Nixon Convinced Tour Helped Solidify Alliance

By EUGENE V. RISHIER

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon was back in the White House today convinced that his eight-day European tour helped solidify the western alliance and improve prospects for reducing East-West tensions.

The President told a crowd of shivering well-wishers at nearby Andrews Air Force Base Sunday night he returned confident America and her European allies "are going to be able to develop some new understandings with those who in the past have opposed us on the other side of the world."

Nixon said he was most impressed by the "new sense of unity" he detected during his travels to five nations, last week.

"I sensed a new trust on the part of the Europeans in the airport despite the bitter fact that they had a remarkable recovery, economically and politically as well as in their military strength since the devastation of World War II," he said.

"And also I sensed a new trust in the United States growing out of the fact that they feel there are open channels of communications with the United States and a new sense of consultation with the United States."

The President was clearly pleased by the results of his trip. He was in a bantering, good-natured mood during the nine-hour flight home from Rome, where he met with Pope Paul VI.

And he was delighted with the warm reception he received at the airport despite the bitter cold. Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, heading an official delegation of cabinet members and congressional leaders, said the President's trip signaled a new maturity in American foreign policy.

Moments before he spoke, Agnew slipped on a patch of ice and "cut his nose but the injury was not serious."

Nixon planned to devote most of his attention today to domestic work such as signing official papers. He scheduled a meeting Tuesday of the National Security Council and a meeting with congressional leaders of both parties to brief them on his trip.

He expected to report to the American people Thursday by a one-hour televised news conference from the White House East Room.

Apollo 9 Goes Into Orbit

Lunar "Spider" To Be Tested On Trip

By AL ROSSITER JR., UPI Space Writer

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI)—Apollo 9 thundered into orbit around the earth today on its 10-day flight to make the dangerous first tests of the lunar lunar "spider" built to land men on the moon this summer.

"Everything looks fine here," reported space commander James A. McDivitt as he and his crewmen, David W. Scott and Russell L. Schweickart, rode into space on the most difficult and dangerous voyage astronauts have yet attempted.

They blasted off on a 167,000-pound Saturn I rocket at 11 a.m. EST completely recovered from the colds that delayed their launch from Friday.

The 36-story Saturn 5 rocket rammed Apollo 9 into orbit at 11:11 a.m. It was the first trip into space for the entire Apollo moon package—men, mother ship and the weird lunar lander, carried aboard in separate stages between the space ship and the third stage of the rocket.

After nearly three hours checking Apollo's 9 systems as though were moonbound, the astronauts must separate from the third stage, roll the ship over and pull the lunar lander out of its cocoon.

The strange four-legged structure dubbed the "spider" is so weak it cannot support its own weight in a vacuum. It weighs six times its moon weight.

The launch was one of the most routine in the 50-month Apollo series.

The rocket took 10 seconds to clear its umbilical tower and building up speed it sent a single boom thundering across the beaches, arched gently over the Atlantic.

The massive machine disappeared almost immediately behind the heavy clouds covering the cape area, then appeared again high over the Atlantic.

A team of four doctors gave the astronauts their final preflight checkups and reported they were in good shape for the launch to be postponed from Friday.

"They really looked good," said astronaut physician Charles A. Berry.

After a medical test the crew had the usual preflight breakfast of scrambled eggs, steak, toast and coffee.

Because McDivitt and Schweickart will be in space for 10 days, the lunar module after Scott in the command ship during the rendezvous, Dr. George Mueller, head of the space agency's Flight Department, called the mission more dangerous than the Apollo 8 moon flight.

As to simplify radio communications during the rendezvous, the astronauts nicknamed the 15-ton lunar module "spider" because of its appearance. The command ship is called "Gumdrop" for its appearance when it arrived at the moonport cloaked in a white vapor.

The launch originally was set for Friday, but it was postponed three days when McDivitt, Scott and Schweickart caught colds.

Communists Hit Saigon With Rockets; One Blasts Hospital

By WALTER WHITEHEAD

SAIGON (UPI)—The communists hit Saigon with three 100-pound rockets today and one hit a hospital in the ninth day of the new offensive. North Vietnamese missiles struck a U.S. Marine artillery outpost near the Demilitarized Zone, killing 13 Leathernecks.

At least 12 South Vietnamese civilians were killed and more than 20 wounded in the second Communist shelling of Saigon in eight days, most of them in a rocket hit near a residential area where they slept. The rocket triggered a fire that destroyed 31 homes.

A second 122mm rocket blasted into the courtyard of the French-run Grail Hospital, spraying the walls of a maternity and pediatric pavilion in shrapnel and wounding three children. The hospital is a block from the U.S. Embassy.

The third rocket landed on a Saigon riverfront near the Majestic Hotel, a Saigon landmark at the end of the Tu Do Street. It killed a 4-year-old boy and wounded four adults sitting on the quay. The South Vietnamese police said.

It was the first bombardment of Saigon since Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky of South Vietnam warned his air force could resume the bombing of North Vietnam if the Communists nationwide offensive continued against population centers.

In Paris, allied peace negotiators had condemned the shelling of Saigon Feb. 21, opening the Communist offensive as a violation of the Washington

Hanoi agreement that the reds would stop their attacks on civilians. UPI correspondent David Lamb said North Vietnamese soldiers tried to overrun a U.S. Marine encampment about four miles south of the border zone but were thrown back and lost 17 men killed. American casualties were given as a figure.

The night battle erupted not far from where other American soldiers Sunday killed 105 North Vietnamese, some of whom had sworn onto their tanks near Cam Lo. The U.S. 5th Division troops lost three killed and 28 wounded in the fighting.

Ike Making "Gratifying" Recovery

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, 78, is making "gratifying" progress in his recovery from an attack of pneumonia that followed abdominal surgery, his doctors report today.

A statement made public by Walter Reed Army Hospital said the general "spent a restful night" and continues to improve steadily.

General Eisenhower's progress, one week after major surgery, is indeed gratifying, the hospital states.

"His strength is gradually returning, his vital signs remain stable and the area of pneumonia continues to clear. His diet is being gradually increased."

Eisenhower had his first solid food Sunday in about 10 days.

Jewelry Stolen From Nixon Aide

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Rose Marie Woods, President Richard Nixon's private secretary, discovered a suitcase containing jewelry missing from her newly acquired 1 1/2 story apartment, who also returned from the presidential trip to Europe.

Miss Woods said the jewelry was taken from a "master bedroom in a two-bedroom apartment while she was accompanying" the President, District of Columbia Police reported today.

Soviets Claim 200 Red Chinese Attacked Russian Border Posts

By DUSKA DODGER

MOSCOW (UPI)—The Soviet Union charged today that more than 200 Chinese Communist troops attacked Russian border posts north of Vladivostok Sunday, killing or wounding an unreported number of Russian border guards.

In a note to the Peking government, the Kremlin warned "the Soviet government reserves the right to take resolute measures to repel provocations on the Sino-Chinese border." Peking rejected the note and warned of countermeasures of its own.

Text of the note was published today by the news agency Tass. It described the Most Serious Sino-Soviet battle ever officially reported and it told the Russian people the attack was a "gangster raid on Soviet frontier guards."

The fighting Sunday on a frozen section of the 3,000-mile border was one of the most critical developments between the two Communist giants since their ideological split nearly 30 years ago.

For the first time, the Kremlin told its people Soviet troops had been killed and wounded fighting the Red Chinese, China said the Soviets sent 100 artillery in the "extremely grave armed conflict."

Peking, in a broadcast monitored in Tokyo and Hong Kong, warned the Soviets "you should willfully cling to your reckless course and continue to provoke armed conflicts along the border."

The APT also had demanded meaningful negotiations ending a strike called Nov. 1 but two minority groups, the Black Students Union and the Third World Liberation Front, on both sides, rejected the demands.

Among the student demands were the reinstatement of suspended English teachers, George Murray and the appointment of Dr. Nathan Hare as director of a black student department at the college. The two Black millions were fired last week.

Frank Dollara, executive vice president of the college, notified the striking teachers that any classes not taught today or Tuesday would be permanently cancelled.

11 Die, 50 Injured As Dragster Runs Out Of Control, Hits Fence

By DONALD S. PHILLIPS

COVINGTON, Ga. (UPI)—It's called the "funny car" in drag racing circles because a special remote-control construction permits it to rear back and do tricks on two wheels.

The funny car is light, less than 1,000 pounds, and very fast, reaching speeds of close to 200 miles an hour.

Sunday it was the instrument of one of the worst tragedies in U.S. auto racing history.

A bright orange funny car, driven by veteran racer Howard Platt of Atlanta swerved out of control near the finish line of a rural drag race strip in North Georgia and slammed into spectators lining a chain link fence, bowling over men, women and children like ton pins.

The car, just disintegrated, said Dennis Sanders, a spectator. Platt was not injured.

Another observer, Robert Clay, 20, sitting in the bleachers, said he "saw a man go about 100 feet into the air and land at my feet," said Johnny Smallwood, 21. "He was choking on blood."

Most of the injured were treated at the Newton County Hospital at Covington and released. The more serious injuries were sent to Atlanta, where they were hospitalized. At least 10 were hospitalized, about 110 of them in critical condition.

Clay took some of the injured to a hospital.

"The little boy died in the car at the first red light," he said.

"I saw a man go about 100 feet into the air and land at my feet," said Johnny Smallwood, 21. "He was choking on blood."

Most of the injured were treated at the Newton County Hospital at Covington and released. The more serious injuries were sent to Atlanta, where they were hospitalized. At least 10 were hospitalized, about 110 of them in critical condition.

DAZED SPECTATORS STARE to help each other moments after a dragster left the strip at 180 miles per hour near Covington, Ga., Sunday afternoon. The auto crashed into this fence and killed 11 persons. Fifty others were injured in the accident. The whole part is a piece of the dragster body that separated from the vehicle. (UPI telephoto)

Boys Face Charges In T.F. Bomb Threat

Twin Falls police were busy Monday morning preparing charges against four boys accused of telephoning a bomb threat to a high school last Thursday.

The boys, ages 13, 14, 15, and 17, are not being held at the present time, police reported. The boys were in high school was one of four during a two-day period last week.

The boys, however, are accused of telephoning a threat to the high school only.

Investigation into the other three threats was continuing.

The threats were made at the police station at 11:23 a.m. Thursday. The caller said a bomb was set to go off immediately at O'Leary Junior High School. The building was searched and secured by 9 a.m. No bomb was found.

The second was at the high school at 9 a.m. It was carried in a secretary at the school. Classes were recessed for 30 minutes while the building was searched. Again, no bomb was found.

Friday evening at 8:40 a threat was called in to the Scars store. The building was evacuated, shortly afterward a threat was called into the Fire Department. The caller said a Safeway store would be blown up.

Two of Twin Falls Safeway stores were searched because of the threats. A Safeway store was involved.

There were no bombs found in any of the four threats.

The two Safeway stores were not evacuated because of the threat.

Police Chief Frank Barnett said one of the boys arrested last week in connection with threats in the city. He said after he was picked up he implicated the others.

He said the boys will be questioned again in connection with the threats called into Scars and the Fire Department. Chief Barnett said it is possible the boys could be charged with all the bomb threat incidents.

When charges are filed, the boys will be arraigned in Twin Falls County Probate Court.

Teachers To End 8-Week Walkout

STAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Striking San Francisco College teachers warned to return to work immediately or face cancellation of their independent Sunday strike and their eight-week walkout.

John Hawkins, president of the local union of the American Federation of Teachers, said details of the vote would be announced at a news conference today. He gave no further information.

Members of the AFT, which represents about 300 of the school's 1,300 faculty members, went on strike Jan. 6 to back demands for improved salaries and benefits.

The AFT also had demanded meaningful negotiations ending a strike called Nov. 1 but two minority groups, the Black Students Union and the Third World Liberation Front, on both sides, rejected the demands.

Among the student demands were the reinstatement of suspended English teachers, George Murray and the appointment of Dr. Nathan Hare as director of a black student department at the college. The two Black millions were fired last week.

Frank Dollara, executive vice president of the college, notified the striking teachers that any classes not taught today or Tuesday would be permanently cancelled.

Beware! Your Police Ride In "Civvy" Cars Looking For You

Magic Valley residents should take a tip from the Idaho Department of Law Enforcement—Beware! A police officer in an unmarked car may be watching your illegal activities.

The Idaho State Police use 18 "civvy" unmarked cars for patrol duties. In State Police District No. 4, which encompasses Magic Valley, there are 15 unmarked cars patrolling the highways.

In a national survey on unmarked cars, Idaho is not listed as one of the states that probably because state law says that state vehicles must carry the department insignia.

However, the six cars operating in District 4, as well as other districts throughout the state, are not readily identifiable as provol cars.

The six specially marked cars in Magic Valley include one green vehicle, a gold and white vehicle, a brown vehicle, and the remainder are blue.

The regular state police cars are blue, but the specially marked cars do not have the large red light on top and the state insignia carried on the door.

"It's better than our regular provol cars,"

The only ways the cars are actually identifiable by motorists approaching from either the rear or front are that the cars carry state license plates and the regular police antenna.

Lt. Dean Bennett, head of District 4, said that the unmarked cars are used primarily for running radar. There are 15 marked cars operating in the district.

The Twin Falls city police department uses four unmarked cars—but not for traffic duty. Two of them are assigned to the detective division, one is assigned to Chief Frank Barnett,

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: I am so hurt. My daughter and her husband have now decided that my two grandsons shall be denied a visit to Grandpa's and Grandpa's house until they stop doing this or that.

My greatest pleasure is a visit from our grandchildren who are 4 and 6 years old.

So now we are told there will be no more visits until Bobby stops sucking his thumb, or Richard comes the first time he's called. Their parents call this "firm discipline." I call it "unfair to grandparents."

DEAR ABBY: I heard a man make a reference to San Quentin jail. We live 25 miles from San Quentin penitentiary and have never seen any kind of prison, nor do I know any. Thank you for any information you can give us.

DEAR CALIFORNIANS: Are you pulling my feathers? "San Quentin jail" is a term (slang) meaning an underage girl.

DEAR ABBY: A year ago I did a foolish thing. I got the girl I was going with pregnant when she told me about it. I skipped town and left Carolina to face everything alone. She was 16 and I was 20. Carolina could have made trouble for both of us.

I thought it over and came back. Carolina was still home like nothing had happened. She and the baby and I got up for adoption, but she wouldn't even come to the door to talk to me. When I tried to get her on the telephone, her parents told me. If ever showed my face around there again he would kill me.

My baby made a terrible mistake. I still love the girl, and I know if she would only see me I could make it up to her. I feel like a fool, but even my best friends advise, how can I get my girl to see me? DENNY

DEAR DENNY: She is a real young girl. Her timing is poor. Give her a break and let her alone.

DEAR ABBY: When I read that letter from the 18-year-old girl who thinks she's a "salvo" because her mother makes her only at home, I got up for adoption. I guess all teen-agers feel that way. I know I did about 10 years ago.

I am a girl, which someone would have told me when you told me. Unfortunately, my mother spoiled me, and gave in and did the work herself. Now that I am married and have a girl at my own, I know what Mom went through, and could help myself for the way I treated her. Although I had a very hard time to make it up to her, believe me, I never miss a chance when I get one.

I want you to do it all over again and be able to do everything for her that she did for me.

I just want to say, PLEASE, girls, love your mother. She is the only one you'll ever have, and you won't have her forever. With love to Mom.

Shaw Says Changes Needed

By H. D. QUIGG

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—Clay L. Shaw said today his case had convinced him corrective action should be taken in Louisiana to limit "the excessive powers granted to a district attorney."

Shaw, 55, a retired businessman who says the cost of maintaining his defense for the past two years ago now will compel him to return to work, was acquitted Saturday at 1:02 a.m. CST on the 40th day of his trial.

He had been at liberty on bond for two years but under the onus of a charge by Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison that he conspired with Lee Harvey Oswald and David W. Ferrie to murder President John F. Kennedy.

Garrison said the "fairly tame" Warren report had been fraudulently wrong in concluding the Nov. 27, 1963 assassination was a "simple" act, and that the "conspiracy" led to the fatal shot fired from the front.

Shaw was asked by United Press International to comment on editorial opinion condemning Garrison. The New Orleans States-Item called his "witch hunt" and Shaw's "persecution" and said "Mr. Garrison himself should now be brought to the same level of conduct."

The Times-Picayune said the background of some witnesses was such that it was "almost unbelievable" they had been brought to testify, and that the charges were based on "unreliable verbal statements and flimsy documentary evidence."

The New York Times said Garrison's "emotional final appeal to the jury showed once again Mr. Garrison's real purpose in holding the trial to prove his obsessional conviction about the fraudulent character of the Warren report."

Shaw said he was glad "papers locally and nationally have taken cognizance of the fact that such a thing can happen to anyone."

Post-Audit Of Travel Claims Triggers Investigation Into Board Vouchers

The letter refers to material furnished Robison and adds: "Please be advised that my office has done a post-audit of all travel claims of all members of the State Board of Correction for the current biennium."

His letter also indicates that minutes of the board meetings were not signed by the members and he recommends this be required in the future of each member attending board meetings.

Robison said he was not immediately available for comment Saturday. He said he was not immediately available for comment Saturday.

While no allegations of wrongdoing have been made at this point, it was learned that Williams questioned claims put in by one board member for 15 different instances of travel in 1967 and 1968.

Williams informed Robison, minutes of the board of correction indicated this member was attending a meeting of the board in Boise Jan. 23, 1968.

Williams requested that the board of correction investigate the audit, Graham said. "No body requested it. It was (conducted) because of certain things coming to the attention of this office."

Gov. Jack M. Murphy, who appointed a special three-man board of inquiry into the administration of the prison last year, said his group had received reports concerning the board member's travel.

The board of inquiry had the question raised about improper travel," he said. "There were many items, including this one, referred out by the board of inquiry."

"Most of these items were within the direct purview of the board's request, which was confined to security and administrative problems. Time did not permit the board of inquiry to follow each rumor and alleged fact that was reported to us because our report had to be on file by Jan. 31."

Robison was not immediately available for comment Saturday. He said he was not immediately available for comment Saturday.

Hearing Held On Anticipated Flooding In Lincoln County

SHOSHONE — A public hearing was held at the Manhaten Civic Center recently for the purpose of discussing some of the possibilities of preventing the flooding of Lincoln County and the flooding of Shoshone.

Representatives were present from the Soil Conservation Service, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, Farmers Home Administration, County Commissioners, Shoshone City Council, Lincoln County Planning Commission, Wood-River Resources Conservation, Civil Defense, and other interested parties. William Boyd from the Twin Falls Office of Red Cross gave information on what the Red Cross can do in the event of an emergency, such as a flood.

A lengthy discussion was held on the possibility of eliminating the ice in Little Wood River before any excess water reaches proportions enough to cause a flood.

The discussion subject included the use of divert, flood waters such as the possibility of sand bagging, dynamiting the ice or the diversion of flood waters into the lava beds above Richfield.

It was forecast that about 100,000 cubic feet of water would be diverted from the Little Wood River runoff area. The forecast range for Big Wood-River drainage for 1969 is for 400,000 acre feet. There was no forecast available for the amount of runoff from Canaan Creek drainage.

Another public meeting is to be held at 8 p.m. Monday at the Manhaten Civic Center.

Courts Said Unable To Halt Walkout

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (UPI)—Coal operators were told Saturday that U.S. district courts have no authority to order striking coal miners back to work. About 20,000 West Virginia miners are striking for better wages and a shorter workday.

"We're not going to get involved in this," a U.S. district judge said. "The courts are not going to get involved in this. The courts are not going to get involved in this."

Judge John A. Field Jr., of the Southern West Virginia District, said he was asked to order the miners back to work. He said he was asked to order the miners back to work.

The House of Representatives passed a bill on Friday for coal miners' compensation bill for workmen suffering pneumoconiosis, the "black lung" disease. The State Senate had the bill in Judiciary Committee on Saturday. It was expected to be reported out Monday.

The United Mine Workers of America argued in court Saturday that miners were exercising their constitutional right in "pressing for legislation to curtail or delimit working conditions."

The suit was brought against the UMW although the union has issued statements during the walkout which began Feb. 18 that it had nothing to do with the strike. The UMW called the strike "an unlawful work stoppage."

Attorney David M. Johnson of Lincoln County claimed that officials of UMW locals "systematically and methodically took part in actual direction of the suit."

The coal operators also told the court the UMW had taken no positive steps to prevent lost unions from walking out of the mines.

Attorney Willard Owens of the UMW admitted to the court the union considers the walkout an improper method of pressing claims. He said the union has no authority to order the men back to work.

Boise Fisherman Feared Drowned

BAKER, Ore. (UPI)—Searchers resumed again on the Snake River today looking for a Boise man missing and feared drowned while fishing last week.

John Burchell, about 26, disappeared in the fast flowing river Sunday morning when the boat in which he was riding overturned.

Harry Yarden, Boise, a fish-boat operator, was rescued by another boat operator. The river was running full and near flood stage at the time the boat overturned.

Baker County Sheriff Delmar Dixon was leading the search effort.

The UMW admitted to the court the union considers the walkout an improper method of pressing claims. He said the union has no authority to order the men back to work.

Applications For Two Scholarships Received

Application blanks for the Nurses and American Legion Auxiliary National President's Scholarships have been received by Mrs. Lavonne Koutnik, chairman, and are now available to qualified seniors.

Two scholarships will be awarded this year in each of the organization's five areas in the United States. The scholarships are for $1,500 and $1,000. Mrs. Koutnik said that some changes have been made in the rules for eligibility of the scholarships. Candidates for the awards must be children of veterans who served in World War I, World War II, the Korean War or Vietnam Hostilities from Aug. 5, 1964, to the date of death of the veteran. The award is terminated by the government.

Candidates must be seniors in or graduates of accredited high schools. They must have attended an institution of higher learning and must be in actual need of financial assistance in order to attend college.

Mrs. Koutnik said in the past there has been only one scholarship available and the scholarships have been restricted to children of deceased veterans. She said, however, that there have been no changes in this

Employment Security Amendment Is Operative

BOISE (UPI)—An amendment to the Idaho Employment Security Law became operative Sunday under an emergency clause in H.B. 117, passed by the Legislature and signed into law.

The new clause deletes a provision that an individual who has drawn 25 per cent of his total benefit amount shall not be eligible for unemployment insurance weekly benefits in the succeeding benefit year unless the claimant has earned eight times his weekly benefit amount.

C. L. Worsley, executive director of the Idaho Department of Employment, encouraged those who during their current benefit year may have been disqualified under the former 75 per cent provision to draw their unemployment insurance claim before drawing the limit of their eligibility to continue to Sunday.

L. U. Billington, Director of Employment in the department of business, estimated that based on past experience 400 claimants could be affected during the year by this new change in the law. He said there is a secondary and indirect effect resulting from the law change that involves those who stopped drawing benefits to avoid the 75 per cent penalty. Billington said, "Now they can draw full benefit entitlement without concern for future eligibility."

The Department of Employment proposed this change in the law to alleviate an unintended hardship of unemployment insurance claimants, which resulted from changes enacted two years ago in the legislature according to Worsley.

He explained that a Department of Employment study of the basis for his proposal to Gov. Don Samuelson that a portion of the unemployment security law be amended early in the 40th legislative session to delete the inoperative provision.

The application of this particular section of the law as it existed prior to deletion by legislative amendment resulted in undue high administrative cost according to Worsley. He said elimination of this disqualification was expected to cause the cause of hardship experience by some seasonal workers, especially where prolonged employment is involved.

The 75 per cent restriction provision created a problem when another portion of the employment security law was amended in 1967 changing the basis for unemployment insurance claimants from a fixed-year beginning each July 1 for everyone, to an individual benefit year originating at various times of the year based on each worker's attachment to the labor force.

The combination of these two factors prevented certain claimants from continuing to draw weekly benefit allowances between one benefit year to the next without intervening employment. Worsley said that Idaho work pattern causes such restriction to be unrealistic and inequitable.

According to claimants recently denied benefits because of interpretation given to this portion of the law are now encouraged to look into the possibility of drawing full unemployment compensation during their individual benefit year, not yet expired, Worsley concluded.

Some Pueblo Sailors Toyed With Idea Of Quick Death

BOISE (UPI)—Some sailors of the USS Pueblo toyed with the idea of quick death would be better than torture by the North Koreans, it was said.

That is one of the harsh themes recurring in the testimony of the Pueblo's listed men at the Navy court of inquiry that resumed today. Six more sailors were summoned to tell their stories of 11 months in a Communist jail.

The five-admiral court is reviewing the Pueblo survivors' chance to testify what happened to them after the vessel's capture by North Korea Jan. 23, 1968.

The three board members, the third hold-over board member, retired and all members of the board now age men appointed by Samuelson.

Other studies included the board of inquiry probe conducted by five House Democrats, which resulted in dismissal of the three board members.

These probes led to the introduction and passage of a bill, now awaiting Samuelson's signature, replacing the present board of correction with a part-time board, a special commission on paroles and pardons and calling for appointment of a trained administrator.

During the past two years there have been four wardens at the penitentiary, including one who served both as warden and as chairman of the board of correction.

Wolf Killed

CAROLLA LAKE, N. Y. (UPI)—A timber wolf, a species which had been believed extinct in New York State since 1899, was killed recently by a car on route 10 in the northeastern New York community.

The adult male, weighing 84 pounds and measuring 71 inches long, has caused some puzzlement among state fish and game officials. The State Conservation Department has suggested the gray wolf may have escaped from a wood or game farm, or while it was in transit through the state.

Tom Shaw Survives Flop At Final Hole To Claim $150,000 Doral Tourney

MIAMI (UPI)—Tom Shaw, the good-humor man from Gulf, Ill., who almost gave up competitive golf three years ago when he broke his back in an automobile accident, triumphed with an eight-hole hole-in-one to win his first pro tournament, the $150,000 Doral Open, by one stroke today.

Shaw, 39, who gave his name to a four-hole hole-in-one on the water on the final hole, the 24-year-old Shaw, who went into Sunday's final round with a lead of 10 holes over Aaron for first place, blazed his way to a four-stroke lead with a string of four straight birdies on the front nine. But that evaporated when Shaw went into the water on the par-5 No. 10 and wound up with an eight-hole hole-in-one that might have shaken a less hardy soul.

Paper Says Hockey Can Be Safer

CHICAGO (UPI)—Hockey can be made safer, says a new compulsory use of adequate helmets and increased safety research, an editorial in the Journal of the American Hockey Association, said Sunday.

An editorial in the March 3 edition of the journal cited three deaths from head injuries received in hockey games last year. One was in a professional game, the other two in amateur matches.

Interested physicians may be able to influence professional hockey to adopt the helmet as being "less necessary" as the helmet is such an integral part of the game, the editorial said.

Baseball's Fallen Stars Will Hopefully Try For A Comeback

NEW YORK (UPI)—Now's the time to get off these cards, Peter Dinklage says, if you're a former baseball star who's looking for a comeback.

Okay, they got a big mound of cheer in their new pension package, but that's only money and not really money, says Dinklage, who has written from 1961 to 1965.

The Bruin Boosters will meet at 8 p.m. tonight at the Boston Garden to discuss the future of the Bruins.

Coach Is Happy As Team Ends Dry Spell

CHICAGO (UPI)—Boerlma's coach, George King, was feeling "terrific." Big Ten scoring leader Rick Mount scored 31 points in conference play.

Purdue played so strong at the conference as if it were the Boliermakers' improved overall rating, to 18-11, Purdue is 11-1 in conference play.

Mount scored 26 of his total points in the first half to give the Boliermakers a 51-46 halftime lead.

King, who as coach for West Virginia went to the NCAA tournament three years ago, is looking forward to next month's appearance by the championship Purdue team against cross state rival Notre Dame.

"It was terrific winning the Big Ten title this year," said King following Purdue's 92-55 victory over Iowa. "Especially since the conference was so strong."

Reflectors Cause Big Game Woes

BOISE (UPI)—Mirrors which deflect traffic lights into the eyes of big game animals may be the answer to a problem with big game, according to the Idaho Fish and Game Department.

The reflectors would transfix animals, preventing them from leaving the comparative safety of roadside ditches. According to the department, the problem in the Gem State takes the lives of several hundred white-tailed and mule deer, as well as a few elk, moose, antelope, black bear and beaver.

Although deer crossing signs are being frequently used, "Blind" by car lights standing transfix instead of bounding off the roads.

The problem is year-round because of the danger to mule deer and other big game species, are more sedentary and do not move to summer ranges in the same vicinity, becoming traffic statistics in all seasons.

Two areas of heavy whitetail concentrations in B. O. N. D. R. County showed sharp declines in the number of highway deer kills during the past three years since mirrors have been placed along the roads in an experimental program. The drop amounted to 47 per cent compared with the rate of kill for two previous years, and 26 per cent in the other reflector test area.

According to Jack McNeil, regional conservation educator at Goway-Alaine.

Statwide figures for 1968 show road kills broken down by big game species as follows: 142 elk; 4 moose; 3 antelope; 11 black bear; 12; and beaver 2.

Frank Robinson of Baltimore still is fighting to get all the way back after a 1967 injury. Orlando Cepeda of the Cardinals dropped off sharply last year but no one is worried — yet.

Harmon Kilbreath of the American League lead with 14 homers in 1967. He was hit by 17 batters and batted 210 after an injury that cost him more than a third of the season.

Anyway, you know which guys on your favorite club might welcome a word of encouragement: You can box 'em later, if that's your nature.

Conference Battles Are Putting Crimp In NCAA, NIT Tourney Schedules

By United Press International—The various college basketball conferences will kindly settle their championships, they have been asked, but bids are expected to be offered—Monday by Baylor, runner-up to Texas A and M in the Southwest-Conference, Ohio State University second place club in the Mid-American, Temple, bridesmaid to St. Joseph's—in the Mid-Atlantic, and West Texas State.

The conference that has the NCAA entranced is the Big Eight, which at this stage has managed to eliminate just three of the eight, Miami and Kansas' State collide tonight in the first of five crucial games in the conference this week. The loss is mathematically out of the chase.

Kansas blew its early title chances by losing to Colorado Saturday, 75-67. A Cliff Meyers hit for 27 points to become the highest scoring sophomore in college basketball. His 330 points in conference play surpassed by 25 the mark established by Willie Chamberlain at Kansas.

Colorado and Kansas close their regular season at home Saturday — Kansas meeting Kansas State and Colorado facing Missouri. If Kansas and Colorado win their remaining games, the two will meet on March 10 at a neutral site. If three or four teams deadlock for the title, the team or teams with the best record will have appearances—Kansas State and Kansas U. in that order—would be eliminated from any playoff.

Indiana Wins Swim Title For 9th Time

MADISON, Wis. (UPI)—Olympian Iaden Indiana University has become the swimming Big Ten swimming champion by earning its ninth consecutive title and ninth second-place Michigan far behind.

The nine straight Hoosier State's previous record of eight titles in a row, 1949-1956, which was broken by Michigan's 42-21 victory in four events, tied 51 points to Michigan's first.

Two Indiana leading champions repeated their victories—Fred Southard in the 100-yard freestyle and Olympic gold medalist Charles Illesken in the 200-yard breaststroke. Bryan Butson in the 100-yard freestyle and Jim Henry in diving also took top honors for Indiana in Saturday's competition.

Indiana successfully defended its title in the 200-yard breaststroke, but Leonard Blasse of Michigan upset Indiana's Brian Dello as 100-yard butterfly winner.

Third-place Michigan State scored 304 points, Ohio State 101, Wisconsin 94, Minnesota 125, Purdue 114, Northwestern 98, and Iowa 21.

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (UPI)—Ron Santo, star third baseman of the Chicago Cubs, is being trained from his right elbow Sunday and was held out of workouts until it could be determined the cause of his ailment.

X rays were scheduled for Monday.

Santo said he suffered an injury in the latter part of the season but he was able to continue playing without any problems after the elbow was drained.

"It is coming on again over the winter," Santo said. "And I deliberately quit playing baseball so as not to strain the elbow." Santo said he had no arm pain and his hand is swelling.

Denver Wins By 147-120

DENVER (UPI)—Gard Larjez, Jones poured in 37 points to lead the Denver Rockets to a team record-breaking win over the New Orleans Buccaneers, 147-120, Sunday.

The 17 count eclipsed a previous Rocket standard of 142 points scored against Oakland last summer. The Rockets posted a 46-point lead in the period story; three points higher than they had ever scored in any single period.

Larjez, arriving to become the first American Basketball Association player to tally more than 2,000 points in a season, posted the 15th consecutive game in which he collected 30 or more points. The ABA record was 10 games set by Minnesota's Tommy Hawkins at Minneapolis and Denver club Tom Jones now has a season total of 1,079 in 61 games.

Casey Reminisces, Talks Of Old Days With Mickey Mantle

NEW YORK (UPI)—Casey Stengel picked up the newspaper, fished out that same section he always goes and couldn't help going back to the list of things when his eyes caught the big black headline, "Mickey Mantle Quit."

"He went back to that first time I saw him, when he was in Phoenix 18 years ago."

"And that's the only thing wrong with him that he got embarrassed when he couldn't do good."

Casey went back to that World Series with the Milwaukee Braves when Mickey's arm was so sore he couldn't comb his hair and Red Schoendienst made matters even worse by falling on Mickey's arm during a run-down play.

"He didn't tell anyone so nobody knew he couldn't throw at all. He never asked out, though. That wasn't in him."

Casey then talked about Mickey Mantle, the ballplayer. "They always ask me about the greatest player I ever had and I answered them great players. Don't forget I had DiMaggio, too. That's not come much better, but Mantle was an amazing player. Easy to manage. For a fella his size he was the best base runner I ever saw. He had good ways about him. He never liked the other side very well but you wouldn't ever hear him knock another player. Himself, yes, but never a guy on the other side. Remember when he led the league in five departments? Not just three."

Stengel readily understood Mantle's impatience with himself when he'd kick the water cooler in the dugout or fling his helmet to the ground in disgust so he never censured him too much for that.

"In the old days, they used to put you in the clothes closet for something like that. I know they did me. But you had to know—the reason why Mantle did these things, he watched himself, though. He'd wanna kick something maybe after he struck out but if he saw concrete around he'd make sure and take a good look at it."

Aaron Says This Year May Be Last

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (UPI)—Atlanta Brave star Hank Aaron indicated Sunday that the 1969 season might be his last.

"Everything depends on when Aaron gets his 3,000th hit. He needs 208 to reach that figure, and he's got 107 more games more this season. The Braves star said he will give serious consideration to retiring."

"I've always said I'll play until I get 3,000 hits," said Aaron. "When that comes I'll have to give serious consideration to whether I'll play anymore."

"I can have a good year, the kind I always anticipate having, this could be it."

Aaron, who was 35 years old last month, has had 220 seasons in which he collected 200 or more hits. He had 200 in 1950; 223 in '59 and 201 in '63.

Aaron's 1968 season was a rookie outfielder—Andy Binay was involved in an automobile accident en route to spring training on the weekend. He escaped without serious injury.

Pitcher Mill Pappas, 12-13 with Cincinnati and the Braves last season, signed his 1969 contract, leaving catcher Jim Torre and the lone Atlanta holdout.

Esposito Surpasses NHL Century Mark

BOSTON (UPI)—Boston center Phil Esposito continued his record scoring pace with a pair of goals Sunday night while Boston was peppering Eddie Johnston to his second shutout in a 4-0 win over Pittsburgh.

Esposito, who 24 hours earlier had broken the National Hockey League's one-season scoring record with his 98th and 40th goals Sunday night to become the first player in NHL history to break the century point mark in regular season play.

Rookie Jim Coffey and veteran John McKenzie also scored for the Bruins who were climbing into a first-place tie in the Eastern Division with losing Montreal while winning their fourth straight game and snapping a three-game Penguin unbeaten streak.

Another capacity Boston Garden crowd of 14,659 interrupted play for more than 15 minutes after Esposito's 100th point and for another five minutes following his second goal of the game.

The fans showered dozens of hats and a variety of debris onto the ice as Esposito scored twice in the third period to break even a game which had been 1-0 after two.

Esposito's first goal came at the 17 second mark of the last period and the other at 6:41 when the Bruins were short-handed.

Johnston gained the shutout as the Penguins manager only 19 shots on the Bruin cage while Boston was peppering Eddie Johnston to his second shutout in a 4-0 win over Pittsburgh.

The Bruins preserved the victory although they were down two men in the waning moments following a brawl between Boston's Derek Sanderson and Pittsburgh's Bill Spear.

King Louis Invented 'Game' Of Volleyball As Diversion

EVERY EVENING, eight...
NO DOUBT YOU know Delaware is that state to which executives are most apt to travel in the purpose of setting up a corporation. But did you know it is also the state to which lawyers are least apt to travel for the purpose of setting up a corporation. What's your opinion of a state with its law so designed that the mannaed onlookers directed to toss it to the inmates for supper. Occasionally, the inmates were required to stage their contest with the head of a decapitated prisoner, but let's drop that. Anyhow, an authority called Arthur Koptz says such a state DOES NOT EXIST. He is indeed named after M. Vollet, and the game today is not what it used to be, not at all.
WRITES Diane Claggett: As to whether any man without a weapon has ever bested a lion, do you count mountain lions? If so, he is advised an Auburn, Cal., rancher named Bernard Dabbs, who stands 6-feet-6-inches, killed such a lion with his bare hands. Granted a mountain lion isn't as big as an African lion, but it can be pretty nasty, even so.
AS TO THAT QUESTION of who played first in Errol Flynn's "Robin Hood," and I'm really informed that it was Eugene Pallette. He died in 1954. Olivia de Havilland played Maid Marian, you may recall. With the passing of Claude Rains, Basil Rathbone and Alan Hale as well as Flynn and Pallette, take a little sugar in the mite, if you please. Only one male surviving principal of that coffee drinker in 10 nation-wide movie. She is also the only surviving principal of "Gone With the Wind."

North Side Group Lowers Local Dues

SHOSHONE — North Side Chamber of Commerce members decided to lower their dues to only $1 per local Chamber of Commerce.

The decision was made at the monthly meeting at the Manhattan Cafe here Thursday night because money is not needed for a picnic this year and it was felt that funds on hand will be sufficient and that the savings should be turned back to the individual chambers.

The organizer represents 48,000 persons, according to James Muffley, president, who lives in the north side communities.

Dr. Charles Parker, Jerome, reported that 800 persons attended the Farmers Night-Banquet and that Gov. Don Samuelson will speak at the annual chamber meeting.

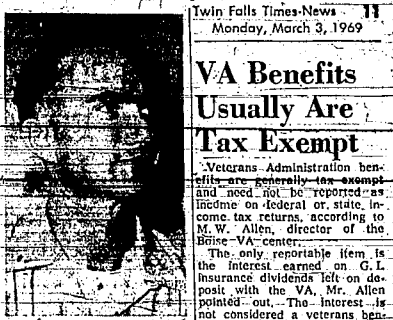

"Chamber Projects at Rupert include: legislative lunch, hospital improvements and "Operation Touchdown" for employees and their employees, according to Mrs. Marie Hanna and Claude E. Bowman.

Harrell Thorne reported the local chamber opposes the proposed grazing plans by the BLM and noted that in Owyhee County residents do not want to join the junior college district.

Mr. Muffley said plans for the new hospital will be let soon and construction is expected to begin in April. Plans for a courthouse and school building projects are progressing.

The North Side Communities will invite the president and secretary of each chamber and state legislators to a special meeting in April. The next meeting will be held at 7:00 p.m. March 27, at the Manhattan Cafe.

Mr. Hanna, retiring president, presented Mr. Coats, retiring secretary-treasurer, and Cliff Hansen, retiring vice president, with appreciation plaques. Mr. Muffley presented the past president's plaque to Mr. Hanna.

IVAN HOPKINS — Lincoln County extension agent; has assumed duty as president of Shoshone Chamber of Commerce.

Defense Unit Is Planning For Floods

SHOSHONE — The local Civil Defense is preparing for the work involved in event of an emergency, such as a flood melting snow and ice this spring.

Plans for the organization were made at the Chamber of Commerce meeting last week at the Manhattan Cafe.

Ivan Hopkins, newly elected Chamber president, presided at the meeting. Joe Wurst, District 20, was a visitor.

The group went on record in opposition to the proposed grazing fee raise and letters were sent to Washington, D.C.

An article was read from the Times-News public forum opposing the current Idaho Court reform because people will not be allowed to vote for judges.

The other reason for opposition, according to the article, was the excessive cost.

The Cub Scout Pineywood Derby was announced. After the chamber meeting, directors tried to appoint committee members for the year.

There were a rash of accidents, last weekend with no bodily injuries resulting, but much damage to the vehicles involved. Slick roads and high snow-banks with poor visibility were contributing factors, according to the sheriff.

Prince Admits Protest Possible At Investiture

LONDON (UPI) — Prince Charles said Saturday he'll understand if some Welshmen demonstrate when a so-called English prince (himself) becomes Prince of Wales. But he hopes they don't splutter him with "too much egg and tomato."

Charles chatted good naturedly and philosophically about his coming investiture as Prince of Wales on a nationwide radio interview, his first with the British Broadcasting Corp. The investiture is four months off and trouble from Welsh separatists is expected.

"I don't blame people demonstrating like that," the 20-year-old Cambridge University student, son of Queen Elizabeth, said.

"They've never seen me before. They don't know what I'm like. I've hardly been to Wales," he said.

"There may be one or two demonstrators... (but) as long as I don't get covered too much in egg and tomato, I'll be all right," he added.

Mr. Webster waived preliminary hearing and has been bound over to District Court following an appearance in Twin Falls Police Court. Arrignment for Mr. Green is pending.

The car is owned by Terry English of Twin Falls, officers said.

Mr. Webster was arrested Thursday and Mr. Green on Friday, it was reported.

Deputies Check Burglary At T.F. Seed Company

A burglary at Gallatin Valley Seed Co., Eastland Drive South, was investigated Saturday by the Twin Falls County Sheriff's office.

Sheriff Paul Corder said the building was entered after a hole was broken in a door on the east side, allowing the burglar or burglars to reach through, unlocking the door.

A money box, containing about $40 in cash and some company receipts, was taken.

City Planning Purchase Of Fire Truck

The city is planning to purchase a new pumper truck for the Twin Falls Municipal Fire Department within the year. Funds for the purchase were allocated in the 1969 budget and Herb Derrick, city manager, is currently drawing up specifications to advertise for bids.

The city officials recently inspected a demonstration fire truck which was brought here by Starline Equipment Co., Boise.

The fire department now has four trucks — three pumper trucks and one ladder truck. The pumper trucks have capacities of 750 gallons, 1,000 gallons and 1,250 gallons. The new truck will be the 1,000 gallon size.

L. Z. (Zeke) Bartlett, fire chief, said that underwriters recommended the city buy a reserve truck several years ago. Mr. Bartlett said the rest of the fire equipment is "adequate."

The biggest expense of the fire department is the purchase of hose. Mr. Bartlett said each year they buy between 750 and 1,000 feet of fire hose. This hose costs, on the average, $1.25 per foot. The department now has 9,000 feet of hose. Some 4,500 feet of the hose is installed on the trucks and the remainder is kept in reserve. The hose is replaced every seven years, Mr. Bartlett said.

The main fire station is located downtown, but there is also a substation on Falls Avenue. There is some equipment that is kept on Engine No. 1 at the ladder-truck. Mr. Bartlett noted the department has never had occasion to use it, except in practice drills.

Engine No. 1 has its own small generator which is used to provide lighting if the truck is called out at night. This truck also carries a large shovel, broom and water vacuum. The water vacuum is used to remove excess water from carpets and hardwood floors. A power saw, to ventilate roofs and walls, is also included.

Axes, crow bars, pike poles, masks and foam proportioners are standard equipment on all the trucks.

School Days Are Wonderful — If There's No Homework

Ever wonder how first graders manage to learn all those three Rs during the first year of school? Well, it's not easy if the child's homework is any example.

First of all the teacher must overcome the child's natural urge to be with his parents. This usually takes about two weeks. Then the teacher must work on the child's urge to have fun. This takes more time.

Once the student's attention is grabbed, the teacher must hang on for dear life.

The student passes through "See Dick run See Spot run and play." With only 11 and a half years of school to go, the young student has mastered some of the larger words, like "cat and then."

And now the student comes to the turning point. He learns to spell those words he has been sounding out for so long.

"Cat" for instance, almost always comes out "Kat." This continues for several days.

Then, the student feeling confident, strikes out on his own. He tackles something really demanding, like the Pledge of Allegiance.

On paper, it looks like this: "I plej ulgeunc to tu phlag to younystat of merca."

When the student reads it aloud to his teacher or at home to his parents, it sounds okay.

When the teacher is told it's not okay, he pouts and the whole learning process is thrown back a couple of weeks.

But slowly, slowly the first grader learns. His interest in fairy tales grows, and then he
