U. S. Troops Chase Reds Along Cambodian Border After Savage Fighting

SAIGON (AP) — Helicopter-borne U. S. Air Cavalrymen leapt along the Cambodian border today in pursuit of enemy troops fleeing to their sanctuaries after fierce Thanksgiving Day fighting.

U. S. headquarters said 25 enemy soldiers were killed in one battle during which helicopters and Air Force bombers swept the area with machine gun fire, rockets, bombs and cannons. No U. S. casualties were reported.

The new action raised to 288 the number of enemy troops killed in the last two days and to 428 the number of enemy slain since the week in major fighting along the Cambodian border north of Saigon.

U. S. losses for the same period were 26 killed and 54 wounded. South Vietnam lost 10 dead and 20 wounded.

It was the heaviest fighting in the area since mid-September when a drive by the Communist command against the border provinces was beaten back. The U. S. Command said constant pressure is being maintained on the 15,000 to 20,000 enemy troops believed deployed along the 100-mile stretch of Cambodian border.

Sparting that is expected to slow progress in the Paris peace talks for the next few weeks continued Thursday when North Vietnam's Viet Cong National Liberation Front announced they would ignore the South Vietnamese delegation.

This further complicated the picture, South Vietnam considers the talks two-sided and said Wednesday it would address its own peace proposals and ignore the NLF.

In Laos, a country through which North Vietnam funnels the bulk of its supplies and troops along the Ho Chi Minh trail, to South Vietnam the Cabinet order today in emergency session today.

The group met to discuss reports of impending attack by 30,000 North Vietnamese troops on Attopeu and Saravane, two towns in the corner formed by Cambodia and northern South Vietnam. A Laotian army general said the move would follow attacks on Ban Thang, 25 miles east of Saravane on Wednesday during a series of a half a dozen fights 15 miles north of Saigon. Three Americans aboard were killed.

A U. S. spokesman said that since Jan. 1, 1967, a total of 912 U. S. helicopters have been downed by enemy ground fire in South Vietnam.

The officer said Hanoi has ordered the attack on the towns so that they can serve as transit stations, presumably for eventual movement back into South Vietnam's central highlands.

In a delayed report U. S. headquarters said a third American helicopter was shot down Wednesday during a series of a half a dozen fights 15 miles north of Saigon. Three Americans aboard were killed.

Storm Lashes East Nixon Sends Scranton On Tour

NEW YORK (AP) — President Richard M. Nixon announced today he would send Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton on a nine-day fact-finding mission next week to inspect and five other Middle Eastern nations.

The announcement was made through spokesman Ron Ziegler, who said Scranton would leave New York Monday and would meet with chiefs of state, heads of government and top officials in Iraq, Lebanon, the United Arab Republic, Saudi Arabia, Jordan and Israel.

A cold and wet storm spread rain from Pennsylvania and New Jersey through New England today. Light snow and sleet fell along the Great Lakes in the storm's wake.

governments involved asking them to receive Scranton "and give him a full and frank exposition of your views of the situation in your country and the region as a whole."

Gale warnings were posted from Maine to Massachusetts along the Atlantic seaboard and from Lake Michigan to Lake Ontario. The fierce storm prowled the Northeast after it dumped rain, sleet and snow on the Midwest.

Inasmuch as Scranton made a similar journey to Western Europe at Nixon's behest during the presidential campaign, the day she accepted the post, new assignment strengthened speculation that Scranton might eventually emerge as Nixon's deputy secretary of state or ambassador to the United Nations—jobs she does not want.

The storm, which crept out of Mexico early in the week, then dived over Texas swirling up moisture and power, galloped across the Southern plains, the Midwest and Ohio Valley Thanksgiving Day.

Scranton's itinerary is: Dec. 4, Teheran, Iran; Dec. 5, Beirut, Lebanon; Dec. 6, Cairo, Egypt; Dec. 7, Jidda and Riyadh, Saudi Arabia; Dec. 8, Amman, Jordan; Dec. 9, Tel Aviv, Israel; and Dec. 10, Tel Aviv and Jerusalem.

The holiday weather effects were numerous and widespread. In the middle Tennessee stream-lined landscape and highways, intermittently from Missouri to Michigan, rains measuring more than 10 inches swamped Tennessee from the Mississippi River to the Cumberland Mountains Thursday.

During the autumn campaign, Nixon stated he would favor the Phantom jets to Israel were that necessary to maintain equilibrium in the troubled Middle East.

Heavy rains ranged northward across Illinois and South and West into Mississippi and Arkansas, where some flooding was reported.

The Neighborhood Youth Corps project was initiated in Nov. 13, 1967 with Mrs. Loreta Pautler as director. She began the day she accepted the position, finding work slots for young high school dropouts. The first NYC enrollee began work on Nov. 15. By the end of 1967 she had placed 17 young people.

High winds accompanied the drying downpours across the Midwest, and into the Northeast today. Vale warnings continued on all the Great Lakes and were extended to include the Northern Atlantic Coast.

The requirements for an enrollee state he or she must be a high school dropout of at least three months with no possibility of returning to school. The enrollee must be within the criteria of the low income level and must show a need to make himself more employable.

The winds tore down part of the steel superstructure for a high school auditorium being built north of Indianapolis. Damage was estimated at nearly a quarter-million dollars.

The aims of the NYC program are to provide an opportunity for the enrollee to achieve a general education development diploma and continue on to some form of higher education or to become employable.

While thousands of families sat down to turkey dinners with all the trimmings, 10 members of the War Relocation Authority fasted outside a fashionable Beverly Hills California restaurant charging that "Americans are and an adviser ended a four-day fast Thursday, aimed at calling attention to hunger. But thousands of the "haves-nots" also sat down to holiday dinners, thanks to social agencies and organizations such as the Salvation Army, which played, last to 1,000 homeless or needy at centers it operates in Manhattan, Brooklyn, the Bronx and Staten Island in New York City.

Acts Of War 'Condemned' Reds Say 'Truce' Broken

PARIS (AP) — North Vietnamese charged today new bombing attacks deep in its territory Thursday and demanded an end of what it said "were acts of war."

A spokesman for Hanoi's delegation at the Paris peace talks asserted the American bombings had occurred for the third straight day Thursday.

Regardless of that dispute, the spokesman asserted the Americans attacked Thursday and the action was in no way connected with rescue operations.

Summary, Extended Outlook

The high pressure system which provided generally fair weather for Thanksgiving Day over the Intermountain region is weakening and drifting slowly eastward. A low-pressure disturbance and frontal system from the Pacific is pressing on to the coast. Rain or snow is falling in the mountains of Washington and Oregon. Considerable cloudiness has spread to the Western Idaho border. The Pacific disturbance is expected to weaken and move slowly eastward through Eastern Oregon and Southern Idaho during the next 48 hours. Occasional rain or snow changing to snow is expected tonight and Saturday in the agricultural valleys of Eastern Oregon and Southern Idaho. One or two inches of new snow may accumulate in the Eastern Idaho valleys, but little or no accumulation is expected in the Magic, Southwest Idaho, or Malheur valleys. Total moisture amounts should average less than one quarter of an inch in the Valley areas. The mountains, however, will receive heavier amounts as usual, with two inches or more likely, especially on the mountains north of the Snake River. Weekend travelers should be prepared with chains and a shovel as is usual at this time of year in Idaho and surrounding states. Temperatures will average 40 to 45 degrees.

'Queen' Leaves British Shores As 500 Watch

SOUTHAMPTON, England (AP) — The Queen Elizabeth headed for the night's siren for the last time in British waters today and sailed off to Florida to the strains of "God Save The Queen." About 500 Britons gathered at the dock to say farewell as the old Queen liner ended her 28-year career in the Atlantic. Other ships in the harbor sounded their sirens and dockside cranes dipped in a last salute to the 83,000-ton vessel, which became a floating entertainment and convention center at Port Everglades. When her sister ship, the Queen Mary, left in October 1967 for her final berth at Long Beach, Calif., 10,000 people turned out, planes flew salutes and warships escorted her out of port. But the Elizabeth sailed off like a ghost in a misty dawn, with no passengers and only a skeleton crew.

Pakistan Police Fire Tear Gas To Quell Riot

RAWALPINDI, PAKISTAN (AP) — Police fired tear gas and made repeated baton charges to disperse a mob of 2,000 demonstrators in Rawalpindi. The protesters, mainly teenagers, had paraded through the main streets for three hours carrying banners and chanting slogans demanding the release of political prisoners, freedom of the press and reforms in the government. Riot police charged into the crowded market areas in an apparent effort to prevent the size of the demonstration from growing. Students then began throwing rocks and bricks at a small detachment of police. More police arrived in open trucks but they were fired at and tear gas shells were used to disperse the crowd.

J. C. Penney Firm Reports On Earnings

NEW YORK — The sales performance of J. C. Penney Co., Inc., in the third quarter and the nine months was translated into record earnings for both periods, it was reported Friday by William M. Batten, chairman, and C. L. Wright, president. The department store chain's net earnings for the third quarter, July 28 through Oct. 26, rose to $20,263,115 from $25,576,809 for the comparable period last year. The increase amounted to $5,306,249 or 17.9 per cent. New income for the 13-year period totaled $121,646,641. The third quarter volume rose 15.6 per cent to a record $355,126,000 from $307,375,435 last year, a gain of $112,846,641. For the nine months of the fiscal year, the company reported net earnings of $51,267,000 against $1.50 for the same 1967 period. Earnings for the 39 weeks ended Oct. 26 amounted to $54,321,451 compared with $32,468,093 for the comparable year-to-date period, an increase of $11,853,358 or 22.6 per cent. Penney's nine-month sales were up 14.5 per cent over a year ago. Volume this year was a record $2,781,508,400 against $1,906,377,189 last year, a gain of $275,131,211. Penney's earnings per share for both the quarter and the nine months reflect the two-for-one split of the company's outstanding stock which became effective Oct. 17. Commenting on the strong third quarter sales performance, the Penney officers noted that the American consumer definitely was in a buying mood. Based on the company's experience, they said that the 10 per cent increase in sales had not significantly deterred customer buying. In soft goods, which constitute approximately 90 per cent of the company's total volume, sales activity in women's and girls' areas reflected the continued importance of the "look look." Many hose were still in strong demand, as were shirts and skirts. In men's clothing, sport shirts were outstanding, despite the importance of the vintage sweater colors as new styling. In home furnishings, customers showed a preference for better quality piece goods, and a strong demand for removed wall, demonstrating the continued appeal of permanent press convenience. In the company's newer lines of hard goods where the volume base is considerably smaller, customer acceptance continued to be registered. While they anticipate a continuation of the strong sales trend through Christmas for a record Yule buying season, Mr. Batten and Mr. Wright said they expect the December sales gain to equal those achieved in September and October—17.7 per cent and 17.9 per cent respectively.

Jewish Group Protests '68 Yule Stamp

The American Jewish Congress has protested that the 1968 Christmas stamp issued by the Post Office violates the First Amendment guarantee of separation of church and state. "This controversy has cropped up for the last five or six years and we continue to sell the stamps," stated an official at the Twin Falls Post Office. This year's six-cent Christmas stamp shows a detail from "The Annunciation," a painting by the 15th-century Flemish painter, Jan Van Eyck, depicting the Angel Gabriel telling the Virgin Mary she has been chosen to bear the infant Jesus. The print of the painting on the stamp shows only the angel in a robe of crimson and gold. Mary is not shown on the stamp. The A.J.C. said Thursday in a letter to Postmaster General W. Marvin Watson that when Christmas stamps were first issued in 1962 they showed "religiously innocuous" designs such as holly wreaths. But, the letter declared, the Van Eyck painting celebrates "the dogma of the Virgin birth" and is charged: "This amounts to government support of specific religious ideas even when those ideas are antithetical to the religious beliefs of others."

Four-Way Feud Clouds Chances For Viet Peace

PARIS (AP) — Hanoi's insistence it will only talk to the United States and the refusal of South Vietnam and the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front to recognize each other will make four-way conversation difficult when the expanded peace talks get under way.

U.S. diplomats prefer to consider the conference makeup "side-by-side" with American and Saigon negotiators on one side and Hanoi and the NLF on the other.

Saigon also considers the talks "side-by-side." South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu said Wednesday his delegation will address all its remarks to Hanoi, apparently ignoring the NLF. It considers the latter an outlaw tool of Hanoi.

North Vietnam and the NLF claim the talks will be "four-sided," with Hanoi and the Viet Cong each having separate negotiating status.

But at the same time, both announced Thursday they would not recognize the Saigon delegation and would address all their remarks to the United States.

The Communists claim the Saigon regime is a "U.S. puppet" and does not represent the people of South Vietnam.

The U.S. delegation headed by Ambassador Averell Harriman has not said it will not talk to anybody, so it might become a "relaxer" for comments traded by the other groups.

A perplexed newsmen asked a U.S. spokesman whether he would object to the use of "four-party" to describe the parity.

"I certainly would," said the spokesman, "but I would defend with my life your right to write it."

In Saigon, a foreign ministry spokesman would not comment on Hanoi's announcement that it would talk only to the United States. He said he knew of no change in plans to send a delegation to Paris, expected to arrive within the next few days.

U.S. sources have said they expect the first session of talks some time in the week of Dec. 8.

At Bien Hoa, South Vietnamese Premier Tran Van Huong warned, "Space cannot be achieved overnight. We have the experience in Korea." But he added, "If we have good will and are determined in our efforts for a just and lasting peace, it will come."

Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky will be in overall charge of the Saigon negotiators, but he will not participate in the talks. He is expected to travel frequently between Saigon and Paris as a liaison man.

U.S. diplomats were hopeful that when the Paris conference gets going ways will be found to scale down the fighting. They doubted that preconference propaganda-blasting signaled any Communist intent to collapse the meeting.

The South Vietnamese were busy making arrangements to match those of the other delegations, already well settled in Paris. They have leased 12 rooms on the first floor of a mansion and are acquiring a diplomatic communications circuit to Saigon.

An advance man for Ky, Pham Thien Nhon, headed back to Saigon after a five-day stay. Three French security men guarded Nhon, a member of the Viet Cong delegation.

Ambassador Pham Dang Khoi, who headed the South Vietnamese observer mission here, and But Dism, the South Vietnamese ambassador to Washington, were reported preparing to fly here shortly.

SEATTLE'S "TOUGHEST FIRE" raged more than 12 hours Thursday under a pier in the city's Todd Shipyards. Fire and smoke poured from the dock fire which claimed one life and caused upwards of $250,000 damage. At least 17 firemen suffered from smoke inhalation. Seattle Fire Chief Gordon Vickery described the conflagration as the "toughest fire" in Seattle's history. (AP wirephoto)

Seattle Firemen Use Boats To Reach Tough Shipyard Blaze Fatal To One

SEATTLE (AP) — "This is here Thanksgiving Day before it was here," Seattle Fire Chief Gordon Vickery described the toughest fire he has ever been through as he led some 300 weary firemen early Friday.

The fire, believed to have started from a short circuit in a stubborn shipyard fire that caused over $250,000 damage and at least 28 others injured.

Henry C. Gronerud, 41, a 12-year veteran fireman, was killed early Friday when he stepped onto a high voltage wire at the scene. Most of the injuries were from smoke inhalation.

Twenty-six boats helped battle the flames, which broke out on the underside of the dock about 1 p. m. on Thursday. Fire crews cut holes in the dock and used row boats to get near the burning area.

The damage was limited to the dock area. Quick work by shipyard officials may have saved three vessels from heavy damage as tugs towed the three — a tanker, a Liberty ship and a Navy vessel — away from their moorings soon after the fire broke out. A small blaze on the tanker was extinguished quickly.

Heavy-crested pilings aflame sent clouds of smoke high into the air over the Puget Sound area, and the smoke was smelled as far as 15 miles away. It was the second major fire at Todd Shipyards since Aug. 13.

Gem Widows To Receive VA Benefits

An estimated 449 Idaho women whose husbands were killed in military service will be eligible for up to 36 months of educational assistance for full-time institutional training. The payments amount to $50 per month.

Under a new law passed in 1960 the women are eligible for VA educational help for "the first time in the history of veterans' benefits," said Mr. Allen. The three-quarters training allowance is $75 a month and half-time training allowance is $50 a month.

In the future women who become eligible for the educational benefits due to the service-connected death or disability of their husbands will have eight years to complete their training, he said.

Gang Leader Nears Release After 33 Years

TACOMA, Wash. (AP) — Back in the 1930s, Alvin Karpis was Public Enemy No. 1.

Now, he's a 62-year-old convict waiting to be released on parole after serving 33 years of a life sentence in federal prison. He'll be released Jan. 14, then deported to his native Canada to work as a clerk typist.

During his time in prison he's advised youthful offenders, "I was public Enemy No. 1 — look what it did for me." Prison authorities regarded him as a model prisoner.

One official said, "He straightened out a lot of punks both here and at Alcatraz." Karpis spent 25 years on the San Francisco Bay Island penitentiary before being transferred here when Alcatraz was closed.

The Karpis-Barker gang that included Ma Barker, cut a path of crime across the heart of the nation. It was linked with 10 killings and two kidnappings between 1931 and 1936.

Karpis was dubbed Public Enemy No. 1 after wealthy Minneapolis beer executive William Hamm Jr. was kidnapped and released unharmed following a ransom payment of $100,000.

Karpis' 1936 arrest in New Orleans was made by FBI director J. Edgar Hoover, accompanied by other FBI men.

Looking toward the future, Karpis said when he's released he wants to disappear from the public eye — to lead a quiet life.

"I know I'll make good," he said.

tions in 1970. While the "out" party usually expects to make gains in off-year elections, the Democrats will have a special problem this time. Twenty-five Democratic senators face reelection contests in 1970 and only eight Republicans.

On School Setups

The nation, not yet come to terms with the landmark desegregation, one-man, one-vote and rights of accused criminals decisions, may be shaken in the not-too-distant future by yet another judicial earthquake emanating from the Supreme Court.

Other voices are urging a legislative rather than a judicial remedy. Famed educator James B. Conant recently shook up a meeting of the Education Commission of the States by proposing that the states take over total financial responsibility for public education.

A declaration that the public school systems of the states are unconstitutional.

Michigan's superintendent of education and the education commissioner of Massachusetts argue that elimination of local fiscal control over schools will end drastic differences in school support levels from one district to another and will solve some of the monumental education problems faced by poorer communities.

Such a hearing on this issue is pending in Michigan, Illinois, Virginia and California. All have one basic contention in common, which is that a state has a responsibility to see that every child is given an equal educational opportunity, wherever he resides.

Another benefit would be uniform, statewide salaries for teachers, which would help eliminate the migration of teachers from poor districts, where they are more needed, to better-paying jobs in more affluent districts.

That such equality does not exist — between rich school districts and poor, between ghetto schools and suburban — hardly needs to be proved by statistics, although there are plenty at hand.

Still other observers point out that what impoverished school systems are in need of is not equality of treatment but preferential treatment. At the same time they fear that a "levelling" of schools, whether directed by state legislatures or by the courts, could meet the same kind of public resistance that desegregation and busing have met, despite the price all children may ultimately have to pay for that resistance.

According to Julian H. Levi, lawyer and professor of urban studies at the University of Chicago and a leading voice in urging the Supreme Court to declare local school taxes invalid, the more equitable expenditure per child in the predominantly Negro area of Woodlawn in Chicago is about $600 a year. In suburban Winnetka, it is between $1,500 and $1,800 per child per year.

Whether or not it goes as far as the Supreme Court, this matter of equality of education is alive and kicking and is going to be as far ahead as anyone can see.

MR. SPECTATOR

Ah, The Plot Thickens!

A few days ago Mr. Spectator published a few comments by a guy who signed his name "Frank" and who started a discussion about whether it was "barrow" pit or "barrow" pit all the way.

NOTE TO PAUL If you have the conviction of your charges then why not put your name on the bottom of your note, identify yourself and we will answer it. The Times-News is not in a hurry in anything, unless it is in a hurry to get a note from someone who hasn't guts enough to sign his own name.

Well, now the turmoil is raging. Mr. Spectator is stopped on the street. "It ain't barrow pit—it's barrow pit!" one person will say. The next will say just the opposite.

TIMELY QUOTES A man who's poor isn't free. A man who is ignorant isn't free. A man who can't send his children to a good school isn't free.

Mr. Spectator just isn't sure whether this controversy will ever be settled but he does know that it is developing along interesting lines.

An ironic twist in the killing of Robert Kennedy is instructive. The gun allegedly used by Sirhan Sirhan was originally purchased for protection after the Watts riots of 1965. The instrument of one man's presumed defense became the very instrument for killing another American.

In fact, several letters have been received from the subject the past few days and just before Thanksgiving dinner Mr. Spectator thought he would shoot the works—and let you have a glimpse of the commencing letter to show off.

The kindest gifts we can give starving countries are luxuries and contraceptives. Men do not live by bread alone; they need luxuries to live a good life. By sending them luxuries we give them motivation to strive for a better life. Contraceptives make it possible for them to achieve it.

For instance, there is Elma Goodman of Glens Ferry who said that Frank's position delighted her. But let her tell it in his own words.

There is no such thing as abstract justice anywhere in the world. Law is a series of rules to fight by. What you get is what you pay for. It shouldn't be on the side. It shouldn't be and I'm against it. But it is our adversary system.

That Clifford-Rusk Split

WASHINGTON — The continuing boycott of the Paris peace talks by President Nixon's Vietnam ally, Secretary of State Dean Rusk, has produced a high-level disagreement between the Pentagon and the State Department over what the U.S. should do.

But Rusk is playing a more cautious game than Clifford. His chief interest is the stability and survival of the Thieu government. Accordingly, Rusk and Ellsworth Bunker, U.S. Ambassador in Saigon, are more interested than the Clifford clique in the internal politics of Saigon and an eventual political settlement that safeguards Thieu's government. They want to give Thieu time to go to Paris.

With only minor reservations, accordingly, the Clifford clique now believes Thieu might continue his stall for a long while—possibly even to the day in January when Richard M. Nixon becomes President.

The split boils down to this: Secretary of Defense Clark Clifford wants to start negotiations with North Vietnam right now—without waiting for a note from someone who hasn't guts enough to sign his own name.

They reason that, even though Mr. Nixon has lined up solidly with the President, Thieu believes the new President might take a somewhat different view of the Vietnam puzzle—more favorable to Thieu—when he takes office.

They reason that, even though Mr. Nixon has lined up solidly with the President, Thieu believes the new President might take a somewhat different view of the Vietnam puzzle—more favorable to Thieu—when he takes office.

Clifford's role inside the Administration is as master architect of Mr. Johnson's Vietnam policy. He has been instrumental in reaching the agreement that the longer he can delay the talks, the longer total U.S. commitment to the war is assumed and the less chance there is for any curtailment of modern U.S. weapons for Thieu's army. Delay, in other words, is, to Thieu's advantage.

To harness their position, Rusk and top State Department aides are talking more optimistically, whether they believe it or not, that Thieu will soon agree to send representatives to the now-stalled Paris talks.

Many other things could happen between now and Jan. 20 to change the negotiation picture, and Thieu is well aware of them. For example, a reshuffle of power in the Kremlin could reduce the present Soviet pressure on Hanoi for an end to the Vietnamese fighting.

Pastor Preaches Comedy

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Comedy, as the Rev. Robert Short says, is a good way to communicate Christianity. That's why he takes his teaching texts from the funny.

"Some people are a little amused by it," he says. "But faith has to do with all of humor as well as tragedy."

The Rev. Mr. Short, 36, of Chicago, who maintains that various art forms are essential for conveying religious concepts in the modern world, has become an expert in interpreting the humor of the comic strip.

His specialty is "Peanuts," produced by Charles M. Schulz, who he also finds religious implications in the works of other cartoonists, such as Jim Crane, William Steig, Walt Kelly, Jules Feiffer and Johnny Hart.

"Many comic strips are getting sophisticated and their approach, using it not only for entertainment but as an appropriate means for significant commentary on society or theological themes," he said in an interview.

The Rev. Mr. Short, a Methodist whose denomination's Gospel According to Peanuts, has sold 1.5 million copies, has turned out a new one, published by Harper & Row, called, "The Jesus taught in parables suited to his times," he said. "And Peanuts goes further than any other comic strip in furnishing parables for our times."

Churches are going to have to use such indirect methods, he said, to reach people in simple, graphic terms, in order to get many people to listen, he said.

That's why Christ used parables, he added. "The direct lecture people on theology, but it illustrated what he wanted to say with word pictures, with little parables to catch their attention."

Advertisers Set Special Nigeria Day

Saturday, the Twin Falls Seventh-day Adventist Church will join with other churches in a special offering designated by the Twentieth Headquarters in Washington, D. C. as Nigeria Day in all Seventh-day Adventist Churches in North America and around the world.

Pastor John Boyd says this special offering will reveal the true meaning of brotherhood.

Dr. S. A. Nagel, veteran S.D.A. missionary to Nigeria, has just returned to the United States. Dr. Nagel reports the daily starvation in Biafra, a country torn by civil war. Unless there is a cease-fire by Christmas, Dr. Nagel reveals 25,000 will be starving daily.

The Weekly Sermonette

By C. W. HOOD

Glory 1 Peter 1:24 "For all flesh before you because tomorrow as grass, and all the glory will be like the flower of grass. The grass withereth, and the flower thereof falleth away."

With all of these uncertainties, there is one thing sure that we know will happen and no one will be able to escape it, and that is death. Ec. 8:8 says, "There is no man that hath power over the spirit to retain the spirit; neither hath he power in the day of death." Scripture says, "It is appointed unto man once to die, after that the judgment." Yes, we can be sure that we will have this as a certainty and we will not be able to escape it. My friend, at this season we are about to enter into Christ come to this old world so long ago to settle it once and for all that we can know what there is in life that we can be certain of. As we face the Christmas season what does it really mean to you? If you have not thought seriously on these things before, I ask you to think upon them now, while you have the time.

I wonder if we of America are taking too much for granted, feeling too sure of ourselves. We know that the American people are searching for something that they can place their hands on and say this I know for certain is to be or is mine. In other words our nation is seeking for the certainties of life, and is forgetting that there are certain uncertainties of life each one must face sooner or later. Ecclesiastes 1:2 "Vanity of vanities, saith the Preacher, Vanity of Vanities! all is vanity." I feel that we of this country are placing our trust in things that are vanity.

There are seven things mentioned in the scriptures that are not in the class of vanity, or are not of certainty in this life. We will just mention them quickly in passing. Beauty Psalms 39:11 "When thou with rebukes dost correct my soul, my sinners separate themselves from me; and I will consume away like a moth: surely every man is vanity." Men's Promises Ps. 146:3 "Put not your trust in princes, for they are of the son of man; in whom there is no help." Riches Proverbs 23:5 "Wilt thou set thine eyes upon that which is not? For riches certainly make themselves wings; they fly away as an eagle toward Heaven." The future Prov. 27:1 "Thou knowest not what a day may bring forth." Friendship Ps. 102:7 "I watch, and am weary because I have hoped in the Lord." Life James 4:14 "Whereas ye know not what shall be on the morrow. For what is your life? It is even a vapour, that appeareth for a little time, and then vanisheth away." Earthly

Boy's Death Starts Time Change Talk

LONDON (AP)—The death of a young boy on his way to school set off debate in Britain today over daylight saving time.

This year, the start of a three-year experiment, Britain did not turn their clocks back an hour at summer's end. Instead, they stuck with British summer time.

As a result some children go to school an hour earlier, especially in the far north and west where it's dark until 10 a.m. or later. Classes begin at 9 a.m.

The debate is sizzling in the newspapers even before 5-year-old Martin Allan was hit by a car and killed Wednesday morning outside the school gate at Houghton-Le-Spring, near Durham. Head teacher Elsie Robson received a letter from the county education authority this week saying they had requested that the school open later.

Dairy Meet Set Dec. 11 For Jerome

Jerome—A Jerome County Dairy Production Meeting will be held Dec. 11 at the American Legion Hall at 700 North Lincoln.

The meeting will begin at 10 a.m. with "Management Problems in the Dairy Herd and With the High Producing Cow," discussed by George Cleveland, extension chairman from the University of Idaho.

At 11 a.m. "The High Producer: How a Balanced Ration Affects Her Production, Reproduction and General Health," will be presented by Dr. Garth Sasser, dairy department of the University of Idaho.

At 1:30 p.m. the topic "New and Different Feeds Available and How the Cow Uses Them," will be presented by Dave Thacker, Caldwell Experiment Station.

At 2:30 p.m. "Balancing Dairy Rations Using Feeds Available and the Production Records of the Local Herds," will be discussed by Dr. Richard Ross, Trustee, Adams Junior Sunday School organist.

Church Hosts Area Meet At Shoshone

SHOSHONE—The new addition and remodeling project at the local Assembly of God Church is near enough completion that a sectional fellowship meeting for Assembly of God Churches was held here this week.

Those who attended the evening sessions of the sectional meeting were served dinner in the new fellowship hall, adjoining the church on the east. There were 80 served.

The building program began in April and Rev. Wesley Johnson states the major part of the work has been done by church members.

In addition to the fellowship hall, there are kitchen facilities adjacent to the fellowship hall, a new entrance and front, new room which houses the Sunday School secretary's office and pastor's study and a nursery.

IF YOU WOULD FIND GOD

Can a person find God without the aid of a minister? Maybe, but it's not easy. You must find Him by yourself and lead on your own. It is typical for people to begin reading the Bible only to soon give up because they seem to get nowhere.

In the Bible, most of those who came to know Christ had helpers. For example, Philip saw a man reading the scriptures. "Understand thou what thou readest?" Philip asked. How can I expect some man should guide me? The man replied, "With Philip's help, this one who had long groped in the dark quickly grasped the truth. (Acts 8:30-39). Similarly, Peter laid Cornelius, an uneducated, Paul, and Paul, in turn, guided thousands to the Saviour.

That is our task - to help people know God. "These things I have written unto you that believe on the name of the Son of God, that ye may know that ye have eternal life, and that ye may believe in the name of the Son of God." (1 John 5:13). We are not historians for Christ, representatives of His love upon the earth. Our greatest joy is to help you know God, and to help you know that you are in church this Sunday.

"Thanksgiving Visitor" Lives Up To Expectations

CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW-YORK (AP) — A mood piece, spun delicately with words, is difficult enough to pull off successfully. And to translate it effectively into another medium, television, is quite an accomplishment indeed.

Yet, for the second time, a sensitive production and camera team has managed to fashion a sensitive, moving and altogether memorable occasion out of what must be identified as a semi-antibiographical vignette—drama is too powerful a word — by Truman Capote.

The first was 1966's "A Christmas Memory." On Thursday night it was "The Thanksgiving Visitor," and it lived up, surprisingly, to expectations built by the first show.

Geraldine Page once again portrayed Miss Sook, the child-like, romantic and aging spinster with extraordinary humor and insight. The "best friend" and comforter of Buddy, a small lonely boy living with cousins during a crisis in his own life, Michael Kearney, once again in the role, was heart-rendingly effective as the boy.

The story line was simple: Buddy was harassed by an older, bigger-bully-and-had-no-one to turn to except the loving and sympathetic Sookie, herself bullied by two hard-eyed sisters and a stern, unsympathetic brother.

Buddy, too small to stand up to the bully and too young to talk up to his elders, suffered Miss Sook dreamed of and pinned all her dreams on selling a cameo pin that she fondly believed was worth enough money to carry her and Buddy from the farm home to the excitements of New Orleans.

The suspense came from Miss Sook's determination to convert the bully by inviting him to the Thanksgiving dinner. The plan worked until Buddy saw his enemy stealing the cameo—it was worthless—and summed up all his courage to denounce him at the table. The unexpected twist came with Miss Sook's bitter disappointment at Buddy's "crucial" action—the greatest sin is to deliberately hurt another person.

Around this simple, nostalgic story, producer Frank Perry and his wife, Eleanor, who adapted Capote's gossamer, memoir to television, introduced some fascinating country types — the wife of Miss Sook's family, from the colorful migratory, with a secret recipe for banana pudding to a flirtatious young cousin. The photography was effective and perfectly in the mood of the hour.

Altogether it was a fine hour, its one flaw seemed to be the choice of Capote himself as narrator; his high voice and careful pronunciation was not quite right in the context, even if he did write it and it was his story.

One hopes that, in spite of the seasonal aspect of the hour, ABC will find time some night soon when there are not as many holiday demands on the potential audience, to rerun the program.

4-H Youths Head 'East' For Conclave

CHICAGO (AP) — Hundreds of youths and girls, most of them teenagers, were headed for Chicago today for an annual winter recreation, education and inspiration.

The event is the 47th national 4-H Congress opening Sunday and running through Thursday. The 1,650 delegates will include representatives of all 50 states, Canada's 10 provinces and Japan and the United Kingdom.

Industrial and commercial sponsors of the club work have put together a program that, except for time for sleeping, keeps them steadily on the go. There are breakfasts, luncheons, dinners, receptions, a dance, a fashion show and visits to Chicago tourist attractions.

During the congress, college scholarships, ranging from $500 to $1,600, will be awarded to 213 4-H members. In addition, 40 other scholarships will be awarded in regional programs. During the year, 34 additional scholarships and fellowships valued at $23,100 are provided through the national 4-H service committee.

Total value of all scholarships to be announced at the congress is $152,500.

Congress programs included canning contests, judging events, state exhibits, selection of the healthiest 4-H boy and girl, a dress revue and a parade of delegates in the arena of the International Amphitheatre.

Winners of the top boy and girl championships in "achievement, leadership and citizenship" programs will be announced at the annual 4-H banquet Thursday, Dec. 5.

Bible Reading Stirs Trouble For Lawyer

LONDON (AP) — Sir Dingle Foot, a distinguished British lawyer and politician, admitted he put his foot in a mess today by inadvertently giving Her Majesty's judges a lecture on their sex lives.

Foot, former legal adviser to Prime Minister Harold Wilson, quoted the fifth chapter of St. Paul's epistles to the Corinthians before a church congregation of judges and their wives.

"I actually hear reports of sexual immorality among you," he read. The jurists squirmed. "Your self-satisfaction will be your ruin." Foot plowed on. "You are judges within the fellowship. Rout out the evil-doer within your community."

Sir Dingle said later he intended to read from the first chapter of St. Paul's epistles, but by the time he realized he was on the wrong track "it was too late."

The scripture reading occurred at a chapel in Gray's Inn, where many lawyers and judges live and work.

Princess Wins Suit Over Film

PALERMO, Sicily (AP) — Princess Margaret of Niscomi, American-born won her case against a movie Thursday when a court ordered that the family name of her late husband be changed in a story about a Mafia plot.

The Princess, nee Hirsch, of Philadelphia, won a bin against the Italian-made movie "Gugliu Vedova" (Better a Widow on Nov. 8 when a court ordered showings suspended in Sicily "to avoid prejudice to the di Niscomi family).

The final court ruling ordered that the film's "Prince di Niscomi" take the name "Prince di Mascano" and said showings could resume when the change was made.

Princess de Niscomi met and married the Sicilian prince in America where he once spent much of his time.

THE SUAVE JAMES BOND who brought a world of excitement to millions of his fans, has decided to retire from 007. Sean Connery and Brigitte Bardot take on a role new to both of them in "Shalako." Connery plays the title role, that of an ex-Army officer in the New Mexico Territory 1880's. It will play through Tuesday at the Motor-Vu theater.

Priest Jolted

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A Catholic priest known in one town as an orphanage-director and in another as a wealthy electronics executive was sentenced Tuesday to two years in prison for failing to file income tax returns.

The Rev. Robert Daniel Nikliborc had pleaded guilty to charges he filed no returns for 1963 and 1965 after the government agreed not to require that he admit to specific amounts. The government had contended he had income of $20,000 for 1964-65.

The 37-year-old priest, president and financial director of Boys Town of the Desert in Banning, Calif., was ordered to undergo a 90-day diagnostic study. Depending on results, U. S. Dist. Judge William Gray said he might reduce the sentence.

Frank And Eleanor Perry Have Rough Time Getting Truman Capote Writings

By ARLEEN ABRAHAM
NEW YORK (AP) — Years ago when Frank and Eleanor Perry decided to forsake the theater for films, the first work they tried to buy was Truman Capote's "A Christmas Memory." Capote turned them down flat.

"I don't blame him one bit. After all, who were we?" asks Eleanor Perry, the attractive writing half of the writing-directing-producing team.

"True, we had done work in the theater," she goes on. "In fact that's how Frank and I met. My first Broadway play, 'Third Best Sport,' was being produced by the Theater Guild in New York, and Frank was a staff producer for that organization."

"But we hadn't done anything in films. No one had heard of us and we had these big dreams and no money at all."

They kept searching for something they could adapt for the screen until Eleanor found a small book, titled "Lisa and David," which they were able to afford. "We made 'David and Lisa' for $150,000 and then even after it got covered with awards, no major distributor would buy it. We were so broke I can recall when it finally opened in New York, we'd go and stare at the lines. And I'd look at the film again and again and be so amazed that the performance was constant." That's the beauty of film, she adds. "Once it's caught, it's preserved in a sleek or drunk actor or lines to worry about night after night."

"David and Lisa" was followed by "Ladybug, Ladybug," a polemic against the atom bomb and the American bomb shelter panic. Now the Perrys were ready for Capote or should we say, Capote was ready for the Perrys.

"This time, doing Capote's 'A

Don Knotts Goes Romantic In His Newest Movie

By DICK KLEINER
HOLLYWOOD Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD (NEA) — The camera moved in closer, focusing on the couple sleeping on the heart-shaped bed. The girl, delectable in a shortie nightgown, was beautiful as Anne Knotts. The boy was Don Knotts.

Yes—Don Knotts. The broomstick-shaped comedian, the nervous wreck who walks like a man from an older brother, who died when he was 30. Don says his brother took great delight in coming into the living room, when his mother was entertaining some of her straight-bred friends—tea, and offering a cigarette.

As a boy, Don wanted to be a doctor and he's still interested in medicine. He is currently reading everything he can on the subject of prolonging life, and says it won't be long before man lives to an average age of 120.

That may be long enough for him to take all the offers now coming his way. One that excites him is the possibility of doing a film with Alan Arkin, from a Nat Hiken idea.

But will it have a bedroom scene?

"I grew up," he says, "in a fundamentalist, backwoods religious area in West Virginia. Bedroom scenes? Some of my relatives wouldn't go to the movies at all—they thought it was sinful. But my mother was a free-thinker. She took me to the movies as a boy."

Small Group Of Kennedys Notes Holiday

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP) - For the Kennedy family, Thanksgiving was one of the smallest family reunions in years.

The clan gathered Thursday at the home of former U.S. Ambassador to Great Britain Joseph P. Kennedy, 80, who suffered a crippling stroke in 1961. Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., and his wife, Joan, went sailing under gray skies in temperatures in the low 40s.

Some younger relatives went ice skating at Kennedy Memorial rink in Hyannis, named for the late President John F. Kennedy.

Mrs. Ethel Kennedy, widow of the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, spent the day at her home in New York City, where she is expecting her fifth child.

Also at Hyannis Port were Jean Kennedy Smith and her husband, Stephen, and top children of Mrs. Patricia Kennedy Lawford.

Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis spent the day in New Jersey with her two children and her new husband.

Hurricane Winds Swamp Boats At Ketchikan

KETCHIKAN, Alaska (AP) - Violent winds, gusting up to 100 miles per hour, toppled three communications towers, broke windows and swamped small boats in the harbor here Thursday.

Power was lost in many parts of Ketchikan and in nearby portions of Southeast Alaska early Thursday. At mid-morning electricity service was operating sporadically.

Ketchikan has about 6,500 residents.

Reds Land New Commando Group

SEOUL (AP) - A second group of North Korean commandos is believed to have slipped ashore on South Korea's eastern coast, following 600 guerrillas who landed there Nov. 2, military sources said today.

Of the 60 who landed first, 54 have been killed and five captured.

Evidence found in sweeping operations indicates more Communist infiltrators might have sneaked into the mountainous coastal area south of here the sources said.

South Korean military officials said the mainland along the Eastern coast would continue "for some time on this assumption."

Dear Abby

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: I am not a mixed-up teen-ager; I am 24 years old, and I have been around the track a few times. When I was 18 I got involved with a married man and ended up with a baby and no husband. After that, whenever I dated a guy he took it for granted that I was easy, and I had a fight on my hands.
 Men think that because a girl made one mistake she has nothing to lose. When I make it plain that I intend to behave myself, they think I am putting on an act. How is a girl who has learned her lesson and reformed supposed to act on a date?
GIRL: WITH A PAST.

all that she is sincere. And if she loses the man, she can consider herself lucky because she'll know he wasn't looking for a respectable girl. And by the way, it's easier to live down a "past" if you change pastures.
DEAR ABBY: My husband is so hard to get up in the morning, I just don't know what to do. Once up, he's truly ambitious and hard-working, but it's getting him out of bed that's a chore. If I call him more than once, I'm "nagging" him, and I don't like to start the day off with a fight.
 If I call him only once, he turns over and goes back to work, which looks bad on his part. His mother said she had the same trouble with him before he was married.
 We've been married for 3 years and I do love him. How can I make him realize that the early bird gets the worm?
BEAT IN BALTIMORE

Marian Martin Pattern

DEAR BEAT: Maybe he's not crazy about worms, but if he likes butter on his bread, he'd better wake up (literally, that is). If he continues to be late for work, better get yourself a job. You'll need it.
DEAR ABBY: My daughter-in-law calls me "Grandmaw" and I don't like it one bit. Before her baby came she didn't call me anything. Just nothing at all. When she wanted my attention she would say "Hey!" When my grandson calls me "Grandmaw," I love it. I'm only 43, but it's one thing to have your own grandchild who 3 years old call you "Grandmaw," and something else to be called that by a 25-year-old girl.
 How can I let her know that you are not HER Grandmaw and I wish she would quit calling me that?
MOTHER-IN-LAW

DEAR MOTHER: How about just telling her?
CONFIDENTIAL TO R. E. F. YOUNGERS, N.Y.: A husband's apologies. You are right and I am wrong. I had it turned around. It is possible for two brown-eyed parents to produce a blue-eyed child, but the reverse is NOT true.

Idaho Tests WSU, Idaho State Hosts Boise As Big Sky Loop Begins Action

By The Associated Press

Four Big Sky Conference basketball teams take to the hardwood Saturday, gaining at least a three-day edge in competition on the other two Big Sky competitors.

Weber State, the defending champion, heads for Amarillo, Tex., and a game with West State while Idaho travels a short eight miles to Pullman, Wash., for a game with rival Washington State.

Opening their seasons Saturday night at home are Idaho State, which faces a powerful Boise State quintet, and the new-look Montana Grizzlies, who battle Seattle Pacific in Missoula.

Gonzaga, which is resting its hopes this year on nine outstanding sophomores, opens Dec. 3 in Spokane against Washington State while Montana State, with four of five starters returning this year, waits until Dec. 6 for a game with Chico State at Bozeman.

Weber fans are resting their hopes for a fourth Big Sky conference title on youth, both in new head coach Phil Johnson and on the team.

Weber is banking on another fine year from All-Big Sky Sky Skipper Thigpen and 6-foot-7 forward Larry Berg. In addition, Johnson has Cassions Harlan, a junior college transfer from Iowa Central, and freshman sensation Willard Spojurner, a 6-foot-8 potential star.

Idaho, with ten returning lettermen, will hope to improve on its second-place finish last year and has the height and depth to do it. Helping the Vandals up front will be 6-foot-8 forward Jerry Smith and 6-foot-10 center Larry Kaschmitter.

Idaho State faces a major rebuilding job this season since graduation wiped out last year's starting five. Experienced lettermen include 6-foot-7 Tom Baird, 6-foot-8 forward Charles Barber and 6-foot-5 forward Lane Broyles.

Montana State will be paced by all-anything Jack Gillespie. The 6-foot-9 giant has been an all-star choice in the Big Sky for the past two years and is the league's top scorer and third leading rebounder last season.

Montana, although classified as a rebuilding year by some, has nine lettermen back plus a host of transfers to aid new head coach Bob Cope.

Leading the Grizzlies returns to 6-foot-7 senior Tom Baird, Moore. Although put out of action the final half of last year with a knee injury, Moore averaged 19.8 points per game in 13 tilts.

Montana will also have assistance from the Agather twins, Mark and Max, who stand 6-foot-5 and 6-foot-4 respectively. Mark ended his sophomore season last year as the league's 10th leading scorer on a team that finished 10-10.

Gonzaga, a team that has been known for its "run-run" type of play, also will have height this year, if the sophomores put out for head coach Hank Anderson. Leading the sophomore candidates are 6-foot-8 Bill Quigg, 6-foot-9 Blaine Bundy and 6-foot-7 Howard Burford.

Montana State Has Reigning Point King

BOZEMAN (AP) — Montana State University again will have the services of high-scoring center Jack Gillespie, leading with three more of last year's starters, but the key to Bobcat basketball fortunes lies in its defense.

Eagles' Win Nets Cokes, Not Bubbly

DETROIT (AP) — "We're still in the Coke stage, champagne, in addition, Johnson said Philadelphia Coach Joe Kuharich with a smile Thursday after his Eagles won their first game in a 124-104 rout with a 124 shutout over Detroit.

The victory "gave a tremendous lift to everybody," he said in the jubilant Eagles' dressing room. Philadelphia had lost its 11 games this season and was 23-19 underdog to the Detroit Lions, whose record is now 3-7.

The only trouble with winning is that Philadelphia reduced its chances of grabbing Southern California's fabulous halfback O. J. Simpson, in the college draft. He is the likely first choice for whichever team in both professional leagues finishes with the worst record.

"The draft is beyond here," Kuharich said. "We play the season. We're concerned about winning and playing a game and that's all we work towards now."

Sam Baker, who accounted for Philadelphia's points by kicking four field goals to move into second place among all-time National Football League scorers, said he didn't know he was moving up in the record book.

"This hasn't exactly been a year when we've been running checks on the record books," he said with a broad grin, as he peeped off his mud and rain-soaked uniform.

Kuharich said the Eagles have "all the facts" to be a winner "but just haven't won." "You have years like this and it's unfortunate, but you have to suffer through it," he said.

O. J. Might Go On Flip Of Coin

NEW YORK (AP) — It's extremely possible that a coin flip could determine which pro football team gets the rights to O. J. Simpson, Southern California's star running back.

The first selection in the annual pro football draft on Jan. 28, will go to the team with the worst record in the American and National Football Leagues on a percentage basis. In the event two teams are tied, a coin flip would be used to determine who would get the No. 1 selection.

It is generally accepted that Simpson will be the first player drafted.

The NFL's Philadelphia Eagles had the inside track to Simpson until they defeated Detroit Thursday for their first victory. Buffalo of the AFL also played heavily for it, but only the Bills also have a chance.

Navy Has Been Planning Attack On Army For Exactly One Year

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — On the eve of his team's departure for Philadelphia and the annual Army-Navy game Saturday, Navy football Coach Phil Elias says his Middies "started working on the Army game the evening of the Army game last year."

"Are you kidding?" "This is not just another game. It has never been another game. I don't think it will ever be just another game. It's the season," he said.

Elias admitted that he had saved both an offensive and defensive alignment for the Army game.

Major Bowl Picture Comes Into Focus

By The Associated Press

The major college football bowl picture settled into place Thursday when Texas whipped Texas A&M 35-14, gaining a share of the Southwest Conference championship and the host spot in the Cotton Bowl on New Year's Day.

Arkansas, which lost to the Longhorns 30-29 but tied them for S.W.C. honors, immediately accepted a Sugar Bowl berth against Georgia Tech, Texas's Cotton Bowl opponent will be Tennessee.

Michigan, which had to win to catch Arkansas, raced to a 35-0 halftime lead behind a balanced attack and a defense that throttled Aggie quarterback Edd Hargett.

Field Position Keys Win For Kansas City

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Field position was the key factor in Kansas City's 24-16 American Football League victory over the Houston Oilers Thursday, a triumph which didn't take any pressure off the Chiefs.

Virginia Tech's victory was carved out by quarterback Wayne Humphries, who passed for three scores in his first varsity start, and a defense that intercepted four VMI passes and recovered two fumbles.

It was Tech's fifth straight victory and gave the Gobblers a 7-3 record.

Breedlove Hurt In Boat Wreck

LAKE HAVASU CITY, Ariz. (AP) — World land speed record holder Craig Breedlove and two other boat drivers were injured Thursday as practice runs began for the $30,000 World Outboard Marathon Championships.

Over 125 drivers are expected to take part in the two-day, four-hour race scheduled for Saturday and Sunday on Lake Havasu on the Colorado River.

Breedlove of Torrance, Calif., received minor injuries when his boat overturned. He was not hospitalized.

Jets Found Reason To Be Thankful

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Jets really had something to be thankful for Thursday when Kansas City knocked off Houston in a Thanksgiving Day American Football League game.

The Oilers' defeat allowed the Jets to clinch their first Eastern Division championship.

The New York players and coaches gathered at Shea Stadium with their families for their annual turkey dinner and watched the Chiefs-Oilers game on television.

As the Kansas City fans counted off the final seconds, the 250 people at Shea joined in. At the final gun, champagne corks popped.

"I feel really great," said Coach Weeb Ewbank, who was doused in champagne by his happy players. "We don't have a preference as to who we play in the championship game. We just want to get our injured players healthy for it."

The Jets will host the AFL II.

PGA Sees End To Bickering On Unit

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — The new president of the Professional Golfers' Association believes "the end of the fight is near" as far as the PGA's battle with American Professional Golfers is concerned.

Leo Fraser, Atlantic City, N.J., was in Milwaukee Wednesday to confer with promoters of the Milwaukee Open Golf Tournament. He told the Milwaukee Golfers to "pick their date and set their own prize money" for the Open next year.

Rebellious tour players have formed APG.

"As the situation stands now I can't promise any of the top players, since they're in the APG," said Fraser. "But I can tell you we're much closer together again. We had the top APG officials in conference last Monday, and we'll meet with them again in about 10 days. The end of the end of the fight is near."

SOUTH SQUEEZE WAS AUTOMATIC

Oscar (Ockie) and Anita (Pigeon) Davis of Beaumont, Texas, like bridge tournaments. Pigeon has done most of the playing for the family and has established herself as one of the top players of the country. Ockie started putting in an occasional appearance at the table a few years and continued the suit on the principle of not giving the dealer any help. Ockie counted 10 top tricks and at first glance it appeared that he would have to bring home the heart suit. He had to locate the queen and decided to play a few diamonds just to see what would happen. The first diamond lead told him. The suit was not going to break.

Opening lead—♠ A

Since East held all the diamonds Ockie decided to play West for the queen of hearts. He led his king of hearts, continued with the 10 and finessed. The finesse worked but East showed out so Ockie was up to 11 tricks only but he also perceived an automatic squeeze. He cashed the remaining top diamonds, the last two spades, discarding a diamond, and finally the ace of hearts. East had held the diamond, whereupon Ockie chucked his last diamond. West had to hold the queen of hearts and Ockie spread his hand with the announcement, "the clubs are all good."

Instead of bidding five spades partner bids six clubs over your five hearts. What do you do, now?

ago and has managed to get half way to Life Master status. We have had a lot of fun with him and keep offering to bet that Jim O. Jacoby, age six, will beat him to Life Master. We have withdrawn offers of this nature since watching Ockie play today's hand in Lake Charles, La.

We aren't sure that his bidding will get full approval of all experts but six-trump is a reasonable contract and his partner held an absolute minimum opening bid. West opened the ace of spades

The Green Thumb

By GEORGE ABRAHAM

HOT vs. COLD WATER FLOWERS: When you arrange cut flowers—should you use hot or cold water?

Many florists use hot water for arrangements and this is often baffling to anyone who wants out of a moist soil and plunge them into a vase of hot water. I'll try to explain what there is to this.

(1) Some say that hot water is thinner (7) than cold water, therefore rises up stems faster, and continue on through winter.

(2) Hot water (110 degrees) stimulates "pumping" action of plant cells, thus inducing water to move up quicker, preventing wilting.

(3) Bacteria multiply and clog the water-conducting tubes of the flower stems, causing premature wilt. Hot water prevents clogging.

If you want to see the effectiveness of hot water, take a rose which has suddenly wilted. Cut the stem end off fresh and plunge stem into a vase of hot water (110 degrees F) for half an hour. You'll see how quickly the droopy head perks up. This works fine on football pumpkins which suddenly wilt.

CARE OF EVERGREENS: If your evergreens were planted in winter, they are watered right up until ground freezing time. Winterring results when roots go into the winter in a dry state. Sun and winds are the real evergreen killers in winter. They rob foliage of moisture, and roots frozen soil cannot replenish moisture. Result: "Winter burning."

Much evergreens with three or four inches of peatmoss, sawdust, coconash shavings, or anything available. These materials save moisture, prevent fluctuating temperatures and help reduce snowing off.

If evergreens are in a windy spot you can put up a screen of burlap. This shuts off wind and sun. Or you can spray with anti-drying agents, mixed with water. Spray on a sunny day when the temperature is 40 degrees or higher. Give trees another spray during a heavy thaw or a warm day in February. These anti-drying sprays are colorless, leave a glossy sheen on needles, and will wash off by the time spring rains around.

If evergreens are weighted down with snow, take a broom and brush it off. To remove it, now's a good time to prevent ice and snow from bending your evergreens. Take some heavy twine and tie around the trunk starting from the bottom and working to the top.

A WARNING ABOUT YUCCA: Recently a reader wrote about handling Yucca (Yucca) plants. He suggested using gloves to protect the hands from stabs from sharp needles. Another reader wrote: "I'm not a gardener but was so thoroughly injured by a gardener who showed such great concern for others. A concern for fellowman is the only need in this world today. Concern and consideration of other human beings is what our world sorely needs at this time."

I agree with you. We do need more concern and consideration for the other fellow today.

THE YOUTH LEADERS CONFERENCE: Few plants have captured the gardener's imagination like the flowering annuals. You plant the bulbs, they bloom year after year.

There are two dwarfs, the Red onion (Allium retrofractum) and the Yellow (A. nutans). They grow about 10 inches high and are usually used in rockeries, edgings or among evergreens.

Farmers' Net Income In 1969 To Drop Slightly

By DON KENDALL
AP Farm Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Farmers' net income in the early months of 1969 is expected to sag a bit from current levels, but probably will be about the same as a year earlier, the Agriculture Department predicts.

More livestock and larger carryover of grain from crops being harvested are expected to put pressure on farm prices, department economists said in an income situation report Tuesday.

The report said farm income for 1968 is expected to be about $15 billion, compared with $14.2 billion last year. This is the projection announced late last month by Agriculture Secretary Orville L. Freeman.

Farm marketings through September were estimated at $25.7 billion, $1.7 billion more from the first three quarters of 1967. In addition, government payments to farmers during the nine-month period were higher — about $3 billion, or $22 million more than a year earlier.

Receipts from livestock sales through September were $18.6 billion, an increase of $20 million from last year, the report said. Cattle and calf marketings accounted for about $4.6 billion, the highest in the nine-month period, but 10 per cent higher prices from a year earlier.

Market receipts from hogs declined slightly, with lower prices offsetting larger sales for slaughter.

Milk prices paid to farmers averaged four per cent more for the first nine months of 1967, resulting in an increase of $100 million in gross receipts despite a slight reduction in the milk output.

Poultry and egg receipts were up slightly from a year earlier, with broiler prices about six per cent higher and the egg price average around 2 per cent over 1967.

Crop receipts from January through September totaled $11.1 billion, about the same as for the 1967 period, the report said. Lower prices for food and livestock feed grains more than offset increased sales from bumper crops.

The economists said most of this year's gain in cash receipts is expected to occur in the last three months, including marketings for a much larger cotton crop and receipts from other fall production.

A realized net income of about $15 billion would be the fourth largest, exceeded by 1947, 1948 and 1966.

It also would mean an average income per farm of about $4,000, an increase of $375 from 1967 and exceeded only by $5,000 in 1966, the report said.

On the other side of the ledger, farm production expenses this year may rise to around $56 billion, about $1.25 billion more than in 1967.

Practically all production inputs, except feed and fertilizer, are priced higher than in 1967, the report said.

POCATELLO. — Talks on orphan lambs and pregnancy testing of ewes highlighted the wool and lamb pool breakfast held in conjunction with the Idaho Wool Growers Association convention earlier this week in the Hancock Motor Inn.

Attending this breakfast were directors of several wool and lamb pools throughout Magic Valley, including the Twin Falls County Livestock Marketing Association, Inc. Directors of this association attending were Louis Alastro, Hazelton, president; Charles Potueck, Kimberly, and Fred Jaynes, Twin Falls, directors, and Gene Walker, Hansen, member, and Donald Youtz, Twin Falls County agent, secretary.

Pregnancy testing of ewes was explained by Dr. Clarence Hulet, Dubois, U.S. Sheep Experiment Station. He said this testing can be a real boost to the sheep industry as it already has in the cattle industry.

He told growers that the technique of testing should be accurate and fast. Currently there are two techniques which have proved to be fairly successful and economical. One is by exploratory incision and the other is an ultrasonic type of machine.

However, he said, the low growth rate and high mortality rate during the nursing period suggest a need for further research to determine feed and management requirements of young lambs under this system of rearing.

Fredericksen added with a 30 per cent fat content milk replacer, lambs seem to do better. Additional experiments are being conducted to investigate various feeding and management systems in the artificial rearing of orphan lambs.

One of the speakers addressing the wool growers on the final day of the three-day convention, was John Breckenridge, Twin Falls, past president of the Idaho Wool Growers Association and the National Wool Growers Association.

Mr. Breckenridge said the internal revenue service should crack down on "tax gimmicks" farmers as "hobby farmers" who go into farming or ranching as an income tax deduction dodge. He urged rigid enforcement of present internal revenue laws rather than changes in the laws.

Mr. Breckenridge, who is a member of the National Livestock Tax Committee, said the "tax committee does not question" the good intentions of such legislators as Sen. Frank Church in proposed legislation to eliminate "tax gimmicks" ranchers." However, he claimed the proposed legislation would "completely deny outside income by legitimate ranchers and farmers."

University Has New Biochemist

ABERDEEN — Dr. Jorg A. L. Augustin is the new biochemist and food technologist on the University of Idaho research staff at the Aberdeen Branch Agricultural Experiment Station.

Dr. Augustin will do research work in isolating and identifying compounds that cause potato rotting. He also will study other quality factors in tubers in regards to final usage.

Prior to coming to Idaho, Dr. Augustin worked with Arma and Co. in Chicago as a section head in the food research institution. He received his B.S. degree from the Swiss Federal Institute of Technology and his M.S. degree in food technology from the University of Illinois. He received his Ph.D. degree at Michigan State University, majoring in food science and minorning in agricultural biochemistry.

He was born in Switzerland and is now an American citizen. He also is married.

Rearing Orphan Lambs, Pregnancy Testing Of Ewes Explained To Area Wool Growers

By ROBERT VANAUDELN
Times-News Farm Editor

POCATELLO — Talks on orphan lambs and pregnancy testing of ewes highlighted the wool and lamb pool breakfast held in conjunction with the Idaho Wool Growers Association convention earlier this week in the Hancock Motor Inn.

Attending this breakfast were directors of several wool and lamb pools throughout Magic Valley, including the Twin Falls County Livestock Marketing Association, Inc. Fredericksen added with a 30 per cent fat content milk replacer, lambs seem to do better. Additional experiments are being conducted to investigate various feeding and management systems in the artificial rearing of orphan lambs.

One of the speakers addressing the wool growers on the final day of the three-day convention, was John Breckenridge, Twin Falls, past president of the Idaho Wool Growers Association and the National Wool Growers Association.

Prices May Change Soon

WASHINGTON (AP) — Livestock producers can expect moderately strong prices to continue this fall, but the Agriculture Department says buildups of cattle and hogs for slaughter markets could bring some price difficulties later on.

The department says in a summary of a livestock situation report due Oct. 9 that prices for fed cattle this fall are likely to be lower because of larger production, seasonal increases in pork supplies and gains in broiler chicken output.

Fed cattle marketings this past summer continued well above a year earlier, the department said, "and gains at least as large are likely this fall."

The report cited increases in cattle feeding in a six-state survey area, which jumped 32 per cent in July and six per cent in August from year-earlier levels. Strong consumer demand for beef has contributed to the higher cattle price average during the summer, but the department said further gains in demand probably will lessen this fall and winter.

Hog slaughter this fall is expected to be "a little smaller" than during the Oct.-Dec. period last year. Ten corn belt states on Sept. 1 reported up to two per cent fewer pigs in weight groups expected to provide most of the fall packing house supplies.

But-hog slaughter in the first half of 1969 probably will be greater than a year earlier, reflecting more lightweight pigs moving into feedlots at the present time.

Social Security Question Box

If you have any question concerning Social Security benefits or qualifications, address them to Jim Davis, Box 1239, Twin Falls, Idaho 83301.

Q. — I will be coming in to the Social Security Office within the next few months to sign up for benefits. What do I need to bring in with me?

A. — You should bring proof of your age (birth certificate or church record established before your 5th birthday, an old insurance policy, child's birth certificate, military record, etc.), and your most recent income tax return, W-2 form, and the canceled check with which you paid your last year's Federal taxes. If you have recently leased or sold your business or farm, you should bring the lease or sale contract.

Q. — They told me at the time my husband died that I would be eligible to receive a widow's benefit on his account when I reached retirement age. I am now 62 years old and wonder whether I should sign up for widow's benefits or sign up for benefits on my own account since I have been working for the past ten years.

A. — We can check out both accounts and advise you which one will pay you the higher benefit. Another possibility which you may want to consider would be to sign up for widow's benefits on your own account in addition to these benefits. You could then sign up for benefits on your own account at age 65 and receive these benefits unreduced as they would be if you signed up on your own account at age 62. There is a possibility you could receive a higher benefit using this method.

Q. I have never worked under Social Security. Can I have Medicare when I reach 65 next year?

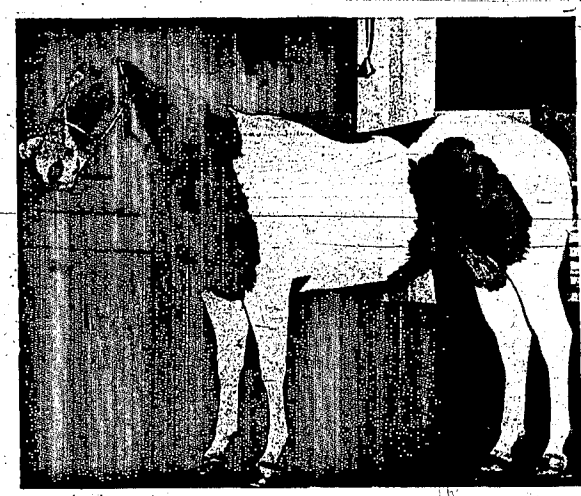

A. Anyone who was already 65 years old at the time the Medicare law was passed didn't need any work under Social Security to be eligible for Medicare. This was the case for a couple years after that time. However, beginning in 1983 anyone who attained age 65 in 1968 needed at least three quarters of coverage under Social Security to be able to qualify for the Hospital Insurance under Medicare. Each succeeding year three more quarters will be required until the regular social security requirements are met. Since you will be 65 in 1969, it will be necessary for you to have six quarters of social security coverage (or 1 1/2 years work under Social Security). Anyone who is 65 years old can purchase the Medical Insurance (doctor bill insurance) part of Medicare even if they haven't worked under social security.

International Livestock Show Is Set

CHICAGO — The International Livestock Exposition will celebrate its 50th anniversary here as the country's largest farm animal exhibition Nov. 29 to Dec. 7.

An entry of 8,000 purebred cattle, sheep and hogs is anticipated by the management by the time a final tally is made of all entries. They will fill to capacity the 15-acre exhibiting area in the International Amphitheatre, in addition to a large section of the nearby Chicago Stock Yards.

It is the closing and climax event of the agricultural show year in North America. There will be 37 different breeds on view — a multi-million dollar display of the continent's most valuable farm animals entered by stockmen and dairymen from over 40 states and Canada.

Among them will be several hundred boys and girls, members of 4-H and Future Farmer of America Clubs, exhibiting cattle, sheep, swine of their own raising that have won top prizes at preceding shows and fairs in these home states.

The Exposition also includes one of the country's top horse shows, featuring fast-paced roadsters, stately harness horses and gaited saddle horses, plus the crowd pleasing hunter and jumper competitions.

Farmers Must Work Together, Says Bank Leader

OMAHA, Neb. — "If farmers generally than cooperatives," Helz asserted, "and thus have a lower fixed overhead cost in this regard. If co-ops are to remain competitive, they must not be overburdened with interest expense. This obviously calls for increased farmer investment." A substantial portion of the assets of many farmer cooperatives is financed with borrowed funds. This leaves less room for further borrowing for expansion purposes. Farmer investments in their co-ops, therefore, must in many cases increase proportionately with the increased use of credit.

Helz pointed out that there is a great similarity between farmer cooperatives and the Banks for Cooperatives. "The problems of cooperatives become the problems of the Banks," he said, "and the Banks for Cooperatives need to assure ample financing to their owners just as much as cooperatives generally must have the patronage and investment of their members."

However, Helz expressed confidence that the Banks for Cooperatives would continue to meet the credit needs of farmer cooperatives. "They will be able to do this," Helz said, "because cooperatives understand that high quality credit and adequate support of the banks are fundamental to maintaining the excellent position of the Bank's securities in the money market, assuring a continuing source of lending funds."

Commodity Group Leaders Discuss Idaho Agriculture

MOSCOW — Twenty-six leaders, representing Idaho's major agricultural commodity groups, met recently with College of Agricultural administrators. They discussed plans and proposals concerning agricultural research, extension, and teaching programs during their annual Agricultural Consulting Council meeting.

The importance of agriculture in Idaho was pointed out by James E. Kraus, Dean of the College of Agriculture.

"For the past three years the total gross cash farm receipts have exceeded one-half billion dollars each year. In a publication, 'Idaho Will Grow' printed in 1967, it was projected the gross cash farm receipts would exceed three-fourth billion dollars per year by 1975," Kraus reported.

He pointed out that Idaho ranks fourth in gross agricultural income among the 12 Western states.

George Yost, council president, Emmett, reported the council reviewed the College of Agricultural 1969-71 budget request.

"We discussed the budget in terms of the needs of agriculture in Idaho," he said.

The council also reviewed College of Agriculture student enrollment and proposed curriculum changes. Enrollment continues to increase, the council members learned, as well as requests from agricultural industries for graduates with agricultural degrees.

"In line with previous discussions and actions by the council, a new department of Food Sciences will be established within the next two years," Yost reported.

With a projected development and growth increase of nearly 50 per cent for the food processing industry in Idaho by 1975, this Food Science program will result in an expanded research program to assist the food processing industry of Idaho.

The council members also learned the College of Agriculture anticipates adding a BS and MS program in agriculture with a major in veterinary science. These degrees will strengthen the total degree program in the College of Agriculture.

"These changes indicate the College of Agriculture is moving to meet the needs of agricultural industry for qualified employees," Yost said.

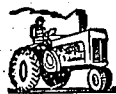

The council also reviewed and discussed new research programs and plans, including a proposed economic study of Idaho. The economic study would develop a total picture of agriculture's impact on the state's economy.

Members attending the annual Agricultural Consulting Council meeting and the groups they represent are: Idaho Horticultural Society, George Yost, Emmett; State Commissioner of Agriculture, Stanley Teeghshen, Boise; Idaho Association of Soil Conservation Districts, Harold Liedtke, Grangeville; Idaho Cattlemen's Association, Roy Brackett, Hagerman; and Robert Hinderlinder, Boise, and Idaho Beef Council, John McBoyle, Grangeville.

Farmland Value Said $178 An Acre

WASHINGTON (AP) — The average value of the nation's farm land last March 1 was $178 an acre, up six per cent of $11 an acre from a year earlier, the Agriculture Department says.

The total value of all farm land, including buildings, was estimated at $193.7 billion, compared with $182.5 billion on March 1, 1967, and $189.5 billion last Nov. 1, the department said.

The estimates were announced Monday in a preliminary report. Officials said the full report will be released Dec. 14.

In a new breakdown, analysts showed that commercial farms — those with annual sales of $2,500 or more — averaged $50 acres and were worth $106,000 each, while the smaller farms averaged 120 acres and $24,000.

Sales or transfers of farms during the year were at the rate of 20.4 per 1,000 farms, a decline of two per cent from the previous year.

There were about 24,000 land transactions during the year, down about four per cent from 1966-67, the report said. Nearly two-thirds of the buyers were other farmers who wanted additional land to extend their operations.

Nonfarmers also have been in the market for investment and other reasons, the report said.

The BIGGEST DOLLAR'S Worth

any store or business can buy in Magic Valley

Some dollars are "bigger" than others in what they buy to help you stay in business . . . dollars for merchandise, fixtures, overhead.

But ONE dollar is the most critical to continued success, whether you sell apparel or cars, appliances or homes, drugs, food, services, anything.

This is the dollar you invest in newspaper advertising. With it, you're in the market; you gain direct sales of merchandise NOW. But you also gain the most critical advantage of all: the security of staying in business at a profit.

Newspaper advertising in the T-N moves merchandise fast. Show the value, the price, and the buyer's eye lights up. But the same ad — the same dollar that buys the ad — doesn't stop there. . . .

It keeps ON working. It sells added merchandise not even IN the ad! Because it brings customers to your store who buy more than the advertised item — simply through exposure.

It builds future security for your business by making you less subject to the winds of chance. It makes the entire community aware of your store, your values. It builds store identity you can gain in no other way. It informs people of quality and service — not just for now, but for months, years. It anchors you securely in the swift tides of the marketplace.

For unlike other expenditures, the advertising dollar doesn't quit returning you value. It keeps building cumulatively. One ad builds on another, keeps reinforcing your business, your profits.

This is the way newspaper advertising works — especially when you use it consistently. Ask any successful merchant, any consistent advertiser in the T-N.

Then ask yourself: can I afford to be out of advertising? That's as bad as being out of merchandise. (Who wants to wait for customers who never come?)

The T-N Ad Staff has worked with and helped hundreds of businesses over the years to stay in business . . . profitably. We'll be glad to help you plan successful advertising . . . the biggest dollar's worth you can buy in Magic Valley.

EXTENDS YOUR STORE TO MORE THAN 20,000 HOMES

The T-N's daily paid circulation gives you over 70% coverage of all homes in Magic Valley. Makes your merchandise NEWS — immediately! Imagine adding over 20,000 salesmen to your staff — all welcomed in the home.
