

Nixon Asks Postage Hike To Seven Cents For First Class

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon today asked Congress to boost the price for mailing a first class letter to 7 cents. Post cards, and second and third class mail would also be raised in an effort to slash the nation's postal deficit.

In a message to Congress, Nixon said his proposals would reduce the record $1.2 billion 1970 postal deficit by more than $600 million.

The President said the only alternative to the rate increases would be to add $500 million "to the already considerable burden of our taxpayers."

Raising the rate for first class letters and post cards one cent to 7 cents, second class to 6 cents, and third class to 5 cents, respectively, effective July 1, 1970. The ten cent air mail letter rate would remain unchanged.

Postage Soars

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Here is a list of the rising costs of mailing a letter through the years:

- 2 cents—1919.
- 3 cents—1932.
- 4 cents—1959.
- 5 cents—1963.
- 6 cents—1965.
- 7 cents—1969?
- 8 cents—?

The minimum single piece third class rate would go up one cent July 1. Bulk rates for third class mail are scheduled to be increased on July 1.

In his postal rate message to Congress, Nixon said: "This administration is determined that the cycle of greater and greater postal deficits and more and more rate increases will be broken. The only way to break that cycle is through effective, long-range reforms in the way the postal system operates."

Faced with the "unhappy fact" of a record deficit, Nixon noted the post office had been able to trim its $7.5 billion fiscal 1970 budget by only $140 million. "The across-the-board increases, if adopted, will have the effect of making those who use the postal service most bear the costs more adequately," the President said.

SHOSHONE FALLS IS IN full bloom in more ways than one, as this picture by Times-News Photographer Dan Hixson shows. The scene is on the trees in the foreground and the water is white and violent in the background. Water, released upstream Tuesday, reached the falls Wednesday and now more than 12,000 acre feet of water an hour is tumbling over the huge drop. The Snake River is annual host of the big runoff rivers in the state. Water will continue to pour over the falls until the farm irrigation season arrives and the flood threat upstream disappears.

GOOD, FERTILE SOIL and perhaps too much water were the undoing of one of Blaine county's largest graders this week. Earl Williams, was attempting to make a ditch along side of Deer creek road to carry off extra water from the melting snow on the Deer creek ranch, when the huge machine slipped off the hard ground and buried one side some five feet of mud. Footings For CSI Health Unit Poured

Sanitarians Tell Danger Of Pesticides

JEROME — Any group wanting a speaker on the safe use of pesticides is asked to contact the South Central Health District Office, Box 231, Twin Falls.

Dangers of storing organic agricultural pesticides was outlined by district sanitarians at a meeting Tuesday afternoon of the health district board of health at Woods Cafe.

It was noted these products, such as TEPP, DY-SON and Malathion are extremely dangerous if inhaled, swallowed or put on the skin.

State Sen. John Barker, Buhl, discussed legislation concerning health programs which was considered by the state legislature. A bill providing that jurisdiction over district health departments would remain with the individual counties was passed in the senate, but died in the house.

He said it will be referred back to the senate in the next session. Comprehensive health plans, including proposals of Idaho State University will be presented at the July 22 meeting of the district health board.

Ed Peterson, architect with Jones-Fehlberg Associates, said pouring footings and framing concrete foundation walls will continue until mid-May. There is plenty to see if you look down in the hole — lots of work has been done there but it will be about three weeks before anything above ground level will be visible," he said.

Arrington Construction Co., Idaho Falls, has about a dozen workmen at the site at present. None of the subcontractors has begun work yet.

The fourth building on the CSI campus is being financed with a $389,000 grant from the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare, along with $751,000 of local general obligation bonds.

Richfield has an ordinance prohibiting trespassing on the tank. Two deaths have been caused in falls from the tower. The trespassers are newcomers to the town.

Concern: That Atomic Inspection Goof

Thursday, April 24, 1969... PHONE 733-0931... THOMAS HOWARD... WILEY DODGE... GENE CARPENTER... PAUL STANLEY

WASHINGTON — Top administration aides are quietly trying to make amends for an unfortunate "goof" in not checking with Congress on new inspection procedure advanced by the United States at the 17-nation disarmament conference in Geneva.

talks had assigned routine inspection of known production facilities to the International Atomic Energy Agency, IAEA. But they had retained a reciprocal on-site inspection for check on possible clandestine production.

Limited ABM?

Planning strategy for World War II is called "thinking about the unthinkable." It is not just that a thermonuclear holocaust is too horrible to contemplate. It is that there are simply too many variables, possibilities and unknown quantities to know what would really happen should someone actually initiate a "missile exchange."

Jungle Rot

On April 8, however, Adrian S. Fisher, acting U.S. representative in Geneva, proposed that the International Atomic Energy Agency, IAEA, take over all responsibility for inspection under a proposed agreement to end production of nuclear weapons materials.

Questioned about the new U.S. position, members of the Senate House Atomic Energy Committee, said they had received no information about it. Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., who heads the group's subcommittee on weapons, said Congress should have been consulted about the change.

It then developed that "Butch" Fisher had talked with the committee chairman, Rep. Chet Holifield, D-Cal., before returning to the conference from the United States. If Fisher mentioned the new inspection proposal, however, the point did not register with Holifield in their general discussion. Other committee members were not informed.

When the controversy eventually rejected as nothing new, the House Atomic Energy and Disarmament Agency, apologized to Jackson by telephone. Last week, with Congress back in town after the Easter holidays, Smith and other administration aides began making their manners in person to smooth other related dealings.

In these conciliatory talks at the Capitol the point is being made by administration aides that Fisher's U.S. initiative was bluntly rejected as nothing new by Soviet delegate Alexei N. Roshchin. The implication is that no harm was done.

Some members of the Atomic Energy Committee, including Jackson, are not buying that argument. They say that in future negotiating with the Russians in Geneva, it will be all but impossible to retreat from the April 8 position, even if it has been rejected for now.

Jackson thinks it may be possible to work out a similar inspection provision which utilizes a third party such as the IAEA. He is asking, however, to abandon its inspection stand without asking Russia for any kind of pro quo across the bargaining table.

MR. SPECTATOR

It Happened In Wendell

So what's wrong with a small town? Mr. Spectator discovered the other night that people in small towns do things and that is what makes small towns so interesting. While he might save a few missiles to mop up a few cities or other countries afterwards, if he hasn't obliterated his opponent, including his opponent's population centers as well as missile sites, in the first round, then he has failed.

High Spending

WASHINGTON — It was — or should have been — highly significant that news of the loss of an expensive Navy spy plane off North Korea was released on the same day President Nixon unveiled his $102.9 billion "economy budget." The combination of circumstances emphasized the definition of our national life by the military-industrial complex.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Please give me some information about spillo Keratitis. Mrs. A.M., C.D. This is a painless, a hard, white spot on the cornea (but not a real wart) which appears in older persons. These occur more in people who have been exposed to sun and wind, and hence appear chiefly on the face, but can be elsewhere.

TO JOG OR NOT

Just about the time a majority of physicians are convinced jogging is an excellent form of exercise for most people, along comes the advice that "jogger's heel" or "sprinter's foot" might be the consequence. Joggers might have known there was a catch somewhere in their own mind.

Return to the more common type of tachycardia, this is most often seen in tense, nervous patients—and the more nervous the more nervous they become. Therefore, reassurance really is an important part of the treatment. Anxiety can touch off attacks, anxiety should be relieved.

ANIMALS NEEDED HELP

Students of animals reveal that when any group falls below a certain minimum number, perhaps 150, prospects for survival of the group become less than even. Thus the whooping crane, a species of which only about 50 are known to remain, would rate a poor chance of survival if left to its own devices. Man is making great efforts to save it from extinction. But its fate is still touch-and-go.

Another possible element is an overactive thyroid. That does not mean that a goiter necessarily is present. Overactive thyroidism can be treated with a drug, especially in some other folk, Sulfathiazole metabolism tests will reveal it, and treatment usually is not difficult.

There are, however, other factors involved in the excessive use of tobacco, smoking, for example, is too excessive coffee, tea, cola drinks. What is "excessive" for one person may be excessive for another; very little caffeine in some cases can trigger attacks.

1—Have an examination to see if there is, or is not, an indication of heart or thyroid disease. 2—if it is not, then tell yourself not to let your nerves run away with you; the more you know about the more trouble you'll have.

3—Try cutting out tobacco, caffeine, and, of course, any stimulants you may be using, such as "prep pills" or reducing pills. 4—A metabolism test is wise, to see whether the thyroid is responsible. 5—Beyond these precautions, simple sedatives or tranquilizers very often are sufficient to control the problem. In some cases, stronger medications (quinidine or digitalis) may be prescribed.

Those attending also heard how citizens and volunteers work together during disasters and search and rescue operations.

ABM System Challenged On Utility

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon's Safeguard antiballistic missile ABM system was attacked Wednesday as a $6.5 billion "pig in the poke" and at the same time defended as a modest program to prevent a nuclear Pearl Harbor.

The conflicting views were presented by a panel of scholars in hearings before the Senate Armed Services Committee.

Dr. George Rathjens, a political science professor at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, said it would be "madness" for the Soviet Union to think it could destroy U.S. retaliatory forces in one blow unless it had the capability of wiping out 95 to 98 per cent of U.S. missiles, bombers and Polaris submarines.

But Dr. Albert Wohlstetter, of the University of Chicago, said the Russians were developing a capability to do just that, as far as American land-based missiles are concerned. He gave the committee a "moderate" estimate that by the mid-1970's the Soviet Union could "destroy 95 per cent of our Minuteman missile force."

Abram Chayes, a Harvard law professor and former legal adviser to the State Department, called the ABM "a pig in the poke" and urged the committee to reject it in hopes of preserving "a moment of rare and precarious strategic balance" in the arms race.

Frederick Seitz, president of the National Academy of Sciences, urged approval of the Safeguard, warning "our nation cannot again afford the type of lapse which allowed us to be caught unawares" at Pearl Harbor.

Notebook Said Clue To Guilt

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The most damaging evidence against Sirhan B. Sirhan was his notebooks in which he had written "Kennedy must die," according to one of the jurors who decreed the young Arab be executed for the murder of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

Juror George H. Stitzel also disclosed Wednesday that 2 of the 12 jury members originally favored a second degree murder verdict and a sentence of life imprisonment for Sirhan.

The jury took four votes during the three-day penalty phase of the trial before reaching a unanimous verdict that Sirhan be sentenced to death, Stitzel said.

The first vote, taken Monday afternoon, was eight for death, two for life and two undecided. The second ballot Tuesday was 10 for death, two for life. A third ballot Wednesday morning was 11-1, and was followed by a fourth unanimous vote in favor of death.

Reagan May Determine Sirhan Fate

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI)—The final decision on whether Sirhan B. Sirhan lives or dies will be made by Gov. Ronald Reagan if all legal efforts to save him from the gas chamber are exhausted.

The governor, who believes capital punishment is a deterrent to crime, has power to commute the death penalty to life in prison or to pardon a condemned man outright.

Reagan has used the power once since entering office in 1967.

June 1 of that year, he spared condemned murderer Calvin Thomas from the San Quentin gas chamber because of a mental illness. Examinations showed Thomas was a victim of brain damage which caused a chronic mental condition.

Thomas' case was converted to life in prison without possibility of parole.

Two months earlier Aaron Mitchell, killer of a Sacramento policeman, went to death at San Quentin in California's first execution in four years. Reagan rejected a request to commute Mitchell's sentence.

"There has been no execution in California since then," Reagan has reportedly stated he favors capital punishment.

"I've always regretted the necessity for it but I think there is a need," he once said. "You can't do away with the death penalty without doing away with one of the deterrents to crime."

Nixon Gets Major Test In Congress On Education Aid

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon's first major congressional battle Wednesday when a lady Democrat and some of her Southern colleagues teamed with Republicans to extend a request to bill two years instead of the five years most Democrats wanted.

The limited continuation of the four-year Elementary and Secondary Education Act was then passed by the House and sent to the Senate. In one of the few changes, the bill provides "combat pay" for teachers in schools with a high incidence of violence.

Steelmaker Cites Hope About Future

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—The president of National Steel Corp., which rapidly is diversifying into other metals, said Wednesday he had "no pessimism whatsoever" in the future of the U.S. steel industry.

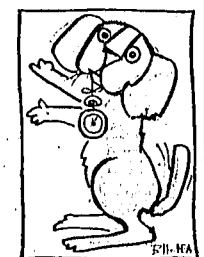

"We are stressing steel much more vigorously than any other metal," George A. Silson told National's annual stockholders meeting.

The steel executive said the future of the industry depended on modernization and balanced trade.

"When we get a free world steel market with a representative price, I have no pessimism whatsoever in our ability to survive," he said.

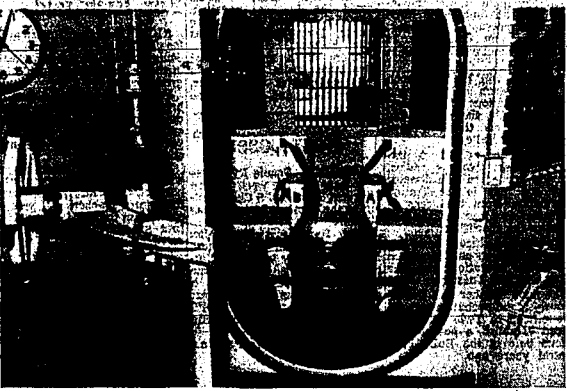

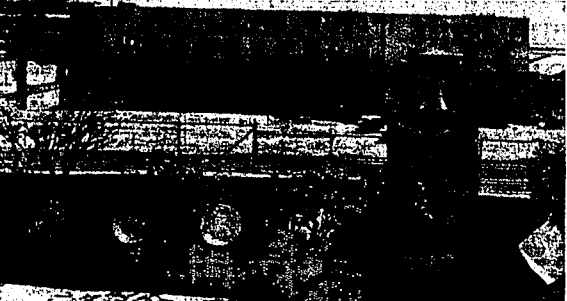

Silson said he agreed with officials of U.S. Steel Corp. that direct reduction, making steel without the intermediate step of making iron in blast furnaces, might be the industry's next big technological step.

"We are not building any new blast furnaces," he said, predicting "a continued, high paced modernization of technical facilities over an indefinite time."

SIRHAN B. SIRHAN may spend the last days of his life in this two-building complex at California's San Quentin Prison, although a national sentiment against the death sentence, and legal machinery which provides an almost unending series of appeals and maneuvers, make his execution unlikely, legal authorities say. At present, 89 men await execution in these buildings (top photo), but none has been executed since Gov. Ronald Reagan spared convicted murderer Calvin Thomas from the gas chamber in June, 1967. The chamber itself (bottom photo) can handle two men at a time. (UPI telephoto)

San Quentin's 'Death Row' Reported Ready For Sirhan

SAN QUENTIN, Calif. (UPI)—The last cell in a row of 30 in San Quentin prison's "Death Row Number One" is a room measuring just 11-feet long, 4 1/2-feet wide and seven-feet high. Natural light filters in through a barred window too high to see out.

The cell, and a fenced-in portion of the adjacent hallway, will be where Sirhan Bishara Sirhan may spend in lonely solitude what remains of his life.

About 125 feet away from the cell is an apple green octagonal chamber room nine feet in diameter and seven feet high. There are two large metal chairs in the room. Sirhan Wednesday was sentenced to die from cyanide gas while sitting in one of the chairs.

Attorneys for the 25-year-old Jordanian, convicted of assassinating Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, plan a long series of appeals.

If all legal efforts fail, the final decision on whether Sirhan lives or dies will rest with the governor of California. Gov. Ronald Reagan believes in the "necessity" of capital punishment as a deterrent to crime.

However, in June, 1967, Reagan spared murderer Calvin Thomas from the gas chamber because psychiatric examinations showed Thomas was a victim of brain damage that caused a chronic mental condition.

At the beige-colored maximum security prison 20 miles north of San Francisco, where 194 men and women have already met death in the gas chamber, officials calmly prepared for the arrival of Sirhan.

"We don't get too fussed about these things," San Quentin Associate Warden James Park said Wednesday. "We could take him right now—anytime. We'll treat him exactly like every other convicted murderer."

The two cells adjacent to the one set aside for Sirhan will be empty. A screen will fence the hallway outside the three cells so he will be able to "exercise" without coming in contact with the other death row inmates.

Sirhan's cell will contain a simple bed, toilet, wash basin, three steel shelves, a table and a stool. All are unmovable.

A special three-cell suite built at a cost of $2,700 at Vacaville State Prison facility was prepared only for the event Sirhan received a life sentence, according to Park. He said in about a month the prisoner will be in San Quentin.

Courtroom Buzzer Signals End Of Trial As Jurors Finally Decide Sirhan's Fate

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The jury foreman, Dr. Bruce Elliott, told me they had a verdict, and I pushed the buzzer three times so the newsmen would know."

At the sound, reporters broke for their telephones.

The jury kept the courtroom since the jury foreman, Dr. Bruce Elliott, retired at noon Monday, jerked the door open and said "What does that mean?" Justice. The jury, 25-year-old, dressed in shorts and had a question, and three that of his mirror, combing his hair.

Bailiff Willard Polhemus (When Davis told him the jury had reached a decision, Sirhan said, "Okay.")

"When I walked into that room, you could cut the tension with a knife," he said later.

Adel, 30, who had been waiting in a dusky corridor outside the courtroom, took a seat in the second row.

Defense lawyers Grant Cooper and Russell Parsons, along with investigator Michael McCowan, were seated at the counsel table. Cooper, who had never had a client condemned to death in a long and colorful career as a criminal lawyer, sat with his hands clasped together, pushing his glasses up and down on his nose.

At 11:33, Sirhan, dressed neatly in an open-necked, dark, long-sleeved shirt and dark slacks, entered the courtroom, trailing smoke behind him.

His face was sallow and he chewed steadily on a wad of gum, betraying no emotion. He glanced at the box and whispered to Parsons.

As Superior Court Judge Herbert Walker took the bench, Sirhan flexed his shoulders, relaxing his tense muscles. At 11:35, the jurors filed in, studiously avoiding looking at Sirhan.

Walker asked if they had reached a verdict. "Elliott, appearing - haggard, replied, 'Yes, Your Honor, we have.' He passed the paper to Polhemus, who handed it to Walker. The judge glanced at it before giving it to clerk Mrs. Alice Nishikawa.

In a clear voice she read, "We the jury, having found Sirhan Bishara Sirhan guilty of murder in the first degree, fix the penalty at death."

Sirhan continued to chew his gum rhythmically. McCowan slumped forward and Cooper's eyes reddened as he made a routine motion for a new trial.

Jurors Appear In No Hurry To Leave After Long Siege

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—After the first day and a half of two months and 11 days locked deliberation, Juror George Stitzel said four trial of Sirhan B. Sirhan, the jury was in no hurry to go home after an hour after the jury retired at noon Monday. On that ballot, he said, eight favored the death penalty, two life imprisonment and two were undecided.

Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, who jurors were back in their wing at the Biltmore Hotel, laughing and talking.

As they hurried off the bus and into the hotel, a crowd of spectators cheered and applauded.

Most of the jurors seemed anxious to avoid the approximately 250 newsmen and photographers waiting in the lobby to question them.

Those cornered by reporters divulged which two jurors held out for a life sentence during

"After all, he killed a United States senator," Federico said.

Juror Foreman Dr. Bruce Elliott, an analyst for a systems aerospace corporation, expressed surprise when informed that early in the trial the prosecution and defense had agreed to accept a guilty plea from Sirhan in exchange for a life sentence.

Walker overruled the plan, and word of the plea bargaining was kept from the jury in accordance with California law.

BUHL — Irene Sue Walker, Buhl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Walker, Madras, Ore., became the bride of James H. Gergens, Buhl, son of Mrs. Fay Gergens, Boulder, Colo., in a candlelight ceremony April 5 at the Jerome First Christian Church.

Rev. Harold Livingston performed the 7 p.m. double ring ceremony before an arch covered with lavender and white carnations, lavender and white streamers and lavender bows. Carried with 11 others completed the background setting.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of Chantilly lace over silk tullea featuring a scalloped and tullea. The gown was borrowed from her sister, Mrs. Ronald Foukal. Her veil of illusion fell to her waist from a rhinestone tiara. She carried a cascading bouquet of lavender roses centered with an orchid, accented with white and lavender streamers.

The bride's only jewelry was a gold cross, a gift from the bridegroom.

Mrs. Ronald Foukal, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Duane Carrell, sister of the bridegroom, and Lynn Walker, sister of the bride.

Stephanie Foukal, niece of the bride, was flower girl. Ringbearer was Doug Carrell, nephew of the bridegroom, and Royce Foukal, nephew of the bride.

They carried a white satin pillow with lavender streamers for the bride's ring and a lavender satin pillow with white streamers for the bridegroom's ring.

Taper lighters were Gregg Dailey, Duane and Grace Dailey, Ross, Calif.

Duane Carrell, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, served as best man. Ushers were Joe Dailey and Gregg Dailey, Boulder.

Mrs. Fowell Chisham, Buhl, was soloist.

A reception for 125 guests was held after the ceremony. The brides table was covered with a lace cloth over lavender and centered with the four tiered cake. The cake was topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom and the tiers were separated with a lavender ribbon. Hearts and roses accented each tier and miniature bride and bridegroom decorated the bottom tier. The cake was served by Mrs. Ray Ruby, Wendell.

Reception assistants were Mrs. Earl McRoberts and Mrs. Fred McRoberts, aunts of the bride, and Mrs. Jay Silver and Mrs. Glenn Gergens, aunts of the bridegroom.

Parties and guests registered the guests: Karla, Karen and Gayle McRoberts, Mona and Kay Freeman and Kim McRoberts, cousins of the bride, were in charge of the gifts.

The couple took a wedding trip to Sun Valley. They will reside at 510 Broadway St., Buhl.

Special guests at the wedding were Mrs. Tina McRoberts, grandmother of the bride; Charles G. Walker, grandfather of the bride, and Glenn Miller, grandfather of the bridegroom. Foster Parents Honored At Tea

A tea honoring foster parents who serve the children in custody of the agency was held recently at the office of the Department of Public Assistance.

In addition to the honored guests, a number of other persons who serve, or are associated with the protection and care of needy children in the community such as judges, police officers, county and state officials, and physicians, were also invited. All the members of the department acted as hosts and hostesses. The tea table was colorful with an arrangement of yellow and white spring flowers.

A movie was shown which dealt with some of the emotions foster parents sometimes encounter in children who come to their homes from other backgrounds and experiences.

The agency values highly the services of the families who accept children into their homes. The task is not an easy one since children only leave their own families after experiencing some stress and unusual circumstances. Foster parents recognize this and give much understanding as well as direction to the child. The parent must be patient since good results usually do not come quickly, but only as the result of firm and loving guidance.

The agency strives to make permanent plans for children committed to them through working with the natural parents or through adoptive services for those who will not return to their homes. Foster parents are the interim people that give care while those legal and social plans are being made. Often, when the child has settled into their home and a mutual affection is springing up, the permanent plans mature and the children leave. The affection and the warm nourishment and the protection of a good home the child has experienced is not lost when he goes, but it is something he continues to use as he has other healthy experiences in his own rehabilitated home or the new and permanent adoptive family.

The agency tries to select these foster parents for each child with real care and to work with these people in partnership through the frequent visits of its caseworkers to see that this child is really placed so that he can make maximum progress. During the period in foster homes, the needed medical and dental care and education continues.

During the last year the agency has made use of 54 foster homes. Some have been very brief visits while natural family situations were being ironed out. Those parents served a succession of children. Other families who accepted older children will remain the family where these children live to maturity and have served the one child during the twelve month period. Foster parents are paid, but the fees are not higher than

Dear Abby

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: You always tell him? I tell him? say, "If you think he's the kind of guy who will throw it up to you later, tell a man NOTHING about your past before you marry him." I agree with you, it's none of his business. I was a prostitute for a while, been married eight times, and have been in jail. In about a month I will marry for the ninth time. I have been walking a very straight path ever since I met this guy. He's the first really decent man I've ever known and I want to be decent, too.

LADY WITH A PAST
DEAR ABBY: In your case, it would be wise to tell him that you've been married before. (Tell him he's Number Nine; he'll probably think you're kidding.) If he asks any other questions, be prepared to answer them honestly. If he doesn't, keep quiet, continue to walk the straight path, and try to draw the curtain on your past. If he really loves you, and you behave yourself, he won't believe rumors, neither will he dig for dirt. Good luck.

DEAR ABBY: I heard you say that more wild birds and game actually die of starvation, attacks from other animals, and from freezing weather than die by a hunter's bullet. You were trying to make the point that the hunter's bullet was a "merciful" death. Following the same logic, more people are killed every year by automobiles than by a hunter's bullet, so if a bullet is a more merciful death, then perhaps all the hunters should shoot each other, which isn't such a bad idea.

HATES HUNTERS

DEAR HATES: It's not such a good idea, either. But don't joke about it, unfortunately many do.

DEAR ABBY: Two of my relatives (both male) visited me yesterday and they got into a fight, and one of them (age 27) broke a window. It wasn't a window in our apartment, it was one in the front entrance of this apartment building.

"I told his mother about it, and she said, 'If the manager asks you what happened, tell him you don't know.' Boy, this really made me mad! That overgrown 27-year-old baby ought to take the responsibility and pay for the damage. If I tell the manager who did it, my whole family will be against me. What should I do?"
ARLINGTON, VA.

DEAR ARLINGTON: Tell the manager; and if your whole family is "against you" for doing the right thing, shame on them! Why protect a chiseler? Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 6700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069, and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Farmers, Ranchers Say, Weather Bureau Station Needed Here

The phaseout of the weather Bureau office at Kimberly could hurt agriculture in Magic Valley, farmers and farm organizations say.

The federal installation was built in the spring of 1962 to help farmers and ranchers in this area improve the agriculture picture. Now it has fallen prey to President Nixon's $2.9 billion domestic programs budget cut.

Laird Noh, Kimberly livestockman and farmer, said he is not happy with the proposed closure of the office because he uses the information put out by the Weather Bureau frequently.

He said he uses the weather predictions in the spring to decide when livestock should be turned out on crested wheatgrass pasture. During the winter, he uses the weather information supplied by the Kimberly office in determining the amount of hay he will need to last through the winter months.

Mr. Noh said he also has used the local weather bureau's information in determining the time when the livestock should be taken out of the high country.

Coley Parrish, Farm Service Inc., Kimberly, said the information regarding weather forecasts, upcoming storms, soil moisture, etc. are vital to the fertilizer industry. He said this was one of the reasons for the installation being put in operation.

Rockland Group To Receive Funds

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Frank Church, D - Idaho, said that the Farmers Home Administration has approved a loan of $191,900 to the Rockland Water and Sewer Association, Rockland, Idaho.

The loan will enable the association to develop domestic and modern sanitary sewage systems.

The project will involve drilling wells, installing pipelines for domestic water, and installation of a collection and treatment system for wastes.

He said years ago the weather information needed in this area was supplied by the Boise office, when received here, it was usually a day late, too late for any use here.

Mr. Parrish said the Farm Bureau members in Twin Falls County were the instigators in getting the office set up, as farmers were seeking some source of vital weather information needed to operate their farms.

Mr. Parrish said the weather bureau is a public service needed by everyone in this area. The Kimberly office, along with several others throughout the country, were selected for phaseout on a priority of public services.

Hazen Bedke, director of the regional Weather Bureau office in Salt Lake City, said he was told the Kimberly office is primarily an agricultural station and not a public service one.

Glenn Nelson, Twin Falls farmer and chairman of the Twin Falls Soil/Conservation District, said Wednesday that every day farmers discuss the weather. He said the weather is an important factor in farming and he would not like to see the local weather bureau office closed, as some farmers use the information put out in scheduling various farming practices.

Clyde Vanausden, Filer, president of the Twin Falls County Farm Bureau, said the organization has not yet taken a stand on the phaseout of the weather bureau office, but it probably will be discussed at Monday evening's meeting of the Farm Bureau.

Mr. Noh said since he needs the information put out by the local weather bureau office, he is now seeking some private service.

vice that will be available to supply the weather information. Mr. Parrish said he is contacting his congressmen and urging them to do something to keep the office in operation.

There Aren't More Police Cars Around, It Just Seems So

Are there more patrol cars on the streets and highways today? Not really, a survey of Twin Falls law enforcement agencies shows. But there seems to be a squad car around when you least expect it.

Wednesday, in a half-hour period, downtown Twin Falls, two police cars and one car from the Twin Falls County Sheriff's office were seen. All were moving, the drivers alert.

In a year the average patrol car will build up 60,000 miles and change tires once, maybe twice. The officer will issue 10 to 15 citations a day and investigate one accident.

He will spend a third of his time typing or writing reports. The exact patrol procedure each department follows is not known, but officers vary their routes from day to day.

Twin Falls County Sheriff Paul Corder reports he has covered eight deputies. Twin Falls County is a land of nearly 2,000 square miles and this area is covered daily, Sheriff Corder said.

He has covered daily, Sheriff Corder said. Sheriff Corder feels he has enough cars to do the job, but he needs another deputy.

Twin Falls police, operating mainly in the city limits, are allowed to assist on county cases on request. The city has four marked cars, one unmarked. Four cars are new. The city trades its cars in every other year.

Officers see violations ranging from failure to yield the right of way to speeding, improper lane change to child molesting. "We keep on the move in four

Dietrich Lists Honor Students

DIETRICH — The six-week honor roll for Dietrich High School has been announced by Supt. Wayne Perron.

Students with a straight A average for the six weeks are Evelyn Davis, Greg Davis and Veldon Sorensen, all seniors. Those with an A and B average are Brian Cooper, Jim Meservy, and Russell McCrea, sophomores, and Jewel Cooper, Teresa Hollibaugh, Diana Nelson and Sheila Sorensen, freshmen.

Program Held

FAIRFIELD — The acrobatic dancing students of Mrs. Robert Callison and the tumbling classes of David Lemons combined to present a program in the high school gymnasium. The event was viewed by a large audience.

An open house was held in the grade school after the conclusion of the dancing and tumbling program.

GUARDSMEN TRAIN

BOISE (UPI) — More than 200 Air National Guardsmen from Alaska are undergoing a two-week annual encampment at Gowen Field south of Boise.

"Being centrally located in Twin Falls, we can get from one end of the county to the next quickly. But we try to keep cars out in the county too," Sheriff Corder said.

It all boils down to a problem of supply and demand, it was learned.

"But there's an officer nearby when you need him," Chief Barnett said.

Financier Launches Fight For Control Of Airline

By MYRAM BORDERS

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — Kirk Kerkorian, one of the nation's fast-rising financial titans, steps into the ring against Western Air Lines in Los Angeles today in a proxy battle for control of the airline.

The no-holds barred slugfest with millions of dollars at stake, began with Kerkorian's demand for nine of 18 seats on WAL's board of directors to back up his recent purchase of approximately 28 to 30 percent of Western's common stock.

The Las Vegas hotelman and financier labored behind a wall of secrecy with his associates at Tracy Investment Co. offices in this desert resort to prepare for WAL's annual meeting. It could be one of the most daring maneuvers in his financial career.

Tracy Investment Co., Kerkorian's wholly-owned holding company headquartered here, has 83 per cent of the voting stock in International Leisure Corp., which in turn owns and operates the Buggy Siegel-bull Flamingo Hotel on the Las Vegas "Strip" and the International Hotel which will open in July.

All questions about the Western Air Line maneuver have been politely turned aside. But an aura of confidence was undeniable.

Kerkorian won two Delaware court battles last week to force reluctant Western Air Line management to give him a copy of its shareholders list. Western is incorporated in Delaware where the state Supreme Court upheld Kerkorian's request, in a ruling Friday.

The Las Vegas financier, who also is the largest single stockholder in Transamerica Corp., bid for control of Western last December. He offered $45 a share for up to 1.5 million shares, a total of $67.5 million and the largest single bloc of WAL stock owned by an individual or institution.

Brokers have indicated that in order to gain control of Western today, Kerkorian must have proxies from about one-fifth of the shares he does not already own.

At the time of his purchase, Kerkorian announced here that his move was for "investment purposes" only and that he did not intend to seek any major changes in management. Subsequently, it was learned Kerkorian was moving to increase his holdings in the airline.

Kerkorian acquired 1,265,000 shares or about 25 per cent of common stock in the tender offer in December. He increased his WAL holdings to 1,380,995 shares in Western common stock through "private and market transactions" three months later. At the same time, the financier acquired $8.14 million of the carrier's convertible debentures which if converted would give him about 30 per cent of the outstanding common stock.

Western Air Lines was caught by surprise and reacted sharply.

Western filed a complaint with the Civil Aeronautics Board charging Kerkorian obtained holdings in Western illegally by failing to get prior CAB approval as required by law. The CAB refused to grant Western's request for a declaratory ruling on grounds there was insufficient information on which to base a decision.

Tobacco Firms Vow To Fight Any Laws Curbing Advertising

By ROBERT J. TAYLOR

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A cigarette manufacturer said Wednesday the tobacco industry would fight in court any attempt to ban cigarette commercials or make them include a stiff health warning.

"We believe it is wrong to force a businessman to disclose — use — of the product he sells," Phillip Morris Board Chairman Joseph F. Cullman told the House Commerce Committee. The committee is considering whether to continue a law, now set to expire July 1, that forbids government interference in smoking ads.

If the 1965 Cigarette Labeling Act is allowed to expire, the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) said it will ban all cigarette commercials on radio and television and the Federal Trade Commission (FTC) said it would require all cigarette ads to carry a stiff health warning. Cullman, declaring there was no proven scientific evidence that "smoking was harmful to the health," said "The FCC is not qualified to give proper consideration" to the scientific, economic and social aspects of cigarette smoking.

And if it orders cigarette commercials banned from radio and television, Cullman said, "we shall take it to the courts." "We believe that these proposals are punitive in spirit," Cullman said.

The tobacco industry, Cullman said, believes "that there is no biological or chemical proof that smoking is actually related to the diseases and conditions which are claimed to be statistically associated with smoking.

FTC Chairman Paul Rand Dixon told the committee that requiring cigarette commercials to contain a health warning would be tantamount to driving them off television and radio.

"As a practical matter," Cullman said, "the requirement of the warning in advertising could result in eliminating all cigarette advertising."

Protesters Face Charges

MADISON, Wis. (UPI) — Demonstrators who thronged through the Wisconsin capitol were accused on the state senate floor Wednesday of health warning. Senate Majority Leader Ernest Kepler demanded that the Rev. James Groppi, leader of many Milwaukee civil rights marches and of Tuesday's capitol demonstration, "ferret out the culprits and turn them over to the district attorney."

The theft from Mrs. Karen Perzentka's stand in the capitol rotunda allegedly occurred during a march through the capitol by about 1,000 persons, most of them "Negroes" from Milwaukee's inner city, protesting welfare payment cuts. No one was arrested and

He will graduate in June, and plans to go on to graduate school — but he also intends to continue flying. (UPI telephoto)

Nixon Wins 'Duel' Over School Funds

WASHINGTON (UPI)—It was the first major duel between President Nixon and the Democratic-controlled Congress.

The House Wednesday passed a short, two-year extension of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act that will permit the Nixon administration to thoroughly review the massive program of federal aid to schools.

The Democratic leadership wanted a five-year extension, which would have continued the program just 1972 when conceivably a Democrat could be elected to the White House.
