Search Is Pressed For Two Escapees From Gooding Jail

60 Hurt In Riot At University

GOODING—Law enforcement officers throughout Magic Valley are on the alert for two Chicago brothers who escaped from the Gooding county jail early Friday morning.

Gooding sheriff's officers identified the men as Arthur William Neal, 29, and his brother, Joseph Wayne Neal, 20, who have extensive police records both in Chicago and Los Angeles. They are believed to be dangerous.

Officers said the two broke down the door in the temporary jail facilities in the basement of the Tuberculosis Hospital at Gooding. The county is without a courthouse since the structure burned last year in the blaze which destroyed the Lincoln Jail. Roadblocks were set up throughout the valley after the jail break was discovered about 1:30 a.m., but these efforts were abandoned shortly after 3 a.m.

Officers thought there was some likelihood the two men would attempt to board freight trains going through Gooding.

Lincoln County Sheriff Thomas Conner Shoshone, boarded one train to cause it to stop and another freight was being deliberately slowed as it went through Gooding.

Sherriff Conner said it was believed the two men were still in the immediate area and are on foot. They are being held on charges of burglary charges in connection with a theft at Cady Auto Co., Hagerman, last March 28.

Other prisoners at the Gooding jail and George Eden, the jailer, heard the brothers break out of the facilities and notified the sheriff. It was reported the Neals had been asking fellow prisoners about roads in the area.

Arthur Neal, described as five feet, three inches tall and weighing 158 pounds, has the word "Linda" tattooed on his left forearm while Joseph, five feet nine inches and weighing 155 pounds, has "Born to Love" tattooed on his left upper arm. The brothers were wearing dungarees and grey short-sleeved shirts. Officers said the fugitives took two blankets when they left the jail.

One Child Remains Serious From Wreck

BOISE (UPI) — One child was still listed in serious condition Thursday after a head-on school-bus-truck collision that killed an eight-year-old boy and injured 60 students.

The victim of the crash was Michael A. Rea, 8, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arland Rea of rural Boise. The youngster was dead when he was removed from the overturned bus.

Steve Grayhall, whose sister was also injured in the accident, was listed in serious condition at St. Alphonsus Hospital in Boise.

An eyewitness to the accident, which occurred on U.S. Highway 20-28 near the Fairgrounds, said the bus tried to swerve to avoid the truck.

Rea, said the bus passed him at the intersection of Glennwood Road and the highway at the stop sign.

The impact rolled the bus more than once, ripping into the cab portion. The collision ripped the front end of the bus off and threw the engine 30 feet from the highway into a pasture.

"This bus was just rolling," Sherriff said. "One of the kids was thrown out. Some were pinned in."

Bus driver Barry Jenkins, 18, who was just leaving the route, was listed in good condition at St. Luke's Hospital. Truck driver Blair Manwill, listed in fair condition with head injuries, was pinned in his truck and had to be freed with cutting torches.

Ambulances took the screaming children to St. Luke's Hospital, where 48 were treated, and to St. Alphonsus Hospital, where 12 were treated.

Those still hospitalized included Brenda Jacobson and Joe Echavene, both satisfactory; Judy Woods, Gordon Gerber, Darlene Greyball, Geneva Jones, Susan Root and Kodya Thompson, all fair; and Robert Ottolassa, good.

The accident was the first fatal school bus accident in recent years. The bus was taking the children mainly to the Pierce Park and Lincoln Elementary schools.

'Absurd' Migrant Service Project Approved

PARIS (UPI)—The Communist side at the Vietnam peace talks today dismissed as "absurd" part of President Nixon's eight-point peace plan. But the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong negotiators adopted a softer line on their own demands.

Henry Cabot Lodge, chief U.S. negotiator, presented the Nixon plan at today's session, and asked the Communist side "not to answer hastily and to think over our proposal just as we are thinking about yours."

The special meeting was called since there was not a quorum present at the quarterly meeting last week. In the absence of Marvin Glisseck, board chairman, Barney Klein-

After Thursday night's report meeting the best so far for the teams — the campaign still was a half million dollars short of the ambitious goal of $95,000.

"We hear all sorts of complaints about them 'dragging Main' or expending their energies in other ways that we may not exactly approve. But, what do we provide to give them a choice?"

"We've done quite a lot for the younger group and for the older citizens, but unless there happens to be a school activity the teenagers are left pretty much to their own devices."

Section leaders, division managers, team captains and workers all were urged to make a super-human effort in the last five days of the campaign to make the drive a success.

Persons who have been misled by workers, but who would like to pledge a donation for the building are urged to telephone the drive office, 734-2190.

As of Thursday night the campaign had achieved 15 percent of the $95,000 goal, or $14,250.

Armour Anderson of Gem State Paper Co. was revealed as "Mr. Mystery Man," holding in his promise to award all teams which turned in 100 percent of their members' pledges and teams which had 100 percent of their members in attendance. The amount of the awards was $120.

Crews Expect To Complete River Fight

HAILEY—Cooler weather had lowered the Big Wood River Friday and army engineers and county crews were hopeful of completing their emergency work of reinforcing the river banks through the Bellevue area.

Friday morning the river measured 4.02 feet at Hailey, compared to 4.40 Thursday. Crews completed hauling rock to the site south of the Broadford bridge Thursday and also at the Adams Gulch bridge north of Keetchum.

Friday they were working on the river bank along the Charles Early ranch and expected to complete the work there, but Thursday afternoon a large log jam forced about half of the river onto grazing land on the Edward Gage ranch, county commissioners said.

Auto-Firm Employee Attacks Co-Workers

TWINSBURG, Ohio (UPI)—An auto company employe who recently was released from a mental hospital ran berserk through a production line Thursday, firing two automatic pistols for an hour at co-workers.

Police said Robert Kenneth Smith, 31, a production inspector at the Chrysler Corp. stamping plant, killed two workers and wounded 10 others, three of them seriously, before taking his own life with a single shot in the temple.

Twinsburg police said Smith, married and the father of three children, was released recently from a Youngstown, Ohio, mental hospital and was still under psychiatric care.

Smith was released from the hospital with "several hundred pounds" of ammunition near Smith's body. There was no immediate indication what caused the shooting spree, although police said the Chrysler Corp. stamping plant where he worked had been garnishing his wages.

Police earlier reported five persons were killed, but Police Chief Glenn Osborne said they "had the wrong information at first."

Police said Smith, 31, of Morgadoro, Ohio, arrived late for work and suddenly began running through the production line, firing the "automatic pistols. About 1,000 employes were working at the plant when the shooting broke out.

Sam J. Zuechowski, 57, of Alliance, Ohio, was sitting in the plant lunchroom when a bullet struck and killed him. Another employe, identified as Vincent, also was killed in the plant gunfire.

Hospital spokesmen said four of the 10 injured workers were in critical condition.

Misuse And Abuse Of Welfare Criticized

Misuse and abuse of welfare which creates the opposite effect of desired, and at tremendous cost and waste, came in for criticism Thursday by W. Grant Kilbourne, vice-president of J. R. Simplot Co., addressed members of the Twin Falls Kiwanis Club.

Mr. Kilbourne, who also is president of Simplot Chemical Co., Ltd., Canada, was featured speaker Thursday noon at the American Legion Hall.

The session marked the service Club's recognition of Salvation Army Week and members and officials of that organization were honored during the luncheon meeting.

As detailed by Mr. Kilbourne, some of the abuses include payment of unemployment insurance to strikers as done in a number of states, thus encouraging and subsidizing strikes; aid to dependent children in amounts and under conditions that encourage the having of illegitimate children for profit; payment in large enough amounts, both in direct welfare and unemployment insurance, to eliminate the necessity or desire to work; the tremendous amount of waste, graft and corruption in the welfare structure, especially in foreign aid.

Concerning international welfare "or foreign aid, as we know it," it is very hard to see "any thing but a losing battle," he said.

The speaker said that "I do not want to seem cruel," but "I do want to call your attention to the fact that famine and disease have been nature's way for thousands of years of controlling populations."

"Through billions of dollars in aid, we have temporarily relieved the suffering, but we actually compounded the problem in that now we have many more millions of starving people in millions 1000 India," he said.

He said he was disturbed that unemployment insurance sometimes furnished 50 to 60 percent of a person's former income with no taxes involved in effect giving that person a "net 80 percent or so of his working income and thereby

She and her husband were charged with the 1957 murder of Ira Trendwell, whose skeleton was discovered in March in a shallow grave on the Trendwell farm near Hagerman.

Mrs. Hilwit and her husband, Lester Hilwit, were arrested March 28, the day after the body was discovered. They were returned from Ogden, Utah, to Gooding by Sheriff Brown. Mrs. Hilwit was released in custody at temporary jail facilities at the old tuberculosis hospital, the longest surviving heart transplant patient, who rushed to Groves Schurz Hospital in an ambulance today.

Open House Is Planned At Priory

The St. Benedictine Priory will open its doors to the public from 2 to 5 p.m. according to Father Simeon, one of the priory monks. The building is located on Falls Avenue.

The Catholic facility, which was just recently completed, will serve as a student center for College of Southern Idaho students and laymen of the religious order. Some classes in religion also may be offered by the Catholic fathers.

Approximately 50 high school students from the Jerome and Shoshone parishes met at the priory Wednesday night for a twilight retreat. This was the first event held in the new building.

Nuns from the area were planning a religious conference Friday night. They will have a dinner mid-mass.

The Sacrifice of Mass will be offered each day for the students and faculty, Father Simeon said.

Ivan Stone, Jerome, was the architect for the building, which was constructed by the Tibbitt Construction Co., Twin Falls. The building includes a kitchen, living quarters, lounge, kitchen and dining areas and a chapel which can be changed to include the dining room area for large groups.

Father Simeon extended a special invitation to all interested persons to attend Sunday's open house.

Rep. Powell Leaves Race For Mayor

NEW YORK (UPI) — Reps. Adam Clayton Powell and John M. Murphy dropped out of New York's crowded mayoral race at the first turn Thursday, reducing the number of contenders for the Democratic nomination to six.

On the Republican side, there are only two contenders — incumbent Mayor John V. Lindsay and the challenger endorsed by the Liberal party, State Sen. John J. Marchi, who has the support of the conservative faction.

Murphy, a West Point graduate and a Korean war hero, said he is throwing his support to former Mayor Robert F. Wagner because of a private poll which indicated Murphy had no chance of winning.

The notification that Powell was withdrawing from the race was filed without explanation by an aide of the Harlem Congressman. Powell has to meet Sunday with other Harlem district leaders to decide which candidate they will support — probably Wagner.

Highway Use Study Plan Is Discussed

Representatives from the various cities, highway districts and counties in State Highway District met Thursday for the Holiday to discuss the plan of the functional classification study required by the Federal-Aid Highway Act of 1968.

Meredy Laramie, state secondary highway engineer, and Norm Corsey, state urban engineer, conducted the session and the classification of urban and rural streets, highways and roads. Approximately 70 people attended the day-long meeting.

The engineers said there are four classifications of urban streets. They are classified as principal arterials, minor arterials, collectors and local streets.

In Twin Falls, Shoshone Street, Blue Lakes Boulevard North and Addison Avenue West, would be examples of principal arterials.

The Blue Lakes Boulevard, Washington Street North and Falls Avenue probably will be classified as minor arterials and streets such as Elizabeth Boulevard, Eastland Drive and Eller Avenue would likely be collectors.

The streets are classified as such not necessarily volume. The city engineering department will study the urban streets and make recommendations for their classifications.

The study is being presented to the state at a meeting in August.

Highway department officials said this is an important survey, because it probably will be the basis for further studies which could involve designation of good systems, eligible for financing from Federal Aid Highway Trust Funds. Future distribution of those funds may also be involved.

John Derrick, city manager, said he thought the ultimate result may not be to classify these highways as to use, but for condition. Then all the information will be available and dated each year. This would enable the state and federal officials to put this data through the state and federal highway area will receive funds for road improvement.

Proposals Studied By Cassia Trustees

BURLEY — Cassia county school trustees are studying far-reaching recommendations for improvement of the county facilities made by a Salt Lake City architectural firm.

The preliminary plans, prepared by Richardson and Richardson, will be turned over to the Educational Advisory Committee whose members will make recommendations to the school board.

The advisory group is headed by Joe Gillett, Declo, and committee members represent each section of the county.

The consultants suggest that a rural school be built about six miles south and two and one-half miles east of Burley for grades seven through 12, and that the present high schools at Declo, Malta and Oakley be converted into elementary schools.

The present Declo elementary school would be demolished and the high school converted into an elementary building by adding a new library, kitchen and multi-purpose facilities.

Judge Holds To High Bond For Suspect

BOISE (UPI) — Justice of the Peace Fred Crowell Thursday refused to lower bond for Oliver B. Turner, 48, accused of making off with more than $300,000 in state highway funds, although Turner's lawyer argued that he needed his client to prepare the defense.

Turner, wearing dungarees and shower slippers, was returned to his cell in the Ada County jail in lieu of $300,000 bond. He will await a hearing May 29 to determine whether he will ask for a preliminary hearing on the 19 counts of delinquency pending against him.

Attorney Allen R. Bart told the court that even though the district court had lowered the bond to $50,000 from $85,000, the defendant was still unable to come up with the necessary money or property to make bond.

"I cannot properly prepare the case unless Mr. Turner is able to assist. He can do nothing for the support of his family. Nothing can be salvaged of his properties."

Turner has three minor children, a son and a wife. He was a partner in a restaurant in Boise and a bowling alley in McCall. Turner's business holdings were confiscated by state and federal officials.

90% of what passes for sales training won't sell beans.

And it won't sell any stocks, bonds, real estate, insurance, or widgits, either.

The problem is that most sales training concentrates on the product of the company—and misses the salesman's everlasting problem with the CUSTOMER!

How well DO you know your typical customer? His motivations? His human needs? His logical processes? Can you recognize buying signals when customers give them? How do you know a prospect is really listening?

The men who teach the Dale Carnegie Sales Course will show you how to answer these questions profitably. The Dale Carnegie Sales Course is the only nationwide motivational sales training available to salesmen.

Traffic Mishap Spreads Photos Of 'Playgirls'

COLUMBUS, Ind. (UPI) — Motorists along Interstate 85 near here were greeted by 21 tons of scantily clad brunettes on paper—today.

The girls, 65,000 of them, were spread across the highway when a truck—loaded with the centerfolds from a popular magazine—was rammed by another truck.

The centerfolds, featuring a skimpily dressed brunette in a provocative pose, were destined for Chicago and inclusion in the center spread of Playboy magazine.

Between 5,000 and 6,000 5-by-7 foot sheets, each containing 12 reproductions of the "double page fold-out," were scattered for three-fourths of a mile along the highway.

No tickets were issued in the accident but some of the girls were jailed anyway.

Bartholomew County Sheriff's deputies who investigated took some of the centerfolds back to the jail as pinups.

The present Declo elementary school would be demolished and the high school converted into an elementary building by adding a new library, kitchen and multi-purpose facilities.

Other suggestions: Closure of the Springdale elementary school and students there bused to a new Burley elementary school or Declo. Closure of Almo elementary school and students bused to Malta.

Improvements at the present Burley high school and construction of a new Burley elementary school and additions to the Albin elementary school.

An alternate plan suggests improving existing buildings to meet minimum needs, such as: Close the Almo school, add a new elementary school near Burley.

Improve Burley High School library and cafeteria facilities. Make major improvements at Oakley, Malta and Declo High Schools, rather than closing them in favor of a new rural high school.

Construct a new shop and gymnasium for Declo High School.

Demolish present Declo elementary school and rebuild a new eight-room building.

Demolish the old part of Oakley High School and build new classrooms, a library and auditorium and build an eight classroom elementary school at Oakley.

Add kitchen, library and activities room at Raft River High School, replace existing elementary school by a 10-classroom building.

Draft Reform? There Are Many "Buts"

Friday, May 16, 1969... Magic Valley's Home Newspaper... WILLY DODDES Advertising Manager... O. J. SMITH Managing Editor

WASHINGTON — President Nixon has just decided to go ahead and ask Congress for immediate reform of the controversial military draft law. That action is being recommended with some misgivings by the President's top military advisers. There are, they know, serious risks in sending such a request to the Capitol now.

Today's students are definitely enjoying an abundance of the second of these three Ls, but there is cause to wonder how the other two are faring. Air West Is Commended By T. F. Unit

The Twin Falls City-County Airport Commission has sent a letter to Air West headquarters commending the airline and its personnel on its excellent performance.

Air West issued a report noting its improvement in recent weeks. The report said that the first 21 days of April, 85 per cent of the flights have been on time. The officials said this result would have to compare favorably with the results achieved by any carrier at any time. They pointed out one of the world's largest airlines sets its on-time performance goal at 80 per cent.

The airline officials said Air West has become for all intents and purposes a "domestic" airline. They said the March and April level of on-time performance is unquestionably one of the best in the entire airline industry.

Arnour Anderson, in writing the letter for the airport commission, said, "Not so long ago, we were quick to add our criticisms to others on the services Air West was giving to this area. Now, we would like to be equally quick to commend your airline and all personnel for its excellent performance."

"It is pleasing for us on the airport commission to have our own fellow citizens once again rely upon time scheduled and to see smiles, fresh vigor and enthusiasm in all of your employees."

Fortas Developed New Civil Rights For Troubled Youth

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Justice Abe Fortas' most significant contribution to Supreme Court decision-making was the creation of a whole new set of rights for youngsters in trouble with the law.

The 1967 ruling, in the case of young Gerald Gault of Globe, Ariz., created an upheaval in juvenile procedure that has not subsided. Historically, children's cases had been considered civil, rather than criminal in nature, on the theory a child could be treated by a paternalistic, fatherly judge in a nonpublic hearing.

But Fortas said "The features of the juvenile system which its proponents have asserted are of unique benefit will not be impaired by constitutional domestication."

The opinion required that juvenile courts provide defendants with key procedural protections afforded adults in the bill of rights. These included the rights of a lawyer, timely notice of charges, the right to confront and cross-examine complainants and protection against self-incrimination.

Fortas spoke for the court in two major business cases, one approving the Penn-Central Railroad merger, largest in the country's history, the other that General Motors violate antitrust laws by blocking Chevrolet sales through discount houses in the Los Angeles area.

In other noteworthy opinions for the court Fortas struck down Arkansas' "Monkey law" forbidding the teaching of evolution in public schools; upheld the right of Iowa public school students to wear black arm bands as a "Vietnam war protest" and backed the Justice Department's use of post-victoria statutes in unpunished civil rights murders.

A study of opinions written by Fortas in his four years on the court shows he often expressed his philosophy in dissent.

One outstanding such opinion criticized Life magazine, the publication whose story about his connection with the Wolfson family foundation brought about his abrupt departure from the court.

Accusing the magazine of ignoring "the truth" in a folder on the desk of one of its editors, Fortas said: "The standard of a 'reasonable investigation' is certainly a minimum yardstick by which to measure the liability of public figures. It is certainly not incompatible with the full flavor of the First Amendment and disregard of this standard in the circumstances is reckless."

When the court upheld a Mississippi antipicketing law, Fortas dissented on grounds the marchers were "improperly arrested" for the purpose of putting a stop to a peaceful, orderly demonstration protected by the First Amendment.

In a dissent from the court's validation of New York's text book loan law as applied to religious schools, he declared the statutes as "an unconstitutional use of public funds to support an establishment of religion."

He also dissented from the court's refusal to lay down a constitutional rule against punishing chronic alcoholics for the return of "payment" to "arrest and unusual punishment" to penalize a man for a condition he cannot change.

Fortas Admits Making Error With Wolfson

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Abe Fortas admits he made a mistake by not making a prompt disclosure of his dealings with imprisoned financier Louis B. Wolfson by a newspaper to a copyrighted interview in the Washington Post.

"Instead of being so damn duty-stricken it would have been better to have quickly made a detailed public statement," Fortas, who resigned Wednesday night from the Supreme Court, said in an interview with Executive Editor Benjamin C. Bradlee published in today's edition.

Fortas did not detail his dealings with Wolfson until he resigned. This was 11 days after Life magazine revealed Fortas had received and returned a $20,000 fee from Wolfson family foundation. At the time the story broke, Fortas issued a short statement saying only that he returned the fee and was innocent of wrongdoing.

In the Post interview, Fortas said he saw no plot to force him off the bench.

"It's just as if an automobile hit me as I stepped off the curb. I wouldn't think the driver is a fiend or an evil man. I'm not the kind of man who looks for that sort of thing," he said.

Fortas said the incident of the returned "payment" was something he had closed his mind to "and here it comes back to haunt me."

Educator Asks Industries To Disapprove Smoking

DENVER (UPI)—Bosses may find it a bit tough to ban smoking altogether at their plants, but they don't have to make it easy for their employees to get a cigarette, a former U. S. Public Health official said.

"Somewhere in industry I must gradually withdraw the tacit approval of smoking as something that is expected," Dr. W. Clark Cooper of the University of California at Berkeley said.

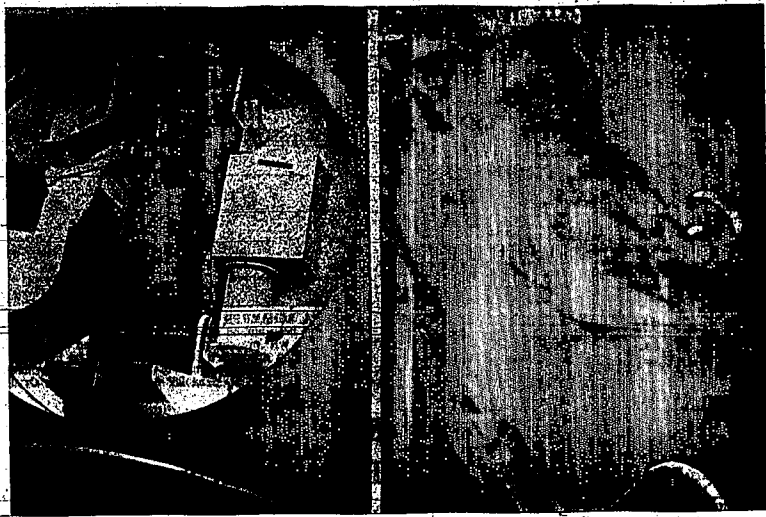

"There is no need for the cigarette vending machine in every corridor. In fact, some hospitals have banned them altogether."

Dr. Cooper told delegates at the American Industrial Hygiene conference that employers should "create an aura of social disapproval" when it comes to smoking.

"The physician agreed it would be difficult to forbid cigarette smoking on the job, except 'in an explosives plant.'"

"In the ordinary office or plant situation, people are going to resist any measure that interferes with their personal lives," he said.

Dr. Cooper said there was a great deal to be learned from what motivates people to smoke and

Solon Says U.S. Juggled Figures

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., said today the Air Force juggled figures in an effort to hide the soaring costs of the giant CSA cargo plane.

The Air Force plan represents "the Air Force's most outrageous attempt I have witnessed to mislead the Congress and mislead the public," Proxmire said in a prepared Senate speech.

He placed in the Congressional Record an Air Force briefing document that explained how costs would be allocated for the Lockheed jet—now estimated at $5.2 billion.

The document showed $386 million of the price of run B, a second order of 62 planes, was switched to the price of run A, the initial order of 88 planes.

"This allocation provides for spreading cost incurred through the pricing formula against run A aircraft," the document said. "This technique is used to avoid the appearance of excess profit for run B aircraft."

Proxmire said: "The Air Force, according to its own documents, juggled the figures in order to try to hide as much of the huge cost overrun on the CSA's first run as possible."

Proxmire also said the document demonstrated that the Air Force now expects the CSA to cost $5.2 billion, "almost $2 billion more than their April, 1965 estimates."

Air Force Secretary Robert C. Seamans, Jr., said Wednesday the plane will cost only about $600 million more than revised estimates.

He said the $5.2 billion figure includes $800 million in spare parts and other costs not considered in the $3.1 billion estimate made in 1965. He said the earlier estimate was for a smaller plane which the Air

Little Old Ladies Discover Sheriff Seeks 'Tobacco Bag'

PUTNEY, Vt. (UPI)—Two English teacher. Her neighbor, Mrs. Elizabeth Clarke agreed, along the tree-lined streets of this quiet college town came across a small bag, on the sidewalk.

Thinking it tobacco, since two small pipes were in the bag, and noticing it was found only a few yards from the campus of Windham College, the ladies thought the best thing to do was find the owner. How to go about it posed a problem.

"It smelled tobaccoish," said Miss Elizabeth Lord, a retired co., said Mrs. Clarke.

The ladies stopped a passing student, Spencer Waldron, and asked if the bag should be "put on the bulletin board so the owner will find it."

Spencer took a sniff, suggested the bulletin board wasn't such a good idea and called Sheriff William Graham.

The tobacco turned out to be marijuana.

"It still smelled like tobacco," said Mrs. Clarke.

Payments Tally Falls Into Red In Sharp Drop

WASHINGTON (UPI) - The nation's balance of payments fell into the red in the first quarter of this year for the worst three-month record since 1950, the government reported today.

The Commerce Department blamed large outflows of dollars sent overseas by U.S. firms for a shift from a $850 million surplus reported in the fourth quarter of 1968 to a $1.78 billion deficit for January-March period.

A Commerce spokesman said the shift of capital, along with effects of an East and Gulf Coast dock strike that ended in March, caused "severe but temporary distortions" in U.S. dollar accounts with other nations.

Dear Abby

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I was a bachelor until the age of 56, and I can say that some men don't know when they're well off. ... DEAR ABBY: How trapped most women are! How can a wife still love her husband who has been unfaithful? ... DEAR ABBY: I'm more than one mouse is "mice," isn't more than one spouse "spice"?

DEAR ABBY: I'm more than one mouse is "mice," isn't more than one spouse "spice"? ... DEAR DARRYL: More than one spouse is not spice, it is spouses. The noun is blammy, the adjective bigamous.

DEAR ABBY: My daughter is 16. She "goes with" a college who's a freshman in a co-ed class enough for her to come home occasionally for a week-end. ... DEAR ABBY: I am sick over this and don't know what to do. My daughter is not a wild girl and will never have a boy and with her I can't forbid her to see this boy, and I don't want her to know that I read that letter. Should I just let nature take its course? Please help me.

Coach Has Team Problem

By JACK K. GRAEME ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (UPI) - The coach of the Del Norte High School varsity swimming team has a problem. The team won't let her into the locker room.

Mrs. Mary Allherr is the only woman swimming coach with an all-male team in New Mexico. That fact doesn't seem to bother her, she has coached over a 9-11 record this season.

"The boys on the team were skeptical of me at first," she said. "It took about three weeks to get them to accept me as a taskmaster and that I expected top efforts from all the swimmers."

Mrs. Allherr has been at Del Norte for two years, previously she coached for three years at an Albuquerque junior high school.

The teen-agers have given her no disciplinary problems. "Mrs. Allherr has given her more of a problem with team than any other coach would have," she said. "There is always the rough-housing and the challenge of inspiring them."

"The fact she is a woman coaching - an all-male team - is not a problem," she said. "She has all the qualifications for the job. And she said the other coaches all have accepted her as an equal."

She did admit that there is one problem just because of her sex. "When I take the boys to a meet, the other school just says, 'There is always a women's locker room open so I can get into the pool area,'" she said. "There's just never a women's locker room available."

Once she broke the locker room barrier by necessity. At one out-of-town meet the women's locker room did not have a woman's locker room. She had to wait until everyone had cleared the room before she could go through and get to the pool area.

The Richfield Main line canal and the Richfield diversion are two new fishing sites, regardless of high water. Clyde Paulson has hooked a big one at diversion and has three broken lines to prove it.

Potatoes are being planted at the Floyd Marsh farms and the Willis Hawkes farms at Tuttle this week.

Sweet and field corn are in evidence at Tuttle this week including plantings at the Gene Turner and Bob Robinson ranches.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Barron have recently installed a self-propelling sprinkler system on their King Hill ranch. The sprinkler irrigates an area 200 feet to each side of the setting, and moves along as the area is sprinkled. The sprinkler is put out by the Big Squirrel Irrigation Co.

Wesley Fink, King Hill, has planted 15 acres of watermelons, 15 acres of cantaloupes and has 25 acres of potatoes growing. Karl Anderson, Nela and James Heath and Mr. Fink planted 6,000 tomato plants. Karl Anderson is now working part-time for the county, spraying weeds, and part-time for Wesley Fink.

Planting is completed on the Sallor Creek Ranches, near Glenn Ferry, reports Curtis G. May, manager, and beef thinning will start soon. Thinning would have started earlier but was delayed because of rainstorms Tuesday and Wednesday. Beets were cut down and a building over booster pumps about a mile and one-half from the shop was demolished by the Tuesday twister. This was followed by gentle rain Wednesday.

Gem Water Supply Remains Excellent

The 1968 water supply outlook for Idaho remains excellent, during April. Snow melt occurs at several rivers still having serious flood potential, according to report issued by the Soil Conservation Service, U. S. Weather Bureau and the Idaho State Reclamation Engineer's office.

The Morgan, state conservationist, said the snow cover on the Big and Little Lost, the Big and Little Wood Rivers and on the Camo-Beaver Creek drainages is still extremely heavy. The low elevation snow cover on these drainages melted during April and produced extreme high flows, but a cool spell retarded snow melt. This highly desirable change in weather has lowered the flood hazard, but it has not been eliminated, Mr. Morgan said in the report. Mr. Morgan said precipitation throughout the southern half of Paul Bancroft said a decrease has been noted in Thousand Springs since water up stream has been used. A summary of policy and program books from the national grange was filed. Mrs. Waldo Faught reported on proceeds from the food sale at the Jay's Ford auction. The next regular meeting is set for May 23. GRASS SHEEDING in the South Hills is checked over by members of a planning committee which made a "dry run" earlier this week. From left, kneeling, are Garret Kidd, Burley farmer; George Fry, Forest Service; Gary Evans, Focaccia, SCS; Lew Pence, Subl. SCS; and Tom Kunkel, Hollister area farmer. Standing, Bill Clark, Rogerson area rancher; Bill Kinsey, Hollister rancher; Jim Gabetas, Burley BLM; Ralph Schell, Rogerson rancher; Bob Brock, Burley BLM; Bill Brake, partially hidden, Twin Falls ASC, and Charles Blake, Fish and Game.

"Dry Run" Of South Hills Tour Made

A "dry run" of the South Hills burn area by a planning committee for the June 27 grass sheeding was a little "wet" at times earlier this week.

The committee, made up of various agencies and farmers involved in rehabilitating the area that was burned in 1968, went over the area to select sites for the upcoming tour. While going over the area, it rained and halted at times on those in the area.

Those making the "dry run" included Ralph Schell, Tom Kunkel and Bill Kinsey, Twin Falls Soil Conservation District; Bill Clark, Balanced Rock Soil Conservation District; Garret Kidd, West-Casta Soil Conservation District.

Bob Brock and Jim Gabetas, BLM; George Fry, Sawtooth National Forest; Charles Blake, Fish and Game Department; Bill Brake, ASC, and Clarence Hedrick, Lew Pence and Gary Evans, SCS.

The tour, sponsored by four soil districts, Twin Falls Soil Conservation District, S.S.A.K. River Soil Conservation District, Balanced Rock Soil Conservation District and the West-Casta Soil Conservation District, promises to be one of the outstanding grass tours in Southern Idaho.

There will be several seedings of intermediate wheatgrass and various other types of seedings shown. Also areas that were drilled and broadcasted will be shown.

The tour will be an outstanding example where an area is rehabilitated in a short time under adverse conditions.

Tillage Is Important To Spud Growers

BURLEY — Gene Rinebold, Burley, area potato specialist, says soil tillage is important to potato growers.

Flow-depth varies with the type of soil and the type of tillage matter to be returned to the soil, but a depth of eight to 10 inches is usually enough.

The seedbed should be tilled to the depth plowed. Fall plowing in most cases is preferred to spring plowing as it allows more time for breakdown of crop residue.

Freezing and churning during the winter improves soil structure. Some potato growers refer to crop rotation in the fall and plow in the spring. When soil has been fall plowed, spring harrowing as soon as the surface is dry helps eliminate clods and save moisture. Avoid working the soil when it is either too wet or too dry. This will reduce the number of clods that cause bruising of potatoes at harvest time.

Moisture also is an important factor to potato growers. Rinebold said. The seedbed should be moist and mellow at the planting depth when the seed is planted. Sub-soil moisture two or more feet below the surface is desirable. Never plant in a dry seedbed.

A pre-planting irrigation either in the fall or spring prior to planting is usually necessary under Idaho's climate. Proper soil moisture in the seedbed provides better sprouting and promotes healing of the cut seedpiece. When potatoes are planted in dry ground, severe losses often occur due to seedpiece decay.

For further information on irrigation contact Mr. Rinebold's office in Cassia County Courthouse or any county agent.

Burning Permits Required

BURLEY—Landowners who desire to burn on their land between now and Oct. 20 must obtain a burning permit from the Bureau of Land Management for lands outside the Forest Service boundaries and canal-irrigated areas.

H. Max Bruce, district manager, said permits are issued at 50 cents at the Burley office, 200 Overland South, until June 1 and after June at the fire warehouse, west of Burley.

The Burley District extends from the Wyoming border west to Salmon Falls Creek and from the Utah-Nevada border to the Snake River.

Mr. Bruce said failure to obtain a permit is a misdemeanor under state law, and is punishable by up to $500 in fines and six months imprisonment for both.

Mr. Bruce said the main purpose of the burning permit is to help fire wardens and lookouts identify controlled burns in the area. Costly false alarms occur each year because landowners fail to obtain the permit.

Mr. Bruce said the fuel on the desert lands is curing fast and is becoming a hazard. "We ask the utmost cooperation from the residents of the area."

LEARNING THE DAIRY BUSINESS on the Joe Stuber farm, Rupert, is Hajime Elmoto, a Japanese trainee in the United States learning American agricultural practices. Here he looks at the dairy cows he helps to milk. When he returns to Japan, he plans to have a dairy herd of his own.

Dairy Farm Goal Of Japanese Trainee

RUPERT—A young Japanese man is learning about the dairy industry while staying with the Joe Stuber farm.

Hajime Elmoto is one of 100 Japanese trainees sent to America, which ends next year. He is coming to the United States on this training mission. Hajime was employed on a 10 hectare (25 acre) farm in Japan, which he plans to have in his dairy herd.

Elmoto is learning how to operate a milking machine. He said he plans to have between 10 and 20 dairy cows for his dairy operation in Japan.

There are very few dairy farms in Japan and ones with 20 milk cows are very big farms, Hajime said.

"Also, I will be using milking machines in my dairy business in Japan," Hajime added. "I am learning how a milking machine operates on the Stuber farm. He added most of the cows in Japan are milked by hand."

However he does not plan to have a milking parlor for his cows. He said he plans to use stanchions for his cows.

The dairy cows in Japan are mostly Holsteins, but Hajime said he would like to see more Guernsey and Jersey cows in America.

Home Garden Sprays Now In Water-Soluble Packets

If you love to garden but dislike the messy job of mixing garden chemicals, you'll like the new pre-mixed packets of water and garden sprays being introduced nationally by the Home Garden Chemicals Co. of the Home Chemical Products Co. of five different formulations for different types of plants and will have most of the home gardening problems covered and solved. Each of the five formulations is pre-measured to make one gallon of spray and then sealed in water-soluble plastic packets for easy use.

Called "Pop-In" the sprays have been named for the way they are used. A gardener simply drops the packet into a garden sprayer or a bucket and adds water. In moments the plastic casing dissolves and the chemical is in powder form, ready to be used quickly throughout the water. No measuring or mixing is required.

Each formulation packet contains five separate water-soluble plastic packets for a single use on roses and other flowers, shrubs and evergreens, vegetable and vegetable sprays.

In commenting on the new sprays, the Home Chemicals Co. developed by its company, Walter A. Hinesley, vice president of Home Chemical Products Co., said that the most modern and effective insecticides are the most difficult to use. He particularly cited the use of DDT, which is a biodegradable chemical that breaks down within weeks after it is used and its effective power is lost. He said that the new sprays contain the highest quality wetting agents, thereby eliminating the need for wetting additives. They, furthermore, have excellent adhesion and the particles are of a size to be dispersed throughout the entire spray.

The new sprays packets were developed after years of research to provide gardeners

With a water-soluble spray and a water-soluble packet, you can get the best of both worlds. The sprays are pre-measured to make one gallon of spray and then sealed in water-soluble plastic packets for easy use. The packets can be used with any of the conventional garden sprayers.

SEX EDUCATION — ABOUT PLANTS: Since sex education is the popular thing, I thought we should get into the act and talk about sex education of plants.

Let's start by saying that plants are male, some are female, and some are both male and female on the same tree or plant. When a tree has male flowers only on one tree, while female flowers on another, it is called a dioecious tree. A Greek way of saying husband and wife live in separate houses.

Now, if a tree has both male and female flowers, it is said to be monoecious (pronounced "Moe - knee - shus") from the Greek meaning "living in the same house."

An oak tree is monoecious, meaning, it does not need a nearby "rooster" tree for cross-pollination. It can pollinate itself, so that a single oak tree can produce acorns by the millions, even though there isn't another oak within a hundred mile radius.

Most fruit trees benefit from cross-pollination, which means you should plant one or more varieties for heavy set. Some times it's a good idea to plant male trees only, as with the Ginkgo or Maidenhair tree. This is one of the best trees for use in the city, because it is practically disease and bug free. But you should use the male, or staminate tree only since the fruit of a female tree has a most objectionable odor.

EVERGREEN BROWNING: If evergreens have had a scorched or brown appearance on one side of the tree (usually toward the wind), don't worry. It's from the wind, especially during the winter. Usually the brown foliage drops off and new leaves or needles will develop.

If the browning is all around the tree, especially on the outside, then you can be pretty sure that the tree has been killed.

THE WEEK'S PERENNIAL: English daisy grows about six inches high, with leaves in rosettes producing white, pink or red flowers from late April through July. Bells (from Latin Bellus, meaning pretty) spreads from the side of the tree (usually toward the wind), don't worry. It's from the wind, especially during the winter. Usually the brown foliage drops off and new leaves or needles will develop.

SETTING OUT TOMATOES: Last year cut worms took their toll of tomato plants, so this year you should plant a cardboard milk carton, piece of wax paper, coffee can, etc., around a plant after you set it in the ground. This keeps the cutworms away.

Cutworms are a greasy caterpillar which hides during the day under rocks and comes out at night. They usually nip off the plant at the base. Rabbits may do the same thing, but you can tell rabbit damage by the cut. If the stem has been cut off at a slant, you know it's the work of rabbits. Dusting bloodmeal on the plants will repel rabbits. Some people think that bread flour dusted on will also keep the rodents away.

IT'S BEET THINNING TIME and these migrant workers are perhaps the first to start work in this area thinning sugar beets. Within the next few weeks all beets raised in the Twin Falls area will be hand thinned. This field is located one-quarter mile west of Red Cap Corner near Kimberly.

Wood ashes sprinkled on foliage will help keep beetles away, and will also discourage the birds. Tin cans also around the plants will also keep the birds out.

COPING WITH SNAILS: Heron's slip for trapping snails: Place flat tin lids about one foot square or larger, one end on the ground and one end raised about three inches off the ground—insert the underside of the lid (or shingle) daily at any hour of during the day. Sprinkle all snails with snail bait. If you can get out at night with a flashlight, sprinkle salt on snails and by morning they'll be banished.

Stale beer in flat containers will attract snails.

GROUP COVERS FOR STEEP SLOPES: If you have a problem slope—(shady and steep) try growing Abies (Unguis) or carpet bugle. Plant grows well in part or full shade, in full sun. It is a semi-evergreen perennial that spreads by runners much like strawberries. Seldom grows over four inches high, and produces spikes of blue flowers in late spring.

Another item to try is portulaca or Vinca Minor, for particularly shade or full sun, and for planting trees, shrubs or slopes. Grows six inches high, producing blue flowers in spring. Likes moist soil with high organic matter.

Troubles: Dieback disease in wet weather. Weekly sprays with captan or manab will check it. Also, remove dead or dying stems.

Hall's Honeyuckle is another one for high banks in sun of shade. You can also try Japanese Spurge (Pachysandra). You can try English Ivy, Purple-leaf wintercreeper, and creeping juniper varieties.

QUESTION OF THE WEEK: F.R. of Twin Falls: "Something has hit our rhododendron shrubs. Leaves are brown and buds have dried up. Should we dig the plant up or is there something that we can do to save them?"

Your plants have suffered from one or more forms of winter injury. Browning of leaf margins, also on leaf surface are signs of winter injury. If flower buds fall open (turn black) it's a sure sign of winter killing.

Sin acid sometimes kills the leaf tips, margins and portions of the foliage due to the drying out effect of hot sun during shade. Age of rhododendron has something to do with winter hardness. A plant five or six

Potato Specialist Says Certified Seed Is Best

BURLEY — Planting certified seed potato seed eliminates many disease hazards threatening the commercial grower, said Gene Rinebold, Burley area potato specialist.

Compared to non-certified seed, certified seed is the best insurance that potatoes can be grown in the field in the future. Certified seed is the best habit for high yield and top quality. Do not substitute with "year out" or other "cheap" seed. If the seed has not started to sprout, warm it for 10 to 15 days at 50 to 60 degrees prior to planting.

Rinebold said certified seed is the best insurance that potatoes can be grown in the field in the future. Certified seed is the best habit for high yield and top quality. Do not substitute with "year out" or other "cheap" seed. If the seed has not started to sprout, warm it for 10 to 15 days at 50 to 60 degrees prior to planting.

Whole seed or "single drop" is highly desirable for planting, but not nearly enough of this kind of seed is available. Consequently, most seed must be cut.

Large seed pieces are recommended. Seed pieces between one and one half and two ounces weight insure strong, healthy hills with three to four stems per hill. Seed of this size usually assures good germination and provides the plant with a generous food reserve during the first weeks of growth.

Mr. Dinebold said cut seed should be a minimum of new surface is exposed. Baked pieces are preferred since less cut surface is present for soil fungi to gain entrance to prevent knobby tubers.

Cut seed may be cured if not immediately planted. Best healing takes place at temperatures between 45 and 55 degrees. In a humid atmosphere with air circulation. Under these conditions the cut surface usually heals in seven days. After that the seed can remain in storage until the warming-up period prior to planting.

The most effective process results in a suberin layer over cut surfaces. The suberin layer is protective layer which reduces moisture loss as well as entrance of disease organisms. Cut potatoes often dry at the surfaces. This drying is not subertization.

In most of Idaho, seed is cut within a few days of planting. Good stands can come from freshly cut seeds since soil conditions of moisture and temperature are usually such that subertization takes place in the soil.

Proper handling of seed from storage to planter is of utmost importance. A cellar is a good place to cut the seed. If the tubers are warmed to 50 degrees or above, there will be less moisture loss.

Cardinal Wright--Pope's Lightning Rod

By REV. LESTER KINSOLVING
Western Pennsylvania Catholics were just beginning to bask in the reflected glow of having their bishop made a Cardinal, when it was learned that he would be reassigned to Rome.

It was subsequently learned that the assignment would be to the most powerful man in Rome, the International Directory of the Clergy, created on Aug. 15, 1967 by Pope Paul, is charged among other things with "conserving and administering the temporal goods of the Church."

Need For Listeners

By REV. JAMES B. HUGHES-Factor, First Baptist Church
A poem by Sheila Davis has caught on with young and old as sung in the recording by Edythe.

In the film, "The Graduate," and on a well-recorded Simon and Garfunkel dwell on "the sound of silence."

Who will answer? Who will fill with us the sound of silence? People who listen but they are few.

Who will answer? Who will fill with us the sound of silence? People who listen but they are few.

Who will answer? Who will fill with us the sound of silence? People who listen but they are few.

"I read with keen interest in the morning paper of Bishop McDevitt's definite guarantee that he did not write the pastoral letter to the extent that God is the author of the Bible. He has started as many arguments as He has finished.

While Cardinal Wright is a strong conservative on both birth control and priestly celibacy (although a liberal on most social issues, such as race), he is also regarded as one of the U.S. hierarchy's most brilliant minds.

Having once served as secretary to Boston's colorful and outspoken Cardinal Archbishop Richard Cushing (and, according to widespread rumor, ghost-writer of some of the Cardinal's best speeches), Wright is also abundantly endowed with a sense of humor.

As an example, last year at the Washington, D. C. Conference of Catholic Bishops he was saddled with the unenviable task of formulating the Catholic Bishop's 57-page Pastoral Letter on the explosively controversial subject of birth control.

Who will answer? Who will fill with us the sound of silence? People who listen but they are few.

DECEPTIVE-PLAY SPURS OVER-THINK

If South had known that trumps were going to break evenly he would have had no trouble making his spade game. He also would have had no trouble if East hadn't found out a way to misdirect South's thinking.

East won the diamond lead with the ace and carefully returned the five of hearts. South was on lead with the ace and continued by cashing the king. East dropped the deuce and the misdirection had been effected.

South still thought he might make the hand against a 5-2 heart break. He started proceeding by leading his queen of clubs and overtaking with dummy's king in order to get rid of his jack of diamonds on the ace. Then he led a trump. West's ace took the king and West led his last club. South ruffed, led a heart, ruffed in dummy, ruffed a diamond back to his own hand and led his last heart. He was ruffed by dummy's last trump. East overruffed and led his last club. South had no way to keep West from taking the setting trick with the jack of trumps.

South could have made the hand in any number of ways. He actually could have made an overtrick after East's heart play at trick two. We blame South a trifle for over-thinking but somehow or other in the backs of our minds we wonder if we might not have been fooled by East's deceptive play.

The Air Medal was awarded after he had taken part in more than 25 aerial missions over hostile territory.

Girl's Offer Of 'Surprise' Brings Death

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—Deborah Weinstein, 15, told her two young girlfriends to go into the bedroom. She had a "surprise" for them. They did. Miss Weinstein then leaped to her death from the 15th floor of the apartment building. Miss Weinstein, a patient at a psychiatric hospital, went to dinner with Theresa Reynolds, 17, of Joplin, Mo. They were invited by Shari Cohen, 19, who lives in the apartment at the Ambassador Tower House.

Police said Miss Weinstein, of Margate, N.J., was a patient at the Institute of the Pennsylvania Hospital. Miss Reynolds also is a patient and Miss Cohen a former patient. Police said the three girls were seated around the dinner table in the kitchen when Miss Weinstein said, "I have a surprise for you two, but you'll have to go into the bedroom." The two girls went. Miss Reynolds then looked out the bedroom window and saw Miss Weinstein climbing out of the living room window, police said. Miss Cohen ran into the living room but couldn't reach the girl in time.

ATTENDS FUNERAL KING Hill — Mrs. Joel Young attended funeral services for her cousin, Walter Johnson, 68, at Summers Chapel. Last rites were held at Cloverdale.

Keen was winner of the grand award of the Idaho South Western Science Fair held at Capitol High School, Boise, making him eligible to attend the International Science Fair. His project of rocket aerodynamics with respect to stability and design was exhibited throughout the past week at the International Science Fair, Fort Worth, along with exhibits from all 50 states, Canada, Germany, Japan, Korea, Puerto Rico, Sweden and Switzerland. Keen said the experience was awesome, "when one considered the amassed talent in the form of projects displayed by winners of science and chemistry fairs throughout the United States and the foreign countries." The language barrier in communication with students of the foreign countries made the interchange of project ideas difficult, said Keen. "However, the spirit of exploration was a common factor and made each association of great interest. "I was very happy to be awarded the silver finalist medal and certificate of exhibition in an International Science Fair for my efforts on my project," stated Keen. There were 32 other awards presented to winners of their categories among a total of over 400 exhibits. Keen said he was most appreciative of the opportunity to attend the fair and extended special thanks to the Capitol High School Science Department, Tom Campbell, for hosting the State Fair and making this trip possible. He also extended appreciation to Gene Coltrin, his escort and chemistry instructor at Burley High School, for his guidance and assistance.
