Prisoner's "Zip Gun" Explodes

A ball point pen fashioned into a zip gun exploded in the hand of a Twin Falls County jail inmate Wednesday evening. The incident has brought about a new era to jail security in Twin Falls.

Prisoners will be writing with pencils or pens with plastic barrels from now on, Sheriff Paul Corder said.

Arthur Benjamin Lujan's left hand is wrapped in bandages and pieces of the zip gun are still embedded in his palm. He was treated at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital right after the incident, then again Thursday morning.

"He's in quite a bit of pain," the sheriff said.

Lujan, 20, is being held on a charge of first degree burglary and as a deserter from the army.

It all started shortly after 8 p.m. Wednesday in the jail complex on the fourth floor of the county courthouse. Lujan took the metal barrel from a ball point pen and packed it full of sulphur from the heads of matches. The tiny ball part of the pen usually ejects, like the bullet from a rifle, when the sulphur is heated to the point where it will explode.

"The principal is the same in shotgun shells," Sheriff Corder said.

Use of this type of weapon, of the knowledge of how to make one is rare. Sheriff Corder said he'd heard of it years ago, "but I never thought about it here."

The sheriff said, "That weapon was made to shoot someone. It had no other purpose."

Deputy Tom Majors heard the explosion three floors below the jail.

"He was up in that jail like a shot," Sheriff Corder said. When Deputy Majors found Lujan screaming in pain, he called other deputies in from patrol and requested assistance from Twin Falls police.

It was not known then if prisoners might be attempting to break out of the jail complex.

Lujan was rushed to the hospital for other injuries. He was questioned. Soon, the jail was terminated secured.

AN EXPLOSION IN THE county jail Wednesday sent one inmate to the hospital. The cause? Sheriff Paul Corder struck through it here. A metal barrel from a ball point pen was packed with sulphur to make a zip gun. The gun backfired in the hand of Arthur B. Lujan, 20, being held on a first degree burglary charge and as an Army deserter. From now on, inmates will write with pencils or pens with plastic barrels, the sheriff said.

Allies Agree To Observe 24-Hour Truce On May 30

SAIGON (UPI) — President Nguyen Van Thieu's office announced tonight that South Vietnamese armed forces will observe a 24-hour truce May 30 in honor of the anniversary of Buddha's birth. A U.S. command spokesman said American forces would join in the ceasefire.

The announcement came less than 24 hours after a series of Communist terrorist attacks on Saigon's streets in an offensive that coincided with the 16th session of the Vietnam peace talks in Paris.

At least five persons died and 42 others suffered wounds in the Saigon terror spree. The Communist post office was caught, the building bursting with activity, killing four South Vietnamese civilians and wounding 19.

Three grenade attacks late Wednesday and early today against U.S. and South Vietnamese military trucks killed one civilian and wounded six American GIs, 15 civilians and three government soldiers. All the terrorists escaped on motorbikes.

It was the first time in almost six weeks that Communist terrorists have launched widespread attacks inside the capital. This time, it served to underscore the guerrillas' military ability to allied negotiators in Paris.

The renewal of attacks against South Vietnam's major cities included a six-round rocket attack early today into Hue, killing three Vietnamese civilians and wounding two military spokesmen said.

Not since March 15 had Communist gunners hit Hue, South Vietnam's third largest city. Today's attack was the first shelling of a major city since Da Nang was hit April 17.

Although the level of Communist shelling has tapered off, the level of combat increased along the Cambodian border last week as reflected today in figures released by the U.S. Command.

The figures showed 205 GIs slain and 1,293 wounded last week compared to 263 killed and 1,235 wounded in the lightest losses in four months during the previous seven days. It brought to 34,651 the number of Americans killed in Vietnam.

Open Mine Expected In White Clouds

POCATELLO, Idaho (UPI) — A spokesman for American Smelting & Refining Co. says a proposed molybdenum mine at the base of Castle Peak in the White Clouds Mountain Range would be an open pit operation.

Keith-Whiting, Spokane, the company's northwest exploration chief, told a news conference about 20,000 tons of ore could be mined daily if the mine becomes operational. But he said it would take seven years to make the mine operational.

While the company produces the chemical during mining in other operations in Arizona and Peru, Whiting said, the proposed White Clouds mine would be the first full-fledged molybdenum operation.

Before the company determines whether it wants to get into the mining business, it will build a road to the 708-acre claim because the firm must test large ore samples to determine commercial value of the ore. He said helicopters being used at present in exploration work there cannot lift the large ore samples needed.

More Water

HOLLISTER — The Salmon River Canal Co. board of directors has allotted additional water to Salmon Tract farmers.

The board allotted an additional 15 acre foot per share, bringing the total allotted to date to 45 acre foot per share. Morris Huffman, water-master, said the reservoir gate height reading shows 67,885 acre feet of water in the reservoir. The Salmon Falls Creek flow is 500 second feet.

Police Help Quell Campus Disorders

City College of New York reopened today with police guards to prevent a repetition of Wednesday's fights between white students and black and Puerto Rican students.

In Washington, D.C., Howard University students remained in control of six campus buildings. The administration of the mostly Negro school gave them a 24-hour ultimatum ending at mid-afternoon today to allow the barricaded campus to be reoccupied by police.

About 5,000 students from Indiana's four state-supported universities — Indiana, Purdue, Ball State and Indiana State — staged a peaceful demonstration outside the State House Wednesday to protest tuition hikes next fall. The students carried signs calling Gov. Edgar Whitcomb "an outside agitator" recalling the governor's blast against "outside agitators" on campus.

INSTRUCTOR KILLED — TAPEI (UPI) — A student reprimanded several times by his teacher for absenteeism behaved the instructor with an ax in the classroom.

Pilot Unhurt When Plane Crash-Lands

LAUDERT — Representatives of the Feeley Flying Service, Casper Wyo., arrived at the Everett Lauder farm southeast of Wendell, Wednesday night to tow a damaged plane into Twin Falls for repair.

The plane was crash landed in a field near here as the pilot buzzed his parent's home to let them know he was home on vacation.

Pilot Keith Lauder, former Wendell resident, was to have spent three days visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Lauder, southeast of Wendell. By prior arrangement, he was to have buzzed the house and then flown on to the Jerome Airport where his parents would pick him up.

However, as he flew over the Lauder farm Saturday, the four-passenger Cessna developed engine trouble and he casually figured the craft in a pasture.

The pilot's parents said the plane landed near a ditch bank, blew a tire and hit a gate, damaging the wings and tail.

Mr. Lauder was shaken up, but not injured, they said. Estimated damage to the airplane is between $2,000 and $3,000. Mr. Lauder returned by automobile Sunday to Casper, where he is employed by the Feeley Flying Service, owner of the damaged plane.

Mr. Lauder has previously been employed by Feeley Flying Service in Twin Falls and was a pilot in Vietnam.

Idaho Chiropractors Open Conclave Here

Idaho chiropractors began registering Thursday at the Holiday Inn for the 45th annual meeting of the Idaho Chiropractic Association. The convention will continue through Saturday.

Featured speaker for the meeting is Dr. Harold J. Kuefer. He began his series of lectures on athletic injuries, their diagnosis and treatment Thursday afternoon. Area centers were involved in a banquet Thursday evening to hear him speak.

Rare Edition Of 'Declaration' Nets $404,000

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — A rare first printing of the Declaration of Independence passed out on the streets of Philadelphia July 1776, has fetched $404,000 at an auction nearly 193 years later.

A Dallas, Tex., businessman, Ira G. Corn Jr., bought New York rare manuscript dealer J. P. Kraus at an auction Wednesday to purchase the document. It was printed by John Dunlap the night of July 1, 1776.

Corn described the document as "the single most valuable principle ever in the history of mankind. With the exception of the Bible."

The document was purchased for the stock of Henry's Bank. Since the highest bid in the auction, on Dec. 31 when the firm was sold.

Bids Called On Hailey Post Office

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Frank Church today announced the Post Office Department has invited bids for construction of a new postal facility at Hailey, Idaho.

Church said the new building to be located at the northwest corner of River and Crox Streets, will be constructed and owned by a private person, or company and then will be leased back to the federal government.

The Post Office Department hopes such facilities as a means of keeping postal installations on the local tax rolls. The new facility is to have a building of 3,750 square feet, a landing platform of 120 square feet and a parking area of 3,502 square feet.

The department will lease the building for an initial period of 10 years and will retain options to extend the term to 15-year periods.

Bids will be opened in Spokane, Wash., June 4, Church said.

Bucher Given Shore Post For One Year

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Cmdr. Lloyd M. Bucher, who expressed a desire to captain another ship during investigation of his surrender of the USS Pueblo, Wednesday was assigned to shore duty along with all but one of the spy vessel's crew.

Bucher was assigned to the Navy's graduate school at Monterey, Calif., for a year's study toward a masters degree in management.

The only sailor among the 82 surviving members of the 83-man crew to return to sea duty was Simolano Z. W. G. Leach of Houston, Tex., who will serve aboard the destroyer Haysworth.

A Navy spokesman, however, said it is customary to rotate men between shore and sea duty.

Big Wood River Starts Rising Again

HAILEY — Big Wood River has begun rising again after a week's fall following the previous crest on April 24.

On Thursday morning, the measuring device at Hailey showed a 12 feet, the highest so far this spring. This is two and one-half inches more than the April 24 reading.

The river has risen five inches from Wednesday's reading. Officials said after last week's cold weather, the water started rising again Tuesday.

Army Engineers have completed their work of reinforcing several sites along the river bank and have left the area.

Hoover Denies Rumors Of Retirement

WASHINGTON (UPI) — J. Edgar Hoover today emphatically squelched rumors he might resign as FBI director.

He said he looks forward to many more years in office and the "crisis" in American society.

The 74-year-old Hoover observes his 40th anniversary Saturday as director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. He declined requests for an interview but answered by press releases from United Press International.

"As May 10, 1909, rolls around, I view the future with optimism," he said. "I firmly believe that we will meet the challenges ahead — and I look forward to many years of the most exciting and most important work of my life."

He has not had a news conference since 1960 and has declined even to answer written questions since 1964.

Hoover stressed in his letter to UPI that he considers "violent attacks on law enforcement," have posed a crisis for our society.

He said he will continue to serve my country as long as I am able and as long as I have the confidence of the President and the American people will permit.

Money Jitters Jolt Europe; Marks Bought

LONDON (UPI) — A new wave of money jitters swept through European currency markets Wednesday. Speculators rushed to buy the West German mark in hopes it will soon go up in value.

As Bonn acted to cool the situation, the dollar, pound and franc in Frankfurt fell to the lowest level permitted under the International Monetary Fund rules. A Frankfurt banker called it "the worst day yet."

In London's money market, the "rush" to buy marks drove the pound to $2.3317, down from Wednesday's closing of $2.3337. The Bank of England was forced to spend more of its reserve treasure to prop up the currency. The pound is officially worth $2.40.

In Frankfurt, the West German central bank—Bundesbank—bought up about $200 million to quiet the market. For the first time in its history it also refused to exchange dollars with commercial banks which offered it marks.

The new flurry of pressure on currencies began when Gen. Charles de Gaulle resigned in Paris a French franc devaluation accompanied by an early up-valuation of the booming German mark.

Filer Girl To Be Soloist At ISU Concert

FILER — Laura Vincent, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Vincent, Filer, will be guest soloist at the annual Idaho State Civic Symphony concert at 8:15 p.m. May 11.

The annual youth concert, the first one of the year, will be at Coranson Hall on the Idaho State University campus.

Miss Vincent, a student of Mrs. Teala Bellini, Twin Falls, will play the first movement of "Coronation Concerto in F Major" by Mozart.

Miss Vincent has received many honors for her piano playing. She was selected to appear in the youth concert by an audition at Idaho State University in January.

Teacher Hired

FILER — Sharon Kirch, Cullman, Ala., has accepted a contract to teach grades three, four and five at the Clover Lutheran School. She will arrive in time for the school term this fall.

Adele Hoffman will teach first- and second-grades and William Ruppert, principal, will teach grades six, seven and eight.

THE SPIRIT OF readers theater is shown here by Jim Brennan, College of Southern Idaho student. The junior college is offering a summer workshop in readers theater, which begins June 2. Mrs. Fran Tanner and H. Paul Kliss will instruct.

CSI To Sponsor Summer Readers Theater Workshop

The College of Southern Idaho will sponsor a readers theater workshop this summer for both students and adults, according to Mrs. Fran Tanner, instructor.

H. Paul Kliss also will instruct at the workshop which begins June 2. The session will conclude June 13, Mrs. Tanner said.

Classes will be from 9 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. Monday through Friday at the CSI Fine Arts Center. The course carries two hours of credit, Mrs. Tanner said.

Those attending will learn the essence of readers theater, voice and body applications, how to choose and compile material for scripts, and how to characterize their parts.

Mrs. Tanner said a free public performance may be offered at the end of the course.

Those interested in taking the summer workshop should call 733-8554, extension 22.

Any interested student must have 30 class hours and six hours of driving experience and the time they spend "observing" others drive.

Any interested student 14 years of age, or older, who has not taken driver's training may enroll.

Iron Horses

Americans, as we are so fond of telling ourselves, are literally a people on the go. Ours is the most mobile civilization history has yet seen. Long past are the days when the average citizen could expect his life story to be played out within a few miles of his place of birth...

with a grand total of $4.3 million for a all projects included in research and development programs concentrating on high-speed intercity ground transportation.

The estimates come from an organization with an eye to grid the Association of American Railroads. For years the railroads have been complaining of getting the short end of the stick in competition for the public dollar with newer forms of transportation.

But in the process, we have come perilously close to losing the railroad as an effective component of the national transportation system. Our unequal network has become an unbalanced one.

If Americans want to remain on the go, rather than increasingly bogged down at jammed airports and on clogged freeways, we must be wary of putting too many of our subsidy eggs in too few baskets.

WASHINGTON (NEA) — "Poison gas in World War, I was so violent" a weapon it has not been used since except by Egyptians experimenting with Soviet-made bombs in Yemen. Nuclear weapons have not been used in the 24 years since Hiroshima and Nagasaki. No power wanted to chance sparking an atomic war. The same destructiveness which makes nations reluctant "nukes" makes it necessary for the great powers to build their major defenses around these systems, tying up a hefty share of their strength in normally "usable" weapons. Atomic warheads have in many instances, lost their "credibility" as a threat. This destructive power has been created among many people in the major developed nations a stronger revision to all kinds of war than has been apparent in the past. These signs have been particularly marked in Japan, the United States, Britain, France and West Germany. There is some reason to believe that this same revision has a grown amongst those nations on the other side of the Iron Curtain.

This nuclear destructiveness combined with war revision has created a new kind of imbalance. A week's nuke with three or four million firing submarines may soon be able to practice nuclear blackmail on the major powers.

Some countries, such as Ghana or North Korea, can defy the stronger nations—even to capturing their ships or shooting down their planes. To date, neither Moscow nor Washington has found a solution.

As a corollary, it has become much more difficult for major powers, even acting in concert, to prevent smaller aggressive nations from preying on their weaker neighbors.

Nations which have mastered the art of underground subversion are in an especially good position to wreak havoc on their weaker neighbors. In a sense, especially difficult to bring their restraining power into effective play.

As a result of the nuclear-caused polarization around two superpowers, small nations now can more effectively play one power against the other, threatening to switch to the "other side" if they don't receive the arms, credits and political backing they desire. This encourages an increased degree of small-national political and military irresponsibility. The small nation knows very well that it acquires quite irrationally its sponsor may not care cut off aid and other backing.

The type of violence typified by assassinations, sabotage, kidnappings, arson and a hands et bombing is gaining in importance in international aggression. By these means, small units of determined, violent men can produce very great effects indeed.

But there's another side to the coin. The fear of nuclear havoc is producing strong political strains—especially among nations in the growing cost of creating and constantly updating mammoth nuclear forces on top of conventional forces.

These strains could lead the Soviet Union and the United States eventually to reach some accommodation on arms control.

The Shape Of The New Order

ITHACA, N.Y. — Well before Cornell University's administration bowed to armed black militants, the shape of the coming New Order here had become frighteningly clear.

Militant black students were showing up for classes they had not registered in, taking seats in the rear, and carefully jotting down the professor's words. The message to the faculty members: my remark is a threat.

Furthermore, such intrusions on academic freedom have been tolerated by President James A. Perkins. In an interview here, Perkins described to us a conflict between "social justice" and "academic freedom," adding that he was "a mugwump" straddling the two positions.

Thus, in the Perkins administration last week capitulated to black demands at the point, the minority of professors dedicated to academic freedom—most of them in the government and history departments—determined they had no place in Cornell's New Order. They reasoned that the black militants always could force the administration to surrender when classroom content was at issue.

Even more disturbing to them is the feeling that Cornell is no isolated catastrophe. The professors fleeing from here are haunted by the fear that the tradition of academic freedom may be "lost" in America and that Cornell is at the outside of that calamity.

Certainly, Cornell is about to undergo drastic change. The professors who have resigned or are about to do so are among the best and brightest in the nation. They are scholars and teachers (such as government professor W. A. B. Berra, winner of this year's teaching award). These students on both graduate and undergraduate levels who were attracted here by such teachers as Berra will be the backbone of the next term. Moreover, with the notoriety it has now achieved, Cornell will henceforth be vastly more attractive to the student population than to the serious student.

Now does this seem repugnant to either the administration or a majority of the faculty. Perkins is actively supporting the self-proclaimed "constitutional convention" of faculty and students which began meeting in Brod Hall after the bloodless black insurrection. This effort to "restructure" the university is aimed at a New Order which students help decide what is taught, and how it is taught. It is no wonder, then, that an estimated 90 per cent of the student body, long and freed from non-academic discipline, rejoice in the disintegration of established authority. More surprising was the corresponding faculty within a majority of the faculty. Catching the spirit of the times, English and anthropology professors have reformed themselves from "departsments" to "communes."

But the radicalization of Cornell was underway at least a year ago when the university administration implicitly supported the right of students to censor classroom teachings. When black militants resorted to force over the lectures of an economics professor, Dean Stuart M. Brown, Jr. condoned their protests and condemned the professor's claims of superiority for Western civilizations as "a special and specially obvious case of the racism which runs through the entire white community."

Simultaneous with this limitation on academic freedom, the professor's claims of superiority over traditional standards in accreditation of radical-oriented courses—promoting a course now being sought for credit in black ideology.

In so doing, it conveniently disregarded its content, largely Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee (SNCC) and Black Panther propaganda, and its instructor, SNCC militant Wevveland Sellers who has no college degree or other academic qualifications.

Indeed, the Afro-American Center in health classes here next term will be a similar role in the New Order. Cornell with black students helping to decide which instructors and courses are to be included or excluded. Cornell's white and black radicals envision this as a new academic discipline.

Among that splinter of faculty members hoarse over the revolution here, there are three who are not. They are the tragic events, far from the death of liberal education nationally; the contrast feel Cornell is dead but hope persists elsewhere; the optimists: a very few of them — are staying in hopes that Cornell will yet come to its senses. But even those optimists are certain that Cornell's resurrection depends upon the fate of racism.

What the hell are you doing? asks the man who organized the 1963 March on Washington, and who glories in the label of radical. "In the real world, no one gives a damn if you've taken soul courses. They want to know if you can do mathematics and write a correct sentence.

Because he is as pragmatic as he is black, Rustin also has the guts to tell black officials to stop capitulating to the stupid demands of Negro students, and instead get moving on remedial training.

This is putting it in the neatest nutshell yet. Like a majority of the nation's blacks, Rustin favors only—and simply—the law in the community. And, like the child who buried out that the king was wearing no clothes, he dares to declare that Negro militants are looking for an easy way out of their problems by demanding separate dormitories and study programs.

Rustin is saying, in effect, that eating soul food as childlike and learning Swahili will not get you a job, while the white assistance of a private, a bookkeeper for a black auto dealer.

Rustin also keeps his reputation as an intellectual intact by putting his finger on one of the principal causes of student unrest: the white professors for "revolution by proxy" using black students as their tools.

Lately, the public has been offered just that picture — of white "liberals" professors sitting in their comfortable and well-insulated studies plotting revolution. They are the ones who, as a result of the creation of the Nathan Pusey for calling the cops to restore order, and who

Sterilization

Dear Dr. Thosteson: For personal reasons it is necessary that my wife not become pregnant. Several days ago, I had a vasectomy. I was told that tubes were each severed and each end was tied off - our ends being tied.

Now it has come to my attention that this operation is not always a sure thing and meaning having the operation have fathered children much to my surprise. Please discuss.

The doctor who said that samples from the vas were saved and on file. Why was this done? A.N.T.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Please explain the significance of fluid in the lungs. I have had heart attacks in 20-some years. Will this condition help, and is it considered serious? The doctor said that fluid occurs after a heart attack but not necessarily. — H. H. A.

There are two major types of fluid in the lungs. One is fluid in the pleural space or outside the lungs. The other is fluid accumulated in the lung tissue proper.

Either or both can occur. For one reason or another, the heart is not up to par. In the case of fluid in the pleural space, other possible causes are fluid retention by the liver or the lining of the pleura from such conditions as tuberculosis, pneumonia, or tumor.

Any fluid in the lungs causes heart disease, if heart action is sluggish or inefficient, the rate at which blood flows is reduced.

With this less brisk flow, congestion occurs. You might describe it as similar to the congestion, or slowing up, that happens when a car is stuck on a heavily-traveled highway. In such circumstances, some of the fluid exudes from the blood vessels, and instead of being briskly carried back to the heart for oxygenation and recirculation, this fluid seeps into the surrounding tissues.

Whether this condition continues indefinitely depends on the strength of heart action, and whether it can be sufficiently improved.

Whether you call it "serious" depends on the degree of it. But in any case it is undesirable. This is because it interferes with proper distribution of oxygen in the body, and hence difficulty in breathing. If you have had three heart attacks, or even just one, there has been some damage to the heart. Therefore, steps should be taken to correct the situation as effectively as possible.

You want to increase heart efficiency for its own sake — which is a laudable aim — but you also want to get rid of the fluid because its presence puts added strain on the heart.

There are the usual — and usually effective — treatment will involve two methods. Digitally used to increase the efficiency of the heart, and diuretic drugs are given to help the body release these trapped fluids.

As I said, this accumulation of fluid in the lungs after heart attacks, but not after all the amount of interference caused by a heart attack will vary.

Besides this "reservoir" effect involving the sperm, there also can (rarely, but sometimes) occur what is known as recanalization. This means that the tubes were each severed and each end was tied off - our ends being tied.

Now it has come to my attention that this operation is not always a sure thing and meaning having the operation have fathered children much to my surprise. Please discuss.

Nixon And Students

When Congress last summer directed that federal loans and grants be withdrawn from students who participate in disruptive disturbances on college campuses, it was reacting to strong public feeling against disorders in which, generally, a relative few interfere with the education of the many.

The feeling was that the taxpayers at least should not subsidize force, and the feeling was understandable. There's been no letup in disorder, and none in public resentment. Yet the inadequacy of canceling federal aid was apparent from the start: One of the conditions is that a student be convicted first of a crime in connection with disruption, and few college authorities have pressed charges.

The law, for the most part, leaves enforcement to college administrators, and now President Nixon has issued a statement endorsing this principle. But he also puts it up to the administrators to stem the "physical violence, physical intimidation" that are menacing intellectual freedom.

A significant portion of his statement points to a weapon that has been obvious from the outset. "From time immemorial," he said, "expulsion has been the primary instrument of university discipline. Those who would not abide by the rules... have simply been required to leave."

College authorities have never lacked this power and application of it not only would automatically cut off financial assistance but also reach students who do not get such help.

MR. SPECTATOR

Those Men From Mars

You oldsters will remember the stalling—sort of—books—written years ago by Edgar Rice Burroughs. Among the various titles titles was one "Men of Mars."

Remember how it stirred the imagination as you read about that strange planet? Well, lots of the things that Edgar wrote about — and which were taken as fiction even though they seemed so real — might be proved to be so. Why? Because of another project of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

This project will find out a lot of things about that strange planet. For instance — just how cold is Mars? Is it only half as warm as Earth? Are its poles capped with frozen water or frozen carbon dioxide?

The infrared radiometers aboard both of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's Mariner 69 spacecraft should produce important answers. The small, delicate instruments, coordinating with the TV cameras, will measure thermal radiation. We will know the heat of the Martian surface from the South Pole to a point well north of the Equator, and on the night side of the planet.

A principal goal of the IRR is to determine whether the Martian south-pole cap is frozen carbon dioxide or frozen water. If, as seems indicated by some previous studies, it is carbon dioxide, the mass would be dry ice, about minus 200 degrees F., or colder.

However, polar temperature of minus 170 degrees or warmer would imply water ice is present.

Thirty 60-spacecraft are scheduled to fly by Mars on July 31 and Aug. 6 at a nearest approach altitude of 2,000 miles. In 1964 the closest distance was 6,100 miles. The Mariner spacecraft were built by the Jet Propulsion Laboratory at Pasadena.

The sensitive radiometer is borrowed with the TV camera to synchronize surface temperature readings, with areas shown in each picture as the spacecraft sweeps past Mars. The IRR will operate in "real time," taking temperatures and transmitting them to Earth immediately.

The radiometer weighs only 7.5 pounds, measures 3x6x9 inches overall, and requires but three watts of power. Yet here is what it does:

Using miniature, twin-channel telescopes, the instrument will receive and measure the intensity of the radiation emitted by the Martian surface. All matter radiates energy, the amount varying with temperature and wavelength.

The light energy is reflected by a mirror through lens and filter arrays in each channel. The filters stop all but selected wavelengths of infrared light. The desired wavelengths are between 8 and 12 microns in one channel, and 18 to 25 microns in the other. (A micron is 1/1,000th of a millimeter, or 1/25,000th of an inch.)

The lenses focus the desired rays onto detectors, which are thermopiles made of antimony-bismuth. The detectors convert the energy into voltages and send them to an electronics unit. This equipment, in turn, translates the voltages into pulses for radio transmission to JPL monitoring stations on Earth.

The radiometer will start taking temperatures on Mars' sunlight side within three days of each spacecraft's encounter with the planet. Measurements will cover virtually the entire visible surface of the planet.

So there you have it. Who knows who will finally come to the "planet" Mr. Burroughs might not have been the fiction writer we all thought he was those years ago. He might have been a few years before his time.

And then, too, something else might happen. Man might learn more than he should — and what then?

ANDREW TULLY

On Soul Courses

WASHINGTON — Bayard Rustin, the tough-minded Negro civil rights strategist who was waging battles for his race when the current creep generation was in-was dissenting, expressed the point once again in his commentary on student unrest and black "educational" demands.

What the hell are you doing? asks the man who organized the 1963 March on Washington, and who glories in the label of radical. "In the real world, no one gives a damn if you've taken soul courses. They want to know if you can do mathematics and write a correct sentence.

Because he is as pragmatic as he is black, Rustin also has the guts to tell black officials to stop capitulating to the stupid demands of Negro students, and instead get moving on remedial training.

Rustin is saying, in effect, that eating soul food as childlike and learning Swahili will not get you a job, while the white assistance of a private, a bookkeeper for a black auto dealer.

pushed Cornell University into its disgraceful capitulation to a tiny minority of black students.

These tweedy, pipe-smoking, dry-martini hippies have had it both ways for a long time. The average full professor makes— if he's a tenured one—$17,500 a nine-month year. They are members of a special privileged class, who moonlight on the side, and can earn other extra dough on research projects and as "consultants" to government and business.

They reap, but they don't sow a high school teachers. But a screwing into the classroom to impart their wisdom to students who are not paying through the nose for their services. They screw about the establishment, but under cover of cap and gown they are willingly subservient to Washington and Madison Avenue — for a price.

In fact, the violently dissenting students are for the most part a reflection of their college days and study programs.

Harvard's Pusey argues a private, gun-toting Army, "reason and civility," and decries the "disruption, and the oppression, have no place... on this campus or elsewhere." He cries out in all wildernesses for "creative men who all among their creature comforts and tell their students that today's freedom is the freedom to be free at the expense of nobody else's rights and liberties.

It is a gospel, as Bayard Rustin has noted, that not only is educational equality deprived the right to learn.

Indians To 'Ambush' Diesel Train

LARAMIE, Wyo. (UPI)—The "Sheep-Eater" Indians of Cody, Wyo., are to attack a train pulled by the world's largest diesel engine as it pulls off "ambushes" by Glenn Campbell and John Wayne here Thursday.

Honest. That's the way the script reads.

The train is the "Golden Spike" train heading towards Promontory Point, Utah, for ceremonies Saturday commemorating the 100th anniversary of the linking of the Transcontinental Railway.

Thursday's skirmish here was planned to give a touch of the Old West to the trip. Times and equipment have changed, but the action is to remain the same.

As the special train pulls into the Laramie station, the Indians in full war paint and ceremonial costumes are to block the tracks and force the huge ceremonial diesel, not into service this year by the Union Pacific Railroad, to pull to a halt.

The attackers will then remove movie actor John Wayne and singing television star

Glenn Campbell from the train. A brief tussle is anticipated, but the overwhelming number of Indians is expected to quickly subdue the "palefaces" and a victory dance is scheduled—if all goes according to plan.

The train will continue towards the Golden Spike Centennial in Utah.

The attack was planned by Winchester-Western, makers of a special centennial rifle that will be presented to Wayne and Campbell at the conclusion of the "unscheduled" Laramie stop.

Profits Expected By Rails

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI)—Thomas M. Goodfellow, President of the Association of American Railroads, said Wednesday night that railroads can expect a glorious future.

Goodfellow, who is also chairman of the Golden Spike Centennial Commission, told a banquet session of the Golden Spike Symposium here, "Just because we're old doesn't mean we're through."

He added, "The railroad industry has no intention of dying. We look back with pride—but especially mindful of what there is to learn from the past for the future. Lessons from the victories. Lessons from the failures. Lessons from the comedy."

Goodfellow was in Utah to take part in ceremonies Saturday commemorating 100 years of transcontinental rail service.

The nation's future population growth and economic expansion will require super-transportation and railroads have the greatest potential for the key role in this system, he said.

Railroad companies are "making changes that will gear them for tomorrow. They're thinking sharply about their responsibilities and how to meet them," he said.

"We've come to another day of great change, and once again the railroads will play a great contribution in achieving the economic and social climate and conditions this nation wants and needs," he said.

Earlier Wednesday Goodfellow told a meeting in Ogden that railroad labor and management must work together to set common goals if the industry is to continue as a key element of transportation in America.

Western Convention of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and the Grand International Auxiliary that a joint attack on rail problems requires recognition of two fundamental considerations.

"One is that there can be no successful consideration unless you have a genuine capability for putting yourself in the other fellow's shoes," he said.

"The other is ability to react to a rapidly changing social, economic and technical environment."

Richins Wins Pencil For Talk

RUPERT — Clyde Richins received the blue pencil for his townmaster's speech, "50 Years in Spring."

The red pencil went to Hugh Coats for his table topics discussion during a meeting of the Rupert Toastmasters Club in Rupert.

Mr. Coats was toastmaster and Don Redfield was table topics chairman. Mr. Redfield, President Ed Hartman and Pete Ford were evaluators and Richins' table was chief critic and grammarian. Bruce Bowman was time keeper.

Other speakers were Recco Bates, who discussed how a rose is symbolic of a boy or girl, and Neal Branchens, "Our Clinging World."

Agnew Wins $1 Bet On Utah Tour By Shaking 300 Hands

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI)—Vice President Spiro T. Agnew arrived here Wednesday night and promptly won a dollar from a Secret Service agent by shaking hands with everyone of the some 300 people on hand to greet him.

Relaxed and lanned from a round of golf in San Francisco, Agnew descended from his Air Force vice presidential jet and greeted state officials, including Democratic Gov. Calvin J. Rampton, a former golfing partner, and Utah Republican Congressman Laurence J. Burton.

Then he walked over the fence and began shaking hands with the medium sized crowd which "turned out in warm weather to greet him."

He made no public remarks at the airport.

Agnew won a dollar from Secret Service Agent Gus Papanicolaou who bet the vice president he would not be able to shake hands with everyone on hand to greet him.

The vice president is scheduled to address the student body at Brigham Young University Thursday morning and then address a Republican fund raising dinner in Salt Lake City Thursday night.

Earlier Wednesday, Agnew shook hands with everyone on hand in San Francisco, only to "greet" him. The vice president made the rounds, then returned to Papanicolaou who passed the dollar bill over the fence to him.

Idaho Power Notes 'Alarming' Rise In Production Costs

BOISE (UPI)—Idaho Power Co. President Albert Carlsen said Wednesday the company's cost of providing electric service to the Snake River Valley is increasing at an "alarming" rate.

Carlsen pointed to the utility's increasing losses in the address to Idaho Power shareholders at the 1969 annual meeting.

The shareowners re-elected 13-holdover directors and named a new member to the 14-man board.

The company's total revenues have shown a gain in the last decade, Carlsen reported, but the overall average revenue in cents for every kilowatt-hour of electricity sold has declined by 11 per cent during the same period.

Carlsen said that continued load growth made it necessary for the company to provide additional generating capacity on its system for service no later than the spring of 1974.

The additional capacity will come, he said, from a new power plant to be fueled with coal and located on the eastern end of the Idaho Power system close to heavy phosphate furnaces and other industrial loads.

A number of alternatives relating to fuel supply, precise plant location and transmission requirements are now being studied by the company, he said.

"We are not in a position to announce final plans until all alternatives have been carefully studied and evaluated to insure the company obtaining the most economical and reliable source of power possible," he said.

Carlsen told the shareowners that Idaho Power will spend $130 million in the next five years to build the steam generating plant and other new facilities.

Pope Enters Dispute On Toy Weapons

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—Pope Paul VI stepped into a long simmering dispute Wednesday by saying toy weapons are bad for children.

His audience did not seem to appreciate. He was addressing participants in a European toy manufacturers' congress, some of whom expressed conflicting views in speeches Tuesday.

"We feel it is our duty to remind you, toys have a great educational importance," the Pope told the manufacturers from 10 nations in a French language speech.

"Luxury toys root certain habits in the minds, weapons develop aggressiveness, other toys instill cruelty towards animals and still others invite dangerous attitudes."

"Everyone knows the influence exerted since ancient times by the game of dice and later by games of cards."

The Pope did not elaborate on the effects of dice and card games or say what toy he felt encouraged cruelty to animals.

"It is well known, on the other hand, that certain games develop gifts of intelligence, spirit and action," the pope said.

"Think for instance, of those which train in reflection and research, such as chess, gymnastic games, which help maniously develop the human body, of sports contests... and finally of innocent and popular games that are shared by all and make the joy of children and parents."

Participants in the audience did not contradict the Pope's views but speakers in the manufacturers' congress Tuesday said toy weapons are useful because they channel aggressiveness into a harmless direction.

Idaho Plant Expansion Is Ruled Out

POCATELLO (UPI)—Any possibility of expansion at the American Falls Lamb-Weston potato plant was ruled out by an executive of the firm at the rise-and-shine breakfast Wednesday.

John L. Baxter Jr., Portland, executive vice president of Lamb-Weston, said the expansion plans in other states, but not Idaho, because of recent price increases secured by area potato growers.

Baxter, however, did admit that his firm had no plans for any expansion before the bargaining sessions began.

Taking another swing at the growers, he said Idaho was not the only state where the quality russet Burbank can be grown. He said Idaho growers "had better catch up" with farmers in other states, where yields and production costs "are more favorable."

The Idaho Potato Growers Association announced a price-fixing election contract 30 to 40 cents higher than last year's agreement had been signed with the J. R. Simplot Co. and Ore-Ida Foods.

Baxter said Lamb-Weston had no alternative but to sign the agreements.

FLEMING FINED

HENLEY, England (UPI)—Col. Peter Fleming, brother of late author Ian Fleming who created James Bond, was fined $2 in court Tuesday for illegal possession of weapons.

Police told the court that one of the weapons found in Fleming's home was a Beretta, the automatic pistol featured in the Bond spy thrillers.

Property For Malad Gorge Park Sought

The State Parks Board is still negotiating for property to establish the Malad River Park on the Malad Gorge. Harold (Pete) Brown, Filer, a member of the board, said funds are available to build a park as soon as the property is acquired. He said the board hopes to establish a park consisting of some 400 acres which will be in the Malad Gorge with the Niagara Springs park which is owned by Idaho Power Co. Mr. Brown said the power company has offered the park to the parks board, but the board cannot justify buying a parcel of land, but the board prefers to have the entire parcel of land before hiring people to care for the area. Mr. Brown said the board had hoped to have the site finished for a travel park when the new interstate is completed. He noted the old Hammett park, which has served this purpose, will be bypassed.

Solons Hear Educational Reactor Plan

WASHINGTON, D.C. (Special) Rep. Orval Hansen said Wednesday two members of the joint committee on nuclear energy heard first-hand a proposal to convert the Materials Testing Reactor to the Western Best Research Reactor for use regionally for scientific research. Joint committee members who attended a breakfast meeting with Hansen and an Idaho delegation were Rep. John Anderson, R-Ill., and Sen. Wallace F. Bennett, R-Utah.

Also present were a dozen other members of Congress, their staffs and Idaho Senators Len B. Jordan and Frank Church, who said they will support the conversion plan.

The testing role of the MTR at Idaho Falls faces a possible phaseout within a few months. The Atomic Energy Commission will replace its testing role with an Advanced Test Reactor.

The conversion plan was also presented Wednesday afternoon by the Idahoans at a White House meeting with Dr. Lee DuBridge, President Nixon's science advisor.

Support of western universities for the proposal was outlined by Dr. Ernest Hartung, president of the University of Idaho and president of Western Universities, Inc. He said nearly all universities in the West have expressed an interest in a continuing research role for the MTR and said their scientists would use the research facility if a conversion program can be achieved.

U.S. Gov. Jack Murphy said Idaho has given its support to WBR by appropriating $200,000 to be used in special research for forestry and mining technology.

The interest regional universities have in a continuing science research role for the MTR was explained by Dr. George Olson of Learning Systems, Inc., Denver, Colo. A former vice president of Idaho State University, Dr. Olson said universities have individual interests in a nuclear research facility in the West.

The Malad River Gorge is located on Highway 80. Mr. Brown said the State Highway Department has indicated it will allow access and the board has an application with the Bureau of Land Management for an adjacent portion of land. Vernon Ravenscroft, Tuttle, has been negotiating with private property holders for purchase of the land. Mr. Brown said the State Parks Board does not have the right of commandment like some of the other state agencies.

He said the board will proceed as rapidly as possible as long as the property is purchased for the park.

Priests Join Protest In Colorado

DENVER (UPI) — Four women and nine men, including two priests, Wednesday "put their bodies on the line" in a 47-minute takeover of the Colorado Senate and forced a dozen policemen to carry them out.

The group sang "We Shall Overcome" and "No more Republicans over me, before I'll be a slave, I'll be buried in my grave," as police hauled them to waiting paddy wagons. There was no violence and no injuries to police or to the mostly near-by-dressed group.

The demonstrators were protesting, in the dying moments of the session, lack of action by the legislature in labor, education and consumer protection.

Police said the group was charged with disturbance. U.S. Gov. Mark A. Hogan agreed to sign the complaint. But Hogan said, "When the day comes that the legislature does its conscientious duty for the social good of all the people, then we won't have this sort of problem."

One of the demonstrators who refused to identify himself, said the demonstrators were "insinuating our bodies on your consciousness."

NATO MEETING OPEN
CASTLE, Belgium (UPI) — The North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) held its most important yearly study at Supreme Headquarters Allied Forces (SHAPE) Wednesday. The three-day meeting, presided over by Supreme Allied Commander Europe Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer, is called SHAPE 69 and deals with topics of mutual interest to the Allied command.

Mother's Day Is Busy One For Telephone Company

Mother's Day and Christmas go together like... well like ice cream and candy. At least the Mountain States Telephone Co. thinks so. How? Long distance calls on Mother's Day come close to matching long distance calls on Christmas, and this Sunday will be no exception, according to K. G. Mann, district manager of the telephone firm.

The stampede through the wires and across the nation by voice is expected to keep operators and equipment busy through the day, he predicted.

"The volume on Mother's Day always runs two times the number of calls placed on an average Sunday," Mr. Mann said, adding, "Getting calls through depends on when and how a call is placed."

Statistics show most people wait until evening to place a call, although the rates are the same throughout the day Sunday.

Another way to avoid the traffic jam on the telephone cables is to dial direct. "High speed equipment selects alternate routes for direct dial calls and it does this much faster than an operator can do it."

Directory assistance for any number in the country can be obtained by dialing the area code of the city wanted, then the digits 555-1212. There is no charge for this service.

"If people still find the circuit busy after they have tried early and dial-direct, we can only ask that they be patient," Mr. Mann said. "Eventually the call will go through," he said.

Crash Hurts Pocatello Man Near Bliss

BLISS — An Encanto man was injured in a fair-weather accident Tuesday in Memorial Hospital. Thursday where he is being treated for injuries received in a car accident Wednesday morning.

Gooding County Sheriff's officers said Edwin Kahn, 45, was traveling west on Highway 30 at about 7:40 a.m. Wednesday about nine miles west of Bliss when he lost control of his 1969 Chrysler while attempting to pass a truck.

Officers said the truck, an IML unit driven by Richard B. Kelso, Sandy, Utah, was signaling to pass a car in front of it. When Mr. Kahn attempted to pass the truck, his car went off the south side of the road, hit an approach to a rest area, flipped 60 feet through the air and landed on its top. The car then traveled 114 feet more and landed on its wheels.

Officers charged Mr. Kahn with violation of the basic rule.

FTC Urges Strict Lumber Standards To Safeguard U.S. Consumers

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Federal Trade Commission has called for tough new lumber standards to assure consumers they are getting the size and quality of wood they pay for.

The FTC proposals involving the marking of lumber as to size and strength were made to Commerce Secretary Maurice H. Stans in a letter from FTC Chairman Paul R. Dixon.

The FTC recommendations were welcomed by Rep. John D. Dingell, D-Mich., chairman of the House Small Business Subcommittee, which has been investigating lumber standards for several years.

Chairman Dixon's opinion again points up the horrible mess involved in lumber standards that has led to an imprecise, inaccurate and unscientific grading system.

Dingell said: "If we are to have an accurate and technically sound standard, we must have piece-by-piece testing of lumber."

Dixon's letter, commenting on pending proposals for revising current lumber standards, recommended that each piece of lumber be marked with its actual size.

The FTC also recommended that mixed species of lumber be graded for strength and stiffness on the basis of the lowest grade included.

Dixon said this would encourage piece-by-piece machine testing of lumber. He said, however, that the commission would not want mandatory grade marking of each piece at this time because of the "imprecise" nature of current grading.

Dixon told Stans he hoped standards soon would be set for the machine grading of softwood lumber.

Dixon praised a proposed reduction in quantity in the case of dry lumber. For that reason, he said, each piece of lumber should be marked to show its actual size.

"It would be deceptive to reduce the size without adequately disclosing that fact," Dixon said.

Although Dixon was critical of proposals to grade lumber on the basis of an average of the average strength values of several species, he said the question of whether it had "a capacity to deceive must await the publication of grading rule provision."

Dingell said he had been informed by "impartial wood technologists" that a precise lumber grading system could result in savings of 20 to 30 per cent in the amount of structural lumber used in the construction of an average house.

"At a time when lumber is in critical short supply and the nation's housing goals are in jeopardy, we must have a lumber standard that will make the most effective use of our precious wood resources," Dingell said.

"The FTC findings make it clear that the one that is proposed will not do the job," Dingell said.

Dingell said Stans should thoroughly investigate the matter until lumber standards were attained that would conserve rather than waste our resources, provide safety for the consumer and prevent the mass deception of the American homebuilder.

The FTC's comments were made in response to a Commerce Department request made last year for the views of various departments on the proposed new standards.

Insurance 'Closet Survey' Stirs Strong Complaint

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A woman filed a $35 insurance claim for a cigarette burn and got a visit from the agent. He wanted to check her clothes closet.

Her closet: The agent's home office told him that "the way things were stacked in the closet was a sure-fire way to tell whether the head of the house needed psychiatric care."

Then there was the clergyman who couldn't get insurance from the Farm Bureau Mutual Ins. Co., Jefferson City, Mo., because he said the company told him "you have so angered the citizens in your area by filing suit against a carnival for operating gambling games that if you were involved in an accident, even if it was not your own fault, a local jury would find against you."

The charges are excerpts from the files of the Senate antitrust and monopoly subcommittee, which opens hearings today on arbitrary policy cancellations by insurance companies. The subcommittee is chaired by Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich.

The committee investigation centers on Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Huey, Stafford, Va., whose insurance was not renewed by the Royal Indemnity Insurance Co., New York City, because of "personal habits within your household."

Hart's investigation has brought a rash of complaints from rate policy holders who can't understand the reasoning behind some insurance policy cancellations.

The woman whose closet was checked told Hart: "I'll Home Insurance Company, New York City, after she separated from her husband.

According to Mrs. Hoover, she was told "I'd drink and drive dangerously" as a result

Drug Firm Is Charged With 'Unscrupulous Practices'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A prominent physician and drug expert has accused a big pharmaceutical firm of "a bold, unscrupulous and selfish attempt" to stop the government from banning a drug rated "ineffective."

Dr. William L. Hewitt, head of the Division of Infectious Diseases at the University of California Medical School in Los Angeles, leveled the accusation against the Upjohn Co., Kalamazoo, Mich., for its promotion of a combination drug trademarked Panaba. He appeared today before the Senate small business monopoly subcommittee, which is in the midst of a long investigation of alleged drug industry abuses.

The subcommittee chairman, Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., said 83 drug combinations rank among the 200 most widely prescribed drugs in the United States—despite scientific warnings that they are usually useless, often dangerous and occasionally fatal.

Phoenix Tabs Kerr Twins As NBA Teams Pick Last Leftovers From Colleges

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Phoenix Suns, who went re-knuck in their first year of competition in the National Basketball Association, tried Wednesday to eliminate the "blank" from future seasons when they drafted two brothers, Floyd and Lloyd Kerr of Colorado State.

Under the guidance of coach John Kerr, the Suns are hopeful the Kerr Brothers, a pair of 6-foot-3 playmaking guards, will enable the club to improve on its horrendous 16-66 maiden season record. Jerry Colangelo, Suns' general manager, is high on both players but will have to outbid the rival American Basketball Association for the services of the brothers.

Floyd was the first player picked Wednesday as the NBA's second round pick in the draft. Lloyd is being sought by Oakland of the ABA.

T.F. Heavily Favored In District Meet

All the distance records, two relays and perhaps the high jump standard could be in trouble Friday night when the Twin Falls Bruins go after their 12th straight district title. It will be a new format at Bruin stadium with the district, now called regional, becoming in reality a triangular meet among Twin Falls, Minico and Burley, in conjunction with that one, the newly created A-2 classification, bringing together Bull, Jerome, Wood River, Filer and Gooding, will have its first edition.

The Bruins look strong in the relays and will take a lot of points out of the distance—even if they don't win them all. Sophomore Bill Miller cleared 13 feet in practice Tuesday for his first time over that mark. The weights will be a battle between Decker and Doug Minko and Dick Little, Torq Borah and Cleve McFadden and others from Twin Falls.

The tightest event on the track should be the halfmile with Twin Falls' Bruce Reiman, the SIC champion, meeting John Lukens of Minico, the EIC champ. Again there is a chance they could push each other to the record of 1:22.2, set by Glenn Church of Burley in 1952. But that is well below the best of either, Reiman having a 2:00.9 against 2:02 for Lukens.

The hurdles will be run for Minico's benefit, Dave Martin the likely winner in both and Stimpson and Rogers very good runners-up.

Robb Sloan or erratic sophomore Jack Cooper could give the 4:37.0 mile record fits. Sloan is still fighting stomach ailments but was within a second last week and Cooper, who has been off-and-on the past three weeks in competition, could do it on a good day.

Chamber At Burley Notes Music Week

BURLEY—High school students presented musical entertainment in honor of Music Week during the luncheon meeting of the Burley Chamber of Commerce at Bryn's Cafe.

Truman Bradley, industrial committee chairman, said a survey recently conducted shows from 10 to 35 per cent of laborers working in the state processing plants live plus-miles away from Burley. During December, January, and February the labor supply is tight for the processing plants. Starting in August, labor supply is short and in early spring workers are hard to find. During the past winter months Monte has been installing equipment at their plant so they will be able to can peas this summer in the Burley plant as well as corn. Del Monte is planning an open house sometime in June.

A survey prepared by chamber industrial committee asks seven questions was given to chamber members and they answered and returned to Bradley at the close of the meeting. "Spread the population" story was explained by Mr. Bradley in contacting industries the chamber is interested in, and getting them to give their industry west-end their labor force with schools and housing under this in were discussed and Mr. Bradley stated, "we need to consolidate more things such as highways and hospitals, as our schools are now and also we need to give our school board authority to lease school buildings."

"I believe that a building would be obtained at once for school use if the school board had lease them at a low rate," Bradley added. "To assist our area in growing

New Use

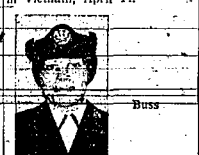

Al Robinson, city sanitation inspector, came across a new use for old car bodies this week. On one of his regular rounds about town Mr. Robinson noticed an old car body which had been modified into a chicken coop. The dilapidated car was apparently serving the chicks well for the time being.

The responsible party was notified to remove the old car and the chickens from the premises.

Press Women's Convention Set June 26-28 In Billings

Letitia Baldrige, whose career has as many facets as the gems she describes in her recent best-seller, "Diamonds and D-I-P-O-mats," will be one of the featured speakers at the annual convention of the National Federation of Press-Women in Billings, Mont., June 26 through 28.

Miss Baldrige's career, which has brought her national recognition, spans both the diplomatic and the business world. She is best known as the social secretary to the White House under President John F. Kennedy. Her duties included everything from arranging a White House reception for royalty to setting up a six-week state visit to India.

Her first experience in the diplomatic world came when, as a young woman studying in France, she obtained a position as social secretary to Ambassador and Mrs. David Bruce in Paris. This was followed by a like position with Ambassador Clare Booth Luce in Rome.

Dear Abby

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My mother-in-law is widowed and spends a lot of time with our family. She's a good soul and we would not want to hurt her for anything.

The problem is that she is about 60 pounds overweight, and she's not very careful about the way she dresses. Her dresses hites up and she shows more than people care to see.

Last night our sons (ages 10 and 12) had some friends over, and they were all sitting on the floor supposedly watching TV. Grandma was there in her usual position, and those kids barely took their eyes off Grandma.

She sits "side saddle" at meal time, instead of putting her knees together under the table. She says it's more "comfortable."

We keep telling her to watch how she sits. She'll be careful for a day or two, but then she goes back to her old ways.

How can we effect a permanent cure without hurting her feelings? NO NAME

Mrs. Pierce Is Worthy Matron Of Area OES

MR. AND MRS. BARRY BAUMERT (Lyonson photo)

Shirley Reed, Baumer Wed In Nevada Desert

Shirley Reed, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. (Bill) Reed, was married to Barry Baumer, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Baumer, all Twin Falls, Idaho, March 22 in Elko.

A reception was held for the newlyweds April 13 at the YWCA Sunshine Room. The bride wore a dressmakers suit of broccaded, yellow silk enhanced with a beaded cow neckle. She wore a white orchid, a special gift from her father.

The bride's table was covered with white lace and centered with a three-tiered wedding cake decorated in spring pastel colors and topped with white wedding toppers. The cake was flanked by two arrangements of spring pastel-colored flowers.

The cake was cut and served by Mrs. James Winkle, Mrs. Scott Baumer and Mrs. Fern Amick. Coffee was poured from a sterling silver service by Mrs. G. W. Weller and Mrs. R. S. (Dorothy) Johnson.

Presiding at the punch bowl were Mrs. Dennis Malone, sister of the bride, and Mrs. Hazel Young.

Gifts were displayed by Mrs. Ruth Sloan and Mrs. Helen Taylor. Greeting guests were Mrs. Sheila Burns, sister of the bride, Candell and J. Young, the couple's relatives in Twin Falls, where Mrs. Baumer is associated with the Idaho Power Co. and Mr. Baumer with the U.S. Forest Service.

Altar Society Installs Leaders

BURLEY — Officers of the Little Flower Altar Society were installed during a dinner meeting at the Ponderosa Inn.

Installed were Mrs. Jean Foss, president for a second term; Mrs. Floyd Actis, vice president; Mrs. Tad Wolfe, recording secretary; Mrs. Don Novatny, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Robert Mail, treasurer; and Mrs. Loren Nelson, historian. Mrs. John Chisholm was installing officer and presented Mrs. Pons-a-gift as past president.

Rev. R. C. Bauman spoke on the topic, "The Lay Members' Responsibility for CCD Instructions." Mrs. Fergus Kilmarin showed films of her native country Ireland, assisted by Mrs. Robert Brown.

The centerpiece was presented to Mrs. Nelson. Chairman of the installation was Mrs. Actis and Rev. Mr. Bauman was host.

Shower Held

HAGERMAN — Mrs. Hyrum Dille and infant son, Marlon Ray, were guests of honor recently at a "Welcome Baby" shower at the LDS Church. Hostesses were members of the Primary presidency.

Gifts were presented to the honoree by an entire grade. Games were directed by Mrs. Floyd Marsh and Mrs. Arwin Thornton. Prizes were won by Mrs. Dille, Mrs. Neil DeGullio and Mrs. Ed Larson.

Mrs. Lee Peters assisted Mrs. Dille in opening the gifts.

Distinctions of Clothing to be modeled are skirts and blouses, home economic 1; children's clothes, child care classes, cottons, wooleens and better dresses.

The program will be narrated by class members. Background music will be played on the piano by Mary Lou Hagerman, Tim Milk, Anne Lorraine Smith and Elaine Ambrose.

Urges parents and friends to attend as this is the high spot of the FHA season.

Hard Water. It's all over.

If you think White King was made only for hard water, think about this: Even soft water can cause washing film on clothes, because water is seldom completely soft. And film prevents soap or detergent from cleaning thoroughly.

It's as simple as that—and simple to correct. With White King-Water-Softener/Conditioner. White King boosts the cleaning power of soap or detergent by softening water and removing washing film. It also reconditions fibers, brightens clothes. And the Borax in White King sweetens and sanitizes your wash.

Look for our colorful new package. And you'll find out how White King Water Softener/Conditioner can do so much. The facts are right on the box, big as life. But the important thing is that White King does it—all.

Nixon Affirms Sea Pact

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon wound up two days of talks with Australian Prime Minister John Gorton today with a reaffirmation of U. S. resolve to continue its contributions to "the security and progress" in the Pacific area, including Southeast Asia.

In a statement, Nixon said the United States regards its partnership with Australia in two Pacific alliances — ANZUS and SEATO — as of "great importance to both our countries."

The two alliances, Nixon said, "are fundamental to our strategy and position in Southeast Asia." ANZUS is a mutual defense treaty, among Australia, New Zealand and the United States. SEATO — the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization — includes all three, as well as other countries in that area.

"Australian troops are helping us in the Vietnam conflict and other free world nations are fighting South Vietnam preserve its independence," Nixon noted.

"I think Australia and the United States can both be proud of the contribution we are making, as partners, to the security and progress of the Pacific region to which we both belong. That partnership and that contribution will continue."

T. F. Police Force Active During April

Twin Falls police officers answered 975 calls and issued 572 overtime parking tickets during April, Police Chief Frank Barnett said Wednesday.

Statistical show 80 criminal arrests were made, 38 of those for juvenile delinquency and 23 for drunkenness among adults.

Also, 92 prisoners were processed through the jail during the month. Five automobiles were stolen and three recovered and 169 dogs came under police scrutiny with 120 dogs impounded.

A total of 21 failures to yield right of way citations were issued and 12 speeders were caught, six of them with the use of radar.

Awards Given

WENDELL—Two Wendell rural carriers have received safety driver awards from Postmaster Arnold L. Runyon.

Melvin Weinberg, Route 1, received his 20-year pin and J. Glen Anderson, Route 2, his 10-year pin. Drivers must not have been involved in a preventable motor vehicle accident and not have received a traffic violation citation.

A PLAYFUL ROMP over his master's property turned into an ordeal not only for Sammy the playful pooch, but for its owners in Owsley, Mich. Sammy got caught in a culvert deep beneath the driveway of his owners, the Randolph J. Shiers. After much digging by helpful neighbors, left photo,

and excavation of a stable pit, part of which can be seen in the foreground, a muddy but ecstatic Sammy was rescued, right photo. Mrs. Shier welcomes the muddy rascal despite the mess. (UPI telephoto)

Savage Killing Of Students Clouds School With Horror

MASCOUTAH, Ill. (UPI)—The treasured memories of high school senior prom night are flaked with horror in Mascoutah.

Michael Morrison and Debra Means never returned home from the prom. They were murdered.

Wednesday, Illinois and St. Clair County authorities conducted a grim, exhaustive investigation, while at Mascoutah High School, the violent aftermath to the senior prom Saturday night was cold, dead weight on the students.

"You could almost hear the silence," said superintendent Orville Williams at the high school, where Michael, 18, was preparing to graduate co-valedictorian and Debra, 19, was a vivacious sophomore.

The two bodies were found Monday afternoon at the edge of a strip coal mining operation six miles southwest of Mascoutah. Michael had been shot twice or more in the head. Debra's nude, mutilated body was found about 30 feet away in a marshy area at the bottom of an incline.

She had been strangled. Clothesline tied tightly around her neck also bound her hands and feet behind her. Parts of her underclothing had been used to gag her. Both victims had been beaten in the face.

Michael and Debra, who had dated before but were not going steady, attended the senior prom Saturday night at the high school.

Afterward, Debra changed into a sweater and shorts at the home of a girl friend, then the couple joined a group of friends Sunday.

County Employs Attendant For Filer Dumpgrounds

Another step aimed at improving the county's dumping facilities was announced Wednesday by Twin Falls County Commissioners.

An attendant has been employed at the county's Filer-area dumpgrounds and will be on duty throughout daylight hours, County Commission Chairman Heber Loughmiller said.

A former high fence has been erected around the grounds to keep papers and trash from blowing onto adjoining farm grounds. Mr. Loughmiller said all residents using the dumping facilities are encouraged to visit the dump during the daytime.

They will be shown the proper area in which to place trash so it can be covered by heavy equipment.

The attendant is Everett Lump, Filer. He will have salvage privileges at the dump and will assist the county in inspection and work at the other various dumping sites.

Mr. Loughmiller said there is some confusion among residents of the Filer area about the Filer and county dumpgrounds. He said city residents and business firms should use the Filer city facilities.

Cooperation of area residents also is necessary in maintaining all county dumps, the chairman said. Many people are scattering trash about and disposing of dead animals in county dumps. This is against regulations, he warned.
