By United Press International

Israeli and Jordanian troops fought a series of artillery and machine-gun duels along the cease-fire line today and a Jordanian military spokesman in Amman reported three Israeli jet attacks Monday night and today.

The Jordanian spokesman said six Israeli jet fighters flew over the Jordanian border and Wadi Yarm today just north of the Gulf of Aqaba in one of the attacks. He said Jordanian

Increased Hunt Fees Endorsed

BOISE (UPI)—The House approved 46-21 Monday legislation to increase the non-resident deer hunting fee to $50 from $25 despite efforts by Rep. John Palmer, R-Boise, to block it.

Reardon, later joined in his objections by Rep. Ralph Litton, D-St. Anthony, denounced the fee as a "tax on the poor" and said he did when the bill came up once before and was moved to general orders for amendment.

After the vote was reported to the House, Rep. D. Lee Rives, D-Idaho, moved to amend the passage of the bill. This keeps the proposal at the desk for possible debate again Tuesday.

Floor Sponsor Emory Hedlund, D-St. Maries, took note of earlier debates on the bill. Palmer, R-Malden, co-chairman of the committee of the whole where it was considered for amendment.

"It's a good bill and I ask you HUNTER FEES, Pg. 2, C. 1."

Murphy Urges Surplus Spent For Schools

BOISE (UPI)—Idaho Gov. Jack M. Murphy proposed Monday that the legislature spend more than $7.5 million in surplus monies to reimburse the endowment funds for lands put into state parks.

Murphy said his proposal in a letter to Sen. Richard High, R-Twin Falls, and Rep. James Palmer, R-Malden, co-chairman of the Joint Finance-Appropriations Committee.

He sent copies to Gov. Don Samuelson and other members of the state land board and to House Speaker William Lanting, R-Holliester, and Senate President Pro Tem James Edwards, R-Leadsere.

Murphy said that his preliminary proposals would indicate that a conservative enough estimate of the endowment lands put into the park system would exceed $7.5 million.

He said that "cautious examination" of the constitution and laws of the state indicates the land board must act as trustee. See MURPHY, Page 2, C. 1.

Reconsideration Hinted

County Salary Bill Doomed In House

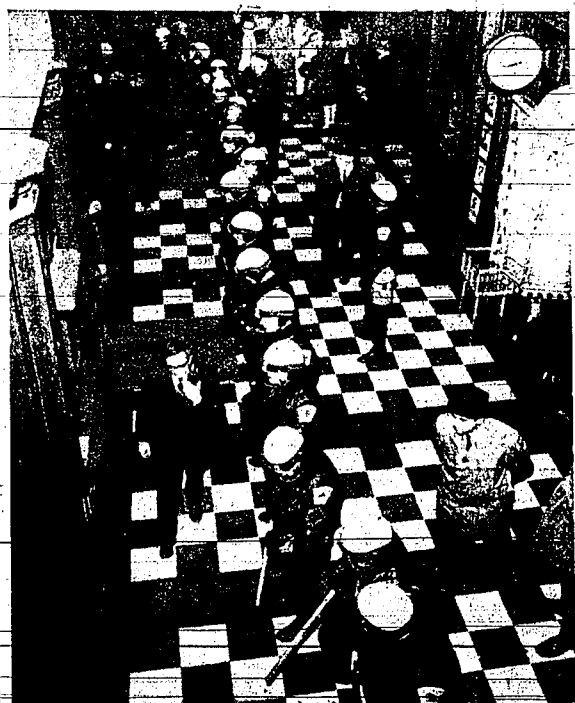

By RICHARD CHARNOCK

BOISE (UPI)—The House killed 33-35 after heated debate Monday a bill that would require county commissioners to act on their own salaries and those of their prosecuting attorneys.

Rep. Melvin Hammond, D-Redburg, served notice of possible reconsideration of the measure on Tuesday. A move that would bring the proposal back to life in the House developed.

An urging the House to approve his bill, Rep. Elmer Merrill, D-Idaho River, pointed out that legislators no longer represent "districts" and therefore are not an "close-in multi-county district" needs of individual counties.

First to oppose the legislation was Rep. Angus Canale, R-Prentiss.

CARRYING RIOT BATONS, police in East Lansing, Mich., stand elbow-to-elbow in the main lobby of the Michigan State University auditorium on Monday to prevent an unruly crowd of 250 demonstrators from storming the building. Southern Idaho Senators Dispute Education Report

By PAUL M. QUINN

BOISE (UPI)—Five Senators from Southern Idaho issued a minority report today disagreeing with Senate Education Committee support of the State Board of Education for funding higher education in Idaho.

Six members of the committee said a week ago that they supported the position and recommendations of the state board.

"The action was premature," Sen. Joe Preston, R-Boise, said. "The report (of the majority) indicated a very definite weighting in favor of the University of Idaho and creates a problem which will only compound itself in years to come."

The Board of Education recommended an appropriation of $23,880,895 for the University of Idaho, $15,225,494 for Idaho State University, $1,258,365 for Boise State College and $1,288,512 for Lewis-Clark Northern State University.

Gov. Don Samuelson, in his executive budget, trimmed $5.5 million from the requests, leaving only the recommendations of the board.

In the House, meanwhile, the Health and Welfare Committee introduced a comprehensive bill calling for water pollution control by the State Health Board.

A companion bill would appropriate $1.2 million for sewage treatment works construction. The State Affairs Committee introduced a thick bill reviewing the election laws—a measure expected to receive study only at the first session of the 40th Legislature with an eye toward enactment of the second session.

Members of the Judiciary Committee reported to the floor with favorable approval a bill requiring prisoners to be tried in 90 days. This is designed to prevent prosecutors from filing "hold" on prisoners when they have no intention of prosecuting them.

Hijacked

CARACAS (UPI)—A Venezuelan government-owned jetliner carrying 72 persons, among them two U.S. labor union executives and three Venezuelan military officers, was hijacked to Cuba today despite strict security measures imposed before takeoff from Maracaibo.

Maracaibo airport announced the DC-8 first Venezuelan aircraft hijacked this year and the third since March 1968, landed at Santiago de Cuba at 8:45 a.m. EST instead of its destination of Maqueta.

On board were two officials of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co. Director T. M. Harrington and Treasurer Paul Weithorn, according to a bulletin issued by the U.S. State Department.

Another measure winning approval of the House Judiciary Committee would change attempted extortion to a felony from a misdemeanor and set maximum penalties of 10 years in prison, a $3,000 fine or both.

Chairman Allan F. Larsen, R-Blackfoot, of the House Revenue and Taxation Committee, said state income withholding tax collections for January and the first seven days of February were one-half of one percent below the committee estimate.

"I didn't get any explanation from the tax commission as to why that is," Larsen said, but noted that failure of the state to pay the tax commission.

The tentative budget of $3,915,370 was accepted in January. Idaho law requests commissioners approve the final budget on the second Monday in February.

Although the 1969 budget reflects a total increase of $348,605 over the 1968 budget, the increase to taxpayers amounts to a little more than $3,000, according to Harold Lancaster, county clerk.

Approximately 10 percent of the total goes to the state and the rest is coming from the state and the individual departments.

Mr. Bruce said in the future it should enable the region to have trained consultants for adult and children services. He said this would be extremely beneficial.

The regional library will also benefit the outlying libraries in that they will be able to pool books orders and get better discounts on the orders.

Mr. Bruce said there are several other areas considering joining the regional system within the year.

Volunteer Dies In Viet Accident

SPOKANE, Wash. (UPI)—Cpl. Stephen Nipp, 20, who volunteered for an additional six-month tour in Vietnam, was killed by friendly artillery fire Feb. 8, Marine officials here learned Monday.

The officials said Nipp son of Mrs. Frederick Nipp, Post Falls, Idaho, died of fragmentation wounds to the head when the patrol he was with was hit by friendly artillery fire.

Nipp attended grade school at Post Falls High School, first went to Vietnam in 1967 and volunteered for a second six-month tour from which he was scheduled to return in May. He had been home in November on a 30 day leave prior to his return to the combat zone.

Snow-Clogged East Fights For Survival As Death Toll Rises

NEW YORK (UPI)—Millions of commuters struggled to find a way to work today and thousands of passengers remained stranded or delayed at airports, railway stations and bus depots in the aftermath of the worst storm to hit the Northeast in eight years.

One transportation official said the best way to describe the travel situation was "sporeadic."

Kennedy, LaGuardia and Newark airports which combined handle an average of nearly 1 million passengers a day in the New York metropolitan area were either operating on a limited basis or still digging out. Kennedy's facilities reported one runway was open for departing flights only, Newark one one runway open for both incoming and outgoing flights and LaGuardia made promise no more than partial service by nightfall.

At least 82 people died in storm-connected deaths—60 in New England, 20 in New York and 2 in Pennsylvania. Police today identified three persons found dead Monday in a car stalled near a Kennedy airport parking lot. They had apparent traces of carbon monoxide poisoning.

Thousands of passengers in terminals were still stranded waiting for airports to resume normal operations. Railroad tracks to be cleared and highways to be plowed so buses could roll.

The 400-mile New York Thruway was closed at its southern end between New York City and Suffern, N.Y. to speed the work of snow removal. The closing also applied to a road linking the thruway in New York with the Connecticut Turnpike in Greenwich, Conn., and another short road linked the thruway with the Berkshires. The New York and American Stock exchanges closed Monday, opened at a loss today one hour later than usual.

Stranded cars still blocked major highways and many school and some colleges in suburban or rural areas remained closed today, although most big city schools were open.

Most businesses in New York opened today and New York City, reported as high as 70 percent at the firms which did open Monday, was reported not nearly as high today.

Commuter rail lines were crippled by the storm, and many subway lines were unoperable in New York. Most rail lines reported near normal service, although some lines could promise only periodic service.

New Budget For County Is Finalized

Twin Falls County Commissioners finalized the 1969 county budget in their Monday session at the courthouse.

The tentative budget of $3,915,370 was accepted in January. Idaho law requests commissioners approve the final budget on the second Monday in February.

Emergency Room Here Has Busy Day

It was a busy day for Twin Falls County ambulance drivers and for the emergency room at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital.

Magic Valley Ambulance Service, operated by Cloyd Edwards, dispatched two ambulances simultaneously while en route to the trauma team.

Mr. Edwards said his ambulances were sent to pick up two hour attack victims, one at Kimberly and one in Twin Falls. The Bull ambulance was summoned when Elmo Bohling broke his hip.

All three ambulances arrived at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital at the same time.

Mrs. Bohling was listed in fair condition. Bill Mingo, 216, of Star Twin Falls was listed in poor condition, and no condition report was available for Edith Gletzer who suffered a heart attack while working at Henry's Produce, Kimberly.

TRIGGERING AN AVALANCHE with a 75 mm recoilless rifle on Mt. Baldy are members of the Sawtooth National Forest Service. Sometimes the National Guard is called in to utilize their 105 mm rifle and if conditions are very bad, both rifles are used. By using these recoilless rifles the Forest Service can determine the safety of the area for skiers and snowmobilers.

Avalanche Danger In Sawtooth Areas Is Causing Concern To Forest Service

With the extra amounts of snow this winter, avalanches are causing concern for personnel of the Sawtooth National Forest Service.

The greatest danger of avalanches is in the Ketchum-Warm Springs area, where one warm has already been demolished by an avalanche.

There are a number of kinds of avalanches, according to John Combs, Ketchum ranger. He said the type of avalanche that hit the Beck Bar base home at Warm Springs was an immediate action-slab-avalanche. This snow slide came with heavy new snowfall.

Delayed action avalanches are often caused by a temperature change. One layer of snow which is not compatible with another, will melt and cause a slide.

Mr. Combs said the avalanche danger is always acute in the winter, but the large amount of snow makes them more dangerous than usual. He said, however, most of the summer homes and cabins in the area are in good positions and out of avalanche danger.

One of the main concerns of the forest service is the safety of skiers on Bald Mountain. During the winter Mr. Combs

Hunting Measure Voted By Senate

BOISE (UPI)—The Idaho Senate passed without debate Monday a bill closing portions of Idaho and Valley Counties to cougar hunting for the purpose of a research program.

The bill cleared the upper chamber 27-6.

Debate had been expected on the measure since ranchers and stockmen have protested such a change claiming the predatory nature of the cougar would create a hazard to livestock.

Portions of the two counties involved are within the drainage of Big Creek, a tributary of the middle fork of the Salmon River. Hunting cougar would be closed in that area until July 1, 1972.

Sen. James Stinchiff, D-Sandpoint, was the only legislator to speak on the bill. He said the study will not cost the state "one thin dime" and said such a research program would be beneficial to future big game hunting.

The cougars would be protected strictly in the primitive area outlined. Stinchiff said, "Where they are found outside the area they are fair game for sportsmen and ranchers."

There would be an estimated 36 animals in the projected area.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, announced Monday the Corps of Engineers will issue invitations to bid Feb. 24 for construction of two three-story dormitories at Mountain Home Air Force Base.

The total cost for the dormitories—related plumbing, electrical, air conditioning and other work—is estimated to be between $500,000 and $1 million. Bids will be opened March 26.

Utah Legislators Kill Bill To Cancel 'Daylight' Time

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI)—Utah will observe daylight saving time for at least two more summers.

That's the verdict of the State Senate which killed a bill Monday designed to exempt Utah from the provisions of the Uniform Time Act of 1966.

The federal time act requires all states to move the clock ahead one hour during the six-month period from the last Sunday in April to the last Sunday in October.

In what appeared to be a battle between mothers and fathers on one side and mothers and fathers on the other, the Senate killed the measure on a tight 12-12 vote with two senators absent.

"If we could suspend the rules, the wives of the legislators would pass this bill," said chief sponsor Sen. Miles (Rep) Perry, R-Corlaine.

Ferry said mothers favor exemption from DST because they can't get the kids to go to bed early.

He also said farmers oppose DST because "it is impossible to harvest certain crops before the sun comes up, and the farmer's schedule is thrown out of kilter when the clock is moved forward an hour."

In the House, deft lobbyist and behind-the-scenes persuasion techniques were employed as the lower chamber approved a measure to consolidate Summit County's three school districts.

After it appeared the measure had met an early death during the morning session, House members passed H.R. 20 on a 30-27 vote following the lunch recess.

Tribunal Backs Ruling Of Court

BOISE (UPI)—The Idaho Supreme Court Monday unanimously affirmed an Ada County District Court decision relating to those able to recover under workers' compensation laws.

The court stressed in its opinion that one of the main purposes of the workers' compensation law was to vest jurisdiction over industrial accidents in the industrial accident board.

Charles and Ethel Stample's son, Edward, was killed in a 1965 accident while working for Idaho Power Co. The parents first sought recovery for his death under the provisions of the workers' compensation laws. The industrial accident board declined to make an award to the Stamples because they were not in any way financially dependent on their son, as required by law.

The Stamples then tried to recover for the wrongful death of their son based on negligence. The District Court, however, held that where workers' compensation laws apply they create the unique means of recovery.

Senator Reports 'Treasury Raid'

BOISE (UPI)—Sen. Mary Bromley, R-Idaho, reported today that the existence of a $21 million surplus had led to a "real raid on the state treasury."

Sen. Bromley, who is Republican caucus chairman, noted that requests for salary increases from 15 to 22 per cent have been made and added "if this pattern is set, our budget for the next legislature will be large and we will certainly have to have a tax increase."

She said "many of the requests for increases in our state department are too high for salaries while we have hundreds on the state payroll who are making so little that they are eligible for public assistance."

Idaho ranks sixth highest in the nation for per capita income, she said, and added "I hope the Joint Finance Committee will use a real sharp pencil in making out their recommendations to the legislature or we're going to be in real trouble in this state."

Thief Plagues 'Junior Miss'

SALMON, Idaho (UPI)—A local automobile firm loaned Lemhi County's "Junior Miss" a bright shiny red 1969 model automobile for her personal use for a week.

Iola Anglin, Tendoy, parked the auto in front of her home and the next morning discovered it was gone and had been stolen from the vehicle.

A complaint has been filed charging Steve Owens, Lendore, with the theft of the two-tire.

Sen. Cranston To Act As Peacemaker In California Democrat Elections

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—U.S. Sen. Alan Cranston Monday cast himself in the role of "a peacemaker" in rebuilding the California Democratic party for the 1970 gubernatorial and legislative election campaigns.

News Of Servicemen

Airman Thomas L. Chandler, son of Mrs. Clyde L. Smith, Filer, has completed basic training at Lackland Air Force Base, Tex. He is remaining at Lackland for training as a security policeman. Chandler is a 1963 graduate of Filer High School. His father, Thomas L. Chandler resides in Costa Mesa, Calif.

Capt. Pares K. Curtis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Pares L. Curtis, Centerville, Utah, has been recognized for helping his unit earn the U. S. Air Force Outstanding Unit Award.

Capt. Curtis, a missile launch officer in the 351st Strategic Missile Wing at Whiteman Air Force Base, Mo., will wear the distinctive service ribbon as a permanent decoration.

His wing was cited for its exceptionally meritorious service from July 1967 to June 1968 in establishing new records of performance and mission effectiveness.

The captain is a graduate of Burley High School and the University of Idaho. He was commissioned upon completion of Officer Training School at Lackland Air Force Base, Tex.

His wife, Wilia, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Hunter, Rupert.

Airman I. C. Michael N. Schroeder, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Schroeder, Buhl, is a cadet at Hill Air Force Base, Utah.

Airman Schroeder is an aircraft mechanic in a unit of the Pacific Air Force. Before arriving in Vietnam, he was assigned at Hill Air Force Base, Utah.

The airman, a 1965 graduate of Buhl High School, attended Boise State College.

"I don't want to seek to be the leader of the Democratic party in California," the first-term Democrat said in a news conference in response to a question.

"I will seek to be a peacemaker and will work with those seeking to lead it," Cranston said.

Cranston defeated Republican Max Rafferty last November for the Senate seat of the state. Republican Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel who lost in the primary.

Both Assembly Democratic Leader Jess M. Unruh, and San Francisco Mayor Joseph Alioto have been frequently mentioned as potential Democratic candidates for governor in next year's campaign.

Cranston told reporters that he would not "involve" himself in supporting a candidate in the primaries either for governor or for the U. S. Senate seat of Republican George Murphy whose term will expire. Murphy has said he will seek re-election.

But Cranston turned aside newsmen's questions about how deeply he would support the Democratic candidate for Murphy's post. Unruh also has expressed interest in that seat.

He said he was attempting to work on a nonpartisan basis with Murphy on issues such as California's water and "I don't want to disturb any efforts to support the Republican candidate against the Democratic candidate."

Cranston also said he had "very grave question marks about the wisdom" of the anti-ballistic missile (ABM) program and locating missile sites in heavily populated areas, such as Bell and Compton.

He told reporters he had not formed an opinion on whether to work over a nonpartisan basis. He said he would support the system should be abandoned or continued but that it should be studied thoroughly.

Cranston will visit Bell and Compton Tuesday where a position is being expressed to bar channel. "If it is found there cannot be total confidence that such government should adopt the a thing will occur under state's tighter offshore oil-drill-tighter regulations, then I think regulations in an attempt to no more drilling to prevent disastrous leaks such permitted until science and tech as occurred in the Santa Barbara policy has provided these."

Mayor Having Tough Time Taking Over Michigan City

NILES, Mich. (UPI)—Frank France, elected mayor of this small Michigan city by a seven-vote margin.

But the small print in an old case law is keeping him out of the mayor's office.

He didn't get a badge or a gun when he was elected, but the state says he's a law-enforcement officer and can't last in his old line of work—running Frank's Restaurant and Bar.

It took France 20 years to build up the business until it is now one of the best known of its kind in Western Michigan. He doesn't want to give up the job, and he still wants to be mayor. But two Michigan laws say he can't handle both.

The fine print in the fourth class liquor act says "no one is an enforcement officer in the law enforcement office."

Students Stress 'Power Of Youth' In Advocating 18-Year-Old Vote

By PAUL M. QUINN
BOISE (UPI)—A Boise State College student told a State Affairs Committee hearing Monday night that the "power of the youth of America holds today" is a primary reason for lowering the voting age to 18 in Idaho.

Ted Gibson, a 20-year-old from Meridian, testified at a public hearing on two House joint resolutions that would call for a constitutional amendment to lower the voting age—one of the other to 18.

"The champions of the late Sen. Robert Kennedy and Sen. Eugene McCarthy for the presidency were aimed at the youth of America," Gibson said.

"Youth can set a trend for the nation to follow and it is only logical that they should be given a voice in the voting."

Gibson was among 11 persons who offered official testimony to the State Affairs Committee of the House. Members of the Senate State Affairs Committee also attended.

Another student, David Morrissey of Borah High School, speaking for four Boise area high schools, said student polls showed an overwhelming majority of the high school students were in favor of lowering the voting age to 18.

"There is a higher degree of education in high school now," Morrissey said.

Miss Faye Burgess, a Boise High School student, said medical advancements today are prolonging life and "a larger number of older people are continuing to control our lives—we need more young people to balance this out."

There were more than 75 persons in attendance at the hearing—many of them teenagers.

The majority of those who testified, including Idaho Education Association executive secretary Wayne York, appeared to favor the resolution lowering the age to 18.

York said, "This has been the number one project of our IEA groups in the state—lowering the voting age to 18."

He said it was a "mistake" on record as officially endorsing the proposal.

Donald E. Krahan, Boise, another BSC student, said, "The younger people should be able to vote since the payment of debts being incurred now will fall on the youth of today to pay."

Molly Gordon, a sophomore at Bishop Kelly High School, traced the history of the voting age through the past and said, "Many adults (today) are not able to cope with the present problems. Youth is very well-prepared to handle the problems."

Rep. Lester A. Hartvigsen, D-Malden, said that an "official" survey he had conducted at institutions of higher learning in the state indicated that college level students favor the 18-year-old limit rather than the 18-year-old.

He said that student interviews at the University of Idaho showed only 48 per cent favoring the 18-year-old voting age, but 61 per cent favoring 18 over the rest at higher ages.

He said a similar survey at the College of Idaho showed 44 per cent in favor of 18-year-old voting and 8 per cent lowering the age to 18. At Ricks College of Rexburg only 21 per cent favored lowering the age to 18 and six per cent to 19 and Hartvigsen, who said he felt a teenager does not develop until away from home, said he agreed the age should be 19 rather than 18.

Another witness, Ned Hopkins, Boise, representing the National Education Association (NEA), said that "young Americans" between 18 and 26, "have a different philosophy."

"The youth of America is working from without—the system and should have a voice from within," the BSC student said.

In answer to a question from one of the committee members, Gibson said it appeared that older persons were "less adaptable" to the philosophies of those raised after the second world war and brought up with the birth of the atomic age.

Rep. Pat McDermott, D-Pocatello, testified as to results of a survey conducted by the Idaho State University guidance center.

She said the ISU study indicated that the age of 21 now set for voting in Idaho was "arbitrary."

One of the final persons to testify before the committee was Sen. Cecil Sandberg, D-Blackfoot.

'Liberalized' Law On Liquor Doubted

BOISE (UPI)—Legislation liberalizing the state liquor laws appeared Monday to be on shaky grounds as far as the 40th session of the Idaho Legislature is concerned, according to several informed legislators.

One senator, who asked not to be identified by name, said it was doubtful if many "liberalized" measures would ever come up for debate. He also said there were strong indications that such measures, even if passed, would not get by the veto power of Gov. Don Samuelson.

The speculation came after the Senate Judiciary and Rules Committee declined to act on a "prohibition bill" that would outlaw the sale of transportation of all alcoholic beverages in the state.

The measure would give all present liquor law legislation from the books.

The committee action in-holding" the prohibition measure for all intent and purposes has the effect of eliminating the proposal.

One committee member said, "The prohibition bill is actually dead—unless someone uses it as a wedge, for or against some other liquor law legislation."

Sen. Robert Rowlett, R-Mountain Home, said the bill would still be before the committee but indicated he doubted if it would ever come to the senate floor.

The measure was introduced last Wednesday by Judiciary and Rules after a senator asked the committee to put it in. Rowlett said at the time he wasn't sure which senator asked the "prohibition bill" that would outlaw the sale of transportation of all alcoholic beverages in the state.

Only two other liquor bills are in the Senate, one that would change the period of time needed on applications for a catering license and another that would permit the sale of

Heavy Work Load May Force Session Into Extra Days

BOISE (UPI)—The 40th session of the Idaho Legislature was at the halfway mark today—with just 36 scheduled legislative days remaining but a lot of speculation available that the lawmakers will have to go longer.

The state's 105 lawmakers today were mulling a late proposal made Monday by Lt. Gov. Jack Murphy that the legislature spend more than $7.5 million in surplus monies to reimburse the endowment funds for lands put into state parks.

Murphy made his proposal in a letter to Sen. Richard Jenk, R-Twin Falls, and Rep. Jenkin Palmer, R-Malden, co-chairmen of the Joint Finance - Appropriations Committee.

In other legislative action Monday, chairman Jay Webb, court-reform package.

Some 34 bills on changing the system of lower courts were introduced in the senate last week and four financing measures for the package were brought out in the house.

On the surplus proposal, Murphy said his preliminary investigation with Land Commissioner Gordon Trombley indicated that a conservative rough estimate of the endowment lands put into the park system would exceed $7.5 million.

He said that "cursory examination" of the constitution and laws of the state indicates the land board must act as trustee of the endowment funds and is duty bound to produce reasonable revenue from the leasing or sale of them.

"These funds of course would be transmitted to the endowment funds for the support of our common schools and institutions of higher learning," Murphy said.

Gov. Don Samuelson has estimated the general fund surplus at the end of this biennium will be approximately 20.7 million. Murphy's proposal would reduce this at least to

'Big Brother' The Computer Continues To Take Over Business Responsibility

By DEAN C. MILLER
UPI Business Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — "Big Brother," the computer, continues taking over new areas of management responsibility. BB now is busy hiring company executives, according to Dale H. Lears, president of Informational Science Inc. of New York City. He says a major electronics firm last year hired 10 engineers and salesmen with information stored in the computers of a subsidiary company. The system stores information on job skills of individuals and job needs of companies. Companies query the computer for a match-up when they need a salesman, executive or the like. More than 30,000 individuals, all anxious to take their skills upward and upward, have registered with the computer bank at $18 per year. Seven thousand have found jobs so far. Corporations pay $1,250 per year for membership.

Thus the machine keeps invading man's domain at man's bidding. In the name of economy, efficiency and competition. Rapid communication is the big cry in business circles now. And everyone is needing it. Late this year Honeywell is expected to deliver a portable computer terminal linking a salesman to his home office computers through any telephone handset. The telephone, which will allow board chairmen to call instant face-to-face policy meetings from their swivel chairs, was expected to be routine in some cities by the early 1970's.

Peace Corps Exam Slated In Twin Falls

Twin Falls area residents interested in putting their skills to use in developing nations around the world are invited to take the Peace Corps Placement Test at 1:30 p.m., Feb. 16, in the Civil Service Room at the Post Office Building. The Peace Corps uses the Placement Test to determine how an applicant can best be utilized overseas. The test measures general aptitude and the ability to learn a language, not education or achievement. The test requires no preparation and is non-competitive; an applicant can neither pass nor fail.

Persons interested in serving with the Peace Corps must fill out an application, if they have not already done so, and present it to the tester before the test. Application forms are available from post offices in Washington, D.C. 20525.

Estimated Tax Forms Are Mailed

Taxpayers whose prior years' returns indicate they may be liable for filing estimated income tax returns will be mailed a pre-addressed estimated tax package for 1968. Internal Revenue Service Information Officer, John Andritz, said today.

Such mechanization makes many middle-management men obsolete. Men who once kept records, controlled inventories and made purchases either are on the shelf or playing nursemaid to electronic boxes. Their executive positions are being filled by the best from the ADP (Automatic Data Processing) departments, the real business computers.

But all just for the displaced middle management man if he has personality and sharpness. They still have not invented computers that can project company "image" with

Jobless Rate Continues At 15-Year Low

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The nation's unemployment rate remained at a 15 year low of 3.3 per cent in January, the Labor Department reported today and officials said the picture gives no indication of a cooling off in the economy.

The department's Bureau of Labor Statistics said the January jobless rate was unchanged from December, which had matched a 15 year low in employment statistics.

Despite the record matching low in the unemployment rate, the jobless rate between whites and non-whites was still 2 to 1. The jobless rate for whites in January was 3.3 per cent, that for nonwhites was 6 per cent. Both rates were unchanged from December.

Goldstein would not, however, venture any prediction as to what he thought might happen in the employment field over the next few months.

Milk Output Up

BOISE (UPI)—The U.S. Department of Agriculture today said total production of milk in Idaho was 112 million pounds during December of 1968, compared with 109 million pounds a year ago at the same time.

The output of creamery buttermilk, American cheese and ice cream was above a year ago.

Prison Ponders Student Seeking Imprisonment

HUNTSVILLE, Tex. (UPI)—Officials at the Texas Penitentiary Monday investigated the strange case of a 19-year-old Texas male who tried twice to break into the prison.

As he reached the top of a chain link fence on the second day of his ordeal, he was arrested and confined in the prison diagnostic unit.

The youth said he last remembered being in Bryan, Tex., where A&M is located. Dr. George Beto, director of the prison system, said the student was released a week after school officials were notified.

Goldwater Raps Tomato Import Ban

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A ban on the import of small tomatoes from Mexico is causing a big problem in U.S. foreign relations, Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., said recently.

Goldwater charged that the "arbitrary" ban was imposed by former Agriculture Secretary Orville L. Freeman "in the apparent whim of the tomato growers in Florida."

The order, which became effective Jan. 8, prohibits the import of Mexican vine-ripened tomatoes smaller than 2-1/32 inches in diameter.

Goldwater said the embargo, issued "suddenly and without warning," was resulting in losses of $105,000 a day at the Nogales Port of Entry. In addition, he said, it was "wreaking havoc" with U.S. relations with Mexico.

The Arizona Republican said the prohibited size represented about 25 per cent of the tomato crop of West Mexico and that tomatoes were rotting on the vines on about 8,400 acres of tomato fields.

Goldwater said the lack of a market for the tomatoes had resulted in their being used to feed cattle. "It might be interesting for American housewives who commonly pay 34 cents a pound for winter tomatoes to learn that Mexican cattle are being fattened on perfect specimens of tomatoes because of an arbitrary ruling by the Department of Agriculture."

Officials were "up in arms" about the Freeman order and Washington filed contingents in London and a few other major countries.

The big thrust comes in Amnesty's small but growing law-writing membership and the power of suggestion. Nations, like business houses, are concerned about their public image. And like corporations, the history of that image can spell a difference in dollars, from tourism and trade.

When the letters start coming in protesting a man's imprisonment and threats of demonstrations and bad publicity begin, the big thrust comes in Amnesty's small but growing law-writing membership and the power of suggestion.

'Amnesty International' Harasses Governments On Behalf Of Captives

WASHINGTON (NEA)—A Polish secretary is held for 14 months without trial and sentenced to prison for possessing anti-state papers—documents said to criticize the lack of democracy in Poland.

An African playwright questions procedures in the Nigerian Civil War and is thrown in prison for being "pro-Biafran."

A Danish journalist is held for a pleasure boat to head for Denmark, and is jailed for two years.

A former member of the Malaya Communist Party is held for four years, without being charged with any crime or given legal aid.

All shared the common despair of what they and many others termed an unjust imprisonment. All found an unexpected friend outside their prison walls.

Formed eight years ago in London, Amnesty International was the brainchild of British lawyer, Peter Benenson, who was outraged at learning that two Portuguese students had been sentenced to seven years' imprisonment for having offered a toast to freedom.

The organization has since spread to many countries, and its members have been arrested in some countries for reasons that are not entirely clear. The nearest embassy of that country is contacted, and officials are politely asked to give their side of the story.

Then as much information as possible is gathered for the prisoners' side of the story, from friends, family, and sympathetic local publications.

When a determination is made to take the case, the action starts. The embassy is contacted again and urged to free the prisoner. Subtle threats of demonstrations and bad publicity are made. If no such results are obtained, the threats are carried out.

A favorite target of demonstrations are tourist offices of the "offending" country. Tourists are notoriously sensitive about bad scenes anywhere near them. Other demonstrations may take place when a dignitary from the target country pays a visit here or anywhere near an Amnesty office. Kings and presidents also don't like to be embarrassed.

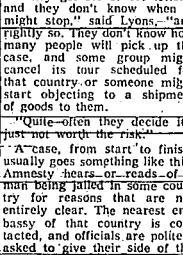

They really don't have much to lose by setting the guy free," said Lyons. "By imprisoning many state officials react like a corporation president threatened with a paternity suit."

"They get 200 or 300 letters, and they don't know when it might stop," said Lyons, "and many people will pick up the case, and some group might cancel its tour scheduled for that country or someone might start objecting to a shipment of goods to them."

Membership in Amnesty International of the U.S.A. numbers about 5,000 now. Lyons said. Members pay $10 annual dues and get a monthly newsletter that gives brief summaries of the new "cases" judged and found worthy of Amnesty's attention. The group draws no lines between East and West.

House Panel

Ponders 'CATV'

BOISE (UPI)—Chairman Jay Webb, R-Boise, Monday gave members of his House Insurance, Public Utilities and Banking Committee for study of a packet of three bills to put cable television under the Public Utilities Commission.

Webb said he received the proposals from Rep. William Onweller, R-Boise, a city councilman as well as a state legislator.

The proposals would make Community Antenna Television System (CATV) subject to rate, service and operation regulation by the PUC and their operating companies, instead of the same as other utility operating property.

Briton Disputes 'Impossible' Parking Tickets

ASHTON-UNDER-LYME, England (UPI)—Herb Lubovitch has been punished by police that he will get no more tickets for parking offenses he did not commit in places he's never visited.

Lubovitch's problems started a few months ago when he began buying dozens of tickets in the small four towns and cities all over Britain. He ignored them at first, but went to police after being threatened with a court case.

Officials at the home office checked computers and solved the mystery: Lubovitch's car has the same registration number as cars carried by one German continental Europe. The tickets were meant for a foreign visitor.

Bonnie Malone, Saunders Say Nuptial Vows

Bonnie Gayle Malone, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Webb Malone, and Craig Saunders, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Saunders, all Twin Falls, were united in marriage in rites Dec. 23 at the LDS Third Ward Chapel, Twin Falls.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Bishop Leavelle-Thornock before an altar flanked by baskets of white gladioli, pink chrysanthemums and carnations.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a Bridal Original gown of French Chantilly lace designed with a fitted bodice, a neckline, long, long sleeves and a bouffant skirt of lace tiers, which formed a cascade of tiers that fell into a chapel train. They were scattered on the ruffled edges of the tiers and outlined the neckline. A large satin bow lay at the back, with long streamers flowing over the skirt back.

Her elbow-length butterfly veil of silk illusion was held by a crown of lace petals edged with sequins and tiny seed pearls. The bride wore a gold wedding band belonging to the bridegroom's grandmother.

She carried a cascading bouquet of white roses outlined with pink carnations.

Cindy Hull, Moscow, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Judy Clark, Moscow and Marie Stinger, Murtaugh, bridesmaids were Kathy and Karen Malone, sisters of the bride.

Shanna Saunders, niece of the bridegroom, was flower girl. Rick Saunders, Filer, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Ushers were Dennis Thompson and Larry Malone, brother of the bride, both Twin Falls. Brian Dey, Jerome, was ringbearer.

Mrs. Edwin Crandall, Elko, Nev., cousin of the bride, was soloist, accompanied by Carole Stanger, Murtaugh, Mrs. Donald Parker, Twin Falls, played the traditional wedding music.

A reception was held in the LDS Cultural Center after the ceremony. The bride and bridegroom greeted the guests before an arch entwined with greenery.

Mrs. Rick Saunders presided at the guest book. Gifts were arranged by Perena Malone and Judy Aslett, cousins of the bride.

The bride's table was accented with white net ruffles and covered with a white linen applied table cloth belonging to the bride's grandmother. The table was covered with the tiered wedding cake, decorated with pink rosebuds, pink lilies and sugar bells and topped with white satin wedding bells.

The cake was cut and served by Mrs. Dick Dey, Jerome. An arrangement of white gladioli and carnations also graced the bride's table. Mrs. Dey, Jr., presided at the punch bowl.

Serving tables were covered with white lace cloths over pink and centered with rose bowls containing white while doves nestled in pink net ruffles.

Special guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Malone, Twin Falls, grandparents of the bride.

Dear Abby
By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: As Los Angeles county social workers, we were very disappointed in your remarks, as we quote: "If for one tax dollar for the welfare of women who have one illegitimate child after another for the sole purpose of picking up the welfare check. I think that a woman who bears more than one illegitimate child should be deported automatically ineligible for welfare."

Abby, in L. A. county a woman with one child (legitimate or otherwise) receives aid in the amount of $125 a month. A second child increases her check LESS than one dollar a day! Do you really believe a woman would have one illegitimate baby after another for the sole purpose of picking up the welfare check? The fact is that many welfare recipients are so ashamed of their second pregnancies, they wait until the last moment to inform their case workers, thus sacrificing their $200 month pre-natal allowance.

Our agency dispenses information on family planning, and contraceptives FREE through the Medi-Cal program, and most of ours are extremely receptive to their use.

Aid to Dependent Children is just that, paid to the CHILDREN — not to parents, so if a woman becomes ineligible for welfare after one illegitimate child, is that fair? Please reconsider.

KETZIN, SHANTON, DICKER, and SCHMIDT

DEAR KETZIN, SHANTON, DICKER, and SCHMIDT: I am the many other informed persons who write to point out the above to me. We can all learn. I have learned, I am grateful.

DEAR ABBY: My wife's boss comes to town, and instead of having their business conference in the office, she goes to his motel room, and she doesn't get home until the early hours in the morning.

She is very indignant when I tell her I don't think it's proper. I am honestly not doubting her morals, I love her and trust her, but this is a small county town and the folks here like gossip.

I am not asking you to agree with me, just tell me what you think and it will go no further.

SMALL TOWN HUSBAND

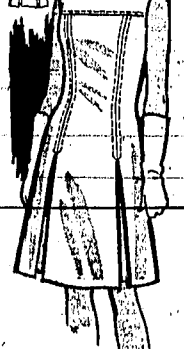

DEAR ABBY: I feel like an absolute crumb. Friday night I was out with a wonderful boy. It was our third date, and we both had a great time. We talked some and then stopped and parked and he started kissing me tenderly. He didn't get wild or anything like that, he just started kissing me harder and harder until I thought he was going to push my teeth in. I tried pulling back but it didn't help.

I finally said, "Please, Rick, not so hard!" That helped a lot. But he wasn't quite the same after that. Since then I talked to my girlfriend and she said "Never criticize a guy's kissing — no matter what. It hurts his ego."

Is that right? What should I do? Apologize to him? I am 18 and he's 19. Thanks
MADE A BOO BOO

DEAR MADE: Sorry, but I think your girlfriend made the boo boo. Don't apologize. Your frankness shouldn't hurt him.

Homemaker Says Twin Falls Families Are Close-Knit

The canning industry is only about 150 years old, although the idea of preserving foods is probably as old as man himself. Like many benefits of peaceful living, warfare sparked the industry during Napoleon's time. The French government offered a prize for a way to supply the army with adequately preserved foods.

Nicolas Appert, a French chef, was the winner. He conceived of canning, which destroys by sterilization the dangerous microorganisms and conserves the nutritive value of food.

Since the 1880's, infinite improvements have been made and often glass replaces the can. All canned foods have been cooked and are ready to eat. Much of the food value is in the liquid in the can which should be served with the vegetable or added to sauces, soups, stews, or gravies.

Canned vegetables lose some food value when stored longer than a year (even if they have not been opened) and should be kept in a cool place. After opening, they should be stored in refrigerator, covered, right in the can or jar if desired.

Further cooking (commercially) canned vegetables destroys food value. To retain maximum food value, boil the juice drained from vegetable in an uncovered pan. When liquid is reduced to about a third, add vegetable. It will heat in a matter of seconds. Serve the vegetable with red.

In fact, he should thank you for the tip.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "THE NAIVE MRS. S. GRANADA" People who send unsigned letters and anonymous clippings in the mails are vicious, gutless, pathetic creatures. Pray for them.

Among the many canned vegetables now on the grocery shelves are the seven listed here with serving suggestions.

ARTICHOKES: Catherine de Medici introduced this vegetable in high society.

Serving suggestions: add to jellied consommé; garnish seafood platters such as poached salmon, shrimp, or add to salads; tossed, chicken, seafood.

ASPARAGUS: The word is a corruption of the English sparrows grass of sprage.

Serving suggestions: white asparagus is good hot or cold.

Cold — For Asparagus Mimosa, sprinkle drained white spears with diced hard-cooked egg mixed with freshly dried chopped chives, cayenne pepper, and salt. Arrange on greens and garnish with paprika.

Hot — Cook dehydrated green pepper and instant minced onion in liquid drained from can of green or white spears as it reduces. Pour over vegetable.

BETS: These deep red beauties are a nuisance in cook and peel when fresh. The canned not only save labor but add to presentation because they are of the same size.

Serving suggestions: Cold — Pass drained French style beets with clear beet borscht.

Hot — Add grated orange peel to liquid while it is reducing. When sirupy, add whole beets and toss until glazed. Good cold, too, and drained mandarin orange sections may be combined with beets.

JAROTS: During the reign of JAMES I in England carrot leaves were used to garnish ladies' hats. Although fresh carrots are available all year, it would be difficult to find whole baby carrots as uniform in shape and size and as beautiful a color as the canned.

Serving suggestions: Cold — Drain and cut whole baby carrots in half lengthwise. Marinate for about 20 minutes in the liquid from a jar of sliced paprika tomatoes. Pile drained olives (tree-ripened or black) on round serving dish. Alternate carrot halves in a circle around them (points toward the olives) and arrange strips of paprika tomatoes between.

Hot — Add dried mint to the liquid and add reduced and pour over carrots.

EGGPLANT: Canned caponata (eggplant appetizer) similar to French ratouille — is wonderful hot or cold and eliminates the formidable struggle of preparing and cooking several vegetables.

Serving suggestions: Cold — Top raw mushroom caps with caponata. Top drained artichoke bottoms with caponata and sprinkle with grated Parmesan cheese.

Hot — As above, with tomato halves and bake or broil. Serve a dilly relish plate using cocktail eggplants. Sprinkle unpeeled cucumber wedges with dill seed and dill weed. Arrange like spokes of a wheel on a round serving dish. Pile tiny pickled cocktail tomatoes in center and arrange baby cocktail eggplants between cucumber wedges.

MUSHROOMS: During Napoleon's time, caves outside Paris bedded about 100 square miles of mushrooms but it is doubtful if any were canned. Today canned mushrooms sometimes are more flavorful than fresh.

Serving suggestions: Hot — To serve as hors d'oeuvre, heat whole cooked-butter mushrooms (the black ones are especially delicious in a chafing dish). Provide cocktail picks for spearing them.

PEAS: Porridge originally meant peas and it was accepted practice in England to eat peas with a knife.

Hot — Add herbs — summer savory or marjoram, etc., to liquid in the can while reducing and serve with peas.

Vandals Dump Bengals 60-58; Smith Is Torrid In First Half '22

MOSCOW — The Idaho Vandals piled up a huge lead against arch-rival Idaho State Monday night, then held the scoring by Bengal 60-58 in the first half of the game.

The wide contest was highlighted by a free-for-all involving both benches which broke out right after Trent Manger's punt. Jim Thacker had a disconcerting Wilson Terrell. Both benches emptied after the opening punches were thrown. Friday night the two will go to it again, this time on the Bengal home floor.

Gollege-of-Southern Idaho will play in the preliminary game Saturday night, battling the ISU frosh.

Vandal fans whooped it up after only 3:45 had elapsed in the game, as Idaho could miss and jumped into a 9-0 lead before the Bengals could turn around.

Purdue Guns For End To 29-Year Drought, Grabs Top Ten Attention In Poll

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Purdue Boilermakers, gunning for their first Big Ten Conference title in 29 years, closed their regular season last week and after a slow beginning, have finally gained the respect of the United Press International's Board of Coaches.

The Boilermakers defeated Iowa and Northwestern last week to boost their Big Ten record to 6-0, and the 25-member UPI coaches board rewarded them Monday by raising the Boilermakers four places to No. 8 in the 10th weekly ratings.

Purdue's rise into the top 10 highlighted a shakeup among the bottom six teams of the select circle. The top four teams remained unchanged from a week ago with UCLA once again going to the first place spot for a perfect 8-0 points.

North Carolina, which stretched its record to 17-1, Feb. 8, held down the 2 spot followed by Santa Clara, which is undefeated in 20 games, and Kentucky.

St. John's, which was fifth a week ago, suffered an overtime loss to Villanova and exchanged places with Davidson, which advanced to fifth after posting three victories during the week.

Next to Purdue, the biggest rise among the top 10 was made by LaSalle, which climbed two places to seventh after raising its record to 18-1. Unfortunately, the magnificent showing of the Buffaloes, which were ranked 10th at the end of the season since a two-year probation has made them ineligible for any post-season tournaments.

The success of Purdue and LaSalle forced the coaches to drop Illinois one spot to ninth in the ratings while Villanova, despite a victory over St. John's, dropped three places to 10th after losing to the Explorers.

Tulsa, the Missouri Valley Conference leader, maintained its hold on the No. 11 spot, but Kansas was dropped from the top 10 and bumped to No. 12 despite two victories during the week.

Colorado, which has edged the lead in the Big Eight conference, was ranked 13th. The Buffaloes made the biggest climb among the second 10 by vaulting seven places to No. 13. The Buffaloes scored two conference triumphs during the week and now stand the conference with a 6-1 mark.

New Mexico, despite a mediocre record of 13-7, climbed another peg to No. 14 and Duquesne also moved up once space to No. 15. Columbia, No. 14 a week ago, dropped two spots to No. 16.

Two Ivy League contests over the weekend and was dropped into a tie for 18th position with fast-rising South Carolina. South Carolina was one of five teams to make a big climb, which made the top 20 this week. The others were Wyoming, Louisville, Notre Dame and Wake Forest. Louisville led Louisville for 16th and Notre Dame and Boston College dodeckled for 20th.

The "Big Game" in the ratings has been meteoric since the first of the year. The Boilermakers, 13-3 overall, lost all three of their games before Jan. 1 and have been virtually untouchable since Big Ten competition began.

The United Press International major college football poll places 200 teams and lists records in parentheses.

| Team | Points |
|----------------------------|--------|
| 1. UCLA (8-0) | 100 |
| 2. North Carolina (7-1) | 95 |
| 3. Santa Clara (12-0) | 90 |
| 4. Davidson (12-0) | 85 |
| 5. LaSalle (18-1) | 80 |

Bengals Tab Studley As Assistant

CINCINNATI (UPI) — The Cincinnati Bengals announced Monday they have picked Chuck Studley as their new assistant coach at the University of Cincinnati, for a job as assistant coach with the club.

Studley, who coached at UC from 1961 until his resignation in 1964, will fill a vacancy on the coaching staff caused by the resignation of Rick Forzano, who took the head coaching job at New York University.

Studley coached two Missouri Valley Conference championship teams at UC in 1963 and 1964 and was voted MVC coach of the year in 1964.

Paul Brown, Bengals head coach and general manager, said he probably will use Studley as a defensive coach but did not know in what capacity at this time.

Studley, 40, entered private business after two big workups during the past season as he acted as a college-player coach for a three-team National Football League combination, Los Angeles, Dallas and San Francisco.

Santa Clara Head Worries About Star

SANTA FRANCISCO (UPI) — Dick Garibaldi, coach of the undefeated and third-ranked Santa Clara Broncos, said Bud Ogden's ankle and the Broncos' condition of star forward University of San Francisco.

The Broncos meet the lowly Ducks in the West Coast Athletic Conference, in a league clash Saturday.

USF, with a 1-6 WCAC record, would hardly seem a threat to the powerful Broncos.

But Garibaldi reminded a meeting of the Northern California basketball writers that USF was the best WCAC team to which his squad, that was 70-62 in the early part of last season and Santa Clara has won 20 straight league games since.

Garibaldi said it would be hard to day practices "concerning Ogden's ankle. It sprained it in the first half Saturday night against the Bruins.

"Bud has been real tough," he said. "He has played with a broken toe and had back the last two weeks and hasn't said anything about it."

Turning to the Pacific Eight Conference, Stanford coach Elmer Dillman said his charges would be "a little bit better" in this weekend's showdown to Oregon and Oregon State.

The Tribe "went into the northwest and were edged 74-72 by Oregon and 63-62 by Oregon State.

"We shot 40 per cent from the free-throw line," Dillman said. "Under those conditions, I'm amazed we stayed close."

The two Oregon teams head into the Bay Area this weekend to take on Stanford and California, which lost 64-73 last weekend to Oregon and beat Oregon State 69-57.

Colorado Rips Oklahoma 92-69

BOULDER, Colo. (UPI) — Center Cliff Meely lightened Colorado University's hold on first place in the Big Eight Conference Monday, leading the Buffaloes to a 92-69 victory over the University of Oklahoma.

Meely, a 22-68 victor, broke the Colorado record for field goals with 10. He was game high scorer with 34 points.

The Buffaloes' hold Oklahoma out with a tight zone defense and kept control of the boards to sew up the game in the first half. Meely and Mike Coleman teamed up for 14 rebounds.

The win gave Colorado a 7-1 conference record and 15-3 for the season. Oklahoma now stands at 1-6 in conference play and 5-14 for the season.

Clifford Ray was high scorer for Oklahoma with 16 points, but fouled out late in the game.

Lombardi Tabs Former Steeler Bill Austin As New Assistant

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Vince Lombardi Monday named Bill Austin, former Pittsburgh Steeler coach and one-time Green Bay aide, as an assistant coach on his new Washington Redskins staff.

Austin, who was dropped by the Steelers after three seasons, was Lombardi's first selection since taking over as head coach of the Redskins in 1961.

The 40-year-old Austin was the first of a Lombardi staff that may include three former NFL head coaches, two holdovers from the ousted Green Bay team, and Sam Huff, Otto Graham, and Sam Huff, Lombardi's former line player.

The two Graham assistants believed-in line for retention by Lombardi were Mike McCormack and Don Dole. Huff retired as an active player at the end of the 1967 season to take a job in private industry. But since Lombardi moved to Washington, he has indicated he would welcome an offer to serve as an assistant.

There was strong speculation that in addition to Austin, Lombardi would tap as assistant coach Norm Hecker, another ex-Green Bay assistant let go by the Atlanta Falcons last fall, and Harland Sware, former head of the Los Angeles Rams who once played under Lombardi with the New York Giants.

Lombardi hired when he began his Green Bay career in 1959. "I'm have him back from the Austin job 1919 and through 1955 was an assistant coach. His three head coach 11-23-3 but was a 19 Lombardi's regular game Lombardi will serve as coach."

Q—My mother, a 67-year-old widow, has $18,500 savings plus Social Security. She uses some principal yearly for expenses. Once this is gone she will, of course, live with me. Would a "blue chip" investment give her a chance of some appreciation while receiving dividends? Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI)—The "stock market" observed the first week beginning for the first time in 1958. The market was not as scared of traditional market panic fearings as it was in the early 1950s. It is the inflationary atmosphere that is the real threat here. There is no taking advantage of any kind of news is more bearish than bearish news could be; adding that the market has been run as a borrower's market which is reason enough for it to be running scared.

Tellevest, Patrick & Ostrak believe the market's path of least resistance now is upward and that any improvement in current events could well spark a broad rally. The gradual appreciation of the list during the past three weeks, the firm contends, has been technically desirable, insofar as few excesses have been avoided, and the period of base building necessary for more lasting advance has been completed.

E. F. Hutton & Co. says the market's technical structure continues to give interesting readings but, if anything, has shown some modest improvement in recent sessions.

Volume indications, the firm notes, have been better, with the strongest issues attracting the heaviest volume.

Japan-U.S. Split Foreseen At Meet

By LEON DANIEL

TOKYO (UPI) — Some scholars of Asian affairs hint darkly that a rising wave of isolationism in the United States could undermine U.S.-Japanese relations.

That point of view cropped up at the recent Kyoto conference, a four-day meeting of experts on relations between the two countries.

Albert Wohlstetter, a professor at the University of Chicago, bluntly told his Japanese and American colleagues that "the mood in the United States has changed."

Warning of "the new isolationism," Wohlstetter said "Congressional opinion might react sharply to criticism of the United States as a sign of ingratitude."

Another delegate, Kichi Sasaki, apparently had received the message without any help from Wohlstetter.

"Through the lessons of the Vietnam War and with the augmentation of the new perception, a hereafter will probably show a stronger trend of being basically more inward-looking," Sasaki said.

Research Institute of Technology and Economics, "I believe that in her foreign policy posture she will tend to limit her role as the world's policeman."

Sasaki predicted the United States "will require other free-world nations to assume a greater share of the responsibility for maintaining peace."

He said the United States must try to attain nuclear parity automatically, assuming the burden of Asia's defense, such as occurred in Korea and Vietnam.

Edwin O. Reischauer, conference co-chairman and former U.S. Ambassador to Japan, said it is up to Japan and the Japanese public to determine whether there is a useful American role to be played in the Pacific.

"Americans will not and cannot maintain a military presence here without Japanese understanding," he said.

Robert A. Scalapino, a delegate and a professor at the University of California, warned his colleagues of growing American criticism of Japanese economic policy that could assume serious proportions.

"Either we shall be able to agree on certain significant steps in the direction of free trade and a reduction in various discriminatory practices, or protectionism is likely to increase," Scalapino said. "Here, the immediate responsibility lies largely with Japan."

Pueblo Case Is Forcing Navy To Review Its Conduct Rules

The Pueblo case not only is forcing the U.S. Navy to review its conduct rules but also is pointing up sharply the limitations imposed by treaty on how and under what circumstances the nation can respond to acts of aggression.

Under other circumstances, the problem has arisen before. One such arose in the early days of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. There the problem involved the possible use of nuclear weapons.

The United States assured its nervous allies that it would be governments and not generals who decided where and when to pull the nuclear trigger.

It also promised to consult involved governments before launching a nuclear operation from allied bases.

But then U.S. secretary of state, John Foster Dulles, warned the European allies, "The United States—once assured by allies, without reservation, that they will be consulted before nuclear weapons are employed."

"War," he said, "may come in such a way that adequate consultation might be inadvisable or impossible."

Allied nervousness has disappeared in the intervening years and the United States is supposed to be quite another reason—a European fear that the United States might be reluctant to use its nuclear arsenal in defense of Europe.

That was one reason given by French President Charles de Gaulle when he pulled his forces out of the American-dominated NATO command. Similar fears have been expressed by Belgium's Paul-Henri Spaak, former secretary-general of NATO.

Spaak said the European allies should have assurance of U.S. protection "beyond the shadow of a doubt" before signing the nuclear non-proliferation treaties on non-proliferation of nuclear weapons.

Treaties, then, place the United States in the middle between two extremes of opinion—fear on the one hand that it will act and fear on the other that it will not.

Little Girls Want To Play At Race Tracks In Tokyo

By VIRGIL KRET

TOKYO (UPI)—A little Tokyo girl was taking part recently in a children's television program and suddenly said she wished little girls could play at the race tracks.

"She didn't want to bet on the horses, she just wanted a nice, wide open place to play in this crowded city of over 11 million people."

Whether by chance or not Tokyo's popular Socialist government was on that same program and the abolition of city-operated gambling happened to have been one of his campaign promises.

Soon after the little girl's television appearance, Gov. Ryokichi Minobe announced that he would abolish all forms of gambling run by the city. He also said he would have and boat racing and lotteries.

The move will be completed by April, 1970, Minobe said.

He said the city revenues are being studied now and their lives will be better. Many of them are ashamed of their present occupations.

Chaplin Studio Is Dedicated

By VERNON SCOTT

UPI Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — The Los Angeles Cultural Heritage Board has made the ancient Charlie Chaplin studio a historical-cultural monument in honor of the man who made the little Tramp a cinematic immortal 50 years ago.

Parties of the plan may find it necessary to declare the studio a double historic-cultural monument in another 50 years.

Present occupant — musician Herb Alpert.

"Alpert is as musically ingenuitous as Chaplin a comedienne."

The youthful trumpeter has converted the musty sound stages into what may be the most modern, sophisticated recording studios in history.

Young men in their 20s and 30s at behind consoles filled with dials, buttons, switches and tape equipment making new sounds.

The result at A and M Records is revolutionizing eight-track stereo recording. The end product will be heard through speakers better than a front row seat at a concert.

Alpert's contributions to music will be enough were they limited to sound techniques.

But his Rijuana Brass and its soaring popularity is an significant factor in his plans.

Maybe more so. Herb and the brass have cut 11 albums. All were gold records better than went on sale based on advance orders by distributors.

In his comfortable, tastefully decorated offices in Chaplin's old studio, Alpert is the antithesis of his music.

Where it is loud, challenging and revolutionary, Herb is quiet, introverted and sensitive. He is

A SCALE MODEL showing how Pocatello could be developed in the next 20 years according to a master plan has been completed by fifth-year architecture students at the Idaho State University.

ISU Architecture Students Plan Pocatello Development

POCATELLO (ISU) — A scale model showing how Pocatello could be developed in the next 20 years according to a master plan has been completed by fifth-year architecture students at Idaho State University and is now on display in the Art Gallery in the ISU Student Building.

The project is designed around the revitalization of the West Side retailing district, the downtown shopping area. The scale model will be on view at the Student Union Building through Wednesday.

A formal presentation of the model will be made to the Pocatello Chamber of Commerce and the city during the first week in March.

The project was directed by Henry J. Hulvey, chairman of the Department of Architecture, and Rosario P. Fasolino, assistant professor of architecture. It is supported by national and local development interests.

"The problem given to the fifth-year architecture students was to revitalize the West Side retailing district," Fasolino said. "The only way to accomplish this was to look beyond the West Side to other areas and try to tie together a package."

The plan encompasses an area greater than the West Side retailing district. It borders the Portneuf River on the west, Eighth Street on the east, the Benion Street overpass to the south, and extends to Hayden Street on the north.

Fasolino said, "In any planning concept you've got to recognize the problems and how best they can be resolved." He listed the problems connected with the West Side retailing district as follows:

1. That the residential development in Pocatello is generally moving toward the northeast;
2. That there is no easy access either by Interstate or by the road system into the West Side retailing district;
3. That since you are in the West Side, although there are ample parking spaces, they are ill-placed;
4. That the main street which is part of the highway system cuts right through the center

State University. The plan and model were requested by the Pocatello Chamber of Commerce. Among the planners is David Armstrong, Twin Falls, fourth from left.

C Of I Alumni Banquet Is Planned Here

A program for prospective students at the College of Idaho, Caldwell, and a C. of I. alumni banquet will be held Sunday at Twin Falls. The events coincide with the concert date of the college's touring choir.

Prospective students, parents and friends of the college are invited to a program and reception at 2 p.m. Sunday at the Holiday Inn. The event is open to those interested. Mr. and Mrs. C. Ken Brown are co-chairmen.

The choir concert, under the direction of Prof. James H. Gabbard, will be at 4 p.m. in the Fine Arts Center at the College of Southern Idaho.

It is necessary for the alumni banquet at 6:30 p.m. in room B at the Holiday Inn and should be placed with the co-chairmen, Mr. and Mrs. George Walton, 1827 Granada Circle.

At the student reception, colored slides of the C. of I. Campus, a discussion of the college's features and a question-answer session will make up the program. Participating from the campus will be President and Mrs. Warren B. Knox, L. Garth Cates assistant director of admissions, and Dr. Richard D. Skyrum, head of the music department.

Music Club Meets

A lecture and demonstration on the history of dancing was the featured program at a recent meeting of the Twin Falls Senior High Junior Music Club. Dennis Adamson, president, officiated and conducted regular business.

Mrs. Beverly Hackney and two of her ballet students presented the dance program to the high school music club.

Pocatello, banks and other financial buildings; and Jonathan Zimmerman, Brookfield Center Conn., housing.

The American Iron and Steel Institute awarded the department of architecture $7,300 for student grants, the Pocatello Chamber of Commerce provided money for materials and supplies, and local engineers and building officials gave services in the form of lectures and consultations.

Zimmerman, the group's public relations director, and Armstrong, project coordinator, said the results of the research, planning and design work the class did should be of tremendous value to the Chamber of Commerce, local businessmen and political leaders and the citizens of Pocatello.

They said that never before has such a comprehensive and detailed study of the city been made.

5. That within the retailing district there are no outdoor additions, such as parks and plazas and features to encourage a person to go there.

Fasolino said the problems were resolved with these steps:

1. Providing a zoning concept which will prevent retailing sprawl on the East Side;
2. Providing direct access to the West Side retailing district from the community itself or off the interstate system;
3. Providing sufficient parking around the perimeter of the retailing walls and within the wall without providing priority to any particular location;
4. Providing separated automotive and pedestrian circulation in the retail area of the West Side;
5. Providing north-south circulation around the retailing area rather than through it the way Main Street goes now;
6. Providing a complete retail service in commercial and recreational facilities, such as parks.

The scale model includes for the West Side retail area: a shopping mall including a cultural center at its core; underground and above-ground parking garages; medium and high density housing areas; a suggested light industrial area in relation to the higher density housing; a professional buildings complex; and a governmental area.

"A visit to the model will show these features," Fasolino noted.

The students who worked on the model and the sections they specialized in are:

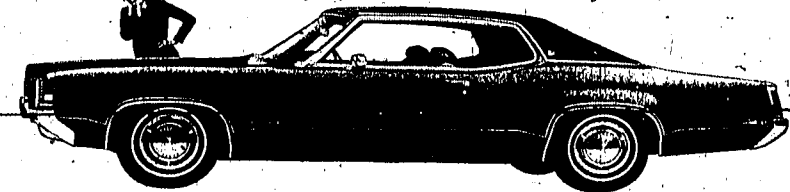

David Armstrong, Twin Falls, public buildings; Gary Elchelberg, Gooding, transportation systems; Warren C. Ginn, American Falls, professional building; Douglas Houston, Caldwell, retailing facilities; Bruce Manson, White Plains, N.Y., small shops and services; Aristotle Moskos, Lowell, Mass., industry; Phil Sabri, Milwaukee, Ore., special education and outdoor recreation; David Schmidt, Buhl, religious, recreational and religious buildings; Gary Woska,

British Expel 'Visitor' Again

BLACKPOOL, England (UPI)—Irishman Martin Glennon was deported from Britain Monday—for the eighth time.

His attorney explained to a court here that Glennon kept coming back because he was in love with an English woman.

While an official commented that "this must be costing Ireland an awful lot of money," the judge ordered Glennon deported again—this time after spending a month in a British jail for defying the previous order.

He is better understanding the problems of these children. Mrs. Eleanor Bodahl, Boise, president of the Gem State Federation, will report on activities of the state unit. She is a consultant in special education with the State Department of Education.

Prospective members of C. E. C. are invited to attend the meeting.
