U.S. Challenges Hanoi To Reply To Peace Demand

By GEORGE-SIBERA

PARIS (UPI)—The United States called on the Communists today to give a "positive response" to allied proposals on de-escalation of the Vietnam War as a prelude to peace.

The appeal of chief U.S. negotiator Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. of deaf ears, however.

Tran Bui Kiem, chief negotiator of the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front (NLF), rejected "out of hand" the allied proposals that the current Vietnam peace conference discuss military matters before resolving the political future of North Vietnam.

The "foreign minister" of the NLF reiterated his warning that the Communists would continue fighting "until" the complete withdrawal of American and other allied forces.

Lodge, in a terse speech re-stating allied proposals, urged North Vietnam and the Viet Cong to join the allies in an attempt "to find ways to separate the contending forces and arrange for the withdrawal of external elements."

Lodge said that in an effort to begin creating the necessary atmosphere—the United States has "made concrete proposals regarding the demilitarized zone, mutual withdrawal of external forces—and prisoners of war."

"I hope your response will be positive," Lodge told the Communist side at the fourth session of the conference.

The chief American negotiator began his speech saying that the statements of the Communist delegations in the first three sessions of the conference indicate a lack of understanding of the goals of the United States both here (in Paris) and in Vietnam.

Lodge then restated America's official policy "for the sake of better understanding."

He flatly rejected Communist charges that America was pursuing a policy of "neocolonialism."

He recognized that the United States recognizes the South Vietnamese government of President Nguyen Van Thieu and the "legal and legitimate government of that country."

He said an arrangement about the future of South Vietnam could be made "without" the approval of Thieu's government.

Rejecting Communist charges that the United States was fighting in Vietnam to establish a "neocolonial" territory, Lodge said that America's policy aims were to establish a stable and lasting peace in Vietnam and in Southeast Asia.

Lodge renewed his pledge that American and other allied troops will begin withdrawing from all North Vietnamese and "subversive forces" withdraw into North Vietnam.

Riot Spurs Guard Call

Guardsmen Patrol Campus

By United Press International

National Guardsmen with rifles slung over their shoulders took up post outside University of Wisconsin buildings today ready to break up any disruption by student strikers.

On another troubled campus, Negro students demanding increased educational benefits seized the first floor of Duke University's administration building and threatened to set fire to the school's records if police entered.

The rebels, estimated at 30 to 75, announced they had renamed the Durham, N.C., school "Malcolm X Liberation School." They ordered secretaries out of the building and nailed the doors shut after them.

A riot at the University of Chicago Administration building went into its third week.

The Wisconsin Guardsmen moved onto the central campus area where black and white student militants have blocked student entrances and faculty offices—obstructed traffic and scuffled with police most of the week.

At Wisconsin—rebels were demanding a black curriculum and more Negro faculty members. Gov. Warren Knowles ordered 300 guardsmen Wednesday in the first use of militia on a northern campus in the current round of university rebellions.

The guardsmen took up their positions in front of about a half dozen classroom buildings shortly before 9 a.m. CST. They had rifles slung over their shoulders, wore steel helmets, and were equipped with gas masks.

At the University of Chicago, militants were in the Administration Building for the 15th day today, considering what to do next. A faculty committee recommended extending for one year the contract of the radical woman sociology professor over whom the students demonstrated. The professor rejected the offer.

Negro students took over classes at Chicago's Roosevelt University during the weekend. Wednesday and conducted lessons in black history and black psychology. A student boycott of classes at St. Vincent College in Latrobe, Pa., caused officials to meet student demands.

At the University of Wisconsin the fourth straight day of trouble began today. Some of Wisconsin's 600 black students began demanding a black curriculum, more black students and teachers and admission of 80 black students expelled from Oshkosh State University a few days ago.

The students had set up a black caucus and classes of the Michigan Avenue school and took over the instruction building.

The students had set up a Lawrence Silverman said he had talked with the blacks—about 30 in all—and he thought the meeting was directed at Roosevelt, which has about a 15 per cent Negro enrollment out of 6,800 students.

At Mississippi Valley Wednesday, the president of the Student Government Association said college officials had reneged on agreements reached earlier in the week.

The 2,200 students at the all-Negro school stayed away from classes.

The students had set up demands, including inter curfew for women, official campus support for campus groups such as the Black Panthers, a new library section for black literature and official support for Afro-American clothes and hair styles.

At St. Vincent College, which has 850 Catholic men students, a one-day boycott was followed Wednesday by administration demands that the students present the case for the state, including eye witnesses who were sent away when Sirhan fired the shot that mortally wounded Kennedy and injured five other persons.

A UNIVERSITY OF WISCONSIN student is arrested by Madison, Wis., and Dane County officers as a group of students blocks entrance to the university buildings was broken up on Wednesday. Wisconsin Gov. Warren Knowles called 900 National Guardsmen into action today as militants continued class disruptions. (UPI telephoto)

Former CORE Chief Takes Federal Post

WASHINGTON (UPI)—James Farmer, who helped lead Negro protesters into the streets less than a decade ago, Wednesday took a high post in the Nixon administration with the explanation that he would rather be on the inside doing something than on the outside complaining.

The 49-year-old former national director of the Congress of Racial Equality (CORE) will be assistant secretary for administration in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. In accepting the job, he became the best known and one of the highest ranking Negroes in the new administration.

Farmer was introduced to reporters by Welfare Secretary Robert H. Finch at both the White House and at a HEW news conference. At both places, Farmer was asked almost immediately if he wasn't risking being labeled an "Uncle Nixon."

Farmer conceded that some Negroes might feel he had "deserted the banner of the oppressed" of the people. He said his principles had not changed since the days he led CORE freedom riders and pickets "but the tactics have to be changed to meet the situation."

"I could stand outside and be in a position to criticize or go inside and hope in a small way to determine the course of events," he told the White House newsmen.

Farmer also said he conferred privately with black student groups around the country and got the unanimous opinion that he should take the job with the administration.

"They said 'Brother Farmer, we need you there. Go,'" Farmer told reporters at HEW.

Farmer's post will include recruitment of "new blood" into government service, he said. He said the administration had been having trouble getting the Negroes to get into government because so many were Democrats.

Ambassador

WASHINGTON (UPI)—John S. D. Eisenhower, son of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, will be named soon by President Nixon as ambassador to Belgium. It was learned today.

Eisenhower, 46, is a retired Army colonel. He is expected to be appointed before Nixon begins his eight-day trip to five Western European capitals starting Feb. 23. The first stop will be Brussels, the Belgian capital.

Eisenhower worked for Nixon during the presidential campaign. His son, David, 20, is married to Nixon's daughter Julie, 20.

PUC Approves Meter Request

BOISE (UPI)—The Idaho Public Utilities Commission Tuesday approved a request from Idaho natural gas companies to allow meters to be tested on accepted industry meter sampling plans that are in general use today.

The PUC said that, if the change is not made, it is estimated that one of the companies in Idaho "will be required to remove, test and re-test during 1969 7,000 meters, with the estimated time spent of three man hours per meter for the removal, testing and re-testing."

Divers To Begin Deep-Sea Test

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Weather permitting, 10 divers will descend 600 feet in the Pacific Ocean off Long Beach, Calif., Monday to begin 12 days of experiments in a steel, underwater laboratory. The divers are part of a 40-man Navy team which will work inside and outside the "submerged" lab. They will be accompanied by a dolphin, "Tuffy," who has been trained to pull the divers back to the ship if they get into trouble in the water.

Run-Off

BOISE (UPI)—The Idaho Senate Wednesday received a joint memorial urging popular election of the President of the United States and a run-off election with the two highest candidates if no candidate received 40 per cent or more of the popular vote.

"The most recent presidential election demonstrated that under the electoral college system confusion could result if such an election were to be decided by the U. S. House of Representatives," the memorial to Congress read.

It is recognized that, with the emergence of more than two political parties, it is extremely difficult for any candidate to receive a clear majority.

The memorial was introduced by the Senate's Judiciary and Administration Committee.

Non-Residents Involved House Votes Gun-Sale Bill

BOISE (UPI)—Members of the House Resources and Conservation Committee voted today to introduce for printing a bill to allow non-residents to buy shotguns and rifles in Idaho if they come from contiguous states.

Chairman J. Vard Chaburn, R-Albion, said the measure is necessary under the 1968 Federal Gun Control Act if Idaho merchants want to sell rifles and shotguns to out-of-state hunters.

The House State Affairs Committee introduced legislation designed to help Idaho exempt the sick leave pay of state employees from federal Social Security taxes. Proponents of this legislation contend it could save the state some $50,000 a year.

Sen. Nels Solberg, D-Orofino, proposed that the Senate Education Committee go on record favoring a $19 million increase in state funding of public schools.

This proposal would eliminate the kindergarten funding of more than $1 million and an estimated $2 million less than proposed by the House Education Committee.

Solberg's proposal to give $78,742,000 to the foundation program is the same as recommended by the State Board of Education.

The $19 million increase proposed for the schools would exceed Gov. Don Samuelson's recommendation by $3.5 million. (Related Stories, Page 8)

Plan To Consolidate Schools Is Revealed

The Idaho Department of Education has presented a plan for the consolidation of school districts. Harold Farley, assistant superintendent of public instruction for the department said Wednesday in Twin Falls.

Mr. Farley said the department is proposing 44 districts, based on service areas, instead of the 117 districts now in the plan was submitted at the committee's request.

The Twin Falls League of Women Voters sponsored two public meetings Wednesday at which Mr. Farley spoke.

In order to take care of present inequities in the distribution of available education funds, Mr. Farley said several changes in the present formula are preferable to a change in the formula. The changes in Idaho have been studying the financing of elementary and secondary education for nearly two years.

Mr. Farley said until the assessed valuation in Idaho has leveled off, the present formula should be used with modifications. The current complex formula is based primarily on students, whose average daily attendance is computed and weighed.

He pointed out that in 67 of the state's 117 school districts, the complicated distribution formula is impermissible because these districts qualify as "blue-chip" districts.

"Four districts" are created when the number of students in a district decreases, or the district's assessed valuation changes, Mr. Farley said, and the present inequities would be corrected the floor problem first and then attempt to equalize.

Mr. Farley noted that the use of federal forest funds is governed by the state legislature, and amounts to about $501,000 a year in Idaho.

Sirhan Hears State Charge JFK Killing

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The people today accused Sirhan B. Sirhan to his face of the murder of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

There were reports of a "hysterical" den under which Sirhan would change his plea to guilty and accept a defense attorney. The judge, however, said the trial will go on.

After five weeks of jury selection and defense motions for quashing the indictment, Deputy Dist. Atty. Lynn Compton was cutting through the jungle of technicalities to get down to trying the 24-year-old Arab immigrant.

That now this has been pretty much the show for Sirhan and his lawyers. Today the situation changed.

The judge has lined up approximately 10 witnesses to present the case for the state, including eye witnesses who were sent away when Sirhan fired the shot that mortally wounded Kennedy and injured five other persons.

New Yorkers 'Cash In' On Blizzard

NEW YORK (UPI) — While most stores in snowbound New York were empty of customers during the recent storm, Abercrombie and Fitch did a land of its own. The department store, with emphasis on sporting goods went ahead with the first ski sale in its history and found it was not waiting for customers. "Really," said Arlene Enhorn, buyer for the ski shop, "I've never seen anything like it. These people were positively desperate."

When the store opened, crowds of bargain-seekers rushed into the elevators, rode to the top and then broke loose in the ski shop. The ski poles priced at 11 cents each, pairs of furry mittens at $11, and a pair of ski boots for $10.66 and wool caps for the same price, and shaggy Icelandic sheepskin coats at $75 from $95 were gone in minutes. "I don't know what happened," said an advertising executive planning a trip to Stowe, Vt. "First I got the poles for 11 cents, a cake of ski wax for five cents, sunglasses for 50 cents, ski straps for 25 cents, and then I got the boots. I was doing I bought some fancy buckle boots for $120."

Report Of 1968 Employment Shows Year Was Good One

A review of the year 1968, based on preliminary estimates, indicated that the year was basically a good one, from an employment standpoint, according to figures released by the State Department of Employment. The 1968 labor force rose by a monthly average of 518, over 1967, to yield an annual average of 14,384 workers. This increase was composed of more workers both employed and unemployed. Unemployment increased by a monthly average of 86, while employment rose by 432 workers. The resultant unemployment rate eased above 1967's 4.8 per cent to an average of 4.1 per cent. Wage and salaried workers found 303 more jobs available monthly within non-manufacturing industry, while manufacturing employers offered 65 fewer jobs on a monthly average than during 1967. Manufacturing was affected by the shortening of some seasonal fund activities with more workers employed over a shorter processing season. Generally speaking 1968 provided more jobs for area residents than during any other previous year. Wage rates were higher and working conditions were improved over previous periods. As expected, the employment picture declined seasonally from November to December. The reduction primarily took the form of an agricultural seasonal slowdown which involved 530 workers. Within the non-agriculture field the dip involved only 70 employees. Unemployment also decreased by 60 workers as many seasonally attached workers withdrew completely from the job market. Non-manufacturing firms showed the largest employment decline at 150 workers. This was due to the seasonal variations within the sugar refining activities. Non-manufacturing increased from November with only one segment, construction, showing a decline. Retail trade showed the largest increase as holiday retail buying pressure boosted the need for employees, although many jobs were temporary.

Nixon Aides Use Wiretaps Against Crime

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Nixon administration already is using wiretaps to fight organized crime. It has been learned that Attorney General John S. Mitchell has quickly taken effect on his authorizing of electronic surveillance that his predecessor Ramsey Clark refused to use in battling crime. Clark said wiretapping would create a climate of fear. When Mitchell was appointed to the Cabinet and was of attorneys and investigators appearing before the Senate Judiciary Committee, he indicated he would use wiretapping to fight organized crime in one geographic area. So far Mitchell's use of wiretapping has been under the 1968 restriction that court order must be obtained authorizing the eavesdropping. Mitchell has not used a provision allowing a 48-hour emergency eavesdropping without a court order. Mitchell is reviewing whether to reserve the emergency authority to himself or delegate it to the Federal Bureau of Investigation. Under an executive order from President Lyndon B. Johnson on June 30, 1963, all forms of wiretapping and bugging were forbidden — except in cases involving national security. At the present time the Supreme Court is considering a case on whether a defendant must be told that wiretapping devices have been used against him. Mitchell said the ruling in this case will have a definite effect on his authorizing of electronic surveillance that his predecessor Ramsey Clark refused to use in battling crime. TV Bills

By RICHARD CHARNOCK

BOISE (UPI)—The House Insurance, Public Utilities and Banking Committee voted today to introduce three bills to put cable television companies under regulation of the Public Utilities Commission (PUC).

Action on the motion by Rep. Neil Miller, D-Blackfoot, followed discussion of the measures by Rep. William Caveller, R-Boise, and by an attorney for the Association of Idaho Cities.

Caveller, who had the bills drafted, urged their introduction. He said he believed community antenna television systems (CATV) have become a public necessity in areas where they now are located. He said cable television in any given area is best served by one company.

"I've also been told this is probably the best way to pyramid into a fortune today," Caveller said.

Howard Manweiler, Boise, an attorney for the Association of Idaho Cities, recommended the committee move cautiously in this field.

"I don't think we can take a bill like this willy-nilly because we aren't certain what is going to happen," he said.

Manweiler said the Federal Communications Commission is looking into cable or CATV systems with an eye toward regulation—and may have adopted some rules in this field already.

He also said that in southwestern Idaho's Treasure Valley counties from 14 cities have formed a special committee to seek CATV bids to serve all those municipalities. He said the group has received nine bids, which are under study. The committee, he said, meets again Thursday night in Caldwell.

Legislation putting such companies under rate and operation control of the PUC, he said, "might well cause these concerns to take another look at their proposals."

Members of the House committee took note that cable television is well established in some other areas of the state and that these to date have not been regulated. Manweiler said that so far as he knew no other state having CATV regulates its rates and operation.

After Manweiler left, the committee voted to introduce the bills so they can be studied and indicated it intends to conduct hearings on them at a later date.

BOISE (UPI)—Charles Marshall, Jerome, chairman of the Idaho Water Resource Board, set a hard-line policy position today when he told board members the official position of the board would automatically determine the position of the staff.

Marshall read a letter to board members outlining his plans for his term and his proposed policies. He complimented the staff of the board and expressed optimism for the future.

He emphasized, however, that board members were not to publicly disagree with a policy decision, saying "no member of this board is authorized to take a position which is not the expression of the board."

Marshall said upstream water rights "must be protected" and recommended that the board give priority to our congressional delegation on the Snake.

Marshall added that he planned to listen "to the wills and the voices of the people of Idaho" in determining the direction of the board.

Joe Fallini, state director of the U.S. Bureau of Land Management, discussed federal legislation regarding multiple use classification of lands under his administration.

He said progress had been under way in this category since 1965, when the first area was set aside in Custer County. He noted that at this time over five million acres of public land are classified as multiple use land in Idaho.

Fallini said the BLM wants to work "very closely" with the Idaho Water Resource Board on proposed classifications to be certain all land uses are recognized.

"Dogs should be treated like dogs," Zimmerman said. "They like to know their limitations."

In other action, the committee approved a bill providing for the transfer of funds from the Department of Public Assistance to the Department of Employment for participation in the federal work incentive program.

The committee endorsed for passage a Senate bill providing for involuntary commitment to an institution of a mentally ill patient. However, the House version will have an amendment permitting persons so afflicted to be treated by a church organization.

By LEROY POPE, UPI Business Writer

NEW YORK (UPI) — The insurance industry in the United States is undergoing the most drastic restructuring in its history. The changes will be of great significance to investors. For one thing new life insurance companies are not being created as rapidly as they used to be.

Hire Maid At Supermarket

Working wives, a large part of our labor force, can buy householders alike can buy "maid service" at the checkout counter of any supermarket in America.

Convenience foods, one of the miracles of the 20th century, are being purchased more and more by today's modern cooks. The ready-to-cook and ready-to-eat varieties of foods are built in mild service. Foods are pre-washed, pre-peeled and pre-packaged. If the lady in the kitchen so desires, she may use the convenience foods just as the manufacturer intended — without the addition of flavors, seasonings or spices.

Many cooks prefer the convenience foods with their own brand of extras. The maid they've "hired" has, in effect, done all the work while they add the creative touches, making each convenience food into a very special dish. Recipes on the packages are now showing how to make each food different from the original.

Someone between the farm and the supermarket has done all the work and those services add to the cost of most convenience foods. However, these foods are sometimes cheaper than their fresh counterparts because they are more compact in

Gamma Chapter was the third smallest in Idaho. Mrs. Gilmore was first and was named Alpha and Beta. Mrs. Reid, second named Beta. Bertha Renfro, Danna Clark, Virginia Hawk and Clara Hansen were charter members. Mrs. Gilmore was charter member of Gamma Chapter and in 1955 the Twin Falls members led the Burley group members to form the 21st Chapter in Twin Falls.

Mrs. Joyce Reed conducted the luncheon meeting.

THE PACIFIC EMPIRE Life Insurance Co. held its quarterly stockholders meeting Monday at the Rogerson Hotel. Main topics for discussion were the sharp increase in assets during 1968, and the appointment of E. A. "Doc" Bogart Jr.,

Holdup? No!

BAKERSFIELD, Calif. (UPI) — Marilyn Macklin, 29, who works at the Dairy-Delco stand here, couldn't bring herself to give robbers company funds, but she wasn't going to storkhance them either. Police said Miss Macklin reported two youths bought grape drinks and handed her an $100 bill. As she opened the cash register to get their change, one of them poked a gun at her and demanded money. She told them she wasn't her money and she couldn't give it to them. Some what bewildered, they started to walk away but Miss Macklin called them back to give them their change.

School Staff Is Rehired In Minidoka

RUPERT — The Minidoka County School District Board of Trustees have rehired the district's principals and faculty. The district's music program was reviewed and rules involving hair do's were upheld at the monthly meeting. The board rehired all of the present faculty members and principals and noted that the district now has about 20 teaching vacancies. About half of the vacancies involve elementary school teachers, three choral music teachers, three special education instructors, and three athletic coaches. Supl. Camden Meyer noted that more vacancies may exist should the legislators decide against more financial help to the educators. Music instructor, Kelly Harris, Ann Lee, Doris Johnson, and Kevl Siver met with the board to discuss the district's music program. The four were in agreement that the elementary music program needed review as many of the students get little or no music training.

Housing Unit At Jerome Opens Soon

JEROME — Painting is in progress at the Low Cost Housing project and the tiling on the floors is nearly completed. Tentative opening date is set for March 1.

The board is reviewing applications and noted that there are still some units available. An inspector will come on Feb. 23 to check and accept the project. Scaled bids for the insurance were opened at a meeting this week and the contract was awarded to the Jerome Realty, subject to approval of the government agency.

In the annual election of officers, Rev. Harold Livingston was retained as chairman, Mrs. Don Jacobson will be vice chairman and Lawrence Harper will act as secretary.

The next meeting is scheduled for March at Woods Cafe and interested persons are invited.

Leaking Pipe Boosts Billing

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Mrs. Thomas McCoy got her quarterly city water bill and blanched. The total was $175.75. She complained and city manager Richard Krabach sent out an investigating team which discovered a leaky pipe beneath her basement floor. Krabach ordered the waterworks department to adjust the bill, saying there was no way Mrs. McCoy could have known about the leak short of ripping up the basement floor.

Cashew Nut Founds World Industry

By HARRY HOBBS
LONDON (UPI) — The lowly cashew nut is a good example of how an international trade has become. If people stopped chewing cashews 200,000 women in India would be thrown out of work, the economies of several African countries endangered and the U. S. paint and plastics industries affected.

There is little chance of such crises since the cashew market is bigger than ever, growing by three to four per cent a year, thanks to cashew munchers in the U. S., Russia, East Germany and Japan. That's the word from Bjorn E. Olson, marketing analyst of the International Trade Center in Geneva, who notes that the cashew market is being eyed by international investors.

As a cash crop the cashew has many attractions. The trees grow wild, need little care and thrive in varied climates. The kernels command a high and stable price. And just recently mechanization came to the cashew market. Italy is producing machinery which can shell the nut.

Over the last 50 years India dominated the market because its women were skilled in shelling and peeling the nut. At one time it handled only home-grown nuts but world consumption increased so much that Indian processors now import

Amendment On Corporations Gains New Life

BOISE (UPI) — For the third time the state Senate approved a resolution which proposes a constitutional amendment which would allow Idaho corporations to issue both voting and non-voting classes of stock. The measure, requiring a two-thirds majority, was passed 32-2, with Sens. Vernon K. Brassy, R-Boise, and Joe Stoicheff, D-Sandpoint, dissenting.

A similar proposal was defeated by the electorate in the general elections of 1966 and 1968. If the measure is approved by the house, the amendment will be put on the ballot for approval in November, 1970.

SLIDES SWEEP INDONESIA JAKARTA (UPI) — Landslides triggered by heavy rains in Bali have killed four persons and destroyed more than 200 houses, the Antara news agency said Tuesday.

for almost all the remaining 20 per cent. Because of these new and expanding uses of the cashew nut, the long term growth prospects for this market are considered good. As more countries acquire higher standards of living, more of their wage earners munch on cashews. Now that mechanization makes commercial processing easier, there is a possibility India will lose its monopoly in that market. All West African countries are potential growers and processors. So are Ceylon, the Philippines, Thailand, Cambodia, Malaysia, Guatemala, the West Indies, Indonesia, Colombia and Venezuela. Even if those countries, many of them seeking industrial potentials, don't want to cope with the processing of the nuts, there still is a profit in shipping the whole cashews to India and East Africa.

SELMA, Calif. (UPI) — The portrait of Lyndon Johnson on the wall of the City Council chambers has been replaced. But not by a picture of Richard Nixon.

Instead a clock has been hung. The councilman said this gives them more guidance than a portrait of a president.
