By United Press International

Thirty-five black students at Colgate University did an abrupt about-face early today and abandoned the Faculty Club after rejecting an earlier administration demand to evacuate premises.

Leaders of Cornell University's Afro-American Student Society late Sunday informed the school they would permit a weapons search of their headquarters as part of Cornell's disarmament drive.

At Harvard, members of Students for a Democratic Society (SDS) met Sunday to consider further action as the student body voted on whether to renew a strike after a one-week moratorium.

The situation at Harvard was unclear, as the results of secret balloting on resumption of the strike were temporarily withheld.

SDS members, however, were reportedly planning another strike, but the results of the balloting by Radcliffe College, the female affiliate of Harvard, that 22 students be placed on probation for the spring semester.

The Colgate black students had held Merrill House since before dawn Friday to back

Flood Threat Easing

SHOSHONE—The flood threat in Lincoln County continues to ease after the Big Wood River, Little Wood River and Magic Reservoir continue to drop.

Big Wood Canal Co. officials said Monday morning the water level in Magic Reservoir dropped to 178,000 acre feet and water going out of the dam through the gates has dropped from 4,600 second feet Saturday to 3,700 second feet Monday morning.

It is reported that Big Wood River at Gooding measures 3,375 second feet Monday morning. Little Wood River, at Richfield, measures 788 second feet. The river peaked Thursday at 801 second feet. The Little Wood at Gooding is down 142 second feet.

Heavy Flow Continues Over Falls

Shoshone Falls is roaring with great fury at the present time and all indications are the flow over the falls will increase and keep its tempo for another 30 days.

Idaho Power Co. officials said data received in Twin Falls shows American Falls reservoir is full, with 20,000 second feet of water being released there.

Milner Dam, west of Burley, is spilling 13,000 second feet of water and Shoshone Falls is getting the same amount over its high cliffs.

Warren Successor To Be Named Soon

By CHARLOTTE G. MOUTON

WASHINGTON (UPI)—It appears President Nixon may decide, during the next three or four weeks, who he wants to succeed Earl Warren as chief justice of the United States.

Insiders believe Nixon will have to submit a name to the Senate within that time period to allow for ample debate.

Warren plans to retire in early June and Nixon would like confirmation for his choice before that happens.

At the latest, the President would want a successor confirmed by Aug. 13 when Congress takes its summer recess.

It appears that White House advisers are basing one of the following names are being most frequently mentioned in the various Washington rumor mills.

Justice Potter Stewart, 54, a handsome, witty Ohio Republican appointed to the court in

Arab Commandos Work At Border

By United Press International

Arab commandos operating near the Syrian border wrecked an Israeli bus today, killing one passenger and wounding several others, Jordan reported a new outbreak of fighting in the northern Jordan River valley, where an Amman spokesman said 20 Israeli soldiers were killed or wounded Sunday.

An Israeli spokesman in Tel Aviv said the explosive was placed under the bus when it was parked between the settlement of Zamaeh and El-Hamnah at the foot of the Golan heights,

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Supreme Court dismissed today a challenge to New Jersey's 1966 gun control law, which for the first time regulated the sale of shotguns and rifles.

The case was brought to the Supreme Court by a group of sportsmen and gun dealers,

Five Points North May Be "Four Points"

Five Points North may have to be renamed Four Points North if a preliminary plan by the State Highway Department is implemented.

The department's tentative plan calls for removing the traffic of Blue Lakes Boulevard at Ninth Avenue East onto Shoshone Street. This would, in effect, eliminate the intersection at Ninth Avenue East and Shoshone Street. The state highway officials emphasized, however, this is only a preliminary plan. It will not be implemented until at least 1972, if it is decided upon.

Jean Miller, Twin Falls city engineer, said the State Highway Department has been working on a new plan for the North Five Points intersection since about 1965. The four-legged intersection appears to be the most feasible plan at this time, he said.

The "four-points" plan came to light when the city engineer met with state highway district officials to discuss curb cuts at the intersection of Blue Lakes and Addison Avenue East. The curb cuts have been sought by W. Roy Brown, Salt Lake City, who

North Vietnamese Invade U.S. Outpost, Killing Five GIs

SAIGON (UPI)—North Vietnamese soldiers with flame throwers invaded a U.S. outpost ringed by tanks in South Vietnam's far northwest corner today and with bursts of flame and gunfire killed five GIs and wounded 35.

American headquarters said the 10 Communists opened with mortar barrage and then charged into the outpost despite a fusillade of cannon and machine-gun fire from the tanks and armored vehicles camped wagon train-style around it.

Political Turmoil Seems Inevitable

By JOSEPH W. GRIGG

PARIS (UPI)—Charles de Gaulle, rejected by his fellow countrymen in the last and greatest gamble in his long career, ended 11 years of autocratic strong man rule at noon today (7 a.m. EDT). For France, a long period of political turmoil seemed inevitable.

At the moment De Gaulle's twice-threatened resignation took effect, Sen. President Alain Poher took over as acting President until a successor for De Gaulle could be elected.

Even before he took office, Poher's resignation meeting to try to avert chaos. Fears of a massive devaluation of the French franc in the wake of De Gaulle's resignation touched off a new scramble for gold.

Even before official trading started on the Bourse, dealers set the price of gold at $48.56 an ounce—all time high. The official U.S. price is $35.

Premier Maurice Couve de Murville called in members of his cabinet to study the political crisis into which France was plunged. The primary concern was the maintenance of law and order.

The first manifestation of the troubles that could beset France in the future was Sunday night and early today when several hundred students rioted in the troubled Left Bank area of Paris.

De Gaulle had been defeated in the referendum on which he staked his future.

The 78-year-old French leader himself warned Friday of "national confusion" if the voters rejected him. Gaullist lieutenants painted more dramatic pictures of "deep trouble" and possible "chaos."

Political observers said this may have been sheer propaganda, but France's new leaders were taking no chances.

Strong police forces were alerted throughout the country. Particularly heavy reinforcements were held in readiness in the Latin Quarter itself but by midnight all was quiet in the Latin Quarter following the arrest of 70 demonstrators.

Today's change of leadership was marked by no ceremony, no official handing over of the keys to the Elysee Palace. De Gaulle's official residence remained to be seen.

The voters, who for the past 10 years had responded affirmatively to De Gaulle's every wish, this time said no. If in a referendum that accomplished what rightist generals, leftist politicians and student firebrands could never do—

Debate Lurks On Missile System

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The debate over President Nixon's proposed Safeguard antiballistic missile (ABM) system lurked in the background again today as Congress headed into another week with a skimpy business agenda.

Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., continued his assault on the ABM system in a television program (Face the Nation—CBS) Sunday. Fulbright said the ABM was just another of "too many" U.S. weapons systems.

"I think the ABM is a symbol of lack of concern about negotiating the end of the arms race," he added.

Several congressional Republicans, in an effort to head off a clash between congressional doves and the White House, reportedly tried to talk Nixon into proposing an immediate U.S.-Soviet moratorium on ABM development if Russia accepted the freeze. The President could shelve ABM plans and escape a clash with firebrands could never do—

O'Neill Resigns As Leader Of Party

BELFAST (UPI)—Premier Terence O'Neill resigned today as leader of the ruling minority party in face of Roman Catholic-Protestant strife in Northern Ireland. He said he would resign as premier as well when a successor is chosen.

O'Neill, under pressure from opponents in his own party, had threatened before to resign if that would prevent civil war from breaking out in Northern Ireland. The country has been hit by civil strife and sabotage that has wrecked Belfast's water supplies.

The crisis centered on Catholic civil rights. Current laws permit only landowners to vote in local elections and the renouncing Catholics say they have been disenfranchised. O'Neill made a promise of reform to his party—but the crisis in the party deepened.

O'Neill's London office first announced his decision. A statement released there said he had submitted his resignation as party leader and would offer to quit as prime minister through a new order in law through the electoral process.

Jaycees Make $675-Profit On Airlift For "Y" Drive

The Twin Falls Jaycees made a profit of $675 Sunday during an airlift at the City-County Airport.

The money will be presented to Twin Falls YMCA-YWCA officials Tuesday night at a banquet—the American Legion. The money is for the Magic Valley YMCA-YWCA building fund.

An attempt is being made to raise more than $500,000 for the building fund and the kick-off banquet is slated to start at 8:30 p.m. Tuesday at the Legion Hall.

Jaycee officials said a total of $600 was made at the airlift, but $120 had to be paid out for gasoline used.

George deHolt, who operates the restaurant at the airport, made two parachute jumps during the day and, in between, the public was offered airplane

Question...

Obituary notices sometimes carry a request that flowers be omitted and instead a donation be made to charity. Is this a universal practice?

Answer...

This procedure has had limited acceptance in Twin Falls. In his pastoral letter a Philadelphia clergyman recently said: "If you are going to be big-hearted, don't wait for death to open up your heart to the needy and the sick. No matter what others may say, send me flowers and don't use my last mortal remains as a charity income tax deduction."

Minidoka Farm Leaders Are Guests Of Rupert Chamber

RUPERT — Representatives of Minidoka County farm organizations were guests speakers during the Rupert Chamber of Commerce luncheon this week to commemorate Agriculture Week.

Speakers were Garth Eames, NFO; Aldo Dallolio, Farm Union; Frank Hunt, Farm Bureau; Hawley Harrison, Soil Conservation District; Henry Schodde, ASCS; Jake Eilers, Pomona Grange Master; Bliss Sullivan, Pioneer Grange; Robert Pershing, Emerson Grange; and Ken Merrigan, Desert Grange.

Mr. Eames explained the goals of the NFO, which include maintaining a fair and equitable price on commodities, restoring dignity to the farmer and preserving the American free enterprise system.

He said that farmers are the creators of about 30 per cent of the nation's new wealth, with the other 70 per cent created by the miners.

"The farm problem has caused about 11,000 farm families to leave the farm each month," he said, "and for each 12 families that leave, an average of one local business is forced to close."

Mr. Dallolio explained how the farmer's union has concentrated most of its efforts at the state and national level for legislation to help the farm situation. He warned against the "corporate invasion of agriculture" and said that plans call for corporations to purchase a small plot, maybe an acre, and set up farm shopping centers across the nation. The practice would hurt local business, he contended.

Mr. Hunt explained that the Farm Bureau is now 50 years old nationwide, and that farm organizations are much like religions, where all are trying to get to the same place, but in a different manner.

The Granges have seven degrees, Mr. Eilers noted, with the national master being the seventh, or highest. The state master is the sixth, followed by the Pomona master. Following him are subordinate and junior Granges.

Mr. Harrison explained that the soil and water conservation district is a political subdivision of the state government and was organized by local landowners. Long-range plans of the unit involve the protection of land and water resources that sustain the economy, the maintenance of the production capabilities of agriculture, curbing of water pollution and reduction of sedimentation, the development of adequate water supplies, and the orderly planning of housing developments.

The purpose of the ASCS, Mr. Schodde explained, is to promote better farm income and to balance the abundance of produce to the consumer. The service has several phases of operation, including wheat and grain, sugar beet, wool and the agricultural conservation program. Total income brought into the country in 1968 through the ASCS programs is $1,801,912.67.

Courts Ponder Test Lawsuits Challenging Draft Laws

By LOUIS CASSELLS
United Press International

The First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution forbids Congress to enact any law which favors one religious viewpoint over another.

Now going through the courts are two important test cases which contend that Congress violated this constitutional precept in writing the present Selective Service Act.

These cases seem likely to wind up in the Supreme Court. Both challenge the section of the draft law dealing with conscientious objectors. But they attack it on different grounds.

New Policy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Army and the Air Force will adopt a new policy of personally notifying the next of kin of seriously wounded servicemen, according to Rep. James G. O'Hara, D-Mich. The Navy and Marine Corps already follow such a procedure.

The section in dispute defines a conscientious objector as one "who, by reason of religious training and belief, is conscientiously opposed to participation in war in any form."

One challenge was filed in Boston by John W. Sisson Jr., 22, a Harvard graduate who says he is, opposed to war, but not because of religious belief.

In early April, Federal District Court Judge Charles W. Wyznanski, Jr., ruling in Sisson's favor, held that in the draft law "Congress unconstitutionally discriminated against atheists, agnostics and men, whether they be religious or not, who are motivated by profound moral beliefs which constitute the central convictions of their beings."

Government attorneys have indicated they'll appeal the ruling to the Supreme Court.

The other test case was filed in San Francisco by 11 Catholic priests and two Catholic laymen. The National Council of Churches and six Protestant denominations have filed supporting briefs.

The Catholic plaintiffs argue that it is unconstitutional religious discrimination for Congress to grant conscientious objection status to persons who oppose all wars while denying it to those who differentiate on moral grounds between "just" and "unjust" wars.

They point out that certain religious bodies—such as Quakers and Mennonites—teach total pacifism, or blanket opposition to any war at any time for any cause.

But other religious bodies—including the Roman Catholic Church and most of the big Protestant communions—adhere to the so-called "just war" doctrine which holds that in some situations, war may be morally defensible as the lesser of two evils.

The obvious purpose of the California case is to lay a legal basis for "selective conscientious objection" with specific reference to the widely unpopular war in Vietnam. The principle of selective conscientious objection has been endorsed by the nation's Catholic bishops and by the governing assemblies of several Protestant denominations.

President Barrientos Of Bolivia Runs Out Of Luck

LA PAZ, Bolivia (UPI)—Like a storybook South American, President Rene Barrientos Ortuno, who died Sunday, was not killed in battle but by a bullet fired from the cockpit of a helicopter piloted by one of his own men. The helicopter was carrying a pair of U.S. Air Force pilots who had deflected another bullet heading for his heart.

Barrientos, a black-haired and eyes accentuating rugged good looks, Barrientos was a dashing, courageous figure in this drab, mountainous nation of South America.

His brushes with death had given him an aura of invincibility, particularly among Bolivia's superstitious Indians with whom he was so popular.

But his luck ran out Sunday when he was shot in the chest by a pilot whose helicopter crashed in flames in the interior, where he had been shot down by guerrillas. The pilot's landing gear snagged on a power line. Vice President Luis Adolfo Siles assumed the presidency.

Barrientos' exploits were legendary. He led the revolution that toppled president Victor Paz Estenssoro in 1964, resigned from the governing military junta in 1966 to seek and win the constitutional presidency in a popular election, and personally commanded troops in the field who eventually caught and executed the legendary Cuban guerrilla leader, Ernesto "Che" Guevara, in 1964.

Politically, he stood up to a European crusade led by President Charles de Gaulle of France against Bolivia's trial and imprisonment of French intellectual Jules Regis Debray, who had been caught with Guevara's guerrilla band.

He survived his worst crisis at home less than a year ago when his interior minister, Antonio Arguedas, turned over Guevara's field diaries to Cuban Premier Fidel Castro, fled Bolivia and charged Barrientos' government was stacked with agents of the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency (CIA).

Sunday, Barrientos had spent the morning in the countryside visiting the peasants who formed the basis of his political support.

He had planned to return to La Paz Sunday night to join his wife, Rosemary, and their seven children in the presidential inauguration. Instead, his body was returned in a military plane for services and burial.

In addition to their own children, who ranged in age from nine years to six months, the first family had unofficially adopted 50 peasant children during recent years.

Barrientos himself an orphan at age 14, took the peasant children into his home for a time, then sent them to school and provided for their financial needs.

Siles, a son of one previous Bolivian president and brother of another, took the oath of office in a ceremony broadcast on television shortly afterward, proclaiming three days of official mourning and the nation's 38 million most of them impoverished Indians, to stand by him.

"Glory to Barrientos," he said.

Millionaire Wills Part Of Estate To Museums

BRADFORD, Pa. (UPI)—Ottoman T. Edward Hanley, owner of a fabulous art collection and descendant of a pioneering Pennsylvania oil family, bequeathed the bulk of his $15 million estate to his wife, Tully Hanley, 45, a former exotic belly dancer.

A will, filed with the register of wills at the county seat in Smethport, Pa., disclosed Sunday that Hanley also made substantial bequests to universities and museums, principally works of art he had loaned them.

Hanley, who died at the age of 74 on April 9, collected more than 800 paintings and many volumes of rare books.

Hanley met his wife, the former Tully Jones, in Buffalo while she was touring professors as a belly dancer. She is of Egyptian and Hungarian descent. They were married 21 years ago.

Hanley will include cash bequests to Mrs. Hanley's two sisters, Amie Jones of Bradford and Mrs. Elizabeth Nelson of New York.

Hanley's home here was hung with many of his prized art works, Burgundy brocade and silk damask and stole 14 paintings and two sculptures valued at $1.4 million. The paintings included Picasso's "Moulin Rouge," painted in 1901 and valued at $500,000, and a 1906 watercolor portrait of Vaillat painted by Cezanne and valued at $450,000.

The FBI later recovered them and arrested four persons, who were convicted in Buffalo.

Hanley's bequests included: —St. Bonaventure University,

$7,500 and many articles now on loan.

—Harvard University, Hanley's alma mater, $10,000 for the purchase of books, plus items on loan. The latter included an Alan Seeger collection, among which were his poem "I Have a Rendezvous With Death" and his World War I diary and letters.

—University of Arizona, University of Texas, and Pennsylvania State University, books and art collections on loan.

—Philadelphia Museum, several valuable paintings on loan.

He made the following bequests to Bradford Institutions: —Carnegie Public Library, books and paintings on loan.

—Central Christian High School, $3,000.

—Bradford Hospital, $5,000.

—St. Francis Catholic Church, $7,500.

Food Rally Is Staged At Caldwell

CALDWELL (UPI)—Between 150 and 200 persons assembled on the Canyon County Courthouse steps Saturday afternoon for an abundant food rally.

The gathering heard the Rev. Robert A. Reed of the Boone Presbyterian Church charge that a surplus of food exists in Canyon County "charity" fund for several years.

"This supply," said Reed, "could be used to finance the 'good program'."

Demonstration chairman, Mrs. Sarah Loredo, Caldwell, said a group of 10 persons will be selected to meet with commissioners this Saturday afternoon, to present petitions bearing some 4,000 signatures of persons supporting the abundant food program.

The county commissioners had announced Friday that the courthouse would be closed, as usual, Saturday, and that they would not be in their office.

Idaho Investment Case Is Transferred To Gooding

A lawsuit against the Idaho Investment Corp. of Twin Falls was transferred from Twin Falls to the District Court in Gooding.

The transfer of the case came when Judge James Cunningham disqualified himself. Officials said crowded calendars in Twin Falls made the transfer to the Fifth District Court of Charles Scoggin necessary.

The suit, filed by Mr. and Mrs. Merrill Sharp last May, charged that certain facts were misstated about Idaho Investment Corp. and its financial condition.

Defendants in the case are the corporation and Lee V. Neilson, Fred M. Felzer, Herb Richards, Lyle M. Jones and Theodore McElches, officers and agents of the corporation.

Three suits were filed against Idaho Investment last May, but only one case has been transferred to Judge Scoggin.

Plaintiffs in the other actions are Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Landers, Montpelier, and Mr. and Mrs. August Miller, Pocatello.

U.S.-French Relations Best In Years

By HENRY KEYES

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Relations between the United States and France in the eyes of many observers are at the best point they have been almost since the 60s began.

The improved feeling was in no small way affected by the personal rapport of President Nixon with French President Charles de Gaulle. How De Gaulle's resignation will affect future Franco-American relations was not clear immediately.

But as far as Nixon is concerned, as one observer doubted there would be any change in his attitude. French Foreign Minister Michel Debré, in Washington recently for the 20th anniversary meeting of NATO, described relations between the two countries as "better than they had been for a long time. Nixon was unlikely to do anything that might endanger that status."

The White House Sunday had no comment on De Gaulle's resignation.

Nixon established a friendship and rapport with De Gaulle and working relationship which had escaped both his predecessors, John F. Kennedy and Lyndon B. Johnson.

On leaving the presidency, Nixon gave special foreign policy priority to smoothing Franco-American relations and it became one of the primary incentives of his trip to Europe.

The improved relations were due primarily to this trip when Nixon took a course he hoped would establish understanding with the aging French general.

That course was to announce that for the present the United States would not again attempt to involve itself in Europe's internal problems, but instead would leave such matters to the Europeans.

Nixon also promoted conciliation by endorsing the French proposal for its current "Big Four Middle East" treaty under United Nations auspices.

De Gaulle's independent attitude, and his attempts to make France a third force in Europe and in the realm of international politics, had led to worsened relations between his country and the United States.

He resented the presence of American troops on French soil and eventually effected France's military withdrawal from NATO.

De Gaulle's departure may be something of a personal loss for Nixon, because it was an unusual relationship the two had developed.

When Nixon was defeated in his bid for the governorship of California in 1962, De Gaulle said he felt Nixon was not competent to political children, regardless of what was being said in the United States at the time.

De Gaulle showed his appreciation of Nixon's friendship by accepting the U.S. President's invitation to visit the United States early next year. It was a significant gesture for De Gaulle since he had steadfastly declined similar invitations during the Kennedy and Johnson administrations.

He attended the funeral of President Kennedy in 1963 and

Mr. and Mrs. Sharp are from Pocatello.

The plaintiffs ask a total of $9,070 and have also alleged that the defendants used unlawful sales and demonstration practices in the sale of the corporation's stock.

The sale of 4,750 shares is involved, it is alleged.

Amateurs In Politics Make Old Pros Wince

By RAYMOND LAIR

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Professionals in politics have winced for years whenever they watched amateurs barging into election campaigns and other political activities.

Some have been alarmed by threats to their own power. Others have been sincerely worried that the amateurs and semi-pros would offend blocs of voters by careless, off-hand remarks or acts.

Yet both major parties try to channel the energy of athletes and dentists, actors and lawyers and representatives into useful campaign work when elections approach.

And it was an old pro, Mayor Richard J. Daley of Chicago, who induced the Democrats to take their convention to his city last year for their disastrous performance.

Before that convention, an army of amateurs, most of them young, had propelled Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota into national prominence as a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination.

McCarthy, the amateur candidate, never was a serious prospect to win the nomination. His partisans could blame his defeat on the boxes, but they ignored historical evidence that a party does not nominate a candidate to repudiate the

Negro Voters Urged To Set United Stand

By ANDREW REESE JR.
 JACKSON, Miss. (UPI)—Negro voters were urged Sunday to make a united stand in the state's 1969 municipal elections, described by civil rights leaders as a critical political testing point for black Mississippians.

"We've got to forget any differences we might have between ourselves," said Charles Evers. "We can't win if we're divided."

"This is a testing point for us. If we lose this one, we're going to hurt black folks everywhere, not just in Mississippi. We're running for black people all over the world," the longtime civil rights leader said.

About 130 Negroes from throughout the state were on hand for the strategy session, including more than 50 of the estimated 145 black candidates seeking various offices in at least 44 cities and towns this summer. About 150 municipalities will be holding their local elections.

Most of the Negro candidates are running in the May 13 Democratic primaries, while others qualified as independents for the June 3 general elections.

Evers, state field director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, is a candidate for mayor of the little town of Fayette.

Aron Henry, state president of the NAACP and chairman of the "Loyalist" Mississippi Democratic party, also urged blacks to stand together in the coming elections.

Both Evers and Henry warned against waging a black racial campaign, advising candidates to seek white as well as Negro votes. "We've got to tell what we're going to do to our own people and the whites," Evers said. "Let the white people know we're going to run the towns right, not start all this racist stuff."

"Basically, in Mississippi, we're all in the same boat," he added. "A lot of whites are not any better off than we are. They just won't admit it."

CSI Security Officer Finds Students Give 'Very Little Trouble' On Traffic Laws

Lee Talkington is judge and jury when it comes to traffic violations on the CSI campus, "but so far," he said, "no one has appealed a case."

Mr. Talkington was appointed security officer on the junior college campus several months ago, and brings many years of law enforcement experience to the position. At the time he accepted the position he was on the Twin Falls Police detective department.

"We've set up some very basic traffic rules here," Mr. Talkington said, "but so far, we've had very little trouble."

"It's kind of a case of closing the barn door before the cows get out," he said.

"I think we'll see more trouble on campus when dormitories are constructed. College kids are just like anyone else—when they're sitting around with extra time, they have time to think of more devilmint," he said.

"On the whole, the students, instructors and everyone else on campus are exceptionally nice people," Mr. Talkington said.

Thus now in force on campus are basic, he said. No cars are to be parked on sidewalks, each student, instructor or other person officially involved with CSI must have a school decal in his car window, and the speed limit on campus is 15 miles per hour.

The school decals are registered with Mr. Talkington's office.

The only preferential parking allowed on campus, either for students or instructors, are for handicapped people. Several parking slots are reserved in parking areas closest to classroom buildings for those people.

No cars are to be parked on roadways, Mr. Talkington said, and the campus is now in the process of being signed to that effect.

Improper parking violators are assessed a $1 fine by Mr. Talkington, and those improperly parking in zones reserved for the handicapped are fined $2. Handicapped students have special decals affixed to their car windows.

First offense on speeding is an automatic $5 fine. After the second offense, violators "come under disciplinary action by the school."

In the event offenders do not pay traffic violation fines, grade transcripts will not be available until payment is made.

Members of the law enforcement class at the college vocational school assist Mr. Talkington with enforcement duties. The vocational buildings on Kimberly Road are under Mr. Talkington's jurisdiction. Members of the law enforcement class patrol those buildings as well as the campus at night.

A major reason for the lack of enforcement problems on campus, Mr. Talkington said, is that the campus is well engineered.

He cites adequate parking, curved roadways and bright lighting as main advantages on campus.

No cases of breaking and entering, of cars in the parking area, nor any cases of vandalism to buildings or grounds have been reported, he said.

Eastern Fire Started By Train Spark

SOMERSET, Pa. (UPI)—More than 150 volunteers and forest fire rangers Sunday night attempted to control a raging forest fire west of Wellersburg, Somerset County.

A spokesman for the Wellersburg Fire Department said the blaze had burned over 1,000 acres of timberland by 9 p.m. Sunday.

The spokesman said the fire was touched off by a spark from a train about three miles west of Wellersburg Saturday morning.

Officials said they were having trouble containing the fire because the area was inaccessible.

The burned timberland was located on Mount Savage just north of the Maryland state line. Thus far, the fire has not threatened any towns or homes officials said.

Fire officials said five hoses were being used to make firebrakes in an effort to halt the spread of the flames. Helicopters also were being used to pinpoint the fire and aid ground units.

A helicopter crashed Saturday while aiding ground personnel but the pilot was not injured.

Forestry officials from Maryland sent highly trained crews to aid in controlling the blaze.

BURLEY — Janis Pearson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Pearson, Burley, became the bride of Steven W. McMillon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Warren McMillon, Rupert, in an evening ceremony April 4 at the Burley Presbyterian Church.

Rev. John Pickrel performed the double ring ceremony before an altar flanked by baskets of pink and white carnations.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of moire, fashioned with ruffles at the neckline and tapering to a low V-shape in the back. The empire-styled gown, made by the bride, was tied with white satin ribbon in the back. Ruffles were featured at the neckline of the gown.

Her shoulder-length veil of illusion was held by a hand of flowers fashioned with seed pearls.

She carried a colonial bouquet of white carnations centered with baby pink roses.

The bride's sister, Janet Pearson, was maid of honor. Billy Bacon, friend of the bridegroom, served as best man, with Rod Ruddle and Allen Peterson as ushers.

Guests were registered by Sherill Scott, friend of the bride, at the entrance of the church, sitting at a round table covered with white lace over pink.

DEAR ABBY: My brother, Mike, is a 42-year-old police officer. He's very good looking and successful. I, and several others in my family, have tried to fix him up with nice girls, but we have never been able to please his taste of her.

Well, Mike came to "Big Sis" with a problem. It seems that about a year ago Mike was called to a home on an afternoon suicide. He said he fell in love with the girl the moment he laid eyes on her — she looked so helpless and in need of someone to take care of her.

He checked her out and learned that she wasn't married to the man she was living with. He's married to somebody else. He has beaten her senseless several times, and has a record from New York to California.

Mike insists he loves this girl, but he can't get her to shake this other guy. Is there some way I can break the spell she has over my brother?

BIG SIS

DEAR ABBY: What, for love cakes, is that thing some people have against junk mail? WHO does junk mail hurt? No the receiver—if he doesn't want to look at it surely he has a garbage can. How much effort does that take? Not the postman, he's paid to deliver mail. Take away the junk mail and he might not have a job.

As for the much touted subsidies for junk mail—well, there are more fields WITH subsidies than those without: farming, mineral depletions, etc. Besides, you should see the work that must be done by junk mailers before the post office will accept it. It must be sorted and bundled by zip code, labeled and sacked properly. All this costs time and money.

Junk mail makes it possible for the little business to live. Not everyone can afford real lawyers before the post office will send them their bills. Forgetting, the item offered can sell for a lot less, which benefits the buyer.

I would much rather have a mail order circular in my mail box than a telephone solicitation, or a salesman ringing my door.

Junk mail provides jobs in the paper industry, the printing industry as well as postal jobs. Some people can't see beyond their own selfish noses.

DEAR FOR: Thanks for pointing out the other side of the coin. We can all learn. And I'm still learning.

DEAR ABBY: Buck and I have been married nearly three years. It's the second time around for both of us, but we almost never talk about our previous marriages, which is fine. (We're both divorced.)

When we were first married, I came across some pictures of my ex-wife. I suggested he send these back to her, but he said, no, he'd just "toss" them out. A few months later I found these in a great picture in his sweater drawer! Again I spoke to him about disposing of them, and he said he would. Well, I came across them again in a suitcase I was about to pack for him.

To top it off, Buck's first wedding ring had been found in his "junk drawer." Now he's trans-

Boston Notches 111-105 Win In NBA Finals To Trim Los Angeles Edge

BOSTON (UPI)—The Boston Celtics had to fight back Sunday after blowing leads of up to 18 points to score a 111-105 win over Los Angeles and chop the Laker championship lead to 2-1. Celtic captain John Havlicek and reserve guard Larry Siegfried rallied their team after the Lakers staged a red-hot quarter that wiped out what had been Boston domination in the first half.

Los Angeles, with Jerry West, Mel Counts and Elgin Baylor showing the way, exploited for 38 third quarter points converting what had been a 17 point Celtic lead to a flat tie after three periods.

But Havlicek, who led Boston scorers with 34 points in the nationally televised game, repeatedly brought a Garden crowd of 14,037 to its feet in standing ovations as he fired a Celtic comeback that built the lead to 14 points in the heavy going of the fourth quarter.

Siegfried netted 28 points, while West scored 34 in the two Laker victories in Los Angeles had 24.

The Celtics, who have never successfully overcame a 2-0 playoff deficit in their long playoff domination, were cutting the Laker lead to 2-1 pending a fourth game in the title series at Boston Garden Tuesday night. The Celtic victory also assured a fifth game would be needed on Thursday night.

The Lakers attempted a second comeback in the game when they slashed Celtic leads of up to 14 points in the fourth period back to four in the waning moments. A Havlicek jump shot and a pair of free throws by the Boston swingman took the pressure off.

The Celtics needed just under six minutes of the fourth quarter to settle the issue, racing from a 78-85 deficit to 85-81 lead in which Siegfried collected six.

Havlicek had four, Bill Russell contributed three and Sam Jones got four.

The Celtics took immediate charge in the game romping to a 112 lead and appeared headed for a runaway victory. They were on top 26-16 at the quarter, and 57-40 at the half before West with 9, Counts with 8, and Baylor with 7 fired the big Laker comeback.

Wilt Chamberlain, who collected 16 points, and Russell, had a brief but vehement disagreement in the second quarter and momentarily appeared headed for fistfights, the scramble which did not produce a personal foul call ended when Russell slammed a spectacular dunk shot through the hoop and the big men regained their composure.

Montreal Takes 3-1 NHL Finals Victory

MONTREAL (UPI)—Dick Duff and Bobby Rousseau repeatedly brought a Garden crowd of 14,037 to its feet in standing ovations as he fired a Celtic comeback that built the lead to 14 points in the heavy going of the fourth quarter.

Siegfried netted 28 points, while West scored 34 in the two Laker victories in Los Angeles had 24.

Top Knight, Dike Work Out For Derby Showdown With Majestic Prince

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI)—Top Knight and Dike, two top contenders for next Saturday's running of the Kentucky Derby, worked out impressively at Churchill Downs Sunday in preparation for what shapes up as one of the best renewals of the classic in years.

Majestic Prince, favorite for the 95th edition of America's premier racing classic, rested after Saturday's easy victory in the Stepping Stone purse while Arts and Letters, last of the "Big Four" merely walked under the shed.

With Johnny Weir, a 140-pound exercise boy in the saddle, Top Knight went 1-18 miles in 1:52 3/5 and then galloped an additional eighth of a mile to complete the full Kentucky Derby distance of 1 1/4 miles in 2:06 1/5.

"We'll have no excuses," said trainer Ray McEntaff as the Flamingo Stakes and Florida Derby winner cooled out after the workout, adding, "Its going to be some horse race."

Dike a big rugged chestnut colt as is Majestic Prince, was sent seven furlongs by trainer Lucien Laurin. Jockey Eric Guerin was up. Dike, whose powerful stretch run has carried him to three straight victories including a triumph in the Wood Memorial the last time out, finished seven-eighths in 1:26 and went on an additional eighth to complete a mile in 1:40.

Johnny Longden, trainer of Majestic Prince, said the Santa Anita Derby winner came out of the Stepping Stone fine. "I hope the track suits the same for next Saturday."

Longden watched Dike work out from the clocker's stand and left murmuring "Well, that makes things awful interesting."

Elliott Burch, trainer of Arts and Letters, also watched Dike's training move. His saddle colt was coming up to the race line and was pleased with the way Arts and Letters won the Blue Grass Stakes last Thursday by 15 lengths.

"But what a year to come here with a good horse," he said. Between seven and 10 3-year olds are expected to start in the Kentucky Derby but the actual field will not be settled until after Tuesday's running of the Derby Trial.

Art Ack was expected to lead a field of about six to the post in the final test for possible starters.

Fast Hillario was declared favorite for the Kentucky Derby Sunday by trainer Joe Bolger. "We tried Top Knight and Arts and Letters in Florida and both of them knocked us down but we tried Majestic Prince in the Stepping Stone and got knocked down again. How many times does a fellow have to get knocked down before he learns something. There are too many

Bando Has Seven RBIs As A's Win

SEATTLE, Wash. (UPI)—Sal Bando drove in seven runs with a pair of homers and a single Sunday to pace the Oakland A's to a 5-3 win over the Seattle Pilots.

Bando belted a three-run homer in the first and his three-run blast highlighted a five-run sixth inning for the A's. The husky third baseman also singled home two runs with the bases loaded in the eighth to cap his biggest day in the majors.

Danny Cater and Rick Monday each drove in three runs in Oakland's 14th attack. The Oakland rookie Rolfe Fingers shut out the Pilots on three innings over the first seven innings. But the 23-year-old pitcher was ejected in the eighth when Don Mincher touched him for a two-run homer.

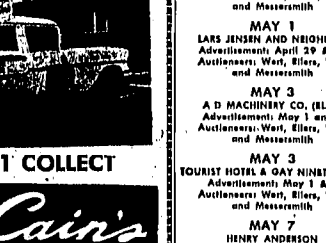

Low Krauss took over for Fingers in the ninth when the Pilots rallied for three runs. Mike Hegan hit a two-run single and Tommy Davis doubled before Krauss struck out Mincher and got Rich Rollins to ground out.

JIM AND OSWALD DIFFER ON PLAY

Jim: "Here is a hand that should be played backwards in a rubber game."

Oswald: "It should start forward. South should play dummy's 10 of spades at trick one. It holds and a quick count tells South he must make two club tricks to bring home his contract."

Jim: "When this hand was played, South was a pretty good player. He had no problem at trick two. He simply led a heart to his hand, played his 10 of clubs and let it ride. East was in with his queen and returned a spade. Eventually West made his ace of clubs and three spade tricks and the contract was down one."

Oswald: "I see what you mean. South played the hand straight-forward all the way. If West held the queen of clubs, South would make four-odd. As it was, he complained about bad luck."

Jim: "If South had played the hand backwards, he would almost surely have made his contract. If he had led the 10 of clubs from dummy at trick two, there is little chance East would rise with the queen. West would take his ace and be unable to set up his spade suit and South would score game and rubber."

Oswald: "The backwards play would have worked today but I am afraid I would have played the hand just as South did. There are four combinations of the ace and queen of clubs. West can hold both. East both. West the queen and East the ace and vice-versa.

"If West holds both, the backwards play checks the contract out the window. If East holds both, each line will succeed. In the actual lineup the backwards play wins, reverse the lineup and both plays win but the backwards play makes one trick less. Finally, if West holds the singleton ace and East the queen, both plays come to the same happy ending."

Water Gushes As Firemen Battle Blaze

A broken water line at the scene of a fire Saturday caused as much interest as the blaze.

Two trucks, responding to the fire call behind Heritage Manor in Twin Falls, drove over the buried water line, rupturing the pipe. Water continued to gush from the line as firemen fought the blaze in a small garage at the rear of the lot.

A second fire which flared out of control was listed as the cause of the fire. The fire trucks left the lot by rear entrance and the water line was turned off, but only after a portion of the Heritage Manor parking area was under about three inches of water. The vacant garage is owned by Dr. Harold Drake.

Mental Health Problems Discussed At T. F. Meet

A special training session in Twin Falls on mental health facilities and problems in South Central Idaho was attended by interested citizens, county commissioners, public health nurses, school teachers, probate judges and law enforcement officers.

The two-day session concluded Friday afternoon with group discussions. During this session child and adult patients were interviewed and explained their problems to mental health workers.

The patients were interviewed by Dr. Kenneth Briggs, Twin Falls; Dr. Myrick Pullen, Boise; Dr. Fred Kolouch and Dr. Herbert Fowler, both Salt Lake City, and Dr. Richard Lake, psychologist from State Hospital, South.

The patients were brought to the meeting by public health nurses, to participate in the special presentation, said Don Bybee, chief of health education and training.

The 80 people attending learned of resources available in the area for the treatment and care of the mentally ill.

There is a mental health unit in Blaine County, a child development center soon to be constructed in Twin Falls, and public health nurses, clergymen, courts and police services available to residents in the eight south central counties, Mr. Bybee said.

Dr. Pullen said the law does provide that local citizens must show an interest in getting mental health services before they can ask the state to start a mental health program. He said "it is essential in the treatment of the mentally ill that they be treated in a local mental health center near their home."

It was the first course of its kind to be held in the state, said Dr. Luther Thompson, director of the health district.

But, Mr. Bybee said, it was learned much is lacking in mental health services in the area. He said seven of the counties lack mental health services and seven counties do not have funds available for mental health development.

Mr. Bybee said public indifference and apathy, added to

Glenns Ferry Will Elect 3 Trustees

GLENN'S FERRY — Three trustees will be elected in Glenns Ferry Joint School District 192 on May 6. Patrons also will vote on a three mill plant facilities levy.

Funds from this levy, if approved by the voters, will be used to purchase a school bus for the district and for improvement of playgrounds and parking areas.

Unopposed candidates are Goldie Henley, for the Rye Grass zone; Dick King, Glenns Ferry zone, and Bud Allen in the King Hill zone. Mr. Allen is serving out the unexpired term of George Peter.

Polls will be open from 1 to 6 p.m. in the Blackwell ranch, Glenns Ferry high school and King Hill Grange hall.

The lack of trained mental health workers, such as psychologists, psychiatrists and nurses, are among factors listed for the apparent shortage of mental health facilities.

Municipal Group Meets In Burley

BURLEY — "Cities which depend only on revenue from taxes are in real trouble," Ed Zimmerman, Boise, secretary of the Association of Idaho Cities, told 100 municipal officials here this week.

Addressing a dinner meeting at the Ponderosa Inn convention hall on legislation passed by the last legislature, Mr. Zimmerman said Senate Bill 304 does away with the mill levy and figures are instead presented in dollars and cents.

"This will allow only four per cent increase, and is fine for cities which are standing still or not growing, but cities which are growing are cut out of money to start," the speaker said. The bill was signed by Gov. Don Samuelson.

Harold Hirst, Heyburn mayor, was master of ceremonies for the meeting of district 4, which includes all cities in Magic Valley.

Councilmen, mayors, city managers and city attorneys and their wives attended.

Boise Motel Is Robbed By Bandit

BOISE (UPI) — A bandit with a pock-marked face took $657 at gunpoint from the Downtown Motel early Sunday.

Clerk Dorothy Kenley said the man flashed a "small revolver" and told her to give him "all your money." When she asked if he were joking, he said:

"No, give me all your money. All I want are the bills."

After obtaining the cash, the robber told the woman to lie on the floor. Then he left the motel.

A witness described the suspect as about six feet tall, weighing 165 to 175 pounds, having a slender build, dark eyes, sandy brown hair and a pock-marked face.

Researcher Proves Nicotine Causes Changes In Hormones

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UPI)—A St. Louis University heart researcher reports that his research team has proved, through animal experimentation, chronic smokers not only are psychologically dependent on cigarettes but also have a genuine physiological need for nicotine.

Dr. B. D. Bhagat, associate professor of pharmacology and physiology, said these findings are the first concrete evidence of the bodily mechanism that impedes chronic smokers from kicking the habit. He also said the findings are the first proof that nicotine causes alteration in a main body hormone's pattern in the brain.

Bhagat said nicotine "injections" in the body, as in smoking, caused a sustained increase of production and utilization by the brain of the neurohormone—norepinephrine, which affects the nervous system.

The hormone, Bhagat said, is located in various regions of the body but its greatest significance is its presence and action in the brain's hypothalamus, which regulates man's behavioral changes.

Bhagat said previous researchers concentrated on nicotine's effects on the normal level of norepinephrine and found no definite changes. He said that "changes in the rate of production of norepinephrine levels, rather than changes in normal levels, are a correlate with nicotine-induced behavioral changes."

The body quickly adapts itself to even a light "dose" or "injection" of nicotine and immediately the brain starts producing and using more norepinephrine than it normally does, Bhagat said.

Bhagat said although his findings are based on experiments using dosages of nicotine comparable to that used by chronic smokers, the results are of significance to every smoker.

The only way out for a chronic smoker is use of other drugs to counteract the withdrawal symptoms, Bhagat said.

Just as any other "pop" drug might do, the mobilization of norepinephrine in the brain has been proved to cause emotional excitation, a rise in blood pressure, greater alertness, better ability to learn, aggression and hyperactivity, Bhagat said.

Bhagat said when a smoker tries to kick his habit, the production of norepinephrine decreases and the smoker feels depressed. Only another cigarette can alleviate the depression, he said.

The only way out for a chronic smoker is use of other drugs to counteract the withdrawal symptoms, Bhagat said.
