Humphrey Joins U.S. Flu Victims As Virus Spreads

By The Associated Press
Outbreaks of flu and respiratory disease were reported in 30 states today as the wave of influenza-like illness continued to spread. Health authorities said the peak of the epidemic still appeared several weeks away.

Nixon, U Thant Confer

NEW YORK (AP) — President-elect Nixon, meeting today with Secretary General U Thant of the United Nations, definitely will announce by the end of the week his Democratic choice as U.S. Ambassador to the United Nations.
In advance of Nixon's Thant meeting, Ronald L. Ziegler, press spokesman for the president-elect, said Nixon's choice for the U.N. job would be announced this week—leaving open the possibility he might let the secretary-general be the first to know.
Nixon asked to see Thant in a move described by Ziegler as one designed to demonstrate "Mr. Nixon's support of the United Nations."
Perhaps more significantly, he added that the session along with the East River and open communications between the incoming chief executive and the head of the world organization.
Going to the UN with Nixon were his secretary of state-designate William P. Rogers; his national security advisor, Henry Kissinger; Robert D. Murphy, his go-between with the Johnson administration, and J. Russell Wiggins, President Johnson's recently installed replacement as ambassador to the United Nations.
Henry Shriver, ambassador to France and brother-in-law of Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., remained the principal betting favorite in whatever contest there might be for the U.N. ambassadorship.
It is clear that with the passage of days, the potential Shriver nomination was becoming less likely—perhaps because of objections from within the Kennedy family. The possibility arose that the position would go again to Wiggins or, by more remote chance, perhaps to Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., classed as a far outsider who nevertheless has been in repeated contact with Nixon and Kennedy.
And finally, Dr. Henry Kissinger, who was expected to continue service in the Senate.
Nixon made a flying trip to Washington Monday to meet with Republican congressional leaders, and at Walter Reed Army Medical Center with former President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

The National Communicable Disease Center in Atlanta said that the presence of the Hong Kong variety of flu was confirmed in 16 states, the District of Columbia and Puerto Rico.
The center was besieged by telephone queries about the epidemic and one harried official said: "Some people have colds and some people have something else, and it's all being called Hong Kong flu."
Among the notables suffering from the flu were Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, Richard Cardinal Cushing of Boston and Gov. Richard J. Hughes of New Jersey.
Humphrey was forced to cancel a speaking engagement in Los Angeles and Hughes scrapped plans for New Jersey's traditional Christmas tree lighting ceremony in Trenton for fear the pathogen might serve to spread the virus.

The NCDC said that for the week ending Dec. 7 there were 700 deaths reported from flu, pneumonia and other respiratory ailments—200 more than the anticipated number. The figure is based on reports from 123 key cities.

Hospitals in several cities including Washington, D.C., Windsor, Ont., and Bridgeport, Conn., tightened visiting regulations in an effort to keep the flu away from patients who do not already have it.
In Chicago the University of Chicago and University of Illinois Research and Education Hospitals were forced to limit admissions to emergency cases because of high absenteeism among the staffs.
The number of college closings continued to grow as the national security advisor, Henry Kissinger, reported early for Christmas vacation in the face of high absenteeism or to avoid an outbreak of the illness.

Public schools were showing the effects of the flu bug as well. Of Los Angeles County's 56,000 schools, 7,000 reported absenteeism greater than 10 per cent from the flu and other diseases.

Seven Detroit parochial schools closed and public schools were hard hit with absentee rates reported increased by 15 per cent.

Fire Destroys Trailer House At Bellevue

BELLEVUE — A 10-by-55-foot trailer, owned by Mark Patterson, was destroyed by fire Tuesday morning at Patterson Trailer Court in Bellevue.
The blaze, which was reported at 8:30 a.m. by Mrs. Claire Carter, who lives in a house nearby, was believed to have started from the gas line in the front part of the trailer, according to George Davis, Bellevue marshal.
He said the interior of the trailer was ruined and he believed the structure would be considered demolished. Mr. Patterson said the loss is covered by insurance.
Mrs. Colleen Driscoll, who rents the trailer, was at work at Ketchikan, The Bellevue Fire Department was called and the volunteers were assisted by the chemical truck from the Halley Fire Department.
The use of the chemical was credited by Marshall Davis with keeping the blaze from spreading to the other some dozen trailers in the court.

Wallace Gains One Vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Electoral College has made its official choice. Richard M. Nixon will be the 37th president of the United States.
One of the 538 members who cast their ballots Monday also made something else clear. They think the college is outdated.
Balloting by the college went pretty much according to script as members met in the 50 state capitals and District of Columbia to fulfill the tasks voters chose them for Nov. 5.
There were exceptions in North Carolina and Michigan that left Nixon with 301 votes instead of 302. Denver's Hubert H. Humphrey wound up with the expected 101, and George Wallace, the third party presiden-tion's Humphrey vote intact.

The U.S. Constitution technically allows the electors to vote for any candidate they choose. But tradition dictates, and some state laws demand, that the electors follow the result of the popular vote in their respective states.
Under the Constitution the popular vote for president actually is an election of the members of the Electoral College.
There were some other, minor, exceptions.
North Carolina's electors found themselves without someone to administer an oath and they appointed time when they finally dug up a judge.
Modern Americana stalled the New York session at Albany

when one bloc of electors got delayed in a stackup of commuter trains and the man who was supposed to preside was delayed when his flight got held up at Albany. Kennedy International Airport. The New York Democrats finally cast their ballots for Humphrey in the afternoon after getting lunch on the state's Republican administration—a fact they gleefully noted.
A spot check of electors across the land showed many unhappy with a system that may be on its last legs. A move in Congress to consider changing the venerable system by allowing voters to cast their ballots directly for president got a big boost from Nixon's narrow, half-million vote popular victory.

of tomorrow, is the only answer. Boypower '76 today—Manpower '76 tomorrow is the answer," Moore said.
Moore started his address by asking everyone to stand and pledge allegiance to the flag, as a gesture of loyalty to the nation.
"I work in the inner city," I know about this trouble. I want to change the attitudes of the little black boy who throws up his hands and shouts "Black Power," the champ declared.
"Scouting is an integrating thing for the young, but those who support Scouting must do more than just pay lip service; you must put your money where your mouth is," he said in appealing for financial support, both for Scouting and for his program of aid to the young.

There's a lot of brain power in the ghetto to combat the Black Power advocates; black men have contributed a lot to our nation, though many do not realize it. A black man invented the "stone" last, and another Negro invented the process to whiten or bleach sugar—a statement which drew an appreciative chuckle from the audience.
A compilation of inventions turned out by Americans in our earlier years tallies more than 300 inventions taken out by black men, to less than 100 by Southern whites, Moore emphasized.
"Listen—you see a stop light every day; did you know that was invented by a black man? He sold the patent to Westinghouse."

T.F. Council Denies Rezoning Proposal

The Twin Falls City Council Monday night denied the request by B.R.O.S. Inc. for the zoning variance of property between Layton Drive and Pole Line Road from residential low density to commercial general.
After the council voted down the request, B.R.O.S. Inc. submitted a new request. This request was referred to the Planning and Zoning Commission. The corporation has proposed to use the land for a mobile home court. At present trailer courts are only allowed in areas zoned commercial-general or industrial.
Councilman John Angerbaumer moved that the council deny the original request after stating he felt the present zoning ordinance dictates the decision of the council. The motion was seconded by Frank Cook. All the councilmen voted for the motion, with the exception of Eugene Stacey, who abstained, and George Bennett, who was absent at the time the vote was taken.

Herb Derrick, city manager, told the men from B.R.O.S. Inc. that a city planner will be here in January and the council would ask him his feelings about the mobile-home-court-and-possible zoning changes.
The new request submitted by the corporation asks that the portion of land they own which is designated residential low density be changed to residential-medium density.
They ask that the zoning ordinance be changed to allow trailer parking in residential-medium density areas in the city.
Another part of the land is zoned commercial local. The land that mobile homes be reclassified and allowed in commercial-local areas.
Robert Alexander, local attorney, represented the B.R.O.S. corporation.

Marines Launch Massive Campaign South Of Da Nang

SAIGON (AP) — Five thousand U.S. Marines backed by more than 200 air strikes are sweeping the mountains 30 miles southwest of Da Nang in a major operation, U.S. headquarters disclosed today.
Lifting the security lid on the 10-day drive, Operation Taylor Commend, a spokesman said 123 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong have been killed and 41 suspects captured since the operation began Dec. 7.
He said 18 Marines had been killed and 73 wounded.
It is the second massive Marine sweep south of Da Nang in less than five weeks. On Dec. 8, 7,000 U.S. and South Korean marines and South Vietnamese infantrymen ended 20-day Operation Meado River, a 50-square-mile corridor entered 15 miles south of Da Nang. In that sweep, the Marines reported 862 enemy and 95 Marines killed and 504 Marines wounded.
About 25 Air Force B52 bombers dropped 750 tons of explosives on enemy troop concentrations, a strategic area and supply depots Monday and today in support of the maneuvering Marines.
Elsewhere in the war, North Vietnamese troops sprang an ambush today on a U.S. Army convoy traveling a vital American supply line 42 miles northwest of Saigon, but an armored column and airborne reinforcements beat the attackers off and killed 50 of them.
Five Americans were killed, 11 wounded and several military trucks in the 50-vehicle convoy were damaged, but the others made it to the allied base at Dau Tieng.

Ky Denies Dispute Over Parley Plans

PARIS (AP) — Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky of South Vietnam said he found no disagreement with top U.S. negotiators on Vietnamese peace talks after another meeting today despite the remarks of Defense Secretary Clark M. Clifford in Washington.
"I didn't see any disagreement after meeting an hour and 40 minutes with chief U.S. peace talks envoys, W. Averell Harriman, and deputy Cyrus R. Vance," Ky said.
Clifford drew anger from the South Vietnamese negotiators with remarks on a Sunday television program. Clifford laid much blame on Saigon for the procedural discussion that has been holding up the four-way peace conference.
Ky said the allied negotiators did not get into any further compromise proposals about the shape of the table for the peace parley. The dispute over a table shape for the negotiating has been one of the principal bottle-

Joint Airport Setup Is Approved By City

The Twin Falls City Council approved the joint airport service agreement with Twin Falls County during the regular Monday night meeting.
"There was no comment from the floor during the public hearing conducted by Mayor Egon Kroff. Approval was the final step in making a city-county airport a reality."
The county commission held its public hearing Dec. 10 and approved the agreement.
The council approved the arrangement of the airport restaurant lease to Mrs. Arletta D. Tilton, which relieves Jerico Corp. from the lease agreement.
Larry Harper, of the Twin Falls Housing Authority, reported on a senior citizen housing. He asked the council to approve plans to add 32 units at Duval Courts so they may apply for federal assistance for the construction. He told the council they have 50 applications on hand for this type of housing and said there is little turnover at any of the senior citizen courts. The council will take the matter under consideration.
The council appointed Ed Woods as the city's representative to the annual meeting of stockholders of the Salmon River Canal Co. which will be held Jan. 13 at Hollister.
Rev. Donald L. Hoffman was appointed to a five-year term on the Twin Falls Housing Authority Board.
Mr. Derrick asked the council to approve the use of storm sewer funds for the installation of a new line on Shop Avenue. He noted there has been a drainage problem in the area near Sun-

Brazilians Expect Purge

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — A 13 military-dominated government is expected to launch a sweeping purge, stripping hundreds of its opponents of their political rights, after President Arthur da Costa e Silva's first major speech since the suspension of Congress last Friday.
The president told the graduating class of the army staff school and top military leaders Monday night that the house-cleaning undertaken following the 1964 revolution "unfortunately" had not been completed.
The current political crisis was precipitated by the refusal of Congress to lift the parliamentary immunity of a deputy who had criticized the military.

Quake!

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — A strong tremor centered near a sometimes active volcano awakened many earthshakes-conscious Anchorage Tuesday, knocking out power briefly at nearby Kenai but otherwise no injuries or major damage was reported.
The quake hit Alaska's south-central region at 2:02 a.m. Alaska Standard Time, hard enough to shake at least one person out of bed.

Court Convicts Girl, 11, Of Killing Boys For 'Fun'

NEWCASTLE, England (AP) — Eleven-year-old Mary Flora Bell was found guilty in Britain's sensational "kill-for-thrills" trial today as the psychopathic youngster was sentenced to life detention.
Mary's sobriety rolled through the emotion-charged courtroom as the jury of seven men and five women found her guilty of manslaughter with diminished responsibility.
Her 13-year-old playmate, Norma Joyce Bell, was found innocent of all charges. Technically she is free but Judge Sir Ralph Cusack indicated he wants her to have hospital treatment.
The two girls, unrelated but inseparable friends, had been charged with murder of the two boys, or alternatively with manslaughter.
Mary's sentence means that she will be kept in a prison treatment center until her psychiatric disorder—reported to be a form of juvenile schizophrenia—immediately after the verdict has been cleared.
The judge did not spell out what should be done with Mary after her psychopathic treatment is finished. Under British law prisoners serving a life sentence may be released at the discretion of the home secretary.
The qualification of diminished responsibility in Mary's case is a condition where the person involved may be unable to know what is right or wrong. This does not absolve them of conviction of a crime, nor is it an acquittal on the grounds of insanity. As for Mary, the jury convicted her but the judge took into account that she lacks a normal sense of moral responsibility.

TIL CHRISTMAS

K.H. Grange Sets Yuletide Party Friday

KING HILL — A King Hill Grange annual Christmas party will be held at 8 p. m. Friday. All members are asked to bring sandwiches, unless asked for candy. Each family is asked to provide something for the program, a skit, song or reading. John Davis, master, said at the last meeting, members discussed the leasing of Grange property, year-books, serving committees and the notification of members on committees. They also discussed nominating a candidate as "Mother Of The Year." Mrs. Arthur Greer gave a reading, Mr. and Mrs. Dee Anderson served refreshments. Mr. and Mrs. Joel Young are in charge of the Christmas party. Mrs. David Ickes, Mrs. C. Bott and Mrs. R. D. Graham on clean-up.

And They Still Hate Each Other!

WASHINGTON — Reports of a new and friendly "detente" between President-elect Richard Nixon and Chief Justice Earl Warren, as a result of the "settlement" of Warren's retirement plans, are not continued by Nixon sources in New York and Washington.

One source extremely close to Nixon put it this way when asked if relations between the President-elect and Chief Justice were now cordial. "Cordial" he replied. "They still hate each other's guts."

President had asked Warren to remain on the Supreme Court until the end of the current term next June, and that the Chief Justice "agreed and said he would be glad to continue until that date."

However, the intermediary said Nixon had no desire to interrupt the Court's continuity in the middle of a session, and therefore he wanted to suggest that Warren stay on until the session's end. If possible, the intermediary said, Nixon wanted to avoid any "messy" confrontation.

Anti-Virus Gain

Curing eye infections in a rabbit may not sound like the most dramatic medical advance, but one such experiment has set the profession on the edge of its seat like few other viral discoveries have.

The substance which made immunity possible was isolated and named interferon. Recent research has concentrated on finding ways of stimulating the production of interferon to battle the original infection.

That is where the rabbits came in. Laboratory workers were successful in treating the animals with a form of ribonucleic acid which stimulated the production of unusually large amounts of interferon, which in turn successfully fought the infection.

This adds fuel to the hope that interferon or a similar natural protein may be the weapon science is looking for to combat all viral infections from the common cold to perhaps—leukemia.

MR. SPECTATOR

Three Brave Men

About Sunday or so, when you are starting to slow down for the Christmas Day, have a thought for three brave men who will be away up there in the vicinity of the moon.

No doubt about it, it is the most sensational thing that has happened since man first looked skyward and wondered if he could fly like a bird. No bird ever flew like the Apollo 8 Astronauts.

Here, for your edification, is a brief background yarn about these three men who will be at work while you are resting over the coming Christmas season.

Two veteran astronauts will fatten up their world records for time in space as crew members on the Apollo 8.

If the Apollo 8 mission goes to its full length, Command Module Pilot James A. Lovell Jr. and Commander Frank Borman will be adding another 147 hours each to their present records of 423 hours and 10 minutes and 330 hours and 35 minutes respectively.

The pair piloted Gemini 7 on the historic two-week mission, in December, 1965, in which their spacecraft accomplished the world's first rendezvous in space with Gemini 6. In November 1966 Lovell commanded the final Gemini 12 mission for almost four days.

Accompanying the two on the crew of Apollo 8 will be Lunar Module Pilot William A. Anders, who will be the first man to set foot on the moon.

Born in Gary, Ind., he grew up in Tucson, Ariz. He and his wife, the former Susan Bugbee of Tucson have two sons.

Lovell, also 40, a Navy Captain, took flight training following graduation from Annapolis in 1952. His aviation assignments included a tour as a test pilot and flight instructor before he joined NASA in 1962.

A native of Cleveland, he attended the University of Wisconsin for two years before entering the Naval Academy. He and his wife, the former Marylyn Gerlach of Milwaukee, have two sons and two daughters.

Since June, 1967, Lovell has been Special Consultant to the President's Council on Physical Fitness.

Anders, 35, an Air Force Major, was commissioned upon graduation from the U.S. Naval Academy in 1955. After flight training he was a fighter pilot and in 1962 he received his Master of Science degree in Nuclear Engineering from the Air Force Institute of Technology.

He served as nuclear engineer and instructor pilot at the Air Force Weapons Laboratory in New Mexico. Anders was in the third group of astronauts selected by NASA in 1963. Prior to his Apollo 8 assignment, he served as backup pilot for the Gemini 11 mission.

Born in Hong-Kong, he and his wife, the former Valerie E. Hoard of Lennox Grove, Calif., have four sons and one daughter.

BRUCE BLOSSAT

Nixon And The Progressives

PALMS SPRINGS, Calif. (NEA) — This had to be an undercurrent of irony in President-elect Richard Nixon meeting cordially here with some 30 Republican governors—when it is remembered that many spent nearly two years trying to block his nomination.

He won at Miami Beach in spite of the active though painfully uncoordinated opposition of several governors in the progressive category.

Notwithstanding the notion cultivated in some circles that his nomination victory was achieved with a narrow southern base, Nixon far outpolled in delegates his progressive rival, New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller in the total area outside the South.

Indeed, he made very deep inroads in the very eastern territory that was supposed to be bound tight to Rockefeller.

But the compounded irony is that, having done this and having been elected, Richard Nixon, as president may now have to try to outdo in progressiveness the governors who opposed him.

As this column has reported more than once, he has sweeping plans for recasting the GOP into the majority party at the national level—a position it has not occupied for nearly 40 years.

Yet his aides concede that no amount of organizational reshuffling or brightening of the party image by the offering of more "new face" candidates for Congress will do the job "unless Nixon is a good president."

Having triumphed, Nixon clearly will be looked to by the American people to do something positive and conclusive about settling the Vietnam war.

Interestingly enough, some very high-placed Democrats think he has a very good change of doing this.

On the domestic front, he continuously represented himself to the voters as the candidate who could restore tranquility to the country's racially troubled, crime-ridden and sometimes poverty-stricken cities. He won, above all, on "law and order."

Since the problem of unrest, however, is at once a national phenomenon yet inevitably recurs in its occurrences, the specific authority involved in effecting solutions can—under our system—only be state and local.

This means that the new President's contribution must be one of leadership: First devising imaginative new approaches, if such can be found, to matters like the racial struggle, crime in the streets and campus turmoil, and then using the political and moral force of his office to gain from governors, mayors and others the support required for application of these new approaches.

At best, in this vast area of disturbing to millions of Americans, Nixon can be an inventor, a co-ordinator and a persuader.

If, somehow, even part of this task is accomplished, Nixon may prove himself with the voters, including countless middle-class suburbanites, who saw him as the promoter of law and order.

Still, neither he nor his most perceptive assistants believe this could be enough to assure him of being judged a "good president." It is agreed among them that he must search for, and hopefully apply with telling effect, means which are both economical (in a nation ever more seriously resistant to tax rises) and imaginative for dealing with the racial tensions, the poverty and the alienation now afflicting the inner cities and many campuses.

To do this, he may have to go well beyond progressive GOP governors not in concepts of spending but in boldness of new ideas. And, to the extent his proposals would cost more money, he may need extraordinary powers of persuasion upon millions of suburbanites whose affluence may be overrated and who are weary of other people's problems.

The Baked Paper

WASHINGTON — This is the time of year when, because of inclement weather and bad pitches by groggy boys, your Sunday newspaper may be arriving in a wet or soggy condition. Most people get angry at this state of affairs, mainly because they don't know how to dry and bake a good Sunday paper. Once you know how to do this, you may never fear getting a wet newspaper again.

My recipe for baking a newspaper was handed down in my family from one generation to the next, and even on the rarest, snowiest, sleekest day our family always has had the crispest tastiest Sunday newspaper on the block.

As a public service, it is my intention to pass on this family recipe to my loyal and devoted readers.

First, preheat oven to 300 degrees. While you're doing that, drain off liquid from the paper and put aside.

Now, get a sharp knife and slice, peeling off the sections of paper—the front section, then the society, sports, comics and so forth. Wipe each section lightly with a damp cloth, and roll to even out.

By this time your oven should be hot. If it isn't, you can study the "wet but not soggy" or "classified advertisements."

Once your oven is hot enough, arrange the sections of the newspaper on the racks of the oven, but make sure they do not touch each other. Get in the way of the oven door.

NOTE: It is always best to put the comics on the lowest shelf, so the color does not drip down on the black-and-white pictures of Jackie Onassis.

If your paper is very, very large, you may have to bake it in two routings. Therefore, select the sections you want to read first, bake them, and then, while you're reading them, stick the other sections in the oven.

more seriously resistant to tax rises) and imaginative for dealing with the racial tensions, the poverty and the alienation now afflicting the inner cities and many campuses.

To do this, he may have to go well beyond progressive GOP governors not in concepts of spending but in boldness of new ideas. And, to the extent his proposals would cost more money, he may need extraordinary powers of persuasion upon millions of suburbanites whose affluence may be overrated and who are weary of other people's problems.

NOTE: It is always best to put the comics on the lowest shelf, so the color does not drip down on the black-and-white pictures of Jackie Onassis.

If your paper is very, very large, you may have to bake it in two routings. Therefore, select the sections you want to read first, bake them, and then, while you're reading them, stick the other sections in the oven.

I know that the big question on your mind is how long to bake or roast a Sunday newspaper. This depends strictly on the paper. Give 15 minutes for each pound of wet newspaper. But every 5 minutes turn over the sections on the rack so that they don't get too brown. Some people prefer to cook their newspaper on a rotisserie which keeps going around in a circle, and this is probably a faster way to do it. But the danger is that if the paper touches flame, it will go up in smoke and that won't leave you much to do on Sunday morning.

After you've allowed your newspaper first to simmer, then stew, and finally bake, you can test it to see if it's ready to be read. Take out the travel section, or the book review, and hold it in both hands. If the paper seems firm and stays up the stiff of its own accord, it's ready. On the other hand, if it sags or falls apart while you're holding it, put the rest of it back in the oven for at least another 10 minutes.

Sometimes people make a mistake and overcook their newspaper. You'll know your Sunday paper is too well done if it gets black around the edges and has a funny smell to it.

Your Sunday paper can either be served hot or cold to your family, and can also be sliced very thin or very thick, depending on how you like it.

If you want to read it cold, transfer to a cool, dry place and let stand 15 minutes.

The important thing to remember is that anyone can bake a Sunday newspaper. All you need for the ingredients are newspaper, rain, sleet or snow, a hot oven and patience.

One more thing: There is no need to be afraid of the "D.O.S." (Don't Over-Stir) thing that you see on your paper. If this happens, just pour some cognac on it, light it and make it into a flambe.

July, saying he would leave "at the pleasure of the President." Johnson was balked by the Senate in his attempt to replace Warren with Associate Justice Abe Fortas, and Warren remained on the Court.

The official Nixon announcement said the President-elect had telephoned Warren and told him "it was most important in order to avoid serious disruption of the work of the Court, that the effective date (of the retirement) should not be until the end of the term of the Court in June." Warren, it was announced, "said he would be glad to continue until that date."

Behind this bland announcement, however, was an "understanding" Nixon had reached with Warren through an intermediary who had a long talk with the Chief Justice a week earlier.

In blunt but polite language, the intermediary told Warren that it was time to settle the matter in view of "hints" from Warren that he might postpone his retirement indefinitely. Nixon, Warren was told, took the Chief Justice's letter literally when it said he would continue "at the pleasure of the President."

The President after Jan. 20, the intermediary said, would be Richard Nixon, and it was Nixon's pleasure to accept the invitation and to appoint a successor as soon as practicable. The Nixon intermediary said Nixon wanted this clearly understood, and added that he was authorized to quote the President-elect as saying "I intend to appoint a new Chief Justice sometime during the first half of 1969."

Warren was told that if he insisted upon remaining on the intermediary said, Nixon wanted to avoid any "messy" confrontation.

The intermediary followed Nixon's telephone call to Warren several days later—after the President-elect had been assured that Warren would go along. The conversation was not cordial, merely polite, although Warren did say that he wished Nixon "all the luck in the world," and added that as Chief Justice it would be his "pleasure" to administer the oath of office to the new President on Jan. 20. In turn, Nixon wished Warren "A long, healthy and happy retirement."

Talks between Nixon and Warren have been extremely cool, not to say hostile, since the 1952 Republican convention, when Dwight D. Eisenhower was nominated for President. Warren, one of the also-rans, is reported to believe that Nixon does not care for him by trying to steer Warren's California delegation into the Eisenhower column. Nixon got the Vice Presidency, and Eisenhower named Warren to the Chief Justiceship—an appointment he has told friends he always regretted.

Discussing the Nixon-Warren situation, a Supreme Court source was skeptical. "I'd say there is still no love lost between those two guys," he said.

Leg Cramps

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have been plagued with leg cramps for many years. I am now 40 and in the past year they have gotten far worse. Two doctors both prescribed quinine but it doesn't seem to make much difference. Many nights I get little sleep and the next day my legs are very sore. Could this be anything serious?—Mrs. A.S.B.

It's quite possible that in your short letter you told me more than you told the two doctors.

Quinine helps a great many people who develop leg cramps in middle age or later, when the circulation isn't as good as it used to be. Quinine, indeed, is one of a variety of useful remedies that I describe in my booklet "How to Stop Leg Cramps and Foot Pains." (Booklet available to any reader; send 35 cents and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Dr. Thosteson, care of this newspaper, for a copy.)

But, as the booklet warns emphatically, leg cramps can't be caused by more than one condition: impaired circulation, dietary deficiency, spasms resulting from continued strain due to some structural fault of feet or legs.

It is also true that a single type of treatment cannot always bring relief. Sometimes several different methods, when combined, will succeed, however.

In your case, Mrs. B., the fact that you have had leg cramps for many years indicates that something was wrong years ago, and may be at the root of the trouble is growing worse.

Might you have had some foot defect that developed as a child but put unwarranted strain on the leg muscles? This is entirely possible. Do you wear high heels even though, because of some weakness in the feet, you cannot tolerate them?

In your case, rather than hoping that taking quinine will be a solution, I would have an examination by an orthopedic surgeon to find out whether some structural fault has been causing trouble all these years and determine whether it still can be corrected.

Of course, faulty circulation also may be present — may perhaps have been present for a long time or may only be starting to add to the trouble now. Diet also deserves attention.

For many thousands of people, simple remedies can work wonders in putting an end to leg cramps, but there are also cases in which some more extensive and costly measures are necessary before there is much hope. Mrs. B.'s problem, having persisted for so long, is one of those which needs thorough examination rather than experimentation with the simpler methods which can be so effective for cases that develop later in life.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My husband was told that he has cirrhosis of the liver, and not to drink alcohol as long as he lives. He is not drinking any drinks at least half a pint every day and says he feels fine. What is going to happen to him?—Mrs. M.P.

What's going to happen to him? He'll keep on drinking until he dies with cirrhosis. DOESN'T "feel fine" and "feels fine" mean the same thing? It's a downhill slide to the point of no return.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I read recently in your column about the gentleman whose wife "is 54, is diabetic, and has been told she must be operated on for a cataract—she is almost hysterical with fear."

I have had two very successful cataract operations. I, too, was scared to death, but there was no pain and really nothing to it. My first operation was in 1953. I have not had an ache or a pain, and my vision has been practically perfect.

If you prefer to pass my address on to a doctor that will be okay. It would be my Boy Scout deed to reassure this lady that she should have her operation done as soon as possible and to quit worrying!—L.E.B.

I have made it a rule not to pass out names or addresses of anyone who writes to me. But I have no doubt that your letter, printed here, will reassure a great many more people with cataracts than just one.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My son is engaged to a girl who said she had rheumatic fever when she was about 12. What effect might this have on bearing children, or on the children themselves? She seems now to be in excellent health.—D.E.W.

The big danger is that, if the disease sometimes causes heart damage. Other than that, there is no reason why it should have any bearing on having babies, or on the babies.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What can be determined by a biopsy when a growth is suspected of being malignant? Is there a possibility that by cutting into the lump the cancerous cells will get into the blood or metastasize to another area?—L.S.

A biopsy consists of removing a very small portion of the suspected tissue. By microscopic examination, pathologists then can determine whether the tissue is or is not malignant. Metastasis, or migration of cells to start growths in other parts of the body, occurs regardless of whether one "cuts into" a growth. A single tiny, small amount of cancerous cells for a biopsy does not cause such spread.

Of all the problems that pediatricians encounter in children, pinworm is the commonest. To learn the newest methods of treatment for this pest, write for the booklet, "The Commonest Pest, Pinworm," enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover printing and handling.

Dr. Thosteson welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in this column whenever possible.

'Trainer' Hones Fliers' Skills

By HOWARD BENEDICT
AP Aerospace Writer

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The Apollo 8 astronauts are using a spacecraft trainer to sharpen skills for their scheduled launching Saturday toward an orbit around the moon.

Air Force Col. Frank Borman, Navy Capt. James A. Lovell Jr. and Air Force Maj. William A. Anders plan several hours in the simulator today, mainly rehearsing what they'll do as they circle the moon for 20 hours on Christmas-Eve and early Christmas Day.

Critical events during this period include the firing of the Apollo 8 engine to place the ship in a lunar orbit ranging from 69 to 196 miles above the surface, a second firing to circularize the path at the 69-mile altitude and a third ignition to shoot the astronauts out of orbit and start them on the 83-hour trip back to earth.

While circling the moon, they'll determine how accurately they can navigate by sighting on the stars and on prominent landmarks such as craters and mountains.

At the same time, ground stations will determine how precisely they can track Apollo 8. Large concentrations of material beneath the moon surface will cause subtle changes in the orbital path, and trackers want to know exactly where these shifts occur.

With present knowledge gained from tracking unmanned lunar orbiters, Anders said recently that moon landing astronauts could miss their target by

NOTICE OF LETTING
Sealed proposals will be received by the Idaho Board of Highway Directors of the State of Idaho, only at the office of the Department of Highways, 1 West State Street, Boise, Idaho, until two o'clock P.M. on the 27th day of January, 1968, for the contract of constructing 0.5 miles of roadway south of Castleford (fully known as Idaho State Route 20, Project No. B-270(2) in Twin Falls County.

The State Highway Department, in accordance with the provisions of Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, and the regulations of the Department of Construction, hereby gives notice pursuant to such Act, hereby notifies all bidders that it will affirmatively insure that no person shall be discriminated against on the basis of race, color, or national origin.

OFFICE TO FEDERAL-AID CONSTRUCTION CONTRACTORS
Noting that the proposal the contractor certifies that he does not maintain segregated facilities as specified on Form FH-127.

Proposal must be prepared and submitted in accordance with the requirements of Section 102. Proposal Requirements and Conditions of the Idaho Standard Specifications for Highway Construction, Edition of 1967.

Plans, specifications, form of contract, proposal forms, and other information may be obtained at the office of the Department of Highways, Boise, Idaho, and from the District Engineer, Shoshone, Idaho.

A charge of five dollars ($5.00) will be made for each set of plans payment to be made by check, payable to the Department of Highways, State of Idaho.

The right is reserved to reject all proposals, or to accept the proposal deemed best for the State of Idaho. No proposal will be considered unless accompanied by an acceptable proposal guaranty in an amount not less than five per cent of the total amount of the proposal. This guaranty may be in the form of a Certified Check or a Cashier's Check drawn on an Idaho bank, made payable to the Department of Highways, or a Bidder's bond.

Bidders shall be licensed in the State of Idaho by the State Contractors License Board except on projects involving Federal Funds. The successful bidder shall obtain such a license before award will be made. It is the policy of the State of Idaho to employ only those persons who are licensed under the provisions of the Idaho Standard Specifications. Bidders will be required to pay not less than the minimum amount of $10,000 as determined by the Secretary of Labor for the project as set out in the proposal. Such rates will be made a part of the contract covering the project.

as much as 48 miles. "The more Apollo 8 can learn about the moon's gravitational field, the less will be our error when astronauts land," Anders said.

One of the landmarks that navigation expert Lovell will observe is a "triangular-shaped mountain in the Sea of Tranquility" which—has—has—named "Mount Marilyn" after his wife. "No one else has named the thing," he said, "so I've unofficially named it Mount Marilyn."

The simulator time will add to the more than 250 hours each of the three astronauts has logged in the device since they began training for the mission in August.

Meanwhile, the lengthy countdown for the launching of the Saturn 5 rocket proceeded smoothly toward Saturday's scheduled liftoff of 7:51 a.m. EST.

Heavy ordnance, such as explosive devices which will separate the escape tower, heat shield and other sections of the spacecraft during flight, were installed last night. Crew pump helium, used for pressurization, into Apollo 8 today.

Court Arraigns 13 On Narcotics

LEWISTON, Idaho (AP) — Thirteen young people charged with either possession or sale of marijuana were arraigned in justice court here Monday and requested attorneys be appointed to represent them and that they be given preliminary hearings.

Justice Judge A. Quintan granted the request for court-appointed attorneys for defendants, ranging in age from 18 to 22, but said dates for preliminary hearings would have to wait until he conferred with attorneys. All are from the Lewiston-Clarkston area.

One of the 13 also was charged with the sale of the hallucinogenic drug, LSD.

FIVE young people remained to be arraigned and six juveniles were released to their parents.

The 24 were picked up Friday night in two raids here. Police said as many as 150 persons might be questioned in the current investigation of alleged drug use in this area.

Militants Continue To Hold College

PORTLAND (AP) — Black students continued Monday their occupation of the second floor of the principal administration building at Reed College to enforce demands for control of a black studies program.

The faculty invited the Black Students Union to name someone of academic standing—a black faculty member from some other institution—to assist the faculty and black students solve their differences.

Saturday the faculty adopted a resolution, without dissent, reaffirming its rejection of three demands which would make students supreme in the area of black studies. It was to enforce the demands that the building, Eliot Hall, was occupied.

The faculty said the student demands would create a black faculty with second-class academic citizenship, serving at the whim of the students and without protection for their jobs.

LBJ Asks 'Peace' At Rites

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson, lighting the National Christmas Tree for his sixth and last time, says his prayer remains unchanged.

My prayer now, as it has been in each of these other December nights, he said Monday night, "is for peace and reconciliation ahead, justice and tranquility at home."

Johnson lit the 74-foot-high Englemann Spruce from Uinta National Forest in Utah—covered with green lights set off by strings of white lights—at a ceremony in freezing temperatures.

The tree lit, the President lifted up his 17-month-old grandson, Lyn, who waved at the crowd and saluted and then kissed his grandfather on the cheek.

Lighting the tree near the White House, Johnson also lit the remote Alaskan village of Nulato on the Bering Sea.

Nulato is the first of 89 Alaskan villages that are to receive electric service from a project sponsored jointly by the federal government, Alaska and the villagers themselves.

Among guests at the ceremony were Sen. Frank E. Moss, D-Utah, who offered the tree to the nation from Utah's citizens, and Paul Sjoblom, Utah State forester.

Lack Of Quorum Kills Proposal

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A special meeting of Air West directors failed to attract a quorum Monday and as a result, stockholders will not be presented an offer by Mallory Randall Corp. to purchase the airline of the stockholders' meeting Dec. 27.

The Dec. 27 meeting was scheduled to hear a purchase offer from Howard Hughes, and Edmund Converse, vice chairman of the airline's board, contends Monday's meeting was "boycotted" by directors who favored Hughes' proposal.

Converse said 12 directors, owning 600,000 shares of Air West stock, were sending a statement to stockholders opposing Hughes' offer.

Robert Henry, company president, estimated the remaining 12 board members own about 700,000 shares and 3.7 million shares are outstanding.

Tribunal Ponders Tangled Draft Queries

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court, moving slowly and carefully, has started to resolve draft law questions raised by the Vietnam war. But important decisions still lie ahead.

In rulings Monday the court said:

—Divinity students and others expressly exempted from the draft by Congress may not be shown of their exemptions as punishment for antiwar views.

—A draft board's refusal to shield a man from military service as a conscientious objector cannot be tested in court before induction.

The decisions did not settle the basic issue of whether the Selective Service can use the draft laws to punish antiwar advocates.

This problem awaits the court in a case involving a draftee who doesn't have a statutory exemption and was classified 1A for turning in his draft card.

Draft boards, on a clear signal from Lt. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, director of Selective Service, have been using delinquency regulations to expose opponents of the war to immediate induction.

The divinity student ruling reduces the boards' power and may be interpreted as a blow at Hershey's policy.

Justice William O. Douglas, in the 6 to 3 decision said the Cheyenne, Wyo., draft board which classified divinity student James J. Oesterich 1A for turning in his draft card to the Justice Department acted in a "blatantly lawless manner."

Congress explicitly exempted from the draft divinity students and clerics, veterans, National Guardsmen and Reservists, sole surviving sons and youths under 18.

These people, under the Oesterich decision, cannot be forced into service because of their political, racial or religious views.

Most Vietnam war critics do not fit into this category. And the second ruling may foreshadow gloomy days for them.

However, that ruling dealt with a bid for conscientious objector status—and did not involve allegations that the draftee, Charles Gabriel of Alameda County, Calif., was being punished for his views on the war.

The next draft issue to be taken up by the Court involves Lawrence R. Faulkner, a 25-year-old Cornell graduate, who was reclassified 1A after he handed in his registration certificate to a Buffalo board to protest the United States' war policy.

Faulkner had enjoyed an occupational deferment as a teacher until he showed up at the board and denounced the war as immoral and illegal.

By then a graduate history student at the University of Buffalo, he was held delinquent for not having a registration certificate.

Faulkner sued and won a ruling in September by Federal Judge Anthony J. Travia of Brooklyn that cut a hole in the barrier against preinduction suits.

When a draftee claims he was reclassified for exercising his rights to free speech, Travia said, he is entitled to a court ruling without taking a chance on going to jail to get one.

The Justice Department, which had conceded Oesterich had such a right, makes no such concession in appealing to the Supreme Court.

Unless a draftee can get a ruling before induction he faces a dilemma. He can abandon his claim and accept induction. Or, he can refuse induction, he prosecuted by the government, and, with a possible jail term hanging over his head attack his reclassification while defending himself.

But at least one more step would remain: To decide whether, in any circumstances, it is constitutional to put at the very top of the list of draft-eligible the kind of young men Hershey has characterized as "misguided registrants."

Packwood Retains Election Margin As Recount Continues Through Oregon

PORTLAND (AP)—Republican Robert Packwood retained his narrow margin over Democrat Wayne Morse exactly after 21 counties completed their recount of Oregon's U.S. Senate race Monday.

Packwood, the 36-year-old state representative, edged the 24-year Senate veteran by 3,445 votes in the original tabulation. The recount in 21 counties showed both men had lost 55 votes.

Clackamas and Marion counties were the largest of the counties which have already finished recounting.

The widespread challenging of ballots which marked the opening of the recount Friday eased somewhat Monday, but it continued at about four per cent in Portland, where 550 of Multnomah County's 844 precincts have been recounted.

The challenges are split about evenly between Morse and Packwood, although Morse has a slight edge in the counties already completed.

Challenged ballots are not added until the contest for possible future examination.

Morse called for the recount after Packwood was officially certified the winner by the secretary of state. Fraud was not charged.

'68 Christmas Lighting Contest Deadline Is At 6 p.m. Friday

Christmas has changed down through the years but the spirit of the holiday, especially in the area of decorations, is nearly the same way it was in 1938. The Times-News and the Idaho Power Co. are again sponsoring a Christmas Lighting Contest and deadline for entries is 6 p.m. Friday. To date only three entries have been received. Cash awards totaling $150 are being offered this year for winners in the decorating contest. Sixty dollars goes to the first place winner; $35 will be given for second; $20 for third, and $10 for fourth, and there will be five honorable mention awards of $5 each.

Idahoans Lose Appeal In Suit Over Son's Death

BOISE (AP)—An Idaho Falls couple has lost an Idaho Supreme Court appeal of their suit in the death of their 13-year-old adopted son.

Displays must be in the Twin Falls city limits. They can be interior or exterior displays, as long as they are visible from the street. Inspection of those displays entered will begin next Sunday evening.

Curtis Petersen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jean Petersen, was one of five persons killed in a head-on collision Aug. 2, 1965, near Dowley.

Winners will be announced in the Times-News Christmas Eve. Entry blanks for the contest are carried in the Times-News. This blank must be filled out and returned to the Times-News Lighting Contest by this Friday.

Owen G. Johnson, Logan, Utah, nephew of Mrs. Petersen, was returning the boy to his Idaho Falls home after a visit with relatives when his car and one driven by Brent T. Johnson of Salt Lake City collided.

Displays are put together by local merchants, were placed in front of the high school. That building is now O'Leary Junior High.

Roth Johnsons and Brent Johnson's wife, Barbara, and three-month-old son, Michael, were killed.

The Petersens claimed damages from the estates of both Johnsons, who were not related. But the high court Monday upheld a district court decision that there was insufficient proof of negligence by Brent Johnson and of gross negligence by Owen Johnson.

Snowbound Teens Found In Spokane

CHEWELAH, Wash. (AP)—Two Spokane teenagers were found in good condition Monday after they were snowbound overnight in the area near here.

Stevens County authorities said Kirt Knowles, 18, and Ginny Cutler, 17, apparently took a wrong road, got stuck in the snow and couldn't walk out because of snow drifts.

A snowplow operator found the couple Monday.

Clinic Held At Shoshone On Wills

SHOSHONE — Do you need a will? What is community property? What would happen to you if you were suddenly left alone? These questions were answered during the Thursday evening session of the Record Management Clinic held at the Shoshone Courthouse, under sponsorship of the University of Idaho Extension Service in cooperation with Lincoln County Commissioners.

Mary Schmitt, Gooding attorney, and clerk of the Judicial District Court, was the featured speaker, being introduced by Mrs. Mary Lou Ruby, extension home agent.

Explanation was given that the individual should become familiar with the law within the state where they live regarding property and distribution of it after death of the owner before taking steps to handle the matter.

Miss Schmitt outlined various ways of avoiding probate, after a request from the floor. She pointed out benefits and hazards of such things as gifts, deeding property before death, trusts and explained probate of separate and community property, with and without a will.

Those who might be wise in making wills include couples with no children, to designate where their property is to go to those with a crippled child or one needing special guardian and assistance, second marriage individuals, those who own property in another state, a young child, to provide a guardian for them in event of their death, couples who have grown children and then a new baby, to provide for the guardian and care of the new baby.

A will does not avoid probate, however, but only clarifies the will of the deceased regarding his estate.

LBJ Asks 'Peace' At Rites

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson's lighting the National Christmas Tree for his sixth and last time, says his prayer remains unchanged. "My prayer now, as it has been in each of these other December's," he said Monday night "is for peace and reconciliation abroad; justice and tranquility at home."

Johnson lit the 74-foot-high Engelmann Spruce from Uinta National Forest in Utah, covered with green lights set off by strings of white lights—in a ceremony in freezing temperatures.

The tree lit by the President lifted up his 17-month-old grandson, Lynn, who waved at the crowd and saluted and then kissed his grandfather on the cheek.

In lighting the tree near the White House, Johnson also lit by radio signal a tree in the remote Alaskan village of Nulato on the Bering Sea.

Nulato is the first of 59 Alaskan villages that are to receive electric service from a project sponsored jointly by the federal government, Alaska and the villagers themselves.

Among guests at the ceremony were Sen. Frank E. Moss, D-Utah, who offered the tree to the nation from Utah's citizens, and Paul Sjöblom, Utah State forester.

Lack Of Quorum Kills Proposal

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A special meeting of Air West directors failed to attract a quorum Monday and as a result, stockholders will not be presented an offer by Mallory Randall Corp. to purchase the airline at the stockholders' meeting Dec. 27.

The Dec. 27 meeting was scheduled to hear a purchase offer from Howard Hughes, and Edmund Converse, vice chairman of the airline's board, contends Monday's meeting was "boycotted" by directors who favored Hughes' proposal.

Converse said 12 directors, owning 600,000 shares of Air West stock, were sending a statement to stockholders opposing Hughes' offer.

G. Robert Henry, company president, estimated the remaining 12 board members own about 700,000 shares and 3.7 million shares are outstanding.

Tribunal Ponders Tangled Draft Queries

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court, moving slowly and carefully, has started to resolve draft law questions raised by the Vietnam war. But important decisions still lie ahead.

In rulings Monday the court said:—Divinity students and others expressly exempted from the draft by Congress may not be shown of their exemptions as punishment for antiwar views.

A draft board's refusal to shield a man from military service as a conscientious objector cannot be tested in court before induction.

The decisions did not settle the basic issue of whether the Selective Service can use the draft laws to punish antiwar activities.

This problem awaits the court in a case involving a draftee who doesn't have a statutory exemption and was classified 1A for turning in his draft card.

Draft boards, on a clear sign from Lt. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, director of Selective Service, have been using delinquency regulations to expose opponents of the war to immediate induction.

The divinity student ruling reduces the boards' power and may be interpreted as a blow at Hershey's policy.

Justice William O. Douglas, in the 6 to 3 decision said "the Cheyenne, Wyo., draft board which classified the divinity student as a conscientious objector 1A for turning in his draft card to the Justice Department acted in a 'blatantly lawless manner.'"

Congress explicitly exempted from the draft divinity students and clerics, veterans, National Guardsmen and reservists, sole surviving sons and youths under 19.

Those people, under the Oesterreich decision, cannot be forced into service because of their political, racial or religious views.

Most Vietnam war critics do not fit into this category. And the second ruling may foreshadow gloomy days for them.

However, that ruling dealt with a bid for conscientious objector status—and did not involve allegations that the draftee, Charles Gabriel of Alameda County, Calif., was being punished for his views on the war.

The next draft issue to be taken up by the Court involves Lawrence R. Faulkner, a 25-year-old Cornell graduate, who was reclassified 1A after he handed in his registration certificate to a Buffalo board to protest the United States' war policy.

Faulkner had enjoyed an occupational deferment as a teacher until he showed up at the board and denounced the war as immoral and illegal.

By then a graduate history student at the University of Buffalo, he was held delinquent for not having a registration certificate.

Faulkner sued and won a ruling in September by Federal Judge Anthony J. Travia of Brooklyn that cut a hole in the barrier against preinduction suits.

When a draftee claims he was reclassified for exercising his rights to free speech, Travia said, he is entitled to a court ruling without taking a chance on going to jail to get one.

The Justice Department, which had conceded Oesterreich had such a right, makes no such concession in appealing to the Supreme Court.

Unless a draftee can get a ruling before induction he faces a dilemma. He can abandon his claim and accept induction. Or, he can refuse induction, he prosecuted by the government, hanging over his head attack his reclassification while defending himself.

But at least one more step would remain: To decide whether, in any circumstances, it is constitutional to put at the very top of the list of draft-eligibles the kind of young men Hershey has characterized as "misguided registrants."

Packwood Retains Election Margin As Recount Continues Through Oregon

PORTLAND (AP)—Republican Robert Packwood retained his narrow margin over Democrat Wayne Morse exactly after 21 counties completed their re-

count of Oregon's U.S. Senate race Monday.

Packwood, the 30-year-old state representative, edged the 24-year Senate veteran by 3,443 votes in the original tabulation.

The recount in 21 counties showed both men had lost 65 votes.

Clackamas and Marion counties were the largest of the counties which have already finished recounting.

The widespread challenging of ballots which marked the opening of the recount Friday eased somewhat Monday, but it continued at about four per cent in Portland, where 550 of Multnomah County's 844 precincts have been recounted.

The challenges are split about evenly between Morse and Packwood, although Morse has a slight edge in the counties already completed.

Challenged ballots are set aside from the others for possible future examination.

Morse called for the recount after Packwood was officially certified the winner by the secretary of state. Fraud was not charged.

McClure Supports Rule Opposition To Road Board

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. James McClure, R-Idaho, has backed the State Highway Board in opposing federal rule changes proposed by the Federal Highway Administration.

McClure said Monday at a Department of Transportation hearing the proposals would increase highway costs, delay construction and infringe on states' rights.

He said the proposed rules would increase federal regulation of locations and design selection of major highways and would permit anyone to appeal state highway plans directly to Washington for a variety of social and aesthetic reasons.

There is no entry fee but official entry is required.

Although the annual Christmas Lighting Contest has been in Twin Falls a short time, decorating in preparation for Christmas is a Twin Falls tradition.

Mrs. Anna H. Hayes, remembering 1936, said, "It was peaceful then."

Decorations, put together by local merchants, were placed in front of the high school. That building is now O'Leary Junior High.

Her husband, the man who mapped out the city of Twin Falls in 1904, headed up the annual yule decorating effort.

"It was a great pleasure then to see the decorations take form. It's a pleasure today to drive up and down the streets and see the many decorations which people take so much time to create," Mrs. Hayes said.

She recalled on incident years ago in which a Gooding man who had been celebrating came to Twin Falls to continue his observance of the holiday season.

He noticed the angels on top of the high school, turned his car around and went back to Gooding.

Decorations were unusual in 1936, and to a person that had been celebrating they were unexpected.

Today the decorations are part of the Christmas scene.

Clinic Held At Shoshone On Wills

SHOSHONE — Do you need a will? What is community property? What would happen to you if you were suddenly left alone? These questions were answered during the Thursday evening session of the Record Management Clinic held at the Shoshone Courthouse.

under sponsorship of the University of Idaho Extension Service in cooperation with Lincoln County Commissioners.

Mary Schmitt, Gooding attorney, and clerk of the Judicial District Court, was featured speaker, being introduced by Mrs. Mary Lou Ruby, extension home agent.

Explanation was given that the individual should become familiar with the law within the state where they live regarding property and distribution of it after death of the owner before taking steps to handle the matter.

Those who might be wise in making wills include couples with no children, to designate where their property is to go, those with a crippled child or one needing special guardian and assistance, second marriage individuals, those who own property in another state, a young couple with three or four small children, to provide a guardian for them in event of their death, couples who have grown children and then a new baby, to provide for the guardian and care of the new baby. A will does not avoid probate, however, but only clarifies the will of the deceased regarding his estate.

Fees and costs of various types of handling of estate were listed with note being made that the major cost of probate, ordinarily, is the attorney's fee. The State and Federal Inheritance Tax exemption rate, costs for a trust, taxes, both real and personal in gift matters and the three types of wills were outlined.

Pamphlets were given to those who attended with further explanation of the subject, "What Do You Know About Your Responsibilities and Rights."

Sen. Robert Kennedy. The present mission parish is no longer large enough to meet the needs of area residents and visitors. Rev. Francis DeNardis has initiated a building fund to acquire a minimum of $25,000 to establish the new church. It will be finished by next fall.

Greatest Prophet, Isaiah Preached Politics During His 40-Year Mission

By GEORGE W. CORNELL, AP Religion Writer

Scandalizing national policy, the seers rounded the street and plazas of Jerusalem, led by the learned prophet Isaiah.

For three years, up to 711 B.C., this famed, aristocratic sage of Judah had paraded about the city unshod and nearly naked, stripped to a loincloth, brazenly opposing the country's military coalition against the heathen Assyrian empire.

"A covenant with death!" he called it. "Draw near, O nations, to hear, O peoples."

"Woe to those who trust in chariots because they are many and in horses because they are very strong. Woe to you, destroyer. When you have ceased to destroy, you will be destroyed."

Such stinging indictments eventually would bring official fury crashing down on the prophet.

It was a time of turmoil, conflict and rising fear, like that of many periods and places since, up to today. Faith shrank, justice tottered and disorder grew. The rich plundered the poor and soldiers rushed about shouting commands.

"A city of chaos," Isaiah cried, "Terror, and the pit, and the snare are upon you, O inhabitant of the earth. We have made lies our refuge. The envoys of peace went bitterly. My people, your leaders mislead you and confuse the course of your paths."

But in the midst of the institutional deceit and pretensions, the Ingolsim, the wealth overruling-want, Isaiah saw glimmerings of future hope, that later would be regarded as a herald of Christmas—of Jesus's birth.

"The people who walked in darkness have seen a great light," the prophet said. "For to us a Child is born, to us a Son is given; and the government will be upon His shoulders and His name will be called Wonderful, Counselor, Father, Prince of Peace. Of the increase of His government and of peace there will be no end."

Through the reigns of four kings, the nobly born, intellectually gifted Isaiah served as a royal counselor, guiding the nation's conscience.

"He was a widely endowed man—a piercing poet, an adept statesman, a man of action and public affairs, unshaken in the presence of rulers, distressed at militarism, oppressions, the vaunted luxury in the face of poverty—the religious pervert."

"Your princes are all companions of thieves, he declared. They acquit the guilty for bribes and deprive the innocent of his right. They write 'Iniquitous decrees . . . to turn aside the needy from justice and to rob the poor.'"

Considered the greatest of the Old Testament prophets, Isaiah, like the others, never hesitated to bring politics into the pulpit. It was a prime concern.

"Seek justice, correct oppression," defend the fatherless, plead for the widows," he urged, in a military Jesus later cited as like his own.

He was in his early 20s when his ministry began, a brilliant, well-to-do young Jewish scholar, married to an aristocratic wife. They had two sons. The time was 746-45—the year Judah's King Uzziah died.

Isaiah's mission lasted more than 40 years—through the reigns of Jotham, Ahaz and Hezekiah, and probably into the reign of that of the vicious Manasseh.

It was in the rule of the nervous Ahaz, who about 732 B.C. planned a military pact with mighty, feared Assyria that Isaiah first spoke out against such bellicose combinations, often by the defense against the neighboring inter-separate Kingdom of Israel and Syria.

"Do not fear . . . these two smoldering stumps of fire-brothers," he told Ahaz, predicting that their own armed threats would be their downfall.

Ahaz spurned the advice, shacking his country to overshadowing Assyria, paying it heavy tribute to Judah's impoverishment, installing Assyria's pagan rites and altars to the human-headed bull-god of war.

Isaiah, on one of those strangely veiled premonitions, said that as a sign against Ahaz's course, a "young woman shall conceive and bear a son, and shall call his name Immanuel."

"O Lord our God, save us."

Isaiah's strange intimations of holy opposition infuriated Ahaz, who apparently ordered him silenced, branding him a conspirator against the state. But he kept at his work with his disciples, assembling his sermons in a book.

"Do not call conspiracy all that this people call conspiracy," he advised.

In the ensuing devastation which he had foreseen, Judah's new ally, the Assyrian war machine, crushed Syria in terrible carnage, slaying its King, and then in 722 B.C. destroyed the northern kingdom of Israel, enslaving its people, who vanished from history—the 10 "lost tribes."

Hezekiah succeeded to Judah's throne in 716 B.C., alarmed at the encroaching depredations of Assyria. He revolted Ahaz's subservient policy, banished the alien idols and plotted a new military compact with Egypt.

Isaiah condemned the new military alliance, as he had the previous one. But Hezekiah went ahead with it, bolstering his army, displaying his weapons to the Egyptian Pharaoh's deputies.

Isaiah began his prolonged public protest, walking the streets daily in a state of undress, symbolizing the barrenness of "security" in armaments.

"It will turn to your shame," he said, and God will use idolatry, Assyria itself as "the rod" of disastrous consequences.

"Retaliating swiftly against Hezekiah's new pact, the dread Assyrian juggernaut under Sargon II rolled over Egypt, conquering it, and then under the brutal Sennacherib, it razed 46 walled cities of Judah, dragging 200,150 people into slavery, and then brought its troops, catapults and battering-rams to the capital, Jerusalem.

A frantic King Hezekiah, his city surrounded and helpless for all his military preparedness, turned at last to earnest prayer.

"O Lord our God, save us."

New Fighting Breaks Out In Nigerian War

LAGOS (AP)—Heavy fighting was reported on several fronts in Nigeria today, and Western television cameramen reported Biafran troops have reentered Owerri and virtually encircled Nigerian troops there. The cameramen from Sweden, France and West Germany visited the Owerri front Sunday.

They said Biafran troops closed in on the town from four sides and bitter street fighting was in progress. The federal troops had taken it in September.

A Biafran war communique Monday reported Nigerian troops had pushed Biafran forces out of the location captured earlier in Owerri. It gave no details. But the cameramen said the Nigerians had been pushed back 13 miles on the Owerri-Onitsha road, to the Biafran airstrip at Uli-Ihalala.

A joint British-Nigerian commander said here Monday said the federal government is willing to accept observers from the Organization of African Unity to check on relief operations into Biafra. Secessionist Biafrans have rejected a land corridor and daylight airlift for relief supplies, but the presence of OAU observers could alter this stand.

Dear Abby

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am a professional man who is presently married to the woman who was my secretary for several years. She is my second wife.

We have been married for a year and I have two small children. (I also have older children by my first wife.)

My problem: My wife is "revelous" and wants to go back to work—in MY office. And I don't want her there.

She has all kinds of arguments on her side. She knows my business, was an excellent secretary and we have help at home so she wouldn't be neglecting the children.

She says she missed the "excitement" of the business world. If I raise any objections she gets suspicious. I have no ulterior motives. She doesn't need the money. Could find other ways of keeping busy, and I simply do not want her in my office.

Now, Dear Abby, if you can tell me how I can keep her out peacefully, you are a genius. Or am I wrong?

NO GENIUS, I

DEAR NO GENIUS: I'm no genius either, but I'll try. Tell your wife that you took her out of your office and made her the lady of your house because that's where you wanted her to be. Also it's unfair for a woman who doesn't need the money to take the job from someone who does. (Tell her with her abilities she can occupy herself constructively in volunteer work.) And unless the "excitement" of the business world after the children are in their teens, you'll reconsider. But right now, the word from here is no.

DEAR ABBY: Can you get pregnant from a kiss?

PENNY:

DEAR PENNY: No, but it's a good beginning.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 16-year-old girl who looks like, but people say I have a "nerve" personality. I date some, but I'm not wildly popular. Anyway, I am tired of rassing around in a car after a date with a guy. I can't figure out what makes boys think I am that kind of girl.

My girl friends tell me they have the same problem. How does a girl get a boy to respect her?

SANDY:

DEAR SANDY: Some boys will try anything. Just to see how far they can get. Girls gain the respect of boys by making it plain that they will not be talked into (or out of) anything.

DEAR ABBY: I have one child, Denny. He has been married for 4 years and has two children. Every Christmas Denny and his wife go to her mother's for Christmas. HER mother has four children and I don't think this is fair.

Isn't Denny's mother-in-law selfish to expect her daughter to come and spend every Christmas with her? I know that Denny like to spend Christmas with us once in a while.

DEAR MOTHER: Children who want to be "fair" alternate each year. But don't be so quick to blame Denny's mother-in-law. She only extends the invitations. It's Denny and his wife who accept them.

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069 and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

DECORATE PACKAGE

Let the world know that you are a lover of natural beauty, says the Society of American Florists. Decorate any gift package—not just Christmas—with one huge or tiny fresh flower.

With the coming of the holidays, we begin to think about Christmas and New Year feasts. We think of special dishes that will help to set a very special mood of gaiety, happiness and nostalgia. Here are two recipes that are just right for a festive gathering of family and friends.

HOLIDAY ROAST GOOSE

This eye-appealing roast goose is unsurpassed in flavor as the result of a perfect blending of spices and herbs including mustard, Bon Appetit, ginger, nutmeg, Herb Seasoning and Black Pepper. For the gravy, "so-so" mouth-watering good it could set a festive mood all by itself. We used a combination of white spices such as cloves, allspice, bay leaf and others.

The truly delicious flavor of the fruit too is enhanced with a slight hint of spices. Use them in their natural colors or you can have them radiant with color by adding Schilling Food Color—either way they will be a pleasant accent to the meal.

What better meal to serve to keep your whole house in a happy mood with a feeling of complete fulfillment.

HOLIDAY ROAST GOOSE

- 1 13-pound goose
  - 1 teaspoon Schilling Black Pepper
  - 1/2 teaspoon Schilling MSG
  - 2 teaspoons Schilling Onion Salt
  - 2 teaspoons Schilling Dry Mustard
  - 1 teaspoon Schilling Ginger
  - 1 tablespoon Schilling Bon Appetit
  - 1/2 teaspoon Schilling Mace
  - 2 teaspoons Schilling Herb Seasoning
  - 1 tablespoon salt
  - 1 cup red wine
  - 1/2 teaspoon McCormick or Schilling Season-All
  - 1/2 teaspoon Schilling Poultry Seasoning
  - 2 tablespoons Schilling Vegetable Flakes
  - 1 Schilling Day Leaf
  - 2 Schilling whole Cloves
  - 6 Schilling whole Allspice
  - 2 Schilling whole Cardamom
  - 1/2 teaspoon Schilling MSG
  - 2 cups water
  - 1-2 tablespoons flour
- Rinse goose inside and out; pat dry. Combine pepper, the one-half teaspoon MSG, onion salt, dry mustard, ginger, Bon Appetit, mace, Herb Seasoning and salt; rub inside cavity and over outside of goose. (A few prunes and other dried fruits may be put in cavity during cooking if desired. This fruit is usually discarded because of excess fat from goose.) Tie the legs together loosely. Pierce well all over with lines of fork. Place on rack in a roasting pan. Roast in 450 degree oven 20 minutes. Remove fat as it accumulates in the pan during cooking. Reduce heat to 225 degrees Fahrenheit and continue to roast, allowing 30 minutes per pound. Baste several times with wine. When bird reaches the desired shade of brown, cover with cheesecloth moistened with goose fat and keep moistened with water or wine.
- While goose is roasting, place the giblets and neck in a saucepan; add Season-All, poultry seasoning, vegetable flakes, bay leaf, cloves, allspice, cardamom and the 1/2 teaspoon MSG and water. Bring to a boil and simmer two and one-half to three hours. Strain, reserving the broth for gravy. Chop giblets. When goose is done, remove to heated platter. Pour off fat, leaving the browned bits in roasting pan. Stir in flour, grease until bubbly and lightly browned. Gradually add the broth, stirring and scraping the bottom of the pan to remove all the browned bits. Add the chopped giblets and simmer 5 minutes. Serve goose on hot platter with attractive arrangement of fruit and a garnish of parsley, and serve gravy in a sauceboat.

*Serves 8 to 10.

Note: Since goose is so fat stuffing is not usually baked in the bird. A bread or rice stuffing may be baked in a casserole if desired.

- SPICY FRUITS
  - 1 cup dried apricots
  - 1 cup dried peaches
  - 2 cups water
  - 1/2 cup vinegar
  - 1/2 cups dark brown sugar, packed
  - 3 3-inch pieces Schilling Cinnamon
  - 1/2 teaspoon Schilling whole Allspice
  - 1 teaspoon Schilling whole Cloves
- Combine all ingredients in a saucepan. Bring to a boil; simmer 30 minutes or until tender. Makes two cups fruit.

Magic Valley Favorites

- Spanish Meat Balls
- 2 pounds hamburger
- 1/2 pound sausage
- 1 cup bread crumbs
- 1 scant cup rice, soaked overnight
- 3 eggs

Recipes

In conjunction with the Times-News Magic Fiesta tour to Spain and Portugal, scheduled Feb. 8 through 22, The Times-News thought it might be interesting to place special emphasis on Spanish and Portuguese recipes for the next few weeks in the Magic Valley Favorites.

All persons having recipes native of these two countries are invited to submit them to our weekly content. They will be handled exactly as all recipes used in Magic Valley Favorites.

Five dollars is paid for the weekly recipe winner which appears in the Sunday paper. If you have a favorite recipe, just mail it to the Recipe Department, Women's Page Editor. The recipe becomes the property of the Times-News and cannot be returned.

Winners Told

HANSEN—Mr. and Mrs. Louis Hansen were hosts to the members of the Joker Card Club at their home.

Mr. and Mrs. L. C. McFarland were high score winners for both men and women, and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Dohse were low score winners. Mrs. McFarland received the traveling prize.

The Saturday meeting will be at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Don Conner.

Potluck Meet Set Wednesday

A potluck work meeting was planned for Wednesday when members of the Goodwill Club met recently, with Mrs. Lloyd Kelley as hostess. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Kelley to finish stuffing animals and dressing dolls, the club project for helping the Twin Falls Firemen with their annual Christmas toy distribution.

Party Slated

A social gathering for the children of Blue Lakes Country Club members will be held at 2 p.m. Sunday at the Blue Lakes Country Club. Santa Claus will be on hand to visit with the youngsters and distribute sacks of candy and nuts. Members of the club are asked to bring a gift for the child if they want Santa Claus to present it. Entity Children will be accompanied for the songfest.

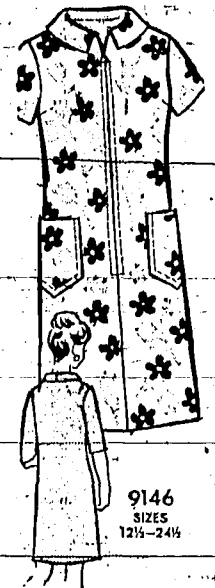

Secret pal gifts went to all members. The next regular meeting is scheduled for Jan. 8.

WHY CHRISTMAS ALMOST WASN'T

Local BPW
Group Holds
Xmas Party

The Twin Falls Business and Professional Women held their annual Christmas party Sunday at the Roundup Room of the Roundup Hotel.

Mrs. Ann Strong, president at the head table and Mrs. Bess Harrison gave the invocation. Joan Amstrong, president of the CSI Samothrace Club, was introduced by Mrs. Strong. Miss Amstrong told of the club's progress and introduced several other members of the group.

The 110th member of the club, Mrs. Al Heib, was presented by Mrs. Greta Smith. Mrs. Strong noted this is the largest membership that Idaho has ever had.

Mrs. Vera Rauch told the group of talking with the national BPW president, Mrs. Hope Roberts, while in Reno, Nev., recently. Mrs. Roberts sent congratulations to the Twin Falls ladies on their outstanding club work.

Mrs. Rauch said the local president, Mrs. Strong, has been a BPW member for 11 years and has brought 40 members into the club. 18 this year. Mrs. Rauch presented Mrs. Strong a corsage.

Mrs. Doris Harper thanked the group for the gifts that were brought for the adopted family. Gifts also were brought for senior citizens. A collection was taken to supplement the food baskets.

Program chairman, Mrs. Ina Knox, presented Mrs. Lillian Sullivan who sang "Silver Bells" and "How Great Thou Art." Mrs. Arlene Patterson and Mrs. Mary Kay Boyd played two piano duets, "Night and Day" and "Flapperette."

Using a flannel board, Mrs. Veri Mencham portrayed various persons and objects in poetry form presented in different phases of the Christmas story.

Mrs. Mary Grace Cox, Jerome BPW member, extended season greetings to the group.

Mrs. Sue Krauth and Mrs. Lee Skinner made feather corsages to resemble poinsettias and each member present received one.

Two husbands of club members, Ralph Rauch and Lawrence Harper, attended the dinner meeting.

Valley Traffic Courts

Ralph S. Hodgson, 27, Burley, was fined $200 and sentenced to 30 days in the city jail by Judge Willis for drunk driving and $200 and 30 days for driving on a suspended driver's license.

Kathleen Archer, Burley, was fined $20 by Judge Willis for failure to yield the right of way and $10 for expired driver's license.

Joe L. Martindale, 24, Burley, forfeited $10 in Burley Police Court for an expired driver's license, $25 for failure to appear and $10 for a stop light violation.

Peace, Mrs. Ruth Parsons, for speeding. They were Clifford O. Erghm, 50, and Mrs. Donna Green, 25, both Boise.

Others fined for speeding were Adelle R. Tvees, 45, Burley, who forfeited a $20 bond; Henri W. LeMoyno, 18, Hagerman, $25, and George H. Jones, 44, Boise, $10.

Mario G. Stone, 40, Ft. Hall, was fined $100 by Mrs. Parsons for driving while her driver's privileges were suspended.

Elderly Couple,
Dog Found Dead

VALE, Ore. (AP)—Autopsies have been ordered into the deaths of an elderly couple.

The bodies of Walter G. Scott, 77, and his wife, Mildred, 66, and of the family dog were found Monday afternoon at their Seattle house, said Sheriff Bob Ingram.

Ingram said the deaths apparently were caused by gunshot wounds and he termed it a murder-suicide. Two pistols were found at the scene, he said.

Musical Slated

FAIRFIELD—An evening of Christmas music is being planned from 7 to 8 p.m. Sunday at the Community Church, according to Rev. James Post.

The program will feature both special and congregational songs of favorite hymns and Christmas music. The public is invited.

Kansas Puts On 72-59 Hoop Show

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP)—Hot-shooting Kansas opened a 20-2 lead and breezed to a 72-59 basketball victory over Murray, Ky., State Monday night.

CSI had this one tucked away well ahead of that.

At Davis and Ron Adams got most of the early points to shove CSI into a 10-point advantage with seven and one-half minutes gone. With defense set at 10:41.

CSI got points from Davis, Adams, Tom Bush and Steve Miller — the last two off Miller steals — to explode in front by 18. The Chukars couldn't get closer than 16 after that.

With Stephens hitting his peak in the second half, CSI mush-roomed into a 32-point lead at 69-36 with 7:36 left in the game.

Lefly Dave Schmidt scored also TVCC points early in the second half and the Chukars' leading scorer, Les Harris, held by solid defensive effort by Miller, was held to two points over the first 30 minutes. Harris started going to outside jumpers in the closing 10 minutes to grab scoring honors with 14.

CSI will go to the University of Utah from Thursday night and move to Logan for the Utah yearlings Friday night.

The Irish had led 65-55 with four minutes remaining, but sophomore Tom Masterson and junior Larry Mikan helped cut the deficit to 65-63 with 20 seconds left.

Masterson, who had only six points, hit two baskets in the rally and added another with three seconds left.

Senior Bob Whitmore scored 24 points for Notre Dame, including 10 field goals. Carr added 18 points. Mikan topped the Gophers with 17.

Nancy Richey Is Best Tennis Player

NEW YORK (AP)—Nancy Richey of San Angelo, Tex., has regained her ranking as the No. 1 women's tennis player in the United States.

The 26-year-old brunette replaced Billie Jean King who turned professional during the year.

The recommended rankings were announced Monday by the Women's Ranking Committee of the U. S. Lawn Tennis Association.

Miss Richey won the French Open, the Madison Square Garden Challenge Trophy, and the National Clay Court Championship this year, beating Mrs. King in the Garden and French Championships.

Grant's 'Discipline Program' Helped Vikings Grab Division

MINNEAPOLIS—ST. PAUL (AP)—The Minnesota Vikings call it Coach Bud Grant's discipline program.

The players give that program part of the credit for Minnesota's championship in the Central Division of the National Football League.

Rookie Is In Fair Shape After Injury

WASHINGTON (AP)— Redskins rookie Jim Smith, who suffered a broken neck Sunday in Washington's season-ending National Football League game with Detroit, was listed in satisfactory condition in a hospital Monday.

Team physician Dr. George A. Resta said there has been no indication of paralysis.

Mel Allen Is Given Operation

Larry Mahan Is Top Rodeo Money Winner

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—Professional rodeo cowboys had record-breaking paydays — to the tune of $3.7 million — in the 1968 rodeo season, the Rodeo Cowboys Association said Monday.

On a per rodeo basis, cowboy Larry Mahan of Oklahoma City, Okla., won his second straight title for the third time with a record $25,000.

Attendance records were shattered by the finals competition, when 58,000 persons came to watch the event.

For the third time, Larry Mahan, 25, Brooks, Okla., was crowned All-Around Cowboy champion. He first won the title in 1966 with winnings of $40,358.

The only previous triple winners were Tim "Shoemaker" Clark of Oklahoma and Dean Oliver of Idaho.

Gruebner To Make Team, He Says

ADELAIDE, Australia (AP)—A disappointed Clark Gruebner, stung by omission from the U.S. official Davis Cup team, said today he believed he could fight his way back onto the tennis squad which meets Australia here next week.

"I think I have as good a chance of playing as anybody," the tall bespectacled New York paper executive said after the bombshell announcement that he was not a member of the four-man team named by Captain Donald Dell.

"I have had some physical problems but I feel great now and I am in shape. I am going to play my heart out the next few days."

Gruebner has five days to prove that Dell made a mistake when he nominated Arthur Ashe, Stan Smith, Bob Lutz and Charlie Pasarell to carry the colors against the Aussies in the Challenge Round Dec. 26 through Dec. 29.

Muhammed Ali Will Serve Short Term

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Former heavyweight boxing champion Muhammed Ali will go to Dade County Jail Monday to serve a 10-day sentence for an old traffic charge and said it would be good training if he had to serve his five-year term for draft dodging.

All has been unable to get matched for a fight since his showdown with the draft board at Houston that led to his federal conviction.

His troubles with Miami Traffic Court began May 17, 1967, when he was driving along an expressway with his chauffeur beside him.

He was spotted by officer Robert Elliott, who remembered Ali from a previous traffic conviction.

Santa Clara Vaults To Tenth In Poll; UCLA Is Far Ahead Of Tar Heels

By DEN OLAN
It's only fitting that Santa Clara should be the big wheel at this time of year, but the old guy with the slosh and white beard took a back seat Monday to Santa Clara, suddenly among the elite in The Associated Press' major college basketball poll.

The Broncos soared from 10th all the way to 10th place, highlighting the voting in the latest poll based on games through last Saturday. Santa Clara upset 12-ranked Houston 75-50 and also downed San Francisco 78-50 last week for a 50 season's

The setback dropped Houston from 12th to 20th place. New Mexico State and Louisville, both 5-0, are the new clubs among the ranking teams. State climbed to 14th and Louisville to 10th.

The powerful UCLA Bruins maintained their solid hold on first place although they were not a unanimous choice as they were a week ago. The Bruins collected 29 votes for the top spot among the 30 sports writers and broadcasters participating in the poll. Runnerup North Carolina took the other first place vote.

In points on a basis of 20 for a first place vote, 18 for second, 16 for third, 14 for fourth, 12 for fifth, 10 for sixth, 9 for seventh and down to one for a 30th place vote, the Bruins had 598 points, North Carolina 512 and third-place Davidson 427. There were no changes either in the next five positions held by Kentucky, New Mexico, Cincinnati, Notre Dame, and Villanova in that order.

St. Bonaventure advanced a notch to ninth.

The Top 20, with first place votes, records and total points.

Bengals Win

POCATELLO (AP) — O'Neal Simmons stole the ball and hit a driving layup in the final seconds to give Idaho State a 71-69 basketball victory over South Dakota Monday night.

Simmons, a 5-11 guard, scored 21 points — 15 in the second half — to lead all scorers.

The game was tied eight times. Idaho State lost a 10 point lead in the final ten minutes as Bill Hamer put in three outside shots to spritz South Dakota rally.

Saints Deny Rumors Of New Coach

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A spokesman for the New Orleans Saints said Monday there would be no comment on an Associated Press report that the National Football League team had hired unsuccessfully several days ago to get Vince Lombardi to become the club's head coach and general manager.

A highly placed source in the Saints organization told The Associated Press earlier that Lombardi turned down an offer in six figures to take the combined post.

Lombardi was contacted at Green Bay several days ago by a Saints emissary. The source said Lombardi is now general manager of the Packers. He relinquished the head coaching job last winter after guiding Green Bay to a record three straight NFL championships.

The source said that Tom Fears would continue as head coach for at least another year.

Some people who saw Notre Dame hold Simpson to 55 yards in 21 carries may doubt Simpson's greatness. They are fooling themselves. Brown, Sayers and Kelly have all been stepped for low yardage in various games. Notre Dame keyed on Simpson and his team was not able to take up the slack elsewhere. In pro ball, a team can rarely key on one man because there are usually other standout offensive players to worry about.

A question always arises whether a college star can make 4-0 211 in the pros. Sometimes the campus hero does fail in pro ball. Simpson, however, does not fall in this category. He is of proven stature. This season he withstood pressure as great as any young fellow could possibly face.

After a brilliant junior year, he returned this year to play "at good or better than in 1967" and, it seems, with a poorer!

Tarkenton Says Simpson Could Be Greatest Pro Runner Ever

By FRAN TARKENTON
NEW YORK (NEA) — In recent times there have been only three great breakout runners in professional football: Jim Brown, Gale Sayers and Leroy Kelly. There will soon be a fourth: O. J. Simpson.

He even may become the greatest of all time. Simpson, the Southern California star, combines all the best attributes of all three. "He is big and strong like Brown, shifty as Kelly and even faster than Sayers."

Some people who saw Notre Dame hold Simpson to 55 yards in 21 carries may doubt Simpson's greatness. They are fooling themselves. immediately reminded of Kelly. In the game against the Giants, Kelly gained only 50 yards all day. Yet he scored four touchdowns. He was fantastic. He was cutting in the holes. Kelly will not make the long touch-down runs of a Sayers or Simpson because he's not as fast, but that hardly seems to matter with him.

Physical skill, no matter how superlative, is only part of the story. To be great, a man must want it badly, must burn inside with desire. He refuses to accept any kind of mediocrity. Prop what I have heard, Simpson has a great attitude. He is hungry to excel and gets the most out of his athletic ability by carrying the ball 35 to 40 times a game in a bruising conference.

Simpson won't be the only great back entering the league next season. Leroy Keyes of Purdue may possibly be the finest all-round athlete to ever enter professional football.

Depending on where his pro coach wants to play him, Keyes is potentially an all-pro flanker, an all-pro half-back and an all-pro defensive back.

With Simpson and Keyes coming into the league, pro fans have a lot of excitement to look forward to. And opposition coaches and players can look forward to many more headaches.

Coach Named

NEW YORK (AP) — Walter Kennedy, commissioner of the National Basketball Association, said Monday Gene Shue of the Baltimore Bullets will coach the East team in the NBA's All-Star game next month.

Richie Guerin of the Atlanta Hawks will head the West team in the game scheduled for Jan. 14 in Baltimore.

Green Bay's Horn Is NFL Back Of Week

NEW YORK (AP) — Don Horn, a green fourth string quarterback who just got out of the Army, picked up the Green Bay Packers after Zeke Bratkowski was hurt Sunday and did a job that won The Associated Press' designation as Offensive Player of the Week in the National Football League.

Highly regarded as a quarterback prospect and drafted in the first round in 1967 after he came out of San Diego State, Horn was activated last week and then turned around and knocked the Chicago Bears out of the Central Division championship.

Horn, a 6-foot-2, 195-pounder, threw touchdown passes of 67 and 25 yards and set up a third score with a 45-yard pass to Boyd Dowler while completing 10 of 16 for 170 yards.

London Is Forced To Cancel Fight

BLACKPOOL, England (AP) — Brian London, former British heavyweight boxing champion, slipped on a snow-covered sidewalk Monday and had to pull out of his 16-round fight with Henry Clark, of Los Angeles, at Liverpool, Tuesday.

London, 34, hurt his back in the fall. A doctor ruled he would be unfit to fight for two weeks.

Cole Will Miss Colt's Playoff Game

BALTIMORE (AP) — Rookie fullback Terry Cole of the Baltimore Colts will miss the National Football League's Western Conference playoff game Sunday because of a broken rib.

Cole, who had been filling in for injured veteran Jerry Hill, was hurt in Sunday's game against the Los Angeles Rams.

Should the Colts advance to the Super Bowl game on Jan. 12, Cole is expected to be available for duty by then.

Hill was activated last week.

DOUBLE WAS BETTER BID
South's opening of two diamonds was one of those weak two bids that have become standard equipment for American experts. Not that this particular one was unusual. A weak two should be based on a six-card suit and South had only five diamonds.

of a hand, at least get the worst with a plus. He was certain that he could beat five diamonds. He wasn't certain that he could make five hearts.

Actually, he would have had no trouble making five hearts and scoring 450 points. He did a trifle better against five diamonds.

Clubs were opened and continued with South ruffing the third lead. South led a low heart and Bobby Goldman played his jack just in case South held the queen and 10.

If Billy had simply let that jack hold, South would have saved a trick by working out a spade end play but Billy overtook the jack with his queen and led a spade. After this, there was no way for South to go down less than three tricks and Billy and Bobby scored 500 instead of 450.

This doesn't seem like much but in a World's Championship those 50s mount up.

Bidding.
This bid put a lot of pressure on Billy Eisenberg who sat East. He had to decide between a five-heart bid and a double. He was not going to pass because his ace, king and queen represented a lot of strength after everyone else had bid. He decided to double on the well-established theory that, if you are going to get the worst

Hog Ranked Ninth In Animal Intelligence List

AM TOLD A GENTLEMAN in the Springs, Ark., has put only for a dog? "WHAT'S THE BEST NAME for a dog?" inquires a lady who's housebroken a hog, but has only trained-said animal to clean up after his own room every day. That's help him. Our Name Game man wonderful. Do you suppose it makes up the bed? Wouldn't be surprised. On that list of animals in order of intelligence, the hog ranks ninth. EXCELLENT! Now I have a customer in Owensboro, Ky. Asks if I've ever been there. Never have. All I know about Owensboro is that's the town where it's illegal for a woman to buy a hat unless her husband tries it on her first and gives his okay.

"MUST KNOW HOW to handle women? That significant line appears in a help-wanted advertisement which a publisher put in a trade journal to find a print shop foreman. A candidate for the position asks, "What's this job? Can your Love and War man give me a crash course on how to handle women?" That's like asking a college professor to teach kindergarten, sir. Handling women plural is far easier than handling a woman singular. Our L. and W. man specializes in the latter. However, in brief, he advises, "Be firm, fair, and formal."

IN HIS ADVICE to the young respondent for Collier's, Miss bachelor on the courting of a girl, that amateur Love and War man Thomas d'Urfay said, "Take not the first refusal. The girl you now see won't soon be will." INASMUCH AS no body can tell the difference between natural pearls and cultured, how come natural pearls cost about twice as much? IN THE UNITED STATES, it's said—college graduates outnumber illiterate graduates 5 to 1. With some lapover, I presume.
