Hansen Man Plunges To Death In Snake Canyon

By RUTH MILLER
Times-News Staff Writer

HANSEN — A Hansen man plunged 300 feet to his death Saturday when his pickup truck crashed over the Snake River Canyon wall two miles northeast of here.

The victim was identified as Garry Stocker, 34, Hansen resident and an employee of Collins and Sons, a Twin Falls County sheriff's officer said the mishap happened early Saturday morning.

Sheriff Paul Corder said Mr. Stocker was dumping trash over the canyon wall and had apparently backed the vehicle to the edge. The loose dirt near the edge loosened and the truck tumbled down the rough lava-wall, landing about 100 feet from the bottom of the canyon. The accident was discovered about 9:30 a.m. when Wilbur DeMoss, a foreman for the Corder spread, went to the dump site to determine why Mr. Stocker had not returned. Officers attempted to obtain a helicopter pilot to reach the crash site but the only available local pilot was in Boise. The pilot, Dick Reeder of Reeder Flying Service, flew to Twin Falls, however, and piloted the chopper into the deep canyon to recover the body.

Deputy Jim Turner had climbed down to where the truck had come to rest and reported the driver was dead. The body, he said, was several feet in front of the mangled truck. When the helicopter reached the crash site, Sheriff Corder never ton busy to help us. Their assistance prevents the chance of one of my men getting hurt trying to reach a remote spot in the canyon. Mr. Stocker was born March 2, 1935. He and his wife, Carolyn, and three children were living in a house south of the accident site. He also is survived by a brother, two sisters and his parents. His body was taken to Reynolds' Funeral Chapel where services are pending. Sheriff Corder said Mr. Stocker's death will not be classed as a traffic fatality because the accident happened on private land. Coroner Cloyce Edwards said Mr. Stocker apparently died instantly from a massive head injury. No inquest is planned.

TWO EMERGENCY VEHICLES stand by as the body of Garry Stocker, 34, Hansen, is transferred after being retrieved from the Snake River Canyon near Hansen. Mr. Stocker was killed when his pickup truck plunged over the canyon wall. The helicopter, from Reeder's Flying Service, brought the victim's body from the bottom of the canyon. The men

Action By Council Brings Kellwood Site Into City Limits Of Twin Falls

Property which will be occupied by the Kellwood Co. history plant south of Twin Falls is now in the city limits. At a special meeting, and under suspension of rules, members of the city commission took the 20 acres into the city limits. The area, on the Airport Road, was also zoned industrial. There was no opposition at the special session.

Letters were read from both Goid and Mrs. Stewart. Both parties urged the annexation of the property. In other action the council adopted Ordinance No. 1422, which provides for the rezoning of land for the child development center to be built on Hartson Street. The zoning was changed from residential-low density to residential-professional.

Israeli, Jordanian Troops Tangle

By United Press International
Israeli and Jordanian troops battled with tanks, mortars and machine guns for three hours Saturday. Jordan announced, Israel dismissed the charges and accused the Arabs of exaggerating to make it appear war was imminent. Jordan said Israeli forces triggered the fighting, eight miles south of the Sea of Galilee near Al-Manshiyah. The Arabs reported no casualties of their own, but said the Israelis dragged off eight men. In Jerusalem, an Israeli spokesman derided the Jordanian communique and called the fighting a "routine skirmish" that normally would not be reported until later. "We refer to such small incidents only in our weekly summary," he said. The chief of Israel's intelligence service, Maj. Gen. Haim Herzog, denounced Egypt Saturday for fostering the false impression that the Middle East

Warships Clobber Red Foes

SAIGON (UPI) — A dozen American warships knocked out 108 Communist hideouts Saturday with salvos from their stations off South Vietnam's coast in the South China Sea, military spokesmen said. Hundreds of shells from the destroyers and cruisers of the U.S. 7th Fleet slammed into enemy hideouts up and down the coast in a drive to destroy bivouacs supplying the guerrillas nationwide, offensive.

Headquarters in Saigon said the shelling also destroyed 88 bunkers, 10 gun positions and two tunnel storage complexes. Viet Cong and North Vietnamese soldiers pushed an offensive toward its eighth week, hitting 30 towns and camps Saturday with overnight barrages that military spokesmen said caused light damage and casualties.

Among the population centers hit was Vinh Long, 58 miles southeast of Saigon. Three rounds of fire Friday had killed 21 persons and wounded 100. This time, 24 shells killed one and wounded five.

Terrorists in another Mekong Delta village, Phu Huu, detonated a mine in the marketplace, wounding four children seriously.

Far to the north, Communist ground gunners knocked down a U.S. Marine Sea Knight helicopter near coastal An Hoa, killing five of the American GIs aboard, U.S. spokesmen said. The stepped-up level of shelling attacks did not carry over into ground fighting, American officials said. There were no reports of major battles under way.

Informed U.S. sources in Saigon said the low level of fighting in the past week would be reflected in casualties reported next Thursday. Nevertheless, they said the number of American dead will rise past the 34,000 mark for the war.

Hussein had the backing of Lebanon's President Charles Helou as well as President Gamal Abdel Nasser of Egypt, informed sources in Beirut said.

Neither Iraq nor Syria has publicly commented on Hussein's plan, however, and Egypt has been cagey in its reaction. Because of this, well-informed Middle East observers speculated that the month's plan may have been a trial balloon to test Israeli and Arab reaction.

Nixon Pares Spending $4 Billion

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon announced Saturday that his revised spending budget for fiscal 1970 will cut $4 billion from domestic and defense programs and produce a $5.8 billion surplus. The President said the cuts will lower federal spending for the fiscal year starting July 1 as proposed by the last Johnson budget to $122.2 billion and produce the largest surplus since 1951 when Harry S. Truman was in the White House. Nixon said the surplus "will speak louder than any words" to demonstrate that the nation "is determined to bring a halt to the inflationary spirit which has seriously affected our economy these last four years." White House spokesmen said detailed figures on the new budget would be announced in the coming week. Revised budget requests are also expected to be sent to Congress at the same time, they added. The new administration budget is actually only $2.4 billion less than the $125.3 billion in outlays planned by his predecessor, Lyndon B. Johnson in January. White House spokesmen said however that some of the Johnson estimates were off and the actual should have been that $126.9 billion. Budget Director Robert P. Mayo told newsmen the $4 billion in planned cuts in the new budget will whittle defense programs by $1.4 billion and reduce domestic programs the remaining $2.6 billion. Both Nixon and Mayo noted however that of the $5 billion increase in spending over the 1969 budget total, domestic programs will gain $0.5 billion of that increase. "This administration will never turn its back on the growing needs of the American people," Nixon said in a prepared statement. In addition to the cuts in spending for 1970, the revised budget also cut $5.3 billion in requested authorization for $228.4 billion. Mayo said. The $5.8 billion surplus goal for the year is the largest since the $7.1 billion in excess revenue reached by the government in 1951. The largest ever recorded, was $9.9 billion in 1953, the budget chief noted. Mayo said the new budget is "responsive to the needs of an inflationary environment."

Minico Hosts Magic Valley Music Meet

RUPTER — Music was in the air at Minico High school, Rupert, this week as some 2,000 students from throughout Magic Valley competed during the annual Idaho District IV High school music festival. Competition among the district's 20 high schools began Thursday when bands and choirs performed before judges hired from area colleges and universities. The two Double A class schools in the district are Minico and Twin Falls. Competing Friday were solos and ensembles during the morning and Class A and B bands and choirs in the evening. Class C and D schools performed Saturday to conclude the annual event.

And although this is said with tongue in cheek, realizing the temperamental Idaho weather, Pat Tegan of Filer and blossoms of spring just have to be enough to convince the most skeptical. Magic Valley Reservoirs Reported Filling Rapidly

HAILEY — Reservoirs in Blaine and Lincoln counties are being continued to fill rapidly today as watermasters kept a close watch on potential flood threats.

Magic Reservoir contained 119,771 acre feet Saturday morning, a gain of 10,800 acre feet since Friday, Art Thiel, attendant, said. The reservoir, which has a capacity of 161,000 acre feet, currently has a daily inflow of 15,000 acre feet while only 4,600 acre feet are going out.

The Army Engineers have completed about five acres under water and some 220 acres are flooded at the Simpson Brothers ranch. Both ranches are south of Carey area presently have any flooding.

Girl Injured In Mishap At Intersection

A 7-year-old Twin Falls girl was reported in fairly good condition at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital Saturday, suffering in injuries received in a bicycle-automobile accident. Twin Falls City Police said Cindy Lewis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Lewis, was injured about 1 p.m. Saturday. The girl was struck by a car driven by Laurie A. Schmidt, 27, also Twin Falls, as the youngster attempted to cross the 100-block of Washington Street North. The car was traveling north when it struck the girl. The girl rode her bike out of a driveway into the path of the car.

The runoff from Campbell flats, about eight miles from Carey, which drains into the Little Wood River below the dam, still is posing a threat. Swede's Peak at the head of the Little Wood River canyon, still had eight feet of snow, said Larry Peterson, who was there with a snowmobile, Thursday. Fish Creek reservoir, the other water storage structure in the Carey valley, was expected to fill Saturday. It was eight inches from the top Saturday morning. W. D. Eldredge, Fish Creek watermaster, said the level of the dam, which is 82 feet high, has been rising about nine inches per day, with runoff from Fish Creek, Iron Mountain canyon and the east fork of Fish Creek. "The river is not backed up," he said. "This water runs into Carey Lake and then goes into the Little Wood river, below Carey, and the Little Wood reservoir, and flows on into the Richfield area, where flood control work is being planned to complete next year. WASHINGTON—Top-Pentagon officials are deepening their concern about the impact of campus demonstrations and student unrest on procurement of young officers for U. S. armed services... Their special worry is the continued effectiveness of reserve officer training programs... ROTC units, at colleges and universities across the nation, now supply most of the officers needed each year by the military services...

Resor's statement of concern is underlined by Pentagon statistics. They show that the Army is making increasing demands on ROTC units for young officers to meet its urgent needs... By comparison, the Military Academy at West Point, even with a rising enrollment, is expected to produce only 760 graduating cadets this year... The future of ROTC programs, Navy and Air Force as well as Army, is not the only cause for Pentagon concern about "crackdown" officers' procurement...

THE TWIN FALLS COUNTY coroner's job is interesting and demanding, and Cloyce Edwards fills this time as county coroner is taken up with the investigation of death and the preparing of records on death. Although the functions of the office are not readily understood by the public, the post is an important one which can involve decisions affecting many lives.

Coroner's Job Not Demanding, But Provides Interesting Work

By FRED DODDS
Times-News Staff Writer

The Twin Falls County coroner's job may not be the most demanding, and it probably isn't the best paying political post around, but it has something many jobs lack — interesting work.

A coroner's hours aren't regular and the work is often unpleasant, but all in all it's still interesting.

At least Cloyce Edwards thinks so. He's had the job for the past three and a half months.

In that time he's investigated five deaths, signed five death certificates and filed five death reports in the county clerk's office.

That may not seem like a lot of work to the average reader. But Mr. Edwards is also owner and operator of the Magic Valley Ambulance Service—a part-time run truck miter.

He's a soft-spoken man, impossible to upset in an emergency and an experienced law enforcement officer who feels the job of county coroner belongs to a person who has had law enforcement experience.

Many citizens have little contact with a county coroner. He comes into the case only when there has been a murder, a suicide or an accidental death. But when such a death occurs, Mr. Edwards puts on his Sherlock Holmes hat and begins to investigate.

He has several obligations under Idaho law.

For instance, if foul play is suspected in a death a coroner is obligated to call an inquest.

An inquest is an informal type of trial at which the coroner sits as the presiding judge. The county prosecutor usually appears to present the facts in the case to the jury. The jury usually is composed of six people.

An inquest also may be called to determine the cause of death. It is a useful legal tool which can save the taxpayer money.

Because of the informal nature of an inquest, the jury is allowed to ask questions of witnesses during the proceedings.

An inquest is not a tool designed to level a charge against any individual, but it is used to determine the cause of a death and to bring out the circumstances surrounding the cause of that death.

An investigation may take a day, a week or several weeks. In most cases Mr. Edwards has to order an autopsy. An autopsy is performed by a qualified pathologist in Twin Falls, and the county allots $1,750 for autopsies, or $125 per case.

And this brings up the question, should a layman perform the duties of coroner? Or should a qualified physician?

Mr. Edwards has some views on this.

He feels a physician often is tied up with his private practice, making it difficult for him to answer and investigate coroner's cases. Also, a physician lacks the necessary law enforcement training to conduct a necessary investigation if a crime has been committed, he said recently.

"Let's face it," Mr. Edwards said, "a doctor can't take a full day out of his busy schedule to investigate a possible murder, accidental death or suicide. He has a responsibility to the living, his patients," he said.

And, in any case where there is a "doubt," a physician is consulted by Mr. Edwards.

When the sheriff of any county in Idaho dies or is not eligible to perform the duties of his office, the coroner takes over.

Mr. Edwards may continue in the post of sheriff until an election—or until—the county commission appoints a sheriff.

When the coroner is not available, the justice of the peace acts in his place.

The coroner takes charge of a body when it is not claimed. He makes certain the deceased is decently buried and when there is no estate left, the coroner charges the burial expenses to the county.

Any money found on a dead person is turned over to the county treasurer. This is in cases where no one makes a claim for the property.

Mr. Edwards gets $1,200 a year for his services. He also is allowed $100 a year for transportation; $150 a year for jury and witness fees; $1,750 a year for autopsies; and $100 a year for office expenses.

Mr. Edwards' job as an ambulance operator works hand-in-hand with his duties as coroner. He makes 75 per cent of all emergency calls in the area and

Mr. and Mrs. James F. Brock filed the suit against Eugene E. Morrow.

It is alleged a pickup truck driven by Mr. Morrow struck the rear end of a car driven by Mrs. Brock.

Mr. and Mrs. Brock are asking medical damages in an undisclosed amount; $35.90 in car rental costs; $25,000 general damages, and the costs of the lawsuit.

Valley Traffic Courts

Fined by Rupert city Judge Jake Wall for traffic violations were Mark Bell, 16, Rupert, $25; leaving the scene of an accident: Rose Goodman, 33, Rupert, $15, driving left of center; Pablo Flores, 45, Rupert, $153, drunk driving.

Barbara Burks, 17, Rupert, $13, backing when not reasonable and safe; Afton Toupin, 33, Burley, $15, and Beverly Brashaw, 24, Paul, $16, both speeding; and Linda Albertson, 27, Paul, $14, Alan Greaves, 42, Preston, $13, Harry Parson, 19, Rupert, $12, Bertha Trejo, 34, Rupert, $13.50, and Lila Nohbar, 46, Rupert, $12, speeding in a school zone.

While he has been a coroner he has been available for all coroner's cases, more than half of them as ambulance technician and coroner.

As a coroner, Mr. Edwards said, he is concerned mainly with the protection of the deceased's property and dignity.

This is in addition to arriving at a solution to the question of death.

At the rate things are going, Mr. Edwards predicts he will have 20 to 25 coroner's calls to make this year.

"Many of these calls are not pleasant but the work is interesting and demanding," he said.

Rep. Hansen Endorses School Program Merger

JEROME — Congressman Orval Hansen (R-Idaho) declared that he will support a move to consolidate several federal education programs when the bill to extend the Elementary and Secondary Education Act comes up for final consideration in the House following the Easter recess.

Congressman Hansen spoke at a public meeting at the Jerome County Courthouse Thursday evening.

"Combining a number of similar programs under a single title will simplify administration, reduce costs and stretch the federal education dollar further," Hansen said. "This will implement one of the recommendations of the Nixon administration."

The Idaho Congressman also said he will support the administration's recommendation that extension of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act be limited to two years instead of the five years now provided in the bill. "This will enable us to make changes in the distribution formula following the 1970 census to put the available funds in the areas of greatest need," he said on Friday.

Sirhan Verdict Looms

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Shrewd Grant Cooper took one last swipe at the prosecution demand for a verdict of first degree murder in the trial of Sirhan B. Sirhan.

His voice rising and his arms waving, the chief defense attorney turned to the jury and said:

"Suppose the victim had not been Robert F. Kennedy. Suppose someone named John Smith or Jose Gonzales or George Washington Brown, just someone in a crowd."

"I suggest that with the psychiatric testimony you have heard that you wouldn't take two minutes to return a verdict of second degree murder on the grounds of diminished capacity. Forget this was a United States senator and do your duty as you said you would."

Burly Lynn Compton, a former Rose Bowl star and World War II paratrooper, had a scorching answer as the prosecuting attorney. He talked quietly to the jury.

"I want you to ask yourself this question," he said.

"I suggest that Robert F. Kennedy, a young man at the peak of his career, a former attorney general, a senator from New York, came to breathe his last breath on the floor of that pantry with the mops and dirty dishes. Did he leave a widow and children because he favored United States support of the state of Israel or because he was a substitute father image to the redupus complex in Sirhan's mind?"

"If you believe (psychiatrist) Dr. Bernard Diamond with his mirror act and the defendant's score sort of hypnotic trance where he didn't know whether he was afraid or on horseback, then he shouldn't be punished at all because he didn't know what he was doing."

"If you believe those experts then he should go free. But I don't believe those experts. I don't think you will. There is nothing left but a plain old cold-blooded first degree murder."

Compton, so pale his face seemed to be turning some world shade of green, sat silently and motionless as the attorneys fought over a verdict which would determine either sentence of death in the gas chamber or life imprisonment.

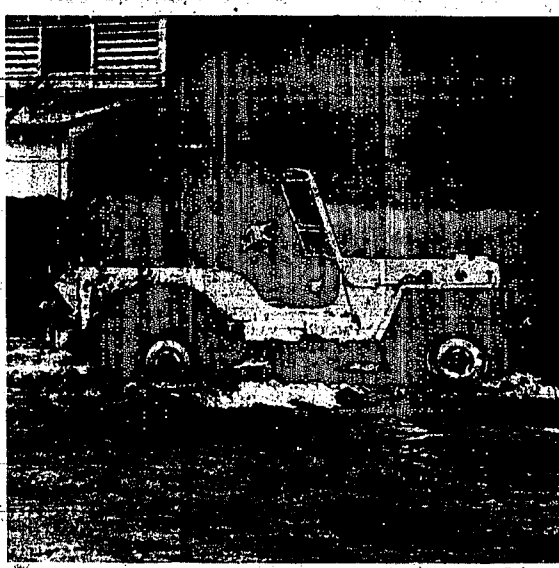

Compton will wind up for the state Monday and the three-month case will go to the jury after the judge's instructions.

"If there is a verdict of first degree murder, the jury will hear a 'second trial' to determine penalty."

Compton told the jury that Sirhan would rather get first degree murder as the verdict.

"Then he can be a hero to the Arab world as he wants to be," Cooper said.

Ronald Evans, the juror occupying seat No. 1, was excused Friday after it was learned his brother-in-law had been arrested on charges and heard all the testimony.

Lead Processor Will Build $70 Million Utah Complex

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — National Lead Co. has officially confirmed plans to construct a magnesium and chlorine production plant on the western shore of the Great Salt Lake, paving the way for development of a multi-billion dollar mineral potential.

The metal-chemical complex is expected to increase U.S. production of magnesium by more than one-third, National Lead Board Chairman E. R. Rowley said Friday.

Geologists estimate the briny waters of the lake contain between $38 billion and $88 billion worth of minerals.

The $70 million National Lead complex is a modest beginning to what could become one of the largest mineral bonanzas in the world.

Original plans called for processing of magnesium chloride in Utah and shipment to the Pacific Northwest for electrolytic reduction to magnesium metal.

Feasibility studies showed that Utah Power & Light Co.

could provide low-cost electric energy, making it possible to the proposed site—25 miles northwest of Grantsville, Utah.

The simple site, electrolytic reduction plant will have a rated annual capacity of 45,000 tons of magnesium yearly. The U.S. currently produces 110,000 tons a year.

The terms will be three years. However, members of the board of trustees are Elmer Terry, Waldo Jones and Herbert Forbes.

Bill Crippen of the Crippen Co., Twin Falls, will attend a machinery processing show Tuesday through Thursday in Chicago.

Mr. Crippen is the Twin Falls distributor for several companies.

Accompanying him will be R. L. Lamkin, manager of A. and W. Sates, Portland.

Water Board Ponders Need Of South Idaho Resources

BOISE (UPI) — Gary Welles, Idaho State University, told the Idaho Water Resource Board staff that by the year 2000 about 80 per cent of the state's population will be concentrated in Southern Idaho.

Welles, head of municipal and industrial studies for the board, said, "This will show an added need for municipal and industrial water in the area where the need for agricultural water will be highest."

Welles' figures showed that 2,500 Idahoans will have a population of 1.2 million, and the Southwest Idaho, Upper Snake River and Upper Snake River 2 districts will have a population of one million.

For his study, Welles divided the state into seven subareas. He said population projections by county would be more valuable, but noted that they probably be too accurate due to the smaller area.

Director Robert R. Lee pointed out that population projection for counties might be affected by community spirit, and said if the counties had the projection figures they might move to halt or speed up the growth trend.

DeWayne McAndrews, chief of lands classification for the board, said the total potentially irrigable lands in the state included 1.2 acres of Class I land; 3.7 million acres of Class II land; and 3.6 million acres of Class III land.

McAndrews said the great amount of irrigable potential in Southwest Idaho, and Lee noted, "There certainly isn't any surplus from Hagerman Springs."

Flood Funds Allowed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Frank Church, D - Idaho, announced Friday the Army Corps of Engineers has allocated almost $140,000 in new emergency flood projects in Idaho over the past week.

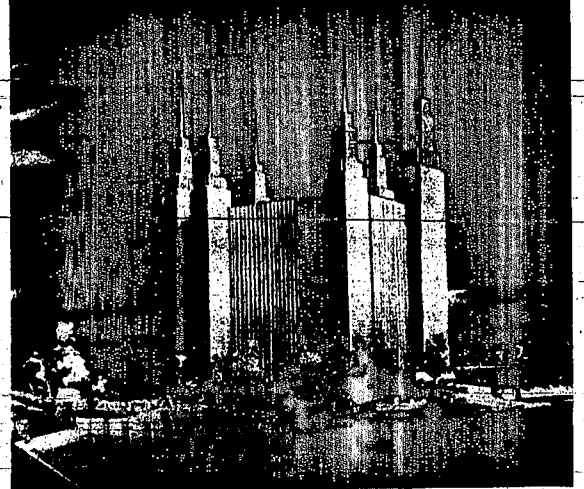

Church said the figure brings the amount of money committed by the Corps to about $900,000 for work this spring.

The Corps' Seattle District Office, Church said, has let contracts for two adjoining projects along the Coeur d'Alene River downstream from Kellogg.

The Walla Walla District Office announced four new projects in other parts of Idaho:

- Repairing levees along the Snake River in the Hulse-Roberts area near Rigby. The cost was estimated at $70,000 for the project.
- At Pocatello $18,000 was committed to construct 3,000 feet of levee along the Palouse River and to raise 600 feet of county road.
- Protection of channel bank along the Big Lost River above Moore, with cost estimated at $30,000.
- At Horseshoe Bend $5,000 was committed for 1,700 feet of dirt levees along the Payette River.

Church said all of the projects were part of "operation Foresight," the Corps' emergency plan to prevent flooding throughout the nation.

THE APPROVED DESIGN for the new temple of the LDS Church in the Washington, D. C. area was released Saturday. The temple will top a hill on a 57-acre tract near Silver Spring, Md., adjoining the nation's capital. The white marble structure will be placed under construction by the spring of 1970. LDS Church Reveals Design Of New Washington Temple

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — The first presidency of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints (Mormon) Saturday released plans for the architectural design of the Washington, D. C. temple.

The edifice is to be erected atop a hill on a 57 acre tract near Silver Springs, Md., adjacent to the nation's capital.

Mark B. Garfield, chairman of the Church Building Committee, announced earlier this week that plans would be completed and ready for construction in about a year.

The architectural team consists of Fred L. Markham, Provo; Keith W. Wilcox, Ogden; Henry P. Fetzler and Harold K. Beecher, Salt Lake City.

which stands 120 feet above the surrounding terrain, was purchased by the church in 1962 at a cost of $850,000.

Ground was broken and the site dedicated by Pres. Hugh B. Brown, first counselor in the first presidency, at services last Dec. 8.

The temple, 16th to be erected by the Mormon Church, will serve 238,000 members living in the eastern part of the United States and Canada.

Immunization Clinic Set For Elmore

GLENN'S FERRY — Measles immunization clinics will be conducted April 23 both in Mountain Home and Glenn's Ferry.

Dr. Donna Bell, county physician, stresses that cases of measles have been occurring this spring in southwest Idaho, with large outbreaks in Payette County during March.

Measles clinics in Elmore last year were poorly attended, and it is hoped, Dr. Bell said, that parents will take advantage of the free services provided this month. Protection against the hard, red measles that can cause serious complications, including loss of hearing, pneumonia, and even brain damage, or possible death is not to be ignored, she added.

The Elmore County Home Extension Council is assisting in the clinics which will provide immunization to any child between 12 months and 12 years.

Readers Theatre Presentation Due

"Being president makes you feel sometimes like the man who was ridden out of town on a rail, and said 'If it wasn't for the honor of the thing, I'd rather walk!'"

These words attributed to Abraham Lincoln begin the program, "The White House," which the College of Southern Idaho Readers Theatre will present next week.

Fran Tanner, director, said that the program will be at 8 p.m. April 17 at the CSI-Fine Arts Center Circus Theater.

The program will present glimpses into the lives of many former presidents of the United States.

Scenes—such as Abigail Adams' first impressions of the White House, James Monroe's intervention in a duel, Benjamin Harrison's purchase of a cow to supply milk for the White House, Mrs. Abraham Lincoln's sanity trial, the Grover Cleveland "seduction" scandal, James Garfield's assassination and Teddy Roosevelt's views on birth control are characterized by the 12 readers.

Reading theatre, Mrs. Tanner said, is a unique form of presentation where readers, with manuscript in hand, bring literature alive for the audience.

"The White House" consists of letters, diary entries, news paper articles and historical fiction combined into amusing and vivid characterized scenes.

The readers are Jim Brenner, Vickie Caughey, John Elliott, Linda Hardin, Jim Hodges, Dan Klueder, Leo Marshall, Rita Matthews, Jeanna McLain, Rhonda Miracle, Andrea Parenteau and Lynda Teter.

The public, CSI students and personnel are invited to the free performance. Groups desiring a special performance may contact Mrs. Tanner at CSI.

SBA To Examine Future Outlook

Idaho's economic frontiers will be explored by speakers at the Monday meeting of the Boise Regional Advisory Council of the Small Business Administration. Oliver Davis, regional director, announced the semi-annual meeting will be held in Boise. The 28-member council will hear reports on food processing, the growing future of tourism, the impact of "light money" on the small business economy and the skill training needs of area businesses of the future. Approximately 50 members of the council are from throughout Southern Idaho, Eastern Oregon and Northern Nevada and are expected to attend the session at the Downtowner Motel.

Litton Industries Faces Federal Antitrust Charges

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The settlement has been rejected by Federal Trade Commission and that no useful purpose would be served by further consent order negotiations. According to the commission, Litton has violated antitrust laws in its acquisition of a German typewriter manufacturer. The commission voted 4 to 1 to reject the company's proposal at a public hearing for extended negotiations leading to an out-of-court settlement of the government suit. Litton has pledged a full legal defense of its "full rights" to keep the German firm, Triumph-Adler. The FTC denied Litton's request for reconsideration of the complaint and said in a public notice: "The commission has advised Litton that its offer of the writer firm last October for $55 million to bolster its founding—Royal typewriter division. The commission charged the merger would reduce competition in the U.S. typewriter industry and tend to create a monopoly. Litton contends that International Business Machines (IBM) holds an "unassailable" monopoly in the industry and that if it merged with Triumph-Adler the merger would reduce competition. Litton said it would be forced to sell off Royal—Litton said it would leave IBM virtually alone in the field.

One of the most brilliant and original film programs ever assembled is about to appear on the screen at the College of Southern Idaho. Fine Arts Center. Called "The Kinetic Art," the collection is composed of 26 new films by the world's leading filmmakers—the first in an annual series of showcases for the short film. This three program series will be shown Monday, Wednesday and April 25 from 8 to 10 p.m. The 26 films run from 55 seconds to 55 minutes in length. They are divided into three separate programs which offer a broad variety of cinematic material—pop, documentary, animated, experimental and dramatic—a variety that will satisfy the broadest expectations of the most knowledgeable filmmaker.

Engineer Says 1969-70 Cars Don't Pollute

Among the established filmmakers representing Albert Lamorise, with his first short film since the history-making "The Red Balloon"; Jordan Belson of San Francisco, the most celebrated living master of the experimental film; and Peter F. Whitehead with his unique "Tonight Let's All Make Love in London."

Represented in the collection are 12 new directors whose works have never before been available to the American public. Previous critics in locales as diverse as Washington, D.C., Wisconsin and Utah are unanimous in saying that several of these directors are destined to assume their places in film history and that several of the films will become permanent classics.

The concept of selecting the best of the world's new short films, and of bringing them to the American audience is that of noted film impresario Brant Sloan. Mr. Sloan is project director for Universal Education and Visual Arts in the distribution of these programs of the short film.

"Much of the most exciting work in the cinema today is to be found in the short film," Mr. Sloan said. "Until now, these films were seen only at the European festivals. This is a showcase for the prize-winning films which will give the American Colleges and museums a coverage of the annual crop of creative work from around the world. The filmgoer who considers himself a movie-lover, rather than a cinema-hater, will find a new world of entertainment, and stimulation open to him."

The 26 films chosen for this series are the result of an intensive search by Mr. Sloan for the finest new films from their little-known sources. That search had him view more than 1,000 films at festivals, laboratories and screening rooms from Paris to Bratislava, Tokyo to Mannheim, and Venice to San Francisco. Few of the films in this collection have been seen outside their countries of origin, and six of the films come di-

Tax Time Fails To Trigger Borrowing

By RUTH MILLER Times-News Staff Writer. A tax oddity this year, apparent in finance circles, is that the surtax hasn't caused as much of a dollar-drain as expected. There is less borrowing from Peter to pay Paul this year than usual, even with the added tax. Wage earners began having surtax deducted from their checks in July, but the tax is retroactive to April.

HEW To Spend Money At School

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Rep. Orval Hansen said Friday the Department of Health Education and Welfare plans to spend more than $12,000 at the College of Southern Idaho under its instructional equipment program. In grants announced by Hansen the department will give CSI $11,187 to be used for laboratory and special equipment and materials for undergraduate instruction and $2,459 for purchase of closed circuit television equipment. The grants are made under Title 6 of the Higher Education Act of 1965.

The funds will be available almost immediately, Dr. James Taylor, CSI president, said Friday. He said the funds were allocated as 50 per cent of a budget which CSI projected was needed to acquire the equipment.

It's A Jim Dandy

Political Point Of View

By L. James Koutnik

It's nearly two weeks now since Pres. Eisenhower died. Some of us from an earlier generation prefer to honor him as Gen. Eisenhower. In observing his passing, and funeral, we could not help but be tremendously impressed by the simple dignity, the well-organized funeral, and a nation paying homage to a great man. We also couldn't help comparing it to other recent funerals of equally notable personalities.

States—This was no circus designed for the masses, nor does it smack of overtones, of the pomp and circumstance that appeared to have been staged at a Cecil B. DeMille. It was impressive to observe the actual genuine grief of a widow and son who lost a husband and a father. This was a simple funeral in all 400 of its details, of a man who devoted his entire life to his nation. No attempt was made to enshrine him, as an institution, or to set up an Eisenhower dynasty to be milked for all it was worth, or to flail the nation into having a national goal.

of the real dogs, need only be resubmitted again and, in fact, they will even carry the same numbers that they had for the first part of the 40th session. Fortunately, the legislators won't be burdened with the problem of additional funding that can and probably should be acted upon during "Part B" of the 40th. This includes the overhaul of the Idaho liquor laws, the revision of our clumsy and archaic election laws. This latter point is sure to be taken up because most of the revisions that will be considered will be of prime importance to each of the members who, a very short time after the next adjournment, will be up for reelection.

Draft Chief Anticipates Law Changes

LANSING, Mich. (UPI)—Selective Service Director Lewis B. Hershey said conscientious objectors feel they get a big break from a recent federal court decision striking down parts of the draft law could be badly mistaken. Lt. Gen. Hershey said if the U.S. Supreme Court upholds the ruling, it could end the granting of all deferments on religious or moral grounds. "Some people interpret this decision as meaning everyone claiming a C.O. classification could be out of the draft," Hershey told a news conference. "Well, I'm not a lawyer, but I interpret it to mean everyone would be in the provision in the law for granting a C.O. deferment." Hershey said he "read very closely" the decision of U.S. District Judge Edward Weiranski of Boston, Mass., in the case of John Sisson Jr., a Harvard University graduate.

He was a good president during his eight years in office, and we look back on the peace and tranquility of that period—one without wars, and a period of consolidation and contentment in such diverse places as Denver, Dallas, Houston, San Francisco—to name but a few—and it is with genuine fondness that we read the news of his passing and want to express our appreciation to his family for not turning his funeral into a period of national paralysis or something that not entirely unknown in the last few years.

The press, radio and television coverage of the period of mourning has been exceptionally commensurate. Because of the knowledge that like would be passing at any time, they were able to prepare an intelligent and interesting review of his full and interesting life. The opportunity once again to review the battles of Europe, where he commanded the largest armed force the world has ever known, and the opportunity to review his period of commanding NATO, his eight years in office and the way we have not known was informative, and contributed to an image we would like to retain of the general. This is truly the recognition of a great man, not a "show-bill" production of an institutional dynasty.

Astronomy Unit Formed For Adults

All interested adults are invited to join a newly formed Magic Valley Amateur Astronomy group, reports Richard Nall, Jerome.

A charter meeting is planned for later in April. Programs and facilities have been in existence for many years for youthful amateurs at the Arts and Science Center, 1220 Kimberly Road, conducted by Dr. Martin Herrett, in conjunction with schools throughout the valley.

Mr. Hall noted that telescopes, more experienced amateurs, and affiliations with groups where will be available to adult members. No experience or special educational requirements are necessary to enjoy astronomy.

In addition to viewing with telescopes, the exploration of theoretical astronomy can be an endlessly fascinating study. Sessions will include descriptive discussions on the Copernican revolution and other space probes.

Further information can be obtained from Mr. Herrett at the Arts and Science Center, 733-0408 or from Mr. Nall, 420 E. Main St., Jerome, 324-5507.

The works of Idaho's 40th legislature, both good and bad, are just now coming to light. People are just beginning to find out what bills have been introduced. For your information, the next session of the legislature, in January, 1970 (just slightly over 8 months) will be a continuation of the past legislature. There will be no reorganization session and the same committees and sub-committees who are currently holding office will preside. Presumably the same committees that have been handling incomplete legislation will be considering bills once more. Most of the 700 bills that were considered, but not enacted, are still there, waiting for a sword of Damocles over your heads.

We have been advised that all of the bills that have been printed, and this includes some

Liquor Manager Raps 'Failure' Of Legislature

BOISE (UPI)—State Liquor Chariton says the past session of the legislature failed to enact proposed laws that would simplify the handling of liquor profits. He said the legislation proposed would have allowed him to implement most of the recommendations made in a Bureau of Public Accounts report of his operation. Chariton gave as an example the fact that he has no power under present statute to determine "due dates" for discount claims from casket buyers of liquor. "We had a bill up but it was not considered," Chariton stated. "Dispensary operations were criticized in a report released this week—by Eugene Harter, director of the Bureau of the Budget."

County Planning Outlined At Cassia Commission Meet

BURLEY—“Nearly two-thirds of the counties in Idaho currently are setting up some form of planning,” William L. York, Idaho Falls, Rural Development Specialist for the Farmers Home Administration, said.

The official addressed the newly organized Cassia County Planning Commission at a public meeting Thursday evening in the district courtroom. He showed slides of the results of planning, compared to areas where no planning had been done.

Mr. York urged Cassia residents to make plans for the “good of all resources in this locality,” James Martin, speaking in behalf of Charles Hendricks, who was unable to attend, told of the beginning of efforts in Cassia county for county planning.

GLORIA AMENDE will represent Declo High School at Girls' State at Nampa in June. Miss Amende, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Keith Amende, Albion, will be co-sponsored by the Four Leaf Clover Home Extension Club of Albion, Albion-Grange, and the Thrifty Thrivers Home Extension Club of Declo.

Contest Will Be Sponsored By Chamber

SHOSHONE — The local Chamber of Commerce will sponsor the Lincoln County Grassman of the Year contest again this year.

Leo Senten, soil conservationist for the Wood River Soil and Water Conservation district, will be the committee chairman, assisted by van Hopkins, county extension agent. Hopkins is also president of the Chamber of Commerce this year.

The contest was launched here this week with state officials present. They were Hugh Hough, Lloyd Campbell, state ASCS office; Dave Tidwell, state department of public lands; Delbert Fallon, state office of Bureau of Land Management, and Russell E. Smith, state soil conservation office, all from Boise.

Mont Johnson, Richfield, the state winner for 1968, explained the merits of the program.

Both irrigated and range land operators are eligible to enter the contest. Winners are those who have practiced the best use of grass, water, rotation of grass crops and good farming practices in general.

Local men at the meeting here, in addition to Senten, Johnson, and Hopkins, were Corwin Silva, James Pate, Chalmer Hagen, Kenneth Holmberg, Dean Durfee, Ferry Hadlock and Herb Love.

PEGGY HENDRICKSON, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Hendrickson, Hagerman, has been chosen to represent Hagerman High School at the 23rd annual session of Springs Girls' State to be held at Nampa in June. Kelly Strawser, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Strawser, was selected as alternate.

Morris Carlson, Twin Falls County Commissioner, spoke of the problems and progress which have been made in Twin Falls County by the planning committee.

Howard Conrad, Milner, chairman, appointed Phil Wheeler, chairman of mineral resources; Truman Bradley, economic base; Jack Pierce, government and finance; Mayor Joe Peters, public and semi public improvements; Robert Hilliard, agriculture resources; Edgar Moorman, water resources data; Jack Keen, recreation; Hal Taylor, fish and wildlife data; Ken Redder, forest resources data; Bob Ward, range resources data; and Mares Bratcher, climatic data.

Information gathered will be submitted to Mr. Conrad, chairman, and his committee members, Dale Shelby and John Adams, Oakley, who will present the data to the county commissioners. Mr. Conrad pointed out that the chairman of the committee may ask anyone in the county to assist them in getting the information needed.

Fred L. Johnson, county supervisor, Farmers Home Administration, spoke on the role Government agencies have in assisting in county planning.

The purpose of a county planning commission is to promote health, safety, and moral welfare of the people. Also accumulate factual information about the county, review and bring together information from studies of different groups and interests in the county.

Recommendations for development will be made following a complete study. Residents are encouraged to coordinate their efforts to develop and improve the economic and social conditions of the county in an orderly manner.

Objectives of comprehensive plan are to help identify local problems, to form and inspire the citizens, to help identify development potentials and set sound policies for this development, coordinate decisions and projects, prepare for the future by making plans to improve the total environment of the county, Mr. Conrad said.

TIMES-NEWS PUBLIC FORUM VOICE OF THE READER

Hagerman Man Confutes Superintendent's Stand

Editor, Times-News:

Mr. Roy Strawser, Superintendent of Schools in Hagerman, Idaho, in a letter in the Times-News as unqualified, derogatory and undignified. When you enter the main hall of Hagerman High School, you are greeted with a poster which says, "Sock it to 'em Baby!" Now Mr. Strawser and I seem to disagree on a number of points, but I do not consider anything like "I Am An American" would, in my estimation, carry much more dignity.

Next we come to the "unqualified" attack. Following are my qualifications: A Master of Arts in Education and work toward my Doctorate from the George Washington University, Washington, D. C.; Principal and Coach while teaching 6 subjects in an average of 25 students in each class at Hagerman High 40 years ago; additional teaching experience in cities of Idaho and Colorado; employment by the State Department of Education; U.S.-Office of Education, Washington, D. C.; Director, Manager of the United States Department of Commerce in Boise, Idaho, Omaha, Nebraska, and Lincoln, Nebraska, my own contracting business in Omaha, Nebraska, and now, by Hagerman, Idaho.

Mr. Strawser erroneously describes my 55-acre small working ranch (which incidentally is paid for) as an "acreage." We have a beef herd and a cow herd and are the only breeders of Miniature Mediterranean Donkeys in the state of Idaho. It is my motto and philosophy: "I myself, who through excessive taxes help pay the salaries of Mr. Strawser and Mrs. C. W. Choe, who is a member of his office staff.

These two employees of the school district have been the first people to criticize my presence in the community. Numerous phone calls and letters as far away as Kimberly have praised the stand which this citizen has taken. Perhaps the most interesting people in this community regarding "fantastic individualized Learning Center have been placed on paper instead of discussed openly and in groups by the good people of Hagerman. Mr. Strawser promised that several hundred people who attended the March 10 meeting, would be invited to the office of the Center's electronic equipment, he failed to produce this tape wherein Mrs. Choules stated that the statement the student made that the 3 R's were not important. (Mrs. Choules' husband is the Hagerman postmaster, who told me that I could not have a rural mail box. If you drive out to my place, you will find a rural mail box—but it was necessary to go to my Congressman in Washington, D. C. in order to obtain it.)

The voters of Hagerman would do well to vote "no" for the present, while the special grade school bond election is held—until it is decided whether consolidation of schools in Gooding County is a strategic loss. There might be some other too many superintendents, administrative staffs, "fantastic" programs, etc. Bliss, Gooding, Hagerman and Wendell should be working together, competing together against other counties in Idaho to make Idaho an outstanding example of Americanism.

I do not imply that there should be a "return of the Illegals" throughout the state, but that we should show children how to work, to respect one another and to give of themselves, rather than to think of nothing but themselves. It is the space age, but at the same time let's keep our feet on the ground by using old-fashioned common sense. We are having T-Groups, Sensitivity training programs, etc.

Small School Offers More Opportunity To Children

Editor, Times-News:

In reference to Mr. Delmer G. Hardy's letter concerning the public school situation in Lincoln County, Mr. Hardy is a fellow educator presently teaching in the Shoshone district and is a man whom I respect. My reason for writing is not to condemn his opinion, for we are all entitled to one, but rather to make some corrections in statements made about the school situation at Dietrich.

I will first quote Mr. Hardy's mistaken assumptions and then give the situation as it actually exists. Mr. Hardy indicated that Dietrich has one superintendent, one principal, fourteen teachers, and a board of trustees on its payroll. He indicated this was the same as at Richfield. He also stated that an amount in excess of $30,000.00 is being spent for high school teachers at Dietrich. The above mentioned information is erroneous.

The situation as it really exists at Dietrich is as follows: There are eight teachers in grades one through twelve and one person who acts as superintendent, principal and part time teacher. The teaching duties are divided so that teachers with special training teach in the grades, junior high school, and high school. For example, our high school social studies teacher teaches social studies to the junior high pupils also. My same is true of our English and Physical Education teachers.

This is an attempt to give the children at various levels the benefit of a teacher who is especially well trained in a particular field. This contrary to Mr. Hardy we have nine persons on our professional staff instead of the sixteen he indicated. We do have a school board but their expenses are minimal because they receive no payment for their services nor an expense allowance of any kind.

One other miscalculation was the figure which said an excess of thirty thousand dollars was being paid for high school teachers. Actually the figure is $28,650.00.

It might also add that the public school is just that, and if anyone desires facts or figures concerning their school as a whole they are entitled to them. All these need do is ask.

Other than these figures I can find no fault in the opinion expressed by Mr. Hardy, although my opinion as to the value of the small school does differ from his.

I recently turned down a very attractive administrative position in a much larger town in order to stay at Dietrich. The job paid at least one thousand dollars a year more than I am receiving here and the man I would be working under is one I have admired and respected since my high school days. My reason for staying is that I feel that my children have a much better opportunity in the small school to satisfy their total needs including that of a good education.

Mother Presents Case Against Consolidation

Editor, Times-News:

In answer to Mr. Delmer G. Hardy's letter to the Forum column of March 30.

I too, a few years ago, thought the schools of Lincoln County should be consolidated, but the past dozen years have changed my mind. I am beginning to think they would better divide the large schools and go back to more small ones.

I would rather spend my taxes to make happy, well adjusted children in smaller schools, than to rehabilitate drug addicts, drop outs, and children that are in trouble because of lack of activities to spend their energy on.

In our larger schools in Lincoln County—we have large classes but only about a dozen boys can use them. Two men this past winter wanted to use the gym for the grade school boys to play basketball; but they were denied that privilege; the reason, it would cost too much—money more important than boys.

In the tiny school of Dietrich as Mr. Hardy called it—and by the way, they have nine teachers, not 12—their gym and all their equipment is open every day and evening to all the children. These boys and girls are put on an honor basis—the use of an honor basis, as long as no mischief or vandalism is done. This alone helps to develop dependable, truthful and happy children.

With a high school of 30 pupils they have in the past four years in athletics won four conference titles, three district titles, sent three teams to the state tournaments, and won one state tournament.

If anyone wants some fun come to the Dietrich grade school boys play ball—this includes all grades including the first. You'll see some talents developing, and very happy children.

Dietrich sent 21 students to Twin Falls last month to the Speech Festival. Each student chanted a poem, short story or reading of high literary value. Then they were judged on their ability to present this, not only words, but through their emotions, interpretations, poses, quality and use of voice and enunciation. Each contestant had to interpret

Writer Objects To Commission Stance On Food

Editor, Times-News:

The faulty reasoning of the County Commissioners regarding commodity surplus foods distribution does not state just why a food producer should have lower percentages of elderly people on poverty incomes or on social security disability and old age survivor benefits. Also widows and orphans on public assistance.

Further, we face four years of the usual Republican tight money era—no Republicans coasting along on past Democrat sweat and work; rich man selfishness.

As finally, if the County Commissioners, gentlemen living themselves off the taxpayers, object to commodity foods, neighboring progressive states are finding food stamps an answer to public aid of distressed income people who cannot work due to disability or age or family misfortune.

T. F. Doctor Disputes Guest Editorial Stand

Editor, Times-News:

I was disappointed in the editorial I saw Monday, April 7 in your newspaper, written from the Idaho State Journal last night. I wish I were living as well as this would seem to indicate to the physicians here.

I will recall that my father who was killed in 1940 at the age of 40 in an automobile accident was living much better with more time off and longer vacations than I am and working fewer hours.

His accounts receivable at the time of his death were roughly 250 per cent of what my accounts receivable are today at age 43. He charged $125 for an appendectomy in 1939 and 1940 when a modern fee would be the average fee now is about $175.

There are many misrepresentations in this editorial but there are also some truths. However, as you know, juggling figures and statistics one can prove most anything. Many of our currentills and high costs come from the drug industry and hospitals—and in neither of these areas do physicians exert any significant control.

Lastly, having spent many years in the academic environment I can reassure you that the academic environment is usually completely out of touch with the practical realities and economics of the down-to-earth practice of medicine.

P. S. In addition many of the things that make hospitals inefficient are directly traceable to federal government regulations. Not only do I speak the cost of the labor in hospitals which is necessary in hospitals but also stipend and redundant regulations for accreditation and qualifications for Medicare payment.

This is in addition to the inflated gross mistake of vastly underestimating the cause of Medicare. It will never fade, and when Angela grows into the age where she will be able to understand, I will tell her of the people who care when her father gave his life in the performance of his duty.

(Editor's Note: The following is a letter of thanks from Mrs. Roy Parker, young widow of the late Fireman who died in the line of duty in a recent suburban fire. The Times-News welcomes the opportunity to carry Mrs. Parker's message to the people of Magic Valley.)

Editor, Times-News:

The true heart of the people of Twin Falls, Magic Valley and the State of Idaho was revealed to me as a result of the tragic death of Roy.

With the exception of the death of my mother, I had never been so close to such a painful loss and to hear up under all the trials which came in an instant was more than I really thought I could bear.

Though the people opened to me and I found that I could live with the tragedy. Naturally, it goes without saying that there will never be anyone who can take the place of Roy in my life. But the hearing of the loss will be bearable mainly because of the sympathetic help people who have appeared from all directions and all at the same time.

I have written personal cards to many of these people but there are many others who are not even names to me because they have never given their names.

Those are the people I want to reach through this letter and I wish them all to know that I am thankful for what they have done for me and our daughter, Annela.

Words are sometimes not enough to express what a person has to say and this is one of the times that words really fail to convey the feeling of my heart.

But in my heart I will always have only love for the scores of fine people who have come forward and helped us in one way or another.

It is comforting to know there are many others who are willing to help share my personal grief. I will never forget, and when Angela grows into the age where she will be able to understand, I will tell her of the people who care when her father gave his life in the performance of his duty.

Weightmen, Dennis Lead Wendell To Big Six Loop Track And Field Crown

By LARRY HOVEY
Times-News Sports Editor

GODDING — Wendell Trojans hit hard in the weights, then turned loose sophomore Mike Frier and a pair of seconds Friday afternoon to walk off with the Big Six Conference track and field championship. The Trojans, led by favorites going into the event, pulled 27 points out of the field, the best showing in three five sports ever managed by Wendell in a major meet. That helped them to a total of 78 for the day while Frier scored 57 1/2 for second and Glenn Gooding 41 1/2 for third.

The mini-dome at Idaho State University is taking shape and it appears we have to eat the crow. We expressed doubt ISU could build, plus landscape and furnish the nation's first indoor football field for $2.8 million but Al Director Milton "Dubby" Holt says the Bengals will accomplish what he noted at the Twin Falls sports banquet the other night.

"Of course," Holt noted at the Twin Falls sports banquet the other night, "the first of its type in the nation and a lot of firms want their products in it. They are giving us good prices to do about five."

"The Bengals will charge on the field for the first time when Drake University is slated in Pocatello for the final ISU football home game on Saturday night. Holt said, "to avoid conflict with other sports, TV games, hunting and fishing interests and other things that would compete for the attention of the fans, we are going on Saturday night. We will have an extra attraction for people just outside the area that would be considered easy driving."

Holt sees great things for the mini-dome. "We will have the second largest indoor track in the world," he said, "second only to the one in the Astrodome. Our indoor track is ordered to be eight lanes straight away of 140 yards meaning we can run the 120, high hurdles and the 100-yard dash. It will be an eight of a mile around, which makes it the second largest. The Astrodome is a fifth of a mile."

Although contracts were expected to be let Thursday, Holt didn't know at the time exactly what kind of basketball floor the Bengals would have, "I am hoping for a Parlan floor that would go right under the football turf," he said, "I am told two men could roll up the turf on a big trailer and have the basketball floor ready to go in an hour. But that will depend on the bid. We might wind up with a wood floor that goes over the turf."

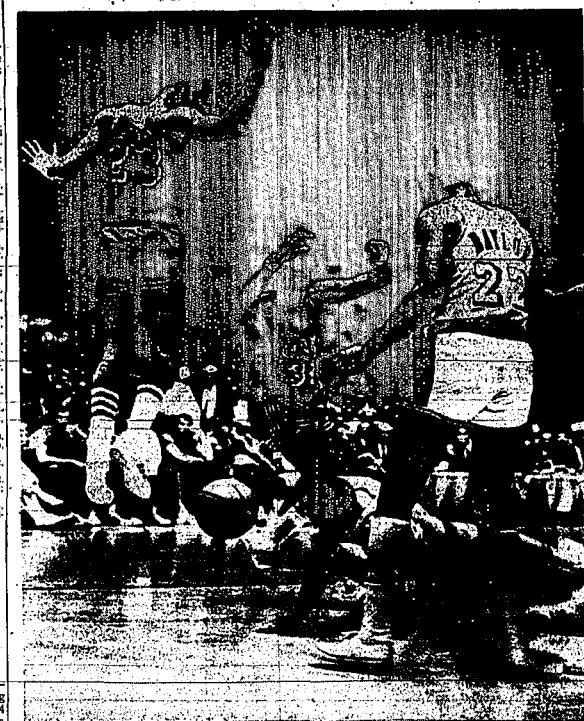

Actually, the need for a basketball floor isn't pressing. For the most part the current ISU gymnasium, with seats above, about 4,500 to 5,000, is enough. But the mini-dome will hold 13,000. So nights of big games when high crowds should be attracted, ISU plans to shift action into the mini-dome.

One of the problems with a portable basketball floor would be storage. "There is a lot of lumber in an indoor track," said the ever-tracker-conscious Holt. "We can store that with ease but a basketball floor would squeeze our available room."

Everyone connected with ISU, and of course many in the area, are excited about the mini-dome. It should prove a big boon to ISU gate receipts right from the start as an attraction in itself — and forget about who's playing.

But the ISU people believe the mini-dome goes deeper than conventional for an athlete and school. It should prove a boon in recruiting. And Holt says it will attract more new while ISU still has an exclusive corner on the market.

Porsche Has Pole Spot In BOAC 500

BRANDS—HATCH, England (UPI)—Jo Siffert, in a Works Porsche 908, shattered the sports car lap record here Saturday to make the pole position in Sunday's BOAC 500, the third round of the World Sports Championship.

The Swiss driver roared round the 2.65 mile circuit in one minute, 28.8 seconds to record a shattering average speed of 107.43 miles an hour, a full 1.8 seconds faster than New Zealander Chris Amon in a 312P Ferrari.

Completing the first row of the grid will be Swede Jo Bonnier, who took his Lola MK3 Around the track in 1:31.6.

But hard on Siffert's tailpipes will be two more works Porsche of Vic Elford (1:32.0) and German Gerhard Mitter (1:32.2), on the second row of the grid.

Australian Jack Brabham took the new open-topped Ford of the Alan Mann racing team around in 1:33.2 to get the inside position on the third row. Alongside Brabham will be the fourth works Porsche of Roy Stoenelen who turned in a disappointing time of 1:32.2. Denny Hulme of New Zealand, in the other Alan Mann Ford 3.1, will complete the row.

Three powerful five-liter Ferraris will monopolize the fourth row, Britain's Trevor Taylor getting the best position, with Australian Paul Hawkins and American Peter Revson alongside.

Segui Hurls Pilots Past Chicago 5-1

SEATTLE, Wash. (UPI)—Right-hander Diego Segui, making his first regular season start since 1967, worked the first 7 1/2 innings and then got help from a former bullpen partner, Jack Aker. Saturday night as the Seattle Pilots posted a 5-1 victory over the Chicago White Sox.

Segui, who was acquired along with Aker from Oakland in the expansion draft, tired in the eighth when he put two men on with two out and a 3-0 count on Bill Melton.

Aker worked the White Sox third baseman to load the bases but then got Galt Hopkins on a groundout to end the threat. It was Aker's second save in four Seattle outings.

Light hitting Ray Oyler rapped a solo home run in the fifth inning to give Seattle its first run.

After Gerry McNetney's run-producing single boosted the margin to 2-0, the Pilots put it in the reach by tallying three times in the sixth.

Cokes Expected To Beat Naples, Retain Crown

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (UPI)—Curtis Cokes, a smooth veteran from Dallas, Tex., ranks as a 10-1 favorite to retain the welterweight championship against Cuban Jose Naples in a 15-round fight next Friday night.

Cokes, 31, will be making his fifth title defense since capturing the vacant title on a decision over Jean Josselin of France Nov. 28, 1966. Emile Griffith gave up the crown after winning the middleweight championship.

The odds are rated even that the bout will end in a knockout since both are regarded as strong punchers.

Napoles, who is 23 today, is a Cuban refugee now living in Mexico City. He has knocked out 37 of 56 opponents and never has been stopped himself.

Each fighter was impressive in tuneup bouts.

Cokes knocked out Don Cobbs in the first round in St. Louis while his opponent stopped Fate Davis in six rounds in Mexico City.

Napoles will be getting his first crack at the 147-pound crown.

Oakland Tips Denver, Cops Series Edge

OAKLAND, Calif. (UPI)—Rookie Warren Armstrong scored 34 points, grabbed off 14 rebounds and keyed Oakland's devastating 4-1 home Saturday night rout of the Denver Nuggets in 118 American Basketball Association Western Division semifinal victory over the Denver Rockets.

The win gave the Oaks a 3-2 advantage in the best-of-seven series with the sixth game scheduled for Sunday in Denver.

If a seventh game is necessary, it will be played here Wednesday.

Armstrong, a 6-2 guard who was voted the ABA's Rookie of the Year this week by the Sporting News, pumped in 12 points in the first quarter as the Oaks led the Rockets 32-23 at half.

He added eight more in the next period as Oakland upped its margin to a comfortable 67-42 at the end of the first half.

Coach Alex Hannum substituted freely in the second half as the Oaks coasted in.

Angels Rally In Sixth To Drop Twins

ANAHEIM, Calif. (UPI)—Lou Johnson's pinch infield grounder scored Tom Satriano from third base with the tie-breaking run in the sixth inning Saturday night to bring the California Angels a 4-3 victory over the winless Minnesota Twins.

Leading pitcher Dave Boswell walked Satriano and Bobby Knopp in the sixth. Ruben Amaro then laid down a pinch sacrifice bunt, Johnson grounded to third but Satriano slid under the tap on the fielder's choice play at the plate.

The Twins tied the score at 3-3 on Bob Allison's leadoff homer in the sixth. It was his second four-bagger in two nights.

Rookie catcher George Mitterwald also hit his second homer on consecutive nights, leading off the second inning with a home run.

The other Twins run came in the third when Allison walked, advanced on a balk and scored on Tony Olney's single.

Landis Wins Third, Sox Stop Indians

CLEVELAND, (UPI)—Bill Landis, who won only three games last year, picked up his third victory of the season, and Ken Harrelson belted a two-run homer to lead the Boston Red Sox to a 5-3 triumph over the Cleveland Indians Saturday.

Landis, who relieved Ken Burt in the fifth inning, blanked the Indians on one hit over the final 4 2/3 innings.

The Sox took a 1-0 lead in the second on Harrelson's double, two hit batsmen and Russ Gibson's sacrifice fly. They added two more in the third on Harrelson's home run and took a 4-0 lead in the fourth on Gibson's infield hit, and a sacrifice fly by Mike Andrews.

Cautious Casper Fires Safe 71 For One-Stroke Lead In Masters Tourney

By DAVID MOFFIT
UPI Sports Writer

AUGUSTA, Ga. (UPI)—Cautious Billy Casper, steering clear of the gambling play that cost him a dozen times before, shot a safe 71 Saturday that gave him an under-par 208 and a one-stroke lead over fast-finishing George Archer at the end of the third round of the Masters golf tournament.

Actually, if his putting had been just a little bit sharper, the 37-year-old California golfer might have run away from the field, since he had birdie chances on each of the last three holes.

But, true to the promise he made himself before the tournament began, Casper, who has won just about everything else but here, avoided the risky 13th hole and birdied at the 17th hole. He did sink back-to-back birdie puts at holes 9 and 10 but gained only one stroke on par for the day because of a bogey 5 at the short, 363-yard seventh hole.

That was only his second bogey in 64 holes.

The towering Archer, tallest of all the pro golfers at 6-foot-6, fell five strokes off Casper's pace when the 1968 "golfer of the year" got out of the birdie. But he made up four strokes in five holes by his brilliant angle 3 at the 520-yard 13th hole and birdies at the 17th hole.

Archer, who started the day three strokes behind second-round co-leader Casper and Australian Bruce Devlin, a 15-footer on No. 18 that would have vaulted him into a tie with Casper—but missed it by a foot and had to settle for runner-up honors through three rounds despite shooting a 69-209.

Little Miller Barber, still battered by swollen thumb that forced him to withdraw from last week's greensboro open, shot a 68 Saturday to move into third place with a 6-under-210.

Long-hitting Tom Weiskopf, released from Army duty only six weeks ago, and Charles Goody both shot 69-211s to stand three strokes off Casper's pace in a tie for fourth place.

Canadian singer Knudson also had a 69 Saturday for a 4-under-par 212 that tied him with Lionel Hebert who shot a 70 and Devlin, who skied a 75, finishing matching Casper's pace through Saturday's first seven holes, and Dan Sikes, who had a 73, a 69-213.

Scores were considerably better under a heavy overcast on the lush Augusta National course Saturday than they were Friday when hard greens and extremely tough pin placements had given the golfers fits.

Casper had started the day in a tie with Devlin at 11-under and three strokes ahead of Archer and Sikes. Everyone else was at least five strokes back at the end of the day.

Actually the field was closer bunched at the end of the third round than it had been in 18 holes.

"I started playing well at the ninth," Casper said. "I holed a long putt there. But until then, I was just hanging in there."

Casper even shrugged off the puts he missed on the last three holes.

"I had to putt many times this week that missing those few at the end didn't really matter that much," he admitted he didn't drive well Saturday and that his was "mainly a scrambling round."

"My short game saved me," he said.

Gene Littler, who has won more money ($36,800) so far this year than any other golfer ever won this early, shot a 70 Saturday to head a group at 214 that included Japan's Junji Morikita, the National Golfers' Association's first of his countrymen ever to place, that was late in the Masters, and Don Bles, Kono had a 68 and a 70 Saturday.

Three-time Masters champion Jack Nicklaus, the pre-tournament favorite, had a 72-215 Saturday to head a group of 10. Kono had a 68 and a 70 Saturday.

Four-time Masters champion Arnold Palmer broke par here for the first time since 1967 with a 70 Saturday, only to be ruled by the rules committee but was far back in the field with his 218.

Palmer had been accused of grounding a club in a tree and assessed two strokes back on Saturday's second hole but a tournament official agreed with Palmer that the golfing misdeed also only "inadvertently flected the sand" rather than grounding his club.

Nicklaus at 215, and rounding out the list of 12 on the 48 third round finishers who managed to break par for 54 holes, were Bert Yancey, who shot a 70 Saturday and here the hole in two, Tommy Aaron, Johnny Pott, and Jack Burke.

PGA champion Julius Boros has a 73-218; South Africa's Gary Player, only a few days over to win the Masters, had a 75-219; and defending champion Bob Guldby, who really played well in winning here a year ago, had a 75-222.

Archer Says Title Still Up For Grabs

AUGUSTA, Ga. (UPI)—Sweeping George Archer came this close to earning a tie for the lead at the end of the third round of the Masters golf championship Saturday, but the way he sees it the title will be up for grabs Sunday, anyway.

Archer, the 6-foot-6 demyanator from Fresno, Calif., started Saturday three strokes behind Billy Casper and was a whopping five strokes behind him when he started to charge at the 13th hole. He birdied the 13th, eagled the 15th, birdied the 17th, and darn near caught Casper on the 18th when his birdie put missed by a foot.

That gave him a 3-under-69 for a 209 total.

"Bill's still leading," said Archer, without meaning over that one. "But I'd say there's 10 fellows can still win here—especially if we get some rain and the greens get slower."

Casper believes the tough Augusta National course must be played conservatively to avert disaster and Archer was asked if he agrees with the man he's trying to catch. What he answered was that he considers himself a sort of careful gambler.

"It's hard to be your own boss," he said. "But, for instance, I don't think I played par-five holes conservatively."

He sure didn't. It was on the par fives where he went for the pin on second shots, that he picked up birdie on the second hole and another on the 13th before getting his eagle-three on the 15th when he rammed his second 35 feet from the pin and sank it.

"On 13 and 15," Archer explained, "you gamble one shot to get one—a one-on-one situation and I'll bet for that. But on No. 12 (par-three) you have to gamble two shots to get one, because you can easily double bogey there. You can gamble doesn't come off."

All-American Prep Hoop Squad Chosen

NEW YORK (UPI)—The 1969 All-America high school basketball team, the tallest in the 14-year history of the selections, was announced Sunday by Scholastic Magazines.

Forty prep stars from 22 states and the District of Columbia won spots on the team. The players range from 6-1 to 7-1—an average height of 6-6 1/2.

Tom Payne of Shawnee-Lessonsville, Ky. is the tallest at 7-1. James Brown of Long Island City, N. Y., and Jeff Dawson of Downers Grove, North Ill., are the two 6-11ers.

Allen Hornyak of St. John's of Bellville, Ohio, with a phenomenal 41.9 average, leads the team.

One of three juniors on the team, 6-11 Tom McMullen of Mansfield, Pa., with 40 points per game, is the only other squad member to have hit the 40 point mark. A dozen other players averaged over 20 points a game during the season.

The lowest man on the team, Jim Brewer of defense-minded Proviso East of Maywood, Ill., averaged 13.5 in leading his school to the state championship.

Ohio, New York and New Jersey had four players each on the mythical team. California three, and Pennsylvania, Indiana, Illinois, Kansas and West Virginia—two.

San Roque Wins Race At Aqueduct

NEW YORK (UPI)—Lazy F Ranch's San Roque charged out of the sixth place with only a few furlongs to go in the Excelsior Handicap at Aqueduct Saturday and romped home by three lengths.

"There was a terrific battle for runner-up honors in the 1 1/8 mile running of the 1-18 mile state with Trope King II gaining the honor by a head over Juvenile King.

Sky Count was fourth only a head farther back and a neck in front of Blazing Charge.

Hollywood Gardens rode San Roque, who was second by a nose in the New Orleans Handicap at Fair Grounds in his last start. The black son of Sailor finished the trip in 1:40 1/5 to pick up a winners' purse of $37,310. The 4-year-old paid $10.20, $4.00 and $3.00 to those among the 51,000 fans on hand who backed the choice.

Trope King II paid $4.40 and $3.00 and Juvenile John returned $4.00.

Vermont Miss Claims U.S. Slalom Title

NORDEEN, Calif. (UPI)—Barbara Cochran, a 17-year-old high school junior from Richmond, Vt., won the U.S. Women's Alpine Slalom championship Saturday, beating her closest rival by over five seconds.

Rosie Fortin, Warren, Vt., was second and Susan Corrick, Seattle, Wash., was third in the U.S. Ski Association contest at Sugar Bowl.

Ming Cochran was clocked in 0:12 seconds for both runs while Miss Fortin finished in 0:24 and Miss Corrick in 0:31.

Defending U.S. Women's Slalom champion Judy Nagel of Escondido, Wash., fell on the third run, losing all chance of capturing her second championship.

It was the second national title for Miss Cochran.

GETTING A KICK out of his birdie, Billy Casper watches the ball drop in the cup at the ninth hole Saturday en route to a 71 round in the Masters. Casper played a cautious game and led Bruce Devlin by one stroke at the three-round mark of the tournament.

Frazier, Helfrecht Bat Bruins To 8-4 Win Over Mountain Home

McCovey Bats Giants To 5-1 Win

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI)—Willie McCovey slammed out his second home run of the young season along with a pair of doubles to drive in three runs, powering the San Francisco Giants to a 5-1 win over the San Diego Padres Saturday.

McCovey's hefty bat enabled Juan Marichal, the National League's top winner in 1968, to go the distance and pick up his initial victory as 20,356 looked on.

McCovey's homer, a 340-foot clout just inside the right field foul pole, came with a runner aboard in the eighth to pad a slim 2-1 lead held by the Giants at the time.

BYU Captures Three-Way Track Meet

PROVO (UPI)—Trackmen at Brigham Young University scored a clean victory over Arizona State and the University of Utah Saturday at the triangular track meet in Provo.

Despite an outstanding performance by Arizona's Jerry Bright, a first-place winner in two events, the Cougars took overall honors by earning a total of 89 1/2 points to Arizona's 59 1/2 and a low 33 brought in by Utah.

One of the fastest runs of the year was set by BYU's Ralph Munro, timed at 59.8 seconds in the 40 hurdles, a new university record. The old mark for this event was set by Mike Douglas in 1967 who turned in a 51.1 second performance.

One more record was broken Saturday when Arizona's Mark Murro threw the javelin 268 ft. 9 in., a remarkable 5 ft. 4 in. farther than the old record set by a Louisiana State University trackman in June of 1967.

PAHSIMEROI STEELHEAD SCORE: 215 ADULTS, 178,000 EGGS

By LARRY HOVEY
Times-News Sports Editor

ELLIS—With 178,000 eggs currently eyeing and 215 steelhead having returned to their Pahlimerol foster home, success of the ambitious transplanting of the entire Middle Snake River Steelhead run to the Salmon River drainage is now all but a whopping success. Even the pessimists in the Idaho Fish and Game Department are starting to give the thing a chance.

The optimists, and C. R. "Bob" Quidor, superintendent of the Niagara hatchery, is one of these, feels that before long there will be a couple-three million eggs from the first crop taken at the Idaho Power Company's Oxbow Dam three years ago.

READY TO BE SPAWNED, these female steelhead contributed about 20,000 eggs that will be used in maintaining future runs in Idaho streams. Biologist Mel Reingold is shown with the fish, they were among the first taken from the Middle Snake River and transplanted into the dam-free Salmon River drainage.

total of 102,500 eggs. That averaged out to just over 3,900 eggs per female.

And, the optimists like to point out, the peak of the run should not hit until the first 20 days of May. If that is the case, Quidor is accepting bets on adult returns of two to three thousand. The pessimists in the department have raised their ceiling to 1,000.

It is for sure the project has been blessed in at least a couple of areas and now that things are looking up, it might be time to consider the problem of can it become too successful?

It must be considered that if the Pahlimerol returns provide the department with two to three million eggs, and the fourth-year crop of Middle Snake steelhead already have provided 2.3 million, just where do any these steelhead go and how? If the increase of downstream migrants becomes reflected in returning spawners, there has to be a continued increase at the Pahlimerol weir. With the 15,000,000 steelhead Dvorshak operation coming into being before long, there will be millions of eggs there, continued.

These are the kind of questions weren't being asked now. They weren't around until success showed up.

"In this business I doubt that you can be too successful," smiles Quidor, who has a handsome record both with the Rapid River chinook project and this one. "Just consider how many tributaries there are just from the Pahlimerol river on up to Stanley that can be planted with Steelhead to start new runs or augment native runs. Consider the other states in the west that are anxious to get steelhead eggs and what they might trade in exchange. And then you must also think about this: If you get too many, nature will wipe out the surplus. That's the way she always works. The thing that I'm more interested in, than just trying to get more and more downstream migrants is trying some selective breeding experiments," he said.

"You can do just about anything you want with fish in this respect. Did you know the now have different strains of trout that will provide spawn every month of the year except one—and they'll get that one before long. They need to all spawn in a six-week period and there was no way to provide any continuity in hatcheries. It was either all adults, all eggs, all fry."

"I would like to see if these Middle Snake steelhead could be built up to a giant strain like the Clearwater steelhead. If this covers a lot of ifs, we arrive at the point where we feel we can fill our downstream small needs in all waters we deem acceptable. I would like to breed the biggest females with the largest eggs along with the biggest males and see the result."

"Of course, when you come to just plain fishing, what would be wrong in taking the amount of eggs needed to fulfill our programs and then opening the Pahlimerol. We could have a steelhead fishery that would make any other sick by comparison."

ERODED DORSAL FIN, a result of raceway living and a common complaint among fishermen who want to catch "native" fish, is shown on this female Steelhead. But it also helps prove that fish returning to the Pahlimerol River weir started life in the Niagara Steelhead hatchery.

Ringold is evaluating the entire project, an exhaustive thing that includes study of scale samples from each fish taken in the Pahlimerol weir.

"I think with this flush of success that the public isn't remembering the basic thing we are doing here," Reingold says. "Our first objective is transplanting the Middle Snake steelhead run into the Salmon drainage . . . to save this run. When this has been accomplished, the second aim is providing sport fishing for our public."

Some similarity between the two since both waters are actually part of the Snake River drainage. But after a year the fish are taken to the Pahlimerol where the water is completely different with different temperatures, different minerals. If Steelhead that started in this project. We know they are still catching our steelhead in Riggin and that's a long drive away. It is probably 30 days travel for the fish at least. They will be arriving here through May. I'm sure."

Studies indicate that 10 percent of the downstream smolts are lost at each dam since they must either go over with the spill or through the turbines. That 10 percent is based on the remnant. Say 100,000 reach Ice Harbor, 10,000 die there, leaving 90,000. Some 9,000 down at McNary dam, reducing the total to 81. Then the mortality is 8,100, etc.

Geisler, Blake, Brown Spark CSI To Series Sweep Of Ricks

College of Southern Idaho's Golden Eagles, riding the hitting of John Geisler and Jackie Brown and the pitching of Ron Blake, swept a pair from Ricks Friday afternoon, 5-4 and 7-5, to grab a 3-0 lead in the northern division playoffs for the Inter-mountain College Athletic Conference baseball ring.

The teams will meet in a three-game series at Rexburg May 2-3 with the overall winner advancing against the southern division finalists for the conference crown.

Geisler poled a solo homer and a triple for the first two CSI runs and Brown floated a two-run homer to set the stage for the Eagles to win the first game on a bases-loaded bunt in the last inning.

At the second game, Blake, although throwing a lot of pitches, held Ricks hitless and to one unearned run through the first six innings. Then fired in the seventh when Randy Shrout came on to nail down his victory.

Geisler's solo homer—a 360-foot shot to left center—was the first hit and run for either side in the second inning of the opener. Ricks tied it again when a double and two walks started off the inning. After one run scored on a fielder's choice, Craig Hobbs bounced a single to left to send another across.

But Brown fashioned the tie in the sixth, homering after Walter Goetz had opened with a walk.

Larry Munro, the second CSI pitcher, started the winning sequence with a double and a triple. After a fielder's choice, Eller scored on a passed ball. In the third, Geisler led off with a hit. Geisler led off with a walk and Benavidez was hit by a pitch. With two away, a passed ball moved the runners up an. Eller walked to load the bases. Brown and Hilliard drew bases on balls to force in two runs and the third scored on Hilliard's hard double followed by a single by Brown got the final CSI run home for a 7-0 lead after five.

Hobbs got Ricks first run when he lived on an error, took third on two passed balls and scored on another error.

An error started Ricks toward his final tally in the seventh. The run scored on McMullen's hit, a solid smash and the first of the game for Ricks. Wild pitches brought the two runners around before Hernandez doubled to left center to plate the final two Ricks scores.

Shrout then relieved Blake, his second pitch—resulting in a game-ending double play. In a CSI 001 021 0-4-7-0 Jones (L) and Shaw, Shrout, Munro (W-4) and Handcock, Ricks 000 010 4-5-2-4 CSI Hernandez (L), McMullen (L) and Shaw, Hill (W), Shrout (7) and Hilliard.

Hibernian Is Pan American Race Winner

IALLANDALE, Fla. (UPI)—English-bred Hibernian held off Irish Rebellion by a nose Saturday to win the $62,600 Pan American Turf Handicap at Gulfstream, last stakes race of the Florida horse racing season. Judging him the best perfect foal, Hibernian, a four-year-old filly, finished in front of the nine horses field at the top of the stretch and had just enough left to win by the end of the mile and one-half run over the grass course.

Irish Rebellion finished with a rush on the outside under the whippering of jockey David Hidalgo and fell just short. It was another hard luck performance for the 11:30-bred horse which finished in a dead heat in this race last year, and tuned up with another dead heat win in a race nine days ago.

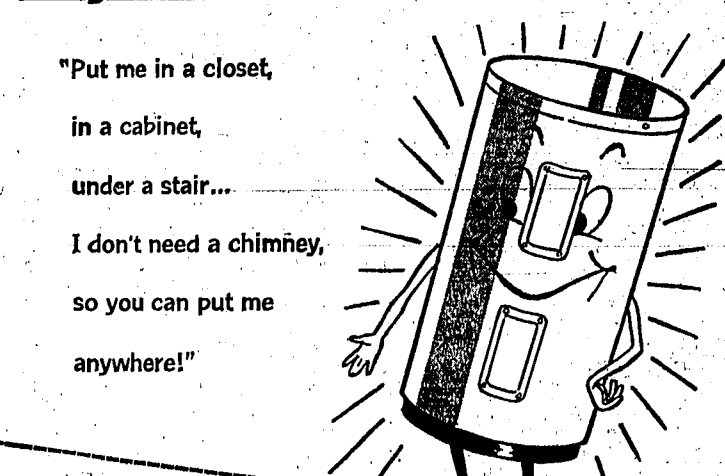

Needles Stinch also gave a good stretch run to finish three-quarters of a length behind Hibernian.

Hibernian, a four-year-old gelding by Hothorsett-Hibernia, was the popular favorite of the race at 2-5 odds and paid $4.20 and $2.20 across the board.

Irish Rebellion returned $3.20 and $3.00. Needles Stinch paid $4.00 for show.

The victory was worth $42,600 to the stable of James Cox Brady.

Former Buhl Man Reports On Research

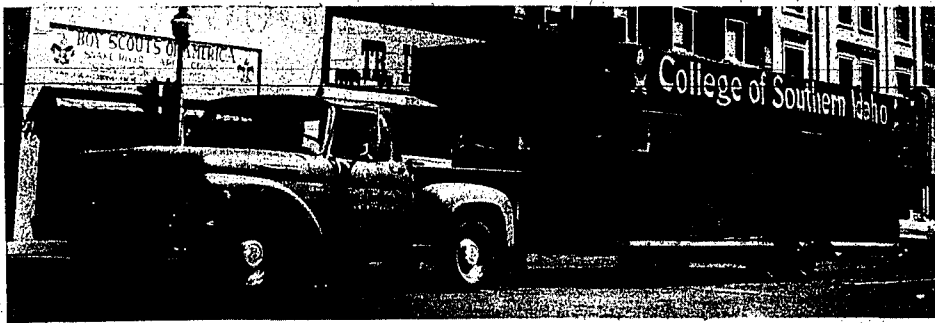

—BUHL—Reports on extensive research in oral cancer, conducted by a former Buhl man, show persons under 45 can become more cancer prone if they smoke and drink.

Maj. John F. Nelson—son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Harold Nelson, Route 4, Buhl, delivered a report last month in Houston, Tex., during the 47th general meeting of the International Association for Dental Research. The study, involving 191 patients over a period of 10 years, indicated more cancer susceptibility in young persons who smoke and drink, providing they suffered diabetes, tuberculosis, liver cirrhosis or anemia.

Maj. Nelson, a graduate of the Buhl High School and University of Idaho is a member of the U. S. Army Dental Corps at Fort Hood, Tex. He is also a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania and received a degree from the University of Washington.

He has been in the service since 1959 except for one year spent in private practice at Gier Harbor, Wash.

He is married to the former Jo Ellen Lillible, Port Orchard, Wash., and the couple has one son.

Appraisal Of Congress Is Given By Solon At Rupert

RUPERT—"If the success of a Congress and of the administration is measured by the control on the national level programs initiated, then I would say our present Legislature and Administration are falling."

But, he continued, "that is no sure yardstick to measure success. Rather, it should be the good the legislature and administration are doing for the country, its economy and social problems."

Mr. Hansen told the group that the present Nixon administration actually has three top priority goals, the first to resolve the Viet Nam situation, the second to eliminate inflation, and finally to control crime and unrest in the nation.

"I wish I could tell you that there is some real evidence of progress in the Paris Peace Talks," he continued, "but I do have a feeling of optimism. However, it is more of hope than of facts."

Unless the country's inflation problem is resolved, Mr. Hansen warned, all other problems will only be frustrated. He said the Federal government and two weapons to fight against inflation: The first is monetary controls and the second, fiscal controls, or a control on spending to help build up the country's surplus.

The solution to the problem will be painful, he cautioned, "but the consequences of failure would be much more painful."

On the crime issue, Mr. Hansen said that law enforcement has long been a state and local responsibility, although the present administration has made plans for a more effective use of available methods of crime control on the national level.

Pet Chukar 'Rules The Roost' In Area Home And Thinks He's Regular Family Member

By BONNIE BAIRD JONES Times-News Feature Editor

"Lover" doesn't think he's any different than other members of the Don Zuck family at 486 Rose St. N., but other members say he's the most spoiled and pampered. He is a two-year-old Chukar partridge that has lived his entire life as a member of the Zuck family and thinks roughing it in the wilds is "for the birds."

Just over two years ago, David Zuck, 15, acquired a small incubator and six quail eggs. These were, he hoped, to be used as a school project. Only one of the six eggs hatched and the tiny quail lived just 19 days, probably due to the fact the special quail food did not arrive with the incubator and eggs.

Disappointed with the experiment, the Zucks decided as long as they still had the incubator, they would go to the local game farm for more eggs. This time they got six chukar partridge eggs.

Hatching eggs without a mother bird is not easy. They must be hand-turned about four times a day and the incubator temperature had to be watched closely. After three weeks none of the eggs had shown any signs of production.

"We waited another week and I decided one night to turn them one more time and if nothing was developing, I would throw them out and give it up as a loss," Mrs. Zuck said.

Instead she found one egg had a tiny chip in it and within a short time, a bit of down, beak and eyes emerged and began drying off in the incubator. The five other eggs never hatched.

Fed on the special baby quail food that had finally arrived, the little partridge grew into a healthy youngster, commanding much attention from the entire family as he grew.

On May 13, "Lover" will be two years old and judging from his position in the household, he will probably have a party or at least a cake.

Unusually smart, he is a good watch dog, setting up a fuss that can be heard throughout the house if a stranger arrives. "But don't wear open toed shoes," warns Mrs. Zuck of all female-guests. "Lover is death on feet and has been known to attack a woman, guest's shoes, toes or no toes."

On one occasion he followed a repair man into the Zuck basement pecking him on the heels, just above the shoe tops, all the way down the stairs, causing a polite complaint from the repair man.

Guests are frequently surprised to arrive and see a chukar partridge roaming about the family living room.

"His roaming is usually confined to a limited time," says Betty Zuck. "After all, how do you housebreak a bird?"

When not watching television with the rest of the family or wandering about the house, Lover is confined to his apple box cage.

The chukar also has his own bath — he prefers sand to water — in the basement of the family home and regularly dusts his feathers and scatters sand about a wide area.

Diane Zuck, 13, youngest of the Zuck's three children, is jokingly called his girl friend. Lover enjoys fighting with her shoe, and will cling to the shoe laces as she lifts him several feet above the floor. He also likes to sit on her wrist and be carried about the house. He has even been known to perform a special-chukar dance to attract her attention.

Lover is allowed outside when under supervision and will fly to the top of a nearby roof or tree, but always returns when called. His wings are not clipped and he is allowed to fly about at will.

Members of the family wonder if some day a female partridge might fly into town and lure their pet away. They hope not as it is questionable if he would know how to survive without the care he has always had from the Zuck family.

Whenever the Zuck family leaves town for a weekend or a few days, one of the grandmothers becomes a "bird sitter."

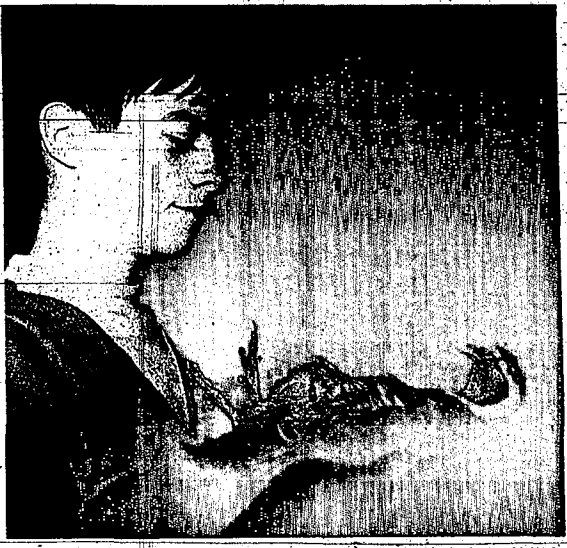

"My mother would rather take care of the children," says Mrs. Zuck, "but she has never refused to keep Lover."

The young chukar was given a number of names, but they didn't seem to fit. Someone started calling him "Lover" and it stuck. More mischievous than lovable at times, the chukar makes an unusual pet to say the least, Mr. Zuck contends.

Sometimes "Lover" and his apple box have to be banned to some other part of the house when guests are present because his voice is loud and he persists in chattering above everyone's conversation, especially if he is not receiving his share of attention.

Chukars will eat nearly every kind of food offered, but Lover is especially fond of peanuts, green peas, sauerkraut, oranges, popcorn and above all chocolate candy. Of course, he usually is fed a balanced diet of grain or seeds more suitable to birds.

He has been known to work open the wire door on his apple box cage and one night Diane heard a strange noise at her bedroom door. When she opened it, Lover was pecking at the door and looking for company. He was not too happy when returned to his apple-box for the night.

TALKING TO A CHUKAR is easiest when the bird is resting on his back. David Zuck, the actual owner of Lover, says the chukar enjoys resting on his back and will be quiet and even go to sleep when held in this position.

COMPARING SIZE OF QUAIL and chukar, Don Zuck Jr., right, holds the 'shell' of the egg from which "lover" was hatched and that from which the baby quail was hatched. The quail that lived only 19 days, was mounted by a friend, David Zuck holds Lover at left, who has more than a passing interest in the mounted quail and shells.

The Zucks have a house cat and a dog, both of which tolerate the chukar who sometimes tries to pick a fight with the cat. Although he has never known a home except that of the Zuck family, the chukar often shows a few natural instincts. When still a baby, if that's the right word, he loved to sit in the sun but if a bird or airplane flew would listen himself against the ground and look as though he had been stepped on.

He still dislikes airplanes and even when he can't see one, the noise will cause him to hide his head under the nearest object. Just what the average lifespan of a chukar partridge may be is not known, but the Zucks hope it is long and that Lover will be around for a number of years yet.

"Our household just wouldn't be the same without him," says Mrs. Zuck.

CHUKAR PARTRIDGE in the livingroom is a common scene at the Don Zuck home but often startles guests. "Lover," the family's unusual pet picks up a peanut from the floor. He loves feet and shoes and here pecks at Diane Zuck's foot, one of his favorite pastimes. The bird will fight with someone's feet for hours and guests are warned not to wear open toed shoes as he is not above pecking a toe with his sharp beak. An unusual position, but a comfortable one for Lover is to lie on his back, often on the back of David Zuck's neck while David is studying. The Chukar will go to sleep in this position and as David says this is about the only time he is quiet and not causing some disturbance. He also enjoys watching television with other members of the family.

ONE OF HER FAVORITE people is Diane Zuck, youngest of the family. Here Lover sits in her hand, not a common pose for him. The bird enjoys riding about on her wrist or pecking at her shoes. Usually he will perch on someone's shoulder or lap but only Diane can carry him about as well as this.

Entomology Secretary Wins Honor For Excellent Work

Weather statistics can tell the memories of "old people a lot about the area in which they live and often can't tell the memories of "old timers." And Mrs. Margaret Harper, secretary for the Entomology Research Division, 856 Blue Lakes Blvd. N., can tell even the old-timers a lot about the weather.

Weather data in her files go back to 1906 and she can tell at a glance the coldest winter, hottest summer or records set in any month since that time.

Mrs. Harper has just received a Certificate of Merit and a cash award for "sustained work performance, efficiency and service beyond the call of duty." This is her second such award in the past few years.

She has worked at the research division the past 24 years and served for 13 years under J. R. Douglas, then worked for Kenneth E. Gibson for 7 years, and for Walter E. Peay since 1964.

Of Mrs. Harper, Mr. Peay says she has been an outstanding and dedicated public employee for the 24 years. In addition to and beyond her regular duties, she records and compiles all weather data taken at the station for the U. S. Weather Bureau. In recent years, she has learned the mechanics of statistical analysis and now compiles and analyzes the data collected by the station's research staff on sugar beet and bean insects.

Until the new weather bureau facility was built and staffed several years ago, the research center on Blue Lakes Boulevard provided all weather reporting for the immediate area. Now it functions as one of several stations reporting to the Kimberly center.

EFFICIENCY AND SERVICE beyond her regular duties has earned Mrs. Margaret Harper a certificate of merit and cash award. She is a secretary and helps compile weather statistics at the Entomology Research Division in Twin Falls.

HAND-CARVED team of horses in life-like detail has been made by Howard Platt, who operates the Galena Lodge, north of Ketchum. He created the horses out of two chunks of white pine for Gordon A. McGregor, Boise. Mr. Platt, who once was a deputy sheriff for Blaine County, finished the carving in about a month, complete with authentic detail.

Life in MAGIC VALLEY

Howard Platt, GALENA, who has earned the honor "Sculptor of the Sawtooths," has just completed his latest creation in wood. From two chunks of white pine he has brought to life for Gordon A. McGregor, Boise, the two favorite horses of his childhood.

Clydesdale and Percheron, "Buck" and "Baldy" were among the horses used by Mr. Platt with a picture of the two horses snaking a large log from the forest, which was taken during the winter of 1918.

After completing the carving, Mr. Platt rubbed the wood with oil paint to make the horses' "bays," leaving Baldy's face white. The harnesses are made of buckskin, dyed black.

"I have several deer hides tanned each year," said Mr. Platt. "Of course they are all Baldy's manes and tails," he laughed. "I'm going to have to buy my wife a new coat because I cut some of the fur off her black fur collar for that purpose."

To keep alive the memories of his childhood, Gordon A. McGregor, of the McGregor Triangle Construction Co., will give the piece of wood sculpture a place of honor in the den of his Boise home.

While serving as chief petty officer in North Africa, Lester Johansen had three vases made for him by an Italian prisoner of war who worked for him in the blacksmith shop.

Johansen served most of his time in World War II in North Africa. At times he took a work crew to the Rock of Gibraltar.

WSU Team Finds 13,000-Year-Old Remains To Establish Early Evidence Of Man

By United Press International
Last year while American astronauts were making sensational discoveries in their probes of outer space, a small group of men made history in a remote section of Washington State by going in the opposite direction—into the earth itself. These men, members of a Washington State University archaeological expedition, uncovered the oldest remains of man ever found in the Western Hemisphere, culminating six years of digging, sifting and probing through several layers of sediment. The skeletal remains, estimated to be between 11,000 and 13,000 years old, today are labeled the Marmes Man, after Roland J. Marmes, upon whose land the discovery was made. The site is located on the east plane of the Palouse River near its confluence with the Snake River in southeastern Washington and is called the Marmes-Rockshelter Archaeological Site. Discovery of the Marmes Man has been hailed as the most significant development in early man research in the past 25 years. Fire-blackened bones, a human skull, and bone artifacts found at the site, will give scientists a much clearer picture of man's changes from the Ice Age to the 20th Century. But the story had only begun, as the work continued, with every spoonful of sand and rock being examined minutely for more clues that would give a clearer understanding into the life and the origin of those people who roamed the North American continent when the earth was young. Examination of the skull of the Marmes Man indicates that he was broad-cheeked and flat of face. He was probably of Mongoloid population. The remains were found under 6 1/2 feet of sediment layers near the entrance to a cave. The cave and the area surrounding had been used, quite obviously, as a base camp for hunters over an extended period of time. Animal bones, some split open to eat at the marrow, were found undisturbed where they had been tossed by prehistoric hunters. Bones included those of the elk, antelope, and rabbit. Fish bones and river mussel shells were also found. (There is evidence too, that a 25-year-old human had been used for dinner.) Among several artifacts discovered was a small bone needle, almost identical to the needles of today in size and shape. This indicates that the craft of sewing was known much earlier than thought before.

REMAINS OF OLDEST INHABITANT of the Western Hemisphere were found last year in a rocky plateau in front of this cave in southeastern Washington. Plans are to convert the site into a national park but archaeological work is still going on in the area.

The discovery of the first remains of the Marmes Man was made by Ronald Fryxwell of the Washington State University archaeological team, Fryxwell and Richard Daugherty, also a member of the University staff, headed the archaeological project since its inception in 1952. The discovery has been termed as "finding a needle in a haystack" by leading archaeologists, as there was no real indication that anything would be found in the area. It is a tribute to the team that they had the perseverance to stick with the project in spite of long days and months of disappointment. About three-fourths of the scientific data at the Marmes site had now been destroyed. Former President Lyndon Johnson intervened on behalf of the archaeologists working to protect the site and as a result the area was declared a national historical park under jurisdiction of the National Park Service. A 50-foot high dam, 2,000 feet long was scheduled to protect the site during and after construction of the Lower Monumental Dam on the Snake River near its confluence with the Palouse River. Originally, the backwaters of Monumental Dam were expected to flood the entire area. Good news for the Marmes Archaeological Site turned to bad when a coffer dam failed and about three-fourths of the area was flooded despite the past administration's effort. Nationally recognized anthropologist, Dr. Richard Daugherty of WSU has warned that other valuable scientific data will be lost unless steps are taken to provide adequate salvage funds. Had money been available earlier, he said, salvage operations would have made the protective dam unnecessary. Three more dams, Dr. Daugherty said, are being built on the Snake River in Southeastern Washington—archaeological sites behind them face the same fate because of inadequate financing. "Lack of adequate money for historical data recovery," Dr. Daugherty said, "has always been a serious problem and while there is usually enough time to save the data, there is not enough money for full scale recovery operations." He added that only about five percent of the historical data behind the Asotin Dam near Asotin, Wash., is expected to be saved. Usually only about 15 or 20 percent of the most important evidence can be taken out of an area before it is flooded by a dam, the expert estimated. Dr. Fryxwell noted the amazing time continuity of information that has come from the Marmes site made it even more important than the age of discoveries.

Immunizations Are Available

LITTLE SHERRI KIRSCH, held by her mother, Mrs. Richard Kirsch, isn't real happy with the thoughts of a nurse and a needle, but mama knows best. Mrs. Kirsch is county health chairman for the Twin Falls Council of Home Extension Clubs and has promoted, with great effort, the recent immunization clinic.

In a country where medical science has provided preventive measures against most diseases — it is ironic that many of us fail to take advantage of this priceless knowledge. Many parents are very exact and punctual when immunizations for their children are concerned, but forget about themselves. The 1969 health goal for Twin Falls County Home Extension Council is to try and get medical I.D. cards to everyone in the community. This I.D. is a permanent record card available from the Idaho Department of Health. It shows dates of immunizations and a place for who hasn't had a tetanus immunization in the past 10 years to get one. Especially those who do gardening and those residing on farms. The health department has clinics on Tuesday and Thursday open to the public from 1 to 4 p.m. The only charge is 50 cents for registration. Smallpox is also given at the same time if needed. Diphtheria is included in the tetanus shot. Mrs. Lucille Jacobson, county health nurse, and Mrs. Jean Whitley give the immunization. Any information concerning the immunizations can be obtained by calling Mrs. Kirsch, 733-7294. A special immunization clinic for tetanus was held recently through Mrs. Kirsch's efforts for county home extension club members, their families and friends. Mrs. Kirsch, in promoting the clinic, showed a film entitled "50 - 50 Chance" and gave special talks to all interested clubs and organizations. Approximately 245 people saw the film.

PARTICIPATING IN THE recent immunization clinic at the South Central Health District Department is Mrs. Charles Potuck, Kimberly, with Mrs. Jean Whitley giving the tetanus immunization. Diphtheria is included in the tetanus shot.

REGISTERING Mrs. Jeanne Dean, Kimberly, during the recent immunization clinic is Mrs. Richard Kirsch. The clinic was held for county home extension club members, their families and friends. The health department has clinics on Tuesdays and Thursday open to the public from 1 to 4 p.m.

Fitted Fashions Cause Many To Adopt Exercise Program

By NORMA HERZINGER

Peek-a-boo styles and fitted waistlines are causing many a fair maiden to take a second look at herself—start daily exercises and watch the calorie intake.

Seems as though we all put on a few pounds during the winter months and in the spring find ourselves trying desperately to take them off and, the older we get—the harder it is to do. (Or does that just apply to me?)

A daily exercise program is very beneficial to one's health as well as the figure and takes a little bit of concentrated effort. But, according to those in the know, it is very important to know how to choose the right exercises and how to do them correctly.

Nicholas Kounovsky, who heads Kounovsky Fitness Studio in New York City, put it very well in one of his recent articles. "A beginner should never attempt too much exercise at one time, and should always rest at the first signs of fatigue."

"However," he noted "a tired feeling can be relieved by doing something different. A change of activity is a form of positive relaxation — If you enjoy what you are doing."

Authorities recommend trying a favorite exercise like dancing, swimming, playing a game or as you can. The third exercise shown was leg raises. This one is good for the abdomen. Lie on the floor with legs straight out and arms flat on the floor, even with your head. Bend legs up to your middle, then stretch them

Twist as you straighten up, and repeat, touching the left hand near the right foot. A form of sit-ups was demonstrated. This one to tone the tummy muscles. Lie flat on your back with knees slightly bent and hands above your head. Sit up slowly, reaching as far as you can. The third exercise shown was leg raises. This one is good for the abdomen. LEG RAISES are shown by Karen Hardy as a good exercise for the abdomen. Lie on the floor with legs straight out and arms flat on the floor, even with your head. Bend legs up to middle, then stretch them straight out, up in the air. Then lower them slowly to the floor.

A FORM OF SIT-UPS is shown — this one to tone the tummy muscles. Lie flat on your back with knees slightly bent and hands above your head. Sit up slowly, bringing hands over in front of you and reaching as far as you can.

All exercise programs should begin slow, gradually building up to the desired number of various exercises.

Daily Exercise Program Good For Figure

Continued From Page A-5 straight out, up in the air. Now lower them slowly to the floor, the slower the better, so you can feel the pull through the abdomen.

For those that really plan on getting serious about losing weight and inches—it is very wise to consult your doctor. He can recommend a feasible diet, as well as suggest a basic exercise program especially for you.

This way you know what you're doing is correct. Many of us, realizing that pounds and inches have been added, go off the deep end with dieting and exercise and end up not accomplishing much except for being stiff and sore and very, very hungry.

So remember girls, if you're lining up an exercise program on your own, take it easy at first, a short period each day, and do the trick. Don't overdo, just work up to it gradually.

Dear Abby
By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Libby, my 17-year-old niece, brought her boyfriend to the grandparents' on Sunday supper. She didn't ASK if she could bring him. She just brought him.

After supper, Libby and her boyfriend picked a comfortable chair in the corner. He sat down, and she sat on top of him, and they spent the entire evening that way. She couldn't keep her hands off him. He didn't say a word. He just grinned and whistled something to Libby once in a while. It's a wonder he didn't grab her and head for the nearest bedroom. It was disgusting.

After everyone left, Grandpa was all shook-up to think that his lovely young granddaughter would show herself to a boy that way. "Just asking for trouble," he says. And Grandpa was in tears. All the while Libby's parents were sitting across the room like two stuffed sparrows on a limb.

My husband says I should mind my own business that Libby has parents to tell her how to act. Should I say something to those stupid parents? Or should I say something to Libby? Or better yet, can YOU say something?

AUNTIE

DEAR AUNTIE: A 17-year-old girl would behave this way in the presence of her parents either doesn't know any better, or doesn't care what anyone thinks. And parents who would sit in silence during such a performance are either helpless or glib. If you think it will help Libby, tell her the facts of life. But hurry!

DEAR ABBY: I am a 33-year-old girl who is still single. Sure, I wish I were married, but things haven't worked out that way. Whenever I visit my married friends, it's always been the same old story. They can't understand why a nice girl who is pretty, has a good figure and pleasant personality isn't married. They keep insisting I am too "fast."

This really hurts me and makes me wonder if maybe I shouldn't marry the first man who comes along no matter what he's like or how I feel about him. I've dated quite a few men. Some fell in love with someone else and others I never seemed to care enough for.

Perhaps if you print this, some of my friends will read it and realize how much they can hurt a girl without meaning to.

DEAR STILL SINGLE: And to those friends who hurt without meaning to, may I suggest that if you really want to be helpful, keep your eyes open for an eligible man who may fill the bill. The best way for a nice girl to meet a nice man is through mutual friends.

DEAR ABBY: Two years ago I lost my companion of 25 years. I have two wonderful sons and a daughter whom I love deeply. They all thought the world of their father, so after he passed away, I had his most recent picture enlarged and framed. One for each of the children. This picture was admired by everyone. My husband looked so well and happy.

Well, I guess where my daughter put the picture? On top of the water tank in the laundry. What do you think of that, Abby? Every time I visit her, and look up at my dear husband on top of that water tank my heart is broken all over again. Maybe I shouldn't feel that way, but I just can't help it. Should I tell her?

DEAR HURT: Yes, I'm sure she can find a more appropriate place for such a lovely picture.

DEAR ABBY: My husband is sort of a minor executive with a large company which employs mostly girls and women. He has a part in interviewing them for employment, which brings him into close contact with lots of girls.

He is always telling me how the girls try to sit close to him and make dates with him and all like that. I'm not the jealous type. At least I never was before he started all this talk. What do you think is going on that makes him tell me these things?

MAYBELLE
DEAR MAYBELLE: Nothing, probably. Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal., 90069 and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Changing Basic Food Patterns Is Diet Secret

Continued From Page A-5 and effective way to diet is to replace high-calorie food intake with low-calorie food intake. Satisfaction is important. If you continually leave the table a little hungry, you'll find yourself irresistibly tempted to snacking. The idea is to stay, for keeps, with low-calorie meals that look appetizing, taste delicious.

For the "stay slim for keeps" diet, unflavored gelatine is an invaluable aid to losing pounds. It's only 28 calories per envelope, it's pure protein and it's the basis for a wide range of delectable foods for all courses on the menu... soups, salads, main dishes, and desserts. Foods that look so great and taste so good provide a high satisfaction level at mealtimes. And that's the best possible way to keep from rich between-meals "sneak snacks."

Unflavored gelatine is used as a diet beverage, too, a half hour before meals. Pour one envelope unflavored gelatine into a small glass of skim milk, vegetable juice, or bouillon. Stir briskly and drink at once. I keep my satisfied with a smaller food intake at mealtimes.

When you begin your "stay slim for keeps" diet, first check with your doctor who will set up a target for your desired weight. Rather than just weighing yourself from time to time, pick a day and weigh yourself weekly on the same day. And do keep a written weight chart. I keep a record of your progress is very encouraging.

Undersea Oil Deposits Pose New Problems For Drillers

By BILL MULLINS
United Press International

An increasing number of shallow ocean sites off the coasts of the continents indicate the world will be getting a substantial amount of its oil from under the sea over the next 10 years.

E. McKelvey, a specialist with the U. S. Geological Survey in the Department of the Interior, says present trends suggest offshore sites will be supplying 30 to 45 percent of the world market by 1980.

This trend also seems certain to broaden some already existing problems.

An obvious one is oil pollution from offshore sites. The Department of the Interior is still in the midst of problems created by the well rupture in the Santa Barbara channel off the California coast.

Another little-known headache for the U.S. government is a claim by 13 eastern seaboard states that their boundaries extend 100 miles from shore.

Att. Gen. John Mitchell says their rights extend out only the three miles recognized by the U.S. government for all nations and has begun a court battle to settle the matter.

The problem has its practical aspects. Maine, for example, has received $33,000 from King Resources of Denver for exploration rights extending 88 miles off its coast.

That kind of legal entanglement could develop on an international level as competition for the petroleum under the continental shelves increases.

There already is offshore production in sites scattered around the world.

American oil companies are producing from wells in the Gulf of Mexico, off the California coast and off the southern Alaskan coast.

There is production in the North Sea off the European coast at 220 meter sites, oil wells are producing off the Nigerian coast in Africa and there have

Conservation Camp Plans Announced

The ninth Idaho Youth Conservation Camp will be held June 16 to Aug. 10. The announcement was made by the State Department of Public Lands.

All interested boys are urged to write the department for applications.

The boys must be Idaho residents between the ages of 14 and 17, who have not previously attended the camp. Deadline for filing an application is May 10.

This year's camp will be located at Priest Lake in Bonner County. The campers will do forestry and other conservation work in Priest Lake State Forest—under the direction of experienced counselors.

A maximum of 45 boys will be selected by drawing to attend. One boy will be chosen from each eligible school district and one extra boy will be selected from districts 11 through 29. Those selected will be provided with transportation, bedding, food and work clothes. They will be paid $30 per month.

For applications, write the Youth Camp Coordinator, Idaho Conservation Department, Public Lands, Statehouse, Boise, Idaho 83707.

Twin Falls Youth Receives Medal

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — Two Marine Corps d.p.o.'s recruits have received the American Spirit Medal, the first such presentation made at the depot this year.

The recipients were Pvt. Robert Blake, 18, the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Blake, Rte. 3, Twin Falls, Idaho, and Pvt. Jay Gerber, 25, the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Gerber, 25 W. 8th Ave., Moscow, Idaho.

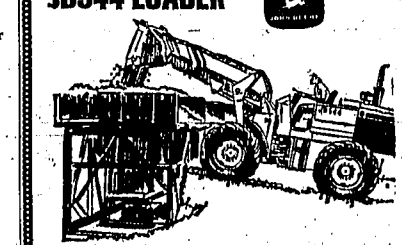

The medal is given for enlisted personnel who show outstanding leadership. The men honored this year were the first of some 14,000 recruits graduated this year to receive the medal.

Last year, only five of the 50,000 marines trained here received the medal. Blake was named the outstanding high school football player in Idaho his senior year and Gerber is a former Peace Corps worker who also holds a Masters degree from Harvard's School of Business.

Betty Joan Brent Award Presented

BURLEY — The Mini-Cassia Cowbells held a surprise dinner and honored Mrs. Ray Bedke with the Betty Joan Brent award at Ponderosa Inn.

The Betty Joan Brent award was established to honor Mrs. Brent who had worked in the office for the Idaho Cattle Feeders Association, explained Tom Hoventon, Boise, secretary of the Idaho Cattle Feeders Association. "Mrs. Brent was a very enthusiastic beef promotionist, who had great public relations ability," Mr. Hoventon added.

Mrs. Louise Skarr, Roberts, a cattlewoman, received the award in 1967 and made the presentation to Mrs. Bedke. The plaque is inscribed with Mrs. Bedke's name and she will retain the plaque for one year. A silver plate inscribed with Mrs. Bedke's name, which she also received, will be hers to keep permanently.

Mrs. Noy Brackett, Hagerman, a cattlewoman has also received the award.

MRS. RAY BEDKE receives the Betty Joan Brent award from Mrs. Louise Skarr, Roberts, during a Mini-Cassia Cowbells surprise party for her at the Ponderosa Inn. The award was established to honor Mrs. Brent who had worked in the office of the Idaho Cattle Feeders Association. Mrs. Skarr received the award in 1967.

"Magic Of Seeds" Topic Given For T.F. Garden Club

Following the theme, "Magic of Seeds," Mrs. Gabriel Nuttle reviewed "Gardening's Color Merchants," reported by Robert De Roos in the National Geographic magazine, at the Twin Falls Garden Club meeting at the YM-YWCA building.

Mrs. Nuttle was introduced by Mrs. Russell Miller, vice-president and program chairman. Mrs. Nuttle told of the efforts of various seedsmen to obtain new colors and forms in flowers either by mutation, selection or by controlled hybridization. She related the steps required to produce one-ounce of peunia seed and said the 300,000 seeds obtained were valued at $500.

It was pointed out that Lomax Valley in California is considered desirable for seed production because of ideal growing conditions.

Mrs. Nuttle commented on the importance of light in testing germination of seed and showed sample containers of sprouting lettuce seed.

Mrs. Victor Nelson read a report from the National Gardener magazine warning against use of DDT and other "hard" destructive pesticides that adversely affect all life. The report from the Michigan department of conservation urged gardeners to use the "softer" chemical, malathion, and biological controls as a conservation policy.

Mrs. J. C. Reynolds, president, conducted the business meeting. The collect was read by Mrs. R. C. Lawson and Mrs. Dale E. Patterson, secretary, and Mrs. C. W. Daigh, treasurer.

gave reports—Mrs. S. W. Smith reported on the Blue Star Memorial marker to be placed at the Hollister Port of Entry rest stop.

It was announced that lunch-favor furnished by the club for the State Garden Club convention June 4 through 6 at Idaho Falls had been collected by Mrs. Lloyd Johnson, convention chairman.

Mrs. T. W. Hicks, Mrs. Floyd Bandy and Mrs. Ada Powell were appointed by Mrs. Reynolds to serve on the nominating committee.

Mrs. Leo Geppner and Mrs. Mabel Helton were welcomed as new members.

Mrs. Nelson, Mrs. L. H. Perrine and Mrs. Bandy served refreshments. Mrs. Reynolds and Mrs. Leo Anderson poured. The table was decorated with spring flowers arranged by Mrs. Nelson.

During the special hour, Mrs. Sam Porter and Mrs. Smith, accredited judges, pointed out that balance and symmetry were important factors to look for in exhibiting flowering branches.

This is a liddle middle.

Which right now is the only kind of middle to have. And which is why we have dresses and coats and suits that not only go in where a girl goes in, but makes quite a bit of to-do about it. With big wide belts. And flashing chains. And long Chelsea scarves. And all kinds of things that go round your middle and make it liddle. If you'd like to get spring off to a great start, start thinking Waist. It's the difference between 1968 and 1969. And lots of boy-type people we know think it's the best news since girls were invented.

DEAR POLLY—Most children need a little help in some field of their school work. I would like to recommend our "swapping children" plan which works especially well with parents who are former teachers. While I help your child with math you help mine with reading, etc. This also is good for any parents with children in the same grade. The parent would work with the two children together.—EDITH

DEAR POLLY—To remove stubborn ball-point ink stains from your husband's shirt, spray the inked area with hair spray until it is wet looking. Let it soak for a bit. Things will look worse at first as the ink spreads like it is melting. Wash with a scalded part with a heavy application of liquid detergent and cool water. If some stain persists repeat the procedure.—MRS. S. W. B.

DEAR POLLY—When you run short of curtain hooks, make a substitute by fastening them from paper clips.—MARY ANN

DEAR POLLY—It is exasperating to have to look for a window scraper on cold winter mornings so you can see through your car windows. In desperation I tried using the plastic lid off my hair spray can and it worked beautifully. So beautifully, in fact, my husband uses it every time. Now I do not always have a lid on my hair spray but we always have a window scraper.—MRS. D. M.

DEAR POLLY—New plastic garbage bags make a great book bag and can be carried to school or work when the weather is bad. No damage is done to the books.—CYNTHIA

DEAR POLLY—It is easy to keep a hair brush clean by fitting a piece of an old nylon stocking over the bristles.—LINDA

DEAR POLLY—When I need a large container to mix popcorn balls, and so on, I use the vegetable crisper drawer from my refrigerator.—MRS. J. W. D.

DEAR POLLY—To make a bulletin board, use the bottom of a large cardboard box (like a suit box) leaving the sides about one-inch deep to keep the tacks from touching the wall. It can be covered with burlap or some cloth and decorated with embroidery or stickers. Cover the box with the material, pull it to the underneath side and glue the edges on to the back.—K. B.

Ask Them Yourself

FOR WERNHER VON BRAUN, rocket expert

In what year will the first space station be assembled in space?—Miss Karen Drennen, Central Point, Ore.

● An embryonic space station, called the Saturn I Workshop, will be flown in 1971. It is made from an orbiting Saturn upper stage and has more than 10,000 cubic feet of interior space where the astronauts can work and live. Modular space stations are only in the study phase. When they will fly depends upon the funding that NASA receives for this program.

FOR DON DRYSDALE,

Los Angeles Dodgers pitcher
What ball park do you dislike the most?—Mark Wunderlich, Ellis Grove, Ill.

● I would say the Cincinnati Reds' ball park. Thank heavens, they are currently building a new one!

FOR SHEILA MACRAE

It was announced in the spring that you were going to have a baby by your second husband, but I have never seen an announcement of your having it. Why not?—Mrs. A. C. Howell, Jefferson, Ohio

● The rumor was false.

FOR BILL FRANCE, president,

National Association for Stock Car Auto Racing

I read where Darlington International Raceway is a one-groove track and that it should not be used for Grand National races any longer. Will there be any 1969 races there?—Bruce Freeman, Waterloo, Iowa

● Darlington Raceway has been criticized as a one-groove track, but this is not necessarily so. One groove through the third and fourth turns is faster than the other grooves, and top speed cars could not necessarily go through there side by side. However, they can pass the slower cars. There are portions of the track where cars of equal speed can pass. Lead changes have been frequent in racing at Darlington, proving this point. Darlington Speedway officials have announced plans to increase the degree of banking on the third and fourth turns, which would make the track much faster. Grand National races are scheduled in 1969 at Darlington.

FOR DR. DONALD A. DÜKELÖW, American Medical Association

Eitel Kennedy recently had her fifth Caesarian section. What is the greatest number of Caesarian sections that have been successfully accomplished on any one woman?—Mrs. Walter L. Harris, Sedalia, Mo.

● As far as is known, the 12 Caesarian deliveries, experienced by Mrs. Francis Madden of Oak Park, Ill., the last of them in September, 1962, would certainly come close to a record.

FOR ELIZABETH POST, etiquette expert

Is it proper for a lady to wear gloves when she and her husband are visiting the church congregation?—Mrs. Larry Birdall, Morrill, Neb.

● It is perfectly proper. In fact, it is in proper for her to remove them.

FOR ROBERT D. BLASHEK, executive vice president, D. L. Blair Corp.

What are the chances of winning a numbers sweepstakes in a magazine?—Mrs. C. Jane Winn, Willow Creek, Calif.

● The number of winners is directly proportionate to the number of people who respond, i.e., the percentage of the people of the total circulation who send in their numbers to find out if they are winners. It is rather difficult to give you the odds on an average "lucky number" sweepstakes because the odds will vary with the number of prizes offered and the total circulation.

FOR JACK WEBB of "Dragnet"

What does the hand and hammer pounding the Roman numerals on a door at the end of every "Dragnet" show signify?—Mrs. Richard Summers, Smithfield, Utah

● They signify my "Mark VII Productions, Ltd." company. I was impressed with the arm and hammer on the soda boy when a child. The iron door also signifies strength, but, specifically, there is no great meaning.

FOR BARBARA WALTERS of the "Today Show"

Is your baby an adopted child?—Mrs. A. F. Klune, Torrance, Calif.

● Yes, she is adopted.

He cannot take her to dinner in a restaurant before they are engaged." Genevieve says of her future daughter's "future father": "Maybe I will propose to him."

Hello, Doggy! The venerable Cab Calloway, now singing the role of Mr. Horace Vandergelder in "Hello, Dolly!" has always owned a large dog as a pet. Then Mrs. Calloway got Muffin, a Yorkshire terrier, as a present from their oldest daughter. Somehow Muffin worked her way into Cab's heart enough so that he agreed to take her to the Barbette Macaqueade (a dress-alike fashion show for mother and pet) en route to his show, her costume being that of Dolly. When Family Weekly asked him what was special about Muffin, Cab replied, "She's the smartest and funniest little thing we ever owned."

the school's new expansion—are demonstrating this week their guaranteed readiness to take on any odd job the community will offer. They're leaving the fee up to the generosity of the employer. They're demonstrating also to make the statement that the majority of American students are hardworking, quiet, and law-abiding.

American Damon and Pythias As kids, Thomas Jefferson and his best friend, Dabney Carr, climbed around Little Mountain near Charlottesville, Va., and made a pact both would be buried beneath their favorite tree atop the hill where Tom intended to design his mansion. Years later, according to the booklet: "Thomas Jefferson Still Lives" (Arthur Price Foundation), Jefferson left to become minister to France; Dabney died and was buried in the village cemetery. On Jefferson's return, the statesman arranged for the dual grave, and thus they lie at Monticello today—which, not incidentally, is Mr. Jefferson's birthday.

AN OSCAR—AND DIVORCE?

What Went Wrong with Barbra Streisand's Marriage?

By PEER J. OPPENHEIMER

BARBRA STREISAND, a superstar on Broadway and in Hollywood, may win an Oscar as best actress at tomorrow night's Academy Awards' presentation. And she may soon lose a husband as well.

The answer to her triumph and heartbreak is tied together, as I learned in talking to her husband Elliot Gould shortly before their breakup. He was candid about the troubled star of "Funny Girl."

"She went to a psychiatrist but didn't stay long enough. If she had, she'd be happier," he told me.

Elliot himself, an outspoken, yet highly sensitive young man, had better luck with psychiatry. "It has taken three years of analysis to stop being apologetic for being what I am and doing what I do," he explained. The fact that Barbra earned a gargantuan amount of money and could get anything she wanted continually embarrassed him.

"I used to ask what I said, even what I thought. Thanks to my psychiatrist, I began to realize that it is far simpler not to care what other people think of me."

The results paid off handsomely for Elliot. Once he crawled out of his shell, his own career zoomed ahead. After years of minor activities, he just finished one of the four starring parts in "Bob and Carol and Ted and Alice," was signed to star in a film for 20th Century-Fox, and made a deal to produce a film at Universal.

But his marriage to Barbra went on the rocks, although they issued a joint statement saying they were separating to save their marriage. End of explanation.

Even before the separation, there was speculation that the marriage was in trouble and the reason given most often was her costar in "Funny Girl," Omar Sharif. Knowing him, I doubt the validity of such rumors.

The problem with Barbra, at least according to Elliot, is more complicated: "She had no financial problems as a child. Her mother, who worked in the New York school system, made enough to support both of them quite well. But Barbra had an emotional problem. She never knew her father, who died when she was four months old. This has given her a feeling of insecurity that is still so much a part of her."

A second problem is the result of her drive for absolute, uncompromising perfection. Barbra had always dreamed of fame and stardom. But she is a perfectionist who hates to work, a girl full of uncertainties, yet determined; inquisitive, yet shy.

Elliot Gould and Barbra travelled with Jason prior to the separation.

Her belief was not shaken by her early, if brief, disappointments. It was only a short ride from her home in Brooklyn to the casting agents on Broadway, but after two days of making the rounds, no one listening was impressed. "It was degrading," Barbra herself recalls. "No one should have to beg for a job."

But she did. "They wouldn't audition me or even talk to me. But I knew I was good, and I made up my mind that they would have to come to me." Which is exactly what they did the moment she appeared at a small night club, "Bon Soir."

Barbra believed not only in her talent, but that total perfection was a necessity for success—in every phase of her life. Even when she'd give a party at home, she got upset if everything wasn't just right.

At home, Barbra never lost her temper. "I think she is afraid to get angry," Elliot told me, "because of what it might do to both of us."

It was Barbra who "enlightened" Elliot about perfection. "Or rather," he says, "that there is no perfection—that everything can be improved upon. Yet this attitude has its drawbacks because one is never fully satisfied. She never is."

Barbra's other problem is her involvement with maintaining an image. "I think she is too involved with image," Elliot explained. "This has nothing to do with her work. She would be a good actress even if she weren't a star."

When Barbra and Elliot were first married, they lived above a fish store on Third Avenue in New York. Most of their meals consisted of tin dinners because Barbra was a poor cook.

"Those were some of the happiest days we had together," says Elliot. "We met when we both opened in 'I Can Get It for You Wholesale.' Barbra was getting $150 a week then. I made $200. We were both very young—very shy and very vulnerable and defensive."

But the pressure kept increasing, and time for themselves became more and more rare.

The first time Barbra and Elliot managed to take a trip together to France after she finished "Funny Girl," she was kept busy with television shows and interviews while Elliot tromped around Paris with old friends, talking French, not shaving, trying very hard to have a good time without feeling guilty, that his wife was working while he played.

During the past few months, the tension has grown worse. Barbra was working five days a week on a film and recording a new album over the weekends. And what little free time she had was devoted primarily to their son Jason Emanuel, who recently celebrated his second birthday. Said Elliot, "My wife is a typical Jewish mother, full of worry. If Jason sneezes, she falls apart."

If Barbra wins an Academy Award tomorrow, it will be another milestone for her. The question is, will it have been worthwhile? Will she win an Oscar and lose a husband? *

How Jeane Dixon

She has predicted three assassinations—and an explosion in space which experts have yet to verify; does she truly have ESP and, as she claims,
“divine revelation”?

By ADELE WHITELY FLETCHER

JEANE DIXON still remembers the day a friend of her mother's came to their house, worried sick over some valuable jewelry she had lost or mislaid.

It was then that Jeane made the first of her astounding predictions, doubly amazing in the fact that Jeane was only eight years old at the time she made it.

"I kept seeing a dome-shaped pin, formed by strands of gold, that looked like a beehive," Jeane recalls. "Right away, I told my mother's friend, 'Find the beehive, and you will find the jewelry.' They looked baffled, so I concentrated harder, and I saw the jewelry tucked in the toe of a lace, embroidered stocking in a darned basket.

"The woman went right home and found the jewelry exactly where I said it would be," Jeane continues. "In her case, the woman was over-anxious about the jewelry, and since we never forgot anything—it just sinks below the level of memory into the subconscious—I got the sensations through telepathy."

As Jeane explains her gift, her prophecies emanate from two separate and distinct sources: extra-sensory perception (ESP) and divine revelation.

Her ESP preognitions, which she often credits to telepathy, are changeable. But prophecies that result from divine revelations—such as her now world-famous vision of the assassination of President John F. Kennedy—are unalterable.

Jeane makes predictions so quietly and with such understatement that listeners frequently are caught unaware, not realizing that what she has said should be recorded. Moreover, Jeane neither takes her gift of prophecy in a big way nor is impressed with herself for having it.

She can only be described as rap, however, which she talks of a revelation, tells of her three days of preparation when she feels as if "pouched by the wings of angels." Then comes the fourth day when the vision is revealed—and she knows herself to be in His presence.

For more than one year before Sen. Robert F. Kennedy was murdered, Jeane repeatedly announced it would happen. But not until Jan. 17, 1968, as she entertained friends in her Miami-hotel-suite, did she predict the time and place.

During the question and answer period that followed her luncheon speech, she was asked whether Robert Kennedy would be elected President of the United States. She answered unequivocally: "Senator Kennedy will not be President."

When she was asked how she could be so sure he wouldn't win the White House, she answered softly: "He never will be President because he will be shot. In June. In California."

Jeane believes this prophecy, like the prophecy about Rev. Martin Luther King, which she made to Congressmen and Mrs. Frank Boykin of Alabama, on the Monday before Dr. King was shot, came about when she picked up the vibrations of the assassin. In the case of Doctor King, she distinctly remembers receiving the vibrations of several voices.

Since her foreknowledge of neither the Robert Kennedy nor the Martin Luther King assassinations came in a revelation (as that of John F. Kennedy), she points out that both might have been avoided.

She first became aware Doctor King would be shot years ago when he led the march on Washington. "I remember," Jeane says, "when he declared, 'I have a dream . . . I turned to my husband Jimmy, and said, 'He will not live to see his dream come true. He will be shot.'"

Jeane does not find it strange that many preognitions come to her as she watches tv. "Just as you bring pictures and voices out of the atmosphere by turning on the tv set, so do I, psychically, tune in to the thoughts of those on the screen."

When asked how she is able to tell whether a preognition is imminent or destined for the distant future, Jeane says, "I can feel the difference, just as you, turning a corner into the wind, can tell what direction it comes from."

I had my first meeting with Jeane Dixon and her ESP just after the publication of "A Gift of Prophecy," a book about her.

During the interview, we talked about Hildegarde, the chanteuse, who is a mutual friend. Having received an air-mail letter from Hildegarde, postmarked London, the day before, I told Jeane that Hildegarde would be away another six months.

Jeane shook her head. "Hildegarde is now in New York City."

I did not see how this could be possible, but I decided not to argue with a seer. The next day I learned that Hildegarde had indeed been in New York—at the time Jeane and I had been at lunch in Washington.

When I questioned Jeane as to how she had known Hildegarde was in New York, she said simply: "As we talked of her I got her vibrations. And they came from somewhere fairly close, not across water. I sense the proximity of a vibration in much the same way that I sense the time element of an event."

Another example of Jeane's ESP concerns the death of actress Marilyn Monroe. She was traveling by plane with her friend, the Countess de Verges, who expressed concern at the likelihood of someone they knew taking her life. Jeane, closing her eyes to meditate, saw their friend alive, and healthy—but envisioned the suicide of Marilyn Monroe.

"I am certain," Jeane says, "that I picked up Marilyn's emotional crisis through telepathy."

There are countless Dixon predictions, however, that cannot, by any stretch of the imagination, be credited to telepathy. For example, Jeane cannot explain her prophecy of the tragic Apollo disaster, described in her new book, "My Life and Prophecies." (The Apollo II burned on its launching pad during a preflight test on Jan. 27, 1968, killing astronauts Gus Grissom, Ed White, and Roger Chaffee.) She had this recognition at a pre-Christmas luncheon with Mrs. Fred Stout, whose husband is now third in command of the Apollo project.

When Mrs. Stout asked Jeane what she saw for the upcoming flight, Jeane instinctively reached toward the bag which Mrs. Stout had placed on a chair between them. "You have something here," she said, "a cubicle of some kind, that is pertinent to the Apollo. Could I have it, please?" (Jeane rarely asks for any related object and does not usually work through psychometry.)

Rummaging in her bag, Mrs. Stout brought out a plastic cube that held a miniature model of the Apollo Jeane, closing her hand around it and shutting her eyes, proceeded to relate exactly what was to happen—and why.

To quote from her new book, Jeane says: "I find it strange that I, who do not understand how an ordinary light bulb works, should have had such a clear picture of the Apollo's wiring that I could have drawn a diagram of it."

Jeane's sensitivity to the Kennedy family has been marked for a long time. It may be their prominence in the news that triggers her psyche.

Last October, besieged by newspapers as to whether Jacqueline Kennedy would, as rumored, marry Britain's Lord Hanlech, she had said she did not see this marriage anywhere in the foreseeable future. "Their channels," she said, "never met."

She did, however, see a marriage for Jacqueline Kennedy before the end of 1968. And said so. But this prophecy received little attention.

Over the past decade, Jeane's predictions about Jacqueline Kennedy have been on the incredible side. As far back as the 1961 Kennedy Inaugural, she predicted Jackie would add stars to her husband's crown, while the brilliance of her own crown would fade.

Following the assassination, Rose Dickens, Jeane's friend and manicurist, pressed her as to whether Jacqueline's popularity would wane because of something she did or didn't do. Jeane finally told Rose that it would come about because of a book—as it did. From the time Jacqueline Kennedy threatened suit over William Manchester's "Death of a President," which he had undertaken at her behest, public-opinion polls have shown her popularity to be on a decline. And there's little indication her marriage to Aristotle Onassis has helped her public image.

While preparing to write this story, I asked Jeane what her most unusual ESP experience was. Unhesitatingly she answered: "Last Wednesday's explosion in outer space!"

"I did not feel the reverberation of the explosion through my feet as you do when it is an earthly blast. It came from far, far above me. And as I felt it, I saw a tremendous flash."

Upon experiencing this disturbance she, concerned that an explosion of another spacecraft might endanger our then orbiting astronauts, Walt Schirra, Don Eisele, and Wally Cunningham, she telephoned Fred Stout of the Apollo project to report what she had felt and seen. A project engineer agreed and said, "Maybe your explosion accounts for the funny vibration—just reported by the Apollo crew."

As yet, there has no announcement of any outer-space explosion. "But there will be," Jeane says with confidence.

In everyday life, Jeane, in contrast to her fame as a seer, is simple and industrious, completely comprehensible. She is a loving wife, has a German hausfrau's dedication to cleanliness in her home, good food on her table, and color and fragrance in her garden. She works long and hard in her husband's real-estate firm, never taking a vacation, never wanting one.

She is also a refreshingly unapologetic "do-gooder." Her charities are many. And all earnings from her psychic gift—royalties, newspaper, magazine, and speaking revenues—go to her pet charity, "Children to Children," of which she is founder and president.

Jeane Dixon can be summed up in just a few words: she's a marvelous mystery. ♦

What's-Behind the Boom in Astrology?

Today astrology enjoys perhaps the greatest boom in its 5,000-year history. Look on any newsstand, and you'll find astrology cookbooks, dating and marriage guides—even astrological advice to teen-agers. And, too, there are numerous periodicals directed at the astrology buff, which sell as fast as they can be put into print.

Editor & Publisher recently noted that 1,200 of the nation's 1,750 daily newspapers now publish horoscopes (20 years ago there were a scant 100), causing such astrologers as Carroll Righter, Shirley Spencer, Dale McConallthy, and Sydney Oramm to become nationally known. Jeane Dixon, too, now writes a syndicated astrology column.

The question most often asked is—why? Why is there such interest in a "science" so universally condemned through the ages by the scientific community? Many psychologists explain the phenomenon as a reaction to today's fantastic scientific achievements—space exploration, biological research, nuclear physics. Others believe it is merely a recurring fad, similar in many ways—if not in degree—to the recurrence of yo-yo and ouija boards.

While communications expert Marshall McLuhan calls astrology a "media for our electric age," New York psychoanalyst Dr. Donald Kaplan calls it no more than "a pop science, employing magical thinking. Since our culture is so scientifically oriented, it is like a direct snub, much the same as pop art is to academic art."

Although astrology buffs often have found themselves the object of ridicule, they remain steadfast. The reason for this is simple, according to Prof. Gibson Reeves of the University of Southern California department of astrology: "People say they can't understand how astrology can work. Well, no one has proved that it doesn't."

Southwestern Cookery

MELANIE DE PROFT Food Editor

■ The many peoples who have come to live in the Southwest have brought their own culinary art to that of the Indians and Mexicans who were there first. So today's cooking is a grand mélange—colorful and highly seasoned—a part of the glamour of the great Southwest.

Beef and Kidney Beans Southwestern-Style

The addition of one to two tablespoons capers stirred in before serving imparts interesting flavor to the beef.

- 2 tablespoons olive oil or other cooking oil
- 1½ lbs. beef round steak, cut in pieces
- 3 onions, coarsely chopped
- 2 large cloves garlic, minced
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon Accent
- ¼ teaspoon pepper
- 1 cup beef broth
- 1 can (8 oz.) tomato sauce
- 1 can (1 lb.) tomatoes
- 2 cans (about 1 lb. each) red kidney beans,* drained and rinsed
- 1 can (5½ oz.) pitted ripe olives, drained

1. Heat oil in a large, heavy skillet. Add meat and brown on all sides. Remove beef with slotted spoon and set aside.

2. Add onion and garlic to fat in skillet and cook until lightly browned.

3. Return meat to skillet and sprinkle evenly with salt, Accent, and pepper. Add broth and simmer, covered, about 1½ hrs., stirring occasionally.

4. Stir in tomato sauce, tomatoes, and kidney beans. Continue simmering about 1 hr. or until meat is tender, stirring occasionally. During final minutes of cooking, mix in ripe olives.

5. Ladle into bowls.

About 8 servings

*Kidney beans may be spooned into serving bowls, rather than blended with the meat mixture, and meat ladled over them.

Guacamole

QUIPS AND QUOTES

The staunch captain was going down with his sinking ship, and his young first officer, decided to remain with him. "You're in the fine old tradition, my boy," the captain said and offered him a cigarette.

"No, sir, thanks just the same, but I gave up smoking a week ago, and I don't want to get into the habit again."

A man was disappointed to find that his usual deer-hunting guide in northern-California had switched to guiding parties for fishermen.

"What's the matter?" asked the sportsman. "Don't you like hunters?"

"I like them fine," replied the guide.

"Do fishermen pay you more?"

"None."

"Then what's the idea of taking up with them?"

"Friend," the veteran woodsman replied, "so far, none of them mistook me for a fish!"

Are Mutual Funds for You?

This type of investing is extremely popular; here are the reasons from an expert—and a look to its future

An interview with
JOHN R. HAIRE,
Past Chairman, Investment Company Institute
By TERRY SCHAERTEL

MUTUAL FUNDS are one of the most popular means of investing for the nonexpert securities investor.

Mutual funds, of course, are basically organizations which pool the money of many investors with similar investing goals. This money is managed for a fee by full-time professionals who buy securities in the best interest of their shareholders.

By investing in many stocks, the mutual funds lessen investment risks.

Some funds are conservative; others take certain risks to achieve what managers hope will be greater gains. Make sure you know the objectives of the fund you may buy, its history, goals, and management before investing money. You can learn much through its prospectus.

FAMILY WEEKLY has interviewed John R. Haire, past chairman of the Board of Governors for the Investment Company Institute (the national association of the mutual-fund industry) for answers to current questions about mutual funds and what the future holds for them. Here are his answers:

Who buys mutual funds these days?

Many different kinds of people. Traditionally, the small investor purchased mutual funds because he wanted to own a share of American industry but did not feel he had the time or knowledge to analyze individual companies or to follow stock-market trends.

Nowadays, many sophisticated investors, representing corporate pension funds, union welfare funds, as well as wealthy individuals, also place large blocs of money into mutual funds. About 43 percent of new money going into funds last year ranged in units of $25,000 and up.

At the end of 1968, of the approximately $53 billion invested in funds, about $9 billion or about 15 percent represent institutional money. There are now about 9 million individual accounts with almost 5 million people owning fund shares.

Selecting the right mutual fund should be done carefully and with a good deal of thought. Some people prefer to do their own investigating. There are those who study all the new models before they decide on an automobile. These people have perhaps less need of a salesman. Many believe, however, that inexperienced investors feel more secure dealing with a trained mutual-fund sales representative.

The Investment Company Institute, 61 Broadway, New York, N.Y. 10006, offers booklets, at no charge, which explain types of mutual funds for specific goals, such as "Investing Made Easy," "A Woman's Guide to Mutual Funds," "Planning Your Retirement through Mutual Funds," and other publications.

The funds' 9 percent commissions have come in for some criticism, though, haven't they?

Let me explain why we in the industry believe that our commissions are reasonable. Most mutual funds are considered long-term investments. Some people—who trade in and out of individual stocks should not be in funds. Many fund holders keep their shares 5, 10, and 20 years.

The figure of 9 percent is handled about a great deal, but actually that is the maximum figure fixed by law, in the case of so-called contractual plans. Often commissions range from nothing, in the case of no-load funds (ones from which shares are purchased directly without involving a salesperson) to about 8½ percent on smaller purchases. The commission decreases as the investor buys larger units or purchases on a regular accumulation basis. In addition, a growing number of funds are sold at a decreasing commission rate based on all shares held by the investor, no matter when purchased.

Remember, too, that when you hold a fund a long time, the commission figure becomes relatively insignificant. I would also like to point out that the commission charged is only on the buy side. There is no charge to sell your fund shares, as there is when you sell individual stocks. Fund shares are simply sent back to the fund itself and a check for its current value is returned.

Would you care to comment about the Securities Exchange Commission report comparing funds with the Dow-Jones averages?

This report studied the performance of funds from 1967 to 1963 and noted that "the average fund did no better than the Dow."

Actually, this meant that the average fund doubled in asset value during that five-year period—which the Dow also did. But how many shareholders owned the individual stocks making up the Dow-Jones average? Many investors owning individual stocks found their securities worth less in 1963 than in 1967.

These are the risks you take when you invest. However, the great majority of funds at the end of 1963 were worth substantially more to the investor than in 1967, taking into account dividend and capital-gains reinvestment.

I keep coming back to the point that funds should be considered as long-term investments. Judge them over 5, 10 and 20 years.

sex-handle with care

Today sex is flaunted by movies, magazines, books, and tv. Sexual "freedom" is defended in terms of self discovery... and spurred by "the pill." Young people scoff at old restraints. And between them and their parents a gap widens which neither seems able to bridge.

Sex is the silent battlefield of the generations. "They don't understand," says the boy or girl. "They don't understand," echo the parents.

And both are right. Yet both seek understanding, as the young person struggles in his revolt, and his elders cling to standards of a passing generation. Sex is natural, wonderful, God-given. But it can also be destructive, unless handled with care.

This frank booklet offers insights for both generations. It helps evolve a meaningful Christian approach to sex and marriage. It may help solve some of your problems—to find understanding between ages, or between partners. It's free; send for it. More than 100,000 people already have.

The Fish Lure Guaranteed to Catch Fish... or it costs you nothing!

FISH GRAB MY HOOK WITHOUT CAUTION — Attack Ravenously!

How to Catch Fish Like Crazy!

WORKS WHERE OTHER LURES FAIL!

EMILE PLANES

By EMILE PLANES (AS TOLD TO PAUL STAG)

Here it now I catch more fish than I ever caught in my life before... More fish than I ever dreamed of — and BIGGER fish than I ever suspected possible. Here is how you can catch bass, pike, perch, bream, trout, salmon, crappie, pickeral, walleyes and many, many other kinds of fresh water game and pan fish plus many salt water fish... the same way I do. Since I invented my fishing lure, I catch so many fish, such BIG fish, and catch them so FAST, people gather to watch me. I've been followed FOUR TIMES in ONE day by a fish warden to find out if my methods are legal. But my entire secret is my fishing lure that's GUARANTEED TO CATCH FISH — or it costs you nothing. Yes, GUARANTEED to catch fish even when other lures or even live bait fails or no cost.

My lure works in lakes, ponds, streams, salt water, saves you time, work, money and disappointment. Is ideal for amateurs, experts, trollers, casters, shore fishermen. My lure catches fish differently from anything you've ever seen before in fresh and salt water. Even veteran U.S. fishing guides have been surprised at its astonishing catches. And the French government itself has certified my lure by actual patent as UNIQUE.

An Underwater Discovery

I am a Frenchman, a science teacher, a skin diver and I have fished all my life. For years I have studied fish underwater — WHILE FISHERMEN ABOVE WATER were trying to catch

My Secret is My French, Patented Lure-That Works in Lakes, Ponds, Streams, Salt Waters, Saves You Time, Work, Money and Disappointment

Perfect for Amateurs, Experts, Trollers, Casters; Shore Fishermen. All Kinds of Fresh Water Game and Pan Fish Plus Salt Water Fish!

What It Does For You!

- Catches More Fish
- Catches Almost All Kinds of Fish
- Saves You Money on Other Plugs, Bait and Lures
- Saves You Work of Catching Minnows
- Catches the Fish that Won't Bite on Worms, Bugs, Fish, Spoons, Canned Bait, Flies, Cut Bait or Spinners!

them. What I discovered changed every idea I ever had about fishing and fish lures.

Lures Can Frighten Fish Away
I watched UNDERWATER exactly how fish reacted to every lure, live bait, every fishing maneuver and trick used to catch them. I watched fish approach even the best performing lure, seem ABOUT TO STRIKE — then suddenly TURN AWAY. Something about even the best performing lure was obviously scaring them — THEM FROM CATCHING FISH. As for the average lure, mostly they seemed actually to BORE the fish — as though they looked to the fish as they looked to me UNDERWATER — shiny, pointed bits of metal, plastic and wood. I saw live bait — it was cut, torn white and die before my eyes — and saw fish often approach, prepare to strike — THEN TURN AWAY.

Minnows Irresistible

Then I saw the same fish approach actual live swimming minnows and without caution or suspicion STRIKE RAVENOUSLY. I saw the same fish that rejected the lures again and again attack without caution LIVE SWIMMING MINNOWS. In fact, these little minnows seemed to DRAW many fish from a distance — even before being seen.

Why Lures Often Fail

I talk with fish scientists and my own studies convinced me it was the swimming motion of minnows, particularly the swirling tail that attracted many fish, concluded that no lure I had ever used had SUFFICIENTLY duplicated the living minnow and its motion.

Had I asked myself, could a fish lure be created that would attract fish just as the actual living swimming minnows did — and that once attracted would get the same ravenous STRIKE as live minnows — WITHOUT the hesitation, suspicion and FEAR aroused by the lures I saw used?

My Man-Made "Minnow"

After 19 years of study and testing, I have finally created such a man-made "minnow", so like a living, swimming minnow in shape, form, texture and motion that fish ravenously STRIKE — without caution and I catch more fish, bigger fish — faster than ever before in my life. Because my man-made "fish" looks, darts, wiggles, even "feels" like a minnow... darts, pickeral, pike, perch, trout and many other kinds of fresh and salt water fish attack voraciously without suspicion or fear — even when they're not biting for another fisherman on the lake.

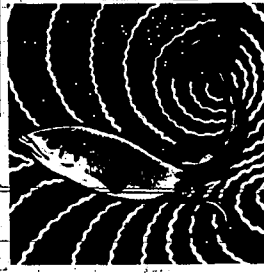

Astonishing Catches Reported.

I call my lure VIVIF. Once I perfected VIVIF I started selling them to other fishermen. Soon news of astonishing catches came in — first France — then from other countries.

Yes, from all over you report of amazing catches — of fish biting where other lures failed — at the surprise, the simplicity and effectiveness of this VIVIF lure. And what does this mean to you? Simply this, Now YOU can get more out of fishing than ever before. Now YOU can catch more fish than ever before — with my lure — GUARANTEED — or you pay not one penny. It means now no longer need you come back with an empty creel from a long day's fishing. It means no longer need you spend hours of work digging worms and catching minnows or other bait. It means you can save the needless expense of continually buying expensive spinners, flies, plugs, balls and lures. It means that often catch the fish that are not biting on worms, bugs, plugs, spoons, canned bait, flies, cut bait or spinners or no cost. It means you can troll, cast, or shore fish with my lure with equal success. It means you can go after and come back with large minnow bass, small mouth bass, pike, pickeral, perch, bream, trout, walleyes, salmon, red tuna, striped bass, blue fish, weak fish and do it time and again — or your money will be refunded at any time. VIVIF is catching fish in 25 countries for delighted fishermen. 3,000,000 VIVIFs have been grabbed up. Already reports from U.S. fishermen say VIVIF is the greatest lure they have ever used. NOW! Run Your Car Without Spark Plugs

NEW JET-FIRE FUEL IGNITERS

Will deliver up to 30 more horsepower, 5 more miles per gallon using only regular gas! THEY NEVER WEAR OUT!

YOU'LL NEVER CLEAN OR REPLACE PLUGS AGAIN

- get up to 5 more miles per gallon of gas
- add up to 30 more horsepower to your engine
- save $100 each year for you, year after year while you use the cheapest grades of gasoline!

SPARK PLUGS MARROW GRADE

CONVENTIONAL PLUGS explode this mixture with OTHER FUEL BEING IN an air gap. The spark is just 35-40 thousandths of an inch across — wide enough to exhaust all the fuel in the cylinder. Unburned gas escapes through the spark. In time, the electrodes become eroded and coated with carbon, the gap widens, the spark "takes" longer, you lose more power, waste more fuel... and finally have to replace your plugs.

JET-FIRE FUEL IGNITER WIDE SWATH OF FLAME

JET-FIRE FUEL IGNITERS are not spark plugs. Instead, a swirling mass of flame walls across a semi-circular air gap, forcing the fuel into the spark gap. The flame walls are so hot that they pre-ignite the fuel before it reaches the spark gap. This pre-ignition pre-heats the fuel, so it burns more power, waste more fuel... and finally have to replace your plugs.

Spark plugs are obsolete! Now there's a far better way in run your car.

With conventional spark plug, only a fraction of the fuel enters your cylinders, is burned in power. The rest escapes through your tailpipe as unburned vapor. That is, because the spark is so narrow — only 35 thousandths of an inch wide — that it cannot possibly ignite all the fuel mixture in the cylinder. As plugs get older, their points lose brilliance and "retardation" that they have to be replaced.

The Jet-Fire Fuel Igniter does a far better job of turning gasoline into power. Instead of a narrow spark, they send out a wide swath of flame walls across a semi-circular air gap, turning out power in all directions and exploding far more fuel in the cylinder than ever.

- The Point That You Get Up To 30 Horsepower More
- Jet-Fire Fuel Igniters don't just give you more power because they have to be screwed into the spark plug socket. But what they do is far different. Here's how to prove it:
1. Run your car till it's fully warmed up.
 2. Run on a perfectly level stretch of road.
 3. Put the car in Drive (if gear with manual transmission), and how low that the car.
 4. Remove plug and install Jet-Fire Fuel Igniter in 10-15 minutes.
 5. Now see how fast your car rolls at 1000 rpm. You can expect to see 10 to 15 MILES PER HOUR FAST — without touching the gas pedal — dramatic proof that Jet-Fire Fuel Igniters do give you more power. You can expect to see an increase in gas consumption. (At 140 mph, RPM's increase 10%.)
- First thing, you can reduce the gas flow by adjusting the idling and speed. Second, you can reduce the gas flow by a mile an hour. You can make your air-plus mixture leaner. Jet Igniters require only 1/11 ratio instead of the conventional 1/14. It's a little adjustment that you or your mechanic can make.

You are protected by this 4-WAY GUARANTEE:

1. GUARANTEED for the life of your car (or 30,000 miles) without cleaning, servicing, or greasing.
2. GUARANTEED to increase miles/per-gallon of gas on regular gas.
3. GUARANTEED to increase horsepower, increase engine RPM's.
4. GUARANTEED to improve ease of starting and acceleration!

Are Mutual Funds for You?

Would you say there are some people for whom mutual funds would not be the right investment?

Yes, there are some people who are temperamentally unsuited to having professional management look after their financial interests. They love the "action" of trading and psychologically prefer to do it themselves. Funds are for people who can put their certificates in a safe-deposit vault and not worry about fluctuations.

First and foremost, though, a man must be sure his family is protected. "Death" protection (some kind of life insurance), health insurance, and enough in cash savings for emergencies should exist before he invests in anything to overcome the erosion of our constant inflation.

Will "glamour" issues be replaced by more conservative issues?

There are always certain favorite stocks and favorite industries at specific times. These groups change as investors find other types of stocks which may have more growth potential. The stock market goes through cycles. Solid growth, in earnings, must often catch up with overexuberance. You can't take a stock, run it up 50, 60, and even 70 percent and have it keep on going. This is what occurred in 1968. Many of the great growth stocks of the previous year simmered down in '68 while other issues, good sound ones that had been neglected in the 1967 market, came to the fore. This is the reason why many conservative funds had a very good year in 1968—because the more conservative stocks which they owned were in demand.

What about life insurance companies which may enter the mutual-fund field?

Looking at life insurance, our two industries are drawing together. It's natural. One offers death protection, the other protection against the continual rising costs of living. People need both safeguards.

Although life insurance companies still control the greatest amount of assets of any single industry in the United States, their share of savings is shrinking. In 1946 insurance companies got 46 percent of the discretionary or saved dollar. As the public realized more and more that fixed-dollar reserves (of which a life insurance policy is an excellent example) could not be a hedge against inflation, currently running at more than 4 percent a year, they began putting a greater amount of money in equities. The insurance industry now receives about 17 percent of discretionary income. No wonder many life companies have entered the mutual-fund field; either by purchasing existing companies or starting their own funds.

I am sure that the almost 5 million present mutual-fund investors will grow in numbers, and I believe their investments will appreciate in value. The more than 400 funds now available to the public should increase to about 1,000 within the next few years, with even greater service to the investing public. †

My man was a King-Size Problem...

(Confessions of a big man's wife)

MY HUSBAND is big and handsome—any woman would be proud to be seen with such an escort. I've always enjoyed going places with him. Except for one thing—the clothes he wore never fit him correctly.

They weren't cheap clothes, either—my husband makes a good living. They just weren't designed, proportioned right for a man his size. Most of the smart, new styles they're wearing didn't even come in his size; his shirts and slacks were always skimpy, his jackets never looked right and his shoes were just not in style. I tried going shopping for him myself—but I'd just run myself ragged, come home close to tears.

Then one day a friend showed me the new KING-SIZE Catalog. It was a revelation! 120 pages crammed with smart, stylish clothing and shoes...sweaters, slacks and jackets—all specially designed for TALL and BIG men! Inseams up to 42"...necks to 22"...sleeves to 38"...sizes to XXXL! And the finest brands—McGregor, Arrow, Manhattan, Jantzen, Weldon. Shoes in sizes from 10 to 16, widths AAA to EEE...including DuPont Corfam; Hush Puppies, Bates Floaters and others.

Best of all, this beautiful full-color KING-SIZE Catalog doesn't cost a penny. And every item carries the famous KING-SIZE Money-Back Guarantee. "You must be completely satisfied both BEFORE and AFTER wearing, or you get an immediate refund or exchange". Could anything be fairer?

If your husband (son, brother, boyfriend) has the same kind of King-Size problem, that problem is solved right now! Just sit down and write for the FREE KING-SIZE Catalog. When it comes, you and your BIG and TALL man will discover how much FUN buying the right clothes can be!

What Has Science Learned About ANGER?

By JOHN E. GIBSON

EVERYBODY gets mad now and then—yet what do we really know about anger? Here is a quiz to check your ideas about anger against what science has learned in recent years. Read each statement carefully, then indicate whether you believe it true or false. Next check your ideas against scientific findings.

1. If you watch a person's face, you can usually tell when he is getting angry.
2. Husband and wife arguments are usually won by the one who gets the maddest.
3. Neurotic people are more easily angered than those who are well balanced.
4. Women are more inclined than men to provoke domestic rows.
5. Tense people are self-controlled and don't lose their tempers easily.
6. When someone hurts your feelings or causes you to feel rejected, it's better to get mad than to feel depressed.
7. The time of day when you are most likely to blow your top is midafternoon.
8. In a domestic free-for-all, it's the woman who is most likely to go from hurling verbal epithets to actually throwing things.
9. When a person yells at you in anger, the best way to cool him is simply not to answer him.

ANSWERS

1. False. In one university study, students were shown photos of people taken when they were in the throes of anger. The majority of students identified the angry people as tranquil or happy!

2. False. Psychological studies at Harvard University have shown that husband and wife arguments are usually won by the one who does the most talking. So take a tip from the experts. Being articulate and expressing your views on the subject will get you a lot further than blowing your top.

3. False. Columbia University psychologists found that anger reaction of the normal individual was much more intense than with the neurotic.

4. True. Studies conducted by psychiatrist Dr. David Harold Fink have shown that women not only need attention but become emotionally insecure without it. Thus when a woman feels excluded from her husband's thoughts—(because they seem to be riveted on business or other matters), she is likely to provoke a fracas deliberately in an attempt to get her share of attention.

5. False. Northwestern University studies have shown that tense people have a much lower boiling point than people who are comparatively relaxed. In a relaxed state it is very difficult to sustain any unpleasant emotion.

6. True. Studies at the University of Rochester school of medicine have shown that depression tends to lower physical resistance to virtually every form of disease or affliction and make you appreciably more susceptible.

7. False. Studies show there are three 30-minute danger periods during the day when tempers are more likely to explode than at any other time—just before meals. A person is inclined to be most irritable when he's hungry.

8. False. The male of the species is more given to expressing himself through physical violence. Women, because they are the weaker sex physically, have conditioned themselves to employ other methods to gain their ends—strategy, cunning, wit.

9. False. Not making any reply at all is likely to make him feel even angrier. The best way to cool a yellor is to answer in a lowered voice so that he has to lean forward to hear what you say. When he answers you, he will automatically lower his voice to meet the level of yours. And presently his anger will diminish accordingly.

Imagine! A 40-Foot House
Covered with GIANT RED ROSES
From One Single Plant

How's this for a
"Living Wall of Flowers"?
Read how you can create sweeping floral patterns and change your home's appearance dramed in roses before.

Amazing-rose discovery soars up to 40 ft. high—spreads up to 20-ft. wide—spreads across bare walls like wildfire with blazing color from spring to frost!

You're looking at the amazing new climbing rose developed by the Rev. W. W. Bunge of Minnesota that has been called "a phenomenal rose discovery." Imagine the glory of a rosebush that streaks skyward 18 inches in a single week—and once established reaches heights of 20 feet in a single season—spreads 40 feet along walls, fences and trellises.

Imagine the glory of a rosebush that bursts into gigantic blossoms up to 5 inches across—roses so eager to bloom the entire plant is covered with hundreds of lavish flowers at one single time—roses that burst into fiery masses of bloom again and again in June, July, August, September, October—until snow starts to fly.

Turns your house into a showplace from June to frost!
This incredible rose discovery has been acclaimed as a new floral sensation by leading garden authorities. And no wonder! With just one single plant you can "curtain" a whole house wall and breeze-way with masses of roses—frames, windows and doorways with arched displays of blossoms. Here are roses that sweep over the roofs of ranch houses and trail fountains of bloom from one side of the house to the other. Roses that screen your garage and backyard on arbors or trellises—roses to sweep along fences and surround your property with living walls of color 5 months of the year.

Yes, now you can create a floral paradise, the kind of lavish beauty you see in garden magazines, cause a neighborhood sensation of fiery splendor that can be seen for blocks—and do it all at an incredibly low cost!

Exceptionally winter-hardy and disease resistant. Even blooms in partial shade.
Called the Ray Bunge "Scarlet Showers" Rose, it has latched off even bitter-cold Minnesota winters with almost no protection whatever—and is so disease resistant that it actually withstands blackspot. More amazing—it even blooms in partly shady locations in Ray Bunge's test gardens where practically no other rose can survive. (As little as 3 hours of sunlight produces ravishing masses of bloom.)

This is the wonder rose that Rev. Bunge has finally perfected and patented after 32 years of breeding. Now you can have it blooming in your garden for a lifetime of beauty if you order now—before our limited supplies are exhausted.

This is SCARLET SHOWERS! the world's greatest bush-climbing rose spectacle. We ship top-quality, top-graded 2 year old field grown plants only.

Why wait 'til September?
These Chrysanthemums Start Blooming in June

A gardener's dream come true!
Now enjoy hundreds of glorious mums this very summer from this fabulous "June to Frost" Collection!

Yes, this fabulous "rainbow collection" will give you masses of flowers starting this spring—and then multiply to give you thousands and thousands more year after year.

Who ever heard of June-blooming mums?

Your neighbors won't believe their eyes come June. They'll stare in amazement as your first bushel-baskets of color unfold. And we're not talking about a scattered few blossoms here and there—but gleaming masses of flowers spreading so wide you can't get your arms around them. Brilliant white blossoms that cluster into flowering snowdrifts up to 1/2 foot wide—color-splashed mountains of gold up to a full 6 feet around—rainbowes of pink, orange and red that erupt into blossom daily and keep right on blooming all summer long.

How is it possible? Just recently, plant breeders discovered the secret of early-blooming mums. They knew that the Chrysanthemum's blooming period was controlled by the sun. That as daylight grew shorter—in autumn—an inherited factor going back millions of years, caused the blossoms to open. The botanists discovered an unusual day-lily flower that was actually a primitive form of chrysanthemum. Yet, unlike a typical mum, it didn't wait until September to open—but actually burst into bloom in June!

After years of cross-breeding and thousands and thousands of experiments they produced the fantastic mums shown here. Lush, giant, hybrid beauties that start blooming in June—and keep bursting into bloom again and again right through July, August, September, October—all the way up to frost!

This summer, how would you like to flood your garden with fiery color and brilliance-of-hybrid-chrysanthemums that simply can't wait until September to start blooming!

Think of it. Here is a fabulous "rainbow collection" of mums that start to show your landscape with bursting masses of color this spring—and then bloom again and again by the hundreds right up to frost!

You get 12 plants—including the newest and most exciting mum varieties—enough for a massive wall of flowers 24 to 30 feet long. One variety, the gigantic Chrysanthemum (Chry. Big) grows 4 inches, bursts into huge blossoms a full 4 inches across starting in June—and gives you giant, hand-sized masses of show-stopping flowers right through July, August and September.

Up to 5 months of breathtaking beauty year after year
But that's only the beginning of this plant breeding triumph. Another variety sports forth a dazzling display of gold-splashed blossoms from spring to fall. Still other varieties erupt into colorful pinks, oranges and blazing reds. You even get the super-blooming "flame-pink" pom-pom that produces as many as 600 brilliant blossoms the very first year.

Now, this triumph of plant breeding is yours in the fabulous "Rainbow Collection of Mums" offered on this page—MAIL THE DOUBLE GUARANTEE COUPON ABOVE

3/4 ACTUAL SIZE OF BLOOM

You are looking at one of the greatest triumphs in plant breeding history—a hybrid, semi-blooming Chrysanthemum. This plant, white Shasta Daisy (Chrysanthemum leucum) produces masses of glacier-white 4 inch blossoms from June till frost!
