Apollo Streaks To Pinpoint Landing

BOBBY KENNEDY JR., 14, son of the late Senator Robert Kennedy, was one of the six Kennedy children who stopped briefly in Twin Falls Thursday, while enroute to Sun Valley for a skiing vacation. All of the Kennedy children and some young friends who accompanied them pitched in and helped transfer their luggage from the plane to the bus.

Stockholders Of Air West Vote On Sale

MILLBRAE, Calif. (AP) — Air West stockholders meet today to vote on an offer by Howard Hughes to buy the eight-month-old airline for an estimated $95 million.

But opponents of the Las Vegas billionaire's cash offer of $22 a share were ready with reasons to delay action at the meeting until a competing offer made just three days ago by Northwest Airlines can be explored fully.

T. F. Wells Stage Line Quits Dec. 31

Twin Falls Wells Nevada Stage Line, which has operated out of Twin Falls since 1928, will discontinue all operations, effective Dec. 31, according to J. R. Personius, president.

"It appears that the traveling public no longer requires bus services between Twin Falls and Wells," Mr. Personius noted, adding there has been a steady decline in traffic over the last several years.

Spaceship Hits Pre-Dawn Ocean Without Mishap

ABOARD USS YORKTOWN (AP) — Climbing magnificently on the Apollo 8 moon explorers came home from the heavens today, steering their spaceship to a pinpoint landing less than three miles from the main recovery ship in a darkened Pacific Ocean.

Air Force Col. Frank Borman, Navy Capt. James A. Lovell Jr. and Air Force Maj. William A. Anders reported they were in excellent condition after the momentous journey.

They landed just before dawn and waited patiently in their bobbing spaceship for 45 minutes until the first rays of light began to illuminate the Pacific so that swimmers could safely drop into the sea to secure the Apollo 8 craft.

America's newest heroes ended man's greatest space adventure and one of history's most momentous explorations—when they survived man's hottest and fastest dive through the atmosphere and parachuted into a 7,000 yards for the Yorktown.

Helicopters spotted the six-ton spaceship dangling under its three red and white parachutes as it dropped to the sea. They were overhead moments after the 10:50 a.m. EST splashdown.

While waiting for pickup, the astronauts chatted by radio with the commander of the helicopter hovering overhead.

Cmdr. Donald S. Jones of Madison, Wis., asked the astronauts what the moon was made of.

"It's not made of green cheese at all," Borman replied. "It's made out of American cheese."

Asked what they wanted for breakfast, the astronauts replied "steak and eggs, the same that we had before we left the Cape last week."

They are the first U.S. astronauts to land in darkness. It was 4:50 a.m. local time, about an hour before dawn and 45 minutes before first light.

Unless there were an emergency, frogmen did not plan to deploy from the helicopters until first light, leaving the astronauts to wait out the recovery in their floating craft.

"Crew condition okay," came the happy report from Yorktown.

The astronauts had been away from earth exactly six days three hours on a dramatic mission that thrilled the world and gave man his first close-up look at the mysterious celestial neighbor that has intrigued humans since the beginning.

They traveled 69 hours out to the moon, circled it 10 times in 20 hours at an altitude of 70 miles, then sped home along a 38-hour corridor. They logged about 537,000 perfect miles.

Local Man Took Part In Apollo Mission Control

James M. Slater, 28, a 1961 graduate of Twin Falls High School, has been much in the public eye recently, as he has been taking part in the mission control for the Apollo 8 flight.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred W. Slater, 149 Van Buren, have been keeping track of their son via television since the astronauts took off.

Young Slater, an electronics engineer, was graduated from Santa Clara University, San Jose, Calif., in 1966.

Mrs. Slater said that her son always has wanted to work at Cape Kennedy, but is thrilled to be part of the team at Houston.

Mrs. Slater said her son began work on the mission control panel when the flight began.

U.S. Will Sell Jets To Israel

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department announced today final agreement on a $200 million deal to provide 30 Phantom jet fighters to Israel.

A spokesman said delivery of the planes to Israel will begin before the end of 1969 and continue into 1970.

Bomb Test

WASHINGTON (AP) — Communist China detonated early today a nuclear device with a yield of about three megatons, or three million tons of TNT, the Atomic Energy Commission announced.

The AEC said the atmospheric test, the eighth detected by the United States, occurred in the Lop Nor area about 2:30 a.m. (EST).

'New' Strain Of Flu Cited In Death Toll

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Hong Kong flu has caused widespread or regional illnesses in 33 states and deaths attributed to pneumonia-influenza more than doubled during the third week of December, the National Communicable Disease Center reports.

Officials are standing by their earlier predictions that the epidemic will not hit its peak until early or mid-January.

During the week ending Dec. 21, the center's figures show approximately 500 more deaths from pneumonia-influenza in 122 selected cities throughout the nation than might normally be expected.

However, Dr. David J. Sencer, the center's director, cautioned that the figures from the national epidemic, the strongest single strain now becomes the only variety showing up in tests.

Murder Charge Filed

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — A fugitive from a Missouri mental hospital has been charged with murder after leading police to the frozen body of 10-year-old Pamela Powers, missing since Christmas Eve.

A self-styled minster who identified himself as Anthony Erthell Williams, 24, a Negro, wordlessly directed detectives to Pamela's half-clothed body wedged between a culvert and the side of a snow-covered 15-foot embankment, Thursday.

Police waited results of an autopsy to determine how the blonde, blue-eyed fourth-grader died and how long she had been in the spot near Mitchellville, 10 miles east of Des Moines on Interstate 80.

Des Moines Police Chief Wendell Nichols said Williams agreed to disclose the place to detective Capt. Clonius Leaming and Lt. Wallace Nelson during the automobile trip from Davenport, Iowa, where Williams had turned himself in Thursday morning.

After his arraignment on an open charge of murder under heavy guard at the Des Moines police station Thursday, Williams spoke only to his lawyer, Henry T. McKnight of Des Moines.

Nichols said officers did not press Williams for details of the Christmas Eve abduction or slaying under terms of an agreement with McKnight on Williams' surrender.

Officers who accompanied Williams and the two detectives to the crime scene said Williams showed no signs of emotion.

"He was almost casual and not downcast," said one.

His return to Des Moines police headquarters—only four blocks from the YMCA building where Pamela disappeared Tuesday—was conducted under heavy security after police received "anonymous telephone calls threatening Williams' life."

Kidnap Victim's Body Found

McKnight said Williams called him three times before walking into Davenport police headquarters and announcing: "I'm understand you're looking for me."

The search for Williams centered in Davenport after a car matching the description and license number of the one which sped away from the Des Moines YMCA Tuesday was found parked and abandoned.

Police found a pair of orange stretch pants and white bobby socks stuffed with YMCA towels and a blanket into an Interstate 80 rest area waste receptacle near Grinnell, Iowa, Christmas Day.

Kansas City police records revealed that Williams had been committed to the mental institution in 1965 after being arrested on two charges of molestation and one charge of raping a 7-year-old girl.

In Des Moines, Williams served as assistant minister and organist at the Maple Street Baptist Church.

Heavy Snow Softens Crashing Airliner

SIoux CITY, Iowa (AP) — An Ozark Air Lines DC 9 jet with 62 passengers crashed into heavy snow in a grove of trees on take-off from the Sioux City Airport Friday morning, but no one was killed or seriously injured.

"The plane veered off to the right, then veered sharply to the left, and the next thing I knew we were crashing through trees and snow," one engine continued to whine after the jet came to rest in about 14 inches of snow.

The plane cut a wide path through the trees before coming to rest upright. There was no fire.

The plane, with a crew of four, crashed at 7:05 a.m. at the north end of the runway.

Asst. Fire Chief Allen Molsko, one of the first persons on the scene, said people, many of them in shirtsleeves, were streaming out of the plane in temperatures in the low 20s.

From one stewardess was cut up pretty badly, said fireman Jerry Strand, "but she wouldn't get into the ambulance until everyone was out of the aircraft."

Firemen Support Bargaining Legislation

Twin Falls firemen are all interested in getting a pay raise and are in support of proposed legislation aimed at collective bargaining.

The proposal, to be submitted to the 40th Legislature when it meets in Boise next month, is not the immediate answer for Twin Falls firefighters believe the bill, if passed, will give them a chance to present their views before the city council.

At present, city officials are studying a request from firemen for an increase in wages. This request is combined with requests from other city departments, but the council and the city manager have made no recommendations yet.

The tentative city budget will not be complete until sometime next month.

Twin Falls firemen have asked for $100 a month more for each man on the force.

City Manager Herb Derrick has indicated there will be a pay raise for all city employees in the 1969 city budget, but pointed out that one department cannot be given preference over another department.

Because of this, city officials have asked all departments to present their views and requests.

The firefighters, however, belong to the International Association of Firefighters. City officials have indicated they do not want to talk with "unions," and firefighters have indicated they give up their affiliation in the association in order to be represented in the city talks.

At this time, the city is heard from all departments, including members of the Fire Department, with all departments reportedly getting equal treatment.

Officials of the Twin Falls Firefighters Association stated Friday they don't know what the outcome will be in their efforts to get a pay raise. They started their campaign several months ago and at that time claimed the city manager would not discuss wages or working conditions.

Firefighters also alleged their department was the lowest paid in Idaho for the size of the city.

This allegation also is contained in the proposed legislation, drawn up by the Idaho Council of Firefighters.

The state group charges that firemen in Idaho are not receiving "just compensation equal with the importance of their profession." They say firefighters in Idaho work more hours for less money than the majority of other similar occupations.

In supporting the proposed legislation, Twin Falls firefighters said they are asking for

Rep. Udall Startles Solons With Effort To Unseat McCormack As House Speaker

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST
WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Morris K. Udall's startling challenge to the House Democratic leadership today, but he faces a stiff battle in unseating Speaker John W. McCormack.

Udall, in announcing Thursday he was after 77-year-old McCormack's job, said he had reached the decision without lining up any prior backing or consulting with the liberal-moderate leadership.

Several members of the liberal-moderate Democratic Study Group, a largely informal alliance of some 140 members, including Udall, said they were surprised by the four-term Arizona congressman's announcement.

Udall said his decision to oppose McCormack, "is mine and mine alone. I am the candidate of no individual member or group of members."

'Pretender' To Spanish Rule Told To Leave

MADRID (AP) — The family of Prince Carlos, Duke of Parma, the Carlist pretender to the Spanish throne, has been ordered out of Spain, a family spokesman said Thursday night.

Gen. Francisco Franco's government expelled the prince Dec. 20 after he made a speech critical of the government and Franco's favorite for the throne, Prince Juan Carlos of Bourbon. The family spokesman said Carlos Hugo's father and mother, Prince Xavier and Princess Magdalena, and his two sisters, Princess Maria and Princess Maria de las Nieves, were returning to their home in Paris.

Carlos Hugo's wife, Princess Irene of the Netherlands, flew to Paris Thursday to join her husband, but apparently the expulsion order did not apply to her.

Prince Xavier and his family came to Madrid last week, apparently in attempt to bolster the 135-year-old Carlist claim to the throne.

Biafra Charges Foes Violate Truce Terms

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP) — Radio Biafra charged today the Nigerian army violated its Christmas Day cease-fire by shelling and attacking two towns, killing 11 soldiers and seven civilians.

The breakaway African state's radio said the attacks and a Nigerian bombardment Saturday of Umuahia, the last Biafran stronghold, were a display of bad faith by the federal government.

The Nigerian head of state, Maj. Gen. Yakubu Gowon, had declared last Saturday, a Moslem feast day, and Wednesday cease-fire days. Biafra had announced an eight-day cease-fire, but the federal government rejected an extension of the truce.

Rising Medical Costs Call For Hikes On Medicare Aid

Older people who enter the hospital under Medicare on Jan. 1 are responsible for an additional $4 of their hospital bills.

Up until now, Pat O'Marra, social security district manager said, Medicare has paid all but the first $40 for a Medicare beneficiary's hospital bill in each spell of illness. Effective Jan. 1, he said, it will cover all but the first $44. He noted that the hospital bill for an average stay by a Medicare beneficiary now runs about $600.

For Medicare beneficiaries who enter a hospital before the end of this year, the hospital deductible amount will be $40, rather than $44, Mr. O'Marra pointed out. Also, the dollar amounts they will pay toward the cost of a hospital stay of more than 60 days or for post-hospital extended care of more than 20 days will be payable at the old rate — even though the services may be provided in 1969, rather than in 1968.

The increase of $4 in the portion of the hospital bill for which a Medicare beneficiary is responsible results from a provision in the law requiring an annual review of the deductible. The first such review, the law provided, was to be made in 1968. The law states that if the annual review shows that hospital costs have changed significantly, the hospital deductible must be adjusted for the following year, with any necessary adjustments made in $4 steps — to avoid small annual changes.

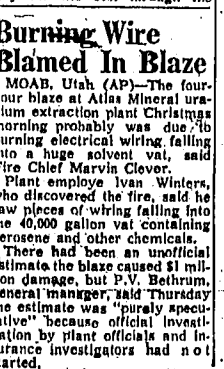

Mr. O'Marra said that when the hospital deductible amount changes, the law requires comparable changes in the dollar amounts a Medicare beneficiary pays toward a hospital stay of more than 60 days, or a post-hospital extended care stay of more than 20 days. Those amounts, also, will go up 10 per cent, beginning Jan. 1.

When a Medicare beneficiary has a hospital stay of more than 60 days, he will pay $11 a day for the 61st through the

Burning Wire Blamed In Blaze

MOAB, Utah (AP) — The four-hour blaze at Atlas Mineral uranium extraction plant Christmas morning probably was due to burning electrical wiring falling into a huge solvent vat, said Fire Chief Marvin Clever.

Plant employe Ivan Winters, who discovered the fire, said he saw pieces of wiring falling into the 40,000 gallon vat containing kerosene and other chemicals. There had been an unofficial estimate the blaze caused $1 million damage, but P.V. Bethrum, general manager, said Thursday the estimate was "purely speculative" because official investigation by plant officials and insurance investigators had not started.

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The viewers of the Washington scene have had their say about President-elect Richard Nixon's cabinet and other appointments, and generally have pronounced them unsurprising and fundamentally conservative. They appear to have missed the innovative aspects of what he is undertaking. There are three principal developments that must be braced for.

First off, the naming of Prof. Henry A. Kissinger as "foreign policy adviser" has been much misunderstood. He is not intended to serve as a co-ordinator of military, diplomatic and foreign economic information. In the same mold as predecessors McGee Bundy and Walt W. Rostow.

Apollo 8

Not since the assassination of John F. Kennedy and its aftermath have so many millions around the world been electronic eyewitnesses to one of the great unfolding dramas of human history. Happily, not horror and anguish but pride and awe drew the emotions connected with the flight of Apollo 8. Not despair of the sorry condition of man but renewed faith in his brain and will can accompany its legacy. The only regret is that President Kennedy, who seven short years ago committed this nation to a landing on the moon, will not see American spacemen achieve that goal.

precious of all: Astronauts Borman, Lovell and Anders. Even seeing was hardly believing. One moment, a 6.2-million-pound skyscraper was standing on a launch pad in Florida. The next, it was roaring off into the blue, shaking the earth and rattling windows hundreds of miles away. There were all the complex and epic decisions that had to be made, the precise guidance and performance margins that had to be held. For instance, the spacecraft, initially spun out of earth orbit at 24,700 miles an hour, had to lead the moon's speed by a mere 68 miles an hour, or either crash into that onrushing mass or be deflected into helpless orbit around the sun.

About "Insider" Stock Deals

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

About Drugs

WASHINGTON—Plans are going forward for a congressional study of "insider" stock deals which could be a bit of an embarrassment for the Nixon administration. Public hearings, on the use of still-secret corporate information by brokerage houses, will probably be held in late spring. By that time, if history serves, the honeymoon gloss will be rubbing off the new administration's image at the Capitol.

market problems generally, would be contained in a letter which he sent privately to leaders in the securities industry. His sending of the letter, when the text inevitably became public, provoked some of the sharpest criticism to hit the Nixon campaign. Against that background, the chance to testify at "insider" hearings, chaired by a Democratic senator who is up for re-election next time, may not be welcomed by those Nixon administration officials who will surely be called for testimony.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am an arthritis sufferer and my doctor has been prescribing indomethacin for about a year and a half, which is comparable to that of aspirin. It also seems to relieve the pain of degenerative arthritis of the hip. For the most part a safe drug, its main side effects are gastrointestinal irritation and reversible central nervous system effects, headache, dizziness, and muscle-tension. Thus my answer has to be that if your doctor finds it suitable in your particular case, and it helps you, and you have no side effects, why worry? If you do have side effects, then stop the drug.

Job Peak

The record-breaking employment figures announced by the Labor Department for November are further evidence that the economy has been moving ahead at a booming pace. Persons holding down jobs in November totaled 76.8 million, a high for the month. The jobless rate declined from 3.6 per cent in October to 3.3 per cent, a 15-year low.

Moreover, the number of hard-core jobless—those out of work for 15 months or more—was the smallest since 1953. All the figures are significant because they indicate the presence of what President-elect Nixon's economic theoreticians seem to think is not that current high employment must be reduced in order to contain inflation.

MR. SPECTATOR
Those Long Sideburns

A revolution is taking place. As usual, it has been going on in the "big" towns for quite a spell now. It just recently got started in Twin Falls and the results are starting to appear here and there. The "results" of the revolution are long sideburns. They are starting to get luxurious on the side of the faces of grown men who ought to know better.

ample, since it is under the most intense study in the effort to decipher the secrets of photosynthesis, the complex chemical process by which green plants transform sunlight, carbon dioxide and water into food components, fats and proteins. Once they learn how spinach does it, researchers hope to duplicate the process in the laboratory to produce a chemical which, sprayed on weeds, would convert them into food-plants. They report progress. Several plant elements that initiate and control photosynthesis have been isolated.

ROOF REVOLT—WOMEN!

English satirist C. Northcote Parkinson has put his finger on the source of the youth revolt in America. It's all the fault of women. The campus revolution traces directly back to the feminine revolution, he says. "Women demanded the vote and equally and ceased to submit to the control of their husbands. In the process, they began to lose control of their own children."

Success would certainly rank as a momentous scientific achievement, but chances are it would make no difference at all to countless small fry who already regard spinach as a weed.

SPINACH COMPETITION

If a nice mess of weeds shows up as the piece de resistance on your dinner table in the not too distant future, blame scientists at the University of California.

What Happened To Courtesy

By VIVIAN BROWN AP Newsfeatures Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — "Thank you," "Please," "I'm sorry," and even "Hello" are slowly working their way out of our vocabularies, a young Connecticut clergyman told his congregation.

Young people may never have known better, he explained to his listeners, and parents may be the last to notice such laxity on the part of their offspring.

The older generation, he claims, could improve its own manners. "When I was a young man," he said, "I was surprised that when I helped people upstairs or in line, they didn't bother to thank me. At the Danbury, Conn. Fair, I observed people pushing and shoving just to get a little bit ahead. And when I talk to men computers, they explain that they don't get up to give women their seats, because women think it is something they have a right to, and do not think of saying "Thank you."

So it is no wonder, he pointed out, that at a recent young people's dance, neither he nor his superior who attended, were greeted by a single boy or girl.

The handsome, personable, 6-footer, seemed visibly shocked at such a display of rudeness.

He called on parents to take a long look at their own attitudes that might be influencing their offspring. Such discourtesy, he said, occurs when young people do not know any better.

His ideas are not unique—specialists in the area of child psychology have been digging into the permissiveness of our generation for some time and ideas are changing.

The new theory is that young people need, to know the right thing to do for their own self-respect. They are happier in that knowledge, and as one psychologist pointed out, if they are not aware of what is expected in certain social situations, their "composure might wilt from self-conscious ignorance."

Dear Abby

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am 68 years of age. I am not married, but my wife is. She says there will be no men at my funeral, but the place will be crowded with weeping widows. She's right. I like the ladies and the ladies like me.

My problem: Having no men friends, I find I am short six pallbearers, so I am wondering if it is proper to have women pallbearers? I'm sure they wouldn't have any trouble getting women. If anything, it would probably cause a big fight because so many women would want the honor.

Abby, will you kindly take care of this matter for me as soon as possible as I have a feeling I am living on borrowed time. WILD BILL.

DEAR BILL: I have never heard of women pallbearers, and don't expect you will be one. From your letter I'd say the old girl has carried a pretty heavy load during your lifetime.

DEAR ABBY: I have a problem and you are the one who is causing it. I am women's editor of the Times-Herald in Newport News, Va., and every-four days I get calls from irate readers who say, "You left off Abby's answer again today!"

Now, Dear Abby, I see all your columns before they go into the newspaper, and I know that sometimes your don't answer letter—it just stands by itself—since it is a comment on a previously published letter, or someone just letting off steam.

But my readers want to boll me in oil. I'm sure other editors around the country have the same problem. Defend yourself, Abby! JOY GALLAGHER

DEAR JOY: It's not necessary. You've explained those "unanswered" letters, and also defended me very well. And I thank you.

DEAR ABBY: We are three college students who feel that you are completely unjustified in maintaining that "there is no such thing as a haunted house." How do you classify yourself as an authority when many surveys have been taken and have proved that these things exist? Thank you for your attention. JOY, MARION, AND CAROLYN

DEAR J., M., AND C.: That which is "haunted" is not your Webster's Unabridged Dictionary is "inhabited by ghosts." If one believes in ghosts, then I suppose there are haunted houses. But I think they should more accurately be called "reputably haunted houses."

DEAR ABBY: I had to laugh when I read the letter from the mother whose daughter would send home her bills to be paid without even enclosing a note. The mother thought this was very rude, which it was.

But here's something that will really slap you. My brother is on the Battleship U. S. S. New Jersey in Viet Nam.

Once a month—their captain sends a newsletter" to all the men's families. My brother addresses the envelope and slips the mimeographed letter in it without even signing his name to it. He feels this is sufficient.

My mother wrote back once and told him she thought he was ingenuous to get his captain to write his letters for him. Now we don't even get the "newsletter" anymore. HIS SISTER

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 89700, Los Angeles, Cal., 90089 and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

CHRISTMAS PARTY HELD

ALMO—The Almo LDS Ward Primary held its Christmas party featuring a program of Christmas songs and musical numbers by the children and their teachers. Parents and grandparents of the children were special guests. Mrs. Arley Cahoon, assisted by the Primary officers and teachers, was in charge of arrangements.

Sorority Meet Is Scheduled

GLENN'S FERRY — Xi Alpha Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi Sorority, will meet at 9 p.m. Tuesday at the Charles Anderson home, King Hill, for the group's New Year's party. Husbands of members will be guests at this annual event.

The next regular meeting for the chapter will be on Jan. 6. The party will be at the B. D. Stephens home, King Hill, when Mrs. James Robertson will be in charge of the program.

For the last meeting, the group gathered at the Floyd Jones Jr. home, and Mrs. Larry Carraway was the hostess. For the program, the women all attended the Glenns Ferry High School's Christmas concert.

Portuguese Bread
3 cups water
1 tablespoon salt
2 tablespoons sugar
1/2 cup butter
1 1/2 cups flour, sifted
2 cakes or 2 packages yeast
1/2 cup warm water
1 cup water

In a saucepan combine the first four ingredients. Bring to a boil and then cool. Sift the flour into a large bowl. Dissolve the yeast in the one-third cup warm water. When dissolved, stir the yeast mixture and the one cup water into the flour. Now add the cooled water-sugar mixture.

Mix well with hands, using a punching technique until the dough no longer sticks to the hands.

This will take about 10 minutes and eliminates any kneading. At this point the Portuguese bread is the dough lightly with more flour and make the sign of the cross on the dough with the side of the hand. It is best to rub the dough with softened butter. Cover with a clean towel

MR. AND MRS. JACK K. (BUD) OMOHUNDRO (Shig Morita photo)

Bonnie Pope, Omohundro Say Nuptial Vows

HAGERMAN — Bonnie Anita Pope, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. (Dick) Pope, and Jack K. (Bud) Omohundro, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack P. Omohundro, all Hagerman, were united in marriage in rites Nov. 9 at the First Methodist Church, Twin Falls.

The double ring nuptials were performed by Rev. Keith Maxwell, Twin Falls, before a background of lighted tapers and baskets of pink chrysanthemums and white gladioli.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a Bridal Original gown of French Chantilly lace, designed with a fitted bodice, sabrina neckline, long, long sleeves and a beautiful skirt of lace tiers, which formed a cascade of tiers which fell into a chapel train. Tiny seed pearls and sequins were scattered on the ruffled edges of the tiers and outlined the neckline.

A large organza bow lay at the bride's waistline how lay a streamers flowing over the skirt's back.

Her elbow-length butterfly veil of silk illusion was held by a satin pillbox crown topped with satin and pearlized blossoms.

Her hair carried a heart-shaped bouque outlined with pink rosebuds and centered with a pink orchid.

Mrs. Fred Ott, Twin Falls, twin sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Sandra Gillett and Mrs. Kay Baird, both Twin Falls.

Nickie Swainson, Twin Falls, was flower girl. Candelaphers were Diane Owsley and Diane Jones, cousins of the bride.

Mike Stevenson, Cedarville, Calif., was best man. Ushers were Fred Ott, brother-in-law of both Twin Falls.

Rodney Baker, Hagerman, nephew of the bride, was ring-bearer. The white satin ring pillow was made by the bride's mother.

low was made by the bride's mother.

Mrs. Keith Maxwell, Twin Falls, was organist and accompanied the soloist, Bert Hulsh, Twin Falls.

A reception was held in the church parlor after the ceremony. Mrs. Cathy Tribue, Twin Falls, presided at the guest book. Gifts were carried by Jeri Lynn Omohundro, sister of the bridegroom; Kelley Hoskovec, and Kevin Lenley, all Hagerman, and were arranged by Mrs. Pete Sandy, Twin Falls, and Mrs. Nora Clifford, Hagerman, aunt of the bride, and Barbara Stimpney, Twin Falls.

The four-tiered wedding cake was cut and served by Mrs. Leonard Walcott, Buhl, who also baked and decorated the cake.

The cake featured a cloverleaf heart-shaped bottom tier and was topped with the traditional miniature bride and bridegroom surrounded with a heart-shaped net ruffling. The cake was iced in white and decorated with rosebuds. The bottom tier was surrounded with real tiny pink rosebuds.

Mrs. Betty Baker, Boise, sister of the bride, presided at the punch service and Mrs. Noel Kreft, Twin Falls, poured coffee.

The refreshment table was covered with a white lace cloth. Pink tapers flanked the wedding cake. An arrangement of pink roses carried out the bride's colors. Serving tables were covered with white cloths and centered with pink roses in rose bowls. Other floral arrangements for the reception were prepared by Mrs. Sandy.

The reception was under the custodial service of Mrs. Roberta Widrig, Kimberly.

After a wedding trip to Elko, Nev., and California, the couple reside at 320 2nd Ave. N., Twin Falls, where the bride is employed at the Twin Falls Bank and Trust Co. Mr. Omohundro is engaged in a sand and gravel business in Wendell.

Guests attended the wedding and reception from Gooding, Wendell, Hagerman, Hagerman, Buhl, Glenns Ferry, Boise, Kimberly, Pocatello and California.

The bride was feted at a pre-nuptial shower given by Mrs. Ott and Sandy Gillett at the Ott home.

Writer Reviews Entertainment Highlights During Year Of 1968

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — This was the year in Hollywood when Cary Grant, the screen's perfect husband, was accused by his wife of beating her while on LSD trips. The divorce revelations did nothing to diminish his popularity. Jack Valenti put across a rating system for movies. Producers began vying for an X, which means a picture is unfit for children and hence entailing for adults. The new status symbol among film stars became the million-dollar-per-picture fee. Liz Taylor and Richard Burton welcomed new members to the club: Julie Andrews, Lee Remick, Paul Newman. And Barbra Streisand made that exclusive society before being seen on the screen. Two assassinations prompted Hollywood to search its soul about violence on the screen. Film makers began brawling with each other over the issue. Nudity in films hit new heights: Rod Steiger's "Charlton Heston," Paul Newman's, etc. Barbra Streisand's husband struck a new note in press relations by allegedly slugging a photographer for taking too many pictures. The production code for self-censorship was relaxed almost to the point of apathy. A popular new formula for movie plots: boy meets girl, boy loses girl, girl gets girl. And there was almost as much girl-girl and boy-boy kissing on the screen as there was of the usual kind. Vanessa Redgrave paused between making American-financed movies to lend anti-American parades in London. A new candor was sounded in interviews. Lee Marvin talked about housekeeping with his girl friend. Alex Cord discussed his decision to marry Joanna Pettet before the birth of their baby. And just where was it that Eddie Fisher married Connie Stevens? Frank Sinatra gave up Mia Farrow and Elizabeth Taylor, the former in marriage, the latter in a movie. Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis pushed all the film stars off the movie magazine covers with her own headline-making. Zsa Zsa Gabor hung epithets at hotelkeepers in Madrid and London. Apparently her accommodations weren't the same as when she was wed to Conrad Hilton. This was also the year when the Burtons bought a yacht for their dogs, when Katharine Hepburn won another Oscar after a 35-year lapse, when Anna Magnani broke her foot kicking Anthony Quinn, when "Laugh-In" socked it to the television industry, when Lucille Ball put her two children to work, when a Beatle and his girl friend appeared on an album cover clothed only in smiles. Some year! And now 1969 is coming. Are you ready for it?

June Allyson Returns To Acting— But Not As Former Girl-Next-Door

Volpe Urges Solutions To Transit Crisis

WASHINGTON (AP) — John A. Volpe, President-elect Nixon's choice for transportation secretary, says more emphasis must be put on mass transportation systems to cope with the nation's urban traffic problems. The Massachusetts governor said Thursday in his first news conference since appointed by Nixon that "highways alone won't do the job."

The emphasis on public transportation came as a bit of a surprise since Volpe has gained a reputation as a man who believes in highways. As federal highway administrator in the Eisenhower administration he directed the start of the gigantic interstate-road system and he founded a construction company that has built thousands of miles of highways.

Rapid transit systems may not prove feasible in some areas, Volpe said, but there will be others where "you can't build any more highways without tearing a city apart."

He added that the stream of cars coming into city downtowns makes it impossible "even to provide parking spaces for them without having to tear down half the city for parking lots."

New York Youths Shun School Call

NEW YORK (AP) — Most of New York's 1.1 million students are passing up voluntary school days during their Christmas vacation aimed at making up time lost during three teachers' strikes this fall.

Schools were open Thursday, but attendance averaged only 25 per cent.

But 80 per cent of the teachers reported for work, the Board of Education said, taking advantage of a chance to make some of the pay lost when they struck.

didn't miss it. All through those six years the studios kept sending her scripts and most of them she sent back, unopened. But her husband and her children, who believed she really wanted to act again, finally took things into their own hands.

"They opened one of the scripts. Without telling me about it, they read it, thought it was right for her and had her agent accept it in her behalf. Only then did they tell June that she was going to do an episode of NBC's 'Name of the Game'."

"I never would have worked again if it weren't for them," she says. "I honestly never missed acting. But as soon as I stepped on the sound stage, I was hooked again."

"At first, I was very nervous. I wasn't sure if I remembered how to act at all. But when I said my first line, it all came back and the nervousness disappeared."

She spent the last six years putting. She plays golf—she says they call her The Mighty Miss June—and courses in shorthand, around 80. She and her husband, Glenn Maxwell, live in Newport Beach, on the ocean, and she has a little boat—the June Bug—and she sails it around the harbor.

Between golf and sailing and taking care of the house and children, she was content. That and four showers a day.

"I think that may be because, as a child," she says, "we had no bath; we had to go to a public bath two blocks away."

That didn't sound like Westchester County, the comfortable New York suburb where she supposedly grew up.

"Westchester," she said, with a bitter laugh. "That was just the MGM publicity stuff. They thought it sounded good to say that. But I was never from Westchester. I grew up—and this is the truth—in the Throg's Neck section of the Bronx."

"We lived in a cold winter flat. We were very poor."

Now, she says, she showers four times a day to make up for all those years. To her, the most important part of a house is her private dressing room and bath. When she and Glenn remodeled their Newport Beach house, they spent $35,000 on her dressing room and bath. It is all pink and white, with six chandeliers.

"I've lived in apartments," Glenn said, "which were smaller than June's dressing room."

One reason June is not unhappy about being railroaded back to work is that her children are now almost grown, and ordinarily seldom at home. They are both the children of Dick Powell, whose death left her a widow.

"Ricky is 17," June says, "and he looks exactly like Richard. Look at this picture; isn't he just like Richard?"

He does look like a young Dick Powell. And the picture of Pam, who is 20, shows her to be a beautiful blonde.

"Pam is a Pij Beta Kappa at Marquette," June says. "She wants to be a reporter. She's taken a year off from college to work at it, to see what part of journalism she wants to be in. She's been working on a newspaper in Orange county. She's done some interviews with people like Eisenhower and Nixon."

Since Pam calls them Uncle Ike and Uncle Richard, she has a slight advantage over her competitors. But, nevertheless, her mother says, she has turned out very good interviews.

As for June Allyson, she thinks she's back in acting for keeps. She believes she's ready for some good dramatic parts now.

"No more girl next door," she says. "On the Name of the Game, I don't wave goodbye at the airport once."

Attorneys For Millionaire Face Charges

RENO, Nev. (AP)—Two lawyers for uranium millionaire Charles A. Steen are to answer in federal court Friday on charges of contempt of court, U.S. District Court Judge proceeding against John Gibbons, Englewood, Colo., and William Puzey, Reno, Nev., they filed what they called "scurrilous and contemptuous" statements in a document in Steen's bankruptcy court proceedings.

The statements, filed Nov. 13, were to support a request for a U. S. District Court review of a bankruptcy referee's refusal to disqualify himself.

Steen is seeking approval of a plan to repay some $0 million in debts. He has listed assets approaching $12 million, but they have been seized by the Internal Revenue Service, a major creditor.

Gibbons and Puzey told the court Nov. 25 they were "acting in good faith" when they filed the statements; that they had been directed by referee Bert Goldwater to file detailed reasons for seeking his dismissal.

'Strangler' Held Over At T.F. Theater

The motivating elements of suspense and fear, as well as a new technique in cinematography, highlight the general background for 20th Century-Fox's "The Boston Strangler," starring Tony Curtis, Henry Fonda and George Kennedy.

The film is being held over for a second big week at the Idaho Theater.

Based on the best-selling book of the same title by Gerald Frank, the motion picture highlights the events from June 1962 to January, 1964, that occurred in Boston with the mysterious stranglings of 13 women and the investigations that followed.

After reading the book, Broadway producer Robert Fryer purchased the motion picture rights, joining with 20th Century-Fox to produce the story as his first screen effort.

Tony Curtis plays the title role as the Boston Strangler in the role of Albert DeSalvo while Henry Fonda portrays John S. Bottomly, former Massachusetts Assistant Attorney General, who headed the "Strangler Bureau." George Kennedy plays Detective Phil DiNatale.

The Weekly Sermonette

C. W. HOOD, Pastor, Trinity Baptist Church
We are closing another year, and as Paul said, "But let a man examine himself." 1 Cor. 11:28. We need to take inventory of what we really did with our life and how we have used it. For many this past year was wasted as far as his life is concerned. For others it was very profitable in many ways. There were some in this past year who had a new start in life.

Basically, Life Has Always Been Facing The Frightening Unknown

Seven Scholars Join In Task To Turn Scripture Into Modern English

WHEATON, Ill. (Special) — Except for their modern clothing and the air-conditioning in the room, the men might have been straight out of the early 17th century.

They sat, with coats off and shirts sleeve rolled up, around a square table piled high with venerable books. And like their distinguished predecessors who worked in similar fashion at the behest of England's King James, they were translating ancient Scripture into modern English.

They were seven scholars who had gathered here in a dormitory at Wheaton College to work together for two weeks. Their aim: to hone and polish a six-paragraph segment of the Gospel of John so that its timeless words might speak more effectively to 20th-century man; better yet, to 21st-century young people.

The scholars made up one of the committees at work on the new translation sponsored by the New York Bible Society. It is an eight-year undertaking just now getting under way. It is expected eventually to comprise the efforts of more than 100 Bible scholars plus unnumbered advisors and consultants.

The men at Wheaton were concerned primarily with the New Testament. They were: Dr. Richard Longenecker, of Trinity Evangelical Divinity School, Deerfield, Ill.; Dr. Glen W. Barker, Jr., Ramsey, Mich.; and Burton L. Goddard of Gordon Divinity School, Wenham, Massachusetts; Dr. Clarence Hale of Wheaton College; Dr. S. Lewis Johnson Jr. of Dallas Theological Seminary, Dallas, Texas; Dr. Homer A. Kent Jr., of the Theological Seminary, Winona Lake, Indiana; and Dr. Edwin H. Palmer, Executive Secretary of the Committee on Bible Translation, a 16-member group which will oversee the entire project.

Like the other scholars who will work on the translation, they are men who have a "high view of Scripture," believing that the Bible is God's Word and given to man by the inspiration of the Holy Spirit. The translation shall be designed to communicate the truth of God's revelation as effectively as possible to English readers in the language of the people. In this respect, the Committee's goal is that of doing for our own times what the King James Version did for its.

How do they work? Slowly—at times, almost painfully—as they pore over the ancient Greek texts for clues as to what the original man intended to do that we will not find today?

Dr. Barker: "People today understand 'refugees.' It may be better than 'the dispersed' or 'diaspora,' but does 'refugees' really fit? The Jews who were living among the Gentiles, or Greeks, were not really refugees in our understanding of the word. They lived there by serving all groups."

Dr. Longenecker: "How about to whom our people live scattered among the Greeks and there teach the Greeks?"

With an informal vote, the committee agreed on this rendering of the verse: "Some verses trouble the scholars deeply. I do not doubt the authors have bothered Bible students since the time of the apostle John. 8:38 was such a verse in the King James Version, it reads: 'I speak that which I have seen with my Father, and ye do not know that which ye have seen with your father.'"

The words are those of Jesus to the crowd. The ancient Greek text left your father open to two quite opposite meanings. It could either mean God of Israel. The King James translators took it to mean the latter and left 'father' uncapitalized.

Dr. Johnson: "It is very easy to infer that their Lord meant that their father was Satan. But they did not put a footnote that the opposite rendering was possible."

While the New Testament Committee was meeting at Wheaton, a parallel Old Testament Committee was meeting at Denver to work on passages from three books: Joshua, Judges, and Psalms. It included Professors R. Laird Harris, Cornell Theological Seminary, St. Louis, Missouri; Earl S. Kalland, Conservative Baptist Theological Seminary, Denver; J. K. Van Hook, Theological Seminary, Grand Rapids, Michigan; and Larry Walker, Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary, Fort Worth, Texas.

Professor Stek said his committee's initial work this year is to lay down policies to be followed in translating the Old Testament. He added: "We will not attempt to resolve problems of theological interpretation. The views of the various communions should have no effect on the faithful translation. Our task is to make our work as close to the original as we can get in modern language and leave the interpretation up to the teachers in the various denominations, thus

Today's Market And Financial Report

Stocks

2:30 P.M. SUMMARY NEW YORK (AP) - The stock market abandoned a slight early lead and settled lower late this afternoon. Trading was moderate.

A technical recovery from six days of decline began Thursday and continued for a while Friday but ran out of steam. Losses outnumbered gains in late trading by fewer than 100 issues.

Central & Southwest Industries, off more than a point, had the biggest volume, followed by M-G-M, down nearly a point. Loew's Theatres, up nearly 2, was the best gainer among the 20 most-active stocks.

General Motors, off more than a point, was frequently the most active stock of the weekend. The outlook for the economy, and the stock market seemed to remain in limbo, and traders were taking no chances.

Interest rates crossed current obscurity, but did not do as frequently in the last week of trading. Only two more days of trading remained after Friday.

Caterpillar, sank nearly 2. Raytheon, Anaconda, Polinord and High Voltage Engineering's prices were regular with a slightly higher edge.

Idaho Reports Record Price For Silver

ALBANY, Ore. (AP) - A record high per-ounce price for silver overcame declines in production in Idaho this year and contributed to an all-time high of $18.1 million worth of minerals produced in the state in 1968.

The U.S. Bureau of Mines Albany office released a preliminary report Thursday showing Idaho was second in value production among Northwest states.

Mercury production was up 21 per cent in 1968 and its value was up 34 per cent to $542 per flask.

The bureau said non-ferrous production was up about 13 per cent, phosphorus production was up 4 per cent and there were increases in garnet, sand, gravel and stone production.

Business Mirror

BY JACK LEFLER AP Business Writer NEW YORK (AP) - The fired-up economy is surprisingly defiant of efforts to cool it off.

Early this year, government officials and many private economists were telling the American people and exhorting Congress that the only thing needed to slow the rate of business expansion and accompanying inflation was a 10 per cent tax surcharge coupled with a cut in government spending.

"In general, neither government or private economists were at all accurate in the projections they made for the year as a whole, and their misjudgments were widely shared by business men, high officials in the administration, congressmen and journalists.

Forecasters were confounded, for one thing, by the failure of consumers to restrain their recent buying habits despite the extra 10 per cent tax bite on their paychecks.

Indications were that if retail sales were less than robust during the Christmas season it would be mainly because a lot of shoppers stayed home because of the flu epidemic.

Statistics indicated that consumers were dipping into their savings to maintain their accustomed standard of living. And

Successful Investing

By ROGER E. SPEAR I try to be a conservative investor because I will be turned out of pasture in a few years - I am 58. My holdings are $30 M Treasury Notes, Air Reduction, Allied Chemical, American Natural Gas, Eastman Kodak, Eastern Air Lines, Plymouth Rubber, Standard Oil of New Jersey and Union Carbide.

A. You still have some productive years ahead enough to justify a more aggressive approach toward investing.

Treasury Notes currently selling below par should be held for redemption in 1970. Both Amer. Natural Gas and Std. of New Jersey have a strong record of up-trending earnings and should be held.

Alr Reduction, although closely tied to the steel industry has expanded its penetration in other areas - particularly cryogenics - and should be held for growth.

Eastern Air Lines' poor performance both in earnings and share action reflects industry problems of overcapacity. But long-term position and an apparent bottoming-out justify retaining the shares.

Circle K, Inc. cryogenics, though a market laggard, now seems to have turned the corner and should be held.

I would replace Allied Chemical and Plymouth Rubber which have reduced their dividends, and I believe that Standard Oil of New Jersey, which may reduce, with equal dollar amounts of Boleo Casado, H. J. Heinz and Magnavox. In each case capital management has demonstrated the ability to achieve a strong growth pattern.

A continuation of the "buying" earnings trends should be reflected in share price.

Q. In 1941 I bought 10 shares of Continer Corp. at 13 7/8. I can't find the original certificates, but do find certificates there were the factors of higher employment and widespread increases in wages and salaries.

Forecasters also had expected that the income tax boost, which would slice profits, would encourage corporations to pull in their horns as far as expenditures for new plants and equipment.

Instead, according to the Commerce Department, "business seems to have embarked on a new round of investment spending which will have important stimulating effects on an economy operating at very high employment rates."

Economists were surprised that the Gross National Product - total of all goods and services - jumped by $18.1 billion in the third quarter to an annual rate of $87.1 billion when they had expected an increase of about $12 billion.

Now the Commerce Department says there will be a sizeable increase in the Gross National Product in the fourth quarter - "not much different from the rise in the third."

The conclusion seems to be that consumers and business executives have decided to spend now because prices might well be higher next year.

Short Course Is Planned At Gooding

GOODING—Arrangements are being made for a short course at the Gooding County Agent's Office, according to M. Koster, county agent.

The courses offered are Soil Fertility and Soil Management and, also, Animal Industry. The classes will begin on Jan. 1 and will continue for two two-hour sessions on a weekly basis. Instructors will include extension specialists as well as the county extension agents.

Some of the subjects in the soil classes will be: the role of the various fertilizer materials in crop production; minor elements; fertilizer placement; cultivation, irrigation and fertility. Instructions on calculating the net energy method of beef cattle rationing will be given. The use of feed additives and the importance of the various feed elements will be covered.

The sign-up period will close Dec. 28. Class also will be limited to 25 members. The time that the classes will be offered will depend upon when the majority of the class members can attend. There will be a registration fee of $10.

Dairymen Hold School At Wendell

GOODING—Gooding County dairymen held a dairy school at the Wendell Grange with the morning program including a talk by Dave Thacker of Caldwell Experiment Station on the utilization of energy by the dairy cow.

He gave several of the terms that are becoming more and more familiar to modern dairymen. The different nutrients of food stuff were discussed and why they are needed by the cow. Thacker was followed by Dr. R. H. Ross, Dr. Ross covered the subject of a balanced ration and the effect on the cow's production. He discussed grouping cows and feeding according to production.

The afternoon program included a talk by George Cleveland, extension dairyman, on the future grades of milk and the movement toward one grade of milk. He noted what can be done to improve the quality of cow's milk. He also discussed the management of the dairy operation and effects on production.

Dr. Garth Sasser of the University of Idaho, discussed the mechanism of ketosis and milk fever. He pointed out that evidence indicates that feeding feeds which produce high level of the following volatile fatty acids, Propionate, and acetate and low levels of Butyrate will reduce the incidence of ketosis.

He pointed out that there is more and more evidence indicating that the ratio of Ca to P has a lot to do with milk fever. The ratio should be maintained around 2 to 1. In the area the problem seems to be getting enough P in the diet.

Grange Has Yule Program At Murtaugh

MURTAUGH—The Murtaugh Grange Christmas program was presented at the hall.

James Kirkpatrick, Grange master, welcomed the guests and the pledge to the flag was given.

The program was presented by the children and included poems by Vickie Biggers, Debbie Biggers, Lindsay Biggers, Kelly Biggers, Jimmy Kirkpatrick and Debbie Kirkpatrick.

Songs were presented by Brenda Biggers, Wade Peterson, Julie Peterson and Wendy Peterson and Kristi Carlson. The children played a trumpet and John Klor and Russell Hill played several numbers on their guitars.

After the program Santa Claus arrived with gifts and treats for the children.

Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Johnson and Mr. and Mrs. Leon Pickett will be hosts for the regular Jan. 2 meeting.

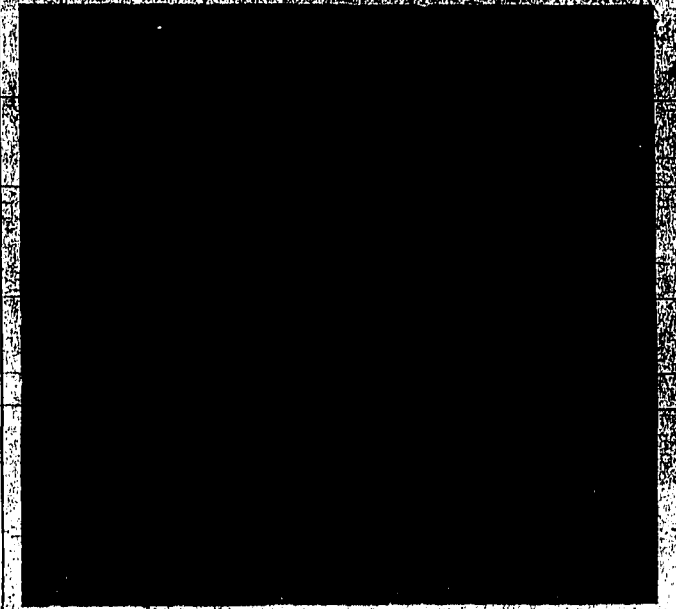

'69 Wheat Crop Is Estimated

WASHINGTON—The Agriculture Department has estimated that the 1969 wheat crop in Idaho will be 1,322,322,000 bushels, compared with 1,229,823,000 bushels in 1968.

LOOKING OVER part of the calves raised by an artificial mother on the Loughmiller farm are Billy Loughmiller and Olga Gann, Twin Falls County agricultural extension agent. Billy currently has 48 Holstein calves on the two machines while three calves in the photo above were weaned from the machines about a month ago. This is Billy's first attempt at this type of farm operation.

Large Supplies Of Farm Products Expected In '69,

WASHINGTON (AP)—Big supplies of farm products are expected in early 1969.

The Agriculture Department said that larger supplies of livestock and crop products are likely to dampen early 1969 farm prices.

However, it said, expected gains in cotton, oilseeds, fruits, and vegetable marketings may bring total cash receipts to producers slightly above those in the first half of 1968.

The department also said the slower gains in demand for food and less price rise are likely in the upcoming months.

With prospects for more beef, pork, chicken, citrus fruits, and vegetables, it said, early 1969 retail food prices for food at home may average about the same as a year earlier. But prices for food eaten away from home are expected to continue 4 to 5 per cent above a year earlier.

The department said that farmers had a record amount to spend in 1968.

Latest estimates, the department said, show that farm people in 1968 had about double the $1,100 per person of disposable personal income they had in 1967. The reason: Estimated gains not only in farm income but also in off-farm earnings.

The department said that farm production expenses this year are expected to reach a level of about $36 billion, up $1.25 billion from 1967. But gross farm income will probably show a higher rise than expenses, leading a realized net income of about $15 billion compared with $14.3 billion last year.

Idaho, Oregon Onion Crop Over Average

BOISE (AP)—In its year-end reports, the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Statistical Reporting Service said the estimated 1968 onion crop in Idaho and Eastern Oregon was a new record.

The crop, at 4,337,000 hundredweight, would be a 45 per cent increase over both the 1967 crop and the five-year average. Of that, Idaho production was an estimated 4,037,000 hundredweight.

Respective acreages of 4,200 for Idaho and 4,600 for Oregon totaled 24 per cent more than last year and 48 per cent above the five-year average.

Production of alfalfa seed in Idaho this year was estimated at 15,000,000 pounds, or down more than 20 per cent from last year's crop and the five-year average. Clover production was also estimated at far below the previous levels.

Production Of Corn For Grain Listed

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department's final report of the year estimated the 1968 production of corn for grain at 4,374,840,000 bushels. The wheat crop was put at 1,570,433,000 bushels.

The corn estimate compares with 4,439,738,000 bushels forecast a month ago, with last year's revised production estimated at 4,780,076,000, and with the 1962-66 average of 3,823,300,000 bushels.

Last month's wheat forecast was 1,597,858,000 bushels. It compared with a revised estimate of 1,522,322,000 bushels for 1967 and the 1962-66 average of 1,229,823,000 bushels.

TO RETIRE

Gen. Edwin W. Rawlings announced that he will retire Jan. 2, 1969, as chairman of the Board of Directors of General Mills. James P. McFarland, president of General Mills, who succeeded General Rawlings as chief executive officer of the company in September, said that General Rawlings will continue to serve as a member of the board and that no chairman will be named at this time.

Young T.F. Farmer Adds Calf Operation To His Enterprise

A young Twin Falls farmer has expanded his farming operation to include raising small calves by artificial mothers.

Billy Loughmiller, who farms south of Twin Falls along Highway 21, has had some success with raising hogs and now has decided to include in his farm operations raising of calves.

The calves are purchased in Washington when they are two or three days old. After they are brought here by truck, they are hand fed for a week by young Mr. Loughmiller.

After being hand fed for a week they are then put on two machines which become the artificial mothers for the calves. These machines mix a powder milk replacer with water. Each machine has one nipple and handles about 20 calves.

Billy presently has 40 Holstein calves on the two machines and will wean them in about two weeks or when they average about 180 to 200 pounds.

About 30 calves already have been weaned from the machine last month.

Billy said he plans to keep the calves until they reach marketable age and size. Most of the calves are bull calves because there are very few heifers available, especially in the Holstein breed, of which all the calves are.

The two machines will wean about 225 head per year. Billy plans to raise calves right along with his regular farming operations and hog operation.

Billy, who graduated from the University of Idaho a few years ago, is considered to be one of the top livestock judges ever to graduate from the University. While a student in high school, Billy was Idaho's first calf to participate in the National A-H Tractor Raising Contest, held in 1967. The contest was held in 1967 and 1968.

Idaho Dry Pea Production Up

BOISE—Production of dry peas in Idaho is estimated at 1.3 million hundredweight in 1968, according to the Idaho Crop and Livestock Reporting Board.

This compares with 1.5 million hundredweight in 1967 and the 1962-66 average of 1.5 million hundredweight. Harvested acreage—120,000 acres—compared with 100,000 acres in 1967 and 108,000 acres, 75 per cent harvested, in 1968.

Yearly production in 1968 was compared with 1,530,000 year and average of 1.5 million pounds.

Rustling Thriving Business In Florida

By RICH OPPEL
KISSIMEE, Fla. (AP) — Rustling is thriving in south-central Florida's cattle country, despite the efforts of armed, modern-day cowboys in trucks, jeeps and airplanes.

Authorities estimate 75,000 pounds of beef is stolen every week. They say much of this is taken by the Mafia, which has made it to tourist hotels along Florida's beaches.

Cowboys, toting pistols and walkie-talkies ride the range in shotgun-equipped trucks and patrol in planes, but still up to $4 million worth of beef is stolen annually, authorities say.

William Reed, commissioner of the Florida Bureau of Law Enforcement, said he has evidence that rustling is much the result of "highly organized crime." And in Florida, organized crime and the Mafia are synonymous.

"They make the money all right," said broad-shouldered Al Bellotto, 43, a Bartow cattleman. "The rustlers can get about $175 or $200 a head, so if they have a load of 10 or 15, we're talking about $2,000 a night. You don't have to do that many nights to make a living."

Although most of the rustling is the work of well-equipped gangs using van or cattle trucks, authorities say, cattlemen estimate about 15 per cent of the loss is due to itinerant rustlers, known in the cattle industry as the "backyard barbecue set."

Pat Corrigan of Vero Beach, one of many Florida ranchers whose cowhands "ride the fence," said his men often have "slipped up and caught people on our lands with guns, and they always say they're hunting. We just don't know."

Rustling is heaviest in an inland belt running parallel to the southern coastline of Florida.

A team of rustlers can leave a coastal city at midnight, be in the middle of a pasture at 1 a.m., and back at the packing house by 2:30 a.m.

GUNNING FOR CATTLE RUSTLERS. Paul Vickers makes an unobscured-looking silhouette as he totes a rifle while sitting astride a horse in Florida's cattle country where rustling is a thriving business. Vickers is foreman at the 6,600-acre ranch owned by Pat Corrigan which is located about 20 miles west of Vero Beach. Armed cowboys keep a sharp lookout for the rustlers who are taking a reportedly 75,000 pounds of beef weekly. (AP wirephoto)

Social Security Question Box

If you have any questions concerning Social Security benefits or qualifications, address them to Jim Davis, Box 123, Twin Falls, Idaho 83301.

Q—I am getting social security checks. I also signed up for Medicare. I know that my social security will stop or be reduced if I go back to work. Will my Medicare protection stop too?

A—No. You do not have to be retired to be covered under Medicare. After you have once signed up for Medicare, your coverage continues even though you go back to work or continue working and earn too much to receive monthly benefits.

Q—I am receiving disability benefits on my own account. My husband is not receiving social security benefits because he is too old enough. If my husband died, would I be able to switch to his account or draw on his earnings as if would be more than mine? If not, would I be able to switch to his account when he was old enough to draw social security? Could I receive benefits on his account if he qualified for disability benefits?

A—Due to changes made by the 1967 Amendments, social security now pays a widow's benefit to widows between the ages of 50 and 60. If you are 60 or older, you could receive the regular widow's benefit. Now assuming your husband didn't die, you would be able to receive a wife's benefit on his account if you were at least age 62 when he qualified for disability or retirement benefits. A mother under age 62 can receive benefits when her husband qualifies for benefits if she has minor children in her care.

Farm Bureau Plans To Fight Hagerman Unionization Of Farm Labor

By DON KENDALL
KANSAS CITY (AP) — The American Farm Bureau Federation plans to fight the unionization of farm labor next year with a proposal of its own. If Congress shows any inclination to broaden federal labor laws into agriculture.

The legislative strategy was outlined in a policy resolution passed by Farm Bureau delegates at the end of their 50th annual convention.

The Farm Bureau is firmly opposed to any extension of union bargaining laws into agriculture, but indicated that if Congress considers a bill next year the organization will favor a plan removing farm labor bargaining from the jurisdiction of the National Labor Relations Board.

Officials said a separate body can be set up if farm labor legislation is imminent—tailored to meet the needs of farmers and farm workers.

This alternate plan should include specific prohibition of secondary and product boycotts and strikes "which would result in loss of perishable products" turned out by farmers, the resolution said.

It also should protect "the right of each individual worker to join or remain out of a union; permit secret balloting by workers; and authorize legal redress of grievances in connection with violations of the law."

Farm Bureau delegates turned down a provision in the labor resolution which would have sought exemption from such legislation for farmers marketing less than 100,000 worth of goods annually or employing less than an average of eight workers a year.

The delegates also rejected an attempt to include in the resolution on federal farm programs a provision for a limitation of $20,000 a year on the amount of government payments made to individual farmers.

The limitation proposal was tacked to a resolution seeking gradual elimination of present federal control and subsidy programs through a land-retire-

Hagerman Grange Has Yule Event

HAGERMAN — William Scroggs, master, acted as master of ceremonies for the Hagerman Valley Grange Christmas party recently.

Group singing was conducted. Each family present was responsible for a selection on the program. A tableau, "Spirit of Christmas," was presented.

Those participating were Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Henley, Kev and Henley, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Hoskovec, Kelly Hoskovec, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Sears, Mrs. Robert Lawerson, Brad Giesed, Rodney Baker, Stanley Ray Bertagnoli, Matthew Bertagnoli, David Sears, Janice Scroggs, and Denise Scroggs. They were accompanied by Mrs. William Scroggs, who also played background music.

Bryan and Greg Clifford recited a Christmas poem. Other poems were given by Mrs. Nora Clifford, Mrs. Vay Cook, and Mrs. Rose Ollivier.

A trio, composed of Mrs. Lawerson and Mr. and Mrs. Sears, sang.

A mixed sextette, composed of Mr. and Mrs. Scroggs, Mr. and Mrs. Percy Pollard and Mr. and Mrs. Tom Fausett, sang.

George Lemmon read an article on Christmas and Kenneth Barton told Christmas jokes.

Santa Claus arrived with goodies for everyone.

The next meeting will be held Jan. 6. Guest speaker for the meeting will be Gerald Prince, high school student counselor. He will speak on student counseling.

Irrigation District Elects Two

GLENN'S FERRY—New members of the King Hill Irrigation District Board of directors who will be sworn in Jan. 7, are Elmer Babington for District 2, who received 40 votes, and Lorin Humpherys for District 5, with 42.

Mr. Humpherys replaces Don Flock, presently board chairman, who did not file for reelection, but who received three write-in votes. Ray Thompson did not file for reelection in District 3, but received three votes, and Mary Knox, one in the same district.

Holdover directors are Karl Carmahan, Joe Bachner, and John Wheeler. There are five members on the board, reports Mrs. Barbara Crine, secretary-treasurer.

What's wrong?
Your trouble could be due to overwatering, poor drainage, hot dry air (most likely cause), or a lack of light. Geraniums like to be grown on the cool side (60 degrees or less). They also like a lot of light and a uniform supply of moisture. A lack of flowers indoors is due to insufficient light.

A. E. of King Hill: "I think I have something rare. I have an Easter lily which bloomed at Easter, then again in August, and September, and once again in December. Is this a rare thing? I had it in a pot out in the garden and brought it in on the porch in October."

Easter lilies often bloom two or three times in a season, but four times is a bit unusual. Your best bet is to put the plant outdoors in a permanent spot (out of the pot) and let it come up each year. It should bloom once or twice a year without any fussing on your part. They are perfectly hardy and will live outdoors. In fact, florists' Easter lilies should not be forced indoors again.

Gem's Dry Bean Production Up

BOISE—The 1968 production of commercial dry beans in Idaho totaled 17 million hundredweight, clean basis, according to the Idaho Crop and Livestock Reporting Service.

Production at this level compares with 1.6 million hundredweight in 1967. Growers harvested 111,000 acres, compared with 81,000 acres in 1967. Yields per acre of 1,550 pounds compares with 1,720 pounds in 1967.

Increased production of Pinto, Pinks and Red Kidneys and other varieties offset decreased production of Great Northern and small red varieties.

QUESTION OF THE WEEK

S. E. of Malta: "In our garden we have some beautiful dwarf mums. I took cuttings from them and have the small plants in pots which I hope will produce flowering plants at Easter and Mother's Day. Please tell me how I can do it, like florists do."

You've asked me a tough question since it's not practical to bloom outdoor mums—under average home conditions. I won't say it's impossible, because some readers actually get their florist's mums to bloom indoors (around February).

Most mums need full sunlight and a 60 degrees F. night temperature for good growth. Also, the low relative humidity most homes makes it more difficult to maintain proper soil moisture. The situation is further complicated by the fact that varieties differ in their requirements for flowering and since there are more than 700 varieties, it's easier to make a general recommendation.

Chrysanthemums flower when the days are short—fall and winter. Florists force them out of season by covering the plants with black plastic material a few hours each day until they show color, a tricky process best left to the commercial grower.

QUESTION OF THE WEEK

What's wrong?
Your trouble could be due to overwatering, poor drainage, hot dry air (most likely cause), or a lack of light. Geraniums like to be grown on the cool side (60 degrees or less). They also like a lot of light and a uniform supply of moisture. A lack of flowers indoors is due to insufficient light.

Yankees Defeat Aussie Duo To Regain Net Cup

ADELAIDE, Australia (AP)—California collegians Stan Smith and Bob Lutz crushed Australia's Ray Ruffels and Jack Alexander in 77 minutes of devoted tennis Friday 6-4, 6-4, 6-2 for a double victory that returned the Davis Cup to the United States for the first time in five years.

Smith and Lutz tossed their rackets in the air and leaped into the crowd when Ruffels failed to return a sizzling Smith service for the final point.

It was a great day for American tennis, which went into virtual eclipse after the Yanks won the Cup on these same tennis courts in 1938 and lost the following year in Cleveland, Ohio.

The smashing triumph by the two youngsters, who hold every American doubles record, was a blow to the veteran Australian duo. Harry Hopman, whose big gamble failed.

Hopman, 62-year-old captain of 6 successful Davis Cup teams who saw Arthur Ashe and Clark Graebner put his young defenders in a 0-2 hole Thursday, decided to withdraw his pair before the match. His prerogative to make the selection, the U.S. team was heavily favored.

In the opening singles, Graeb-

Then Ashe, a Negro army lieutenant who is rated the world's best amateur player, polished off the left-handed powerhouse, Ruffels, 6-8, 3-6, 6-3, 6-2.

This marks only the fourth time the Americans have won the Cup since 1950 and the first time since 1954, when Tony Trabert and Vic Seixas collaborated, that they have been able to clinch the series on the first two days.

Sample Plans Busy Battle With Raiders

NEW YORK (AP)—Johnny Sample, a businessman who owns a ticket agency and a restaurant, expects a lot of business Sunday—but not in tickets and food.

The New York Jets' cornerback figures Daryle Lamonica and Fred Biletnikoff will keep him busy during the Jets' American Football League championship game with Oakland in Shea Stadium.

"He had such a great game last week you know they have to throw to him," Sample said Thursday, referring to Biletnikoff without actually mentioning his name.

Biletnikoff is the Raiders' flanker who caught seven passes for 180 yards and three touchdowns against Kansas City in last Sunday's playoff for the Western Division title.

He also caught seven Lamonica passes against the Jets earlier in the season. It was Sample's job to watch Biletnikoff for most of that game off me, and on one of the plays I made a couple of good moves," said Sample, an effervescent guy who likes to let pass receivers know he's around both by word and by deed.

"But overall he didn't impress me in running the game," Sample said. "I think the longest gain he had on me was for 15 yards. I think he's an average receiver. You can't compare him to the great receivers."

Easy AFL Rookie Pick

NEW YORK (AP)—Paul Robinson, who played only one year in college before becoming the American Football League's rushing champion, was an overwhelming choice today as the AFL's Offensive Rookie of the Year.

Robinson, the top rookie on a roster that received 24 votes for his play as the Cincinnati Bengals' halfback.

The other six votes from The Associated Press' panel of 30 sports writers and sportscasters went to another running back, Bob Holmes of Kansas City, who finished second in rushing. Robinson gained 1,023 yards during the season, becoming the first rookie in the AFL to reach the 1,000 mark.

He gained that plateau even though he played football in college for only one year. That was in 1967, after he had played basketball at Eastern Arizona Junior College and run track at the University of Arizona.

He turned to football at Arizona after using up his track eligibility. Bob had suggested Robinson for football last year," said Robinson, who holds the Arizona record for the 400-yard intermediate hurdles. "I started out as a flanker but didn't do too well so they switched me to running back."

From there, he became the Bengals' third-round draft choice and beat out approximately 15 other running backs for the job. But despite Paul Brown's expectations, the 6-foot, 168-pound rookie started slowly.

In the first seven games, Robinson gained more than 35 yards only once, and he scored only two touchdowns.

Then came the second half of the season, and Robinson exploded. He ran for 150 yards in Oakland's 15-0 win against Houston, 115 against Kansas City and 134 against Miami. By that time, he had eroded the rushing lead and easily held it through the last three games.

Racial Issue Moves Fichtner From Starter On Browns To Sub For Saints

NEW ORLEANS (NEA)—Fichtner, a good but fairly anonymous defensive back, from the barracks. When the cab driver came the driver said he couldn't take me. The company had a policy no blacks could be picked up. He said I didn't get mad. He was polite. That's the situation in the South."

Fichtner, along with many members of the New Orleans Saints, are part-time ministers, now, for a big budget football movie called "Pro" on location in New Orleans.

After four takes of a play, Fichtner returned to the bench at Tulane Stadium. He removed his helmet and fiddled with it between his knees. His straight blond hair had a boyish cowlick and his blue eyes observed Hensley and director Tom Gries discuss dropping back in the pocket. The scene with cameras on the field, empty stadium seats, uniformed players loitering and smoking on the grass and plays that end in "pat," seemed as unreal as aetherworld, as his days since the "incident" last summer.

"It's been horrible," said Fichtner. "Just horrible. What a year. I went from first-string with a contending team, the Browns, to the taxi squad of an expansion team that's struggling to win games."

"I also lost a good side business in Cleveland and, in some places, my good name. Every time my name is mentioned in the papers, no matter what the story is, it's always 'How to win games'—I was leashed from the Cleveland Browns because of the racial incident involving John Wooten. . . . And I don't see any end to it. It may be that way the rest of my life."

Bird Misses Glamor Of Running With Ball, But Has Adjusted To Defense

OAKLAND, Calif. (NEA)—It's not easy to forget but sometimes it's awfully hard to remember. Ask Roger Bird of the Oakland Raiders.

Every season a dozen or so college football players do it, however reluctantly. After years of headlines, fanfare and endowments running back, the Bird—graduate to the professional leagues and become, of all things, defensive backs.

Obviously, the adjustment requires some re-education. Here, the defensive back has been a guy who couldn't cut in on offense. Too slow. Too small. Too weak. Congratulations, son, you're a defensive back.

The pros, however, view the situation somewhat differently. Defensive backs here eat at the same table with the quarterback. In a game dominated by the forward pass, the man who can knock it down is a prized commodity.

Roger Bird is aware of this. Oakland didn't pay him $200,000 because he once scored four touchdowns in a game for the Raiders of Kentucky. The Raiders paid him $200,000 because he was 6-foot, 185 pounds and quick because, as a sophomore, he impressed them as a free safety.

Bird impressed many people in those days. He ran back kicks, offs, caught passes and made All-Southern Conference as a sophomore back. Now, the only line Bird runs with the football is when he intercepts a pass or returns a punt.

"It's been so long since I ran the ball out of the backfield that I've forgotten how," he said, not kidding. "I've never carried the ball in professional football. I just don't know what it's like."

Returning punts, Bird points out, should not be confused with running out of the backfield.

"There's really no similarity," he said. "On punt runbacks, you don't have to dodge linebackers and the demand on your timing is not that great."

On occasion, Bird, now 24, still flashes that old flair, breaking away on a punt return. It still takes two or three men to ride him down.

"I still blame the ball to the turf," he says, "disgust at not having a touchdown. But it's not the same."

Professional football has given a new dimension to defense, true, but the acclaim and recognition still go to the offensive. "I don't know what fact about which most defensive backs gripe, Bird just admits it.

"No," he says, "there isn't as much personal satisfaction for me in playing defense. It's one of the biggest things I've learned to adjust to. You don't get the praise on defense that you do on offense."

Roger Bird is, however, satisfied. It has been so long now, that even he doubts he could have made it as a running back.

"I don't really think I've got

MINNESOTA TEAMS Split 4 Games

ST. CLOUD, Minn. (AP)—Minnesota teams split four opening round contests Thursday with out-of-state opposition in the Granite City basketball classic.

Eastern Michigan routed Bemidji 93-62 in the opener, but Concordia rallied to nip Eau Claire, Wis., 79-76.

In the evening session, Drury, Mo., held off a St. John's rally to escape with a 50-58 victory, and host St. Cloud stymied Lincoln, Pa., University 68-55.

St. John's rallied from a 33-21 halftime deficit to go ahead 42-40. But the Missouri team went ahead permanently at 46-45 with 8:24 to play. Drury led 59-54 when Joe Weber's two baskets in the final 34 seconds cut the margin to one.

Colorado, Kansas Win Meet Openers

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Olympic star Jo "Jo" White scored a career high 28 points Thursday night, leading Kansas to an early 82-58 victory over Nebraska in the first round of the 23rd annual Big Eight Conference basketball tournament.

Colorado shook off some first-half doldrums to defeat error-prone Oklahoma 83-56 in the other opening night contest.

Oklahoma State meets Missouri and Kansas State play Iowa State in the other first round games Friday night.

White, who three times earlier in his career has scored 28 points, teamed with Bruce Sloan to annihilate Nebraska's slow-down tactics in the first half. White then went on a second-half shooting spree which kept the eighth-ranked Jayhawks safely in front.

While stole the ball six times with Kansas scoring layups five of those times. He wound up hitting 12 of 19 shots from the field.

Dave Robach added 20 points for Kansas, which streaked in front 21-7 and saw its lead erode at 28 points in the second half. Leroy Chalk topped the Cornhuskers with 10.

Rams Spring Holiday Surprise: Can Coach

LOS ANGELES (AP)—George Allen was fired unexpectedly Thursday as head coach of the Los Angeles Rams, after three successful seasons, because of what President Reeves described as a personality conflict.

"I can only say it comes as a surprise Christmas present," declared the 46-year-old Allen. He had two years remaining on his five-year pact with the National Football League club, Reeves said. The contract, which called for an estimated $40,000 per year, would be honored.

"It is probably more my fault than his," Reeves said, but he steadfastly refused to give any particulars, adding, "George Allen is a great coach and a fine family man. Nevertheless, he's being relieved as head coach."

Publicly, the only major disagreement came after Los Angeles tied the 49ers at San Francisco 20-20 on Nov. 17.

Allen criticized playing conditions at Kezar Stadium on that wet afternoon and said they were the worst he had seen in his coaching career. Reeves was unhappy with that statement and said so.

Otherwise, disagreements between the two were not publicized. Published reports early this month that Allen was headed for Buffalo were flatly denied.

Allen said the three-year record of the Rams since he arrived was the best in their history. He called a news conference for Friday morning saying he preferred to make no prior statements.

Before Allen took over in 1966, the Rams had not enjoyed a winning year since they were 8-4 in 1958. Harland Svare was dismissed as coach in 1965 after his club won only 14 games in three seasons, finishing 4-10 his final year.

Allen was hired from Chicago in a move which so angered Bears owner George Halas that he filed suit to keep him. The action was later dismissed and the 1966 Rams posted a 8-8 record.

The next season they were 11-1-2 during the regular season, won the Coastal Division title, lost to Green Bay 20-7 for the Western title and then whipped Cleveland 30-6 in the runner-up bowl.

Allen and Don Shula of Baltimore were named co-coaches-of-the-year by The Associated Press.

Beset by injuries, the Rams were 10-2-1 in 1968, losing to the Bears 17-16 and to the Colts 28-24 in their final two games.

Idaho Tests Seattle In Holiday Abbreviated Big Sky Conference Schedule

By The Associated Press
Only three of the Big Sky Conference's 11 basketball teams will see action this week end.

The league-leading Montana State Bobcats (4-0) will compete in the University of Southern California's invitational tournament in Los Angeles; the University of Montana Grizzlies (2-1) will journey to Las Vegas for a tourney with Nevada Southern University as host, and

The Idaho Vandals (4-3) will juggle Friday night with Seattle University in Seattle.

Other Big Sky teams — Oregon State, Idaho State, and Gonzaga University of Spokane — are taking a holiday break.

The Los Angeles tourney will open with a tilt between Tulsa and Texas-El Paso. Montana State meets powerful Southern California the nightcap.

The Las Vegas tournament begins with a contest between Montana and Southern Illinois.

The first night's schedule closes with Nevada-Southern meeting San Diego State.

In both tournaments, winners meet winners Saturday night for tourney titles and losers tangle for consolation honors.

Coach Roger Craft of Montana State says the Bobcats must be considered underdogs. The other tourney teams, each having played at least eight games this season, are more experienced than the Bobcats.

"We've got to contain Ron Taylor, the big man in the middle," Craft said, referring to Southern Cal's 7-foot-1, 255-pound center.

Southern California (5-4) has favored the full court press defense this season and Craft says the Bobcats, idle since Dec. 14, have been practicing to combat such tactics.

"It's a real challenge to face a team such as USC," Craft said.

Texas-El Paso has proven itself a formidable competitor this year. Monday night the squad beat New Mexico and also took the championship in its own Sun Bowl Tournament.

Drawing his first starting assignment for the Bobcats will be senior guard LeRoy Anderson, a six-footer, who started a few games last season.

Craft said his other starters will be 6-foot guard Jay Harrington, 6-foot-8 forwards Greg Harris and Don Luce, 6-foot-0 center Jack Gillespie.

Montana and Southern Illinois are the only teams in the Las Vegas tournament that have not played since Dec. 14.

Southern Illinois (4-2) was second-place finisher in Tennessee's annual Volunteer Classic two weeks ago. In that event Southern Illinois smashed Texas 58-37 but dropped the title game to Tennessee 54-41.

Grizzly coach Bob Coppe says Southern Illinois is known especially for its strong defense.

"They tend to press all over the floor," he said.

Nevada Southern's Rebels, averaging 102 points a game as of last weekend, have three players who have hit more than 20 points a game.

The Aztecs of San Diego and Nevada Southern both were ranked among the top 20 games last week in the Associated Press small college poll.

Montana's starting lineup will have one new face going into the tournament — Howard Clark, a 6-foot-5 junior forward from Kansas City, Mo.

Also at forward will be 6-foot-4 senior Ron Moore of Indianapolis, Ind.

Starting at guards will be 5-foot-10 phenom Mike Horoux of Menasha, Wis., and 5-foot-10 junior Harold Ross of Seattle.

The center will be 6-foot-8 junior George Yule of Newport Beach, Calif.

Despite its rather unimpressive showing thus far this season, Idaho is considered potentially dangerous and could find in Seattle the combination needed to break back into the victory column. Idaho lost its season opener, then posted four straight victories but has lost its last two contests.

4 Cop Wins In Glens Ferry Meet

GLENS FERRY — Duffy Realty of Boise, Gateway Trailer of Twin Falls, Valley Nursing Home of Twin Falls and the Trophy Club of Glens Ferry hosted 700 of the annual Glens Ferry Lions Club outlaw tournament Thursday night.

Duffy Realty, getting 20 points from Christensen and double figure scoring from three others, finished Rex Motors of Mountain Home 20-35.

John Giesler hit 17 points and Ron Adamson 13 as Gateway surprised Faux Cigar Store 48-39. Milt Horton topped the losers with 13.

Valley Nursing home got 15 points from Kirk Williams and 12 from Brett Staples to down Grigley's Market of Mountain Home 43-39. Robertson led Gridley's with 11.

The tournament continues tonight with 700 of the annual Glens Ferry Lions Club outlaw tournament Thursday night.

Russell's idea of a groovy time is to want all the final seconds of a basketball game and then pop in a jump shot that wins the game. He's been doing it since his college days as an All-American at Michigan.

Although he isn't the one-man gang in the National Basketball Association that he was in college, he still has this habit. His latest clutch basket was against the Philadelphia 76ers Wednesday night when he dropped in a 25-foot jump with five seconds left for a 110-109 victory, the fifth straight for the rising Knicks.

Russell did his thing against Philadelphia earlier this season, hitting six points in the final minute for a victory.

"I'm aware of my reputation as a clutch player," Russell admitted, "and I guess I try to uphold it. I like to get the ball in that type of situation."

T.F. Sophomores Tip Minico 46-34

POCATELLO — The Twin Falls sophomores, trailing 17-9 at the end of the first half, turned to prosper and overhauled Minico 46-34 Thursday in the opening round of the Pocatello sophomore tournament.

Twin Falls is slated to play the winner of the Highland Idaho Falls game Friday with Minico meeting the loser. Also entered are Pocatello and Snake River.

Twin Falls turned the press into a 23-21 third quarter lead and the young Bruins then matched their total of the first three quarters by scoring 23 in the final period.

Browns Attempt Psychological Warfare To Prepare For Colts

CLEVELAND (AP) — "Are we men enough?" That's the latest piece of psychological warfare Cleveland linebacker Jim Houston has chanted on a blackboard in the Browns' training room as he admittedly tries to brainwash his teammates for Sunday's National Football League championship game against Baltimore.

"It's not true that pros can't be psyched," the veteran linebacker said Thursday. "When you get this far each team is as good as the other—and the one that has the most motivation may have the best chance of coming up the winner."

But first, of course, the Browns have to get by the Colts. "And, if motivation can help, Houston will be at his blackboard with his messages."

Colts Drill In 29-Degree Weather

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Baltimore Colts practiced in 29-degree weather Thursday as they prepared for Sunday's National Football League game against Cleveland.

Baltimore's Western Conference champions conducted a brisk 90-minute workout.

"It wasn't as cold as Wednesday," Coach Don Shula said, "when the wind made it pretty brutal. But, as bad as the weather has been, we've had good concentration."

Cleveland's Municipal Stadium, home of the Eastern Conference champion Browns, is on the shores of Lake Erie, and the weather this time of year can be downright nasty—and unpredictable.

Columbia Has Seventh Win In Row

Ohio Favored To Beat Richmond

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Ohio University, one of three perfect-record college football teams in the nation, is a one-touchdown favorite over the University of Richmond in Friday night's Tangerine Bowl game—the first matching Southern and Mid-American Conference champions.

REACHING A PLATEAU, Los Angeles Laker Jerry West (44) beat the Detroit Pistons defense to come in with 17's shot Thursday night that registered his 10,000th National Basketball Association point. Defenders are Happy Hairston (5) and Jim Walker (18). The Lakers won 95-93. (AP wirephoto)

Anderson, Atkinson Earn Rookie Honors

NEW YORK (AP) — Dick Anderson of Miami and George Atkinson of Oakland, a pair of youngsters who filled vital holes in their team's defenses, were named Defensive Rookies of the Year in the American Football League Thursday when voting by The Associated Press peaked in a tie.

Anderson, third-round draft choice from Colorado, was expected to be a back-up safety for the Dolphins but stepped into the starting line-up when Tom Beier was called to active duty with the Army Reserves before the season started.

BYU, Oregon Win In Far West Classic

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — The young Oregon Ducks, sparked by junior Billy Gaskins, broke open a close basketball game in the second half and trounced Yale, 84-71, in the second game of the Far West Classic's opening night Thursday.

Besides filling that spot and intercepting four passes, Atkinson continued his kick return, finishing first in kickoff returns with an average of 25.1 yards per runback and second in punt returns with a 13.6 average.

Russell Happy To Maintain Late Touch

NEW YORK (AP) — Cazzle Russell is doing his thing again, and it has the New York Knicks orbiting toward the top.

Russell's idea of a groovy time is to want all the final seconds of a basketball game and then pop in a jump shot that wins the game. He's been doing it since his college days as an All-American at Michigan.

Although he isn't the one-man gang in the National Basketball Association that he was in college, he still has this habit. His latest clutch basket was against the Philadelphia 76ers Wednesday night when he dropped in a 25-foot jump with five seconds left for a 110-109 victory, the fifth straight for the rising Knicks.

Russell did his thing against Philadelphia earlier this season, hitting six points in the final minute for a victory.

"I'm aware of my reputation as a clutch player," Russell admitted, "and I guess I try to uphold it. I like to get the ball in that type of situation."

Bowling

MAGIC BOWL
Major League

Kayler defeated Muehr 4-0; the Griffling defeated Langston's Skelton 4-0; Bob Ave. Market defeated Thibault's 3-1; Wagner's defeated Skelton's 4-1; Anderson-Hicks Inc. defeated Depot Grill No. 1 3-1.

High individual series, Shirley Skelton, 257; high scratch team game, Wagner's, 529; high handicap team game, Skelton's, 529; high handicap team series, May-Meyer.

Holder of the week's Shirley Rogers, 515. Next bowling night will be Jan. 7.

Broken Jaw Sidelines Bobby Hull

CHICAGO (AP) — Bobby Hull, the National Hockey League's top scorer, was resting in a hospital Thursday, suffering from a broken jaw received in Wednesday night's game with the Toronto Maple Leafs.

The Chicago Black Hawks will lose Hull's services for a week. Hull's sideling came in the second period when Mike Pelyk of the Leafs was called for interfering with Bobby. The interference was an elbow high on Hull's right cheek.

Dr. Myron Tremaine, the club physician, sent Hull to Hennrich Hospital where Bobby's jaw was wired, a complicated arrangement that will interfere with his breathing.

NAMES COACH
DETROIT (AP) — Bo Schemmeler, the successful football coach at Miami of Ohio, has been named head football coach at the University of Michigan. The Associated Press learned Thursday night.

OHIO STATE FAILS Beef Bowl Test
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Ohio State's participation in the Beef Bowl was cancelled Thursday because the Buckeye football players are concentrating so hard on the Rose Bowl.

A local restaurant annually invites players of each participating Rose Bowl squad to dinner on separate evenings. The team is adjudged the Beef Bowl winner. Southern California players last week ate 275 pounds.

Ohio State was to have eaten Thursday night.

BAD BID AETS UP PLEBS LUCK

We managed to dodge the Unlucky Expert for several months but he finally cornered us again. This time his complaint was about an international Match Point game.

West North East South
1♣	1♥	1♦	1♠
2♣	2♥	2♦	2♠
3♣	3♥	3♦	3♠
Opening lead—4♣

It wasn't astonishing and Smith's only real problem in the play was to make sure that he had diamonds from his own hand instead of from dummy. Then we asked, "How did you get killed by this bid?" He replied, "My partner didn't bid two clubs and it was up to me to act over two spades. Naturally I jumped to three no-trump. East opened a spade and the best I could do was to settle for down one."

We sympathized with the Unlucky Expert, but merely to get rid of him. Actually, we felt that his three no-trump call was fabulous. He could expect a spade-lead and he had but one spade stopper. He should merely have bid two no-trump. If his partner passed, he would at least show a profit but we are certain that South would have tried a three-club bid, whereupon the Unlucky Expert could have jumped to four hearts.

CARD SENSE

There didn't seem to be anything remarkable about the hand he showed us. We did comment on the fact that the four-heart game was not as ironclad as we would like all contracts to be, but it certainly was not the sort of game you would want to stay out of.

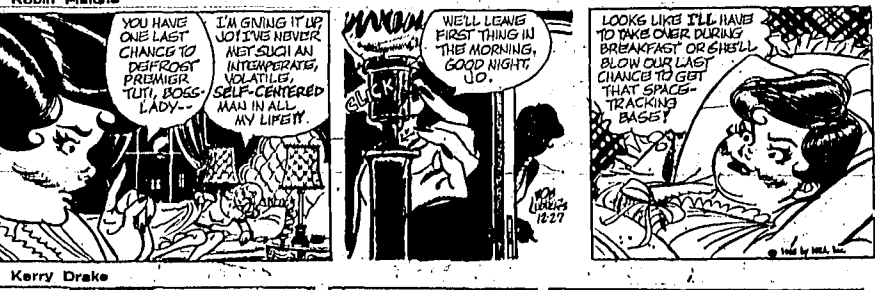

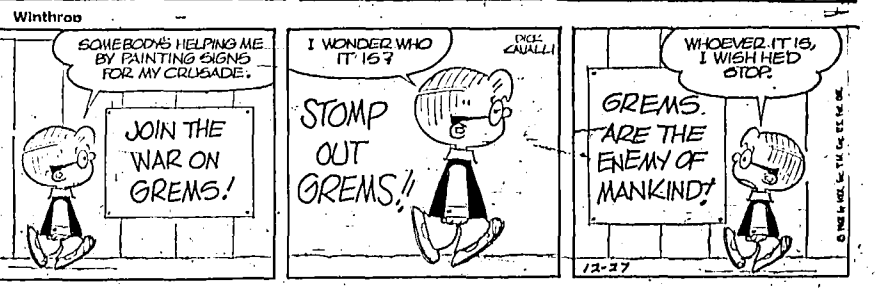

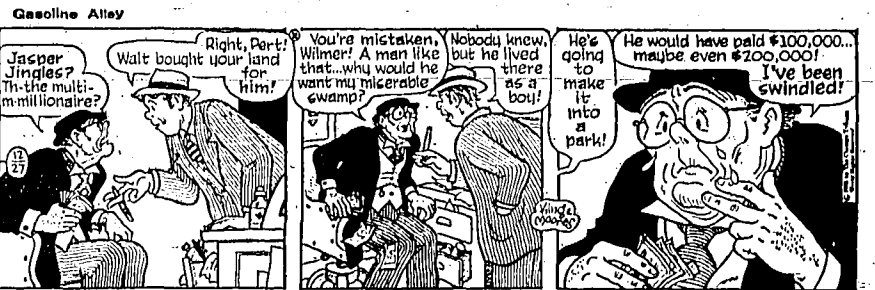

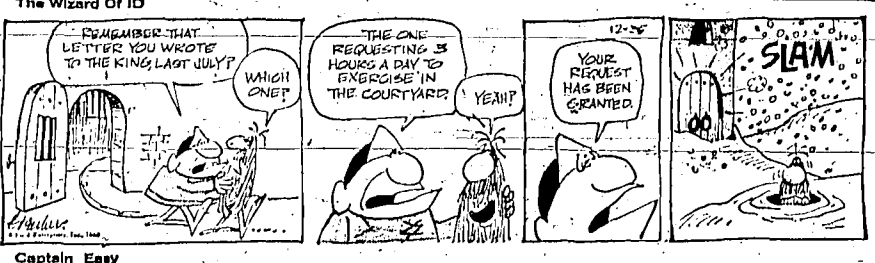

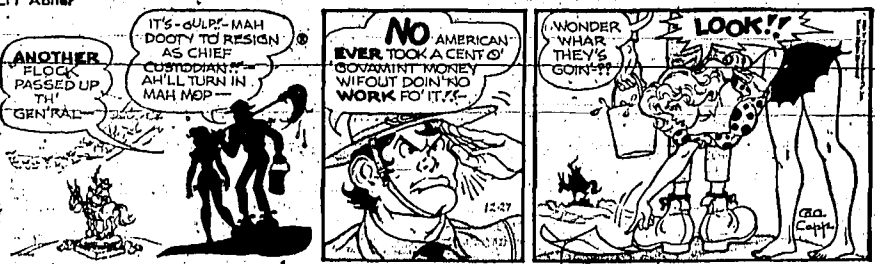

He said, "Look at South's two-club call. He did not have to bid and he surely showed a better hand than he actually held."

Q—The bidding has been: West North East South
Pass 2♣ Pass 3♣
Pass 3♥ Pass 3NT
Pass 4♣ Pass 4♥
Pass 4♥ Pass 7

You, South, hold:
♠ A K 8 5 4 ♣ Q 8 2
♥ A 10 8 7 6 5 4 3 2
♦ A What do you do now?
A—Bid five hearts. Your partner has taken this very roundabout route to four hearts to show that he wants to reach a slam and you have never rebid your good five heart suit.

TODAY'S QUESTION

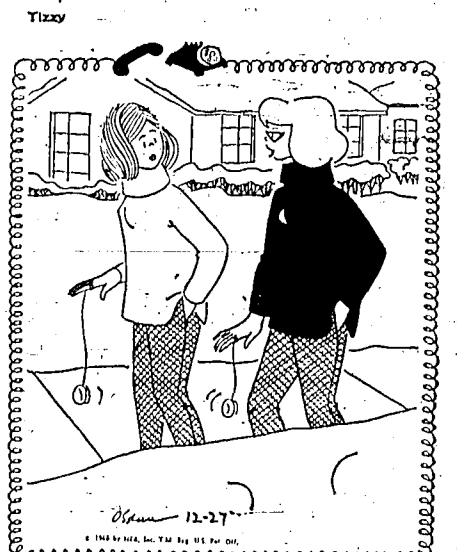

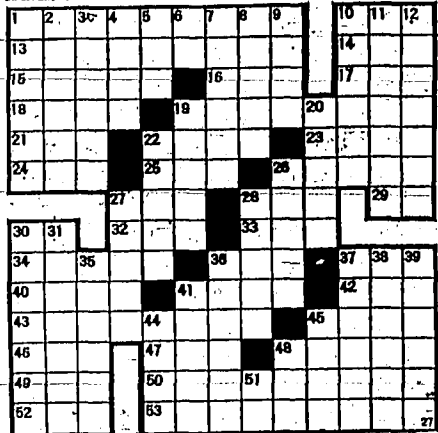

Your partner jumps to six no-trump. What do you do now?

Albion Lists Winners Of Yule Contest

ALBION—The second annual Christmas home lighting contest winners at Albion are announced by the Albion Chamber of Commerce, sponsors of the event. Dick Dunn's home was the grand prize winner with the theme "Peace on Earth" featuring a large angel on the roof with a black light and other lights around the house.

Other winners were VaDell Mahoney, first, using the theme of "Rock, Ship" which featured a rocket ship, saws and elves; Carl Richardson, second, featured all blue-lighting of the home.

Mrs. Zula Mahoney's home was third; Carolyn Davis, fourth; Robert Adams, fifth; Jay Nielsen, sixth; Odeon Redman, seventh; Old Buggy Inn, eighth; LaVerl Row, ninth, and Lynn Orthman, 10th.

Prizes were $15 savings account opened at D. L. Evans Bank; dinner for two at Maple Marie Inn; desk lamp from Ray's River Electric; Odeon Redman, seventh; Old Buggy Inn, eighth; LaVerl Row, ninth, and Lynn Orthman, 10th.

Magic Valley residents are invited to drive to Albion and view the homes in the Christmas light contest. The lights will be up until Jan. 1, 1969.

George Kelley, chairman of the contest.

Judges were Lloyd Knudde and Henry Bronzell, both Rupert, and Mrs. Rosco (Joy) Ward, Almo.

Telephone Firm Reports Year's Growth

BURLEY — Growth and improvement projects during 1968 for Mountain States Telephone are announced by W. D. Gibson, Burley telephone manager.

The firm invested over $12 million for a variety of statewide and local exchange communications improvement programs.

"We will spend a similar amount in the coming year to meet our pledge in keeping pace with the state's telephone needs," said Mr. Gibson.

The company now serves 231,000 telephones in its Idaho area which is a gain of 11,000 over last year. Idahoans placed an average of more than one long distance call per day. Million dollar calls per day averaged 48,000 and this is 2,500 more per day than in 1967. There are 1,568 telephone employees with an annual payroll of around 11 million dollars to spend to enhance the Idaho economy.

There are 7,078 telephone numbers in Burley which is a gain of 265 over last year.

"To insure good service in our local facilities," stated Gibson.

Major improvements during 1968 included several new buildings and central offices, microwave expansion, improved rural service, highlighting the activity was the opening of a new one and one-half million dollar central office at North Pocatello in August.

Microwave expansion included a new $1 million radio relay system linking the Pocatello-Salt Lake leg to Helena, Mont. Other microwave systems were expanded by adding 600 channels to each path. A multi-million dollar project involved the underground planting of thousands of miles of cable in almost every Idaho exchange to lower the number of parties on rural lines. This rural program will continue in 1969.

Now telephone central offices were built at Howe near Arco and at Castletford.

Other highlights included connection of Caldwell's 10,000th phone and Idaho Falls connected for 30,000th.

More data flowed over telephone lines as Idaho business firms used telephone equipment to transmit bookkeeping, medical data, inventory orders and other information to computers at distant cities.

In an installation at the Atomic Energy Commission near Idaho Falls, telephone data equipment now transmits data to the fantastic speed of 50,000 bits per second.

Several Idaho hospital data installations allow specialists at distant cities to check the diagnosis and progress of heart patients as electrocardiograms are transmitted over telephone equipment.

Mountain States Telephone serves the Idaho area south of the Salmon River. Largest exchanges served include Boise with a year end total of 87,000 telephones; Idaho Falls with 30,000; Pocatello with 24,000 and Twin Falls with 15,000 telephones.

"We are dedicated to the job of maintaining and constantly improving telephone communications and are and will continue to do so in the Idaho communities we serve," Mr. Gibson stated.

THE ELKS CLUB of Twin Falls completed its "heir class" with the initiation of several new members Thursday night. This program brings close relatives of Elks Club members

and Reed Williams. All members of the Lucich family shown are new initiates, as well as Jack Hyder's son Michael; Don McKinstler's sons, David and Don's, and Reed Williams.

'Architects' Of Service Stations Deface Nation With Garish Clutter

By BOB COCHNAR
NEA Automotive Editor

NEW YORK — (NEA) — All things considered, the average automobile is a handsome piece of machinery. There are flaws to be sure, but stylists spend millions for these smooth lines and clean silhouettes.

Yet the automobile probably causes more ugliness than any other convenience invented by man, with the exception of the guy who put together the first bomb.

Would it not for cars, there would be no need for billboards, motels with incredibly garish signs, auto junkyards, polluting control laws, roadside stands, drive-in theaters and service stations.

All of these contribute their fair share to highway blight but service stations earn the Wheeling it Award for Calculated Defilement mainly because they are all over the place.

Somewhere, in a dark cubicle far removed from reality; a clutter of bookkeepers who's education in architecture ended in kindergarten and whose education in aesthetics never began probably grind out "designs" for service stations.

While architect Emory Roth can with some small justification take pride in turning out glass-box skyscrapers with all the imagination of an adequate engineer, the defilers who make most gas stations look like polluted refrigerators trays can't even be familiar with the word pride.

To make matters worse, apparently these trays can't stand alone in some sort of icy splendor. No, they must be decorated by color-blind aborigines who probably keep pink plaster filigings in their front yards.

Multicolored pennants, posters, flashing neon "Last GAS Before County Line" signs, huge posts bearing the name and symbol of the oil company which perpetrated the mess and assorted barnyard totes and worn tires, pop bottles and automotive clutter give the countryside a surrealism which even Dali couldn't duplicate at his wildest.

These grotesque monuments to the automobile are disgraceful and the next phase is, of course, "something should be done about them."

Fortunately, the industry is beginning to recognize the situation for what it is and has softly done the mea culpa bit. Said A. J. Rumoshosky, marketing director for the American Petroleum Institute, to a group of marketers: "Unfortunately, we still have too many unsightly stations. Let us to our critics and you get the point quickly. And who are our critics? They include city councils, zoning boards, garden clubs, homeowners, church congregations and other civic groups.

"In short, it is our customers who are our critics. It is our customers who are telling us they don't like the way we've been running our business. They are demanding that we respect upgraded community standards."

Well, that's a step in the right direction. The industry admits it really hasn't given much of a damn for community standards.

In fairness to the defilers, the customers have been conditioned to expect these refrigerator trays. Why, aren't service stations supposed to look cruddy?

There are some hopeful signs. Reports Rumoshosky:

"It's the station which is 10, 15 or 20 years old which is hurting the wrath of citizens across the nation. Major companies, independents and jobbers have all shown that old stations can be effectively remodeled. Porcelain boxes have been taken on colonial and a nice hair, featuring tile and shingles.

"It's not a handworn yet," reports API marketing chief, "but I'm pleased to see a cut-back in the use of pennants, excessive and distracting use of signs, and the piling of station driveways with merchandise."

—And, in truth, a number of the new stations recently built do blend almost unobtrusively into their surroundings. They are not quite architectural triumphs (though they could be, without vast expenditure) but they are acceptable.

Rumoshosky pulled no punches when he lectured the marketers: "Unless we buck up our house-keeping practices we could lose the ball game, despite all of our work and planning and spending. Without proper maintenance, even the $150,000 company pride and joy can become a dump with pumps — an expensive one, admittedly, but still a dump."

In the final analysis, it's all up to the oil companies. They've got the muscle to enforce a few minimum standards. After all, a gas station without gas soon develops a problem or two.

'Sam' Aids Girls
SHIPPENSBURG, Pa. (AP)—Sam Spectra recently checked into a private suite in the basement of the girls' dormitory at Shippensburg State College and already the students and faculty appreciate his presence and talent.

Sam is an RCA Spectra 70-45 time-sharing computer system—nicknamed "Sam" by the girls in the dorm—that helps solve difficult mathematical, chemical and business administration problems, figure payrolls and performs other administrative functions.

"He even talks to us when answering some of the difficult problems we have in class," said one coed, who obviously finds it nice to have "a man around the house."
