Vietnam Conflict Tops Korean War In Battle Deaths

SAIGON (UPI) — America's longest war became its third costliest, foreign conflict with the heaviest death toll in Vietnam has surpassed 33,029, the Korean War mark.

The Marine general said the best way to shorten the Vietnam fighting was to invade Laos and the southern reaches of North Vietnam, Communist sanctuaries against ground assaults.

"I'm not trying to raise the ante," said Maj. Gen. Ralph Davis. "But we came here to assure the freedom of South Vietnam, and I don't think that can be accomplished with anything less than the defeat of the North Vietnamese army."

The total death toll in Vietnam since Jan. 1, 1961, surpassed the Korean War mark during the night, military sources said, but the official announcement will not come until April 10. More than 210,000 GIs have been wounded in Vietnam fighting.

Military spokesmen reported one sharp ground battle, pitting South-Korean troops against Communist soldiers hiding in caves on South Vietnam's central coast. The Koreans reported 100 guerrillas slain in the Monday fighting.

Among the military bases targeted for overnight attacks were the major U.S. Army and Air Force bases at Bien Hoa and Long Binh, on Saigon's northern outskirts. Neither suffered serious damage to what headquarters termed tight barracks.

Vietnam became the United States' longest war about a year ago, going back officially to Jan. 1, 1961, when headquarters began keeping a count of casualties.

Davis' proposals to shorten it were by far the most outspoken by any American military man recently. Davis is commander of the 3rd Marine Division along the demilitarized zone.

Nations Disagree On Peace

UNITED NATIONS (UPI)—A split in Big Four today threatened success of the forthcoming talks on the Middle East and the future of a U.S. peace settlement in the quarrel between Arabs and Jews.

The 15-nation United Nations Security Council met today on an Afro-Asian resolution demanding condemnation of Israel for last Wednesday's air strikes on Egyptian territory at the Jordanian city of Es-Salt.

Diplomatic sources said the United States and Britain would not favor the resolution, while France and the Soviet Union would approve the proposal.

The split was certain to affect the Big Four talks on the Middle East problem scheduled to open Thursday at the French U.N. Mission.

Western diplomats said the United States will insist on Israel's right to control a vital part of a peace proposal to be presented at the talks.

They said the U.S. proposal also provides for U.N.-controlled demilitarized zones in areas where Israel presumably would have to pull back from territory seized in the 1967 Middle East war.

Blast Entombs 138 Miners In Mexico

NUEVA ROSITA, Mexico (UPI)—Powerful gas explosions killed two and trapped 138 miners today in a mine in Mexico.

Inside, Rescue workers pulled out seven bodies and gave up the other miners for dead today.

"They were all buried. There's nothing we can do now but try to uncover their bodies," said Gen. Hernandez, a miner who has dozens of friends among the trapped men who tolled in the mines for 524 hours.

The explosions rocked the No. 2 and No. 3 mines operated by Altos Hornos, the government-financed mine, and a nearby northern Mexican mining community of 800. All entrances and exits to the mines were blocked.

Ignacio Villaseor, general manager of the Altos Hornos steel plant in nearby Monclova, said the explosion in mine No. 2 and 112 in mine No. 3—a total of 145 men. With seven bodies recovered, it left 138 men apparently entombed.

It was believed the worst coal mine disaster in North America since May 10, 1928, when 103 miners died in a gas explosion in a mine in Mowqua, Ill.

Nixon Meets Dignitaries After Rites

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon met today with Premier Mariano Rumor of Italy, opening a day-long series of private conferences with visiting foreign government leaders who came here for the funeral of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Five foreign dignitaries and White House appointments including Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky of South Vietnam, German Chancellor Kurt Georg Kiesinger, Prime Minister John Gorton of Australia, President Habib Bourguiba of Tunisia and the Shah of Iran.

Rumor, the first caller, talked with the President for about half an hour in the oval office, with others following at intervals ranging from 15 minutes to an hour.

Nixon had conferred Monday afternoon with Henry Cabot Lodge, the chief U.S. representative at the Paris talks, as well as with Ambassadors Ellsworth Bunker and Gen. Andrew Goodpaster from Saigon.

Contributions To Fund For Fireman's Family Continue

Contributions to aid the widow and daughter of a Twin Falls fireman killed in the Penny Way drug store blaze last Saturday continued to pour in Tuesday.

And firemen have organized a state trust fund for Roy Parker's 3-year-old daughter.

Funeral services for Mr. Parker will be held at 1 p.m. Wednesday at the Highgate Chapel. Final rites will be at the Richfield Cemetery.

The trust fund for little Angela Carol Parker is being set up by the Idaho State Council of Firefighters and all donations will be placed in the Roy Parker Memorial Fund.

Meanwhile, other contributions for the widow and daughter are being accepted at the present time. Firemen have given more than $300 out of their own pockets to help meet certain expenses and purchase groceries.

Twin Falls police officers donated $300 out of a police benefit fund, and by Tuesday morning another $100 had been donated by individual officers.

Mrs. Parker will get $1,000 in life insurance through a city policy and another $250 a month from the Roy Parker Fireman's Retirement Fund.

A Social Security officials indicated Tuesday that Mrs. Parker would be eligible for benefits. They said they would contact Mrs. Parker later and help her work out details.

Spring Weather Covers Nation

By United Press International

Weather across the nation was calm and dry today, mostly as if it were planning an elaborate April Fool's Day joke on the unwary.

Spring activity was nonexistent, with precipitation limited mainly to light showers in the Northwest and a few lingering flakes of snow around the northeastern Great Lakes region.

Temperatures in the eastern half of the country were slightly after record-setting cold Monday. Some of that day's new lows were two below zero at Minneapolis, Minn., five at Madison, Wis., eight at Dubuque, Iowa, 10 at Moline, Ill. and 14 at St. Paul, Ind.

Syracuse, N.D., and Alexandria, Minn., ended March with a zero below zero reading.

Today's early morning temperatures ranged from seven above zero at Old Town, Maine, to 75 at El Paso, Tex.

Work Under Way On CSI, Kellwood Jobs

Construction on two big projects in Twin Falls got underway this week when crews moved into the College of Southern Idaho campus and the site of the new CSI health-care building.

A portion of the Kellwood plant should be ready to receive equipment in about 120 days, with the remainder of the building scheduled for completion several months after that.

Concert

Combined choir—from the five elementary schools in Twin Falls will present a concert at 7:30 p.m. tonight at the Twin Falls High School gymnasium.

About 600 fifth and sixth graders from Washington, Blackie, Lincoln, Morningstar, and Harrison school will participate.

There will be a small admission charge for adults and students will be admitted free.

Mine Union Seeks 'Black-Lung' Law

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI)—Plans to press for "black lung" legislation in the Ohio General Assembly were formulated Monday by the primary goal of the proposed legislation is to gain recognition of pneumoconiosis as an occupational hazard for the purpose of obtaining workers' compensation benefits for coal miners.

In West Virginia, 42,000 UMW members struck for a month to gain comprehensive pneumoconiosis legislation.

Waiting Period Advised

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Mamie Eisenhower's plans are uncertain as she faces life in the heretofore putting off major decisions affecting her life for at least three months.

"I would like to live with the things they've been living with," she said. "If they give up everything, they will regret it. I've added. I've seen it happen many times. I hope he can advise her."

Mrs. Eisenhower's son John, newly appointed ambassador to Belgium and his wife Barbara, have been urging her to join them in Brussels when they move to their new embassy home soon.

Europe is not new to Mrs. Eisenhower. She lived in France for several years when Eisenhower was supreme commander of the NATO forces.

Disturbed by the death of her husband in 1955, Mrs. Eisenhower has not been able to concentrate on her future.

Her longtime friend, Washington's First Lady, Mrs. Kennedy, however, is convinced from recent conversations with Mrs. Eisenhower she will move back to Washington, and is renting an apartment in an older hotel where she resided during World War II.

Hymn-Singing Americans Bid Farewell To Ike As Cortège Train Passes

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The train carrying Dwight D. Eisenhower to his final rest, clattered across the nation's heartland today and thousands of persons dotted the route for a last goodbye.

They staid, hymn-singing Americans from historic Civil War towns in Virginia and the coal fields and rolling farm country of West Virginia, some waiting through the night, turned out as the 10-car funeral train pulled by three Diesel engines headed west to Abingdon, Ky., boyhood home of the World War II hero.

Crowds of more than 1,000 turned out in Charleston, W. Va., and Huntington to catch a glimpse of the passing train. At a 10-minute stop to change crews in Huntington, one of the military officials aboard thanked the group for turning out on a cold, misty morning.

"I know the general would have shed a tear if he had been here today," said Col. Clement Riley.

The train was dark with all shades drawn as it pulled out of Huntington and headed for the west by Kentucky border almost three hours behind schedule around 6 a.m. EST.

Eisenhower, who died Friday in Washington, will be buried Wednesday in the Kansas town, he left 58 years ago to enter West Point, starting a career that carried him to the White House as one of the country's most beloved presidents.

The warmth he evoked in life surfaced again in death as 5,000 persons jammed the railroad through the population of most of them standing silently, some singing "The Battle Hymn of the Republic." The train slowed to a crawl as it passed through the populated area, was running at least two hours behind schedule.

In White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., about half the community's 3,000 residents waited patiently in 10-degree weather as the train, expected at 11:30 Monday night, finally came into view at 1:10 today.

The train, with the carrying Eisenhower's body draped in black, left Washington at 6:50 p.m. Monday, about 60 minutes behind schedule. It lost more time traveling through stations at eight miles an hour.

The train was to arrive in Abingdon about 11 p.m. EST.

It was being moved by four different railroad lines. The Chesapeake & Ohio was carrying it from Washington to Cincinnati, where the Baltimore & Ohio takes over for a run to Huntington. The train was to be moved by the Norfolk & Western to Kansas City with the Union Pacific taking the final run to Abingdon.

Mr. Eisenhower and other members of the family rode in the last car—the "Old Santa Fe"—the one Eisenhower loved. It is a 1951 Pullman. It announces his candidacy for president. The Eisenhowers also used the car, usually assigned to the president of the Santa Fe Railroad, for their winter trips from their farm home in Gettysburg, Pa., to their vacation home in Balala Springs, Calif.

Ogden was carried aboard the car in case it was needed by Mrs. Eisenhower, who suffers from a rheumatic heart condition. She has never been hospitalized since she was hospitalized at Washington National Cathedral Monday after funeral services.

She regained her composure See I-2, Page 2, Column 1.

HOUSE MINORITY LEADER Gerald Ford of Michigan, right, has appointed Idaho Congressman Orval Hansen his floor assistant for a week. ## UPRR Denies Jobs To Leave Gem State

OMAHA, Neb. (UPI)—Eddy H. Bailey, president of Union Pacific Railroad, has denied allegations that 250 jobs are to be eliminated by the company in Idaho.

In a letter to Sen. Frank Church, Bailey said, "Your concern is certainly understandable, particularly in view of some of the exaggerated statements which have appeared recently with respect to our work force in the State of Idaho. There is no truth in the statement that 250 jobs are to be eliminated."

"Admittedly there have been some reductions made in our operating points due to certain changes in our operations, and this takes place from time to time not only in Idaho, but in other states in which we operate," Bailey said.

The Union Pacific president said the railroad had moved its inspection work on diesel locomotives from Pocatello to Salt Lake City "where we have an up-to-date shop, and where the work can be done much more economically than with the facilities we have at Pocatello."

To offset this work reduction in Idaho, Bailey said the railroad has "moved other work to Pocatello that has resulted in no reduction in the number of employees" the firm had previously.

"Idaho has long held a strategic position on our railroad and has a fine labor force," Bailey said. "We have done what we can to maintain a stable work force and service throughout the state. However, I know you can appreciate the unrest and insecurity caused by unsubstantiated claims and idle rumors."

Bailey added, "We want to keep long-range interests in Idaho foremost in planning any changes and we hope you and the citizens of the state keep in mind as we continue to upgrade facilities."

City Board Suggests Sign Change

The Twin Falls City Highway Commission recommended Monday that directional signing at the intersection of State Highway 74 and U. S. Highway 30 be changed.

The signing presently directs Twin Falls and Pocatello traffic on Highway 74 and Sun Valley traffic on Highway 30. The commission also recommended that the intersection of Highway 74 and U. S. 30, it was felt that motorists taking Highway 74 are entering the city through the back door. The sign is directed along U. S. 30, they would be able to find their way through the city easier.

The commission also is less able to recommend a large flow of traffic. The commission asked the signing be changed to send Twin Falls and Sun Valley traffic on U. S. 30 and have the signing on Highway 74 read "Airport Road." The final decision on the request will be made by the city board.

City Zoning Board Sets 2 Hearings

The Twin Falls Planning and Zoning Commission will hold public hearings on two rezoning applications at 8 p.m. tonight at the city hall.

The request of the State of Idaho Department of Public Works to rezone from residential low density to residential medium density will be considered. The request is being made so the state will be able to use this piece of land on Harrison street in new construction of a child development center. The land was given to the state by the city of Twin Falls for this purpose.

The application of E.H. Gyer and Al Wirsching to rezone from residential medium density to residential professional a portion of the city block of Harrison street. These parties plan to sell the property to allow for construction of a convalescent home. The property is located in the 500 block of Haysman Avenue West.

Following the commission's action the Twin Falls City Council will hold a public hearing Monday at its next regular meeting.

Vietnam Bombing Slashed

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird announced today that B52 bomber raids in South Vietnam will be curtailed under orders by President Nixon to cut defense costs.

Laird also said that production of a new short-range, ground-tipped missile—designed to be fired by bombers at ground targets would be delayed for the same reason.

"They are among $613-million in new cuts in the Defense Department's spending budget for the fiscal year beginning July 1, Laird reported to the House Armed Services Committee.

In today's statement Laird said: "As much as I would like to support his recommendation, the budget stringencies, under which we must operate in fiscal year 1970 will not permit a continuation of that rate beyond June, 1969."

Laird did not spell out the extent of the flight reductions, but the saving involved will be about $50 million. Other U.S. officials said B52 strikes could be increased above the planned level if the military situation required it.

The biggest item in the $613-million cut—nearly half of it—was a decision to delay production of the nuclear-armed Short-Range Attack Missile (SRAM), designed to be fired at land targets by nuclear bombers from distances of 50 to 100 miles.

The next biggest category of new cuts was an ground, air and sea targets. The Navy said it will not be replenished quite as quickly as once planned.

Also included are plans to inactivate eight destroyer-type ships and 10 other navy vessels. Laird noted that the number of B-52s the Navy must maintain in Southeast Asia can be reduced since naval gunfire against North Vietnam halted at the same time bombing of the North was stopped Oct. 31.

Ray May Get New Trial In Tennessee

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI)—The death of the trial judge in the James Earl Ray case could bring the convicted slayer of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. a new trial under Tennessee law, an Appeals Court judge said today.

The key apparently was the contents of a letter mailed by Ray to Judge W. Preston Battle, who collapsed in his chambers and died of a heart attack Monday. Battle, 60, recently had returned from a vacation following the Ray trial three weeks ago.

Ray pleaded guilty to the April 4, 1968, murder of King in Memphis and received a 99-year prison sentence during a jury trial required by Tennessee law in the state capital. Ray had his lawyer, Percy Foreman, advised him to plead guilty to avoid a possible death penalty. "But after Ray began saying his sentence in the state prison at Nashville, he reportedly had second thoughts and considered seeking a new trial. He wrote Battle asking sources said for a new trial. Battle's office confirmed receipt of the letter, but did not divulge its contents.

Judge Charles Galbraith, of the state court of Criminal Appeals said in Nashville that Tennessee law provides any motions for a new trial pending before a deceased judge must be granted. The law does not define a motion, or how it must be filed, he said.

Home Facial Process Is Explained

Once upon a time it was the fashionable thing to gather up the first fresh strawberries, mix them with cool, foamy cream and enjoy a concoction for a home facial.

It was messy and certainly a waste of delicate fruit because the facial offered limited benefits. Thanks to some of the modern methods of skin care.

After the long winter, the facial "touch" need perk up your skin and make you feel like a beauty machine readily available that does the job easily and effectively. Saunda, Inc., of 1111 S. Main, has introduced a process by combining an attractive beauty appliance and special beauty preparations in the same unit. This unit can be used for home facial scrub, freemover, moisturizer and emollient—have been specially formulated by a dermatologist and cosmetic chemist with the Saunda beauty machine.

Utah Officials Pause In Memory Of Eisenhower

Utah state and local government activities paused for two hours Monday to allow citizens to observe the death of President Dwight D. Eisenhower. Commemorative services were held in the Tabernacle in Salt Lake City.

Harold B. Lee of the Council of the Twelve Apostles of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints addressed the memorial service in the Tabernacle. He said, "There are no creeds in the world today, no political divisions, no nationalities. There is but one heart—and that heart is sad, continued of the soldier-statesman, 'May those who in high places adopt the high standard he set.'"

Computerized Reservations To Ease Travel Headaches

By MURRAY J. BROWN
UPI Travel Editor

NEW YORK (UPI)—Do you know how many reservations you have made in the last 24 hours? (telephone any hour of the day, seven days a week, and you confirmed reservations at hotels and motels, you have probably made more than 100.)

It is true. And the service and cost you pay for one central office you need is a small card which is being made available free of charge to anyone who wants it.

Alfred Bloomingdale, chairman of the board of Diversa Club.

A few years ago Bloomingdale came up with the idea of developing a simplified reservation service for hotels and motels which would help eliminate some of the headaches of the traveling American.

He realized that such a service would have to be speedy to be effective and a computerized system of some sort seemed best.

He said recently, "The system was developed jointly by RCA and Reservations World, a subsidiary of Diversa Club. There are more than 12,000 hotels and motels throughout continental United States in a pair of RCA computers in New York."

Car rentals also can be arranged now while plans are being made to include travel by plane.

According to Bloomingdale, the traveler "can make a single telephone call to five reservations centers and while he is still on the phone get a confirmed reservation for a hotel or motel room or car rental."

Reservations centers are located in Chicago, Los Angeles, New York, Philadelphia, St. Louis, and San Francisco. More centers

Pueblo Decision To Be Studied By Navy 'Brass'

CORONADO, Calif. (UPI)—The findings, opinions, and recommendations of a court of inquiry into the seizure of the USS Pueblo by North Korea starts through the Navy "brass" today.

The five admirals who heard eight weeks of testimony could recommend anything from a medal to a court martial for Cmdr. Lloyd M. Bucher and the other 81 surviving crewmen.

"The court has completed the first phase—the findings of fact"—a Navy spokesman said Monday. "The admirals arrived at 550 such findings written on 123 legal-sized pages."

The court still must complete its opinions and recommendations before the report is sent to Adm. John Hyland, commander in chief of Pacific forces, who convened the inquiry.

"We anticipate it will probably be the end of next week before the entire package is forwarded to Adm. Hyland," the spokesman said.

The power to order any action with Hyland but it was expected the court's findings would be ready by the chief of naval operations, the secretary of the Navy and President Nixon before he acts.

Grid Star Believes Faith Can Affect All Of Life

By BILL GLASS
All-Pro End for the Cleveland Browns

"Although professional football is a tough and highly competitive sport, contrary to what most people think, the men who make their living playing football are not big, dumb brutes. Most are college graduates engaged in business during the off season. Many are active in civic affairs, youth organizations, service clubs, and are active in family life. Cleveland, to have a deep religious faith and try to live their lives accordingly.

There is only one way to play football in my book and there is only one way to be Christian and go all out. I like the modern translation of I Corinthians 9: 26, where Paul says, 'I don't shadow box, I really fight.' For me, there was the game our Cleveland Browns played against the Dallas Cowboys toward the end of the 1968 season.

Every man on our team was thinking, 'If we can beat Dallas, we play for the championship of the National Football League. And if we win that one, then we go on to the Super Bowl.'

The previous Sunday we had beaten Washington, but that was a bad day for me. I had hurt my ankle, and it was still in top shape the following weekend.

The game started, and I began to drive off the line into the tackle who played directly over me. Sure enough, my ankle popped early in the first quarter, but I kept playing.

We fell behind, and the game wore on. In the second half I kept thinking, 'If only I could do my job.'

The Cowboys had the ball and we were on the right side of the field. The play went to my left and was breaking for the side line. I had to get my hands on him.

I wanted to make the tackle that would have put Perkins out of bounds when Boeke plastered me with a block. Perkins picked up eight yards after he got past where I should have made the tackle. "You hurt me, you hurt me," he yelled and I thought he had clipped me. I yelled at Boeke, "Cheap shot!" We were both in a foul mood.

Boeke looked at me contemptuously and yelled, "Bill Glass, you ask me, you're sure not much of a Christian, but I know you've heard of Jesus Christ. Well, we lost the game, but we got back to Cleveland, and a letter was waiting for me from Jim Boeke.

"Dear Bill, 'Guess you might be a little bit of an apostle. I'm not apologizing for anything I did on the field, but for what I said on the field, I really had no right to say you were not a Christian, guess it all came out of the heat of the game. The block I threw at you was a good legal block and not a foul-out-of-bounds shot, or one taken after the whistle had blown (the movies proved he was right). For both of us, yes, no, contradiction, I play football hard and give it 100 per cent of my effort—just the same as I try to do—in practicing my faith.

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—Not even Pope Paul's most intimate advisors know the identity of his new "secret" confessor, Vatican sources said Monday. There has been speculation that the two, among 35 named by the pontiff Friday, are prelates from Communist countries who would be in a difficult position if their appointments were made public.

Passport Business In T.F. Growing

The passport business in Twin Falls County is on the increase. In 1969 only 45 passports were issued to United States citizens who wanted to escape the confines of Twin Falls and discover for pleasure or business the mysteries of foreign lands.

Clerks in Fifth District Court took information on the 45th passport book in February and estimates are that more than 200 people will apply for passports locally before this year is gone.

Last year District Court clerks took information for 135 passports. Getting a passport is a simple matter, but clerks said some people have had trouble because they don't allow enough time, or they show up with the wrong information.

An applicant must have a certified copy of his birth certificate and two facial pictures. The pictures must be no larger than two and a half inches square.

The applicant also must know his parents' birthdate, place of birth, mode of transportation to and from America and estimated date of departure. It helps to list the countries the applicant wants to visit, because clerks report Cuba, North Vietnam and Red China are "no no's."

The information is collected at the District Court in this Twin Falls County courthouse. It is then sent to the passport agency in Seattle. The fee is $10 of which goes to the passport agency. It takes from two weeks to a month before the blue-gray passport is mailed to the applicant.

In cases of emergency a passport can be issued in five days, and there is a $3 cost for this. District Court clerks emphasize this method should be used only in case of emergency.

Then there is the matter of immunizations, either in Boise or in the state in which the applicant is mailed to the applicant. On the average, the clerks process a passport every other day in Twin Falls.

To eliminate delays, clerks said it is wise to obtain the certified copy of a birth certificate as just that. Many times people come into the office with a copy of a birth record issued from the hospital at the time of birth.

This record, complete with appropriate seals and signatures, is the certified copy of a birth certificate. The only way to obtain a certified copy of a birth certificate is to write the Bureau of Vital Statistics, either in Boise or in the state in which the applicant was born.

A certified copy will be mailed.

Ike May Replace Face On Quarter

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Rep. William J. Scherle, R-Iowa, proposed today that the likeness of Dwight D. Eisenhower replace that of George Washington on 25-cent pieces.

Scherle introduced a bill to make the change, saying this tribute to the late former President "is only fitting when one considers his dedicated service to his country."

Clerks reported hospital records are often confused with the true birth record and this is the largest cause of delays in the issuing of passports.

How Much Safeguard Must Congress Buy?

WASHINGTON—Even if Congress should reject President Nixon's controversial anti-missile defense, expensive components of the "safeguard" ABM system will be needed to alert U.S. offensive forces.
That is the private word from Pentagon planners. They say the sophisticated early warning equipment, planned for the anti-missile deployment, is vital, even if no defensive intercept is to be attempted.
In their view, the long-range radars of the "safeguard" warning net would be needed to alert the President to an incoming missile attack and to ready U.S. missiles and bombers for a possible retaliatory strike.
Perimeter acquisition radar (the acronym is PAR) gives the ABM system the ability to pick up incoming missiles at a range of about 1,000 miles. With related communication and data processing equipment, the PARs account for some $1.5 billion of the $4.7 billion estimated cost for a completed "safeguard" deployment.

The radar arrays are costly because of their complex electronics and their size. The giant PAR antenna is more than 100 feet in diameter, and the equipment is housed in a building 200 feet square and 130 feet high.
ABM critics have said the big radar installations — the long-range PARs and other radars for missile control — are not needed for a complete "safeguard" deployment.

Plans That Click

The tragic fire in Twin Falls last Saturday afternoon proved the logic of being ready for a catastrophe even though one may never happen. And it proved that various groups can work in harmony with a minimum of delay.
Every fireman in town — on or off-duty — was at the scene of the fire. Every available policeman, city, county and state — was on the alert and taking care of his assigned duties.
And, at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital, although it was what could be termed a lazy, early spring afternoon, the doctors, the nurses and other staff members were ready and waiting when the first victims of the tragedy were brought through the emergency entrance.
This is truly the way a community should be geared to operate in an emergency and this emergency could include scores of people or just one person.
The Times-News is happy to be able to report to the general public that everything that should have been done in connection with the local fire was done.
The people involved had a job to do — a specific job — and everybody did it. It was a fine example of community cooperation all the way up and down the "ladder."
We onlookers can be very proud of those who did the job.

"Hi Ho, Hi Ho, It's Off To Work We Go —"

Another Try

Shortly before leaving office, former Secretary of Labor Willard Wirtz attempted to implement a reorganization plan for his department which would have eliminated an estimated 350 jobs and saved about $4 million a year.
Partly because of the manner in which the proposed changes were decreed from the top, apparently without any detailed consultation with state subdivisions of the federal manpower system, a howl of protest arose as President Johnson took care not to involve himself in support of the changes.
Now, Labor Secretary George Schultz is proposing much the same changes, but only after consulting with key members of Congress as well as leaders of the various labor programs at the state level. There have been no public protests, and the Schultz program has an excellent chance of being enacted.
President Nixon personally announced the proposed changes, which consolidate several agencies engaged in administering federal manpower programs. Job training and recruitment functions of both the Bureau of Employment Security and Bureau of Work Training, will be merged into the new U.S. Training and Employment Service.
Whether these changes will result in the savings Mr. Wirtz predicted only experience will show, but the administration has found there are doors to economy in government operation if they are approached along the correct pathway.

Depression

Dear Dr. Thosteson: All my life I have suffered from mental depression and as I grow older it gets worse. I am 69.
Four years ago the doctor started me on a course of antidepressants which has helped me wonderfully. (Two a day.)
Now I am wondering if it is all right to take any drug indefinitely. The doctor made no efforts to stop using it, but always with bad withdrawal effects. I just seem to "fold up."
But my doctor says to continue with it. What do you think? — Mrs. R.S.
While the anti-depressants used in the short-term, rapid type of medication, to bridge an emotional gap, they can be and have been taken for prolonged periods.
In your case, your problem is one of long standing, and long-term treatment is called for. Your doctor knows your particular condition. As you would have discontinued the drug if he thought it necessary.
As it is, he sees the medicine didn't want it. It is supposed to do, and does no harm. It is a wordy way of saying I can't see any reason why you should not keep on with the medication.
Dear Dr. Thosteson: For the benefit of the person who complains of a "flat" gas in his case it will be coffee and nothing else. — M.B.
Quite true in many cases and often overlooked.
Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have low blood sugar and have been on a diet (high protein) for several weeks. My energy, blood sugar level, just week after week, will low. Will I have to stay on this diet the rest of my life? I have lost weight on it.
I have low adrenal Addison's disease and take cortisone for it. Could this have any bearing on the low blood sugar? — Mrs. E.H.
Yes, Addison's disease (which involves the adrenal glands) is one factor in low blood sugar — not the only one, and not the only cause of low blood sugar. But the adrenals have much to do with sugar metabolism. Addison's disease means these glands are functioning at a below-normal level.
I suspect that you will have to be on the high protein diet indefinitely. The low blood sugar can be increased by eating more of the foods allowed in your diet, especially fats. This will help to counteract the weight without disturbing your blood sugar control.
Dear Dr. Thosteson: I see that you have a booklet called "How You Can Control Arthritis." There is an arthritis drive going on in our city, and I want to work in it. Is this a cause worth working in? I have arthritis. As Mrs. J.J.C.
It is a cause most decidedly worth working in. Among the things that need to be done are further research until we find some cures to what causes arthritis; further search for a cure, if possible, rather than merely controlling a case; establishment of more centers specializing in rheumatology; more education of people on arthritis; and, for one, too many people jump to the conclusion that they have arthritis and decide to suffer. Yet many varieties of similar troubles aren't true arthritis, and can be corrected. For one, the Arthritis Foundation estimates that more than $250 million a year is being wasted on quacks, useless "cures," or overpriced "secret medicines" that don't do as much good as much cheaper treatments can.
Note to A.B.: You have to expect a ritual (anal) Fistula to exist quite a time healing, because "fistula" means an abnormal opening which has to heal gradually outward until the whole length has healed.
Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am an elderly woman who has developed intestinal candida overgrowth from the use of an antibiotic.
Is this an irreversible process? I discontinued the drug several months ago but see no change. Can anything be done? — R.F.
This is a condition which means that the normal bacterial content of the intestine has been suppressed by the antibiotics, and certain mal-organisms (candida) have flourished.
This is not an irreversible condition, but it may take time. Buttermilk preparations containing many varieties of similar bacteria (probiotics, not beer) will reestablish the bacterial balance.
Arthritis sufferers can be helped. Dr. Thosteson's booklet discusses many types of arthritis and related joint diseases as well as offering effective treatment and medication. For a copy of "How You Can Control Arthritis" write to Dr. Thosteson in care of this newspaper, enclosing 35 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.
Dr. Thosteson welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume of mail, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

MR. SPECTATOR

A Foundation Discovery

Remember when you sent your dime into the March of Dimes when it all got under way when FDR was President? Well Mr. Spectator, read something the other day that is really interesting and here it is:
The National Foundation — March of Dimes has revealed that research it sponsored more than 20 years ago as a "good gamble" in its fight against polio formed the basis of a chain of discovery that may culminate in the ability to change human genetic processes.
In its Annual Report for 1968, the voluntary health agency reviews the three decades of its history and shows how all diseases of mankind — physical and mental — are basically interrelated.
In 1946 the March of Dimes gave a grant to a small group of scientists led by Dr. Linus Pauling at the California Institute of Technology to study the structure of protein. For this work, Dr. Pauling was given the Nobel Prize. He had discovered that the protein molecule consisted of chains of amino acids in the form of a helix or spiral.
Dr. Pauling's work set scientists to thinking about nucleic acid — the basic molecule of every living cell. Years later the recipient of a March of Dimes fellowship, Dr. James Watson, worked with Dr. Francis Crick and Dr. Maurice Wilkins, to create a model of the nucleic acid molecule (DNA) in the famed form of the double helix. Among other things, this model explained how, through chemical arrangements on the double helix, the genes convey "order" to the cells of the next generation. Today geneticists are decoding the language of nature in which this information is phrased. The next vital final step, according to the Annual Report, "will be to 'turn-off' genes that are sick but active, and 'turn-on' those that are healthy but inactive."
Scientists hope some day to make actual substitutions in the living body of healthy genes for sick ones, thus giving mankind some measure of control over the genetic process and allowing him to interrupt the transmission of genes to the generation of those accidents of nature called birth defects.
Through three decades The National Foundation has demonstrated in the laboratory and in the clinic, in fighting polio and in fighting birth defects, that a partnership between the public and the medical-scientific communities is an effective way of

ANDREW TULLY

Really, It Was Quite A Week

WASHINGTON — To collectors of the somewhat significant, it was a week in which Sen. Barry Goldwater, 60 and married, upstaged the Canadian Casanova by brushing off in his newspaper type the nude female, while young (49) Pierre Elliott Trudeau behaved like a primo minister.
Dismissing the ministrant as worn by such celebrities as Mrs. Ted Kennedy, the Arizona marked with Playboy Magazine filippancy that "if you've seen one naked woman you've seen them all." Prime Minister Trudeau, on the other hand, made no attempt to sneak a blonde or even a redhead into temporary quarters at Blair House.
Indeed, the Washington society page editors who presume to speak for females in this town were disappointed with Pierre Trudeau. Although the Canadian prime minister had been touted as a male who drove dames into a frenzy of uncontrolled passion, he didn't send the Washington species. Perhaps the local dotes were preoccupied with the sinister ideas designed to open Goldwater's closed mind to the subject of female nudity.
Off the comments of women who said that the Trudeau's behavior, it was impossible to recognize the toharoo who cut such a romantic swath on his visit to London, the dames were downright cut in getting his peckmarked face and suggesting that he buy a toupee to cover his sandy juttus. Cretaceous. One contended that his cuffed, three-button gray suit apparently had been tailored for "this little brother," another that the youth, in getting dashing in a Don Juan who "just stood there as meek as a mouse."
In the world of glamour where the bachelor claims kingship, perhaps the unluckiest cut of all was the general conclusion that the ladies applied exclusively to "older women." Or, as the wife of a Canadian naval officer put it, "Older women want to mother him." No, a bachelor, however Washington, is not a man of noisy nephews and nieces, would be less catastrophic than such pat-on-the-head type casting.
It is possible, of course, that between his public appearances Trudeau found his secret way to the fair of some level of horse recumbent on a tiger skin, and there sipped champagne from a convenient siphon. I think not, however. Washington, after all, is not London. Despite its pretensions, and I suspect the Scourge of Soho was infected by the false atmosphere of the Nixon administration. I am sure someone up there in Canada reminded the primo minister that the Nixon might look askance at the spectacle of their guest hitching two luscious girls in a chariot for a drive down Pennsylvania Avenue in the wee hours.

The Sleep-In

To the common garden variety of married man, the Trudeau flop was comforting support for his secret theory for the romantic appeal of the bachelor — especially one who'll never see 30 again — is mostly myth. Acutely aware of the erotic aggressiveness and sheer tenacity of the female sex, the husband cannot quite believe that bachelors of the Trudeau stamp would not have been trapped long ago if they were really such hot stuff.
Her pronouncement suggests that the Machiavellian maneuvering between the sexes, the Barry Goldwaters may have an edge on the Pierre Elliott Trudeaus. As husbands, they are living proof that females found them irresistible.
"They can't take your federal aid away from you for sleeping," Harvard law student said, "as long as you do it peacefully."
"Sure," the M. I. T. student said, "that's what they tell you now, but who's going to say if you were sleeping peacefully or not? Suppose you have a restless leg syndrome."
An Oberlin music major said, "That shouldn't be our concern. If sleeping is going to make this country wake up to the fact that we want peace, then I say we should sleep."
Her girlfriend said: "After a week in Fort Lauderdale I'll need seven days and seven nights of sleep, even if it isn't for peace."
"I was lucky to interview students at Fort Lauderdale who were on Easter vacation to get their reaction."
One said, "I wish we had known about it in Chicago. We would have had a lot less casualties."
But his friend disagreed, "knowing the Chicago cops, they would have probably come in a pair of iron trunks and bustled our heads."
A third student seemed doubtful that Lennon's tactic was practical. "You can't get that kind of protest on television, except maybe on educational TV. And if you don't get on television there doesn't seem to be any sense in protesting."
This opinion was shared by a University of North Carolina sophomore. "I could sleep in a park for seven days and seven nights, but I don't think it would work if I had to stay indoors. Like I mean, you can't get the protest to be with your friends. It's no kick holding up a picket sign if nobody is going to see it."

ART BUCHWALD

The Sleep-In

A beautiful lady of my ken who has survived two busted marriages without lapsing into neurosis put more tranquility, "Bachelors" she snorts prettily. "They parade their improbability to the marrying woman, but they don't tell you how many women have turned them down."
Her pronouncement suggests that the Machiavellian maneuvering between the sexes, the Barry Goldwaters may have an edge on the Pierre Elliott Trudeaus. As husbands, they are living proof that females found them irresistible.

"I was lucky to interview students at Fort Lauderdale who were on Easter vacation to get their reaction."
One said, "I wish we had known about it in Chicago. We would have had a lot less casualties."
But his friend disagreed, "knowing the Chicago cops, they would have probably come in a pair of iron trunks and bustled our heads."
A third student seemed doubtful that Lennon's tactic was practical. "You can't get that kind of protest on television, except maybe on educational TV. And if you don't get on television there doesn't seem to be any sense in protesting."
This opinion was shared by a University of North Carolina sophomore. "I could sleep in a park for seven days and seven nights, but I don't think it would work if I had to stay indoors. Like I mean, you can't get the protest to be with your friends. It's no kick holding up a picket sign if nobody is going to see it."

GIVEAWAY DEPT.:
I have five cute black and white puppies to give away. We also have five gray striped kittens that need homes. If interested please call 326-4412 or see Marvel Childs at 106 South 5th St., Flor.

U.S. Backs Israel In Conclave

UNITED NATIONS (UPI)—The United States will insist on Israel's right to control a unified Jerusalem as part of a Middle East peace proposal that comes up for discussion by Big Four nations starting Thursday.

Western diplomats making the disclosure said the U.S. proposal also provides for U.N.-controlled demilitarized zones in areas where Israel presumably would have to pull back from territory seized in the 1967 Middle East war.

The talks were scheduled to open Thursday at the French U.N. Mission and include U.N. ambassadors of the United States, the Soviet Union, Britain and France.

The U.S. proposals in the Big Four talks were disclosed by Western diplomats who declined to be identified.

The American proposals were "warmly welcomed by the British and considered by the French as a possible basis for discussion. The same diplomats said they had heard no reaction from the Soviet Union.

While emphasizing Israel should keep control of a unified Jerusalem, the U.S. proposal urges that Jordan play a role in the city's civil, economic and religious domain.

The American proposal also urges:

- Re-attainment of the Gaza Strip to Jordan by means of a corridor.
- Free passage for all shipping through the Suez Canal and the Straits of Tiran leading to the Israeli port of Elath.
- Settlement of the Palestine Arab problem by either permanent resettlement or repatriation.

The American proposal says the "Arab problem cannot be treated as a whole but should be applied piece by piece. Israel has said it will not accept a Big Four solution.

Chinese Communists Convene Congress To Oust President

By CHARLES R. SMITH — HONG KONG (UPI)—This role as Mao's chosen successor.

Premier Chou En-lai, also vice chairman of the party until August 1968, was elected as secretary general.

The cultural revolution as proclaimed by Mao since the Communist party since the early days of the Bolshevik revolution was just as bloody.

There were no political figures in Peking, Shanghai, Canton, the great cities of China, were torn by street rioting, strikes, open rebellion, massacres and open acts of executions as the cultural revolution raged from the far reaches of Sinkiang province to the industrial regions of Manchuria.

That Mao had won the struggle became apparent last Nov. 1 when a surprise report from Peking told of a secret plenary session of the Chinese Communist party which formally expelled Liu from the party and all party posts and plunged him into what Mao has called disgrace.

The denunciation had the ring of finality and it was clear Liu reported under house arrest for months was out. But to legalize the ouster the Politburo Congress was finally convened today. All indications were the congress was packed with Maoists and it was doubtful there would be any nays in the final voting.

BOISE (UPI)—Richard D. Cummings, 16, Boise, was listed in satisfactory condition at St. Luke's Hospital Monday afternoon after he apparently shot himself below the knee while trying to unload a pistol.

Ada County sheriff's deputies said Cummings and two other boys were in a pickup 3 miles north of Highway 30 east when a tire on their pickup went flat. When they stopped to change the tire, Cummings took the pistol out.

John Stanger, one of the passengers, said he woke up to see Cummings open the pickup door and fall to the ground.

BOISE (UPI)—The Greater Boise Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors has been told that Boise State College students were "not only short-changed but insulted" by the Idaho Legislature's appropriation for higher education.

T.H. Eberle, chairman of the chamber's College Committee, made the statement in a report he read to the directors. They voted unanimously after hearing it to withhold the report's text from publication pending a study.

In the report, Eberle cited the differences in state funding per student between the University of Idaho, Idaho State University and Boise State College.

He said the State Board of Education had "grossly underestimated" Boise State College's enrollment.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—General Eisenhower was described on the floor of the U.S. House of Representatives Monday as a man of "great strength and toughness but passionately dedicated to the cause of peace."

Rep. Orin Hatch, R-Idaho, used those words in eulogizing the former president.

Hatch and his wife attended final services for the former president Monday.

Hatch said he first met Eisenhower in Chicago in 1952. He said the former president "made it his business to know the man. He had a deep belief in the American dream and faith in God and in the future of our country."

Idaho Boy, 10, Is Shot In Hunt Mishap

ST. ANTHONY, Idaho (UPI)—A St. Anthony youth is reported in fair condition at a hospital after suffering an accidental gunshot wound in the abdomen shortly before noon Monday.

Larry Marsalek, 10, son of Mr. and Mrs. Demar Molella, St. Anthony, suffered a bullet wound in an accident near St. Anthony, he was hunting magpies with three other youths.

According to the St. Anthony police department, the youths had been hunting with three BB guns and one .22.

When the 22 ammunition had been exhausted, the lads started home. As 12-year old Michael Morris crawled through a fence, Marsalek in the left wrist and abdomen.

Morris left his two brothers with the wounded youth and ran to a nearby airport so someone could get him to the hospital.

Marsalek was taken by ambulance to hospital where he underwent surgery late Monday afternoon.

'Shootout' Kills Officer

Racial Friction Still Vexes Detroit

DETROIT (UPI)—Despite the major causes of the Black nationalists clashed with police officers, the riot of 1967, friction between the black man and the white policeman remains a major problem here.

The problem was underscored by the shootout Saturday night between police and extremist Negro. Legationist. One white officer was killed, another wounded.

Det. Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh recently told a legislative committee the troubles that beset this fifth largest city reflected "increasing polarization within this country. The middle-aged versus the young, black versus white, the prosperous versus the poor."

"Almost all these polarities have particularly vexatious effects on the city," he said.

Hubert Locke, Cavanagh's administrative aide until early in 1968 when he became head of the religion department at Wayne State University, said Detroit "reflects all the grandeur and misery of American racial society."

Shortly after the riot, which cost 43 lives and some $60 million in damage in July of 1967, a survey by the Detroit Free Press showed the black community which is 40 percent of the city's 1.6 million residents—blamed police brutality, housing conditions and unemployment. In that order, as

Mariner Told To Seek Star For Guidance

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI)—America's Mariner 7 spacecraft today was ordered to seek out the star Canopus and align itself in the proper position to scan Mars with its television camera.

The maneuver, controlled from Jet Propulsion Laboratory, was completed about 3 p.m. EST as the windmill-shaped craft headed toward a rendezvous with Mars Aug. 4.

The original schedule called for Mariner 7 to "acquire" Mars shortly after it was launched last Thursday from Cape Kennedy, but scientists decided to delay the maneuver because of "three striking irregularities in the spacecraft's performance."

The difficulties were temporary and Monday scientists decided to go ahead with the star-finding phase, which is essential to the success of Mariner 7's mission to take closeup pictures of the Martian southern hemisphere.

Canopus, a bright star which remains in a fixed position relative to Mariner 7 throughout its long journey through space, is used as a reference point to align the spacecraft's cameras with Mars.

Mariner 7 will arrive at Mars five days later than its twin, Mariner 6, which was launched last month. Their mission is to determine whether Mars can support life as it is known on earth and to take detailed photographs of the planet.

Deserted Spouse Takes Delayed Action In Court

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—After 48 years, Arthur Addison decided to make it legal.

He filed suit for divorce Monday, charging desertion.

In reply to a question, Addison said he had been married "so long" ago, he could not remember the date. His wife left him, he said, "four or five different times (and) I had to go 'round and fetch her. But she left for good in 1921."

DEAR ABBY: I am divorced and remarried. My ex-husband and I have a 6-year-old daughter and I have two younger children by my present husband. My ex-husband has been in Vietnam for two years. He has been living with a Vietnamese prostitute for eight months, and recently wrote that he's marrying her and bringing her here as she's expecting a baby in three months.

NO: I don't care WHO he marries or what her nationality is, but my "ex" has visiting rights, and Abby, when I think about my daughter being around this prostitute, I want to throw up. My husband and his new wife will want to take my child for week-ends, and I can't stop them because that's what it says in the decree.

I can't see how a woman who has been a prostitute can ever change. Please tell me if I am wrong. What do you think I should do? Tell me and I shall try to abide by it.

A MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Cool it. You know too little about the Vietnamese "prostitute" to condemn her in absentia and at such a long distance. Give your ex and your successor a chance. Then act, if necessary.

DEAR ABBY: What advice have you for a 22-year-old girl who's pretty and smart, and lives in a small town with snobbish people who won't let her forget that she lives on the wrong side of the tracks?

NO FUTURE

DEAR NO: The next time the trait comes thru, get on it.

DEAR ABBY: If there isn't an organization called "RELIGIOUS FANATICS ANONYMOUS" there ought to be. I am serious. My husband is a real nut on religion. Now I go to church, too, and I think everyone should go once a week, but my husband LIVES at church. He runs there before he goes to work every morning, and when he comes home late from work I know he's stopping in at church again. I wonder what he has done that his conscience bothers him so much. This man has got to be the world's champion sinner. I keep telling him he is going to wear his knees out, and he says I'm nagging him.

What do you say, Abby? How much church is enough?

FANATIC'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: Let each man decide for himself how much "Church" is enough.

DEAR ABBY: Hoory for the woman who admitted her error in naming her son "Junior" and had to suffer through the "Big and Little Bob" syndrome.

Now, what can be done about people who mark their progeny with William Williams, John Johns, Robert Roberts, Ima Ford, or Ima Anything.

Mary Martha Circle Holds Bible Study

WENDELL—Mrs. J. M. Morgan was assisted by Mrs. Ray Evers and Fitzsimmons as hostesses at the monthly Bible study of the Mary-Martha Circle of the United Presbyterian church. Mrs. Ell Bennett presented the Bible study from the Book of James. Mrs. Pearl Cook led the Service of The Least Coin. She chose at her topic "Woman The Teacher."

Mrs. Neal Ambrose will present the program at the April 10 United Presbyterian Women Meeting. Her topic will be Guatemala.

The annual Spring Luncheon will be a joint affair this spring with women from both the Methodist and Presbyterian churches acting as co-hostesses. A special program is being planned, Mrs. Bennett stated.

Mary Davis Art Club Convenes

Oil, acrylic, water color and pastel paints were the media used by the members of the Mary Davis Art Club at a meeting in the country home of Mrs. E. D. Taylor.

Mrs. Lamar Hewlett was selected president for the year. Other officers selected included Mrs. Elgin Wilson, vice president, and Mrs. Ernest Stettler, secretary-treasurer.

The program, "Making Flowers From Percale," was presented by Mrs. Hewlett. An article on the artist, Robert E. Wood, was reviewed by Mrs. Stettler. Mrs. John Keltcher, Eugene, Ore., was a guest.

Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Keltcher and Mrs. Marion Wall. The next meeting is with Mrs. Delbert Craig on April 23.

Area JOC Club Hosts Birthday Luncheon Meet

GLENNIS FERRY—The Hammett JOC Club met at the Hammett Manor at the Ronald Yance residence recently with several former members among the 26 in attendance.

Mrs. John Gruse, Caldwell, used to reside at Hammett, and Mrs. Coral Foster, Parma, was a King Hill resident. Guests included Mrs. June Howland, Huston, a sister of Mrs. Earl Hoalst, club president this year, and Mrs. Edith Shenk and Mrs. Bea Rippe, Indian Cove.

This was the spring birthday luncheon, and there were eight who received gifts from their pollyannas.

Mrs. Robert Wood was program chairman who read several of her original poems and conducted contests centering around St. Patrick's Day. Mrs. Wes Lee Hoalst, Meridian, played Irish music, and Mrs. Deen Collett and Mrs. Houston Hitt danced an Irish jig.

At the April 17 meeting there will be the annual reading of the bylaws passed in 1923. A short history will be given, since the club will then have reached 46 years in age. This meeting is to be in the Koffler Kup-Cafe, Hammett.

Mrs. Shotwell Reviews Book At Baptist Women's Meet

Mrs. Merritt Shotwell reviewed the book "Close Your Eyes When Praying" by Virginia Hudson, when members of the Baptist Women's Mission Society met recently.

Mrs. Robert Lightfoot gave the opening prayer and Mrs. Howard Durward was in charge of the love gift service. Mrs. Lightfoot gave the prayer of dedication and Mrs. Jack Asher presented the new theme of the year, "Put Love Into Deeds."

The closing prayer was given by Mrs. Ann Holloway.

Members of the Susanne Circle were hostesses. The next meeting is set for 1:30 p.m. April 15.

Mrs. Robert Anderson is in charge of the installation service using as her theme, "They Fell Silent and Listened."

Members of the Idealen Circle met for a Fellowship Tea with Mrs. Edward Skinner as hostess. Mrs. Robert Smith gave the opening prayer and Mrs. Merit Eider was in charge of the devotional service. Mrs. George Cutler gave the program, telling of the religion and culture of Indonesia. A note of thanks and greetings were read from the Idealen Conklin, missionary, for a Christmas contribution.

Shutlin friends were visited after the meeting. The next meeting is set for 8:30 a.m. April 13.

Members of the Susanne Circle did not hold a March meeting but have a meeting scheduled for 8 p.m. April 15.

Mrs. Robert Anderson hosted members of the Tracy Gipson Circle, with Mrs. Holloway giving the opening prayer and reading correspondence from a special interest missionary, Mrs. Esther Weibe, who heads the mission work at Hamman, Congo, South India. Mrs. Lightfoot announced the spring rally to be held April 18 at Jerome. Reports were made of sick members and prayers requested.

Mrs. Ruby Hill was in charge of the program, "Night of Mountain Vows." It was a book review of one chapter of the study book, "Ten Against the Storm." Mrs. Holloway gave the closing prayer and Mrs. Anderson read refreshments.

The next meeting is set for 2 p.m. April 10.

Members of the Rebecca Shee Circle convened at the parlor with Mrs. Tom Hughes as hostess. Mrs. Vern Routh gave the opening prayer and Mrs. James Hines reported on the progress of the new program, "Put Love Into Deeds and Make It Real." Mrs. Helen Taylor was in charge of the program, speaking on the Burma Mission field dating back to early history to present time. The next meeting is set for 2 p.m. April 20.

Wealthy Women Often Get That Way By Inheritance

NEW YORK (UPI) — American women with fabulous fortunes—$100 million and up—the "centimillionaires" ranks through the inheritance trail.

But when it comes to passing it on to their heirs, the rich women have something in common with women of modest means.

One reason: the surest thing to these ladies, as all humans is death; and in these United States—the hand of federal estate tax collectors.

Their heirs might well find themselves the victims of a grim reveneger has taken his bite, women were told at a money management conference sponsored by Anchor Corp., a mutual fund unit headquartered in Elizabeth, N.J.

The richest women in America range in age from 38 (Cordellia Sewie May of the Mellon family) to 84 (Mrs. Alfred I. DuPont), says the expert.

Except for Doris Duke, at age 55 one of the most celebrated of the grande dames, and Mrs. W. Buhl Ford (Josephine Ford) who is 44, the remaining riches of the rich women are over 65.

Anchor's capsule profile on some of the wealthiest women:

—Mrs. Van Alan Clark Sr., 80, has a net worth of over $200 million. She had inherited her son and heir—the Avon-Powder fortune with her father's life philosophy. "People who don't work are dull, stupid and stupid," her son, 48, puts in long work days and collects yearly more than a million dollars in dividends from his Avon holdings. His mom collects considerably more.

—Mrs. Charles Payne, age 70, has a net worth of $100 million. She had inherited her son and heir—two loves, horses and baseball players, to financial and avocational advantages. She is a member of the New York Stock Exchange.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Executive titles in business sound interesting as they came out of Alice in Wonderland.
It's a rare subject with executive recruiters. Says recruiter O. William Battalia of Battalia, Lotz & Associates of New York, "We have to do a search. Holmes routine to find out what a candidate for an executive job really has done and can do." He says that the primary reason he was head of a department, but a little digging reveals there were several quality impressive titles in the firm and often it's hard to find if the personnel director, the manager of management development or the director of marketing relations was the real responsible man.
The shortage of executives has led to much of the nonsense, Battalia said. Some companies are so eager to get new executives they just say, "Let him pick his own title; the main thing is to get him."
Battalia says he has had presidents reporting to vice-presidents and men with such inflated titles as "President of Corporate Affairs" when the chair really is just a public relations man assigned to local community relations. He says that Whitney Jr., of the Personnel Laboratory, Inc., of Stamford, Conn., Battalia said many titles are difficult to understand as to function and importance—vice president in charge of the future, for example, or director of communications.
The apparently precise "Chief Executive Officer" may be nothing more than a fancy title arrangement in the terms of merger. Chief Operating Officer and Chief Administrative Officer are even harder to define.
The importance of titles, though, recruiters and company heads are in agreement that they are vital. Except in some research professions where the title can be like a new syll, seldoms or a perfect lawn," said Whitney. "It sets him apart and gives him a sense of being a top man."
President Don Smith of Wolverine Aluminum Co. of Lincoln Park, Mich., said giving young executives titles makes them feel they are "suddenly becoming tigers ten feet tall." President Richard S. White of Automation Engineering Laboratory, Inc., of Willing, Conn., says titles at AEL signify responsibility with a capital R.
Chairman Michael King of Long Co. of the Dallas Securities House, says titles are too important to be misused for dress-up purposes. "That's not good business, nor is it fair."
New technology forces the creation of some new and unusual titles but recruiters are often suspicious of the man who makes a title that doesn't show his real function or status.
"Titles ought to be more honest," said Whitney. "I am still waiting for the day when a young man who could legally call himself the vice president of a small company walks in my office and hands me a card that reads: 'President's Son.'"

Stocks

NEW YORK (UPI) — Profits in the stock market were on Wall Street in heavy trading Tuesday.
Shortly before 1 p. m. the S&P 500 stock market index, measuring the price of 500 leading issues, gained 0.17 percent on 1,535 issues on the tape. There were 706 advances and 801 declines. The Dow Jones industrial average, which reflects movement in the blue chips, was off 1.00 to 934.48 near 1 p. m. Volume headed toward the 10,000,000 share level.
Helping stimulate initial demand were continued hopes for peace in Vietnam through secret negotiations rumored to be in progress and a bullish news background, which included healthy steel and machine tool orders, record February aluminum prices and higher aluminum prices.

Engineers See More Oil Drilling

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — A panel of petroleum industry engineers has predicted that oil drilling will be intensified to find more oil and natural gas in the eastern United States, where production began more than a century ago.
Speakers at the Eastern District meeting of the American Petroleum Institute reported Monday that the number of wells represented had declined in drilling activity last year.
Derek B. Tate of the Peoples Natural Gas Co., Pittsburg, said Pennsylvania was an exception, however. He said drilling in that state increased 22 percent last year over 1967.
The eight-state area included Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Ohio, Kentucky, New York, Illinois, Indiana and Michigan.

New York Police Struggle With Paperwork, Criminals

By TOM TIEDE

NEW YORK (NEA) — The man in the handcuffs was brought into the 23rd Precinct station under arrest. Spill was spilling from his mouth as he shouted defiance.
"You was a dope peddler and ass!"
A short while before, he was working his trade in a scurvy apartment house on the corner of Spanish Harlem. He was trying to sell $500 worth of stolen pharmaceutical tablets to three customers. The creaks needed the medicine for their father's Spanish Harlem. He was trying to sell $500 worth of stolen pharmaceutical tablets to three customers. The creaks needed the medicine for their father's Spanish Harlem. He was trying to sell $500 worth of stolen pharmaceutical tablets to three customers. The creaks needed the medicine for their father's Spanish Harlem.
He picked up a 12-inch board and hit one of the prospective buyers in the mouth, splitting his flesh. He turned to another and pounded on his face, causing the victim to cry out in pain. He then, mercilessly, he snatched two of the third client's ribs.
Then, taken to the police station, he turned his rage on the police.
"Lemme go, you! You stinkin'... I know my rights. Damn you, you got nothing on me!"
The police managed to ignore the profanity. They seemed not to listen.
"We ain't saying anything we haven't heard before," explained Patrolman Vincent Coughlin. "A cop ain't afford to have a habit of a tactical patrol member, was the arresting officer in the case. He said he was glad to have nailed the peddler, but he didn't want to be a cop for the rest of his life." He said the arrest put a kink in the rest of his evening.

Lakers Dump Warriors 115-98, Remain Alive In Western Playoffs

OAKLAND, Calif. (UPI)—Jerry West and Johnny Egan spent the third quarter Monday night to help the Los Angeles Lakers to a comeback 115-98 win over the San Francisco Warriors in their Western Division playoff series in the National Basketball Association.

San Francisco leads 2-1 in the best-of-seven series. The fourth game will be played Wednesday night at San Francisco's Cow Palace.

Los Angeles outscored the Warriors 41-25 in the third quarter to overcome a two-point deficit at halftime and grab a 64-70 lead. West and Egan combined for 23 of the 41 points.

West finished with 23 points and Egan with 18. Tommye Witt Chamberlain "chipped in" with 10 points.

Esposito, Hull Smash NHL Records

NEW YORK (UPI)—The National Hockey League made it official Monday by placing Boston center Phil Esposito and Chicago's Bobby Hull right at the top of the final scoring statistics.

Esposito led the most record-shattering season in NHL history as he scored 128 points, including 47 assists and 49 goals. The previous record for most points in a season was 97 shared by Hull and Stan Mikita of the Red Wings.

Esposito receives the Art Ross Trophy as scoring champion worth $100.

Hull led the goal scorers with 52 and finished second in scoring with 107 points, and veteran Gord Howe of Detroit was third, scoring with 103 points, including 44 assists.

Mikita had 97 points, including 30 goals, and Boston's Ken Hodge was fifth with 90 points, including 45 goals.

Tourney Director Resigns

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Professional Golfers Association of America Monday announced the resignation of William D. Byrd, Jr., as tournament administrator and appointment of Joseph Schwendeman of Philadelphia as public information director.

The staff change was announced by Commissioner Joe Dey, Jr. effective in a few weeks with specific dates to be determined.

Byrd, a member of the PGA's executive committee, was assigned to enter private business as a golf tournament promoter and director. Active in golf as a player and administrator, the former Yale University athlete also headed the GA's Caribbean tour for four years.

President Of Boston Bruins Quits

BOSTON (UPI)—Weston Adams Sr., a star defenseman, announced his retirement Monday as president of the Boston Bruins of the National Hockey League.

Adams' son, Weston Jr., was elected to succeed him.

The Boston Professional Hockey Association announced Adams' resignation, effective immediately, at a special meeting of the board of directors.

Adams' directors unanimously elected Weston Jr. to succeed his father. The younger Adams was associated with the Bruins for many years and had served as president of the organization for the past year.

The elder Adams said, "I have fulfilled my personal commitment to the Bruins and of late have been unable to give the organization the right pair of young legs ready and able to carry on."

He said he stepped down "with great regret."

The announcement came one week after the Bruins ended their championship season, their most successful in 10 years.

Fancy Hats, Rusty Staub Will Be Highlights Of Expos' Year

By JOHN G. GRIFFIN
UPI Executive Sports Editor

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (UPI)—The Montreal Expos, first-year major league team, are playing their inaugural game at home on April 8. The Expos' first fans would probably shout:

"Regardez les chapeaux."

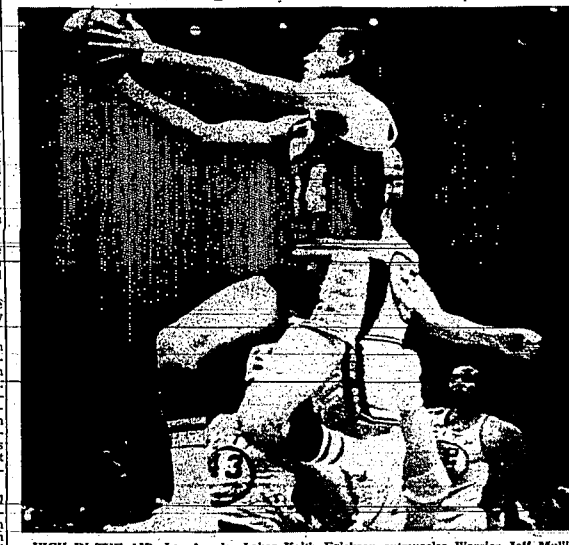

But since the Expos, one of the two expansion teams added to the National League, will be making their all-time debut at Shea Stadium, New York, on that date, the non-French-speaking New Yorkers will simply say:

"Dig those crazy hats."

And you'd better believe it. The hats will be the first thing everybody notices about the Expos. They're gaudy affairs with red, white and blue stripes, and they're topped with a blue "M" on front. Nothing spiffier ever has been seen in the majors.

Provided, that big winter trade stands up, Rusty Staub will be one of the major leaguers. The red-haired first baseman, who hit 23 for Houston in 1967 and 201 last year, was acquired from Houston for first baseman Donn Clendenon. Clendenon, who has lived up to the promise he showed in 1965 when he hit 31 homers for the Braves, dropped off to 10 homers and .225 average for the Reds as a part-timer last year, but he figures still to be one of the most powerful bats in the National League.

The much-traveled fly Cline, 223 with the Giants, could go

San Diego Faces Tough Season But Coach Sets For Surprises

By JOE SARGIS
UPI Sports Writer

YUMA, Ariz. (UPI)—Preston Gomez has no illusions about his San Diego Padres.

He doesn't expect much of them in their maiden season in the big leagues but is ready for any surprise.

"We went into the expansion draft looking for players who might build a good club in two or three years," says Gomez, "so we really aren't expecting much in 1969."

"We'll be trying to win every game we play, and I think we will win more games than the Mets and Astros did in their first year, but to expect more would not be smart."

Gomez has a flock of outfielders, little pitching to speak of, three catchers who never played a game in the big leagues and not an infielder on his roster other anyone else might want.

In fact, things are so tough that the Padres are willing to trade anyone on their club except outfielder Ollie Brown.

"He is untouchable," says Gomez of the former Giants outfielder. "And he is the only one in that category."

The Giants expected big things of Brown after he broke in with them in 1967 with 12 homers and 53 runs batted in. He fell out of favor a year ago and wound up the season at Triple-A. "I don't know if he was exactly a ball-of-fire. But many agree he has the potential to be a star, among them Gomez."

Except for Brown, outfielders Tony Gonzalez (Phillies) and rookie Clarence Gaston, and pitcher Tommie Sisk and Al McBean (Pirates), Bill McCool (Cleveland) and Dick Collier (Dodgers) are the San Diego roster is a blur of names unknown to most baseball fans.

All in all, it isn't much of a team for 1969, so Padres fans shouldn't expect much. Two years from now, who knows?

First And Finest Wins Pimlico Race

BALTIMORE (UPI)—First and Finest broke away to a fast start and was never headed Monday in winning the 1-16 mile stakes. Pursue at 1-20 miles finished last in the seven-horse race.

Dale Gress sent the 5-year-old son of First Landing from the Lu Mar Stable to the front at the start and he finished the race in 1-14 lengths in front of Frank P. Dyer's Devex, another outsider, with Persian Intrigue, also likely regarded, just a neck back in third place.

Malv Cloud, second in the recent City of Baltimore Handicap, was the big disappointment in the role of the odds-on favorite. He was in contention during the early part of the race, then dropped back and finished last in the seven-horse field.

First and Finest, registering his first triumph in five starts this year, paid $13.20, $15.20 and $3.40. Dyer returned $9.69 and $7.40 and a $2 show ticket on Persian Intrigue was worth $1.00.

Rodriguez Looks To Title Fight

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI)—San Diego's Rodriguez, former world welterweight champion, looked forward today to a title fight with the top contender, Nino Benvenuti, after knocking out Rafael Gutierrez, Mexican middleweight champion.

The Monday night fight, billed as the first of a series, was won by Rodriguez, who took the fight to the 10th round, and ended at 2:50 in the sixth round.

Rodriguez, the top-ranked middleweight contender, caused the Mexican, Mexico, fighter, with two right hooks about 20 seconds apart for the knockout. Gutierrez back-pedaled after he was hit by the first hook. Rodriguez dominated the third and fourth rounds with gutierrez exchanging strong flurries in the fifth.

Both fighters were cautious in the first two rounds. Rodriguez weighed 166 and Gutierrez 161 1/2.

Cubs Trim Roster To Season Limit

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (UPI)—The Chicago Cubs cut their roster to 25-man opening day limit Monday by sending two rookies pitchers to their Tacoma farm team and returning two former leaguers who were called in only for two games last weekend.

Pitchers Archie Reynolds and Joe Decker were sent to Tacoma and infielder Francisco Libran and catcher Bill Heath, who were on the San Antonio roster, were returned there.

At the same time, center fielder player Don Young, a center fielder, was promoted to the Cubs major league 40-man roster.

To make room for Young, 23, the Cubs released infielders Lyle and Vic Laro outright to Tacoma. Young will be the Cubs opening day center fielder in place of Al Phillips, who is recovering from a broken bone in his hand.

Frazier Nears Bout With Jerry Quarry

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI)—An agreement for a title fight between Jerry Quarry and Joe Frazier, heavyweight champion in five states, appeared near Tuesday.

Representatives of the two boxers met Monday night to discuss the bout, which probably will be in New York or Los Angeles in June.

Jack Quarry, father of the 23-year-old Bellflower, Calif., fighter, said that only the question of television rights and

Alcindor Is 'Sure Thing' To Go NBA

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The American Basketball Association will probably force the battle for Lew Alcindor into overtime but the UCLA super star looked like a sure thing Monday to sign with the rival National Basketball Association.

Sam Gilbert, one of Alcindor's financial advisers, said a strictly private meeting would have been held Tuesday with the Milwaukee Bucks of the NBA and indicated there didn't appear to be any obstacles to the signing.

Under an apparently more lucrative ABA offer, Alcindor would play for the New York Nets.

Alcindor himself stated in public Saturday night he did not want to get involved in a "degrading" bidding war. He is committed orally to sign with the Bucks for a reported $1 million over a five-year period.

George Mikas, ABA commissioner, insisted Alcindor was the best basketball player in the world. Gilbert scoffed at that idea.

"We feel Lew is being fair," said Gilbert, speaking of Alcindor and Ralph Shapiro, his partner. "He gave both parties every chance to make their offers under his rules. I'm sure if the first ABA offer had been greater, he would have accepted it."

Gilbert and Shapiro, both UCLA alumni, have been acting as advisers to Alcindor, and he makes his own final decisions. Gilbert is in the construction business and Shapiro is a lawyer.

"Ralph and I cannot be a party to any more negotiations," Gilbert said. "We were the ones who established the ground rules in the beginning, just so it wouldn't turn into an auctioning session. We'll sit in on the final contract signing, of course, but we've gone as far as we can go with this."

Montreal Guns For 16th NHL Crown As Playoffs Slate Start Wednesday

By United Press International
The Montreal Canadiens will be looking for a record 16th Stanley Cup title and their fourth in the last five years on Wednesday night when the National Hockey League playoffs open in four cities.

Slow-Pitch

The first organizational meeting of the Twin Falls City League slow-pitch softball league was held Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the Twin Falls City Hall.

Pittsburgh Hockey Coach Is Fired

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—Fiery Red Sullivan was fired as coach of the Pittsburgh Penguins of the National Hockey League.

Sullivan, former coach of the New York Rangers, has been unable to guide a team into the Stanley Cup playoffs in his five seasons as a coach. In two years at Pittsburgh, the Penguins were the only team in the expansion West Division to miss playoffs both times.

Gen. Mgr. Jack Riley, who hired Sullivan in May, 1966, announced the coach's dismissal following a meeting of the club's board of directors.

"It was decided by the board of directors that a change should be made," Riley told newsmen. "Sullivan has been offered a position in the Pittsburgh organization as a director of scouting for professional leagues. He requested a few days to think about the offer."

"The move had been expected since the mid-season when the Penguins sank deep into the cellar. At one point they had won just four games at home in four months and only a single game unbeaten streak in the closing days carried them into tie for fifth place.

Pittsburgh had been expected to "improve" over its first year fifth place performance but instead got worse and as the defeat mounted, so did the red ink. The club which dropped about $250,000 last season, lost about $400,000 this time despite an "increase" in ticket prices.

Attendance dropped from an average of 7,900 to around 6,500.

Reds Return Wagner To Sox

CINCINNATI (UPI)—The Cincinnati Reds Monday returned veteran outfielder Len Wagner to the Chicago White Sox, from whom he was purchased on a conditional basis last Dec. 6.

Reds manager Dave Bristol said Wagner was not hitting well enough to make the team but the return deal with the White Sox was voided.

Wagner, 35, batted .102 in 10 exhibition games for the Reds this spring.

His departure trimmed the Cincinnati roster to 28 players, three over the limit major league clubs may carry when the season opens next week.

just three points behind Montreal, entertain the Leafs at Boston.

The St. Louis Blues, who ran away with honors in the Western Division, take on the third place Philadelphia Flyers at home while the New York Islanders, which finished 19 points behind St. Louis, plays host to fourth place, Los Angeles.

Winners will be determined on a best-of-seven basis. The Eastern matchups pair remarkably similar teams, Montreal and New York play classic type hockey, emphasizing passing, playmaking and shooting. Boston and Toronto fit into a category of outmuscled opponents rather than outplaying them.

Yvan Cournoyer, one of the league's leading scorers, is the Canadiens' leading scorer. Cournoyer, who specialized in power play goals, scored 43 times and assisted on 41 others for 84 points, sixth best in the NHL. Key to the Montreal attack is Jean Beliveau, who scored 33 goals and 49 assists to finish ninth in scoring.

Bobby Rousseau (30 goals, 34 points) and Jacques Lemaire (20 goals, 20 points) also supply punch to the Canadiens.

The Ranger attack centers around Jean Ratelle and Rod Gilbert, who somehow escaped the Canadiens' supercharging system. Ratelle led the Rangers with 30 goals and 48 assists, helped him for 10th with Detroit's Frank Mahovlich.

Gilbert, one of the league's best scorers in hockey, had 28 goals and 49 assists for 77 points for the Toronto's Norm Ullman for 11th.

Giacomin, New York's "Ironman" goaltender, allowed only 2.55 goals per game in 70 appearances for the Rangers in the expansion West Division. He led the team in the league, is paid by record-breaking Phil Esposito, the first player to score 100 goals in a season.

Esposito, who has a record of 100 goals in a season and is winning the scoring title.

Ken Hodge had 45 goals and 45 assists to wind up fifth in scoring, and defenseman Bobby Hull, who teams with Teddy Green to form one of the most devastating backlines in hockey.

Toronto, which finished second in the pennant race, is tied for first in the East to Boston's incredible 107 points, goals for scoring punch from Ullman and Paul Henderson.

The Leafs defense is anchored by Jim Dorey, a hard-hitting rookie.

St. Louis' success is based on the scoring of Red Berenson, who led the league in scoring.

San Diego Faces Vital Playoff Tilt

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI)—The San Diego Rockets' sorry home court advantage for the first time in the series.

Elvin Hayes, the league's leading scorer, was limited to 14 points in Saturday's game and will have to do better, if the Rockets' playoff hopes are to stay alive.

A home court fans will also be looking at rookie Rick Adelman, who led the scoring for San Diego Saturday with 26 points, 10 in the final quarter.

A Hawks win will almost assure them of another playoff berth forcing San Diego into sudden death situation, being unable to lose another game.

Solo Homer Gives Indians Tie

By United Press International
Monday's abbreviated schedule of spring training games was abbreviated even more by darkness.

Five games were canceled because of the funeral services for former President Eisenhower.

Of the five games that started after the funeral services were canceled, two failed to get the distance because of darkness.

San Francisco and Cleveland played to a 5-5 tie before stopping at the end of eight innings because the lights are installed yet at Albuquerque's new stadium.

The Angels' game at Tulsa was called after the top of the fourth inning by darkness with the Angels taking a 7-1 victory.

In the three games played to their entirety, the White Sox topped 5-3, the Yankees beat the San Diego Padres beat the Cubs 5-3 and the New York Mets blanked Cincinnati 5-0. Tommy John went seven innings and allowed 11 hits but got the win for the White Sox against the Cards. Nelson Briles took the loss as he was battered for three runs in the final inning.

Ollie Brown clubbed two homers to lead the Padres past the Cubs. Brown was the only player to hit two homers in the expansion draft. Clarence Gaskin and Nate Colbert also homered for San Diego. Willie Smith hit a three-run homer for the Cubs.

Rich Schellenbloom's solo homer in the seventh inning earned the Indians the tie with the Yankees. Tony Horton also homered for Cleveland. Dick Ditzel and Willie McCovey homered for the Giants. Sam Rice hit a three-run homer for the Indians, allowing 10 hits, while Bob Borker was relieved by Mike McCormick in the seventh.

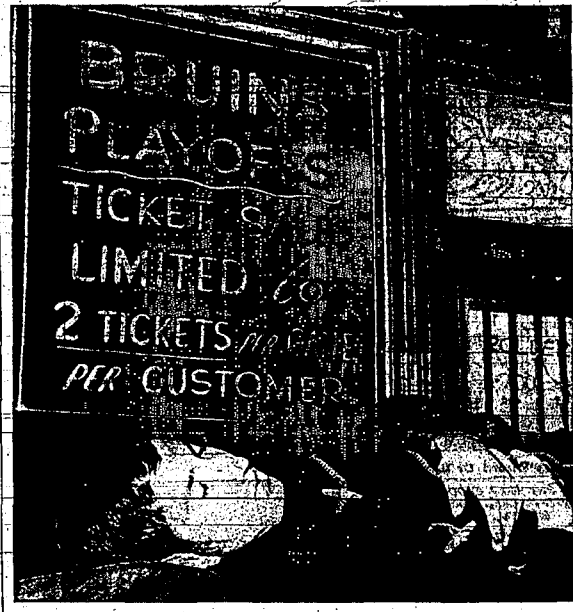

Jim McAndrew, with ninth inning relief, help from Ron Taylor, blanked the Reds to give the Mets the triumph.

Gary Nolan took the loss for the Mets. Gary Carter homered to pace Oakland over California. John Odum went all six innings for Oakland and got the victory by hitting six hits.

In the Oakland game, Odum, the A's top winner in 1968 with a 16-13 record, struck out seven batters and only ran scored against him by Vic Davalillo in the fourth, was unscared.

The game, delayed to a 4 p.m. start, was the national observance of ex-president Eisenhower's funeral, was called at the end of 8 1/2 innings because of darkness.

The A's snapped a three-game losing streak with the win, thumping Angel starter Andy Messersmith for eight hits in the second inning. Campy connected with none on six in the fourth. Oakland's additional six runs were scored in three in the first and third innings.

Wooden Claims No Athlete Is Worth Million, Even Own Star

ATLANTA (UPI)—UCLA basketball coach John Wooden, whose teams have won five national championships in the past six seasons, thinks the multi-million dollar offer made to his superstar Lew Alcindor "is a lot of nonsense."

Wooden said Monday, "But the sort of money being offered to athletes these days is completely out of line."

Alcindor, the three-time All-America who led UCLA to an 82-2 record and three NCAA crowns, has accepted a $1 million offer from the Milwaukee Bucks of the NBA. He was later offered a "fantastic" $3.25 million package by the ABA.

"No athlete is worth that kind of money, I don't care how good he is," Wooden said.

Wooden credited his success at UCLA to that school's "attraction for outstanding black athletes."

"A lot of people don't realize just how well the black athletes have gotten along at UCLA," Wooden said. "But other black athletes know; the word has a way of getting around."

"Our relations at UCLA have been outstanding," Wooden added. "This is not to say that we have never had any racial trouble—or the situation may be changing. But black athletes know they'll be treated well at UCLA and this is the true secret to our success in recruiting."

Wooden came to Atlanta Saturday to attend the presentation of the Naismith Trophy to his 7-foot-1 3/4 star, Alcindor, for being selected the outstanding college basketball player in the nation. He caught a plane out of town Monday afternoon.

"Show me the best black basketball player from out of state," Wooden said. "This is a misconception. In the 23 years that I've been at UCLA, at least 80 per cent of our players have been from California."

"However, it is true that some of our best ones in recent years have come from other parts of the country. Each time the key has been the same. They've been black athletes who went to UCLA because of personal contact either with outstanding black athletes who preceded them there or with someone who coached with me in the past."

Wooden disagreed with per-proving it.

Orioles Land Salmon As Utility Man

MIAMI (UPI)—The Baltimore Orioles finally landed a player they have been after for two years Monday. They acquired utility infielder Chico Salmon from the Seattle Pilots in exchange for pitcher Gene Brabender and two minor leaguers.

Salmon, considered by the Baltimore front office as "one of the best infield utility men in the majors," was drafted by Seattle last October from the Cleveland Indians and had been playing regularly for the Angels since last spring.

The 28-year-old infielder, listed 214 for the Indians last year and underwent surgery for torn cartilage in his right knee over the winter. Manager Earl Weaver plans to use Salmon to back up all his infielders, but primarily shortstop Mark Beland and second baseman Dave Johnson.

To get Salmon the Orioles surrendered Brabender, a right-hander who posted a 6-7 record and a 3.50 ERA in 1968. Gordon Lund of Rochester and another minor leaguer to be named at a later date. Lund will be assigned to Seattle's Vancouver farm team in the Pacific Coast League.

Boston To Try For NBA Sweep Tonight

BOSTON (UPI)—The oldest team in professional basketball will be hunting its thoroughly unexpected four-game sweep tonight when the well-aged Boston Celtics play host to the Philadelphia 76ers.

The Celtics' whose defense of their National Basketball Association playoff championship was at best unlikely when they finished fourth in the NBA this season, will be trying to close out their eastern semifinal series at Boston Garden.

Boston already has overcome Philadelphia's original home court advantage by winning twice at the Spectrum and running wild at the Garden in extending to six what had been a brief, late-season winning streak.

The Celtics, who managed a 52-regular-season edge on the 76ers, revealed Monday that veteran Jim Barnes will be ready to resume play in the fourth game of the series.

Barnes suffered a muscle pull late in the campaign but tried to play briefly in the playoff opener. He's been on the bench and in uniform since that time but has not been available to play as player-coach Bill Russell used both Don Nelson and Tom Sanders as substitute center when he got into foul trouble himself.

The Celtics had been speculating over the status of Philadelphia centerman Chet Walker when they were informed late Monday that Walker would definitely miss the fourth playoff game.

The veteran centerman, who scored 18 points in 19 minutes before being hurt on Sunday, was being treated for a strained right knee ligament, the Celtics said, and could not play tonight though it might be available if a fifth game is needed.

Boston was expected to refine the same lineup that brought the club to the brink of a stunning sweep victory over the 76ers. That means that famed "sixth man" John Havlicek and former reserve guard Emmett Bryant will continue in starting roles, joining Russell, retiring Sam Jones and Bailey Howell for the opening tap-off.

Tom Sanders and Larry Siegfried, the two men replaced by Havlicek and Bryant, have joined with another reserve, Don Nelson, to form an impressive trio of substitutes, all of whom have managed victories in the first three games.

If the Celtics' 76ers series doesn't wind up tonight—the teams will return to Philadelphia for the fifth game on Friday night. Additional games, if necessary, are listed for the Garden on Sunday afternoon and at Philadelphia on April 9.

ABA PLANS FOR DRAFT MINNEAPOLIS (UPI)—The American Basketball Association announced Monday that it will divide up its top college basketball prospects April 15.

The ABA headquarters said the annual draft will be held in Charlotte, N.C.

By Jacoby

EARLY SLAM BIDS LACKED SCIENCE
Here is another hand from that 1930 match. The bidding in the box is one of the many ways that 1930 bidders would get to seven hearts. The interesting feature is that North bid

NORTH 1
♠ AK	♦ Q103
♥ AKJ5	♣ 10872
WEST
♠ 974	♥ 10852

Both vulnerable
West North East South	Pass 3♥ Pass 3♥
Pass 4♥ Pass 1♠	Pass 5♥ Pass 7♥
Pass 5♠ Pass	Pass
Opening lead - ♠10

This was typical 1930 bidding. North could not be sure that a slam would make out — it had to be a reasonable gamble.

Ted Lightner, who was Culbertson's partner, proceeded to bid seven. Again, typical 1930 bidding. This jump to six always invited seven on those days and Lightner did have a lot more than he had shown by his bids of one and three hearts.

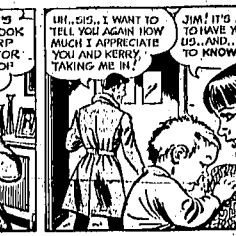

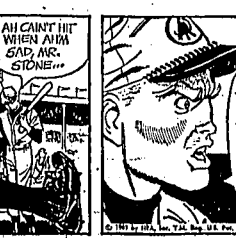

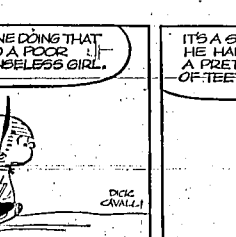

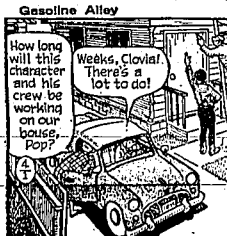

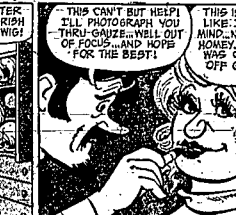

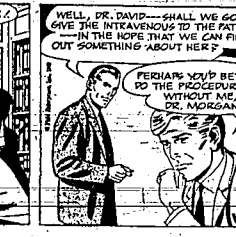

Langdon, who was Sim's partner, wanted to bid seven also but he did not. The reason was that Sims had a definite rule about grand slams in total point matches. The rule was simple indeed. It was that no grand slams should ever be bid by his team.

The theory was there was no scientific way to bid grand slams available and — if it could afford the enormous loss that went with an unsuccessful grand slam contract. This loss, according to Sims, was much more than the value of the lost small slam because the pair that went down at seven was apt to be demoralized also.

only four hearts at his second turn since his three-diamond-bid was based on minimum values for a jump slam.

South does not use Blackwood because he is void in diamonds. Instead he bids five clubs to show his ace, whereas North is able to bid five spades to show that ace and South closes the bidding at seven.

In 1930 the bidding at both tables started the same way but when South rebid to three hearts, both — Culbertson — and Sims, who held the North hand, jumped to six hearts directly.

Most Men Ask Wife's Advice When Buying New Topper

IN CONFIDENCE: Rare is the name of the game is promotion. Incidentally, Librace was a little ridiculous when buying a hair piece. That must be true. How else do you explain the fact that three out of four such purchasers take their wives along to the toupee shop? The retailers report that wives do not take their husbands with them when they buy wigs, hardy ever. It's feminine business, this false hair buying. If the time ever comes when I need a toupee, I'm going to skip it and get my teeth fixed—Merely an opinion, agreed. The record contains accounts of many a vendor whose sales jumped greatly after he bought a con-fidant's head of hair.

MEDICAL BREAKTHRU: Is the initial of your last name one of those letters from S to Z? If so, condolences. A British physician named Dr. Trevor-T. Weston says he finds patients so inclined do not have a record of quick recovery from disease. In fact, he reports, his studies at a London hospital's death records show that 27 per cent of the S-to-Z people most often fail medically where the A-to-R people most often succeed. Why he can't explain. SAID he says, now seems definite, the he can, earnestly. Certainly hope this information reaches you in time. Believe the usual legal man adds the theory of the Roman poet—Cato. He was a cynic, Cato was. He thought the old art went into common practice by suspicious husbands who wanted to find out if their wives had been nipping the necks of other men. He was right to identify Mrs. O. J. P. Belmont. All the notebook shows about her is she was the surrogate of a famous overnight when in speech to her contemporaries she said, "Call on God, my friends, and she will help you."

WHO KNOWS what kind of data you're apt to pick up from a knowledgeable bartender? For instance, one of some reports was the male which held your elbow is called the brachialis. And it benefits from nothing so much, he claims, as played five boys called Judy on the same football team. Imagine that was a team worth watching. The male Judy tends to run a little tougher than the female.

RAPID REPLY: No, Mr. J. I am not expert enough to contradict your contention that the recorder is the easiest to master of all musical instruments. But after that,

Magic Valley Obituaries

Clarence Smith — Clarence Edward Smith, 68, died Monday morning at his Ellier home of a long illness.

He was born on March 27, 1900, in Minneapolis, Minn. He came to Twin Falls from Salina, Kan., in August, 1940. He moved to Ellier in 1968.

He was a member of the Twin Falls First Baptist Church. He was employed at Glenn Jenkins Chevrolet Co. for 25 years as body shop foreman.

He was a member of the National Rifle Association and was an accredited instructor of small arms with the NRA. He helped organize the Twin Falls Rifle and Pistol Club. He was an avid sportsman both in hunting and fishing.

He married Fern C. Brown in Salina, Kan., on Sept. 6, 1931. He is survived by his widow; two sons; Kenneth F. Smith, Boise, and Curtis E. Smith, Twin Falls; a daughter, Mrs. Howard (Lois) White, Abingdon, Va.; eight grandchildren; three sisters, Mrs. Florence Young, Salina, Kan.; Mrs. Zada Meador, Gypsum, Kan.; and Mrs. Alice Olson, Tacoma, Wash. He was preceded in death by a granddaughter and a sister.

Funeral services will be conducted at 2:30 p.m. Thursday at the Reynolds Funeral Chapel with Rev. James B. Hughes of the Twin Falls First Baptist Church officiating. Final rites will be held in Sunset Memorial Park. Friends may call at Reynolds Chapel Wednesday and Thursday until 1 p.m.

Hansen Camp Wins State Meet Honor

HANSEN — Nine members from the Hansen Camp who attended the Modern Woodmen of America State meeting held last week at Chicago for the annual ritual and rifle meeting received top ratings.

There was no competition in the rifle meets, however Hansen did their rifle floorwork and were graded by judges Saturday afternoon, with very outstanding results. Counsel Norville Reynolds and Watchman Minerwa Smith received perfect scores for their work.

Lydia May Pyron as banker and Mrs. Helen Reynolds as advisor, each received 95 percent scoring; Wayne Smith as youth, each received 99.4 percent and Mrs. Cleo Welch as escort, and James Bennett as past counsel, each received 97.5 percent.

A total of 791 points out of a possible 800 for the team was received. The Hansen team represented the traveling State Trophy for 1969 and each individual received personal trophies.

Saturday evening the Hansen Ritual Team of Camp Officers conducted the regular lodge session and gave the initiation for a class of nine new members from the state. Clayton Hunter, Hansen, was also initiated.

At Sunday morning sessions, the Hansen Camp team placed fourth in team scores with a total of 248 points. Minerwa Smith, Norville Reynolds, Cleo Welch, Joe Hill and Ruth Hill were team members.

In the district team competition, the area team placed second with 233 points and received fourth prize of $750. District team members included Dick Truscott, Twin Falls, Sharon Truscott, Twin Falls, Minerwa Smith, Norville Reynolds and Cleo Welch, all Hansen.

Individual trophy winners from this area were Dick Truscott, fifth, with a score of 53 points in the men's division; Sharon Truscott, second with a score of 51 points, and Minerwa Smith, fifth, with a score of 49 points, in the women's division.

Norville Reynolds acted on the executive committee for this session and Joe Hill was floor judge during the rifle competition. Cleo Welch was chairman for the rifle scoring committee.

She assisted Carl Shone, rifle judge in presenting ritual awards. She then presented all rifle winner trophies.

Blues was selected as the 1970 state meeting place and Lyle Mann, Boise, was elected president for the 1970 session.

Despite Small Size, Quakers Leave Great Impact On U. S.

By LOUIS CASSELS
UPI Religion Writer

The Religious Society of Friends, commonly known as the Quaker movement, is living proof that great size and great influence do not necessarily go hand-in-hand.

The nine Quaker bodies in the United States have a total of fewer than 100,000 members. But they have left an indelible imprint on American life and enjoy a degree of public respect that many larger bodies envy.

The disproportionate impact this small religious family has had on national life is exemplified by the fact that Quakers rank fourth among all U.S. denominations in the number of men they've supplied to the presidency.

President Nixon is the second Quaker to hold the nation's highest office. Herbert Hoover was the first. Only the Episcopalians, Presbyterians (six Presidents each) and the Unitarians (four Presidents) have sent more men to the White House.

The Society of Friends was founded in 17th century England by George Fox, a workingman's son who had been apprenticed to a cabinet-maker and a shoemaker's trade. Fox was more interested in souls than in souls, so he left home at the age of 19 and spent the next four years wandering around England searching for a faith more meaningful to him than the cold formalism he found in the Church of England.

One day, after much agonized seeking, Fox was "illumined" by a great conviction that he did not need to search for God because God was already present within him, "as close as breathing, as near as one's own limbs."

Out of this conviction he developed the doctrine of the inner light which lies at the heart of the Quaker faith. It holds that God is ever present within each human being and that he can be approached and experienced directly by anyone who sincerely seeks him. This is, of course, a form of mysticism—but it is a simple and practical kind of mysticism.

as suitable for ordinary people when Fox paid a visit to America, there were small Quaker settlements all along the coast.

But they were as harshly treated here as in England until William Penn, a young Quaker who was the son of a wealthy nobleman, obtained a royal charter to establish a colony in America.

Penn arrived in 1682 to found "the City of Brotherly Love," Philadelphia, and the colony of Pennsylvania ("Penna Woods").

Colonial Quakers were hard-working, thrifty people who strove for simplicity of life, wearing plain black clothing, eschewing drinking, dancing and other "wordly amusements."

While their differences from their frontier neighbors caused them to become identified as a "peculiar people" and this reputation restricted the growth of the movement.

From the start, Quakers tried to apply literally some of the harsh sayings of Jesus, including his admonition in the sermon on the mount that "if anyone slaps you on the right cheek, let him slap your left cheek too."

Pacifism, in the strict sense of refusing to return violence or even to resist it, was a cardinal virtue of early Quakers, and it continues to be a distinctive Quaker "witness."

But many Quakers today feel that pacifism is an ideal that cannot practically be attained in a world where aggressors are ever ready to pounce on the defenseless. Thousands of Quakers served in uniform in World War II and Korea, and many are now serving in Vietnam.

Quaker concern for humanity has been expressed in many ways besides pacifism. A century ago, Quakers were in the forefront of the fight for abolition of slavery; today, they are at work in a score of countries around the world, feeding the hungry, clothing the naked, sheltering the orphan, treating the sick.

The name "Quaker" resulted from one of Fox's frequent appearances in court. Instead of pleading for mercy, he sternly rebuked the judge to "tremble with fear of the Lord." The judge fined the noble back on Fox and called him a "quaker." Quakers began immigrating to America soon after the Puritan colonies was established in Massachusetts, and by 1672,

Multi-Media Approach Helps Tell Youths Of Drug Hazard

BY FREDERICK H. TRESH
United Press International

Suddenly you're a school superintendent, confronted with evidence that the use of drugs is spreading in your junior and senior high schools. What are you going to do?

Have the police warn of the legal consequences? Call in doctors to tell horror stories of the ravages of drugs on mind and body? Ask teachers and parents to moralize about drugs? Chances are any of these approaches will turn off the students you are trying to keep from turning on. Threats or sermons rarely reach today's teenagers.

As awareness of the magnitude of the drug problem grows, school officials in tree-lined suburbs as well as urban districts realize the dilemma they face. There is no proven effective way to communicate about drugs.

But there is a new approach that may hold promise. It employs the gaming and simulation technique that has had stunning success in motivating previously unteachable students to make decisions about drugs without threats or sermons.

Crackdown

TOKYO (UPI)—The National Police Agency began a crackdown Monday on diplomats who violate minor traffic laws such as parking and speeding regulations. The agency said the action was designed to curb a notable increase in traffic accidents involving autos belonging to diplomats.

Divorced Couple Files Big Suit Against Doctor

CHICAGO (UPI)—A divorced couple has filed a $1 million lawsuit against a psychiatrist who allegedly made himself the woman's "husband substitute" while treating her for an emotional problem.

The suit, filed Monday on behalf of Robert Hrofsky, 28, and his former wife, Patricia Stack, 27, charges treatment by psychiatrist Charles P. Jenks led to their divorce.

The suit says Jenks told the couple to refrain from sexual relations with each other, then "furthered his own sensual desires by planting in the mind of the plaintiff, Miss Stack, that she needed a husband substitute."

According to the suit, Jenks then began a sexual relationship with Miss Stack.

effects of a variety of drugs; the nature of narcotics traffic; and the probable results of the options open to him. The information does not come in lecture form. It is presented by actors and animation in multi-media motion pictures and slides projected simultaneously on three screens.

"We specifically are avoiding the emotional or 'preachy' approach to narcotics," said Dr. Rudolph C. Flothow, Lockheed's manager of educational systems in Sunnyvale, Calif. "Research has convinced us such an approach may alienate students more than it informs them."
