Worth Dying For

A country not worth dying for is not worth living in.

Who can number the men and youths who have died that the United States might live?

Scattered across the seas and over the earth are graves unmarked of men who wanted to live—but who died for their country.

And in addition are the stark white crosses, row on endless row.

A nation, like a man, cannot always choose between right and wrong. In an imperfect evolutionary world great and noble causes become interlaced and interlocked with small unworthy ones.

Adulterations of greed and selfishness become inseparable from the lofty and great issues they corrupt.

In the broad complex of history, right becomes dappled with wrong. And wrong becomes dappled with right. Therefore, the choice of alternatives becomes painful.

But appraisals must be made and decisions taken.

For sometimes indecision may be the worst of crimes against humanity.

High office can make neither politicians nor statesmen wondrous. Nor infallible.

So — some patriots die for error.

So too, there are men who must make known their dissent.

If they are decent men with a sense of history, they express their dissent as effectively as they can, but they still march to the drumbeat of the nation.

Man's lot — and his family's — may embrace beauty, but will surely hold tragedy, on this earth.

And must until a free man's civilization has achieved its "thing" — a world of Light and Life for all!

Today, only Paradise at the center of everything, is perfect.

On Memorial Day, we thank God for this nation, even in its distress and in the deep sink of its problems.

And we thank God for the great and the humble men who did not expect the ultimate and supreme equity in this world — who lived and died as creditors to mankind.

But for such men this nation would perish.

Our prayers on this Memorial Day are of thanksgiving for them, and of God's care for those they left behind, and for those who still risk their lives with a high and bold trust.

We can pay our debt to all these only by striving eternally to make this American society worthy of its high cost in the lives of her sons.

U. S. Says 51 Hurt In Battles

SAIGON (UPI)—The Allies today accused the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese of 59 Buddha's birthday cease-fire violations that killed nine persons and wounded 51.

U.S. and South Vietnamese troops began their 24-hour standdown at 6 a.m. today, joining Communist troops whose 48-hour truce had begun at 7 a.m. Thursday. It was the 11th cease-fire of the Vietnam War.

SAIGON government spokesmen reported 25 Communist violations between the time the guerrillas standdown started and the time the Allies quit offensive operations.

The announcement said the incidents killed four civilians and three village or hamlet officials while wounding 19 South Vietnamese soldiers and 18 civilians.

In the first eight hours of the Allies' truce, U.S. headquarters said, the guerrillas committed 23 violations, killing two American troops and wounding 11.

Military spokesmen reported at least 14 battlefield clashes during this period which they said killed 32 Viet Cong or North Vietnamese.

Allied headquarters acknowledged a sharp decrease in Communist activity during the standdown and reported but one overnight shelling that caused a casualty, wounding two government soldiers about 70 miles north-northeast of Saigon, U.S. and South Vietnamese halted all their offensive sweeps but continued reconnaissance patrolling "for the security of our forces," according to military spokesmen.

This was the first cease-fire in Vietnam since the Tet lunar new year holiday in February, a two-day standdown in which South Vietnam reported 169 Communist initiated incidents.

Ten waves of 352 bombers used the last hours before the Allied cease-fire to bombard Communist holdups north of Saigon, near Dak To in the central highlands and southwest of Da Nang on the northern coast.

Race

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI)—The 53rd 500-mile auto-race got off almost perfectly today with three-time winner A. J. Foyt leading a field of 33 drivers off on a chase for a total purse of over $750,000.

After 50 miles (20 laps), Foyt led the pack with a record speed of 153.010 miles per hour, followed by Roger McCluskey and Mario Andretti in second and third places.

Low Bid

Neilson-Miller Construction Co. was the apparent low bidder for curb, gutter, sidewalk and incidental work along Falls Avenue.

The bids were opened Thursday afternoon at Twin Falls City Hall.

The low bid was for $12,470. The only other bid received was from Ben Watson in the amount of $13,885.

The City Council will accept or reject the low bid at its regular meeting Monday night.

Boise Youth Dies As Car Leaves Road

By United Press International

Idaho recorded its first Memorial Day holiday traffic death early this morning when 17-year-old Roger L. Van Handle, Boise, perished in a crash in Rocky Canyon.

State Police said the teenager died when the car he was driving missed a curve and plunged 175 feet down a canyon.

The car apparently missed the curve on a gravel road six miles northeast of Boise.

The death brought Idaho's highway fatality toll for the year to 103, as compared with 108 on the same date a year ago.

Berserk Factory Employee Wounds 9 In Shotgun Barrage

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI)—The factory guard looked up briefly from his lunch as the young man entered the building, waved and smiled, and walked on to the production area.

The guard didn't notice something the man held at the side of his leg.

Moment later, barrages of shotgun pellets tore through the assembly line area of the Wisconsin Motors Corp. military engine plant.

"Call police—we've got a crazy man with a gun!" shouted a frantic worker who rushed from the building. Others took cover in the work area. Some fled by other exits and tore their hands trying to scale a 10-foot barbed wire fence to safety.

It was over in five minutes: Nine employees and a policeman were wounded by an estimated 15 to 18 shotgun blasts, and James N. Filippin, 26, fell wounded in a gunbattle with police. He died about six hours later.

Filippin, a Negro who had expressed "resentment against white authority" during his three years of employment at the plant, had been fired about two weeks ago for insubordination and striking a foreman. He had been in the process of appealing the dismissal.

Anthony Wiza, 49, a supervisor who suffered chest wounds, remained in critical condition

FBI Answers Plea On 'Stolen' Sweeper

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Seventeen months ago the city of Los Angeles mislabeled a $13,000, 10 1/2-ton street sweeper. City officials alerted police throughout the western states and Mexico and called in the FBI.

The solution of the case came this week, FBI agents, acting on information supplied by a street sweeper company that a foreign firm had had them transported to Aurora.

McEvoy said Reeves had agreed to refund Aurora the $11,000 and the sweeper would be returned.

Agnew Urges All Americans To Serve 'Freedom's Cause'

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Vice President Spiro T. Agnew today urged all Americans to fight at home for the same principles and freedoms which U.S. servicemen have fought for abroad.

Weekend Jail 'Sentences' Disputed

By ERIC DODDS
Times-News Staff Writer

FAIRFIELD — People arrested for drunken driving after the court hours in Camas County face immediate jail time — up to three and four days if it's a long weekend.

At least that's what Sheriff Paul Cox said in a news release Thursday. The release was issued through the Department of Law Enforcement.

There are, however, some qualifications and restrictions. Sheriff Cox told the Times-News in an interview, "The first history (carried in the Times-News Thursday) was basically sound, but it didn't explain the entire situation."

The Times-News contacted the sheriff on several technical questions. The sheriff said he was pleased that the newspaper counted on interstate 85 near Dussell, Va., today. Five persons, including four members of one family were killed Thursday night in a collision near Hollis, Ala.

A spokesman for the National Safety Council said that during five persons in two cells, built for three inmates — until the judge comes on duty the next working day.

"This is not quite correct," the sheriff told the Times-News. "If a person is arrested for drunken driving, he is still allowed to consult an attorney and arrangements for posting of bond may be made. The rights of all accused are protected because they are innocent until proven guilty," the sheriff said.

Bond assures that a defendant will appear in court when he is required to do so."

In Twin Falls County, a person arrested for drunken driving is allowed to post a $200 bond. The defendant may then be released if there is a responsible person to take care of the defendant.

Usually a defendant is given a chance to appear immediately in court and have bond set by a magistrate. But if he is arrested outside of court hours, the defendant is given the chance to post a $200 bond with the sheriff's office.

The defendant is allowed to call a husband, wife, attorney or friend to arrange for bond. See JAIL, Page 2, Column 4

Archaeological Excavations Planned Near Twin Falls And Fairfield Soon

POCATELLO — Archaeological excavations by a team from Idaho State University is planned this summer at a site near Twin Falls and another near Fairfield.

Dr. Earl H. Swanson, chairman of the ISU department of anthropology and director of the museum, said limited excavation at the Blue Lakes Mammoth Site near Twin Falls will be carried out August 1-12.

Purpose of the work at the Blue Lakes Mammoth Site is to discover an association between extinct mammoth, tools used by prehistoric men, and local geologic deposits.

A crew of 10 persons will take part in the excavation.

Dr. Swanson gave this background to indicate the importance of the Blue Lakes project and the other near Fairfield, called a Simon Clovis Site.

There are only three excavated sites west of the Continental Divide in the Clovis period and an extinct mammoth have been associated at a time radiocarbon dated between 8,500 and 9,000 B.C. These are the Naco, Hahn and Murray Springs sites in Arizona.

"Artifacts have been associated with mammoth at the U.P. site in Wyoming but no Clovis points were found. Prehistorians who made and used Clovis points were big game hunters who appear to have spread along the Snake River and the mountains more than 11,000 years ago. They are of interest because of the unusual character of their projectile points, their wide distribution in space and their limited occurrence in time in western North America.

"Clovis points have been found at several localities in Idaho, one of which is a Simon Clovis site near Fairfield. The Simon Site yielded a remarkable array of stone tools but no association with elephant and no radiocarbon datable materials.

"The Blue Lakes Mammoth Site contains elephant, and at least one Clovis point, plus a number of other artifacts on the north bank of the Snake River on the Perrine-Ranch north of Twin Falls.

"This work, disclosed by a recent radio report, appears to be large and to have been occupied over a long period of time. It is of special interest here because of the prospect of associating prehistoric man and mammoth and for obtaining radiocarbon dates.

"No other sites of this kind are known elsewhere in the Northern Rocky Mountains or in the Pacific Northwest. C. Vance Haynes of Southern Methodist University and a Eugene S. Taylor of the National Institute of France have both examined the site and urged its prompt excavation.

"The location of the site and permission to work there have been generously given by Burton Perrine, owner of the land.

In 1862 First White Men Braved River

Shoshoni Indians called the Salmon River Tom-Agit-Pah: Big Fish Water.

The stream still provides sportsmen today with the giant chinook salmon and steelhead trout.

Studies have placed the earliest inhabitants in the Salmon River canyon five to 10 thousand years ago. Sites of extensive manufacture of arrowheads and remains of Indian artifacts demonstrate that the entire watershed was familiar to many Indians.

The Wallowa tribe of the Nez Perce Indian nation lived in the lower reaches of the river. Sheepeater (Tukuarika) Indians lived in the central, more inaccessible part of the Salmon River. There are old Indian campsites at Hancock Bar and at Corn Creek Bar.

The Shoshoni told Lewis and Clark that the Tom-Agit-Pah could not be traveled in canoes. Sacajawea's brother, Camelsaid, told Capt. Clark the river was so hemmed in by high rocks there was no possibility of traveling along the shore.

Capt. Clark made a reconnaissance down the Salmon River, guided by Old Toby, who was an older member of the Lemhi Tribe of Shoshoni Indians.

On Aug. 23, 1805, Clark turned back at a point about 14 miles downstream from North Fork. It was covered by the Salmon River, was impassable for canoe, foot or horse travel. Clark named this stream the Lewis River, and applied the name to the entire river now known as the Salmon River, near the city of Salmon.

The coming of the white man ultimately resulted in three Indian wars in this area — the Nez Perce Indian War of 1877, the Hanneck Indian War of 1878 and the Sheepeater Indian War of 1879.

The first known attempt of white men to navigate the Salmon River ended in tragedy. In March of 1822, four Hudson Bay Co. trappers left Salmon to float down the river in a small boat made of hides. Two of the men died in the attempt. The boat reached Fort Nez Percé 30 days later.

Thirty years later, a party of 12 men started up the Salmon in the vicinity of the trail to Florence. Just below the mouth of the South Fork of the Salmon, they met two men who had floated down the treacherous river from a point near Lemhi. These two men are believed to be the first boatmen to run the Salmon River. Unfortunately their names have been lost with time.

About 1890, Henry Guleke, and a man named Sanderland, explored the Salmon River rapids and falls. Their services were in great demand in float miners, prospectors, trappers and their supplies into this vast roadless country. Guleke and Sanderland ran the river canyon in wooden flatboats steered by large sawblades.

A new boat was built for each trip and dismantled at downstream destinations. Timber from these flatboats was then used in constructing buildings in many Salmon River Canyon gold mining camps.

Guleke continued his boating on the Salmon River until the early 1900s.

Following World War II, rubber rafts replaced flatboats for float trips. Conventional motors and jetboats now travel both ways on the river.

Experienced guides and boatmen have made the Salmon River accessible to hunting, camping and fishing parties.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Many of the universities are sometimes solved "by logic" rather than actual discovery. Theoreticians will reason that something as yet undetected must exist because its existence is the only way to explain certain observable phenomena. This reasoning process also can be applied to governmental matters, as I shall now demonstrate. Let us begin by considering five observable phenomena:

Container Gardening New Way To Beautify Premises

So much can be done with so little if you practice container gardening. For containers allow you to control the environment in which your plants grow.

You can mix the soil to suit the plants, which you cannot do in a larger area. You can water just enough — never too much or too little.

And you can fertilize when plants show signs that they need it because you'll observe them more closely. Weeding ceases to be a problem.

For the reasons above, not only home gardeners but professionals who are responsible for parks and other areas in cities are turning to container gardening.

If you live in the South it is possible to use certain trees and shrubs in containers — great big ones. A few of these are suitable even for the Northern states.

But, by and large, the plants that grow best in containers are annuals.

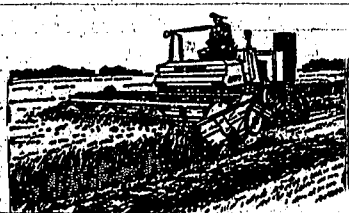

The kinds used are not large plants so their roots do not need frequent watering. They grow fast and come into bloom rapidly. And, most important, they furnish needed color for a long season.

The most popular annuals for growing in containers are petunias — particularly the Cascade type that drapes over the edges and cascades down the sides.

Other possibilities include dwarf marigolds, ageratum, dwarf celosia, nasturtiums, antennas, coleus, begonias and sweet alyssum.

3 Grass Species To Be Shown On South Hills Tour

Three species of grasses will be shown during the South Hills tour, scheduled for June 27.

The tour area, which was burned severely in August, 1968, is one of the finest examples of an area rehabilitated under adverse conditions by federal, state and local agencies and area ranchers.

The 1968 fire destroyed thousands of acres of rangeland and livestock. Most of the rangeland was in a scrubbrush, but now all of the burn area has been seeded to various species of grasses with remarkable results.

The three species to be shown on the tour are Greasewood, mediate Wheatgrass, Pubescent Wheatgrass and Nordan Crested Wheatgrass. These grasses are adapted to a particular rainfall range area.

Nordan has been planted in lower elevations for early spring and late fall grazing while the other two are in high elevation and rainfall areas to permit grazing during the summer months.

This year several ranchers have grazed or used these grasses under grazing conditions and have shown increased production. These figures as compared to the production prior to the fire will be available during the tour.

Featured speaker during the noon hour at Wenter Springs, where lunch will be served, will be John Schwedman, Pullman, Wash., one of the scientists who helped to develop several species of grasses, such as Romar and Latin, for the North-west for irrigated and rangeland seedings.

The tour sponsoring group, Twin Falls Soil Conservation District, Balanced Rock Soil Conservation District, Snake River Soil Conservation District and the West Cascade Soil Conservation District, urge all interested people to attend this tour, which leaves the old country West, Leavey Addition, Avenue West, Twin Falls, at 9 a.m. June 27.

Forage Research Is Feature Of Knoll Creek Field Day

CONTACT — Forage research and trials will be featured at this year's annual Knoll Creek Field Day, slated to be held on June 18.

Knoll Creek is a University of Nevada agricultural field laboratory located in Elko County about 20 miles south of Contact.

Clark Torell, superintendent of the field station, said "We're hoping, as in the past, to attract a good turnout of neighboring Idaho and Utah ranchers and we think they will find something of value in the program." Activities are scheduled to begin at 10 a.m. Mountain Daylight Time.

Theme of this year's field day will be "Agebrush to Forage," said Mr. Torell. Included in the morning's agenda will be a report on alfalfa trials by Mr. Torell; followed by a report on value of forage quality tests given by Charles Speith, animal nutritionist at the University of Nevada.

Others of the University staff making presentations in the morning include Dr. B. Brooks Taylor, agronomist, who will talk on making quality hay; Irving Hackett, Elko County agent, fertilization of mountain meadows, and Dr. E. R. Barnettler, economist, who will discuss economics of mountain meadows.

A tour has been scheduled in the afternoon. Tour stops will include a review of research on trends in alfalfa varieties to be explained by Dr. O. J. Hunt, USDA Agricultural Research Service at the University; grass variety management and short season forages by Dr. E. H. Jensen, agronomist at the university; natural sub-irrigation and spring burning of agebrush by Dr. J. H. Robertson, range ecologist, and soil potential of upland meadows by Dr. Fred Peterson, soil scientist.

In discussing the studies on canyon bottomlands, Mr. Torell explained a feature of many ranches in the vicinity and surrounding area is a number of close by mountain canyons. The canyon bottoms usually have a good subwater source and grow unusually tall agebrush which is of little value to livestock. For the past few years, he continued, experiments and research have been underway at Knoll Creek on how to convert these bottoms into cattle grazing areas.

"One of the problems," Mr. Torell said, "is the water table in the canyon bottoms is usually a considerable distance below the surface which makes it difficult to establish shallow rooted grasses."

He said, however, notable progress has been made at Knoll Creek in better understanding and overcoming the natural sub-irrigation drawbacks.

A no-host luncheon will be served at the station and coffee will be available in the morning.

HILL CITY — The first wheat flour foods center in Asia has been opened in Seoul, Korea, state Gov. R. Hill City member of the Idaho Wheat Commission.

The center was established under the program of Wheat Associates, U.S.A., which gets support from the Wheat Commissions of Idaho and other states. The Korean Flour Mills Industrial Association, Mr. Rice said.

Purpose of the center is to demonstrate the various ways to prepare wheat flour foods, different types of wheat foods, many new to Korea, will be sold at cost. A training program will be conducted for Koreans interested in entering the wheat foods business.

Mr. Rice noted promotion of U.S. wheat sales in South Korea had been upgraded further recently with approval by Western Wheat Associates to open an office in Seoul.

Wheat foods consumption in Korea has doubled during the past three years, Mr. Rice said. The South Korean government has an official program to expand the consumption of wheat foods to save higher cost rice.

Wheat imports to Korea have increased from 407,000 metric tons in 1966 to 824,000 metric tons last year. Estimated imports for this year will be close to one million metric tons.

Fertilizer Usage Rises

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A revised estimate of fertilizer use for the year ending last June 30 shows it rose to 38.6 million tons, up four per cent from the previous year, the agricultural department said.

The new report was 0.7 per cent higher than the preliminary estimate issued last October. Officials said the new figures showed fertilizer consumption had increased for the eighth consecutive year. They said the 1967-68 rate of gain was smaller than the seven per cent and eight per cent increases for the two previous years.

The report showed fertilizer consumption in 1967-68 increased in the South Atlantic States and in all states west of the Mississippi River. Consumption was unchanged in the East North Central States and down in other areas west of the Mississippi.

TWO of the performers during the Carey Horse Show will be Tammy Strode, Carey, and Al Marsh Sylvan Bell, owned by Strode Arabians, Carey. The show begins at 9 a.m. June 14 with halter classes, performance classes in the afternoon and cow cutting events in the evening.

Boyd Graves, Ted Andrus, Clint and Gary Andrus, all of Tuttle, dehorned and branded calves at the Graves and Andrus ranches.

"Beef Still Good Bargain," Says Cattle Group Official

BOISE — "Beef, an ever improving product, is attracting more and more customers," observes Bob Henderider, executive secretary of the Idaho Cattlemen's Association.

Henderider said, despite recent publicity, the price of beef is reasonable. "Cattle prices are now no higher than they were 17 years ago. How many other products and services cost the same or less than they did in 1952? Check what you have to pay for automobiles, medical care, housing, entertainment — you name it — compared with what you would have paid back in 1952."

"No one likes to pay higher prices for anything," Mr. Henderider said. "And it's natural that all homemakers are more sensitive to increases in prices of items they shop for frequently, such as food."

But the increases are there on all items, and the people who produce food have the same right to share in prosperity as those who produce TV sets, automobiles, houses, and the same right as the factory worker, plumber or electrician to earn

"Now is the time to spray for the cherry fruit fly," says Twin Falls County agent Donald Youtz.

Mr. Youtz said the cherry fruit fly has been found on "sticky" boards this past week by Dale Taute, state inspector.

Perthane EC, at the rate of two teaspoons full in one gallon of water should be applied now and at 10-day intervals until two days before harvest. Mr. Youtz said this rate is for the backyard fruit trees. For commercial use, the rate would be one quart in 100 gallons of water. Several other insecticides will do a satisfactory job, but the chemicals must be registered for this use and be sure to follow the directions on the labels," Mr. Youtz said.

What is there about side-dressing that your crops so quickly notice?

Crops are nitrogen-hungry all of their lives... but when they're up and growing strong, their appetites are biggest. You can satisfy that hunger, and at just the right time, with a side-dressing of AMOCO Anhydrous Ammonia. You'll notice the difference, and so will your crop. That's because AMOCO Anhydrous Ammonia is 82% nitrogen. It's the most concentrated, most economical source of nitrogen you can buy. So if you didn't apply a pre-plant application of AMOCO Anhydrous Ammonia, call or stop in at the Farm and Home Center and talk it over with us. Heat Looms As Biggest Enemy To 33-Car Field In Indianapolis Battle

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI)—Auto racing's fearful enemy, heat, threatened today to make the 53rd 500-mile Speedway run one of the most grueling on record.

A weather forecast for temperatures in the high 80s, considerable sun and virtually no wind meant "what" the speeding racers stir up at 200 miles per hour left no room for error, either human or mechanical.

Unspoken by the drivers, but frequently the subject of discussion by owners, mechanics, officials and observers, the heat was the enemy to the 33 fastest cars among more than 80 originally entered for the race.

Anglers Shouldn't Forget Crappie, Perch And Bass

Not everybody goes for trout, not even on opening day of the fishing season. Crappie, perch, catfish and black bass—both largemouth and smallmouth—are not hard to catch and produce excellent salmon, steelhead and numerous trout species which are native to Idaho and the river systems of the Pacific Northwest.

Smith Belts Two Homers As Sox Win

KANSAS CITY (UPI)—Reggie Smith collected four hits, two of them homers that included three-run blasts during a five-run ninth-inning uprising, to rally the Boston Red Sox to an 8-6 victory Thursday over the Kansas City Royals.

Smith, who drove in four runs, scored three and stole a base, started a two-run Boston rally in the second inning with a double and hit a solo homer in the sixth. After his second homer in the eighth he added an infield hit in the ninth.

Tony Conigliaro's eighth home run and winning pitcher Sparky Lyle's run-scoring single made it 8-4 and capped the Sox' five-run rally off loser Mo Sullivan. Smith, who took over for Roger Nunez to score in the seventh, Lyle, 40, went 2-3 in three innings to gain the triumph.

Mike Andrews started the Boston eighth with a walk but was three outs trying to score on Dalton Jones' double. Carl Yastrzemski walked and Smith followed with a drive over the fence and hit a two-run sixth homer of the season and third in as many days and put Boston ahead 6-4.

McCallister Hits Torrid Seven-Under Par 63 For Lead In Memphis Open

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI)—Bob McCallister sank a "three-quarters of a mile" birdie putt on the last hole to grab the first round lead in the $150,000 Memphis Open Golf Tournament Thursday with a seven-under par 63.

Playing the back side first, McCallister stuck a 35-foot putt from two feet off the ninth green after his four iron shot strayed to the right and landed in his best round in 10 years on the tour.

Lee Elder, using a wedge like magic wand, Californian Ron Foy, hit with a 25-foot putt again after a long layoff. John Lotz and 1966 Open champion Bert Yancey were one stroke back at 64.

At 65 were this year's leading money winner, Gene Linder, and irrepressible Lee Trevino. Foy's 65 was a career best and youngest B. R. (Mac) McLendon.

McCallister, 35, had eight birdies and an eagle against three bogeys and used his driver on only six holes. He got his eagle on the 490 yard par five, club with a 25-foot putt after reaching the green with a driver and a one iron.

He would have been in a three-way tie for first had it not been for his conditional putt on nine. "I holed it from three quarters of a mile," he elated McCallister said.

Temperatures climbed into the mid 90s under sunny skies, and the sweltering heat caused several players to drop from the 14-man field. A sizable portion of those who remained humbled—the short but tight Colonial Country Club Course with abandon.

TOPSY TURVY Bill Sudakis, Dodger third baseman, goes over backwards after being run into by Expo Mack Jones. Jones unsuccessfully tried to steal third base. Expos Coach Peanut Lowrey seems to be looking the other way. (UPI telephoto)

Wilson Talks To Other Teams About Swap

BUFFALO, N.Y. (UPI)—Buffalo Bills owner Ralph C. Wilson Jr. said Thursday he has "talked to a few clubs" about the possibility of trading Heisman Trophy winner Jim Simpson, but has not yet reached a decision on whether to part with the Southern California star.

Wilson made the comments in a statement he said was issued in reply to a news conference Simpson held earlier in the day in Indianapolis.

"I have given the trade possibility some thought and we have talked to a few clubs," Wilson said, "but we don't know what we're going to do yet."

South African Gary Player, who served his suspension Wednesday, he was raring to go by carding a 63 in the pro-am, which was bunched with 10 others at 68 in his first round.

Elder, one of the few Negroes on the tour, used a series of pin point wedge shots—three within one foot of the flag—to leave him a chip in at Costa Mesa, Calif., nine years ago.

Jay Ray Is Favored In Jersey Derby

CHERRY HILL, N.J. (UPI)—Clairborne Farm's Jay Ray, third in the Preakness Stakes last year, is the favorite to win the $100,000 Jersey Derby at Garden State Park.

Wilson said in Indianapolis, "the way it stands right now I will not play for Mr. Ralph Wilson." Simpson said the only reason he would have for calling Wilson would be "to see how the trading is going."

Wilson said earlier in the week that he and Simpson were still far apart over contract terms. Simpson reportedly is seeking a $650,000 salary and bonus package. "There is a good chance that Simpson will get care for Buffalo and is trying to force a trade by asking a truly unreasonable figure," Wilson said Thursday.

Reif, playing the back nine first, sank a 17-foot eagle putt for a club in at Costa Mesa, Calif., nine years ago.

Two of his putts for birds were from 30 and 25 feet. Wednesday he was on the tour for two years in 1959-60; but an allergy to grass kept his weight down to 119 pounds and he took a job as a club pro at Costa Mesa, Calif., nine years ago.

Dodgers Pin 13th Loss On Montreal 5-3

MONTREAL (UPI)—Willie Davis' two-run homer in a three-run first inning and Claude-Ostern's sacrifice enabled the Los Angeles Dodgers to hand the Montreal Expos their 13th straight loss Thursday night by a 5-3 margin.

Willie Crawford, who doubled twice, singled and scored three runs for the Dodgers, started the first inning with a walk and Davis promptly hit his fifth homer of the season. Andy Kosco singled and went to third when Donn Clemons bunted the ball before scoring the third run of the inning on Tom Haller's sacrifice fly.

McLaren Is Man To Defeat In Challenge Cup

TORONTO (UPI)—Bruce McLaren, New Zealand driver-car builder, is the man to beat in this Sunday's $1 million Canadian-American Challenge Cup auto racing series at Mosport Raceway.

McLaren heads a list of 20 drivers and cars entered in the 100-mile race for group seven, the series began in 1966. The drivers will be bidding for a trophy and $60,000 in first prize money.

Tigers Bury A's Under Five Homers

OAKLAND, Calif. (UPI)—Norm Cash hit two homers and Willie Horton, Jim Northrup and Ron Woods each hit one each Thursday to back the seventh, 12-strikeout pitching of Denny McLain as the Detroit Tigers to an 8-4 victory over the Oakland Athletics.

McLain settled down after a shaky start and permitted only three hits and another when Horton registered his eighth triumph against four losses and match his 1968 13-victory pace.

Clay's Lawyers Seek Delay On Wiretap Hearing

HOUSTON (UPI)—Cassius Clay's attorneys Thursday asked for a delay of at least 30 days in a hearing scheduled Monday to determine whether government wiretapping was a factor in the draft induction conviction of the former heavyweight champion.

The hearing is set before U.S. Dist. Judge Joe Ingraham. He did not rule immediately on the request.

Clay's attorneys said the conversation probably dealt more with politics and race than foreign intelligence. Charles Morgan Jr. of Atlanta, government wiretapping was a factor in the draft induction conviction of the former heavyweight champion.

The government eavesdropped on five conversations involving Clay in 1965. Three years before he was convicted for failure to be inducted into the Army. U.S. Atty. Anthony J. P. Ferris said he was willing to provide Clay's attorney with logs of four of the conversations.

Ferris said he would not reveal contents of the logs because it contained foreign intelligence information and disclosure would endanger national security.

Morgan and Eskridge also wanted to know who was involved in the conversations, which government agents eavesdropped on the telephone and who has had access to the monitored information.

The attorneys said they needed the information in order to argue the case before Ingraham Monday.

Oriental Gardens Are Outstanding

With so many urban homes built with tiny postage stamp size yards, a lot of homemakers may want to borrow a good idea from the Japanese and plant oriental gardens.

Most homes in Japan have extremely limited space, so the Japanese express their reverence of nature by creating landscapes in miniature . . . compact gardens executed in exquisite detail, and meticulously but inconspicuously maintained. Their gardens are planned to simulate nature while they provide a place for meditating in quiet repose. The oriental garden is an extension of the house in a genuine indoor-outdoor relationship.

These suggestions from the American Association of Nurserymen may help you develop your small yard or a portion of a larger area into an oriental-style retreat from the work-a-day world.

The basic feature of an oriental garden is that it is designed by the grouping of three different shapes: upright, rounded or leaning, and flat or spreading. The groupings can be repeated throughout the garden.

Emphasis is on materials that do not change, such as rocks, evergreens, and old pebbles. A few colorful flowers may be included. The trees and shrubs are pruned carefully each year so that they keep their form and size without seeming to change.

Paths or stepping stones lead you around the garden turning here or there to make you pause when there is something special to admire. Water is an important element in a Japanese garden, both for the sight of it and the sound.
