

Humphrey Urges 'Expanded Contacts,' Hot Line With Red China

NEW YORK (UPI)—Former Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey says it has now become imperative that we expand our contacts with Red China, not as a matter of whether we like them or not but as a matter of necessity. In a copyright interview with Parade magazine appearing in Sunday newspapers, Humphrey said, "We have been willing to fight a war in Vietnam because it is in our national interest. Maybe we should be willing to make accommodations with China because it is in our national interest."

"By sheer preponderance of numbers, we will be a world power." Humphrey noted that the country will have 1.2 billion persons by the year 2000. He said he agreed with a proposal made five months ago, by Parade's editor Jesse Gorkin that a "hot line" be established between the White House and Peking. "It will be important to us to keep in close communication in order to avoid misunderstandings and avert crises," Humphrey said. "Messages can be exchanged more effectively over a direct 'hot line' than having them filtered through five or six embassies. That is what communications is all about. "A hot line wouldn't mean that we live the Chinese Communists, wouldn't mean that we hate them, wouldn't mean that we accept them, wouldn't mean that we reject them, it would mean only that we could keep in touch with them. I'm not sure whether this would be politically feasible, but it ought to be tried." The magazine quoted President Nixon as saying the proposal was an "interesting idea." It said the United States should present the idea at its meeting Thursday in Warsaw with Peking representatives.

Time For Decision

There are some decisions which are difficult to make because human emotions and logical reasoning are in combat. One such decision will have to be made in the immediate future and it involves the marble monument erected to the memory of servicemen and located at the entrance to Sunset Memorial Park just east of the city. The names of servicemen are inscribed on this monument. Ground for the monument was donated by the management of the Memorial Park and the funds to erect the edifice were provided by the local post of the American Legion. Now the marble has started to crack and break and the time has come when it must be replaced or another suitable monument erected in the same location. Right now the question is one of money for the job. The local Legion post does not have the necessary money for the project. It is highly improbable that there is any source where the estimated $5,000 can be secured. Honoring the men who have served — and died — for this country is something all patriotic citizens favor. However, in a community the size of Twin Falls it just might not be possible to erect and maintain a marker which would list the names of all these men and women. Therefore it is the suggestion of the Times-News that a financial backing cannot be had for the more ambitious project of completely replacing and adding to the present monument, a drive be made to erect, possibly, bronze tablets instead. These tablets would not list the names of all the veterans but each would be dedicated to "all the veterans" of a certain war — namely, World War I, World War II, the Korean conflict and the Vietnam involvement. A simple statement on each tablet, in memory of all the veterans of that particular conflict, would suffice. Those who gave their lives for their country, or who served during wartime for this country, are enshrined in the hearts of the loved ones they leave behind. It is not necessary to have their name inscribed on a public monument to remember them and to remember what they did for us. In any event the monument now at Sunset must be changed. The Times-News offers this suggestion as to how it could be done. What do you think?

BERLIN THREAT REJECTED

Soviets Hint Punishment For Election

BONN (UPI)—West German Chancellor Kurt-Georg Kiesinger has rejected a Soviet warning of "undesirable consequences" for West Berlin if presidential elections are held there as scheduled, State Secretary Guenter Diehl said Saturday. Diehl said Kiesinger made a "very brief reply" rejecting both the warning and Soviet arguments when Russian Ambassador Sinyon K. Tsarapkin delivered the note personally to the chancellor Thursday. The Soviet protest charged that electing the president of West Germany in West Berlin violated the four-power agreements on the divided city and was a subterfuge to introduce

Major Storm Deals Snow, Freezing Rain

A continent-wide storm network swept up rain, snow, freezing sleet, damaging waves and at least one tornado Saturday along a diagonal line from the Pacific northwest to Florida. Travelers warnings were up in nine states from Arkansas to the Atlantic seaboard due to snow, sleet and freezing rain. A threat of heavy snow brought travelers warnings from Kansas to southern Illinois. Travelers warnings were up in the Sierra and Cascades of the Far West and gale pennants were flying along the Pacific Coast. A severe thunderstorm watch was in effect in parts of Florida, Georgia and Alabama. A tornado was seen near St. Petersburg, Fla., and another was reported near Opa-locka, Fla. Winds up to 80 miles an hour hit parts of the Southeast. At Sarasota, Fla., a 4 1/2 foot wall of water slammed ashore from Sarasota, wrecked hotel floors of motels pumpled with tourists. The wave struck 600 feet inland, smashing cars and depositing a sea boat in a motel swimming pool. (See Story, Page 15)

IN TWIN FALLS things are different, Boy Scouts of Troop 67, First United Methodist Church, demonstrated "for something" in downtown Twin Falls Saturday. The "something" was for America and the signs carried by troop members on the last day of Boy Scout week disclosed their feelings. One youngster declared that "so many guys are against things we got together and decided to be for something."

Offensive Anticipated

Allies Call 'Tet' Ceasefire

SAIGON (UPI)—The Allied command Saturday ordered a 24-hour Lunar New Year truce beginning at 6 p.m. Sunday (3 a.m. EST). South Vietnam warned that the Communists have never complied with cease-fires and American troops remained on alert for a possible Viet Cong offensive. Announcement of the brief Allied truce for Tet came in a 11 p.m. communique 16 hours after the Viet Cong's seven-day truce for the oriental new year started. U.S. headquarters reported two Viet Cong violations of the Communist truce a few hours after it started, including the assassination of a hamlet chief and a hold but bloodless raid in the Saigon dock area. U.S. Air Force B52 jet crews ignored the Viet Cong truce and rained more than 500 tons of bombs on six jungle corridors in a 75-mile area north and northwest of Saigon where intelligence reports said 40,000 Communist infantrymen were massed. The 24-hour truce ordered by American and South Vietnamese commanders was the shortest cease-fire called by the Allies for a three-day Communist violation was in effect a year ago.

Hall Of Fame

Tickets for the Southern Idaho Agricultural Livestock Industry Hall of Fame banquet are available from any Hall of Fame director or at the door. The annual banquet, where five livestockmen will be honored, will be held at 8:30 p.m. Monday in the Holiday Inn, Twin Falls.

Scout Troop Demonstrates For America Despite Storm In T.F.

Neither rain nor snow kept Boy Scouts of Twin Falls Troop 67 from "demonstrating for America" Saturday on Main Avenue. The demonstration climaxed National Boy Scout Week which has been observed throughout the country as well as with special dinners and meetings by most scouting units throughout Magic Valley. Members of the troop, which is led by Scoutmaster Frank Mogenen and sponsored by the Twin Falls First Methodist Church, marched throughout the downtown area Saturday afternoon despite precipitation in the form of sleet, rain and snow which kept bystanders at a minimum. The 50th anniversary of the scouting movement was celebrated earlier this week by Troop 67 at a potluck dinner for parents and friends at the church. Becky Sullivan sang several songs and Al Hutchison, Snake River Council field representative, showed new

Allies Mount Offensive Near Da Nang

DA NANG, South Vietnam (UPI)—An Allied offensive in upper Vietnam in mountains near this northern city aimed at blunting any Communist plans for a major Tet offensive in the region. The drive has cost more than 8,000 Allied troops into three main Communist strongholds near the Laotian border. Other units are sliding deep into red sanctuaries to the southwest. "If we can gain control of these areas, the North Vietnamese won't be able to get any major offensive off the ground," one U.S. Marine officer said. "The most critical operation in the Allies' strategy is a U.S. Marine campaign to cut North Vietnamese supply routes from Laos into the A Shau Valley. American paratroopers and South Vietnamese infantrymen, meanwhile, are trying to intercept the major supply zones for supplies once they move out of the valley 275 miles north-northeast of Saigon.

Shaw Witness Tells Of Hearing Gunshots

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—A New Orleans railroad man testified Saturday in the Clay L. Shaw conspiracy trial he saw a Dallas Union Terminal Railroad grassy knoll area in front of a presidential motorcade moments after President John F. Kennedy was shot. Under a cross examination, however, Simmons said the footprints may have been left by persons who had stood there that winter morning. The trial was recessed until Monday when Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison said the witness, former Texas Gov. John Connally by and his wife to the stand. Connally was wounded in the gunfire which killed Kennedy. Both he and his wife were riding in the presidential car. Connally's Asst. Dist. Atty. Andrew Shaw, 65, is charged with

Auto Parts Found In Friday Raid

A large quantity of automobile parts and accessories were confiscated Friday afternoon in a search warrant raid by Idaho State Police and Twin Falls County Sheriff's officers on an apartment occupied by Mickey Dean Barnes. Mr. Barnes was arrested on the charge of receiving stolen property. He was arrested in a search of his apartment. Officer C. R. Hillman, Mr. Barnes is being held in Twin Falls County Jail in lieu of $1,000 bond. It is believed that part of the automobile accessories were stripped from a sports car reported stolen from Ketchum

Time-Locked Vault Foils Bandit Pair

REDFIELD — A break-in at a two-and-a-half brick vaults which now contains nothing but records. They were unable to enter the bank's main vault, constructed of steel but the top of the vault, which is two feet thick, had been drilled to a depth of about four inches. Officers said there were numerous footprints on the floor in an empty room above the bank. Bank employees were fingerprinted Saturday and Deputy Whitman is attempting to contact anyone who noticed unusual activity in the downtown area. The vault is time-locked and will not open until Monday morning.

Court Action Seen In Bank Merger Plans

BOISE — William F. Irwin, president of the Idaho First National Bank, indicated Saturday that court action would be taken in the attempt of the Justice Department in Washington to block the proposed merger of Idaho First with the Fidelity National Bank of Twin Falls. The Justice Department said that the attitude of the Washington department was "unjust."

"They dwelled on the theoretical aspects which the National would have a significant adverse effect on competition. We cannot help but feel that they have taken this position to set an example for banks in the country by this case in Idaho. Our courts have been more interested in providing competition for public service, and we feel that when the facts are presented to the courts in relation to the statutory criteria, it will be found that the merger is in the public interest."

Western Bank Corporation, principal owner of the bank of Idaho, said Saturday Security Bank of Idaho is one of the principal units of First Security Corp., with headquarters in Salt Lake City. Next in size, he said, is Idaho Bank and Trust Co., with assets of more than $225 million. Fidelity National has four banking offices with assets of $22,948,724, deposits of $20,120,000 and 22 branches. The president concluded by saying that Idaho First is "small" by comparison with our borders. Therefore, our own people have our officers, staff and directors for the most part are long-time citizens of the state. Idaho First has 48 banking offices with assets on June 30, 1968 listed as $403,274,078. Deposits of $365,514 and loans and discounts of more than $225 million. # New District Highway Engineer Will Assume Duties On March 1

HOWARD JOHNSON

Howard L. Johnson, Idaho Department of Highways assistant construction engineer, has been selected to be district engineer with administrative headquarters at Shoshone, replacing Blaine Sessions. Mr. Sessions will be the department's new survey and plans engineer with headquarters in Boise. Mr. Johnson will assume his new duties March 1.

Born at Olds, Alberta, Canada, in 1928, the new district engineer received his early education in Jerome. He spent two years at Idaho State College, Pocatello, and was graduated from the University of Idaho, Moscow, in 1954 with a B.S. degree in civil engineering. He is a registered professional engineer in Idaho.

Prior to joining the Idaho Department of Highways, Mr. Johnson was employed by Bechtel Construction Co. as a field engineer at Pocatello and was an assistant city engineer at Moscow. He served with the U.S. Navy in World War II and the Korean War.

A 15-year highway department veteran, Mr. Johnson has served as a project chief, resident engineer, district maintenance engineer, assistant district engineer, and as assistant construction engineer.

In his new position, Mr. Johnson will be responsible for the location, design, construction and maintenance on the 1,083.5

Nixon's Receptive Ear Good For Nation

Sunday, February 16, 1969... AL WELSHBERGEN... THOMAS HOWARD... O. A. IGUN KELKER... WILEY DODDS... PHONE 733-0931

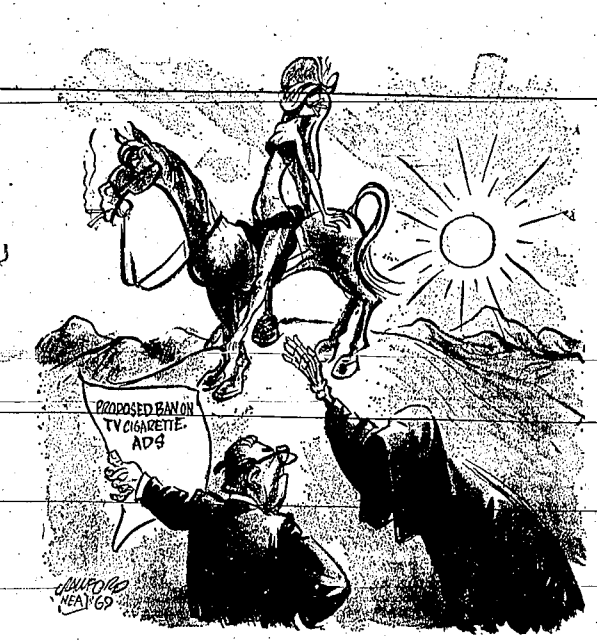

WASHINGTON (NEA) — A curious thing is happening to President Nixon. Yesterday he was known as Washington's "hardline" debater... There's a reason for this new Nixon image abroad.

These same years. On his trips abroad Nixon made it a point to drop in on that man and this. He systematically met key men from other countries... convinced some doubting European and Russian leaders he was a man you could deal with.

Society Hang-Up

Two unrelated studies from the same city give a picture of a different kind of "generation gap." The first, a study of 993 arrests of persons over the age of 60 in San Francisco, discovered that more than 80 per cent were for drunkenness... About 15 per cent of the elderly arrests were for petty theft and relatively minor violations...

"You Mean We Won't Be Able To Show Those Beautiful People?"

Their private meeting, the two hit it off famously. "The differences in personality between Nixon and De Gaulle are striking and obvious... Both are pragmatists, for one. Both are realists."

Death Defined?

Every time doctors and lawyers think they have found a certain criterion for determining when the dead are dead... The electrocardiograph was not foolproof. The electroencephalograph has recently been accepted as the last word...

MR. SPECTATOR It's Mighty Interesting

Don't say we told you, but we changed across something that is mighty interesting... Received a nice note from Mr. Spectator... THANK YOU NOTE... A few weeks ago Mr. Spectator received a request from them in their efforts in locating Mrs. Brown's father who had been missing from them for many years.

ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK Those Fueling Californians

WASHINGTON — The collapse of a routine rebuilding effort by the shattered California Democratic party indicates that the destructive fires of party factionalism there still burn fiercely... The continuing strife aborted a mission to Washington of California Democratic politicians to plan for the critical 1970 election.

ROBERT ALLEN AND JOHN GOLDSMITH Some Questions On The Pueblo

WASHINGTON — The first of many congressional inquiries to touch on the Pueblo mission will begin very soon, without fanfare and behind closed doors... Hearings will be conducted by the Senate subcommittee which oversees the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA). Periodically, the subcommittee takes a look at what trouble spots...

"MONUMENT TO WAR"

The making of the world will spend more than $200 billion on armaments and other military needs in 1969... They have already spent more than $1 trillion on wars and preparation for wars so far in this century...

THE OLD PAL

The man who prides himself on his illegible signature may feel important, but he is also dear to the flinty heart of the professional check writer... According to Paul A. Osborn, head of a New York firm that specializes in the examination of questionable documents, the easiest kind of signature to forge is the jagged executive scrawl.

THE OLD PAL

It is forgotten in Congress, for example, that Russell opposed the initial commitment of U. S. troops to Vietnam... Russell, senior senator in point of service, is retaining the chairmanship of the subcommittee on the subject of the Pueblo.

Since 1964, the world's Gross National Product has risen 9 per cent per capita; the world's military budget, 10 per cent... More than 20 million men and women are in active duty forces; another 20 million are directly or indirectly engaged in productive activities resulting from military expenditures.

THE OLD PAL

WASHINGTON — The first of many congressional inquiries to touch on the Pueblo mission will begin very soon, without fanfare and behind closed doors... Hearings will be conducted by the Senate subcommittee which oversees the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA).

How do you feel about the Euthanasia Bill, which would allow qualified physicians to terminate a patient's life if the patient had an incurable illness and requested the doctor to do so?

ANSWERS

MRS. ERICH OLSCHIEWSKI: "I am opposed to such legislation because of personal convictions. No one should have the right to terminate life. I'm also against physicians-keeping-patients-artificially-alive."

DOUGLAS KRAMER: "A man's life is something between himself and his God. I believe allowing a doctor to take a life places him in the position of God. I don't mean we should never consider mercy killing, but I don't think the doctor alone should make the determination."

REV. JAMES B. HUGHES: "I have not seen and cannot comment on the text of the proposed Euthanasia Bill. Some writers in Christian ethics have spoken favorably of the patient's right to die in a case of painful and terminal illness. This raises two questions: Is it morally right for medical science to prolong life when recovery and health are impossible? Is it morally right to end life when there is the possibility of an unexpected turn for the better? I must confess that, as I have watched in my pastoral care the progression of some diseases, I have wondered, "Why shouldn't the patient have the right to die?"

GEORGE BENNETT: "It's way-out thinking. It is not consistent with our way of thinking and our Christian ethics. It probably will not be favorably received by the majority of the legislators."

MRS. FRED DECKER: "It's terrible for a person to suffer such pain, but I don't believe a physician should be allowed to administer a drug to terminate a human life."

DAVE NELSON: "I don't think I could approve of this. Medicine is advancing so rapidly that a person with a terminal illness must realize that tomorrow there may be a cure for his illness. There is also the Christian aspect to be considered."

REV. EUGENE TJARKS: "I think it would be difficult for any man, doctor or not, to administer the 'kill.' I think it would be a different matter if a physician refused to prolong life. I would be opposed to a bill that would permit anyone to take the life of an individual, even though the individual requested it."

ORVILLE HASKINS: "It might be alright, but I can't feature doctors consenting to this. I don't think it's peoples' place to take the lives of other people. It's up to the Good Lord to take care of that."

Sen. Jordan To Address T.F. Meeting

The Legislative Luncheon at the American Legion Hall next Tuesday will feature a talk by Sen. Len Jordan, R-Idaho. It will be a long-distance special. Sen. Jordan will be speaking from his office on Capitol Hill in Washington, D.C. The audience will hear him over a loudspeaker in the Legion Hall. As the month progresses, other Congressional leaders are expected to address the club via telephone.

The Tuesday luncheons are attended by about 200. Legislators from the Twin Falls area speak to the group over the telephone, outlining the progress of the 91st Idaho Legislature as it meets in Boise.

The latest bills in the Legislature are also discussed and members of the audience at the Legion Hall pose questions to the legislators in Boise.

DEAF MAN DESIGNS TINY HEARING AID— OFFERS FREE MODEL

ADULTS ONLY (non-working)
A remarkably tiny all-in-the-ear hearing aid has been perfected by a man who has been hard of hearing for nearly ten years. This small device has no dangling cords. No separate transmitting units. Just slip it in your ear and hear again as nature intended.

This new hearing instrument was developed especially for those persons who can hear but can't understand clearly. It provides "ear-level" hearing. The wearer picks up speech, television, radio and general sounds more naturally. Due to the use of transistors, the user cost is extremely low. The instrument weighs only 1/8 oz. Hardly noticeable, yet very powerful.

FREE. Actual size, non-working model of the new all-in-the-ear hearing aid is available to you absolutely FREE. Try it on in the privacy of your home. No cost or obligation of any kind. It's yours to keep FREE.

THESE MODELS ARE FREE WHILE THE LIMITED SUPPLY LASTS—SO WRITE FOR YOURS TODAY TO: MR. ART CROSSBY, TELEX, 3054 EXCELSIOR BOULEVARD, MINNEAPOLIS, MINNESOTA 55416.

By PAUL M. QUINN

BOISE (UPI) — Dirty sheets, skiing and drinking, a measure for unwed mothers, a bill prohibiting sex education in the schools and a proposal to halt obscene phone calls were topics of legislation introduced in the Idaho House today.

The representatives held a morning session but the Senate, with its work caught up and the Republican leadership "pleased" with progress to date, took the morning off.

The measure prohibiting sex education from kindergarten through high school, was introduced by the Judiciary, Rules and Administration Committee. It would make it a misdemeanor to administer "any instruction, test, questionnaire, survey, educational material or examination containing any matter relating to the pupil's, his parents or guardian's beliefs or practices in sex, family life, morality or religion."

In order for such instruction to be granted the parent or guardian would have to be notified in writing and give written consent at least 30 days before such instruction is proposed.

The unmarried mothers bill would require school districts to provide instruction for all unwed mothers under 21.

The law now provides that every public school district within which is located "a licensed maternity home" must provide instruction for the mothers. It was amended to apply to districts within which "state-licensed or state-sponsored systems of unmarried expectant or delivered mothers."

The measure provides that unwed mothers can obtain a diploma or if they complete correspondence courses can be issued credits from any state institution of higher learning.

The drinking measure would reduce the present Idaho liquor codes so that "any resort rather than just a liquor license can apply for a liquor license. It was seen as a proposal aimed mainly at allowing resorts to apply on the county level for liquor licenses.

The "dirty sheets" bill would require that all sheets and pillow cases used by hotels be washed and dried in a manner sufficient to assure good sanitation.

It would eliminate the requirement that such sheets and pillow cases be washed and sterilized in scalding water of steam.

The phone call measure would provide that the use of obscene, lewd or profane language or making of a threat or obscene proposal . . . "shall be prima facie evidence of intent to annoy, terrorize, threaten, intimidate, harass or offend."

House Disregards Warning Of Cost, Votes To Create State Fire Marshal

By RICHARD CHARNOCK

BOISE (UPI) — Disregarding warnings they were embarking on an expensive program, House members voted 52-17, Friday to create a fire prevention board and the office of state fire marshal.

Rep. Patricia McDermott, D-Pocatello, told the House the legislation will help to prevent fires like the one that burned down the Paradise Pines Nursing Home and took seven lives in 1963.

That fire, which occurred at Pinehurst 15 miles south of Riggs, had a heating system "which was archaic at best," Miss McDermott said.

Chairman Jenkin Palmer, R-Malden, of the House Appropriations Committee, urged the House to defeat the bill on financial grounds.

"I would point out to the House we would embark on an expenditure that would exceed $300,000 to $400,000 in two years' time," Palmer said.

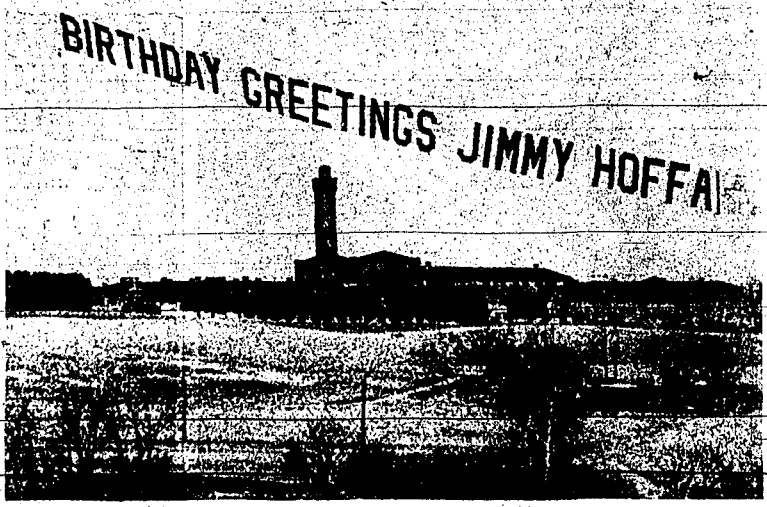

He said he realized there were serious problems of fire hazards in the state but said he was confident local fire departments could cope with them.

Rep. H. Ferd Koch, R-Boise, urged the House to disregard arguments about the expense of the program and concentrate on the need for it.

"I think it's time to spend a little to save a lot," Koch said, "and I ask you what is a life worth to the young or old."

Rep. Harold Agee, R-Meridian, recalled previous efforts by the legislature to require sponsors of legislation to put a "price tag" on it so members would know future costs.

"I suggested this might be advisable for this bill, noting

Miss McDermott said Idaho is one of six states in the nation not having a fire marshal and she said small town and rural fire departments want this legislation.

Not only does the bill create a seven-member fire prevention board and the office of state fire marshal, but it also sets forth regulations for the prevention of fires.

Rep. Clyde Keithly, R-Nampa, said the bill would make it possible for more thorough investigation of cases involving arson as well as help local authorities to crack down on fire hazards.

"I don't think it will break the state but I do think it will do a tremendous amount of good," Keithly said.

'Housekeeping' Aide Shuns Storm Willie Mae Rogers Resigns

WASHINGTON (UPI) — After only four days on the job, Miss Willie Mae Rogers quit Saturday as President Nixon's consultant on consumer affairs and a growing furor over her connections with the Good Housekeeping Institute.

The White House said Nixon had asked her to take a leave of absence from the institute, of which she is director, and serve as a government-paid consultant, but that Miss Rogers had refused. Her decision to step down "reluctantly" has been accepted, a spokesman said.

Miss Rogers came under fire in Congress in newspaper editorials for remaining on Good Housekeeping's payroll while working only for expenses as Nixon's consultant.

Rep. Benjamin S. Rosenthal, D-N.Y., for one, said this arrangement "represented a built-in conflict of interest," because the institute awards the Good Housekeeping Seal of Approval to certain products advertised in the magazine.

Miss Rogers, who refused to disclose her salary at the institute, shrugged off any suggestions of conflict of interest.

"You have to accept the fact that I am basically honest, and when I am here on this assignment my loyalty is to the whole time, effort and truthfulness is for the President's benefit," she told reporters Wednesday, the day after her appointment.

Nixon apparently tried unsuccessfully to counter the criticism by suggesting that Miss Rogers temporarily sever her association with the institute and get on the federal payroll.

DeMolays Celebrate 50th Year

For months those associated with the Order of DeMolay, a youth organization offering teen-agers boys training and guidance, has been planning March's 50th Anniversary Commemoration.

According to Morris Roth, chairman of the local young men have plunged into participation in chapter and jurisdictional programs designed for anniversary observances.

The Order of DeMolay was founded in Kansas City, Mo., in 1919 by the late Frank S. Land. There were only nine charter members of the original Order, but within a year more than 3,000 Kansas City youths had joined the chapter.

During the following 50 years more than 3,000 young men knelt at DeMolay altars all over the world, and today there are 166,000 active DeMolays in over 2,500 chapters in 111 countries and territories.

Mr. Roth said, "The order of DeMolay has taken the virtues of ancient chivalry and translated them into modern concepts and uses, building better citizens out of teenaged young men."

Engineers Can Take Lots Of Credit For Progress

Ever wonder just how important engineering is? If you do, take a look around. Almost everything in sight was put there through engineering. And engineering takes knowledge. Man is on his way to the moon. He has perfected land travel and found ways to make a heart beat better. In Twin Falls, the work of the engineer can be seen in the streets, the buildings and the lights. In Magic Valley, the efforts are revealed in bridges and power stations; in watershed projects and on the farm. Today marks the beginning of National Engineer's Week. The Magic Valley Chapter of the Idaho Society of Professional Engineers is placing emphasis on the week and is promoting engineering. During the past year, engineers who belong to the chapter have contracted all 27 high schools in Magic Valley. Individual career counseling has been provided. Also, career day programs have been organized and recently a junior engineer.

Exceptional Children's Group Elects

GOODING — The Magic Valley Chapter of Exceptional Children elected Mrs. Gladys Coxer, Twin Falls, president at its quarterly meeting at the Gooding State School. Other new officers are Paul Bird, Gooding, president-elect; Larry Watson, Twin Falls, vice president; Mrs. Rebecca Epperson, Twin Falls, secretary, and Mrs. Sherrille Jensen, Rupert, treasurer. An open house was held by the staff of the state school before the business meeting was conducted. Members were able to observe teaching techniques which include speaking, reading, writing, singing, dancing and the writing of letters. Mrs. Eleanor Bodahl, consultant of special education, State Department of Education, Boise, attended the meeting. Dr. Ed Reny, superintendent of the school, extended an invitation to the members of the council to attend the speech and hearing convention April 25-26 at the school. Refreshments were served following the meeting.

Heart Recipient Might Go Home In Two Weeks

CINCINNATI, Ohio (UPI)—Christine Corha, 6, recipient of a new heart last Saturday, may be released from Children's Hospital in two weeks. Hospital administrator Robert D. Southwick said the little girl was breathing without respiratory assistance from a heart machine for the first time since the transplant operation last Saturday. He estimated she would remain in the hospital another two weeks, barring complications. He said the average period of hospital recuperation for heart transplant patients was 18 days. "You can expect Christine to be here at least that long," he said. The brown-haired girl received the heart of a seven-year-old boy who died of injuries from a traffic accident. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Corha of Highpoint, Ohio, who spent their 10th anniversary with her at the hospital.

ing society was formed at Minco High School. An Explorer Scout group in Twin Falls has been in existence for several years. The scouts learn about engineering. And in the future, engineers stand ready to provide assistance to individuals or groups that request it. Engineers also work on legislative matters in Idaho and presently the state group is supporting consolidation of county highway districts. The Magic Valley chapter has started a continuing education program leading to registration as professional engineer or land surveyor. Courses will be given to engineers this year. This new program will provide needed information so that experienced engineers in the valley can be registered under Idaho requirements. An engineer has to have five years' experience before he can apply for the coveted professional engineer's title. The Magic Valley chapter represents engineering in the area. "Our activities are directed toward professional professionalism among our members and toward the protection of the public," Jim Pline, chapter president, said. Nationally, engineers are involved in preventing air pollution and cutting the noise problem that exists in the major cities of the nation. In Magic Valley, Mr. Pline said attention should be drawn to the varied jobs engineers perform. "They work for the Forest Service, Idaho Power and the cities and Highway Department. Engineers help the farmer increase his efficiency; they make life better for everyone by finding better ways to get things done," he said. The observance of engineer's week ends officially Feb. 22.

NATIONAL ENGINEER'S WEEK begins today and engineers in the nation, as well as Magic Valley, will be promoting interest in engineering. Some will even be taking refresher courses. The engineers standing from left here will be burning the midnight oil. They are Martin Foss, R. D. Jones, George Wickers, LeRoy Baker and W. L. Paris, all employees at Idaho Power. Seated at the right is C. E. Brockway, an engineer who will be the instructor. Mr. Brockway said recently, "It takes constant work to keep up with the demands of our profession."

Heart Fails For Reputed Mafia Chief

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Vito Genovese, the major underworld figure in the United States and reputed leader of the Mafia, died in a federal prison Friday. He was 71. Genovese died at 2:30 a.m. EST of congested heart failure at the Medical Center for Federal Prisoners in Springfield, Mo., the Federal Bureau of Prisons announced. He was serving a 15-year narcotics smuggling sentence.

Genovese is reputed to have converted the notorious Apalachin, N.Y., meeting of Mafia mobsters Nov. 14, 1957, to announce he was taking over the Cosa Nostra. He is alleged to have subsequently ordered the unsuccessful murder attempt on Frank Costello, since deported, and the killing of syndicate executioner Albert Anastasia in a New York City barber shop. Genovese served the early years of his sentence at the Federal Penitentiary in Atlanta but like all members of the Mafia was shifted frequently within the federal prison systems to prevent him from building a power base. Still, Genovese was said to have maintained control of his New York Division—called a "Cosa Nostra family"—and the entire organization from behind prison bars. The New England and California consists are among the foggiest regions in the United States, says the National Geographic.

Land Board Studies Apparent Fund Loss

BOISE (UPI) — The State Land Board learned today the estimated value of endowment lands being used for recreational purposes is $7,489,825 — an estimated $2 million in interest has been lost.

D.F. Engelking, state superintendent of public instruction, submitted a report on the loss to the education endowment fund resulting from the use of Idaho grant lands for public parks to the State Land Board.

The Department of Parks is given authority to administer the state parks, yet Idaho's parks and recreational areas include endowment lands, which are to be supervised by the Land Board.

The real issue, the report said, is not whether the legislature has authority to transfer lands for public use, but rather, do they have an obligation under the constitution to make restitution to the endowment fund.

The report suggested that the office of the attorney general should be authorized to sell parcels of endowment lands now under the direct supervision of the Parks Board for recreational use.

The Land Board tried to solve one matter by approving the appraised value of $10,393 for the Hagerman Forest reserve which the bill would be presented to the legislature for funding.

The question was raised whether the state should put the bill on the question, Commissioner Gordon Trombley said the board did have the power of "condemnation" — the right to condemn the land for public use, appraise it, and let the state purchase the land for the specific use.

Gov. Don Samuelson said he will send a letter to the legislature suggesting the interest rate on land sales be raised to one-half per cent above the prime rate of interest on Jan. 1 of each year. He will also suggest the period of contraction be shortened to 30 years from 40 years.

Wilhelm Becker, director of the Parks Department, appeared before the board to answer for a statement he allegedly made that was quoted by a northern Idaho newspaper.

Becker allegedly said that he did not approve the construction of the Indian Creek marina. Trombley, however, pointed out that Becker had been before the Land Board twice and both boards had approved the construction and the location.

Speech Meet Planned By Rupert Club

RUPERT — The possibility of hosting the area speech contest was discussed by members of the Rupert Speech and Debate Club when the group met for the first time this week under the direction of a new slate of officers in Rupert.

A committee, including Richard Bate, George Spangenberg, and Richard Westendorf, was appointed to check on arrangements for the event, which is scheduled for March 29.

President Ed Hartman conducted the business session during which membership potential was explained.

Clyde Anis gave the ice-breaker speech, "Past and Future," and Russell Mohlman spoke on the "News World," Mr. Mohlman's talk was rated the best speech of the evening. Ted Fujiki's topic was "Tensions That Kill."

George Spangenberg was tomorrow's Top Speech Club with table topics chairman. Winner of the best two-minute table topic was Richard Westendorf.

County Meet Is Continued At Shoshone

SHOSHONE — Lincoln County Commissioners have continued their February meetings as one member has not been ill. Final action has not been taken on the 1969 budget.

Commissioners have authorized the clerk to write to State Rep. John George and state Sen. Mary Brooks stating their opposition to Senate Bill 190, specifically stating they do not want the public health or junior college district laws changed.

They also asked that taxing units certify to the Board of County Commissioners the amount of tax dollars needed and the amount to be paid in salary for prosecuting attorneys.

The Commissioners also wrote to the Chairman of Revenue and Tax Commission, Allan Larsen, to protest the bid and proposals that will reflect wage increases for state employees and salaried officials.

The commissioners pointed out that "In some cases, the increases for the state employees are as much as our employees receive. We are at a county level of government have to restrict our expenditures. This should be followed through on the state level."

"We think it highly improper to use surplus monies to raise salaries when it is supposed to relieve the taxpayers. The taxes should be lowered rather than to increase a surplus that tends to liberalize spending."

The commissioners set 10:30 a.m. April 14 for public sale of tax property.

The property consists of Lots 12-23-24 Block 01, City of Richfield, formerly owned by Lloyd Lee; Lots 8-9 Block one, Klamma, formerly owned by Jessa Bond.

The resignations for Floyd Silva and Mr. Jim McCreary were received from the County Fair Boards. Appointed in their place were Fritz Struchen and Mrs. Dean Taylor.

VA Pension Benefit Totals Are Reported

BOISE — During 1968 the Veterans Administration paid $16,698,000 in compensation and pension benefits to Idaho veterans and dependents of deceased war veterans. M. W. Allen, director of the Boise VA Center said Saturday.

At the end of the year, 12,661 Idaho veterans were receiving compensation payment for service-connected disabilities or non-service-connected benefits, based on need, from VA, Mr. Allen said.

The VA Center director noted the widows, children and dependent parents of 4,037 deceased war veterans were on the pension and compensation rolls at the end of the year. These payments accounted for 48.5 per cent of total expenditures by VA in Idaho during 1968.

Remaining VA funds went for education and training assistance allowances for veterans and war orphans, GI home loans, hospital and medical facilities, insurance and indemnities and administrative expense, Mr. Allen said.

Your Spine And Your Health

By Dr. Ludwig C. Landwehr

Old Age is it a disease? A state of mind? Or just a natural condition? Old age should be the best part of life. As a rule, many responsibilities and financial worries have ceased to exist.

Perhaps one of the most promising symptoms of old age is a settling of the spinal column. This settling of the spinal column increases in length from one to three inches due to the thinning of the cartilage cushions between the typical segments. This settling may interfere with the flow of energy, supplied by the spinal nerve to the various organs and parts, greatly diminishing their efficiency.

Spinal manipulations and adjustments as performed by your chiropractic physician together will properly stimulate the nerves and guide areas of great assistance to avoid diseases peculiar to the aged.

Snake River Scout Council Selects Jamboree Leaders

The jamboree committee of the Snake River Area Council, Boy Scouts of America, has selected its leaders to direct the local Scouts at the seventh Northwest Jamboree at Farragut State Park in Northern Idaho.

Bill Rappleye, Twin Falls, was named chairman of the group. Others selected to attend are Al Lewis, Stanley Snow and Bob Rowe, all Twin Falls; Fred Locke, Gooding, and Donald Silcock, Burley. These men will be responsible for the four arrangements and for the boys going to the jamboree.

The Scouts and the leaders will leave Twin Falls July 7 and return July 25. They will travel via Twin Falls - Wells Nevada Stage Line. They will visit Mount Hood, Portland, Ore., Seattle, Wash., Victoria, B. C., Canada, Lake Louise, Banff, Alberta, Canada, Jasper National Park and then to the jamboree. They will return home by way of Lewiston, McCall and Boise.

Seventeen other leaders from the council will also attend the jamboree. There will be 74 boys from this council attending the jamboree. Al Hutchinson, assistant Scout executive, said there are only eight openings left, so Scouts planning to attend the jamboree should make their reservations as soon as possible.

Resignation Of Forester Is Announced

Frank C. Curtiss, assistant regional forester in charge of range management for the Intermountain Region, Forest Service, retired on Feb. 7. He began his career with the Forest Service 42 years ago, working first as a summer fire lookout on the Kootenai National Forest, Montana, and helping with topographic mapping of the Nez Perce National Forest in Idaho.

Since 1962, as chief of the Division of Range Management, he has directed a successful program of managing and rehabilitating rangelands through seeding and other restoration measures — on National Forests of the Intermountain Region.

"Frank (Jack) Curtiss is one of the foremost authorities on management of rangelands," said Regional Forester Floyd Iverson. "His leadership has greatly benefited the National Forests of the Intermountain Region."

FRANK C. CURTISS, Assistant Intermountain regional forester, has retired from the Forest Service after 42 years.

Heyburn To Build City Storage Unit

HEYBURN — Anderson Lumber Co., Rupert, was the apparent low bidder to construct an electrical storage building for the city of Heyburn at the corner of 18th and J. Street.

Bids for the project were opened and reviewed during the monthly meeting of the city council Wednesday night.

The company submitted a bid of $12,937.85 to build the electrical building. They were given 180 days to complete the project. Four other bids were considered.

An agreement was also reached with the P and E Construction Co., Twin Falls, to extend the sewer line to the Bailey Addition — That project is expected to be completed this spring.

The Twin Falls firm presently holds the contract to complete the installation of phase three of the city's four-phase plan to install sewer lines throughout the entire city. They will install the lines in the Bailey Addition for the same cost per foot as the rest of the lines bid to them in October.

Also during the meeting, Orvil Peters was hired as the city's dog catcher on a part-time basis. Council members noted that the dog ordinance will be enforced, with dog owners required to keep their animals on a leash and to have them licensed. A special meeting was scheduled for Feb. 24 to discuss the city budget, and March 12 was set as the date for public hearing on the budget.

Idaho Artist's Paintings Are Now On Display At College

A collection of paintings by an Idaho woman who has made a significant contribution to art in Idaho is now showing at the College of Southern Idaho Fine Arts Center.

Mary Kirkwood, long-time art instructor at the University of Idaho, has 31 paintings currently hanging in the hall and lobby of the north wing of the center.

Besides being an accomplished artist, Miss Kirkwood has touched the lives of and influenced the painting of thousands of art students while at the university.

The retrospective showing now at CSI illustrates Miss Kirkwood's own particular brand of painting, and, like many art shows, depicts the various phases of the painter's life. Certain periods are marked by the use of bold, bright colors, while later paintings reflect a dark, somber mood.

Most, however, show a lavish use of bright hues and definite brush strokes.

Miss Kirkwood, well-known and respected in Idaho art circles, also is admired throughout the Northwest. She has had showings throughout the area and has been awarded prizes for her work.

She paints almost exclusively with oils and all the paintings in the CSI collection are done with that medium.

The retrospective showing includes paintings from 1934 to 1966, including two self-portraits, one done in 1934 and one done in 1966.

LaVar Steel, chairman of the CSI art department, said that Miss Kirkwood's display "shows involvement with the human form." Almost without exception her paintings include at least the face of a person. The only exceptions are a few abstracts which still evoke the feeling of animate form and movement.

Most of the paintings also are impressionistic, but recently Miss Kirkwood has been dabbling with abstract.

The paintings, according to Mr. Steel, are of a "painterly type—the wide use of texture and directness." They all show her personal involvement with the human form.

Her early works, he continued, shows wide use of the traditional glazing techniques of the oil painter, while her later works use more of the impasto technique.

Mr. Steel also pointed out that many of her paintings show a contemporary mood. One large, impressive canvas, probably taken from a similar newspaper photograph, shows a Negro prize fighter who is obviously pleased with something he has done. The painting was done about the time several well-known Negro fighters were in their hey-day and probably was inspired by their ring antics.

Two more paintings are replicas of television scenes. The black, white and gray tones of the paintings are encircled by dark, rounded corner edgings.

While the paintings in the collection are nearly all based on the human form, the paintings nevertheless show a wide range of subject matter. Several of the paintings show the landscapes and people of Mexico which Miss Kirkwood painted while on a sabbatical in that country.

The Kirkwood display is the third this year at CSI and will be up until the end of the month.

The first showing was by Robert Max Peter, art instructor at the College of Idaho, Caldwell. A later showing featured works by members of the CSI art department.

Many of the paintings from that display still are hanging in the south lobby of the Fine Arts Center. Mr. Steel said that these paintings and others will become part of a permanent display which the college hopes to accumulate for public enjoyment.

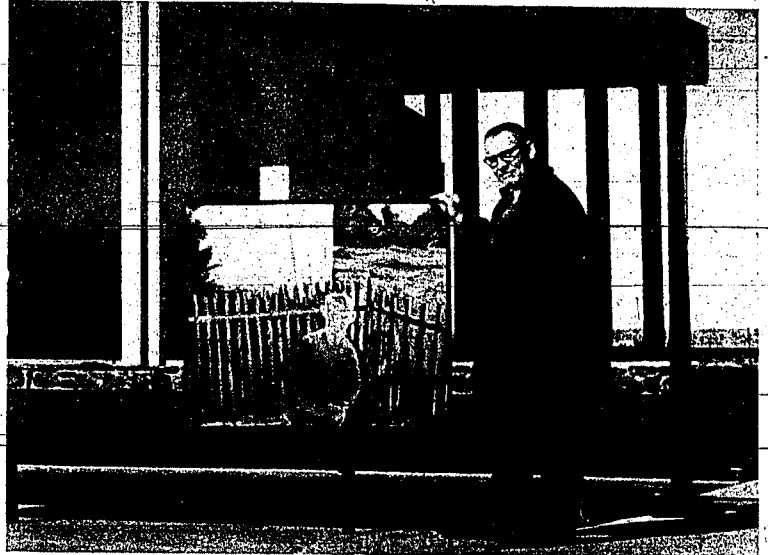

Included in the permanent display will be at least one painting from each guest display. The college has purchased one of Mr. Peter's paintings, which hangs in the south lobby, and also has purchased paintings from Fred Ochi, who conducted a special art workshop at CSI this year.

The continuous art showings are among attractions planned by CSI's Lyceum Committee, which is headed by Mr. Steel. He said that art classes from many schools in Magic Valley have come to the college to view the paintings and that countless other people have been able to enjoy them while attending functions at the Fine Arts Center.

For the next few weeks, at least, the Fine Arts Center will be open from about 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. Other times the building is open during class hours and whenever activities are going on at the college.

Mr. Steel said that his committee is now attempting to secure another show to move in when Miss Kirkwood's paintings go to Boise. He said it also is planned to have a show featuring the works of amateur artists in the area.

"BOY IN A GARDEN" is one of Mary Kirkwood's most colorful paintings. LaVar Steel, chairman of the CSI art department, poses with the painting near the entrance to the Fine Arts Center where the show is set up. Miss Kirkwood, art instructor at the University of Idaho, Moscow, currently has 31 paintings on display at the Fine Arts Center. Mr. Steel points out that the paintings display the artist's "personal involvement with the human form" since nearly all the paintings include a person. Miss Kirkwood's work has been widely shown in the Northwest. She has both studied art abroad and painted in foreign countries. Several of the paintings in the group were done in Mexico. The art show is the third this year at CSI. Future shows planned at the Fine Arts Center include one by amateur artists from the area. The college also is in the process of establishing a permanent art display for the public's enjoyment.

Women's Section

SELF PORTRAIT of Mary Kirkwood, the artist whose works are currently being shown at the CSI Fine Arts Center, is at left. Above is Linda Hranac, a CSI student, viewing a painting of Miss Kirkwood's late mother. The 31 paintings by Miss Kirkwood will be on display until the end of the month when they move to Boise for a showing there.

ONE OF THE MORE ABSTRACT paintings in the Kirkwood collection comes under the watchful eye of Gordon Heath as he cleans the hallway of the CSI Fine Arts Center.

He is a work-study student attending CSI on an athletic scholarship. The display will remain up for viewing through February.

MRS. LUCILLE KELLY admires one of the colorful paintings contained in the art display now at the CSI Fine Arts Center. Mrs. Kelly was a member of the board of directors of the Civic Auditorium Association which later turned its funds over for construction of the Fine Arts Center. There are 31 paintings in the show.

Miss Abbott, Worthington Wed At Jerome

JEROME — An archway of white ribbons and wedding bells formed the setting of the marriage of Cecilia Beth Abbott to the Duane Worthington at 7 p.m. Jan. 11 at the American Legion Hall.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Abbott and the bridegroom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Norvin Worthington, all Jerome.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Bishop Neil Perkins. The altar was decorated with white chrysanthemums and white feathered carnations, accented with pastel green ribbons.

The traditional wedding music was played by Mrs. Ray Ford, Fredwin Hansen was soloist, accompanied by Cheryl Fross.

Given in marriage by father, the bride wore floor length gown of silk crepe with lace covered bodice and lace covered three-quarter length sleeves. Bows decorated the detachable floor length train. The gown was designed by the bride's mother.

Her bouffant veil of French illusion was caught by a cluster of rosgs and leaves made from the same material as the gown. Kathleen Farrell designed and made the veil.

The bride carried a bouquet of white feathered carnations centered with pink roses and pink ribbon.

Carol Hyde, maid of honor, carried a single stemmed white chrysanthemum enhanced with pastel green ribbons.

Donnie Black was the best man. Ushers were Jamie Hopworth and Larry Briggs, cousins of the bride.

The bride's table was lace covered and centered with a three-tiered wedding cake decorated with white roses and soft green leaves and topped with a miniature bride and groom. Ferns encircled the base of the cake.

Cutting and serving the cake were Mrs. H. Prescott and Kathleen Farrell. Pouring were Linda Abbott, sister of the bride, and Ninetta Abbott, an aunt.

Linda Abbott registered the guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Hopworth and Mrs. Lorin Winder, aunts and uncles of the bride, were in charge of the gift table. Gifts were carried by Mildred and Cheryl Worthington, sisters of the groom.

For traveling, the new Mrs. Worthington chose a two piece bonded knit suit of Rio Rose with black accessories. She wore the rose corsage from her bridal bouquet.

The bride is presently employed as secretary at the county agent's office. The groom is serving in the Marine Corps at Camp Pendleton, Calif.

Church Women's Council Holds Business Meet

The Board of Managers of the Twin Falls Council of Church Women United held its monthly business meeting at the home of Mrs. James A. Sharkey, with Mrs. Raymond Hatcher presiding.

Mrs. Fred Moore presented the worship service, based on the Fellowship of the Lost God, under the topic "The Friendship of Christ." The offering was taken at the end of the presentation.

Mrs. P. B. Wilson, chairman of the by-laws revision committee, read a part of them and the group voted to clarify the section concerning membership in the council, so that local officers and chairmen of the Twin Falls Council, three members from each participating church, plus ministers' wives and any stato officers, are included.

Mrs. Sharkey, chairman for subscriptions to the Church Woman, displayed several of the magazines and stressed the importance of utilizing the articles.

Mrs. Hatcher urged the women to attend the next session of the Fellowship of the Lost God, A.M., February 18, at the home of Mrs. Clyde Ewing. Mrs. Sharkey will conduct the lesson.

Mrs. Wilson, chairman, outlined the plans for the World Day of Prayer on March 7th. The meeting will be at the First Presbyterian Church at 2:00 p.m. The theme will be "Growing Together in Christ."

Rev. Robert C. Harvey will be the speaker. There will also be a devotional service, based on the well-known camp song, "Kum Ba Yah," and conducted by women from all the various churches.

CowBelles Set Annual Dinner

The Desert Gold CowBelles will have their third annual dinner-dance March 1 at the Elk Lodge in Twin Falls.

A free cocktail hour will begin at 7 p.m. and dinner will follow at 8 p.m. Dancing to the Allen DeVries orchestra will follow.

For reservations for the prime rib dinner and other functions of the evening, call Betty Olmstead, 733-5757, or Judy Denny, 423-5931.

A drawing for half a beef will be held during the evening.

Clover LWML Has Meeting

The February meeting of the Clover LWML opened with prayer service, "On God's Mission," presented by Rev. Thomas Johnston.

Roll call was answered by 28 members. Members at large were Meta Holtzen and Alma Jager. Ann Schroeder and Audie Schroeder were hostesses.

The monthly project of the group will be alternated by sending money to a seminary student and Teen Challenge.

Filer Couple Says Vows In Catholic Ceremony

FILER—Janis K. Bennett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Bennett, and Robert P. Krepick, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Krepick, all Filer, recited marriage vows January 25 in St. Edwards Catholic Church, Twin Falls.

Edmund Cody performed the single ring ceremony before a background of baskets holding lavender and orchid chrysanthemums.

The bride, escorted by her father, wore a white satin gown which she made. It featured a beaded neckline and long sleeves. Her lace veil, which extended into a chapel train, was held by a crown of white beaded flowers.

She wore an opal ring which belonged to the bridegroom's grandmother and a blue garter—borrowed from her niece. She carried a cascade bouquet of white chrysanthemums centered with a single orchid.

Mrs. Marjorie Praegitzer, Hatley, niece of the bride, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Bessie Egbert, Twin Falls, and Mrs. Glenda Klinge, Salt Lake City, schoolmates of the bride.

Charles Krepick, Boise, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man. Ushers were Ralph Taylor, Filer, and Larry Toberer, Buhl, friends of the bridegroom.

Mrs. Larry Walden was soloist, accompanied at the organ by Jo Ann Cubitt.

A reception was held in the parish hall. Mrs. Laura McNew, cousin of the bride, registered the guests. Gifts were displayed by Mrs. Jeanne Franklin and Suzanne Lierman.

The bride's table was centered with a three-tiered spice cake iced in white and decorated with lavender flowers, white bells and a small white cross. It was topped with three white satin bells.

Silver candelabras holding lavender candles flanked the cake which was served by Mrs. Mildred Mahoney, sister of the bride, and Mrs. Grace Ringenberg.

Dear Abby

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: There is an old saying, "The Y's family that sticks together, stays together." I wish they could say the same for the family that EATS together.

I've had my store-teeth for about two months, and it takes me twice as long to chew my food and get it down as it did when I had my own teeth. But nobody seems to realize it. They keep a steady conversation going at mealtime, and ask me questions, so I have to stop chewing and answer them. Well, before I know it, everybody else has finished eating, and I'm about half-way thru.

Please put this in your column (but don't mention my name) so folks will be a little more patient with those of us with dentures. Thank you, your GRANDPA

DEAR GRANDPA: You don't need patience on the part of the dentist who made your dentures and put the bite on him for an adjustment.

DEAR ABBY: We are a group of women who belong to a club. We, each take turns hosting the club in our homes. The idea of the club is for us to have an enjoyable evening away from the kiddies. We all have families and on the nights we entertain we either get a sister in, or have our children in bed fast asleep. Our problem: One of the girls in our club has a small child, who she purposely keeps up for this meeting. The child is darling, but a chatterbox. She monopolizes the conversation and is the center of attraction the entire time. She doesn't just make an appearance, she is allowed to stay ALL evening. How can we tell this member without hurting her feelings that her child should not be included? SOME MEMBERS

DEAR MEMBERS: If she sees this, it might not be necessary to tell her anything. But in case she doesn't, one of you "gals" ought to tell her that children should be neither seen nor heard when mama entertains.

DEAR ABBY: Please help me before I lose my mind. I am 34 and Doug is 39. We have three children and a nice home, but I am BORED. Doug never wants to go anywhere. He's

Buhl Hobby Club Assumes Project

BUHL — The Buhl Gift and Hobby club members have undertaken a project to call persons who live alone in the community in order to see that they are well and safe.

The project was prompted when members heard that recently an elderly lady in the northern part of Idaho was injured in a fall at her home, and since she was alone, no one knew that she had been injured for several days after her accident.

Anyone in the local community desiring members of the Gift and Hobby club to call them occasionally to see if they are well, should contact Mrs. Lester Dressel or 543-5853 or Mrs. W. R. Haught at 343-4151.

There will be no charge for this service and men and women alike are invited to take advantage of this opportunity.

Catholic Women Discuss Foster Home Situation

Foster homes were discussed recently when St. Edward's Council of Catholic Women met at the Parish Hall.

Robert McFadden, Department of Public Assistance, told members of the group that children who have become wards of the department are placed in foster homes for extended periods of time. He said that in the Twin Falls area there is a shortage of qualified foster homes and that there is a particular need for homes in which to place teenagers.

Mr. McFadden said that because of circumstances, most of the children placed in foster

TWIN FALLS - BURLEY - RUPERT - BUHL

Whatever happened to Mama's little darling? This spring she'll be grown up and fly-wise as can be, in her wearing the sort of thin slip did when she won everyone's heart—back then—this new fashion look of sweet innocence is a most devastating put-on. Done, in the right mood, it's utterly alarming. These two new looks, from the spring Bobbie Brooks "plene" collection, are fetching proof. Both are fashioned of dot ed swags, but not those old hat pasties from years past. The two styles featured here are made from rooster red and chocolate brown, with giant rick-rack set-off the dotted fabric. Rick-rack circles the strand-up collar of the dress-at-right, and round baby buttons line up the front and cuffs of the dress at left. The look from the past has improved, of course, with a pandress included in the collection. The big, luscious collar at left and the full-blown sleeves, complement the sweet and innocent air. The romantic puffy sleeve and sashed waistline of the pandress at right accents the fully feminine style of the spring collection.

Reception Held For Shoshone Newlyweds

SHOSHONE—Newlyweds, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Onelda, are making their home here, where he is employed by the railroad. A reception was held at the American Legion hall, Shoshone, Jan. 18, sponsored by the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Pete Onelda. Mr. and Mrs. Roy P. Blackwood, Sandpoint, are parents of the bride, Kathy.

The wedding was performed by the Rev. John Nelson at the First Church of God with only family members and close friends present.

Mrs. Diane Brown was the bride's attendant while Steven Blackwood was attendant for the bridegroom. A reception was held at the Blackwood home immediately after the ceremony.

At the reception at Shoshone, Mrs. Garnet Onelda served the cake; Mrs. Clifton Dayley poured punch and Mrs. Elmer Jones poured coffee. Mrs. Robert Giles was in charge of the guest book. Friends attended from Twin Falls, Boise, Shoshone, Filer, Gooding and north Shoshone.

Gladys Somers, Morton Wed In January Rites

Gladys E. Somers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Somers, and Mark D. Morton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Morton, all of Nyssa, were united in 8 o'clock rites Jan. 25 in the United Methodist Church in Nyssa, Oregon.

The Rev. J. D. Crego performed the double-ring ceremony before a background of candles, labra and floral baskets of white mums, with sapphire blue ribbon.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a floor-length gown of reverse style of chantilly lace with emoire train trimmed with seed pearls of matching lace, long pointed lace sleeves trimmed in seed pearls. Her finger tip veil of nylon net was held by a shaped rose and pearl headpiece piece trimmed with seed and tear drop pearls. She carried a bouquet of white mums feathered into a cascade.

Mrs. Kevin D. Moberg, sister of the bridegroom, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Martha and Renee Somers, sisters of the bride.

Dan Skerjanec, Vales, was best man. Lynn Hiatt and Kevin Clowers were ring bearers.

The reception was held in the church basement which was decorated with blue streamers and white bells.

Blue chrysanthemums surrounded the base of the cake flanked by blue tapers in crystal holders. Net tied bridegroom's cake and traditional rice favors adorned the table.

The cake was cut and served by Mrs. Dwayne Teschle, Glendale, and Mrs. Henry Glens, of Kimberly.

Mrs. Dave Johnson, Ogden, Utah, poured coffee. Mrs. Art Cartwright and Mrs. Alva Goodall hosted the reception.

Chris Bonsel of Ontario, attended the guest book. Gift carriers were Kent and Ronda Miller and Lessa Nishitani of Nyssa.

Greg and Rick Glives of Kimberly, Idaho, Mrs. Hugh Nelson, Mrs. Lorraine Roberts, Boise, and Dick Miller, Nyssa, displayed the gifts.

Special honored guests were Mrs. Grace Rutherford, grand-mother of the bride; Mrs. Cora Putman, Buhl, great aunt of the bride.

Out of town guests were from Buhl, Kimberly, Dayton, Mont. Hereford, Ore., Vale, Ontario, Willow Creek, and Woodburn, Ore., and Fruiland.

The bride was honored at a luncheon held at the home of Mrs. Alva Goodell with Mrs. Dick Miller and Mrs. Glenn Strickland, assistant hostesses.

The couple will live on a ranch south of Nyssa, Oregon.

Pants, Pants And More Pants

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — After you've said pants, what is there left to say? Lots, if you're Jacques Tiffreau or Bill Bliss.

The two designers showed Monday that the pants story is far from complete. In fact, it's just beginning.

Tiffreau and Bliss were the stars at Monday morning's session of the one-day American Designer Showing, previewing spring fashions for 200 reporters from across the country.

Among the new touches Tiffreau added to his pants was the one-shoulder Grecian look of a navy and pink panned top, topped floppy-legged, heavy slacks.

Even the bride's costume, which, as usual, ended the Tiffreau show, featured pants—white organza flared pants topped by a white lace vest.

When it came to dresses, Tiffreau like the blouse, particularly striking was an expanderized skirt in brown and orange, with slim skirt.

Opening the Tiffreau show was what a company spokesman called "our one kooky thing, not really meant to sell." It was a little black crepe dress with circular cutouts over the breasts.

Preserving the model's modesty were crosses of cloth in the center of the circles.

Bliss, who designs for Maurice Rentner, added a new touch to pants chains that ran under the instep, rather like the elastic straps on ski pants.

For evening, there were ensembles in black and white, printed pants topped by an artfully draped scarf, fastened at the back with a single button and leaving most of the back bare.

Bliss signatures for 1969 included the tassel and the suspender dress.

Bottle Club At Buhl Plans To Attend Show

BÜHL — Members of the Buhl Antique Bottle Club made plans to participate in the antique bottle show and sale in Boise when they met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Hopkins.

The Buhl group will display drug and medicine bottles and other items which will be held at the new fairground on March 22 and 23.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Clayton presented the program and displayed their Jim Beam collection. Pictures were taken of the collection to be used in the club scrapbook.

The bottle of the month was awarded to Ralph Skinner.

The evening closed with refreshments being served by Mr. and Mrs. Hopkins.

The March meeting will be held at the John Cothran home.

Kimberly LWML Has Monthly Group Meeting

KIMBERLY — Mrs. Louise Mahler presented the devotional message at the February meeting of the Kimberly-Redeemer LWML at the home of Mrs. Ruby Kerrin.

Mrs. Henry Fry, president, presented the topic, "Witnessing Christ in Our Homes." She pointed out that a way of starting witness is by pictures and said that "The Head of Christ," "Christ in Household," and "What Happened to Your Hands" all are good choices for pictures. Mrs. Fry also stated that books, magazines, reading and studying the Bible, singing and watching television are all means of witnessing in the home.

The next meeting will be March 5 at the home of Mrs. Luella Lowe.

Club Officers

Officers for the coming year for the Merry Married Home Demonstration Club include: Betty Mahler, president; Doris Nielson, vice-president; Velda Lawrence, secretary; Doris Lloyd, treasurer, and Clara Stover, scrapbook chairman.

Stover were introduced during a recent meeting at the home of Nelda Ronk. Crafters will include Mary Velvick, Virginia Jensen and Doris Nielson.

Esther Bland was welcomed as a new member. A thank-you note from Ragnes Gustafson was read.

The February meeting is at the home of Ruby Reddick. Mrs. Mahler and Vera Young will present the program, "Pots and Pans."

MR. AND MRS. JEREL H. ADAMSON

Kristine Smith, Adamson Wed In LDS Temple Rites

JEROME — Kristine Lee of honor. Bridesmaids were Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mardene Beeton, Karen Tretz, William John Smith, Salt Lake City, and Jerel Harwood Jensen. Betty Jane Begay was Adamson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Warren M. Adamson, Jerome.

Robert Kreight, Twin Falls, was best man, and Russell Smith and Jon Adamson were ushers.

At the reception guests were registered by Amy Roberts, Arlene hie reception host.

Guests were seated at quarter tables covered with white cloths, and centered with gold-flecked hurricane lamps and arrangements of blue and white carnations, satin roses and bows.

The three-sized wedding cake floated in a sea of blue, with fountains flanking it on all sides. Gold candelabras, white and blue carnations and satin roses and balls completed the evening of their wedding at a table decorations.

The bride wore a gown of sculptured velvet with a chapel tier veil of white illusion and held by a tara of pearls and crystals. She carried a bouquet of white carnations centered with a white orchid.

Mrs. Mark H. Smith, sister-in-law of the bride, was matron of honor.

After a trip to Las Vegas, the couple resides at 2239 Jefferson, Ogden.

Proceedings of the Idaho Grand Chapter were reviewed by Mrs. Lillian Barton, Mrs. John West, Mrs. Quary and Mrs. Dana Burch. Mrs. Fred Matz, chairman of the sick and visiting reported that all members had been remembered.

Invitations were read from Friendship observances for Twin Falls, No. 29, for Feb. 25; and March 19 for Ingerman, Feb. 18 the Jerome chapter will observe 50th anniversary.

Mrs. Faith Eaton, secretary, read the annual report. A donation was made to assist with Girl's State.

During the social hour Mrs. Ruth Wahler presented colored pictures and narrations concerning the Perseus Chapter.

Hosts for the evening were Mr. and Mrs. John Newbrough, Mrs. V. A. Cassingham and Mrs. Faith Eaton.

Competition Is Rewarding For Parents And Babies

NEW YORK (UPI) — Some women may vote for a first tooth as a first step, but the mother's proudest moment comes when she has her first chance to practice one-upmanship on the mama next door.

It's a truly glorious moment when you can announce a new achievement and see that flicker of dismay and hear the admission that junior next door hasn't stood up alone yet or still won't drink milk from a cup.

The fact that it is the baby's achievement, not yours; the awareness that you are not being kind — the knowledge that when a first tooth comes in has nothing to do with baby's physical health or emotional development — these all are beside the point.

These factors are particularly true for the mother of a premature baby, because she has had so much one-upmanship practiced on her, not to mention a bit of downright malice from a few little old ladies in the park.

Since my own daughter arrived two months ahead of schedule, I had plenty of practice in conversation that went something like this: "Oh, isn't he cute," a complete stranger says. Why compare strangers assume a baby dressed entirely in blue and covered in a blue blanket is a boy, I don't know. "How old is he?" You answer, smiling proudly, "Small for four months. Has the poor little thing been sick?" You hasten to explain about that baby being here two months prematurely — as a matter of fact, after a few of these conversations you manage to precede any statement about the baby with a premature disclaimer.

My husband suggested just fibbing about our daughter's age — making her two months younger than she really was, but somehow that went against the grain. The scene with neighboring mamas is a little different. They are friends or acquaintances — and know — about baby's prematurity. But they tell you about their darling's newly acquired smile, then patronizingly add: "You just wait — surely she'll smile soon and you'll see what it's like."

By the time your baby can smile, YOU have forgotten how the pediatrician's waiting room is a disaster area for the mother of a premature baby. Sometimes you are surrounded literally by smiling, sitting reminders "da-da-ing" reminders of all the catching up your daughter must do.

Doctors try to be tactful, but every time you make a mistake. A friend who shares my premature predicament confided recently that she was afraid there was something seriously wrong with her son because for the first three visits the pediatrician never asked any questions about his progress.

Finally on the fourth trip the ORIGINAL NAME Cranberry was originally cran-berry. The fruit is borne on curved stalks which suggest the neck of a crane.

Wind Squall Drives 'Wall' Of Water Onto Resort Beach

SARASOTA, Fla. (UPI)—A 4 1/2 foot high wall of water driven by a violent squall over the Gulf of Mexico smashed ashore on tourist-packed Lido Beach Sunday, inundating the lower floors of many motels.

There were no immediate reports of injury but damage readily was widespread.

The wave struck without warning and was followed a minute later by a second break wave that was similar.

Hijack Treaty Nears

MEXICO CITY (UPI)—Mexico and Cuba are near agreement on a treaty under which the Fidel Castro regime would return Mexican airline hijackers to government sources said today. But the treaty would require Mexico to return Cubans back to Castro.

The treaty would be the first of its kind involving the return for prosecution of hijackers who have diverted planes to Cuba from the United States and several Latin American countries. Hijackers returned to Mexico could be sentenced up to 40 years in prison.

However, the proposed treaty announced Friday by Mexico's Foreign Relations department, also would require Mexico to send back to the Communist island refugees who fled Cuba to Mexico, sources said.

A government spokesman said the treaty would require both governments to return any aircraft or ship forcibly detained to the other nation, together with all its contents, passengers, crew and hijackers.

The accord, on which negotiators working in Havana have achieved "preliminary agreement," would apply only to Mexican airliners, not to planes from the United States or any other country hijacked after leaving Mexico.

Mexico is the only Latin American country that still maintains diplomatic relations with Cuba, and because of this, it is an important link for Communist regime with the hemisphere.

Sources here saw the preliminary accord as a victory for the Mexican government, which has been pressuring Cuba for three months for some kind of pact to return hijackers. Two Mexican planes were forcibly diverted to Cuba last year.

Scores of Cuban refugees have fled to Mexico, 100 miles away at the closest point, in small boats across the Caribbean. Mexico has granted them political asylum if they request it.

Tiny Cars Stir Ire Of Aide

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Dr. William Haddon Jr. is leaving the National Highway Safety Bureau with one last controversial proposal—that some mini cars should be taken off the road.

Haddon quit Friday as head of the agency which fashioned auto safety standards. His successor was not immediately named.

Haddon, 42, who often found himself sandwiched between critics like Ralph Nader and the auto industry, said he felt the new transportation secretary should be allowed to pick his own team.

Haddon bowed out with a last bid for better auto safety. He said new government research done on some mini cars—cars under 1,000 pounds—

Woman Objects To Euthanasia

In your Feb. 7, 1969, issue was an article headed "Euthanasia Bill Introduced by the House Health and Welfare Committee."

Boy, who has any right to say when a physician is qualified to kill a human being even if the person asks to be killed? We wonder about other countries and the way they abuse the rights of their people. What kind of a state is Idaho turning out to be?

Remember, God giveth and God taketh away. As far as a qualified physician, who is to say he is qualified? Some of us know I would not say we were killed from past experiences I know personally.

I'd like to hear from the ministers of churches on this as to what they think.

President-To-Dog Catcher Are On U.S. Welfare Rolls

Editor, Times-News:

Some 12 to 18 months ago several Social Security pensioners, firing the implied charity status, "welfare" applied to their pensions, distasteful to their sensibilities, wrote letters of protest to the Twin Falls Times-News Public Forum.

Our public officials, from dog catcher to President are on welfare (taxpayers' money). Congressmen have the third pensions at more than $800 per month. That is several hundreds of dollars per month more than Social Security pensioners receive in a year. Our children receive their education through welfare and contractors grow wealthy on it.

Most letters to the public forum are published and forgotten, but these merited some attention, so a staff writer, assigned or on his own put a stop to that kind of stupid thinking. After a wordy summing of their claims, he delivered the clinch. "It was welfare, no matter what, because it was taxpayers' money."

An unfortunate choice of words, would be the verdict of a politician, versed in the art of fooling the people. But it brings into perspective our national dependence on welfare.

Our statesmen-lawmakers have set $3.50 per day as their welfare pensions while idle. That comes to $105.00 for a 30 day month. Much more than many old age pensions, and no restrictions on outside earnings.

The only thing a Social Security pensioner needs to hang his head over is his stupidity in not getting into a branch of welfare that pays better.

Class Of '39 Sets Reunion Here July 5

July 5 and 6 have been set as dates for the 30th reunion of the class of 1939. It is announced after the most recent of several sessions relating to the gathering.

The dates were finalized at a meeting at the home of Ruth Flinn, 215 Seventh Avenue East. The social hour, dinner and dance will be staged at the Holiday Inn the evening of July 5 and a picnic will be held at Hatmon Park in Twin Falls July 6.

At the present time a list of graduates is being compiled and their up-to-date addresses are being obtained. Next session for work on this list will be at the home of Frances Threlkeld, 393 Alturas Drive, tomorrow (Monday) at 7:30 p.m. All class members who wish will be welcome to attend this session.

Those members knowing addresses of class members which have not been previously determined are asked to call Mrs. Threlkeld at 733-5522; Dorothy Benson at 733-6317 or Mrs. Flinn at 733-1104 (evenings).

Forum Rules

Forum letters must be concerned with topics of general interest and must be of a reasonable length. The editors of the Times-News reserve the right to refuse publication if, in their opinion, the subject matter is of a "hot" nature, is not in good taste or is repetitious and has previously been thoroughly covered in the forum.

All letters must bear the signature and address of the writer. The name of the writer will appear when published unless there is a personal request that it be withheld and the reason for such a request stated. This request will then be considered by the editors and it will either be granted or the letter will be returned to the writer.

Storm-Harassed Markets Slump In Active Trading

By HOWARD LUXENBERG CUI Business Writer

NEW YORK (UPI)—New York was anything but Fun City this week and Wall Street was no exception as stocks slipped into active trading.

The week began a day late for investors because a 15-inch snowstorm—the worst to batter the city in eight years—paralyzed transportation, forcing cancellation of Monday's trading session.

When dealings resumed on Tuesday, which turned out to be the week's only bright spot, the

Transit In Utah Pondered

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI)—Legislation paving the way for creation of a mass transit system serving the major population centers along Utah's Wasatch Front has gained tentative approval of the State Senate.

Utah's Senate, which provides for the establishment of public transit districts which could be necessary, cut across municipal and county lines.

"We visualize a mass transit system serving Wasatch Front communities," said W. L. Fields, member of the Salt Lake Area Chamber of Commerce, in an appearance before the Senate Friday.

Fields told the senators the power of such districts to levy taxes would be specifically limited to providing funds to pay bonded indebtedness.

To gain approval for the issuance of bonds the district would have to obtain approval through a bond election.

The act is intended to first establish bus systems to serve Wasatch Front cities, namely Salt Lake City, Provo, Ogden and Logan and communities in between.

But the act would not limit such transit districts to the operation of bus lines.

Provisions of the measure would enable the transit districts to construct, operate or lease rail lines, monorails, and "all other facilities necessary or convenient for public transit service."

Governing bodies of a municipality or county could initiate proceedings to form transit districts by determining that public convenience and necessity require such a district.

An election would then be in the area of the proposed district to determine if the transit system were to be formed.

The district would be limited to carrying passengers and their incidental baggage and could not compete with other types of transportation.

Management and control of the district would be vested in a board of directors appointed by the governing body of the political subdivisions within the district.

The district would appoint a manager to handle operation of the district with powers similar to those of a city manager.

The board of directors would determine the fares to be charged, but public hearings could be held on the matter if requested by the governing body of any municipality within the district.

Cold-Shooting Southern Idaho Outlasts ISU Frosh 55-45 For 23rd Victory

POCATELLO — Struggling through a cold night of shooting, the College of Southern Idaho Golden Eagles outlasted Idaho State freshmen 55-45 Saturday but didn't have an easy time of it. The win raised the Eagle season record to 23-1.

The Eagles return to Twin Falls Wednesday night to play Ricks College with a chance of wrapping up undisputed possession of the Intermountain Collegiate Athletic Conference championship. CSI ran up a 14-point lead. But late in the first half the Eagles started missing and were hampered by turnovers as the second half began. Idaho State wheeled back to within one point at 40-39 with seven minutes gone in the half but the young Bengals weren't able to quiet the cat. At Davis hit a pair of free throws and Nate Stephens and Ron Adams got buckets immediately after that to keep CSI ahead.

Idaho State stayed within four to six points over the next several minutes and with 2:39 remaining, CSI went into a slow-down game with a six-point lead. Davis got two more buckets and the Eagles ahead by eight with 1:30 left.

White Sox Practice Is Rained Out

SARASOTA, Fla. (UPI)—Two more Chicago White Sox rookies turned out for the second day of spring training here Saturday, but a rainstorm caused the cancellation of practice sessions.

The White Sox are the first team to open spring training and a number of players stayed away as negotiations continue between players and owners for more financial benefits from television rights.

Reporting for training Saturday were Danny Lazar, a left handed pitcher from Hawaii and an unrostered catcher, Howard Wood.

Manager Al Lopez and all but one coach were on hand for the practice. The only coach absent was Kerby Farrell, whose father is ill in Nashville, Tenn.

There are now 13 players on the parent roster who have reported for training.

The 12 who were on hand for the opening day were Russ Nixon, Gale Norton, Hermann, Doug Adams, Fred Rath, Don Secrett, Billy Wayne, Paul Edmondson, Mickey Vandevy, Mangum, Mickey Abarbanel and Danny Omski.

Major league players do not usually become holdouts until March 1.

The White Sox have the earliest reporting date of the 17 major league clubs which train in Florida this year because of scheduled series of games in Mexico City in the spring.

Dietrich Defeats Hagerman

HAGERMAN — Dietrich avenged an earlier loss at the hands of the Hagerman Pirates Saturday night as it came from behind to post a 56-50 victory in the Pine gym.

Held slightly below a 91 point average it had been maintaining for the past four games, the Blue Devils found themselves 11 behind at the half.

The Pirates jumped out in front 12-0 early in the game, and playing minus two starters, appeared to have the hot hand.

But Randy Lee and company worked up in the third quarter to draw within two, then overtook the Pirates midway through the last period.

Dietrich finished the regular season slate at a great level while Hagerman ended its slate at 13-6.

Seminole Upset Dayton By 79-71

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI)—Florida State, behind the 24-point surprise of Duke Covens, pulled an upset 79-71 win over favored Dayton here Saturday night.

The Seminoles jumped to an eight point lead at 32-24 with 6:54 left in the first half but the Flyers rallied to tie it at halftime 40-40.

The score was tied again at 60-59 with 9:36 left before Skip Young, Covens and Willie Williams added three goals and a free throw to put the Seminoles ahead to stay.

Young wound up with 20 markers and Williams 18, Dan Sandler led Dayton with 10 points and Dan Olovovac had 15.

FSU's senior guard Jeff Hogan scored eight points to give him a fifth place tie for the all-time leading scorer in FSU history with 1,090 points.

The win gave FSU a 16-7 season record and Dayton is now 17-5.

Michigan State Tops Illinois

EAST LANSING (UPI)—Four players hitting double figures, led Illinois slim Big Ten title hopes a probably-fatal blow Saturday by notching a 79-70 victory.

It was the second loss by the Illini to a Michigan team this week and gave Illinois a 4-4 conference mark, the same as Michigan State.

Illinois, which received 20 points from Greg Jackson and Junior Tom from Jack Harrison, came out with hands and split up in the second half, reeling off eight points in a row to close the game to 39-33.

However, with 8:40 to play, Michigan State opened the margin back up to 52-47 and the closest Illinois could come the rest of the way was 68-64 with 2:11 remaining in the contest.

Freeman Helps Trim California

MERCEDES, Calif. (UPI)—Freeman scored 16 points in the second half Saturday to help Oregon State hold off California and score a 70-63 win in the conference victory.

The Beavers shot to a 47-28 halftime lead, hitting at a blistering 70 per cent (16 of 21) from the floor. Freeman, Dave Moore and Vic Baroniello each connected on four of four shots.

Freeman wound up as the game's leading scorer with 28, Jackie Riddle led the Beavers with 25 and Bob Prentiss had 17.

Freeman was Oregon State's third in all conference games. Cal slipped to a 4-5.

Utah Breaks A-State Zone In 104-87 Win

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI)—Utah punctured Arizona State's zone defense with near flawless passing and swarming rebounding to wallop the Sun Devils, 104-87, in a Western Athletic Conference battle Saturday night.

The Utes, climbing into second place in the conference standing, picked off 42 rebounds in the first half at ASU's 17 and left the floor intermission with a 49-34 lead.

Utah wound up with 75 rebounds, breaking their own conference record of 71 set in 1967 against Arizona. Sophomore Mike Newlin, regaining his stride, sparked Utah with 28 points and turned an excellent rebound game. He had 15 rebounds and set up numerous baskets with pinpoint passing.

ASU had more than his share of shots in the free-wheeling game but had difficulty finding the mark, particularly from the outside.

Seaborn Hill led the visitors with 21 points, Roger Dettler had 19, including 16 in the second half.

The Utes, hitting the century mark for the fifth time this year, led the floor intermission 12-11 on a free throw by Newlin.

UCLA Explodes In Second Half For 83-59 Win

PULLMAN, Wash. (UPI)—Top-ranked UCLA, also with only four points in the half, 31-27, exploded in the second half Saturday night to post their 17th straight victory of the year, 83-59 over Washington State.

The Bruins went on scoring spurts of 10-2 and 10-0 before the midway mark of the second half to settle the issue.

With towering Lew Alcindor effectively cleaning the boards, UCLA built up a comfortable margin to coast their seventh Pacific 8 Conference triumph and 35th straight over a two-year span.

Alcindor connected for 13 points in the first half as the Cougars, now 5-3 in Pacific 8 play, grabbed an early lead before fading to the pressing Bruins.

UCLA quickly built up a nine point lead at the outset of the second half and the closest WSU could come was seven points in the second half and WSU stayed within seven points before UCLA pulled away for good.

Alcindor scored 24 points on point-guards with a double-double. Rowe added 17. Wierman was high for the Cougars with 20.

Freeman Helps Trim California

MERCEDES, Calif. (UPI)—Freeman scored 16 points in the second half Saturday to help Oregon State hold off California and score a 70-63 win in the conference victory.

The Beavers shot to a 47-28 halftime lead, hitting at a blistering 70 per cent (16 of 21) from the floor. Freeman, Dave Moore and Vic Baroniello each connected on four of four shots.

Freeman wound up as the game's leading scorer with 28, Jackie Riddle led the Beavers with 25 and Bob Prentiss had 17.

Freeman was Oregon State's third in all conference games. Cal slipped to a 4-5.

Minico, Snake River Share State Title; Spartan Jensen, Bruins Little, Stone Claim Individual Championships

IDAHO FALLS — The Minico Spartans, putting Dana Jensen in the championship circle, tied with Snake River for the Class A state wrestling championship Saturday night with 55 points.

Twin Falls, with state kings in Vic Stone and Dick Little, placed fourth in the event with 40 points as South Fremont closed in for third with 49 points.

In the B division, Teton took first with 65 points as a runner-up North Fremont. No fourth district Class B athletes managed to win titles.

The Spartans, ahead by 10 points going into the last night, didn't have what Snake River had going for it—three defending state champions. But Jensen's victory at 123 pounds plus second by sophomore Mike Schettler and George Grant, third from Goers and a fourth from Tom Judd led the Spartans to establish a 100-point margin the second time Coach Red Halverson and his Spartans have taken first in the state mat tournament.

Twin Falls' Vic Stone helped the Spartans—and himself and Twin Falls—by winning the 106-pound title with pin over Snake River's Williams. In a reversal of district form in the 191-pound class, Twin Falls' Dick Little defeated John Walker of Butte in the final.

Twin Falls' Mike Buckendorf had to settle for second in the 141-pound class in a great battle with Pocatello's Mike Schelhuber. The two had met twice previously and split Saturday night's battle was a donnybrook affair, the lead shifting hands. Marsh Schelhuber went in front, 9-7 Valley, dec. Palmer, Nampa.

141 pounds — Schelhuber, Pocatello, dec. Mike Buckendorf, Twin Falls; third and fourth, Clark, Caldwell, dec. Holcomb, Valluave.

148 pounds — Hawkes, South Fremont, pinned Grant, Minico; Jensen, Snake River, dec. Pocatello, Caldwell, dec. Holcomb, Valluave.

157 pounds — Allen, South Fremont, dec. Stanley, Boise; third and fourth, Bell, Highland, dec. Balls, Soda Springs.

168 pounds — Angell, South Fremont, pinned Wallace, Borah; third and fourth, Pike, Wood River, dec. Schelhuber, Moscow.

191 pounds — Dick Little, Twin Falls, dec. John Walker, Buhl; 4-2; third and fourth, Edmundson, Lewiston, dec. H. L. M. A. Moscow.

Heavyweight — Charbonneau, Capital, pinned Fluke, Skyline; third and fourth, Blomquist, Marsh Valley, dec. Stromberg, Grangeville.

Class B

98 pounds — Manwaring, North Fremont, dec. Nelson, French; third and fourth, Spangler, Kamiah, dec. Wilson, Grangeville.

106 pounds — Wanke, North Fremont, dec. Dulley, Teton; third and fourth, Spenser, Parma, dec. Withraw, Kuna.

115 pounds — Knowles, North Gem, dec. Maroz, North Fremont; 8-3; third and fourth, Geolin, Parma, dec. Murphy, Kimberly.

120 pounds — Espary, Teton, dec. Holbrook, North Gem; third and fourth, Bohlander, Firth, dec. Kentolla, McCall.

McKinley Is Given Post

EVANSVILLE, Ind. (UPI)—Bill McKinley, a 26-year veteran of umpiring in the American League, was named Saturday as supervisor of umpires in the new Global Baseball League.

McKinley, 55, of Xenan, Ohio, retired in 1958 from the major leagues, after umpiring 19 four World Series and three All-Star games. The majors have a mandatory retirement age of 55 for umpires.

"This provides an opportunity to stay in the game," McKinley said, adding that he would assemble an umpiring staff for the new league and also work some games himself.

Missouri Stuns Kansas 56-55

LAWRENCE, Kan. (UPI)—Missouri's surprising victory shocked the 12th ranked Kansas Jayhawks 56-55 Saturday in a Big Eight Conference basketball game.

—20-foot jump shot by Dave Robisch in the final three seconds cut the Missouri advantage to the final one-point difference, but Missouri held the ball to beat the clock.

Missouri battled to a 23-21 halftime edge and held on through the second half. Kansas went in front briefly for the first time with 8:32 to play.

Idaho Beats ISU 69-68 In Last Seven Seconds To Split Weekend Series

POCATELLO (UPI)—A field goal with seven seconds left by 5-8 guard Jim Thacker propelled the University of Idaho to a cliff hanging 69-68 victory over Idaho State in Pocatello Saturday night.

Thacker hit four longer-than-20-foot jump shots late in the game to bring Idaho from an eight-point deficit to the final triumph. However, the Vandals needed a crucial out-of-bounds decision by the officials to give them the ball with 15 seconds remaining in the game.

Idaho State in Pocatello rebounded off Fred Tenkle who went out of bounds. The Vandals got the ball. Thacker scored and then won the game.

Tony Iano and Mike Gurnell shot and rebounded ISU to their eighth-point lead as they climbed for 35 points and 20 rebounds.

Idaho had good scoring and board work from Jerry Smith and Steve Brown. Brown started the game though he hadn't played for the Vandals for some

Liimo Leads BYU To Win Over Arizona

PROVO (UPI)—Senior Karl Liimo, playing his last home game, scored 21 points and brought down 14 rebounds to lead Brigham Young to a 70-66 win over Arizona here Saturday night.

Liimo hit eight of his first nine shots from the field to give BYU an opening lead. But the game was tied eight times in the first quarter and the lead changed hands four times before BYU took a 38-26 halftime lead.

Brigham Young, shooting 61 per cent from the field and 80 per cent from the free throw line in the first half, then cooked to a 35 per cent shooting average in the second while Arizona came on strong. The Wildcats came within two points of tying BYU with 43 seconds left.

BYU's Doug Howard, fouled with 18 seconds left in a 63-66 ball game, dropped to both free throws to insure the Cougar win. Howard had hit eight of eight from the free throw line. Arizona did manage to tie BYU center Paul Ruffner scores. However, substitute Scott Garner, a 6-6 junior, relieved Ruffner and was good for 14 points.

High point man for Arizona was Eddie Myers with 15.

Kimberly Edges Oakley On Bulcher's Last-Second Goal In Third Overtime

By LARRY HOVEY
Times-News Sports Editor

KIMBERLY — Lanky Rod Bulcher scored a crumple off a neat reverse pivot with three seconds to go in the third overtime Saturday night to hoist Kimberly past Oakley 60-59 in the season finale for both clubs.

The Kimberly victory was a hard-earned one, coming after the Bulldogs had trailed by as much as 11 points but more importantly after Oakley had mounted a three-point lead in the last extra session and had possession of the ball with under a minute to go. A long jumper by Rick Erickson brought Kimberly within one and Kimberly got life when Oakley misplayed a pass that was almost a certain netting an all-or-nothing game-ending crumple. On the on-swing pass in, Kimberly bounced the ball up to the 10-second line to save the last nine seconds.

It was Erickson who caught it up, looked at the basket and Oakley's zone defense swarmed him. He flipped to Bulcher who attracted two men immediately. Bulcher bounced the ball off the court, went into the reverse pivot that split the two defenders and netted the easy crumple.

Kimberly caught up on consecutive points from Emerson, Bulcher and Sapp, the last a three-point play, at 29-31 and took the lead for the first time at 31-30 on an Emerson jump shot. The teams shifted the overtime lead on Erickson's jumper but Steve McLaws hit four points — the last from the line with 1:32 left — for a 54-52 Oakley lead. Again Bulcher tied it on a nifty feed from Emerson and for the second time Kimberly had the last-second shot you missed it.

In the third overtime, the teams traded field goals before McLaws, with two, and Severe, with one, got three free points from Erickson and Bulcher with 1:22 left. Twice after that Oakley had the ball but couldn't hold it. Then came the clincher from Erickson and Bulcher. Ironically, Kimberly won the preliminary in overtime, too.

Ball up over his head without looking and it banked neatly through. But seconds later Bulcher, who played the last half and all the overtimes with four fouls tied it from the line.

Kimberly took the second overtime lead on Erickson's jumper but Steve McLaws hit four points — the last from the line with 1:32 left — for a 54-52 Oakley lead. Again Bulcher tied it on a nifty feed from Emerson and for the second time Kimberly had the last-second shot you missed it.

Hansen Edges Murtaugh By 52-49 Margin

HANSEN — The Hansen Huskies used the hot third-quarter hand of Paul Crockett and the steady rebounding job of Lynn Pearson as they dumped the Murtaugh Red Devils 52-49 Friday night.

The Devils had jumped out into an early 10-point lead but Hansen got the hot hand in the late stages of the second quarter and closed the gap to 24-23 Murtaugh.

In the third quarter Hansen hit the hoop for 17 points — the help of Crockett's sparkplug play, and took the lead for good.

Murtaugh took the preliminary contest.

Wendell Uses Hot Frame To Top Shoshone

WENDELL — The Wendell Trojans found themselves 10 behind at the half against a fire-guard of Shoshone Indians, but blitzed the hoop for 30 points in the third quarter to grab an 84-63 win Friday night.

Shoshone had one of its best offensive nights of the year, and had outplayed the Trojans up until the third quarter.

Ron Beck, who led all scorers with 23 points, led the second-half rally.

Johnson and Everett scored well for the Indians who are still winless on the year.

Michigan Nips Iowa 86-85

IOWA CITY, Iowa (UPI)—Bob Sullivan took a pass from Ken Maxey and drove in for a layup with 15 seconds to go Saturday night to give Michigan an 86-85 Big Ten victory over Iowa.

Sullivan's basket erased an Iowa rally that saw the Hawkeyes come from nine points behind in the final three minutes of play and go ahead on two free throws by John Johnson with 99 seconds remaining.

Iowa missed a chance to put the game out of reach when Chad Calabria missed the first of a one and one free throw situation with 34 seconds remaining.

Deelo Uses Rally To Top Trojans

RAFT RIVER — Gary Mallory pointed 40 points in the last quarter Friday night as the Deelo Hornets came from behind to edge a determined Raft River club 42-39.

The Hornets, standing Trojans had enjoyed leads of up to seven points most of the night, but saw a key man foul out late in the third quarter with Raft River holding on to an eight-point lead.

The Trojans tried to slow it up but a few quick Mallory buckets there was no stopping the Hornets.

Raft River took the preliminary.

Evans' 600-Yard Time Highlights USTFF Meet

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Olympic 400-meter champion Lee Evans of San Jose State posted the fastest 600-yard time in indoor track history with a mark of 1:09.8 in the first annual U.S. Track and Field Federation indoor meet sponsored by the Los Angeles Herald-Examiner.

Other highlight performances of the meet staged before 4,855 track fans in the Sports Arena, were the 17-foot-1 pole vault victory by Bob Sevier of the University of Southern California and the world indoor record equaling 7.8 seconds in the women's 60-yard hurdles by Jamaica finished third.

In the shot put, South Africa's John Van Rensan of Washington State was the winner in 47 feet, 5 inches. All four of his fair was just eight-inches from a record set by Martin McGrady of Central Ohio last in 1966.

John Hubbell of Washington was runner-up at 60-6.

Herman Franklin of USC captured the men's 60-yard high hurdles in 7.1 seconds over George Carty of San Jose State.

Evans broke the Sports Arena record of 1:10 set by George State was the winner in 47 feet, 5 inches. All four of his fair was just eight-inches from a record set by Martin McGrady of Central Ohio last in 1966.

John Hubbell of Washington was runner-up at 60-6.

Herman Franklin of USC captured the men's 60-yard high hurdles in 7.1 seconds over George Carty of San Jose State.

Evans put on his customary burst of speed on the run in to capture the men's 60-yard high hurdles in 7.1 seconds over George Carty of San Jose State.

Knicks Topple Warriors 98-92

NEW YORK (UPI)—Walt Frazier scored nine points and stole the ball repeatedly during a 15-0 breakout late in the third period Saturday night to lead the New York Knicks to a 98-92 victory over the San Francisco Warriors and a club record 11 consecutive triumphs.

The victory was also the Knicks' 20th in a row on the Madison Square Garden court.

Seaver, who last week set an indoor world record of 17-8, took only three vaults in scoring his victory and then missed a record height of 17 feet three inches. He cleared 16 feet 10 inches and 17-1, all on his first attempts.

In the featured distance events, Arne Kowheim of Chile and Norway and the University of Oregon won the two-mile in 8:47.8 with only minor opposition while Charles LaBrenz of Arizona State captured the mile in 4:07.3.

Ar Sandison of Washington State took the 1,000-yard run narrowly in 2:13.

Aside from Seaver's effort in the pole vault, performances in most of the field events were moderate as Steve Kelly of Deezgo State won the high jump at 6-10 and Pertti Poski, a Finn attending Brigham Young, captured the long jump at 25-1 1/4.

In one of the more spectacular races, USC won the distance medley relay in 8:51.4 as Ole Olson ran away from Australian Kerry Pearce of the University of Texas at El Paso in the anchor mile. The Texas team's time was 10:00.6.

TIM QUALLS, a lieutenant on the Twin Falls police force, attended a week-long school on latent fingerprint identification in Washington, D.C. earlier this month. Back in Twin Falls, Lt. Qualls reports the FBI-sponsored school was one of the "most informative" he has attended in his 15 years as a Twin Falls police officer.

Officer Learns How To "Lift" Your Prints—FBI Taught Him

Fingerprint identification is a big thing in the Twin Falls Police Department. The school in Washington was "Merely 30 per cent of our cases involve the identification of fingerprints," Lt. Tim Qualls said recently. "We use fingerprinting methods in everything from burglaries to forgeries."

Lt. Qualls just returned from a week-long FBI school in Washington, D.C., where he studied advanced latent fingerprint techniques.

"This was a real informative course," he said.

Lt. Qualls has been qualified as a fingerprint expert in may trials in Magic Valley in the past. Now, with this latest advanced course behind him, he feels he has the best training available in the fingerprint identification field.

The school in Washington was one in a series conducted by the FBI for law enforcement officers from departments throughout the nation. The school, given earlier this month to 20 officers, was provided without cost to the local police force.

The officers who attended worked in the classroom, then teamed up with FBI agents to do practical cases.

The work called for the "lifting" of latent fingerprints, then processing the prints. Officers worked in photographing prints, then prepared charts and gave testimony on their findings in mock trials.

Lt. Qualls said he will conduct schools within the Twin Falls Police Department for the officers in what he learned about fingerprint identification.

"We're already making some changes in our laboratory to handle the new methods I learned at the school," he said.

Lt. Qualls returned to Twin Falls last week.

Hijack Jest On Airliner Brings Arrest

DENVER (UPI) — A Denver man who allegedly waved a loaded gun in the air and asked fellow airline passengers if they wanted to go to Cuba, was charged Thursday with carrying a concealed weapon aboard an aircraft.

Federal officials said Joseph J. Avern Sullivan, 33, pulled a .38-caliber revolver from his coat pocket Wednesday night on a United Air Lines plane which had stopped in Denver on a flight from Kansas City to San Francisco.

"I think we might go to Cuba tonight," Sullivan was quoted as saying. Officials said the incident occurred as the 727 jet airliner started to taxi down the runway.

The pilot, Capt. D. B. Campbell of San Francisco, was notified and immediately brought the plane back to the boarding area. There were 80 persons aboard the aircraft.

The FBI said Sullivan offered no resistance and immediately turned over his loaded revolver.

"I guess my joke just got out of hand," Sullivan told officials. "I didn't know it was wrong to carry a gun on the plane."

Sullivan, released on a $2,000 bond after an appearance before U.S. Commissioner Howard Erickson, said he had been carrying the gun for protection.

U.S. Atty. Lawrence M. Henry, who filed the misdemeanor charge against Sullivan, said, "We hope we can prevent this sort of thing from happening here. Each and every case we see like this, we're going to prosecute to the full extent of the law."

Cattle School For Blaine County Set

CAREY — A school for Blaine County cattlemen has been set for Thursday, at the LDS Church in Carey. It is under the direction of the Blaine County Cattlemen's Association.

Special participants in the school will include Dr. Richard Hall, Extension Veterinarian of the University of Idaho, Dr. Floyd Frank, Head Veterinary Science, University of Idaho and Herschel Boydston, College of Southern Idaho. There will be local participants as well.

Areas to be covered include calving management problems, winter nutrition of the cow herd, proper disease control management, first calf heifer management, breeding problems of livestock, value of records and etc.

Starting time will be promptly at 10:30 a.m. and finishing will be at 3:30 p.m. Lunch will be served by the Blaine County Cattlemen.

A special feature will be a television presentation by Mr. Boydston of the "Super Heifer" contest held at Twin Falls earlier last fall. It will include a live animal and carcass comparison.

Rupert Has Grown Since 1960 Census

RUPERT — Rupert has added some 629 residents since the regular census was taken in 1960, according to results of a special census conducted recently in the newest addition to the city.

Total population for the city is now 4,748, compared with 4,119 in 1960. Mayor Wendell Johnson said the increase came as a surprise to the city council, which had estimated an additional 250 residents since the last census. The special census was ordered to obtain additional funds.

Mayor Johnson said cities are enjoying state liquor and highway funds on the basis of population, and receive about $9 per person from the state.

The census was taken in 11 Street, the Holly subdivision, Main Village and the Blf Valley subdivision, as well as portions of Grandview, Countryside and Sunnyside. Total census which have been developed since 1960.

Workmen Scrub London Buildings To Remove Two Centuries Of Soot, Grit

LONDON (UPI)—London is being a cleaner and brighter, getting a centuries' overdue cleanup.

The campaign has nothing to do with morals. The idea came out of a municipal House, residence of the lord mayor of London, looks a treat, but not to mention the monument that commemorates the great day to architectural beauties. As cleanliness costs money, Lord Mayor Sir Charles Trinder has appealed to 150 big business firms to try to give their facades a facelift out of their own pockets.

"The response to date has been most encouraging," said Nelson's Column, built in 1841 and never washed since, surprised any rivalry to President Charles de Gaulle's grand onslaught on the building of Paris, but the product of clean air legislation enforcing smogless zones.

"Until then, the atmosphere in London was so smokeladen, so dirty, that any cleaning operation was really pointless," the spokesman said. "Today, however, it is a different story, and that's why we are launching this campaign."

According to the British Travel Association, this cleanup will boost tourism. Clean bright buildings will add enormously to the attractions of London.

Officials are advising building owners that they almost would be doing themselves a favor by joining the campaign because cleaning prevents dirt, reduces wear and tear, ex-

COMPOSING A PAGE of news and advertising is another trick of the trade for the publisher. His news plant back shop must contain all of the equipment of a major daily paper, but on a limited scale and the weekly publisher must be versatile enough to operate it all.

Tradition Rolls The Presses At Hazelton

By BONNIE BAIRD JONES
Times-News Feature Editor

The First Segregation News of Hazelton has let new fangled techniques and a lot of fancy-modern equipment stand in its way in putting out a well-read home town newspaper. In this day of push button living, automation and space travel you don't find many one-man newspapers. But Hazelton has one although it's actually a one-man, one-woman operation.

It's not an out-moded or old-fashioned publication despite the fact the business has been in the same family for 46 years. Elmer E. Pyne and his wife, Nellie Pyne, constitute the paper's ownership and complete staff.

In addition to their own weekly publication they also print two other papers—The Valley School, and the Idaho Odd Fellow. In addition they operate a complete commercial printing plant.

In the history of every pioneer community there's a chapter on the newspaper and the man in the green eyeshade and sleeve guards who labored far into the night to print and circulate the community news. When they write the history of Hazelton there will no doubt be a chapter on the First Segregation News and Mr. and Mrs. Pyne who are editor and publisher and managing editor respectively.

Their news plant on Main Street in Hazelton contains a variety of equipment including items not found in the press rooms and back shops of today's daily papers.

One small printing press that was used when the paper began publication in 1917 is still going strong and putting out its share of job printing orders. Mr. Pyne says he has been told it once printed the paper which was then smaller in size and was folded in half to print a half page at a time.

Originally known as the "West End News" the paper was founded in February, 1917, by the late W. C. Abbott. At this time Hazelton was in the west end of Minidoka County. When Jerome County was formed it took in part of Minidoka County, putting Hazelton in the eastern portion of the new county.

The name of the newspaper was no longer appropriate and Mr. Abbott held a contest to select a new name. "The First Segregation News" was chosen and the name has no relation to today's problems of segregation or integration.

Mr. Pyne's father, William A. Pyne, who previously owned the paper in Wendell, joined the First Segregation News staff in 1922. A year later he purchased the paper from Mr. Abbott and operated it until his death in 1943.

"My father taught me the trade," commented Mr. Pyne. "And I can't remember a time when I wasn't working around a news plant at one job or another."

Probably one of the reasons there are so few one-man newspapers today is the scarcity of a man versatile enough to sell advertising, set type, write news, run a press and handle the circulation and meet countless other demands of the business in this day of specialized trades.

When Mr. Pyne's father died, he was working for the Register-Guard in Eugene, Ore. "I came back here to operate the weekly until it could be sold and the estate settled," Mr. Pyne recalls.

calling or bringing in their news reports," says the managing editor, "but they like to see it printed the way they want it." Mrs. Pyne usually correct any spelling and most grammatical errors but otherwise we try to use it the way it's written when the contributor brings it in," Mrs. Pyne added.

The paper has two correspondents—Mrs. T. J. Schwarz who has been writing news in the Eden area for 25 years, and Mrs. John Pool, frequently assisted by her daughter, Joanne, in covering the Crestview and Kasota areas.

Although it's located in a town of little more than 500 people, the First Segregation News has a circulation of 469. Each week copies of the paper find their way into many other states, Vietnam and other countries.

"Let's not mention the hours," commented Mr. Pyne when asked about burning midnight oil to meet weekly press and mailing deadlines.

"We are our own bosses and that's important," says Mrs. Pyne.

"We have to work hard but anyone who runs a successful business has to work hard and long hours," she said. "I don't think you know and like it's a good life," her husband added.

The couple say the weekly newspaper has been good to them over the past 25 years.

"We aren't rich, but we have just about everything we need and want and you can't ask for much more," the publisher commented.

Now and then they are able to "escape" a vacation. Since they must publish each week to retain their legal status, Mr. and Mrs. Pyne find they can be away from home a maximum of nine days. This requires a pre-dated paper published along with the regular paper that will be mailed out for the coming week; then the two must be back in time to start on the following week's publication.

"People usually know we are on vacation where they find some of the same news in their paper that was mentioned the previous week," the managing editor explained.

Although they have no thought of retiring as yet, the couple say someday they may do just that.

"We don't want to leave the town without a newspaper," Mr. Pyne explained, "and for this reason we have declined several sales that would have moved it elsewhere."

Both agree it would have to be just the right person who would continue the 46 year tradition of the paper if they are to sell the News.

When you are "the" newspaper in a community, you are called on to assume a share of community leadership.

Mr. Pyne is a former mayor of Hazelton and was serving in that capacity when the town's modern sewer system was planned.

He is a past president of the

ONE COMMERCIAL PRESS in the Hazelton news plant has been in use since the plant was founded in 1917. It still handles a share of the job printing but at one time was used to print the weekly paper which had to be folded first for printing of a half-page at a time.

Lions' Club and has been a part of most of the town's organizations and projects. He is active in the Odd Fellows Lodge having served as grand master of the Oregon Lodge while living in that state.

Mrs. Pyne keeps active with PTA and local social groups and both are active in their church.

The Pyne's have a daughter, Mrs. Dennis (Becky) Higgins, in Portland, Ore., who is a medical technician and the mother of twin daughters and two sons. The Hazelton couple also has two sons, Charles William lives in Salem, Ore., where he teaches in a school for deaf persons. Another son, Ramon Pyne resides near Palm Springs, Calif., where he is employed by the city. Only one son, Bill, indicated any interest in the newspaper field, having been editor of his school paper while in college.

Mr. Pyne who for many years wrote a column for his paper called, "Shavings From The Old Pyne Tree," said his oldest son, Ramon, came close to following the family's newspaper tradition. Before accepting a job in Palm Springs, he worked for several papers, having learned the printing trade in Hazelton.

Throughout its 52 years the paper has never ceased publication despite such disasters as a fire that destroyed the news building in July of 1955.

The business opened in 1917 in the old bank building, a small 34 by 18 foot frame structure. In 1951 Mr. Pyne built the present building. The roof of the old structure was removed and a new building erected around it.

When the paper observed its 50th anniversary two years ago, Mrs. Pyne presented a new building erected around the old building.

While work went on then the old building was down and removed. After the 1955 fire, outside walls were still all that was saved was a press and a paper cutter. The building also had to be rebuilt. "We didn't miss anything," Mr. Pyne said. "The paper was published in Northside News in Jerome then we made an arrangement with the Kimberly and they printed our paper for us. We could rebuild."

The paper has one great home in Jerome, Idaho. Mrs. Pearl Raines, a long-time subscriber to the paper, has been continuously since it was first published in 1917.

Two Bighorn Sheep Studies Show Transplants Well Established

By JIM HUMBIRD
Idaho Fish-Game Department
 News of a controlled hunt this fall for legal rams among the well-established bands of California bighorn sheep in the Owyhee Mountains of southwestern Idaho is of great interest to sportsmen everywhere — not just to a few lucky permit holders.

The announcement, made by the Idaho Fish and Game Department in Boise during the regular quarterly meeting at the end of January, means that wild mountain sheep have been successfully reintroduced to former ranges in remote regions where they have not been found since the turn of this century.

Even more significant, however, is the fact that California bighorns are reproducing their kind in the Jumble of box canyons and high semi-desert plateaus along the East Fork of the Owyhee River and Battle Creek. These animals belong to the same family of wild brown sheep as Rocky Mountain bighorns. Among others, California bighorns are listed as "rare and endangered" by a special committee of the Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife.

But in parts of Owyhee County these prized trophy animals have found enough good habitat and seclusion to prosper and grow old and produce a few surplus old rams which are past their prime and no longer functioning or needed during the fall rut breeding season. As many as two years ago a helicopter count showed that 21 per cent of the wild sheep found were females, indicating that the herd is reproducing well and should take hold without introducing new blood by way of more transplants.

Thus, a dozen California bighorns trapped in the fall of 1957 near Williams Lake in British Columbia, were trucked to Jacks Creek drainage and released after more than 1,200 highway miles of captivity across virtually the entire length of Idaho and part of Canada. These wild sheep, transplanted from Canada and their offspring will not be included with the controlled hunt area on the East Fork of the Owyhee and Battle Creek this fall.

The 1967 shipment of wild sheep followed 38 other California bighorns which had been previously transplanted to Canada and trucked to Owyhee County. Nineteen were transplanted to the East Fork of the Owyhee River in 1963, more in 1965 and ten in 1966. A total of 50 bighorns made the trip from Williams Lake to southwestern Idaho. These animals, along with second and third generation progeny now give the state an important population of California bighorns, a coastal strain of wild sheep which now are found only in British Columbia and the Owyhee Mountains.

Bighorn sheep has caught the imagination of many people because this animal stands out as the most remote and unapproachable of all big game species. Mountain rams, alpine sentinels, symbolize the grandeur of the top of the world. Like mountain goats, they have head pads which cling to rocks here in the same way steeplecups do. However, falls from cliffs bring death to more bighorns than other limiting factors such as being killed by a predator animal or rapacious bird. Some wild sheep in the Challis area also die in highway traffic accidents.

Two long-term bighorn sheep studies are yielding sound ecological and biological data in the state. One under the sponsorship of the Idaho Cooperative Wildlife Research Unit at Moscow was started last year by John Brower a graduate student, on the large plateau about 5,000 feet high and bisected by the Owyhee River canyon. Dominated by sheer rock walls as much as 600 feet high, this region is accessible in winter only by helicopter.

Another field study of wild sheep now in its third year is on the East Fork of the Salmon River and Morgan Creek. The main focus of this work by James Morgan, Challis, game biologist, is on central Idaho winter ranges, where boundaries have been recently determined. Summer range limits are not so well known, but marked Rocky Mountain bighorns have migrated as much as 40 miles from where they wintered on Morgan Creek and 16 air miles in the East Fork of the Salmon River to summer ranges.

Sheep on the East Fork of the Salmon River and Morgan Creek form two of the state's remnant bands of Rocky Mountain bighorns outside the Middle Fork of the Salmon River. The Birch Creek band of about 15 Rocky Mountain bighorns migrate to within two or three miles of Challis, then back to Buster Lake, the source of the town's water supply. "Kronk's Canyon," a side drainage from the main Salmon River a few miles from Challis, also has enough habitat of the right kind to support a small band of wild sheep. These two remnant populations of bighorns possibly may get into genetic problems in the future because of inbreeding.

The study of the breeding, feeding and social behavior patterns of bighorns on Morgan Creek and the East Fork of the Salmon River started in July of 1966 and will continue through this year, at least. Live-trapping is underway now in both drainages to get radio telemetry started on these bighorns — believed to be the first such work in the country. Seven sheep were trapped and marked last week, and five were equipped with neckband radios. Management work on Morgan Creek is complicated by the existence of a public road through the heart of the best winter range of the wild sheep. Remnant bands of bighorns also are known to exist in the Lemhi and Lost River mountains.

These remnant bands of bighorns are believed to be the maximum number of wild sheep within the carrying capacity of the several ranges they occupy, without significant increases or decreases in number. One reason for the continuing study on Morgan Creek and the East Fork of the Salmon River is their availability to Challis, and the accessibility of their winter ranges.

Information learned is of basic ecological significance and can be applied to bighorn sheep on other ranges.

Wild sheep studies will continue near Challis and in the Owyhee Mountains in the hope that game managers can learn how to make whatever adjustments are necessary in order that bighorns can survive in huntable numbers.

AN ARMY OF WIDE-TRACK snowmobiles load up passengers for a daily tour through Yellowstone National Park and a view of spectacular scenery previously seen only by a few winter residents of the world famous park. Traveling at speeds up to 30 miles per hour the vehicles leave three park locations each day for a full-day's tour of the park.

Over-Snow Vehicles Open Yellowstone's Winter Wonderland To Tourists

Something different in the way of a winter vacation or just an interesting weekend is now available to everyone as a result of special winter tour equipment in Yellowstone National Park.

Thanks-to-over-the-snow machines, many families and individuals are visiting Yellowstone with their own equipment. Others are renting the small machines at the park entrances or are utilizing the large 12-passenger snow machines provided by the Park for winter tours.

These vehicles are equipped with heaters, comfortable seats and large thermopane windows and roof hatches for taking pictures.

There are 13-of-the-vehicles and they leave daily from three locations: Mammoth, Old Faithful and Grand Canyon.

Each tour requires one full day as the machines travel about 30 miles per hour or less and stop frequently for a look at scenic wonders or animals.

Lodging is available at the north entrance or at the west entrance of the park, and at Mammoth Motor Inn inside of the park.

From Twin Falls or other Magic Valley points, the tour can easily be made in a weekend or persons may wish to spend several days on different tours or exploring the region on their own or rented snow machines.

Animals that are frequently driven from the roadways by heavy summer traffic collect around the warm geysers and wander along roadways in winter. Yellowstone bears, however, are absent during winter months, but elk, deer, moose, coyotes, bison and even swans and ducks or other birds are plentiful.

Persons wishing to take a winter tour of Yellowstone in the large snow machines may contact Yellowstone Park Co., Yellowstone National Park, Wyo., 83020.

Those who prefer the small vehicles of their own or those available for rent need only make arrangements and obtain information on weather conditions and recommended tour routes.

Leadership Meet Slated For Grangers

RUPERT — A special leadership meeting for members of the Mini-Cassia Grange will be held at 8 p.m. Thursday in the Rupert Grange Hall. Master Alvin Holmer said all Grangers from both counties are encouraged to attend.

State Grange officers and department heads will discuss the total Grange program. A potluck lunch will follow the business meeting.

The annual Mini-Cassia Grange banquet will be held March 14 at the Rupert Elks Lodge, and plans call for state and national Grange officers to be in attendance.

The Rupert Grange is also planning to hold its annual benefit card party at the Grange Hall March 20.

Plans for the coming events were made during a recent meeting of the Rupert Grange. Claude E. Bowman, Grange legislative chairman, discussed current bills before the legislature.

The program, under the direction of Mrs. Walter Lee, included Tom Moberly, who recited the Gettysburg Address and Lincoln's last speech, a reading "The Dispersal of a Way" by Mrs. Maude Carter, and quotations from Lincoln by Mrs. Lee.

Named To Board

GLENN'S FERRY — Bob Pusey, Glenn's Ferry, has been named to the Elmore Memorial Hospital Board by the Elmore County Commission.

EDUCATOR RESIGNS

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Paul Blomgren, acting president of troubled San Fernando Valley State College, announced his resignation as temporary head of the school on Thursday for reasons of ill health.

MARKED BIGHORN SHEEP on Morgan Creek winter range near Challis wears fluorescent red neckband with letter "A" clearly visible without using binoculars. A second wild sheep in this band (some out of camera range) had a letter "B" on its colored neckband. Information learned from this live-trapping and tagging work and regular year-round observation, which started in 1966, is of general ecological importance and can be applied to big horns on other ranges.

Mrs. Lenz Hunt, Rupert Teacher, Has Retired After 32 Years In Classroom

HEYBURN—Thirty-two years of teaching experience ended early this year as Mrs. Len (Carol) Hunt taught for the last day her Heyburn fifth grade class.

Mrs. Hunt had taught the intermediate grades in Mindoka County for 30 years, except for a year in a grammar school and geometry at the Heyburn High School during World War II. Teachers were short, she explained, and "I was good in math."

Her other two years of teaching were checked up following the achieving of a diploma from the University of Utah in 1923. The diploma was earned after two years of study during the elementary level, but not in high school.

Following those four years in Utah, Mrs. Hunt continued her studies to earn a bachelor's degree in education from the former Southern Idaho College of Education at Albion in 1927. Mrs. Hunt moved to the Emerson area in 1905, just a year after the arrival of her future husband and his family. She was then and has lived in the area since, with the exception of trips to Utah and other places of interest.

MRS. LENZ HUNT

Even though the time is short since Mrs. Hunt was a teacher in school, she now recalls some of her "teaching memories" and noted that the only pleasure she derived from teaching grade schoolers was in the measure of progress the students made during the year.

Mrs. Hunt was always hard when a new group of students came in at the first of the year, she noted, "because they would learn to know so quickly. Then I would realize I was expecting them to be as educated as my last students, who had a year's head start."

The son has been farming the farm since Mr. Hunt's retirement several years ago. It was a short 1008 semester for Mrs. Hunt, however, as her retirement came a week before the official closing of the half year. They left for Hawaii upon retirement.

Upon their return from Hawaii, the couple has a travel trailer ready for spontaneous trips in Red Fish Lake, Arizona, or visits to their children. In addition to her school, PTA and traveling, Mrs. Hunt has long been active in the LDS church. She has held such positions as ward, Sunday School, Relief Society instructor, Sunday School teacher, and worked in the primary and MIA.

Self Styled "Buddy" Teaching System Pays Dividends For First Graders

By IOLENE HAGAN
Times-News Correspondent

Drop by the Eden Elementary school any week day and you may find the school's two enthusiastic and energetic first grade teachers conducting class in a hallway or moving furniture into a single corner in one of their classrooms.

Next Summer don't be surprised if they take up saw and hammer and remove the wall between their classes.

It's all part of their "buddy teaching" system and it has the blessings of their superintendent and principal.

Mrs. Ronald Metcalf who has been teaching first graders at the Eden school for 20 years and often doubles as counselor or town nurse, and her co-teacher Mrs. Julian Torres, are responsible for the "educational revolution" that is taking place in the old Eden school building.

Enrollment of the first grade this year was 54. This would have been 27 pupils per teacher in a self-contained classroom. Both teachers felt they could not do a satisfactory job of teaching to each individual child with such a large class.

After some good hard thinking and a lot of planning and attending meetings, pertaining to this type of teaching, they put their heads together and decided to try a "buddy teaching" system. Supt. Tom Uterbach and Principal Harry Kurtz approved wholeheartedly.

With two classrooms and a stage at their disposal they set to work arranging these rooms to suit the purpose. One classroom became a central room with all the desks and children's materials. The stage became a music and art center. The other classroom was used for a science center, an individual reading resource center and an experience center. Even the hallway fronting the two rooms is used for special work and displays.

Feeling that their goal should be toward a higher level of child instruction they strive to meet the learner's needs through flexibility in their methods, adjust the curriculum to individual skills, improve the child's motives for learning and use the materials and equipment to the best advantage.

Of course this has put a heavier work load on the teachers involved since planning can no longer be done a week in advance as most classrooms do. To meet with individual student needs planning must be made each day—together.

In this way each teacher knows the material being taught by the other as well as her own. Subjects—found—most favorable for daily grouping are reading, math and spelling.

If need arises such subjects as music, art, language, social studies and science can easily be grouped. Large group activities are used; then the class is divided into smaller groups for special or individual attention. There is no limit to the type and amount of grouping that can be done with the "team" working together. The groups are continually changing so that no child is classed in a slow or fast group. Mrs. Torres states, "We consider this a 'needs' grouping system."

Mrs. Metcalf is confident the program is arousing a lot more interest in the first grade parent, since over 70 per cent of the parents have visited school for a half day or longer and 95 per cent have attended private conferences of 20 minutes. Invitations have been extended to all interested persons to visit.

When visiting the classroom one senses the feeling of relaxation among the children. They do not seem to have the usual pressures and frustrations associated with the six year old who has just left Mommy and Daddy and had to sit still for the first time to learn for himself. The few seconds of himself from group to group gives him "stretch and wiggle" time and helps to control the discipline problems.

Less formal teaching is employed, as the teachers move about the room, observing the children, helping them evaluate their own personal goals and developing problem solving abilities. The children learn how to work as a group and how to work and study as individuals.

Mrs. Metcalf expresses the belief that a better teaching job is being done in this manner and says that they are open for criticism and observation from their superiors and other teachers. Mrs. Torres adds that by pooling their resources, materials and ideas they feel they can do a better job of individualizing instruction to meet the needs of the children. They piped up with "We'd rather fight than switch" back to a self contained classroom.

Eden elementary school students study in the old Eden High School and while the gymnasium provides certain advantages there are also disadvantages. With Valley High School to be paid for this year some residents are beginning to consider costs of a new elementary school in the community.

TWO FIRST-GRADE CLASSES at Eden are combined in one room for a basic lesson in arithmetic. Mrs. Julian Torres conducts the discussion while Mrs. Ronald Metcalf works among the class members on individual problems. All sorts of combinations are worked out during the day. Below, Mrs. Metcalf works in close contact with a small group of youngsters. Children enjoy the informal atmosphere of the buddy teaching system, frequently climb onto the teacher's lap.

YOUNG READERS WITH PROBLEMS, or those who are ahead of the rest of the class at the moment get some special attention from Mrs. Metcalf while the rest of the class is in another room working with their books on a different reading program.

Book Review

Omagarria! Good Life! This toast of Navarre sums up the story of Martin Abaurrea and his family told by Ann Rogers in "A Basque Story Cook Book." (Scraper, 1968)

The story starts in the introduction — who are the Basques, where and how do they live? And if the reader gets this far, he won't put down this delightfully different cook book until the very last word.

Basque food, like Basque people, is honest, substantial, and different. Each Basque, no matter his economic status, is an enigma, and here in story and recipe is caught the singular flavor of this hardy people.

Each of the twelve charming chapters is matched with recipes and prefaced by a Basque proverb. In chapter one, the story is "Journey to a New Land" and the recipes, appetizers that include "albondigas," "Aceitunas," "Cacahuets," and even "percebes herbides" (boiled harlequins). A typical proverb: "Jakiteko artizan ikasi zazu ematen"

"Para aprender a recibir, aprende a dar"

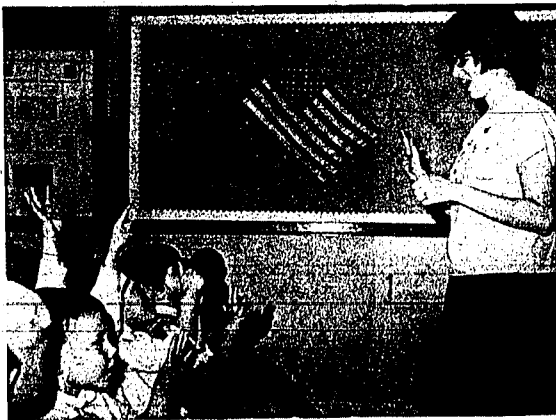

To learn to receive, first learn to give.

In the meat section, squid in its ink sauce and snails share honors with fried chicken and lamb stew.

"Chirizo," a pork sausage seasoned with garlic and Spanish paprika and pressed into casings is used for breakfast, as a snack or as a component of many dishes. The recipe is complete with details of the traditional way with adaptations for American kitchens.

The extraordinary things the Basques do with ordinary food and the extraordinary foods they eat are in 100 recipes woven into an enchanting tale set in San Francisco from 1896 to 1898. As a story, the tiny volume would stand alone. A young Basque, Merlin, sends for his childhood sweetheart when he earns enough in the California mines to purchase a tiny waterfront hotel, and while Angelina as queen of the "El Vaporina's" kitchen. Together for 60 years they do wonderful things with food and love, becoming Mama and Papa to the big family of Basques and Spaniards from ships and mountains and meadows. When the state of California demanded, they expanded the Hotel Espanol with 22 rooms upstairs, moving without missing a meal.

When the posted sign "Closing business March 27, 1900" confirmed the fears that Merlin's "Espanol" would no longer offer sanctuary to and sustenance for soul and body, the vast family of friends came. They tried very hard to remember the lesson Papa Merlin had taught them: When Basques come together it is not a time for melancholy but for the "Good Life." Omagarria!

ACTING OUT A SONG relaxes restless students but doesn't distract from those engaged in studying. Mrs. Torres utilizes the school's stage for such things as active class participation. The gymnasium, two classrooms, stage and even a hallway are all utilized during the day's program.

Washington's Birthday Noted In England

Each year on Feb. 22, an American flag flies over an old stone building in Washington, C. D. (County Durham) England. Washington's Birthday and several other American holidays are honored in this fashion by the small town in England. Washington is a country town on a hillside in northern England named for the Washington family that settled there in the year 1183, and became Lords of the Manor.

Some five centuries later a young man of the family, John Washington, left for the new land called America. He had a grandson named George Washington, C. D., now a tourist mecca for traveling Americans, is the home of the forefathers of George Washington, father of his country.

The town nestles around a village green. A picturesque church stands on a tree-shaded hillside. And halfway up that hill lies the town's chief tourist attraction: the Old Hall; stone built, two-story high, a typical example of a 17th Century small English manor house. But this particular manor house holds its own unique history. Some of its stone walls (including two handsome stone arches) formed part of the original manor built by the first Washingtons who selected this same hillside site in 1183.

Because of its associations the Old Hall has become a veritable museum of Washingtonia donated by such devoted Americans as the Colonial Dames of America, the spinster daughter of a U. S. Ambassador to Britain; and a lady whose husband happened to be the great-grand-nephew of the First President. In 1965 Boy Scouts from Massachusetts planted a further tie-up between the two towns: commemorative cherry trees which now bloom every spring before the Old Hall. These grounds are now known locally as "Little America."

The history of the Old Hall has not always been a happy one. In 1913 the Bishop of Durham decided the Washington's four-century-old manor house was in sorry need of some renovation. What he had rebuilt in its place was virtually a new manor — which he called Old

By 1936 that building had fallen into such a state of disrepair that it was officially condemned as unfit for human habitations.

This act, however, stirred up some action — particularly on the part of one Fred Hill, the village schoolmaster. He organized a special committee, which despite such distractions as World War II, managed to collect enough money to save and restore the building. The hall was officially re-opened in 1956 by the United States Ambassador. And the energetic Mr. Hill was later presented with a Congressional Medal for furthering Anglo-American relations.

Hundreds of Americans now visit the tiny town of Washington C. D. each year. It lies some 300 miles North of London, and makes an ideal stopover point for travelers driving or busing from London to Scotland. Washington is a mere five-mile detour off the main road. It is also ten miles from Hadrian's Roman Wall. And ten miles from the beautiful hillside city of Durham, which is specially noted for its Cathedral, one of the few Norman Cathedrals left in Europe. An early Washington was Prior there.

Although Washington itself is too small to accommodate tourists, many travelers stay at Durham's charming Royal County Hotel, an old inn (its interior comfortably modernized) which stands on the banks of the River Wear, a beautiful waterway framed by high cliffs.

Washington C. D. has its special festival days. The American flag is hoisted three times a year: on George Washington's birthday, on Thanksgiving Day, and on Independence Day — when a children's jazz band (120 strong) parades from the Village Square to the Old Hall. This band, called the Washington Grays, is named after the regiment which acted as body-guard for our first President.

For further information on Washington C. D. and its ancient environs write: British Travel Association, 680 Fifth Ave., New York, N.Y. 10019.

LITTLE AMERICA—That's what Washington Old Hall is known as in Washington, C.D., England. Here the American flag flies each Feb. 22 and on Independence Day and other American holidays. The old building has become a tourist attraction, especially for Americans visiting in England as it was the home of the ancestors of George Washington.

DON'T FORGET SHROVE TUESDAY, warns New Orleans Belle on left as the two, who choose to remain incognito, make plans for Mardi Gras celebration to be held Tuesday night in the Episcopal Church of the Ascension. The Mardi Gras will commemorate the beginning of the Lenten Season.

Something different in church programs is promised for Shrove Tuesday, Feb. 18, at the Episcopal Church of the Ascension. Parishioners are sponsoring a Mardi Gras for members and guests of the church, featuring a gay program and dinner-dance in the Rhea auditorium of the church and grounds at 210 Blue Lakes Blvd. N.

Life in MAGIC VALLEY

The paintings of Mrs. Eugene (Georgia) Klueder, JEROME, are beginning to show up all over Magic Valley. Recently she painted two clowns to decorate a new beauty shop that is opening in BUHL.

Mrs. Klueder began painting when she was 18; her first five lessons were given by a WPA (Works Progress Administration) teacher. One of her first paintings won first prize at the TWIN FALLS County Fair. She majored in art in college and taught elementary art for two years.

The art was then sidetracked until the family was raised, and she was persuaded to take it up again when some local ladies encouraged her to give beginners lessons. Her painting is mostly a hobby, as the paintings are sold for the frame and used to offset other expenses. Mrs. Klueder's other hobby is raising Siamese cats.

Mrs. Klueder prefers pastels to oils, because a finer detail can be obtained with pastel and she can paint more rapidly; there is no waiting for it to dry. The pastels will last indefinitely and will not fade.

She makes many of her own frames and some antique ones are so realistic, it is hard to believe that they did not come out of someone's attic. The frames are cut in oval shape, decorated with lace and then sprayed with gilt.

In December, Mrs. Klueder had 12 paintings on display at the Jerome Library. She also has two paintings in the YMCA in Twin Falls which are changed every 60 days.

Many of her paintings are displayed in various doctors' offices throughout the valley. She has exhibited at the Twin Falls fair for 12 years, and at the Jerome County Fair, where she won two Grand Champion Awards.

In 1963, Mrs. Klueder painted a humorous black and orange tiger with green eyes for that year's graduating class that was presented to the school. In the Art room, there is a jackrabbit with a desert background which she painted especially for the FFA booth at the fair.

Mrs. Klueder also does portraits, some from eyes for a year's evening. Incidentally, her husband is a doctor for horses.

Her most notable portrait is of "Fiddler" Bill Lambson, Mackay, when he was 87. It is now hanging in the National Fiddlers Hall of Fame at Welser. She has also done a portrait of Manny Shaw, Corral, another and work with youth.

Gay Mardi Gras Will Mark Lent

Something different in church programs is promised for Shrove Tuesday, Feb. 18, at the Episcopal Church of the Ascension. Parishioners are sponsoring a Mardi Gras for members and guests of the church, featuring a gay program and dinner-dance in the Rhea auditorium of the church and grounds at 210 Blue Lakes Blvd. N.

This is the 4th traditional celebration of the church members for the beginning of the Lenten Season, a seven week period of self-denial observed by Christian churches.

Rev. John D. Riley, pastor, said this is the first Mardi Gras, but plans are being made to hold a similar festival each year.

In charge of the event are Mrs. Warren Skinner, chairman, and committee members, Mrs. John Bailey, Mrs. Ernest Place, Mrs. Jack Threlkeld, Mrs. Ken-

Club Meets

JEROME—Dr. Charles Parker talked to Kiwanis about the American Field Service program at their weekly meeting. The club voted to contribute to the Field Service program.

Rev. Robert Cooper gave the invocation and K. Clark led the group singing. In the debaters meeting that followed the luncheon—a donation was made to the Kiwanis Foundation for the study of colleges on a national basis.

The Money Box

From Mrs. H. J. P., Arco, Idaho: We read your Money Box all the time. We do have a 1965 dollar with the O on it? I would say it is in good condition. Not perfect, as there is a dent on the check, but all the dates and so on are real plain. We also have some foreign money but yet it may not be worth anything. Who would you contact on what to do if we decide to sell it?

Answer: The 1965-O (New Orleans) dollar has no great value over face value. The only 1965 minting with premium value is the Corsair City (CC) which is worth a considerable amount. The foreign money may or may not be valuable, depending upon metallic content and condition. Most foreign coinage is not very valuable. We are sending you names of people you may contact in case you wish to sell.

From R. D. Twin Falls, Idaho: I have a quarter with a woman's head on one side, some stars and the words "In God We Trust" on the other side. It is an eagle, with some stars above it, and the words "United States of America" and "Quarter Dollar." The date is 1897. Can you tell me if this is valuable?

Answer: It is not valuable. This is an example of the Liberty Head, or Barber Head, quarter. The 1897 Philadelphia coin was minted at over 8 million pieces, and is not scarce in the circulated conditions. However, the coin would bring you around $10.00 if it was in new condition. I am assuming you have the Philadelphia variety since you mention no mint mark.

In case you do not know about mint marks, examine your coin and look just above the "Quarter Dollar," directly under the feathers on the eagle's tail. This is where the mintmark will be. If the coin is not a Philadelphia minting, the 1897-O (New Orleans) is much scarcer than the Philadelphia, and prices start at about $3.00 on this one. If the mintmark is San Francisco (S), the coin is a few more than either of the others.

From L. T. Burley, Idaho: We would like to know which is the rarest of the United States coins, and what the value would be.

Answer: Here you have presented quite a question. Every series of United States coinage has its rarities. The 1873-C ANCESTORS OF GEORGE WASHINGTON dined here some 600 years ago. Arches at the rear are remnants of the ancient hall of the Washington family that settled in Washington, C. D., England in 1183. The family became prominent in County Durham, England.

(Carson City) dime is known in only one specimen, although it must report indicates a colling of over 12,000 pieces. The 1894-S (San Francisco) dime, reported as 24 pieces, is unknown, so would probably be the rarest. There is a copy of a large cent which is known in only four pieces. (703), the 1816-O (New Orleans) is known in only 2 specimens, and the 1840 twenty dollar gold piece is represented by only one specimen, now in the U.S. Mint collection.

Pieces for such rarities would be debatable, since they seldom, if ever, appear on the market. Judging from such coins as the 1890 four dollar gold piece (10 copies) which sells at about $15,000.00, they would be worth more than that. If you should find any of these rarities, the price would be commensurate with the ability to pay—I would hazard a guess at fifty to a hundred thousand dollars.

The peculiar fact about these rarities, with the exception of the 1840 twenty dollar gold piece, is that the mints which struck them, all reported a number of them struck, so it is possible that at any time, someone may find such a coin and cash in on it. This fact is why Money Box, care of The Times-News, Twin Falls, Idaho 83301.

HEYBURN — Walter A. Jensen, Heyburn, who has been a consultant in Burley for the Department of Employment, has been named a general program counselor for the Boise District Office of the Idaho Vocational Rehabilitation Department.

A graduate of Idaho State University, Pocatello, Mr. Jensen taught English and psychology at Minico High School for four years. He previously farmed near Burley for eight years.

His rehabilitation counseling duties will include training in schools, colleges and on-the-job. He also will counsel on physical restoration—such as surgical, and other medical restorative procedures.

Mr. Jensen is a veteran of the Korean war; belongs to the Masonic lodge, Eastern Star and the Burley First Christian Church. He is commander of the Burley Veterans of Foreign Wars post and served for three years on the advisory council for the Order of DeMolay. He and his wife have a daughter 11 and a son 15.

Meet Set On Housing At Labor Camp

PAUL—The Paul-Labor Sponsoring Association will meet Monday at 7:30 p.m. at the Rupert Elks Lodge to hear representatives of various organizations concerned with housing for farm laborers.

Nels Moller, secretary for the association, said speakers for the meeting will be Bert Cannon, State Health Department official; Keith Smith, Employment Service, and Ivan Stone, architect, who will present cost estimates and plans to modernize the Paul labor camp. Also expected to attend the meeting is Randal Johnson of the Paul FHA office, who will explain FHA financing.

Mr. Moller said a decision must be reached immediately regarding improvements of housing for laborers; for health officials have indicated that unless plans are made for better housing, the camp will not be allowed to open.

The state health department condemned the Paul Labor Camp facilities last year, according to Moller, and allowed only one year for the association to begin modernization of the camp and bring facilities up to state and federal standards.

The camp houses about 250 people, including adults and children.

A director will be elected Monday night.

Civil Service Exams Scheduled

R. O. Finney, civil service examiner, has announced applicants are needed for three civil service positions.

He will be taking applications for physical science technician which pays $5,125 to $5,981 per year; training technician (Alt Reserve) at $6,981 to $10,203 per year, and for post office clerk-carrier with a starting salary of $2,055 per hour.

For further information and application forms see Mr. Finney at the Twin Falls Post Office.

Rescue

ALDRSHOT, England (UPI)—For Mrs. Rita Oldfield the problem seemed simple enough—a cat was trapped atop of a telephone pole in a snowstorm.

Mrs. Oldfield first telephoned the fire department to come get it down. But the firemen said they couldn't rescue an animal except on instructions from the Royal Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals (RSPCA).

Next she telephoned the RSPCA. But they told her since it was a telephone pole the cat was up, she should call the General Post Office (GPO), which runs Britain's telephone system. They said they couldn't "trespass" on GPO telephone poles.

When Mrs. Oldfield called the GPO she was told they were only interested in faults on the line—not cats. A GPO spokesman suggested she call the fire department or RSPCA.

Finally, the cat was rescued by a painter who happened to pass by with some ladders.

TAKEOUT NEEDS CAUTIOUS USE

One of the modern wonder bids is the "negative" double. This is a double of an overcall for take-out instead of business. We use the bid ourselves but are very careful with it when our partner has opened a minor, the overcall is in the other minor, and we don't have both majors.

We have no criticism of this bid. The negative double asks for a major suit and South had a sound opening with good distribution and four hearts.

North felt that he was in a weak suit, was afraid to make matters worse by bidding and it was up to South to play the hand.

John led a club. Dummy's ace won and the spade finesse lost to John's king. A second club was led by declarer who played a diamond to dummy's queen and East's ace. Back came a third-club-and-South-decided to let him in sight of spades. John overtook and led a fourth club. Dummy discarded, East ruffed with the queen of trumps and South overruled with the ace. Then South played the jack of trumps and his last trump to dummy's king.

At this point the hand collapsed. John was able to ruff the next diamond, pull the last trump with his 10 spot and cash his last two clubs for down three. This represented a 10-IMP pickup since at the other table John's North-South partners played and made a diamond part score.

Prof. John McGerver of Western Reserve University in Cleveland would be one of our really great bridge players if he hadn't chosen to devote his life to a career in mathematics. He is still mighty good and a very tough competitor.

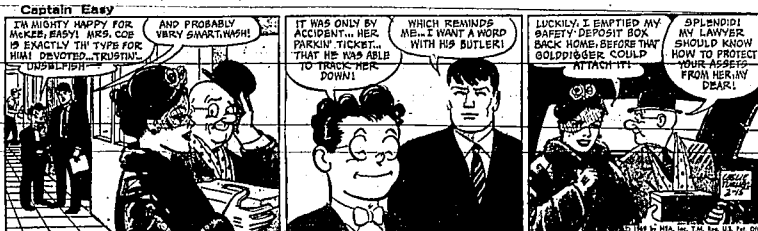

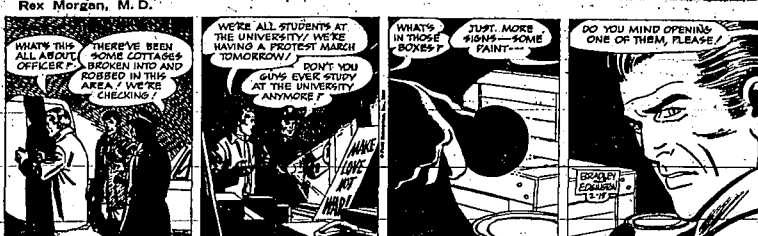

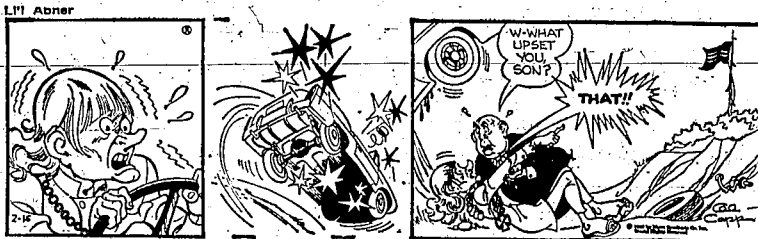

His two-club overall came in an international match point game when his side was trailing and against opponents who go all out for negative doubles. Sure enough, North did make a negative double. John's partner cooperated with Operation Monkey Wrench by raising to three clubs. South bid three hearts.

The Times-News

A weekly section directed to Magic Valley's young people

Edited by Eugene Schneider

SECOND TO THE relationship with God, the T-Group class feels that the relationship to oneself is of next importance. Bryan Ravenscroft feels that he needs the relationship with himself so that he can go off by himself and think. Many problems arise which can be solved by thinking things out alone.

MAN'S RELATIONSHIP to another individual is one aspect explored in the new T-Group which is offered at Hagerman High School. Kellie Strawser and Steve Bonnet feel that a person to person relationship is the second most important, because in this way they get to know other people, what they think, and why they do the things they do.

Hagerman School Offers T-Group

BY KELLIE STRAWSER And SHARON GOSSI
Hagerman High School

Because man is a social creature he is always trying to understand and get along with others. Before he can do this he must first understand himself. One way I learned more about myself and my relationship with others is in the T-Group. A T-Group is a group of people who strive to become more sensitive to the ways of communication with others. The emphasis in a T-Group is on communication sensitive to verbal and non-verbal cues.

When I entered the T-Group the unique circle of chairs frightened me. Even though I grabbed the most isolated spot, I was surrounded by other group members. Everyone chats with each other until Mr. Prince, the T-Group leader enters. Then an abrupt silence envelops as the session begins.

Suddenly I was aware of each member's fidgeting, expressions and appearance, and felt that everyone was looking at me. Each person was determined not to break the silence, but after a few minutes of suspense one brave soul said what was on his mind.

Now that we are here in this group—what are we going to discuss? (In our group we agreed to keep what was said to ourselves and to express ourselves honestly. We talked about each other and used constructive criticism. We questioned each other on our behavior and motives. Sometimes we would try to tear a certain person apart to see what made him tick, though Mr. Prince was there so that we didn't get out of hand.

The experiences in the T-Group were very rewarding to some and boring to others. Here are a few group members' feelings on what they get out of it.

Kenny Clements — "I learned that I was just a big put on. I also learned that people I thought were stuck-up were really just people who were afraid."

Sandy Overlie — "Nothing, not enough time."

Kellie Strawser — "It seems I got out of the T-Group because it really put started into anything very deep. Although I was in a different group for about five weeks, we really didn't get very far below the surface of more than just a few. However, it was a very interesting experience. I learned that I was the only person that felt about things the way I do."

Arlinda Partin — "It made me start to think and wonder why people act as they do. It made me realize that other people have the same feelings and some of the same experiences as I have had."

Bryan Ravenscroft — "I learned that everyone experiences the same basic emotions and that they react in about the same way."

Sharon Gossi — "I learned some things about myself that I didn't know. I also learned things about the other members that I didn't realize before."

The Small Town Disadvantages

Living in a small town can provide many advantages—or, as approximately 80 per cent of the local teenagers would say, there is nothing but disadvantages. I have found in talking with a number of teenagers, that they are looking for more excitement and advantage. And, according to them, they can't find that in Twin Falls.

It is true that those "graduating from high school and not planning to further their education live in a small town, and are often criticized for their lack of ambition and for their "enjoyment" of dragging Main at all hours of the day and night is the start of something that could very well lead a teenager off to jail or the police station. Teenagers want to make a name for themselves in the "oldsters' crowd" on the streets and highways, sit in parking lots, and generally make a nuisance of themselves to the police. The impression they make is not good. It could possibly make the "gang" wider. Teenagers need to think.

In proportion to the larger cities, Twin Falls has just as much crime as they do. The problem starts at home. Teenagers need to have someone to talk to, not just a parent, but a friend. Recently, a young boy of about 14 was talking with me about a serious problem. He wanted an explanation and wanted an explanation. His father refused to give him one, so he had to go to someone else for it.

The future leaders of our country need explanations. They need to know what is going on around them. The best place for them to get the information is from their parents. Explaining to them and in trouble. When a parent will not discuss facts with their children, the child will find out one way or another.

Drugs seem to be very enticing to some people. They want to know what will happen if they take one. They want to experiment. Experimenting can lead to addiction. When drugs are used, they need to buy them. This leads, for those who do not have money, to stealing.

The young people of the world are good. They need help and understanding. They need to know what is going on around them. If teenagers could gain the confidence of their parents and most of all, keep it, they would learn what is going on and, teenagers, you have to want maturity. You have to want to grow up. You have to respect your own respect. Respect will be shown to you.

Twin Falls, to the dismay of many parents, is not the clean, quiet little town they think it is. Big city happenings, happen in Twin Falls. The parents need to stand behind their law enforcement officials. We can have good respectable teenagers who respect their parents and their law. But this is both sides. Twin Falls can be made the town we want it to be.

Did You Hear:

HOT RODS IN RED-HOT CHINA? No Chance! Production of automobiles is 30,000 a year. Six thousand are passenger cars. "No way" for safety clinics in Commo-China school system. Traffic cops are plagued by bicycles, not gurgling exhaust systems.

CHRYSLER MINI WITH MAXI MILE? Chrysler is mixing mini size with maxi power. Success with the "Swinger" (a Dart with 240-cubic-inch, four-barrel carburetor engine) helped corporate officials make the decision to go full speed ahead on "smaller cars." Next year's Dodge and Plymouth sports cars will be designed to take a 400-cubic-inch engine, tops in the field.

TEEN TRAVEL BAN: Presidential ban applied to state and federal officials to close Mexican border to travel by minors. Proposals aimed at slowing down newsies and asking that teens be prevented from entering Mexico unless accompanied by parents or other responsible adults.

REVERSAL OF TEACHER ROLE: "Social students" picking the premises that in matters of protest, the teachers are the students and the students are the teachers. Parents are limited with those being indelible with "social reality" by the young protest people. This is the party line of the student-activist segment of young America. Trial by time will tell whether or not the theory involved has proved to be a blind pipe effort, or a real effort on the scale of "like it really is, man."

EGYPTIAN SEX EDUCATION: Population explosions are more easily muted in lightly run countries. Egypt has made giant strides in just two years, reaching a third of involved population with significant results. "Population Control" is another title for birth control. It is a compulsory subject. Meanwhile here in the United States, the jurisdictional battle over sex education gets wilder by the hour.

GONORRHEA NOW EPIDEMIC: 14 million cases last year; 378,000 over number noted in 1962. The figures are based on a nationwide survey of more than 130,000 physicians. The actual incidence is much higher.

TO THE STUDENTS of Hagerman High School, the relationship to God is one of the most important. Sylvia Dalton says, "even though God does not seem practical in a world of scientific reality and constant change, he is still there. Modern man is still human enough to see the majesty and grandeur of nature, therefore how can people feel God is dead?"

THE RELATIONSHIP of one individual to a group known as society is felt by the committee which Rick Bendorf is moderating. It is felt to be important. They feel that man can't get along without society. He has to know what is going on.

The Trials Of A School Editor

By JULIA PAVKOV
Gooding High School

Like any other ordinary high school newspaper, it is nothing like the Idaho Statesman but it does carry the news that appears to the students.

The news in the Gooding High School paper is the SENATOR. It is a mimeographed paper put out every two weeks. It is the staff is on the ball.

Complaints are always heard about the Senator. They range from "not enough good jokes" to "the news is so old that most has grown on it." Being an editor of the great paper is not the best and most pleasant job that anyone can have. It is a job that is not for the faint of heart and not have any feelings to put out a good paper.

The Senator is published every two weeks and sometimes it is a miracle that it makes the deadline. You would believe in the passing of four or five days something could happen to put in the newspaper. Well, it is not that easy! Most of the news that happens to everyone knows about and they complain because they already know about it.

You're probably wondering what could be so hard about putting out a small paper every two weeks. Well, I'll list a few problems that are common in this school.

1. Senator is a class in our school. Members are appointed by Super. Tom Utterback. They are to write a paper and how to write a "good newspaper" article. Through the years, this class has changed from a hardworking class to a staff class. Every "Tom, Dick, and Harry" gets into Senator. This is not because they think it is a staff course. Have you ever tried to impress the word "work" on the mind of a "hard course" student? Sometimes you can get through to them and other times you have to beat on them to get them to do a short story.

I guess I'm lucky (?) to have my staff this year. They never forget getting their story in before the deadline — they forget to get five out of ten and their stories in at all. Three or others don't like to write so they put ads on the stencil. I'm thankful that they like to do them.

2. With the stories in its typing time. Typing a stencil is one's favorite thing to do. You have to make sure your margins are exactly right. You have to see that the stencil is in straight. These are only a few minor things to be done. After you have typed the story on the stencil, it's head time.

I'm sure most of the people don't know what a "head" is. That is the title of the story. You would think these are easy but they're not. You have to have a present tense verb in every head. Heads have to be different to get the attention of the reader. Try to compose a head for every head. You have to have different basketball games. Good luck.

3. The reader is a problem. You don't know what a "head" is. The reader should take play on the staff. I would like to put the biggest grippers to work typing stencils and then use a fifty-year old mimeograph machine which every passing student has to play with!

All-in-all, I have a very good staff. I hope people enjoy the paper. We try our best to inform them but sometimes I wonder what they really want.

I always thought that I would go into journalism but this year has changed my mind. I don't think I could take the criticism that would go to a big newspaper. (I'm a chicken at heart.) All I have to say to the newspaper people of today is "good luck!"

Life Is A Maze

Life is a maze — a maze laid down by our forefathers — a maze made even more complex in the last few centuries.

My generation is struggling its way through this maze — but first — we must locate an opening. Some of us may not have found it yet — some may never.

Some, after finding their way in, want and maybe need to get out. They may — or may never discover the last opening.

While some of us are struggling to get in, others are struggling to get out — the majority of us are fighting our way through, and maybe, will find the path and rebuild the maze in simpler form for the generations to come.

RICHFIELD—Believed to be afraid of the groundhog prediction, a rockeater moved into the basement at the Dick Johnson ranch on Feb. 1.

Krupp Heir Dons Peasant Clothes For His Wedding

SALZBURG, Austria (UPI)—The jet set heir to the $125 million Krupp steel fortune who also has a $500,000-a-year pension—dressed simple and rustic in peasant togs today and was married to an Austrian princess clad in a Pongau dirndl here.

The bridegroom was Arndt von Bohlen and Halbach, 30, the grandson of Big Bertha Krupp, and the bride was baroness blonde Henriette von Auersperg, 35, a one-time secretary whose title goes back to the 12th Century. She towered six inches over the groom.

IS THIS WIERD BEARD ANNOYING YOU, MA'AM?

YES! HELP ME PLEASE!

YOU HEARD THE LADY! CREEP BACK UNDER YOUR ROCK!

ROLL YOUR HOOP, STOOP, OR I'LL FLATTEN YOU IN THE KEY OF HIGH C!

CRACK! ZING! PLUNG! TWANG!

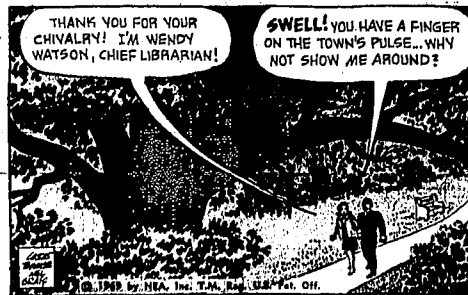

THAT'S A BETTER SOUND THAN YOU EVER GOT FROM THAT GETT FIDDLE!

MOMENTS LATER...

MA'AM, I'M CAPTAIN EASY WITH MCKEE INDUSTRIES...

OH! I READ IN NORMAN WOLF'S COLUMN THAT YOU WERE HERE TO SELECT A SITE FOR MR. MCKEE'S NEW PLANT!

THANK YOU FOR YOUR CHIVALRY! I'M WENDY WATSON, CHIEF LIBRARIAN!

SWELL! YOU HAVE A FINGER ON THE TOWN'S PULSE... WHY NOT SHOW ME AROUND?

HAPPY TO! BUT, FIRST... I WONDER IF YOU COULD... UH... HELP ME OUT OF A JAM I'VE GOTTEN MYSELF INTO!

DEAR POLLY—After I buy a supply of baby food, I arrange the jars on a shelf according to meal plans. There must be chicken soup and peaches for lunch, lamb, beans and custard for supper and so on. When it is time to feed a hungry baby, everything is together and right at my fingertips.—JOYCE

DEAR POLLY—Do not throw away your spray starch or hair spray cans until you have removed the spray tips. I have bought new ones that locked tips or one may not work so you have a spare on hand that will save the day.—ALICE

DEAR POLLY—A tea pot makes an ideal "string" holder. Place the ball in the pot and then run the string through the spout.—MRS. R. J.

DEAR POLLY—When I am cooking I tear off a piece of waxed paper and put it on the counter top near the stove. On it I put drippy spoons, onion peels and so on and then all I have to do is fold up the paper and throw away the mess.—MRS. R. N.

DEAR POLLY—Thank you for the helpful hints. When putting many foods and vegetables into the garbage disposal, put a lemon or lime in last. This leaves a nice smell in the kitchen. Never put an onion in last unless you want a real onion smell in the kitchen.—DIA

DEAR POLLY—When having a party for a small child, save time and money by writing each guest's name on his paper drinking cup. This identification enables a child to use his cup over again. He will not ask for a new one when he returns for his second or third drink.—BEVERLY

DEAR POLLY—We recently bought a new king-sized bed but I needed king-sized pillowcases. My mother-in-law solved the problem by ripping the hems out of regular pillowcases and then sewing hems of colored material on the ends.—DIANA

DEAR POLLY—After ice cream is opened place a piece of plastic wrap over it before returning it to the freezer. This prevents frost from forming on the ice cream and spoiling its look and taste. (Polly's note: Before closing an ice cream carton, I stuff a plastic bag inside the carton.)—LYNNE

Ask Them Yourself

FOR DAVID KENNEDY, Secretary of the Treasury

What is the highest denomination of U.S. paper currency in circulation? Whose face is on it?—Michael M. Mills, Austin, Texas

● The $10,000 note, which bears the portrait of Shimon P. Chase, Secretary of the Treasury from March 7, 1861, to June 30, 1864.

FOR ART FLEMING, host of Jeopardy!

● I know most of the answers, but I also get signals from backstage.

FOR ED McMAHON, anchorer, "Tonight"

Have you noticed your resemblance to Vice President Spiro Agnew? Do you expect any mistaken identity problems because of it?—Mrs. Chester Strong, Lobsburg, Pa.

● No, I haven't. No-Lobnitz.

FOR JEANE DIXON

Did you predict the Republican victory in 1968, with Richard Nixon the winner? Have you also predicted a depression in 1969?—Dwayne Grosse, Anchor, Ill.

● In "A Gift of Prophecy," published in 1965, I predicted that the Republican party will be victorious at the polls in 1968, and in October 1968, I said in my quarterly forecasts that Richard M. Nixon would be elected President. I did not predict that a depression would occur in 1969, but I do see a slight dip in the stock market early in the year. It will soon come back up again, however.

FOR LAWRENCE WELK

You often mention your daughter-in-law, singer Tanya Falcon. Is your son also on the show? Is he an only child?—Mrs. Henry Hensel, Medford, Ore.

● My son Larry, Jr. is a vice president of a recording company, Randwood International. Larry and the rest of the Welk family have appeared on our Christmas shows. My wife and I have three children, Larry and two married daughters, Shirley and Donnis, and six grandchildren.

● I apply both intuition and psychiatric training to interpret evidence supplied by law-enforcement officials seeking my help. In the case of New York's "Mad Bomber," for instance, I had only descriptions of the bombs themselves, where they were placed, and a few handwritten notes to go on. From them, I was able to deduce a description of the unknown criminal that fitted him exactly. A good crime psychiatrist must fit together all the pieces of a puzzle before giving police a description of an unknown criminal.

FOR BART STARR, quarterback, Green Bay Packers

What has been your greatest thrill in sports?—T.M., Lancaster, Pa.

● It was scoring the winning touchdown against the Dallas Cowboys in the 1967 NFL Championship Game at Green Bay.

FOR SEN. JOHN McCLELLAN of Arkansas

Are you provided with special police protection when you make speeches around the country?—Harold G. Roberts, Pine Bluff, Ark.

● No. The only protection I have is that which is given to any other citizen of the U.S. Of course, if some special need developed where it might be necessary, I am sure it would be provided.

FOR BARBRA STREISAND

Is it true that the Government wants you to go to the Soviet Union and give several concerts?—Arthur Boah, Muncie, Ind.

● Yes, and I would love to entertain audiences there and in every other country around the world. But, as yet, I don't know when I will be able to go.

FOR MEADOWLARK LEMON of the Harlem Globetrotters

How many games do the Globetrotters play each season?—Leo L. Smith, Detroit, Mich.

● About 250. We start our tour through the U.S. in October. Then in April we go to Europe for three months.

WHAT IN THE WORLD!

Will Colleges Drop Out? Private universities are facing a financial crisis which could cause a decline of such education. Endowments have dropped from 50 percent of their income needs to only 10 percent; foundations—such as Ford—are turning elsewhere with their funds; Federal Government grants are small, uncertain, and full of red tape. Cost-per-student has risen 7.5 percent a year; faculty salaries, 5 percent; and maintaining the library, 15 percent. And it is predicted that operating cost will triple in a decade.

Perils of Stardom Eight-year-olds Ripley and Adrian Hall, the British children in "Chitty Chitty Bang Bang," like to talk about friends they left behind while making the film. Both were firm for "loyalty" as the main qualification of a "best friend." Adrian added, "Someone who likes you, who'll play with you, who keeps his promises, and who, if I'm a hap'enny short, will give me one." Heather has a slightly different opinion: "Not taking your money! I thought I'd be getting all the money from the film to spend—you know, like an allowance. I told them that at school, big blabbermouth that I am. When I came back, they all said, 'Let's have our share.'"

Awkward Age. Does your favorite two-year-old have flat feet, knock-knees, and a pot belly? Then he's normal, says ABC-TV's "The Children's Doctor," Lendon Smith, M.D. Two is an age only a mother could love because the typical tot whines a lot, is sleep-resistant, has one overused word in his vocabulary ("No!"), and poor eating habits. Some advice to mothers: you're not alone, and next year (age three) will be better. It can't be worse!

Nails, Pro and Con. "I always wanted long fingernails," actress Brit Eklund ("The Night They Rained Sky's"), confesses, "but no such luck. Suddenly last summer they just grew long and very strong. I'm so proud of them. I use them instead of tweezers, for putting on false lashes, instead of a brush for putting on eye liner, and instead of a comb to do the center part of my hair." Any disadvantages? "I can't push elevator buttons, open windows, or button buttons. I have to use my knuckles or chin."

Travelers in Trouble What happens when you're in a foreign land and suddenly fall ill? For such emergencies, the International Association for Medical Assistance to Travelers, a nonprofit organization supported by donations, has set up offices around the world. If you call them, they'll give you the names of at least two doctors who measure up to American standards, charge reasonable fees—and speak English. For information, write, I.A.M.A.T., Dept. FW, 745-Fifth Ave., New York, N.Y., 10022.

The Three Lives of Samantha Eggar

By PEER J. OPPENHEIMER

IT SEEMS strange that a beautiful, 28-year-old actress can appear in big-budget films with big-name stars, be nominated for an Academy Award ("The Collector"), and still remain a mystery to the public as well as to those she works with.

Part of the mystery of Samantha Eggar is her reputation for being aloof, withdrawn, and uncommunicative. At interviews she is always polite and correct—and unresponsive. At parties—and she is admittedly an avid party-goer—she is always the loner.

But most of the mystery lies in the fact that there are really three Samantha Eggars in one: the girl who was reared in a convent outside London, the Chelsea swinger, and the wife and mother.

Samantha's childhood did little to make her an extroverted, happy-go-lucky person. "I've seen little of my father since I was six years old (he is a British army general now stationed in Germany), and I spent 11 years in a convent school," Samantha says. "The nuns didn't have too much success with me—I've always had a violent temper. In fact, once I almost killed one of the nuns.

"A friend and I were keeping diaries of imaginary romances, and this nun took my book. I begged to have it back, but she wouldn't give it to me. She started down the stairs, and I threw a chair at her. It missed her by inches. That cost me a week in 'solitary,' bread and water and all that."

When she got out of the convent school, Samantha changed her whole way of life immediately. It was easy to understand why. "I guess it was a sort of rebellion for the discipline and regimen of the previous 11 years," Samantha admits. "I spent two and a half years trying to be a fashion artist, and when that didn't work out, I decided to try to be a swinger, a free-wheeler in the Chelsea section of London. I got fed up with that, too. So then I tried acting."

Samantha's impact on the movie world was not what you would call smashing. She appeared in a number of second-rate films, all of which did little for her career. Then came William Wyler's "The Collector," an Oscar nomination; Instant stardom, and big film offers opposite such stars as Cary Grant, Rex Harrison, Sean Connery, and Richard Harris.

Still, Samantha seemed listless, unhappy, unfulfilled both as an actress and as a woman. That all changed when she met actor Tom Stern at a London night club. "I knew I was going to marry her as soon as I saw her," says Tom. "The only thing I needed was an introduction." He got that through a mutual friend and proposed to Samantha via long-distance telephone from New Mexico some months later. They were married in Chelsea in 1964.

The aloofness that has marked Samantha's personality has seemingly disappeared now, and the reason may well be her children, Nicholas, 3, and Jenna Lee, 1. "Having the children made me feel complete as a woman," says Samantha. "They seem to have changed my whole personality. For the first time, I feel secure."

Samantha feels more secure in her career, too. To date, only one of her films, "The Collector," could be called a success, and she's reluctant to talk of her most recent effort, "The Molly Maguires." But you can read between her lines, and you know she believes it's good and that she is proud of it.

Samantha, son Nicholas, and husband Tom.

It is not typical of Samantha to hedge like that on anything. She is one of the most straightforward persons in the movie business. And when it comes to her marriage, she is honest to the point of being blunt. "We have our share of troubles," she says matter-of-factly. "I make more money than Tom, and that's bad. And, too, there is a religious difference (she's Catholic, he's Jewish), but we have it worked out pretty well.

"Finally, Tom and I have little in common as far as leisure time is concerned. He's sports-oriented, headstrong, impatient. I'm not. I have little time for anything except raising the children. Still, I wouldn't want it any other way."

It's obvious from that statement which one of her three lives Samantha Eggar likes best. ♦

Unregulated Credit Reporting

Computer error, an unpaid $5 bill, malicious gossip— for many, they mean harassment

By Sen. WILLIAM PROXMIRE (D.-Wis.)

Chairman, Subcommittee on Financial Institutions

IT MAY seem incredible to you, but for mere failure to pay—within a week or so—a $5 item on a credit transaction, it is entirely possible for you (or any average American):

1) To be hounded two or three or more times by either individually or computer-written letters, threatening you with legal action and permanent impairment of your good credit rating.

2) To be denied a chance to get into the credit record any extenuating circumstances (such as illness, absence on a business trip, or even defunctiveness of the merchandise).

3) To be turned down, as a result, in an application to buy a home insured by the Federal Housing Administration because you are a "poor credit risk," although you otherwise may have had an excellent credit standing and ample funds for the down payment.

All this because of one skipped $5 payment on some trivial item!

It may sound farfetched, but these things have happened to people, and they can happen to you! The results may not cause you to lose your sanity (although there are instances in which it has caused sensitive individuals to encounter mental, marital, and even medical difficulties). But they certainly can seriously affect everyone's life, his good standing in the community, and his right to a sense of mental peace.

Let's face it. Many consumers have been and continue to be victims of serious abuses in the field of credit reporting. As of now, with relation to the credit-reporting situation, there is much which needs to be corrected. I can state this without equivocation on the basis of sworn Congressional testimony, a mass of letters from individuals who have been victimized by a faulty credit-reporting system, and the facts that already have come out about credit-reporting agencies in every area.

It is clear to me that we must enact safeguards over credit reporting now in order to help assuage the problems of the ghetto, as well as of upper-middle-class citizens who are concerned with credit matters.

Here's what a college upper-classman in Madison, Wis., wrote to me recently:

"I received two oil corporation credit cards as part of my entry in a promotional contest for college students last spring. In June, I began to use the card. I also got married and moved. The corporation never sent a bill during July, August, and September.

"My mail was forwarded regularly from my old address. In September, my husband and I received an overdue bill notice. We paid the amount and sent it with a covering letter explaining that my change of name and address probably confused their billing department.

"In reply, we received a letter demanding payment of the same overdue bill and return of our credit cards. At this point, we were only too happy to get rid of the cards; but we still owed the corporation more than they had attempted to collect. At this writing, they still have sent us no bill.

"A poor credit rating will be foisted on us as a result of its mistake. As young marrieds, we are just beginning to need a good credit rating. This company's mistakes can cause us grief."

If this young woman, already nervous, could see some of the letters sent to me by responsible individuals about their credit experiences, and the results, she would be downright frightened. These individuals, for having reacted exactly as she and her husband did with regard to this cockeyed billing, have been prevented from getting FHA approval on the purchase of a home; have been unable to buy cars or appliances on time in a convenient manner; and, in all, have been robbed of the opportunity to enjoy many of the benefits that should be considered normal.

We live in an economy grown big and prosperous through the use of credit, and let me make it clear that I am not opposed to consumer credit or to credit-reporting agencies, which are a vital part of the system.

But the "facts of life" make it essential that we put some legal safeguards on the activities of credit-reporting agencies so that they will do a more precise and useful job.

Literally anybody—if he has the desire and can afford a telephone and a listing in the yellow pages—can get into the credit-reporting business today. The Credit Bureaus (members of the Associated Credit Bureaus, Inc.) in the various areas are the biggest single factor in the credit-reporting business. But they are far from the only ones. These credit bureaus generally operate under the tutelage of principal merchants. They strive to get facts from their members and pass on this information to all subscribing companies, when requested. If these were the only credit-reporting agencies, the problems might not be as bad as they seem, but there still would be good reasons for regulatory laws.

But there are some agencies which specialize in collecting (and selling to clients) only derogatory information about you. It can be, and sometimes is, merely scandalous gossip. Just because a person calls and says he is with a "credit bureau" does not mean he necessarily is with the local Credit Bureau, Inc., sponsored by merchants you know and trust.

Since the courts traditionally have upheld the right of "credit-reporting agencies" to disseminate bona fide credit reports without fear of being held accountable for libel, the

Credit Bureaus Question Need for Legislation

Associated Credit Bureaus, Inc. and Senator Proxmire have the same objective—protection of the privacy of the American consumer. At the same time, we must preserve the advantages of our American system of credit, by preserving the credit granters' rights to pertinent information.

When you consider the volume of credit extended and its impact on our whole economy, it is important to keep the few isolated complaints against credit bureaus in proper focus.

Credit bureaus have a long-standing policy of encouraging consumers with credit difficulty to visit their local credit bureau and review their credit records. The credit bureau is glad to make any necessary re-investigation and correct any errors. If a particular transaction is disputed, credit bureaus want the record to reflect both points of view.

Credit bureaus neither approve nor reject credit. They supply routine, factual information to credit grantors in objective terms. Credit-bureau files deal primarily with the credit histories of consumers. Credit bureaus do not employ outside investigators, and their credit files do not include medical records, opinions of neighbors, or detailed employment histories.

The confidentiality of credit reporting is protected by written contracts between credit bureau and credit grantors. Credit bureaus provide information only to those with a legitimate need to know.

Senator Proxmire has proposed that credit bureaus notify a consumer when a derogatory item of public record is filed. This costly procedure would have to be borne by all consumers and would substantially increase the cost of consumer goods and services.

The credit-bureau industry, working with credit grantors through an Advisory Committee on Protection of Privacy, has now adopted standard operating safeguards. These will relate to the areas of confidentiality, correction of errors, and deletion of outdated information from credit records.

We believe that these safeguards will substantially answer Senator Proxmire and other legislators and can be most effectively enforced by the industry itself.

—John L. Spafford, Executive Vice President of Associated Credit Bureaus, Inc.

Could Ruin Your Life

and problems in buying anything from an appliance to a house

entry of other firms (besides merchant-sponsored bureaus) obviously points to a whole "twilight zone" of possibilities that can be exposed and controlled only by official regulation.

The practices of even the best credit agencies are not foolproof in light of the inherent problems of compiling information. What are some of these problems?

Millions of Americans marry (or get divorced) each year. One researcher went to the local credit bureau to check his credit record. He was chagrined to learn that, although he had been divorced seven years (and this fact was on the credit record), there were scores of entries relating to purchases he had made at Washington department stores in those years, although, in fact, he had never made a single charge-account purchase during the time! The stores (and the credit bureau) still are recording, on his files, the purchases being made by his previous wife. Good or bad, he is cursed with her credit record, although they were legally divorced; and he, in fact, hasn't seen her for years.

Literally millions of Americans have names similar to, or identical with, those of others. There are thousands of "Mary Smiths" and "Jim Jones" in this society. Yet many companies blithely bill one "Mary Smith," ignore her repeated denials that she ever even traded with the stores, sue her for judgment (because she hasn't got the means or knowledge of how to get a competent lawyer), and give her a bad credit rating—even though she may be the wrong "Mary Smith"!

Here, for example, is a letter from a respected Pennsylvania businessman: "I am currently doing battle—for the fifth time—with a major credit-card company. Previously, it was computer error, but this time it was clerical (human) error. But I have every reason to believe it will be just as difficult to correct.

"Meantime, I am resigned to receiving the usual stream of computerized collection notices, becoming progressively more ominous in threatening me with everything from legal action to loss of my credit standing if I do not pay at once."

"All private reporting, for business

ness reasons, should be regulated," a college senior wrote to me. "My college roommate lost his car insurance without any reason. The agent, a good friend, was very apologetic. He confided that while he had no proof, he thought (an adverse credit report) came from a next-door neighbor. These people have never spoken so much as one word to us and could not possibly have 'known' the student in question. Nevertheless, my roommate was maligned—and could not defend himself, since the persons making credit reports on him are protected from possible libel action."

Early in the first session of the 91st Congress, I introduced a bill which would institute Federal safeguards on credit-reporting agencies, with the prime purpose of protecting both the businessmen who have a stake in extending credit and the tens of millions of consumers who virtually must have it to buy "big ticket" items.

The bill would establish these three basic requirements:

1) Credit-reporting agencies are required to maintain procedures giving consumers an adequate opportunity to correct inaccurate or misleading information.

2) Credit-reporting agencies would be required to set up procedures to safeguard the confidential nature of the information in their files. By law, information could be furnished only to businesses about to enter into a prospective transaction with the consumer. Others—including Federal, state, and municipal agencies, employment bureaus, and so forth—could not obtain such information, legally, without the consent of the individual concerned.

3) Credit-reporting agencies would be required to update the information in their files systematically and to weed out obsolete information. They also would be required to notify any individual whenever any derogatory item of a public nature is entered into his file.

Here are some thoughts about possible regulatory points that have been suggested by many individuals.

First, to require credit-reporting agencies to cease all collection activities, if they use their same firm name in such activities. It is, according to many, a conflict of interest.

Second, to make it clear in law that the credit-reporting agency has as great a responsibility to the consumer as to the businessman who allegedly "pays" the agency. Actually, through his purchases, the consumer pays the entire bill and deserves a true report—and is not getting it.

Third, to make clear in law the type of information which credit-reporting agencies legitimately may seek and record, and, at the same time, to require a record of the source of the information recorded.

"We are neither hippies, yuppies, nor members of a protest group, but we are protesting," a couple wrote to me from Texas. "The credit system today is probably the wildest, most mixed-up 'system' of any system or business in our country!"

To an extent, I agree. We must move legislatively to make it work far better. ♣

Freedom fighter?

Yes, you. In a way, most everything you do shows your fighting spirit.

You're enough of an individual to wear the clothes you want to wear. Do what you want to do. Study the things you want to know. That's probably why you use Tampax tampons. Chances are it has nothing to do with the fact that Tampax tampons outsell all others combined. Or the fact that millions of women all over the world use them and trust them.

No. The reason you use Tampax tampons is the comfort and the freedom they give you. Warn internally, they let you wear your sort of clothes. Do your sort of things. Tampax tampons are never bothersome or obtrusive. Can't cause chafing or odor. And they're a cinch to carry in bag or purse. In a very real way, Tampax tampons are freedom fighters in themselves.

WILL YOU SMOKE MY NEW KIND OF PIPE

30 Days at my Risk?

All I want is your name so I can write and tell you why I'm willing to send you my pipe for 30 days smoking without a cent of risk on your part.

By E. A. Carey

My new pipe is not a new model, not a new style, not a new gadget, not an improvement on old style pipes. It is the first pipe in the world to use an entirely new principle for giving unadulterated pleasure to pipe smokers.

I've been a pipe smoker for 30 years, always looking for the ideal pipe—buying all the disappointing gadgets, and never finding a single, solitary pipe that would smoke hour after hour, day after day, without bitterness, bite, or sludge.

With considerable doubt, I decided to work out something for myself. After months of experimenting and scores of disappointments, suddenly, almost by accident, I discovered how to harness four great natural laws to give me everything I wanted in a pipe. It didn't require any "breaking in." From the first puff it smoked cool—it smoked mild. It smoked right down to the last bit of tobacco without bite. It never has to be "rested." AND it never has to be cleaned! Yet it is utterly impossible for goo or sludge to reach your tongue, because my invention dissipates the goo as it forms!

You might expect all this to require a complicated mechanical gadget, but when you see it, the most surprising thing will be that I've done all of this in a pipe that looks like any of the finest conventional pipes. The claims I could make for this principle in tobacco enjoyment are so spectacular that no pipe smoker would believe them. So, since "seeing is believing," I also say "smoking is convincing" and I want to send you one Carey Pipe to smoke 30 days at my risk. At the end of that time, if you are willing to give up your Carey Pipe, simply break it to bits—and return it to me—the trial has cost you nothing.

Please send me your name today. The coupon or a postal card will do. I'll send you absolutely free my complete trial offer so you can decide for yourself whether or not my pipe-smoking friends are right when they say the Carey Pipe is the greatest smoking invention ever patented. Send your name and mailing address to me today. As one pipe smoker to another, I'll guarantee you the surprise of your life. Free. Write:

Now— The "Mini" Desk!

By ROSALYN ABREVAYA

Heritage's secretary desk is just two feet wide but tall enough (76") to lend architectural interest to any den. It is made of sturdy pecan solids, grained cherry veneers.

This country-French desk from Thomasville can easily become a vanity by substituting a mirror for painting. It is made of wormy oak solids and veneers in a wood or painted finish.

This handsome Victorian desk from Drexel is a marvelous accent piece. It sports an attractive brass gallery on top with a porcelain pedestal and has a painted cast-aluminum base.

DESKS DO their own thing this season. In an array of design motifs and finishes, many of them are so compactly scaled that they can be accommodated in a tiny corner. They add inspiration to an entry hall, double as a vanity in the boudoir, and are even portable!

If you've always wanted a handsome writing unit (to pen a thank-you note, compose a couplet, or stash those overdue bills) and never had the space to spare—this, the year of the mini-desk, might well be the time to solve the problem. ♦

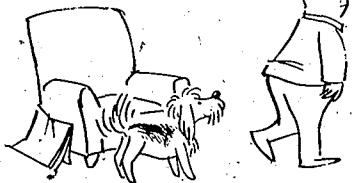

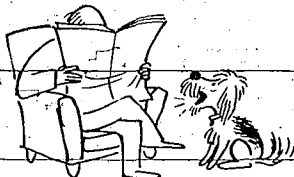

Middalton's reproduction of an old English design, the coaching table, folds easily, has an embossed leather top, and is built of distressed walnut veneer.

Can your child read these words?

napkin      fuzzy      liquid      whisper misty      chicken      velvet      zigzag punch      camel

Your child will learn how to read these and more than 300 other words after working with the very first record of The Sound Way to Easy Reading.

Try out this Phonics Course FREE FOR TWO WEEKS with your child in your own home—without risking a penny. Mail the coupon below.

If your child is a poor reader, if he has not been able to keep up with his class in school—here is a way that you can help him. Many parents have seen their poor readers gain up to a full year's grade in reading skill in just six weeks with the Sound Way to Easy Reading.

As soon as your child starts playing the records and using the charts of The Sound Way to Easy Reading you will know why it works so well. It takes the mystery out of learning to read because it teaches your child by the phonics method (the method by which most parents learned to read years ago).

Teaches with records

With this course your child discovers that letters have sounds. "When he starts sounding out the letters he hears himself saying the word. He's reading. The records drill him in the sounds of the 26 letters of the alphabet and their blends. By the time he completes the first record (about two weeks for the average child) he can read 300 words. After finishing all four records he has been taught 123 basic phonics sounds.

Once he knows these sounds he can read up to 85% of the words in the English Language. It works for children of all ages—in the earliest grades and even in high school. Its records tell your child exactly what to do, so he can teach himself without any help from you.

Tested and Proved

In a pilot study by university psychologists, children gained up to a full year's grade in oral reading skill after only 30 lessons with The Sound Way to Easy Reading.

A semester-long study involving 214 pupils in four Chicago schools proved that the classes given The Sound Way to Easy Reading showed marked improvement in reading and spelling over the control groups.

Don't think it's all your child's fault if he hasn't learned to read.

Many of our brightest children are not able to grasp the "look-and-say" method taught in "most schools" today. Yet, many educators insist that at least 40% of our children must have formal training in phonics—that they will never master reading without it!

Help Your Child Now

So don't wait for your poor reader to reach high school before coming to his aid. By starting your child on The Sound Way to Easy Reading now, you can change his entire attitude toward school—turn his sense of failure into the joy of success. Try it free for two weeks. You send no money—just mail coupon.

Artificial Teeth Must Be Cleaned like fine jewelry

Tests prove that modern dentures are 15 times softer than natural teeth. Thus they are easier to scratch and damage from harsh brushing or abrasives. That's why more and more dentists now suggest soaking dentures clean in KLEENITE instead of hard brushing with abrasive pastes or powders.

Special Triple-Action

KLEENITE's triple-action formula—(1) detergent; (2) oxidizer (3) solvent—cleans your dentures like fine jewelry. It helps soak away stains—penetrates even to toughest-to-clean areas. Helps restore original whiteness to teeth and true pink color to gums. The difference it makes will amaze you!

Hospital-Tested
Regulator Helps Relief
Come Naturally

New York, N.Y. (Special)—Research has discovered a wonder-working substance that helps correct constipation without laxatives!

Doctors say most constipation occurs when waste loses moisture in the colon. To give relief, laxatives often force action—cause griping, cramping; can become habit-forming.

This hospital-tested substance works in a completely different way. It helps natural moisture in the colon work more effectively. Thus by working on the problem, not on you—it helps correct constipation as no laxative can.

This discovery is now available under the name REGUTOLO. It is not habit-forming. No warning on the label—no prescription needed. Try REGUTOLO—you may never take a laxative again!

FIBRODENT's special pencil-point dispenser lets you put it exactly where it's needed. Avoids coating over and gagging.

Just one application may last round-the-clock. Even resists hot coffee. Dentures that fit are essential to health. So see your dentist regularly. Get FIBRODENT at all drug counters.

Treats for Teens

MELANIE DE PROFT Food Editor

Peanut butter in a banana-cream filling and cocoa in a topping crowned with peanuts—all in a crumb crust make for this teen delight, Peanut Pie—served with cola.

■ When teens get together, appetites and records get a workout. We won't suggest what to put on the record player, but here are some treats for those zestful appetites. Remember, keep it all casual—paper napkins, "hot" and "cold" cups, plastic-coated paper plates.

Peanut Pie

- 1 pkg. (3 pouches) cream pie mix, banana-flavored
- 3 tablespoons sugar
- 1/2 cup butter or margarine, softened or melted
- 2 1/2 cups cold milk
- 1/2 cup chunk-style peanut butter
- 3 tablespoons cocoa
- 1 tablespoon sugar
- 1/2 cup cold milk
- 1 1/2 teaspoons vanilla extract

1. Prepare graham crumb crust following pouch 1 directions, using the 3 tablespoons sugar and the butter or margarine. Press mixture firmly over bottom and sides of a 9-in. pie plate; chill.
2. Blend the contents of pouch 2, the 2 1/2 cups cold milk, and the peanut butter in a bowl. Beat until thick and creamy. Pour into prepared crust, spread evenly, and chill.
3. Blend cocoa with the 1 tablespoon sugar in a deep, narrow-bottom bowl and then the contents of pouch 3. Add remaining cold milk and extract. Whip following pouch 3 directions. Spread over filling. Garnish top of pie with salted cocktail peanuts and chill. One 9-in. pie

Peanut-Caramel Clusters

- 1 pkg. (14 oz.) vanilla or chocolate caramels
- 2 tablespoons water
- 1 1/2 cups ready-to-eat cereal*
- 1/2 cup salted cocktail peanuts

1. Melt caramels with the water in a heavy saucepan over low heat, stirring occasionally. Remove from heat and at once mix in blend of cereal and nuts.
2. Working quickly, drop by spoonfuls onto buttered baking sheets. Let stand until firm. About 1 1/2-lbs. candy

Chocolate-Peanut-Caramel Clusters

late flakes with the cereal and nuts. *Cereal flakes tend to crumble; other cereals are preferred.

Saucy Ribs

This recipe may be prepared hours, or even a day or two, in advance.

- 6 lbs. meaty spare ribs or back ribs, cut across ribs and in 3-in. lengths
- 1/4 cup lightly packed dark brown sugar
- 2 teaspoons dry mustard
- 2 tablespoons seasoned salt
- 1/2 teaspoon seasoned pepper
- 2 cups ketchup
- 2 cups water
- 6 tablespoons lemon juice
- 6 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce
- 1/4 cup cider vinegar
- 1/2 cup instant minced onion
- 2 teaspoons prepared horseradish
- 6 drops Tabasco

1. Brown ribs on both sides in Dutch oven, heavy skillet or saucepots, pouring off fat.
2. Meanwhile, in a saucepan prepare the sauce. Blend sugar, mustard, salt, and pepper; stir in remaining ingredients. Bring to boiling, cover, and simmer about 10 min.
3. Pour hot sauce over ribs. Bring to boiling and cover. Simmer and steam 1 to 1 1/2 hrs. or until tender, basting and turning ribs frequently.
4. Put a toasted buttered sesame or poppy seed hamburger bun half on each paper plate. Top with ribs and spoon some of the sauce over all. Serve with potato chips and pickles. About 6 servings

Saucy Ribs from the Oven

prefer Biz almost 2 to 1.

Housewives all over America conducted tests in their own homes. Given unidentified samples of Biz and the other pre-soaker by an independent testing organization, housewives used both on their own laundry problems.

The results are conclusive:

Biz is overwhelmingly preferred! Housewives volunteered these preferences. For tough stain removal, Biz was preferred by almost 2 to 1. For whiter clothes, by almost 3 to 1.

Biz is the most effective pre-soaker you can buy! Biz soaks out stains which no other pre-soaker can. Biz has Bio-Enzym — a combination of stain and dirt removal ingredients, including enzymes that break down stains and dirt biologically so you can easily wash them away.

Prove to yourself that Biz is better. Test Biz yourself and you'll see that Biz gets out stains that the other pre-soaker does not. Tough stains like dried-in mushroom gravy, grape juice, blueberry pie filling, coffee and many more. Yet Biz is safe for all washable fabrics and color—even delicate lingerie. Take the Biz challenge and go soak your clothes in Biz. You'll see for yourself, Biz is better! Biz soaks out stains and dirt which no detergent, no bleach, or no other pre-soaker can remove!

CLIMBING STRAWBERRIES ARE PERENNIALS

Ever-Bearing — Produce All Summer Until Frost

You don't have to buy and plant these Climbing Strawberries every year! Because they are hardy perennials, they'll grow year after year. And each spring they'll produce even more lustily, increasing in length quickly and forming 3 to 6 rosettes at intervals. These rosettes produce clusters of flowers from which the berries fruit profusely this year. In turn, the rosettes produce more runners which bear more flowers and fruit. A prolific, splendid plant to enjoy for years and years. It is truly everbearing.

EASY TO GROW

These plants have proven their ability to thrive and produce and withstand severe winters. And you don't need a lot of space to grow them in . . . only a couple of square feet of ground per plant! Imagine — a climbing strawberry plant from only 2 square feet of ground! Amazing, but true. Planting and care are simple and full directions come with your order.

STRAWBERRIES FROM SPRING UNTIL FROST

Offer Will Not Be Repeated This Year.

Climbing strawberries grow, climb and bear succulent berries until killing frost. Planted in early spring, these climbing strawberry plants start producing berries around July and continue to produce week after week, until frost. You can enjoy the firm texture, tempting fragrance and delightful taste of these magnificent strawberries for months. But that's not all! These plants are as beautiful as they are practical. Not only do they produce delicious fruit, but they also help to dress up your garden with beautiful greenery decked generously with bright red berries. A splendid ornamental plant with luxurious wax-green foliage. Act today!

The SKYSCRAPER CLIMBING STRAWBERRIES offered in this ad are cultivated exclusively for us and are available only through this advertisement and cannot be purchased any where else in the United States.

If you desire the ordinary everbearing variety of Strawberry plants such as Superfection, Brilliant or Gage, they are available at your local garden center or we will send them to you at 10 plants for $1.00 plus 25¢ postage & handling. 25 plants for $2.00 plus 25¢ postage & handling.

QUIPS AND QUOTES

The flashily dressed young woman was on the stand in a casual case. The lawyer for the insurance company, hoping to discredit the witness, sneeringly asked, "And when the elevator started to fall, I suppose all the sins of your past flashed before you?"

"Certainly not," was her cool reply. "The elevator fell only seven stories."

QUIZ

Are You a Helpful Wife?

BEHIND EVERY successful man is a helpful woman. That's an overworked saying, but psychologists agree with it.

In fact, this quiz is based on psychological studies designed to evaluate a wife in terms of how much she helps her husband in climbing the ladder of success. So if you want to find out how you qualify as a helpful wife (or if you're a husband, you can evaluate her), check off which of the three answers you feel is best for each question:

1. Your husband has just been promoted over the head of one of his co-workers. You previously have invited this man and his wife to dinner. How would you handle this situation?

- a) I would invent some kind of excuse to call off the dinner. b) I would go right ahead with plans for dinner, realizing that I'd probably have to face them sooner or later anyway. c) I'd go ahead but dread every moment.

2. How would you feel about your husband working overtime at night?

- a) It would make me unhappy. b) I wouldn't like it, but I would be able to adjust to it. c) I'd take it in my stride.

3. Do you enjoy entertaining?

- a) Not particularly. I would rather be invited to parties and dinners. b) I like to entertain, but I'm always worried and tense for fear everything won't go right. c) Yes. I enjoy getting people together.

4. In his climb to success, your husband could be transferred from time to time to other cities. How would you feel about pulling up stakes?

- a) I think it would be challenging and exciting. b) I might not like it, but I would be willing to accept it. c) I'd say no.

5. Would you worry about the effect on the children of being uprooted?

- a) No. I think it would be broadening and educational for them. b) I think it would be most undesirable so far as the children are concerned. c) I think it would depend on where we moved to—and how often. But I would try to make the best of it.

6. If your husband brought home his boss and his wife to dinner, and one of them asked you how you felt about a controversial issue, how would you handle it?

- a) By giving a straightforward answer. b) By adroitly drawing out the questioner on his own view, without committing myself. c) By trying to change the subject.

7. You are about to go on vacation when your husband's boss asks him if he would like to go on a long business trip. How would you react?

- a) I would feel it was most unfair, and I would be very upset if my husband went. b) I would leave the decision entirely up to my husband. c) I would talk it over with my husband and try to work out an agreement together as to what to do.

8. Do both you and your husband have the same idea about "success"?

- a) Almost. He places more emphasis on power and prestige than I do. b) My husband believes that happiness and material success go hand in hand. I don't. c) Yes, we both have the same goals.

9. Do you have a sense of humor?

- a) A lot of things most people think are funny leave me cold. b) I consider myself better than average. c) I enjoy humorous situations.

10. Do you often attempt more than you are capable of doing?

- a) Yes, but I usually manage to muddle through. b) No, I'm a pretty good judge of what I can accomplish. c) Yes, I'm usually sorry for it afterwards.

ANSWERS

1. Answer b is best. It is better to face up to social problems with poise and tact.
2. Answer c. Inability to make necessary compromises will hurt your husband.
3. Again c.
4. Answer a. A woman who will go anywhere with her husband is a great asset.
5. Again a. This answer signifies family solidarity on important matters.
6. Answer b. Tact in such a situation is really the only answer.
7. Answer b. It is a wise wife who let's her husband make such a difficult decision.
8. Answer c. The more a wife believes in what her husband believes, the greater the potential for helping him.
9. Again c. A good sense of humor facilitates getting along with people.
10. Answer b. It is a wise person who knows her capacity. +

I lived in maternity slacks, until I lost 98 pounds

By JoAnne Lawrence—as told to Ruth L. McCarthy

Understand me, I wasn't pregnant all the time I wore maternity clothes. I was just plain fat and nothing else fit. It started the first year I was married. I was only 16 and gained 75 pounds in twelve months.

We had moved to Austin, Texas, and our apartment was so small there wasn't much to do. So I cooked and ate and ate and cooked. Then, when I found out I was expecting, I started eating even more. I thought that I have a healthy baby you had to eat a lot.

My doctor kept telling me the weight would be hard to get off. But I wouldn't believe it. I was sure I could take it off in no time. The "no time" lasted nine years. I just kept getting heavier and heavier, as I had another child, and another.

Occasionally, I'd buy some yard goods, and a dress pattern with a waistline, and I'd run it up. Then I'd hang the dress in the closet. It was always too snug to wear. I made things that way on purpose, hoping it would make me do something about my weight. But it never did. I'd just wind up wearing my maternity slacks, which had an elastic waistband.

By the time my last son was born, I was really in bad shape. I weighed 230 pounds. It was hard even to breathe. The doctor thought I'd lose the baby.

He even thought he'd lose me, the fat was squeezing my heart so hard. But, fortunately, we both pulled through.

It wasn't like I hadn't ever tried to reduce.

Doctors had prescribed diets and reducing pills for me time and again. Sometimes, I'd stay on a diet five days, then I'd have to eat big, Fried chicken and candy. I couldn't seem to live without them. As for the pills, they made me too nervous. Besides, when you swallow them, they're gone. It's the same with liquid diets. You drink them, and they're gone. It's not like having something you can chew on.

After the baby came, I was desperate to lose. And I wanted sympathy so bad, it hurt. Finally, I made an appointment with another doctor. While in his waiting room, I picked up a magazine and suddenly saw this story about a woman who'd lost a tremendous amount of weight. When I looked at her fat picture, I said: "That's me." Then I looked at her slim picture. And I thought, if she can do it, so can I. So I read every word and I found out that she did it with the help of Ayds Reducing Plan Candy.

Now that I'm 132 pounds, even my little boys are proud of me. The oldest keeps saying to his pals: "Hey, you, this is my Mom!"

I didn't even wait to keep my appointment with the doctor. I told the nurse I was sick and left. And I went right to the drugstore and got some vanilla caramel Ayds. Later, I tried both the plain chocolate fudge type and the fudgy chocolate mint. And I started losing on the Ayds Plan.

I didn't set myself too strict in what I ate for meals. I was just careful. But I took the Ayds, as directed, and they helped me curb my appetite. They really did. I kept my Ayds in the refrigerator and that made them real chewy. And that's what I wanted. Something to chew on. Why, if I'd wake up in the middle of the night and start thinking about food, I'd just get up, get an Ayds and chew away.

When I'd gone down 26 pounds, I was able, at last, to get into one of those dresses hanging in my closet. You can't imagine how good that made me feel.

Soon I began looking at pretty dresses in magazines. Bright, bright colors, too. After all, I was just in my mid-twenties and I was tired of wearing black.

About this time, I also started doing exercises to help me firm up. But I have to admit, when it came to touching the floor, I cheated. So I decided to switch to walking—eight blocks every evening. And it made me feel real good.

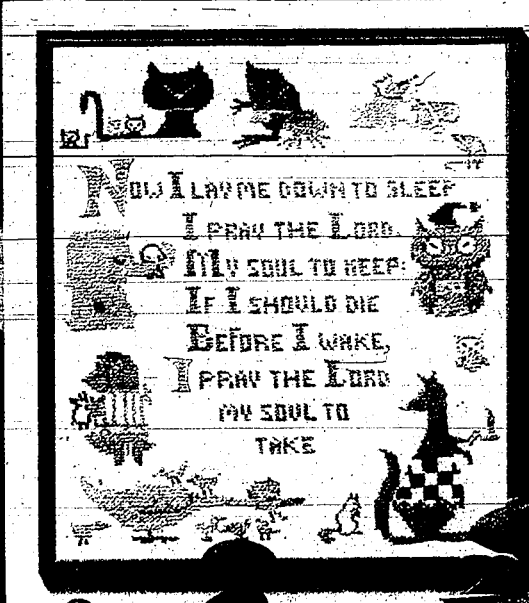

When I finally lost 98 pounds, I couldn't believe it. I was like a new person. I bought myself some shorts. Some dresses with belts, to show my waistline. And even a couple of minis. Fact is, we've had to add three new closets to our house. I just can't get enough of dressing up.

I've been down to 132 pounds for some time now, but I still keep a box of Ayds in the refrigerator. When I feel myself slipping, I look at them and say: "You satisfy me, Ayds, or I'm in trouble." And they do. They've helped me cut my appetite way down. And my weight. The only thing out of line now is my clothes bill.

His Lucky Night

How to Spark Your Child's Interest in Reading

By VIRGINIA WARREN Author of "Tested Ways to Help Your Child Learn"

IS YOUR child "allergic to print"? That is, he can read—but doesn't.

If so, he's as deprived educationally as the much-publicized "Johnny" who can't read at all. Reading is essential in high school and college, of course, but also a requisite for success—in career-and-cultural enrichment—after school.

What can parents do to correct this negative attitude? Here are some tips from noted educators:

1. Tempt them with paperback books.

"It has been found that paperback books are more appealing to poor readers than hard-cover books," says Dorothy A. McGinniss, former executive secretary of the American Association of School Librarians. "Paperbacks are more attractive and less formidable." One teacher tells about the time he left a paperback copy of "The Return of the Native" on top of his desk. Within several weeks the book had been picked up, read, and returned by 11 students. Yet the hard-cover edition had been in the school library for months—unread.

2. Appeal to their hobbies, interests, and needs.

One of the basic principles of teaching is to "start where the student is." This means using the student's current interests, needs, and enthusiasms to help him expand and learn.

One teacher used a wart on a boy's thumb as a device to start him reading. Barry was worried about the wart but extremely superstitious about where warts came from and how to get rid of them. The teacher recommended a book titled "Superstitions? Here's Why!" and asked him to read the chapter on warts. Barry almost memorized that section and finished the entire book in four hours. On his first trip to the library he also discovered some very readable books on health and strength—major interests of his. Sixteen-year-old Barry suddenly became an interested reader.

3. Subscribe to a magazine especially for your child.

Few youngsters—whether they like to read or not—can resist the appeal of their very own magazine arriving in the mail.

Magazines for younger children are geared to their interests and written at their reading level. Reluctant young readers find themselves reading instructions for easy make-and-do projects. Their eyes are then drawn to riddles, puzzles, and stories. Before long they are hooked—looking forward eagerly to the next issue.

4. Introduce him to the public library.

Take your young child to the nearest library. Help him get his own library card and introduce him to the children's section, so he can make his own selections.

5. Make the most of your daily newspaper.

"The newspaper communicates a sense of vitality and immediate excitement equaled by no other public writing of our time. It is just that sense of excitement which has been so sadly missing from the texts of our public schools," says Daniel N. Faber in "Hooked-on-Books." Pique your child's interest by clipping articles that will appeal to him.

6. Join a children's book club.

The regular arrival of books with your child's name on them—books of his very own—can be a strong inducement to reading. Several clubs now exist which make available well-written children's books with illustrations.

7. Let him choose.

Parents, and even teachers, too often choose children's reading material by their own likes and dislikes. The fact is, children are individuals. They have their own "favorite" stories. Let them make their own selections—and likely they'll overcome their "allergy" to print. *

PIN WORMS

A FAMILY AFFAIR. Fidgeting, loss of sleep and a tormenting itch are often telltale signs of Pin-Worms... ugly parasites that medical experts say infest 1 out of every 3 persons examined. Entire families may be victims and not know it. To get rid of Pin-Worms, they must be killed in the large intestine where they live and multiply. That's exactly what Jayne's P-W tablets do... and do it safely.

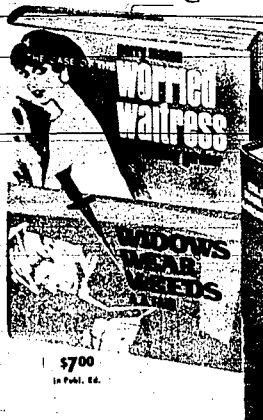

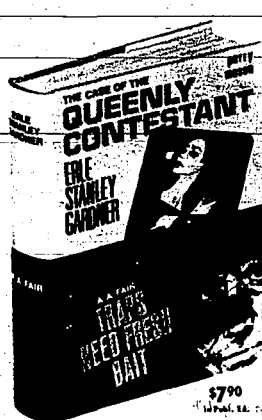

First—a scientific coating carries the tablets into the bowels before they dissolve. Then—after a modern, medically-approved ingredient goes right to work—kills Pin-Worms quickly, easily. Ask your pharmacist. Don't take chances with dangerous, highly contagious Pin-Worms which infect entire families. Get genuine Jayne's P-W Vermifuge, a small, easy-to-take tablets... special sizes for children and adults.

including 9 of Gardner's latest

$40.75 worth of mysteries in publishers' original editions—only $1.00! Here's your chance to get the very latest Perry Mason, along with two more new mysteries in a big 3-in-1 edition—title-length, hard-bound volumes. A $40.75 value in original publishers' editions—but now, as a brand-new member, you can get all eleven for just $1.00! We make this spectacular offer to mystery fans in order to show you the many advantages of membership in The Detective Book Club:

The Best New Mysteries — At Considerable Savings
Out of the 300 or more new detective books that come out every year, the Club selects the very cream of the crop — by outstanding authors like Erle Stanley Gardner, Agatha Christie, A. A. Fair, Milton C. Eisenhower, John Creasey and Van Wyck Mason. All these and many other famous authors have had their books selected by the Club. Many are members themselves. Club selections are all newly published books. Each month you can get three of them—complete in one handsomely-bound triple volume easily worth $11.85 to $13.95 in publishers' original editions. As a member, however, you pay only $3.00.

Take ONLY the Books You Want
You do not have to take a volume every month. You receive a free copy of the Club's Preview which will fully describe all coming selections and you may reject any volume before or after receiving it. You pay no money in advance; no membership fee. You may cancel your membership at any time.

SEND NO MONEY — Mail Coupon for All 11 Mysteries
Don't be disappointed! While the supply lasts, send the coupon to get your nine great Erle Stanley Gardner — plus the other two exciting mysteries described on this page. Orders will be filled only as long as there are books available. If you are a real mystery fan, you won't want to let this opportunity get away from you. Mail the coupon now to:

GIVE YOUR CHILD A HEAD START IN READING

New Fun with Phonics Reading Program brings amazing results...works like a private tutor to make reading easy and fun.

As an introduction to the new Fun with Phonics Reading Program, the enclosed card will bring us our Free gift to your child a colorful phonetic reader and an exciting LP tutoring record. "Let's Read" is a big, 0 1/2" x 9", fully illustrated, 21-page book he can read by himself and the record, "A Child's Introduction to Phonics" reviews the basic rules that make reading easy and fun.

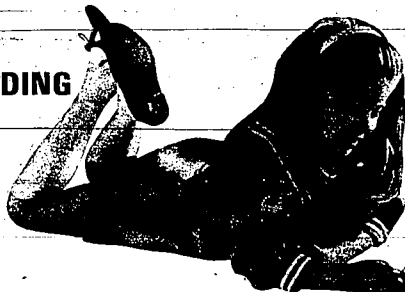

Now, in the privacy of your home, your child will receive that individual instruction from a reading expert that you have always wanted him to have.

Whether your child has learned reading by the phonics method or not, the Fun with Phonics Reading Program will help him to read better, spell better and pronounce better. Equally important, your child will discover the thrill of achievement and the basic fact that reading can be fun!

How Does This Program Work?

Mail the enclosed card now to receive your FREE book and record, and we will enroll your child in the Fun with Phonics Reading Program. Each month your child will get an exciting package containing another attractive book he can read by himself — PLUS a fascinating game to develop his reading skill — and vocabulary — PLUS another record to tutor him in the rules and practice of phonics. You decide whether to keep the books, records and games after you see them.

The first record your child receives free — "A Child's Introduction to Phonics" — may change his entire life. Narrated by Mrs. Dorothy Taft Watson, widely known reading expert, this record explains the Magic Keys to reading. In a special introduction, Mrs. Watson writes "I believe that most reading difficulties come from a mistaken belief that reading is a difficult subject... the fact is that phonics makes learning to read simple and exciting to the child."

Children Learn Best When Having Fun

As a member of the Fun with Phonics Reading Program, your child will make astounding progress in reading. For this program is based on the proven idea that children learn best when they are having fun and understanding what they are doing.

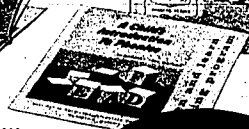

Each month your child receives a captivating book, record and game — addressed to him — for the small charge of only $1.00 plus a few cents shipping and handling. You may cancel any time after you have taken four monthly selections.

Reading is more important today than ever before. It is the key to all learning — and to success in life. Place that key in the hands of your child today.

THE DANDELION LIBRARY

... with no obligation to buy any books ever!

Give your child a good start toward a higher I.Q.

Now! Take PETER PAN and ALICE IN WONDERLAND FREE. It's an outright gift for your child from DANDELION LIBRARY.

Stories like these have a special magic for 2-to-7-year-olds. They will capture your youngster's imagination and make him eager to hear more and more, until—almost before you know it—he's reading the stories back to you!

The key to a higher I.Q.

That's the "magic" of DANDELION LIBRARY—a new program that offers you—on approval—some of the most enchanting stories ever written for children. Among them are Peter Rabbit, Bambi, Robin Hood, Heidi, Pinocchio, Babar the Elephant, and dozens of other lovable storybook friends. They're waiting now, to help your child develop a lifelong love of books and reading which may help raise his I.Q. 10 to 15 points.

All are in Twin Book editions, beautifully illustrated in sparkling color, that combine two complete books in one handsome volume. Read the first story... flip the book over and there's the second story waiting to be read. Imagine... that means double fun for your child; double value for you! In separate bookstore editions these stories sell for $1.00 to $3.95 each, but as a DANDELION

LIBRARY subscriber, each Twin Book costs you only, $1.65 plus a small mailing charge.

Best of all, you are not obligated to take any minimum number of selections. Take as many or as few as you like, or none at all. Cancel whenever you like by mailing any invoice with the simple word "CANCEL" written across it.

Reading is fun for Sarah—as it should be for every child. At age four and a half, she's already choosing her own books at the San Diego, California library.

She reads books many third graders find "hard going." Yet she won't enter first grade for another year.

Sarah is typical of thousands of children who learned to read with "Listen and Learn with Phonics"—a reading kit that actually makes reading fun.

"Listen and Learn with Phonics" was developed by a reading expert. It has been endorsed, after extensive testing by teachers, schools, and educators.

This practical (and inexpensive) home-learning kit fascinates eager young minds from three to ten. The child hears the letters or sounds on the phonograph record, sees them in his book and repeats them himself. This makes an absorbing game of better reading—with amazing results!

FOR EXAMPLE:

- Slow or average readers show sudden, often spectacular improvement in reading, in spelling, in understanding.
- Older children often advance their reading skills several years beyond their age levels.
- Young "pre-schoolers" actually teach themselves to read by this simple but startlingly effective phonics method of words, pictures, and records.

6 TEACHING GAMES INCLUDED FREE

Set includes six separate "word building" games. All six are sent with your Listen and Learn Phonics Set FREE of charge!

TEACHERS & PARENTS ACCLAIM RESULTS***

"I received your Combination Teaching Set and am positively delighted with it... your marvelous approach to reading is just what we need."

"We purchased 'Listen and Learn with Phonics'... for our nine year old son... within two weeks his reading had improved 100%."

Mrs. Gregory Knight, San Leandro, California

These "Learning-Tools" Simple to Use!

You don't need special teaching skills to use this program. Nor do you need any special knowledge of phonics.

In fact, your child needs no special supervision on your part. This set is so simple, so fascinating, he can learn "on his own" without help.

10-DAY FREE TRIAL — PLUS 4-MONTH MONEY-BACK GUARANTEE!

Results are so dramatic, the publishers will make the complete kit available to your child with an equally dramatic FREE trial and guarantee.

Under the terms of this unusual offer you can test the kit free of charge for ten days. Moreover you may use the kit for four months and then return it for full refund if you're not completely satisfied with your child's progress!

Check the appropriate box on the reply card in the centerspread of this folder and mail today. There's no obligation, and six teaching games are included free—yours to keep whether you buy or not.

edition of

word power builder

including Roget's International Thesaurus

Is your vocabulary holding you back?

Are you afraid to use certain words because you are not sure of their meaning? Do you often come across words that are unfamiliar to you? Are you at a loss for the right word to make your meaning clear?

The English language gives you a wonderfully rich choice of

Students... One of the most important factors in achieving scholastic excellence is a good vocabulary... an important "must" for college entrance exams.

Housewives... Being able to express yourself clearly and easily is important to your personal development and your relationship with others.

Civic Leaders... Increase your vocabulary and you will gain confidence, poise, and influence.

400,000 words, yet most people skimp by on just a few thousand. Imagine how much more interesting your conversation would be if you could just double your vocabulary? How much more exciting your writing would be if you could be sure of using exactly the right word in the right place. No longer would you have to envy people who speak convincingly and confidently.

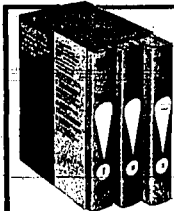

Now you can add as many as 10,000 new words to your speaking and writing vocabulary. Now you can always have the right word at the right time.

This exciting new 3-volume combination of Roget's International Thesaurus and The Vocabulary Builder was designed for people who are too busy to spend long hours in research or tedious lessons. Thoroughly revised to include modern words and phrases, newly arranged for ease of use and completely restyled in handsome matching bindings, these three volumes are the cornerstone of any reference shelf.

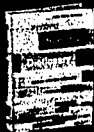

The basic principle of a thesaurus is the grouping of words by ideas. The Vocabulary Builder puts the key to word development within your grasp. Whether you are a student, businessman, housewife, writer, reader or speaker, this exciting set will open new worlds of enjoyment and effectiveness.

Now you can have this complete 3 volume set — ABSOLUTELY FREE — to use for 14 days at our expense. If at the end of 14 days you are not able to speak with greater assurance, write more easily and clearly, and read with greater understanding — simply return the entire set and pay nothing.
