

Open-Hatch Test Replaces Cancelled Spacewalk For Schweickart

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI)—Two bright and chipper Apollo 9 astronauts returned to their "loudest-looking" landing craft today for an open-hatch moon-walk, moon-and-junk explorers will use.

The transfer of James A. McDivitt and Russell L. Schweickart from their command ship "Gundrop" to the attached landing craft "Spider" opened the fourth day of the 10-day orbital trial run for a May moon flight.

David R. Scott stayed behind in the command ship, preparing to open the front section of the hatch. McDivitt followed about the same time Schweickart swings open the lunar module hatch and faces the harsh vacuum of space for about 45 minutes.

Schweickart, wearing water-cooled long Johns and a 15-pound moon walking suit, was first to com through the 32-inch tunnel leading to the lunar module. He showed no signs of the mysterious sickness that forced cancellation of his spacewalk.

McDivitt followed about five minutes later, slithering aboard at about 9:35 a.m. EST. He reported earlier today that the operation was running late for the second day and "we're going to be scrambling to get caught up."

TODAY'S DRILL

Today's drill was devoted primarily to checking out the suit and backpack breathing unit that lunar explorers will wear when they set foot on the moon. McDivitt and Schweickart gave the ugly duckling lander its first tests with men at the controls Wednesday—and they proved its vital systems work.

The only hitch was Schweickart's swim-bout with nausea.

TODAY'S DRILL

Today's drill was a six-minute blast of the ship's landing engine with McDivitt throttling its thrust from a peak of 10,000 pounds down to 1,000 pounds—much like a driver controls the power of a car motor.

"It's going like a dream," said McDivitt from inside the 16-ton module that he swaddled in a protective suit made of gold, silver and blue plastic.

Schweickart's nausea developed twice Wednesday—once when he was in the command ship and once after transferring to the lunar module.

Schweickart originally was to gather scientific samples from the outside of the 55-foot-long tandem spacecraft as he traveled from one to the other during a spacewalk.

After the cancellation, however, National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) officials decided to have Scott try to collect samples within reach of the open command module hatch. It would involve reaching about two feet outside the door,

Sniper Shoots At Army Train

Reds Shut Berlin Route

BERLIN (UPI)—The Communists closed the West's main highway to West Berlin for three hours today and a U.S. Army train was reported shot at as it moved across East Germany.

The action came as the Communists claimed credit for avoiding a showdown with the Allies over the West German presidential election held in the isolated city Wednesday.

After German soldiers set off both ends of the 110-mile roadway linking West Berlin with West Germany for three hours beginning at 9 a.m. The United States and its Allies in Berlin protested the move but the Russians reacted to the blockade as a victory because of Communist military exercises in the area through which the highway passes.

The incident involving the American Army train brought conflicting reports from West German and U.S. officials. One German station officer said at least one pistol shot was fired at the train en route from Berlin to Frankfurt.

But an American spokesman said that while a window was broken and its frame dented, "it definitely was not a bullet" that caused the damage. No injuries were reported.

In Moscow, Communist and Western diplomats said the highway incidents would gradually diminish. There was "no indication" the Communists would hold up traffic after the war game in East Germany, they said. No date had been set for their termination.

West Berlin Communist leader Gerhard Danelius boasted in his party newspaper Die Wahrheit ("The Truth") that East Germans and their Soviet allies did not take more severe action against the West in the interests of peace and security.

The Communists sealed off all of West Berlin's highway lifelines for four hours Wednesday while West German delegates elected Gustav Heinemann as their new president. It was the longest blockade in four years.

But despite repeated threats and warnings of serious consequences from the Communists because of the election little else occurred.

Today Danelius wrote in his newspaper: "The blockade provocation has passed." He said that West Germany's stubborn use of Berlin for the election "caused enough trouble as scheduled."

Hearing Is Held In Twin Falls Shooting

Preliminary hearings in connection with the shooting of a Twin Falls man last Dec. 31 were held in Police Court Wednesday.

Kenneth Stanger, 25, was shot at 222 Third Ave. E. on that date by a man who remains unknown in his body, says Harry Under, 31, Hazleton, accused of shooting Mr. Stanger. The charge against him is assault with a deadly weapon.

Police Judge Harry Turner took Mr. Hernandez case under advisement following the preliminary hearing.

Julio Lano, 21, Twin Falls, and Joe Mondragon, Twin Falls, were also accused of assault with a deadly weapon on an elderly man on the same date at the shooting.

Both were allegedly involved in knife fights prior to the shooting of Mr. Stanger. Reportedly the incidents are connected.

However, the charge against

Mr. Stanger is reportedly in good condition today.

Petitions Filed On Boys In Hoax Case

Petitions accusing four boys with threatening to blow up the Twin Falls High School were filed in Twin Falls County Probate Court Wednesday.

The boys, ages 13, 14, 15, and 17, were questioned by police officers last Friday "about" a bomb threat "telephoned" into the high school at 3 a.m. last Thursday.

The high school had to be closed. It took 50 minutes before officers and school officials determined a bomb was not the building.

Just before the high school threat, a call was received at the police station. A young male voice told police a bomb had been planted in O'Leary Hall, the school. That building was searched also, but nothing found nothing.

And Friday night bomb threats were called in to Stans and to the Five Department.

Fire Department officials were told a bomb had been planted in a Safeway Store in Twin Falls. There are two and police searched both.

Officials did not find a bomb in any of the four bomb threats.

Investigation is continuing into the threats at O'Leary Hall, Sears and the Safeway Stores.

IKE PROGRESSES

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, 86, is progressing well, but he did not know that Kennedy supporters were having a party at the Ambassador Hotel where Kennedy was mortally wounded early the next morning.

Under questioning by chief defense counsel George C. Coe, Sirhan said he did not know that Kennedy supporters were having a party at the Ambassador Hotel where Kennedy was mortally wounded early the next morning.

Sirhan Cites Rage Over Views Of RFK

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Sirhan Sirhan testified Wednesday he saw Sen. Robert F. Kennedy two nights before the senator was mortally wounded and he "looked like a saint" to him.

But a newspaper said the next day recalling the Israeli victory over the Arabs in the "six-day war" of 1967 sent the 24-year-old Arab immigrant into a rage that "culminated in Kennedy's assassination" at the Ambassador Hotel, Sirhan said.

He said he had seen Kennedy at a campaign rally in the Ambassador Hotel when the senator "looked like a saint" again. Sirhan said he had forgotten about his resentment of Kennedy for supporting the Israelis against the Arabs until he saw the late fatality June 4.

This was carried in a column of Los Angeles Times which Sirhan saw in Pasadena and urged persons to "join the miracle march for Israel on the miracle mile." The ad referred to six days in June.

"It brought me back to the six days in June and the preceding days," Sirhan testified, adding both hands in the air. "I had been dead during those six days if it would have been better for me... I had the same feeling."

The spokesman added that the baby seal hunt will be carefully controlled and would be observed this year by Canadian government helicopters and observers from the Department of Fisheries.

The fire started burning in me again... Those Jews—Israelis trying to run in that they had beaten the hell out of the Arabs the year before."

Sirhan said he was so enraged that he "had to go home and punch myself in the face" for being so angry.

He immediately set off in his car. He got lost and ended up on Wilshire Boulevard where he noticed the headquarters of Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel, who was running for reelection. He stopped at Kuchel's office and the headbutted and "fk you" party at the Ambassador Hotel where Kennedy was mortally wounded early the next morning.

Baby-Seal Hunt Stirs Anger

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Canadian Embassy said Wednesday it has received hundreds of letters from new hunters and conservationists decrying the baby seal hunt to begin Friday in the Gulf of St. Lawrence.

An embassy spokesman said the hunt is licensed by the Canadian Department of Fisheries and is strictly limited to 50,000 baby seals per year.

The spokesman said that the hunt was carefully controlled and would be observed this year by Canadian government helicopters and observers from the Department of Fisheries.

The baby seal fur, highly prized for its soft texture, is considered ideal for women's coats.

A conservation society in Canada, Inc., has advertised a special double-edged knife. The spokesman conceded that the "process" was a "bloody" one comparable to the slaughter of cattle.

The spokesman said that the hunt was carefully controlled and would be observed this year by Canadian government helicopters and observers from the Department of Fisheries.

The State Department has no official comment on the hunt, because it is a Canadian activity.

Department officials, however, added they were following the situation.

Fate Of Labor Camp In Doubt

The Twin Falls Labor Camp will have to be rebuilt or removed due to new federal and state regulations, according to Stan Crom, secretary-manager of the labor camp.

Mr. Crom said if the local camp does not meet the government demands, the Twin Falls area will not be able to get migrant laborers here and they could not come here they could not be housed in the camp facilities.

Mr. Crom noted the remodeling could cost from $30,000 to $100,000.

Some 500 stockholders of the labor camp are being called to attend a special meeting at 8 p.m. Monday in the auditorium when representatives of the federal agencies will explain the situation in detail. The stockholders then will vote on the action they wish to take.

Mr. Crom noted the Twin Falls Labor Camp is the largest in the state, with a capacity of 700 occupants. He said some of the remodeling work would include the installation of sinks, cabinet tops, and rewriting.

The manager noted that migrant workers are needed in the area to work in the hay fields, but that the demand has decreased by 50 per cent in the past six years due to mechanization of agriculture. He said that even though there is a need now, the need for such labor may be phased out within the next few years, and there would not be a need for the camp.

LIVE IN AREA

HEYBURN — Mr. Jones is a former Heyburn resident, living here in 1946. Later he moved to Utah. His brother, Jimmie Jones Heyburn, and his wife, who is a daughter of Senator John G. Shad, the former Ethel King, and has several relatives in this area.

DAD IN GOOD SPIRITS

Clemence returned about the time he was born.

As rocks tumbled into a shaft he was working Saturday morning, Jones scrambled into a tiny rock niche and huddled there while the mountain closed around him.

The brothers said their father had been working Saturday morning, Jones was a car hop. She was the first woman ever put on the FBI's "most wanted" list of fugitives.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said the investigation for the woman was intensified in the Nevada area after her fingerprints were identified by Oklahoma State Bureau of Identification.

Using the alias Donna White, she had applied for a nursing position at a Norman hospital Feb. 27, which required her to present her fingerprints along with baseball bats, chairs and 2 by 4s. They were reportedly held for her life. The 20-year-old

Miss Eisingmann-Schler was the object of a nationwide search after the FBI learned she was accompanied by Gary Steven Kroll in the $500,000 kidnapping plot involving the daughter of Florida land developer Robert F. Mackie last Dec. 17.

Hijacking Becoming Major Crime Problem

Arrest, Then What?

New York not only has more problems than any other city, it has worse ones. It has more men on its police force than most American towns have people, but no (law-abiding) resident of Fun City would claim to be overprotected.

Unique though New York is, police officers across the country, from the two-man force in South Apple Creek Junction on up, will likely sympathize with the complaint voiced by Chief Inspector Sanford D. Garelik of the NYPD:

"Demonstration of legal guilt in our society is becoming ludicrously difficult," he says, because of requirements being imposed by law and the courts on policemen.

As evidence, he cites the results of a recent drive against crime in the Times Square area. Of 292 persons arrested, only 12 had so far received any penalty. Charges against 105 were dismissed in court; two persons were held in bail pending trial; 147 were paroled on their own recognizance, and 22 others were found guilty of various offenses but given "unconditional discharges."

"It is self-defeating, to say the least," says Garelik, "to have to arrest the same people over and over again. It seems as if our system of criminal justice is being perverted into a system of criminal injustice—injustice to a repeatedly victimized public."

Evidence: Of 563 persons arrested on narcotics charges in New York in February, 1968, 142 had five or more previous arrests, 88 had 10 or more, 46 had 15 or more, 21 had 20 or more, four had 25 or more and one had 45. It should be pointed out that of the 292 arrests in the anticrime drive, the overwhelming majority were for minor offenses such as loitering, disorderly conduct and public intoxication.

On the other hand, the previous arrest records of the February, 1968, malefactors include 10 for homicide, 146 for burglary, 80 for possession of dangerous weapons, 34 for rape and 224 for larceny.

The chief undoubtably has grounds for complaint. Yet one wonders whether a return to the good old days, when, presumably, punishment was swift and certain, would solve the nation's crime problem. Incarceration did not solve it in the past.

Even today, there are few prison cells in the country gathering cobwebs. Few penitentiaries are not filled to bursting, are not obsolete, not strained for beyond their designated capacities.

Another prominent law enforcement officer has another complaint: "We are not preventing enough drug abuse; we are not apprehending enough peddlers; we are not rehabilitating enough abusers," says John E. Ingorsoll, director of the Justice Department Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs.

In prevention and rehabilitation, especially, "we have failed miserably," he charges. The permanent solution, he says, cannot be based solely on arresting offenders.

What may be true in one area of crime may be true in others. Maybe we not only need to get tougher, but a whole lot wiser.

WASHINGTON — The FBI and state and local police are grappling with a soaringly sinister hijacking problem that, while getting few headlines, is immensely greater and more costly than the published planning of airholes to Cuba.

This is the hijacking and pillaging of trucks, trailers and other motor vehicles that is now running into hundreds of millions of dollars annually.

Martin Blatz, vice president of Babcock Alarm System Co., estimates that losses from such thefts last year were nearly double those of the previous year — around $600 million as compared to $367 million in 1967.

This zooming crime is nationwide, but it is particularly rampant in the north-eastern states due to the great concentration of population and industry and the extensive trucking industry that exists by truck. In recent months, hijacking in this area has increased sharply; that previous estimates of losses no longer hold water.

Barney, impartial chairman of the New York garment center trucking industry, puts such losses as now more than $150 million a year.

In New York City, this menacing situation reached such a critical stage that the truckers, who wanted to penalize the multi-billion-dollar garment industry by halting all shipments in and out of the heavily congested district.

That brought quick action from police authorities. They announced that section would be sealed off with uniformed patrolmen and detectives.

The FBI, in the forefront of the fight against this mounting wave of piracy, has distributed thousands of copies of a booklet titled "Combating Theft From Trucks" to truckers and drivers. Succinctly and concisely it details such essential information as "Preventive Measures," "What To Do If a Theft Occurs," "How To Reach the FBI," "Prosecution and Penalties."

In a brief foreword, FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover stresses the alarming gravity of this far-flung problem, as follows:

"Combating thefts from interstate shipments has reached unprecedented proportions. It is unfortunate that goods in transit are among the prime targets of offenders—such all degrees of criminal skill and experience. Despite the efforts of the FBI and other law enforcement agencies, the criminal onslaught against transit goods continues."

Graphically illustrative of the nature and extent of this increasingly widespread stealing and pillaging are the following examples from FBI records:

$300,000 in dimes and $65,000 in quarters taken from a trucker's paybox; $100,000 in diamonds taken from a trucker's paybox; $500,000 in diamonds from another trucker.

A truckload of 400 women's dresses, which within hours after being hijacked were offered to another manufacturer as a satisfaction of their debts, notified the trucking concern and the looters were nabbed.

Three bags of registered mail taken from a mailman in isolated Washington. The bags contained mail worth $10,000. After a year-long investigation, the FBI arrested 24 individuals, smashing one of the largest truck-hijack rings in recent New York history.

New Jersey robbery robberies involved included a truck driver carrying 4,100 32-pound cases of butter valued at more than $25,000; a shipment of men's attire and clocks worth around $20,000; $21,000 of unprocessed bacon and $12,000 of pork products; $30,000 of assortments clothing; $10,000 of Christmas ornaments; 800 boxes of bananas; and 41,000 pounds of corn oil and shortening.

In January of this year, 16 persons apprehended by the FBI on charges of hijacking were convicted or pled guilty in a federal court in New York. Sentencing is set for next week.

According to FBI, it is not uncommon for trucks to be stolen due to rank carelessness of the drivers. Says the world famous agency bluntly:

"Some of the greatest losses have resulted simply because drivers handling valuable cargo left their trucks unattended and, in many cases, with the keys in the ignition."

To cope with the rising trend of hijacking, the FBI forcefully avises the transportation industry to "analyze its own operations to ensure procedures that include six minimum safeguards." These are listed as complete and closed supervision of shipments, adequate security of warehouses, terminal and dock areas by proper night-time lighting and enclosures, patrols and alarm systems; careful selection and indoctrination of employees; cautious selection of trucking routes favoring those adequately policed; and discreet handling of shipments.

ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK

New Banner: War On Hunger

WASHINGTON — A minor incident recently involving some Georgia grape pickers and the U.S. Department of Agriculture revealed the tip of the iceberg of a fierce bureaucratic struggle about to surface here.

The grape pickers, carrying proposals for distributing free food to the hungry poor, approached an administrator in the office of Sen. Ernest F. Hollings of South Carolina, who is chairman of the Senate's food stamp committee. When they arrived at his office in San Francisco only to find themselves locked out,

There would be no interview, they were told, unless it might be arranged with the government in a legal suit involving food distribution.

Deeply disappointed by this exclusion, the grape pickers then learned that Robert Finch, Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW), was in San Francisco to inspect the anti-hunger campaign and Finch agreed not only to discuss their proposals, but promised to tell President Nixon on Finch's eagerness to promote the cause of the hungry was no sudden inspiration. Finch and some of his son aides, in fact, had been working on the anti-hunger plan for months, and the administration's interest in the anti-hunger campaign may well have been born of a desire to keep Finch busy.

Democrats, in fact, suspect that President Nixon (a tall convert to the anti-hunger campaign) may make hunger a key domestic issue.

Thus, here comes to the rescue of the hungry, the HEW, which is not usually concerned with the welfare of the poor, but which is.

High living professionals, churchmen, are threatened with cutbacks in their allowances which could shatter the faith of the faithful. The widow who thought her mate was going to the war, or the young couple who planned to buy a home, may discover that the man is still a draftee.

Secretary Phil Campbell, a leading Georgia politician who switched from Democrat to Republican last year, is quietly pushing that idea with Mr. Nixon. Finch's intimates insist that only HEW (with the accent on health) is geared up to handle massive distribution of food to the hungry poor, and Finch well deserves the full political patronage.

A key Finch argument: control over programs and money would immediately switch from Southern-dominated agriculture committees to liberal-dominated HEW committees.

Whether or not Mr. Nixon elevates the war on hunger into a new-style poverty program (one where results would quickly show up), hunger has now become a major political issue, with Franklin Roosevelt's "We can do it" slogan.

Democrats are high. Some Democrats, in fact, suspect that President Nixon (a tall convert to the anti-hunger campaign) may make hunger a key domestic issue.

Thus, here comes to the rescue of the hungry, the HEW, which is not usually concerned with the welfare of the poor, but which is.

State Institutions May Face Trouble In Obtaining Funds

BOISE (UPI) — Higher education proposals could come before the Idaho Legislature today but it was doubtful the bill giving $1 million to state institutions would clear easily as the public school funding measure did.

The higher education funding bill will be introduced in the House. A fight is promised over the finance bill because it includes a proposal of $4.7 million for Boise State College rather than the $3.2 million recommended by Gov. Don Samuelson and the State Board of Education.

Wednesday the House gave its approval 67-0 to the $2.9-million loan recommendation by Gov. Don Samuelson and the State Board of Education.

By a strong majority, the committee voted not to allow the bill out of committee with any kind of recommendation.

Senate Minority Leader Kep. D. Wardlow, said she will take the matter to the floor and attempt to force the measure out for consideration.

And the Senate returned to committee 6-0, after which it had appropriated $3.03 from the general fund to pay the State Parks Department for land in the Hagerman Fossil Quarry.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stocks! MARKETS AT A GLANCE were hit hard Tuesday by the possibility of a new international monetary crisis and trading continued. Allied frustration over the Vietnam peace conference.

The latest communist rocket attack on Saigon prompted a quick-draw movement of the seventh meeting of the expanded talks in the French capital. There were hints South Vietnamese leaders told off the communists continued their shelling of the south's major cities and towns.

A spokesman for the South Vietnamese delegation said such assaults do not create a proper atmosphere for peace discussions.

Monetary fears were touched off by record high prices for gold bullion in Europe in the wake of France's announcement that her gold and foreign currency reserves dropped $89 million last month to $4.7 billion.

After the market rose to 3,400, the UPI stock market indicator, measuring all stocks traded, was off 1.4 per cent on 1,551 issues crossing the tape. There were 1,060 declines and 256 advances.

Green Bay Keeps Power At Top, Gives General Manager's Job To Coach

GREEN BAY, Wis. (UPI) — In move aimed at perpetuating the strength of the Packers, the Lombardi era of the Green Bay Packers Wednesday named Head Coach Phil Bengtson to take on the added duties of general manager.

"Phil is being given a free rein," Packer President Dominic Olejniczak told a news conference.

The session was held in the plush office used by Vince Lombardi before he left last month to become head coach, part-owner, and executive officer.

"I am happy to accept and Bengtson will carry the twin tasks through the remainder of his present contract, which runs one year until Feb. 1, 1971, Olejniczak said.

Bengtson had asked for the job after Lombardi was let out of his contract to join the Redskins.

Lombardi, as a head coach a year ago when authority Lombardi had been given in fitting out the team, had too much for him and quit to concentrate on the duties of general manager.

Olejniczak, leaving no doubt about his intentions, told the Packer board of directors and executive committee want to continue the strong competent staff and can be successful in producing a winning team."

MANAGER Luis Harris will give the No. 2 Aaron a chance to solve the Atlanta Braves' No. 1 problem.

No fewer than six players were tried at first base by the Braves last season so Harris knows he will have a strong lead-off man in 1969 if he can't find a replacement.

Harris turned hopefully Wednesday to Eddie Aaron, younger brother of the great Harry with the comment, "If he proves he can hit big league

Baseball To Select Top All-Time Man

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (UPI) — An unprecedented international poll to discover the greatest player ever as well as the all-time All-Star team, some sort of launch of competition will be held in the spring game, celebration of the 100th anniversary of professional baseball, commissioner Bowie Kuhn's office announced Wednesday.

Voting will commence at the local club level, with participation major league teams, particularly throughout the United States and Canada, will be asked to vote for their favorite club's all-time All-Star team. Official balloting will start during spring training and conclude by June 1. Fans in the new expansion cities will be permitted to vote for any player, regardless of team.

The names of each club's greatest players ever will be submitted to the Baseball Writers' Association of America for the final selection of all-time All-Star team, including past and hit-handlers.

Pitchers and catchers will be named by the single "greatest player" ever.

Identities of the greatest players will be announced at a news conference in Washington, D. C., on Monday, July 21, in conjunction with the 1969 All-Star game.

Honored guests will include the living members of the greatest team, the runners-up, all living members of the Hall of Fame, heroes of past All-Star games and the entire 1969 All-Star cast.

The dinner will serve as the nucleus of a live, color one-hour television special. Individual plans will be announced by the local clubs at a future date.

Rupert Riflemen Win Area Shoot

The Rupert rifle team used a three-point handicap to defeat Buhl and win the rifle division of the Magic Valley gallery.

The team tied at 1820 before Rupert's handicap was added on, Twin Falls was third at 1878 and Burley had 1852.

Marvin Shute of Twin Falls was the top individual at 810. The 1968 champion, William Major, won the team title with 2001 while Rupert record at 1903. Twin Falls and Buhl did not have enough attendance to enter a team again this week.

Opens

The Twin Falls Municipal Golf Course opened officially Wednesday, but golfers willing to rush the weather are asked to have some care for the greens.

Howard Johnson, superintendent of parks and recreation, said he hoped it would be realized if golfers would refrain from wearing spikes on the greens and to stay off the putting surfaces entirely when the green are not covered.

The club has a third section arm room, records kept, basketball, Clyde Thompson,

Magazine Says Olympians Took Cash, Equipment

NEW YORK (UPI) — All but athletes, we informed the AAU five medalists on the U.S. about what was going on and Olympic track and field team we also told them that different accepted payoffs from two American coaches who were German track and field coaches, the magazine claimed. The Sports Illustrated claimed AAU people said they could do nothing.

The magazine claims that on the story from officials of $100,000 in cash and $30,000 worth of equipment was given away by the coaches and their companies and that U.S. amateur officials knew about it.

The magazine refused to name the players who did and didn't receive payoffs.

Hans Dassler, son of Adidas owner Adolf Dassler, told the magazine, "It's realized there would have been 80 percent of the American team in Puma shoes had we not done something. Before we started to make any real deals with the Olympians, we informed them that over these responsibilities, Bengtson said. He said he believed the Packer board and executive committee wanted Lombardi to continue the strong competitive staff and can be successful in producing a winning team."

Bengtson had asked for the job after Lombardi was let out of his contract to join the Redskins.

Lombardi, as a head coach a year ago when authority Lombardi had been given in fitting out the team, had too much for him and quit to concentrate on the duties of general manager.

Bohemian Dinner Stated By Moose Unit

BUEHL—The annual Bohemian dinner was scheduled for March 23 when the Women of the Moose met in regular session recently.

It was announced that the mid-winter conference would be held Sunday and Monday in Jerome. A report was given on the College of Regents card party held recently and winners were like McGuire, Mr. and Mrs. Don Finn and Mrs. Reed Reams.

Anyone wanting to participate in the bowling tournament or rifle shoot in Boise March 8 and 9 should contact Mrs. Tom Novack. The team bowling will be held by the Women of the Moose.

Members reported all were Mrs. Bill Loo, Mrs. Odel Chaffield, Mrs. Harry Hill, Mrs. Leonard Sevara and Mrs. Harry Davis.

For the program, Steve Wallace gave a report on the meetings. The capital committee, Mrs. Dale Powers chairman, was in charge of the program.

Mr. and Mrs. Emil Bernardi, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Daiss and Mr. and Mrs. Odel Chaffield were hosts for the evening.

Shawn Wolfe, Kranzler Wed

EMFIELD—Shawn Wolfe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tex Wolfe, Boise, former Fairfield residents, and Conrad Kranzler, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Kranzler, American Falls, were united in marriage Saturday Feb. 8, in the Reformed Lutheran Church, Boise.

Robin White was maid of honor and Steven Stewart was best man.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents after the ceremony. Out-of-town guests included the bride's paternal grandmother, Mrs. Lola Fairchild.

The newlyweds reside in Boise where both are employed.

FROM THE SAME BASIC dough come two breads: a savory dinner loaf with onion-dill filling and a sweet coffee bread filled with coconut-flavored cream cheese and decorated with confectioner's sugar-frosting. Two-for-one breads are a boon to the busy housewife.

Two-For-One Bread—Boon To Homemaker

"Two for the price of one" is a bargain in any woman's book. And for the busy home baker, two-in-one yeast recipes are the practical answer to the problem of limited time: two different breads in one batch takes to prepare single loaf. The secret is in the dough—in this case, a basic white dough prepared by the foolproof "no-dissolve" method. A simple onion-dill filling makes a savoury dinner bread, while a cream cheese, coconut filling and confectioner's sugar-frosting transform the braided loaf into a sweet treat for breakfast, afternoon-coffee or dessert.

Their impressive looks to the contrary, Sweet or Savory Braids are easy to prepare by the new Rapidmix Method developed by home economists for the Rapidmix Division. Start easy with the step of dissolving yeast in warm water by adding it undissolved to the dry ingredients. Initial beating is done with an electric mixer to facilitate mixing and make the dough lighter and easier.

SWEET OR SAVORY BRAID
1/2 cup warm water
1/4 cup unsifted flour
3 tablespoons sugar
2 1/2 teaspoons salt
1 package dry yeast
1 cup milk
1 cup water
1 1/2 tablespoons margarine

1/2 cup flour, sugar, salt and undissolved dry yeast.

Combine milk, water and margarine in a saucepan. Heat slowly until liquids are warm. (Margarine does not need to melt.) Gradually add to dry ingredients and beat for 2 minutes at medium speed of electric mixer. Add 1 cup flour or enough to make a thick batter. Beat at high speed for 2 minutes, scraping bowl occasionally. Stir in enough additional flour to make a soft dough. Turn out onto lightly floured board and knead until smooth and elastic about 8 to 10 minutes. Place in greased bowl, turning to grease top. Cover; let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 1 1/2 hours.

Punch down—turn out—lightly flour board. Divide in half. Roll each half into a 12-inch square. Cut into 3 equal strips. Spread strips with half or either Onion-Dill Filling (follows) or Coconut Filling (follows) to within 1/4 inch of each seam. Pinch seams tightly to form tight rolls. Wrap together, pin-greased baking sheet. Repeat with remaining half of dough. Cover; let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 1 hour. If using Onion-Dill Filling, brush braids with 1 egg beaten with 1 tablespoon water. Sprinkle with sesame seeds.

Bake in a hot oven (400 degrees Fahrenheit) for 25 minutes, or until done. Remove from wire racks to cool. Brush with confectioner's sugar frosting. Makes 2 braids.

ONION-DILL FILLING: Sauté 1/4 cups finely-chopped onion and 1 teaspoon dill weed in 1 tablespoon Flanschmann's Margarine

ANOTHER 13-YEAR-OLD (Studying to be an M.D.)

DEAR ABBY: I have a 73-year-old man who has lived with us for the past 10 years. My husband and children adore him.

My problem is that lately she is forgetful and has misplaced things, and then she accuses people of stealing them. She has been experiencing some memory loss and I am worried about her. She'll turn the house upside down looking for it. When I remind her that she gave it away, she'll tell me I'm "crazy."

Last week she tore one of her girdles, and when I asked her to return it, she said, "I don't have one." And when one of her friends of 40 years' standing called on her and STOLE her garters. When I reminded her that she threw them away, she said, "Oh, you're crazy!"

Anny, how would I feel if he handled?

WORRIED

DEAR WORRIED: Auntie is becoming increasingly forgetful, and a bit crotchety in her old age. She's patient, and does not contradict her. And when you name "him" or "her," YOU will go "crazy," too.

DEAR ABBY: This is in answer to "WORRIED," who wrote me a week ago and asked me to help her. Her mother is 82 years old and has had 23 children—the youngest being 10!

I hope he is able to feed them all. When will these aged men learn to cook? Other things to do? I hope you can help her.

DEAR ABBY: I have a 73-year-old man who has lived with us for the past 10 years. My husband and children adore him.

My problem is that lately she is forgetful and has misplaced things, and then she accuses people of stealing them. She has been experiencing some memory loss and I am worried about her. She'll turn the house upside down looking for it. When I remind her that she gave it away, she'll tell me I'm "crazy."

Last week she tore one of her girdles, and when I asked her to return it, she said, "I don't have one." And when one of her friends of 40 years' standing called on her and STOLE her garters. When I reminded her that she threw them away, she said, "Oh, you're crazy!"

Anny, how would I feel if he handled?

SACRIFICE BIDS THOROUGHLY MOD.

One feature of early contracts was the unwillingness World-wide players to sacrifice against South. Should have made his defense would succeed against correct play. There were plenty of poor overcalls at low levels and an alert player could gain lots started with six clubs. East's best bid was always one seemed to realize the value made in those days. 1020 Bridge World in an article entitled "Hunter Notes" in which a rival writer was proerly taken to task for overlooking correct dummy play.

When this writer played the hand he ruffed the second diamond, played a couple of trumps and then a club dummy's ace. He was sure that East held the king of both hearts and clubs and hoped that if East held exactly two clubs, he would be able to throw him in. East, the late Irene Hautain, one of the best woman players of that day, did his plan by dropping her king of clubs under dummy ace, whereupon South had hand no trump call. Therefore, all South had to do was to duck a heart completely and allow another heart from dummy. East's king would drop and South would discard one of his clubs on the queen of hearts.

It is far more interesting to note that one seems to have pointed out that East must have bid five diamonds. The contract wouldn't make but they would only have been set one trick. Of course, it was better to set four spades but if they had bid five diamonds they would probably have gotten South one trick in spades.

Whether East and West would have a sure profit.

What do you now?

ANSWER: Your partner's four diamond bid clearly was intended as the start of an invitation to get seven. Accept!

TODAY'S QUESTION

Instead of bidding three clubs, your partner jumps to four hearts over your one spade. What do you do now?

TRY OUR FRENCH DIP

From gorgeous beef roasts that are cooked in wine, spices and herbs... from an authentic French Norman recipe. You've never had anything more tasty. Au jus is real juice, not something put of a can.

STEAK SANDWICHES

And steak dinners feature steaks like sirloin prepared in this same Norman manner. All our beef is locally grown and butchered especially for us.

CHICKEN

Our chicken is marinated in Mrs. G's own special recipe that includes spices and herbs. Try it once and you will be back for more.

Our interior is designed to make you feel comfortable. We can serve over 125 people at one time. Our hostess and waitresses are pleasant and will not keep you waiting. Private banquet facilities for 40 people by reservation only.
