

Lodge Defeats Reds On Claim Of U. S. War Aim

PARIS (UPI)—U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge overwhelmed the Communists today with a mass of evidence to disprove their charges that the current Communist offensive in North Vietnam was brought on by President Nixon's escalation of the war.

For once the usually talkative Communists were unable to rebut what I said," Lodge told newsmen after today's four-hour session, the second brief meeting since the expanded peace talks began on Jan. 18. Both sides agreed to meet again next Thursday.

Lodge spoke after the South Vietnamese Communists accused the Communists of massing "many divisions" for an attack on Saigon and then implied that if the attack was carried out it could bring the Paris talks to a close.

The Communists have proclaimed at the Paris talks, and in a radio broadcast that the Communist offensive was launched because the Nixon administration "escalated the Lodge took his office on Jan. 20. After he took his office, Lodge tore their statements apart piece by piece.

Lodge refreshed their memory with the fact that the Communists had been in the long-heralded winter-spring offensive of 1959 and had boasted of it since it started.

The listed public statements by the Communists, information on North Vietnamese infiltration, captured Communist documents and the fact that weapons stockpiled by the Communists for the offensive.

Instead of response to increased and military activity the offensive "is a calculated part of a plan to take over South Vietnam by force," Lodge said.

Pham Dang Lam, the chief Saigon negotiator, made the charge the Communists were planning to attack Saigon. He did so in the face of North Vietnamese claims the South Vietnamese army had been defeated and that they would force the United States to keep its troops in South Vietnam indefinitely.

Communists Speed Offensive Toward Da Nang

SAIGON (UPI)—U.S. military spokesmen disclosed today that the Communists' spring offensive has intensified with a coordinated drive toward Da Nang and either resistance in the Michelin rubber plantation northwest of Saigon where heavy fighting raged for the fourth day.

Pham Dang Lam, chief Saigon negotiator at the Paris peace talks, charged today that the Communists had massed "many divisions" for an attack on Saigon and implied the attack would fail if the attack came off. So far the Communists have killed 10,463 Americans since the attack started last May 12.

The Communists were taking heavy losses—more than 330 in the first three days in an allied counteroffensive 46 miles north-west of Saigon and 116 in attacks on villages shielding Da Nang from the South. Other fighting has been scattered throughout the area.

The shelling of U.S. bases and Saigon has continued since then, and the Communists launched a new thrust along the northern coast, shelling the Da Nang area and striking a base south of the second largest city, killing 14 civilians and wounding 34.

The Communists assaulted a string of hamlets 10 miles southwest of Da Nang and drove into the village of Vinh Dien for the third day.

U.S. military spokesmen said today that Communist military men drove them out Wednesday in a battle that killed 116 North Vietnamese and 34 U.S. soldiers.

U.S. forces were scattered and fighting broke out in the jungled plantation 46 miles northwest of Saigon where operations continued until reinforcements arrived.

The U.S. riflemen today assaulted a North Vietnamese base camp struck previously by waves of Communist tanks but the riflemen weathered the air strikes and then planned down the attacking Americans in bomb attacks until reinforcements arrived.

B52s dropped more than 180 tons of bombs on the base camp before dawn and then an American rifle platoon was in town in helicopter when the week ending last Saturday, bringing U.S. deaths in the war above 33,000 and less than 600 below battlefield losses in Korea. Losses the previous week were 338 killed and 1,694 wounded.

The South Vietnamese lost 325 killed and 1,156 wounded in another offensive. Communist losses were put at 4,137, raising to 15,089 the number killed since the Red offensive began 26 days ago. In the first three weeks of the Tet offensive allied troops killed 32,202 Communists.

House Leadership Seeks Funding Vote

By RICHARD CHARNOCK
BOISE (UPI)—House Speaker William J. Lanting, R-Idaho, said the leadership may try for a test vote today on a bill to fund higher education and start the legislative toward adjournment.

Lanting said both parties would caucus as soon as the appropriations committee returns with a report on the government funding bill.

House Leader Ed Williams, D-Lewisville, said it was possible the Democrats might agree to rule regarding the bill could be considered.

Now a week overtime, the legislature has been decked out for the spring session.

Wednesday, the Joint Appropriations Finance Committee attempted to break the deadlock by offering to put $250,000 in surplus monies into the permanent building fund for the University of Idaho.

"Every committee is now toward attempting some sort of solution of the educational funding problem—other problems arose in the legislature," Gov. Don Samuelson said.

House bill that would allow counties to cooperate with each other on certain projects, the governor said the attorney general informed him there were some constitutional problems in the bill.

SPRING CAME TO MAGIC Valley at 12:08 p.m. Thursday and was greeted with mixed emotion. People in the northern part of the valley looked at the glass prognosticant and saw old man winter. But Rhonda Miracle of Twin Falls and Laurie Sharp, 3, of Filer, fed these lambs in the warm sunshine of a bright day in Filer.

Little Miss Sharp is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Sharp of Filer. Last year's hystack here is reminder that things do grow during the warm days of Idaho's spring and summer.

Although Thursday is the first day of spring, officially, a hint of the change in season has been in the lower Magic Valley for a week. Soon the trees will begin to turn green and the flowers will start to blossom. Maybe the holes in the roads will disappear, too. When this happens spring will surely be here and the weatherman will be forgiven for all this trouble he has caused.

Labor Camp Remodeling Set

Stockholders in the Twin Falls Labor Camp voted Wednesday night to borrow $100,000 from the Federal Housing Administration to remodel the camp in compliance with new Federal and state regulations.

Officials at the meeting who explained the new regulations to the stockholders were Don Bushnell, Boise, head of the State Labor Department; Osmer Lowe, Twin Falls, Department of Labor; Burke Cannon, State Department of Health; Bill Sanitation and Chuck Allen, of the Twin Falls FHA office.

The remodeling work will include the installation of sinks, plumbing work, electrical and carpenter work, cabinet and general work, and a new boiler room. The work will be done in accordance with the state code, installation of gas stoves and gas water heaters. When completed the buildings will have hot and cold water.

Mr. Cron noted the Twin Falls Labor Camp is the largest in the state with a capacity of 740 occupants. He said the migrant workers who start arriving in the area about May 1.

Members of the camp board of directors include Mr. Colner, Mr. Boyd, Twin Falls, vice president; Martin Hermann, Filer, and Bob Peterson, Twin Falls.

There were 110 of the 300 camp stockholders at the meeting which was held in the Idaho Power auditorium.

Mr. Cron described the session as a "congenial and no dissenting meeting, with no discussion of the problem of financing the camp."

Troops Plan To Stay On Island

THE VALLEY, Anguilla (UPI)—British occupation troops, rifles by their sides, directed operations in the nearby Caribbean island today.

Rebel President Ronald Webster said the future of his country was now up to God.

Webster said the tiny island's 4,000 residents would not resist the force of tough British paratroopers except to stage peaceful demonstrations against the invasion.

The soldiers were busy digging foxholes and polishing an array of weapons they have used since storming ashore Wednesday.

Six thousand natives kept a watchful eye on them. Occasionally a trouper would share his bed with one of the children.

Webster likened the British takeover of the 15-mile-long West Indies island to the Soviet-bloc invasion of Czechoslovakia.

"This is identically the same," he said. "That is why I have said they have done a beastly thing—send these men to a peaceful island."

British paratroopers, marines and Scotland Yard detectives landed on the island Wednesday morning to bring back to the commonwealth Anguilla, which broke away from the three-island federation of St. Kitts-Nevis-Anguilla in 1961 and reinstall Antony Leo as British commissioner.

The landing was without incident, but about 700 angry residents later staged a peaceful and tearful demonstration while Webster told British authorities he would not accept under any circumstances Leo as commissioner.

Leo came ashore after the troops had left. Anguilla was sworn in as her majesty's commissioner over the island's 6,000 residents Wednesday night.

Contempt Of Court Action "Dismissed"

A controversial legal action involving constitutional grounds against a Twin Falls attorney has, in effect, been dismissed.

The action came in Fifth District court, records revealed Thursday.

Judge Theron Ward, on signing of the parties in the action, ordered Justice of the Peace Reed Maughan from taking any further contempt of court action against Colin Bennett, the attorney involved.

Mr. Bennett has asked $5,000 damages against Judge Maughan, but this request has also been dismissed on order of Judge Ward.

Judge Maughan cited Mr. Bennett with contempt of court late last week, alleging the attorney advised a client not to pay a fine.

The Twin Falls Justice of the Peace, Mr. Hutchkins, in violation his prohibition, Mr. Hutchkins was arrested and jailed but later released on a writ of habeas corpus.

In winning the writ, it was ruled that Mr. Hutchkins was a judge in the county and sentenced to 60 days in jail. But by serving the jail term and the fine out at $5 a day, the total term would be 110 days.

And this, Judge Ward ruled, would put the case outside the jurisdiction of the Justice Court.

Mr. Bennett then advised his client, Mr. Hutchkins, of the consequences of not paying. See CONTEMPT, Pg. 2, Col. 4

Judge Defends Youth In Speech

DETROIT (UPI)—Juvenile Court Judge James H. Lincoln dropped a few words into the generation gap Wednesday when he accepted the Detroit Rotary Club 1963 Man Boy Award.

"I've heard that many boys have been going to hell for 2,000 years now," the judge said. "But they haven't made it yet."

Mr. Lincoln explained that the machine feed information on their operations in Denver regularly and in return the Denver markets send information concerning feed lots throughout the country to each feed lot enrolled. This information exchange helps the farmer decide what his animals are worth.

County May Assume Hospital Operation

By LIZ HOITON

BOISE—After eight years of operating by the LDS church under joint administration with Cassia Memorial Hospital at Burley, it appears almost certain that Minkola Memorial Hospital soon will be run by the county.

A decision on the controversial problem of hospital operation is expected within the next week. The issue was discussed at length Wednesday night during a public meeting at Minkola which drew an audience of 300 Minkola county residents.

The meeting was called by Minkola county commissioners following a letter from the board of the joint hospital board of the Cassia and Minkola Memorial hospitals of plans to merge the two institutions. Local health officials have been invited to the hospital to help plan to reduce the repeat hospitalizations which are expected to be a major problem. Canadian Cattlemen, Farmers Tour Magic Valley Facilities

A group of Canadian cattlemen and farmers viewed some of the advanced cattle feeding and machine feed processing operations in Magic Valley Wednesday and Thursday on a week-long tour of Western United States.

The visitors were introduced to the advanced "Cattle-King" system on the Redford Ranch Farms, southwest of Paul, Wednesday. The group then viewed the operations of the Idaho Cattle Feeders Association.

The tour was organized by the Paul Valley Cattle Co. of Paul, Canada, to permit the Alberta cattlemen and farmers to view at first hand some of the recent developments in the cattle industry.

For six of the visitors the trip was a repeat of an earlier tour held in 1961 which also brought them to the Magic Valley.

The tour was conducted by the Idaho Cattle Feeders Association, the only one in Idaho and one of 100 in the United States.

The machine was intended to help cattlemen help themselves. New Mutiny Trial Set To Begin At Fort Lewis

FT. LEWIS, Wash. (UPI)—Five Army privates accused of mutiny for their part in a sit-down at the Presidio Stockade in San Francisco face trial on the charge which could net them long terms at hard labor.

Their trial was transferred here from San Francisco because of "anti-war sentiment" in the Bay area. It was the first to attract such attention here since the Korean War collaborator trials almost 15 years ago.

A five-officer court headed by Lt. Col. Robert Campbell Jr. will weigh arguments against the five who could be found guilty of lesser offenses, including willful disobedience which carries a maximum of five years.

Four of the 27 originally charged have already been sentenced to terms of up to 16 years, although their sentences were drastically reduced in Washington on Tuesday.

Defendants, all from California, are Pvt. Edward O. Yost, 23; Elmiria, Ricky L. Dodd, 21; Hayward; William H. Hayes, 22; Hoadsburg; Michael E. Murphy, 19; Concord; and Harold J. Swanson, 19, San Leandro.

Last weekend about 5,000 protesters demonstrated at the Presidio gates in San Francisco. Additional protests were scheduled when the Ft. Lewis phase of the trial begins.

A spokesman said possible demonstrators will be handled according to a routine script which calls for issuing warnings to demonstrators first.

Would-be demonstrators may enter the reservation since the fort is an open post.

However, the spokesman said if they begin demonstrating, they will be advised by military police that it is illegal and escorted to a gate, if necessary.

JUNIOR ACHIEVEMENT MEMBERS are learning the art of business, building their own projects and then selling them. A special get-to-know-one-another dance will be held Saturday at 7 p.m. in the Archery Hall above the Labor Temple.

Demonstrations Protest Charges

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Quiet demonstrations to protest the mutiny trials of 27 soldiers for holding a sit-down strike at the Presidio Stockade have been held in numerous cities across the nation.

In the small community of Florida, N.Y., 27 protesters marched in a demonstration led by Mrs. Helen O'Connell, mother of Pvt. Louis O'Connell, one of the 27 already tried and sentenced to 16 years at the military reservation.

LANSING, Mich. (UPI)—A 38-year-old drive cleaner who wants to go into business for himself is finding the State of Michigan doesn't think that's such a good idea.

Brian Drolet, an organizer of the protests, said it was a "low-key effort to keep the focus of political pressure" on the trials.

"He said such protest 'does have results' and pointed to the Army's reduction of the 15-year sentence of one of the convicted soldiers from 15 years to two years.

The Army's action followed weeks of efforts by various religious and peace groups to put pressure on the military to withdraw the mutiny charges against the 27 soldiers who held the brief sit-down strike last October to protest the fatal shooting of a fellow prisoner.

Last weekend, about 5,000 protesters demonstrated at the Marin Green in San Francisco near the Presidio.

Drolet said the reduction of the sentence of Pvt. Nezvoo Sood, 26, Oakland, Calif., would be the psychological pressure "off" the soldiers still awaiting trial.

But he said the "outrage" of the mutiny trials "should not be quelled or quieted" by the reduction in sentence of one soldier.

Drolet said attention must continue to be focused on the "real crux" of the situation which he said was "that the 27 mutinying soldiers' present stockade conditions have still to be examined and the whole question of the operation of military reservations reviewed."

Another San Francisco group said it would go ahead with plans for a march on Easter Sunday in front of the Presidio 27, and the war in Vietnam and bring the troops home now."

Nearly 1,000 protesters gathered at the John F. Kennedy Federal Building in Boston and marched through the downtown area. Some 200 marched to the South Station recruiting center, where speakers called for "an end to the Presidio oppression."

In Philadelphia, about 50 demonstrators rallied at the Argus forces induction center, where the Rev. David Gracie of the Episcopal diocese declared that many clergymen were behind efforts to end the mutiny trials.

Similar quiet demonstrations had been scheduled for 116 cities in every state except Alabama, Idaho, Mississippi and Wyoming by the National Committee for Defense of the Presidio 27.

In Little Rock, Ark., the protest took the form of an acting out of the alleged mutiny. Twenty-seven members of the Arkansas Peace Information Center sat in a circle and sang such songs as "America the Beautiful."

The soldiers' sit-down demonstration was also acted out at Evanston, Ill., and Hartford, Conn. Across the nation in Northern California, speakers at Chico State College protested the trials.

The Conspiracy

The "conspiracy theory" of history has been dealt some hard blows lately.

This is the temptation to explain everything that happens in history as a mystery...

In New Orleans, a jury's speedy verdict of the matter...

In Memphis, despite a cryptic remark by James Earl Ray...

In Los Angeles, in the trial of Sirhan Sirhan...

The conspiracy theory of history is not dead by any means...

Christians agreed long ago that Easter should be celebrated as a day of joy...

Secular groups have long urged that Easter fall on the same date every year...

The Council of Nicaea in A.D. 325 declared that Easter must be celebrated by Christians everywhere...

This is the story of a parking ticket. It is Number 9186. It is one of those nice, little yellow envelopes...

Well, Mr. Spectator just put $1 in envelope No. 9186 and slipped it in one of those red boxes...

That the wind was howling and it was right cold. So why should Mr. Spectator have to stand out in that weather trying to figure out why a parking meter didn't work?

We have a small female, long-haired white dog that is up for grabs. This nice dog is about a year old...

When something happens that is not immediately explainable, it is easier to believe in a conspiracy than to believe that those in a position of responsibility...

When a ghetto or college campus erupts, it is easier to believe in a conspiracy by a hard core of trouble-makers...

Protests and demonstrations to arouse the conscience of the people about certain evils in society are one thing. But war against society itself is an exercise in futility.

For society is not a conspiracy. It is a collection of individuals possessing varying degrees of wisdom and stupidity...

The evil in the world is not planned or conspired. It is the collective result of the individual greed, fear, prejudice and competition of faulty human beings.

This is the kind of "conspiracy" each of us, as individuals, can do something about.

Because communications were then primitive, news of each year's spring equinox could not reach the far corners of Christendom in time for Easter to be celebrated on schedule...

But this resulted in more confusion, and so ecclesiastical matters further the calendar year was advancing ahead of the solar year...

These tables are still used to set the date for Easter. In fact, Easter can be calculated as far ahead as A.D. 8499 by means of Clavius' tables.

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Only the most ruthless expense-cutting proposals are going to give President Nixon any hope of offering 1970 budget estimates lower than the $195.3 billion requested to him by Lyndon Johnson.

When budgets are being made up, "first submissions" by the departments and agencies are almost inevitably a good deal higher than the final figures settled upon by the President and the Budget Bureau.

For the next few weeks, therefore, an intensive struggle at the highest administration levels will be required to get the new estimates down and allow the President to go before the country with a workable and politically acceptable budget offering.

It is a safe judgment that the swollen Department of Health, Education and Welfare accounts for almost the problem with constantly rising welfare and health care costs...

But the big incalculable in Defense is the return in Vietnam. Defense is now reeling from Europe, told the nation he would have to respond in some way if the enemy's stepped-up offensive in South Vietnam continued unabated.

No hint is yet being given as to what form that response would take, nor can it be said how far it would go.

Still, it is known that the U.S. military currently is living off its supply inventory—materials already stockpiled in Vietnam, or in the pipeline en route—and cannot do so indefinitely.

Any long continuance of the war, either at present levels or just-maintained-higher—plus—would compel costly replenishing of material stocks which could gravely upset budget calculations.

Aside from all the other concerns that the war involves, the economic factor is a potent one. Coupled with the built-in exchange escalators in HEW and HUD, serious further advances in defense spending could have dangerous impact upon this economy.

We are in the longest boom period in modern U.S. history, eight years and still going. But for the last few years, the gains have been markedly flayed by a steadily more-menacing inflation.

The Nixon budget prospect, however, is reasonably uncertain by the imponderables of war and urban chaos, offers no bright indication that the inflationary spiral can be brought under easy or quick control.

Government expenditures in the upcoming fiscal year may, in fact, be the inflationary, fires more than even.

At the same time, even if Congress spends in and tries to force extra spending cuts, the effect will be to reduce the amount of money in circulation and the chances for a wipe-out or slash in the 10 per cent income tax surcharge increasingly dim.

Negro Silence Triggers Warning

WASHINGTON — The widespread silence of Negro leaders to denounce the so-called riots, violence, campus and other disorders...

It is the blunt warning of Rep. William Scherle, R-Iowa, influential member of the House Education and Labor Committee, which has jurisdiction over this far-reaching legislation.

Making no bones of his stern indignation at the almost universal silence of Negro leaders in the national struggle against crime and extremist elements among their people, Scherle declared they will have only themselves to blame for possible unavoidable consequences.

He pointed out that this perplexing failure to speak out is particularly shocking and discreditable as Negroes are the worst victims of Negro crime.

"There is ample evidence, as reported by a recent leading poll," said Scherle, "that both Negroes and whites, by a considerable margin, support and favor a tougher law against crime."

"Yet, despite the irrefutable evidence of the urgent need and overwhelming desire of their people for law and order, white and Negro leaders, who aren't they in the forefront of the fight to suppress the vicious and the irresponsible? Privately, they shake their heads and speak sorrowfully about the grievous crime problem."

Castigatingly underlining his belief in the responsibility of the Negro leadership, Scherle cited a number of striking instances of the brutal victimization of Negroes by Negro crime and violence.

A particularly graphic illustration noted by Scherle is the nation's capital. "The Negro population of 60 per cent of the city in 1968 last year and third in all major crimes. An official report of the Federal Bureau of Investigation for the year ended June 30, 1968, reported that 89 per cent of murder victims, 79 per cent of rape victims and 84 per cent of aggravated assault victims were Negro."

Even the relatively new concept of black capitalism, said Scherle, has failed to protect its victims from the rising tide of crime.

It is ultimately able to match the Johnson figures.

When budgets are being made up, "first submissions" by the departments and agencies are almost inevitably a good deal higher than the final figures settled upon by the President and the Budget Bureau.

For the next few weeks, therefore, an intensive struggle at the highest administration levels will be required to get the new estimates down and allow the President to go before the country with a workable and politically acceptable budget offering.

There is no preventive measure, but the best precaution would be examination and a blood count from time to time.

The disease can be readily controlled when detected. Some of the common symptoms are sore tongue, weakness, louse stool and pallor.

The Coming Leak

WASHINGTON—It is only natural that those who served in the Johnson Administration want to be assured that they have their rightful place in history; and as time goes on, more and more Johnson officials will be leaking to the press the roles they played in some of the decisions that President Johnson had to make.

Just the other day Zachariah Slobodkin, who used to work in the White House, came to see me.

"You know I was always a Democrat," he told me. "Isn't that funny?" I said, "I always thought you were a Democrat."

"That was just to throw you off," Zach said. "In our conversations with the President, I always advocated accommodation with Hanoi. I did this 'democratic' game through back, who were the real players in the White House."

"I thought Slobodkin was for having the bombing in Vietnam cut off," Zach said.

"I wanted everything to think that, but in the meetings with the President, Korshak and I were the only ones who spoke."

War, and saying that we were misleading the American public about the progress we were winning over there.

"On television?" "Look, do you want to hear my story about the White House or don't you?"

"Upback and Bearwell were in the meeting, Groundwell and Sluggard and Decelerator. The president had the ear of Sluggard and Mesterhanser, I wrote a memo to the President clearly stating the pros and cons, but the memo was stopped by Alinsky who didn't want the President to get any bad news just when Lynda Bird was getting married."

"How come you never indicated this position in your self-critique to the press?" "My briefings were being monitored by Whitehead, and I was never supposed to say that I was never supposed to say that I would have been out like a flash."

"If you didn't agree with the President's policies on Vietnam, why didn't you resign?" "That's exactly what Upback wanted me to do. Also, I knew I wanted me to do, I was going to walk out and have the secretary at Mr. Resides, who would have lost my White House car privileges."

"So you decided to stick it to me through you didn't agree with President Johnson was doing?" "Of course, but now that he's at the least I can do to get the record straight on where I stand."

BETTY FURNESS, consumer affairs adviser for former President Johnson, told the Senate Executive Reorganization Subcommittee that it is a "trifle premature" to raise her old post to cabinet rank. She urged Congress to create a statutory office of consumer affairs, operating out of the executive office of the President. (UPI telephone)

Betty Furness Asks Consumer Assistant

WASHINGTON (UPI)—She told the Senate executive reorganization subcommittee, "I do not believe at this time that such an agency should be a cabinet-level department."

"We've just begun to get the federal government as deeply involved with the consumer as it should be and a department of consumer affairs would be a trifle premature with some chance of arriving stillborn."

"There's a good possibility that a Department of Consumer Affairs may be the right answer in due course — just as in the case of the recently established Department of Transportation — but I don't believe the government is ready for that step at this particular moment."

Funding Deadlock Continues

BOISE (UPI)—The Joint-Finance Appropriations Committee of the 40th Idaho Legislature was back in session this morning, continuing its efforts to break the deadlock on the funding of higher education.

Wednesday the committee of 17 members met in the University of Idaho building to discuss the surplus for building purposes in a move to get the higher education funding bill on its way through the House and end the overtime legislative session.

The session today was in its 67th legislative day and its full week of overtime.

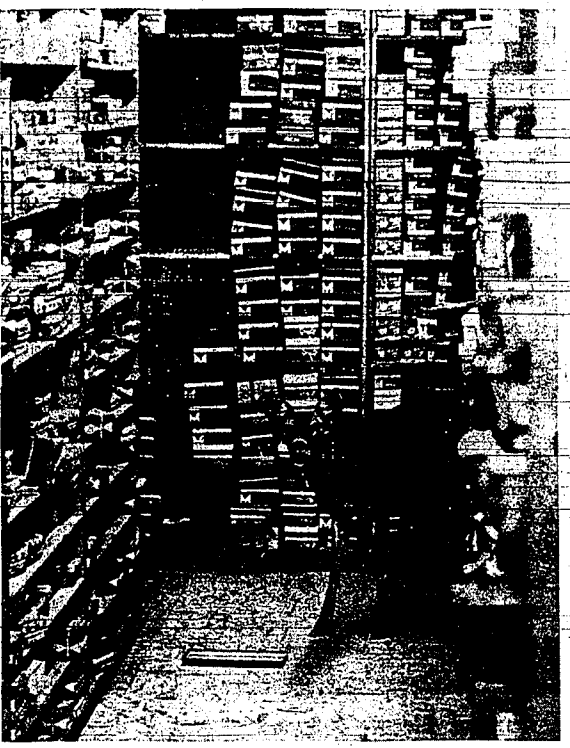

Rep. Jenkin Palmer, R-Mald., said Wednesday the $250,000 would come from the general fund surplus and would be put into the permanent building fund for the University of Idaho.

He said it was not possible to say any particular building at the moment.

He said the building could include even a proposed new law building at the University of Idaho. This virtually would be a transfer of the law school eventually to Boise State.

Earlier, the committee had considered giving the university $250,000 for capital outlay but not necessarily tying it to building construction. The vote apparently was defeated in the committee.

Committee sources said there had been talk of putting $300,000 from the surplus into the building fund for the four institutions of higher education. When the doors of the committee room opened, however, that plan had been abandoned.

A BUZZLED DOE may be looking for the way out, or just howling, through a shoe store in Pompton Lakes, N. J. The deer somehow wandered onto the main street of the northern New Jersey community on Wednesday, became frightened and ran into the store. She was held at bay in the establishment until Humane Society workers could snare her. (UPI telephone)

Wheel Falls

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (UPI)—An airplane apparently landed on one wheel at 3:30 p.m. Wednesday, March 19, at Palm Springs, figures it had to because the other wheel was on a cart.

Mrs. Stevens was driving along Vesta China Road about 3:30 p.m. when the airplane fell from the sky. She was not hurt, but her car was damaged. She was taken to the hospital.

The airplane was a Cessna 441, a four-seater, and was flying at an altitude of about 1,000 feet. The pilot was not seen.

Police inquiries to other airports in the area have not turned up any other cases of one-wheel landings.

Segregation Leader Dies At Age Of 77

BELLE CHASE, La. (UPI)—His followers affectionately and respectfully called him "The Judge" and marveled at his wit and nerve. His enemies called him a racist and shuddered at his power.

Silver-haired leader H. Perez died Wednesday at the age of 77, still trying to preserve some of the 19th Century South in which he was born, still fighting integration and the New Orleans civil rights movement.

The cigar-smoking Louisiana segregation chief was one of the three giants of 20th Century Louisiana politics—matched controversy and color only by the late Gov. Huey P. Long and Earl K. Long.

Perez, who served 5 years as a judge, 40 years as district attorney and 5 years as Plaquemines parish president, died at his Mandeville River plantation home after his second heart attack in three months.

The fatal attack came after the wealthy attorney ended a long stay in New Orleans Baptist Hospital Saturday. He had gone to his office Wednesday.

During his controversial career, Perez fought the U.S. Supreme Court, the U.S. Navy, the Justice Department, the Roman Catholic Church, bearded theologians and the New Orleans press, media and a series of Louisiana governors, including Earl Long. He once remarked to a biographer, "I maintain in Baton Rouge."

Pilots Honored For Safe Flying

NOISE (UPI)—Noise area pilots have received "Idaho Safe Pilot" awards at an annual quiet honoring those pilots who successfully complete a year of flying without a reportable accident or violation.

Among those pilots honored were William P. Coburn of Boise Cascade Groves, C. Conner and George J. Owen of Morrison-Knudsen, and MIL Smilanich of Idaho Aircraft, who received "three million" award. The award marked the first time any pilot has reached the three-million mark.

'Big Four' Conference Seen Over Crisis In Middle East

By PHIL NEWSOM UPI Foreign News Analyst

Window on the World:

The "big four" powers are expected to get together this week in search of a Middle East settlement, but with very modest prospects of early success. The Russians and the French want a quick settlement between the two parties, Arabs and Israelis, but basically designed to force Israel to start withdrawing from occupied territory in advance of an Arab coalition commitment. With Britain hedging, the United States may find itself in a difficult position at the conference table, outnumbered two-to-one and, on some issues, three-to-one.

Gaullist France, which is trying to maintain close relations with both Moscow and Peking, is doing its best not to get involved in the worsening Sino-Soviet quarrel. Diplomatic sources say Soviet Ambassador Valerian A. Zorin received no word of encouragement for the Soviet version of the recent Siberian frontier incident when he paid an urgent call on Foreign Minister Michol Dobrynin.

Nationalist China and South Korea can be expected to enter on the side of the United States in any dispute which may arise over Japanese demands for the early return of Okinawa to Japan. Both believe the United States should maintain a base there indefinitely for the peace of Asia. Nationalist Chinese newspapers have declared editorially that all the nations that

The organization said of Ludy:

"He has won all-state honors for the last two years in basketball and track—and is considering scholarships from a number of colleges and universities."

"He teaches Sunday school and leads religious discussion group for young people."

At his White House "installation" Ludy gave the President a gold honorary lifetime membership card of the Boys' Clubs of America.

Motel Owner Serves God By Helping All Mankind

By CATHERINE MARSHALL
A Man Called Peter

Every time I hear someone complain that he has "no time" for God, I think about our friend, Ellie Armstrong. Ellie is in full-time religious work — running a motel.

It's a small but neat motel on U.S. Route 61 in the rolling hills of western Pennsylvania. Ellie was behind the desk when my husband, Len, and I stopped there one night recently. She's in her early 40s, and the eyes framed by the dark hair are very blue. It's the eyes which invite you to linger and chat awhile after you've signed the register.

The place, she said, had been named Port Motel — after the nearby town of Port Allegheny — long before she borrowed the money to buy it three years ago. "But isn't it the very name you would choose for starting a motel new?" she asked. "A name Jesus used about Himself?"

"He did?"

"Of course! I am the door: (the portal) if any enter in, he shall be saved . . . and have life . . . and have it more abundantly. Isn't that the point, with everyone who comes to them to that door? And a motel — well, it means a chance to meet new people all the time!"

The blue eyes returned our startled looks with surprise of their own. "That's why I wanted a motel, you know," she said as though wondering why else one would be in business. "To meet people who might not have heard about Him."

Like, for example, the unsuspecting drug salesman who had stopped for a good night's sleep a few months back. As he registered at the desk, Ellie noticed a growth on his left eye, almost forcing the lid shut.

"You don't have to have that growth on your eye," she told him.

The salesman stared at her. "What do you mean?"

"I mean Jesus can take it off. He doesn't want you to have it. He'll take it from you."

"Look, lady, I don't believe in magic. I don't even believe in God."

"But," she said gently, "that doesn't stop Him from trying to help you." And with that, Ellie showed him to Room Three, which she knows secretly as "the miracle room for unbelievers."

"The miracle room?" I broke in.

Well, Ellie said, in a way all the rooms were miracle rooms. Each of the 14 motel units had been dedicated to God for a specific purpose: a room for healing, room for honeymooners, one for alcoholics, another for the mending of broken relationships, the convalescent room, the happiness room, and so on.

No outward sign set the rooms apart, she said, just a ceremony on April 20, 1965, when she had formally offered the motel to God. Ministers and friends came to take part in the service. First came a dedicating prayer, then the group walked from room to room claiming each for its specially named purpose.

"We don't know what God is going to do with the different people who stay," Ellie continued. "We just know that He is present in each room, to meet each guest."

As in the case of the salesman that night, other members of Ellie's church were meeting for prayer in her living room. She invited the salesman to join them, and he declined. And so they prayed for him in his absence.

A few days later he was back. Even before he got to the desk, Ellie could see that both eyes were "perfectly normal" — no growth. "Shook me up," he blurted. "I was driving down the road that morning when I happened to look in the rear view mirror, and that thing was gone! Simply wasn't there! Lady, I told you I don't believe in God, but maybe, if you introduced me to the salesman was surprised. Ellie was not. Answered prayer is a common experience here, in fact, keeping the motel open all requires daily answers to cut down expenses. Ellie, her sister and her mother not only do all the maid work but also the painting, repairs and upkeep.

Even so there are many debts, for in order to purchase the motel, Ellie had to borrow not only the mortgage money, but the down payment as well.

Ellie meets so many lonely people, crushed by problems or isolated in prisons of self, and she often gives up half the night hearing their griefs.

Indeed, the night we were there she sat up until two, talking and praying with a young couple who had just left their baby in a home for the retarded.

But there Ellie was, next morning, bright and early, to stem skyrocketing costs. One hand, a can of scouring powder in the other.

"Isn't it too bad," I said, "that you can't do these routine jobs, when God has given you so much to do for Him?"

"No, no," Ellie looked puzzled. "Oh, but this is the best time I spend with Him! This is when I go into each room and thank Him for His presence there."

As she sweeps, she said, she asks God to sweep away also the fears, anxieties or doubts that have been left behind. Washing windows, she prays that His light may shine into the room.

Step doing God's work to wash and sweep and clean? Ellie can't. For as she sees it, floors and beds and motel windows are also the fears, anxieties or doubts that have been left behind. Washing windows, she prays that His light may shine into the room.

Nixon Boosts Sales Of Public Timber

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon has ordered an increase in the sale of timber of publicly owned lands, along with restrictions on government purchases of timber in an effort to stem skyrocketing increases in lumber prices.

Housing and Urban Development Secretary George Romney revealed the actions after telling a Senate housing subcommittee that plywood prices rose 77 per cent in the past year and softwood lumber prices jumped 30 per cent.

Romney said the price increases "accompanied by increases in the profit margins in the lumber industry — a

And, in a sharp exchange with Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wisc., Romney said housing construction goals for this year were "already out the window before I took office" because of inaction in the closing days of the Johnson administration.

BUSINESSMAN HONORED SALT LAKE CITY (UPI)—William J. Wilson, president, Garrett Freightlines, Inc., was to receive the 1969 Distinguished Alumnus Award Friday from Stevens League College.

Romney said Nixon will direct federal forest managers to increase sales of publicly owned timber by more than 1 billion board feet in the next 15 months.

In addition, he said, the President directed the Defense Department to hold lumber purchases "to the minimum consistent with essential military requirements."

Nixon also said the administration will ask Congress for a fiscal 1969 supplemental and an increased 1970 Agricultural Department appropriation to provide additional timber from national forests for immediate sale and another supplemental for the Bureau of Indian Affairs and a fiscal 1970 authorization for the Bureau of Land Management out of current funds will be requested to handle increases.

CREDENTIALS ACCEPTED WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon Monday warmly accepted the credentials of the new British ambassador, John Freeman, who as editor of the New Britainer once described Nixon as "a man of no principle whatsoever."

He also said the Interstate Commerce Commission has started action to relieve a shortage of box cars used to move lumber and plywood from the Northwest.

Eugene A. Galleger, Greensboro, N. C., president of the National Association of Home Builders, said plywood prices have more than doubled since July 1967, and softwood lumber prices have increased more than 50 per cent.

Thus, he said, a home which cost $25,000 in 1967, would cost $125,000 more today, just for the lumber.

Dear Abby

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

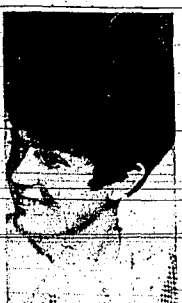

DEAR ABBY: I've got mother-in-law trouble — but not the kind you usually hear about. I am 33 and my mother-in-law is 45, and a real swinging divorcée. She's the kissy type, always kissing me hello and good-bye, even when I'm only going into the next room.

If I sit down, Maureen (that's her name) is on my lap in two seconds. She's always wanting me to dance with her, and when she cuddles up, her instincts are anything but maternal.

My wife doesn't even notice, and thinks it's great that her mother likes me so much, Abby.

SON-IN-LAW

DEAR SON-IN-LAW: First start calling her "Mother" instead of Maureen. Then tell her you don't like dancing, and she's too heavy to hold on your lap. If she's still in your hair, you must be doing something wrong. My wife is 33 and her mother-in-law is 45. She's always wanting me to dance with her, and when she cuddles up, her instincts are anything but maternal.

MISERABLE

DEAR MISERABLE: Your husband sounds like a sick man. Tell your story to one of your three wonderful married children. This is my complaint: My hubby has retired and he stays at home all the time. Now life is forever changing everything around in my household, and I am going crazy trying to find things. If I say anything to him about it, well, Abby, you never heard such foul language. Then he will get angry at me and won't speak to me for days. I don't mind that but he always doors and pulls out drawers until I think I will lose my mind.

DEAR ABBY: I am writing this for "WEE TUMMY" who gets "sick" to her stomach at the thought of eating at a relative's house where the dishes are laid around the house, but your man is overdoing it.

I am 13, and I still remember taking baths in the kitchen sink. I was great! I want to add that my mother is probably the cleanest woman alive. Truly, ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: When our twin arrived, shortly after World War II, the only place we could find to rent was a three-room apartment with a shower — and that's where I bathed the babies for a year. (I bathed one on the dirt diapered by her diaper while I bathed the other one.)

If I had any concern about "germs," it was that the babies had free from contamination. I bathed the sink very well BEFORE and AFTER each baby bath, and if our guests ever threw up after eating here I never knew about it. STILL HEALTHY

Samuelson Enacts Law On Employees

BOISE (UPI)—Gov. Don Samuelson signed into law Wednesday a House bill which exempts future employees of elected state officials from provisions of the merit system.
The bill, which became effective when the governor signed it, also sets forth 17 reasons for which employees may be disciplined or fired.
Samuelson also signed into law two House bills raising the amount of workmen's compensation an injured worker may receive to a maximum of $41 per week for a single person. This compares to a top of $37 at present.
These bills become effective July 1.
Still other legislation signed Wednesday by the governor includes a bill providing classified state employees with 40-hour work week and overtime compensation for overtime in certain cases.

Otto Otepka Gets New Job In 'Security'

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Otto P. Otepka, a controversial State Department official suspended from a security job by former Secretary of State Dean Rusk, was named today by President Nixon to a $36,000 vacancy on the Subversive Activities Control Board (SACB).
Otepka, who formerly was chief of the division of evaluations at the State Department, was nominated by Rusk for providing certain information to a Senate committee without department authorization.
The President's selection of Otepka for membership on the SACB is subject to Senate confirmation.
Otepka was named to a vacancy created by the death of a board member, Edward C. Sweeney. The appointment is for the remainder of Sweeney's term ending August 9, 1970.
Rusk ordered Otepka fired in 1963 but Otepka stayed on the payroll while appeals dragged on through the years.
Rusk acted on charges that Otepka violated a presidential order by giving confidential documents to the secretary of internal security subcommittee.
Otepka appealed the case first to a State Department hearing center and subsequently to the Civil Service Commission. The Civil Service Commission upheld Rusk's action in part by reinstating Otepka but held that he should be demoted to a nonsecurity job rather than fired.
That was in December 1967. Otepka sought restoration to his previous $10,000 a year job when the Nixon administration took office but Secretary of State William P. Rogers ruled that his legal appeals had been exhausted.

None Hurt Lengthy Siege Ends

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI)—A metal worker armed with a shotgun and a pistol locked himself in his small home with six of his children Wednesday and threatened to shoot anyone who approached, but police talked him into surrendering after a nine-hour ordeal.
No shots were fired.
Charles E. Keough, 27, walked meekly from his modest white shingled bungalow after police Inspector Jack Wallace shed his gun and walked up on Keough's porch to talk him into surrendering.
The ordeal, which began at 1:30 p.m. CST Tuesday night, after Keough argued with his wife, ended shortly after 8 a.m. when police agreed to investigate Keough's claim that his wife, Jewel, "needs psychiatric treatment."
"Charlie wouldn't have hurt those kids," said one of several bystanders, who identified himself as Black Moore, Keough's employer. "He's a damn good worker. I know him well."
Keough and his wife, who had several children, were taken to police headquarters in separate squad cars, relative went into the Keough home to care for the eight children—two of whom had fled with the mother, when the trouble started.
Police said Mrs. Keough took two children from the home late Tuesday night and she was leaving. Keough hauled out a double-barrelled shotgun and a .22 pistol, threatening to kill anyone who came near.
Mrs. Keough ran to a neighbor's home and called police. Officers surrounded the house but decided to "wait him out."
Shortly after 8 a.m. Wallace walked into the street in front of the bungalow, dropped his pistol and shouted that he was coming onto the porch to talk. He conferred with Keough through the screen for about 20 minutes.
Wallace brought Keough's demand to police Chief Henry Lux, who agreed to talk to Mrs. Keough. When Mrs. Keough was placed into a squad car, Wallace returned to the porch and Keough, a tall, thin man with dark hair stepped into the sunlight without his guns.
During the long night, Mrs. Keough telephoned her husband several times urging him to surrender. At one point she begged her husband to "behind your children," but he hung up. The children, aged 2 to 12, presumably slept through much of the ordeal. Police said they heard no crying or talking in the house.

Automaker Adds Brake Defect To List

DETROIT (UPI)—General Motors Corp., already in the biggest recall campaign—0.9 million cars and trucks as they could be checked for potentially defective exhaust systems and carburetors—the largest single recall in automaking history.
Tuesday's announcement of four related campaigns linked the death of a teen-ager in the crash of a school bus in Hultsville, Ala., last November to possible defective braking. Three other junior high school students were injured in the bus, with 46 aboard, careened out of control down a hill.
The National Highway Safety Bureau investigated the accident and reported an examination of the master cylinder part indicated a "stomping" could have led to a loss of hydraulic pressure and resulting brake failure.
The examination also turned up evidence the bus had not been properly maintained and the brake lining on all four wheels were worn below the rivet heads, which should have been noticed by persons maintaining the vehicle, the examiner's report said.
"That bus was of the type in which 18,000 Chevrolet and GMC Truck & Coach Division bus chassis and medium duty trucks were recalled."
GM said seven accidents had been reported involving trucks, another involving a school bus and nearly 20 involving passenger cars among those being recalled.

Tennessee, Army, Temple, All Systems In Steelhead Transplanting Project Are Go; Success Seems Assured

By LARRY HOVEY
Times-News Sports Editor
A happy time for the Idaho Fish and Game Department, Idaho Power Company and Idaho anglers has come to pass in the third year of the gigantic and costly operation of transplanting the middle Snake River Steelhead run into the free-flowing Salmon River drainage. Not only are spawners still providing eggs at the Idaho Power dam complex in Hells Canyon, the Niagara Spring hatchery and rearing facility sending winding up planting of the 1967 and 1968 year classes of steelhead into the returning fish into the spawners, at least four females loaded with eggs have returned to the Pahsimeroi planting ponds.

Don Corley, Salmon region biologist for the Idaho Fish and Game Department, said fishing has ranged from very good to poor in the Salmon River since the closing days of February. But the happy portion has been the miles of planted steelhead continue to provide 25 percent of the fish diverted to the steelhead.

In something like 45,000 second feet of water spilling through the dam, the same time, Quidor noted that one female Steelhead caught returning to the Pahsimeroi had been stripped of 3,000 eggs—five known—three were gone into the trap (by Tuesday night) so it is looking very good up there," he said.

Bucks Win Right To Bid For Alcindor

MILWAUKEE (UPI)—West Pavalon says he's tipped coins before for hot dogs when he was a kid in the city of Chicago. "And, at that time, they were very important to me," he said. "I always won."

Wednesday's coin flip was an impromptu one, but the bearded Pavalon won again, not for a hot dog but for the right to negotiate for the professional services of coach Alcindor.

Both Pavalon and Bucks General Manager John Erickson deny that there was any "name player" in mind for the National Basketball Association's first round.

Phoenician won the right to call the toss, took heads and the coin came up tails.

Torres Is Happy With Cards, Pact

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (UPI)—Joe Torres worked out for the first time in St. Louis since the uniform Wednesday after signing "the best contract I ever received" late Tuesday night.

Torres, traded from the Atlanta Braves to the National League Champions for first baseman Orlando Cepeda Monday, was received with a $5,000 raise boosting his salary to about $70,000.

Bulls Blow Game In Last Seconds

CHICAGO (UPI)—Tom Boerwinkle missed a straight free throw with two seconds to play Tuesday night and the Los Angeles Lakers eked out a 93-92 win over the Chicago Bulls in a National Basketball Association game.

The Bulls, ahead after the first and third quarters and tied at the half, wiped out a five-point lead in the last two minutes and got the chance to win when Jerry West fouled Boerwinkle as he tried for the winning bucket with the clock running out the game.

Quidor said so far 450,000 smolt sized Steelhead have been transferred from the Niagara plant to the Pahsimeroi holding ponds—or about 55,000 ponds of fish. He said three more trips were planned this week before a two-week delay designed to let some of the smaller fish grow a little more before shipment.

Quidor said with the weather starting to break in the Salmon area, the department officials and persons connected with the project will take a two-day "contingency" look at the overall operation and results early next week.

Burlington, Paducah Cop NJCAA Wins

HUTCHINSON, Kan. (UPI)—Led by the clutch shooting of Fred Brown, Burlington, Iowa held off a determined second-half comeback bid by Murray State (Okla.) to register a 57-52 quarterfinal victory Wednesday night in the National Junior College Athletic Association Basketball championships.

Brown, who ended the game with 23 points, was backed up by Dick Gibbs who added 22. "Burlington held a six-point (34-28) halftime advantage but Murray State tied it 50-all at the 33:30 mark of the second stanza and jumped out in front by three points before Burlington caught fire, behind Brown's clutch baskets.

The victory lifted Burlington to 2-4 for the season while Murray State fell 27-5. Earlier Paducah, Ky., led past Hutchinson, Kan. 85-83 in a quarterfinal contest.

Driesell Takes Job At Maryland

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (UPI)—Charles "Lefty" Driesell officially became the head basketball coach at Maryland University Wednesday afternoon.

Driesell said he knew he was putting himself on a spot but finished his first year at Davidson in 1968 with a 27-10 record, including a 27-0 mark this season.

Daniels, Pacers Shatter Nets

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI)—The Indiana Pacers, behind a record Mel Daniels, won the way Tuesday night to capture a 143-114 American Basketball Association game from the New York Nets.

Daniels swished in 56 points, one short of the ABA record held by Connie Hawkins of the Minnesota Pipers, and led in a team record 31 rebounds. His rebounding performance also led one short of the league record, 32, held by Ira Harce of the Oakland Oaks.

JEROME — A six-month-old baby found guilty of disturbing the peace by airplane in a trial held in the Jerome prison court.

The complaint was brought by Mrs. James Kelly. Mrs. Sullivan was represented by Frank Reilly and S. A. Kolman represented the baby's mother. The charges were dismissed as denied by the court, but following a short deliberation, the jury returned the innocent verdict.

Glenns Ferry School Cooks Given Raise

GLENN'S FERRY — Glenns Ferry hot lunch cooks have received a 10-cent-an-hour raise. Mrs. Rebecca Montague, school board clerk, reports.

George Peter resigned as trustee from the King Hill district at the March board meeting, since he is moving from the community. Board members appointed Bud Allen to serve until the regular trustee election in May.

Supt. George Powell was authorized to start proceedings for a three-mill plant facilities levy election to be held in May. The Head Start summer program was approved for the district and the summer recreation program tentatively was approved as it was run last year.

All teachers were rehired, except two in the high school. One of these was released to reduce the staff, necessitated by financial shortages, the superintendent explained.

PTA Names New Officers At Shoshone

SHOSHONE — New officers for the Shoshone PTA were elected at a meeting Monday night at the Lincoln school building.

They are Rev. James Holl, president; Carl Kinney, first vice president; Rev. Wesley Johnson, second vice president; Mrs. Robert Ballard, secretary, and Mrs. Clarence Peterson, treasurer. The new officers, along with appointive officers, will be installed at the April PTA meeting.

Mrs. Elwin Webb reported for the nominating committee. Other members of the committee are Mrs. L. M. Halmaker and Mrs. Alice Baker.

During the business meeting conducted by Mrs. Burton Thorne, retiring president, the bylaws were read and changed regarding dues.

A group of high school students, under direction of Elmer Park, as narrator, gave their views on the generation gap, grips and rules, drinking, smoking and drugs, setting behavior patterns, spending money, trustworthiness and dating.

After the Shoshone youths presented their information, Ritta Laskinon, who is attending her senior year here as an exchange student from Finland, compared the youth habits and regulations here with her country.

Shipment Of Drugs Carries Bill For Tax

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Robert L. Cupid, 28, was arrested at International Airport Tuesday night when he allegedly claimed a 20-pound package of marijuana valued by police at $50,000 on the illegal market.

A. Anthony Bondar, head of the police narcotics squad, said one of the "bricks" of marijuana found inside the package contained a penciled note.

"You owe me $1710 plus 10 per cent sales tax. Thank you," the note read.

Pope Paul Plans Trip To Africa

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — Pope Paul VI will fly to Kampala, Uganda, in July for the first visit by any pope to Africa, the Vatican said Wednesday.

The Pope said it would be a "quick" trip, apparently to dedicate a new cathedral at Kampala, which commemorates African martyrs, made saints in 1965.

A trip by the Pope to Africa would be his seventh journey abroad since his election in 1963.

In Nairobi, President Jomo Kenyatta immediately issued an invitation to the pontiff to visit Kenya during his trip.

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Sirhan B. Sirhan is a young man who is frightened of sex and reacts far differently than almost any other man when exposed to it, a psychologist testified Wednesday at the murder trial.

It was the 25th birthday of the Arab immigrant on trial for the murder of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

Dr. Roderick Richardson resumed showing the jury a series of pictures which he had put before Sirhan and asked him to make up a story of what was happening.

One showed a woman nudging from the waist up on a bed and a man standing clothed.

Richardson said Sirhan's reaction was: "Did he murder her or rape her?"

"Then he said he once had seen a movie in which a detective snapped a picture of an illicit affair and he said that might be what was happening there."

"He has a sexual problem—it is a frightening thing instead of an accepted thing," Richardson said. "Never in 7,000 cases did I ever have anyone theorize that there was a picture snapped by a detective."

Sirhan was beaming when he came into the courtroom and he shook hands warmly with his attorneys.

His mother and two brothers were not in court when the trial began—and Sirhan seemed somewhat disappointed. They entered about 15 minutes later.

Sirhan sits quietly in court while defense psychologists describe in professional terms how he is different from other people and subject to fragmentation of his paranoid personality.

Russell M. Parsons, one of the defense team, said he held Sirhan's hand during the testimony.

Dr. Richardson was to continue his analysis of Sirhan today.

His testimony, plus that of Dr. Martin Schorr and three de-clinical psychologist, described (fense psychiatric witnesses to follow will be aimed at saving Sirhan from the California gas chamber.

Schorr came under embarrassing cross-examination. He conceded he had lifted passages from a New York psychologist's Book-of-the-Month selection to describe Sirhan as a boy disappointed by his mother's rejection.

Richardson described Sirhan as a young man who "needed mothering." He said he felt himself "weak, cowardly and unmasculine" and that the killing of Kennedy made him a man.

Scientist Stresses Need Of Funds To Save Crucial Sites

PULLMAN, Wash. (UPI) — The tragedy that destroyed the archaeological site where remains of the oldest Americans were found could be repeated at other sites unless more money is made available. This is the warning of Dr. Richard Daugherty, a nationally known anthropologist at Washington State University.

Mike Dakis Is Principal At Valley

EDEN - HAZELTON — Mike Dakis has been hired as principal and history teacher at Valley High School. Mrs. Dakis will teach speech and English. Mr. Dakis has had seven years experience as administrator, four years at Leadore, two years at Hohen, Colo., and one year at Fairfield. He has been superintendent of schools in the community. His duties will begin Aug. 15. It was necessary to add Mr. Dakis to the administrative staff of Valley High School because of the request of the State Department of Education and the Northwest Accreditation of Secondary and Higher Education. The board of trustees, being cognizant of the possibility of loss of accreditation concerned that it was advisable to hire the principal. According to F. H. Rist, when a high school reaches a minimum of eight teachers, a fulltime principal is recommended. In a school the size of Valley, it is imperative that a fulltime administrator, other than then superintendent, be in charge of the operation for the supervision of teachers and participating in student activities. This is a fulltime position. Valley High School has always been accredited in previous years. This year, however, the school was put on the advisory list for lack of a principal working with students and their activities. The addition of Mr. Dakis to the faculty will remove the advisory status. Teachers have been offered contracts, and a list of re-hired and new teachers will be released. Dr. Tom Utterback, superintendent, states that Valley High School is not offering and has never offered any courses in sex education and does not plan to do so.

St. Patrick's Day Is Observed

The Twin Falls Business and Professional Women observed St. Patrick's Day at their meeting Monday night at the senior citizens' building. Mrs. Ann Strong, president, introduced Mrs. Minnie Cox, Terome, program chairman. Mrs. Cox presented a program of Irish songs along with members of the Jerome Club. Mrs. Helen De Coursey, Mrs. John Sears and Mrs. Cox gave vocal numbers, a monologue and played records. Mrs. De Etta Campbell reported the group now has eight gold card members. These are rewards for having secured five new members. The activities of the Samois Club were reviewed by the B.P.W. members who had participated in their programs. Mrs. Marie Doss, Mrs. Linda Sorrenson, Mrs. Minnie Benkula and Mrs. Doris Flinn were welcomed as new members.
