Reo Rockets Hit Saigon

Officials Discount 'Offensive'

SAIGON (UPI)—Communist gunners fired rockets and mortars into Saigon, Da Nang, Tan Ninh and other cities and Allied bases throughout South Vietnam early Sunday, but U.S. Commanders said there was no evidence that Viet Cong troops had launched a long-predicted general offensive.

Gunfire rattled in the streets of Saigon and there were reports of fighting in the capital's southeastern section where Allied spokesmen said Communist forces attacked a police station with B40 rockets and small arms.

Ground fighting also was reported 18 miles northeast of Saigon near the perimeter of the U.S. Army headquarters in Vietnam. Spokesmen said Communist units launched "a small ground probe" outside the defenses of the base at Long Binh.

HAMER BUDGE

"Preliminary reports show numerous shellings throughout the country," the U.S. Military Command reported in a terse communique.

"All of the four Corps areas have received some indirect fire up and down the country. A number of places have been hit."

"An official spokesman for U.S. headquarters said most of the incidents were considered 'insignificant.'"

Britain Rebuffs France In Common-Market Feud

LONDON (UPI)—Britain announced Saturday night its ambassador to Paris, Christopher Soames, would return to London Sunday for consultation on a bitter Anglo-French dispute over allegations that President Charles de Gaulle had suggested scrapping NATO and the Common Market.

The foreign office announced the move after Britain, in a direct public rebuff to de Gaulle, pledged anew its friendship with the United States and loyalty to the Atlantic Alliance and warned it would not discuss any French plan to ease the United States out of Europe.

secret deal including a Big Four... De Gaulle proposals when they met three days ago. In Brussels, Belgian Foreign Minister Pierre Harmel was reliably reported deeply concerned over the purported plan which would have left the smaller common market countries out in the cold. Washington reports said Nixon himself hopes to keep out of the squabble. Diplomatic sources said Anglo-French relations, never very cordial in recent years, have plunged to their lowest point yet as a result of the disclosures. ## Democrats Set Stage For 'Donnybrook' Over Schools

By PAUL M. QUINN

BOISE (UPI)—Senate Democrats held firm in caucus Saturday afternoon and set the stage for a donnybrook with Republicans, possibly as early as Monday or Tuesday, over the major problem facing the 40th State Legislature—the funding of education.

Both the Democrats and Republicans in the Senate caucused throughout the day Saturday and both arrived at nearly the same recommendations on the general fund budget as the House reached late Friday.

The Democrats want a $19 million increase to fund public school education and want to follow the recommendations of the State Board of Education on funding Idaho's institutions of higher learning.

The Republicans, hoping to go ahead with several new programs, appeared, as the 41st legislative day ended, wanting a little less in the education funding field.

"We will hold firm," Democratic caucus chairman Sen. Art Matzky, D-Mad., said.

The Democrats complained at the end of their caucus session that they were unable to "receive any real estimate" of what the final surplus figure will be.

Senate Minority Leader John Evans, D-Mad., listed five points program he said will save money so it can be used for education and other essentials.

—Trim $5 million from construction at the new state prison site, operating solely on the $1.4 million that has already been earmarked for prison construction.

—Delay immediate payment of $7.5 million from the State Parks Department to the School Endowment Fund, stretching the recommended repayment over a 10 year period.

—Elimination of the data processing program—thus saving $4.6 million.

—Eliminate the proposal to provide prescription drugs free through a state program for the elderly, trimming $2 million.

—And, cutting the governor's disaster fund to $250,000 from the proposed $1 million.

Evans said, on the prison, "We (the Democrats) will support the legislation calling for reorganizing the State Board of Corrections and appointment of a penologist—but until the mess is cleared up at the prison we should stick with the $1.4 million already recommended by the Permanent Building Fund Council and not the recommendation of $1.58 million."

The Democrats also accepted the requested junior college recommendations of $1.58 million.

The caucus came out in strong support of educational television and said that cuts recommended in the public health and assistance programs are "too severe."

The minority also called for continued support for vocational education and said that the State Parks Department budget had been "reduced to a caretaker's budget."

Other new programs the Democrats will support include $400,000 for the Nuclear Matter See DEMOCRATS, Pg. 2, Col. 2.

Deer Defect

SUOMUSSALMI, Finland (UPI)—Finnish officials, admitting that the grass is greener on the other side of the fence, expressed concern Saturday over the increasing defections of reindeer to the Soviet Union.

The reindeer, moving eastward across the border in search of better winter areas, have kept Finnish border guards busy in an attempt to keep the animals from going into the Soviet area, where governments of Finland and the Soviet Union have an agreement which says a reindeer is a domestic animal and its crossing the border is a border violation.

Soviet officials have announced several herds of reindeer back to the Finnish side.

Iran Citizen Goes Berserk On Airliner

AMSTERDAM (UPI)—A 24-year-old Iranian went berserk on a crowded Dutch airliner flying high over the Atlantic on Saturday, demanding the plane return to Canada and slashed a 14-year-old girl with a knife before being finally subdued by the plane crew.

The girl, Martha Nijhuis, one of 101 passengers aboard KLM Royal Dutch Airlines jet from Montreal to Tehran, was treated at a hospital for facial lacerations when the plane landed at Amsterdam, KLM officials said.

"Trouble first started when a man, identified only as a 24-year-old Iranian, became violent and slashed a 14-year-old girl with a knife before being finally subdued by the plane crew."

The man was overpowered by the plane's crew and tied up in the tail section of the aircraft. Somehow he managed to cut himself free with a pocket knife with which he then slashed the girl.

Truman Improves, Wants To Go Home

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI)—Former President Harry S. Truman, recovering from a touch of the flu, said Saturday and told doctors he wanted to go home from the hospital.

A medical bulletin from Research Hospital and Medical Center Saturday said the nation's 33rd President had a good recovery and visited for several hours with his wife Bess. Both are 84.

"Former President Harry S. Truman spent last evening with his wife, the bulletin said. "During the night he slept well. He seems to have enjoyed the change to a soft diet."

"His appetite was good this morning," the bulletin said. "He ate a poached egg, toast and hot tea Saturday and told doctors he wanted to go home from the hospital."

HARRY TRUMAN

The former President's doctors report that his medical condition continues to be satisfactory.

John P. Drees, director of public relations at Kansas City Hospital, said Truman "has received a number of telegrams from well-wishers."

But he added, "There has been no personal contact with President Nixon."

Truman was taken to the Kansas City hospital Thursday night from his home at nearby Independence, Mo., for treatment of intestinal flu. It was the fifth time the oldest living former U.S. President has been hospitalized, since he left the White House in 1953.

Congress To Face Battle On Missiles

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The battle over antiballistic missiles will intensify in both houses of Congress in the coming week, all but overshadowing progress toward ratification of the treaty to ban the spread of nuclear weapons.

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee is expected to vote Tuesday to send the nonproliferation treaty to the Senate floor for a ratification vote only next week.

There has been only limited opposition to the treaty since President Nixon urged its approval.

The Senate Armed Services Committee is expected to spend most of its time Thursday talking about the ABM, currently proposed as a "thin" defense against a possible Red Chinese rocket attack in the 1970s.

In the House, five opponents of the ABM proposal—Rens, Jeffery Cochran, D-Calif.; Sidney R. Yates, D-Ill.; Robert N. Gleason, D-Ga.; Henry S. Reuss, D-Wis., and Brock Adams, D-Wash.—have challenged backers of the system to a debate on the floor Wednesday.

Opponents of the project claim it is untested and excessive. They contend the nation would be better served by an agreement with the Soviet Union to prohibit deployment of county ABMs by both nations.

There are no major bills up for action by either chamber of Congress during the week.

The Senate Antitrust Subcommittees began a new round of hearings Monday in its investigation of the auto insurance industry.

The House Ways and Means Committee resumes its hearings Monday into the activities of tax-free foundations.

Food Stamps To Be Given In 'Carolina'

WASHINGTON (UPI)—For the first time in history hungry Americans are being given free food stamps.

Agriculture Secretary Clifford M. Hardin announced Friday stamps will be distributed on an experimental basis in two South Carolina counties to families living on less than $30 a month.

Families receiving the free stamps will be able to redeem them at nearby groceries for food they cannot now afford.

Impoverished families have been required until now to pay 50 cents per person per month but not more than a total of $3 for stamps that a family of four could redeem for $58 worth of food.

If the experimental program in Beaufort and Jasper counties goes well, Hardin said similar efforts might follow in other rural and urban "hunger pockets" of the nation.

50,000 European Police Guard Nixon

By United Press-International

More than 50,000 police will guard President Nixon during his five-nation European tour.

Nixon's European security shield—one of the tightest in history—will be reinforced by British "Bulldozers," saber-swinging Elysée Palace guards and specially-trained Italian riot police.

Looking behind the scenes will be Scotland Yard detectives, French "Gorilles" (gorillas) and the Secret Service.

They will use, if necessary, batons, swords, tear gas and firearms to protect the American President from assassination or from harassment by leftist demonstrators, who have promised to disrupt his tour.

As an extra precaution the U.S. President will travel in a two-ton armored car in Paris and a bullet-proof limousine in Berlin.

Actual security arrangements for President Nixon's visit to Brussels, London, Bonn, Berlin, Rome, Paris and Vatican City are a tightly guarded secret.

Even the places Nixon will stay during his European tour remain in most instances unknown.

In Brussels, Secret Service investigators, who have been in the city since last week, have reportedly selected the Hilton Hotel over the Royal Palace, as the latter is surrounded by trees behind which would-be assassins could lurk.

In Paris, Nixon will be guarded by the mano security umbrella which has shielded the president's motorcade. De Gaulle from at least five assassination attempts.

When Nixon is with De Gaulle his personal bodyguards will work closely with De Gaulle's "Gorilles," four crack units armed with Israeli-made Uzzi submachine guns, who stand close to the French President wherever he goes.

When alone, Nixon will be protected by the Secret Service and 2,500 plainclothes Paris policemen, backed up by 5,000 uniformed Paris cops.

Much of the extra security has been prompted by threats from militant French, British and West German students to disrupt Nixon's European tour.

Army Physicians Separate Twins

VUNG TAU, South Vietnam (UPI)—U.S. Army doctors said today they had successfully separated Siamese twins joined at the liver.

Spoken at the 34th Medical Center hospital said the operation, performed on Vietnamese girls Friday, apparently was history's first such success.

The twins were born Thursday in Tay Ninh City and were flown 100 miles to the hospital by helicopter after an American volunteer doctor at Tay Ninh City identified Army physicians of the birth.

Safe Pilot Awards Banquet Will Be Held Here Tuesday

A "mutter-century" award based on the same eligibility requirements. A special "two-million-mile" award was added in 1968 with several Idaho executive pilots applying for two, three and even four million non-accident miles. In honoring these very unusual records, the Department of Aeronautics poses the question: "What is a non-flybug record?" Just what is three million miles by one pilot and the equivalent of 120 (times around the earth at the equator. Pilots who will receive the "million-mile" and the "quarter-century" awards represent an example of transportation safety seldom achieved in any field. Presentation banquets will be held at St. Anthony, Idaho Falls, Pocatello, Boise, Caldwell, Lewiston and Coeur d'Alene.

Court Rules For City In Controversy Over Mobile Home Zoning Restriction

A ruling supporting the city of Twin Falls in connection with a controversy about allowing a pre-built home to be occupied in the city was handed down Friday in Fifth District Court.

Judge Theron Ward made the ruling.

Mr. and Mrs. William Van Dyke are the plaintiffs in the case. They sued the city of Twin Falls, the mayor, the six city councilmen and the city building inspector, Reed Condon.

The plaintiffs had alleged they own a pre-built home located on leased property at the corner of Washington Street North and Filter Avenue. The home was delivered in Twin Falls Oct. 9, 1967.

Mr. and Mrs. Van Dyke said in their complaint that they were prevented from occupying their home because the city wouldn't issue them a building permit.

The city building inspector denied the pre-built home did not meet specifications outlined in the city's code in regard to family dwellings.

Mr. and Mrs. Van Dyke appeal. Mr. Condon's decision on the city council, but the council upheld the decision of the building inspector. The case was ap-

Ky-Nixon Meet Seen Possibility

PARIS (UPI)—South Vietnam announced Saturday that Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky would return to Paris from Saigon Tuesday in a move strengthening the possibility he would meet with touring President Nixon at the end of the week.

Diplomatic observers said a Ky-Nixon meeting in Paris would greatly strengthen the hand of South Vietnamese negotiators.

Accquia PTA Is Honored By Council

RUPERT—The Accquia PTA unit was honored during the February meeting of the Minidoka County Council PTA at the St. Nicholas School, Rupert.

Mrs. Boyd Chugg, Accquia president, accepted the award on behalf of the unit from Fourth District president, Mrs. Vance Beckwith. Mrs. Chugg has had 100 per cent attendance at council meetings and has attended district and state level sessions. She has served on and taken part in numerous workshops and has been able to maintain a complete roster of officers. A regular newsletter is also circulated to all the parents with a program book and theme followed.

The unit's annual fund raising project has been the carnival which has been well supported. The unit also has a number of programs which have derived into many facets of youth and community problems. Their legislative committee has presented current legislation and delegates have been sent to the State conventions.

Attendance Awards Given Burley Lions

Joe L. Weldon received the Honorary Old Monarch award for 30 years service to the club. Lloyd Hollinger, Albert Klink and James W. Miller all received awards for 25 years.

Others presented awards were Fred Allen, Dr. James Kircher and Alfred Thaxton, all 20 years. Dr. Bob Fairbrother, William Parsons, and Vern Roberts, all 10 years.

One hundred per cent attendance pins were presented to Mr. Blair, Mel Green, Jim Henson, Jack Holland Jr., Bill McGill, Ross Nielson, Don Beckham, Jim Hanzel, Hat Lake, Herb Hollinger, Allan Kendrick, Ted Smith, Jerry Anderson, Fred Allen, Gerald Badger, Karl Detton, Lloyd Hollinger, Jack Holland, Sr., Bill Howard, Bert Klink, Les Morgan, Joe Olenberger, Jess Parsons, Ed Frank and Lar Nielson.

Karl Detton made the presentations. Last week Bob Deimers, Harvey Rogers and Pat Patterson were honored through three active charter members of the club. The Burley Lions Club is celebrating its 31st anniversary.

Set C. L. Bernard, Idaho State Police, guest speaker, discussed present efforts to secure an additional 50 state policemen in hopes of slowing up the increasing traffic fatalities in the state.

NASA Seeks Extra Time For Apollo 10

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI)—Space center officials want to add an extra working day in moon orbit to the flight of Apollo 10 in an effort to solve navigational problems encountered during the Christmas moonflight of Apollo 8. It was learned Thursday.

The change would mean astronauts Tom Stafford, John Young and Eugene Cernan would spend almost three days circling the moon.

Christopher C. Kraft, director of flight operations at the Houston Space Center, said the 20 hours Apollo 8 spent in moon orbit proved that a lack of knowledge about the lunar gravitational field makes it impossible to accurately predict a spacecraft's path there.

Accurate orbit predictions are essential for actually landing a man on the moon. The first such landing mission is currently planned for Apollo 11, starting on July 15.

Apollo 10 is scheduled for launch May 17 on a flight that would carry Stafford and Cernan within 50,000 feet of the lunar surface in the moon landing craft.

Rather than landing, however, they would zip down to this altitude and then climb back up to rendezvous with Young in the Apollo command ship orbiting 70 miles above the moon. This was the altitude at which Apollo 8 made 10 lunar orbits.

Original plans called for the Apollo 10 crew to spend almost two days orbiting the moon. The new plan calls for only one day.

Officials have proposed to planners at the space agency's headquarters would add an extra day to the end of this period.

ROBERT ALLEN AND JOHN GOLDSMITH Furor Expected On New Weapons Cost

WASHINGTON — Heavy cost overruns, producing a list escalation in weapon costs, are worrying Pentagon budget officers. All the services are involved. Many, if not most, of their weapons systems are affected. Congress will get the bad news soon. House and Senate Armed Services Committee will start hearings on the annual defense procurement bills as soon as President Nixon recommends adjustments in the Johnson defense budget — probably in early March.

Some Pentagon officials are saying they could have done without a cost-overrun controversy this year. So far, published reports on cost escalations have been mostly in the area of cargo plane. In a series of hearings, the House — Senate Economic Committee, made a horrible example of USA costs.

The Eddying Effect

Few will argue that there is not something irrational about campus revolts that threaten to destroy the very institutions they would supposedly reform and negate the very values they purport to be defending. In the United States, at least one school — San Francisco State College — has been brought perilously close to complete shutdown. Disruptions by a minority of both students and faculty have the campus into a mini-police state.

"You're Over 30—Out!"

Comparable percentage increases are anticipated, however for smaller contracts dealing with less expensive weapons. Inflated production costs and additional performance requirements ordered by the services are said to contribute to overrun initial estimates. Weapons experts claim that the increased costs do not, in themselves, mean the taxpayer is getting a bad bargain. They say the USA, with all its additional costs will carry cargo at a cheaper per-ton-mile cost than private cargo planes can achieve.

MR. SPECTATOR Power Of The Press

This picture revealing the interior of the Twin Falls News publishing plant in 1904 shows two connected with that operation and the equipment on which they printed the paper. At the left is Charles Diehl, who was the editor and owner at that early day when Twin Falls was just starting. The fellow on the right is identified although he probably did all the work. The mighty press stands in front of it something to behold. It was, though, a first class newspaper plant for that day and for a western city.

RAY CROMLEY Moderates Hoping For Peace

WASHINGTON (NEA)— Though Russian influence has increased heavily in the Middle East in the past two decades, strong forces would aid U.S. attempts to help the moderates build democratic political-economic institutions reflecting the will of the peoples. The growth of such democratic institutions and national pride would decrease markedly the chances of war.

PAUL HARVEY Clean Up Smog

The federal government has delivered an ultimatum to smoggy states: Clean up your smog or we'll close a factory. You and I who instinctively resent and resist increasing federal snooping nevertheless recognize the inevitability of it. Where states did not act in a matter involving the public health and welfare, somebody has to.

BRUCE BLOSSAT A Zest To Destroy, Not Build

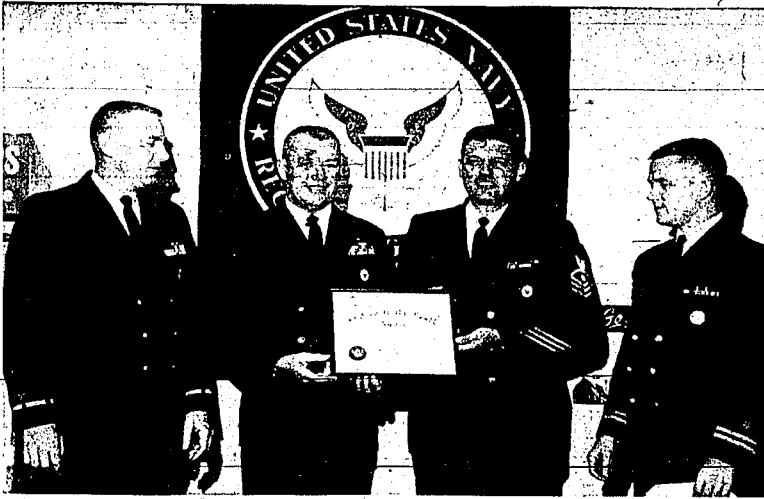

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The law in the present small-scale revolt of some students is that they are often taken seriously, even bowed to, even as they demonstrate their humanity and the frailty of their grasp of the world they live in. If they are right and in the wisdom of their short years are already equipped to decide who should teach, what should be taught, and to what extent they should not study at all but join in outside causes, then George Kennan's question to them applies: "What the hell — if we might be led to ask — are you doing on a university campus?"

"The result: a landscape littered with mutilated bodies and razed structures. Nothing durable, nothing alive to destroy, dissect and demolish, nothing left to be a source of some misused official ego. Few men in school or government are as evil as the rebels called out. Nothing they want — the end of the war, the draft, racism, of flaws in the democratic process — will come as quickly as they are demanding. Change is slow, even with the prod of reasonable impatience, with high intelligence and the best of good will at work. To the extent the rebels seek to defy this reality by storming the gates and using the enforcer's primitive threat, they are producing little ceremonies of ignorance. In the process, this mindless cluster of the well-informed is changing its mind, its rational thought and comprising its most prized haven — the university. Schools may surely need intellectual freedom, but the present disengagement hardly seems the proper path.

Recruiting Station In T. F. Is Tops

Walter C. Thomas Adm., USN, and Ronald V. Jennings, Enc, USN, received the award Thursday from Chief Warrant Officer Arnold Duke, Boise, and Lt. Eldon Smith, Portland.

The Twin Falls recruiters enlisted 21 with a quota of 11. Their station was second place in recruiting during December. Two years ago they also received the award. The area in which they are competing includes Southern Idaho and Oregon.

The two officers from Boise and Portland commended the local recruiters—for their fine work.

Mr. Jennings reported the Twin Falls station has openings for the delayed program for March, April, May and June.

asked the chamber members to be prepared to discuss the education problem of whether to raise the allotment by $18.5 million, by $19 million or by $21 million.

On March 20 another employees' meeting is scheduled with the program to be given by Hill Hanes and Richard Maggard.

Both employers and employees will be invited to attend the final meeting, March 27, during which Ken Bell and Hugh Coats will present their report.

Following the meeting, the group gathered at the Red Ram for the regular Chamber of Commerce meeting, with Senator Brooks and Rep. Steve Antonio phoning in their weekly report.

Several matters of legislation were discussed, including the "freelander" bill, gasoline tax increase, changing tax levels from mills to dollars, and prohibiting one person from holding more than one elective office.

The legislators noted that the "freelander" bill, which the majority of chamber members present favored, has passed both houses and now requires the governor's signature. The bill would require welfare recipients capable of working to work.

For next week, Mrs. Brooks

Vehicles driven by Vikki Freeman, 17, and Max Sear, 20, both Rupert, collided Wednesday afternoon in front of the Idaho Department Store in Rupert. The accident occurred when Miss Freeman was attempting to back her 1964 Oldsmobile from the curb and collided with a 1967 International pickup truck, driven by Sear. No citations were issued.

Damage was estimated at $30 to the car and $150 to the pickup truck.

State Police Blotter
A new Burley city police car was damaged Wednesday afternoon in a rear-end collision on North Overland in Burley.

The 1969 Ford police car, driven by Harold McCarthy, 20, Burley, was stopped at the stop light when it was struck in the rear by a 1963 Pontiac stationwagon, driven by Lewis Jain, 61,ampa. Jain told officers that an unidentified pickup truck behind him pulled into the next lane, brushing his car and shooting him into the police car. Damage was estimated at $50 to the police car and at $25 to the Pontiac. No citations were issued.

Marilyn Dunn, 19, Rupert was cited for driving too fast for existing conditions Wednesday afternoon after his 1963 Volkswagen overturned 12 miles east of Rupert on Interstate 80N.

Dunn was making a left turn from the Interstate when the car skidded out of control and overturned in the right-hand lane. Two passengers, Rita Paylor, 10, and Sandra Dunn, 18, were slightly injured. Damage was estimated at $300 to the car.

Jay roads were blamed for another accident Wednesday night a half mile north of Burley on Highway 30N. Arlette Bevers, 51, Heyburn, was crossing the Heyburn bridge in her 1966 Mercury when the car slid out of control and crossed the highway, slamming into the bridge railing. She was cited for driving too fast for road conditions. Damage was estimated at $300.

Senate Discusses Highway Districts In Closed Session

By PAUL M. QUINN

BOISE (UPI) — The Idaho Senate warmed up a budget session caucus Saturday morning with more than an hour of debate on a bill to allow highway districts to issue bonds.

The bonding proposal, described by one senator as merely a means of prolonging the life of the districts, cleared by a 25-4 margin.

Brassey opposed the measure. "The actual need for the highway districts," he said, "is not as great as you would think."

"We have far too many small highway districts," he said. "Manley, D-Coeur d'Alene said, 'But it would be unfair not to give them the tools that they need to do with their money.'"

The bill was aimed specifically for the Post Falls Highway District which has stated it must issue bonds to repair a bridge condemned last summer.

It would permit any highway district to issue the bonds to purchase machinery and equipment.

Sen. Thomas McAteer, D-Pocatello, said, "These highway districts are being jammed in their little sections of roads. Some of these small districts are going to have to consolidate — we should exercise sufficient pressure to force them to."

Sen. Vern Brassey, R-Boise, agreed. "They have outlived their usefulness," he said.

Sen. Warren Brown, R-McCall, said that the bonding legislation

Senate Plans More Debate On Road Fund

BOISE (UPI) — A once-defeated bill calling for $35 million in a bond issue for north-south highway improvements was reintroduced in the Idaho State Senate Monday, this time with amendments.

Sen. Cecil Anderson, D-Lewis, said Friday he will amend his bill to include all primary highways in Idaho.

"I don't see how anyone can oppose this," he said. "Andrus, told newsmen, 'I think it will carry.'"

The measure was defeated by a 20-vote margin on Wednesday but was voted back for reconsideration by a 20-15 vote on Thursday and held back until next Monday for amendment.

The measure is on a "do or die" basis, with amendments to be debated on Monday.

The measure would allow voters to decide in 1970 whether Idaho should issue $35 million in highway revenue bonds for work on the present system of highways. It would be funded by taking a cent and a third from the seven cents per gallon state tax on gasoline.

"It will just be a means of helping people help themselves," Anderson said.

The Senate also passed, after considerable debate, a bill allowing law enforcement officers to kill dogs that are harassing big game animals.

Manley said that 25 deer in the Coeur d'Alene area alone have been killed by dogs running wild. He said the deer were being forced down to populated areas because of heavy snows.

House members took the day off, having met late Friday on the budget proposals.

High told UPI that by Monday morning "General discussion" on finance-appropriations recommendations should be finished.

Army Officers Take Charge Of Youth As Dad Protests

PT. DIX, N.J. (UPI) — "Honest to God, it's the damndest dirtiest, sneakiest trick I ever saw," said Robert R. Hinkle, denouncing the Army for taking his son away.

Hinkle battled for weeks in court to keep his son in the Army on grounds the 21-year-old Scappoose, Ore., youth is mentally retarded and illiterate.

The U.S. District Court Judge Robert C. Helton ruled in Portland he had no jurisdiction in the case and the Army declared the young draftee absent without leave.

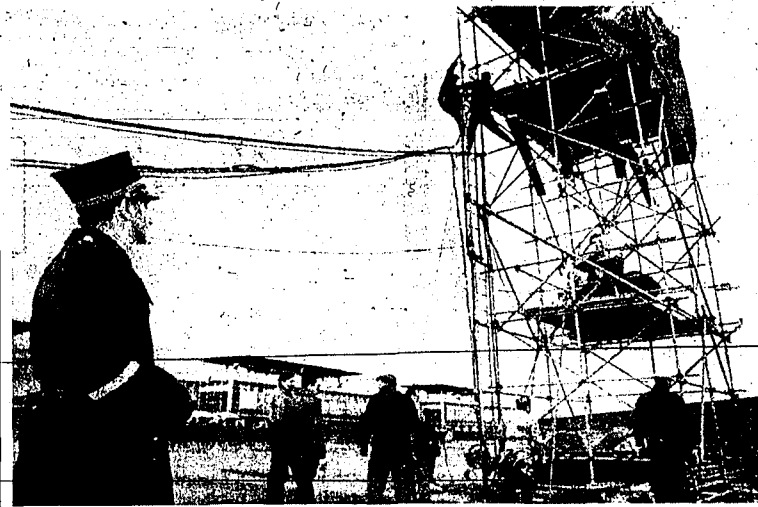

"Then eight hours after the ruling, an Army major, a sergeant and a sheriff's deputy drove up to the Hinkle home in Scappoose to take young Hinkle to Ft. Dix for special training in reading and writing.

"When they asked him to come along, young Hinkle began sobbing hysterically and lapsed into unconsciousness, he was put in an ambulance called to the house and then flown across the continent to Ft. Dix.

Hinkle arrived Friday night in a staff car accompanied by an Army physician who traveled across the country with him.

He was placed in Walston Army Hospital for a "rest and complete physical" before beginning the elementary school training offered at the base.

"The poor kid was exhausted. He hadn't slept in hours," the spokesman said no charges

Bandit Takes $300 From Boise Store

BOISE (UPI) — A gunman robbed the Safeway Supermarket at Curtis Road and Fairview of approximately $300 Friday night.

Mrs. Eunice Oliver and John Baldwin, employees of the market, said the robber entered the store about 10 minutes before closing time and approached the check-out counter where they were standing.

They said he demanded the money in the cash register. Baldwin said the holdup man did not draw a weapon but that he could see the butt of a pistol beneath the man's jacket.

After emptying the cash register, the robber ordered Mrs. Oliver and Baldwin to the back of the store and then he left the building.

This was the second robbery of that supermarket this winter.

Congressman Studies Safety Of Gas Storage

TOOELE, Utah (UPI) — Rep. Sherman P. Liloyd, R-9th, said today for a briefing on safety measures used by military officials in storing a shipment of nerve gas transferred from the Denver area to Colorado.

A TAD spokesman said a 21-car train carrying the gas arrived here Thursday from the Rocky Mountain Arsenal in Colorado.

The spokesman said 20 tanks of the controversial gas were packed on each of the 21 freight gondola cars. He termed the shipment one of the "safest freight on rails today."

Military authorities have stored varying types of nerve and other poisonous gases here in the past, but the shipment from Colorado aroused a furor among Utah residents.

Nearly 6,000 sheep died last year near Dugway Proving Grounds in northwestern Utah when officials tested a similar gas nearby.

Idaho Legislators Continue To Get Only $35 Daily

BOISE (UPI) — Idaho legislators continued to draw $10 a day for salary and only $25 a day for expenses on payday Friday.

State Auditor Joe Williams is still waiting for Gov. Don Samuelson to act on a bill raising expenses before paying more to the lawmakers.

The new bill, which reached the governor's office at noon Friday, would give lawmakers $10 per day in session and $100 per month interim time compensation.

But the governor told a news conference he would be more inclined to sign the bill if lawmakers approved it unanimously.

Senators approved the pay bill 22-13 and the House passed it 57-12.

Catholic Choir Chants At Bar Mitzvah Ceremony For Jewish Youth In Indiana

TERRE HAUTE, Ind. (UPI) — The son of a rabbi observed his Bar Mitzvah today accompanied by a Catholic chorale driven to the synagogue in a Baptist church bus.

The youth's grandfather said the ecumenism was "like a dream come true."

As Seth Alexander Cohen, 13, stood at the pulpit and chanted the Sabbath morning service, Cantor Emanuel Rosenberg of New York led the 50-voice choir.

Mary-of-the-Woods College here in the traditional hymns of Judaism. Nearly 600 worshippers representing many faiths joined in.

Not a seat was empty in the United-Hebrew Congregation for the historic occasion.

The center of attraction was Seth, son of Rabbi Bernard Cohen, a native New Yorker. Seth stood erect at the pulpit with his prayer shawl over his shoulders and recited the service both in English and Hebrew.

"To see this—Jew and gentile praying together—is like a dream come true," said Max Bleiman, the boy's Polish-born grandfather who left war-torn Europe nearly half a century ago.

"Any sensible Jew—any sensible person regardless of faith, should be proud of what is taking place here today," said Bleiman, now a resident of Scranton, Pa.

"I'm sure this is history," he said.

Since disclosure of plans for this ecumenical service, the Cohen household has been swamped with messages from all over the country.

"The wasn't one message out of a 100 that didn't approve of this service," Bleiman said. "This is an historic event in the life of the Jewish people."

Rabbi Cohen, spiritual leader of the Reform congregation for seven years, said he was "a little surprised" by all the fuss.

He said that as a full faculty member of St. Mary's, "one thing led to another"—to this unique service.

"I was invited several years ago to lecture on anti-Semitism and a year later I became a faculty member."

He said the chorale's participation in the service Friday night and this morning was spontaneous, but they "worked very hard—you should hear them sing in Hebrew."

The choir members were driven to the synagogue by a bus belonging to the Eighth Avenue Baptist Church.

Nixon Refuses Membership In Controversial Rifle Club

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon has disavowed an honorary membership in the National Rifle Association, an aide said Saturday.

He doesn't remember having been enrolled in the organization and for that matter doesn't even own a gun, White House assistant Bryce Harlow advised Rep. Richard D. McCarthy, D-N.Y.

Nixon, according to Harlow, has resigned from all clubs and organizations in which he held an active membership.

Of the NRA, the White House assistant commented: "Some years ago, when he was Vice President of the United States, apparently the National Rifle Association bestowed upon him an honorary life membership. Since that time, the President has had no occasion to take notice of this honorary membership."

Harlow added, "The President owns no guns."

McCarthy is a strong supporter of gun controls and has clashed in the past with the NRA. The organization represents sportsmen and hunters and has fought against most government attempts to regulate the use and ownership of firearms.

The American Rifleman, the NRA's official publication, proclaimed Nixon as January editorial honorary membership in the sixth President to hold membership in the NRA.

McCarthy noted this and wrote Nixon asking him to quit the NRA. He said membership would possibly conflict with his efforts to reduce violence in the United States.

A spokesman at the NRA said at the time that Nixon—through an aide—had accepted an honorary life membership early in his vice presidential term. The same occurred with John F. Kennedy after he became President. It was said that Nixon was no longer an NRA member.

Negroes Pay Honor To Slain Leader

The youths said they were protesting construction of a state building on a vacant lot they said should be used for a Malcolm X high school.

Renaming of schools in honor of Malcolm X also were demanded during demonstrations in Philadelphia and Tallahassee, Fla.

Schools in predominantly Negro areas of Chicago and Detroit reported only 50 per cent attendance as high school students boycotted.

A white student managed to get in an otherwise all-black memorial service attended by 1,000 persons at Long Island University's Brooklyn center and heard "a hate campaign, not a dedication to Malcolm X."

"They read an anti-semitic poem and everyone applauded. I tried to leave for class but I was not allowed. One 12-year-old said to me, 'Watch it, whitey, we've got you now!'"

Demonstrations were more peaceful elsewhere in New York. Muslim prayers, African dances, revolutionary theater, jazz and spoken and filmed tributes were the bill of fare at Cooper Junior High School where about 600 attended memorial services.

At Pennsylvania State University, Negro attempts to honor Malcolm X met resistance from another group of students.

After the Negro students broke the locks to the flagpoles, they lowered the American and state flags to half staff. The other group returned the flag to the top of the poles but the Negroes lowered them again.

PUC Denies Railroad Plea

BOISE (UPI) — Idaho's Public Utilities Commission has denied a request of Union Pacific Railroad for rehearing of a petition by the railroad to close its agency at Sugar City.

The PUC denied the request to close the agency on Jan. 2. In its latest order, the commission said the railroad had not presented any allegations which would justify further hearings in the matter.

Meaning the PUC gave Tommy Dickinson, doing business as Twin City Bus Lines, Lewiston, temporary authority to haul skiers between Lewiston and Moscow and the Tamarack-Ski-Bowl—and Emerald North-South Ski Bowl. The authority extends from Feb. 20 to May 20.

GENERATION: NOW

A weekly section directed to Magic Valley's young people.

Edited by Eugene Schneider

THE MADRIGAL SINGERS, a 14 voice select singing group from the Twin Falls High School will perform at the annual PTSA Talent Show. The show is given by the students of the high school for the benefit of other students and the public. They are directed by Richard Smack.

T. F. High School Holds PTSA Show

The Twin Falls High School-PTSA will present its annual talent show on Tuesday, February 25, 1969. Two performances will be given: one for the student body during the morning at the high school, and for the general public at 8:00 p.m. in the O'Leary Junior High Auditorium.

Richard Smack of the music department, Brad Hickerson, drama department and George Walton, art department are in charge of this year's show. Featured on the program will be dance, both modern and ballet, the high school Madrigal Singers, vocal, piano and instrumental solos and other small singing groups and bands. This year's show is unique in its use of fourteen M. C.'s who demonstrate the contrast of the Charlie Chaplin era with the "new generation."

Female Seniors Must Make Decisions On Their Future

Let's take a look at three career opportunities for women after high school graduation: additional training, finding a job, marriage, or any combination of the three. Your counselor can measure your IQ, reading manual dexterity, communicative skills, sociability and other traits. You must measure your P.Q. (Persistent Quality)—desire to achieve a task. If you choose to obtain additional training first and have a definite understanding about the total tuition costs. Inquire about the job possibilities upon completion of the course. To double check on the school's job opportunities, look at the want ads or call the local state employment office for number of jobs available. Now consider selecting a job with long range possibilities. Unfortunately, these positions are limited for the high school senior. Most girls with knowledge of typing and shorthand will have little difficulty finding secretarial work. Positions in retail sales are generally available. These jobs usually offer small wages with little opportunity for advancement. Before accepting any job pursue advancement possibilities, automatic pay increases, and fringe benefits of vacation and sick leave.

Many of you will choose marriage, believing a housewife is the greatest life in the world. Seniors get tired of adults trying to give advice, particularly concerning boy friends. Only you can decide how and with whom you want to spend the rest of your life. It is well to remember, however, that it is very easy to get married and exceptionally complicated to get divorced. You cannot discount the fact that most married couples will advise you to wait some years after high school before settling down to a long married life.

Younger Generation Says They Need Recognition

By RICK ADAMS
Hagerman High School
Everyone seems to be complaining about the ever widening generation gap. They wonder, "What is the younger generation coming to? How can we get closer to them?" Sure is probably the broadest generation gap in history, but why does it have to be bridged, spanned, or crossed?

If it needs to be crossed, it should only be done long enough to gain the knowledge and advice of the preceding generation. That's the only way human knowledge can progress. After that, tear down the bridge. Instead of blindly following man's ancient traditions, such as turkey dinner, fourth of July, and Auld Lang Syne, I want to concentrate more on new and original ideas. This doesn't mean that I want to join some hippies and live off

RETURNING TO THE Charlie Chaplin era the MC's of the Twin-Falls-High-School talent show pause for a picture during a dress rehearsal. According to Richard Smack, all of the students involved in the show have put a lot of hard work into making it a success.

Sen. Frank Church Says Teenagers Are An Asset

By SEN. FRANK CHURCH
Special to The Times-News
Today is a time of searching for all Americans. We are constantly pushed forward by the most rapid technological advancement in the history of the world. ## Who Should Judge—You?

By PATTY GREEN
O'Leary Junior High School
There are more than one class of teenagers. There is the group that are downright "hippies," and there is also the group that are the highest of the teens, that is—those who go to high school, graduate and even possibly go to college. But there is a cross between the two. They are not full fledged "hippies," neither are they fit in the "goodie-goodie" category. They don't always like to get haircuts, but they don't stand to be seen in unclean clothes. They know that they don't want to do or even think of doing the things that "hippies" do, but then again they can afford to be a "goodie goodie" but just don't want to. There is also another group that most people don't like to think about, the underprivileged ones. They cannot afford the things that they would like and could

Fireworks Purchased At Glens Ferry

GLENS FERRY—The Glens Ferry City Council has authorized purchase of $400 worth of fireworks for the July 4 celebration this year.

Transfer was approved of funds totaling $8,469.25, including $954.10 from the general fund to the park and cemetery fund; $2,093.56 to the fire department; $5,511.77 to the street lights and street improvements, and a transfer of $42.84 from the redemption of registered warrant fund to the general fund.

A request by Elbert Sherman, city councilman, to close Cassin Street between Fifth and Sixth Avenues was taken under advisement. Mrs. Mae Burgess and Mrs. Florence Greer reported they had cleaned the city hall kitchen and the Rebekah lodge, to which they belong, was reimbursed for three months rent for the hall because of their work.

Mrs. Zoe Hull reported she has been purchased from Pocatello about the purchase of the Community Cannery equipment, which is no longer used.

Francis Hicks, city attorney, asked Mrs. Hull, who is the only remaining member of the cannery organization, to bring him what records she has on the cannery.

Edwin Bostic, city clerk, reported the crown of Commercial, Lincoln and Logan streets has to be lowered.

Bowling Meet Set March 8 At Shoshone

SHOSHONE — At the February meeting of American Legion, a fourth district bowling tournament was announced for March 8 at the Mountain View lanes here.

The events will begin at 1:30 p.m. with 10 teams participating. Other communities which are in the district area include Jerome, Coalinga, Glens Ferry, Wendell, Sherman, Mountain Home, Ketchum, Fairfield, Sun Valley and Richfield vicinities.

The parlor contest will be held this week at the high school with winner to enter the district. The National contest will be held in Boise this year, officers noted. Elmer Terry is chairman of the local contest.

Regular legion meetings will be continued for the Legion on the third Mondays of the month.

Questions And Answers Are Contained In IRS Release

The Twin Falls office of the Internal Revenue Service, issued recently a list of questions and answers designed to clarify tax problems for the public.

The questions and answers are:

My boss still hasn't given me a statement. What should I do?

Employers are required to issue withholding statements to the employee by Jan. 31, so it would be advisable to ask your employer about it.

I received a package of estimated tax forms in the mail. Does that mean I have to fill one out and send it in?

You do not have to file an estimated return for 1968 unless you meet the requirements explained in the instructions that came with the estimated forms.

Estimated tax forms have been sent to every taxpayer who filed an estimated return for 1968 as well as to those taxpayers who had a balance due of $40 or more when they filed their 1967 return. The forms are identified with the taxpayer's name, address and social security number just as they appear in IRS files.

If you are required to file an estimated return, be sure to use the forms sent you. It will assure that your estimated tax payments are properly credited to your account.

Can I deduct the assessment I had to pay for a new sidewalk?

The law generally does not permit deductions for assessments for local benefits that tend to increase the value of the assessment can be capitalized, however, and added to the basis of your property.

Where can I get a copy of "Your Federal Income Tax"?

This publication can be purchased for 60 cents at local IRS offices or from the Superintendent of Documents, U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C. 20402. Ask for Publication 17.

What records should I keep on my 1968 return in case I'm audited?

Keep whatever you need to substantiate the income and deductions on your return. Cancel checks, paid bills, Form W-2 (Wage and Tax Statement), and 1099 (U.S. Information Return for Calendar Year), bank books and records should be kept in addition to a copy of the return, will be helpful.

Rupert Couple Is Winner Of $1,000 In Tab Contest

A Rupert couple, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Graham, is the area's $1,000 winner in the Tab Miracle Mind-Stecker contest which was conducted recently.

In a Feb. 2 edition of the Times-News there was a Tab insert which recipients were to take to their local grocer. The grocer looked at the concealed number through a special plastic glass and told them what they had won.

Mrs. Graham said she took her insert to Shelby's in Burley several days after receiving her newspaper. After Glenn Dick, assistant manager of the store, told her she was a $1,000 winner, she said she went home "without buying very many groceries."

Eggon Kroll, who is the franchise owner for this area, said

Red Fish Lake Sunday Services Slated By Newly Formed Board

SHOSHONE—Worship services at Red Fish Lake will be held again this summer, representatives of denominations who have cooperated in the project decided when they met at Jerome this week.

The meeting was held during a no-host luncheon at the Wood Cafe.

In cooperation with the Forest Service, Sunday morning worship was sponsored by congregations of nine denominations in South Central Idaho from the Fourth of July to Labor Day weekends the past two years.

The worship services are conducted in the amphitheater in front of the information center at Red Fish Lake in Sawtooth Valley, a popular recreation area for Idahoans and tourists from across the United States and many foreign countries.

The interdenominational worship was conducted by pastors and laymen of American Lutheran Church of the Brethren, Church of the Nazarene, Disciples of Christ (Christian churches), Episcopal United Brethren in Christ, United Methodist and United Presbyterian Churches.

At the Jerome meeting, it was decided to form a permanent board of directors to coordinate these services. Each denomination cooperating in the effort will name one representative on the board.

Rev. William Barrett, pastor of the United Presbyterian Church of Jerome, was elected chairman with Mel Quale, a member of Our Savior American Lutheran Church, Twin Falls, vice chairman. Rev. John F. Tull, pastor of the Wood River Episcopal Parish of Shoshone and Gooding, will serve as secretary.

Others attending the meeting were Rev. Virgil Weimer, pastor of the Church of the Brethren, Twin Falls, and Mrs. Weimer; Rev. Eugene Tjarks, Our Savior American Lutheran Church; Rev. Robert Cooper, First Baptist Church, Jerome; Rev. Keith Maxwell, associate pastor of the First United Methodist Church, Twin Falls; Rev. Herbert Livingston, First Christian Church, Jerome; and Rev. Robert Smith, executive officer of the Utah and Idaho Association of American Baptist Churches.

The board will attempt to secure the service of a theological student who will give a sermon at a resort near Red Fish, and conduct the services. The theological student would also minister to campers and tourists and young people employed in the area and in much the way the interdenominational summer ministry is offered at national parks such as Yellowstone. It is hoped that this ministry will include an informal Sunday School.

into membership a representative from any denomination or congregation, who wishes to support the efforts of providing summer worship at Red Fish Lake. The next meeting of the board is to be at noon April 8 at Wood Cafe, Jerome.

Garbage Fees To Go Up At Jerome

JEROME — The rate for garbage collection in Jerome will raise 25 cent a month to $1.25, beginning March 1, according to Marshall Everhart, councilman in charge of sewer and sanitation.

The fee increase, which was authorized at the recent council meeting, will help to take care of the cleaning of trash from the ditches and alleys. It was noted that the new rate is still below many of the surrounding towns.

A GROUP OF IDAHO TOURISTS spent some time visiting the shrine at Fatima in Portugal. The group shown here is part of the nearly 25 people who returned this weekend from a two-week tour of Spain and Portugal. The jaunt was the annual Times-News-Magic Carpet Travels tour. The first leg of the tour was spent in Portugal and the remainder in Spain.

SELECTING FRUIT from an open market square in Lisbon, Portugal, are Mr. and Mrs. Sirlo Powers, Burley. The Cassia County couple is part of a group on tour in Spain and Portugal. The members of the Times-News Magic Flesta tour enjoyed rummaging through the native market places in the two countries.

ALTHOUGH THE LETTUCE AND CABBAGE in a Lisbon, Portugal, market square appeared the same as that sold in America, Mrs. Carl Harris, left, and Mrs. W. H. Dotweiler, joining over at right, found the vegetables just didn't taste the same. The native women bring their wares to market on donkeys laden with sacks and baskets.

Brown and Bobbie Sherwood, both Twin Falls; Norma Herzinger, Times-News women's editor and director of the tour, and June Prater and Anne Yearalay, both Twin Falls.

DANCING THE FADO with a native Portuguese dancer is A. Lovell Holyoak, Burley; as other tourists can be seen joining in in the background. Mr. Holyoak and his wife were winners of two tickets on the Times-News Magic Flesta tour of Spain and Portugal. The tour group spent two weeks in the two countries and returned to the United States this weekend. About 25 people went on the tour, which was directed by Norma Herzinger, Times-News women's editor.

History, Beauty Of Portugal Greet Idaho Tourists On First Leg Of Trip

By NORMA HERZINGER, Times-News Women's Editor

NAZARE, Portugal (Special to Times-News) — Portugal's most typical and picturesque fishing village, Nazare, proved to be a favorite of Idaho tourists when members of the Magic Flesta tour visited overnight in the quaint little village.

The fishing village featured beautiful beaches, colorful fishing boats, still shaped like those of the Phoenicians who founded the village many years ago, and the fisherfolk all dressed in their traditional costumes.

The women of the village are known for their many, many skirts — usually eight in all — and all except for the outer skirt, beautifully crocheted around the bottom. The outer skirt is topped with an elaborately embroidered apron.

The women of Portugal do beautiful handwork — embroidery, knitting and crocheting. These items are real finds for most of the tourists as they have gone from shop to shop selecting pretties for their families and friends.

The hand-knit sweaters and hand-embroidered linen table cloths and napkins have been purchased by the Idahoans to be sent home. In fact, this morning at breakfast my group presented me with an oval shaped tablecloth and eight napkins purchased in Nazare for my birthday.

Many of the Gem Sisters have visited in Fatima where the shrine of Fatima is located. Here on May 13, 1917, the Portuguese believe the Virgin Mary appeared to three children who were tending their sheep in the fields.

This has become an important center of pilgrimage in the Catholic Church, especially on the 13th of each month. The guide described Fatima as a "miracle place" where people still flock by the hundreds to be cured of their illnesses.

Our motor coach drove from one small community to another we could see the countryside dotted with white houses with red tile roofs. The area surrounding Lisbon is basically farming communities where the people raise rice, olives, grapes, vegetables, oranges and tangerines.

The women work in the fields right along with the men and all work is done by hand. Having several farmers among our group, this proved most interesting, especially when the guide explained the land is sold by the square yard. Not one foot of ground goes to waste and it is worked much the same as it was years and years ago. Like our guide explained, "Portuguese are stubborn people, if you try something new and succeed you have much company and many followers — but if you try something new and fail — you fall alone."

ONE OF THE GUIDES who directed members of the Times-News Magic Flesta tour of Portugal is shown (with dark glasses on) talking to Helen Brown, Twin Falls, a member of the tour. Other Idaho tourists listen intently to the conversation the two women are having before a look-out point in Portugal.

A social hour followed the reports. Mrs. Hugh Caldwell received the housewif gift. Mrs. Larson received a gift from her secret pal. Mrs. Earl Lowry will be hostess for the March 10 meeting.

Old-Fashioned Meals Are Losing Favor With Diners

By JEANNE LESEM UPI Food Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — Today's blue plate special is like yesterday's mashed potatoes—an unwanted leftover.

A food service study shows preselected dinner combinations and many other old-fashioned menu favorites losing out at restaurants and institutions. Beef stew is being replaced by beef stroganoff and goulash. Like hash, liver and other variety meats, it has become a problem as an economy institutional food.

Casseroles, creamed foods, chicken and even waffles are giving way to foreign specialties—fish, salads, low calorie items and entree sandwiches—submarines, Reubens and steak, among the leaders. Submarines are sandwiches on large sausage-shaped rolls; Reubens, named for the New York restaurant where they originated, are combinations of sandwiches that include sauerkraut.

The study was made by Institutions, a trade magazine, and Michigan State University. It covered more than 1,100 operations, ranging from hospitals, secondary schools, colleges and universities to four types of restaurants—cafeterias, booth counter, and table service at two price ranges, $1-$4 and $4 and up. It showed marked shifts in eating patterns at all age levels of patrons and types of institutions.

"Atmosphere" foods—veal cordon bleu, coq au vin and other wine-sauced foods, Italian specialties—all are in demand, often in unlikely places, such as hospitals. The study also showed hospital patients ask for low-calorie foods when they are not on the regular menu.

Secondary school pupils become more health conscious, the magazine noted. They demand more freedom of choice, preferring their own combinations and ask earlier for teen favorites including submarines and sloppy joes.

Lasagna, ravioli, pizza and variations are high on their list, along with Mexican tacos and burritos. Chili alone is losing favor but hip dogs are becoming more popular. Tacos are stuffed, baked tortillas.

Fish sticks and fishwives sell like hotcakes all week long, the magazine noted. Like adults, pupils usually prefer cake to pie. The study showed pie sales in moderately priced restaurants declining except for pumpkin, cherry and that all-time favorite—apple.

More expensive restaurants said a la carte dessert extravaganzas are growing in popularity. Among them are flaming items and one old-timer, strawberry shortcake.

In the same type of establishment, patrons prefer a la carte menus to table d'hote, apparently by want to choose their own vegetables, desserts and accessories, if they order them at all. They also favor buffets provided the theme is special and preferably foreign, preferably French provincial.

"Americans' taste for tomato sauce and smoky flavors also shows up in moderately priced restaurants, where barbecue is a rising star. But pork sales are declining there, partly because its cost is becoming too high for restaurant operators, and partly because patrons associate it with high fat and caloric content.

Actually, lean pork contains fewer calories than lean beef or lean lamb, says the National Live Stock and Meat Board. Even commercial cafeterias find Italian and other foreign food among the leading choices. They're also selling more salads and fruit in the salad and dessert lines.

"Today's cafeteria patron, coming out of a much young work force, is a calorie-conscious, value-seeker who likes atmosphere," the magazine added.

College and university students also are breaking with tradition. They're more willing to try new vegetables and ethnic foods, and are beginning to ask for soul food. Institutions reported that pigs feet, black-eyed peas and turnip greens are being added to school menus in some regions.

The study attributed chicken's declining popularity in restaurants and institutions to its frequent use at home and its wide availability at franchised fast food service establishments.

Despite these changes, beef remains the overwhelming entree favorite, the magazine said. Beef and lobster combinations are also most frequently reported as new additions at higher-priced restaurants. Yet demand continues for diversified menus.

One management executive had this explanation: "If you only listed the things people will really end up buying, it would be a very dull menu."

DEAR ABBY: Please don't. They come here like wolves think I am being childish, but with empty stomachs, and pretty soon Sam comes and asks I can't confide in anyone else. I am scheduled to have some extensive dental surgery in the near future and my dentist has informed me that I will have to be "put under" with a regular anesthetic.
 That doesn't bother me, but I understand people tell a lot of tales out of school while they are "under" and I don't want to take any chances because our dentist belongs to our club and it could be embarrassing, if you know what I mean.
 I would appreciate any help you can give me. WORRIED

DEAR ABBY: I am a housewife with all kinds of problems. One of the biggest is my husband, Sam. He brings the boys in for poker two nights a week. I'm sure he's not sleeping on the couch. How can we convince them that if they're going to live together again they should get married? People are beginning to talk. EMBARRASSED

DEAR ABBY: Following the lead of my child, my doctor felt that more children might result in serious damage to my health, so with my consent he guided my tubes.
 After that, my husband promptly turned a cold back on me. Being an old farm boy he said, "Once an animal has been fixed, it's no good. A few years later he walked out on me."
 The children and I have made an almost full life for ourselves, but I never have been able to grow fond of another man. Then in your column I read a letter that eased the deep, old pain. Please thank that wonderful M.D. who wrote to say that his was the best in the world.
 GRATEFUL IN OREGON

DEAR ABBY: Inform Sam that unless HE sweetens the pot, or asks his poker-pals to ante up—no refreshments! And tell him you're a pretty good poker player, too, so he'd better not call your bluff.

DEAR ABBY: This problem has caused my brother, sisters and myself extreme embarrassment and shame. Our parents have been divorced for several years. My remarried, but his wife left him shortly afterwards, so now he goes to visit Mom quite often.
 My children are all married and could not find a room for Dad when he comes to town, but he prefers staying with Mom at her one-bedroom apartment. I'm sure he's not sleeping on the couch. How can we convince them that if they're going to live together again they should get married? People are beginning to talk. EMBARRASSED

Gold And Green Ball Is Held

RUPERT.—The 1969 annual "Gold and Green" ball, sponsored recently by the Rupert-Edwards and Ward MIA, was rated a "Swinging" success by those participating in the festivities.
 The hall was nearly filled with couples dancing to the music of the Howard Corless Band. Many presents were received, refreshments prepared by the MIA.
 During intermission entertainment was given by the theme song "Happiness Is," and Renee Tracy recited a poem, which also carried out the theme. Gold and Green decorations greeted dancers and streamers were strung throughout the hall. Pictures depicting happiness and happiness objects were also on display.
 Square dancers and an all-girl group also entertained during the intermission. Square dancers included Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Gurney, Mr. and Mrs. Glen McBride, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Hurst, Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Herbert, Rasmussen, Dennis Williams, Judy Gurney, Clark Cramer, Bonnie Rasmussen, Gary MacNeil, Christine Bates, Lorraine Donner and Susan Rasmussen. Performing in the all-girl dance were Susan Bates, Bonnie Rasmussen, Susan Bobie, Darlene Hurst, Susan Rasmussen, Yvonne Blacker, Valerie Cagle and Jennie Cagle.
 The dancing was under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Rasmussen.

SWEET 'N SAFE

Confectioners make cream candy Easter eggs with sugar not only for sweet taste but also to keep the sweets safely fresh. If the cream contains fruit or nuts, they make certain the fruit sugars are preserved to prevent fermentation. For coconut cream eggs, they freshen the dry coconut shreds with sugared water and avoid moisture loss from the cream.

Gary Gallo Is Crowned Prince At Hagerman

HAGERMAN — Gary Gallo, son of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Gallo, and representative of the senior class, was crowned "Pizza Prince" at the "Pizza Prince" dance recently. Patti Gold, FHA president, crowned the "Prince."

Rick Bendorf was first runner-up with Tom Overlie as second runner-up.

The "Pizza Prince" contest was sponsored by the local chapter of the Future Homemakers of America. The pizza contest was held this year in lieu of the cookie baking contest which has been held for several years.

A boy was chosen to represent each of the four high school classes and boys' organizations in the school. Bake-off was held in the home economics room with Mrs. D. H. Gold, Mrs. Cleo Patterson and Mrs. Gene Overlie, chapter mothers, Miss Gold, chapter president, and Mrs. Leon Grieve, chapter adviser, judges.

Hagerman Post Names Girls' State Chairman

HAGERMAN — Mrs. Kate Billard was appointed Girls' State chairman for the American Legion Auxiliary, Lea Owens Post No. 31 at their meeting this week. Mrs. Billard will contact both the Hagerman and Bliss High Schools for names of junior class girls who wish to try for Girls' State. Names must be submitted by March 15.

Plans were discussed for the 50th birthday anniversary of the American Legion in March. A potluck supper will be held at the local post March 13 with the auxiliary members furnishing the fried chicken. Mrs. Myrtle Conklin will bake the birthday cake. Fourth district American Legion and auxiliary presidents will be in attendance.

Mrs. Conklin, a charter member of the auxiliary who has discontinued her membership for several years, rejoined at the recent meeting.

Mrs. Ray Clawson presented a program on "Americanism." Coffee and cake were served by Mrs. C. O. Shore, Mrs. John Wavencamp and Mrs. Beverly Norton.

Legionaires planned their pancake supper which will be held the latter part of March. A discussion was held on what Legion members could do to help returning veterans.

Crestview 59er Club Meets At Maxfield Home

PAUL — Members of the Crestview 59ers met at the home of Mrs. Merrill Maxfield this week. The hostess was American from Mrs. Charles Young because she had "roads" to her home.

Mrs. Maxfield and Mrs. Young, in addition to being hostesses, presented the 1st and 2nd "Hamburger, Three Times a Day." They discussed the high protein, B vitamins and mineral content of the low-cost food.

They also demonstrated foods prepared from ground beef and served them to members in attendance.

Mrs. Leonard Schenk conducted the business meeting and gave the January county council report.

The recent series of clothing construction classes were completed and Mrs. Morris Murphy modeled the dress she made in the class.

Mrs. Dora LeGault announced the programs completed for the year, and program books were available.

The biggest gift was won by Mrs. LeGault.

The March meeting will be held in March at the home of Mrs. Olin Whitaker, with Mrs. Yutaka Hanami as cohostess.

Annual DAR Tea Set Saturday

The Daughters of the American Revolution will have their annual Washington's Birthday Tea at 2 p.m. Saturday at the Memorial Room of the Episcopal Church of the Ascension.

A cash donation, the chapter's only money-making project of the year, will be taken. The Good Citizen Awards for Maple Valley high school girls will be given. The award is made to high school seniors of well-rounded character and scholarship.

Mrs. Roger Thomas, regent of the Twin Falls Chapter, will present the March program lesson view "The Still Meadow Calendar" by Gladys Taler.

Seasonal Cooking Favored By National College Queen

When New York City recently was crippled by the worst snow storm in 12 years, thousands of the city's college students were dormitory or apartment bound for at least a full day. It was a chance to catch up on reading and sleeping or other neglected activities.

One busy young graduate student in the School of Journalism at Columbia University, touched on her snow recess as a chance to do some cooking, a favorite pastime that she seldom has time for these days.

She is Valerie Dickerson, not only a scholastic graduate student but also America's National College Queen. She won the title of National College Queen last June at the 14th annual pageant. The 1969 pageant will be held April 11 through 21 in West Point, N.Y.

What does a pretty young college girl cook when she gets the chance? Valerie, we are told, likes to cook with the seasons and for special occasions. This being the Washington Birthday season, what else but cherry pie, a simple but satisfying winter dessert.

Valerie's recipe for cherry pie plus two other ways to use the season's crop of canned cherries are offered here.

CHERRY PIE
Pastry for 2-crust pie
3/4 cup corn starch
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 cup juice, drained from cherries
2 tablespoons margarine
1/2 teaspoon lemon juice
1/2 teaspoon red food coloring
2 (1-pound) cans, pitted sour red cherries, packed in water
Combine corn starch, sugar, and cherry juice in a saucepan. Place over medium heat and cook, stirring constantly, until mixture comes to a boil and boils one minute. Remove from heat. Stir in margarine, lemon juice, food coloring and cherries.

Pour into pastry lined 9-inch pie pan. Cover with top crust, which has slits to permit escape of steam. Seal and flute edges. Bake in 425 degrees F. (hot) oven 35 to 40 minutes, or until crust is golden brown.

CHERRY-NUT SAUCE
1/2 cup wine vinegar
1 (1-pound) can pitted sour cherries, drained
1/2 cup light corn syrup
1/2 teaspoon lemon juice
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
1/2 teaspoon ground cloves
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1/2 cup chopped blanched almonds
Blend corn starch with small amount of vinegar in small saucepan. Add remaining vinegar, cherries, corn syrup, lemon juice, salt, cinnamon, nutmeg, cloves and pepper. Stirring constantly, bring to boil and boil one minute over medium heat. Add almonds. Makes about 2 1/2 cups. Excellent to serve with roast chicken or turkey, fresh roasted pork loin or baked ham.

CHERRY BAKE
1 (11 1/2 to 13-ounce) package white or yellow cake or cupcake mix
1 cup coarsely chopped nuts
1/2 cup margarine, melted
2 (1-pound) cans pitted sour cherries
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup corn starch
1/2 teaspoon almond extract

Toss cake mix, nuts and melted margarine together with forks set aside. Drain cherries; add water to juice to make two cups. Combine sugar and corn starch in saucepan. Gradually blend in cherry juice. Stirring constantly, bring to boil over medium heat and boil one minute. Stir in cherries and almond extract. Pour into greased (8 by 8 by 2-inch) baking dish. Top with cake mix and nut mixture. Bake in 375 degrees F. (moderate) oven until topping is well browned, about 40 minutes. Serve warm, with ice cream or heavy cream.

Study Club At Burley Hears Book Review

BURLEY — The Burley Study Club heard the book "Glimpses of a Mormon Family," written by Frances Grant Bennett, reviewed by Mrs. Elma Robins during the club meeting at home of Mrs. Gertrude Hatch.

Events of the book are of the life of Mrs. Bennett, born and raised in Salt Lake City and activities as the wife of Utah's Republican United States Senator, Wallace F. Bennett.

The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Helen Budge and Mrs. Clea Holyoak will present the book review.

Mrs. Marjorie Pickett, Boise, was a guest.

TURTLE DISH
Green turtle, like the small terrapin, has never been expensive. When available fresh, its preparation is seldom casual. One gourmand deservedly simmers the steaks in a sauce made of the green fat, butter, currant jelly, mushroom puree, seasonings, and — to blend the unusual flavors — a cube of sugar.

Arizona Miss, Bryson To Wed In April Rites

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Sorensen, Winslow, Ariz., announce the engagement of their daughter, Susan, to Doran W. Bryson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Bryson, Twin Falls.

The couple plans an April 10 wedding at the Mesa, Ariz., LDS Temple.

Miss Sorensen is attending Brigham Young University, Provo, Utah. Bryson was graduated from Ricks College, Rexburg, and Brigham Young University. He currently is serving an overseas assignment with the U.S. Army.

Peanut Pie
1/2 cup peanut butter, chunk style preferred
3/4 cup confectioners sugar
1 baked 9 inch pie shell
1/2 cup all-purpose flour
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 cups scalded milk
3 egg yolks, slightly beaten
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1/2 teaspoon vanilla

Blend peanut butter with confectioners sugar until mealy. Sprinkle 3/4 of mixture over pie shell. Combine flour, 1/2 cup sugar and salt in top of double boiler. Stir in scalded milk and cook over boiling water, stirring constantly until thickened. Stir a small amount of cooked filling into egg yolks. Combine with remaining hot mixture and cook several minutes longer. Add butter and vanilla and top with meringue.

Meringue
3 egg whites
1/2 teaspoon cream of tartar
1/2 cup sugar
1 teaspoon cornstarch

Beat egg whites until stiff. Add cream of tartar. Gradually add sugar mixed with cornstarch. Beat until fluffy and shiny. Pipe onto filled pie shell and sprinkle with remaining peanut butter mixture. Bake and cook before serving.

Montana Staters Drop Idaho To Split Two Games

MOSCOW (UPI)—The Idaho Vandals turned completely cold with field goal attempts and the Montana State Bobcats took them to a 36-25 overtime loss in a game that was a 67-57 victory at Memorial gym here before 2,600 fans Saturday night.

Chilean Duo 'Steals' Widener Win

HIALEAH, Fla. (UPI)—The aging Chilean horse jockey and his partner, Francisco Torres, stole the $137,200 Widener Handicap at Hialeah Park Saturday for a whopping $34.30 payoff.

Yumbel and the eight-year-old Yumbel coasted to the front as the field of 11 went into the final turn and had enough strength left to hold off the favorite of the crowd of 30,206, by a head.

Mr. Brogan, winner of the $50,000 Tropical Handicap last month, set the early pace and held on grimly to finish third, a nose back of Funny Fellow and three quarters of a length in front of Pett.

Yumbel's victory, his first stakes triumph since winning the Fayette Handicap at Keeneland in October 1966—the horse did not race in 1967 or 1968—resulted in a payoff of $94.30, $29.40 and $13 for a $2 bet across the board.

Wheatley Stables' Funny Fellow, sold $3.80, and $2.60. Mr. Brogan, owned by Mrs. J. L. Greer, paid $8.60 for show.

The Walnut Hill Farms collected $83,180 for Yumbel's victory, more than four times the amount the horse has earned the last three years.

Owners May Meet To Talk Over Boycott

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (UPI)—Mike Burke, president of the New York Yankees, said Saturday owners may have to meet next week to discuss the boycott problem if the situation "isn't settled by week's end."

Burke said he doubted there would be a compromise $5.5 million settlement. The owners are offering $5.3 million and rejected a player proposal Friday for a $5.9 million settlement.

Gary Jones, a left-handed pitcher, became the 11th player in camp when he arrived early Saturday.

Illinois Races To 100-92 Win
CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (UPI)—Illinois' steady manhood overcame a record basketball shooting performance by Michigan's Rudy Tomjanovich Saturday and carried the Illini to a 100-92 Big Ten basketball victory.

Tomjanovich, who finished with 40 points, bugged the field goals, a new high on the Illini court. But center Tomjanovich, who scored 20 points, but the Wolverines were unable to keep pace with the Illini's hot second half shooting.

The game was close all the way. The Illini moved in front late in the second half, when Jim Harrison broke a 48-48 tie and gave the Illini a 50-48 edge.

The front climbed hundred several times after the intermission, but the Illini took command for good with 13:09 left when Dennis Pazzo's lay-up made it 67-69.

Kansas Wins Over Huskers

LAWRENCE, Kan. (UPI)—Dave Robisch scored 27 points to lead Kansas to a 79-73 Big Eight Conference victory over Nebraska Saturday night.

The triumph pulled Kansas to an 8-3 record and a tie with Colorado at the top of the Big Eight Conference.

Yarbrough Wins 300-Mile Daytona Prep; MacTavish Is Killed In Fiery Accident

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (UPI)—Pole-sitter Lee Roy Yarbrough guided his 1968 Ford through rain squalls Saturday to win a 300-mile prep race for Sunday's $208,000 Daytona 500 but a young Massachusetts driver was killed on the ninth lap to mar the race.

It was terribly unfortunate, but all people who race realize that these dangers are involved, winner Yarbrough said after the race. "Nobody told me before it was over that the boy was dead, but I figured it out anyway. The car was pretty torn up."

Former "Demolition Derby" driver Don MacTavish, 26, of Dover, Mass., was killed when his 1966 Mercury Comet slammed into a wall at 150 miles per hour, was hit by another car, then spun 400 feet down the grandstand stretch.

Hoag passed him. MacTavish's death, the fifth in the speedway's history, came as the young driver tried to pass a car driven by defending champion Bunkie Blackburn of Daytona Beach.

Purdue Moves Closer To Big 10 Title

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (UPI)—Rick Mount returned in 32 points as Purdue belted Northwestern, 107-86 Saturday afternoon to maintain a two-game lead in the Big Ten basketball race.

Purdue broke a 26-26 tie in the first period and never trailed again. It was 46-30 at halftime and the Boilermakers continued pulling away in the second half.

Coach George King emptied the bench with seven minutes to play and the reserves maintained the wide spread against the Wildcat reserves.

The Boilermakers' biggest lead was 42 points with 23 seconds to play.

New Mexico Tops A-State

TEMPE, Ariz. (UPI)—Pint-sized-Pete-Gibson tossed in nine points during the overtime period to lead New-Mexico to an 84-75 win over Arizona State University Saturday afternoon.

The five-foot-seven sophomore scored the first eight points for the Lobos during the overtime after the regulation game ended in a 62-62 deadlock.

Bradley-Led Bruins Stop Burley 90-74 To Gain A-1 Finals, Berth In State Tourney

BURLEY — John Bradley snatched a rebound and a display by hitting 19 points in the first 13 minutes Saturday night to lead the torrid Twin Falls Bruins past the Burley Bruins 90-74 and into a berth in the state A-1 basketball tournament. The big margin of victory came at the foul line where Bradley hit 17 of 19 shots and converted 25 field goals — three less than Twin Falls fouts into 22 free throws.

The victory put Twin Falls in the finals of the tournament and it now awaits the result of the Burley-Minico clash at Rupert Thursday night. The winner of that game also gets a state tourney berth and will play the Bruins at Twin Falls Friday.

Burley started out the hot team, hitting three straight from the field but Twin Falls stayed close on free throw shooting. Burley posted five points leads twice in the early going but Twin Falls caught up on four straight Bradley points and he hit six more to give the Bruins a 25-16 lead.

In the second period, Bradley continued to score well and figured the rest of the team. Five Twin Falls hits in the quarter. The Bruins mounted a 19-point lead. Greg Bunn's closing three-point play brought Burley back to within 11 at halftime.

Mark Miller and Allen Howa opened hot for Twin Falls in the third quarter to quickly shove the Bruins into a commanding lead and the Bobcats, getting some good shooting from Belliston and driving from Mendenhall, couldn't overcome it.

Twin Falls led 73-51 going into the final period and Coach Charles Farmer went to rest serves with six minutes left. Friday night Minico couldn't match the four-man double figure scoring of the Bruins, and the lead changed hands twice. In the final three minutes, Miller's 27-point play of the period ably abetted by Mike Newell, proved the Minico floor is his Minico cut it to two before jumping place to play as the for Allen Howa hit a close-in jumper through 28 points—12 of them in the game—deciding a fourth quarter. Newell worked with 18 points—his biggest year of the season—and did yeoman work on the boards. Miller's total off-set the 27 points by Jim Boatwright, Minico's all-star. Twin Falls led most of the first half, the largest margin being six, and stretched that to a 46-46 tie and hit the first two buckets of the last quarter.

Twin Falls pulled back and the lead changed hands twice before Miller got his second three-point play of the period. Again Mike Newell, ably abetted by Mike Newell, proved the Minico floor is his Minico cut it to two before jumping place to play as the for Allen Howa hit a close-in jumper through 28 points—12 of them in the game—deciding a fourth quarter. Newell worked with 18 points—his biggest year of the season—and did yeoman work on the boards. Miller's total off-set the 27 points by Jim Boatwright, Minico's all-star.

FROM ALL ANGLES

By LARRY Hovey Times-News Sports Editor

Wonders never cease — and man never learns. During the past few years, there has been an increasing cry among Idaho anglers for the state Fish and Game Department to bring in walleye pike or some other noted voracious fish predator to clean up trash fish and provide sport fishing.

The state department has always declined the idea for reasons of cost, implementation and education of anglers on how to catch the fish if they were brought in.

It was rather stunning then to see that the Utah Fish and Game Department, which went along with the "biological control" idea some years ago had to make one of the most fantastic adjustments in the history of fish management. At their last meeting, the department had to authorize expenditure of funds to get this year some trash fish in the west and bring them to Utah to plant in reservoirs where, in turn, the introduced walleyes could have something to eat!

UCLA Swarms Past Oregon In 103-69 Win

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Top-ranked UCLA held to a four-point halftime lead, exploded in the second half Saturday night to rout Oregon 103-69 in a Pacific Eight Conference basketball game.

The Bruins, posting their 38th straight victory, and 85th triumph in 86 games, led only 47-47 at the intermission but ripped off 12 consecutive points at the beginning of the second half to take a 53-37 lead.

Sanmore forward Sidney Wick's sparked the UCLA assault with a career high of 22 points. Lew Alcinder led all scorers with 25 points although he left the game with seven minutes remaining.

Four other Bruins scored in double figures. Kenny Heltz had 12 and Carl Rowley, Steve and Steve Patterson 10 each.

Larry Holliday and Bill Drozdak were high for the Ducks with 11 points each.

The loss left Oregon with an 11-1 record for the year. The Ducks are now 3-7 in conference play.

Oregon chose to run with the Bruins in the opening minutes but slowed the action toward the end of the first half. They trailed 28 with 3:20 left in the half but closed it to four points on two 20-foot jumpers by Holliday and lay-ins by Glen Campbell and Billy Gaskins.

Firestone FARMER DAYS

February 24 to March 1st

An interesting subject will be brought up at the next Southern Idaho Conference meeting concerning basketball. A proposal will be made to outlaw the zone defense for all league games.

Of interest, Coach Charles Farmer of Twin Falls remembers only two games where the Bruins faced a man-for-man defense the entire time. He remembers many more where his charges faced only zones. That in itself might tell a story on why Twin Falls, which plays only man, started coming on at the end of the season. A zone generally is most effective early in the year before the ball handling and shooting touch have returned to the players after the year's inactivity.

For instance, Capital played zone a lot—a great start, a not so great finish.

We'd vote a resounding yes on the motion if we had the eye. The man defense produces the best rounded players.

In last week's state wrestling tournament, the Minico Spartans did very well and the Twin Falls Bruins came up in good shape to give this district its best representation for a long time.

Sharing the state title is Minico Coach Red Halverson, who by now has some kind of record, thinking he should go another year. Each year Coach Halverson considers giving it up, but it always ends up the Spartans have a good team coming back and he can't quit on such a note. "I want just one more year," he says—and next year he has "only" seven of his varsity returning.

There was one other tragic note in the state meet on the Class I side. Blittek, a Middleton sophomora, won his second state title. Blittek weighed in at 300 pounds, which gave him more than a little edge over his competition. But when he received his championship medal, the crowd booted the youngster. He already was so concerned about his weight as he could possibly get and when the crowd treated him that way, he was completely undone. In fact, with two more years ahead of him, the youngster is reportedly thinking of giving up the sport.

Robinson To Spell Powell At First Base

MIAMI (UPI) — Manager Earl Weaver said Saturday he plans to use slugging outfielder Frank Robinson to rest Boog Powell at first base this season against certain lefthanded pitching.

"There's no doubt Powell is a more productive hitter when he has a day off now and then," Weaver said. "I've already talked to Frank about it over the winter and he told me he played a full season at first in Cincinnati once and didn't do badly."

The same 21 players were on hand Saturday for the fourth workout of the spring, with 12 still missing because of the player strike on salary negotiations.

Third baseman Brooks Robinson, the Orioles' player representative, appeared at Miami Stadium briefly to pick up personal belongings he had shipped to Florida.

Robinson said he would honor the strike "right to the end."

Girl To Ride Against Lopez

SAN JUAN, P.R. (UPI) — Diane Crump, the 26-year-old blonde who broke the sex barrier in thoroughbred racing, rides here Sunday in a match race with Puerto Rico's leading jockey Carlos Lopez.

The race will be held at San Juan's El Comandante Race Track as part of the regular racing schedule. It will be over a mile and sixteenth.

The San Juan Racing Association, which owns the El Comandante track, said the match race between Lopez, Mike Crump and Lopez will be held between the 6th and 7th races and there will be no betting.

Both jockeys will ride 112-pound horses. The choice of horses will be decided in a draw between the 6th and 7th races. Mike Crump will draw first.

It's A Jim Dandy

Political Point Of View

By L. James Koutnik

Magie Valley came out well ahead of Boise this week, with the appointment of Lloyd Barron to the Highway Board. This small, but very powerful group has only three members, in spite of a great deal of effort to expand the committee to include regional representation. It now appears we have accomplished our main object, i.e. getting a member on this board from central Idaho — without having to jump over the almost impossible hurdle of getting the board to expand itself.

Barron, who has put in nine terms in the state legislature, should be very well acquainted with the operations of this state agency, and not only be a real credit to the board, but of considerable value to Magie Valley area. His appointment finally giving our area a voice in the operation.

And with this recognition of Lloyd Barron's abilities, it brings to mind a sad situation that occurred last November when Camas County an area that has only 900 people, (including kids), exercising extremely short-range judgment canceled their effective voice in the state legislature by defeating Lloyd Barron. He was not only a nine-termer, but he was a highly respected individual among all the members of the legislature, and was in a position of leadership. Camas County will never have an opportunity to achieve this feat again. This short-sighted view on the part of the voters in that district to cut off the one man who kept Camas County alive in the eye of the public, will probably prove to be tantamount to suicide. Inevitably, there will be future consolidation and the elimination of the small underpopulated, inefficient counties, and there's probably no better target than Camas County.

Barron was their only buffer from this inevitable situation. The strangest thing of all is that he was replaced by Don Frederickson, who has considerably less voice and influence in the Legislature. Talk about cutting off your nose to spite your face.

As all of you know by this time, the Board of Education had the temerity to challenge the governor on his proposed budget for higher education. They not only challenged him, but they had everybody in the state on their side, and nobody left on Big Don's. Pay day for certain members of the Board of Education, who dared to challenge the governor will be on March 1, 1969. At that time Phillip Dufford, of Boise, and Edmund Bogert Jr., of Pocatello, will complete their terms and be eligible for reappointment. Both of these men have had outstanding records on the board, and have been a credit to the state and to the state institutions of higher learning, and have been able to work with every administration up 'til the present one; but they've had it!

And who is now being considered as their replacement? None other than Gwenn Barnett and Mrs. Grant Kilbourne, both of whom have proudly proclaimed themselves to be members of the ultra-conservative camp. However, for the right wing to take over the colleges in Idaho, they will have to wait another year until the present chairman, Dick Smith, and Mrs. John Walters will probably be similarly turned out to pasture for their past transgressions.

This is something this group has waited for a long time — the chance to get their hands on Idaho universities, as well as to take over as many major state committees as possible.

Once they get in there, they know they are good for at least two more years of the next governor's term, in any event, and by then they will have accomplished their aims.

We recently received a letter requesting information about the recent action of the state legislature concerning the popular election of presidents. For the benefit of those who may not be familiar with it, it was Senate Joint Memorial No. 104, which was scheduled to be a resolution from both houses of our state legislature to the U.S. Congress requesting that they amend the Constitution to provide for popular election of the president. It was originally considered by the Senate and the presidential candidate received less than a majority, but more than 40 per cent of the popular vote, then Congress would select the winning candidate. However, if none of the candidates received more than 40 per cent of the popular vote, Congress would then set up a run-off election for the top two candidates for president and vice president.

Sen. Jordan visited the state legislature at about the same time that this measure was being considered, and advised them of his current work on a compromise measure along the same line, which would, he felt, more effectively give Idaho a greater voice than they would receive under a popular vote.

The way it stands now, Idaho has four electoral votes, which means one electoral vote for each 170,000 residents. New York, on the other hand, has 40 electoral votes, which works out to be one electoral vote per 450,000 persons. This is very definitely a political advantage that Idaho's present legislators were reluctant to give up this constitutional advantage we now enjoy.

The result was that the measure was defeated in the Senate by a vote of 24-14. Sen. Jordan's proposed legislation on the same subject would provide for two at-large electoral votes in Idaho, and one additional electoral vote in each of our congressional districts. There is also an alternative solution being considered wherein the four electoral votes would be distributed proportionately among all of the candidates running for president and vice president. Thus, Idaho could conceivably have cast three votes for Nixon and one vote for Humphrey, or some similar arrangement, in the last election.

Forest Officials Visit Snowmobile Resort Area

Personnel representing three regions of the U.S. Forest Service recently met at Willow Run Lodge east of Fairfield to view the newly constructed snowmobile facilities and discuss mutual snowmobile administration needs. Representatives from the Sawtooth, Boise, Caribou, Kaniqwa and Wallawa-Whitman National Forests said Forest Service personnel need to be well informed about general snowmobile use and organized club activities. This is necessary to better provide for the snowmobile users' outdoor enjoyment and safety. The group snowmobiled to the open Ditto Flats area. High visibility orange "Snowmobile Trail" signs made the route easy to follow. There was a discussion of litter problems and the group agreed winter travel rules should follow those of summertime — "If you can pack it in, you can pack it out." Maps and brochures were designed as a tool for showing designated snowmobile areas and trails. Other items discussed included cooperation in search and rescue operations, provision of parking areas, toilets at snowmobile take-off points and winter survival techniques.

Potato Growers Slate March 3 Contract Meet

Potato Growers of Idaho will meet March 3 at 7:45 p.m. at the Burley Dworshak School to discuss crop contract negotiations. The meeting is open to all interested potato growers. Topics for discussion include a contract presented all Idaho processors on Feb. 17. The contract will be explained at the meeting. Clarence Parr, vice president in charge of bargaining and other executive personnel, will be present to answer growers' questions.

T.F. PTA Council Slates "Life Membership" Dinner

All persons who have been honored with PTA life memberships are invited to a no-host dinner at 7 p.m. Thursday at the "Y" building in Twin Falls. The event is being sponsored by the Twin Falls PTA Council with Mrs. Pierce Roan as chairman. Dr. James Taylor, CSI president, will speak. More than 130 persons have received this honor in the last 30 years within the Twin Falls school district, PTA officials report. In addition the life membership pins are presented in most local PTA units throughout the valley each year. All recipients of the life membership throughout Magie Valley are invited to the dinner. Mrs. Roan stressed the life membership is conferred to any person in recognition of his contribution to children or youth in the community. Money is given in each recipient's name to be used for extension field work and leadership training. Funds derived from this source are used within the state. Dr. Taylor's tonic will be "Growing up in Modern America." Mrs. Sherman Day is acting president of the PTA Council, succeeding the late H.L. Summerfield, who held the post at the time of his death.

"I've Grown Accustomed To Her Face"
Mary Walker, female lead of the Dilettante production "My Fair Lady" has starred in many of the productions over the past ten years and has also worked behind the scenes in many other annual shows.

"Poor Professor Higgins"
Dr. Arthur Frantz, who plays the male lead of Professor Higgins in "My Fair Lady" has his problems in the show and off stage as well. A dentist throughout the day, he works until early morning hours as the cast rehearses.

They're Singing Our Song In "My Fair Lady" Rehearsals, Say Members Of Musical Comedy Cast

"I'm An Ordinary Man"
You might say this of Lloyd Walker, husband of the show's leading lady, Mary Walker. During rehearsals the attorney spends most of his evenings with the couple's four children, Lloyd, left, and Frank, who need help with their homework, Nora, front, and baby Marjorie who hopefully will soon be tucked into bed.

"Just You Walt Henry Higgins"
This song title pretty well sums up the feeling of Mrs. Art Frantz, eating dinner alone again while husband Art Frantz, who plays the role of Henry Higgins in My Fair Lady, rushes off again to early rehearsals.

"Wouldn't It Be Lovely"

With a little imagination the song titles and phrases from this year's Dilettante of Magic Valley production, "My Fair Lady," can tell a lot about what's been going on during the past month of preparations and rehearsals.

When the curtain goes up opening night, Feb. 28 in the new CSI Arts Building auditorium, performers who have been working day and night for more than a month will be rewarded when they hear the applause and feel the atmosphere of the first public show.

There are many others whose efforts and talents are essential to the show who never go on stage and whose only reward is the satisfaction that they did their job well and the show provided enjoyable entertainment for those who attended.

It takes more than just the performers to assure a good show. Working equally hard for nothing more than their knowledge they contributed to a worthwhile community project are the men and women who build the sets and search the community for props and material. Larry Hovey, one of the carpenters says among other things, he cut and nailed together 1800 feet of 1x4s.

There are the families of the performers who also serve by filling in at home and undergoing many inconveniences in order to allow the stars to participate in long nightly rehearsal sessions. The husband of the female lead has to wash the dinner dishes at night, help the boys with their homework and tuck the baby in bed so their mother, Mary Walker, can leave early for rehearsals.

The wife of the male star prepares a number of meals that never are eaten as Dr. Art Frantz works late in his dental office and leaves early for rehearsal.

Most of the performers and behind-the-scenes workers have regular jobs that keep them busy throughout the day and their evenings stretch into early morning hours as show time nears and rehearsals lengthen.

This year's production, the seventh for the Magic Valley Dilettantes involves a lot more work for such people as the artists and carpenters. Moving for the first time into the new CSI Arts Building, the directors and performers are working on a much larger stage. All sets, scenery and props must be rebuilt for the new stage. This also increases the cost and may cut the 1969 show profits.

In 1959 with the production of "Carousel" the Dilettantes made their debut in Magic Valley on the stage of the Filer High School Auditorium that had since been their home.

One of the purposes of staging "Carousel" was to start a fund with which to build a civic auditorium in Twin Falls to serve the Dilettante production and other community musical and dramatic performers.

In the ten years since then other productions swelled this fund and made possible the start of the plush new auditorium that will house this year's musical comedy. Cost of using the new auditorium, now part of the College of Southern Idaho campus, is also greater than the cost of the Filer High School auditorium, but members of the Dilettante group hope the ticket sales will be large because of increased seating, and will offset some of the added expenses.

Performers and volunteers who make up the show work forces are working with added interest to make this first show in the new auditorium a "best yet" production.

Approximately 6,000 persons in Magic Valley and surrounding areas will have an opportunity to see this year's show because of increased seating in the new auditorium. This is some 2,000 more than could be accommodated in the same period of time in previous years.

Reserve seats tickets have been on sale for the past two weeks with momentum in sales growing as Feb. 28's opening night approaches. Shows will also be on March 1, 2, 6, 7 and 8, with the Sun. Frantz performs an afternoon show. Mary Walker, who has starred in many previous shows, appears as Eliza in My Fair Lady. Opposite her is Dr. Art Frantz in his first lead role as Professor Higgins.

"Get Me To The Church On Time"
Noting the late rehearsal hour Saturday night, Andrea Tuninga and James LaGrove, members of the chorus, know they will probably skip church Sunday morning and their families will be making excuses for their absence.

"What A Frenzied Moment That Was"
Words from a song chorus is rehearsing brings to mind a few near disasters that occur during every rehearsal, but hopefully not during the performance. Discussing close calls of the show while pausing in the hall for coffee are Judy Driscoll, Larry Christensen and Jean Hovey, from left.

"I Could Have Danced All Night"
And many times they do. Dancers contribute much to the production but their routines must be perfect. There's sometimes comical confusion in the appearance of actors at rehearsal sessions. The long hair worn by Prof. Albert Blum who plays "Pickering," and the short hair of Miss Brammich, publicity director, leave a question in the mind of those who glimpse the two looking over a script. Dress of the two adds to the confusion.

Lost Hunter Has A Good Chance For Help From Organized Search-Rescue Efforts

By JIM HUMBIRD
Idaho Fish-Game Department

On his way out of camp, Ray Jones said, "This is my lucky day — my 39th birthday."

His three companions in archery nodded, guessing that Jones would try his luck with mountain goats instead of elk or deer. This prized trophy animal with black silhouettes horns, called "white buffalo" by explorers and settlers of the Intermountain West, is a universal symbol of wild high country.

By early afternoon the trio of archers saw their buddy, a Salmon businessman, for the last time. He was climbing 5500 foot Tobias Ridge between the East Fork of Hayden Creek and Cooper Creek in the High Lemhi Mountain range, whose peaks reach 10,000 feet elevation. All of them had camped on Hayden Creek drainage so that they could get an early start on a bow and arrow hunt. It was opened September 7 for elk, deer and mountain goats.

Jones was hunting with Ralph Peterson, Valley Flying Club of Salmon, and Ray Torrey, a California archer who liked Idaho so much he changed his residence to Salmon. But Jones did not get back to camp by sundown, or at all. Word was sent Sunday to Lemhi County Sheriff William Baker that help was needed.

Sheriff Baker organized a search-party which included 45 men on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. State, federal and county organizations included the Salmon Region office of the Fish and Game Department, Forest Service, Bureau of Land Management, Idaho National Guard, Boise Search and Rescue Team, Valley Flying Club of Leander and the Seventh-Day Adventist Church disaster aid unit. This does not include scores of interested individuals and groups who donated food.

Two German shepherd dogs were flown to Salmon from the sheriff's office at Great Falls, Montana, to help out in the search for Jones. A bloodhound owned by the Indiana District forest ranger was used during part of the search. Forest Service helicopters from Missoula and Long Tom Ridge joined the party. Observation planes were flown in from Boise by the National Guard.

Led by Sheriff Baker and Leander District Ranger Orin Johnson, a rock-by-rock search was made of the ridge between Cooper Creek and the East Fork of Hayden Creek, covering an area about five miles long and two to three miles wide. Located about 15 miles up the Hayden Creek drainage and some 30 miles southeast of Salmon, the ridge branches out into a most impassable up-approach to Boggs Mountain. Both sides of the ridge drop off into dangerous side rock.

Massive search efforts involving scores of men, aircraft and dogs scoured the precipitous mountains until the snowmelt stopped the work until spring. Only speculation is available as to what happened to Jones. Dogs picked up some kind of tracks and followed it for one-half mile before losing it. Analysis of blood and hair found near Cooper Creek a couple miles from where Jones was last seen indicated that both specimens came from deer.

Speculation pointed out that Jones could have wounded a deer and followed it; that he could have crossed over the top of the drainage and down the other side into the Pahlstrom watershed of the Lemhi Mountains; that he fell into one of the many cracks and crevices that he could have had a bear attack while climbing and fallen to his death.

In any case, Jones was an experienced woodsman, properly equipped and would have managed to signal for help unless suddenly paralyzed by exhaustion or death. Otherwise he could have built a fire, flashed a mirror by reflected sunlight, and could have rendered his own assistance through discipline techniques. Or, he could have been caught in side rock, since no trace of him could be found.

Peterson, who is Salmon regional big game biologist, says that this search-rescue attempt is a good example of the amount of help available at the community, county, state and federal level during an emergency situation when someone is lost, hurt or ill in the back country. Jones was a hunter, but equipment and manpower are available to anyone, whether hunter, fisherman, rock climber, bird watcher, wildlife photographer or whatnot.

Requests for help in search-rescue work may be made to the county sheriff, local conservation officer, forest ranger (either state or federal), Bureau of Land Management, Mountain Search and Rescue Unit, Civil Air Patrol, or any other qualified organization in the area. The Idaho Fish and Game Department has a supply of pocket-sized pamphlets which bring together numerous survival tips. The message is simple one — Anyone can get lost, but a smart person knows how not to stay lost.

The department also has a 22-minute color-sound movie which is available for group outings. Called "Lost Hunter," it tells the story of hunter mistakes in the mountains—how he gets lost, things he must do to survive. It was filmed several years ago in Idaho. Although popular with adult audiences, it is used extensively in gun safety teaching and Boy Scout work.

SEARCH PARTY ORGANIZES In high country at dawn to comb ridges on which Salmon businessman Ray Jones was hunting when lost last fall. This is not an uncommon scene in Idaho's back country during big game hunting seasons. Parties headed by Sheriff William Baker of Lemhi County and Leander District Ranger Orin Johnson varied in size and continued for several weeks without success. Many other search parties have been successful.

None of the points made in public information handouts, news media outlets or the movie films are new ideas for survival. But they are basic for persons who are lost in the back country. One idea is that adults usually fare worse than youngsters because children do not generally panic as fast as adults.

Food and even water are not as important as popularly supposed. Survival without food is possible for upwards of a month, depending on physical activity of the individual concerned. A person can live ten days without water before dehydration. Snow is a friend rather than an enemy of mankind when he is alone with the elements. The snow makes the best insulating material known.

The Money Box

BY FRANK SCHELL

From E. L. B., Twin Falls, Idaho: I have a one cent coin minted 1909 and in good condition. On one side there is a side view of an Indian head like upside-down "V's." Is this a cent of the United States of America, 1909, and on the other side the words "one cent" and a flag and wreath-like design?

Answer: I know of no coin with a flag on the reverse. Possibly you are mistaking a shield for a flag, in which case your coin is the standard issue Indian Head Cent, minted from 1905 until when was replaced by the Lincoln Cent. The coin sells for twenty cents up through $1.00, depending upon condition. Uncirculated specimens would bring more.

From A. M. H., Twin Falls, Idaho: I have some Mexican pennies. Are they worth anything as a collector's item?

Answer: I can't tell you much about your Mexican cent with the information you sent. The large cents of Mexico, dated in the 1800's, are worth considerably more than face value — some of them are quite scarce. Later dates, from about 1909 on up to the present, are but particularly valuable, except for certain dates. The later dates, from 1950 on are worth only face value. If you can send a list of your coins by date, I can give you a much more complete evaluation.

Suicide Rate In Children Causes Alarm

Think about these children, if you can: A dimpled, six-year-old girl who hates dolls . . . a roly-poly little boy who crawls on his hands and knees, and barks . . . an emancipated 12-year-old girl who slinks along walls and stares with wide, terror-filled eyes.

Once they were emotionally normal children — and they are not mentally retarded. Four million children in the United States need some kind of "psychiatric intervention," several national organizations agree. The National Committee Against Mental Illness says that a half million to a million children require immediate psychiatric help.

But most of them aren't going to get it. The states, Federal government and private groups are preoccupied with adult mental illness, according to a survey of facilities for mentally ill children by the Family Economics Bureau of Northwestern National Life Insurance Co.

Less than one per cent of disturbed children receive treatment, the National Institute of Mental Health reports. Mike Gorman, executive director of the National Committee Against Mental Illness, believes that America faces a major internal crisis as serious as any war crisis this nation has ever faced.

"The old ways of child rearing practiced by the family, church, school and community have broken down . . . We exploited, neglected and spoiled our children's personalities . . . in the same way we have fouled the air we breathe, the water we drink and the land we inhabit."

Preventing the misery of mentally ill childhoods and the wasting away of adult lives in mental institutions and prisons will be the theme of a report scheduled for summer, 1969, release by the Joint Commission on Mental Health of Children.

The report will be based on a four-year study, the first comprehensive analysis of childhood mental illness. A bill introduced by Sen. Abraham Ribicoff (D., Conn.) authorized the Commission.

America finally is discovering her mentally ill children. Further evidence: A two-day invitational conference on mental health of children sponsored by the American Medical Association, March 14 and 15 in Chicago. "Discovery" has come too late for many children. The U. S. Public Health Service reports that nearly 1,000 youngsters under 10 killed themselves in 1968 — a five-year-old Negro boy among them.

The suicide rate for children more than doubled from 1956 to 1968. Suicide is "one of the leading causes of death among children," according to a 1968 report by the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare on "unmet needs of children."

Dano White, 13, an Indian boy, small for his age, attracted far more attention from white society than he would have if he hadn't hung himself on Nov. 17, 1968, in the county jail at Breckenridge, Minn. Dano was the only prisoner on the second floor of the jail for six weeks. On the bell he choked himself with Dano had left a note that said "I love."

One undisputed cause of emotional illness is vicious physical abuse. It has a shattering impact upon the psyche of a child during his world for the first time. More children are killed by their parents than by any single cause, the Rev. William G. Fallick, a New York, a noted cleric, declared in a prayer opening a recent U.S. Senate session. Children who are physically and sexually abused are wounded in spirit, if they aren't killed or injured, child psychiatrists say. They enter adult life with a heavy burden of guilt.

A girl, 11, told Detroit authorities that her mother beat her with a belt, screaming, "I wish you were dead," because she wouldn't stay under the blankets. "Discipline" her, the mother forced her to run until she couldn't lift her legs, and sit in hot water until she fainted.

Most parents love their children, of course. Yet, many reject suggestions by doctors and school counselors that they take their child to a clinic or psychiatrist. They don't want the neighbor to know they are seeking help. A mother may seem incapable of love; lie for no apparent reason; score high on intelligence tests but barely escape falling grades; set her best until she is 10 or older, and display other symptoms of possible emotional illness — but her parents refuse to notice.

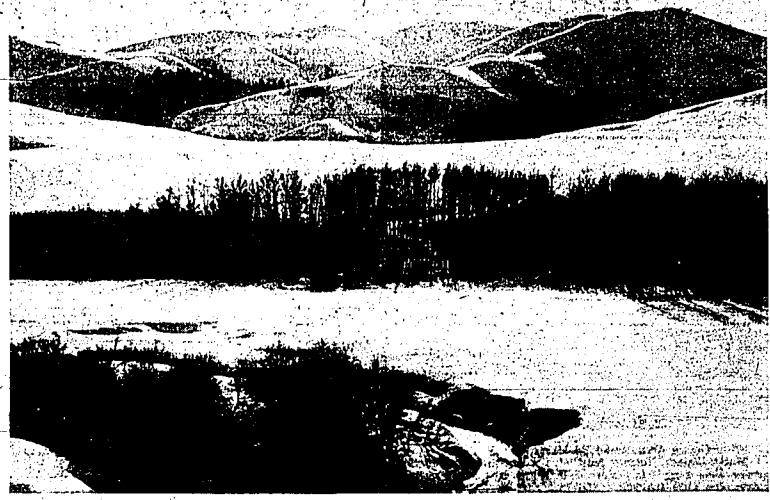

Of course, many parents can't afford the only treatment facilities available in most areas: psychiatrists at $50 to $100 a visit and private inpatient clinics at $300 to $1,000 per month.

One way to reduce high treatment cost is to establish publicly supported clinics and employ non-professionals for psychiatric care as well as highly-paid, non-career professionals doing the work now.

The warrant, attention and time of another person is a tremendous therapeutic force in the life of a child," says Gorman. Thirty-five unpaid "Teaching Moms" are working with psychologists in a class of 30 emotionally ill children at Elmont, Long Island. "Foster Grandparents" do similar work in San Francisco, West Hartford and New York. The Los Angeles Department of Welfare has its citizen volunteers and Washington, D.C., Children's Hospital's psychiatric assistants, mothers whose children have finished school. The Highland Park, Mich., "teaching homemaker service" helps parents make their homes "more adequate and orderly" (and bring more order into the behavior of "socially maladjusted" children. Unfortunately, such programs are as rare as accidental cures of emotional illness, the Northwestern National Life survey revealed. Gorman believes that "We will make no progress until we admit frankly that our present services for children are in a very sorry state."

Pancake King Serves 'Em Up World Wide

They're eating his pancakes from Bangkok to Saskatchewan, in 132 pancake houses including the latest which opened last week in Twin Falls.

"Smitty," or J. William Smith, is often called the "pancake king" since he heads the largest chain of pancake houses in the United States if not the world.

"I was running a charcoal grill in Portland, Ore.," he said, "when a friend in the pancake business convinced me his was a better field."

Originally from Vermont, where he worked in the restaurant business, Mr. Smith returned from overseas at the close of World War II looking for a career.

Arriving on the west coast, he spent three days in Portland and decided he liked the western states. Now Mr. Smith, his wife and their two sons, ages 7 and 11 years, call Seattle home for at least half of the year.

The rest of the time Smitty is on the road visiting his many pancake houses. During summer months the entire family is on tour via the family automobile.

Of the 132 establishments that operate under the trade name of "Smitty's," 84 are located in the states east of the Mississippi River. These have taken the name of Perkins' Pancakes from the name of the franchise holder but use the special recipe that produced the fluffy mouth-watering pancakes that made Mr. Smith the pancake king.

There are 21 pancake houses in Canada; two in Hawaii and one in Bangkok, Thailand. The others are located in Washington, Oregon, Montana, South and North Dakota and Idaho. In the Gong State there are now four including those in Boise, Idaho Falls, Coeur d'Alene and now Twin Falls.

Whenever a new "Smitty's" is opened, Mr. Smith can be found personally supervising operations for a week or two.

Last week in Twin Falls he spent some long hours behind the grill and much additional time at the reception desk of the new Smitty's Pancake House, 348 Addison Ave. W.

"I usually spend at least a week at a new restaurant, and if any problems develop I may spend another week," he commented.

"When things get busy, I can't stand it," he added. "I just have to get into the swing of it, and my favorite place is at the reception desk of the restaurant."

When he owned a pancake house in Seattle, Mr. Smith says, he usually worked seven days a week but now he does not work over any of the 132 establishments that use his pancake trade name.

"Now I only have to work about a week, but do at lot more traveling," the pancake king notes.

Pancaking is a big business for Mr. Smith. One of the largest pancake houses in a single day served 72,000 pancakes. There are six per serving and pancakes have become a more popular dinner menu item than breakfast in many of the 132 restaurants serving his specialty.

"My first pancake house was a converted drive-in in Portland," Mr. Smith recalls. "Some of my friends said it was making a mistake. Pancakes are great for breakfast but what about the rest of the day? They warned me, but before long we were selling more during late afternoon and evening than before noon."

Every Smitty pancake is made from scratch, the busi-

Glenns Ferry PTA Features Style Show

GLENN'S FERRY — A style show featuring a dress more than 120 year old highlighted the February Glenns Ferry PTA meeting.

Past presidents modeled fashions worn during the term. Participating as models were Mrs. Susan Wicher, Mrs. Ina Pasborg, Mrs. Alice Craig, Mrs. Ruby Shillito, Mrs. Eva Farris, Mrs. Sally Bosh and Mr. and Mrs. James King.

Debra McKeeth wore the wedding dress of her grandmother. McKeeth and a nightgown which is 60 years old, Vicki McKeeth modeled a brown wool riding habit and matching hat. Some of the outfits belong to Mrs. L. B. Allison and others to the McKeeths.

A skit was presented by past presidents with Mrs. Bonnie Messerly narrating and George McElfish, James Kling and Mildred Fletcher participating.

Past presidents sang "The Harper Valley PTA" which was well received by the audience. Jim Kling accompanied on his guitar.

The past presidents each received a PTA life chain, and Mrs. Shillito membership chairman, presented these certificates to Mrs. Schwager and Bill Thompson.

Mrs. Leola Thurman had baked and decorated the cake with the American flag and the Founders' Date, which was cut and served by Mrs. Wicher and Mrs. Pasborg.

Mrs. Fern Casarusa's room won the room count prize of $5 with 56 per cent of parents present. Mrs. McKeeth urged members to write legislators on behalf of education in Idaho. Girl Scouts of troop 58 presented the flag, directed by Mrs. Margaret Pruetl, and Mrs. Elaine Schwager gave the PTA prayer.

"A lot of love" is credited for the third annual blooming of a polianth in owned by Mrs. William Jolley, RUPERT. Mrs. Jolley said she was given the plant for Christmas in 1969, and the plant has bloomed each year since.

It is now budding and ready to sport ten new blossoms, she said.

"I just watered it and kept it in our cool bedroom, out of the direct sunlight," she said.

Mrs. Carl Henschel, the wife of a long-time Rupert florist, told Mrs. Jolley that the only other polianth plant she knew of having bloomed more than once belonged to her mother, and it only bloomed twice.

Life in MAGIC VALLEY

When Mrs. Carol Reed, DECLO, was just a tiny tot, she would gaze at the collection of beautiful glassware that her grandmother, Mrs. Ida Cahoon, ALMO, owned and wish that she had some of her own.

Now she, too, has a collection of fine china and cut glass sugar and creamer sets that would catch the eye of any collector.

During the summer months, she travels with her husband, Fote Reed, who works on construction. During these months she always keeps an eye open for the antique shops or farm sales for another interesting piece to add to her collection.

Just a few weeks ago she had purchased a crystal bowl and sugar and creamer set of the diamond cut rose design with a square center, and had the previous owner ship them to her.

Upon opening the box, she found them smashed in a million pieces. Mrs. Reed wonders if she will ever run upon such a prize again.

One set she found in a shop in Virginia City has turned a soft purple and adds beauty and charm to the array on the mantle.

Seven layers of handpainted gold trim decorate a china tea service dating back to 1890 that is one of Mrs. Reed's favorites.

The rare carnival glass of a butter dish, and cream and sugar service plow in soft orange with rainbow hues in soft orange.

All of the shades of a rainbow can be found in the delightful sugars and creamers. They vary in size from miniature to large and from delicate purple forget-me-nots to golden amber.

Some of the sets are not considered antiques, but have been given to her by a thoughtful friend or relative and are just as precious to her as some of the more valuable ones.

and brought to Richfield by the late Probate Judge Russell Powell.

The quarter horse was always in the winning circles at area horse races and was ridden by Carolyn Powell, an Outlaw County candidate, several years ago.

In later years the horse was used primarily to ride after cattle by the Powell family. Town kids loved to ride Old Rex, and as many as were able to pile on a ride. While hard to catch he was very gentle after a rope was put on him.

A granddaughter of Russell Powell from Idaho Falls had the most success with the horse. She spent hours currying and playing with him until he would come running across the pasture at her call.

Richfield's heavy snow made it difficult for the Powells to help Old Rex when he went down. Freddie Powell shoveled the snow away to enable him to stand.

The Powells notes last summer that Old Rex seemed unable to put on any weight to carry him through the winter.

One of the children who remember their last rides on Old Rex last summer are Stanley Paulson, Mike Piper, Kara Casarusa, Michael Casarusa, Jim Powell, Christa Powell, and any others who could climb on.

MRS. CAROL REED, Declo, looks at some of her antique dishes which she collects. This linneux octagon shaped tea service is edged in bright blue line trim and dates back to the 1870 period. She picks up old china during the summer when she travels with her husband, Fote Reed, who works on construction.

Engineer Retains Vivid Recollection Of Blast

By ELMA GOODMAN Times-News Correspondent

GLENN'S FERRY—More than 50 years have passed since that dreadful explosion of a locomotive on Medbury Hill west of Hammett when two men were killed.

It was Feb. 28, 1915, when D. W. Smith, Glenns Ferry, was engineer on the steam engine taking out the westbound freight, his second at the head of the train. One helper was in front of him and two more were farther back in the train.

The helper on the head end dropped a crown sheet and that caused the boiler to blow sky high. The firebox was blown back over the train and beyond it so it fell back down the hill.

The force of the explosion blew the helper from an engineer out of their cab windows, and they were lifeless by the time they struck the ground.

Buford Parney was engineer, and a man by the name of Potter, his fireman.

"Dave" Smith, on the following engine, with his fireman D. E. "Bob" Smith, suddenly felt the full force of the blast.

Dave was blown clear out of his cab down onto the ground and Bob was flung off his fireman's "box" or seat, onto the deck. Jay Collins, a brakeman, was on the gangway between some cars, and it was a wonder he was not crushed between them, with the sudden lurch of the train and the helper toward the rear not stopping immediately.

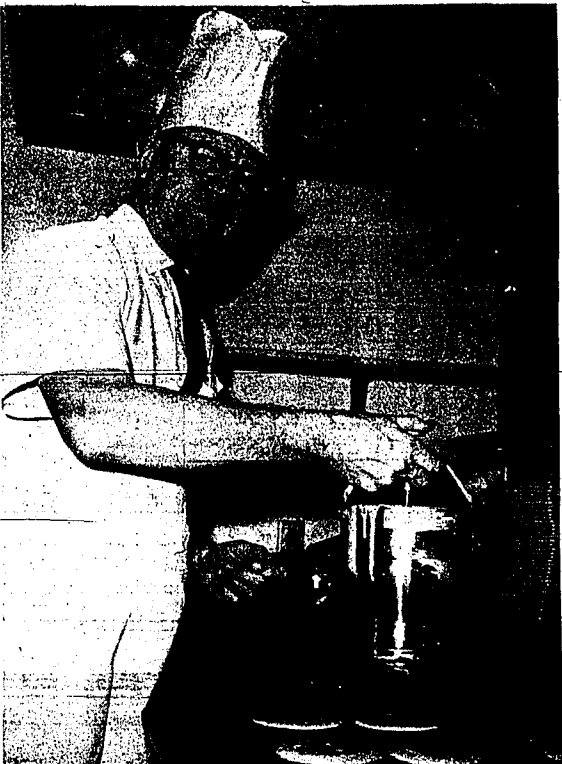

John McCabe was engineer on one and Harvey Witt, the other. Eddie Baker was firing for one of them, and Ted Andrews, fireman on the other. Joe Miller was the conductor.

Dave picked himself up from the ground and all he could see ahead was a huge cloud of steam, so he climbed onto the fourth car behind his engine, went forward, and down into his coal car. From his engine he saw Parney lying on the ground right below the window through which he himself had been flung so recently. The fireman, Potter, was lying on the other side of Dave's engine.

By then others of the train crew arrived and helped get the bodies up onto the deck of Dave's engine. Then they chained the remainder of the train helper to the track so it wouldn't roll backward when uncoupled.

WEATHER AND TIME have resulted in irreparable conditions of the war memorial monument in Sunset Memorial Park. Here W. W. Franz, veteran American Legion official, inspects cracks resulting from moisture and freezing. Efforts are being made to raise $1,250 needed to replace the marble monument with a permanent bronze memorial to those who gave their lives for their country in all wars.

Deteriorating Monument Brings Call For Help

Twenty years isn't very long for a lasting memorial to an area's war dead, but that seems to have been the life span of a memorial erected in 1949 and dedicated in 1950 at Sunset Memorial Park in Twin Falls.

W. W. Franz, long time member of the American Legion said while the three by five foot marble monument was erected in honor of the men who served and gave their lives during World War II, it was expected to be a permanent monument. Marble was donated by Houbert Construction Co., and had been removed from the interior of a local bank.

Land for the monument was donated by Henry Rees, then the owner of Sunset Memorial Park, and the cost of erecting the monument was provided by local American Legion posts and other veterans groups.

When the project was formally dedicated on Memorial Day, September 15, 1950, it was proclaimed as truly a community's project in which the entire community had joined in paying tribute to war dead and to veterans.

Since that time moisture has seeped into cement seams that hold the marble slabs in place and in the past five years the marble to crack and cement to break away.

"We have made just about all the repairs we can make but it continues to crumble," Robert Harney, owner of the memorial park, advises.

Mr. Franz says veterans organizations and others agree it must be replaced if cost can be provided. Plans are to erect a permanent bronze tablet and monument that will be dedicated not only to World War II veterans but those of all wars.

Under the leadership of the Fifth District posts, are currently working on a project to provide funds for the purchase of an eternal flame to be erected at the foot of the new monument. The purchase of the eternal flame equipment if officials at Sunset Memorial Park and Intermountain Gas Co. would meet needs for getting natural gas to the monument. Project chairman Paul Brown, Filser, said the $19,400 gas $200 appropriated for the purchase of the eternal flame equipment.

Mr. Harney said details of this are now being worked out.

Adult Retardation Workshop Planned

What can a community do to help a retarded adult or teenager attain a useful life? This is one of the questions expected to come under discussion March 8 in a day-long workshop in Twin Falls.

The program is sponsored by the Idaho Association For Retarded Children and will deal largely with problems of the adult and teenager who has already completed special education programs and is ready to attempt employment.

Mrs. Galen Soule, Boise, said the workshop will explore the facilities in the community and the possible interest in establishing sheltered workshops and vocational rehabilitation programs for these people.

There are facilities in Twin Falls, as in most other Idaho communities for the care and training of retarded children. Special Education programs are conducted in a building at Robert Stuart Junior High School.

Here too, a number of school age youngsters receive vocational training under the direction of Eric Anderson, son of a local business firm and are holding certain types of jobs.

William Parenteau, assistant manager, Idaho Department of Employment, Twin Falls, said it is difficult to establish training for the retarded adult. These almost have to be of the sheltered workshop nature, he said, thus being costly facilities. They must provide not only training equipment and facilities but living and care accommodations.

Because of the cost, very few communities have undertaken such programs, he added.

E. E. Johnson, member of the state committee of handicapped persons, said he knows of no program other than the one at Robert Stuart in this area. This is confined to assistance to children. Some adults from this area, he said, have been taken to Live Inc., Boise, a training center for retarded and handicapped. Here they receive all available training and in some cases return to the community to become limited wage earners.

Retarded persons, Mr. Parenteau said, are most difficult to place on jobs. Few employers are anxious to give them an opportunity with other workers available in numbers. Their range of work fields is also extremely limited, he noted, since most have had little or no opportunity for training outside of special education classes.

Party Slated By Wood River Unit

SHOSHONE - Members of Wood River Center Grange planned a card party for sometime in March when they meet at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Stutzman for the February meeting.

Funds from the card party will go to charitable organizations. Mrs. Clifton Dayley is women's activity chairman in charge of arrangements.

At the next meeting, Magic Grange members will be guests. Magic members will send officers and Wood River Center members will be in charge of a program.

Mrs. Waldo Jones served refreshments.

Computer System Will Fight Crime

The nation's most modern law enforcement communications network is ready to be installed by the State of California, Attorney General Thomas C. Lynch has announced.

The new five million dollar system will link more than 400 California law enforcement agencies to computerized crime files in Sacramento and Washington, D. C.

Nerve center of the statewide system will be a complex of four high-speed RCA Spectra 70/45 computers, two each in Los Angeles and Sacramento.

Target-date for full operation of the system is October, 1969.

Called the California Law Enforcement Telecommunications System (CLETS), the high-speed message system will allow any urban or rural enforcement agency to transmit a message to any other agency in the state. The officer will radio an inquiry to his dispatcher. The dispatcher will transmit a coded inquiry through the CLETS network directly to the computerized state information files in the California Department of Justice, Motor Vehicles or the Highway Patrol. These computers will automatically check their files and the FBI's National Crime Information Center files in Washington, D. C., and instantaneously display the information on the dispatcher's terminal. Thus, in a matter of seconds, the officer can determine whether to release the individual, take immediate action or call for assistance.

Too often, individuals are stopped for routine checks and released only to discover later that they were wanted, or have property in their possession which had been previously reported as stolen or lost.

The new communications system was created by an Act of the 1965 Legislature, and was implemented by Governor Reagan this year. It is the result of two and one-half years of study by a committee composed of representatives of the California Peace Officers Association, the California Sheriffs Association, the League of California Cities, the County Supervisors Association and officials of various state agencies. O. J. Hawkins, Deputy Director of the California Department of Justice, is chairman of the committee.

The system will link California law enforcement agencies to data at the California Department of Justice headquarters and California Department of Motor Vehicles and to computers at the California Highway Patrol and the National Crime Information Center in Washington, D. C.

Not only will police be able to query the various computers, the computers will be able to talk to each other through the new system. Special electronic equipment will act as translators so that computers using different computer languages can exchange information.

"We are establishing dual switching centers at opposite ends of the state—in Los Angeles and Sacramento—to insure that the system cannot be interrupted by a disaster," Lynch explained.

CLETS will be a cooperative effort of the California Department of Justice and local agencies. The local center personnel and the backbone circuitry with one terminal point in each county will be provided by the state. The local agencies will each provide the circuitry and equipment which will link them to their county terminal point.

When the CLETS system is operational, an officer in the field can quickly make a status check on firearms, property, vehicles or persons. The officer will radio an inquiry to his dispatcher. The dispatcher will transmit a coded inquiry through the CLETS network directly to the computerized state information files in the California Department of Justice, Motor Vehicles or the Highway Patrol. These computers will automatically check their files and the FBI's National Crime Information Center files in Washington, D. C., and instantaneously display the information on the dispatcher's terminal. Thus, in a matter of seconds, the officer can determine whether to release the individual, take immediate action or call for assistance.

Too often, individuals are stopped for routine checks and released only to discover later that they were wanted, or have property in their possession which had been previously reported as stolen or lost.

PARTY POOPER

Know someone like her? It's unkind to call her a Party Pooper, but you know how people are. They simply can't feel sorry for those who make their own unhappiness.

She has a hearing problem; you see, one that can be corrected. But she clings to the ancient notion that wearing a hearing aid isn't at all like wearing glasses. Even in this day and age, when our tiny, efficient aids are so "in" so "accepted," so widely used that nobody ever gives them a second thought. Except the happy ones who wear them.

Do her a good turn, tell her about us. We specialize in making Party Poopers out of Party Poopers.

Personal OPINION

QUESTION

Are you in favor or are you against the Federal-Communication Commission proposed ban on cigarette advertising over radio and television?

LOCATION

Interviews in this case were taken in the Blue Lakes Shopping Center.

ANSWERS

REX GOLAY: "Who's going to sponsor the programs? I don't think it's a question of whether this type of commercial is good or bad, it's a question of what will take it's place."

MARIO BECKSTEAD: "I think it would be great! It is difficult to teach small children the harm of cigarettes when these commercials make it appear so attractive. The children memorize the songs that go with these commercials and this just makes it harder to teach them what is right."

Golay Beckstead Raincloud
ROBERT E. RAINCLOUD: "I think it would be a good idea to ban these commercials because of the influence they have over the young people."

E. D. ADKINS: "I would be in favor of this. I don't think cigarettes are good for peoples' health and it's put so strongly before children on television."

ERNIE NEUMANN: "If we can protect people's health by doing this and quit enticing our young people to smoke — then I think they should be banned."

JERRY HOOVER: "I would be in favor of banning these advertisements. Smoking is not good for one's health and these commercials do influence people."

Neumann Hoover Miller
JUANITA MILLER: "I don't smoke — I believe it's harmful to a person's health, but as long as they are advertising alcoholic beverages and cars, these people should be allowed to advertise too. More people are killed in automobile accidents than by any of these other things."

MARY LOU WEAVER: "No, I don't especially feel these commercials should be banned. Everyone selling a product should have the opportunity to advertise — it's only fair."

Barbershop Show Draws Capacity Crowd At Burley

BURLEY — Wearing white dresses accented with turquoise members of the Sweet Adelines opened the Barbershop Show in the Burley High School Auditorium with a capacity crowd attending. Mrs. Calvin Helner, Burley, was narrator and Turk Evans, Salt Lake City, was master of ceremonies. The barbershop journey featured a setting against a New York backdrop, Hawaiian scene, plantation scene and Statue of Liberty.

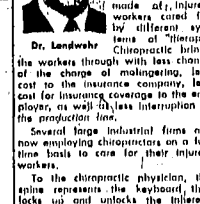

Appearing on the program was the Snake River Flats, Mini-Cassia area group which recently received a check from the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barbershop Quartet Singing in America. From Pierce is the director and Robert Thompson assistant director. Other groups participating were Goldenstones, a women's quartet, Salt Lake City; The Evans Brothers Quartet, Salt Lake City, and the Lakeview Chord Busters, Murray, Utah. Robert Hamblen played organ prelude as a characterizations were presented by Linda Helner, Hobbi Sue Brown, Wayne Blauer and Jill Kruse.

Ushers were Joan Lambert, Peggy Bray, Miss Brown and Cathy McHenry. Lighting was under the direction of Chad Harris and Craig Dayley. Mrs. L. Juno Dayley directed the stage sets assisted by Mrs. N. O. Lewis. Madwayes, Mrs. Paul Pickett, Dolores Green and Mrs. Lula Davie, Mrs. Betty Nelson was general chairman of the annual barbershop show, assisted by Mrs. A. Paul Brown, co-chairman. Other assisting were Mrs. Margaret Dalton, treasurer; Mrs. Heiner, Mrs. Frank Bamscript; Mrs. Trafford Bray, programs; Mrs. Verlie Burch, publicity; Mrs. Phyllis Dwyer, tickets; Mrs. Helen McMurray and Mrs. Ralph Krause, costumes; Mrs. Wanda Griffithfield, makeup; Mrs. Picola Wood, choreography; Mrs. Ruth Dugard, afterglow and Mrs. Con Anest, hospitality.

The New York and Hawaiian stage scenes were painted by Delbert Buckley, the plantation scene was painted by Mrs. Jessie Pickett, Murtaugh, and the Statue of Liberty used in the grand finale was painted by Mrs. Louisa Zadorozny. A smorgasbord dinner was served for all groups who participated in the show at the grand finale, where they enjoyed impromptu singing.

Your Spine And Your Health

By Dr. Ludwig C. Landwehr
BACK INJURIES. Thousands of wrong men know what chiropractic can do for back injuries. They know that, when other methods fail to give them relief, chiropractic was successful.

It is important for employees, company officers and the public in general to recognize this fact. The studies have been made at injured workers covered for their different systems of therapy. Chiropractic workers through with less chance of the charge of malpractice, less cost to the insurance company, less cost for insurance coverage to the employer, as well as less interruption in the production line.

Several large industrial firms are now employing chiropractors on a full time basis to care for their injured workers.

To this chiropractic physician, the spine represents the keyboard that locks up and unlocks the inherent curvative power of nature.

Tragic Accident Brings Faith To Tony Fontaine

By TONY FONTAINE
Entertainer, Hollywood, Calif.

I grew up associating religion with poverty. And I hated both of them. When I was a small boy in my home town of Ann Arbor, Michigan, my father, a Baptist minister, accepted a call from a church in western Canada, but on our way there we came upon a run-down "rescue Mission" in Grand Forks, North Dakota; and Dad decided that this was where God wanted him to be.

So we settled down to the life I knew until I was 17 — a sordid row world of derelicts, alcoholics and starving migrants who, it appeared to me, were always ready to sing a hymn in exchange for a meal. At evening services I often heard father tell the men that they would just abandon them, leaving them to starve to death. He said that his parents had certainly abandoned themselves to God, and I was little evidence that He was providing very much for them.

Somewhere along the line, I picked up a lot of daydreams. I wanted to be rich and famous, and I got the idea that the world of wealth and fame would be in show business. I thought of little else.

I never hesitated to tell anybody about where I was going in life, on my own. Hearing me, Mother would quote James 4:14: "You know not what you shall be on the morrow. For what is your life? It is just a vapor that appears for a little time and then vanishes away."

I lived only to get away. My elence came when I finished high school. I joined the Coast Guard — the fastest way I knew to get out-of-town. And I didn't return home until five years later, when my mother was dying.

By then, my career was progressing. I had two hit records; I was appearing on national TV and in the best nightclubs.

Leaving this exciting world even briefly, and even for a reason as serious as my mother's life, bitterly depressed me. The sight of my mother, withering away from cancer of the spine, aroused all my old resentments. I asked her, "It this the way God treats people who love Him?"

"Don't say that, Tony," she said. "Pray with me. I want to be able to accept God's will. Let's pray for a miracle," I suggested, taunting her. "You've got one coming. You've worked hard enough for it."

"The only miracle I want," she said, "is to have enough love for God that I can accept His will for me now. Pray with me, son."

"No," I said. "I don't pray anymore. I don't think I've ever really prayed in my life. As soon as I could after Mother's death, was on my way out of Grand Forks, again feeling free and relieved.

By 1937, was living like a king. I had my own TV show, had a beautiful wife, a beautiful daughter, a beautiful home, foreign cars — my self-made works in my hands.

Then, in a split second, that world was wrenched away by a car accident. At the hospital, the doctor told my wife, Kerry, that I had suffered a fractured skull, brain damage, internal chest injuries — the blinded and had lost my voice. She handed the doctor a blank check and said, "Fill it out for any amount you need. Doctor, just save Tony's life."

The doctor refused the check. "There isn't enough money in the world to enable us to do anything for your husband," he said. "He is in the hands of God — God of the impossible." Kneeling at my bedside, Kerry prayed: "Lord, here and now accept You as my Savior. I don't know how I'll do it — You'll have to show me — but promise that I will spend the rest of my life serving You. Let Tony live so that we can serve You together."

With that double-barreled act of faith, my wife committed me to the Lord at a moment I was unable to make any decision of my own. After God performed the impossible and I began a complete recovery, Kerry told me about her promise — for both of us.

Kerry's prayer — became my prayer, not only because it had saved my life, but because I realized that by serving the Lord my life could now have a meaning and purpose for someone besides myself.

And I have come to know something else. There had been nothing wrong with my ambition to become a successful singer. God gives us our talents to be used. But what had been wrong was my motivation. Instead of glorifying God with the talents He gave me, I sought success in order to show Him up. I almost had to lose my life to learn that being "poor in spirit" means acknowledging that what I am and what I possess comes from God, and that life has value only when I put nothing before Him.

Learning this, I realized what a truly abundant life my parents had lived. (From the magazine Guideposts, and copyrighted by Guideposts Associates, Inc., Carmel, N.Y.)

DEAF MAN DESIGNS TINY HEARING AID— OFFERS FREE MODEL

ADULTS ONLY (non-working)
A remarkably tiny all-in-the-ear hearing aid has been perfected by a man who has been hard of hearing for nearly ten years. This small device has no dangling cords. No separate transmitting units. Just slip it in your ear and hear again as clearly as before.

This new hearing instrument was developed especially for those persons who have had a hearing aid but cannot understand clearly. It provides "ear-level" hearing. The wearer picks up speech, television, radio and general sounds more naturally. Due to the use of transistors, the user cost is extremely low. The instrument weighs only 1/2 oz. Hardly noticeable, yet very powerful. FREE. Actual size, non-working model of the new all-in-the-ear hearing aid is available to you absolutely FREE. Try it on in the privacy of your home, No cost or obligation of any kind, it's yours to keep FREE.

Singing

 Frankie Bliesner, business manager, David Mead and publicity director Mels Brumbach.
 Helen Geath, many leading show parts to her credit is working this year as script girl and Helen Lee is show photographer—Lain Blais—placess several minor parts in the show is also in charge of programs and the all important project of selling tickets is being handled by Tom Oriscoll. Robert Blastock is house manager, and Del Slaughter and the Twin Falls Civic Symphony Orchestra will provide orchestration.

When final bows are taken by the cast at the close of the six performances there will be many other workers whose names do not even appear on the program who have contributed special services to the success of the show.
 Many of the Dilettante members who were working in the same or other capacities in 1969 when the first production, Carousell was presented are still in evidence around the Washington School rehearsal stage, costume rooms and work areas this year. But there are also a number of new faces joining the community project for the first time. Many are new comers to the community and others have simply changed from fans to participants for this year's project.
 Tickets for the 1969 production are on sale at the Boy Scout Service Center in Twin Falls; Sullivan's Music, Jerome; Black and Reese, Genieford; Dorothy's Beauty Shop, Filer; and Sav-Mor Drug, Buhl. Ticket information and reservations are available by calling 734-2221.

- PRICES TO RISE
- WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Civil Aeronautics Board has given final approval to a price increase for airline tickets. The increases, ranging from $1 to $7 per ticket, will become effective, depending on the airline, between now and March 6.

CROCHET 5233

Popular Two

A GIANT-SIZE beret and a pert, pill-box are quickly made by crocheting of cotton squares and setting them together! Just right for windy days! Pattern No. 5233 has complete crochet directions for both styles.

DEAR POLLY—After I wash and drain empty fruit jars I put a paper towel inside each jar to absorb excess moisture and odor. This can be done to other containers, too.—LOUISE

DEAR POLLY—Near my 70th birthday, I realized many of my friends and acquaintances had been taken to the hospital unexpectedly with heart attacks, broken hips, strokes and so on. From then on whenever a drawer or closet needed cleaning or straightening, I did it. Every garment that needed the least bit of mending was quickly fixed. Those that could not be made to look good were discarded. Don't keep anything you wouldn't be caught "dead in."—MAGGIE

DEAR POLLY—I use inexpensive paper place mats as colorful and convenient drawer liners. They are a perfect size for many stock cabinets and furniture drawers and, if not, are easily trimmed or taped together to fit other sizes.—HELEN

ILL HEAT THIS CERAMIC TILE IN THE OVEN, THEN PLACE IT IN THE BOTTOM OF MY WASH-BASKET AND COVER ALL WITH A CLEAN NAPKIN!

IT WILL KEEP DINNER ROLLS WARM ALL DURING THE MEAL!

MY DAUGHTER UNWATERER YOU WERE BAKING GOT TOO HARD—IT BROKE MY TEETH!

DEAR POLLY—When sending birthday cards from my children to their little friends, I enclose snapshots of the children. That way the child can tell immediately who sent the card without waiting for someone to read the name. Children are also thrilled with receiving a picture and a card.—TRINA

DEAR POLLY—When moving from one apartment to another, I have found that old and dirty-looking switch plates look much better after I cover them with adhesive-backed paper. This is inexpensive and neat looking and can be changed to match any room's color scheme.—MISS L. H.

DEAR POLLY—I always send birthday and other special cards to friends and relatives. Each month I make a list of those I want to remember during the month, purchase cards, address them and write the mailing dates in the corners where they will be covered by the stamps. They are kept with my accounts payable. I put on the stamps, seal the envelope. Off they go—days on time.—MRS. O. H. E.

DEAR POLLY—After washing my lace mantilla and handkerchiefs, I lightly spray with a bit of starch as I iron them to give a little body and a new look.—SARAH

DEAR POLLY—Sewing rubber rings from canning jars on the bottom of throw rugs keeps them from slipping and makes them safer in the bath room and in front of the kitchen sink.—ELAINE

EASY STROLLS THRU A PARK IN PINE CITY WITH CHIEF LIBRARIAN WENDY WATSON...

WENDY, MY PROBLEM IS TO FIND A PRACTICAL SITE FOR MCKEE'S NEW PLANT!

MY PROBLEM IS OF A PERSONAL NATURE, CAPTAIN EASY!

I'M 30 AND UNMARRIED! PEOPLE ARE BEGINNING TO WONDER ABOUT ME...

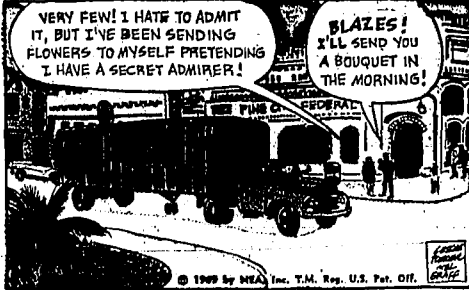

I WAS ENGAGED TO A JET FIGHTER PILOT WHO WAS LOST IN VIETNAM, THREE YEARS AGO!

I'M SORRY- IT'S HARD TO FORGET SUCH THINGS!

CAPTAIN EASY, I MUST CREATE A NEW IMAGE FOR MYSELF TILL THE RIGHT MAN COMES ALONG!

HOW MANY 'RIGHT MEN' ARE AROUND, WENDY?

VERY FEW! I HATE TO ADMIT IT, BUT I'VE BEEN SENDING FLOWERS TO MYSELF PRETENDING I HAVE A SECRET ADMIRER!

BLAZES! I'LL SEND YOU A BOUQUET IN THE MORNING!

WILL YOU BE MY SECRET ADMIRER FOR A WEEK OR TWO?

SOUNDS INTRIGUING! I'LL GIVE IT THE OLD COLLEGE TRY...

FOR PRES. RICHARD M. NIXON

How do you feel about the proposition of allowing 18-year-olds to vote?
—B. K., Waco, Texas

● I have supported the proposition since it was first suggested. The reason is not so much because they are old enough to fight but rather because they are smart enough to vote. I have been tremendously impressed by the way our young people have an interest in world affairs today.

FOR DR. MARIE HINRICHS,

American Medical Association
What institution would make the most use of a person's whole body for transplants or medical research?—C. Neuman, Chambersburg, Colo.

● The National Conference of Commissioners on Uniform State Laws is proposing a uniform anatomical gift code which would permit a person to donate his body or a part thereof for research or transplants to the following: 1) any hospital, surgeon, or physician; 2) any accredited medical or dental school, college, or university for education or research; 3) any bank or storage facility for medical or dental education or research; or 4) any specified individual for therapy or transplantation.

FOR LOU BROCK,

outfielder, St. Louis Cards
What is your best time in the 100-yard dash? What is the proper way to slide when wearing metal spikes?—Neil Nagano, Morro Bay, Calif.

● I have never been timed in the 100-yard dash, but I'm sure it wouldn't match the times of today's sprinters. The secret of sliding is to slide with your body low to the ground, using the sides of your hips and legs as buffers.

FOR WOODY ALLEN, comedian

You started writing comedy material when you were 17. Can you tell me the best way to begin a career?—Miss Bonnie Doll, Quincy, Mass.

● I began by sending jokes to columnists in daily newspapers. It got my name around and eventually led to job offers. Another way is to get the address of a comic you'd like to write for and start harraging him with material. If you've really got the talent, you'll eventually get his interest.

Want to ask a famous person a question? You can through this column, and we'll get the answer from the prominent person you designate. Send question, preferably on a post card, to Ask Them Yourself, Family Weekly, 641 Lexington Ave., New York, N.Y. 10022. We cannot acknowledge questions, but $5 will be paid for each one used.

FOR MARIE FIELDS,

Voicings and Fields Agency
How can I get my child considered for a to commercial? Is it necessary to live in New York City?

Eileen Salvo, Patchogue, N. Y.
● First, take several head snapshots of the child and submit them with a covering letter to a reputable agent. Next, telephone the agent for an appointment. If he agrees that the child has commercial possibilities, he will advise you further. Although it is not essential to live in New York, you should live close by because auditions are held after school each day, and the actual shooting can begin as early as 6 a.m.

FOR DON ADAMS of "Get Smart"

FOR JACK WEBB of "Dragnet 1969"

Why did you choose sergeant badge 714 for your television series symbol?—E. A. Honeycutt, Bluefield, W. Va.

● We gave Joe Friday the rank of sergeant because it fit into the show's story theme. When the series began in 1939, badges in the 700 series seemed in the far-away future. I figured 7 was a lucky number, went for the 700 series, and picked 14 as the double of 7.

FOR JULIE ANDREWS

How long does it take to prepare a typical musical number for one of your movies?—Barbara Deane, Kansas City, Mo.

● In "Star," for example, it took up to three months to prepare a number such as "Jenny," involving a large cast, some difficult stunts, and some tricky acrobatics, which I had to do myself.

FOR DEAN MARTIN

Do you select the songs you sing on your show? How about the songs for your guests?—Mrs. Donna Birmingham, Battle Creek, Mich.

● Usually the show staff selects the songs, since they know what I like. Sometimes I change the selections, however. In the case of guests, our staff usually confers with them before selecting songs.

WHAT IN THE WORLD!

Monkey Talk A tired adage says that if you give a monkey a typewriter and the infinity of time, he'll produce the works of Shakespeare. Well, someone at London's Chessington Zoo decided to put the adage to a test. He gave an orangutan two typewriters and all the time he wanted. Some 20 minutes after loarning to operate the machines, the orangutan got bored and went back to his swing, but not before authoring his literary masterpiece, titled "skmadex." Pop writing!

College for Bright Kids Soon prodigies of 14 and 15 will have a college of their own. Dr. Marie L. Fetsch, who heads a day school, notes that brilliant high-school grads of that age are often considered too young to get into college. On Long Island, the Sands Point Fetsch College for Gifted Students will open on the site of the phased-out Navy base in 1969 or '70 for 1,000 of the world's young geniuses. Minimum requirements: IQ of 130; "A" average; college-board scores in verbal and math, 650 each. Goal: Ph.D. by 20. Cost: room, board, and tuition, $4,000 a year.

Of All the Nerve DePauw University dean's list co-ed Sally Wilton is a compulsive letter writer. She registered at New York's posh Plaza Hotel just to use their letterhead and request $100,000 from tycoon Howard Hughes—to underwrite her proposed 45-minute star dancing (hopefully) Rod Steiger. Hughes did respond—explaining he accepted film ideas only through agents. Next target is painter Marc Chagall, to ask him to illustrate a children's story she dreamed up. Sally describes herself as, "impulsive, irrational, giddy." Accurate, too!

Free the Epileptic "The epileptic child needs no more rest than any other child," says Samuel Livingston, M.D., director of Johns Hopkins Epilepsy Clinic. "To force him to rest indoors when everyone else is out playing only makes him feel deprived. One person in 100 in the U.S. suffers from epilepsy, and there is no evidence that it will be aggravated by a head injury. With modern medical care, symptoms can be eliminated, or at least reduced, to allow the epileptic child a normal life, including play, school, jobs, marriage, and children.

Ski Craze Now you can enjoy the thrills of the ski slopes without any of the dangers—in fact, without knowing how to ski. All you need now is a "sitzski," a portable device which resembles a bicycle on runners. It's safer because the sitszski has a low center of gravity (hard to overturn), four contact points with the ground, and can ski under control regardless of snow conditions. Need more assurance? Well, they've been recommended to nonskiers by Jean-Claude Killy, who knows a little about the sport.

Experts Explain—Why Our

Campus riots, drugs, premarital sex— here is an in-depth appraisal of the reasons for youth's seemingly violent reactions to today's world

By THEODORE IRWIN

THEY STAGE sit-in strikes at high schools and colleges. Turn on with drugs. Turn off by dressing like hippies. "Cop out" by running away from home.

Daily, teen-agers voice milder forms of defiance, whether it's objecting to cleaning up their messy rooms or arguing with parents over other domestic rules. Clearly, the "shook-up" younger generation is rebelling, and confused adults find it revolting.

The dissent syndrome is contagious, a widespread epidemic, as it sifts down from college-age youth, to younger kids. What's behind it? What does rebellion tell us as parents? How can we cope with it?

Before trying to understand what's happening, let's start with some reassurance. Dr. William A. Schonfeld, president of the American Society for Adolescent Psychiatry, reminds us that youthful insurrection can be normal—and healthy. "Rebellion," says Doctor Schonfeld, "can help teen-agers grow. It is an important part of their development. Often, when they experiment—doing their own thing—they test out their parents or institutions, by trial and error, to see just how far they can go. Like all of us, youth has a right to be angry. There's a need for healthy aggression, and if sports don't provide it, rebellion can be a positive use of their energy."

Dr. Herbert Gans, research sociologist at the Center for Urban Education, sees positive rebellion this way: "Each new generation wants change. Youthful dissent is an index of the social changes going on. When youngsters become angry at not being listened to, they channel their anger in various ways. This aggression is part of normal life."

Dr. Gerald Alpern, Indiana University research psychiatrist, adds: "The adolescent needs to go through a period of revolt. If he did not, he would be much like the very young child who depends on his parents for every decision, for his emotional well-being. When an unhappy person waits until he is 35 or 40 to revolt, it usually takes more drastic forms."

It is comforting to hear that not all dissident youngsters are unhappy. In group-protest movements, they get a soul-satisfying exhilaration out of planning, gathering information, making decisions, and involving others. Some young people have been heard to brag about how many times they've been "busted" by police.

But when is rebellion unhealthy and harmful? Psychiatrists generally agree that extreme forms of anti-social dissent are destructive: such acts as wrecking school files, rioting, use of drugs, sexual promiscuity, or any action that is physically or emotionally detrimental. Unfortunately, some youths rebel merely for the sake of rebelling—and their methods may prove disastrous.

What criteria then can we use to distinguish between the harmful and the normal? "When youth's rebellion takes the form of involvement and a sincere effort to effect reasonable changes for the better, then it can have meaning," advises Doctor Schonfeld. "The principle of wanting change is realistic. But if they merely defy the patterns of society as a way of attracting attention or escaping boredom, then their rebellion serves no social purpose."

According to social scientists, the young rebels fall into types. There are the passive and uncommitted rebels, who withdraw from the Establishment. In contrast, the activists usually have real convictions and try to do something about them. Some are conformists, rebelling because their friends suffer similar pains. They follow a leader or hero who articulates their gripes.

Their rebellion takes a variety of forms. Young people act out their feelings in individual patterns. Some of them are familiar and overt, others are hidden.

Many adults, for instance, are unaware that failure at school may be a conscious or unconscious protest against parental pressure to achieve good grades. This weapon against parents is termed "passive aggression" by child-study experts.

Another weapon is running away from home. Many youngsters can't get along with parents and look elsewhere for another "family," perhaps among the communal hippies and "flower children," most of whom are passive rebels, although some have recently become politically active and more revolutionary.

"The hippie movement," contends Dr. Gisela Konopka of the University of Minnesota, "is really a revolt against the affluent environment of our times. By experiencing hardships, they hope to gain a sense of significance and struggle."

As for sexual misbehavior, some authorities maintain that it generally represents defiance—a girl wants to prove she's grown up. Doctor Gans, however, sees it as a form of change, not rebellion, attributed to the precocious sexual development of girls. Yet a girl often spells out her revolt with a very early marriage.

Experimenting with or taking to "pot" and other narcotics is a device for "tuning out." The community is defied when these young people can do what adults scream should not be done. For inhibited young people who can't voice dissent at home, "pot" and other drugs may give them a sense of togetherness in a group

What to Do if Your Youngster Rebels

If you are a parent faced with a rebellious son or daughter, here are some helpful suggestions, based on advice by a panel of experts:

- Make yourself available to discuss whatever is troubling your teen-ager and help him find a logical solution.
- Try to view the problems through his eyes. Look at what he's angry about, instead of being angry with him.
- Have him learn to trust you, which means starting early in childhood. Once he trusts his parents, this tends to produce respect for the adult generation in general.
- Constant appeasement and permissiveness will not work. Limits have to be set. While firm discipline may be met with clamor and protest, these are often face-saving gestures. Basically, a teen-ager appreciates an adult's ability to resist his unrealistic demands.
- Ask yourself: Is his behavior really hurting him or anyone else? Is your child unique? Being "different" does not necessarily make his behavior bad.
- Don't feel personally assaulted by such facts as long hair and odd clothes. Recognize them as a teen-ager's attempt at individuality.
- You owe your child a reasonable explanation for family rules and the demands made on him.
  - Restrain your pressures on him to "win" and be popular.
  - Be aware that something is wrong if he does not kick up now and then.
  - Observe the three A's: affection, acceptance, approval. Part of real affection means giving a child the freedom to express himself as an individual, whether in anger or dissent.
  - Adults, in general, should involve youth in a meaningful way in civic projects and school committees, permitting them to take part in planning and decision-making.

Teen-Agers Rebel

Feelings of depression could spark rebellion. Youngsters have ventilated their emotional hang-ups through tantrums, truancy, stealing, and a wide range of delinquent behavior. "Those who turn inward, to sick expressions of depression, are the real acid-heads, the real LSD nuts," notes Doctor Alpern.

What about the armies of demonstrators who are hopping mad over the war in Vietnam, the draft, or their schools?

"Their gripes are tangible," says Doctor Gans. "In school, many teachers don't know how to teach. Curricula often are geared to the 19th century. Professors go off on research. Some students see the university as a microcosm of society and attack society through the university.

On the political front, the young activists want to change the "system" to build a new world. The late Sen. Robert Kennedy and Sen. Eugene McCarthy were their voices and, apparently gave them hope. These heroes listened to youth and made dissent respectable.

Despite the various "causes" that have emerged, Doctor Schonfeld believes that many participate without purpose or ideals. "They merely identify with a youth movement. While they speak of peace and love, they cruelly disregard their parents and incite riots."

Just why American youths rebel does not always appear on the surface. Obviously, they protest the Vietnam war because they believe it's "stupid and unjust." At school, they're bored with dull courses. But what really underlies their unrest and drives them to revolt?

As every harassed father and mother knows, a teen-ager is changing physically, mentally, and emotionally. He's in a sort of "second infancy." He has bade farewell to childhood—but is not yet ready for adulthood. In this period of transition and turmoil, he wants to know, "Who am I?" Questions crop up about sex, career, religion, independence. All are fertile fields for resistance to authority—first his parents, then his teachers, and finally, the community itself.

Another area of turmoil in families is created by what Doctor Schonfeld calls the "Great Expectations Syndrome." Girls have to be popular at parties and dances; boys must excel in sports or in school grades. If a youth sees himself failing—according to his elders' standards of success—he is likely to rebel in one way or another. By running away to a slum, for instance, the suburban youngster evades the demands put on him by his parents.

Looking around, the discontented youngster of a middle-class family may rebel against the "rat race"—the materialistic values of his parents. "In our affluent society," remarks Doctor Schonfeld, "many youngsters don't have to strive for survival or economic success. So they are content to struggle for more idealistic concepts."

Many young people feel that schools, our political set-up, and their parents are getting stale, so they want to shake us up. They simply want a change.

This is vividly reflected in some of their favorite songs, such as Phil Ochs' "Changes" and Bob Dylan's "The Times They Are A-Changin'." The Dylan song calls upon mothers and fathers not to criticize what they don't understand. "Your sons and daughters are beyond your command, your old rules are rapidly aging. . . ."

Essentially, the "acting-out" and activist rebels are trying to tell us they're dissatisfied with existing conditions, don't find a valid place for themselves in building their own world, and are searching for a purpose in life. Some want a "bloodless revolution," though they're not sure what they're striving for will be any better than what we already have. Others believe they can find contentment in a guru-type of Asiatic philosophy or religion.

"We're developing a new life cycle called adolescence," says Doctor Gans, endeavoring to explain the phenomenon. "Until recently, kids went to work directly from elementary or high school. But now affluence has prolonged the period of adolescence, and youngsters have more time for rebellion. And we're just not sure how they ought to behave."

Doctor Schonfeld views youthful rebellion as a free expression of feelings. If Johnny's father resents his boss, he can't express his feelings directly for fear of losing his job. Johnny, on the other hand, has much less to lose, since he's not dependent on the Establishment, so he does let loose his resentments.

Part of the responsibility may lie with parents. Mrs. Selma B. Ortof of the Child Study Association of America points out. "A mother wants her daughter to start dating and going to parties at the age of 12, even using eye make-up. But then she will not permit her daughter to act out or be flirtatious at that age."

Everything boils down to one question: what can parents do to prevent their offspring's rebellion or at least keep it within healthy, constructive bounds? Unfortunately, there is no one, all-encompassing answer. But one helpful thought came from Judge Leo Blessing of New Orleans, La.: "One sure cure for adolescence is age. If we can suffer with them, be patient and tolerant, they will grow older—and hopefully wiser." ♦

Will You Be the Victim of

JOHN WAS 46 years old, a self-reliant, somewhat overweight man. One night at dinner he became dizzy and confused.

His arm was so weak he couldn't lift a fork. When he tried to talk, the words were blurred. In a few minutes, though, he was okay. "Go, Pop," his teen-age daughter chided him; "you'd better lay off those cocktails after this."

Only it wasn't the liquor. John, like half-a-million other Americans each year, had suffered a "little" stroke. Over the next few years he had others: a slight numbness in the face when shaving, passing vertigo, a brief, upset stomach.

Unfortunately, John didn't recognize—or heed—these red flags. Then one morning he woke up to find his right hand numb and a little awkward. At breakfast the coffee pot slipped from his grip. Half-an-hour later his right leg was paralyzed. This was a real stroke, a major medical tragedy which severely cripples or kills almost one million Americans every year.

If a doctor had been called in early enough, the big, shattering stroke might have been averted. Too often, though, patients fail to tell their physician what has happened to them. By the time they have their next physical check-up the incidents are forgotten or ignored. Without a history, doctors aren't likely to diagnose an ailment whose symptoms have vanished.

A "little" stroke may also be temporarily overlooked because of something else which happened at the same time. A man who blacks out on the street might be picked up as a drunk because his breath smells of alcohol. Or a husband will worry about the bump on his wife's head after she "tripped"—when actually a "little" stroke was responsible for the accident.

A stroke—little or large—occurs when the blood supply to a part of the brain is reduced or completely cut off. This can be caused by a blood clot or by bleeding from an artery in the brain. When the nerve cells of a part of the brain are deprived of their blood supply and the oxygen it carries, the part or parts of the body controlled by these nerve centers cannot function normally.

The violence of the episode will vary, depending largely on the position in the brain of the tissue that is hurt and how much damage is done. The shock to the nerve cells may be so small that bad effects are minor and are over within minutes. In other cases, nature steps in quickly, diverting the blood through another artery so it by-passes the injury entirely. The duties of the area that has been hit are then taken over by other parts of the brain.

Little strokes, at the time they happen, seldom do major damage. It usually takes a number of them over a period of years to build up to the point where a big stroke occurs. As warnings, however, little strokes are vitally important. When caught early, though, doctors can now apply many modern measures to prevent real trouble.

A brief numbness of arms and legs, stumbling speech, forgetfulness or a spinning head, for instance, very well may indicate that one or more of the four neck arteries supplying blood to the brain is narrowed or clogged to such an extent that the brain is being denied some of its needed nourishment.

If this is a probable cause, a dye is injected into the blood stream. As it surges up through the neck on a scheduled three-second trip through the brain, rapid-fire X rays are taken. Where there is a block, a dark shadow appears. What's wrong and where is clearly outlined. Surgeons can then make an incision and scrape away the obstruction. Often, crippling or fatal damage is prevented.

More commonly, new drugs are used today to help avoid a major stroke. They are particularly effective in lowering and controlling high blood pressure and keeping blood from clotting.

If a person is prone to stroke—and this is revealed by early warnings—anticoagulants boost chances of survival by 33 percent, long-term medical surveys reveal. Most of these drugs which are prescribed today can be taken orally. Research also is advanced on purified enzymes to dissolve blood clots which have already formed.

Most strokes occur, though, when a weak part of an artery in the brain itself bursts under high blood pressure, just like a blow out in a tire, causing hemorrhaging.

Until a few years ago, there was no effective treatment for hypertension, the medical name for prolonged high blood pressure. When the dis-

Hypertension is now on the run. It still can't be cured, but a growing family of medications can control it by keeping pressures from reaching dangerous levels. Normal blood-pressure readings vary considerably with each individual. Most physicians, however, consider a reading of more than 135 over 95 suspicious in an adult. A continued reading of 150 over 100 calls for medication.

Until the early 1950s, there were few drugs designed specifically for hypertension. The first effective one was derived from a chemical substitute for curare, the muscle-paralyzing poison made from a plant bark by South American Indians. An even more effective drug was extracted from rauwolfia, a plant grown in India—where it is a sedative.

A few years later another drug—guanethidine—was developed. It inhibits the body's manufacture of a powerful hormone produced by the adrenal glands. Because the hormone constricts blood vessels, the heart has to pump harder to force blood through the body—and so blood pressure goes up. And, too, diuretics, which wash excess salts from the body, also are now in wide use.

Many times, a combination of these and other drugs are used to help prevent strokes. Together, they are given much of the credit for lowering the death rate from hypertension and related heart disease by nearly 50 percent in the last 15 years. Dr. Irving H. Page, a world authority on cardiovascular disease, says they are responsible for "a quiet revolution, representing a great unsung victory. Hypertension is a killer being tamed."

The earlier the symptoms of stroke are recognized and reported, the sooner and better the chances for preventive care. Dr. Walter Alvarez of Chicago, formerly with the Mayo Clinic, says:

"A little stroke may be suspected whenever a man or a woman past 38 years of age or so has a mental and nervous disability that is out of all proportion to the little indigestion, abdominal, or chest pains that are being complained about; a sudden nervous breakdown; or, unexpected dizzy spells, blackouts, or stumbling."

Dr. Alvarez, who is credited with focusing much of today's medical attention on the importance of little strokes, tells of one case: "Recently, a 50-year-old executive was referred to me for treatment of a suspected duodenal ulcer, diagnosed because of a few indefinite changes in X rays. Because his complaint wasn't that of hunger pain but rather of feelings of weakness, queerness in the head, depression, and inability to concentrate on his work, I questioned his wife. I learned that the illness had appeared after two brief spells when he had become mentally confused and had fallen down. He'd had, of course, a little stroke and no ulcer at all."

Changes in character are very significant in spotting little strokes. Often, a wife, after repeated questioning, will admit that on one or more occasions in the past, she was appalled and puzzled when a previously kind, affectionate, and gentle husband suddenly began to explode in anger over almost nothing.

Sometimes, after a little stroke, a woman will lose most of her old interests in husband, children, and grandchildren. She will let her house go uncared for, will refuse to see old friends, and will begin tucking things away here and there—and later be unable to find them.

Only a physician can diagnose a little stroke or plan medical treatment for it. Many varieties of damage or "insult," as it's called in medicine, to the highly specialized brain tissue may produce symptoms that resemble a stroke, major or minor, but are actually something else entirely. Those who suffer from migraine headaches may have sensations which resemble a stroke. Or it might just be a leg going to sleep and not paralysis.

It takes training and experience to tell whether it's the real thing or not. And a doctor can do his job properly only if the patient promptly reports all the details of any warning signs. ♦

Tells How to Make Money Writing Short Paragraphs

Chicago Man Reveals a Short Cut to Authorship

Discloses little-known angle by which beginners often get paid five to ten times more per word than the rates paid to famous authors. Now anyone who can write a sentence in plain English can write for money without spending weary years "learning to write."

FOR years and years a relatively few people have had a "corner" on one of the most profitable authors' markets ever known. They've been going quietly along selling thousands and thousands of contributions. None of them has had to be trained authors. None of them has been "big name" writers. Yet, in hundreds of cases they have been paid from five to ten times as much per word as was earned by famous authors.

The successful men and women in this field had such a good thing that they kept it pretty well to themselves. Mr. Benson Barrett was one of these people. For years he enjoyed a steady income—made enough money in spare time to pay for a fine farm near Chicago. Finally, Mr. Barrett decided to let others in on the secret. Since then he has shown a number of other men and women how to write for money. He has not had to give them any lessons in writing. He has not asked them to go through any long course of study or practice. In fact, most of his protégés have started mailing contributions to magazines within two weeks after starting with his plan.

Mr. Barrett says that the only skill required is that the beginner be able to write a sentence in plain English. Almost anyone with a grade school education can write well enough to follow Mr. Barrett's plan, because the contributions you will send to magazines are almost never more than one short paragraph in length.

Shut-ins, housewives, folks who are retired on small incomes, even employed men and women who like to use idle hours in a constructive way—all types are making money on short paragraphs.

Mr. Barrett does not teach you to write. He shows you what to write, what form to put it in, and whom to send it to. He shows you a simple method for getting ideas by the hundreds. He gives you a list of more than 200 magazines whose editors are looking for this kind of material and who will buy from beginners. In other words, he teaches you a method, an angle, a plan for starting to write for money right away.

If you would like to see your writing in print and get paid for it—just send your name on coupon to Mr. Barrett. He will send full information about his plan of coaching by return mail—postage prepaid. He makes no charge for this information. And, no salesman will call on you. You decide, at home, whether you'd like to try his plan. If the idea of getting paid for writing short paragraphs appeals to you write to Mr. Barrett for this information.

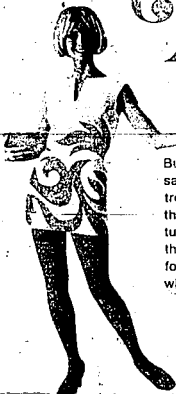

No telling where it might lead. Such a small start may even open opportunities for real authorship. And, since it can't cost you anything more than a 5¢ stamp, you'll certainly want to get all the facts. Please address coupon below to Mr. Benson Barrett, 6216 N. Clark Street, Dept. 876-O, Chicago, Illinois 60626.

Now...Denture Invention

For people with both "uppers" and "lowers"

The big difference between natural teeth and dentures is in performance. Natural teeth are held solidly in place by living connective tissue. Without connective tissue, even the most expensive dentures may slip and rock. Gums often get raw and sore. Constant rubbing may cause serious bone damage. Eating can be slow, painful. You speak less clearly. You dare not laugh for fear of dentures dropping.

Now chemists have developed an artificial connective membrane—FIXADENT. It connects your gums and mouth surfaces. It is incredibly effective for both uppers and lowers. FIXADENT's clear membrane absorbs the shock of biting and chewing

LSU's "Pistol Pete" Maravich: The Price He Pays for Stardom

By JOHN MUSEMECHE

ONLY SECONDS left in the game. Louisiana State trails by a point. Frosh coach Greg Bernbrook screams for his team to use the "special" play which will isolate a man under the basket.

Instead, the ball is passed in to "Pistol Pete" Maravich, who fires a 45-foot jump shot straight and true, and LSU has won another cliff hanger. The coach looks stunned, but one player sums it all up: "That's our special play—giving the ball to Pete and letting him shoot."

And shoot he does—at such a prodigious pace that All-America Pete Maravich has become the highest scorer in college history, last year averaging 43.5 points a game. And this year he has been doing a repeat performance. In a recent victory over Tulane, Pistol Pete scored a phenomenal 55-points.

Pete's father Press, who happens to be LSU's head basketball coach, describes his son on the court as "an animal being attacked. He's ready to scratch, run, jump, shoot, do anything not to lose." Others describe him as "a machine with a basketball in his hands, who instinctively knows what to do." But becoming a basketball superstar was not a natural gift. Pete paid a high price to get where he is.

Press Maravich tried to interest his boy in basketball at the age of six. "He was about as interested as going to the dentist," Press recalls. "I set up a hoop and coaxed him into shooting. He thought it was too easy. He missed the first time and the second. Then he got mad and kept at it. He was hooked."

From then on, all Pete did was practice. "He'd even take a basketball to the movies," says Press. "Drizzle it all over town. As a result, Pete can do things with a basketball that you wouldn't believe possible."

Pistol Pete's ambition is to become a pro star, and his ability almost guarantees that. "My dad always told me that anything worth wanting is worth working for. I never thought it strange to spend a lot of time with a basketball."

Though both Pete and his father will deny it, you get the feeling that the father-son combination was predestined. When the late Jim Corbett, LSU athletic director, signed Press to be head coach a couple of years ago, it was silently agreed that Pistol Pete would come along as part of the deal. How does Pete feel about playing for his father? "I've never really thought about it," he says.

Obviously, Pistol Pete is the most talked-about LSU athlete since Billy Cannon won football's Heisman Trophy in the late '50s. Stories of his total dedication to basketball are numerous; most are true.

Press, for example, arranged for his nine-year-old son to play in a game with pro star Hal Greer. After the game, Pete innocently announced to his father, "I think I can take Greer one-on-one."

Or, as a high-school star, Pete challenged one of his father's Clemson stars to a shooting contest. Pete won—yet the loser wound up on the All-Atlantic Coast Conference team that year.

Shooting has always been Pete's mania. It has, in fact, brought criticism. But Pete's teammates come to his rescue. "When Pete's shooting, we win," says one of the LSU starters. "That's what the game is all about—winning. We'd be crazy if we didn't give the ball to Pete. And, too, we all get more shooting room because other teams key on Pete."

With all the publicity Pete gets, it is really surprising that he doesn't have a big head. Almost incredibly, he has remained an affable, easy-going 20-year-old.

Pistol Pete is a bit superstitious, though. He has worn the same pair of flopping, gray socks in every game he has played since his senior year in high school. "He considers those socks a good-luck charm," says a teammate. "Washes them personally after every game." The socks have become his trademark.

Will the pros with their fancy outfits allow Pistol Pete to keep those dingy socks after graduation? If Maravich can score enough points, the lucky club owner will probably wash them out himself. ♦

World's Fastest Way to Remove Stomach Bulge!

Performed by a leading physician to carve inches off your waist line (without diet or weight loss) in less time than it takes you to smoke a single cigarette every day!
How? In a completely different way than you have ever dreamed possible before... as easily and logically as this:

Builds You An Invisible "Muscle-Girdle"
That Automatically Holds In Your Waist-Line, AT THE SAME TIME THAT IT STRENGTHENS YOUR LOWER BACK!

Quite frankly, the development of this SLIM-WHEEL is based on this simple fact: That the Number One Sign of Aging (and the Number One Cause of the low-back pain that makes you feel, as well as look, ten years older than your age) is the bulging, protruding, board-looking stomach that sets in your twenties—and destroys your posture, your appearance, and your vitality from that moment on.

What causes this bulging stomach? Gravity! The fact that the older you grow, the more gravity pulls down your internal organs—presses them against those weak stomach muscles—draws your lower spine forward, twisting it hopelessly out of line.

And what can you do about this bulging stomach, to pull it hard and flat again, permanently? Only one thing, of course—EXERCISE! The kind of exercise that builds you a permanent muscle-girdle clear around that vital mid-section—that coaxes those internal organs back where they should be—that straightens that terribly-vulnerable spine right up again—and then gives you the DAY-LONG HOLDING POWER to keep that mid-section flat and hard and firm and straight, right up until the wee hours of the morning, if you decide to go out and do the town!

Now, there are dozens of good exercises that will do this for you. But until today—every one of them had a "fatal flaw" that kept them from giving you the real benefits you need for your stomach!

You could, for example, jog. But jogging is mainly an exercise for your lungs and legs, and you would have to religiously use it for at least a half hour a day before it could roll in your stomach.

You could try knee bends, toe touches, and other standing exercises. But they still take time to fifteen torturous minutes a day, and they can easily injure your back.

Or—even better—you can try all-ups or a slant board. Ten minutes a day will suffice here. But again, all your weight is focused right on that lower back—and you can't be sure.

Or—now, this very next week, and entirely at our risk—you can try a completely new kind of CONDENSED exercise, in which you exercise ONLY the great holding muscles of your center stomach... in which NOT ONE QUINCE OF WEIGHT presses down on your back... and which you ABSOLUTELY FORBIDDEN to do more than two or three easy minutes a day!

It's as simple as this—

First You Warm Up For 30 Seconds.
Then You Exercise For 60 Seconds.
Then You Admire Yourself All Day Long!

This Muscle-Girdle Exercise Plan consists of a simple wheel* with a handle through it, and an ingenious, medically-developed and medically-proven idea.

What you do, every morning for two exhilarating minutes, is this: You put the wheel on the floor and stand above it. Take a deep breath and greet the morning. In two minutes you'll be in your shower or at breakfast, and it's going to be a wonderful day. You'll prove that to yourself in the next ninety seconds!

Now, put your hands on your hips and do the simple shoulder warm-up we show you. You do it three times with the left shoulder, and three times with the right. You don't bend from the hips. You don't twist your spine. There is no conscious exertion. You won't even take a deep breath. But you will have warmed up and loosened your stomach muscles; you will feel better; and you'll be ready to tip right through your real exercise.

Now get down on your knees. Take the handles of the SLIM-WHEEL in your hands. Roll out the wheel as far as you can comfortably stretch. In the way we show you. Then roll it back again. That's it! You've done it! Five more times in the morning... six times at night... and you're finished!

Later, you'll work your way up to twenty times. To do any more would simply be ridiculous.)
Now—what happened in those five or six little wheel-out, wheel-in exercises? Quite simply, you have stretched (and, automatically, without your own conscious effort, muscles in your stomach and back that you may not have exercised for years!) you will absolutely FEEL the effect of that stretch the first time you roll that wheel out! It is NOT a gentle feeling! It is a feeling of firmness and hardness and good-tough exercise (and, above all, CONTROL) so exhilarating that it may be difficult for you to stop with a mere five or six roll-outs!

But stop you must, because that's all you'll need at the beginning! Because this exercise will only work for you if you do it EVERY SINGLE DAY! And that's why it's been made so simple... so easy... so quick! So you can do it every single day in less time than it takes you to smoke a cigarette—and get every one of these benefits to boot:

You May Have To Buy A New Wardrobe— BUT YOU MAY ALSO BE ABLE TO THROW AWAY THAT HEATING PAD FOR YOUR BACK!

Of course you'll look slimmer, in a mere week or two. Of course you'll have to start taking in clothes—one inch... two inches... three inches... maybe four. Of course friends will start pestering you—to find out what kind of "diet" could take off that kind of bulge, that quickly, without causing in your face!

These are all the obvious benefits. But there are even deeper and more meaningful benefits, that will stay with you for years. There's the marvelous feeling of control, and looking young again. There's the general all-over better tone of your mid section, that may mean fewer stomach-aches and less indigestion for you.

But most of all, there's the incredible drain-off of back pain and back-curved (isthmus that could take ten years off the way you feel! Nothing drains vitality as much as a back that's too weak to carry you through the day! Nothing kills sleep as much as a back that's too tired to stop busting! And no pills, no brace, no belts will ever do as much good for your back as this continuous, gentle, strengthening, muscle-girdle-building exercise that protects you for the rest of your life!

Try It Entirely At Our Risk!

The entire cost of this complete SLIM-WHEEL is only $7.98. You try it for one full month, entirely at our risk. If you are not delighted in every way, of course, every cent of your money will be returned at once.

No one deserves a fat stomach! Why not get rid of yours—today!

Make Tuna Your Lucky Catch

MELANIE DE PROFT Food Editor

■ Protein-rich tuna is wonderfully flexible and can be combined with a multitude of other kitchen staples in endless variety. It is little wonder that tuna is the most popular seafood on our dinner tables.

Tuna Salad Mexicana

- 3 cans (6½ or 7 oz. each) tuna, drained
- 1 can (17 oz.) golden whole kernel corn, drained
- ½ cup chopped celery
- ¼ cup chopped scallions or green onions
- 1 avocado, cut in pieces
- ½ cup mayonnaise
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice
- ¼ teaspoon oregano leaves, crushed
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- Few grains cayenne
- 2 hard-cooked eggs, peeled and quartered

1. Put into a large bowl the tuna-chunks, corn, celery, scallions, and avocado. Lightly toss with a blend of the mayonnaise, lemon juice, and seasonings. Cover and chill.
2. To serve, turn into a lettuce-lined salad bowl. Garnish top with hard-cooked egg and, if desired, additional avocado, sliced. 8 servings

Tuna Florentine

- 2 pkgs. (10 oz. each) frozen chopped spinach or 1 lb. fresh spinach, washed and drained
- 1 tablespoon finely chopped onion
- ¼ teaspoon Accent
- ¼ teaspoon ground nutmeg
- ¼ teaspoon pepper
- 1 env. 1 in. king sauce mix*
- Milk
- ½ teaspoon dry mustard
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon pepper
- Few grains cayenne
- 1 cup shredded Swiss cheese
- ½ cup shredded Parmesan cheese
- 2 cans (6½ or 7 oz. each) tuna, drained
- ½ cup toasted sliced almonds

1. In a large, heavy skillet or saucepan, put spinach, onion, Accent, nutmeg and ¼ teaspoon pepper; cover. Cook over medium heat until tender, stirring occasionally with a fork. Drain, reserving liquid. Spoon spinach evenly into a 1½-qt. shallow baking dish and keep warm.
2. Prepare 1 in. king sauce mix, following package directions and increasing liquid to 2½ cups (use liquid drained from spinach plus milk). Remove from heat; add a blend of the dry mustard, salt, remaining pepper, and cayenne along with the cheeses, and stir until melted. Mix in tuna.

3. Spoon sauce over spinach. Sprinkle with the toasted almonds and brush lightly with butter or margarine. (Or use buttery herb-seasoned stuffing mix croutons.)

4. Set in a 350°F. oven for 20 min. or until thoroughly heated.

Deep Fried Tuna Pastries

- *Fat to a depth of 1 inch and heated to 370°F.
- 1 pkg. (8 oz.) cream cheese, softened
- ¼ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
- 2 tablespoons soft bread crumbs
- 1 can (6½ or 7 oz.) tuna, drained and flaked
- ¼ teaspoon seasoned salt
- 1½ pkgs. (9 to 12 oz. each) or 3 6-1/2" pie crust mix

1. Mix the Worcestershire sauce and crumbs into the cheese. Sprinkle seasoned salt over tuna and blend into cream cheese.
  2. Prepare pie crust mix according to package directions; working with one half of the dough at a time, roll into a square about ½ in. thick. Cut into 3-in. squares.
  3. Put 2 teaspoons of the tuna mixture onto the center of each square. Moisten edges, bring corners together, and lightly seal edges.
  4. Fry one layer at a time in the 370°F. fat until lightly browned on both sides, about 3 min. Drain on absorbent paper. 3 doz. appetizers
- *Suitable fats include salad and all-purpose oils, vegetable shortening, all-purpose shortening, and lard.

Tuna Sandwich

- 2 cans (6½ or 7 oz. each) tuna, drained
- ½ cup unpared cucumber pieces
- ½ cup mayonnaise
- ½ cup dairy sour cream
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- 1 teaspoon dill weed
- 1 teaspoon Accent
- ¼ teaspoon coarsely ground pepper
- ¼ thick slices dark bread
- ¼ cup shredded Parmesan cheese

1. Mix tuna chunks, cucumber, and a blend of mayonnaise, sour cream, lemon, and seasonings; set aside.
2. Butter bread and lightly pile tuna mixture onto each slice.
3. Sprinkle with paprika and garnish with twisted slit cucumber slices before serving. 4 servings

Tuna Stuffed Avocado

- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- ¼ cup chopped celery
- ½ cup chopped onion
- 1 can (3 oz.) sliced broiled-in-butter mushrooms
- 2 cans (6½ or 7 oz. each) tuna, drained and separated in pieces
- ½ cup water chestnuts, cut in pieces
- 4 ripe avocados, rinsed
- 8 orange slices with peel, notched
- 1 cup hot hollandaise sauce (prepared from a mix)
- 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
- 1 teaspoon sugar
- 2 teaspoons lemon juice

1. Heat butter or margarine in a skillet. Add celery, onion, and contents of can of mushrooms; cook about 5 min.
2. Mix in the tuna and chestnuts. Cover and heat thoroughly.
3. Cut avocados lengthwise into halves and discard pits. Brush surfaces with lemon juice.
4. Arrange orange slices in a baking dish; top with avocado halves.
5. Heat at 400°F. 10 to 12 min.
6. Meanwhile, blend Worcestershire sauce, sugar, and lemon juice into the hollandaise. Mix with contents of skillet.
7. Using a wide spatula, transfer avocado halves with orange slices to individual serving plates. Spoon hot tuna mixture into avocados, sprinkle with grated orange peel, and garnish with sprigs of watercress or parsley. 8 servings

Mushroom-Tuna Skillet

- 2 cans (10½ oz. each) condensed cream of mushroom soup
- 1 can (6 oz.) sliced broiled-in-butter mushrooms
- 1 tablespoon vegetable bouquet sauce
- 1 tablespoon instant minced onion
- 2 cans (6½ or 7 oz. each) tuna, drained
- 1 can (1 lb.) mixed vegetables, drained
- ¼ to ½ cup snipped parsley

1. Blend contents of cans of soup and mushrooms in a large skillet. Mix in vegetable bouquet sauce, onion, tuna chunks, and vegetables. Heat, stirring occasionally.
2. Just before serving, mix in the parsley. Spoon over buttered toast triangles. 6 to 8 servings

Cherry-Tuna Salad

For a Washington's birthday luncheon begin with a hot soup and accompany the salad with hot rolls.

- 2 cans (6½ or 7 oz. each) tuna, drained
- ½ cup quartered marachino cherries
- 1½ cups Italian salad dressing (prepared from an Italian salad-dressing mix)
- 1 pkg. (3 oz.) cherry-flavored gelatin
- 1 cup boiling water
- ½ cup coarsely chopped walnuts

1. Marinate tuna chunks and cherries in ½ cup of the salad dressing.
2. Meanwhile, pour boiling water over gelatin in a bowl; stir until gelatin is dissolved. Mix in remaining 1 cup dressing. Chill until very thick, stirring occasionally.
3. Fold tuna-cherry mixture and nuts into thickened gelatin. Turn into an 8-in. pan. Chill until firm.
4. Serve on crisp greens. 4 servings

Tuna in some of its endless varieties—Tuna Salad Mexicana, Tuna Florentine, Tuna Sandwich.

FREE 6 LAZY WAYS TO MAKE MONEY RICH!

Simply amazing—amazingly simple! Here's how to start collecting big money while you relax in the comfort of your armchair. No investment, no risk—just pure profit! Don't say "Impossible" until you send for the FREE Report that proves beyond all doubt: IT COULD HAPPEN TO YOU!

Who says that you have to sweat and strain to wind up with only a few hundred dollars? There's the sole requirement to become successful. Then ditch-diggers will be millionaires. There is: 40 of them and you'll find them all in an eye-opening, complimentary Report that shatters forever the favorite myth of 99% of the nation.

It's the old-fashioned notion that there is no easy road to riches. But if you're a wage-earner or the owner of a small business, you are doomed to "just getting by" for the rest of your life. That hard work—and lots of it—is the only pathway to success. Don't you believe it!

IF HARD WORK ISN'T THE ANSWER, THEN WHAT IS?
This: An extraordinary method now being used by a vast number of insiders to enrich themselves! It's a method so valuable and so simple to understand, it is usually mentioned only in hushed whispers.

NOW, FOR THE FIRST TIME YOU ARE GOING TO DISCOVER EXACTLY HOW TO USE IT YOURSELF TO HELP SWELL YOUR BANK ACCOUNT TO BENEFICIAL PROPORTIONS!

WHAT ARE YOU LINE UP FOR? YOUR INCOME GROWS!

You are going to see why hard work is not required to become a millionaire. And why you can be downright lazy and still be in an enviable position to earn tremendous sums of money the kind of money you've always dreamed about. Because we present to you in mind this realistic fact of banking life: Interest, dividends, and finance are constantly seeking new enterprises, new products, new franchisees, new people to invest in. You are just the kind of person who's most important to them. You're always anxious to pay heavily for what they seek.

What you probably do not realize is that right now at this very moment, you and you alone, may possess the means to satisfy their never-ending search for what you know and what they urgently need—i.e., the private money. Yes, your friends, relatives, associates, nodding acquaintances, even a person you might meet tomorrow, may be money in the bank for you!

EVERYBODY WORKS FOR YOU—FREE!

The Report you are going to receive fills in points so perfectly opportunistically to permit the people you know to work for you at absolutely no cost to you! It reveals a fabulous new producing arrangement in a wide world of foreign import-export... all order... coin collecting... franchising... close-outs... real estate... mortgages... insurance... retailing... manufacturing... electronics... licensing... and dozens more!

The Report describes exactly what a company in each of these fields seeks. It states exactly how much the company has agreed to pay. Most of the payments are in the thousands of dollars. Many offer deals that could give you a continuing income for the rest of your days.

All represent huge potential income that could be yours with just a slitch of work—just the people you know!

WHEN YOUR REPORT COMES, START TAKING IT EASY!

Simply scan the listings. Match your "people" to them. You may not have to do much marketing. Someone you know could be the one you need to contact a top lead.

If ever there was a lazy, 100% free method of making money, this is it! This remarkable Report could be just the ticket for you! We are waiting for—you're key to eliminating yours—without lifting a finger!

This is the only beginning! Because the Report meets your introduction to FINDERHOOD—our unique world-wide finders' club that will provide you with countless more wonderful opportunities to turn your contacts into big-time bonanzas automatically!

AFTER CZECHOSLOVAKIA—Should You Behind the Iron

By JANET GRAHAM

Since the Russian invasion of Czechoslovakia, Americans are asking themselves more than ever: "Is a trip behind the Iron Curtain safe?"

Well, I can say firsthand that it is one of the most rewarding experiences you can have. I traveled all through Czechoslovakia after the invasion, and everywhere I went I was welcomed with open arms. To be sure, the Russian presence was felt both because of border patrols and troop trucks, but I found one of the Czechs' main worries was that the Russians would drive away tourists! These freedom-loving people were anxious to prove that from the tourist's point of view, everything was normal. There were no interferences, no travel restrictions, nothing to spoil my visit. I found that in just about every one of the East-block countries I visited.

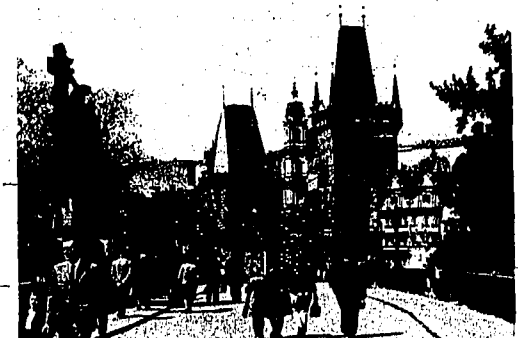

In all, I spent six weeks last summer traveling through the "satellite" countries and found them illuminating, safe, comfortable, inexpensive, and colorful—and in every one of them I found scores of American tourists!

I was surprised to find tremendously varied small nations full of ardent patriots, longing to show off their art treasures, customs, and lovely landscapes. Many of them dislike their political system, hating the party-line newspapers and the lack of free speech. Others support their government and will proudly show you the achievements of a socialist state. But most people in Eastern Europe—like those in the rest of the world—are not concerned with politics; they are busy living.

Everywhere I went I found comfortable hotels, good food, and astonishingly low prices. Special tourist rates of exchange make these sorts of bargains possible: $10 a day for room and full board in a de luxe hotel by the lovely Yugoslav Adriatic or by Bulgaria's Black Sea Coast.

A seven-day coach tour of Romanian highlights cost from $142 (KLM Dutch Airlines). There is a 22-day Balkan adventure tour for $890 (American Travel Abroad, Inc.), or a 21-day tour of Dalmatian Yugoslavia and the Balkans for $1,098 (Maupintour).

No trip to Czechoslovakia is complete without a tour of historic Prague.

Vacation Curtain?

Visitors take a touring boat around Yugoslavia's scenic walled port of Dubrovnik.

There is also a 22-day tour of seven East European countries for $968, by round-trip jet from New York (American Express). Or you can spend 22 days in eight European countries including three East European nations for only $695 (American Express).

One evening! I decided to splurge and took a Hungarian friend out to dinner at one of the best restaurants in Budapest. Hungarian food and wines are marvelous; we had three superb courses, with wine and liqueurs to follow. The bill for the two of us was only six dollars, plus a tip for the brightly clad gypsy violinist who played at our table. Prices in Bulgaria are lower still, and seldom pays more than a dollar for a meal there.

Of course, Eastern Europe does have its drawbacks. The newspapers are unreadable, the languages unspeakable, the ideologies unthinkable. And you can't get a decent cup of coffee or an American newspaper. (If starved for news, pop into an American Embassy reading room.) National tourist organizations monopolize the travel trade except in Yugoslavia; you may get caught up in a net of bureaucracy if you are traveling independently.

Which countries you visit depends very much on your personal enthusiasm; Bulgaria is the right place for lovers of lush landscape, long beaches, and primitive peace; Romania for art buffs and bird watchers; Hungary for gourmets and music lovers; Czechoslovakia for architecture addicts and folklore fanciers; Poland for winter-apartia buffs, Yugoslavia has endless beauty of folklore, landscape, art treasures, and music festivals, plus the sparkling islands of the Adriatic.

From Yugoslavia you can visit the wild mountains of Albania, the last stronghold of pure (Chinese) Marxism in Europe—and the only one of the Iron Curtain countries where your movements will be restricted, where you will be followed.

The Yugoslav guide who met us at the border on our return grinned when he heard our comments about Albanian rigidity. "It is wonderful for our tourism. When you return to Yugoslavia, you will think you are in paradise!"

Except in Albania, you are free to wander everywhere. In all the other countries it's possible to hire a car, with or without a driver, and get off the beaten track. Don't restrict yourself to the capital cities; don't try to visit too many countries; it's far better to go to just one or two nations and see some of the marvelous out-of-capital attractions of each.

I was saddened by the tourists I met who had never gotten out of Budapest to take a buggy ride across the Great Hungarian Plain; or who hadn't left Sofia to spend a night in one of the extraordinary old monasteries of Bulgaria; or who had stayed in Bucharest but had never gone to the coast to take a fishing boat into the wilderness of the Romanian Danube Delta. The capital cities alone cannot possibly give you the full flavor of these nations nor the people's friendliness.

Two books which give a great deal of information about what there is to see in the satellite countries are "Eastern Europe from A to Z" by Robert S. Kane ($6.95, Doubleday, 1968) and Fodor's Guide to Europe ($7.50, McKay, 1968).

(FAMILY WEEKLY readers may send for Mr. Kane's colorful book by mailing a check or money order to F.W. Books, Dept. A134, Box 707, Grand Central Station, New York, N.Y. 10017.)

I talked with a great many Americans while I was traveling in Eastern Europe. They all felt that their trip had given them something valuable, unique, and unforgettable—an insight into a new culture and a way of life.

So if you're interested in visiting the Iron Curtain countries, here are five valuable tips for you to remember:

1. Book through a travel agent who specializes in the area. Some of the better agencies are American Travel Abroad, Inc., 250 West 57th Street, New York, N.Y. 10019; and Mainpoutines, 270 Park Avenue, New York, N.Y. 10017. Mainpoutines also has offices in Washington, D.C., Kansas City, Mo., and San Francisco.
2. Take traveler's checks in small denominations. Don't cash large amounts on arrival, as many excursions and purchases must be paid for in dollars.
3. Take a sink plug, flashlight, paper tissues, antibiotics, and a radio.
4. Remember that even air mail takes 10 days or more, and send postcards early if you want them to reach home before you.
5. Brush up on your high-school French or German to give you a more interesting trip, and take pocket dictionaries. English is spoken in most big hotels, but menus are very often in German. *

GROW AMAZING LIVE SEA-MONKEYS!

Just Add Water—
you've got "INSTANT-LIFE!"

Yes, it's the living truth! In only five minutes you will actually hatch a whole tumbling, playful, happy troupe of Sea-Monkeys that are even more fun than a zoo full of chattering, howling jungle monkeys! World's most amazing new pet, children and adults alike will laugh and thrill with wonderful excitement. Watch the comic antics of these fantastic underwater buffoons that are really alive. Any minute of the day or night, you'll see them chase one another in a playful game of tag. The loser gets caught by his tail and is spun in a dizzy circle. See the "showoffs" turn cartwheels of joy in the water... see the ticklish ones "scratch" each other's backs. Watch them swim singly or in over-changing graceful formations, creating a live sea-circus.

Watch the Miracle of Life

These genuine living sea animals begin life from a seemingly inanimate handful of glittering crystals which contain the secret of life. A fantastic genetic material that stays alive for as long as twenty years. And these delightful pets that are born alive are so tiny... only three-quarters of an inch long when full grown, you raise an entire troupe in an ordinary glass of water from your sink. It's so safe, just empty the package of crystals we send you into the fish bowl of water and you will immediately see "Instant Life." Best of all, you can create a whole new brood at any time, to give as gifts or sell if you wish.

They Obey Your Silent Commands

You can actually make these marvelous Sea Monkeys behave like a bunch of trained seals as they follow a beam of light anywhere. Just darken the room and watch them follow a flashlight or candle beam forward, backward, sideways or around like a pack of happy kids playing Follow the Leader. So don't delay! Order now. Only $1.00 plus 25c shipping charges complete.

ONLY
$1.00

FREE! Receive with each order, a magnificent, fully-illustrated "Instant Life" Handbook of instructions, tricks, training and amazing life history of Sea-Monkeys. PLUS A FULL YEAR'S SUPPLY of special Sea-Monkey Growth Food to feed your fantastic pets! Note: Sea-Monkeys are so simple to handle, even a 6 year old child can raise them successfully!

New! For Men and Women— SACROTONE

END STOMACH BULGE

incisional hernia pain! *

MEASUREMENTS TIGHTLY

SACROTONE — for men—Adjustable hook-and-eye front for easy-on, easy-off. (Style #10) Waist Size 26" to 52" — only $4.98-2 for $9.50

RANGER RESEARCH, INC. Dept. 924-G 220 5th Ave., N.Y.C. 10001

SACROTONE — for women—comes with 4 long-life garters. (Style #12). (Please specify waist and hip size) Waist Size 28" to 52" only $4.98- 2 for $9.50

What nature doesn't, undetectable Sacrotone does! Acts like a whole set of new young "muscles" to give you that athletic, youthful control you used to have. Stomach becomes flatter, waistline slimmer, flab disappears. You look up to 5 pounds thinner instantly, and feel so much better.

An end at last to nagging backache*. Scientifically designed, medically approved Sacrotone gives you the kind of firm, but gentle lumbar, sacroiliac and post-operative hernia support most of us need so badly. No wonder Sacrotone is recommended by so many doctors. The design, the flexible stays that bend with you, the choice of material are all part of the immediate freedom-from-back-pain, the good feeling that Sacrotone gives you.

Custom-Cut from Quality Elasticized Material Firm, yet marvelously soft. So comfortable, you can wear for tennis, golf, bowling — women wear while doing housework! Carefully made from special elasticized s-t-r-e-t-c-h fabric, cut to your exact measurements; no binding crotch, reinforced with flexible stays front and back, zig-zag-stitched for additional support, long wear. No rolling, no wrinkling, no riding up!

MONEY BACK IN 10 DAYS
IF YOU'RE NOT DE-
LIGHTED — If you don't look better, feel better, if you are not completely free of back pain, if at least one person has not said to you: "you look so much younger — what have you done?" — your full purchase price will be refunded — no questions asked.

**In such cases where firm support is needed.*

MAKE EXTRA MONEY AT HOME IN ODD HOURS

Let Martha and me show you how you can make up to $10 in an hour after you master a few simple secrets

Ken and Martha Watson originated the Fabricon Method of Invisible Reweaving, providing spare-time income to hundreds.

Supply the Demand Where YOU Live for

INVISIBLE REWEAVING

ONLY TWO $5 JOBS A DAY AT HOME PAYS YOU $240 A MONTH—ALL PROFIT!

Now we show you all you need to know to do professional jobs in reweaving burns, tears, rips and other damages in suits, coats, dresses...making them like new. And it's profitable! $5-$10—even more on a single job.

As a successful Invisible Roweaver, you won't have to leave your home. You don't have to call on anyone to get the work. Jobs and profits come to YOU! At our expense, we tell cleaners, laundries, clothing stores and other firms in your town that you can handle their jobs. These services are in demand—making cuts, tears, holes and burns DISAPPEAR with skilled Invisible Reweaving. Others report earnings up to $10.00 in an hour; many have more work than they can handle.

MAIL COUPON—FREE DETAILS. At last the closely kept secrets of reweavers are available to you through the famed Fabricon Method. If you have normal use of hands, good eyesight with or without glasses, and want to learn and do their work, you'll find Fabricon overlay reweaving simple, easy, fascinating to learn—and delightfully profitable.

Even without interfering with your job, without leaving your home, you may add as much as $240 a month or more to your income. No experience needed. # NOW! Run Your Car Without Spark Plugs

THE IMPORTANT DIFFERENCES BETWEEN ORDINARY SPARK PLUGS AND JET-FIRE FUEL IGNITERS

Your car's power comes from tiny explosions of gasoline vapor and air in your cylinders. The bigger the explosions, the faster you go.

CONVENTIONAL PLUGS explode this mixture with a spark jumping across an air gap. The spark is just 35-thousandths of an inch across — not wide enough to explode all the fuel in the cylinder. Unburned gas escapes through your exhaust. In time, the electrodes become eroded and caked with carbon. The gap widens, the spark gets narrower, you lose more power, waste more fuel . . . and finally have to replace your plugs.

JET-FIRE FUEL IGNITERS use no sparks. Instead a fanning swath of flame walks across a semi-conductor bridge from one electrode to another, exploding far more fuel, getting far more power. There is no gap that can widen, and carbon deposits actually improve performance. They do not have to be adjusted or replaced — ever!

BOAT OWNERS!

NEW JET-FIRE FUEL IGNITERS

Will deliver up to 30 more horsepower,
5 more miles per gallon
— using only regular gas!

THEY NEVER WEAR OUT

- get up to 5 more miles per gallon of gas
- add up to 30 more horsepower to your engine
- save $100 each year for you, year after year while you use the cheapest grades of gasoline!

Pat. No. 2899588

YOU'LL NEVER CLEAN, ADJUST OR REPLACE PLUGS AGAIN!

Save $100 a Year With Jet-Fire Igniters!

If you drive 15,000 miles, YOU CAN REALLY SAVE:

- $50 by switching to regular gas.
- $40 on your better mileage.
- $10 by not replacing plugs.

Spark plugs are obsolete! Now there's a far better way to run your car.

With conventional spark plugs, only a fraction of the fuel that enters your cylinders is turned into power. The rest escapes through your tail-pipe as unburned vapor. That is because their spark is so narrow—only 35-thousandths of an inch wide—that it cannot possibly ignite all the fuel mixture in the cylinder. As plugs get older, the sparks get narrower and less efficient till they have to be replaced.

New Jet-Fire Igniters do a far better job of turning gasoline into power. Instead of a narrow spark, they send out a wide swath of flame that "walks" across a semi-conductor tip, fanning out in all directions and exploding far more fuel in the cylinder.

Proof That You Get Up To 30 Horsepower More

Jet-Fire Fuel Igniters look like spark plugs merely because they have to be screwed into the spark plug socket. But what they do is far different. Here's how to prove it:

1. Run your car till it's fully warmed up.
2. Stop on a perfectly level stretch of road.
3. Put the car in Drive (1st gear with manual transmission), and see how fast the car rolls at idling speed.
4. Remove plugs and install Jet-Fire Igniters (in 10-minute job).
5. Now see how fast your car rolls at idling speed. You can expect it to go 4 TO 6 MILES PER HOUR FASTER without touching the gas pedal — dramatic proof that Jet-Fire Fuel Igniters increase engine RPMs by 100 to 150 with no increase in gas consumption. (At high speeds, RPMs increase by 300 to 350.)

So, first thing, you can reduce the gas flow by adjusting the idling screw, and start saving money before you've even driven a mile!

(At the same time, you can make your air-to-gas mixture leaner. Fuel Igniters require only a 13:1 ratio instead of the conventional 21:1. It's a simple adjustment that you or your mechanic can make in one minute. It provides even greater economy.)

Start driving and you'll notice even more improvement—up to 30 more horsepower of acceleration power, climbing power, and passing power. All this while burning less gas!

SWITCH TO REGULAR

The next time your gas gauge gets near the "Empty" mark, tell the attendant to fill it up with REGULAR. All chances are you'll no longer need premium which costs four to eight cents more than regular gas.

And this second saving is only the beginning. Jet-Fire Fuel Igniters provide easier cold-weather starts . . . and that means less drain on your battery, and no drain on your patience as you try to get started.

NO REPLACING OR ADJUSTING EVER!

The more you drive, the better your Fuel Igniters perform. They don't become eroded, wear out or require adjusting. And carbon build-up—the natural enemy of old fashioned plugs—actually makes fuel igniters perform better. Carbon becomes an additional carrier for the igniter's big jet flame.

So there you have a third saving. One set of fuel igniters will last the life of your car!

Invented To Save Air Force Lives—

Now They Can Save Your Money

Jet-Fire Fuel Igniters were first developed to save aviators' lives. During World War II, there were times when more men were killed by spark plug malfunction than by enemy action. A failure-proof replacement was needed, and Fuel Igniters did the job. Both the Navy and Air Force have approved them for jet engine use.

Now, at last they have been modified for automobile use. They won't save your life, but they can save you big money—up to $100 a year with ordinary drivers.

Some day, all cars may come equipped with Fuel Igniters like these. But why wait when you can install a set yourself now. Just mail the coupon with the make and model of your car, and we'll rush you a set with full instructions.

Just $12.90 per set of 8 — $9.60 per set of 6.
