Livestock Industry Honors 5

By BOB VANAUSDEIN
Times-News Farm Editor

Some 350 persons watched as five Magic Valley men, prominent in the livestock industry, were honored Monday evening by the Livestock Hall of Fame, sponsored by the Southern Idaho Agricultural Livestock Industry.

The invocation was given by Rev. John Garbrandt, Jerome, United Methodist Church. Mr. Brackett was introduced by Ivan Skinner, senior vice president of the Twin Falls Bank and Trust Co. Mr. Skinner said that Noy Brackett is well known throughout the area, as well as the state, for promoting the livestock industry and for range improvement.

Amended Budget Given Approval By City Council

By ANNETTE JENKINS
Times-News Staff Writer

The Twin Falls City Council formally approved the 1969 budget of $2,510,152, with one amendment Monday night. Councilman John Warberg presented the amendment, which will allow for airport funds which should have been included in the original figures. He explained this will not incur any additional expenditures, but will merely include FAA contributions in the budget. A public hearing will be scheduled on the amendment to the budget.

termed "Protection and Flood Prevention Act for the Rock Creek watershed. Herb Derrick, city manager, informed the council that the study will not cost the city a thing and will be done by the federal government. The amendment will allow a study of all the drainage of Rock Creek and the possibility of upper and lower dams to divert water to the Salmon Tract area.

WORKMEN HAVE BEEN remodeling on the fourth floor of Magic Valley Memorial Hospital for the entente of an intensive-coronary care unit on the west end of the floor.

The unit will have seven beds, three for coronary care and four for intensive care patients. The work is expected to be completed in several months.

Intensive-Coronary Care Unit Slated

Hospital Here Keeping Up To Date

By ANNETTE JENKINS Times-News Staff Writer

In a recent television news special entitled "Heart Attack" the commentator said all progressive hospitals in the United States have, or are planning to install, intensive-coronary care units.

Magic Valley Memorial Hospital is doing just that!

The west end of the hospital's fourth floor is now under construction. Approximately one-third of this floor is being remodeled for an intensive-coronary care unit. Seven semi-private rooms are being used for the floor space for a seven-bed unit. Three of the beds will be for coronary care and four beds for intensive-care.

James Rosenbaum, assistant hospital administrator, said all the beds will have monitoring equipment and there will be a nurse's station in the center of the complex in operation 24 hours a day. There will be a nurse-patient call system installed which will enable two-way voice communication.

The facilities will be for the critically ill "coronary patient" or a patient whose illness or injury would require intensive care.

Two rooms adjacent to the unit will be wired so monitoring equipment can be used in case of an overflow of patients.

The air conditioning equipment will be installed on what is now known as the hospital's sun deck. Mr. Rosenbaum explained that the unit has to have a separate air conditioning system.

The hospital has been using a portable "crash care" with monitoring equipment for such cases and will continue to use this in case of emergencies.

Mr. Rosenbaum said many hospitals in the state have installed intensive-coronary care units or are planning to do so. It will be several months before the construction work is completed. This is only one part of Magic Valley Memorial Hospital's modernization program. The ceiling has been replaced on second, third and fifth floors and the newly expanded oxygen system is being installed by the contractors. The next move will be the installation of room consoles and oxygen, lighting and vacuum fixtures.

Hospital officials have noted that the construction work is progressing a little ahead of schedule.

Small Return Of Salmon Is Viewed

SALMON, Idaho (UPI) — Jack Cook, chairman of the Salmon Chamber of Commerce's fish committee, said low escapement of chinook salmon four years ago could result in a very small return this year.

In a letter to Gov. Don Samuelson, Cook said "This came about due to a so-called miscalculation by those responsible for setting commercial seasons on the Columbia River."

"After the slaughter was over, scarcely 20,000 spring and summer chinook had survived the trip to the passage facilities at Lee Harbor Dam."

Cook said the low escapement could result in a very small return this year and another closure in Idaho, "especially if the commercial interests are again allowed to put in their nets."

Cook said that he had sent copies of the letter to Idaho, Washington and Oregon fisheries officials, congressmen and federal fisheries officials.

Nixon's Trip

President Nixon's eight-day trip to five European countries is both timely and exciting. It is timely because it gives government heads of Great Britain, West Germany, Italy, France and Belgium the opportunity to become acquainted with the new president before they are tempted to form impressions and opinions from a distance.

is perhaps a better chance of such an understanding. For those observers who dislike private meetings between government heads—remembering perhaps some of the unfortunate agreements which resulted from such meetings during and after World War II—the President anticipated the raised eyebrows with the observation that he does not believe in "instant samirity."

WASHINGTON—With his ambitious policy initiatives, President Nixon is putting the good faith and good intentions of Soviet leaders to an early test. The President is exploring the application of four-power diplomacy to the Middle East. He is going to Europe later this month in what he clearly hopes will serve as prelude for top-level talks with the Kremlin.

Nixon is now pushing for more explicit illustrations from the Kremlin. In following this course, Mr. Nixon is exploiting the flexibility available in a new President who is unencumbered with policy determinations of the past. There are some risks involved, however, and he is well aware of them.

the Kremlin wants to avoid a new shooting war now between the Arabs and the Israelis. Some top authorities doubt, however, that Soviet leaders want to move toward a permanent solution for the problems of the Middle East. They think that, despite Moscow's expressed desires for a solution, the Kremlin will frustrate any hopes for a permanent settlement.

1961 and the subsequent intro-duction of missiles into Cuba while any such action was being denied by Soviet diplomats. In addition, some officials wonder whether France can play an effective four-power role in the Middle-East—in view of what they regard as anti-Israel (and even anti-Semitic) attitudes of Gen. Charles de Gaulle.

Tough Sledding Ahead?

ANDREW TULLY

The American People Pay Off

WASHINGTON — It was D-Day dollar day — for members of Congress. Their collective contempt for the American people pays off, and this is read in a 41 per cent pay increase from $20,000 to $28,000 that went into effect on Valentine Day.

It will not happen tomorrow (the only other major piece of business this year on Capitol Hill was a law donning the President's salary), but public pressure might well force it to happen in the foreseeable future.

In the meantime, it is too tempting to comment on the remarks uttered by the Senate Democratic leader, Mike Mansfield, concerning the pay hike. Speaking in favor, Mansfield urged that members, having the guts to support it, "Are we mice or are we men?" asked Mansfield.

No Pueblo Repetition

As the Pueblo inquiry progresses into its final stages, there is near-unanimous agreement that the U.S. Navy displayed an "unfortunate" lack of preparedness for the events which befell the ship and its crew. Even Cmdr. Bacher's superiors have testified to this effect.

What Laird is asking is whether ocean-intelligence missions are justified—to begin with, and if they are what adequate "safeguards" can be provided to guarantee their safety. It can be reasonably assumed that the Navy's concerns as other departments that the incident not be repeated, and consequently will do everything possible to provide the security for its vessels which was lacking in the Pueblo's case.

Attention soon must turn from a recital of the events to definite plans for preventing a venture so foolish in the future. Although the Navy has announced it is taking steps to insure future expeditions of this type against a similar fate, the Secretary of Defense Laird has ordered an inquiry which has more substance.

But the secretary's first question takes on wider implications. Is a 25-year-old converted ship, loaded with sensitive equipment, the best way of conducting necessary reconnaissance? Apparently the U-2 flights which ended in embarrassment a few years ago have not been resumed on a wide scale. What then does modern technology, including space satellites, provide as an alternative?

MR. SPECTATOR

Have A Heart

(Editor's Note: Mr. Spectator leaves on vacation this week. For use during the time he will be away he has selected a series of historic pictures from the files of the Twin Falls County Historical Society. These pictures, with background comment, will appear in this space starting Thursday. We are sure that you who like local history will enjoy this series brought to you as an extra feature by the Times-News and through courtesy of officials of the historical society.)

FROM THINGS that have crossed Mr. Spectator's desk we note the following: Scientists have discovered a new and potent weapon in the control of insects — sex. It was quite by accident that researchers at the University of Notre Dame, who were experimenting with various types of mosquitoes in a genetic control project, discovered that crossing various strains of the A and A mosquito, a well-known disease carrier, produced many more males than females.

It's heart month again. This is the 20th Heart Fund campaign, which will continue through the balance of this month and which will reach its climax on Heart Sunday, Feb.-23, when more than one and one-quarter million volunteers will call on their neighbors to distribute heart-saving literature and to receive Heart Fund donations.

Eventually, the scientists, headed by Dr. George B. Craig, were able to produce generations which were 95 per cent male. A test colony of these mosquitoes bred itself out of existence in 42 weeks.

Put another way, about 49,000 more lives are being prolonged yearly than would have been the case had the 1950 death rate continued.

This was the first experiment conducted to find ways other than insecticides to control the insect population. Chemical control agents are coming under considerable fire as pollutants of the environment, and are considered dangerous in developing strains of resistant insects and possibly even upsetting the balance of the food chain.

Among the long list of advances achieved in the past 20 years are: Drugs for controlling high blood pressure, heart-lung machines to take over the circulation during heart surgery, artificial heart valves and synthetic artery grafts. Artificial pacemakers to maintain regular heart rhythm. Successful kidney transplants between identical twins and the development of the artificial kidney. Coronary care units, which monitor heart patients and have improved the survival rate by 30 per cent. Vastly improved diagnostic techniques.

A genetic control to insect control has none of these disadvantages. The impetus given the genetic approach by the Notre Dame team could bring into being in the near future a more imaginative, more effective and less dangerous method of insect control.

Much remains to be done, however. More than 26 million Americans are afflicted with some form of cardiovascular illness, a total that surpasses any other complex of diseases.

The impetus given the genetic approach by the Notre Dame team could bring into being in the near future a more imaginative, more effective and less dangerous method of insect control.

So there you are — Mr. Spectator hopes that you have a heart — and that it's a good one!

ART BUCHWALD

A New Regime

WASHINGTON — One of the most moving things to see in Washington is a new presidential appointee taking over a department of the government. The appointee arrives all fired up with ideas on how to streamline the department and put it on a more profitable, business-like basis.

Secure continued, "My door will be open to any of you, any time." "The man behind me whispered to the friend, 'I think he really believes it.'"

Secure continued, "My door will be open to any of you, any time." "The man behind me whispered to the friend, 'I think he really believes it.'"

I attended one the other day in the department auditorium and sat in the audience with 2,000 employees.

The presidential appointee, after being introduced by a career officer of the department (the officer used the same introduction for Warren Harding's appointee some years back), got up and said:

The man in front of me said, "The man behind me said, 'I guess he hasn't been before a congressional committee yet.'"

Indeed, the Senate's oracular Republican leader, Everett Dirksen, made a point of submitting to an interview to reiterate his opposition to forcing Congressmen to come clean. In doing so, Dirksen set himself up as a legitimate target for comment.

"I'll give him three months," the friend replied. "I am not one of those fellows who comes in as a know-nothing, not willing to learn, and I'm willing to learn. I'm willing to get all the facts."

Secure continued, "My door will be open to any of you, any time." "The man behind me whispered to the friend, 'I think he really believes it.'"

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Falling Asleep

Dear Dr. Thosteson: This may seem like a silly matter but it is causing friction. It concerns a young man who falls asleep at the drop of a hat. He seems to have done it from high school days, and once he ran into a tree, damaging his car.

Some women do encounter this skin color change from the birth control pills; others don't. Stop the medicine for a few days and the spots fade out. If not, special medication from a dermatologist is the only answer I know.

It does not seem to be based on not enough sleep, as it has happened after he has taken a nap. I'm especially concerned because it is when he is with his mother as he keeps yelling at him to concentrate on his driving.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have twins, a boy and a girl, aged 3. The little girl's left eye is slightly crossed. It is not noticeable all the time. I've noticed that when she is looking at picture books, she always has them upside down. The little boy doesn't do this. Could you explain why she does this? Does she really see things upside down?

It is tempting, I say, to suggest that by your greed our legislators more closely resemble a larger member of the rodent tribe.

Without knowing more, I can't advise you an educated guess as to exactly why she turns the book upside down. But this I can tell you; the little girl clearly has an eye defect and you should have her examined by a specialist examine her without delay. These eyes which are "slightly crossed" should be examined as soon as possible, since, if the trouble is allowed to continue, it may be more difficult to correct later on.

A complete physical examination is in order, to rule out neurological or psychological factors. A metabolism check, to see whether thyroid activity is low, should be included. A tolerance test is necessary to rule out the possibility that he has hypoglycemia (low blood sugar).

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Recently my husband told me that unripe or green potatoes are poison. I know that many unripe things are poisonous, such as berries, dogwood, castor beans, etc. Could you tell me if this story about green potatoes is true?

The man in front of me said, "The man behind me said, 'I guess he hasn't been before a congressional committee yet.'"

The portion of a potato that is green can be harmful, but it isn't a matter of ripeness. Rather, the green-colored part which has been exposed to the sun.

Secure continued, "My door will be open to any of you, any time." "The man behind me whispered to the friend, 'I think he really believes it.'"

You can lose weight if you really want to. Dr. Thosteson's booklet, "Lost Secrets of Reducing," tells you how—naturally and with no gimmicks—to get the best results for your individual needs. For a copy, write to Dr. Thosteson, care of this newspaper, enclosing 35 cents in cash. No stamps. If addressed, stamped envelope.

Shaw Jury Takes Recess For Festival

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—The Clay L. Shaw jury and judge took a holiday today on a private front porch from which they could watch the color and festivity of Mardi Gras.

Judge Edward A. Haggerty Jr. said a friend of his had donated his porch, about 50 feet from an avenue down which will pass the traditional parade of Rex, King of Carnival. Haggerty declined to give the location.

In the span, he said, they would be able to see both the rex and the Elys Krewes of Orleansian parades.

Court was adjourned an hour early Monday when two of the jurors became ill. One suffered an upset stomach and the other from a high blood pressure condition.

An assistant coroner was called to tend them, and Haggerty said after court adjourned they're all under the weather.

Shaw, 55, is charged with conspiring here in September, 1963 to murder President John F. Kennedy. He is not charged with the actual murder.

Monday's recess was adjourned part way through the state's examination of an expert medical witness who said his study of a certain picture of the murder frame by frame had left him with the opinion the fatal shot was fired from the front.

The witness was Dr. John M. Nichols, associate professor of pathology at the University of Kansas, author of many technical articles in his field, who said he had performed about 1,000 autopsies, supervised 1,000 more, and examined about 400,000 specimens taken from human bodies.

Senate Urged To Ratify Nuclear Pact

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary of State William P. Rogers urged the Senate today to ratify promptly the nuclear cooperation treaty, saying "there is no effort of greater importance than preventing the spread of nuclear weapons."

Rogers testified at the opening of hearings by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee on the international accord which would prohibit nations possessing nuclear weapons from giving them or the means of making them to those that do not have them.

"I would like to point out that the United States has for many years been in the forefront of the many countries which realize the awesome insecurity that could result from the spread of nuclear weapons," Rogers said in his prepared testimony.

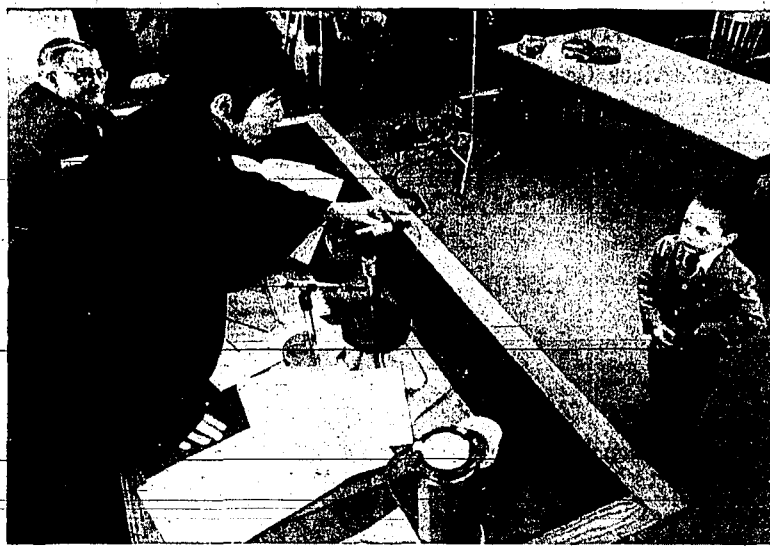

"There is no effort of greater importance than the endeavor to prevent such an eventuality," Rogers said sincerely, hoping that the committee will again report favorably on this treaty and that the Senate will give its advice and consent to ratification as soon as it is responsibly called in the light of the treaty's importance.

The Foreign Relations Committee approved the treaty last year but the Senate never acted on it, largely as a result of anti-Russian sentiment stirred up by the Soviet invasion of Czechoslovakia last August.

President Nixon said during his campaign that he felt action should be delayed because of the Russian invasion, but he recently asked the Senate to proceed now with ratification. The Senate is expected to do so with little difficulty.

In effect, the treaty asks non-nuclear powers to foreswear development of nuclear weapons. It would come into force after it is ratified by the United States, Britain, the Soviet Union and 40 other signatory powers.

STANDING QUIETLY BEFORE Denver County Traffic Judge Zita Weinschenk, left on a charge of jaywalking, little Leigh G. Barron, all of five years old, hears a lecture on traffic — and pedestrian — safety. The youngster suffered a broken collarbone and dislocated hip when he walked into the path of a car while back, and Patrolman Louis M. Vecchiaro issued him a citation. The judge dismissed the citation because of the offender's age. (UPI telephoto)

Court Warns Youngster On Jaywalking

DENVER (UPI)—Leigh G. Barron could barely see over the top of the bench, but the five-year-old was in County Court Monday to explain why he got a ticket for jaywalking.

Actually, embarrassed police officials tore up the traffic summons, but the youngster was in court anyway because his father and the judge, Zita L. Weinschenk, thought it would do him some good.

"The sun was in my eyes," Leigh explained in his first appearance in court.

The boy darted into the side of a car and suffered a fractured collarbone in the incident. The patrolman explained he was ticketing young Leigh to protect the driver.

Judge Weinschenk listened to the boy's explanation, then gave him a lecture on traffic safety. After that, Leigh had to face a battery of news photographers and reporters.

"Don't ask me all these questions," he finally said, "I'll get nervous and get a headache."

Leigh says the next time he goes to court, he is bringing legal aid—a cat named Captain James. It may help. The cat is named after the head of the police district in which the youngster lives.

House Endorses Measure Tightening Controls On Timber Associations

BOISE (UPI) — The House approved a bill and sent it to the Senate after 15 minutes of debate today to tighten restrictions on timber protective associations in which the state participates.

Reps. Marion Davidson, D-Bonnerville, R. Dee Merrill, D-Elk River, and Walter Little, D-Idaho Falls, cast the only dissenting votes against the proposal.

Floor sponsor Vernon Ravencroft, D-Tuttle, recalled the disastrous fires in northern Idaho during the summer of 1967 and the aftermath of those fires in which restrictive legislation was sought.

He said that should another series of bad fires break out, there could be another attempt to restrict extensively or even abolish timber protective associations which came under fire from the legislature at a special session in 1968.

"I do not feel this would be wise or intelligent," Ravencroft said.

He said his bill would strengthen and clarify the laws governing timber protective associations by:

- Prohibiting them from lobbying except on measures directly concerning them.
- Limiting state liability for that established by law.
- Requiring the state forester to review management structure, equipment, training of personnel and adequacy of the liability insurance annually.
- Allowing a member or members to withdraw if they control 67 per cent of the acreage involved.
- Should any of these conditions not be met the state would be prohibited from entering into agreements with such an association.

Solon Offers His Opinions On Proposals

SHOSHONE—State Rep. John George, District No. 21A, informed Lincoln County Commissioners by personal letter this week that he agrees that the Public Health law would be better left as it is now written, and that he is aware that Blaine, Mindokka and Lincoln counties are strongly opposed to joining the junior college district.

He added "You can be sure I will resist the bill that would bring our counties into the district."

He further explained that the House had passed a bill requiring county commissioners to set their own salaries and also the salaries of the prosecuting attorney.

"I expect the bill to pass the Senate," he added, "but if it does not, I will recommend the salaries you suggest. I also think taxes would be better understood by everyone if they were certified in dollars rather than mills, and I will support this bill."

MEET SLATED

Sen. Church Asks Delay In Building Of Logging Road

WASHINGTON, D. C. (UPI)—A delay in logging road construction in a 173,000-acre tract of the Bitterroot National Forest has been urged by Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho.

In a letter to Secretary of Agriculture Clifford Hardin, Church asked for a delay in planned surveys of new logging roads in the Magruder Corridor of North-Central Idaho, pending completion of a new management program for the area.

The Idaho Democrat pointed out that a Magruder Corridor review committee has recommended deferring logging in the remote mountainous area and that Secretary Orville Freeman in 1967 directed the Forest Service to delay logging pending a new management plan.

Wildcat Strike Idles Mine Crews

INDIANA, Pa. (UPI) — A strike of about 400 members of Local 1412 United Mine Workers (UMW) started Monday at the Keystone Generating Station.

The men, employees of the Rochester and Pittsburgh Coal Co., walked off in a dispute over bidding for jobs.

A spokesman for the $350 million facility said the company was not notified of the union's complaint and said no talks would be held until the men returned to work.

Youth Plan Draws Backer

BOISE (UPI)—Only one person spoke in favor Monday of Gov. Don Samuelson's proposal to transfer the youth rehabilitation division and the youth training center to the Department of Public Assistance.

The long witness in favor of the idea was Bill Child, Commissioner of Public Assistance. The president of the State Board of Education, the superintendent of the training center, the State Health Administration, the Idaho Mental Health Association and the Mental Health Advisory Council all opposed it at a hearing of the Senate Public Health and Welfare Committee.

Another plan has been introduced in the House to abolish the Department of Public Assistance and put its functions, as well as those of the youth rehabilitation division and the youth training center under a board of social and rehabilitative services.

Child said transfer of the youth training center to his department plus the youth rehabilitative services would put all children services under one management. His department already administers aid to dependent children and the children's protective act.

"We are motivated on the basis of our conviction that drawing on our greater resources we can provide better services to the children under the youth rehabilitation division, Child said.

But Eldon (Dick) Smith, Board of Education president, said a major objective in the youth training center was education—that elementary, secondary, vocational education, vocational rehabilitation, driver training and other educational programs were offered at the institution.

in retirement income."

Financial independence after age 65 is easier when you let time work for you. An Equitable Retirement Income Plan uses time to your advantage.

Let's say you're 50 now. You put a lump sum of $10,000 into an Equitable Retirement Income Account today. By the time you're 65, you will have enough to provide retirement income of $170.58 monthly for 15 years. That's a total of $30,704.40 you will have received from your original $10,000 investment.

This is just one way that you can set up a Retirement Income Plan. Your own situation determines whether you make a lump sum investment or save on a systematic month-by-month basis.

Equitable has the Retirement Income Plans that really work... the experienced counselors to help you... the stability you trust. Mighty important reasons for over 92,000 big and small savers who save at Equitable.

Come in, phone or write this week about Equitable's Retirement Income Plan. Put time to work for you. Money, like time, slips away without a savings plan.

Identities Of 3 Suspects Still Sought

Twin Falls County sheriff's office, working with the FBI, are still hunting for the names of three men accused of robbing a Berger store owner at gunpoint last Thursday.

The three men are being held in the Elko County jail on charges of armed robbery. Extradition proceedings are pending when their identifications can be determined.

The men are thought to be escaped from Oregon State Prison and one is thought to be accused of murder.

The FBI is on the case because of an alleged violation of the Dyer Act, interstate transportation of a stolen motor vehicle. The car the men were driving when they were captured had been stolen several days earlier in Portland.

The robbery happened at 7:30 p.m. last Thursday when three men drove up to a gas pump at a store owned by Claude Gamble. He lives in Berger.

One of the men allegedly pulled a gun and threatened to shoot Mr. Gamble.

Mr. Gamble, his 9-year-old son and two customers were forced into a back room of the store while $200 was taken from a cash register.

Mr. Gamble also was forced to empty his wallet of about $80, and this he gave to the sheriff's office.

Sheriff Paul Corder was called in Twin Falls and was told the men had left the store and were heading south on Highway 30.

Sheriff Corder arrived in Wells, Nev., about 15 minutes after the robbery. The men were arrested in a truck and were taken to a roadblock. They were then placed under arrest by Sheriff Corder. The men were transferred to Elko to await extradition proceedings.

Since their arrest last Thursday the three men have refused to identify themselves and have refused to talk with law enforcement officers.

Armed robbery has been feared out of Twin Falls County Probate Court.

Goodbody & Co. believes the market will soon test the "fence-sitting and break out" of the relatively tight trading range in which it has been confined since early January. Though some minor good news may lift the market sharply, the firm suggests that investors be prepared for the possibility of further price retracements and monetary restraints.

Indicator Digest says it has been quite some time since the market has been as mixed as the current one. "Trying to obtain a clue from a study of the various averages is a frustrating exercise at the best," the firm notes, adding that neither a spirited advance nor a drastic downturn in the averages is indicated, just more of the same.

NEW YORK (UPI)—Traders dealt the stock market another punishing blow Tuesday in brisk trading.

Losses were spread throughout the list, with oils and electronics among the hardest hit groups. Building materials were in retreat, although housing starts in January spurred it to its highest rate since February, 1964.

Tight money and worsening international tensions were of major concern to investors, as was the case during Monday's sharp selloff. Rumors persisted that the U.S. might suspend oil exports to the Soviet Union.

COMBINATION PLAY KEY TO SUCCESS

One of our favorite features in the Bulletin of the American Contract Bridge League is Edie Kantar's article entitled, "Rate Your Own Match Point Game." Most of his hands are too tough for a bridge column but often in while he's been called that should interest our readers. (Incidentally, Kantar's hands

This hand illustrates the theme of not taking a discard until you have to do so. Edie didn't know whether he should discard a heart or a club so he just juffed and played his jack of diamonds.

Then he cashed dummy's ace and king of hearts. When the queen dropped he did cash dummy's queen of trumps and discarded his jack of clubs on the ace of spades.

If the queen of hearts had not dropped, South would have discarded his jack of hearts on the ace of spades and ruffed a heart. If hearts broke he would have entered dummy with the queen of trumps and discarded his jack of clubs on the last heart. If hearts failed to break, he would have still been able to try the club finesse.

In other words, the combination play was going to work unless the queen held four hearts to the queen and the club finesse was wrong.

South's three-club bid was preparatory to raising hearts—but when North took control and contracted for six diamonds South was delighted to play the hand there. Dummy's king of spades won the first trick. A low diamond led to East's ace and a spade was lost back.

News Of Record

Hagerman Ranch Wife Is Mother Of Year Nominee

HAGERMAN — Mrs. R. F. G. (Irene) Adolf has been nominated for State Mother of the Year. A rancher's wife, Mrs. Adolf is sponsored by the Hagerman's Lions Club.

She was born in Lincoln, Kan., and came to Buhl in 1920, and was married in 1927. She and her husband farmed in the Buhl area until 1955, when they moved to a ranch east of Hagerman.

She is the mother of four children, Mrs. R. L. (Anita) Fewkes, Portland, Ore.; Mrs. K.

(Carol) Johnson, Baltimore, Maryland; Don E. Adoff, New Brighton, Minn., and Robert Adoff, who was killed in a farming accident in April, 1958.

Mrs. Adolf has been a life-long member of the Lutheran Church, serving as Sunday School teacher, vacation school teacher and holding offices in the local, zone and district levels in the Lutheran Women's Missionary League.

She also is an active member of the Good Shepherd Lutheran Home of the West, a home for mentally retarded persons at Terra Bella, Calif., serving on both the Idaho unit and on the auxiliary which is comprised of all western states.

She is a member of the Gooding County Education Committee for the American Cancer Society, the Idaho and the Gold Cowbells, and the Dandelions, the auxiliary to the local Lions club.

She has worked with the PTA and last year, donated her time to assist with the German language classes at Hagerman High School.

She lists as her hobbies, sewing, reading, textile painting, crocheting, gardening and playing the organ.

The state winner will be announced in March and the American Mother of the Year will be chosen from the 50 states selected by the 50 states, the District of Columbia and Puerto Rico the week before Mothers' Day. The selection will be made in Los Angeles, Calif. The American Mothers' Committee, Inc., with headquarters at the Waldorf-Astoria in New York is the official sponsor of the National Mothers' Day each year. Its objectives are to strengthen the moral and spiritual life of the American home and to give to the observance of Mothers' Day, a spiritual quality which highlights the standards of ideal motherhood and recognizes the important role of motherhood in the home, community, the Nation and the states of the Union.

"Mother of the Year" is selected in each state by a jury made up of state AMC officials and selected leaders of women's and men's organizations engaged in religious or civic work within the state.

From the state nominees, the National Mother of the Year is a national jury composed of prestige leaders appointed by the national president.

All state mothers who are runners-up are considered as "Merit Mothers" and receive special citation from the AMC, Inc., because they have been nominated for outstanding achievements.

News Of Servicemen

Airman Eva B. Fuller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ellis E. Fuller, Route 1, Twin Falls, has completed basic training at Lackland Air Force Base, Tex. She has been assigned to Sheppard Air Force Base, Tex., for training in the communications field. Airman Fuller is a 1968 graduate of Twin Falls High School.

Fuller Col Lehman

Ralph L. Lehman, Jr., son of Ralph L. Lehman, Sr., 1021 N. Broadway, Buhl, was promoted to the rank of lieutenant colonel in a ceremony at Schofield Barracks, Hawaii, in which he received a $500 suggestion award.

Col. Lehman, aviation division, assistant chief of staff for operations and training, U.S. Army Hawaii, received the money and a commendation certificate for an adopted suggestion of an aircraft anti-glare shade. The shade improves detection of warning lights, which have been obscured by reflected sunlight.

Recently returned from Vietnam, where he served with the 11th Combat Aviation Battalion, Col. Lehman is now aviation detachment commander.

He entered the Army Jan. 17, 1955, and has since earned the Distinguished Flying Cross, Bronze Star and Air Medal. He was graduated from the University of Idaho, Moscow, in 1952, and is a 1950 graduate of the former Hazelton High School.

Staff Sgt. Scott E. Schwaegler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Schwaegler, Barley, recently arrived for duty at Luke Air Force Base, Ariz.

Sgt. Schwaegler, a weapons mechanic, is assigned to a unit of the Tactical Air Command. He previously served at Bien Hoa Air Base, Vietnam.

The sergeant was graduated from Deer Valley High School and attended the College of Idaho.
