Israel Vows To Continue Retaliation Against Foes

By The Associated Press

Undeterred by mounting condemnation from all sides of its commando raid on the Beirut airport, Israel on Sunday promised further retaliation for Arab attacks.

Premier Levi Eshkol declared that Israel will defend itself against aggression "in the place where it is planned and carried out."

States which make it possible for the terror organizations to organize and perpetrate acts of terror bear the responsibility for aggression, a responsibility which they cannot disclaim," he said.

On Sunday, 12 hours after the raid, two Israeli jets flew over the airport to inspect the still-smoldering debris. Lebanese troops dived for cover, and the planes made two low passes and flew off unchallenged by anti-aircraft batteries or fighter planes based 40 miles away.

Soviet Ambassador Jacob A. Malik told the council that Israel also should be warned if it faced possible sanctions if it persists in what he called "flagrant aggressive acts."

First U.N. Chief Trygve Lie Dies

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—A spokesman for Secretary-General U Thant said today he was advised of the death today in Norway of Trygve Lie, 72, the first secretary-general of the United Nations.

Since no other help was available, employees of the Silver Creek Supply Co., Pocatello, took the stranded travelers to their homes overnight.

The motorists were able to get through Sunday afternoon. Mrs. L. M. Purdy, postmaster at Pocatello, owns a lodging used by duck hunters, but she said it was impossible to drive to the lodge.

His five-year term was extended for three years. In a farewell broadcast in 1953, Lie said: "International politics are the art of the possible and practical. You have to make compromises that in the long run will serve the principles for which you stand."

At Shoshone, Mayor Victor Bozuto expressed appreciation to city employees for the excellent job they have done removing the heavy snow.

Man Accused Of Assault After Fight

A Twin Falls man accused of assault with a deadly weapon, after an early Sunday morning altercation, requested his statutory time when he appeared for arraignment Monday morning.

He was arrested after he and Miss Webster, 22, Filer, were involved in a dispute shortly before 1 a.m. Sunday at the Millery Inn.

Officers said Mr. Morton pulled a .22-caliber revolver while the two men were arguing.

Mr. Webster attempted to disarm Mr. Morton, officers said, and as the two were struggling over the gun, it discharged, the bullet crossing Mr. Morton's skull.

2 Young Women Accused Of Killing Dog, Stealing Gas

FILER — Two Filer women, accused of maliciously killing an animal and with petit larceny, pleaded not guilty to the charges Monday morning when they were arraigned by Twin Falls County Justice Court before Judge Reed P. Maughan.

They are accused of killing a dog owned by Carl Mitchell, rural Filer, Friday, and also stealing gas from the Mitchell residence.

Rustling

An alleged case of cattle rustling on range land south of Twin Falls is being investigated, it was learned Monday.

Twelve head of cattle belonging to Floyd Kaufman, Buhl, turned up missing two weeks ago Sunday. Mr. Kaufman found his herd penned in a corral. One steer was dead, another near death. All were described as very thin and the calves have been taken out of the corral.

The cattle were branded, but the calves weren't, it was reported.

Mrs. Kaufman said her husband went back to the area, at Mule Creek behind Rabbit Springs, Monday to check the area out. She said the cattle were found in "terrible" condition.

"We have the cattle back with us now, but the calves are still missing," she said.

Twin Falls County Sheriff Paul Corder is investigating the case.

The cattle reportedly roam free on the summer range. Mrs. Kaufman said the corral in which the cattle were found had no food or water.

"The animals were left to starve it appears," she said.

Allies Ignore Cong 'Truce' After 3 'Copters Shot Down

SAIGON (AP)—The Viet Cong shot down three more American helicopters over the weekend, raising to 968 the number of choppers reported lost in combat in South Vietnam.

As the American helicopter losses climbed, thousands of U.S. and South Vietnamese troops pushed ahead with offensive operations, ignoring the start of a New Year's cease-fire proclaimed by the Viet Cong.

All three helicopters were shot down before the cease-fire started.

One was hit about 30 miles north of Saigon Saturday, killing two Americans and injuring two others. Another was hit Sunday in Tay Ninh Province, northwest of Saigon, and three men were injured. The third was shot down in the northern sector of the country, near Quang Nam.

The Viet Cong broadcast an announcement that its forces began observing a 72-hour cease-fire at 1 a.m. Saigon time.

but warned they would strike back if attacked. South Vietnam and the United States said they would not observe a New Year's cease-fire this year because of alleged Viet Cong violations of the 24-hour Christmas truce.

South Vietnamese headquarters reported five enemy attacks on government bases after the start of the Viet Cong cease-fire. Most were shelling, and a spokesman said they caused only light casualties and no significant damage.

The U.S. Command said five 107mm rockets hit a base camp of the U.S. 25th Infantry Division about 40 miles northwest of Saigon this morning. U.S. casualties were "very light with no fatalities," a spokesman said. One Vietnamese civilian was wounded.

Astronauts Relate Details Of Flight

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP)—The Apollo 8 astronauts engage in the first full day of intensive de-briefing on their flight today as space officials release part of the treasure they brought back—color views of the earth and the moon.

The trio, meeting with flight training specialists, will go over their mission "event by event in considerable detail," a space official said.

The astronauts arrived at 3 a.m. EST Sunday and had their first intensive de-briefing session last night.

Their spacecraft was taken to the aircraft carrier Yorktown via Hawaii. They had spent a day on the carrier after helicopters plucked them from the mid-Pacific at the end of their moon-orbiting mission.

Their spacecraft was taken to Honolulu by the Yorktown where it will undergo Navy tests before being flown to the North American Rockwell Co. plant at Downey, Calif., for closer examination.

Twelve pictures taken by the Apollo 8 crew en route and around the moon—part of the scientific treasure they gathered in their six-day flight—were released Sunday by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Two of the color pictures of the earth were taken as the spacecraft was in orbit or near the moon. They show the earth as a glowing sapphire half-disc with wisps of clouds streaking the deep blue.

One view, taken as the spacecraft was en route to the moon, shows continents on both sides of the Atlantic Ocean. The west edge of Africa shows as a brown patch surrounded by clouds. The east coast of South America is shrouded with clouds. The edge of darkness stands out as sunset moves across Africa.

A picture of the earth taken from orbit shows it rising over the moon as the moon appears to rise to moon on earth. It is a brilliant blue, with patches of brown that are whole continents. The background is velvet black and the dark side of the earth cannot be seen. The picture has the pocked and rugged surface of the moon in the foreground.

Color pictures of the moon have greenish or tan tint, but the astronauts said this color was not true. Instead, they said, the moon is more the color of "dirty beach sand."

The pictures clearly show craters, rills, bluffs and ridges on the moon's bleak surface.

Deadlock On Peace Parley Continues

PARIS (AP)—Hanoi diplomats said today they expect no further U.S.-North Vietnamese talks on breaking the peace conference deadlock before the start of the new year.

Others connected with the lengthening dispute over ground rules for the proposed parity said it was still an open question whether the conference, originally slated to open nearly two months ago, would begin before President-elect Nixon takes office Jan. 20.

In any event, they doubted there would be any substantial progress toward ending the war before the Vietnamese delegations have a chance to assess the negotiating posture of the Nixon administration.

A U.S. delegation official said no meeting between Hanoi's Col. Ho Van Lau is now scheduled but another private session could be called by either side at any time.

The U.S. and South Vietnamese delegations, meanwhile, are in a dispute shortly before 1 a.m. Sunday at the Millery Inn.

Cunard Refuses To Accept Vessel

Faulty Turbines Harass British Liner

ABOARD THE QUEEN ELIZABETH II (AP)—Britannia's newest ocean pride, the liner Queen Elizabeth 2, steamed homeward at half speed today amid a growing uproar over her trouble-filled shakedown cruise.

The liner left the Clyde-side shipyard in Scotland last month for speed trials during which it developed an oil leak that forced cancellation of a Christmas charity cruise.

More than 3,000 persons had been booked for the two trips. In Britain, demands increased for a government inquiry into the Q2's troubles. About two-thirds of her construction costs were paid from government loans. Newspaper commentators all agreed the ship's faults went beyond the troubles expected on any shakedown cruise.

FBI Probes Gangland In Hijack

BOSTON (AP) — The FBI examined a key and noted a vehicle underworld link today for a clue in the hijacking of some $800,000 from a Brink's armored car Saturday four blocks from the scene of the $1.2-million Brink's robbery in 1960.

Two men used a key to open the door of the parked truck, surprising a guard, Richard E. Haines, 43, of Tewksbury, who was alone in the vehicle while his two teammates took a coffee break.

Police said the robbers could not have entered the truck if inside bolts on the truck doors had been latched. None were in place, investigators said.

A key was found later at the scene of the robbery. Company officials said it was not issued by Brink's.

Savage Jr., manager of Brink's Boston office, said "as near as I can ascertain the total (taken) will be in the area of $800,000."

An audit was started Sunday to determine how much of the loot was in cash.

The robbery was the 13th of a money express truck in eastern Massachusetts since 1950.

Haines said the robbers, who wore ski masks and gloves, handcuffed Haines' wrists and manacled him in the back of the truck, drove several blocks to parking lot near the Republic of Motor Vehicles, transferred the money into a vehicle driven by a third man and fled.

He was disarmed, but police said they found his gun and those belonging to the other guards in the truck.

Haines told police he worked his way out of the handcuffs and walked to a nearby police station and reported the hijacking.

LBJ Hears Sermon In Texas Church

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson, attending church in the community he'll soon return to as a private citizen, heard with approval a New Year's sermon urging men to learn from their mistakes and try to change.

The sermon was delivered in a little gray church on the banks of the Pedernales River in Stonewall, Tex., a few miles from the Johnson ranch where the President is spending the New Year holiday and trying to get over a lingering cold.

Sitting among the farm families who will be his full-time neighbors after Jan. 30, Johnson sang "O Come All Ye Faithful" with apparent enjoyment to the Rev. Norman C. Truesdell, a young Lutheran minister with a relaxed, informal manner.

Scrapping all those New Year's resolutions pledging to give up drinking, swearing and whoring with your wife, the minister told the congregation, and adopt just one:

"Lord, help me to be a new man—one who remembers my mistakes, who can learn from them, and can change."

"That was a very wonderful sermon, I enjoyed it," Johnson told the Rev. Truesdell as they shook hands on the church steps after the service. Then he added with a smile, "I'll try to be a new man."

Utah Climbers Seek To Conquer Teton Ridge

JACKSON, Wyo. (AP) — A seasoned group of Utah mountain climbers led by George Lowe, 24, Salt Lake City, were to leave Jackson Monday morning to climb the east ridge of Grand Teton, a route never before attempted in the winter.

The exposed piece of granite was described by Lowe as "an acidic climb in the summer." Present conditions on the 13,766-foot peak, however, make it a "high risk" climb.

Climbing with Lowe will be his brother, Dave Lowe, 19, their cousins, Mike Lowe, 23, and Bob Irvine, 30, Weber State College math teacher, and of Ogden, and Rick Horn, 20, part owner of a mountaineering shop in Jackson, and Pete Gibbs, 25, Salt Lake City.

George, Mike and Greg Lowe and Horn were members of a party which completed the first successful winter climb of the north face of the Grand Teton last winter.

The climb, if successful, is to last six days with a rescue team waiting in Jackson.

Prospective Miss T. F. Contestants Attend Tea

Fifty-eight area girls were invited to an introductory tea and indoctrination program by the Twin Falls Lions Club Saturday night to acquaint them with the annual Miss Twin Falls pageant and to solicit contestants for this year's June 21 pageant.

"The girls invited were suggested to us by school officials, both high school and college. Some had been contacted last year," said Clayton Rudd, general chairman for the Lions Club sponsored contest.

The program, held in the Holiday Inn, included a film, "Where Do We Find Our Miss America," and several talks. Helen Henderson, a pageant adviser for many years, explained the advantages available in the pageants such as scholarships and talent coaches.

Acting hostess for the tea was Rhonda Miracle, second runner-up for Miss Twin Falls last year. Miss Twin Falls, Diana Hopperstead, is on a USO tour and the first runner-up is now married.

A CSI sophomore majoring in drama, Miss Miracle reminisced about her experiences in the local pageant and talked of what is required of contestants. Mr. Rudd, as general chairman, explained the Lions Club contract to the prospective beauty queens.

The girls will not meet again until Easter vacation when there will be a talent presentation.

"These girls and others we contact will all participate in the talent contest," said Ronald Hamilton, chairman of contestants.

After the program, refreshments furnished by the Coca-Cola Bottling Co. were served and the contestants met and talked with each other.

Cubans Return After Release From Prison

HAVANA (AP) — The Cuban fishing boat Alecrin and her crew returned home to a hero's welcome Sunday after a 20-day captivity in Venezuela. Authorities in Venezuela had investigated whether it was bent on subversion.

Whistles and sirens resounded across the Havana harbor as the vessel and 30 crew members sailed into port to be met by an estimated 4,000 cheering Cubans.

Two crew members remained behind in Venezuela. The defection of the two apparently occasioned the glad welcome for those who elected to return home.

Captain Humberto Vargas told the crowd that because of the incident, Cuban fishing crews would become "more revolutionary than ever."

The Alecrin was fired on and captured Nov. 26 by two Venezuelan navy boats after it refused to halt for questioning. The Cuban government protested the seizure and said the Alecrin was fishing legitimately in international waters more than 100 miles north of Venezuela when captured.

Strike Is Cause Of Mail Embargo

A longshoremen's strike on Atlantic and Gulf ports has placed an embargo on transported surface mail to Europe, Africa, the Mideast and the Caribbean Islands, according to Fred Sanger, Twin Falls postmaster.

Mr. Sanger noted that the embargo does not apply to air mail or mail addressed to military personnel.

The date of the embargo has been effective here since Dec. 23 and will terminate as soon as the strike ends. Mr. Sanger said the action had little effect here since most of the holiday mail had been taken care of prior to Dec. 23 and there are no surface mailings to these countries.

Reds Attack Laos Town, Lose 50 Men

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — A battalion of Pathet Lao and North Vietnamese troops attacked a strategic town in southern Laos near the Cambodian border but lost 50 dead in a 25-hour battle with government forces, the Laotian Defense Ministry announced today.

A spokesman said three government soldiers were killed and 20 were wounded defending the town of Attopeu.

The spokesman said two Communist companies also fired 20 artillery rounds into Saravane, 60 miles north of Attopeu, but inflicted no casualties. He said government forces retaliated with artillery fire and air strikes, silenced the enemy guns and inflicted heavy casualties.

The commander in chief of the Royal Laotian armed forces, Gen. Duane Rathikone, said Friday that 4,000 North Vietnamese troops had moved into southern Laos from Cambodia and were waiting for an opportunity to infiltrate into South Vietnam.

Union Ponders Dec. 31 Strike

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — Negotiations are set in several cities today in an attempt to avert a planned walkout by up to 60,000 members of the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers' International Union.

A spokesman for the Denver-based union said Sunday night that bargaining sessions are scheduled between oil company representatives and many of the 435 locals under union jurisdiction. The contracts run out midnight Dec. 31 and all of the union's membership could walk out.

The union is asking 72 cents an hour increase over two years, the spokesman said. Negotiations began in July, he said, but no substantial progress has been made since then. Most of the workers are employed at refineries across the nation.

Soviets Boost Salaries For Building Trades

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet government gave some 9 million workers in the building trades and related industries an unexpected New Year's gift today—a wage increase ranging up to 25 per cent.

The big boost, another example of their increasing use of material incentives in the Soviet economy, raises the average construction worker's weekly salary from about 20 rubles to 36 rubles, or from $31.00 at the official rate of exchange to $39.60.

The wage increase came amid a campaign to step up housing construction to ease the overcrowding that is still the lot of much of the urban population.

Communists Hail birthday Of Church Aide

PRAGUE (AP) — Josef Cardinal Berna, the Roman Catholic primate of Czechoslovakia, is now living in Rome. But the Communist-controlled press here gave wide publicity to his 80th birthday Sunday.

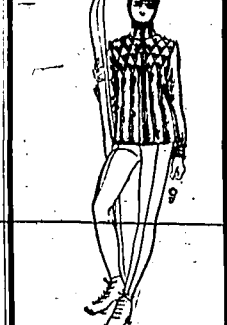

The articles, which included a biography, followed an open letter in the Saturday edition of the newspaper Lidova Demokracie asking the Ministry of Culture to invite the cardinal to return to Czechoslovakia.

Cardinal Berna, named archbishop of Prague in 1946, was put in prison and later under house arrest after the Communist takeover in 1948. He was allowed to leave the country four years ago.

From The Lewiston Tribune

The inauguration of service by Sun Valley Airlines is a welcome development at Lewiston and doubtless will be even more welcome at Coeur d'Alene. Lewiston has suffered serious deterioration of air service of late and Coeur d'Alene has had no regular commercial air service at all for some months. Both cities have been the victims of a trend in air transportation that is affecting the whole country: The old feeder airlines established to serve the small cities and towns have grown into big regional airlines whose schedules are tailored to the needs of the big cities where the traffic is heavy.

Now Idaho is getting a new feeder airline to do the job that Empire Air Lines and later West Coast Airlines did before a series of mergers produced Air West, a big regional carrier. Sun Valley Airlines will begin flying regular schedules today, and we wish it well.

It previously was not possible for a Lewiston businessman to fly to Boise in the morning, put in a day's work there and fly back on the evening of the same day. Starting today, he will be able to. It will be possible to fly from Lewiston to Coeur d'Alene, as it was not before, and from Lewiston to Sandpoint.

There will be two flights a day from Lewiston to Spokane, but most of the interstate traffic will continue to be handled by Air West, which will provide Lewiston travelers with connections at Portland, Seattle and other big traffic centers. Air West will be better able to serve the function it has toolled up for if it does not have to also make a pretense of giving feeder service to the small cities and towns along its routes. And Sun Valley Airlines can do a much better job than Air West can do in serving Idaho. The two airlines, far from being competitive, should complement each other, to the benefit of us all.—L.H.

Asks The Impossible

From The Oregonian

The Black Student Union sit-in at Reed College harks the violence of some student protests, but it is not the way to run a college. And that is what the Reed protesters demand: That they be given the authority to run a part of the college operation, to be devoted to studies in black culture.

Of course, no college can accede to such an ultimatum on the part of any group of students, whether or not they have valid grievances.

It is entirely proper that Reed College should have courses relating to the culture of Afro-Americans. The same may be also said of other colleges and universities and of elementary and secondary schools. But authority over such a curriculum and the selection of those who will teach it is the responsibility of accredited administrators.

The black student minority at Reed College does not help its case by ignoring this fundamental principle or by its disruption, however peaceful, of administration and classes at the college.

Reed and other colleges—including San Francisco State—have made special efforts in the last few years to enroll Negro students and to give them both financial and academic assistance required because of America's long history of racial discrimination. These efforts certainly will be jeopardized if black students themselves resort to the ugly tactics of racism and separatism.

Enforcement Of Law

From The Christian Science Monitor

On January 20 there will begin an administration in Washington which, more than any other in American history, has publicly pledged itself to enforcing respect for the law. It has its work cut out for it. In the United States today the roots of crime run so deep and its tentacles spread so far that it is not amiss to call it all pervasive. Who today is safe on a city street? What house can reasonably expect not to be burgled? What consumer can be sure that he is not paying a higher price for almost any commodity because the criminal has not taken his percentage?

And how bold are the criminals? Consider. A national newspaper has just reported that the Mafia, recently split between rival factions, has held a peace conference and negotiated a settlement. And the terms? The United States is divided up into areas of exploitation and crime by this unspeakable monopoly.

Under such circumstances, we see no reason to debate the desirability of an administration dedicated to law and order. What we do debate is whether even such an administration will go after American lawlessness with enough vigor.

We have said in these columns before that the administration—federal, state, county, or municipal—which can demonstrate that it has cut down on crime and violence is an administration which will have a long and strong future. We believe that more than ever today. The substantial popular vote majority for the two presidential candidates (Richard Nixon and George Wallace) who most stressed the anti-crime issue is an earnest of the American people's feeling on this subject.

The time must come when more effective moves and measures against crime will be made. The longer this is delayed, the more violent is likely to be popular reaction and the more stringent the measures demanded. We hope and trust that the incoming administration will make successful crime-fighting one of its chiefest priorities.

Answers Awaited

From The Hammond (Ind.) Times

The Nixon Administration will be astride a powder keg in the farm belt next year. Farmers are far from satisfied with existing government programs.

The influential Farm Journal which speaks for a large number of conservative farmers, urges the Nixon administration to spend the coming year "in a great national hunt for new farm program ideas and a national discussion of the alternatives."

Charles B. Shuman, American Farm Bureau Federation president, observes that the "government got us into this mess and it is the responsibility of the federal government to help us make a change to a market-oriented program."

In knowledgeable Washington quarters, the incoming administration's farm policy is expected to be one of wait and see.

President-elect Nixon is said to have passed along, while running for the Presidency, the word to fellow Republicans to agree to a one-year extension of the present farm program through 1970. Had the Republican House minority blocked the extension, the new administration would have faced early pressure to shape a new program.

The extension merely papers over farm program troubles. These still face the new administration. Grain prices are touching bottom, livestock men are worried about increasing supply and there is much concern over farm bargaining power.

Cattle overproduction may produce a crisis. In October, the National Committee on Grains recommended changes to cut next year's harvest by between 3 and 5 million tons. The world wheat crop is a record with buyers reluctant to buy. Although farmers will have more cash next year, they will also pay more for labor and maintenance.

Behind all these problems lurk the pitfalls of national politics. Some say one wrong move by Nixon in arriving at solutions and the Republicans could lose more than a dozen congressional seats in 1970. So farmers have a "wait and see" policy, too.

ROBERT ALLEN AND JOHN GOLDSMITH

U.S. Defense Spending Set For Debate

WASHINGTON — In their recent private talk, President-elect Richard M. Nixon and Sen. Henry M. Jackson agreed that top priority in U.S. policy must go to maintain strategic forces strong enough to deter military adventures by Russia and her allies.

The Senator, although he is a Democrat, says Nixon's first choice to be Secretary of Defense. It is therefore not surprising that they were generally agreed in their 45-minute conversation in New York, on the need for a stronger deterrent force.

The point is open to very serious disagreement, however, as events will demonstrate in coming months. The question, "how strong is strong enough?" is already provoking controversy, and it promises to generate a great debate in Congress after the House and Senate reconvene next month.

Even after cuts totaling more than $5 billion, the defense bill passed by Congress in October carried $71.9 billion and was the largest appropriation in history. It provoked complaints from some lawmakers, then, that defense outlays leave little room for aid to education, welfare programs and other national needs.

Two unsuccessful Democratic presidential aspirants, Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, Minn., and George McGovern, D-S.D., have been talking, since the election, of cuts in defense spending. Both warn of the pervasive threat of the military-industrial complex of which President Eisenhower spoke before he left the White House.

On the other hand, Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., says defense spending must now increase. Long the Chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, Russell moves over this year to head the powerful Appropriations Committee.

"We have drawn down too long from the pantry shelf of military hardware for us not to recognize that the day of reckoning must come, and it will come very soon," says Russell.

"The time is coming when we must modernize our ranks. We must replace our aging ships, and equip modern ships with reliable missiles. We must replace our present fighters with even better ones."

"Within a year," said candidate Nixon in a television speech, "the Soviet Union will catch the United States and, if we don't get a change of leadership and policy in Washington, will pass us in deliverable nuclear capability."

Here, from recent intelligence estimates, is a year-end comparison of nuclear strength, with USSR first and United States second:

Intercontinental ballistic missiles, 1,020, 1,100; submarine-launched ballistic missiles, 250, 450; strategic bombers, 160, 680; short-range missiles and tactical weapons, 3,500, 7,000.

It is clear that the Russians, who were credited with only 720 ready ICBMs in the fall of 1967, have speeded their production of intercontinental missiles. To offset this development the Pentagon is moving to perfect the multiple warhead "MIRV" MIRV, which will increase, by five to ten times, the number of warheads which can be delivered by the U. S. missile force.

Sooner or later, however, the Russians will be able to develop a MIRV of their own. Then their larger and more powerful rockets will be able to deliver an even larger number of nuclear warheads.

Two important developments are not reflected in the table. The Russians have deployed an anti-missile defense (ABM) system in Moscow. They have another anti-aircraft system which may afford some protection against missiles. The Pentagon is moving to deploy a thin anti-missile screen, but it is designed, ostensibly, to protect against attack from China in the mid-1970s.

The Russians have also developed and tested an orbital bombardment system, FOBS which is a potential threat, especially to U. S. bomber bases. Aside from vital intelligence-gathering satellites, the Air Force's manned orbiting laboratory, MOL, is our only major military space effort, and it is not scheduled for manned launch until 1971.

President-elect Nixon, recalling the "unquestioned" nuclear superiority of the Eisenhower years, sees the shifting power balance as a handicap for efforts of his new administration aimed at defusing world-trouble spots by negotiation.

Pentagon authorities dispute Nixon's campaign charge that "we have a gravely serious security gap." They too are concerned, however, about the Russians' increasing strategic potential.

As long ago as last April, Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, said he was apprehensive about the trend of U. S. strategic forces, against the Russians. Wheeler commented, however, that the trend is not irreversible.

Wheeler called the present military alignment a good force "and not one that causes me to fear for the future of the United States." He added, "The next breath that the force can—and should—be better, with the addition of new weapons systems."

The expensive weapons desired by Wheeler and his uniformed associates in the Pentagon will be discussed in another column.

ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK

On Marvin Watson's Band-aids

WASHINGTON—After fiddling for months with the blue-ribbon Kappel Commission Report which recommended making a semi-public corporation out of the debt-ridden Post Office Department, Postmaster General W. Marvin Watson Jr., is about to deal out of the most important postal decision ever made.

The reason: both President-elect Nixon and his Postmaster General-designate, Al B. A. Blount, are strongly inclined to accept the revolutionary proposal by Frederick R. Kappel, the shrewd chairman of AT&T, and his commission to take the Post Office Department wholly out of politics.

Watson, on the other hand, has been unable to make up his mind. The small, precise Texan moved from his man Friday job in the White House to become Postmaster General last spring when Lawrence F. O'Brien resigned. Ever since, he has been groping for some vague alternative to the Kappel plan as the legacy of his nine-month tenure as Postmaster General.

Thus, Watson ordered all the bureau chiefs in his Post Office Department to submit to him in writing, by Sept. 15, their own reactions to the Kappel Report. He says he would distill these reports in a report of his own, then submit it to President Johnson for inclusion in his last budget.

But when Watson unveiled his secret plan at the White House two weeks ago (it still has not been seen by some of Watson's own bureau chiefs), it set no fires. Watson arrived at the White House with charts, graphs, and a long explanation of how the exorbitant annual postal deficit of well over a billion dollars could be reduced by another round of mechanization. ("Just more band-aids," said one postal expert, "when we need a lobotomy.")

Watson's band-aids do not touch the heart of the Kappel Report—calling for removal of the Postmaster General from the President's Cabinet—and removal of Congress as arbiter of postal rates and pay. Moreover, President Johnson himself, Watson's ardent admirer and patron, was skeptical and puzzled by the Watson plan. It fell between the stool of the Kappel Report and the stool of the status quo.

Thus, at this writing, Watson has seemingly tossed overboard any chance he had to lead in selling the Kappel Report and in sharing the credit that will follow if Mr. Nixon, as now seems likely, asks Congress to make Post Office reform his first major government reorganization.

The probability that this is precisely what will happen became stronger late last week after a private huddle lasting several hours between Kappel and incoming Postmaster General Blount, a tough-minded Montgomery contractor. No pledges were made, but Nixon intimates are convinced Blount will back the proposal.

Furthermore, these same Nixon intimates believe the President-elect will order full speed ahead early next year. They see a fair chance Congress could be persuaded to go along (although organized labor will lead one of the bitterest reorganization battles in history).

Whether Mr. Johnson will recommend this course himself in his final messages remains uncertain. The only holdout is Watson. Both the Budget Bureau and the White House staff are solidly behind the Kappel recommendations. So is Donor General Chairman O'Brien, who as Postmaster General got the Kappel Commission appointed in the first place.

Why, then, has there been such procrastination from Watson, whose successful career as a new-halter executive would seem to weigh heavily in favor of applying business methods to the Post Office?

Ego, for one thing, Watson-watchers say his ambition is to leave the department's future in the hands of a long-range Watson plan, not an O'Brien-Kappel plan. In addition, Watson has been under extraordinarily heavy pressure from the voracious postal unions, who derive their power in setting pay rates from their influence over Congressmen. That would disappear with creation of a public corporation. The only Kappel Commission member to dissent to the report was George Meany, AFL-CIO president.

Whatever the reason, Watson has allowed himself to be flinched as a mover and shaker of the future of the Post Office. The credit now will belong to Nixon and Blount.

Nixon And The New Headache

WASHINGTON — Besides inheriting all of Lyndon Johnson's old problems — inflation, crime in the streets, the Vietnam war — the new President named Richard Nixon will face a brand new headache in the next few months. It is that suddenly many more college graduates will be drafted into the nation's armed forces.

Under amendments to the draft law enacted in 1967, men in graduate school no longer can be deferred unless they are in medical specialties. Thus, by next spring every fourth drafted is expected to be a college graduate, compared to one in 20 in the spring of 1968.

In fiscal 1968, only 5 per cent of the draftees were college graduates. Last month, the figure rose to 20 per cent, and by early 1969 it is expected to rise to 30 per cent or even higher, despite the fact college graduates represent only 17 per cent of the draft-eligible men, aged 22 to 26. The reason for this rise is that in 1969 the draft will start catching up with college graduates and graduate school students who previously had been deferred.

The repercussions also are expected to balloon. As a Pentagon spokesman put it, "If you think we've had a lot of draft protesters before this, just wait until those college men start getting their induction notices." Draft boards are under orders to call the oldest men first. This means the graduate schools will lose both those already enrolled

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Body And Age

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Have been told that as one grows older the body shrinks. Would like to know the reason, and when this occurs.

Shall soon be 71. Reasonably well and active. Seem to be having no inconvenient and annoying ailment. When I do a bit of walking or stooping, loss of energy is noted. But there is no desire to void. Would you suggest a gynecologist or urologist? — Mrs. B. B. B.

Yes, the body usually shrinks with age, but why worry about it? It shrinks with weight loss. If this is not on a voluntary basis (if you aren't on a weight-loss program) a weight loss rather often occurs in later years. There is a natural tendency to eat less, hence loss of weight.

With decrease in physical activity, likewise quite expectable, there is a decrease in muscle size as well as tone.

The wrinkling of later years is due to a decrease in the fat under the skin, again a form of shrinkage. Often there is a tendency to stoop, which results in an apparent loss of height, and in some instances how changes in the vertebrae cause an actual decrease.

As I said, why worry about it?

As to your bladder problem, it sounds like what is called stress incontinence and may require the attention of either a gynecologist or urologist or both. There may be structural changes in the bladder area resulting, perhaps, from childbirth. These changes are accentuated by age, but they may be correctable.

A loss of tone of the muscle at the bladder is not unusual in older women. Medication helps, but if infection is present, you may need the attention of a urologist, but I suggest seeing a gynecologist first.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Please advise on the use of Indomethacin or probenecid in treatment of gouty arthritis. Is probenecid available in the same as Indomethacin? Recently my blood uric acid was 4.5 — W. L.

The two drugs are entirely different in use and purpose. Indomethacin is frequently effective in relief of pain from gouty or other forms of arthritis. Probenecid, on the other hand, is "uricosuric agent," that is, it helps the body release uric acid, and in that way projects against further attacks of gout.

The former is used as a first step to stop pain; the latter is taken after and continuously after an attack of gout if the uric acid level in the blood is too high. Your reading of 4.5 is normal.

This is a pretty condensed explanation. I suggest that you get a book, "Gout, Its Modern Way to Stop It," for a more detailed account of how gout attacks and how to prevent attacks. Send 25 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Dr. Thosteson, in care of this newspaper, for the booklet.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I had a routine physical check and a rectal specialist said there are four or five polyps in the rectum. He said it was not a natural condition, but he didn't insist on an operation. Can they cause trouble, and should they be removed? — J. R. S.

He may not have "insisted," but it sounds to me as though he suggested removal. Yes, rectal polyps can cause trouble, and to become more violent once they have been removed without delay. Ordinarily it is not unduly difficult.

in "non-essential" fields and those who planned to enroll in graduate schools after getting their first college degrees. Even some assistant professors in graduate schools will be called since a student who has received a deferment is vulnerable up to the age of 35.

It is true, of course, that up to now college men have enjoyed deferments at the expense of young men with less education — or less exposure to education. A case can be made that it is time they took up their share of the burden of manning a civilian defense force. Surely, it can be argued that a Negro gasoline station attendant has no special obligation to serve in uniform when a graduate student in agriculture or English is permitted to go his civilian way.

But the shift in this burden to college men also reveals the basic flaw in the Selective Service system. That flaw is that the draft is now constituted by inherently discriminatory in that however one is called up, one group or another will be hit especially hard. In the past it has been the under-educated and the poor. Under the 1967 amendments, it will be the better educated and the older men.

The biggest argument for the establishment of some kind of lottery system. Under the lottery, all men would be subject to the draft for a specific period, say 19 or 20 years of age, and there would be no de-

Scientist Says 'Crowds' May Serve To Curb Births

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — A U.N. scientist said today the world-wide trend towards urban living poses possibilities for curbing the planet's population explosion because "crowded living" tends to encourage birth control.

Dr. Ulla Olin of the U.N.'s development program said that, for example, a newly urbanized family having "five children already in a very small apartment" is apt to practice family planning, where it might not in a rural area.

In a report prepared for the 135th meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science—amplified at a news conference—Dr. Olin said the universal trend toward urbanization "has special implications for curbing birth rates in developing countries.

This is so, she indicated, because the change to urban living for people in developing nations represents a sharper switch in the way of life than for people in the Western countries.

But even in Western countries, she added, "parents of the future" will mostly be urbanites—and there is already evidence that "second generation urbanites" have lower fertility than their parents, "presumably because that's the way they want it."

She spoke at a special symposium on "population density and crowding." Without challenging her views on possibly beneficial effects of crowded living, various other scientists on the panel said use of animals under enforced crowded living conditions suggests a grim picture of what humans may experience in crowded cities.

For example, Dr. Kenneth Myers of Australia's Commonwealth and Scientific Industrial Research Organization said "recent studies among rabbits produced new and strengthened evidence that crowding in mammalian populations produces profound changes in behavior and physiology."

He said adult rabbits showed increased sexual and aggressive behavior, heightened activity of "stress" hormones, reproductive abnormalities and pathological consequences involving kidneys, liver and other organs of the body.

Rabbits born in such a crowded environment proved "less fit" than free-ranging bunnies, he said.

Vacuums May Clean Streets In New York

NEW YORK (AP) — Special vacuum cleaners may soon be cleaning the city's sidewalks.

Merrill Eisenbud, the city's environmental protection administrator, said Sunday he was looking for "some sort of a vacuum sweeper that we can take right on to the sidewalk and that isn't going to make too much noise."

Landlords don't do enough to keep the sidewalks clean, Eisenbud said and the city may do the job for them and send them a bill.

Casals Celebrates 92nd Birthday

SAN JUAN, P.R. (AP) — Col. Pablo Casals celebrated his 92nd birthday Sunday and interrupted his normal daily routine long enough to go to a special Mass and accept congratulatory visits from friends.

Casals didn't skip his daily practice, however. He started the morning with a walk along the beach, played the piano for a while, then switched to his cello.

His wife, Marina, 32, said, "He's happy... He's in very good health."

Realtor Seeks Title To Moon

MANCHESTER, England (AP) — John Harrison, a wealthy Manchester real estate man, has instructed his lawyers to find out who will own the moon after a landing is made on it.

Students See Slums Of U. S. As Deplorable

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — After a group of foreign students toured Baltimore's slums Sunday, Hanna Baighret, 18, of Korbach, Germany, said it was "embarrassing to see humans living in such conditions in this country with the highest living standards, the best technology and the astronauts."

But Christina Migiwa Ebina, 19, said she had seen worse slums in her native Tokyo.

Tore Thomassen of Stavanger, Norway, said he was awakened to realities he had read about but not felt.

The students were weekend guests of the Calvary United Methodist Church which arranged lectures on inner-city life and took them on the tour.

By LEWIS GULICK

PARIS (AP) — U.S. Ambassador Cyrus R. Vance reported Washington's latest views on how to end the Vietnam war to South Vietnam's chief negotiator Saturday but gave no immediate indication of a new allied move to end the present peace conference deadlock.

Vance, just back from consultations with President Johnson and foreign policy leaders of both the Johnson and Nixon administrations, met for more than an hour with Saigon's Pham Dang Lam.

"I don't want to comment on any of the specifics except to say at this time we have no date for a meeting with the other side," Vance told newsmen afterward.

Fire In Cabin Kills Five, Injures Four

WORCESTER, Mass. (AP) — Five teenagers died Sunday night and eight others were missing in a fire that swept a crudely built cabin in an isolated area of the Indian Hill section, police said.

Firemen searching the ruins said the eight may have fled the building and been picked up by motorists.

Fire Chief Stephen Kelleher said four youths were injured and taken to hospitals.

A nurse at St. Vincent Hospital quoted one of the injured, Raymond Slater, 18, of Worcester, as saying about a dozen persons were inside the building when the fire started.

Police said another of the injured was burned as he attempted to pull his brother from the building.

Police quoted a survivor as saying the youths were attempting to light a gasoline stove when it exploded.

Firemen said the victims appeared to have been thrown through the walls of the wood structure.

Some of the survivors walked one-fourth mile to the nearest road for help, firemen said.

Slater was reported in poor condition today with burns over 20 per cent of the upper part of his body.

Residents said the hut was used by teenagers as a clubhouse.

The victims—all believed to be boys—were not identified.

Bob Hope Predicts Victory

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Bob Hope, back from his 18th Christmas with U.S. servicemen overseas, says, "I may go to the Moon next year—but they told me they don't want any fat astronauts."

Hope, at 65, was his usual bouncy, wisecracking self Sunday as he sprung off a plane from Vietnam, reeling off a string of topical comments.

Then, after making his moon trip comment, he became serious.

"I just hope that we don't have to make another trip," he told a crowd of about 100 friends. "I just hope something good comes out of these Paris peace talks, and I just hope this is the last Christmas trip."

Hope, who visited 16 U.S. bases this time with his troupe, said he found warfront morale higher than ever. The troops he said, "seem better organized and it looks like we're really on the way to winning."

Gov. Ronald Reagan approached to present Hope with the state's "Creative Citizen Award," the first ever for an actor.

Hope expected to see the governor up at San Francisco State, piling sandbags around Hayakawa, said Bob, referring to student troubles besetting Dr. S. I. Hayakawa, acting president of San Francisco State College.

Besides Vietnam, Hope took his troupe of 21 entertainers—including starlet Ann-Margret—to Japan, Korea, Okinawa and Thailand on a 16-day tour co-sponsored by the USO and the Department of Defense.

His wife Dolores was among those on hand to welcome him back.

"I know when I married him I'd have to share him with the world," she said.

Sophia Loren Fulfills Wish With Birth Of 7-Pound Son

GENEVA (AP) — Flowers and congratulations poured in today for Sophia Loren, made radiant happy by the birth of her first child after four miscarriages.

After 11 years of marriage to film producer Carlo Ponti, the 34-year-old star gave birth by Caesarean section Sunday to a 7-pound 11-ounce boy at the Geneva State Hospital. Mother and son were reported in perfect health.

The baby was named Carlo Jr.

"Thank you for my baby," were Miss Loren's first words after she recovered consciousness and her gynecologist, Prof. Hubert de Watteville told her of the birth. Then she telephoned her mother in Italy.

Ponti, 55, had a look at his son before his wife woke up.

"He is beautiful—dark blue eyes and light brown hair," he told newsmen. European television viewers saw the baby briefly Sunday night. "He looks exactly like his father," said a Geneva housewife.

Because of her previous difficult pregnancies, Miss Loren

Satellites May 'Map' Earth

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — A Cornell University map expert urged Sunday new use of earth satellites as flying map-makers, so as to overcome "woefully incomplete" mapping of the planet which he said is plaguing man's progress.

Prof. Arthur J. McNair said sophisticated photographic mapping by satellites at around 140 miles altitude would provide faster, cheaper, broader and more detailed coverage than now possible by airplane-mapping.

And he declared this would not only speed engineering and other developmental projects on earth, but is a definitely needed prelude to help exploit other potential new uses for satellites, such as spotting crop diseases in remote farm and forest areas and warning of unusual accumulation of insects.

He spoke at a symposium during the 135th meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science at which various scientists said other potential new uses for satellites range from spotting promising new fishing grounds in the earth's oceans to possibly aiding in forecasting earthquakes.

Declaring the world as a whole is inadequately mapped—at least in the detail needed by engineers, land developers and managers of natural resources—McNair said the United States has long suffered from such inadequacy.

Worthy Grand Matron Makes Official Visit

BURLEY — Mrs. Darrel McFarland, Paul, worthy grand matron, Order of the Eastern Star in Idaho, made her official visit to Evergreen Chapter No. 46 during a recent meeting at the Masonic Temple.

Robert A. Gregory, Boise, worthy grand patron, was a special guest.

The Burley Past Matrons Club arranged a no-host luncheon at the Stampede Cafe in honor of Mrs. McFarland. A gift was presented to Mrs. McFarland and 33 officers and past matrons attended the luncheon.

The worthy grand matron conducted a school of instruction at the Masonic Temple during the afternoon.

In the evening, a dinner was served by members of Bethel No. 18, International Order of Job's Daughters. Dinner entertainment was a variety of dance numbers presented by students of the Delores Couch School of Dance.

An evening meeting was held after the dinner in the lodge hall. Mrs. Hans Forschler sang "Keep a Little Sunshine in Your Heart," the worthy grand matron's song, and "Walk With Faith in Your Heart," worthy grand patron's song, accompanied by Mrs. Mack Crouch.

Mrs. Crouch presented an Eastern Star to Mrs. McFarland which held within its points a gift to be used toward her project. Mack Crouch presented Mrs. Gregory a rainbow under which was a miniature but going toward the pot of gold which contained a gift for his project.

In behalf of Evergreen Chapter, Mrs. Dorothy E. O'Bryan, worthy matron, and Edward Van Winkle, worthy patron, presented honorary memberships in the chapter to Mrs. McFarland and Mr. Gregory.

Other guests included Mr. Zula Gregory, Rupert, past grand matron; Harold Clayton, Burley, past grand patron; Mrs. Ed Miller, Rupert, grand marshal; Lucille Huston, Buhl, grand Adah; Mrs. Alva Blankenship, Paul, grand Ruth; Mrs. Gail Maloney, Albion, grand electa; Mrs. Harold Stoltz, Jerome, grand officer; Mrs. Ruby Dean, Hollister, grand representative for Ontario, Canada; Mrs. Sirlo Powers, Burley, grand representative for Rhode Island; and Mrs. Helen Beem, Filer, grand representative for Utah in Idaho.

Nine committee members and appointees from the Grand Chapter were introduced. Worthy Matrons visiting were Mrs. Mae M. Scheid, Jerome, and Mrs. Betty Hawkins, Filer. Clyde Vanaunderlin, Filer, worthy grand officer; Mrs. Ruby Dean, Hollister, also visiting.

Visitors were present from 11 chapters and Mrs. Christina Becklen, Red Lodge, Mont., was presented a friendship heart for having traveled over 85 miles to attend the meeting.

Mrs. Sarah Kinney, Mrs. Genevieve Seay and C. C. (Pop) Baker were 50-year members of Evergreen Chapter.

Two candidates were initiated into the order. Mrs. McFarland appointed Mrs. O'Ryan to be a grand patron for next year.

Refreshments were served in the dining hall after the business meeting. A Christmas theme of silver and blue, using silver bells and accenting the decorations with the worthy grand matron's "bluebird of friendship." The tea table was centered with a silver and blue Christmas scene. Each guest was given a corsage.

Hostesses for the evening were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Redfield, Mr. and Mrs. Crouch, Mrs. John Harris, Mrs. Mark Moorhead and Mrs. Helen Erwin. Birthday Night will be held Friday, honoring members of Evergreen Chapter having birthdays during the months of October, November and December.

Miss Wanzenried, Randolph Exchange Nuptial Promise

Nancy Wanzenried, daughter of Fred Wanzenried and the late Mrs. Margaret Wanzenried, was married to Jerry Randolph, son of Mr. and Mrs. Odell Randolph, at Twin Falls, in late afternoon, Nov. 29, at the Twin Falls Methodist Church.

Rev. Harold Nye performed the double ring ceremony before a candlelight setting of brass baskets of bronze-colored chrysanthemums and gold and cinnamon-colored pompons.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore an A-line floor-length gown fashioned of linen. The bodice of V-neck lace featured a fitted neckline and short sleeves. A small linen and lace bow accented the empire waistline. A train effect was created by a simple box pleat which hung from the empire waistline.

Her bouffant shoulder-length veil was held by a crown of ivy swayed leaves accented with pearls and auburn boronella stones.

She carried a cascade bouquet of cinnamon and gold-colored pompons and Abbey roses accented with green ivy.

Kendra Wanzenried, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Jenny Schabacker was flower girl, scattering rose petals from a white flower basket.

Terry Randolph, Heber City, Utah, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man, with David Wanzenried, Missoula, Mont., and Richard Wanzenried, Twin Falls, brothers of the bride, as ushers.

Marilyn Dubin, Pocatello, was solist, accompanied by Mrs. Nye.

After the ceremony, a reception was held at the Holiday Inn, with Patty Hiral registering the guests. The bride's table was covered with white eucalyptus caught at the corners with gold bows and ivy. The two-tiered white wedding cake was topped with two white satin dolls. The cake was flanked by white chrysanthemum arrangements of bronze-colored pompons, Abbey roses and ivy.

Serving the cake was Mrs. Barbara Nelson. Coffee was poured by Julie Roberts and punch served by Mrs. Jerry Rowland.

Special guest was Mrs. Lola Browne, Twin Falls, maternal grandmother of the bridegroom. Guests attended from Utah, Montana, Pocatello, Cneur d'Alene, Halley, Boise, Kimberly and Twin Falls.

The couple resides at 1020 N. Hayes, Pocatello, where the bride is teaching and the bridegroom is attending school at Idaho State University.

A rehearsal dinner was hosted by the bridegroom's parents at the Holiday Inn.

The bride was honored at a lingerie show hosted by Mrs. Clarabella Niven; a kitchen shower given by Mrs. Virginia Otto, and a miscellaneous shower hosted by Mrs. Helen Rowland, Pocatello.

Declo Domestic Club Has Meet

DECLO — The gaily decorated home of Mrs. Earl Hurst was the scene of the annual Christmas dinner-party held by members of the Declo Domestic Duchess' Homemakers Club.

Guests were served at lace covered tables centered with candles. The prayer was given by Mrs. Richard Moncur, new president of the club.

Following the dinner, Mrs. Hurst and her children distributed secret pal gifts to club members. Pals were revealed and new ones drawn for the coming year.

Mrs. Moncur announced a meeting will be held at her home the first week in January where plans will be discussed for activities for the coming year.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a teacher who asks her students to stand up before the whole class and tell what they got for Christmas?

Abby, some children are lucky to get an orange and a few pieces of candy in their stocking. And you know how children are — if they didn't get what they sometimes are so embarrassed they make up things.

—A MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: I'm sure the guilty teacher meant no offense, but I'll print your letter as a gentle reminder for next year. You make a good point.

DEAR ABBY: Please lambast the utter conceit of people who've had mimeographed "newletters" to friends as a special "Christmas treat." They all sound like this:

"Dear Friends, George is now chairman of the board, having passed the presidency of his company on to Melvin, our new-in-law, who won the club golf championship last year. Mel was so proud of our Peg when she was elected treasurer of the Junior League that he surprised her with a new Mercedes. Our little beauty, Judy, was runner-up for Homecoming Queen and I took the part of the mother in "The Graduate" for our Annual Hospital Charity show. We got a director in from New York and he said I was as good as Ann Bancroft."

Blah, blah, blah, nothing but brag, brag, brag. It's nauseating!

—Next year, Bob and I are going to send these bores our own Christmas letters, and it will go like this:

"Hi, Everybody, well another year has passed, Grandpa fell down the cellar steps and broke his hip. (Good thing we kept Bob's crutches after his ski accident.) Our Bobby tried to get into the peace corps but couldn't make it, so I guess he'll be going to Viet Nam. Susie's boyfriend called off the engagement and we don't know what to tell people. My sister's daughter didn't go back to school this quarter. They claim it's mononucleosis, but she has suddenly put on a lot of weight, and looks slightly p.g. to me. ### Party Held By Guardian Class

DECLO — The Guardian class of the Declo Ward YWYMIA met at the home of their teacher, Mrs. Wayne Lewis Jr., for a Christmas party, assisted by Mrs. Nalon Taylor, co-teacher.

Games were played under the direction of Mrs. Taylor and prizes were won by the group. A gift exchange was held and carols sung by the girls.

Following the party, the girls and leaders went to the Declo Cafe for refreshments.

Looks like Bob will have to borrow on his life insurance again to pay his taxes. Well, things could be worse. If his mother sells her house and moves in with us, I'll kill myself. Gotta run. The whole family is down with Hong Kong flu and guess who the nurse is? Merry Christmas!

Colts Manhandle Kelly, Crush Nelsen To Take NFL Title Game 34-0

CLEVELAND (AP) — Versatile Tom Matte led the Baltimore Colts into the Super Bowl Sunday with a record-tying three touchdowns in a 34-0 rout of the Cleveland Browns for the Colts' first National Football League title since 1950.

The victory, which meant about $9,000 for each Colt plus a $15,000 bonus in the Super Bowl Jan. 12 against the New York Jets, the American Football League champs, was

Matte Collapses After Record Effort

CLEVELAND (AP) — Tightback Tom Matte, hero of Baltimore's National Football League victory Sunday, collapsed in the Colts dressing room after scoring a record-tying three touchdowns.

Matte was helped off the field in the fourth quarter when he was knoed in the back on his 17th carry of the title game.

He appeared dazed while conducting a television interview in the hot and cramped Baltimore dressing room at Municipal Stadium.

Matte sat on a stool holding his head and was given smelling salts by assistant trainer Dick Spawfort, who said the Baltimore halfback was suffering from exhaustion.

But minutes later, Matte had to be assisted to the training room where he stretched out on a table and was given medication.

Matte, who had been described as a "garbage can halfback" by defensive tackle Alex Karras of the Detroit Lions, gained 88 yards and figured prominently in Baltimore's three scores during a 17-point second quarter.

The Cleveland native, who played college ball at Ohio State, gained 21 yards on three carries preceding a 28-yard field goal by Lou Michaels. The field goal broke a scoreless tie early in the second quarter. Matte also ran for two touchdowns before halftime.

Matte finished the first half with 64 yards gained as compared with 17 for Cleveland's Leroy Kelly, the NFL's ground-gaining champion, both on 10 carries.

"We stopped Kelly strictly on team defense," Baltimore Coach Don Shula said.

"We ran well and were almost perfect with our pass protection," Shula said. "I can't think of anything we didn't do." "This makes up for all of our previous frustrations," flanker Willie Richardson said, referring to Baltimore's near misses in three of the past four seasons, including a 27-0 title loss to Cleveland in 1964.

Matte, who left the game in the final period due to a back injury in the kidney area, gained 88 yards in 17 carries and also caught two passes for 15 yards and a total of 103 for the day.

He is the former Ohio State quarterback who filled in as a passer for the Colts in 1965 when both John Unitas and Gary Cuozzo were injured. Calling the plays from a taped reminder on his wrist, he led the Colts to an upset of Los Angeles in the final game of the season, a 27-0 victory over Green Bay in a playoff for the Western Conference crown.

It was the first shutout suffered by the Browns since they were blanked by the New York Giants in 1967 for the Eastern Conference title. The Colts held the opposition scoreless three times in regular season play.

Matte's three touchdowns equaled an NFL title record held by two Cleveland Browns, head coach Otto Graham, now head coach at Washington, in 1954 against Detroit, and flanker Gary Collins in the 1964 game against Baltimore.

The Colts clamped down on Kelly, who had scored 20 touchdowns in 1968 in a playoff game. They held the strong running back to 28 yards on 13 carries.

When Lou Michaels kicked his second field goal, a 10-yard effort, early in the final period, it seemed that the 1968 season would be duplicated at 27-0. However, the Colts got another shot at it and picked up a fourth touchdown on a four-yard burst by Timmy Brown.

Michaels' 28-yard field goal had opened the scoring in the 17-point second quarter when Matte scored from the one and 12. It was Matte again from the two late in the third quarter of this one-sided battle.

Despite heavy rains during the week and snow Saturday night, the field was not in bad shape. It was 25 degrees when the game started with 20-mile-an-hour winds out of the northwest that made it seem like zero. The big crowd was late in arriving and started to wend its way home in the final minutes. Baltimore 0 17 7 10-34 Cleveland 0 0 0 0-0

Ordeell Brasse, the 32-year-old veteran defensive end, had a hand in four smears of Nelsen and Frank Ryan, who replaced him late in the third quarter.

The Colts intercepted two of Nelsen's passes and did such a job of covering his potential receivers that he completed but 11 of 26 before he left the game.

Bubba Smith, the huge defensive end, blocked a 42-yard field goal attempt by Don Cockroft and recovered a fumble in a noteworthy display of defensive strength.

Bear Lake's Dip Netting Season Nears

BOISE—Idaho's only dip-netting season runs from Jan. 1-Feb. 15 at Bear Lake, which straddles the boundary line separating Idaho and Utah, the Idaho Fish and Game Department reminded anglers today.

The quarry, which is a small fish, the Bonneville or "peaknose" cisco, which is found nowhere else on earth. During the 12-15 day spawning season, a myriad of these silvery fish somewhat less than eight inches long come close enough to shore to be taken readily by sportsmen wielding long-handle dip nets with openings "not more than 18-inches in any dimension."

BYU End Is Showing Improvement

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Three weeks ago Ed Romero, split end for the Brigham Young University football team, suffered a severe head injury in a car rollover. Since then he has lain comatose, apparently not aware of events around him.

Sunday morning he squeezed a doctor's hand, followed nurses with his eyes, and whispered "yes" in response to a question.

"We're very happy," said a nurse at Southern Nevada Memorial Hospital. "It's the first time he has shown any response — any improvement."

Attendants did not speculate, however, on further recovery.

Romero was a passenger in a car that rolled Dec. 6 near Las Vegas. He was returning to school at Provo, Utah after visiting his home in Downey, Calif.

Bulls Come From Behind; Win 102-97

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Bob Boozer's late-game heroics gave the Chicago Bulls a 102-97 come-from-behind National Basketball Association victory over the Milwaukee Bucks Sunday night.

Boozer came off the bench with Milwaukee in front 84-77 and scored 13 of his 23 points in the final seven minutes.

It was Chicago's third straight victory and boosted the Bulls' Western Division record to 16-23. Milwaukee is 10-29.

Hitting at a torrid 67 per cent pace, Milwaukee built a 30-27 first period lead to 50-48 at halftime.

Jim Washington topped Chicago's scoring with 25 points, while Jon McGlocklin had 24 for Milwaukee.

Browns' Coach, Players Quiet After 'Good, Sound Licking'

CLEVELAND (AP) — Cleveland Coach Blanton Collier spoke for his team: "They gave us a good, sound licking."

The Browns, subdued and quiet after losing 34-0 to Baltimore in the National Football League championship game Sunday, agreed that their own mistakes led to the rout.

"You can't make mistakes win," Collier said. "We made a lot of mistakes but it wouldn't have made any difference."

"We were beaten by a fine football team," Collier continued. "They played better and deserved to win. We didn't play as well as we hoped."

Collier added that the Colts outplayed his club in "every phase of the game. Their offensive line did a marvelous job of blocking."

Collier got back to the Browns' mistakes—costly penalties that kept stopping drives.

"It seemed every time we got something started, something stopped us," he said. "We were moving in the second half and all of a sudden we got a penalty. We had quite a few motion penalties and it's something we worked hard on all year."

Assistant coach Nick Skorich said maybe the pressure of the game was too tough.

"Maybe we're too young," Skorich said. "Maybe we're not ready for the pressure. We did things today that we've never done before. I hope we grew up."

Skorich agreed with Collier on the Browns' mistakes.

"We controlled the ball in Baltimore," he said, referring to Cleveland's 30-20 victory over the Colts this season. "This time we managed to stop our own

Knicks Down Supersonics By 120-112

VANCOUVER, B.C. (AP) — Veteran forward Willis Reed scored 34 points Sunday in leading the New York Knicks to a 120-112 National Basketball Association win over the Seattle Supersonics.

It was the eighth straight win for the Knicks and their 18th victory in the last 22 games, moving them into a tie with Cincinnati for fourth place in the Eastern Division.

The Supersonics have lost 10 straight games to remain sixth in the Western Division.

The 34 points are the most Reed has scored in a single game this season. The 6-foot-10, 235-pounder also hauled down 11 rebounds.

Walt Frazier also had a big hand in the New York win, scoring 26 points. Dick Barnett added 22 for the Knicks.

Rookie AP Harris paced Seattle with 21 points. Seattle's other top scorers were forward Bob Ruler and guard Lonnie Wilkens with 19 each.

Jets Capture AFL Title In Wild 27-23 Scramble With Oakland's Raiders

By MURRAY CHASS

NEW YORK (AP) — Joe Namath and Don Maynard, burned by a pass interception by George Atkinson less than a minute earlier, combined on two passes for 58 yards and a fourth-quarter touchdown that gave the New York Jets a 27-23 victory over Oakland and their first American Football League championship Sunday.

The victory, before an AFL, the game record crowd of 62,627, shot the Jets into the Jan. 12 Super Bowl game against Baltimore, which won the National League title Sunday with a 34-0 decision over the Browns in Cleveland.

After Namath hit Maynard in the end zone for a six-yard touchdown pass with 7:47 left in the game, the Raiders struck back and threatened to go ahead as they had done after Atkinson's interception.

Daryle Lamonica, who had completed only one of his first 13 passes, moved the Raiders to the New York 26-yard line, but defensive end Verlon Biggs smothered him on a fourth down play at the 32.

The next time the Raiders got the ball, Lamonica again got them into New York territory, hitting Fred Biletnikoff for 25 yards and Warren Wells for 35.

A personal foul put the ball at the Jet 17, but on the next play, Lamonica's lateral to Charley Smith escaped the Oakland rookie, and Ralph Baker, New York linebacker, scooped up the ball at the Jet 30.

Namath, the AFL's most valuable player, was not particularly brilliant with his passing—he hit only 19 of 40—but he threw for all three Jets touchdowns, connecting with Maynard on a 14-yarder in the first quarter and with light end Pete Lamonica on a 20-yard score in the third.

Jim Turner kicked field goals of 33 and 38 yards plus three extra points for New York's other points.

The Jets led throughout the game until Atkinson, the league's co-defensive rookie of the year, intercepted a Namath pass for Maynard at the New York 37 with nine minutes left. Atkinson raced down the right sideline to the five. Pete Lamonica bulldozed over on the first play.

George Blanda, who had just kicked his second field goal, added the extra point, and Oakland led 23-20.

Dick Christy took the kickoff three yards deep in the end zone and scampered out to the New York 32. Namath passed to George Sauer for 10 yards and then letted a perfect pass to Maynard, who beat cornerback Atkinson and gathered in the ball at the Raider six for a 52-yard gain.

On the next play, Namath spotted the Texan in the end zone and drilled the ball to him for the touchdown.

While Namath's touchdown passes turned out to be the difference on the scoreboard, the league's No. 1 defense did a rugged job of halting the defending champion Raiders in the first half.

'Champagne' Namath Is Ready For Colts

NEW YORK (AP) — Joe Namath, bootlegging a bottle of champagne on his hip, threw his arm around Don Maynard as the happy passing combination celebrated New York's 27 to 23 American Football League championship victory over Oakland Sunday.

"Are you ready for Baltimore?" asked Namath.

"I'm always ready," answered Maynard.

So it was to the Super Bowl for Namath, Maynard and the rest of the Jets. "It took a long time to make it," said Namath, who piloted the Jets to the top of the AFL in his fourth season.

"It's a long time," laughed Maynard. "What should I say?"

It was Maynard, an 11-year veteran, who broke Oakland's back with consecutive catches—one for 52 yards and the other for six yards and the touchdown—after the Raiders had taken the lead for the first time in the game midway through the final period.

"I was glad to come back this way because of the interception," said Maynard, who was the intended receiver on the pass George Atkinson stole to set up Oakland's last-quarter TD.

Namath and Maynard both felt the intercepted pass was thrown perfectly but that Atkinson, who had repeatedly been burned by the Jets' No. 1 battery, had made a perfect play.

"Did I think we could come back?" asked Namath, repeating a newsmen's question. "Of course I did. If I didn't, I wouldn't have gone out on the field. If you don't think you'll win, why play?"

After the Jets had taken the lead on the two passes in Maynard, Oakland moved into threatening field position twice but New York held.

"The key play of the game, I thought," said Namath, "was when Jim Hudson tackled Herwig Dixon on the last down. That offense can score anytime it has that ball. I remember that last game in Oakland."

That was the famous Heidi game when Oakland scored two TDs in the last minute to beat the Jets 43-37.

Maynard, who set pro football's record for career receiving yards this season, said his pulled hamstring muscle hurt him throughout the game.

"I hurt all over," he said.

Namath revealed that Maynard was not the primary receiver on the touchdown pass. "None, it was supposed to go to Bill Mathis with George Sauer, the secondary receiver. But Gus Otto (Oakland linebacker) came fast and I just went to the open man."

Breeze Was Factor In Jet Score

NEW YORK (AP) — New York's Don Maynard and Shea Stadium's unpredictable breezes were moving in the right direction at the right time and blew the Jets into the Super Bowl with a victory over Oakland Sunday.

Although most of the players and coaches on each team insisted the swirling winds that gustied to 35 miles per hour had little effect, it did make all the difference on Maynard's big reception that led to the winning touchdown.

"Maynard made a great catch," said rookie cornerback George Atkinson, who was covering Maynard when he hauled in Namath's 52-yard pass on the Oakland six-yard line midway through the final period.

"I followed him step for step down the sideline and saw the ball good, but the wind was blowing crossways and carried the ball over Maynard's inside shoulder and he turned and caught it. The wind had a lot to do with it."

On the next play, it was Namath to Maynard again for the touchdown and the final 27-23 score.

Oakland had one more golden opportunity to pull out the victory when two long passes and a personal foul carried the Raiders to the Jet 24. But the New York defense forced a fumbled lateral swing pass from quarterback Daryle Lamonica to rookie Charley Smith and the Jets recovered with only two minutes left.

"The pattern was supposed to be deep downfield," Oakland Coach John Rauch said, "but the receivers got knocked down."

Smith, who got his hands on the ball which was thrown behind him, said he didn't realize the ball was "live," because it was a lateral. "I was probably the closest to it, but I don't know if I would have had a shot at it if I had reacted," he said in the quiet Oakland dressing room.

Gold Dust Twins Spark Laker 111-108 Win

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Clutch fourth-quarter baskets by Jerry West and Elgin Baylor gave the Los Angeles Lakers an uphill 111-108 victory Sunday night over the Detroit Pistons in a National Basketball Association game.

West connected for 34 points while Baylor contributed 24, including an eight-foot jumper with 40 seconds remaining. The Detroit scoring was led by Dave Bing and Happy Harleston with 29 and 28, respectively.

The Lakers missed numerous scoring opportunities in the early action and trailed 33-27 at the end of the first quarter. But the Pistons couldn't generate any offense in the second period while taking advantage of Laker turnovers to hold a 55-51 halftime lead.

Baylor and West sparked the Lakers during the third period to give Los Angeles an 83-82 edge into the final 12 minutes of action.

Morrall, Mackey Lead Player's Picks For NFL All-Pro Squad

By MURRAY OLDERMAN

NEW YORK (NEA) — It is the team the players want, above all, to make. It gave Jerry Kramer his greatest disappointment of 1967. But to Jim Ringe, a full decade ago, it brought elation and tears — for having made it.

"It is the All-Players All-Pro team chosen for Newspaper-Enterprise Association by the 640 players of the National Football League, who plays with the Green Bay Packers, and Ringo, who used to, have been honored with selection in the past. They have the trophies to prove it. Kramer's ledwary was in—making All-Pro team again last year. Ringo's sentimental cry came from the realization that the other players in pro football — his peers — had chosen him as the best at his position, center, when the jockers were a last place team.

That's the value of going to the players — the men who dig in with their cleats — as the source material for the finest in football. In this, the 14th annual poll of NFL players, their achievements on the field are perpetuated as members of the 1968 All-Players All-Pro team.

OFFENSE

Tight end, John Mackey, Baltimore — The class of the NFL almost unanimously, and at his peak in his sixth pro season. This is his third straight all-pro Split end, Paul Warfield, Cleveland — Tremendous comeback after several years in limbo since being named to the all-pro team his rookie season in 1964. Great scoring threat.

Flanker, Clifton McNeill, San Francisco — All Steelers needed was the chance, and he got it when Browns traded him to Afers. Promptly led the NFL in pass receiving this fall.

Tackle, Robert Brown, Philadelphia — Another comeback guy, since he missed most of last year with a knee operation. Pride spurred him to fine season on a dismal losing team.

Tackle, Ralph Nely, Dallas — There's never been any doubt about this guy. He can handle any defense end, and at the age of 24 he'll be around for years as a top-flight.

Guard, Howard Mudd, San Francisco — Somebody's doing the blocking up front for invincible Leroy Kelly, and it's generally this 11-year veteran who's also an all-pro repeater.

Quarterback, Earl Morrall, Baltimore — The comeback guy of the year, any year, who made "super" sub more than a phrase. They never even missed John Unitas.

Running back, Gale Sayers, Chicago — You'd think a guy who played only eight games and part of another would be out of it. But Gale ran far enough in that space of time to demand inclusion.

Running back, Leroy Kelly, Cleveland — The current non-parade as a ground-gainer. He just achieved his third straight 1,000-yards-plus season and all-time career comparison with Jim Brown.

Defensive halfback, Cornell Green, Dallas — The ex-basketball player has become a fixture in any all-star array. He's bigger than most, as fast as any, with a nose for the ball.

Defensive halfback, Lem Barney, Detroit — The most spectacular defender of all, only in his second year. If you beat him, he'll still catch you on speed. And a great kick return man, too.

Safety, Larry Wilson, St. Louis — He's the original blitz and, after nine years, shows absolutely no sign of slowing up. Friend and foe marvel at the way he throws himself at the enemy.

Safety, Rick Volk, Baltimore — Like Barney, a pace-setter of the new breed. A second-year man who fitted into the stingiest defense in football from the moment he arrived. Good size and speed.

Special presentation ceremonies will be staged for the 1968 All-Players All-Pro team at Television City in Hollywood on Jan. 16, with Jonathan Winters as master of ceremonies. The all-pro will receive individual statuettes sculpted by Bill Crawford, the NEA editorial cartoonist. They will also be gifted with engraved Bulova watches, emblematic Izod alpaca sweaters, Panasonic tape recorders, Fieldcrest towel sets — not to mention a bevy of CBS starlets to do the presenting. Portions of the ceremonies will be shown by CBS on the nationally televised half-hour show preceding the Pro Bowl game on Jan. 10.

WSU, Ducks Will Vie For Classic Title

PORTLAND (AP) — An experienced Washington State basketball team meets the young Oregon Ducks Monday night for the championship of the Far West Classic.

Oregon State plays Brigham Young for third place. In afternoon consolation play California takes on Arizona State for fourth place and Syracuse meets Yale for seventh.

Washington State reached the championship finals with an easy 86-67 victory over Syracuse then beat Oregon State in overtime 51-50 Saturday night.

Leading the Cougars is 6-0 Ted Wierman and 5-0 Lenny Allen, both seniors. Gary Elliot, a 5-8 junior, won the OSU game with a jump shot and two free throws in the closing seconds of overtime.

Oregon raced in a surprisingly easy 84-71 victory over Yale in the opening game, then defeated Brigham Young in overtime, 82-74, to reach the finals.

Junior Billy Gasline is Oregon's floor leader and top scorer, but against BYU it was reserve Glen Campbell a 6-6 senior, who brought the Ducks from behind. Campbell is one of two seniors on the team which leads seven sophomores.

Brigham Young and Oregon State met earlier in the season and BYU trounced visiting OSU, 84-64.

Byrant Awed By Power Of Missouri

Alabama's record-setting 22nd bowl appearance became an unprecedented debacle for Bear Bryant and the Crimson Tide and an unexpected landslide for brute-force Missouri.

The charged-up Tigers, running at will against the startled Tide, rolled to a 35-10 Gator Bowl triumph last Saturday. It was the worst post-season setback ever for Alabama and the most one-sided drubbing absorbed by a Bryant-coached team since 1954.

"They ran up and down the field like they were playing a barrier collapse," muttered the disbelieving Bear after watching Missouri bury 'Bama's heralded defensive unit under a 404-yard ground barrage while the Tide netted minus 45 yards rushing.

The upcoming pairings are: —Louisiana State, 7-3, vs Florida State, 8-2, in the first Reach Bowl at Atlanta Monday night.

—Oklahoma, 7-3, vs Southern Methodist, 7-3, in the Bluebonnet Bowl at Houston Tuesday night.

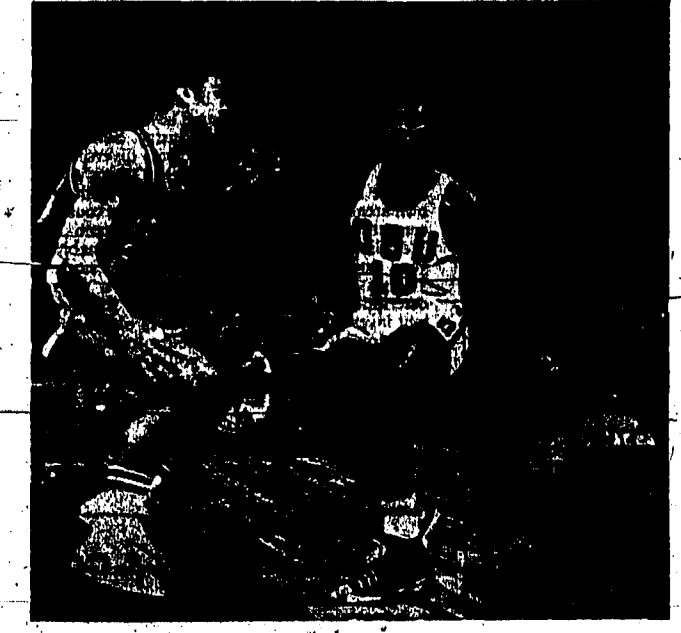

—Top-ranked Ohio State, 9-0, vs. No. 3 Southern California 9-0-1, in the Rosa Bowl at Pasadena, Calif.; Georgia, 8-0-2, vs. Arkansas, 8-1, in the Sugar Bowl at New Orleans, and Tennessee, 8-1-1, vs. Texas, 8-1-1, in the Cotton Bowl at Dallas New Year's Day.

—Penn State, 10-0, vs. Kansas, 9-1, in the Orange Bowl at Miami New Year's Night.

Last-Second Jumper Lets Hawks Win

ATLANTA (AP) — A 15-foot jump shot by Zelmo Beaty as the buzzer sounded Sunday propelled the Atlanta Hawks to a club record 10th consecutive National Basketball Association victory as they downed Baltimore 11-0.

Beaty's winning basket capped a furious comeback which saw the Hawks overcome a five-point lead by the Bullets with just 51 seconds remaining.

Steals by Walt Hazzard and Joe Caldwell helped the Hawks into a tie and set up Beaty's winning shot.

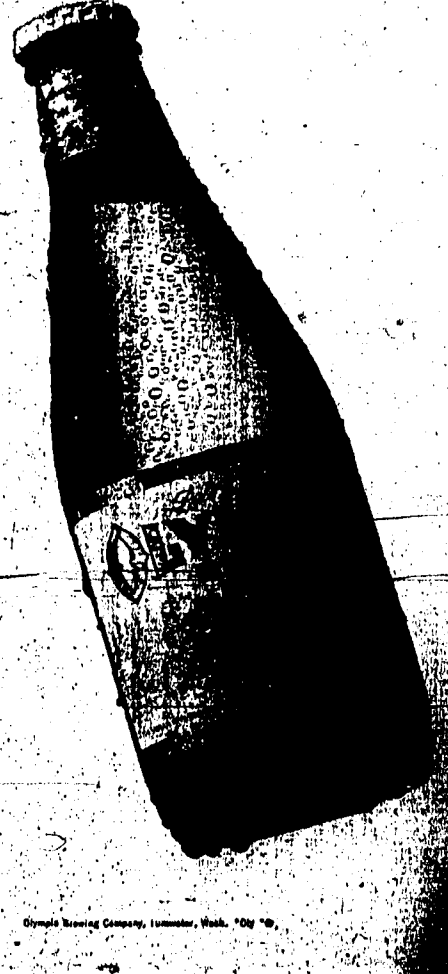

The triumph broke a 12-year-old Hawks record for consecutive victories.

Earl Monroe of Baltimore led all scorers with 33 points while Kevin Loughery added 24 for the Bullets. Beaty led Atlanta with 23 points and Lou Hudson added 22.

Oswald: "Mrs. Stone had to lead something and she made the slightly unfortunate choice of the spade. Had she opened a heart I would have been held to two no-trump. As it was, I managed to make three odd for what would have been a very good score at match point."

Jim: "The hand turned out to be a series of end plays. You kept putting Mrs. Stone in and she never had a decent lead."

Oswald: "Let's leave it to our readers to work out the whole play. The bidding is quite interesting in that many players would open Mrs. Stone's hand with one no-trump. They would consider three 10s and one nine enough extra value to warrant this bid in spite of only 15 high card points."

Jim: "We'll never know what would have happened had Mrs. Stone made this bid. I am not going to embarrass you by asking you what you would have done if one no-trump had been passed around to you."

THIS OBLIQUE PHOTOGRAPH taken from the Apollo 8 spacecraft looks southward along the "backside" of the moon, at approximately 180 degrees west longitude. This view be-

THE MOON CRATER Goelenus is pictured here, taken with a long focal-length lens by the crew of Apollo 8. An unusual feature of this crater is the prominent rim or ridge that crosses the crater rim. The three clustered craters are Magelhaens, Magelhaens A, and Colombo A. The crater Goelenus is approximately 40 miles in diameter. (AP wirephoto)
