U.S. Forces Set Counterattack

By JACK WALSH
SAIGON (UPI)—Following a weekend of fighting that killed more than 600 guerrillas, the U.S. Military Command today announced a new 3,300-man counteroffensive to break up a communist "threat on the northern coast."

The heavy week-end "fighting and the new offensive, called Operation Lam Son, came amid outcry from Democratic leaders in Congress the United States was increasing combat in Vietnam while talking peace in Paris.

At the same time, informed U.S. military sources in Saigon said the Viet Cong had "retreated 10 to 30 kilometers into the capital with the U.S. Embassy and the presidential palace their targets."

The sources said a large-scale attack on the city was not in sight.

The Viet Cong's Liberation Radio announced meantime that the communists would observe a 48-hour truce from 6 a.m. Thursday to 7 a.m. Saturday for Buddha's Birthday. The Allies called for a 24-

Astronauts Bring Back Big Success

By EDWARD K. DELONG
UPI Space Writer

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI)—Apollo 10's three astronauts successful scout for man's conquest of the moon, came blazing home today to a narrow corridor in space into the earth's atmosphere.

In eight days since they roared aloft from Cape Kennedy May 18, they had traveled three quarters of a million miles in space, orbited the moon 31 times, and mapped a landing site on the moon's Sea of Tranquility for Apollo 11.

Stafford and Cernan flew within 9.5 miles of the lunar surface in the type of bag-like landing craft which will touch down there with Apollo 11, astronauts Neil A. Armstrong and Edwin E. "Buzz" Aldrin.

Apollo 10 wound up its flight one day after the eighth anniversary of President John JEROME—A grinding three-car crash 10 miles east of here on Highway 26 has claimed the lives of four people.

Another is in critical condition at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital a Monday Idaho State Police officers, under the immediate supervision of District Commander, Lt. Dean Bennett, were trying to piece together the puzzle surrounding the crash.

It was a Sunday accident, one of two in Magic Valley.

The second was a near-tragedy, but no one was killed although a car rolled four times and went 84 feet after collision. Three are in Magic Valley Hospital as a result of this accident.

Killed in the wreck east of Jerome were Larry K. Schaefer, 31, Bellevue; James Robert McCormick, 33, no address listed; Heidi Marie Robinson, 20, Twin Falls, and Charles E. Crawford, 25, Eden.

In critical condition is Rita L. Traveria, 20, Eden.

Officers said a car going more than 100 miles an hour on the wrong side of the road hit a car head on at about 8 p.m. Sunday. The speeding car came off a road into a head-on collision with another.

The deaths raised Idaho's traffic toll to 101 for the year, three less than a year ago this date.

Officers said it appears the car in which Mr. Crawford, Mr. McCormick and the two women were riding was speeding on the wrong side of the road. It hit a car driven by Jewel Brake, 41, Rupert. The car then went into the side of a car driven by Mr. Schaefer.

Mr. Schaefer was alone in his car and no one was hurt in the Brake car. It has not been determined who was driving the speeding car.

In the other accident, 24-year-old Mrs. Loretta A. Brown, 350 Fifth Ave. E., is in good condition at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital. Two of her children, 4, and 2, were also injured in her car, which was also in good condition at the hospital. The third was treated and released.

The accident happened at 3:50 p.m. Sunday two miles south of Twin Falls on Blue Lakes Boulevard.

Brown's attorney said Mrs. Brown's car collided with a car driven by Mrs. Atella Whitehead, 71, Kimberly. Mrs. Whitehead has been charged with failing to yield the right of way.

Mrs. Brown's car rolled four times after impact, and went 64 feet, tearing out a large section of fence.

Joseph Brown, 5, and William Brown, one and a half, are in the hospital. Lonnie Brown, 4, has been discharged for treatment.

Mrs. Whitehead and her husband, a passenger, were not hurt.

Mrs. Brown's car was demolished. Mrs. Whitehead's car was damaged about $10,000.

William was thrown from the car—and found 141 feet from the wreckage. Joseph and Mrs. Brown were also thrown from the car on impact.

Mrs. Brown suffered a broken collar bone. William is suffering from shock.

White Mortuary Chapel is making funeral arrangements for Heidi Marie Robinson. Hoy's Chapel in Jerome is handling arrangements for Mr. McCormick and Mr. Crawford, and the Third Chapel at Halley will handle arrangements for Mr. Schaefer.

Obituaries not in today's paper will be carried in the Tuesday issue of the Times-News.

Contract Is Rejected By Mechanics

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Mechanics for United Air Lines have rejected a tentative contract agreement negotiated by their union with the company, it was disclosed today.

The International Association of Machinists (IAM) said the 1,200 mechanics for United rejected the nation's largest airline—rejected the contract in a referendum last week, a "very bad blow" to the company.

The contract would have included a 30 percent pay increase over a three-year period.

There was no immediate indication of any strike action by the workers. Negotiations have yet to become involved in lengthy "processes" of the Railway Labor Act.

President Nixon could prevent a strike by invoking a 60-day cooling off period.

Commerce Secretary Favors Mining In White Clouds Area

BOISE (UPI)—Another Gem State official has come out in favor of mining exploration in the White Clouds area.

Idaho Department of Commerce and Development Executive Secretary Al Minton has recommended to the Forest Service that it permit a mining company to enter the area and mine-molybdenum.

In a letter to the U.S. Forest Service, Minton said in part, "We believe this exploration and potential development of this molybdenum mine could go a long way in diversifying the mining economy of this area and provide a better economic base for the people who live there and work in this industry."

At a public hearing, Gov. Don Samuelson went on record as favoring the exploratory proposal by the American Smelting and Refining Company.

The request has stirred up protests from numerous conservationists in Idaho, as well as from Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho.

Minton, in his letter, stated "We also feel that the ultimate result of this activity will make it possible for many more people to make use of the recreational opportunities a new 'second' beauty in the White Clouds area, which today is used by very few people in comparison to its total recreational potential."

9 Campuses Plan March On Capitol

By United Press International
A city-wide curfew and a ban on public meetings have been lifted in Berkeley, Calif., but students from all nine campuses of the state university system planned a protest march on the state capitol today.

The ban had been imposed when students, "atreat people," police and National Guardsmen were forced for more than a week to leave the state capitol park owned by the University of California.

About 400 students and residents of an adjoining hippie district began work on a new "People's Park" Sunday, a few blocks away. The new "park" is owned by the Bay Area Rapid Transit District and police said they had no immediate plans to evict the hippies.

National Guardsmen have left North Carolina A&T University in Greensboro, but the school remained closed today.

The week of violence which saw one death, helicopter spraying tear gas and birdshot fired from police riot guns, ended with a university decision to reclaim the park, slated for use as an "atreat people's park."

athletic field. The university purchased the property in 1967 but had not developed it.

More than 600 persons were arrested in the ensuing clashes and 1,700 National Guard troops were ordered to the city to help police enforce a ban on public gatherings. Twenty were made in scattered incidents Saturday.

On the other coast, Greensboro was reported "quiet," as a church, but the strike did not include verbal clashes.

The newly elected president of the A&T student government, Vance McCullough, charged the dead student Willie Ernest Grimes, who was killed by police while lying wounded and begging for his life.

Police said they do not know who shot Grimes during a National Guard and police action to quell a series of shootings. They said the fatal bullet was of too small a caliber to have come from a .30-caliber M16 assault rifle.

Police officials also charged that five of their number wounded late last Thursday and early Friday were ambushed.

The A&T settlement was ordered closed Thursday and may not reopen before the end of the term.

The CNY settlement would have half of each year's freshman class selected from disadvantaged areas with the present criteria. The faculty senate is considering the proposal, worked out by negotiations for the administration and minority group students after more than a month of sometimes violent protests.

Nearly all Democrats studying the proposal at the CNY settlement, City Comptroller Mario Procaccino, a CNY union leader, said the plan would result in "the exclusion of intelligent and ambitious students." Herman Badillo, Bronx borough president, said the settlement would be "separate and unequal colleges."

Writer Norman Mailer said he favors the settlement but his Democratic columnist Jimmy Brown, called the plan "insanitary."

Food Stamp Plan Draws Opposition

By WILLIAM H. MEAD
WASHINGTON (UPI)—The chairman of the Senate and House Agriculture Committees say they oppose President Nixon's proposal to give food stamps to the nation's poorest families. One predicted food money would be diverted to "beer and marijuana."

House Agriculture Chairman W. R. Poage, D-Tex., and Senate Agriculture Chairman Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Ill., whose committee is conducting hearings on proposals to sharply increase food stamp spending, were interviewed separately.

Although Sen. George S. McGovern's Select Agriculture Committee has held widely publicized hearings and field trips on hunger, the Agriculture Committee has not yet received any changes in the present program.

Ellender said he feared cash would mean if stamps were given free. He said state and local agencies should give cash to the blind, disabled and others who cannot earn the dollars he said money now spent on food would be left and a lot of them would buy a car on time and a TV and all kinds of things they don't need."

Poage agreed.

"If you just give them this food the money they're spending for food now is going to go for beer and marijuana and worse," he said.

The present food stamp program lifts $340 million a year in federal money. On the average, recipients pay 38 for the stamps, which are redeemable to food only at groceries.

18 Held For Burning Draft Records

By TED STEEGE
CHICAGO (UPI)—Eighteen persons were arrested early Sunday in a southwest side alley where a pile of draft board records had been set afire. Among the 18 were three Milwaukee, Wis., newsmen who said they were unaware of the intentions of the other 15.

Two among the 18 were Roman Catholic priests and another a Jesuit seminarian.

Police said they found the group with arms interlocked, shouting "We Shall Overcome."

In front of a bonfire in an alley alongside a bonded selective service office.

The 18 were charged with burglary and arson by local authorities, who also notified the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

The group included the Rev. Nicholas J. Riddell, 38, a priest assigned to Milwaukee's St. Boniface Parish—the parish from which Father James Groppi led militant civil rights marches for several years.

Other clerics among the 18 included Joseph B. Mulligan, 25, Aurora, Ill., a Jesuit seminarian, and the Rev. John P. Pinta, 33, Oakville, Ont., an Italian born priest.

The newsmen included Margaret Bauman, 26, of the Milwaukee Bureau of United Press International; and John Kroll, 28, editor, and Gary Ballester, 21, a photographer, of a Milwaukee underground newspaper called "Kaleidoscope."

In a statement released over the names of 15 of the 18, the group admitted their intention to "remove and burn selective service records."

Miss Bauman, Kois and Pinta did not sign the statement.

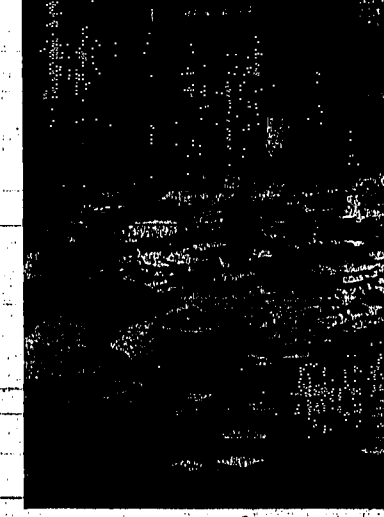

Police were summoned to the scene at 2355 W. 63rd St. by firemen, who announced an alarm reporting a rubbish fire. Fire Capt. Albert Brown said they saw a group of people dancing around the fire and shouting "We Shall Overcome."

"We thought at first it was a bunch of drunks," Brown said, but firemen soon discovered the bags containing ledgers and file cards had been taken from a second floor selective service office next door and set afire in the alley with the aid of seven green paint cans of gasoline.

In the office, police found records and files stown over the floor. Mironso paint and a black varnish-like substance had been spattered on the floor. In an adjoining room, police found blankets and a quantity of food.

Police said the office contained a stack of 100 Selective Service records. The blankets and food had been rented last week by Riddell, who had planned to hold a religious reading.

Miss Bauman said she received a telephone call See 18 HELD, Page 2, Col. 8.

BURNED SELECTIVE SERVICE RECORDS are piled in an adjoining alley where antiwar protesters broke into a local draft board and destroyed the records Saturday in Chicago. Fifteen protesters were arrested. (UPI telephoto)

300 New Laws Put Into Effect

BOISE (UPI)—Nearly 300 new laws including one that lowers the blood-alcohol level for presumption of drunkenness, went into effect in Idaho today.

Approved by the 1969 legislative session and either signed into law or permitted by the governor to become law without his signature, the measures carried on emergency clause or specific date so they became law 60 days after legislative adjournment.

Among the new laws was the one lowering the blood-alcohol reading to legally detect a person intoxicated. The law marks a change from a unit of alcohol that has been used for years.

Other new laws include measures that prohibit unmarked state police cars, raise the latest rate on state land sale contracts to 6 percent from 4 and make drug testing on public highways a traffic violation, members of employees of a college. The idea of that law is to let a teacher or a demonstrator to take over college administration buildings in Idaho.

Other new laws include measures that prohibit unmarked state police cars, raise the latest rate on state land sale contracts to 6 percent from 4 and make drug testing on public highways a traffic violation,

TWIN FALLS OFFICE of the Idaho Department of Employment has received an award of merit from the Idaho Chapter of the International Association of Personnel in Employment Security. The annual award, for 1968, was made to the local office for the labor survey it conducted for Jockey Men's Wear. Nailing up the award are Larry Drexler, left, labor-market analyst, and John L. Leinen, manager of the local office. Twelve employment-office workers assisted in the survey. Mr. Leinen said the local office's strong points included cooperation from community groups and public relations.

Youngsters Indicate Readiness To Learn About Drugs, Sex At Early Age

By PATRICIA E. DAVIS
 NEW YORK (UPI)—A study of 5,000 Connecticut school children indicates young people want to learn frankly and factually at an early age about drugs, alcohol, mental health and sex.
 The study, published and released Saturday by the Connecticut state Department of Education and the Mental Health Materials Center in New York, is based on a survey of children from kindergarten through grade 12.

The study, entitled "Teach Us What We Want to Know," notes that survey evidence shows today's young people "are more mature in thought and judgment than adults in general believe" and are "ready and eager to assume more responsibility than we are usually willing to grant them."
 Youngsters begin to recognize alcohol as a social problem in grades 4 and 5, and curiosity about the effects of alcohol mounts in grades 5 and 6, the study says. In junior and senior high school the students show concern about the "right of the individual to make up his own mind" about drinking.
 Curiosity about drugs also shows up first in the 4th and 5th grades. Through grade 7 the students voice concern that the government should stop the manufacture of drugs. But in grades 10 to 12, students show "sophisticated acceptance and partial approval" of drugs.
 "Students in the 12th grade," the study notes, "are certain that marijuana is not habit forming and that it should be legalized as tobacco is. They say 'teach us how social problems relate to narcotic addiction.'"
 An interest in smoking also shows up in early grades, the study reveals, with 4th grade students "expressing fear for their parents" and "fury at the manufacturers and salesmen of cigarettes, especially those who sell to children."
 In the area of sex education, students in the early grades are most interested in "where babies come from." In grade 7 students begin to ask "Is sex dirty? Are we wrong to become involved in it?" In that grade, too, they begin to ask about contraceptives. Students in grades 5 to 12, reveal that they want factual and thorough sex education courses in school.
 An interest in mental health appears in grade 3 with students asking "if you worry too much will you get sick?" But from grades 3 to six, the youngsters show confusion between the terms "mental health" and "mental illness."
 In later-grades students show interest in discussing "emotional control, results of fright and symptoms of mental illness."

Papyrus Boat Is Sailing

By ROBERT AHIER

SAFI, Morocco (UPI)—Four thousand miles of ocean and the likelihood of hurricanes at the end stretched out today before the explorer—Thor Heyerdahl, his international crew and their soggy papyrus-boat.

The expedition, in which modern man will try to conquer the Atlantic as his ancestors might have, began with a bit of an embarrassment Sunday from this north African port.

As the diplomat, writer, and fisherman waved and yelled "Bon voyage," harbor ships blasted farewells from their sirens and red flares glowed in the sky. The crew of seven shoved off in their papyrus reed boat with its single, crude sail.

But the sail hung limp, so a tug pulled the boat the way, slowly out to sea where Heyerdahl hoped offshore breezes would lie.

The wind still didn't come, so the tug pulled the vessel out 30 more miles, where it caught the wind and moved on its own.

If Heyerdahl's men don't make it across the ocean, they think it will take them at least three months—there may be more winds than they want waiting for them. It will be the start of the hurricane season in the Caribbean.

Heyerdahl, a Norwegian, organized the expedition to prove another of his anthropological theories. He gained fame in 1947 when he ignored the words of cynics and sailed the balsa raft Kon-Tiki across the Pacific, from Peru to Polynesia, to show that ancient men could have migrated that way.

Now he wants to prove the Egyptians and Phoenicians have crossed the Atlantic, intentionally or otherwise, and discovered the Americas 2,000 years before Columbus.

Southerners Back Nomination

By ED ROGERS

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President announced his choice last week.

Throughout the Republican administration's first four months in office conservative Nixon supporters became Nixon apologists and, finally, Nixon critics because of a procession of appointments and decisions they did not like.

In a crucial contest for "Wallace votes" in his campaign to win Southern border states, Nixon had made an array of conservative-appearing pledges that, applied to a bipartisan segment of the entire South.

Nixon had sprinkled his "law and order" vice-presidential trail with specific bids for the South's favor, such as his public disapproval of the idea of busing children to achieve racial balance.

There was widespread consternation, therefore, when Dr. James E. Allen, Jr., New York state school superintendent known as the nation's leading "busing" advocate, was named commissioner of education.

This appeared to be a 180-degree turn for a man the South's conservative minorities had looked to to save their concept of the neighborhood school.

In handling the Burger nomination as vindication of their support of Nixon, his campaign-

Magic Valley Hospital Meet

Termed Success

A seminar for radiological technologists at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital, held recently, was termed successful when Magic Valley radiological technologists met in Twin Falls.

Mrs. Jean Thompson, a registered nurse, presiding the surgery. More than 100 attended the Thursday meeting.

The group also voted to send $25 to assist with the Northwest Conference for Radiological Technologists to be held at Spokane in October.

Mrs. Myrtle Stanley presented Mick College and a book from the local group. Mr. Colledge is leaving the local hospital to take a post in the radiological department at the Holy Cross Hospital in Salt Lake City.

Mr. Colledge is president of the Magic Valley Radiological group. He will be succeeded by Dr. Cathy Thompson and Mrs. Evelyn Meyers, I.P.N., was chosen Thursday to take the post of vice president for the remainder of the year.

Coed's Testimony Closes Out State's Case In Kidnaping

DECATUR, Ga. (UPI)—The slender coed stared nervously at the bearded defendant and 100 spectators who waited in pin-drop silence for her words.

"I told him, 'You don't realize what it would be like to be buried,'" Miami Superior Court Judge Barbara Jano-Mackie testified. "Yes, I do," she said the man accused kidnaper Gary Steven Krist, replied, "I was in prison for several years. It's like being buried."

Testimony by the 20-year-old Emory University junior, closed the state's case Saturday against Krist, charged with burying the girl alive for 82 hours while he negotiated with her millionaire father for $500,000 in ransom.

Rep. McClure Speaks At Graduation

RIGGINS, Idaho (UPI)—Rep. James A. McClure, R-Idaho Sunday told the graduating seniors at Riggins High School that their generation would probably be affected by more change than any generation preceding it.

"Your involvement and commitment to this change will determine the course this nation will take in the years ahead," McClure stated while delivering the commencement address.

"Many persons in the past have felt that their power to effect change was so little that it was absurd to exercise it—some are now stating that our power is so great that it is dangerous to exercise it."

"Let us learn from those who are unafraid to exercise it," McClure continued. "We must again become committed and involved for a cause. Complacency has taken its toll and we can no longer afford this luxury. We have tolerated increased crime, poverty, crowded cities, riots, drug addiction, prejudice to minorities, dishonesty in government and business because of complacency."

"However," McClure admonished the graduates, "in seeking perfection let us remember, you must be careful not to destroy that which you seek to perfect."

"The American society was built on a system of change dedicated to the freedom of the individual. Compared to the other nations and political systems of the world it has been a flexible system that has brought about the most affluent society known to man. This affluence has made us complacent toward our dedicated goals of freedom for all," he said.

Congressman McClure will also give a commencement address at Bonners Ferry High School at 8:00 p.m. Monday, May 26 and New Plymouth High School, 8:00 p.m. Tuesday, May 27.

200 Welfare Recipients Delay Talk

NEW YORK (UPI)—Some 200 welfare recipients kept Arthur S. Flemming, former HEW secretary, from delivering a welfare speech for 3 hours Sunday night.

The demonstrators, members of the National Welfare Rights Organization interrupted a meeting of the National Conference on Social Welfare at 7:30 p.m. and let the meeting continue only after two demonstrators were arrested, alleged after blocking doors to the ballroom at the New York Hilton, the demonstrators passed buckets through the audience of 2,000 conference delegates, in an effort to raise part of $35,000 which the rights group demanded for "reparations" for alleged welfare injustices.

The demonstrators, who criticized the conference which Flemming heads, relinquished control of the stage at 10:30 p.m. to President Eisenhower's Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, and other officials.

When Flemming finally stepped to the lectern he presented a formula for solving social work, which would require welfare workers and agency officials to enter the mainstream of "major welfare issues."

Richfield Eyes Drug Problems

RICHFIELD — The community Betterment meeting at Richfield Thursday night to expose the dangers of drugs was well attended at the high school by parents and students in the community.

Paul Victor, Twin Falls, was introduced by Supt. Neil Anderson and showed film strips and talked on types of drugs given young people; dangers of taking them, and methods used.

A question period was also held. The dangers from listening to some popular records promoting the use of dope was also exposed by the speaker.

MILITARY EXERCISES

MOSCOW (UPI)—Soviet and Czechoslovak troops are conducting military exercises in Czechoslovakia, the Russian military newspaper Red Star reported Sunday.

girl her mother. They took the girl to a car, where they gagged her but heeded her plea not to chloroform her.

"This is going well, extremely well," the man said as they sped away.

"I suppose you know why you're here. You've been kidnapped," he told Barbara.

"If you'll be good, we won't hurt you," the woman said. But she had her doubts when they arrived at a wooded spot, Krist said, "It's dug too deep."

"That really scared me," the girl testified.

Then they showed her an eight-foot long, two-foot wide and deep box and said they were going to bury her in it. "Unless, I'll be good. My I won't cause any trouble. My father, will pay you the money," she pleaded with her captors. They told her she would be safe, and explained how to operate a ventilation fan, a light and a water pump powered by a dry-cell battery. If anything went wrong, she was told, a red light would come on in a house nearby. They would come and check on her every 15 hours.

She was told to read the instructions placed in the box and given "a shot" in the hip, apparently a drug.

"I begged not to be put in the ground. I'll be good," she heard the dirt being shoveled on top of the box. "It sounded crazy."

It was "pitch black dark" inside. "I'm afraid of the dark," she always have been.

She turned on the light and started counting the seconds until she figured two hours had passed. When the kidnappers didn't return, she began to lose hope. "I began to think I never would get out of there alive." As time went by, she tried to convince herself she would survive because she hadn't been harmed.

FBI agents, following telephone directions given by the kidnappers after Florida land developer Robert Mackie of Miami paid the ransom; found Barbara 82 hours after she was buried. She was "moderately dehydrated, but in 'fair to good' condition."

Krist, who was captured in the Florida Everglades and most of the ransom recovered, said he expects to be sentenced to death. He suggested the state could save money by burying his body in the eight-foot box.

"It's better built," he said, than the $97 coffins the state uses.

Swedish Pilots Raiding Nigeria

STOCKHOLM (UPI)—Swedish pilots flying their Swedish planes have formed a Biafran air force and raided "federal" Nigerian air bases in the past three weeks, the Stockholm newspaper Expressen reported today.

Capt. Carl Gustaf von Rosen, who flew some of the 12 mercy relief flights into Biafra in the opening stages of the civil war, masterminded the new air force under the code name Biafra's Baby. The report said.

Wrong Planet

ST. LOUIS (UPI)—In a routine teletype report Sunday night the weather bureau here reported that the bright object near the moon was the planet Mars, "which is approaching its nearest distance to earth."

The bureau wasn't off by much — only about 342,000,000 miles — later the weather bureau wire noted — "We have been advised by the president of the Astrological Society in St. Louis that the bright star near the moon is Jupiter, and not Mars."

Which TV Programs Can We Recall?

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—What television programs are we likely to remember from the last year or so?

In the entertainment field, I don't think we'll recall too many on the basis of achievement. But there were some shows of exceptional note, and I think that as good a place as any to start is with ABC-TV's "The Thanksgiving Visitor," another beautiful fictional representation of the boyhood memories of Truman Capote. This hour was a sequel to another Capote reminiscence, a "Christmas Memory."

I think we will also remember from the last year the CBS-TV broadcast of Barbara Streisand's hugely attended concert in Central Park. Her wizardry was supreme again. We will also recall, perhaps, the numerous outstanding productions of "Meet Playhouse 54" offered by National Educational Television. And there was a wonderfully topical, barbed, yet good-natured, musical comedy one-shot by an all-Negro cast, "Soul," on NBC-TV. It was good for the soul.

Easily the best series of the year was a short-run British import on CBS-TV, "The Prisoner," starring Patrick McGoohan, whose previous series, "Secret Agent," was also the best when it was on the air. "The Prisoner," it turned out, was an Arwellian horror-fantasy about an intelligent man held captive in a seemingly serene and suburban, yet mysterious, village with a curious Disneyland flavor. And how's your love?

"The Prisoner," by the way, will be rerun on CBS-TV beginning this Thursday, and it is worth catching.

Vietnamese War Victims Are Unknown

SAIGON (UPI) — American deaths in Vietnam, carefully tabulated day by day, have passed the 25,000 mark but no one knows for sure how many South Vietnamese soldiers and civilians have died in the war.

The South Vietnamese defense department gives a rough figure of 78,000 for the number of soldiers killed in action since 1961 and estimates that about 10 times that number have been wounded.

No one has kept count of civilian casualties. But the figures that exist show that at least as many and probably more civilians have died than Americans, and thousands more have been wounded.

The Viet Cong have assassinated more than 21,000 persons during nine years, according to American sources. The government sources claim that 15,500 were wounded.

During the Tet offensive in 1968 an estimated 7,500 civilians were killed and another 15,500 were wounded. Statisticians say it was impossible to get civilian casualty figures for the May, 1968, offensive.

Each month, year by year, an average of 3,000 civilian war casualties are admitted to the 44 province hospitals throughout the country and Saigon's four government hospitals. Records from these hospitals were not kept until 1967, and then inadequately and inaccurately. They do not differentiate among deaths, seriously or lightly wounded.

Some war casualties are never brought into the province capital hospital. In many villages, deaths and wounds go unreported, and there are the inevitable patients admitted to hospitals who claim war wounds to get treatment.

No records are kept of the number of civilians who get treatment from Vietnamese military hospitals or, until recently, from American hospitals. The American hospitals have started admitting more and more civilian war casualties. Incomplete records for the past 12 months show that at least 65,845 South Vietnamese were treated in the country's government hospitals and another 8,446 in American hospitals, making a total of 77,391.

Congress May Face Its First Civil Rights Fight This Week

By GENE BERNHARDT

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Congress may face its first civil rights fight of 1969 this week when Northern Democrats push for a provision to cut off federal farm funds to areas where racial discrimination is practiced.

At issue is a $8.6 billion appropriation bill covering what the Agriculture Department will spend for the year beginning July 1. It includes subsidies for farmers who hold a land-out of production as well as other department programs. In the House, where the measure came up today, Northern Democrats said they would seek an amendment to cut off farm funds to any program in violation of the anti-discrimination requirements of the 1964 Civil Rights Act.

The principle behind the proposal is the same as the government's actions in holding up federal aid to education for local school districts not in compliance with guidelines based on the same law.

The House Appropriations Committee tried to blunt the Northern Democrats' move by including in the bill $20,000 for the department's civil rights program; but liberals said a funds cutoff provision was needed to overcome alleged discrimination in "some Southern farm programs."

The bill is also likely to provoke activity on several other fronts. Rep. Paul Findley, R-Ill., plans to offer again an amendment that would put a $20,000 limit on the amount of farm subsidies any individual farm could receive. The House passed that same provision last year but it "lost out" in the Senate.

House Agriculture Committee chairman W. R. Poage, D-Tex., planned to light Findley's measure by offering to increase the food stamp program, also a part of the same bill, in exchange for promises from House liberals to vote against the $20,000 ceiling.

Poage said the limit would ruin the farm program by prompting big growers to put more acreage back into production, thus glutting the market and forcing down prices. The bill would also end the program under which $108 million is spent to give away, or sell very cheaply, milk to all school children, rich and poor. The money now spent for milk would be used instead to provide meals for poor school children.

Proponents of the change argue the milk program is really a subsidy for the dairy industry, helping that industry more than it helps children. But a recent House vote, pushed by dairy-country congressmen, to make the milk program permanent, showed sentiment was running in favor of retaining the program.

Governor Confers 3 Groups

By PAUL M. QUINN
Three closed-door meetings were held in Idaho's capital city of Boise during the past week. The meetings, held in the office of Gov. Don Samuelson. The governor met with members of the State Board of Education, apparently to discuss complaints he had received on Idaho State University's plans to hold graduation ceremonies on Memorial Day. The matter was later discussed between the board and William E. Davis, president of ISU, and ISU held firm—graduation will be held on May 30 at 2 p.m.
The governor also hosted a "non-meeting" of the state land board in his office during the week. This one apparently to discuss the possibility of hiring a research firm to study operation of the state land board—particularly in the classification of state lands.
The problem is that the estimated $20,000 needed to conduct the survey is not readily available.
A member of the land board said one of the purposes for the gathering in Samuelson's office was to determine if the funds can be raised in any manner.
Also during the week, the Idaho Commission on Federal Land Laws met, with the governor in a 35-minute closed-door session which Samuelson described as a "get acquainted" session.
And then the commission sat down in an open session and selected Rep. Walter E. Little, R-New Plymouth, as permanent chairman and Sen. James Ellis, R-Blondell, vice-chairman.
The commission was set up by the 40th session of the legislature and appointed by the governor. It was funded at a cost of $100,000.
The purpose of the commission is to represent Idaho and its interests before the U.S. Public Land Law Review Commission and other agencies.
The commission decided that it might retain two or three persons on a consulting basis rather than hire a full time director to handle all phases of the study.
Also during the week, Max Yost, head of the Idaho Taxpayers Association, released some interesting figures on the fiscal state of the state.
He said that the total per capita general revenues for the state and local government in Idaho was $231.58 in 1961 compared with $283.32 in 1967—an increase of 63.7 per cent. Total per capita expenditures increased from $220.81 in 1961 to $245.91 in 1967.
Idaho is seventh in the nation in tax impact and 37th in the nation in personal income. In addition to being 25th in the nation in government expenditure.

Scientists May Get Look At Moon Dust

By WILLIAM L. STIMSON
RICHLAND, Wash. (UPI)—Scientists at Battelle-Northwest are excited about the success of the Apollo 10 lunar mission because it means after a long wait they will probably get their first look at moon dust sometime this summer.
The moon dust will be brought back by the first men on the moon, the crew of Apollo 11, in July if all goes well with Apollo 10.
A portion of the lunar material will be delivered to the Battelle laboratories after a period quarantine at the NASA lunar headquarters in Houston.
R.W. Perkins, manager of radiological chemistry here, has been chosen by NASA as one of about a hundred men throughout the world given the responsibility of studying different aspects of the material.
His special assignment will be to run tests on the material without ever taking it out of the air-tight package it will be placed in on the moon. Studying the material without altering or exposing it in any way is the special art of Perkins and his unit of non-destructive researchers.
Perkins' unit will study the dust with high-sensitivity radioactivity counters developed at Battelle. He explained this will tell them what materials rest at different depths on the moon, and in what quantities.
Once they know this, the scientist said, they will be able to speculate very accurately about how the moon was formed.
He said this will indirectly tell much about earth as well, since scientists believe the earth and moon have similar origins and histories.

Dear Abby

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a man who tells his wife everything that happens on a trip away from home? You see, Albert travels and is away from home about two weeks out of every month.

He is always telling me about how he and some other guys get mixed-up-with-strips-eases and belly dancers, and they close the club and go to those girls' place and drink until morning. But Albert never does anything. It's always the other guys. He claims he gets locked into situations like this.

I am wondering if he is telling me the whole truth. How come if my Albert is so innocent, things like this keep happening to him? But on the other hand, if I were guilty, why should he mention it?

MIXED UP

DEAR MIXED UP: You don't say how old your Albert is, but he has a lot of growing up to do. Little boys like to talk. Your husband has a big mouth and probably an imagination which is bigger. He could also be trying to make you jealous, so you'll appreciate him more. When he starts on another one of his Arabian Nights tales, tune him out and change the subject.

DEAR ABBY: In reference to "Bewildered Grandma," who says her husband at 69 is still looking at bosomy women.

I am only 17, but I know this much about men. They look at women until they die.

My father is 50 and he's still looking. My brother, who is 25, is happily married, but he is looking, too. I have a boyfriend who is nearly 20, and he also looks.

So, Grandma, don't worry. The only way you'll stop "Grandpa" from looking is to poke his eyes out.

CINDY

DEAR CINDY: I wouldn't recommend it. He who isn't

Ostyn Resigns As Idaho Athletic Director For T. F. High School Post

By LARRY HOVEY
Times-News Sports Editor

Paul Ostyn, athletic director at University of Idaho for the past two years, resigned that position Monday morning to accept the vice-principalship of Twin Falls High School, Ostyn's resignation coming at the end of one of Idaho's best athletic years, marks the end of a full circle. He rejoins the Twin Falls district hierarchy after being athletic director, basketball coach and football coach here from 1959 through the spring of 1955.

Ostyn's vice-principalship will be working with the faculty, particularly new teaching members. George Schlicher, assistant superintendent, said his duties currently had nothing to do with athletics.

Ostyn said one of the basic reasons for his resignation at Idaho was to be able to return to Magic Valley. "I feel we have accomplished quite a bit at Idaho and while I will always have a great regard for the school (Idaho) is the desire of myself and my family to return to the Twin Falls and Magic Valley area."

Ostyn first came to Magic Valley in 1951 as head coach at Richfield High School. He later went to the University of Idaho high schools before coming to Twin Falls in the fall of 1959.

He also cited business interests in southern Idaho and the opportunity to do in public school work as chief reasons for his decision.

In making his resignation to Ernest Hartung, president of the board, Ostyn said he felt the time was ideal for a change in the athletic department.

There were reports that Wayne Anderson, associated with the university since enrolling there in 1951, and currently basketball coach, was vitally interested in assuming the athletic directorship and would relinquish the basketball job to accept it.

In reviewing his directorship at Idaho Ostyn said he felt major improvements were apparent.

These included (1) quantity and quality of the coaching staff; (2) improved booster financial support; (3) improvement in funding and recruiting "athletic" aspects of the athletic department; (4) initiation of the first phase in securing new physical facilities for the athletic complex; (5) improvement in public relations with high schools throughout the state; and (6) improvement in the caliber of so-called minor sports.

Pirates Stop S. F. Twice; 2-1 And 6-2

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Rickey "Big Boy" Taylor's two-run homer and a base-empty blast by Bill Mazeroski powered the Pittsburgh Pirates to a 6-2 victory over the San Francisco Giants Sunday after Jim Bunning registered his 20th big league triumph in the opener with a 2-1 decision.

Bob Moose pitched the first six innings of the nightcap and picked up his fifth win against two losses with a big assist from Bruce Dal Canton, who pitched the seventh inning as the Giants seven hits while the Pirates collected eight off-five San Francisco pitchers, including two that they permitted his first relief appearance in nearly three seasons.

The Giants filled the bases on Bunning with none out in the eighth and managed only one run on Ken Henderson's sacrifice fly. In all, they strangled 10 runners, seven of whom reached base on walks.

"I certainly do not pretend schools. I would say the work to take the credit for all of these Dale James (Assistant Baseball Coach) and they are not listed in the or-ketball coach) and Ed Troxel der of their importance." Ostyn (assistant football coach) have said. "But at the time I accept- been very instrumental in the ed this position I felt that im-provement. Those two, along pro-vement was definitely need-with myself, came out of Idaho ed in all these areas. high schools and knew the situ- ation. We have not attained all the ation."

12th-Inning Rally Sinks Solons 3-2

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Ron- kie Bob Oliver tripled, and Elie Rodriguez added a run in the 12th inning Sunday to nail down a 3-2 victory for the Kansas City Royals over the Washington Senators.

The two leadoff blows came against loser Bob Humphreys and enabled the expansion Royals to complete a three- game sweep of the Senators. The victory went to Dave Wickersham as he and Moe Drabowsky turned in five innings of scoreless relief.

Kansas City tied the game 2-2 in the eighth inning when with two out Pat Kelly slammed his second double of the game and scored on Mike Flore's single. The Senators took a 2-0 lead in the first inning against starter Roger Newman. De- Usser singled, reached second on an error, and scored on a single by Ed Brinkman who then scored on his single by Frank Howard and Brian Alstyne's infield out.

Yarbrough Guns Mercury To World 600 Stock Win

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (UPI)—Steady Lee Roy Yarbrough breezed to his third super-speedy victory in the World 600 Sunday, snapping his 1959 Mercury across the finish line two laps ahead of the nearest challenger to capture the World 600 stock car race.

It was the second straight win for Yarbrough. He won the Rebel 400 at Darlington, S.C. May 16 after a dramatic run in the 500 at Daytona Beach, Fla., in February.

The victory was also the first for a Ford Motor Co. product at the mile and a half, eight-banked Charlotte Motor Speedway since 1955. Dodge had won four of the last six events here.

Yarbrough's winning speed was 24.00 in p.h. Just off the record pace of 135.82 set by Jim Paschal in a Plymouth in a 1958 Dodge.

Bruin Boosters

Tonight at 8 p.m. the Twin Falls Bruin Boosters will hold their last meeting of the 1958-59 school year in the basement of Jbo Elks Building.

Among the topics of discussion and business will be election of officers, a review of the closing events in track, baseball, and golf, and a discussion of next fall's football season.

IT WON'T HELP! — A sophisticated space program endurance test used by astronauts will be tried by the vanguard of the Pittsburgh Steelers when training camp opens.

Yancey Out-Birdies Foe In Second Sudden-Death Hole For Atlanta Title

ATLANTA (UPI)—Bert Yancey, America's lone home on a day dominated by foreigners, sank his third consecutive birdie but on the second hole of a sudden-death playoff Sunday to edge Australian Bruce Devlin for the Atlanta Golf Classic championship. Yancey and Devlin both sank 10-foot birdie putts on the final hole of regulation play to post matching 11-under-par 27s that enabled them to finish one stroke ahead of South Africa's Gary Player who also closed with a birdie. Both had 3-under-par 69s in the final round. Australian Bruce Crampton, who started the final round with a two-stroke lead over Devlin, Yancey and Yancey were then tied for second, finished in the No. 4 spot with 73-79 after missing a birdie putt on the final hole.

UNLIKELY SQUEEZE WORTH PURSUING

Jim: "How about another week of articles on squeeze play?"

Oswald: "The play is common enough. Sometimes you play deliberately for a squeeze. On other occasions you stumble into one. The main thing to bear in mind is that any time you can take all but one of the remaining tricks and have long cards in two suits, a squeeze may develop."

Jim: "The average player developed."

Jim: "It was an automatic squeeze situation although the odds were greatly against a squeeze really developing."

Oswald: "For the benefit of our readers who don't see the South's last three cards are a four of clubs. Dummy holds all three clubs and East just can't hold a high diamond and protect his queen of clubs."

Jim: "Not a likely one to develop. Give West either high diamond or either the queen of clubs and there is no chance but South will lose except a little time by giving the squeeze a chance to work."

Oswald: "Note that South was in position from the start. He had all the tricks but one and he held threat cards in both clubs and diamonds."

Jim: "Of course overtricks mean little in rubber bridge but when you can make one without any risk, it is a small but clear profit."

Tally Indicates Women Buy 90 Per Cent Of All Bibles

IN CARDS, "trump" started o'clock in the morning, and the old boy climbed the stairs and his shoes in his hand, undressed note it's the centennial of the catcher's mit. Exactly 100 years ago, Mr. Allison of the bed. His wife, Cincinnati Reds was the first half asleep, thinking the family baseball catcher to wear a glove . . . NINE OUT OF 10 Bibles . . . THING THAT never completely explained is why a man who comes in from the cold usually stands with his back to the fireplace while a woman gets undressed. NO SNAKE can crawl backwards. DEER TRAILS "Never say die!" That is the motto of a small group of citizens known as the Cronics. It is their will their bodies be stored in deep freezer chambers after they appear dead. In the hope when medical science discovers new cures they can be defrosted to take treatment. At least 100,000 patients had been frozen in such a fashion. Topic arises because a customer wants to know the whereabouts of said body locker stores. Only know names of three. One in California's Orange county, another in Phoenix, and third on Long Island. CUSTOMER SERVICE: I they are: 1. Figure out some were in college, the boys used to go to school. 2. Quit your job if you're slacking. 3. Save a little money, they'd say, "Hubba, Hubba! How old am I?" A. How about it's around the land, and 2. "WHOS PICTURE is on the $10,000 bill." A. Never saw one of those, but the handbook at hand says Chief Justice Chase Q. "WHAT DO YOU THINK of Salvador Dali's self-portrait?" A. Suppose it might be liver trouble, but of course I'm a doctor. UP: Address mail to L. M. Boyd, Editor, Box 41, Box NIGHT SCENE — It was four

Premier Of Sudan Is Installed

CAIRO (UPI)—The left wing military group that seized the government of the Sudan installed as premier today a former chief justice who pledged a policy more militarily pro-Arab and more anti-western.

The new premier is Abubaki Awadallah, 54, who said today the new government would establish closer relations with the Soviet bloc, replace foreign capital with government-owned companies and cut back on foreign loans.

"The new government will be a strong supporter of liberation movements and against colonialism, imperialism and Zionist infiltration of the African continent," Oduрман Radio quoted Awadallah.

Col. Gaafar Mohamed el-Numair, an obscure career officer, Sunday led the coup in Africa's largest country, ousting the government of President, Ismail al-Azhari, who himself came to power in a coup in 1954.

There was no indication of bloodshed although the new regime said it was looking for the ousted government's ministers of justice and public works, communications and health. There was no mention of former President al-Azhari or former Premier Mohamed Mahjoub.

The Sudan's 957,500 square miles makes it not only Africa's largest nation but bigger than all of the United States east of the Mississippi River. Its 13.5 million people are divided between Moslems, Arabs and Nubians in the north and black tribes in the south. They have often been near civil war.

Powell said the boys were knocked to the ground, kicked and stabbed and shot with a shotgun and a 22-caliber pistol. The woman, who Powell said had a police record, had been shot "four or five times" in the body with a pistol and in the throat with a shotgun.

Powell said police in several Southern states were alerted to be on the lookout for the two suspects. They were described as in their 20s and driving an old model car.

Former Priest Officiates At Marriage Of Cleric

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—A married ex-Roman Catholic priest joined another priest and a 33-year-old secretary in wedlock Saturday in a ceremony not recognized by the church.

The bridegroom predicted after the service that "pretty soon, married priests are going to outnumber the celibate priests."

The Rev. George C. Hafner, 42, wearing a dark suit and Roman collar, was married to Mary C. Stanley, a native of Dayton, Ohio, in the ceremony, which was conducted by Paul Mayer, the ex-priest, who now lives in New Jersey.

In New York, a spokesman for the Roman Catholic archdiocese said that once any Roman Catholic priest is married he is considered to have resigned his priestly duties.

The bridegroom, a graduate student in religion at Temple, said he will continue studies for a doctoral degree that should take about a year, but that after he receives the degree he and his wife hope to raise a family.

Men Sought For Murder Of Children

PENSACOLA, Fla. (UPI)—Murder warrants were issued Sunday for two men police say shot and stabbed two Negro children who happened to see them burying the body of a girl in a wooded area.

The warrants issued by Escambia County officials charged John Andrew Reiley, 26, of Columbus, Ga., and an unidentified accomplice with the pistol and shotgun slaying of Barbara Kay Pennington Pike of Birmingham, Ala., and the attempted murder of the two children.

The children apparently stumbled upon the men while they were hiding the young woman's body in a wooded area near Bayou Marcus Creek, about nine miles west of here. A nine-year-old was listed in serious condition at Pensacola

Hospital and a six-year-old was in satisfactory condition with wounds of the arm.

Escambia County sheriff's investigator Don Powell said the fully-clothed body of Barbara Kay Pennington Pike, 20, of Birmingham, Ala., was found underneath a clump of freshly cut limbs. She was described as 5 feet 2 and weighing 160 pounds.

"Sex was not the motive," Powell said.

"The children were in the area playing while one of their fathers and another man were fishing in the creek a short distance away," Powell said.

"They apparently went back to their car to get some water at which time they surprised the two suspects."

Powell said the boys were knocked to the ground, kicked and stabbed and shot with a shotgun and a 22-caliber pistol. The woman, who Powell said had a police record, had been shot "four or five times" in the body with a pistol and in the throat with a shotgun.

Powell said police in several Southern states were alerted to be on the lookout for the two suspects. They were described as in their 20s and driving an old model car.
