ACTIVE IN TWIN FALLS blood drawings are David Nelson, seated, and Larry Hennman. They are passing over material here, getting ready for the next Red Cross bloodmobile visit in Twin Falls March 8. They are chairmen of the Twin Falls bloodmobile. Also active in area blood drives are Mrs. Wallace Brown, Kimberly, and Mrs. Elmer Parrott, Filer.

Bloodmobile Officials Hope Trend Of Past Two Visits Will Continue

For the first time, visits to the bloodmobile has managed to pass its quota for Twin Falls. Officials hope this trend will continue because the needs for blood are growing and the supply often can't meet the need.

The American Red Cross has built in safeguards for emergency cases, including a list of "walking donors" that can be called upon at any time. These donors simply go to the hospital and give blood for the person needing it.

In Twin Falls, Mrs. Irene Hanson, Red Cross representative, keeps a list of current walking donors. She is prepared to meet in an emergency. Unfortunately, this type of emergency does not come up often.

But the need for whole blood is with us all the time. Blood is a medicine, according to David Nelson and Larry Hennman, Red Cross blood drive chairmen for Twin Falls. Blood is often required in cases of anemia, acute poisoning, blood disease, low protein in the blood, infections and burns. Blood sometimes in a common need in minor surgery, and it is also needed in cases of severe injury.

Whole blood may be kept for 21 days in a refrigerated or cold condition. When the time limit expires, the blood is drawn down into plastic components and used in various ways. The components include packed red blood cells, fresh plasma, anti-hemophilic (chronic bleeding) agents, and plasma fractions such as serum albumin, gamma globulin, fibrinogen and vaccinia immune globulin.

The components mentioned usually have meaning for the trained medical doctor or technician, but each component has a use in saving a life.

Therefore, whole blood, given by a donor, is used. The uses are varied but the blood is used. There is a great need for donations. It was reported by Mr. Nelson and Mr. Hennman.

The bloodmobile visits Twin Falls about six times a year. It is a van type truck which brings to Twin Falls all the necessary equipment for a blood drawing. The blood collected in Twin Falls is shipped immediately to the regional blood center at Idaho where it is typed, checked and stored.

The center serves all of Idaho a parental release. A donor must weigh at least 110 pounds. A history of hepatitis at any time in the past excludes a person from donating, as does a past history of heart disease.

BLOOD CAN BE stored at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital and Ida Nielsen helps check blood types and prepares whole blood for storage. She works closely with Red Cross officials when blood is donated in the area 10 times a year.

Diabetics requiring medication will be deferred but are acceptable if controlled by diet alone. The family doctor should be consulted in such cases.

Donors are accepted 24 hours after all immunizations except smallpox. After a smallpox immunization, a donor will be accepted in two weeks after the scab comes off or after an immune reaction.

Pregnancy and six months after delivery will exclude a donation and donors with a history of miscarriages are referred to the physician in attendance.

If an acute allergic symptom is present the donor will be excluded. People may donate 72 hours after a tooth has been extracted.

People who have hazardous jobs will be excluded if they must go to work within 12 hours after giving blood.

Donors are also advised not to fast before giving. They should avoid very fatty foods.

Mr. Nelson said the precautions are there for the safety of donors and patients alike.

The next bloodmobile will be in Twin Falls March 3 at the American Legion Hall.

'Rock' For U.S. Urged To Honor Mineral Wealth

ST. LOUIS (UPI)—Why doesn't this country have a national rock?

That is the question being asked by the St. Louis Mineral and Gem Society, which is advocating a national rock and/or national mineral.

The society's argument in behalf of the rock includes:

- The United States is "richly blessed" by the mineral kingdom.
- The rock kingdom "comes first as it is basic to the plant and animal kingdoms."
- Rocks and minerals "give the earth its form without which man would have no place to stand and work."
- Rocks "furnish building materials—for home, factory and farm," machinery, chemicals, fertilizers, constituents of food and medicines and contain all the elements, atoms and molecules in the crust of the earth."
- The United States was "founded upon a rock when the Pilgrim Fathers stepped ashore on Plymouth Rock Dec. 21, 1620."
- The first act of the first astronaut on the moon "will be to examine and report on the nature of the rocks."

PROTEST PROVES FATAL

KRONACH, Germany (UPI)—Willi Muehl, 28, a bricklayer, went on a hunger strike one week ago with the hope of persuading his wife not to divorce him.

But, reported that Muehl died of malnutrition Wednesday night.

Mr. Nelson said, "The bloodmobile takes care of the needs in this area even though we often do not take care of the bloodmobile through donations."

The steps in the taking of blood are easy to follow. From donation it is stored after being identified as to blood type and checked for diseases, then either given to a patient or broken down into component parts.

The bloodmobile in addition to coming to Twin Falls six times a year, visits Kimberly twice and Filer twice. The only other special blood drawings are from walking donors in cases of emergency.

Often, according to Mr. Nelson, blood will be donated for a specific patient. A patient who receives blood is never charged for that blood.

Mr. Nelson said this is a misconception that many people have. A charge is made for the laboratory fee and for storage costs on the blood, but no charge is made for the blood itself.

When a person receives free blood, he is requested to recruit donors on his behalf to keep blood in storage for the next person that needs it.

If a person from Twin Falls goes to another area and receives blood from a private blood bank, often a charge for the blood is made. Mr. Nelson

Agency Provides Data On Schools

BOISE (UPI)—The State Department of Education plans to provide members of the Joint Finance-Appropriations Committee with data showing how each school district will fare with varied increases in funds at the state level.

Harold Farley, assistant state superintendent of public instruction, said the data will show how much each district would receive with $15.5 million additional from the state and also with a $19 million increase.

The State Board of Education recommended a $15.5 million hike in state aid, but its president, Eldon (Dick) Smith, Rexburg, asked the committee to provide from $19 to $20 million additional.

The Idaho Education Association goal is $19 million above the $59.6 million appropriated in the current biennium.

Exchange

BOISE (UPI)—With tongue in cheek and feelings sour over parking problems, Rep. Wayne Tibbets, D-Lorenz, Thursday proposed an exchange of sites for the state prison and state capitol.

If we put the capitol out at the prison site and put the prison site here at the capitol, it would serve two purposes, Tibbets said. It would give us an ample place to park and those who would not have to walk too far to town.

Commenting on the parking problem of legislators in the vicinity of the statehouse, Tibbets observed that parking permits in some ways are like giving you the key to the city and then changing the "lock" on the door.

Along Fences And Canals

Some ranchers have purchased snowmobiles for use on the farm and still have the snowmobile for pleasure. One of these is Cliff Dayley, Richfield. He has built a steel runner sled which he hauls by a motor, carrying at least 10 sleds a load. Toby Dayley took his mother, "Dutchie," for a ride on the snowmobile this week and slighted three coyotes just east of their ranch northeast of Richfield.

The replacement heifers belonging to the Knox Pitchof ranch, King Hill, have been moved from the Lawson ranch to the River Ranch for calving.

Troy Chaffin, King Hill, has sold his farm to Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Pachner, who hope to use it for a cattle feedlot.

Mr. and Mrs. Larry Jervik, King Hill, who have been living on the Knox River Ranch, have moved into Glens Ferry. Mr. Jervik is a patrolman at the port of entry.

Elmer Babinion is helping to care for several baby lambs during this cold stormy weather. He has seven ewes to lamb.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Pachner have sold their place just north of Glens Ferry to Gordon Harm from Mountain Home, and plan to find themselves a smaller acreage somewhere in the immediate vicinity.

A large new corrugated aluminum machine shed at the DeLong Sucker ranch in the View community near Burley, was demolished in last week's wind storm. Extensive damage resulted to the machinery stored in the building.

Canvases covers were torn from the sheds at the Willford Wrigley and sons-sheep-corrals, also in the View community, and trees were uprooted and a giant evergreen, more than 50 years old, was toppled at the Truman Banner farm. Several shade trees were toppled at the Herman Wrigley farm and baled hay was torn from stacks.

Wilbert Henke, Russell Dolven and Rich Curtis of the Sheering Community assisted Bob Robinson, Tuttle in moving his stock to the Robinson Ranch at Tuttle brand and vaccinate them. Russell Dolven is from Grant, Mont., and is helping break colts at the Robinson Ranch.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Newberry have sold their farm 160 acres and dairy herd, located one mile south and two and one-half miles west of Palmer Service in North Shoshone to Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Hall and family, Wendell. The Newberrys moved this week to a four acre place on Highway 74 five miles southwest of Twin Falls.

Mr. and Mrs. Hall have lived two miles west of Wendell for several years.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Sandy and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Brackett attended the Cattlemen's Convention held in Hawaii.

Lambing is under way in the Hagerman Valley. Sheepmen were happy to see the rain stop.

Woody plants are also selected for their beautiful flowers, color and outdoor decorative value.

Failure to tolerate severe winter weather is a main cause of shrub death in many areas. But winter hardiness is mentioned less than half as frequently as bloom of flowers as basis for shrub selection.

FARM AND RANCH

Friday, January 31, 1969 Twin Falls Times-News SECTION

STUDYING three of his young Polled Hereford bulls on the Point Ranch is Tom Callen Sr., one of Southern Idaho's outstanding cattlemen. Mr. Callen will be honored by the Southern Idaho Agricultural Livestock Industry Hall of Fame on Feb. 17 in Twin Falls. Mr. Callen runs 1,200 head of cattle on the Point Ranch south of Rogerson.

Livestock Hall of Fame

Tom Callen Sr. To Be Honored

ROGERSON — A Rogerson area rancher who helped promote the best cattle in Idaho will be honored next month by the Southern Idaho Agricultural Livestock Industry Hall of Fame for his contributions to the industry.

Tom Callen Sr., who acquired his first call when he was 12 years old, will be named to the Livestock Hall of Fame on Feb. 17 in the Holiday Inn, Twin Falls. He will be honored, along with four other livestock men, at the banquet which starts at 7:30 p. m.

After acquiring his first calf, Mr. Callen has wanted the next one to be a better one, and today, he still has this line of thought.

At the close of World War I, Mr. and Mrs. Callen entered the farming business. Their possessions were a team of horses, a wagon, a two-way plow and a debt of $10,000, which they assumed upon 60 acres of irrigated land. They forged ahead on this property until they farmed more than 400 acres, raised 600 hogs and fed 120 head of cattle.

"An article in a 1939 Idaho Farmer issue, it states, 'About the only cash crop to have been sold from the irrigated Callen farm has been meat. Hogs and cattle are the 'crops' around which all activity centers.'"

The crops were fed to the livestock which will be cared for pastures abounded on the rock land bordering the Snake River Canyon.

One of the features of livestock raising that always interested Mr. Callen was the improving of the herds by cross-breeding. When he was raising hogs, he followed the practice of developing a compact, muscular hog that gained weight rapidly.

Early in his career he built up a herd of registered Short-horns, at that time the all-purpose cattle, but finally decided he was more interested in beef cattle.

Down through the years, Mr. Callen has practiced conservation and one phase of this was the planting of woodlots on the farm. "I started planting black locust trees back in 1926," Mr. Callen said.

The trees furnished shade and windbreak and since that time the benefit of the windbreak has increased. Improved pasture yields and cash savings for fence posts and gates have shown ample return for the original investment.

Other results of these woodlots may be seen when you drive along Highway 33 toward Nevada. The fence posts now fencing the Point Ranch where the Callens now reside came from the same woodlots planted southwest of Jerome.

In 1939 he started building up a registered Hereford herd. About 1938 he and Virgil Lickley and Seth Bertholdt organized the first bull sale in Idaho. They have retained the need for a market for the cattle being raised in Idaho. Now these sales are sponsored by the various cattlemen's associations.

He also was one of the original group who started the Twin Falls Cattlemen's Association, now known as the Magic Valley Cattlemen's Association, and is presently a director of that group.

At one time Mr. Callen had planned to sell the Little Smokey and trailed his livestock twice a year from these Forest Service pastures.

In 1943 he sold the first prize fat steer Hereford bull at Pocatello, and since then has been trying to improve the livestock breed.

In 1946 he leased out the old home place and moved to Twin Falls. He entered another phase of the livestock industry with an active interest in the Twin Falls Commission Co. where he was the marketer until work, he has decided to eliminate dehorning. At the present time, he is developing a Polled Hereford herd. In 1960 he purchased three young Polled Hereford bulls from Nebraska and at the present time has one of the largest commercial Polled Hereford cow herds in Southern Idaho.

Tom Callen has concluded that the features that sold beef to the housewife 20 years ago will not sell it now, and he has sent 10 of his better steers to the University of Idaho for performance testing with their Beef Improvement Program. These steers will be taken through a period of fattening, slaughtering and grading.

If these steers prove their worth, he said, he will continue with their line of breeding. If not, he intends to try another line.

Tom has always taken an active interest in the Cattlemen's Associations which supported the 4-H program and has judged many cattle sales. He also is an adviser to the Idaho Junior Livestock Association and the 4-H project of 87, is living up to his belief that you can't stand still. "You either go forward or you slide backward."

He has always been a land developer and he drilled the first deep well on the North Side of the Snake River to irrigate an extension of the intricate system of pipelines now there are about 51 miles of pipe.

Laying this much pipe has involved a lot of engineering and ingenuity, considering the fact that when it was started it was a relatively new idea.

The Callens lived through the range fire a few years ago when 7,000 acres of range burned and the fire threatened their home and haystacks.

In his desire to improve his cattle and cut out some of the

Farmers Don't Sell, Just Offer Produce For Sale

HAGERMAN — "Farming is the only industry that has nothing to say for the price of its product," stated Fritz Collet, assistant manager of the Oregon-Washington Vegetable and Fruit Growers Association at the Tuttle Grange hall to a group of area farmers from Gooding and Elmore counties.

"Farmers don't sell their produce, they offer it for sale and then someone buys it at the buyer's price," he added.

Mr. Collet was the guest speaker and organizational director of the newly organized Magic Valley Vegetable Growers Association. The meeting at the Tuttle Grange hall was to acquaint farmers in this area with the association and to establish its purpose. Other meetings have been held in Burley, Murtaugh and Buhl.

Merle Wolverton, Murtaugh, president of the association, explained that the organization is a legally incorporated non-profit association created as a bargaining association to help establish prices for commodities raised by the farmers.

Mr. Wolverton explained that the association is comprised of six districts with seven directors. Present officers and directors besides Mr. Wolverton are Gary Nebeker, Murtaugh, vice president; Dee R. Bingham, Burley, secretary; treasurer Grant Richins and Dean Simmons, both Burley; and Glen Briggs and Earl Watts, both Murtaugh.

Social Security Question Box

If you have any questions about your social security, address them to Jim Davis, Box 1238, Twin Falls, Idaho 83301.

Q. My husband and I, both 25, work under social security. We have three young children. I understand that if my husband should die, the children could get social security benefits. If I should die, would the children receive anything?

A. Yes. If you have worked under social security for 15 years or more your children could receive monthly benefits on your record. While you are young, not many quarters are required. As you become older, it would be necessary for you to have more work under social security in order for your children to receive benefits on your account.

Q. I have been working part-time for the past three years while receiving social security benefits. Is it possible that my earnings from this job will increase my benefits? How do I apply for the increase?

A. Your additional earnings may increase your benefit if they are higher than the average earnings on which your present benefits are based. You do not have to apply for the increase. The records of all beneficiaries who have had additional earnings are reviewed every year. If an increase is due, you will receive it automatically.

"The end result is the true value of fertilizer."

This statement was made to about 200 members of the Southern Idaho Plant Food Association this week by Dr. George Hawkes, agricultural technical services, Chevron Chemical, Berkeley, Calif., during the association's annual meeting in Twin Falls.

Dr. Hawkes said a pound of fertilizer used properly is more valuable than a pound of fertilizer not used properly. He also explained the fertilizer's "Bill of Rights" — the right kind, right amount, right time and the right place.

Soil nutrients in Southern Idaho seemed to be the theme of the annual meeting of the plant food group.

Dr. Preston Jones, University of Idaho extension service, discussed soil test results in Magic Valley and correlation procedures in the future. He said that 12 field experiments were conducted — two of them were in the Twin Falls area — to check the yield response of potatoes to nitrogen, phosphorus and in some cases, potassium fertilizer.

Dr. Jones said most of the experiments showed a yield increase when nitrogen was applied. About one-half showed a trend toward higher yields with phosphorus and a lesser number responded to potassium.

Soil testing trends in Idaho were outlined by Dr. Frank Paris, soil testing laboratory, University of Idaho. Dr. Paris said in Idaho there has been a tremendous increase in the use of soil testing as a scientific fertilizer guide.

Dr. Jim Davis, University of Idaho experiment station at Aberdeen, discussed yellowing of potato leaf discoloration in 1968. He said that after the heavy rain in August, there was a widespread yellowing disease. He said the economic importance of this unknown disease remains questionable and that the cause is still unknown.

Beet yellowing disease on sugar beets was described by Dr. B. J. Landis, ARS, Entomology Research division, Yakima, Wash.

Dr. Landis said although yellowing disease has been present in Idaho since 1937, it was only abundant enough to cause concern to the sugar beet industry in 1967 and 1968.

He said each outbreak was followed by a relatively mild winter during which more than the usual number of the summer form of the green peach aphid and potential overwintering host plants of yellowing were survived. Whether yellowing will appear abundantly on sugar beets today are leaving the farms for better paying jobs.

The timing of foliar zinc applications to beans was explained by John Brown, ARS, Snake River Conservation Research Center, Kimberly. Mr. Brown told of the experiments at Kimberly of foliar applications.

Other speakers during the one-day meeting of the plant food group were Dr. Jay Smith, Snake River Conservation Research Center, on programmed irrigation on farms, and Dr. Dave Carter, Kimberly, nutrient quality of Snake River water.

Tissue testing on sugar beets was explained by Gene Worth, Collier Carbon and Chemical Corp.

Chairman of the annual meeting was Coley Parish, Farm Service, Inc., Kimberly.

ASCS Farm Program Signup Set

Farm program notices listing individual farm allotments, base acreages, yields, and payment rates under the 1968 wheat and feed grain programs are being mailed to producers in Twin Falls County according to Carl Boyd, chairman, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

This information will enable farmers to decide whether they want to take part in the programs and to plan the extent of their participation. Program benefits include price-support loans and payments and diversion payments.

If a producer believes that commodity yields, base acreage, rate, or the conserving base shown on the notice for his farm is incorrect, he may ask the county committee to reconsider the matter. Requests for reconsideration should be made in writing and mailed or delivered to the county committee within 15 days from the mailing date shown on the notice.

To take part in the programs, the farm operator first files his intentions on an application form at the ASCS county office during the signup period. Signup begins from Feb. 3 and extends through March 21, 1969.

OL' LADY LUCK PLAYS A HAND

All top scores aren't earned in duplicate play. Sometimes they are the result of pure unadulterated luck.

Some five-card major bidders would approve of the heart opening bid by Jake Winkman's pupil but it meets with our full approval. We see no reason to Author von Elmsner his Winkman suggest a double. West can't tell that his partner has bid with no high card points at all. He also points out that a double would lead to a five-heart call by Winkman sitting East and West, but even von East and West buying the contract there.

However, the pupil passed. He opened the king of clubs and continued with the ace of hearts. Then he studied dummy awhile and led a low diamond. Declarer finessed but Winkman ruffed to hold South to his contract.

It turned out to be an absolute top score for our hero of Somehow or other North became declarer at four or five spades at every other table. East would open a heart. West would take one heart, then a club; then try to cash either a second heart or club, whereupon North would wind up making five spades.

Winkman didn't bother to point out that if East and West had stepped into six hearts they would have made it easily. It didn't matter. No one did make that bid.

CARD SENSE

The bidding has been: West North East South
Pass 1♥ Pass 1♠
Pass 4♥ Pass 2 N.T.
You, South, hold:

What do you do next?
A—Pass. You have your previous bids plus a couple of 10s but—these 10s—won't make a slam appear like six hearts. Your partner is willing to settle for game.

TODAY'S QUESTION
Instead of bidding four hearts your partner jumped to four no-trump over your two no-trump. What do you do now?

complicate our bidding by opening this sort of hand with a minor suit.

We don't approve of North's double. A simple overall is better with this type of powerful two-suit hand. You-p-a-r-t-e-n-e-r won't know how strong you are but it won't matter. Somehow or other you always get a second-chance-to-bid-and-can-take strong action then.

Anyway, North doubled. Winkman jumped to four hearts. He didn't hold any high cards but he wanted to do his best to shift South out.

He didn't succeed. South managed to find a four-spade bid and it was up to West to take some action with his good hand.

Congress Ponders Tax-Law Reform

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congressional taxwriters have laid the groundwork for what could be the first major overhaul of income tax laws in 15 years. The results might close loopholes for millionaires, lighten the tax load for average Americans—and perhaps head off extension of the 10 per cent surcharge.

Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D. Ark., said the House Ways and Means Committee will launch tax reform hearings Feb. 18 by investigating possible abuses in the 30,262 tax-free foundations. President Nixon has not yet submitted a tax reform package. In the last Congress, the Ways and Means Committee asked President Lyndon B. Johnson to submit tax reform proposals by Dec. 31, 1968. Johnson did not submit legislation, but turned over Treasury Department suggestions to Nixon. Mills said he did not expect all-encompassing tax reform until possibly 1970.

Numerous congressmen said closing tax loopholes could bring enough revenue to prevent an extension of the surtax when that measure expires June 30. The surtax is designed to bring into the Treasury $1 billion in its first year.

Rep. John W. Byrnes, Wis., senior Republican, on the tax-writing committee, in a speech prepared for the New York State Bar Association's Tax Section, said reform legislation should be passed by this Congress.

"A review and reform of the tax code is essential," Byrnes said. He suggested Congress should simplify tax forms and eliminate abuses whereby 155 persons earning more than $200,000 paid no taxes last year.

Discussing this group, including 21 people who earned over $1 million, Byrnes said. No matter, by what device, no matter how laudable the nature of the deduction or exclusion that produces this result, the fact remains that there is no justification for these individuals being non-taxpayers.

Mills said the committee also will consider changes that would help middle income taxpayers. For example, the panel will go into the possibility of raising the standard 1 per cent deduction, for the 57 per cent of all Americans who do not itemize their charitable, medical and other tax-exempt payments.

Viet Tragedy Redeemed

Yule Joy Waits For Orphan

By DAVID LAMB
DA NANG, Vietnam (UPI)—Like scores of war orphans, Mai Ly roamed the streets of Hue for many months. Her father, a soldier, had been killed during the Tet offensive. Her mother had disappeared.

At age 7, Mai already was a veteran in the ways of hardship. She could beg for food, sleep in the rain without crying and accept tomorrow as the unpleasant outgrowth of today.

"But she was different than the other kids who used to crowd around my truck when I drove into Hue," Marine Lance Col. Jerry Bollman said. "They were loud and forward; she was quiet and reserved."

Each time Bollman, 19, entered the ancient imperial city, Mai was walking the same street in her tattered clothes.

By May, he was visiting her regularly and in June enrolled her in a Catholic orphanage. In July, he asked his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Bollman of Dallas to adopt Mai and Congressman James Collins of Dallas began working out the details.

By September, when the arrangements were nearly complete, Bollman received orders transferring him to Okinawa. He left, telling Mai she would soon be on the way to Dallas.

But Mai, failing to understand such things as military transfers, left the orphanage in care of a sister who gave a nonexistent address and could not be found when Bollman's friends went to pick her up.

The Bollmans in Dallas were heartbroken. The plane ticket from Saigon to Dallas had been purchased for Mai and presents waited for her under the Bollman Christmas tree.

Bollman, in Okinawa, requested a leave and returned to Vietnam two days before Christmas. "I talked to some of Mai's friends in Hue," Bollman said. "They said she had designed a ruse to get out of the orphanage because she was lonely. She was hiding, scared that my buddies would make her return."

It was Christmas Eve when the young Marine found Mai again. He had returned to the banks of the Perfume River where he had met her many times in the past. Suddenly, from a crowded street, Mai appeared and ran into his arms.

"It was the greatest Christmas of my life," Bollman said. The two left Vietnam for Okinawa on a military plane last Thursday.

In Dallas, the Christmas tree is still up, dressed with strings of lights and tinsel in the large rambling house.
