

State Ponders Comprehensive Computer Network For Budgeting

By BUD JORGENSEN Associated Press Writer

BOISE (AP) — A plan to establish a statewide computer network — a program which could eventually lead to a computer making out the utility bills in even the smallest of Idaho communities — was released today in Boise.

The proposal involves a communications network using regular telephone lines and three major computer centers in Boise, Moscow and Pocatello. More than fifty automating data processing, such a system would be designed to eliminate duplication.

The proposal is contained in a report by the Boise consulting firm of Ernst and Ernst to State Department of Administrative Services executive committee composed mainly of state agency heads.

The report deals primarily with establishment of the base system with the three computer centers hooked together and designed to operate as a unit.

The first use of the system, the reports say, should be to improve state government budgeting by use of computers for analysis of future plans and past performance.

Once the base system is operating, there would be vast potential to automate state and local government functions, according to William A. Carter, the director of the management Services Division of the Department of Administrative Services. Carter's division is charged by statute with overseeing state government use of computers, and the division worked with the consulting firm on the report.

In addition to budget planning, the report notes that potential uses of the computer system include: paying government payrolls; storage of traffic records and other police files; design of highway bridges and other road design work; storage of a variety of information for state licensing boards; keeping health, education and welfare records; descriptions of property; and keeping state government property inventories.

Carter said an important factor in setting up a computer system is design of a method to whereby certain information can be relayed to any agency on the system that needs it.

The state now has 11 computers and proposal calls for replacement of these with the three base units at Boise, Moscow and Pocatello. At present there are three at Idaho State University, five at state agencies in Boise, one at Boise State College, two at the University of Idaho and one at North Idaho Junior College.

When the legislature set up the Department of Administrative Services in 1967, it made the Management Services Division the controlling agency for computers.

While the long-range planning for computer application has been under way, the division set up a computer operation in cooperation with the State Tax Commission to handle immediate computer needs.

The report estimates the biennial 24-33 months to make equipment conversions to the new system.

The report also recommends reorganization of the Department of Administrative Services into three divisions, general services for housekeeping functions such as motor pool and purchasing; budget bureau and information services, which would be the computer section.

Carter said the reorganization proposal would involve a reshuffling of functions of existing divisions, but few administrative changes. He said this could probably be done by executive order of the governor.

The report estimates the biennial budget of the reorganized department, except for general services operations, would be $6.57 million.

The administrative services budget request in Gov. Don W. Samuelson's proposed 1969-71 budget is $4.27 million.

Including what is presently being spent for computers, Carter said they estimate the change to a unified computer system and departmental reorganization would involve the same operational cost as presently planned.

Carter said it is estimated about $30,000 in extra money is needed for design planning. Once the basic system is established, the agencies on the system would have what are called terminals to communicate with the computer.

Carter said there are a variety of terminal units available. For example, a machine is available which could be hooked into the system and print out payroll checks at a location distant from the computer.

Terminals hooked up to the statewide system could be set up in the state agencies, cities, counties, school districts and other government subdivisions.

Carter said a great deal of efficiency is introduced into the operation if, for example, all state cities used the same budget procedure, then with one program design the computer could prepare all the budgets, Carter said.

CSI Gets OK To Start $2 Million Building Phase

The College of Southern Idaho has been given the go-ahead to proceed with bidding of the $2 million second phase of campus construction, Dr. James L. Taylor, CSI president, announced Tuesday.

The college has been awaiting federal approval of Health, PE-building plans which are included in the second growth phase. Prior approval was given to plan for a student union and a dormitory.

Dr. Taylor received telephone confirmation from the Washington, D.C. Office of Education and expects official confirmation in the near future from the regional Office of Education in Denver previously had approved the project, he said.

As soon as working drawings are complete, work will begin to advertise for bids, which hopefully will get out at a bid date of about Feb. 15, 1969. Dr. Taylor said.

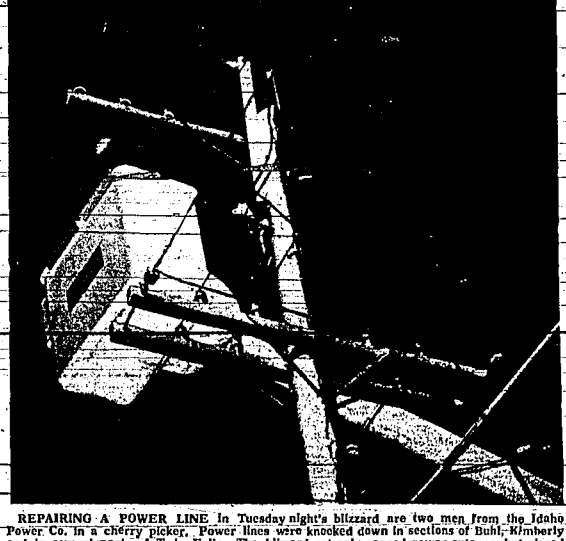

Although the dormitory and student union have been approved for some time, bids for these projects have been delayed until plans for the Health-PE center were okayed.

Construction of the PE center is made possible by a grant from the Office of Education and financing for the other two phase-two projects is by a loan from the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

Total cost of Phase 2 will be in excess of $2 million, Dr. Taylor said. Phase 1, which included site acquisition and development and construction of an academic building, fine arts center and maintenance building, cost approximately $2.5 million.

Taylor said bidding the three buildings as a package offers definite advantages. He said a wider range of bidders will be attracted by the project and the college may save money by bidding the three buildings at one time.

The Health-PE building will be located north of the present fine arts center. The student-union-building site is to the east across the mill from the fine arts center. The Health-PE building site is about 150 yards east of the student union building.

Blizzard Ties Up Traffic, Cuts Power

A ground blizzard with gusting winds of over 50 miles per hour hit the Magic Valley area Tuesday causing power failures, highway closures, and closure of the Twin Falls Airport.

Ice-covered power lines flayed by high winds and falling tree limbs were knocked down in sections of Buhl, Hazelton, Kimberly, and in several parts of Twin Falls, reported Jim Johnston, electrical supervisor of the Idaho Power Company in Twin Falls. Emergency crews scrambled to cut power lines.

The Twin Falls Airport was forced to close down at 7 p.m. Tuesday and the sheriff's patrol company said.

Both Cassia Memorial Hospital and KIBAR Radio Station had to curtail their utility power units during the storm.

Power was off for about an hour in the part of Burley served by city power and of Burley and the rest of the power lines together, causing the switches to short out.

Unity Light and Power had about 1,000 customers, some of whom were without power for four hours and the rest for about 13 hours.

The electricity went off about 10 p.m. and was back in service at 4 a.m. for some of the area while power was not restored until 11 a.m. Wednesday for the rest of the region.

Mr. Jones said the feed lines from Bonneville Power shorted out during the storm.

Israelis Condemn Embargo By France

JERUSALEM (AP) — The Israeli Foreign Ministry says France's arms embargo against Israel is a "stern and arbitrary branch" of French-Israeli agreements and eliminates France as a potential peace-maker in the Arab-Israeli conflict.

The Soviet peace plan which Da Gaulle is pushing calls for stationing a new U.N. peace-keeping force in the Arab-Israeli border, U.N. diplomatic sources revealed Tuesday night.

Sentenced incidents were reported Tuesday along the Jordan River, and an Israeli spokesman said Jordanian troops blew up the Damiyah Bridge, one of the two across the river used by Arabs on the Israeli-occupied west bank for visits to Jordan.

During the afternoon session, Chas Loveland, Boise, a district manager for Meadow Gold, talked about display and space allocation for the products was another aspect discussed.

A special speaker at the clinic was Hubert E. Black, University of Idaho extension poultry specialist, who talked to a group on the display, handling and merchandising of eggs.

Elmer J. Smith, district manager for the Idaho Food Dealers Association, opened the morning session with an explanation of the purpose of the clinic.

He closed the meeting with a summary of the discussions about the sales of dairy products.

Rates Climb

NEW YORK (AP) — Two major New York City banks plan to increase interest rates on consumer installment loans in the near future, possibly within a week, a broker said Wednesday.

The banker said other banks in the city would "no doubt follow the move in short order."

The banks asked not to be identified by name pending formal announcements, which were being held up until the necessary paperwork is completed.

Under preliminary plans rates on unsecured personal loans would be increased to 8 1/2% from 7 1/2%. Automobile loan rates would increase to 8 1/2% from 7 1/2%.

State Given Title For New Glens Ferry Park

GLENN HERRING — The Bureau of Land Management and the Idaho Department of Parks and Recreation have taken another step toward creation of the Three Island State Park when Bill State Director William H. Beckler, State Parks Director, withdrew title to a 330-acre tract of land that once served as a campsite for pioneer wagon trains on the historic Oregon Trail.

The land, which overlooks the Snake River, will be part of the Glens Ferry, will make up the major portion of a 500-acre state park adjacent to the river that offers a unique recreational and historical attraction.

Striking Teachers May Force Closure Of Bay Area School

By STEVE BASSETT Associated Press Writer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — San Francisco State College moved into its third day of a teachers' strike today with several department heads saying they are uncertain how much longer they can operate with empty classes.

Picket line scuffles broke out Tuesday involving members of the American Federation of Teachers and student militants who have been striking since last November.

Acting President S.I. Havelka warned students of "riding the coattails" of the students.

The purpose of cooperative efforts between the two groups is to force the first round of violence and police arrests since the 18,000 student school reopening Monday after a three week Christmas recess.

Dwight Newell, dean of the Department of Education, said Tuesday's classroom attendance, both by faculty and students, was well below average.

"If it continues," he said, "I don't see how we can conduct a useful academic program."

In contrast, a news conference Tuesday afternoon that despite the strike and violence, "classes were uninterrupted and people continued their serious business of studying and teaching."

A picket line in front of the administration building, ostensibly controlled by the AF of T, held by middle ground Tuesday from 50 to 300 chanting marchers.

When college officials told marchers the chanting was illegal, AF of T officials agreed to stop. Militant students rejected the order with obscene gestures.

The AF of T withdrew its members from the line and later, when the union attempted to retrieve picket signs and other protesting matches, shouting and pushing matches ensued.

Four persons were arrested by police.

The teachers union, claiming to represent one-quarter of the 10,000 teachers, is demanding official recognition, more pay, lighter class loads and more voice in school policy, Parsons said.

The student strike began Nov. 6. The list of demands eventually grew to 15, including an annual interest-free student department, rank-and-file administration for minority applicants, firing of certain school officials and amnesty for demonstrators.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — De-Parsons said such jurists frequently excluded women, members of minority groups and people of various professions.

The defense also asked Walker to be given a 30-day delay to prepare for the trial on Sirhan's plea and the jury list and requested two jurists — one to decide Sirhan's guilt or innocence, the other to set the penalty if he is convicted. Walker ruled against both.

Sirhan's Attorneys Ask To Veto Charges

LOS ANGELES (AP) — De-Parsons said such jurists frequently excluded women, members of minority groups and people of various professions.

The defense also asked Walker to be given a 30-day delay to prepare for the trial on Sirhan's plea and the jury list and requested two jurists — one to decide Sirhan's guilt or innocence, the other to set the penalty if he is convicted. Walker ruled against both.

After an hour in chambers, four motions were introduced in open court and Walker, after ruling against two — directed the defense to submit written requests today on the others.

Sirhan 24, a Jordanian who came to this country as a boy, was only dressed in a gray suit, white, button-down shirt and blue tie. He waved his hands as he entered the courtroom, his eyes averted.

He sat next to them at the left end of the long counsel table but made no public statements.

After a plea is withdrawn, and if another indictment is returned, the original plea may be re-entered.

The motion attacking Sirhan's indictment is based on a contention the grand jury which indicted Sirhan was not composed of proper cross-section of the community. said Russell Parsons, one of three defense lawyers.

Trio Vies For Democratic Chairmanship

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional sources say the three leading contenders being considered by Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey to become the new Democratic National Chairman are Sen. Fred Harris, Rep. James G. O'Hara and former North Carolina Gov. Terry Sanford.

Lawrence F. O'Brien's resignation as chairman was announced Tuesday in a letter to Humphrey, titular head of the party. Both O'Brien's letter and Humphrey's acceptance were dated last Saturday.

In his letter, O'Brien, chairman since August, told Humphrey that "an outstanding opportunity has been presented to me in the business community. Both professional and personal reasons counsel me to accept."

A close Humphrey associate said the vice president definitely plans to recommend a successor to the National Committee when it meets here next Tuesday in its first session since the Democratic defeat in November.

It is expected to ratify his choice. Harris, O'Hara of Michigan and Sanford all were key figures in Humphrey's campaign. Another mentioned for the chairmanship is Sen. Walter F. Mondale of Minnesota.

National Democratic leaders have strongly backed the selection of a "outs and bolts" man interested in rebuilding party machinery that is in serious disrepair in many states.

Harris, 58, co-chairman of United Democrats for Humphrey, before the convention, was seriously considered by Humphrey as vice president, but turned mate before he chose Muskie. The Oklahoma

Mideast Peace

International law lags at least 600 years behind national law in development.
The attack by Israeli commandos on the airport at Beirut, Lebanon, an outrageous act of retaliation for a barbaric act of terrorism committed against an Israeli airliner in Athens, is but the latest proof that in the handling of grievances between nations, we are still in the primitive stage. It is every man for himself and the verdict of "justice" is unto him who is strong enough to seize it.
Israel has taken its eye—a dozen eyes—for an eye, and the result is that already high tensions in the Middle East are raised to a new pitch. The possibility of renewed war looms again with the attendant danger that East and West could be thrown into a confrontation that might set off World War III.
The United States and Russia, in the judgment of their governments, have vital interests to protect, or strategic ends to further, in this critical area of the world. But surely their larger interests dictate that no conflict between lesser nations be permitted to draw the two great nations in the world into a mutually suicidal war.
And yet both have provided, and continue to provide, Arab and Israeli with the wherewithal that enables them to kill or threaten to kill one another on a large scale, to terrorize each other's populations and destroy each other's property and keep the world on the edge of panic.
What can the Soviet Union hope to gain in the long run from its backing of the Arabs?
If its goal is eventually to deny the West access to Arab oil, it must know that this is something the United States will take the gravest countermeasures to prevent. This is equally true of any Soviet ambition to make itself a naval power in the Mediterranean or to create a new bloc of satellite-allies in the Middle East.

Conversely, it is not in the long-run interest of the United States to attempt to achieve, anywhere in the world, a drastic shift in the existing balance of power that could cause Russia to feel menaced.
Lacking international law, or the effective means to enforce it, the United Nations—which to all intents and purposes means the U.S.A. and the U.S.S.R.—ought in all good sense to declare a military quarantine of the whole festering Middle East.
Let no one give or sell another weapon to either side in this area, where, despite the disparity in size between Israel and the Arab world, the strengths and weakness of both make the situation pretty much of a standoff—a standoff neither the United States nor Russia can change or has anything to gain from trying to change.
Let Arab and Israeli go on killing one another if they wish, but let it also be made plain that each act of war or terror by either side, and each act of retaliation by either side, will be punished with appropriate economic penalties which both America and Russia have in their power to inflict.
Let aid be given when both sides tire of war and sincerely want to make peace. Let it be given off, and a strict watch to ensure that the contagion does not spread beyond the infected area.

WASHINGTON — If a body's sense of humor runs the machine, it is possible to get a laugh out of the report of a special Cabinet committee which argues that a doubling of wage and price "guidelines" to curb the high cost of living. Some people do laugh at funerals.
The committee was set up by President Johnson on Feb. 23, 1968, to do something about inflation. I suppose we ordinary folks should be grateful it didn't simply forget about the whole thing.
Johnson released the report 34 hours after the House of Representatives passed the 22nd consecutive monthly advance in the Consumer Price Index. The estimated increase for 1968 is now 4.7 per cent, biggest living cost boost since the Korean War year of 1951. For the first time this year, the purchasing power of the rank-and-file worker was less than it was 12 months ago.

Thus, the face of evidence that inflation long ago reached a gallop—the Cabinet committee's recommendations seem a trifle tardy, to put it mildly. To produce this mouse, the committee labored for almost a year, while price and tax increases robbed the worker of whatever pay increases he received during that period. So far in 1968, prices are up 4.8 per cent, while the take-home pay of workers has increased by only 4.3 per cent.
However, it is nice to know that the committee considers the situation of some urgency, if the inflation trend, it said, "must be reversed. Action was called for immediately."
Unless its guidelines were accepted, said the committee, inflationary pressures would remain out of control in 1969.
Well, Mrs. Gaidardash, the committee urges a wage increase guideline and a price guideline requiring acceptance by industry of lower profit margins. With considerable reason, Arthur M. Okun, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisors and of the Cabinet committee, admits "a degree of fuzziness" in the profit guideline.
There is in fact, "fuzziness" in both guidelines for the simple reason that they are merely recommendations. Even our new economic experts among college graduates can remember back to 1955 when President Johnson, with much fanfare, "established" a 3.2 per cent wage guideline. This "official standard" was dropped, with no fanfare, in late 1966 on account of it had become a grim "job to accept a wage increase guideline of just under 5 per cent in 1969."
The committee is asking labor to absorb one per cent in unit costs before taxation, and to set a profit margin no higher than the average of 1967-68. The chances of either side according to these requests are roughly comparable to those of Dr. Nixon, according to favor of Spiro Agnew.

Moreover, the committee rejected out of hand the only effective solution to the problem of inflation—restricting federal spending. It did so by not saying bluntly that the tax-and-economy package passed earlier this year by Congress had done little to curb the inflation-control.
The point—can and should be made that the committee's conclusion is premature. A few more months must pass before the effect of that package is known. But it is a fact that the spending cut was not drastic enough—and that more of the same is needed.
In the final analysis, inflation results when the government spends too much money in too long a period. Voluntary guidelines are ineffective when the government continues to spend too much money, because of that. Whether he likes it or not, Richard Nixon's job will be to reduce Federal spending even more drastically, and thus put a curb on human acquisitiveness.
We are stuck with the Vietnam war, but the point now has been made that the South Vietnamese take it over while peace is being more or less discussed in Paris. It is time, too, that the military brass had been informed that they cannot have all the expensive toys of war they are demanding. Welfare projects designed merely to spend money should be voted down, and so should the pork-barrel projects of our so-called members of Congress.
There is a message in the Cabinet committee's report all right, but it is implicit. It says simply that we cannot afford its present way of life.

"All Right, Folks — Watch The Birdie"

GEORGE C. THOSTON, M.D. Gastritis

Dear Dr. Thostion: I would like to know what causes gastritis and how to get relief from it. —Mrs. A.O.H.

Gastritis is irritation or inflammation of the stomach lining. The term, I gather, is often used for gaseousness or flatulence, but it is not related to that condition.
Commonest irritants of the stomach are alcohol and highly seasoned foods. Just plain overeating can cause gastritis, and it may be necessary to abstain from alcohol and fat.
Inflammation can result from certain foods, such as golden raisins. Virus infections also can affect the digestive tract, causing diarrhea and vomiting.
In addition, certain drugs can be irritating to the stomach. For just one example, some folks are unusually sensitive to aspirin. It "upsets their stomachs," and they have to stop taking other drugs or, in some cases, should be careful to take aspirin, when needed, only after eating a meal.
Continued gastritis can bring either thickening of the stomach lining or a thinning (atrophy) of the lining. Atrophic gastritis can follow in chronic cases, as well as the more usual symptoms of stomachache, loss of appetite, and weight loss.
I suppose the next remark I'll hear pretty often, but treatment of gastritis involves, basically, the avoidance of known irritants, and curing how often people shut their eyes to this. They don't want to change their accustomed ways.
Yet, if you must, only to limited extent can treatment be very successful—unless the irritants are avoided.
A type of diet (as with ulcers) may be taken. In some cases, small meals, taken more frequently can be helpful. Antacids, which promote the production of some cases of gastritis, the reverse may be the case—there can be lack of hydrochloric acid, which is necessary for digestion, and the true correction may be in the use of very diluted doses of the needed acid or in other, medical, means.
As with so many conditions that I discuss in this column, the correct treatment cannot be given until you have chosen only after the precise form of the ailment has been determined. This is true of gastritis, and may be necessary due to something that has been consumed or it may, as in the case of insufficient hydrochloric acid, be from a systemic change.
I wish I could give some answer to gastritis that would fit every individual, but that just isn't the way things are.
Dear Dr. Thostion: About 10 years ago I had a spur removed by surgery from the bottom of my foot. It has been there ever since. I can hardly walk, it is there any way of getting rid of the spur.
A April is a calcium accumulation which has developed at a place where the bone or tendon is attached to the heel. It is no good way to remove it except surgery. With many spurs, some special padding, linings, or shoes may be necessary at the appropriate place, to ease pressure off the spur, is sufficient to keep you comfortable.

Dear Dr. Thostion: Can you get an ingrown hair on your eyelid. I have a little lump on my eyelid, and my eye itches. I think that is what it is. —M.E.K., age 13.
That is possible. It is more probable, however, that the little lump could be a chalazion—that is, a cyst. If so, it can be removed easily and safely.
Dear Dr. Thostion: I have been having trouble for months and also have a constant sore throat and plugged-up runny nose. I have been to two doctors. One said I should have a cancer test. I don't have put on any weight, and I have put off having the cancer test because I am afraid of having the doctor put anything down that may not be necessary. I don't want to be hoarse.—Mrs. B.W.
Stop wasting time and taking medicines. Continued hoarseness is one of the cancer danger signals. Four studies have shown, plus perhaps other factors, could cause hoarseness but, since cancer is a more serious threat, have that examination before waiting any longer.

Dear Dr. Thostion: Is there any harm in using egg whites hatched in desert. I mean uncooked. —D. N. F.
No. It is salmonella (the germ that causes mischief in raw eggs) is present, it is in the yolk.

Dear Dr. Thostion: I have always had a protruding abdomen and it seems to get worse. I am 21. What can I do to reverse the situation or keep it from getting worse. I am a few feet 2 1/2 and weigh 130 pounds. —DESPERATE.
To be blunt about it: practice better posture, lose 20 pounds, and take up bowling or some other regular exercise.
"You Can Stop Sluts Troubles" is the title of my booklet explaining what auroch trouble really is and why it is so difficult to do something about it. For a copy write to Dr. Thostion in care of this newspaper, enclosing $1.00. If you are not addressed, send $2.00 in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.
Dr. Thostion is happy to receive readers' questions, and whenever possible uses them in his column. However, due to the great volume of mail received weekly, Dr. Thostion regrets he cannot answer letters individually.

The Polluters

Russia, where the government owns all the means of production and where the social ills caused by capitalism aren't supposed to exist, is apparently having as many difficulties in the matter of pollution as our less-enlightened industrialized countries.
The U.S.S.R. Council of Ministers has announced a seven-year pollution abatement campaign to try to clean up the Caspian Sea, with still new regulations governing oil well operations, the shipping and fishing industries and community sewer systems.
At the same time, because past directives have been ignored, it has adopted the weapon of public ridicule and scorn against these major sources of pollution.

This is one page from the socialist book, "The Polluters," which is available for the first time. We will not begin making real progress until the day arrives when any manufacturer, or company or municipality that dumps its wastes into the common national air or water or landscape is considered to be as irresponsible and reprehensible as the individual who dumps his garbage on the common highway.

BRUCE BOSSAT 2-Party Status Gains In South

WASHINGTON (NEWS)—In a complex special poll of southern voters indicate that probably two million black voters, some two-thirds of their total, are in favor of a two-party system. The poll, taken on Nov. 5 in the 11 Old South states.
This record turnout, which eclipses the full black registration total in the 11 states four years ago, went overwhelmingly for Democrat Vice President Hubert Humphrey, of course. But it appears to have been of crucial benefit to him only in Texas, where he used out Richard Nixon by one percentage point.
The two-thirds vote showing for blacks in the South surpasses their percentage outpouring in 1964 against Barry Goldwater, and compares with a 75 to 80 per cent preference nationally among blacks. The turnout was very heavy in many northern areas, but off in some.
Across the South, some 250 blacks competed for public office at state and local levels. As of this writing, 81 victories had been achieved, and there was a prospect of up to a score more.
For the first time, blacks won "one" each in the North Carolina and Florida legislatures. Three were added to the growing Georgia total. In 1965 only three southern states—Arkansas, Alabama and South Carolina—will be without at least one black state legislator.
Vote analysts in the South say it is hard to tell where and how the much enlarged black vote may have affected the outcome of state and local races. For instance, South Carolina's two-party competition.
A critical figure will be the percentage of the total Democratic vote cast by blacks in the various southern states. With heavy defections of the black and white Democrats to the bipartisan third-party candidate George Wallace, the black percentage can be presumed in many instances to be at unprecedented levels.
But one year knows whether Wallace, having run on 9.7 million votes in the nation while capturing the electoral votes of five southern states, will stay again in 1972.
But if Wallace simply fades, a fair proportion of his basically Democratic southern supporters, having made the first enduring commitment to a non-Democratic, may then represent a party.
Such a move, some students of the South are saying, might reduce the once-dominant Democratic party to a minority coalition composed of blacks and, accordingly, of modest numbers of southern white liberals.
The Republican party at that point would be well-placed to add still more votes to its lacerating southern base. Since 1952, the GOP presidential nominee has taken three to five Old South states in each election. Nixon nearly made it six this time, just missing in Texas.

This prospect seems to annoy some northerners. For years northern politicians and newsmen have moaned about the "one-party South." Slowly through the 1950s and 1960s, the region has moved toward genuine two-party status—especially at the presidential voting level.
Now, suddenly, any national politician who seeks to capitalize on this trend—as Nixon did in 1968—is scorned in some quarters as having practiced a "southern strategy." The phrase inevitably is given an evil turn as if it meant white racism.
In fact, however, the GOP's steadfast southern gains in presidential voting have come in the states of the so-called New South—Florida, Tennessee, North Carolina, Virginia and Texas—where moderation is an important ingredient and a new managerial middle class is drawing southerners closer to the national patterns.
If the goal is a viable two-party system, there can be nothing wrong with a "southern strategy" so long as it is not reactionary and is part of a national strategy.

MR. SPECTATOR A Real Nice Report

As often as not, a financial statement, report of last year's business or annual report (call it what you want) is pretty dry stuff. It is of interest only to those who have money tied up in the firm involved.
Not so with the 1968 annual report of the Amalgamated Sugar Co., which came across Mr. Spectator's desk yesterday.
But inside it was much more than white. It was a good, comprehensive report detailing not only the company's accomplishments for the year 1968 but also a well-rounded story of the physical assets including several fine color pictures.
It tells the story of the harvest, the sugar content, the possibility of market increases for the product, the construction going on throughout the area where Amalgamated has plants and expansion now going and planned. These are only a few of the highlights.
Another interesting bit of information contained—and a two-page color picture showed it—was the fact that the Mint-Casals plant at Paul is still the largest sugarbeet factory in the world. By comparison, the Twin Falls plant ranks tenth.
Also noted was the fact the Amalgamated Co., in the third biggest sugar beet crop in the United States, for instance, during 1967 the sugar produced came to a total of 7,169,030.
And, among the list of officers, one name brought back a string of pleasant memories. It was the name of Harry A. Elcock, now vice-president and general agriculturist for the company.
Mr. Spectator can remember when he was just one of the boys at the Twin Falls plant and then when his father, who was very interested in his participation in beet leaf hopper control. Then he started to go up and now he is up.

But hurry, we are sure, will never change. He will always be the same easy-going guy we knew of old.
But so much for looking back. We started out this column to prove that an annual report could be interesting and could be presented in an attractive manner.
Well, it has been proved it could by the Amalgamated Sugar Co. Our hat is off to whoever did the job. Real nice!

GIVEAWAY DEPT.—We have puppies to give away. The mother is a Pomeranian "Toy Poodle" and her father is unknown. There are males and the other is a female. They are about seven weeks old and you can see them at 1051 Heyburn Ave. East.

PERLS OF SKATING?—Many are the youngsters who received ice skates for Christmas who cannot wait to try them out. That eagerness will bring tragedy to a number of American families in the weeks ahead.
Winter has not hit its full stride, but a number of deaths have been recorded among children who ventured onto ice deceptive in appearance. To the inexperienced and untrained youngster, the thinnest ice covering on a pond or stream can look like land.
It is the parents' responsibility to see that their children not only are taught the dangers of ice, but are disciplined for any deviation from safety rules. There is no percentage in waiting for tragedy to strike the community, as it has a number of others, to impress the seriousness of this seasonal danger.

PAUL HARVEY That Nixon Smile

"There are smiles that make us happy." Yes, by George, there are. And if the turned-down mouth of most of us is ever to turn up again, we need a smiling example.
There is no sharper contrast between the present President and the President-elect than this: the one who's incoming is more outgoing.
President Johnson was almost always caricatured and eye and long face. His initiatives have perhaps amounted to, "I come to you with a heavy heart," yet that was his inescapable public image.
Mr. Johnson is now to be an admirer of Lincoln, may be an inconspicuous imitator of the emancipator. Addressing a farewell message to the members of his Administration Mr. Johnson said, "There will be a lot of bloody feet on the long road to equality."
Whatever kind of leadership that is, it is not inspiring.
How sharply, this contrast with Mr. Nixon's announced affirmative, "close-ranks, pull-together, resolve-problems, follow-me" show-the-world leadership.
Mr. Nixon's Cabinet on a nationwide telecast he appeared refreshingly youthful, spirited, assured. He smiled warmly, naturally, confidently.
It could be argued that President Johnson is weary from the team's complexities and frustrations and from the sheer weight of all that responsibility. But mostly what I am describing here is the contrasting personalities of these two men.
We needed a boost for our sagging spirits in the early 1036. President Herbert Hoover, however, capable he was otherwise, could not provide the physical relief we needed.

P.D.R. did.
The gallingly confident countenance of Franklin Roosevelt perhaps did more to disperse the depression's dark clouds than did all of his legislative acts put together.
F.D.R. was able to steady our trembling hand on the eve of a great war with the firm assurance that, "We have nothing to fear but fear itself."
Sir Winston Churchill, whose presence ever exuded confidence, could promise his people nothing more than "blood, sweat and tears"—yet always with his bulldog jaw so confidently fixed on the enemy.
The words of desperation had the ring of victory.
Similarly, some can overestimate the reassurance we all derived from the famous Eisenhower smile. His West Point classmate and lifelong friend, Gen. Douglas MacArthur, inspired the same confidence with ultimate dignity: "I shall return!"
Confidence is contagious and we need that now.
If this smiling President can discharge us from the foreign involvements which have contributed so much to the disintegration within our own country, if the President can sustain his clear-eyed optimism and deliver us his announced objectives, we need that now.
It's going to feel real good again to be an American.

'Casual' Crews Bring Complaint

SEATTLE (AP) — Shippers and union spokesmen say it has been necessary to hire "casual" crews to handle all cause of increasing cargo movement through the port of Seattle in recent months.

But the joint labor relations committee of the Union Checkers Association and Pacific Maritime Association has voted to impose certain standards, the two groups reported Tuesday.

From now on, they said, men with flowing locks of hair, long beards and odd clothing will not be allowed to work on the waterfront. It's a matter of "appearance, cleanliness and safety," the associations said.

'Crusading' Editor Dies In Miami

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — William Calhoun Baggs, a newspaper editor nominated for the Nobel Peace Prize after acting as an intermediary in preliminary peace-talk negotiations between Hanoi and Washington, died Tuesday. He was 48.

Baggs, editor of the Miami News, was a pacifist and articulate critic in his daily newspaper columns of President Johnson's Vietnam policy. A former pilot in World War II, he strenuously objected to American bombing of North Vietnam.

In January 1967 and in the spring of 1968 Baggs and Hanoi's S. Ashmore returned from the North Vietnamese capital with a secret message from the Central Committee of the Democratic Republic of Vietnam to the U.S. government.

The message said that nothing of substance would be discussed at peace talks until the United States met certain conditions including "cessation of U.S. bombing raids and all other acts of war."

President Johnson halted bombing of the North on Nov. 1 and the North Vietnamese agreed to expanded peace talks.

Baggs and Ashmore wrote a book titled "Mission to Hanoi: A Chronicle of Double-Dealing in High Places" after they returned from Vietnam. The book contained double-dealing had caused the Johnson administration, not Hanoi.

Short 'Show'

LONDON (AP) — The Royal Mint put one of its new 10p coins on exhibit Tuesday, and someone immediately pinched it.

The coin, which will replace the 10-shilling note when British currency goes decimal in 1971, was stolen from a hotel showcase.

The 10p piece, which will be worth $1.20, is believed to be the only seven-sided coin in the world.

Only six have been minted so far.

"It was probably stolen by some ignorant person," an official said. "I doubt whether it was an organized theft by an eccentric coin collector."

British Aver Actress Swore At Customs Clerk

UXBRIDGE, England, (AP) — Zsa Zsa Gabor used "unladylike" language when challenged by customs officials at London Airport, Prosecutor Llewellyn Jones told a court today.

He said the Hungarian-born actress, 45, was asked about a dog she was carrying in a small zip bag on arrival from Chicago Nov. 8.

"From then on the offensive language took shape," Jones said. "It was not the language one would expect from a lady, or indeed from any woman, although there must be some excuse for it."

"I will not repeat the language unless asked to do so," Jones said.

Officials decided not to let the small terrier dog into the country because there had been no rabies test.

"Mrs. Gabor pleaded guilty through her lawyer to using language liable to cause offense and to importing a dog into Britain without permission.

She was fined 30 pounds, $120, that is one of the highest totals in the world.

Need Is Seen For Increase In Special Education Facilities

By RUTH KOONCE-MILLER
Times-News Staff Writer

Twin Falls School District No. 411 is now training about 80 students in its special education program, but there is a definite need for increased facilities to accommodate more students, according to Assistant Superintendent George Stauda-her.

at this time there are about 80 students at the Robert Stuart Elementary School near Lincoln and another eight at the Happy Day School near Lincoln Elementary School.

The students range in age from 8 to 19, and are being trained according to their ability.

At the special education school some of the students are capable of learning to read and write, but basic skills are stressed at both schools.

Several "teen-agers" attending the special education school are entered in vocational rehabilitation programs. These students attend classes half a day and the other half through cooperation of local merchants, is spent on jobs.

Romulo Plans Leftist Effort For Philippines

MANILA (AP) — The new foreign secretary of the Philippines, Carlos P. Romulo, said today he intends to "reach (the) department with Socialist and Communist thought" to counter the Philippines' long dependence "on the so-called free world."

Romulo told a news conference he wants to get "both sides of the picture." He announced Tuesday that the Foreign Office will develop its own expertise on Communist affairs.

The Philippine government has lately been relaxing its rigid stance against Communist infiltration by East European countries that started on a small scale.

Seeding Of Fog Deemed Success

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The first fog-seeding experiment is "a qualified success," say international airport officials.

No planes landed during the brief test period Tuesday but for a few minutes, the ground fog climbed as high as 2,400 feet, prescribed for safe takeoffs.

Each minuscule crystal of salt attracted and absorbed moisture from the air, causing them to fall to earth as droplets of mist, too heavy to float.

The $80,000 experiment will continue, officials said. Ninety per cent of the cost is being borne by airlines, in recent years hit severely by schedule disruption due to fog.

Fuel Theft Probe Planned

Navy Aide Gains 'Discipline' Review

By LAWRENCE L. KNUSTON
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy has agreed to a Civil Service Commission review of disciplinary action taken against a civilian employee who triggered public disclosure of massive thefts of U.S. military fuel supplies in Thailand.

Sen. William Proxmire, who called for such a review, announced the Navy's action today. He had complained that the service had retaliated against John McGee, the civilian inspector who first tipped him to the thefts of the oil supplies.
Proxmire also said he will insist the civilian heads of the Navy and Air Force give close personal consideration to the cases of McGee and A. E. Fitzgerald, a joint Chiefs of Staff management expert who testified that the production of an Air Force transport will cost $2 million more than official estimates.
Both men, Proxmire said, "appear to have been penalized for doing their jobs too well."
McGee said he was abruptly transferred from his assignment in Bangkok assigned to a make-work job in Virginia and denied a customary 15 percent increase after he said he complained that official fuel thefts was allowing widespread fuel thefts to go unchecked.
A General Accounting Office report said at least 5.5 million gallons of fuels and lubricants were stolen in 1967 alone. Investigators blamed bribery, forgery and government laxity for the thefts. They said they had no way of estimating the total volume and value of the stolen petroleum.
Fitzgerald, a deputy for Air Force management systems, said he was transferred to take the Peace Corps Placement Test at 1:30 p.m. on Saturday, Jan. 18 at the Civil Service Room in the Post Office Building.
The Peace Corps uses the placement test to determine how an applicant can best be utilized overseas. The test measures general aptitude and the ability to learn a language, not education or achievement. The test requires no preparation and is non-competitive; an applicant can neither pass nor fail.
"Persons interested in serving with the Peace Corps must fill out an application, if they have not already done so, and present it to the office before the test. Application forms are available from post offices or from the Peace Corps in Washington, D.C.
15,000 volunteers are currently serving in Asia, Africa, Latin America and the Pacific Islands, working with the people of those nations in self-help projects and promoting food production, health to education. More volunteers are needed for programs which will begin this spring and summer.

Brush Fires Kill 10 In Australia

MELBOURNE (AP) — Bush fires swept through the outskirts of Melbourne today and there were reports that at least 10 persons had been killed in the blazes which raged through the under-dry summer grass.

The farming township of Lara apparently was hardest hit, but downed communication lines made through assessment of the damage impossible. An Australian Broadcasting Commission reporter said he had counted eight bodies after flames raged through Lara, and a truck driver brought an injured-to-nearly Werribee Hospital and said he had left one woman for dead.
A firefighter was reported killed at Ararat.
There was concern for the inmates of a Lara home for the aged who had not been heard from since they were seen heading their way.
It was feared the death toll would rival that of "Black Friday" the Jan. 13, 1939, disaster in which 66 died and hundreds of homes were destroyed by fires, throughout Victoria State.
Thousands of people were stranded in Melbourne because much rail line was burned out. Thick yellow smoke blotted out the sun over the city, Australia's second largest, and fine ash filled the air, blanketing buildings and causing general sneezing and watering of eyes.

"I tend to be earth-minded, and when we finish the moon missions we should put that money into our cities and into improving and enhancing our environment," Udall said.

Harvard Graduate Found Slain On Bloody Mattress

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Investigators searched today for the weapon used to kill Jane Britton, 27, Harvard graduate student whose body was found sprawled face down across a blood-spattered mattress in her apartment.
A medical examiner said the daughter of the administrative vice president of Radcliffe College had been struck a massive blow on the left side of the head behind the ear by a sharp weapon. Investigators theorized a hatchet or a cleaver was used.
Dr. Arthur McGovern of Cambridge, who ruled the death a homicide, said the shape of the wound indicated that the girl was facing her assailant when struck. He said she had been dead 10 to 12 hours when her body was found at 12:50 p.m. Tuesday.
Police said they were without a suspect. They said there was no evidence of a struggle or of robbery.

Peace Corps Placement Test Slated

Funds For Critics

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall says "cities should come first" in the spending of public funds. "The trouble in our cities is now," he told a Town Hall audience Tuesday.
"I tend to be earth-minded, and when we finish the moon missions we should put that money into our cities and into improving and enhancing our environment," Udall said.

WHEN THE NIXONS MOVE into the White House, two dogs will trot in with them to take their places among the famous Presidential pets. They are Pash, left, a year-old Yorkshire terrier, and Vicky, a five-year-old miniature French poodle. Both pets are now living a carefully-cared-for life in Nixon's New York apartment. ### Jerome Low Cost Housing Unit To Be Completed About March 1

JEROME — The Jerome low-cost housing unit, now nearing completion, should be ready for occupancy about March 1, Rev. Harold Livingston, housing authority chairman, told Jerome city councilmen at their first meeting of the new year.
The basic construction has been completed, and crews now are installing sidewalks and electric heat. The rental rate for the units tentatively is set for between $30 to $45 per month, varying according to the size of the apartments and the income of the tenants.
The units have electric heat and are equipped with telephone utilities, exclusive of telephone. Rev. Livingston said. Cable vision will be available for those who desire it.
Councilmen decided to hold a special meeting Jan. 22 to deal exclusively with the city swimming pool which leaked last summer. The council has to decide what to do about the situation which must be repaired.

Electric Firm Sets Confab

RUPERT — The annual membership meeting of the Rural Electric Co. is scheduled for Jan. 15 at the Rupert Elks Lodge, according to Thomas Maberly, secretary.
On the agenda is the election of two directors, one each for the Emerson and Hopewell districts, and any other business that may properly be discussed at the meeting.
President E. J. Blincoe, from the Emerson district, and Henry Breazell, who replaced Joe Horn in the Hopewell district, will be opposed by nominations from the floor Wednesday. Their terms have expired.
About 250 of the company's approximately 1,800 stockholders are expected to be in attendance at the luncheon at noon, followed by the afternoon business meeting. Prizes will be awarded.

Six Witnesses Appear At Trial

BLACKFOOT, Idaho (AP) — The voluntary manslaughter trial of Margil Sanchez, Jr., of Blackfoot continued Wednesday.
Six witnesses testified by state witnesses.
Sanchez is charged in connection with the death of his infant stepson, Shane Furney, a year ago.
Bingham County Coroner Carl Staley told the court an autopsy on the child had shown that death was caused by internal injuries which must be repaired.

Hijacker Diverts Colombian Flight

HAVANA (AP)—A Colombian airliner with 56 passengers and crew members was forced to fly to Cuba Tuesday by one of the passengers, a young man with a pistol. All aboard except the young man were expected to return today to Colombia. The Avianca DC4 took off from Rionegro, near the Venezuelan border, on a flight to another Colombian city. The Pilot, Capt. Jorge Otorola, radioed: "We are heading for Cuba. Hijacker's name can get."

The control tower at Santiago in southeast Cuba, reported the plane landed there Tuesday night, and added: "Don't worry, we'll take care of it." The passengers were believed to be Colombian tourists. Five Avianca planes have been hijacked and flown to Cuba in recent months.

Flu Epidemic Sweeps Bermuda

A government health official said Bermuda had arranged to get its vaccine from Britain, but now "Britain needs all the vaccine she can get." Arrangements to fly 3,000 doses of vaccine from Australia were made as doctors in Bermuda reported 80 to 90 new flu cases a day. The epidemic is expected to reach its peak about Feb. 1.

Fees On Grazing Bring Protest

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—Five Utah members of the Western Livestock Raisers' Association have asked U.S. District Court here to issue a temporary injunction against the grazing fees on public lands proposed last November by Interior Secretary Stewart Udall. The five are J. R. Broadbent, a livestock operator in Utah, Wyoming and California; Joe Anderson and Malan Johnson of Grantsville; Olive C. Sprouse of Roosevelt; and Newell Johnson of Provo. Pressure will be applied for a permanent injunction, said Milton Oman, a lawyer representing the five members. He said the proposed fee schedule was unreasonable and would cause irreparable damage to ranchers depending on the public lands for grazing. WIS, organized primarily to fight the proposed grazing fee hike, is composed of Westerners interested in livestock, timber and mining on public lands. The fee would reach a maximum of $125 after a 180-day period to graze one animal for one month. Forest Service permits have averaged 51 cents per animal unit and the Bureau of Land Management permits 33 cents. FIRE RIPS BUILDING SPOKANE (AP)—Fire raced through three floors of a wood-frame apartment building in downtown Spokane early Wednesday, injuring two women—one critically. The proposed fee

Crew Saved After Vessel Sinks at Sea

NEW YORK (AP) — Twelve crewmen from a research vessel that foundered in the North Atlantic were plucked from a freighter today after spending 26 hours in the open sea, the Coast Guard said. The crewmen were wet and cold but were otherwise unharmed.

The Esikkristine, a Norwegian freighter, picked up the men at 7 a.m. a Coast Guard spokesman said.

A Coast Guard cutter's deck officer spotted flashlight signals.

The 12 men huddled in the ship's life raft after abandoning their ship, the Sea Surveyor of New London, Conn., at midnight Monday, 20 minutes before the vessel sank about 250 miles southeast of New York.

The Sea Surveyor, 118 feet long, was owned by the electric division of the General Dynamics Corp.

Abandonment was begun after the ship failed to report its position at noon Tuesday while on its way to a rendezvous with a U.S. Navy submarine.

Winds were 20 to 25 knots and waves eight to 15 feet in the area where the men were picked up, the Coast Guard spokesman said.

The Coast Guard said the cause of the Sea Surveyor's foundering was undetermined.

Hindu Musician Gains Strength

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Uday Shankar, a leading exponent of Hindu dance and music, says he hopes to be released from the hospital Friday and is anxious to perform again but is not sure how soon he will be able.

Shankar, 69, suffered a heart seizure and cerebral hemorrhage in November while appearing here with his 30-member troupe. The troupe since has returned to India.

"I feel a little better every day," Shankar said Tuesday. He plans to return to Calcutta after leaving the hospital.

The Twin Falls Neighborhood Center will be adding a new class to its schedule. The American Red Cross will be starting a first aid class at 8 p.m. Wednesday at the center, 130 Eighth St. N. English and Spanish textbooks will be provided by the Red Cross. Dale Patterson will be instructing the course, with Richard Calvin as his assistant.

Mrs. Betty Wooten, center director, said there is no charge for the class and the public is invited. She said if there is sufficient interest an advanced class will follow the first course.

Mrs. Wooten noted that the center's classes are filled, but they are still taking applications in case there are any vacancies.

Mothers of Head Start children are taking a Monday morning sewing class which is instructed by Kay Harrison and Mrs. Lillian Cheney. An evening sewing session is being instructed by Helen Carter.

The cooking class will resume Jan. 16 in the community center at Sunnyview Courts. Mrs. Alice Reed, county home extension agent, is teaching this afternoon class.

Three Camp Fire groups, one for special education girls, have been organized.

Mrs. Wooten said they hope to organize some arts and crafts classes for senior citizens at Skyview Manor. She said a volunteer-instructor is needed for these classes.

Anyone interested in taking one of the Neighborhood Center classes should call Mrs. Wooten at 733-7881.

CLOSING SUMMARY
NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market closed on Wednesday with trimmed its worst losses in late dealings. Trading was active.
The market staged a technical rally in the morning but backed away from it quickly. The list was substantially lower by noon, worsening its decline in early afternoon.
In the final hour bargain hunting cut losses but declines still outnumbered advances by a ratio of about 2 to 1.

CHICAGO (AP)—A late rally in the new major commodity pits sent futures prices sharply higher on the Chicago Board of Trade today.
Trade was generally mixed and moved at a fair pace most of the session until the active buying near the close. There was no particular incentive for the activity, except that as prices moved ahead some short covering developed in these pits.

Q—I am in my late-30s and buying stock for growth. I hold a portfolio of AT&T, Embair Corp., IBM, National Can and Redman Corp. Should I increase my holdings in these companies or look for other issues? A—[A—National Can has moved up sharply on an improved outlook stemming from its acquisition of a modernization program. Your holdings in IBM are good. Current weakness in IBM is due to a temporary decline in demand for its products. Representation in the oil industry is advised at this time; and Phillips Petroleum is particularly well-suited for purchase. Its recent success in the North Sea should begin to add to 1968's earnings. Continue to hold the others.

Major Banks Act To Boost Rate Of Prime Interest

NEW YORK (AP) — Major banks across the country raised the prime interest rate for business loans to a new all-time high of 7 per cent, from 6 1/4 per cent, Tuesday.

First National City Bank of New York, one of the nation's largest, was the first to announce the increase and other major banks quickly followed, including the nation's largest, Bank of America of San Francisco.

The prime rate is the interest commercial banks charge their biggest and most creditworthy customers such as large corporations. Other interest rates, such as consumer loan rates, are scaled up from the prime rate.

It was the second time in less than a month that the major banks raised the prime or minimum rate for business loans.

First National City Bank also led the boost in the prime rate, raising it a record 6 1/2 per cent from Dec. 18.

The December increase followed action by the Federal Reserve Board lowering the discount rate, the interest charged commercial banks for funds borrowed from the Federal Reserve, to 4 1/2 per cent.

Bankers attributed the prime rate increase to increases in other money-market rates, plus strong seasonal demand for business loans.

The Federal Reserve Board had taken no action on the discount rate this time, and sources in Washington said the prime rate increase came as a surprise to the board.

Reaction from board members was not immediately available.

Most banks lowered the prime rate to 6 1/2 per cent from 6 1/4 per cent last September in anticipation of a slowdown in the economy and easier credit as a result of the income tax surcharge.

The economy failed to cool off, however, and rates went back to 6 1/2 per cent on Dec. 2.

Agnew as state chief executive. The Baltimore Democrat was chosen on the first ballot by the members of the Maryland House and Senate. (AP wirephoto)

School On "Mobat" Use Is Scheduled

A school on the use of the Mobat breath alcohol collection kit will be held from 1 to 5 p.m. Thursday at the Idaho Power Co. auditorium, according to Lt. Dean Bennett of the Idaho State Police.

Robert Funderburg, chemist with the Idaho Department of Health, laboratory division, will open the meeting. Manley J. Luckey of Luckey Laboratories, San Bernardino, Calif., will explain the use and construction of the Mobat, a device which measures degree of drunkenness and is manufactured by Luckey Laboratories.

Also on the program will be Robert Galley, assistant Twin Falls County prosecutor, who will discuss the legal aspects of breath alcohol testing.

New Destroyer Given Name Of Idaho War Hero

SEATTLE (AP)—The keel of a Navy destroyer named for a Medal of Honor winner from Kellogg, Idaho, was laid here Monday by the Lockheed Shipbuilding and Construction Co.

The 433-foot ship is named for Marine 1st Lt. Frank S. Reasoner, a Spokane native and a graduate of Kellogg, Idaho, high school.

About 50 Viet Cong ambushed Reasoner's patrol and killed him in July, 1965. He won the Medal of Honor—the nation's highest military award—for attempting to save the lives of members of his patrol under intense fire.

Reasoner's widow and son now live with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Silvio DeMarco at Kingston, Idaho. Reasoner was the son of Mr. and Mrs. James C. Curry of Kellogg.

New Image

NEW YORK (AP) — The flamingo became the symbol of Bahamas Airways when the airline recently came under new management.

A change in the image of this vermilion-colored bird, the national bird of the Bahamas, appears on the outside of the company's brand-new jets.

Stewardesses on the flights between Florida and the Bahamas, known as "Flamingo Flights," serve island snacks and a fruit punch called a flamingo sling.

The airline hostesses' uniforms are patterned after the famous Royal Bahamas constabulary.

American Falls Dam Repair Awaiting Study And Report

The status of renovation of the American Falls Dam is in limbo, according to State Sen. Barker, president of the American Falls Reservoir District Board of Directors.

Sen. Barker said Monday that any action on rejuvenating the dam is awaiting a study and report by the federal government.

He said the report was due Dec. 5, but has not yet been made.

"When you're talking about a renovation project as sizable as that at the American Falls Dam, you can see why they are taking their time and study."

Powell's Son Shuns Comment About Romance

NEW YORK (AP) — Adam Clayton Powell III, 22-year-old son of the controversial Negro congressman, minister, said today he had "nothing to say" about reports he and socialite Beryl Stocum are considering marriage.

Asked whether an announcement on the subject might be forthcoming soon, young Powell told a newsman: "If there is anything to announce, you'll be informed."

Earlier Powell had told newsmen the report was not true, but published reports persisted in linking him with Miss Stocum, 26, a descendant of Miles Standish and other noted colonial figures.

One report said Miss Stocum's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Termain Stocum, of Newport, R.I., and Tuxedo, N.Y., disapproved of her plans to marry Powell, but the girl was "defiant."

General Fund Reported Rising

BOISE (AP)—Idaho's general fund was more than $3 million better off on Dec. 31 than a year earlier, Treasurer Marjorie R. Mount and Auditor Joe R. Williams reported Tuesday.

Their joint financial report showed a treasurer's cash balance of $2,443,406. Outstanding warrants amounted to $2,968,677, leaving an overdraft in the fund of $525,270.

A year earlier, however, the overdraft was $8,778,494, including $4,250,000 worth of tax anticipation notes.

No tax notes have been issued in the fiscal year which began last July 1 and Miss Moon said it is doubtful if they will be needed.

Parole Officer Finds Three-Day Prison Stint Valuable But Rough Experiment

SPOKANE (AP)—Larry Lewis, a parole officer who believes the steel door clanged shut behind him, said Lewis recently finished a three-day stint in the Spokane County Jail to acquire a practical insight into the feelings and attitudes of inmates. Lewis recognized regional administrator of the state's Division of Adult Probation and Parole, agreed to let cell companions break the monotony of the county jail. He was booked into the jail records as convicted marijuana user who had violated conditions of his parole. When he was released three days later, Lewis said he had gained some new insights into the notions and was sure he didn't want to try it again.

Lewis said he was stripped, searched, fingerprinted and given a towel, mattress, two blank sheets and a tin cup and a spoon. Lewis was taken to a cell block and the "unofficial rule" of getting an "inside" slant on his job. "The chains and bars showed Lewis was not to be trusted," he said. Lewis wrote in a report to his division supervisor, "The lack of social amenities and introduction to my new living conditions included unfaithful, who's and who's not, cause they were confined. These inmates had just broken out of their regional contract with children. I was asked how much jail time I had served. I said several of his jail mates took an interest in Lewis after the maximum was broken. He also noted the prisoners were very polite to one another, and there was a tendency to go into a daze and not remember his daily experience. The probation officer concluded his report by saying some inmates are consciously desired by inmates. Lewis would do well to spend more time in such capacities. State probation and parole officials emphasized that Lewis did not sample jail life in the "stool pigeon" category. Lewis said the experiment was undertaken to make parole and probation officers—in this case,

Lewis—more alert to the effects of confinement on people and to point up the value of the link between men and their families. "While I volunteered to be confined," Lewis noted in his report, "I would view a return to the outside with mixed feelings. It was definitely unpleasant," he emphasized.

Unit's Queen's Luncheon Set

GLENN'S FERRY - The Queen's Luncheon was set for Feb. 2 when Kl. Alpha Alpha Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, members met at the Dick King residence. The meeting place was changed from the J. D. Stephens home at King Hill because of illness there.

This annual luncheon honors all the Valentin Queens from Blaine County chapters, and the places yet to be selected, reports Mrs. Bryce Reek, publicity chairman. The annual dance will be the following Saturday in Mountain Home.

At the recent meeting, the program, planned on "Understanding Art" was postponed.

The next meeting will convene at 8 p.m. in the Reek home on Sallor Creek, southwest of Glenn's Ferry. Mrs. Larry has the program, "The Various Man."

Members signed a card to send to Mr. Fred Munyon who is in charge of the Good Fellowship meeting; the group sang Christmas carols and refreshments were served.

Lois Howell Is Speaker For Baptist Women

SHOSHONE - Members of the First Baptist Church Women's Mission Society heard a talk by Lois Howell, former high school teacher here and now a teacher in an all- Negro school in Washington, D.C. There were 14 members of the society at the home of Mrs. Luella L. Kinsey for the regular meeting and talk by Miss Howell.

She outlined her work with the educationally deprived group, stating they all come from government housing areas; are brought by bus to this particular school, many of them active in the current Negro upheaval.

She is now working with the Y program, the International Ethnic groups and with the Presbyterian Church Mustard Seed Campaign. The basement of the church has been converted to a refuge for the hippies and a hot meal is served each night to any who call. Overall aim is to help the youths and particularly to locate and salvage the younger boys and girls who can still be returned to their homes.

Miss Howell showed slides she had taken in Washington, D.C., during a riot, a day when her school was closed early and at which time she had difficulty reaching her home.

She also related her work in Chicago, Ill., prior to going to Washington, D.C., when she was affiliated in teaching with the head start program through the American Baptist Convention.

The next meeting is at 8 p.m. Jan. 16 at the home of Mrs. Ray Webb.

BY ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: You told a woman who blamed her husband for her problems that she was pregnant when she didn't want any more kids that she should buy off because it was partly her fault, too. You said, "It takes two to tango, or something like that." You are dead wrong. It takes only one strong determined male to trap a helpless female, but it's the poor woman who pays the price in the end. I ought to know. It happened to me. NELL

DEAR NELL: That was no tango, Lady.

DEAR ABBY: I have been reading your advice every day looking for a solution to my problem, but to no avail. . . . I am a 38-year-old married woman with no children. My

Budget Banquet Set Saturday

The "Child's World" will be the theme of the Budget Banquet, sponsored by the Oxnard LDS Ward Primary Association, at 7:30 p.m. Saturday in the LDS Cultural Hall.

The Swiss steak dinner will be complemented by mushroom scalloped potatoes, frozen orange salad, peas, homemade bread and lemon pudding cake topped with whipped cream. Members of the community will be contacted by officers and members of the Primary to purchase tickets or they may be bought at the door.

After the dinner, a program of entertainment will be given by children, under the direction of Mrs. Brent Peterson, assisted by Mrs. Lyle Woodbury, Mrs. Ben Snyder, Carolyn Zollinger and Carolyn Hurst.

Mrs. Ray Hess, president, will head the food committee, assisted by Gaylene Taylor, Carolyn Hurst, Carolyn Zollinger, Jo Matthews, Mrs. Clarence Phillips, Mrs. Myron Okberry, Mrs. Eldon Lind, Mrs. Harvey Thornhill, Mrs. Robert Kelsey, Mrs. Keith Taylor, Mrs. Miles Tracy, Mrs. Owen Osterhout, Mrs. Jay Kidd, Mrs. Loren Eby, Mrs. Carol Zollinger, Mrs. Karen Stockings, Mrs. Mike Matthews, Mrs. Gale Gillett, Mrs. John Matthews, Mrs. Maurice King, Mrs. Robert Richardson and Mrs. Kelly Matthews. The advertising and table decorations committee will be headed by Mrs. Joseph Preston, assisted by the teacher.

T. F. Scribblers Club Has Party

Scribblers Club held its annual Christmas party and, December meeting at the home of Mrs. Olive Kelley after a spaghetti dinner at the Depot Grill.

Winners of the manuscript contest included Mrs. Norma Walker, Mrs. Ruth Vandenbark and Mrs. Goldie Stansell. Officers were elected. They include Mrs. Kelley re-elected president; Mrs. Ruth Johnson, vice president; and Mrs. Goldie Stansell, secretary. Gifts were exchanged and stories read. The Jan. 10 meeting is at the home of Mrs. Walker, 350 Filler Ave. W.

marriage is a happy one NOW, but for years I didn't draw a sober breath. I haven't touched a drop in two years and I feel in my heart that NOTHING in this world could ever make me touch the stuff again.

Now, what's my problem? Does a non-practicing alcoholic have to go through life looking like a "bag" for the rest of her life? My drinking has aged me 20 years. My face is covered with deep lines and wrinkles. I look like an old woman. I've tried all the facials and "tightening" creams and nothing has worked. Is there a good plastic surgeon in the Chicago area who isn't too terribly expensive, and would let me pay on time?

Also, Abby, please tell your readers that there is no better way in the world to learn how to live without alcohol than at ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS. I really didn't want to quit drinking until I went to a meeting just to get my family doctor off my back, and here I am, sober and happy and eager to face life. If I can, ANYBODY can.

NAMELESS, PLEASE

DEAR NAMELESS: My hat's off to you. I wish you had a doctor about that plastic surgery, and ask for his recommendation.

DEAR ABBY: This is for "DEPRESSED," the 25-year-old wife and mother who wants "help" to increase the size of her bust.

In the first place, where did she get the idea that all males consider big bosoms important? It isn't so. What is important to a man is that a woman should be neat, clean, honest, and considerate. I have respect for women who are about this size. They agree that a big bust is zero. It doesn't add one thing to a woman's real sexiness, in other words. What is important to a man is that a woman shouldn't walk around the corner to stare at one of those top-heavy cows. Thank you.

Part Three Of Series

Joint Return Has Advantages

Editor's note: It is time to think about the income tax again. This is Chapter Three of a series reviewing the regulations with emphasis on taking advantage of all exclusions and deductions legally due you.

By RAY DE CRANE

NEA Publications
Almost invariably, married persons will save tax dollars by filing a joint return.
But since there are exceptions to this general rule, these special circumstances should be considered before the final election is made. Separate returns oftentimes will offer a savings for married taxpayers.
One of the spouses who had taxable income also had unusually high medical expenses.
Each had capital losses of more than $1,000 in 1968 from the sale of unprofitable investments.
They are residents of one of the community property states — Arizona, California, Idaho, Louisiana, Nevada, New Mexico, Texas and Washington. They may treat income on their separate returns as if 50 per cent had been earned by each.

Similarly, contributions, interest, taxes and medical expenses are treated as if paid from community funds with half of the deductions accorded to each spouse.
Since medical expenses are not deductible until after they exceed 3 per cent of adjusted gross income, it is apparent that a separate return by the party having a lower income and relatively high medical expenses would produce a bigger deduction than would be permitted on a joint return. The advantages in this deduction might be offset by disadvantages in other areas, so both joint and separate returns should be attempted.

When a medical deduction is claimed on a separate return, care must be taken to see that the payment of medical expenses is made with the separate funds of the party claiming the deduction. Payments made by check on a joint checking account, for example, are considered to have been made one-half by each spouse.
It must be remembered, too, that when married persons elect to file separate returns each must follow the same course with respect to deductions. They each must itemize deductions, or each take the 10 per cent allowance for deductions (subject to limitations), or each take the minimum standard deduction (subject to limitations).
Since there were side swings in the stock market last year, it is a possibility that if husband and wife each own securities there could have been losses taken by each. On a joint return they are limited to a maximum $1,000 loss offset against ordinary income after first applying the losses against capital gains. On separate returns each spouse could realize the benefit of the full $1,000 deduction against other income.

FTC Proposes Regulations To Control Market 'Games'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Trade Commission has announced proposed regulations of winding-up, liquidation, banning flagging of supermarkets, and service station promotional games and stripping away much of the hoopla that surrounds them.
One of the persistent themes of a critical staff study issued recently by the agency was that the games were often stacked so that most of the big prizes were won early and participants got a distorted idea of their chances of winning.
In a statement issued through a Washington spokesman, seven firms that claimed to produce three-fourths of the promotional games said they welcome reasonable regulation, and will cooperate completely with the FTC.
The accusation was challenged by several major firms in the games industry. They issued a statement insisting few of the abuses cited in the report still exist.
The FTC's proposed anti-rigging rule, applicable to both the food and gasoline retailing industries, would:
—Require weekly revision of store signs and other advertisements for long-running games to show how many major prizes are still available in that specific geographic area.
—Prohibit manipulation resulting in dispersal of game-winning pieces or prizes "on a predetermined basis."

Ban advertising that exaggerates a customer's chance of winning.
In response to complaints from service station operators who said they were pressured into offering the games, the FTC has drafted a second rule prohibiting coercion by the oil companies that supply the dealers.
A hearing on both rules by the five-member commission will open Feb. 24.

'Back Burglars'

NEW YORK (AP) — Support your local burglar. Ignore these rules. That's the pitch in a new city campaign to fight the rising burglar rate.
Among the rules: When you go out, lock doors and windows, let burglars think you're home and leave lights on and no key under the mat; don't tell strangers when you'll be out; keep an eye on your neighbor's property; keep extra valuables in the house.

ALL FUNERAL HOMES ARE NOT ALIKE
If all funeral homes performed the same way, there would be no reason for so many families to prefer White Mortuary.
Of course, there is a great deal of difference among the service of funeral directors. There are differences in service, the manner of performance and facilities.
Many people comment on the individual consideration they received from the people of White Mortuary. This reflects the personal responsibility each of our people feel for the complete satisfaction of each family we serve. It makes such a difference. It is so important in assisting families throughout the entire funeral experience.
It is one reason so many Twin Falls dual families express a preference for White Mortuary when the occasion arises.
