Don Crabtree Plans N.Y. Museum Exhibit

Two curators of the American Museum of Natural History, New York, were visiting with Don Crabtree, Kimberly, last week to plan his exhibit for the museum.

Dr. Junius Bird, curator of South American Archaeology, and Dr. Richard Gould, a curator of North American and Australian Archaeology, met with Mr. Crabtree to coordinate plans for his three-month exhibit at the museum.

Mr. Crabtree's exhibit on flint knapping, showing how early man made his tools, will run from February through April, 1970. Dr. Gould said the exhibit will be shown in a special hall for temporary exhibits.

There will be encased exhibits in a circular arrangement showing the evolution of tools from primitive to modern. Crabtree will have some authentic exhibits.

For the first few weeks the exhibit is shown, Mr. Crabtree will be present to demonstrate the making of the ancient tools. After his departure films will be shown of his work.

Mr. Crabtree said the exhibit will also give the museum a chance to display some of its artifacts and make it more impressive with Mr. Crabtree's display. The exhibit has been meticulously labeled, "Experiment in Archaeology." Mr. Crabtree's displays will demonstrate the process early man went through in making his tools and weapons, step by step.

The curators said Mr. Crabtree's flint work is unparalleled. Some of his work will be compared with that of Ishi, the last surviving Indian, living in the old way of life. A book has even been written about the Yana Indian from Northern California.

The display has been in the planning stage for more than a year. The curators said there are a number of flint workers in the United States but none of them work in the systematic way which Mr. Crabtree does. He said this is what will make the exhibit meaningful. Dr. Bird says Mr. Crabtree does not accept only one method of doing a certain type of work, but always explores the alternatives.

I Remember Father—And Golden Spike

When the ceremony at Promontory Point, near Ogden, is held Sunday commemorating the 100th anniversary of driving of the golden spike which made nationwide railroad connections a reality, there will be special signs for a veteran—Twin Falls newspaperman, Juneau Shinn's father, the late W. B. Shinn, Filer, claimed the spot as the youngest person at the driving of the golden spike May 10, 1869. He was working as a water boy for his father's crew.

The elder Shinn, Amos Shinn, grandfather of the Union Pacific and had helped build the roadbed for the new tracks from Stansbury to Promontory Point.

Mr. Shinn said his grandfather—used teams of horses to build the roadbed. He was headquartered in Illinois.

His father often told his family that during the spike driving event he climbed on top of one of the engines or box cars and to be included in pictures taken of the historic event.

This fact has been recorded in the Shinn family history, Mr. Shinn said.

Mr. Shinn and his son, Joseph Shinn, and granddaughter, Elizabeth, both Rupert, will leave for Utah Saturday. Frank Knudsen makes the fifth generation in the Shinn family to follow the historical event with interest.

WASHINGTON — Heavy helicopter losses in Vietnam are causing concern here. Some experts are wondering whether the Communists have introduced a new anti-aircraft weapon of advanced design.

Race No Factor

If it is any comfort to black Americans, race is not a factor in the exploding civil rights crisis in Northern Ireland, although the treatment experienced by one segment of the population in that country bears a number of striking resemblances to that of Negroes in this country.

In Northern Ireland, the Catholic minority has for decades been systematically disfranchised, segregated and exploited by the Protestant majority. Yet both possess a degree of whiteness that would put to shame the palest Ku Klux Klanner.

Prejudice, animosity and oppression know no color line. It seems to be a law of human nature that a majority, whether it is identified by religion, race, politics, nationality, or tribal loyalty, will always step on a differently identified minority as long as the latter submits to it — and as long as the majority is motivated by sufficiently strong fears, real or imagined, expressed or unexpressed, concerning its own integrity.

WASHINGTON — I suggest we keep an eye on Red Blount, the latest shell-game artist to head the U.S. Post Office, lest he sell us the Brooklyn Bridge, minus girders.

Postmaster General Blount, Victor Winton M., is pulling the same old confidence game of asking us to pay still more for the worst mail service in what passes for the civilized world.

In short, an administration which promised changes all over its predecessor's realm is now making secretary men named Larry O'Brien and John G. ...

Dear Abby
By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: After putting on some imaginary person so my husband (whom I'll call "Jim") through medical school and internship, we separated because of a girl I'll call "Nancy." Jim married her as soon as the ink was dry on the divorce papers. We have three beautiful school-age children, whom I've done my best to raise without a father. Jim has helped some financially, but not a whole lot. I have never bothered Jim and Nancy in any way. My problem is that Nancy keeps phoning me, identifying herself as a friend of Nancy's, but I know her voice. She warns me that Nancy is going to kill my children when they're away at camp this summer.

I have told Jim about this, and he doesn't seem worried. I must admit, I am frightened, but if Jim isn't worried, should I be? Do you think I ought to send the children to summer camp as planned?
CHARLESTON, S. C.

DEAR CHARLESTON: The police and phone company will cooperate with you in getting positive proof that the threats are from Nancy — if indeed they are. You will need this before proceeding. After you have proof, put it up to Jim. If he continues unworried, and will do nothing to stop the harassment, then ask the authorities to intervene.

DEAR ABBY: I am presently living in an old folks' home. There is a gentleman here who I love, but he can't hear, so I can't tell him. He can't see, so I can't write him. What can I do?
ELLEN

DEAR ELLEN: What can HE do?

DEAR ABBY: I am 18 and have gone steady with this guy I'll call Jeff, for nearly a year. We are very much in love and now I think I'm pregnant. I am not positive because I have not been to a doctor yet, but I'm almost sure I am. My mother says he will marry me as soon as we graduate from high school. (We're both juniors.)

Ever since I told Jeff that I think I'm pregnant I have begun to doubt his love. He says if I am pregnant, when I tell my folks I should put the blame on some imaginary person so as not to cause hard feelings between him and my folks. That's true — and whether I try to continue our relationship, Jeff says he really loves me but he's looking out for what's best for us. What do you think?

WONDERING

DEAR WONDERING: I think you'd better see a doctor, and if your suspicions are confirmed, tell Jeff that you are going to tell your parents the whole truth — and whether you're pregnant or not, do yourself a big favor and forget that little weasel.

DEAR ABBY: I have a younger brother who from a very early age showed an interest in "girlish" things. When Mother taught us girls to knit, my brother pleaded to learn, too, but Mother turned him away, saying, "Boys don't do such things." My brother finally went his way — or so we thought. Later he came to us with some tiny garments which he had knitted for our dolls. They were beautiful. He told us that he had used TOOTHPICKS because a Mother wouldn't let him use her knitting needles. Today my brother is an embittered alcoholic. Had he been allowed to develop an obvious talent instead of being shamed and brutally discouraged, he might have been a happy contributor in some creative field. Do we fault gifted designers or interior decorators or hair stylists who have effeminate ways? Why warp the productivity of a human being, who happens to be "different" for reasons over which they have no control?
Society would be much better off accepting those talented men with "girlish ways" than to encourage many misfits.
Very truly yours,
MRS. H.I.M.

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 670, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069, and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

German Spokesman Asserts Mark Will Not Be Revalued

BOONN (UPI)—A West German government spokesman said today the mark would not be revalued. Conrad Ahlers, Chancellor Kurt Georg Kiesinger's chief spokesman, said it was his "personal opinion." It was apparent that he spoke for the government. "There will be no revaluation," he said, "whether or not we thought the government would adjust the mark's value upward in the face of enormous international speculation on the currency. The statements came after a hectic morning in which Frankfurt's currency exchange market was deluged with orders for marks. Kiesinger conferred first with opposition political leaders and then his economic staff. In London, trading on the foreign exchange slowed to a trickle and one expert said "Things are chaotic." It is not clear what realistic rates on currencies.

Newest Ocean Liner Deemed 'Real Queen' By New York

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Queen Elizabeth 2 has completed her much-delayed maiden voyage. And everybody seems to agree she's a queen. The new Cunard liner sailed today, Wednesday, after a four-day, 10-hour and 39-minute Atlantic crossing from Southampton, England.

When it passed grandly under the Venetian Bridge, it knocked the QE2 out of action for weeks after her shakedown cruise. "The QE2," belonged to 8-year-old Laurel Buxton, who paid $2.40 an hour to bring him across with her parents. "QE2 wasn't frightened at all," said Laurel. "She was very comfortable."

Two water-approvaling fireboats flanked the five-black-lined liner as she proudly sailed into harbor past the lower New York skyline. Hundreds of other ships were in the harbor, including the $72 million floating hotel.

Mrs. Schrank Has Display At Wendell

WENDELL—Mrs. Shirley Schrank is being featured as the artist of the month at the Idaho First National Bank, Wendell branch.

Mrs. Schrank's talent is at least partly inherent, since both her mother and sisters are accomplished with the oils. During high school she showed her ability where she was cartoonist for the school paper.

It was not until the Schranks moved to Wendell that she began to take her ability seriously, however. Ten years ago she joined the Wendell Art Group and studied under Mrs. Charlotte Duggan and Mrs. Marilyn Lacroux, Gooding.

Her favorites are landscapes but has tried almost every type of painting except portraits. On display presently at the bank is an unique oil of a deserted homestead.

Safety Unit Appointed For Rupert

RUPERT—A five-member Safety Planning Committee, to act in an advisory capacity to the Rupert City Council, was appointed Tuesday night. Mrs. Harold Green, Hugh C. Coats, Bill Thomas, Dell Hollinger and councilman Harold Caraway will serve on the committee.

The council voted last June to accept a contract concerning a highway safety program in response to a letter from Idaho Gov. Don Samuelson requesting the city to cooperate with the state in implementing such a program. The highway safety program is in accordance with uniform standards approved by the Secretary of Transport last December.

The 1968 Safety Act establishes standards which must be met by all states to avoid possible withholding of federal highway construction and safety funds. The newly-appointed safety committee will study the various traffic situations within the city and make recommendations for improvement to the council.

The council set May 20 for a public hearing on irrigation costs in Local Improvement District 13, the Grandview Addition. The installation cost will be estimated by Hamilton and Voeller consulting engineer.

In final council action, the group authorized the signing of a contract with the Idaho Department of Parks. Hopefully the department will participate with $46,372.50 toward the first two phases of the five-phase development of an 11-acre ball park in north Rupert. Total estimated cost is $150,000.

Church Involvement Gimmicks

By Rev. Lester Kinsolving
Many denominations whose churches used to be a primary center of town or village social life appear to be resorting to desperate measures to recover this sense of community.

In London, for instance, the Dean of St. Paul's Cathedral recently leaped off the pinnacle of this temple and descended by parachute, in an attempt to relate to the young people.

St. Francis' Grace Cathedral four months later, a capacity crowd of 3,000 attended what had been advertised as a "seniorium."

Self-Help Housing Plan Gets Boost
GLENNIS FERRY — The city of Glennis Ferry will assist in the self-help housing project under way on East Fifth Street by hauling top soil into the city property north of the site where the homes are being built.

Councilmen approved a request by Robert Martinez at the council meeting Tuesday night. He and three other persons are currently building their own homes under a government self-help program.

A request from Gary Severson for a refund on money he paid for a water line in 1966 was tabled. The water line has since been extended to other patrons and Mr. Severson's claim should be partially reimbursed.

An application was approved for L. W. Calvert to connect with the city sewer system and West Madison Avenue. Councilmen passed a request by Supt. George Powell to buy part of a lot near the city water pumps because it would be necessary for building a new road to the pumps.

Randy Mai Will Head Methodist Group At Filer
FILER — Randy Mai was elected president of the Methodist Youth Fellowship at a recent meeting in the church.

EDWARD BROWN served refreshments at the close of the meeting and social hour.

The Immanuel congregation was organized in 1909 with 114 members signing the constitution. The first house of worship was located on Third Avenue.

Pastor Muhl arrived in 1945 and was followed by the Rev. Armond Mueller and the Rev. D. J. Rathjen. In May, 1964, the new sanctuary with 22 classrooms, school rooms and a parish hall, was dedicated at 2055 Filley Ave. E.

The 11 a.m. worship service has been broadcast continuously the past 22 years over KTFI radio station.

Activities of the anniversary year will include confirmation reunion services and picnic on July 13 at the fairgrounds in Filer. Guest speaker then will be Rev. L. H. Metzner, Rupert.

Anniversary activities are being directed by Mr. and Mrs. Ms. Ralph Harris, chairman, with Mr. and Mrs. Les Udem, Mr. and Mrs. Keith Lerman and Mrs. Daryl Anderson. Daryl Anderson is chairman of special gift fund.

Episcopal Council Has New Priest

The South Central Idaho Episcopal Parish announces the appointment of Rev. John Wallace as its new associate priest effective Sunday.

Dr. Cox contends that "a person stripped of defenses is not real"; he is sick. No one can function without defenses.

"In many places," he noted, "the 'is in' for a group of people to get together for the purpose of being 'honest' with each other. These sessions often turn out to be studies in comparative emotional pathology after the 'sharers' have bled in, each other's psychological filth, the minutes of the meeting apply reveal that 'a good time was had by all'."

Dr. Cox does acknowledge a value in the sharing of "mutual concerns, in group action about that which affects the group. And the early Christian church also recognized this principle of community — even though some denounced the custom of public confession of individual sins. Not only was there the occasional possibility of retaliation from one sinner against another, but there was often a confusion as to whether the confessor was confessing or bragging.

Other "Ministers"

By REV. JAMES B. HUGHES, Pastor, First Baptist Church
The man who gets "rev." put in front of his name is a church bulletin-draws-many-of-the-beams-of-illumination-in-the-congregation. When people think of St. Paul's by the Supermarket, they usually think of the clergyman who holds forth there.

Others equally important are often overlooked and unsung. We have in mind co-workers on the church staff — those who perform ministries of cleaning, typing, organ-playing, choir-directing. No less than the public prayer—or-pulpit—do these deserve to be looked upon as ministers of the church.

In the functioning of the church in its community, the motivations, skills, energies and labors of these workers are equal in importance to those of the one usually called "minister."

Many Fascinating Stories Behind Symbol Of Cross

NEW YORK (NAPS) — There are many fascinating stories behind the symbol of the cross. Centuries before Christ was crucified, it was a symbol of power, of life, of the ancient world. The Egyptians called it "canob," after a T-shaped instrument used to measure the annual rise of the Nile or whose buoy the life of the nation depended. For other nations of the East, it was an "urn," and took the shape of two pieces of wood with handles by rubbing the two sticks together, the ancients kindled sacred fire.

General Charles de Gaulle was in leading the French resistance movement during World War II. A Swiss welfare agency which adopted as its emblem a red cross on a white field — reversing the color scheme in the Swiss flag — in 1864 organized a conference to help the sick and wounded soldiers of the world. Sixteen nations attended and founded the International Red Cross.

The cross was used as an instrument of national punishment in the time of Abraham. As a gallows, it was familiar to the Egyptians, Africans, Macedonians, Greeks and Romans. To some peoples it was a symbol of eternal life, productive power or the life-giving qualities of the sun.

The rich history of the cross is shrouded in legend and superstition. A crucifix was said to have shed blood in 1512, during an "Easter-Day battle" between the French and Spanish. A statue of Christ on the cross reportedly performed healing wonders during the Plague of Malaga in 1630.

For Christians around the world, the cross is a symbol of their faith. It was on a Roman cross at Golgotha where Christ died and rose again three days later.

The early Christians portrayed Christ as the Good Shepherd, sometimes carrying a cross instead of a crook. From that evolved the custom of representing "his people as sheep on lambs. By the end of the 6th century, the first form of crucifix showed the shepherd represented on the cross itself. Crucifixes came to be widely distributed by the Christian Church as aids to devotion.

Spray Program For Leafhoppers Planned

By ROBERT VANAUDELEN
Times-News Farm Editor

Mr. Evans also reminded farmers leaving waste areas control work by cleaning up the well as Gooding and Jerome areas, as well as the waste areas, especially in the areas.

A spraying program to combat the threat of virus-carrying leafhopper insects early this summer in agricultural areas of southwestern Idaho will begin in about two weeks.

Kath Evans, Twin Falls, supervisor of the Plant Pest Control Division, USDA, ARS said a recent survey showed an abundance of leafhoppers in the area. The leafhoppers are concentrated on host plants in some 43,000 acres of desert land south and east of Mountain Home.

Mr. Evans said some 500,000 acres of the host plants, Russian Thistle, had carried through the summer last year, thus contributing to the large population of overwintered leafhoppers.

The control program will begin around May 19 or 20, said Mr. Evans. The leafhoppers are matured and are expected to move from the desert area to croplands.

Leafhoppers move from their winter and spring habitat on the desert to infest sugar beet and bean crops. Leafhoppers have been known to migrate as far as 800 miles.

Mr. Evans noted while the insects themselves are not dangerous, some of them carry a virus which destroys the plants. The virus causes curly top disease in sugar beets and snap bean varieties.

In past years the percentage of bugs carrying this dangerous virus has been from 4 to 20 per cent. This year, as high as 50 per cent of the insects have been found to be carriers. The average so far, tests show, is 25.6 per cent virus-carriers.

To combat this threat, a spraying program is being organized. Last year 14,280 acres were sprayed for the control of leafhoppers compared to about 43,000 acres that need to be sprayed. In 1966, some 39,700 acres were sprayed and in 1967, about 6,000 acres were sprayed. Mr. Evans said this is the worst year for leafhoppers in the past 12 years.

Cooperating in the spraying program are the Plant Pest Control Division, the Idaho Bean Commission, Idaho Department of Agriculture, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Amalgamated R. & A. Co., and growers in the Mountain Home area.

Mr. Evans said if the control program is successful, the bean and beet industry in this area could be wiped out this year.

TAKING SAMPLE of beet leafhopper population in the desert area of southwestern Idaho is Kath Evans, Twin Falls, supervisor of the Plant Pest Control Division, USDA, ARS. The survey, completed recently, indicates a danger of heavy infestation by the insects in agricultural areas of Magic Valley. A spraying program is being organized with the spraying to commence about May 19 or 20.

By BERNARD BRENNER
UPI Farm Editor

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Consumer protests are piling up against the agriculture department's proposal to permit up to 15 per cent poultry in federally inspected frankfurters without the use of special big-type labels.

"It would be a disservice to buyers who have not been alerted and believe they are paying for meat, not poultry, a cheaper protein," said a Cleveland, Ohio, letter from the Consumers League of Ohio.

A check of the first 50 letters of comment logged by the department's hearing clerk since the proposal was formally announced April 9 showed some support for the plan from individual consumers and industry groups. But critics outnumbered the supporters by a wide margin.

Under the proposal, manufacturers who use poultry in federally inspected frankfurters, bologna and similar cooked sausages would have to list the chicken or turkey in the small print "ingredient statement" printed on their product labels. But the proposal would eliminate a rule that requires a special big-type product name, such as "Chicken Frankfurter," if poultry is used.

The Johnson Administration, which originally drafted the chicken-in-sausage proposal at the request of the poultry industry, intended to hold public hearings on the issue. Nixon Administration officials cancelled the hearings, but said they would consider written comments from the poultry culture department through May 28.

A Rochester, N. Y., woman who supports the new proposal wrote, "not only is pure poultry meat tasty, but it provides much-needed protein to a greater degree than other meats."

"If the proposal is adopted, said a pro-poultry consumer from Illinois, consumers could show their preference and demand whatever their family tastes desired."

But from Orange, Conn., a housewife said, "I'm getting pretty tired of spending more and more time reading small print on the packages."

"Any change (in labeling rules) would tend to deceive the consumer," a delicatessen from Saratoga, Calif., said. "The usual customer reads only the brand name, not the fine print."

From Costa Mesa, Calif., a consumer wrote: "If we want chicken, we buy chicken... but when we eat hot dogs, let them be just pork and beef."

On the "pro" side, a woman wrote from Ames, Iowa; she strongly favors the use of poultry in hot dogs, and said it is "resulting in a lower price" and would begin buying frankfurters again. A couple from South Wilmington, Ill., wrote, "We may not object to chicken meat in hot dogs... We do definitely object to the new proposal making it possible to deceive the public with the label."

Formal support for the proposal so far has included endorsements from the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen's Union and the National Turkey Federation.

The American Meat Institute said it would not oppose the plan in general, but urged that poultry not be permitted in products specifically labeled "all meat." And flat opposition was voiced by several meat producing and meat packing groups including George A. Hormel and Co., Austin, Minn., which charged the plan would result in misleading both retailers and consumers.

The National Broiler Council praised the intent of the proposal but said the details of the plan were so restrictive that little poultry meat could actually be used in sausages.

Poultry industry leaders indicated this week they planned to ask the agriculture department to revise the proposal. Spokesmen said they would seek:

- Permission to retain a 1.5 per cent residual bone content in poultry used in sausages,
- Permission to use as much poultry as a sausage maker wanted instead of a 15 per cent ceiling, and authority to use poultry skin in "natural proportions" in products labeled "all meat."

Withdrawal of an agriculture department proposal to ban use of poultry kidneys and sex glands in sausages.

rather than the 0.5 per cent proposed by the department.

— Permission to use as much poultry as a sausage maker wanted instead of a 15 per cent ceiling, and authority to use poultry skin in "natural proportions" in products labeled "all meat."

Withdrawal of an agriculture department proposal to ban use of poultry kidneys and sex glands in sausages.

BOISE — The production of red meat in Idaho during March is set at 18,850,000 pounds, according to data compiled by the Idaho Crop and Livestock Reporting Service. This is seven per cent lower than a year ago.

The four sponsoring districts include the West Cassia Soil Conservation District, Twin Falls Soil Conservation District, Snake River Soil Conservation District and the Balanced Rock Soil Conservation District.

New Cheese Has Been Developed

FFA Event

EDEN — The annual FFA Livestock School and Judging contest has been scheduled for next week at the Jim Brooks ranch, near Hazelton.

Allen Stasby, Valley vocational-agricultural instructor, said this is the FFA District's annual event but the public is welcome to participate or watch.

The event will be held at 2:30 p.m. Thursday. Judges for the event will be Jim Olsen, Twin Falls; sheep; Herschel Boydston, College of Southern Idaho; beef; and Bob Loucks, Fairfield, hogs.

WASHINGTON — A new cheese — EUDA — developed by the U.S. Department of Agriculture has done well in a 21-week sales test.

EUDA is a skim milk semi-soft cheese composed of about 52 per cent moisture, six per cent fat and 42 per cent nonfat milk solids.

The test showed sales of EUDA cheese did not markedly affect sales of five cheeses studied in the test, but attracted new cheese buyers who did not regularly buy cheese other than cottage, cream or grated cheeses.

About 75 per cent of those buying EUDA said they liked it and would buy it again.

DESERT LAND developed into excellent grazing area was toured by nine University of Montana seniors recently near Berger. The nine, along with their instructor on range management, Prof. Lee Eddleman, and two BLM officials, Bob Brock, area manager, and Ken Kuhlman, assistant area manager, toured the Berger Resource Conservation area, about 15 miles southwest of Twin Falls. The students saw the land that was in sagebrush with no grass and areas where sagebrush was removed and seeded with wheatgrass for grazing. Also viewed by the group was the water system installed by the BLM a few years ago.

Montana Students Tour Berger Range

The Berger Resource Conservation Area was the object of a tour recently by nine University of Montana students majoring in range management.

The resource area four is one of several tours the nine students and their leader, Lee Eddleman, assistant professor of forestry and range management at U of M, will make this month.

The group of 10 is on a 30-day tour of the Western United States to see range resource management practices. They left Montana last weekend and were in the Twin Falls area half a day before continuing on into Nevada. Besides Nevada, the group will tour through Arizona, New Mexico, Utah, through Eastern Idaho and back into Montana.

In the Berger Resource Conservation Area, about 15 miles southwest of Twin Falls and consisting of 51,000 acres of public domain and 640 acres of state lands, the touring group saw results of a management program currently under way by the Bureau of Land Management and local ranchers.

Bob Brock, area manager, and Ken Kuhlman, assistant area manager, both with the BLM, Burley district, explained how the resource area was developed.

The two told how the area was cleared of sagebrush and seeded to wheatgrass, which now is used for livestock grazing.

The water system in the area, installed by the BLM, was shown to the touring group as well as several pasture areas that will soon be grazed by livestock.

This 30-day tour is an annual spring event for graduating seniors at the University of Montana. While on the tour the students keep notes, and after the tour a journal is compiled by the students before they receive their degrees.

PRICE SET — California canners have agreed to pay $70 to $75 a ton for peaches harvested this year, the California Canning Peach Association reported today.

Air Pollutants Said To Be Hazard To Agriculture

RENO — Pathogenic air pollutants in many geographical areas of the world already impose a greater economic hazard to agriculture than does either adverse climatic conditions or insect infestation, said Ben R. Payne, assistant professor of biochemistry at the University of Nevada, Reno.

Payne, who is engaged in pesticide residue research, recently attended a national air pollution workshop at Pennsylvania State University. Participants in the workshop consisted of scientists from the U. S. and Canada involved in air pollution research in agriculture.

"Emphasis at the workshop," Payne said, "was on pollutants in the air as they affect plants but discussion also extended to water and the total environment."

Considering the economic impact on agriculture, Payne pointed out, it has been estimated that air pollution causes more than $500 million dollars worth of crop losses each year with California bearing $100 million of the total. Meat investigators agree, he said, that sulfur dioxide, hydrogen fluoride, nitrogen dioxide, ozone and PAN (peroxyacetyl nitrate) are the worst offenders at present. Most of these result from industrial emissions in proximity to agriculture. PAN is a result of lightning causing photochemical reactions with air pollutants.

As an example of air pollution effects on plants, Payne said, insect infestation in the area was related about an enterprise which reclaimed copper by burning off the polyvinyl covering on a copper wire. The result was an emission of hydrogen chloride which wound up killing 8,000 acres of cherry for surrounding the plant's site in the Allegheny mountains.

During the conference, Payne said, numerous research papers were presented on the causes and effects of air pollution on man and plants. He explained that because of increasing reports of air pollution damage the American Phytopathological Society (plant pathology) created a committee in 1964 to look into the broad areas of pollution damage to plants.

"While Nevada has no serious problems of air pollution," said Payne, "it does have the ideal conditions to study isolated instances such as pesticide movement in the atmosphere, without major interference from other air pollutants." He pointed out PAN (peroxyacetyl nitrate) is approved but not funded for the Oravada area.

Idaho Potato Official Has Visit With Japanese Aide

BLACKFOOT — The president of the Idaho Potato Producers Association recently paid a courtesy call on a Japanese official in an effort to increase imports of Idaho processed potatoes to Japan.

A. J. (Jack) Evans, Blackfoot, president of the Idaho association, visited with Tatsu Iwama, director of external affairs for the Tokyo Prefecture Japan and a personal representative of the Governor of Tokyo.

Mr. Evans is in Tokyo with four other representatives of the Idaho potato industry to attend the Tokyo International Trade Fair, one of the world's largest trade exhibitions. With Evans are Don Robertson, vice chairman of the Idaho Potato Commission, and Ronald Baird, Roland Jones, both members of the commission.

The four men are overseeing a display of processed potatoes in the exposition in an attempt to sell more processed potatoes in Japan and other countries participating in the fair.

During his visit with Iwama, Evans presented a letter from Gov. Don Samuelson in which Samuelson expressed an interest in increasing trade between Idaho and Japan.

Pasadena 4-H Club Elects New Officers

The group collected samples of well water from ranches in the area and sent them in to be tested for bacterial content.

Rocky Trail and Harlie Hanke reported on their trip to the 4-H Congress, and showed films. They also told of their "401 The Farm" tour to Caldwell.

Mrs. Trail announced that there would be a Field Day Saturday at the Caldwell experimental station, to which all the 4-H members were invited.

PREPARE PROGRAM

Before insects begin their annual onslaught, prepare your spray program, ready your spraying equipment, and check the list of chemicals available and what is recommended in your locality.

DANDELION TIME: Be it a weed or a pest, it's an endless battle fighting this ubiquitous invader since it seeds drift in from your neighbor's lawn.

French fried dandelion blossoms are good! First, gather a batch, look them over, and pick the best. If area has been sprayed with chemicals, roll them in a towel to remove excess moisture. Dip each blossom in flour and fry in deep fat. Sprinkle lightly with salt and eat.

Some folks use the young blossom heads in pancakes. Drop into a batter before turning the pancake. And Boy Scouts if you ever need emergency food you can eat dandelion seeds.

Use a heat dandelion salad, raw or cooked. Leaves may be boiled like spinach (a change of water lessens the bitterness) and the leaves can be sliced for salads, and some folks roast, fry, and even grind them to "make a coffee-like beverage."

THE WEEK'S PERENNIAL: If you're looking for an easy-to-grow perennial, False Indigo, Baptisia (Bapt. tinctoria) is ideal for the gardener who groans: "I can't grow anything!"

Baptisia has Indigo-blue flowers in May and June and they can be used for cut flowers. Some dry the fat seed-pods for winter arrangements. Plants are started from seed in spring, although you can divide older plants. Division is quite a chore since the plant is deep-rooted. Prefers full sun but will grow in semi-shade.

Use False Indigo for background plant, specimen plants, or in borders. Insects or diseases do not bother Baptisia and this makes the plant worth growing.

Films Shown

HANSEN — Two films were shown during a recent Hansen Livestock 4-H Club meeting.

The films were on 4-H projects and how parents can help make them a success and on photographing the Blue Angels in formation.

Members discussed the county fair and a fund-raising project. It was announced that Club Convention will be held June 14 in Moscow.

QUESTION OF THE WEEK: Two large trees in our lawn and they kill out the grass underneath. I buy shade grass but it dies soon after it is planted. Is there any grass that will grow there?

Let's face it. Shade under maples is so dense that not even shade loving grasses. Here's how you can handle such a shady problem:

1. Lay a fast-growing annual grass (such as annual blue grass) and let it come up. It'll be green until all the leaves come out on the tree in summer, then the grass will die.

2. Lay a flagstone patio beneath the tree and forget about growing anything.

3. Or you can put a layer of crushed stone beneath the tree for a neat appearance.

You can also plant a bulb such as scilla, which blooms early in spring, before maple sends out leaves.

4. Or you can cut out some of the limbs to let enough light in to favor growth of grasses.

D. R. of Buhl: "We have access to plenty of Elm stump chips. Would they be harmful to use on the compost or around shrubs as a mulch? It seems a shame to waste them."

Chips from elms which have been cut down due to disease are perfectly safe to use on the compost or as a mulch. They can even be worked into the soil where organic matter is lacking. The only need here is some extra plant food to offset nitrogen shortage that might occur temporarily.

Use a pound of dry fertilizer to a bushel of chips, or water them with a liquid plant food such as 23-10-17. The only time elms present a disease or insect problem is when firewood logs are stored. Here they form a good place for beetles to congregate.

D. E. of Caldwell: "Every year I seem to have birds swoop down and strip the tips of our garden plants, tomatoes and other plants. Last year we used some ordinary agricultural lime on the plants and it worked with 100 per cent success. Not a bird bothered us again. I thought your readers should know about using lime as a preventive measure."

Stocks

NEW YORK (UPI)—The news background was mixed Friday and so were stocks as trading moved into a ho-hum stretch. Turnover was fairly heavy. On the bright side were Vietnam peace hopes. But less constructive were currency woes in Europe and a comment by Commerce Secretary Maurice H. Stans that the Nixon Administration is beginning to win the war against domestic inflation.

Near 1 p. m. the DJI stock market indicator, measuring all stocks traded, showed a gain of 3.01 per cent, or 12.54 points, closing at 400.84. The Dow Jones average of blue chip industrials eased 0.71 to 362.97 after almost three hours. Volume topped the nine-million share level.

Successful Investing

By ROGER E. SPEAR. We are a young couple struggling on our salary but with two small children. Eight years ago we started an accumulation plan for $10 a month.

Wall Street Chatter. NEW YORK (UPI)—The main factor prompting the current market rally seems to be the lack of evidence that economic restraints are taking hold.

Some consolidation of recent gains could well be expected at this point, according to E. J. Hutton & Co. Another broad gain or two would carry the market into a short term technically overbought condition.

A Long term position in the market should continue to reflect the inevitable impact of monetary restraint. Bache & Co. says the impact of tight money has a lag period of six to nine months.

Wendell Battles Homedale For A-3 Team Crown In Regional Here Saturday

Wendell and defending champion Homedale collide in three events and therein lies the probable team championship of the Class A-3 Region. The teams figure to meet Saturday. The teams class to fight it out for the title with no other squad as yet having the quality or depth to challenge the two contenders. The field events at 1:30 p.m. Saturday with the running finals slated for 2:30 p.m. at Twin Falls' Bruin Stadium.

Wendell and Homedale must beat Homedale in both as the third district crew has to come in the slight favorite because of four potential first place individuals. Wendell can make a move in the relay with fleet sophomore Rick Dennis being eliminated.

from the 220-yard dash. Coach Yogi Behrens must decide when his fastest man should run. The 80-yard relay would be a good place but it comes close to the 100-yard dash, where Dennis all so will run. The chances appear to be a matter of the fourth district. Defending champion Tom Ovarlie of Hagerman, Brent Jones of Rait River and Dennis and Ralph King of Wendell are favorites to watch. King should be strong enough for third in the high but it would help Wendell immorally if Dennis could get a big win in the lower.

Pari-Mutuel Racing Set At Glenns Ferry Saturday

GLENN'S FERRY — Progressive racing, perhaps an innovation for this area, makes its debut this weekend during the opening of a seasonal, month-long pari-mutuel racing session at the Elmore County Fairground race track in Glenns Ferry.

over the next two weeks. The quarter horse progressive, also race nine but on Sundays, starts at 2:00 p.m. and runs for 400 yards, through the last three steps. The field, which remains the same each week, will be awarded points on basis of finishing order and distance. The horse with the greatest number of points at the end of the Memorial Day finale will be judged champion.

Gooding Wins Junior High Track Meet

GOODING — Striking particularly hard in the field events, Gooding Junior High School ran off with both ends of a grade school track meet Thursday afternoon at the Gooding State Fair.

Two of the features of the opening card this weekend will be the five-race quarter horse futurity tria Saturday and the 400-yard dash. A total of 40 entries will be eliminated down to the final eight which will run for an approximate $40,000. Sunday's feature could be race No. 6, a three-furlong event for three-year old and up Appaloosa. The entry is restricted to Idaho bred.

Hagerman with its quarter-mile relay, Overlie and Ray Lapp in the high jump, could be a four-first team weekend. The relay team, Nanna Christian might get three. All wins mean six points and at state 24 points looms very large and 18 can get a team into the top five.

Astros Rally In Ninth To Top Phils 9-7

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — The Astros pulled out a roller coaster shortstop with two out and the bases loaded in the ninth inning to tie the game and Johnny Edwards singled in two runs as the Houston Astros rallied to defeat the Philadelphia Phillies 9-7 Thursday night.

Hail Storm Postpones Golf Tourney

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI) — A brief but devastating thunderstorm that turned the sky black, produced no rain and postponed the 7,138-yard Pecan Valley Country Club course was a wasteland of submerged ground and flooded fairways after the 15-minute storm.

After Richie Allen had driven in two runs with a career grand slam homer and a seventh inning single to give Philadelphia a 7-3 lead, the Astros knocked out starter Mike Wise with three runs in the eighth and jumped on reliever Gary Wagner for the three decisive runs in the ninth.

Gooding posted 68 points in winning the seventh grade division and 46 to pace the eighth grade. Gooding State, which hasn't had much to boast about in track, came up with the stars in the eighth grade division. Saxton won the low hurdles and 330-yard dash but McCawley was a triple winner, taking the high jump, broad jump and 600-yard run.

Play already had been temporarily suspended Thursday before a drop of rain fell on the course. The U.S. weather bureau had alerted the PGA that a storm was approaching so the players were waved off the course.

Edwards followed with his single, scoring Biefary and Rader. After who struck out four straight times Wednesday, lofted a pitch by rookie Tom Gifford over the 64-foot high center field scoreboard to overcome a 3-0 Houston lead in the third inning.

OAKLAND, Calif. (UPI)—They're talking about a professional basketball dynasty in Oakland built around the likes of Alex English, Barry, and Warren Armstrong, rookie phenom of the Oakland Oaks, scored 39 points Wednesday night.

"I hope this is the beginning of a long dynasty for the people of the East Bay," said Ken Davidson who passed out $100 bills to his players after the Oakland game.

Israeli '700-Meter Dash' Tests Speed Of Arab Foes

By ROBERT MUSEL
UPI Senior Editor

JERUSALEM (UPI)—There is a spring event that is not listed in any track and field competition. Israelis call it "the 700-meter dash."

The runners, they say, are Arab guerrillas and the swiftest of them may survive. Some pay with their lives for being slow. The "race" is the 700-meters (900-yard) stretch from the dense undergrowth along the Jordan River in the Valley of Beth Shean, where guerrillas to the swift—and only to the have been harassing Israeli swift.

Although the guerrilla campaign against Israel as far as correspondents here can see, is not a major threat to the country, there is growing anger at the attacks.

One source said the farmers at such kibbutzim as Gesher and Ashdod Arab had urged Defense Minister Moshe Dayan to push back the present Jordan frontier. This was not feasible, he said, emphasizing "but we must do something about it."

Dayan and the chief of staff, Lt. Gen. Chaim Bar-Lev, have also warned that Arab tactics are irking Israel.

The source said the latest information to reach Israel about the guerrilla campaign indicates it may be more of a danger to the regimes of King Hussein of Jordan and President Gamal Abdel Nasser of Egypt than to this country.

In Jordan, he said, guerrillas—he constantly referred to them as "terrorists"—openly flout an agreement not to appear uniformed and armed in the streets of Amman. He said Hussein has brought two more brigades of loyal bedouins into the capital, one of which is stationed not far from the royal palace.

In Egypt, he said, the pressure by guerrillas, added to the impatience of younger officers and the younger generation may force Nasser into more extreme measures than he might otherwise take.

"We don't believe their main aim is Israel. If it had been they would have surely done something by now," the source said.

"One must keep the terrorist campaign in perspective," he said. "We lost proportionately more people in the Arab troubles of 1929, 1933, 1936 and 1939, than we are doing now."

DOING HER THING FOR decency, Fran Garten, the current Miss American Teen-Ager, hopes to attract 100,000 supporters to a rally in New York City. The rally, she hopes, "will show the nation that the majority of kids today are responsible... that we want many of the same things adults want."

Industries Launch Move To Seek Talent In Ghettos

By FREDERICK H. TRESH
United Press International

International Business Machines is building a plant in Brooklyn's Bedford-Stuyvesant Negro ghetto. Avco is setting one up in the Roxbury district of Boston. Westinghouse plans a new factory in Pittsburgh's Homewood-Brushrun area and Control-Data is building a facility in the Negro district of Minneapolis.

For the potential black manager already out of school, industry has to carry the bulk of the load, providing on-the-job training and assuming some of the financial burden for additional college work. For those in school, the colleges need to design business programs for them with heavy emphasis on remedial work.

In the longer range, Johnson urges that the public schools be "shaken up" so the black student does not emerge an educational cripple. Too many now graduate lacking the ability to handle numbers and the necessary verbal skills.

"Most students are afraid of numbers and that is especially true among black people," Johnson said in an interview during an American Assembly conference last week on black economic development at Harriman, N.Y.

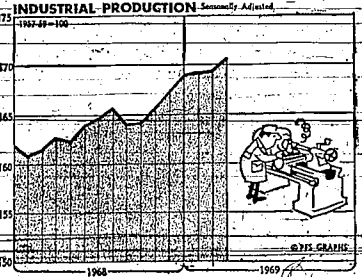

Johnson said the nation's predominantly white colleges have turned out only a relative handful of blacks with business degrees and the black colleges simply aren't equipped to do it.

Johnson, one of the nation's most prominent Negro business educators, is establishing a graduate program at Massachusetts for black corporate employees identified as potential managers.

Gov. Samuelson To Participate In Tour From Rupert To Arco

RUPERT — Gov. Don Samuelson has notified the Rupert Chamber of Commerce of his intentions to participate in a special open tour of the road area from Rupert to Arco May 21.

A caravan will leave Rupert at 9 a.m. with a stop planned at the Crystal Ice Caves for a sack lunch. After a tour of the caves, airplanes will be available to fly the group over the remainder of the road area to Arco.

Any one wishing to continue to Arco may go by car and the Arco Chamber of Commerce will arrange for an evening meal there.

Special invitations have been issued to the governor, congressional delegation, state legislators from the areas, state highway committee, personnel from the Shoshone highway office, state park committee, BLM officials from the state, Idaho Falls and Shoshone, Paul Fritz, superintendent of the Craters of the Moon, Secretary of the Idaho Wool Growers Association, Minidoka, Butte and Blaine county commissioners, Technical Action Panel of the area, Al Minton, State Department of Commerce and Development, Louise Shadduck, Eastern Idaho Chamber of Commerce, Southern Idaho Chamber of Commerce, Northside Community Club members of the chambers of commerce of American Falls, Idaho Falls, Aberdeen, Arco, Blackfoot, Pocatello, Heyburn, Paul, Burley and Twin Falls.

The Rupert Chamber of Commerce will put up signs showing the direction over the road to the Ice Caves, and the Arco Chamber of Commerce will install the signs from there to the Ice Caves.

The public is invited and those participating should plan to take a high clearance vehicle. The caravan will leave from the Rupert chamber office.

A "dry run" will be made of the road area Wednesday, a week prior to the tour.

The chamber has been working with officials at the caves and various highway officials to get the road improved and have planned the tour to acquaint the public officials and the public with the road problem.

Lease Okayed In Minidoka

RUPERT — The Bethesda Geriatrics Foundation, based in Nebraska, and Minidoka County have agreed on tentative terms of a lease for the Minidoka Memorial Hospital, following a recent meeting in Boise with representatives of the Small Business Administration.

The foundation will lease the hospital subject to availability of funds for construction of a 55-bed nursing home.

Meeting with Minidoka County commissioners were Charles Turner, president of the foundation; Hugh Coats, president of the Rupert branch of the Idaho First Security Bank; and Richard Bohle, president of the Rupert Development Corp. The recently appointed hospital board, hospital staff members and area physicians also discussed the proposal.

Larry Duff, Minidoka County deputy prosecutor, explained that the nursing home will be constructed solely by funds raised by the Rupert Development Corporation through mortgages and debenture notes. No liability will be incurred by the county for construction or maintenance of the facility, though the hospital and nursing home will operate jointly, Mr. Duff said.

Sale of the notes by the corporation should raise from $20,000 to $50,000, Mr. Duff said. Subscription agreements should be available from Mr. Bohle within a week.

Anticipated cost of construction for the nursing home is $500,000.
