Thai Minister Believes U.S. Must Fight Reds

BANGKOK (UPI)—Foreign Minister Thanat Kinnanan believes the United States is committed by a 1962 treaty to help defend his country not only against an open warfare but Communist-led guerrilla attacks.

Thanat's statement, made at a news conference shortly after the signing of the 14th annual ministerial meeting of the Southeast Asian Treaty Organization (SEATO), went beyond Thailand and it would appear he was willing to acknowledge.

Thanat said the agreement he made with former Secretary of State Dean Rusk means there is a possibility U.S. military forces would remain in Thailand even after the Vietnam War is ended.

High U.S. officials who denied he was quoted by name, agreed that some U.S. presence here might be necessary after the war but said this would depend on the type of settlement achieved in Vietnam and whether the Communists later stepped up their present low level insurgency in Thailand.

Thanat and the U.S. officials agreed that if any of the 30,000 American servicemen now stationed here remained after the war, it would require renegotiation of the understanding that brought the U.S. Air Force units and supporting elements into the country, in 1964.

Correction

At Times-News story Wednesday erroneously quoted County Clerk Robert Lancaster as reporting a check marked insufficient funds on the Buhl Justice account was returned by the bank to the county.

This is incorrect. Mr. Lancaster said the county was notified May 19 that there were not sufficient funds in the account to cover the check written by Karl R. (Jack) Lewis, justice of the peace, for his April 1968 transactions. The check was not returned.

Pocatellan Loses Money To 'Con Man'

BOISE (UPI) — A confidence man posing as a bank examiner has bilked a Pocatello resident of an undisclosed amount of funds, State Finance Commissioner John D. Silva has warned.

Silva urged the public to beware of confidence men posing as bank examiners. He said one or more are believed operating in Idaho at the present time.

Silva said the fictitious examiners ask the holder of a bank account to withdraw funds and give them to him.

Then, Silva said, the phony examiner says he will redeposit the money and thus be in a position to check the bank's operations and to verify the honesty and integrity of its employees.

Silva said that all bank examiners state and national are provided with identification which includes signatures and photographs.

Should there be doubt, he said, a quick telephone call to the state finance department will verify the validity of any examiner or expose any confidence man posing as one. Bank officials also can provide information about examiners, he added.

Silva's staff said the department received a report of a Pocatello resident being bilked Tuesday by a phony examiner and that Silva issued the warning because of this.

The flavor, texture and quality of the Washington State Golden Delicious makes it one of the truly all-purpose apple varieties.

WASHINGTON — Just how much the new consensus between the Administration and the Democratic Congress to impose a Federal spending ceiling constitutes a personal victory for Rep. Wilbur D. Mills was understood only by turning back to an April 14 White House meeting.

So were most of the Congressional leaders present. But Mills, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, was not at all pleased. The budget simply was not tight enough, Mills bluntly told the President. When Mr. Nixon replied that nothing more could be cut, Mills replied he had heard the same kind of talk from Mr. Johnson. He then warned that, unless Congress placed an impenetrable ceiling on expenditures, the House would pass the surtax desired by Mr. Nixon was dead.

A Society Aroused

There may have been other periods in American history when violence was more prevalent than it is today, but surely there has never been a time when it was so much in the forefront of public discussion as at present.

One Man, One Vote Progress

BRUCE BLOSSAT

Actually, even the expenditure limit may not be carried over to pass the unpalatable surtax through the House. Mills is only too aware that the surtax would be beaten in the House today and that some tax reform amendments may be needed to sweeten it for liberals. But quite apart from the surtax, an expenditure limit is a vital tool in the struggle for control over Federal purse strings.

Solon Comments Delayed Ballots

On Pensions

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Russell B. Long, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, said Wednesday the longer it takes Congress to pass a bill to increase Social Security benefits "the better off those old folks will be."

The Louisiana Democrat said in an interview with UPI that recipients of Social Security can "count on" at least a cost-of-living increase, but he advised them that if Congress delays action until next year, the increase might be more.

"The longer it takes to pass the bill," he said, "the better off those old folks will be."

more generous that bill will be."

The previous administration proposed a 10 per cent increase in benefits, effective next January, plus an increase in the minimum payment from $55 to $60 a month. But President Nixon scaled down the request to 7 per cent effective February.

Hearing Is Pending In Burglary Case

RUPERT — Four Rupert residents are in the custody of the Minkola County Sheriff's office in lieu of posting $100 bond each after being charged with first-degree burglary.

Juan Antonio Trujillo, 24; Ramon Trujillo, 18; Maria Benavides, and Miguel Benavides, 25, requested a preliminary hearing when they appeared before Minkola Probate Judge LeRoy Blacker. No date has been set for the hearing.

The four are charged in connection with the $800 break-in at the Foodland in Rupert last Thursday night. Most of the stolen items have been recovered.

Enclosed was a winner's certificate requesting a $25 deposit within 10 days to qualify. It would be fully refunded, of course, on the day of departure.

The Post Office Department said Wednesday the deal was a phony.

A postal inspector arrested two German nationals, Hans Aust, 27, and Roland H. Graver, 22, on suspicion of violating postal statutes. They were arraigned Wednesday and a preliminary hearing is scheduled June 13.

According to the complaint, the pair did not have the funds to provide the prizes and operated out of either a Hollywood Boulevard gas station or a mail-receiving service.

It was unknown how many of the 57,000 respondents actually mailed the $25, but if every body did, the pair could have netted more than $1 million.

NEA Claims Birch Society Battles Sex Education In American Schools

By RICHARD V. OLIVER
WASHINGTON (UPI) — The John Birch Society, sometimes using such tactics as abusive telephone calls and smut literature, is active in at least 27 states to abolish sex education in the schools, according to an official of the National Education Association. The NEA's Paul Putnam said in an interview the Birch Society is using a front group called the "movement" to Restoro Decency" to attack all sex education in the schools on grounds that Communists are behind the program. A U.S. Education Commissioner James E. Allen, former education commissioner in New York State, said he is aware of anti-sex education activities.

"We saw it in New York," he said. "We found people coming around with literature—some of it the filthiest you have ever seen—saying it will be used in school."

A John Birch Society spokesman acknowledged the connection between the society and the movement to restore decency, but denied that any of its members had used improper tactics.

"There is no secret about our promoting the movement," said Reed Benson, the society's spokesman. "One of the first major projects of that movement is to get sex education out of the schools and into the homes where it belongs."

In a related development Wednesday, the U.S. Catholic conferences announced that it has established a task force on sex education to develop teaching methods and materials to enable parents to supplement at home the sex education given their children in Catholic schools. A spokesman said one-third of the nation's dioceses include sex education in their parochial school programs.

In an interview with UPI,

Allen said, "there has been an effort to mislead the people about what the schools are doing. The advice we've been giving is this: Sex education is essential. It's part of health and family living."

The NEA official said an "organized attack" on sex education is under way in at least 27 states: Arizona, California, Colorado, Connecticut, Florida, Hawaii, Idaho, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maryland, Michigan, New Jersey, New York, Nevada, North Dakota, Ohio, Oklahoma, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Tennessee, Texas, Washington and Utah.

Idaho Tribunal Is Asked To Affirm Endowment Fund

By RICHARD CHARNOCK
BOISE (UPI) — Atty. Gen. Robert M. Robson asked the Supreme Court Wednesday to declare in full force and effect Idaho's new endowment fund investment law, contending it meets all constitutional tests.

In a 38-page brief answering public instruction Supt. D. Engelking's petition for a permanent writ of prohibition, Robson and Assistant Atty. Gen. Richard Greener attempted to refute Engelking's claims point-by-point.

They asked the High Court to uphold constitutionality of the new law, the investment board it creates and the rules promulgated by that board for investing some $75 million in endowment funds.

"Attacking the plaintiff's contention the new law violates a constitutional ban on investment of state funds in private enterprise or lending of the state's credit, they pointed out the people approved a constitutional amendment that precede enactment of the law."

Not only does the latest change in the constitution prevail, Robson and Greener contended, but in cases of irreconcilable conflict between the constitution's specific provisions should apply. Those specific provisions, they said, permitted investment of the state's funds in private enterprise and does not prohibit investment of the state's funds in private enterprise.

They also argued that the state is merely a "trustee" of the endowment funds and does not lend the state's credit. Therefore, they contended, investment of these funds cannot be construed as in violation of the prohibition against lending the state's credit.

Court Orders New Decision In Pay Tiff

BOISE (UPI) — Idaho's Supreme Court reversed a summary judgment in an insurance commission case Wednesday and sent the matter back to district court for trial on the merits.

In a unanimous opinion written by Justice Allan G. Shepard, the high court said there appeared to be disputed issues of material fact.

Charles E. Jacoby brought the case against the Capaldi general agent in the Pocatello area for an insurance company. Jacoby was a selling agent for Capaldi.

A dispute arose between the two men over who actually had earned certain selling commissions.

Capaldi argued that under the arrangement established, he was entitled to the full commissions on policies sold by him and additionally to certain "points" toward a bonus Hawaiian vacation.

Jacoby received a check from Capaldi covering the commission and eventually he cashed that check.

The Bonneville County District Court granted Capaldi's motion for summary judgment on grounds that negotiations of the check constituted an accord and satisfaction of any disputed claims.

But Jacoby appealed to the Supreme Court on grounds that continuing discussions as of the time the check was cashed negated any possibility of an accord and satisfaction.

Federal Pact On Meats Brings Praise

BOISE (UPI) — Commissioner of Agriculture Stanley I. Trenhale said Wednesday he was pleased the Department of Agriculture had signed an agreement with Idaho providing federal aid for a strong state meat inspection program.

"Now we can proceed to put in motion certain programs so that everything will be ready to go on July 1, at which time our new Idaho law and the signed agreements go into effect."

Trenhale said that by Dec. 29, states should have a program equal to or better than the federal government's inspection program.

"If we had not reached that goal — but are showing definite progress — a year's extension of time will be applied for and very likely granted," he said.

Trenhale said that although Idaho was the 35th state to sign under the new federal plan, it was the third or fourth state to have a state law meeting all the federal requirements.

"Trenhale said implementation of the new law would mean hiring a few more meat inspectors, but said the new men would be able to use the federal training schools.

"The biggest change it will cause will be to broaden the scope of our present activities to include the independent processing plants, and then it will also mean that we will have to increase our inspection service," he said.

Trenhale added that the state law was copied from the federal law, with "just a few minor changes to meet Idaho conditions."

Waters Says Sen. Church Due Apology

BOISE (UPI) — Democratic State Chairman E. T. Waters said Wednesday his Republican counterpart, Roy and Wilbur, owes an apology to Sen. Frank Church for falsely accusing him with failure to file required financial statements in the Senate by the May 15 deadline.

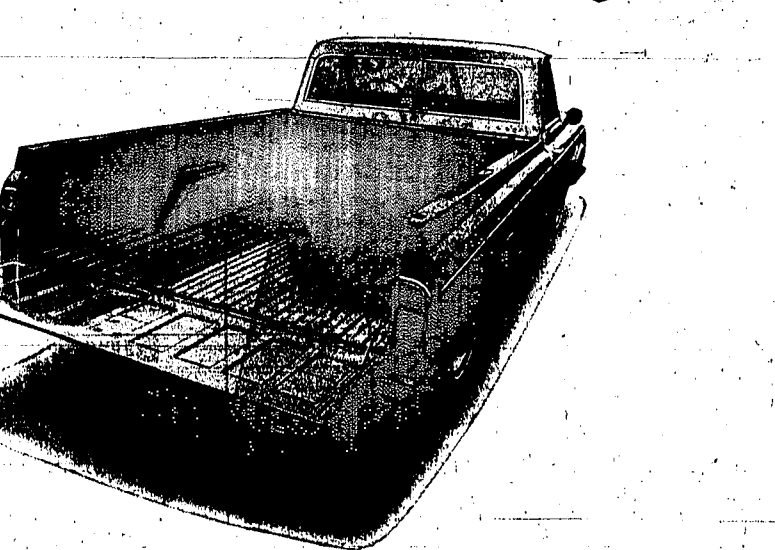

Waters said Church filed his statement on May 13, "which can easily be verified by simply contacting the office of the secretary of the Senate."

Waters said the accusation was not only untrue, "but very silly in view of the fact that Sen. Church is the only member of the Idaho delegation who regularly makes a voluntary disclosure of his income and assets — one of the very few members of the Congress to do so."

Waters suggested that Wilbur should concern himself with convincing the three Republican members of the congressional delegation to John Church in making full, voluntary disclosures of incomes and assets.

SIRHAN SUIT FILED
LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Ira M. Goldstein, 20, Encino, Calif., Wednesday filed a $500,000 personal injury suit against Sirhan B. Sirhan and the Ambassador Hotel. Goldstein was one of five persons wounded in the hall of gunfire that killed Sen. Robert F. Kennedy at the hotel last June 5.

Army Will Unload Stored Poison Gas At Colorado Site

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Army has ordered 170 carboys of poison gas immediately unloaded at the Rocky Mountain Arsenal in Colorado in the wake of accusations by a congressman.

Rep. Richard D. McCarthy, D-N.Y., told his colleagues Tuesday he had an Air Force map proving the Army was testing biological warfare agents in the open air at Dugway, Utah.

Rep. Sherman P. Lloyd, R-Utah, attempting to play down the matter a House subcommittee hearing, found himself on the spot.

Wednesday's announcement of unloading at the Denver arsenal was to save track and boxcar rental charges of $5,500 a day while a panel of scientists studies how to dispose of the World War II gas. The mustard and nerve gas has been scheduled for shipment to the East Coast by rail, then loaded in Coast ships to be sunk, with gas cylinders aboard, far out in the Atlantic.

McCarthy, which he said he got from an unnamed official, showed the test area to be about 10 miles in diameter, while the Army said it was 100 square yards surrounded by a fence "at least 200 yards beyond the actual test site."

The Army, despite the discrepancies, said it was certain it and McCarthy were talking about the same place.

Lloyd told the subcommittee he wanted to quiet "alarm-producing exaggerations" about the Dugway situation and said the Army had given him "unqualified denial" that there was a large permanently contaminated biological testing area within the proving grounds.

Asked about the discrepancy between his information and McCarthy's map, Lloyd said he felt Pentagon officials had been truthful because he had asked only if there was such an area "within the proving ground."

"Don't you think a honorable man would have had to answer your question? No we don't have one inside the proving ground, but right outside the proving ground," he said.

McCarthy would not say where he got the map, except that it came from Henry S. Ruesch, D-Wis., the subcommittee chairman.

This exchange transpired before the Army issued its statement describing the test within the proving grounds.

"THE SIRHAN AREA" is ready for Sirhan B. Sirhan, if he is sentenced to death officially by Judge Herbert V. Walker of the Los Angeles Superior Court. San Quentin's death row will house the convicted killer of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy in Cell 33. With no prisoners on either side, and no contact with other inmates, Sirhan faces a lonely life in prison. The 10-by-15-foot area in front of Cell 33 would be his exercise area, where he would be free to roam three hours daily. A cage in the background encloses the whole area, putting it into a sort of "no-man's-land." (UPI telephoto)

Alaskan Oil Find Stirs 'Gold Rush'

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (UPI)—The discovery last year of massive oil deposits on the North Slope, Alaska, 100 miles inside the Arctic Circle, has sparked off the 20th century equivalent of a 19th century gold rush.

This is nowhere more apparent than at Fairbanks Airport, the gateway to the north. This time last year it handled an average of six or seven commercial flights a day. Now the figure is between 35 and 100.

The vast Hercules freighters, used to supply the North Slope drilling camps, land and take off all day. There is a constant stream of passenger aircraft. Men are being ferried to and from the slope and executives are flying in from the south.

Dr. D.A. Osguthorpe, a veterinarian who investigated the death of 6,400 sheep last year near the proving ground when a nerve gas test went awry, hinted he had evidence other animals may have also been affected by biological agents from Dugway.

Questioned by the subcommittee about that might-have-afflicted some new-born calves which failed to respond to treatment.

"But," said Osguthorpe, "before the Army issued its statement, the Defense Department witnesses were summoned to Capitol Hill today to testify about the now-day plan. The cross-country shipment of the lethal gas was called off after disclosure of the plan by McCarthy resulted in strong protests in Congress and elsewhere."

After McCarthy called for an investigation of possible dangers involved, the Pentagon asked the National Academy of Sciences for a scientific opinion.

Other shipments of the gas, described as obsolete by the Army, had been scheduled to Aniston Arsenal, Ala., Edgewood Arsenal, Md., and Blue Grass Arsenal, Ky., for disposal at sea. An Army spokesman said these shipments had not yet been loaded on freight cars.

Army Undersecretary Thaddeum R. Beal said unloading of cars at Rocky Mountain Arsenal "entirely for reasons of economy."

He said the Army had hoped originally the train would be 110 cars. It will cost $100,000 more to unload the cars and then reload them, Beal said, but he said this might be $200,000 cheaper than continuing to pay rental charges on idle freight cars.

The Army has committed itself to removing the gases from the Rocky Mountain Arsenal near Denver. Recent airport expansion and population growth has encircled the arsenal.

Alternatives to sea disposal include land burial and neutralizing the chemical agents. The latter, Beal said, would require setting up something like a production line in reverse.

BUHL — Ted Popplewell has been elected president of the Buhl high school student body for the 1969-70 school term.

Ben Allen will serve as vice president with May Van Zante as secretary-treasurer. George Wagner is the sergeant-at-arms.

Shari Beams was elected mascot.

Even policemen have been handing in their resignations to go north. At the same time men are pouring into the state from all over "the lower 48," as Alaskans call the Continental United States, in search of the fabulous wages being paid in the oil camps.

The schools face a crisis because of the influx of immigrants the ratio of children to teachers has risen to over 40 to one; there is talk that next academic year the classrooms may have to be operated on a shift system.

In housing, too, there are serious problems. Rents have risen by over 20 per cent during the last year in some cases, and there are fears that next winter may see a housing shortage.

Soon the boom will take another great leap forward, and another vast group of itinerant laborers will be brought into the state. The three companies responsible for the oil discoveries—Atlantic Richfield, Humble (a subsidiary of Standard Oil, New Jersey), and British

Philippine Church Reported In Turmoil

MANILA (UPI)—The Catholic Church in the Philippines is in a restless, revolutionary mood.

The clamor for reforms within the church has reached its highest crescendo since Spain brought Christianity into the palm tree islands 400 years ago and made the tropical Philippines the only Catholic country in Asia.

Catholic university students have exchanged their books for placards to demonstrate in front of the office of Cardinal Rufino J. Santos, the archbishop of Manila.

A group of priests has formed a corporation aimed at launching Christian dialogue among the church hierarchy, the clergy and the faithful. In the Philippines, 85 per cent of the 35 million people are Catholics. The church has become involved in the down-to-earth affairs of its flock.

Some priests and nuns have ventured out of their pulpits and convents to dig irrigation ditches, plow fields, teach farmers new rice cultivation methods and resettle slum dwellers.

About 70 per cent of the Filipinos are said to earn the equivalent of only $100 per year or less. Church help fits the mood of the nation to improve the lot of the poor.

But the church appeared an inevitable target for students because of its role in Philippine society as the nation's single most powerful unifying force apart from the government itself.

Critics said the church was looking after the spiritual welfare but virtually ignoring the material needs of its flock.

In a statement which would have smacked of heresy in the past, the Rev. Salvador Dimen, editor of the Philippine Priests Forum, proposed regular monthly salaries for the parish priest "to enhance his spiritual, cultural and intellectual outlook through rest, recreation and travel."

Pipelayers are always highly paid. But they will have to do very well to exceed the wages of the men in the drilling crews and the construction gangs on the slope.

For part of the year there is almost permanent darkness, and for another equally constant light. Most men work in twelve-hour shifts, usually either for six weeks followed by three of rest or for four followed by two of rest.

FUNDS CERTIFIED WASHINGTON (UPI)— Sen. Len Jordan, R-Idaho, Wednesday announced the Office of Education has certified payment of $2,285 to School District 92 in Skean Valley.

GOODING — The Gooding City Council has voted to co-sponsor a resource conservation and development project covering Blaine, Camas, Lincoln and Gooding counties.

Thieves Steal $45,000 In Gems From Singer

NEW YORK (UPI)—Thieves took about $45,000 worth of jewelry Tuesday night from the hotel room of singer-comedian Kaye Stevens.

Miss Stevens, a frequent companion of the New York Jets' Joe Namath, discovered the burglary when she returned to her room at the Americana Hotel early this morning.

She is in town for two days to sign contracts for an Indianapolis production of the Broadway musical "Milk and Honey."

Among the items stolen was an identification bracelet Miss Stevens was planning to give Namath to replace a similar one lost in a recent burglary of his East Side apartment.

Couple Talks On Japan At Burley Meet

BURLEY—Mr. and Mrs. Don Robertson were featured speakers during the Monday luncheon of the Chamber of Commerce at Bryan's Cafe.

Mr. Robertson represented the Idaho Potato and Onion Commission recently in Japan. He told the chamber members that at the present time the people in Japan are eating very well and they seem to have lots of produce. They have money and they are buying.

The food shortage in Japan is coming within a few years for only 16 per cent of the land is farmed. The farm land is being used to construct factories and housing projects. Only 19 per cent of the population lives on the farm today.

The Idaho products were highly accepted in Japan. The products were not new to them for most of the major U.S. brands of food are carried in the Japanese super-markets.

The young girls are learning to cook on electric or gas stoves and speak English. American appliances are also available in the stores.

Mrs. Robertson, who accompanied her husband to Japan, told the chamber members the people were quiet and very shy. "The women wear western type clothes much as we do here in Idaho," said Mrs. Robertson. About the only time kimonos are worn is at special occasions as weddings.

The children all go to school by bus and they wear uniforms of navy blue. Tokyo has the lowest crime rate in the world and women could go in any part of the town any time of the day or night and feel at ease, she said.

The young children would come up to you in the parks and ask questions just to try out their English, reported Mrs. Robertson.

Mr. Robertson showed colored slides of the country and the towns in Japan.

Bucher Praises Pueblo Crew For Loyalty

SAN DIEGO (UPI)—The USS Pueblo crewmen who spent 11 months in captivity in North Korea are among America's most patriotic men, Cmdr. Lloyd Bucher, former skipper of the ill-fated ship, said.

Bucher, recently reassigned to a school in Monterey, said most of his men wavered in loyalty to their country during their captivity.

"We are now 82 of the most patriotic men in America," he said. "No commanding officer in Naval history has ever had more loyal to his proud of his men."

Pope Commends Apollo Flight

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—Pope Paul VI praised the "God-given" Apollo 10 moon flight today as proof of the greatness of God and of man made in his likeness.

"Who is man, that he should be capable of such feats?" the Pope asked. He answered his own question with the words of Genesis: "And God created man in his own image."

Paul, who has spoken with admiration of all American and Soviet space flights, made the moon shot the main theme of his weekly general audience.

OREGON VOTE PLANNED

SALEM, Ore. (UPI) — Oregon voters will decide next year whether to drop the voting age to 19. Three senators changed their minds Wednesday and permitted passage on a 17-13 vote of legislation putting the question on the 1970 primary election ballot.

The occupant of the flat, Frank Silva, 33, was arrested and charged with possession of the revolver and possession of narcotics found in his flat.

Ladder Company 38 had removed a burning mattress from a flat in a tenement building and were putting out the flames with extinguisher when Kelghley noticed the pistol in the street alongside the mattress. Sen. Church Backs Laws To Halt Smut

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Frank Church is co-sponsoring legislation to curb mailing of obscene material to children and individual citizens. "I have been shocked at the flood of obscene mail which is being mailed to children," Church said. "It appears that our state is among the hardest hit by the sudden saturation of unsolicited mailings of obscene and pornographic material." He said the legislation he is co-sponsoring has endorsement of the Nixon administration as well as broad support in the Senate. He said the three separate bills involved would:—Ban mailing of offensive materials to any child or teenager under the age of 18.—Prohibit mailings of sex-oriented advertising intended to generate a market for smut.—Extend a 1967 law allowing the Federal Bureau of Investigation to advise senders of objectionable material to remove their names from the mailing lists.—Church said all three bills contain criminal penalties for persons who violate the laws.

Nixon Changes Regional Lines For Departments

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon announced changes in regional boundaries for five federal departments and agencies. The changes are part of Nixon's program to streamline the federal government and make it more responsive to the needs of local and state governments. The actions taken today establish common boundaries for the Departments of Labor, Health, Education and Welfare, and Housing and Urban Development, and the Office of Economic Opportunity and the Small Business Administration. Previously these agencies, which quite frequently are involved in a common project, had different and overlapping boundaries. The changes establish Kansas City and Seattle as full regional headquarters. Idaho was switched from the Denver region to the Salt Lake City region, and Kentucky and North Carolina were switched from the Philadelphia region to the Atlanta region.

RONALD DENT, supervisor of special education, and Mrs. Larry Stoenly, aide, direct activities of Burley Junior High school students to re-orient them to the goals and purpose of school. The class started a few weeks ago to provide special help for students who, for a variety of reasons, are falling and working below their potential.

Burley Starts Class For 'Pre-Dropouts'

BURLEY — Helping students who have had their share of disappointments and school failures to succeed is a primary objective of a class originated in Burley School.

Halling student progress toward being dropped or "pushed" out is the function of the class.

Dale L. Nelson, superintendent, explained the purpose of originating the "drop-in" class, as he calls it, is to make sure that a good teacher sees to it that every child has the opportunity for constructive experiences, so must a school's program provide ways for children to succeed in their school work and to be happy about their experiences.

The class is an off-shoot of the special education grant funded under Title VI which is suspended by Senator Dean. The program originated with a discussion about problems of students whom the Board of Trustees expelled because of violation of truancy laws and other school policies.

Then five weeks ago Mr. Dent, with teachers in the Burley Junior-High to talk about changes of attitudes that could be hoped for, among some students.

The class began with two students. Later five others, identified as potential drop-outs, joined.

Mr. Dent said, "We found that there are students in school who have the ability to be successful and happy students, but for some reason they are falling working far below their potential. These students in many cases become the drop-outs in their high school years."

An attempt is being made to give these students some success experiences and individual instruction for half of the school day. They spend the rest of the day in regular classes in the junior high school, meeting requirements that will help them advance toward higher class standing.

This may help students find purpose for learning. Mrs. Larry Stoenly is working as the teacher's aide, working with the students for half a day. Part of her day—in regular classes in the junior high school, meeting requirements that will help them advance toward higher class standing.

Majestic Prince Arrives At Belmont, Apparently To Try For Triple Crown

NEW YORK (UPI)—Majestic Prince, the unbeaten Kentucky Derby and Preakness winner, arrived Tuesday at Belmont Wednesday amid a crowd of newsmen, photographers and TV cameramen at Belmont Park, where he will try June 7 to become the first horse in 21 years to win the Triple Crown of racing.

McMahon changed his mind from an earlier decision to keep the copper-colored colt out of the Belmont classic.

Despite the implication, by his arrival at Belmont, that Majestic Prince will be in the field for the grueling 1.2-mile race, McMahon declined to comment himself, saying he still might withdraw the colt if he is not in top condition.

Mays' Homer Lifts Giants Past Cards

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Willie Mays' two-run eighth-inning homer, the 592nd of his career, snapped a 2-2 tie Wednesday and carried the San Francisco Giants to a 4-2 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals.

Assistant trainer Mike Bao, who accompanied Majestic Prince on the van ride from Baltimore, said the colt made the trip well. He said he planned to sleep in the adjacent stall to Majestic Prince, and there would be someone with the horse all the time.

BALTIMORE (UPI)—Don Buford drove in two runs with a bases-loaded single off the right field wall of Frank Robinson's second-inning homer in another to lead the Baltimore Orioles to a 4-3 victory over the Minnesota Twins Wednesday night.

ATLANTA (UPI)—Tom Seaver pitched a three-hitter Wednesday night, and Cleo Jones and Bud Hershon struck key hits to lead New York to a 5-0 victory over Atlanta and push the Mets to .500 for only the second time in their history.

McMahon said he has a good chance to win the race, but he thinks, McMahon added. Majestic Prince looked fit on his arrival. He refused at first to go into his stall in Barn No. 9 at Belmont, walked around a few moments more, then entered the stall.

Brooks Robinson walked, Dave Johnson singled and Mark Belanger walked with one out in the second inning to set the stage for Buford's single.

LOOK SMART, NOT CUTE

The key to being stylish is looking "smart" never "cute." If you're still hanging on to that adorable animal pin or your chattering charm bracelet, keep them for sentimental value if you have to, but don't repeat don't wear them. They may create an unforgettable impression, but it's for sure you'll never be labeled chic wearing them.

Go "International" With Barbecue Cookout Party

Ground beef, steak and wieners are the favored meats for 60 per cent of cookout barbecue chefs. The trend today, however, is to vary menus.

According to the Barbecue Briquet Institute, many exciting family or party meals with an international accent can be cooked outdoors over glowing coals.

Here is a way to bring the colorful charm of the Caribbean isles to a barbecue feast in your backyard this spring or summer. The island's calypso music, carnivals, outdoor markets and rhythmic dances suggest ideas for exotic decor.

Invite your guests to dress in vivid approximations of the native Caribbean garb or borrow costume ideas from other island inhabitants: Chinese storekeepers, Japanese and Portuguese market gardeners, East Indian and Syrian traders, and the Spaniards, British, French, Dutch and Danish colonists.

Feature West Indies barbecued chicken on the party menu. Brushed with a sauce made with molasses. Pure unsulphured molasses gives rich color and mellow flavor to the sauce which consists of prepared mustard, vinegar, Worcestershire sauce, tomato sauce, tabasco and onion.

Along with the barbecued chicken, serve foods typical of the Indies: fresh coconut, pineapple and tropical glazed bananas, grilled over briquets. A meal of Armenian heritage is the shish-kabob dinner. While traditionally made with lamb, this versatile menu on a spear can be made of beef or pork cut in cubes and marinated ahead of time.

Thread the metal skewers with meat, tomato quarters, marinated mushrooms, parboiled onions, green pepper squares and small canned beans. Then grill this all-in-one meal over barbecue briquets. A fine dessert is almond pastry. Serve with strong coffee, the thick Turkish brew or your own favorite brand.

Girls' League Hosts Banquet

The Twin Falls High School Girls' League hosted its Mother's Daughter banquet recently at Robert Stuart Junior High School with the theme, "People."

Cecil Wallace, president of Girls' League, gave the introduction and Paul Sullivan presented the welcome to the mothers.

The response was given by Mrs. Terry Sullivan, Sheryl Heiler was soloist, accompanied by Kathy Christensen. A special dance was presented and a mothers' skit.

DEAR ABBY: How dare you advise a woman whose science is tormenting her because she cheated on her husband, NOT to tell him? If you don't know that the foundation of all good marriages is complete honesty, then you ought to confine your advice to teenagers.

You told that woman to confess to her God — to her clergyman — to a dear friend. NOT to her husband. HE is the one she should confess to!

I hope you will reconsider and retract your advice to this poor woman. You gave her very bad advice.

ROGER L.

SOME AND BLUE who is bitter toward her husband's company because she is unable to go on business trips with her husband. You are not alone. I have exactly the same situation.

My husband has been a traveling executive for 15 years. We've been married 18 years and have 3 children. I am 39, have kept up my appearance and figure, and keep up on current events. During the time my husband is away I spend as much time with the children as possible since they don't see much of their father. I don't accept evening social engagements alone, either.

DEAR ROGER: Sorry, but unless a woman is reasonably certain that her husband is forgiving and understanding man, she'd be better off keeping her bazoos shut.

DEAR ABBY: I'm with you! All "confessions" are NOT good! At age 55 I am still awakened sometimes at 4 o'clock in the morning — to hear my husband cursing me because of a past infatuation with another man. This took place long before I even met my husband, but I foolishly confessed it all, and now he insists that I am sinning against HIM — when I didn't even know him.

I would give anything if I hadn't told him, but I did, and now it's too late.

I would advise women who have husbands like mine to try to tune him out. Don't listen, don't answer, and don't try to apologize or explain. Leave the room. Sleep on the couch if necessary. (I did, last night). Consider it just another headache.

My husband is fine when he isn't harping on this one subject — which is like a sickness with him — and I comfort myself by reasoning that my love for him is greater than his love for me. I am not going to crack up, and I am not going to leave him. Statistics tell me that I'll be alone soon enough.

SORRY I TALKED

DEAR ABBY: Please, please for goodness' sake, say something about the girls who wear mini-skirts who shouldn't I mean girls with legs and figures that are nothing to be proud of. I have all the sympathy in the world for fat girls, but why should people be forced to see so much of them? It seems the bigger the rear, the shorter the skirt.

DEAR HAD IT: I've said it. Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 6700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069, and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

SAFETY PLAY BEST FOR CONTRACT

Here is another hand from the early stages of the Vanderbilt that shows Dick Walsh building up a big swing for his team.

Dick won the spade lead in dummy and while he is normally a speedy player, he really thought a long while with this one.

The elementary play would be to lead dummy's king of clubs. South would win up making the bidding. Three clubs was five no-trump, assuming that clubs divided 3-2 and that East and West did not cash their ace and king of diamonds. In fact, he might even make six if East threw away a heart.

The first part of Dick's study was to decide what the chance was that his opponents at the other table would be in game.

He decided there was a good chance they would be playing in a club part-score and it behooved him to take the best play for his contract and forget about overtricks.

Therefore Dick led a heart to his hand at trick two. Then he played his jack of clubs. West had to play his ace and dummy's whole club suit was now good. The best Dick could do was to make 10 tricks but that was a lot better than going down. He was also right about the bidding. Three clubs was played at the other table.

It should be noted that Dick's safety play was quite farfetched. It would only help him if West held the singleton ace of clubs. Nevertheless it turned out to be well conceived. The ace of clubs was singleton in the West hand and the no-trump game was not reached at the other table.

Checking Up

By L. M. BOYD
Can You Believe That Reno Is Farther West Than L. A.

STILL have trouble getting est toll ever levied there. Years ago a publicity-conscious fellow wanted to be the only man in Angeles, Cal. All right, the world to claim he was swift conversationalists, let's see you rattle off this one the first time you try: "Have a proper cup of coffee in a copper coffee cup." THE AVERAGE FREEMAN speed of passenger cars is now said to run 62.5 miles per hour. . . . WHY ANYBODY would want to do this, I don't know, but a medic says you can register four pounds lighter when standing on a scale by putting all your attention on your left heel. . . . IS THERE ANY readymade English word that rhymes with "sleeper"? "Has any man ever been known to go without sleep for as much as a month?" Inquires a Cosa Mesa, Cal., customer. I suppose the fellow heard about was Albert Adelmeire Herpin, the sleepless wonder of Repton, N. J. He lived in a old shanty without a bed in it on a railroad siding. When he wanted to rest, he read books in a rocking chair. He was hospitalized on five occasions for extended periods of time, and hospital officials who kept close watch on him certified he had never been caught napping. He died at the age of 95.

BLOSSOM TALK — When a young fellow sends his lady friend a bouquet of yellow roses, he is telling her in the language of flowers, "Look, kid, stop horsing around with other chaps. If you want to see me anymore--Or so say the florists."

CUSTOMER SERVICE — Your questions and comments about the biggest toll charge are welcomed and will be used ever levied against a ship for wherever possible in "Checking Up." Address mail to L. M. Boyd, in care of P. O. Box 9187, Seattle, Wash., 98119.

Aristotle Onassis Faces Defeat In Oil Struggle

ATHENS (UP)—Over the years, shipping magnate Aristotle Onassis has chalked up some notable financial and social victories over his archrival and former brother-in-law, Stavros Niarchos.

Niarchos has now turned the tables.

Unless Onassis comes up with a surprise, it looks like Niarchos will score the biggest victory of his life over the man they call the Golden Greek.

The prize is worth $500 million and consists of an oil refinery, aluminum complex and other industrial and tourist facilities.

It seemed six months ago that nothing could prevent Onassis from winning the approval of the military regime to build and operate the scheme, described as the largest in Greek history.

The 62-year-old shipowner had just reaped worldwide publicity and the goodwill of the Greek regime by marrying the former Mrs. John F. Kennedy on his private island of Skorpios.

His bid of $400 million was accepted by the government, which pronounced the bidding closed.

A tentative contract was signed in Athens in March. Onassis held host at a new conference punctuated by the sound of popping champagne corks.

Then Niarchos broke his months of silence with a bid topping Onassis' by $100 million.

Still, the government refused to reconsider.

Niarchos had a couple of ace up his sleeve. He said he would give the dollars-hungry regime a low-interest, long-term $150 million loan.

More important, he posted $20 million in a Swiss bank as a deposit to show he meant business. Onassis never put up any cash.

Still, the government refused to reconsider.

Niarchos then said he would undercut Onassis' transport costs on crude oil to be shipped for use in the proposed new refinery. He challenged the government to call for more bids, using his offer as a minimum.

The government asked Onassis to raise his bid to meet Niarchos. Government sources said Onassis did nothing.

Then Coordination Minister Nikolaos Makrezos summoned Onassis.

"Having the interest of the country in mind," he said, "the government has no other source but to invite again those interested to make new and better proposals."
