is Bonnie's studio, and the deck onto which it leads, in an ordinary house would probably be used as a "sun area." From the time the sun rises over the Old Teton Trail along the ridge of Sun

A 2 1/2 inch photo home with him when he was discharged from the infantry and I worked from that."

Art critics have praised the toned gray and black canvas for its intricate detail.

Bonnie Keim is what one might call a self-made artist. Her only schooling in art was a correspondence course in sketching from the University of Nebraska and another in Commercial Art, from which she graduated in 1959.

The Keim home has all the brilliant colors found on an artist's palette, from the green-gold shag rug in the living room and the red one on the broad stairway leading to her studio to the brilliant blue in the master bedroom.

Erwin Keim, who is employed by Transportation at Sun Valley, makes many of the frames for his wife's pictures. Together they decide the design which will set her pictures off to best advantage, and he goes to work.

They work together restoring vintage old frames. At present they are restoring one on which some of the gold leaf is destroyed.

Their daughter Charlotte, who recently completed training in dental technician work, is currently studying psychology at the College of Southern Idaho in Twin Falls. Their son, Dale Keim, and his wife live in Boise.

For her Nov. 24 open house, Mrs. Keim will have some 20 paintings on display. Many of these will feature scenes of spring, fall and winter in the Wood River and Sawtooth regions.

ANOTHER FAVORITE PAINTING of Bonnie Keim is this scene of a cowboy pausing to drink from a cool spring on the Bear Paw ranch near Great Falls, Mont. The ranch is owned by friends of Mr. and Mrs. Keim and is near the spot where Chief Joseph met the U. S. Cavalry troops in battle. Mrs. Keim has many paintings of Indians among her art collection.

Karate Changes Future Of Determined Boy

When Mike Paladini first entered the karate studio of Robert Tidd two and one-half years ago his prospects for ever carrying a blue belt seemed slim.

—Mike had, because of an illness, become paralyzed in the left arm and legs. The only cure his parents had been told was in therapy and activity. Therapy was not especially interesting and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Paladini had difficulty getting Mike to do the required exercises at home.

Karate, however, had a magic sound and Mike decided to try it.

"When he first began working out," Mr. Tidd recalls, "he used to throw a pillow at him so that he would unconsciously fight back."

When the youngster, not yet ten years old at that time, tried to maneuver the karate defense while concentrating, he would lose his balance and fall.

Once he learned the positions, however, he would react naturally when fighting the pillow, Mr. Tidd found.

Last December he had progressed to a point of winning the yellow belt, the first degree up the ladder in karate achievement.

"His enthusiasm for the sport has been remarkable," Mr. Tidd says. "Of the nearly 200 young students that have come into my classes since Mike started, he is one of the most outstanding, especially when you consider he is a handicapped child."

Mike now works as one of the instructors for beginner students of all ages.

"He is a very quiet youngster but his story of 'If I can do it, you can do it' has helped many of the youngsters drop out of the karate classes after a few lessons while others will stay for several months. Classes at Mr. Tidd's studios usually number about 20 and total enrollment as the present time is 35."

TWO YEARS AGO you might have considered him a handicapped young boy, but today he is a karate champion. Mike Paladini, 12, steps into a karate position with his instructor and "hero" Robert Tidd, left. The youngster took up karate two and one-half years ago when his left arm and leg were paralyzed from an illness. Now only slight restriction of the left hand shows traces of the former problems. Saturday the youth won his blue belt in karate achievement.

The Money Box

BY FRANK SCHELL

The coin show at Boise, Idaho, was well-attended and everyone apparently enjoyed it. Dealers were present from Colorado, Washington, California, Montana and Idaho. Total number of people viewing the show was well over a thousand. Thanks to the readers of this column who have furnished us with so many mercurius tokens, we were able to bring with a first place cup for the token display.

We have frequently had inquiries about coins stamped with initials and our latest reads this way:

From Mrs. L. E. Burley, Idaho: I have a United States Half-Dime, dated 1838, which has some very flowery engravings on the side which says "Half Dime". As near as I can make out, the engraving is the initials "D. C." Can you tell me anything about this coin?

Answer: I can tell you nothing about the initials. The coin was standard currency from 1795 through 1873. This particular type of engraving makes of the coin a "Love Token", which is the name given all such coins by the collecting fraternity. It was first used during the American Civil War, a great many of these coins appeared, evidently engraved and given to a sweetheart, and such engravings appear on almost any denomination of our United States coinage. Even gold pieces were not immune, although the smaller denominations appear most frequently. Almost since man began to use coins, he has apparently had an urge to put his initials on them, probably just so he could leave something more or less permanent for future generations.

of the silver coinage in half-dollar denominations, presently paying 10 per cent over face value for silver half-dollars, which makes them worth 65 cents each. You must realize, however, that you must purchase them end-ship them, assured, to a dealer — and consequently your profit will amount to very little.

The myth which has circulated for many half-dollars are worth a lot of money has led to their absence from circulation for a long time. Maybe soon people will begin to realize that we do not have to use quarters for everything we buy.

Too, there is much talk by the mint of discontinuing the production of half-dollars and it is generally believed that in the next couple of years — possibly sooner — the mint will no longer make them. This will I would suggest you forget about the profit and spend the halves — but if you want to know how to jump the value very much, I can tell you how to do it.

From B. E. Fitter, Idaho: I have a dink-looking coin with a hole in the center. On one side it says "Grand Duchy of Luxembourg" and "1835". The other side has some fancy leaves on it and "25 Cts." What is it worth, and what can you tell me about it?

Answer: You have a coin from Luxembourg. This is a very rare coin in our country, surrounded by Germany, Belgium and France, and produces a great deal of iron and steel. Their coinage of France and continues to claim like that of France. Your coin is for 25 centimes, made from zinc for first World War consumption, under the reign of Marie Adelaide. Collector value of the coin, brand new, is about 40 cents American, although it takes 100 centimes to make two cents, United States.

Borrowed Football Jerseys Do Not A Right Linebacker Make!

Waltz and Kristi Ehrster. The juniors and seniors bested their freshman and sophomore opponents by a score of 19-6 in the recent powder puff game in Hagerman.

By WILMA LARSON
Times-News Correspondent

HAGERMAN — Rules were reversed recently for Hagerman High School students, as the girls donned athletic jerseys to play "tug" football and the boys cheered their class team on to victory.

About three years ago, Pep-Club members decided to hold a "powder puff" football game in order to raise money for the organization. The idea went over so well and received so much enthusiasm from other students and spectators as well, this has continued to be one of the highlights in the community.

Over 100 persons braved the biting cold weather to watch the girls take over at what is generally considered a "man's game."

The Leavittettes, composed of senior and junior girls, with Kenneth Leavitt coaching "plowed" under the Nelsonettes, composed of freshmen and sophomore girls.

Couch Daryl Nelson was coach for the freshman-sophomore team. The final score was 19-6.

Jenalee "Juggler Vein" Jensen brought the spectators to their feet in the early part of the game as she made the first and the only touchdown for the Nelsonettes. Carrying the ball across the goal line for the Leavittettes were Glenda "Landslide" Lapp, Karen "Lawless" Low and Sonya "Fingers" Fairchild. Sharon "Gonley" Goski carried the ball within inches of the goal line to "hit the dirt" just short of the goal.

When making her touchdown, "Lawless" Low made an outstanding run of approximately 60 yards to carry the ball over the goal line and was the only player to suffer a broken fingernail and stiff muscles.

In the scramble over the ball, the only injuries noted were one bumped head, broken fingernails and stiff muscles.

While the girls were working on the field, the boys were not to be outdone in the cheering sections; some even taking over the loud-speaker system to add volume to their cheers. This must have been effective, as the team they were cheering was the victor.

During half-time, the "Powder Puff" King, Keith Bybee, senior, was crowned by Carla Behrens, Pep Club president.

Princess, selected from the other three grades were Charles Gridley, junior; Greg Nicholas, sophomore, and Evan Gridley, freshman. They were crowned by Susan Waltz, Susan Turner and Neda Behrens.

Announcers for the game were Glen Grimes, Mike Owsley and Tom Overlie. They evidently felt the girls were doing a supreme job of the game, as one was heard to comment, "Boy, those are the most beautiful huddles I've ever seen."

Officials for the game were Gary Gallo, John Elliott and Barry Clark, seniors.

Proceeds from the game will help replenish Pep-Club funds. Some of the funds are used to purchase pins for the girls who earn them through their attendance at games and working on various committees during the year.

Women's Section

BEDRAGGLED "NELSONETTES" cheer on their teammates who are struggling on the field to attempt to best the "Leavittettes," junior and senior girls team. The ribbon around the football players' waists, when removed by an opposing team member, constituted a tackle during the recent "powder puff" game at Hagerman.

ROYALTY WAS THE WORD at the Hagerman "powder puff" game when Carla Behrens placed the crown on the head of senior Keith Bybee. Miss Behrens is president of the Pep Club, sponsoring organization of the football game. Princess from the other three classes at Hagerman High School also were named.

"BUT, COACH," those older girls are getting the best of us. The "Nelsonettes" listen intently to their coach, Daryl Nelson, as he gives them some pointers on the fine art of football during the recent Hagerman "powder puff" game. Proceeds from the unusual sports event went to the Hagerman High School Pep Club.

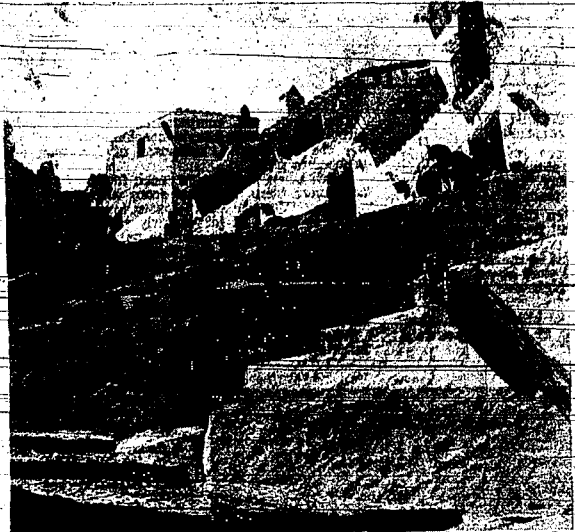

FACIAL EXPRESSIONS any more than words in these candid shots taken during the recent powder puff football game, noting a bit of happiness, cheerfulness, a little bit of worry and just "pooped." More than 100 people braved the cold weather to watch the girls play football, with the boys forming the cheering section. The game was successfully played with no major injuries noted except for one bumped head, broken fingernails and stiff muscles.

THIS TYPICAL CORNER of a small town in Spain will be among the sights viewed by Idahoans taking the Magic Fiesta tour to Spain and Portugal, leaving Twin Falls Feb. 8. The tourists will spend one week in Lisbon and one week in Madrid, returning to Twin Falls Feb. 22.

Lisbon And Madrid Will Be Central Spots Of Tour

By NORMA HERZINGER

So many times people want to travel and have the means to travel, but are a little reluctant to go alone. This is one reason the Times-News and Magic Carpet Travels decided upon a tour for non-tour people to Spain and Portugal.

One can have the companionship of the other tourists, yet set out on an excursion all his own if desired, or go along with a group to special points of interest. The two central spots of the Magic Fiesta tourists will be "Lisbon" and "Madrid." From these two locations one can go in any direction for entertainment or sights, or just explore the cities themselves which offer attractions unlimited.

Lisbon is spread over seven hills which surround it and lies along the banks of the Tagus River. Among the important sights to see in Lisbon are Terreiro do Paço also known as Black Horse Square, the Cathedral, the Metropolitan Church of Lisbon, Castelo de Sao Jorge, Bairro Alto, Nacional de Sao Carlos, and Praça de Torres do Campo Pequeno, Lisbon's leading bullfight arena.

The Terreiro do Paço is said to be the most beautiful square in Europe. A statue of King Joseph I by the Portuguese sculptor Machado de Castro stands in the center and behind this is a triumphal arch leading to Rua Augusta. The Metropolitan Church was built by order of the first king of Portugal, Alphonse I, and is a good example of Portuguese Roman-Gothic architecture. Located just above the oldest part of Lisbon is the Castle of St. George, originally a Roman castle where the first kings of Portugal resided.

The Bairro Alto is a part of the old city where one can find restaurants featuring the noted Fado folk songs for entertainment. These restaurants in opera and ballet will be pleased to know this is a featured attraction during the winter months at the National Theater.

The leading seaside resort in Portugal is Estoril and is known for its wonderful climate. Here one can swim or sun-bathe any time of the year. In Madrid, one of the top ranking cities of the world, one can find much that is of great historical interest or that is valued for its modernity. It has a population of over two and one-half million and often is referred to as several different Madrids. There is the Madrid of the House of Austria; the Bourbon Madrid; Goya's Madrid, the Prado Museum; Madrid, romantic Madrid, the Madrid of Isabella and the Madrid of Galdos.

There is also the bull-fighting Madrid, the Madrid of antique shops and artists and the Flamenco Madrid with its singers, dancers and guitarists.

Several points of interest include the Museo del Prado, El Retiro, Museo del Ejercito, Museo de Artes Decorative, Palacio Real and Plaza de Oriente. The Museo del Prado features one of the world's richest collections of paintings including works by Durer, Van Dyck, Rubens, Titian and Rembrandt. The beautiful park, El Retiro, was created during the reign of Phillip II. Here one can enjoy a boat-ride or view the fountains, sculptures, temples and colonnades.

Collections of ceramics, textiles, tapestries, furniture and leather work can be seen at the Museo de Artes Decorative.

The Palacio Real is located where the ancient Azara stood before it was destroyed by fire in 1734. Construction of the Palacio Real was started in 1738 and finished in 1764. One writer noted, "the interior decorations of this palace are the most beautiful ever and a visit to the palace is a thrilling experience, especially for art lovers."

The Plaza de Oriente, built under a direct order from Napoleon, is a large square framed by statues of Spanish kings and features a statue of Philip IV constructed in 1640. A complete town had to be demolished to build this square.

The Times-News Magic Fiesta tourists will leave Twin Falls Feb. 8 and return Feb. 22.

SUICIDES STUDIED
PARIS (AP)—Two French physicians, Drs. J. Verdine and J.M. Ruetie of Lyon, studied 123 suicide cases and found that firearms in this country of gun controls are far down the list of preferred means for self-destruction. They listed the favorite ways in order as: hanging, gas, drowning, dry dives from high places, guns, poison.

Dry Seeds

—SHOSHONE—in answer to how to dry sunflower seeds, Mrs. Mary Ruby, county extension home agent, states the seeds, two cups at a time, should be spread on a shallow pan, then sprinkled with salt and two tablespoons of olive oil or butter mixed thoroughly.

The seeds should then be placed in a 250-degree oven and baked until crisp and brown. The seeds are then ready to use.

Roasted sunflower seeds such as these are loved by children and birds alike.

"If you have several of those tall flowers growing in your yard, why not give this a try," the home agent points out.

Your Spine and Your Health
By Dr. Ludwig C. Landwehr
There are approximately 300,000 lost man hours every year because of needless back injuries. A great deal of disability, lost-time injuries, and from lifting not done correctly. When you have to lift something, lift it correctly. Lift with your legs, not your back. Lift with your feet on the ground, not on your toes. Lift with your feet on the ground, not on your toes. Legion Auxiliary Reports Information On Scholarships

On a typical school day in America over one-third of our nation's population depend on the school-bound 733-4975, and Mrs. L. James Koutnik, 733-3505, chairman. This book is revised annually and released when school starts each fall. The American Legion estimates that the contents of "Need a Lift" could lead students to sources of scholarships, loans and part-time jobs in excess of two billion dollars to assist them during the next school year.

In keeping with their reputation as a service-organization, the American Legion Auxiliary outlay for educational assistance to eligible applicants. The Department of Idaho, American Legion Auxiliary, has an annual scholarship available in the amount of $500. The applicant must be a veteran or a veteran's child who has chosen the profession of a nurse or her career. The applicant must have been a resident of Idaho for five years immediately prior to applying for scholarship, and must be between the ages of 17 and 35. The applicant must have a good average scholarship and department for his or her entire school years.

In addition to the nurses scholarship, there are five scholarships, one in each of five areas: (a) children of deceased veterans who served in World War I, World War II, or the Korean or Vietnam hostilities; (b) in their senior year, or are graduates of an accredited high school but (c) have not attended an institution of higher learning; (d) are in "actual need of financial assistance with sponsoring their education. Any girl who has previously won a National President's Scholarship is barred from further competition.

There is a scholarship fund recently made available, which awards three scholarships annually in the amount of $300 each to former Girl's State Citizens in her junior year at the University of Idaho, and is majoring in political science.

The American Legion Auxiliary is hopeful that someone from this area may win one, or all, of these scholarships; and anyone interested in knowing the qualifications for applying may call any member on the committee.

After lodge meeting, the losers of an attendance in-point system gave a party for the winners. Refreshments were served.

Ballet Students Give Program

Ballet students of Mrs. Beverly Hackney, Gail Young, Vicki Rayborn and Bunny Killian, presented the recent program for members of the O'Leary Junior Music Club in the school auditorium.

Members will be meeting at the home of Mrs. William Heinemann Jr. throughout the month of November to make centerpieces for Christmas which will be sold at that time. All proceeds will go for scholarships to summer school camps.

Marian Deluca, club president, announced that arrangements are now under way for a scholarship sock hop scheduled for Dec. 6 by the two junior high schools as another fund raising drive.

40th Wedding Anniversary, Birthday Are Observed

EDEN — Mr. and Mrs. Emil school here.

Falks—who lived in Eden many years before retiring from farming and moving to Mountain Home, recently celebrated their 40th Wedding Anniversary and Mrs. Falk's 80th birthday.

Their children considered the double event a little too much to go uncelebrated. Since the daughters, Mrs. Robert (Og) Ryan, Rafael, Calif. and Mrs. Robert (Sharon) Heudin, Corona, Calif., were too far away to do much planning, their son Jack Falk, Pocatello, enlisted the assistance of relatives here as Jo and Sharon advised by remote control. All three children and spouses were able to attend the affair.

Mr. and Mrs. Mac McCaslin, Hazelton, drove to Boise to pick up their 11 grandchildren. Mr. and Mrs. Francis Mosley, a sister of Mr. Falk; Burley; arranged to have the elder Falk attend a meeting at the JOOE Hall so that they might see some old friends; thus they walked into the gaily decorated relative filled room completely surprised.

When the Falks lived at Eden they farmed what is now the "Falks" Mattney and Edulis Davidson ranches. The children all attended grade and high school.

Holiday Ideas Highlight Meet

A roll call for holiday ideas highlighted a recent meeting of the Haus Frau Extension Club. The ideas are to be used on the display table at the Home Extension District meeting Monday at the YWCA building. Mrs. Fred Webb is in charge of decorating the table.

Haus Frau members are collecting light children's clothing to be sent to Vietnam orphanage in time for Christmas. The club decided to help a Twin Falls family have happier holidays.

Mrs. Richard Kirsch, Mrs. Otto Olsen and Mrs. Gerald Devlin reported on the home-makers-convention held recently in Coeur d'Alene. It was decided that there will be a gift exchange at the club's December meeting.

The annual YWCA all-Nations Smorgasbord, to be held Sunday, Nov. 24, was discussed.

Dinner Slated

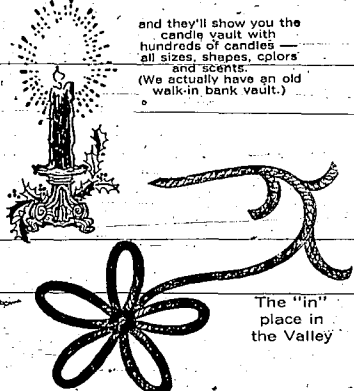

GLENN'S FERRY — Mrs. M. H. Coon will decorate the tables for the annual Thanksgiving dinner of the Union Pacific Old Timers Club. No. 25 and Auxiliary will be served in the Glenn's Ferry City Hall at 6:30 p.m. Thursday.

The meal is potluck for desserts and salads, with the roast turkey and rolls furnished by the organizations.

Retired members will be honored at the dinner.

MRS. JIM MAILLER
Route 1, Filer

Cinnamon Apple Swirl

- 1/2 cup milk
- 1 cup sugar
- 2 teaspoons salt
- 1/2 cup butter
- 2 packages of yeast
- 1 cup warm water
- 2 eggs
- 4 to 4 1/2 cups flour
- 1 1/2 cups finely diced apples
- 1-3 cup chopped walnuts
- 2 teaspoons cinnamon
- 2 tablespoons butter
- 1 cup sifted confectioners sugar
- 1 to 2 tablespoons orange or apple juice

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Scald milk. Stir in one-third cup sugar, salt and yeast. Add butter. Cool to lukewarm. Soften yeast in warm water in a large mixing bowl. Stir in milk mixture and eggs. Gradually add flour to form stiff dough. Knead on well-floured surface until smooth and satiny, five to 10 minutes. Place in a greased bowl, turning dough to grease all sides. Cover and let rise in warm place, 85 to 90 degrees, until light and double in bulk, about one and one-half to two hours.

Combine apples, two-thirds cup sugar, one tablespoon flour, walnuts and cinnamon. Roll out dough on floured surface to a 15 by 11-inch rectangle. Spread dough with soft butter. Top with apple mixture. Starting with the 15-inch side, roll jelly roll style. Seal edges. Cut in half. Place each half in a greased 9 by 5 by 3-inch pan. Cut with scissors into 10 slices; cover. Let rise in warm place until light and double in bulk, about one hour. Bake at 350 degrees for 40 to 50 minutes until golden brown. Remove from pan. Combine confectioners sugar and orange juice to make a glaze. Frost warm loaves. (The Times-News will pay $5 each week for the best recipe submitted for Magic Valley Favorites. If you have a favorite recipe, just mail it to the Recipe Department, Women's Page Editor. The recipe becomes the property of the Times-News and cannot be returned.)

financial columnist

I am amazed at the different sizes of checks. Wouldn't processing be much easier and faster if all checks were uniform in size?—L. R. Edwards, Dunedin, Fla.

● Not necessarily. Computers at banks can sort out all sizes of checks and reject those few which are very large or very small. These are handled by hand.

FOR REP. GERALD R. FORD,

House Minority Leader

Why do the Democrats have twice as many national-convention delegates as the Republicans?—Michael Kubit, Lowell, Mass.

● The national committees of the two major parties determine the number of delegates based on party rules. The number is based on the size of each state's congressional delegation (Senators and Representatives) and, to some extent, the success of the party in that state in the preceding election. The far greater number of Democratic delegates as compared with Republican delegates at the 1968 national conventions also is due to the Democratic practice of awarding a "victory bonus" of 10 convention votes to each state which voted Democratic in the 1964 election.

FOR DON KLOSTERMAN,

general manager, Houston Oilers

With the exception of high-priced bonus players, what is the average salary of pro football rookies?—Rex King, Pine Bluff, Ark.

● I estimate that rookies earn between $12,000 to $14,000 a season. But this does not include the many benefits they enjoy—a pension plan after five years in the league, medical and life-insurance plans, and tremendous exposure to potential employers.

FOR ELIZABETH MONTGOMERY

of "Bewitched"

Have you ever made a movie with Dick York? If not, are you planning to?—Tina Murphy, Emmett, Mich.

● No, I have never made a movie with my "Bewitched" series husband, nor is one planned.

FOR GOV. RONALD REAGAN

Why did you give up your acting career to enter politics?—Lei Anne Handy, Orem, Utah

● A deep desire to administer to the needs of California's citizens prompted the decision to leave the theatrical world for the political one.

FOR REUVEN FRANK, President,

NBC news
What music is played following the "Huntley-Brinkley Report"?—C.J.C., Salem, Ore.

● Beethoven's Ninth Symphony, second movement.

FOR REP. L. MENDEL RIVERS,

Chairman, House Armed Services Committee

Can a boy be drafted if he is his mother's sole support and only son?—Margaret Salyer, Coacoma, Va.

● No. A registrant will not be drafted if his local draft board, after reviewing his case, agrees that his mother is in fact dependent upon him. He would be classified 3-A and not be available for induction. The fact that he is an only son, however, has no bearing on his availability.

FOR JIM "JUNBO" ELLIOTT, track coach,

Villanova University
What traits do you look for when appraising new track men?—John Tibor, Seattle, Wash.

● The single most important trait is the desire to excel. If we can find a boy with this desire, along with natural ability and the necessary basic intelligence, we can be fairly certain that a fine career lies ahead.

FOR GEORGE SCHAEFER,

music director
Who makes more money in movies: the director, producer, star, or writer?—Earl M. Day, Roy, Utah

● Impossible to answer. Each talent is able to command a salary based on his current reputation and box-office value. Generally, the stars are paid the highest, but an exceptional director or writer can equal their earnings. A producer's income is linked to the financial success of the movie.

WHAT IN THE WORLD!

Fall Skiing The skiing season is already two months old in northern New Jersey, not noted for towering mountains—nor autumn blizzards. While most skiers have just been dreaming, the New Jersey breed has been gliding over a new plastic "ski" surface previously used only at Grenoble and Cortina in Europe. What's different about the Snow-Mat, an artificial surface, is that all types of fancy and fast skiing are possible—even the high-speed slalom and the jump. The surface's American debut was at McAfee, N.J. It can be snapped together with fingertips in your own back yard (assuming it slopes), and can be used in sun, rain—even snow, if you like that sort of thing.

Run, Baby, Run Leroy Keyes, Purdue's great running back, makes college defenses reel with his sure-footedness—yet he didn't walk until he was more than three years old. Sports-writers keep asking why, and Leroy, quick of wit, too, replies: "I wanted anything wrong with me—I was just lazy." Why walk when grownups carry you around? Besides, there was no place I particularly wanted to go."

Stronger—or Sicker Sex Men and women are equal when it comes to sick leave. The Metropolitan Life Insurance Company found that both stayed away an average of six days a year—but for different reasons. Women claim respiratory diseases, many digestive disturbances. Neither admits to the blues.

Gifts to Avoid Elizabeth Post, Emily's granddaughter-in-law, has updated the original "Bewitched" she writes. Never choose a gift that might be considered as criticism. A cookbook can be most welcome providing your friend knows you enjoyed her cooking, and you know she likes to cook. The same cookbook given to someone whose cooking is at best mediocre might easily be painted. "Ah, you advise that before buying any presents think: 'What would she do with it? If you can't find an answer, don't buy it.'"

Pontiac Motor Division. The Wide-Track Family for '69: Grand Prix, Bonneville, Brogueham, Executive, Catalina, GTO, LeMans, Custom 8, Tempest and Firebird.

Looks like another bumper year for Pontiac.

Get our engineers and designers going on something and they can't leave great enough alone.

Take the bumper on this 1969 Pontiac Bonneville Convertible. That center section looks like ordinary sheet metal. It even matches the color of the sheet metal. BUT IT'S ACTUALLY ENDURA, a man-concocted substance that "gives" should you accidentally scuff something. And the color is impregnated, not just laid on. So it resists cracking, peeling, fading, and chipping.

What else is new with Bonneville? Oh, a longer 125" wheelbase; wider Wide-Track stance; bigger 360-hp, 428-cu.-in. V-8. New side, trunk, hood, roof and deck styling. Massive new grille, unique among Pontiacs.

And inside, shades of the Taj Mahal. A hide-tough yet skin-soft bench seat arrangement in fully expanded Morrokide. Dash and door inlays with the look of Carpathian burl'd elm. Plus what appears to be a bowling green of deep, broadloom carpet.

Our point, then, is this: If you've an itch to break away from drab, dreary driving, scamper (and we mean scamper) on down to your Pontiac dealer. Since we're having a bumper year, he's having one, too.

THE YEAR OF THE GREAT PONTIAC BREAK AWAY.

A FEW PLAYERS were still straggling about the locker room when a perspiring Number 18 came clattering down the dugout steps of Blair Field in Long Beach, Calif., sank down on a bench in front of his locker, and tugged pensively at a sweat-stuck jersey.

There was no one left to play catch with, so Roman Gabriel, quarterback of the Los Angeles Rams, had decided to call it a day.

Gabriel had been on hand at Blair Field since nine that morning, long before the other players made the scene. He had dissected films of the Cleveland Browns—the Rams' opponent for the following Sunday.

Then there had been a team meeting that broke up into special units for practice. The coaches were working on the defense this day, and Gabriel had run intricate pass patterns against two sets of defensive specialists. That done, Gabriel had taken two laps around the field, then looked for a volunteer to catch some passes.

After six years in professional football, Roman Gabriel has it made. Such patience and hard work moved him from benchwarmer to pro stardom—those qualities, plus luck.

"Three things helped me," Gabriel says. "First, the opportunity given me when George Allen came in as head coach two years ago. Also, the whole Ram-club matured. And, finally, I got a chance to play regularly."

Gabe only glimpsed stardom from the time he joined the Rams in 1962 until Allen arrived in 1966. A native of Wilmington, N.C., Gabriel is unusually large for a quarterback, standing 6-foot-4 and weighing 220 pounds. Until 1966, he divided quarterback duties with Bill Musson (since traded to Detroit). Both hated benchwarmering.

"Two things kept me going," Gabriel says. "When I did play, I knew I was capable of being a quarterback in this league. I never doubted that at all, but I was bringing my football troubles home and taking out my disappointments on my family. I suppose my wife Suzanne was as responsible for my staying in pro ball as anyone. She knew I had to find out if I could do it."

Roman Gabriel runs against the St. Louis Cardinals. He's almost as powerful a foot as with his passing arm.

Suzanne is small, blonde, and blue-eyed. She met her husband in high school in Wilmington and suffered, through every disappointment, with him during the bad days.

"Generally, I'm pretty unemotional," she says, "but I still get a nervous stomach during the crucial games. But it was so much worse when he wasn't playing!"

In 1966 Gabe decided he wanted a shot at running a professional team by himself, so he played out his option and looked around for new opportunities. The Oakland Raiders of the rival American Football League offered him a bonus to join them, and he had signed a contract with Oakland when George Allen left the Chicago Bears for the Rams. Allen didn't want to let Gabriel get away.

"He phoned me," recalls Gabe, "the first time a professional coach ever called me. He gave me no assurance except an equal opportunity to win the job. That was all I wanted."

Gabe has been winning quarterback in 22 of the 32 games he has started since late in the 1965 season, when Musson injured his knee. "Physically, he's the strongest quarterback ever to play the game," says a Ram staff member. "He can take a lineman's rush head-on and push his nose in the dirt. Under ideal conditions, he can throw a football the length of the field."

For the first time this year, some of the fringe benefits of athletic success are coming Gabe's way. "He has just opened a travel agency with his best friend, Merlin Olsen. He's also suddenly in demand for endorsements, which he screens carefully. "I turn down all the liquor, beer, cigarette endorsements," he says, "because I won't do something I don't believe in."

A few months ago, the Gabriels—with their three sons, Roman III, 7, Ram Alan, 6, and Rory Jay, six months—moved into a large new stone-and-frame house. Roman spends most of his evenings during the season studying films of the teams he'll be playing against.

"A bad game or a bad sequence doesn't bother me the way it used to," Gabriel says, "because I know I won't be benched just at the snap of a finger. I have some security and confidence now."

"If I enjoy what I'm doing, I'll be that much better for the team. And I'm enjoying myself now." ♦

How to Get Even with Your

By SHEPHERD MEAD

MY PROBLEM is that I've always liked women too much—so much so that I've been married to the same one for 25 years.

In fact, she's always getting into my writing. The worst time was when I was writing "How to Succeed with Women Without Really Trying."

"Unfair!" she said. "It just tells how to take unfair advantage of women."

"Nonsense!" I replied. "Prove it," she said, "by telling women how to even the score."

So, to keep peace in the house, I've agreed to tell you ladies how to get even with your man. Right now you're not even with him at all. You're miles behind. And this is surprising since you're much better made in almost every way. You'll last at least five years longer, recover from most diseases much more easily, be 16 times less likely to have color blindness, and a whole list of other physical advantages.

This is because you were engineered to be the baby factory, the part that takes the real stamina. I know how much this takes—I've been on the side lines for 27 months of it, all told, and the three kids are still doing fine, thank you.

In spite of this clear superiority, your man is one up on you in almost every way. Start even with him, same education and intelligence, and he's almost sure to get ahead of you in any business. Marry him, and by the time you're both 50, he's No. 1, with some influence and a bit of power, including (more than likely) quite a bit over women, and he's making several times what he once did. What about you? If you were cut loose on the open market, economic or matrimonial, it might be hard to give you away. You're definitely getting the short end of the bargain.

Can you get even with him? Yes, you can. Follow these simple instructions; and you'll have a start. Memorize these simple rules—and hide them from him.

How to Choose Your First Husband

(If you've already chosen him, don't skip this. It may help you to choose your second husband, once you've worn out the first.)

Nearly all women choose the wrong first husband. I know, I'm my wife's second husband. I always tell her the second marriage is the best.

"But I'm your first wife," she says. "Exactly," I say. "The second marriage is always the best."

Your first impulse will be to choose the young, boyish type. This is a mistake. The very young man will have to use you like an old mop. He has no choice. He can't afford anything else. You're his first and utility-model wife, chosen as cook, scullery maid, washerwoman, nursemaid, jalopy driver, and playmate. Unfortunately there will be almost no time for the latter. He will be expecting, subconsciously at least, to replace you later (when he can afford it) with a luxury or sports model.

Try, if you can, to be someone else's luxury model. Choose your second husband first. Select a junior executive in his late 20s. He can buy your freedom from the slavery state, and he's more experienced in the ways of the world—meaning you. Don't answer at experience. It's always better to ride with someone who knows how to drive. The average young male is totally incontinent. If his backhand or his approach shot were as bad as his lovemaking, he'd never win a game.

"Now all that," said my wife, looking at the typewriter, "is cynical and Machiavellian. We marry for love."

"But you did marry me, pet, when I was 20, and making a lot of money."

"You needed me, love. And who else would have you? You were definitely getting pear-shaped."

Should I Choose a Pear-Shaped Man?

Yes, you should. Your first impulse will be to grab the barrel-chested, slim-hipped Adonis. Resist it. Like the open two-seater sports car, he looks wonderful going down the street, but he'll be impractical for the long haul. Choose a comfortable, station wagon of a man, with well-developed thinking or sitting muscles. The boy athlete will get shoddier and poorer with the years, whereas the thinking (or sitting) man's pay check will grow and grow. (So, alas, will his sitting muscles, but you have to take the bitter with the sweet.)

How to Measure His Money

Never marry a man just for his money. Figures show, however, that most marriage breakups are caused by either money or sex.

Don't be bamboozled by the free-sending suitor, or by the size and elegance of his car. A good rule is: the more money a man has, the tighter he clings to it. This is why he has it.

"You can say that again," said my wife, looking over my shoulder.

There are several good conversational gambits to determine how much money he has.

1. The by-the-year query. Work the conversation around to something like this:

"If says in the paper here that he'll be making $14,000 a year. Is that too much?"

If he replies, "Let's see, how much would that be a week?" then look around a bit. If he figures it by the week, he hasn't got it.

2. The Tax Query. Just ask him: "Can you help me with my income tax?" If he says, "I don't know a thing about it" then he hasn't got it. If he turns white and trembles at the mention of income tax, grab him. The more they worry about taxes, the more money they have.

My wife interrupted: "Dear, the problem isn't just how much he has got. It's how to get it away from him."

Very well, then. We will stop at nothing.

How to Get Money from Your Husband

You'll have no problem getting as much as you need if your timing is right. If you say, "Dear, I need a new dress," he will reply, "What happened to the one you just got?" no matter how long ago that was.

Wait until he says you need a new dress. When the time comes, put on your oldest, shabby rag and say:

"Dear, Mrs. Biggley phoned . . . 'The boss' wife?'"

"She wondered whether we could drop over for dinner on Friday. She said not to dress up. Don't you think this dress will be all right?"

He will send you right down to the best dress shop in town. Money will be no object. You'll discover that this gambit can be carried to almost any extreme. No need to slavo over small-time home improvements. The clever girl does it with one stroke:

"Dear, Lulu Biggley was saying . . ."

"Oh, it's Lulu now, is it?"

"She said there's a beautiful house for sale near them, up on the country-club grounds . . ."

See to it that the place is in apple order before you move in.

My wife just looked at the typewriter again and said, "Now that's carrying it too far."

"You can never," I said, "carry it too far."

"Then get down to the real pay dirt."

How to Break Your Man to the Saddle

Remember that the only way your man is really superior to you is in his heavy or horse-muscles. Think

Husband

Feel inferior to your men, ladies?
You needn't be, says this noted humorist, if you follow his crash course in marital one-upmanship

of it this way: he is like the horse, and you are the rider. This will work beautifully as long as you never let him know you're holding the reins and as long as you use your spurs, so to speak, only when absolutely necessary. Be gentle to him. Like the horse, he will think he is going where he wants to go. But you will know better.

Horses and husbands need regular exercise. See that he gets it. Regular cantering around the back yard behind the lawn mower, are good for him—if done regularly.

Violent exercise is dangerous to husbands only if they aren't used to it. Jog around the shopping center, brisk sessions hauling in the groceries, and invigorating trots with the dog or behind the baby carriage will do him a world of good. If he hesitates about the shopping, show him that it will pay him to do it. On your next trip, buy out practically the whole shopping center.

"You brought all that?" he'll ask. "I don't know what happened, dear! Everything just went blank, and there I was with a whole carload of groceries!"

After several demonstrations like this, he'll see the point.

How to Wear Out Your Husband

The best way to dispose of old, unwanted husbands is to wear them out. But remember, men don't wear out like machinery, from motion. They wear out like carpets, from being stepped on. If your husband works for a big organization, keep in touch with it:

"Dear, Mabel was saying that the new supervisor's job pays $2,000 a year more." (He may begin to tremble a bit already.)

"It's only money, isn't it?"

"I couldn't care less about the money, dear. Mabel said George was going for it, though."

"Not little Georgie!"

"That would make you Georgie's assistant, wouldn't it?" Mabel said not to worry. George said he'd promise not to work you too hard.

You'll note a change in his firmness of purpose. He'll be thinking and smoking more rapidly. Keep up regular encouragements like this, and there's no limit to what can happen to him.

How to Handle the Other Men in Your Life

Home economics was for Grandma. Your problem is home electronics. There's never a time when at least one of your electrical helpmates isn't dead, dying, or pretty sick. You're at the mercy of a whole army of double-talking repairmen:

"What's the matter with it?"

"Bad, lady, bad. Timer's out of synch, and the linkages in the conductor chassis are . . ." You're absolutely at his mercy. You don't know what he's talking about.

Even your husband, who may not really know how to do anything but rewire a plug, has you where he wants you: "Very tough plug, dear. May take the whole afternoon." (And he'll do it all afternoon, too, right in front of the tv.)

An evening a week at the local vocational school, learning simple electricians' jobs, will put you one up on all of them. After that, you can lie in wait for your next double-talk expert:

"Yes, ma'am, you need an inductor coil rewiring and a resistor cable voltmeter. Comes to $23."

"It just needs a new brush here, and they cost 50¢. Anything else?"

"Well, let's look at it again . . ."

Your husband, too, will have new respect for you:

"Now, muscleman, just lift it up and hold it there."

"I'm breaking my back!"

"But you have such a strong back, dear, I'll just unscrew this resistor coil and you can run down and get a new one. I'll write down the number for you."

Be Kind, Be Generous

Once you have him where you want him, be generous. Treat him as gently as you can. No need to worry about overdoing all this. If you should go too far and really get above him—if he has to look up to you—then make the view as pleasant as you can.

My wife just looked at this manuscript again, and said, "You've gone too far, dear. We don't want to be above you. Just side by side, darling. Kiss me—and then run down to the shopping center for me, will you? That's a good boy." ♦

First Clues in the War Against Multiple Sclerosis

Medical science is coming closer to solving the puzzling disease which is crippling half a million Americans

By JAMES Q. SIMMONS, Jr., M.D.

Director of Medical Programs, National Multiple Sclerosis Society

A YOUNG WIFE, drying dishes, lets go of the coffee cup she'd been holding. A moment later, she collapses, too suddenly even to reach out to break her fall.

A brilliant college student, sitting in an easy chair at a seminar, starts to rise to greet his professor. Struggle as he might, he cannot lift himself more than a few inches. He falls back, helpless and exhausted.

Both people are experiencing the first frightening symptoms of multiple sclerosis. MS is a progressive disease of the central nervous system which strikes adults in the prime of life, 20 to 40 years old. It is not fatal in itself, but a slow, sure crippler for about 500,000 in the U.S. today.

The central nervous system consists of the spinal cord and the brain. Nerve fibers in columns are housed within the spinal canal; these nerves transmit messages to and from the brain and determine movements of arms, legs, organs, and the functioning of all five senses. The fibers are covered by a protective sheath of fatty tissue called myelin—similar to insulation on an electric wire. If anything happens to the protective myelin sheath—as it does in MS—the communicating nerve impulses are distorted, weakened, or blocked.

Earlier symptoms may be tingling in the limbs—or no sensation at all. This can be followed by vision problems, speech difficulties, a stumbling gait. MS victims may experience a remission (temporary retreat of all symptoms), but eventually the symptoms return, even more severe.

Yet there is mounting hope we can curb or even cure this cruel crippler.

"New facts, some isolated just now," according to Dr. Harry M. Weaver, consultant for national research programs of the National Multiple Sclerosis Society, "indicate that we are entering a period of rapid progress." Two major research areas in the war against MS give particularly significant clues. Epidemiology: MS is most frequent in cold or damp-climates—parts of Scandinavia for instance. The Shetland Islands, in the northern seas above Scotland, have the highest prevalence, twice that of the northern U.S. and Canada, considered high-prevalence areas.

Current research aims at finding out why MS is prevalent in cold regions; often once the "why" is learned, the "how" of curing follows. It is known that MS cannot be cured by moving from a cold to a warmer climate; where the patient spent his early years is the deciding factor. There is no proof of hereditary, contagious, or congenital influences. It is believed that a general rundown condition—physical or mental—will bring on relapses. Triggers seem to include fatigue, overwork, chilling, and cold.

The emotional state of the patient has some bearing on the course of MS disabilities.

The unique tragedy of MS is that there is little hope that a victim achieves a good emotional state. There is an agonizingly long wait for specific symptoms to appear to get a confirmed diagnosis—and even then no way of predicting the outcome. As a result, friends and acquaintances often drop away; many marriages break under the strain.

A positive mental and emotional attitude is needed in adjusting to MS.

The emotional symptom of ou-phoria (feeling of well-being or elation) frequently is a protective response covering severe depression. Such reactions are helpful to the MS patient, though sometimes an added strain to the family. One bride, for instance, spoke of her sick husband's "total lack of reality." He insisted that no wife of his would go back to work; he'd support them by playing the horses. She had to trick him into going to the doctor.

A helpful service is the Patient-

to-Patient Program. There are 63 chapters around the country which enable patients to socialize and help one another find strength. (Headquarters: National Multiple Sclerosis Society, 257 Park Ave. South, New York, N.Y. 10010.)

Immune Response Theory: Everyone is born with a natural defense against many forms of disease. When attacked by a foreign body (a wound or a germ), this defense system produces special proteins called antibodies especially designed to hook onto any invading germs or viruses and render them harmless.

Some researchers are working on the theory that in MS sufferers the body's immune response may go awry. These doctors believe that instead of fending off invading germs, the immunological system inexplicably goes off on a destructive rampage, attacking the very tissue it would normally defend—in this case, the myelin sheath.

A parallel theory is that the white blood cells (lymphocytes) are acting destructively and not the antibodies. Dr. Rune-Stjernhorn, biochemist from Cleveland's Western Reserve University, is working on a blood test to diagnose the almost undiagnosable MS.

And, too, there is now laboratory evidence that myelin can be regenerated. Dr. Murray B. Bornstein of New York's Albert Einstein College of Medicine now classifies MS as a four-stage disease. Functional blocking, interrupted nerve-impulse transmission, and loss of myelin are three stages which are potentially reversible. Only the final—the scarring phase—cannot be altered. Concerning the possibility of restoring interrupted nerve-impulse transmissions, he states, "The electron microscope shows that vesicles (which carry energy to and from nerve cells) disappear in the presence of blood that previously blocked impulse transmissions. But if the blood is removed, the vesicles will reappear within a day."

Believing that these abnormal blood factors are antibodies which mistakenly attack myelin instead of hostile infection, Dr. Bornstein thinks that MS might be corrected by modifying the defense system through use of an antiserum.

The final medical breakthrough against MS may come soon. Research grant applications to the MS Society are at an all-time high; dedicated scientists are closing in on answers in their projects. Like a jigsaw puzzle, the many pieces of the ancient enigma of MS are beginning to form a clearer picture.

We just need that final piece. ♦

If you want to Stop Smoking,

Here's How!

by Y. A. Tittle

Y. A. Tittle is a former great NFL quarterback, one of the most productive passers in the history of professional football. He is now a successful insurance executive and backfield coach for the San Francisco Forty-Niners.

You need a lot of desire—as well as cooperation—to be a successful quarterback in tough professional football. You really have to want to make good—but even that isn't enough without plenty of help from your teammates.

There's no substitute for the same kind of desire if you want to stop smoking—and I assume you have it because you're reading this ad—but, luckily, there now is something to help you. It's a little white pill called Bantron.

After my doctor advised me to stop smoking I made many starts—with no success. Just as I needed help on the football field, I found that desire, alone, wasn't enough to stop smoking. Then Bantron was recommended to me by a friend. Bantron did the job! I stopped smoking completely in 5 days and I'm proud to say I haven't smoked in well over a year.

It's like quarterbacking my team to a championship. It was a real accomplishment.

Maybe you have the desire to stop smoking but can't! If you want help in quitting, take Bantron.

I've learned that clinical evidence has established that Bantron is more than 80% effective in helping chronic chain smokers give up smoking completely. Extensive research work at a great American University has shown that 4 out of 5 patients who had a desire to stop smoking were able to do so within one week with the help of Bantron. Even those who didn't stop completely cut down drastically.

Bantron simply acts as a substitute for the nicotine in your system and helps curb the desire for tobacco with a harmless, non-habit-forming drug called lobeline. The result is that you feel no pangs of withdrawal and no desire to smoke.

Bantron is easy and pleasant to take; doesn't affect your taste for food or anything else. It really worked wonders for me. Even now, when I think of smoking, I just take Bantron instead. I recommend Bantron to everyone who wants to stop smoking quickly and easily. Try it. You'll be amazed with the results, just as I was. It really works!

Bantron is so safe when taken as directed that you can get it in the United States and Canada at all drug stores without a prescription. It has even been granted a patent by the U.S. Government.

SHOPLIFTING

Is Your Youngster Guilty?

Half of today's "boosters" are teen-agers; here a security expert tells how you can make sure your child isn't one of them

By GUS R. CARLSON

Assistant Vice President in Charge of Investigations, Pinkerton's Inc.

CHRISTMAS comes but once a year and "thank heaven for that," says one Chicago department-store owner who estimates his annual Yuletide shoplifting losses at more than $30,000.

Shoppers and "lifters"—half in their teens—will hit the stores again this year in record numbers, and by the time the old year rings out, theft losses for 1969 will exceed $2.6 billion—with more than $700 million worth of the goods stolen during the two weeks preceding the holiday.

The public mistakenly thinks these losses affect only the store owners. What the average person fails to realize is that shoplifting increases store prices by about five percent.

Since 1960, shoplifting losses have increased 112 percent, the main reason being the expanding breed of "amateur"—the teen-ager.

Although a large number of thefts are committed by professional shoplifters, the amateurs outnumber the pros by at least 20 to 1. I submit that the amateur shoplifter is more of a menace to society than the pro.

The pro usually has a police record and is recognized easily by store security personnel. He is reluctant to steal when he is aware that a store has taken precautions.

The amateur fades into a sea of faceless people—a perfect cover for picking-up items unnoticed.

As a result, the amateur doesn't have to resort to the more sophisticated methods of stealing that the pro uses. A shopping bag or purse is usually sufficient for secreting merchandise; many simply stuff their coat pockets full.

The amateur, of course, is not an accomplished thief and, therefore, is more easily detected when security is in effect. A number of cases based on my personal experiences will serve to emphasize this point:

Follow that trenchcoat! An attractive teen-ager wearing a stylish trenchcoat entered a Seattle department store, and I followed her to the Toens Department where she selected several items of clothing. She collected an entire wardrobe before moving into the fitting room. I really wasn't surprised when she emerged from the dressing area empty-handed and headed for the exit. None of the clothing was in the fitting room. I rapidly overtook her and found that she was wearing the entire wardrobe. She admitted that she entered the store without wearing anything under her trenchcoat.

To, the poor oarsman. A routine spot check of the sporting-goods department at a large retail chain store brought one of our investigators face-to-face with two boys in their mid-teens, each towing a canoe paddle. When they were stopped and questioned about the paddles, they readily admitted that they were stealing them for a canoe, which they had previously carried out of the store undetected.

Grandma—"Lightfingers."—With certain misgivings, I had to arrest a little old lady in her early 70s for stealing dress-making materials such as buttons, zippers, and fabrics. But when I learned that she owned a dress shop and shoplifted to reduce her overhead, I lost my sympathy for her.

In police and security jargon, the professional shoplifter is better known as a "booster." He may bob, jam, clout, nick, bag, con, grab-off, snag, or swipe—all synonyms for stealing. A booster who "clouts and lams," for example, is a shoplifter who "steals and runs."

Male boosters frequently will conceal merchandise in a specially made pair of roomy pants, while women often wear "booster bloomers" for carting away similar items.

A great many of today's shoplifting losses can be reduced if parents take a more active interest in their youngsters' shopping habits, especially during the Christmas season.

Set a good example. If you have a grievance with any store, take up the matter with the management. Don't use your children as a sounding board with phrases such as, "I'd like to get even with that guy outfit." They may get the idea that they would like to "get even" for you.

Know where your children are. This is especially true during the Christmas vacation. Beware of the lure of the shopping center. With idle time on their hands, a sudden whim to get something for nothing could prompt youngsters to shoplift.

Keep your teen-agers busy. Since they earn their shopping money, a busy youngster has little time for getting into trouble.

Ask your youngsters to account for his purchases. Check his sales slips for merchandise bought during the holiday season, too.

Encourage discussions given by local police. They and private investigation firms often sponsor programs before school assemblies on the perils of shoplifting.

Should you catch your youngster with stolen merchandise, don't hesitate to march him right back to the store. If the merchandise is returned intact, chances are the matter will go no further. And your youngster will have learned his lesson.

Should you choose to overlook a shoplifting theft, then you and your youngster both will face much graver consequences later on. Once the teen-ager realizes that he has "gotten away with it," he will try it one more time. This often results in arrest. The child is branded a thief for life!

We all want to believe that our children are trustworthy and above suspicion. But the risks are great if you're being deceived.

Don't take the risk. Youth is particularly vulnerable to temptation, and you should stand ready to help them avoid it.

JENNIFER EDWARDS: Is She the New Shirley Temple?

TWO YEARS ago, nine-year-old Jennifer Edwards, holding a copy of the children's classic, "Heidi," asked her mother, "When you were a little girl, Mommy, did you ever want to be someone else?"

Patricia Edwards, estranged wife of writer-director-producer Blake Edwards, admitted she had.

"Well, I want to be Heidi!"

At about the same time, producer Fred Brogger was thinking of "Heidi," too, but for more professional reasons. He had just signed a contract to film a two-hour special for NBC, based on the famous Johanna Spyri novel, which has been done several times before, most successfully with Shirley Temple some 30 years ago.

Jennifer's dream would come true—but not until 187 little girls were auditioned for the part by Brogger and Academy Award-winning director Delbert Mann. "It was a difficult task," Mann recalls.

"The character of Heidi is the focal point of the entire project. Most of the children we interviewed were too inexperienced."

As the date for location shooting in Switzerland approached and still no Heidi was found, the project came within two weeks of abandonment, when Brogger ran into Edwards. Told the problem, Blake suggested Jennifer.

"She came to see me by herself," Mann recalls. "Although she grew up in a show-business environment, she had no pseudo-sophistication. No show-biz mannerisms. Just a straightforwardness and naturalness—exactly what we were looking for."

The film, to be shown tonight, is charming, with Jennifer excelling as "Heidi"—and yet, strangely, both Jennifer and her mother regret the whole experience.

"It was boring," Jennifer says. "I didn't know you spent so much time just standing around. I like school better."

Mrs. Edwards—once an actress herself—hates everything about show business at this stage, and the bitterness shows through. "The film was done against my wishes, before I had custody of Jennifer. It was bad for her. Now, every time she visits Blake and her stepmother (actress Julie Andrews, who isn't her stepmother—yet) in Dublin, she comes back a bore. Why can't she be left alone? I don't want her to be in any more films."

In spite of the attention she received, and having a father who is one of Hollywood's best-known directors, Jennifer did not become spoiled. "She remained unaffected and professional," says Mann. "Most important, she has true instinct for what is right, and she always responded with that instinct."

There is a scene in front of the mountain cabin Heidi shares with her grandfather when she puts her hand in his, with tears in her eyes. It was reshot 10 times. Each time Jennifer had the right expression on her face and tears in her eyes. Mann says he never has seen such response in a child.

As a result, her performance was far more convincing than Shirley Temple's. And, although cast opposite Maximilian Schell, Jean Simmons, Walter Slezak, and Sir Michael Redgrave—Jennifer outacted them all.

So where does she go from here? If her mother has her way, it will be back to school and to a normal home life. But if some enterprising producer, after seeing "Heidi" and remembering Shirley Temple, has his way, Jennifer might soon be setting sail on the "Good Ship Lollipop."

VISTARAMA WORKS DIFFERENTLY FROM

ANY SLIDE PROJECTOR EVER MADE. Ordinary slide projector can't work without slides. But this new VISTARAMA is so completely different! It doesn't need slides or transparencies, or film strips. In fact, it can project direct from your color or black and white prints — even direct from a bound book or solid object. Here's the reason why: VISTARAMA has a special built-in mirror system. This is correlated to a famous Philips Projection Bulb and Magnifying Lenses. That's why VISTARAMA delivers such uncanny performance! That's why it can do things that no ordinary slide projector can ever do — no matter how high priced!

HERE'S HOW IT WORKS:

With its special mirror system, this machine captures the image of any photo, sketch, person or thing (almost like a Television Camera). Then it enlarges and projects them onto your wall or movie screen. It picks up photos, lettering, comic strips, sketches, handwriting, stones, stamps, coins, jewelry, finger prints, etc. It even picks up living insects, small animals, fish, machines in motion, working watch movements. Best of all — it projects them in GIANT size — up to 16 SQ. FEET!

CHANGES YOUR WALL INTO A SHOW!

You can shoot right onto any light colored wall, or if you wish, onto your movie screen. VISTARAMA projects in FULL COLOR. Just aim it at machines, insects, animals, etc. and there — before your own eyes — you're seeing true-to-life "movies"! Yes — you see magnified projections of operating motors, watches, machines. You see live insects crawling, moving, scavenging about for food.

THIS POWERFUL "TEACHING MACHINE" HELPS SCHOOL KIDS TO ADVANCE

For decades educators have stressed the great value of MAGNIFIED VISUAL AIDS for faster learning and better retention. With VISTARAMA homework becomes fun instead of a dreaded task, because VISTARAMA becomes a powerful "teaching machine". It makes textbooks, diagrams, maps, pictures and words burst into GIANT size. In fact, this great little "learning machine" is a BIG helper for reading, spelling, geography, arithmetic, biology, etc.

SO EASY — EVEN A CHILD CAN DO IT!

You can operate VISTARAMA in less than one minute after receiving it! Pick it up by its insulated handle. Then aim it at any subject. For instance, hold it close to any book, picture, reading matter, even over live insects or small animals such as a frog, etc. Instantly the subject is projected to a GIANT SIZE!
