

PRACTICALLY EVERYONE GOT into the act as the general fishing season opened in Idaho and in Magic Valley and Sunday found hundreds trying their luck at various points in the Valley. One of the most popular was Magic Reservoir where Times-News photographer Dan Johnson — who doesn't fish — pointed his camera in various directions with various results. Older folks (far left) soaked in the sun as they occupied dock vantage points but then this general idea was carried out by the youngster (second from left) who made himself comfortable in a small chair. The private dock sign seemed a little strange to Photographer Johnson inasmuch as it was practically submerged but then he also found (far right) one fisherman who got the ghost, climbed into his truck, removed his shoes and stuck his feet outside and then snoozed. A lot of people caught a lot of fish at the various spots throughout Magic Valley but getting an accurate count was difficult. One thing was certain — the weatherman cooperated for the opening.

Holiday Toll Sets Record

By United Press International
The holiday traffic death toll has set a record for a three-day Memorial Day holiday. It was possible the death toll would top the record for a four-day memorial holiday set last year. In 1966, 542 persons were killed during a three-day memorial weekend. Last year, 608 persons died during a four-day holiday.
The final death toll this year "will equal if not exceed 600" between 6 p.m. local time Thursday and midnight Sunday, according to National Safety Council statisticians.
A United Press International count at 9 a.m. EDT showed at least 548 persons killed in traffic accidents during the 76-hour holiday period.
The breakdown:
Traffic 548
Drowning 24
Planes 102
Miscellaneous 63
Total 827

71 Horses Killed In Stable Fire

RIVER VALE, N.J. (UPI)—A fire of unknown origin erupted in the show arena Sunday, killing 71 trapped horses, many of them prized thoroughbreds.
An off-duty policeman who lives near the Hayland Farms stable attempted to free the animals but was able to save only one. The policeman offered second-degree burns.
Patrolman Osborn Hoken, 35, said intense heat and flames fed by horse straw and hay bales prevented him from returning to the stable.
Police said they believed arsonists set the fire. A small fire of unknown origin erupted in the show arena Thursday but was quickly extinguished.
Damage to the stable and arena, used for many months, shows in this northern New Jersey area, was expected to exceed $500,000, according to owner Joseph Minetto.
DEAN NAMED
CALDWELL (UPI)—Dr. Dean M. Leach, chairman of the division of social sciences at Southern Minnesota State College at Marshall, Minn., has been named academic dean of the College of Idaho by President Warren B. Knox.

NOT AN AUTOMOBILE in sight. It really is a sight not often seen at the College of Southern Idaho campus. This aerial picture was snapped during a flyover Sunday morning. From now on things will be different because summer sessions get underway today. School officials report registrations for the various courses are "active."

Rockefeller's Final Tour Day Is Free From Demonstrations

PORT OF SPAIN, Trinidad (UPI)—His visit to Venezuela canceled. Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller spent the final day of his current Latin American tour, free from anti-American demonstrations that marked earlier stops.
The New York governor announced Sunday he will prepare for the third and final leg of the mission, beginning June 16.
"I tell you again, we are not afraid," Rockefeller said. "If there must be confrontations, then we will meet it. I have been given a job to do by President Nixon and I intend to carry it through."
Trinidad brought none of the often bloody clashes between police and students that marked his previous visits to at least six Latin American capitals.
Rockefeller met Sunday with Premier Eric Williams of Trinidad and Tobago and then, showing no signs of disappointment about the Venezuelan cancellation, dined with the Governor General of Trinidad, Sir Solomon Hochoy.
Caldera had mobilized 24,000 troops to guard the Rockefeller entourage in Caracas but at the last minute decided to ask the U.S. to wait "until a more propitious moment."
Leftist students had pledged demonstrations against the visit in Caracas. It was the second government to ask Rockefeller to stay away. Peru declared his visit there "inopportune" after the Washington announced it had sent out arms sales to Lima.
Rockefeller told newsmen he believed Caldera's request and hinted, "elements in the country (Venezuela) who are using the students and others to break up the relationship with the United States."

Extension

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon plans to ask Congress to extend the life of the federal government's anti-poverty agency for two years instead of one as he previously announced, the new director, Donald Rumsfeld, said today.
Rumsfeld, a former Illinois congressman, testified at a House Education and Labor Committee hearing.
He said Nixon has given a two-year extension of the Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO) "will improve the management of the program by allowing longer range planning, making possible more orderly and efficient allocation of funds."

Bliss School Voters Go To Polls Tuesday

BLISS — Bliss school patronage to the polls Monday to cast ballots on a 34 mill school levy.
Voters failed to pass the levy May 6 by the necessary two-thirds majority. The vote was 84-57. The school board can levy 30 mills without consent of the taxpayers, but any millage over 30 must be approved by the voters.
School officials feel the 34 mill levy is necessary to operate the school for the coming year at Bliss. In an earlier advisory vote, the community voted to retain the high school at Bliss rather than send about 50 high school students to Gooding on a tuition basis. The final decision of the matter will be made later by the board.

Premier Pompidou Tops Vote; Pöcher Won't Drop Out

PARIS (UPI)—Acing President Alain Pöcher again rejected appeals by supporters of former Premier Georges Pompidou today to withdraw from France's runoff presidential elections June 15 so Pompidou could have an easier time against Communist Jacques Duclos.
Pompidou, a disciple of former President Charles de Gaulle, won 44.6 per cent of the ballots in Sunday's election, short of the 51 per cent needed for election. Pöcher won 23.1 per cent and Duclos a surprising 21.03 per cent — nearly 5 million of the 22,026,461 votes cast.
Under French law Pompidou will face Pöcher in the runoff election, but if Pöcher withdrew he would face Duclos. When pointed out that he had scored only 23.1 per cent of the votes Pöcher told a television audience today: "I don't give a damn about arithmetic."
Within hours after the results were announced, a delegation of Independent Republicans (allies of the Gaullists) asked to see Pöcher. Pöcher refused to meet them today as they had asked. He promised instead to wage a bitter campaign.
The balance of power lay with the 5 million Communists and the other 3.5 million leftists and both candidates were expected to woo their votes.
Pompidou, 57, ran on a "Gaullism without de Gaulle platform" and won 44.1 per cent of the vote in Sunday's presidential election, 6 per cent shy of the majority that would have given him the presidency. He was the early favorite against Pöcher.
Pöcher, at 60, a political unknown until he took over when de Gaulle resigned, won 23.3 per cent of the vote, less than public opinion polls had predicted.
The surprise Sunday was watered out by security forces against Pöcher.

Saigon Shelled By Red Soldiers

SAIGON (UPI)—Communist soldiers shelled Saigon for the first time in two weeks today and battled Allied troops 11 miles outside the city. U.S. headquarters listed at least 150 guerrillas dead in weekend attacks.
One of the two 122mm rockets that crashed into the city at dawn landed in a residential area across the Saigon River from downtown, killing two civilians and wounding 26, military spokesmen said.
Four houses were destroyed and seven damaged by the rocket, whose victims included one child dead and 15 children wounded as their neighborhood sought for school and work in the city of 3 million.
The second rocket landed harmlessly in the outlying 9th district.
Guerrilla forces in the city shelled the city since May 17 when one rocket did no damage and caused no casualties.
U.S. paratroopers and South Vietnamese soldiers patrolling 11 miles northwest of the capital caught a guerrilla unit in the move and reported killing six and capturing three soldiers in a five-hour fight.
One American died and 12 were wounded in the battle, the closest major fight to Saigon in nearly two weeks. It underscored the continuing guerrilla threat to the capital in any Communist offensive.
Ten flights of American B52 bombers followed up a weekend of sharp clashes with five raids northwest of Saigon, four in the central highlands near Dak To and one miles from Saigon in the Mekong Delta.
U.S. headquarters said the weekend fighting cost the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese at least 150 dead, 34 of them in fighting 18 miles southwest and 18 miles north of Saigon.
The series of battles following the standoff Friday for Buddha's birthday took at least 30 American lives and indicated the level of fighting was remaining relatively high despite peace moves in Paris.
Saigon was one of 14 targets that suffered damage or casualties in nationwide rocket and mortar attacks during the night, according to U.S. spokesmen.

Curaçao Government Agrees To Meet With Union Chiefs

WILLEMSTAD, Curaçao (UPI)—Threatened with more violence on this Caribbean island, the government of Curaçao agreed today to meet with union leaders demanding higher wages.
The 48-hour deadline for the Dutch navy agency ANP, came as a trade dispute between Premier Ciro de Krom to resign ran out and thousands of American and other tourists tried to get off the Netherlands.
Royal Dutch Marines, including 300 flown in from the Netherlands, patrolled ravaged Willemstad, the capital. Authorities said 1,000 security forces were on guard against renewed looting and destruction.
The violence began last Friday when striking oil workers rampaged through the town, sacking and burning stores, firebombing cars and stripping out a car.

Mail Delivery Problem Foreseen

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Post-Office Department officials said today that a nationwide breakdown in mail delivery unless Congress replaces the current system with an appropriate one at any time and President Nixon has requested.
"There is no question about the fact that if the system continues to operate as it is, it could have at any time the kind of breakdown that occurred in Chicago and it could happen in any place and at any time at any number of places at the same time," he told UPI in an interview.
Blount noted that in the Chicago breakdown, during the 1968 Christmas season, mail piled up and was stacked in boxes as far away as Denver and it was two or three weeks before it was straightened out.
"Times are caught up with this system and it has to be changed for the sake of the system itself," he said.
The Nixon postal plan, designed to increase efficiency and eliminate policies throughout the system, would place members under a nine-member board of directors. A separate panel would set postage rates, subject to congressional veto within 60 days.
Blount said the new system could be made self-sustaining within five years, as not

New Feeding Operation Planned

MALTA — Ground has been broken for a new feed mill and feedlot operation on a 5,400-acre tract near Malta.
Festa Land Co., Malia Milling Co., and Feeders Inc., officials plan to build the operation two miles east and two miles south of here at a cost now about $2200 for the feed mill. The mill will produce enough feed for about 60,000 head of cattle.
The feedlot will start soon on the feed mill and feedlot pens, for about 14,000 head of cattle. In time the feedlot pens are planned to be expanded to handle 35,000 head.
The cattle will be purchased by the company and fattened for market and cattle will be custom fed to the weight desired by the owner.
A Vista Village of three-bedroom mobile homes, a total of 10, will be located north of the site where the feed mill and feedlot are located, for the employees and their families. The mobile homes are expected to start arriving this week.
The feed mill will be most modern in design and will produce alfalfa hay cubes and a complete line in grain feed for cattle.
Officials of the new planned operation include Layton O. T. Boush, chairman of the board; Ernest J. Miller, Myron Utah, president; James H. Bell Jr., Boushville, vice president; Jay R. Bingham, Boushville, secretary; John Clay Logan, treasurer; Dr. W. Dean Boush, Boushville; Lynn Miller, Myrum, and Carl Weber, Logan, board members.
Mr. Bingham listed climate, feed surplus area and available water as the reasons for the feed mill. Other factors considered by the group of men who own the cattle are the feed mill's location, the present being shipped to California and Texas for feeding prior to market; interstate highways and the feed mill's location in the present ranch headquarters; barley, wheat and alfalfa produced in area, presently being shipped out; and an airstrip on the ranch.
The farm land is irrigated from deep wells and part of the land has been deeded by the former owners, Paulist Thompson.
A formal dedication of the new operation is being planned this fall when the feed mill and feed yards are completed.

Sen. Hughes Voices Scorn For Two Sides

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Harold E. Hughes, a maverick Democrat from Iowa, is showing enough scorn for both political parties to keep him ineligible for that bipartisan segment of the Senate known as the inner circle, the establishment of the regular club.

For a politician who has traveled the party route to a governorship and the United States Senate, he is using harsher language than most to describe the quadrennial circus where platforms are written and presidential candidates nominated.

He established his credentials as a critic of the political conventions before the Democrats named their nominees at Chicago last August. He was head of an unofficial commission displeased with the methods used by his party in many states to choose delegates to national conventions.

Because of the uproar at Chicago, the Democrats created two special commissions to propose party and convention reforms. Hughes was named a member—but not chairman, an assignment given to Sen. George McGovern of South Dakota of the Commission on Party Reform and Delegate Selection.

McGovern's commission's first meeting March 1, Hughes went to the witness chair to offer a few observations, including a long, long, national convention have largely been the private domain of the rich, the white and the party regulars.

He was more belligerent in a May 17 speech to the New Democratic Coalition, a fledgling organization also dedicated to reforming the Democratic party. It is composed mostly of Democrats who favored McGovern, Sen. Eugene McCarthy of Minnesota, the late Robert F. Kennedy for the 1968 presidential nomination.

Hughes told that group that both the Democrats and Republicans were "corroded, uncontrolled" organizations unresponsive to rank and file members. His audience stood and cheered when he said, "We can't be strong and right on the great moral questions and expect to retain hardeners who don't give a damn about anything but power."

He added that the Democrats would have a stronger party without the bigots, the obstructionists and the hatemongers.

In remarks like these, Hughes is a political evangelist who can be applauded by those Democratic liberals frustrated by the events of 1968. His language is not the kind used by the power brokers in Congress when they are trying to get a bill passed.

Idaho Broadens Educational Opportunities Of Migrants

By DON WATKINS
State Department of Education

BOISE (UPI) — The little girl looked up with sad brown eyes. Suddenly she threw her arms around the teacher's waist and said, "Mees, I don't want school no-end—I love eet so much."

Another teacher tells of her experience: "I brought some fresh clay to the classroom for molding. The children had never seen any before. When class ended, I noticed one little boy loving and patting his share. Before tenderly placing it in his box, he said, 'I love eet so much.'"

These are the brown skinned children of migrant laborers who come to Idaho about this time every summer to work on farms and in the fruit orchards. Last year there were some 6,000 public school age children among the approximate 20,000 Mexican-American farm workers hired during the summer. Even more are expected this year.

Idaho, through a special migrant education grant under Title I elementary and Secondary Education Act, this year will spend $338,000 on 23 six-week programs to broaden educational opportunities for migrant children. The courses will be taught mostly in eastern Idaho, Magic Valley and the Treasure Valley.

"On the basis of student time-equivalency and outstanding program evaluation over the past two years, Idaho is 15th in the nation in federal support to states for migrant education," said a spokesman.

"Increased community awareness of the importance of the program, greater participation on the local level and upgraded teacher competency are some factors for its success."

Some communities with a large influx of migrant workers feel the program is of such value that they approve a special mill levy to supplement the services of ESA. Some still rely on a continuing program and do little to support it.

Loth Hicks, Idaho director of Title I, said community attitudes are rapidly changing from indifference to enthusiasm as the scope of the program broadens and the results become more evident.

"The program lends stability to the migrant labor force, which in turn benefits the entire community. The kids like it. They are learning and they are staying out of trouble. Parents like it because their children are getting educational opportunities they never had."

The great majority of migrant workers in Idaho come from Texas. Almost all are Mexican-American. An average family unit is husband and wife and five or six children. Some have as many as 10 or 12 children. Most of the adults speak only in their native tongue and nearly all of the children need some help with their English.

A typical school day for the migrant youth is much the same as regular school. The curriculum is similar but with some important additions. The students are picked up in the morning at their migrant camp and bused to the local school where classes are being held. During the day, all children are served a mid-morning snack, a hot lunch and an afternoon snack before they are taken home.

And: Ardis M. Snyder, program consultant, bubbles with enthusiasm when she talks of "my children." "Most of the kids are rather shy when summer classes begin. But once they know they are accepted, their happy, outgoing nature soon blossoms forth. They are polite, eager to please, anxious to learn and very appreciative of any effort put forth for them. Many of our teachers prefer this summer challenge to their regular classes."

An estimated 200 teachers, assistants and aides — some bilingual — conduct the classes. They are recruited from local schools and colleges. The word in the school districts is: "We want only your best teachers." And there are always more applicants than there are teaching assignments.

"We have some unique problems so we give strong emphasis to individualized instruction. Most children are somewhat impeded by a language barrier so there is naturally more emphasis on English, reading and studies correlated to actual student experiences," Miss Snyder said.

There are also field trips to study natural resources and the beauties of nature and visits to

Explosions Set To Test Effect Of Shock Waves

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (UPI)

Two tests to determine effects of high-explosive near rock surfaces will be conducted near Cedar City, Utah, by a unit of the Defense Atomic Support Agency (DASA).

The DASA Test Command, with headquarters at Sandia Base here, will conduct tests in September and October as part of Project Mine Shaft.

Navy Cmdr. Robert C. Holmes test command director, said the tests were to gather information on the effects of high explosive blasts including data on ground movement, air blast and effects on underground structures.

A 14-ton conventional high explosive charge will be detonated in the first test, tentatively set for Sept. 10. The charge will be buried about 100 feet into a granite rock formation.

In the second test, scheduled for Oct. 8, a 100-ton conventional, high explosive charge will be detonated on the surface of a granite rock formation.

U.S. To Put Monkey In Orbit For 30-Day Test Of Effects

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — The U.S. Space Agency plans to orbit a monkey for 30 days in late June to make the most exhaustive study yet of an animal in space and help clear the way for months-long flights by men.

The 14-pound pigtail monkey will circle earth 485 times in a biosatellite equipped to see how the weightlessness of orbital flight affects his mental, emotional and physiological processes.

The launch was scheduled for June 18, but the spacecraft was damaged on the launch pad Friday and the Space Agency said a delay was possible. The extent of damage and its impact on the launch date is expected to be determined soon.

A Space Agency spokesman reported Saturday that if a postponement is called, the delay will not be for more than a few days.

The mishap occurred when too much pressure in the capsule blew a cover off the spacecraft and severed some wires. Some "minor structural damage" also was reported. There were no injuries and the monkey was not in the craft at the time.

The capsule was scheduled to be recovered near Hawaii on July 18—two days after the planned launch of Apollo 11 astronauts Neil A. Armstrong, Michael Collins and Edwin E. Aldrin on a moon landing mission.

The 1,536-pound biosatellite will maintain an air-like atmosphere at sea level pressure, provide day-night lighting and duplicate most other conditions the monkey is used to on earth except for the pull of gravity.

Two games, with food pellets for rewards, will test the animal's memory and coordination. A camera will photograph the monkey every 20 minutes and "automatic equipment" will feed him and supply drinking water.

Ten stainless steel "wires" surgically implanted in the monkey's brain will monitor brain waves and other sensors will measure eye motion, muscle-tension and activity, and hearing, circulatory and respiration data.

"Experimenters believe the mission will be one of the most intensive studies ever made of a complex living organism," the Space Agency said in releasing details of the mission.

"It will be the most exhaustive study ever made of an organism in weightlessness—far more so than could be made with a man."

The longest spaceflight yet made by man was the two-week orbital voyage of Gemini 7 astronauts Frank Borman and James A. Lovell. The results of that mission and other lengthy flights indicate that weightlessness causes temporary blood, bone and muscle changes.

Two dogs were orbited by Russia for 22 days in 1966 and Soviet studies of that flight suggested that liver malfunctions may have occurred.

The Game's Name: Putting Teddy Down

Monday, June 2, 1969... THOMAS HOWARD... WILEY DODDS... GENE CARPENTER... PAUL STANLEY... O. A. IGERT KELKER... O. J. SMITH

WASHINGTON — Senate Republicans are eagerly playing a mad version of the old party game, "Pin the Tail on the Donkey." This one is called, "Putting Teddy Down."

1972. Last week's gamesmanship of a pretty good insight on how the Kennedy game is played.

ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK

About Tunney's Sour Grapes

FRESNO, Calif. — When Rep. John V. Tunney stepped off a private jet here recently to address a Democratic dinner, the first person to greet him on the runway was the local president of the Young Democrats (YD) who promptly attacked his neutrality in the California grape boycott.

There are indications, however, that the replies to Kennedy are not wholly uncoordinated. Other senators say Scott has, on occasion, suggested that Kennedy statements should not go unanswered by GOP policy makers.

Scott, elected the GOP whip earlier this year, was his party's national chairman in 1968-69. He has a reputation as an able political practitioner who has a special talent for this sort of juggling.

There's a good reason why GOP leaders should now be disclaiming any concerted and coordinated drive against Kennedy. It is not that he is in the first place, to make the young senator seem to be conspired against.

On Wednesday, Agnew responded in a statement addressed namelessly to "those who would doubt our space effort." Vice President said the administration is carefully weighing costs and alternatives for the space program after the Apollo program is completed.

What For France?

Portland Oregonian After De Gaulle, who and what? The most likely successor to the testy old man who staked his presidency on a comparatively inconsequential issue is Georges Pompidou. The former premier who was unceremoniously fired by President de Gaulle after winning a landslide victory for the party in last June's parliamentary elections is popular.

All For Walter

WASHINGTON — We have another space shot success. While still getting excited about these things, I notice that every time we have a splashdown, more and more people look at me as if to say, "What else is new?" I discovered this is particularly true of people under 21 years of age.

ROBERT NOVAK German Measles

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Would you write about German measles in pregnancy? How can a woman be sure she has had the disease? I have heard that just being in contact with someone who has the disease can harm the fetus. If this occurs, the fetus does not get the disease herself.

Growth Rate

St. Louis Post-Dispatch President Nixon gives every evidence of intensely enjoying his office, and we are happy to note that he is not doing badly economically, either. Congress started off his term by doubling his salary from $100,000 to $200,000 a year, even before it knew the value of his services.

Nancee Light, Jones Marry

Nancee Lee Light, daughter of Mrs. Leona Light, Twin Falls, became the bride of Robert Grant Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. Grant Jones, Santa Fe, N. M., at the Episcopal Church of the Ascension, Twin Falls, in rites April 26.

Father John Riley performed the ceremony before an altar featuring bronze candelabra decorated with ivy and chrysanthemums in shades of pink and lavender by lighted tapers in floor candelabra flanked with matching chrysanthemums and ivy accented with pink satin bows. Bronze altar vases holding arrangements of pink and white chrysanthemums completed the setting.

Given in marriage by her brother, Donald Light, Orofino, the bride wore a floor-length traditional gown of lace. Seed pearls and sequins detailed the square neckline of the gown and the lace tiers of the skirt were softly gathered to a rose made of lace on the skirt front. Falling gracefully from the traditional waistline, the lace tiers of the gown's skirt formed a chapel-length train. The shoulder-length veil of silk bridal illusion was held in place by a crown of tulip-covered petals accented with pearls. The bride carried a crescent cascade of Stephanotis and ivy centered with a white Cattleya orchid.

Pat Light, Twin Falls, sister of the bride, was maid of honor; Janice Moore, Twin Falls, friend of the bride, and Jeanne Fedan, Seattle, Wash., sister of the bride, were bridesmaids.

After lighting the candelabra, John and Martin Light, Orofino, nephews of the bride, lit the pink candle enhanced by a pink bow and ivy in each side window of the church. Carrying the ring on a satin ribbon, Mr. Matthew and Peter Light, Orofino, nephews of the bride, held Light, Orofino, niece of the bride, was flower girl.

Dr. William Brindley, Logan, Utah, friend of the bridegroom, served as best man. John Dale and Dale Lambley, both Moscow, Idaho, friends of the bridegroom, were ushers.

Soloists were Joanne Light, Orofino, sister-in-law of the bride. She was accompanied by Mrs. Mary Howitt, who also played the traditional wedding music.

Church decorations and bridal party flowers were designed and made by Mrs. Margaret Jones of Kimberly Floral.

A reception was held immediately after the ceremony in the Parish Hall.

white iridescent backdrop and a pink carnella tree were in the center of the reception tables. The bride and bridegroom greeted their guests before an Austrian curtain backdrop of pale pink silk organza with a electric stering pump fountain by Mrs. Rona Klumball, Hazelton, friend of the bride.

Guests were seated at quarter tables covered with pink tulle and lace overcloths; centering each table was a pink topiary tree. The serving area was separated from the receiving line by a white and gold aisle stanchions, pink floral garlands and large pink satin bows.

Completing the reception area decorations was a hanging basket filled with large flowers in shades of pink. Reception decorations, flowers and catering were handled by Carl's Catering Service of Rupert.

Out-of-town guests attended from Boise, Buhl, Piler, Hazelton, Glenns Ferry, Gooding, Moscow and Orofino. Out-of-state guests were from Logan, Utah; Kent, Wash.; Fort Collins, Colo.; Santa Fe, N.M.; Seattle, Wash.; and Karachi, Pakistan.

The bride was honored at a pre-nuptial party and miscellaneous kitchen shower hosted by Mrs. Betty Zuch, Mrs. Florence Marvin and Mrs. Sammie Bruce at the home of Mrs. Marilyn.

After a honeymoon trip to Lake Tahoe, the couple resides at 649 Main Ave. W. Twin Falls. The bride is employed at Detweiler Brothers, Inc., Twin Falls, and the bridegroom is employed in the P.H.D. program at the University of Idaho, Moscow, and is currently affiliated with the Entomology Research Division in Twin Falls. Mr. Jones is on a fellowship grant at the university.

Refreshments were served buffet style from two companion tables. Mrs. Mary Lou Weaver, Twin Falls, friend of the bride, presided at the sterling silver coffee service. Punch was served from an illuminated electric stering pump fountain by Mrs. Rona Klumball, Hazelton, friend of the bride.

PANTS ETIQUETTE

Even the most fashion-conscious girl can be confused about pants etiquette these days. The whole matter boils down to a subtle distinction—between just slacks or shorts worn with any kind of tops or footwear and the carefully assembled pants costume designed to be worn in town with, exactly the right accessories. The former does not belong on city streets in any circumstance. The latter is now appropriate for strolling in some cities...but still may not be right for matinees, museums and art galleries, and most restaurants. Calottes and culottes dresses which look like skirts are generally acceptable.

Humphrey Making More Money Than He Has Ever Made Before

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Encyclopaedia Britannica, the former vice president earns an estimated $50,000 to $60,000 a year, more than he has ever made before.

Humphrey also has acquired two new Washington offices. Uncle Sam currently is picking up the tab for one of them, the transitional office provided by the Presidential Transition Act approved last year by Congress. That law gives him $75,000 for expenses over a six-month period beginning Jan. 20, when he moved out of his vice-presidential office.

When the federal allowance is exhausted July 20, Humphrey will move most of the transitional office staff of 12 to the nearby Washington office provided him by the encyclopedia company.

Humphrey's job for Britannica also permitted him to travel recently to Europe at company expense and that's just one of several free trips he will be taking.

When he returns from a visit abroad or a speaking engagement, the former vice president has his pick of residences. He has retained the $75,000 cooperative apartment in Washington's Harvard Square area where he lived while vice president. He has kept his longtime home in Waverly, Minn., and MacAlester College, in St. Paul,

Chief Justice Hearings Will Highlight Action In Congress

By WILLIAM B. MEAD — WASHINGTON (UPI) — Members of Congress straggled back to Capitol Hill today after a long Memorial Day weekend. The start of confirmation hearings for Chief Justice designate Warren E. Burger is expected to be a week of quiet work and little floor action.

Burger, chosen by President Nixon to succeed Earl Warren after the Supreme Court ended its current session this month, was to appear Tuesday before a friendly but cautious Senate Judiciary Committee on his first confirmation hearing as Chief Justice.

Not-So-Silent Generations May Give Way To Deaf One

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The not-so-silent generation may give way to a deaf one unless the tender ears of rock and roll fans are protected from their addiction to over-amplification, according to consumer safety critic Ralph Nader.

"Acoustic trauma from rock and roll music is emerging as a very real threat to the hearing quality of young people, who expose themselves to substantial durations of this music by live rock groups with high amplification," Nader said in letters to Sens. Warren G. Magnuson and Philip A. Hart.

"This country may be producing a new generation of young Americans with impaired hearing before they reach the age of 21," Nader wrote Sunday.

He called on Congress to act quickly to avert widespread

Successful Investing

Q—You mentioned recently that shares of one fund can be exchanged for those of another. It would like to exchange the income fund I hold for a growth fund. But, won't I be liable for a large capital gains tax?

A—Shares of mutual funds which are managed by the same company can usually be exchanged as a lump sum for a small fee. This investor service which is offered by management firms applies only within the own group of funds. For a year, many investors are exchanging funds for a growth fund toward retirement; the service would allow low-cost conversion, at retirement, to an income fund.

Reports on capital gains and dividend distributions are sent to shareholders annually for their use in filing federal income tax returns. Whatever distributions are taken in cash or reinvested, capital gains taxes are paid annually and then at the time of sale or exchange.

Q—I received some time ago, 30 shares of Arden-Mayfair as a gift. There has been no progress in filing federal income tax returns. I would sell and reinvest in an issue with a well-established growth trend such as Boise-Cascade.

Special Flag

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Wallace F. Bennett, R-Utah, apparently looking ahead to the moon landing planned for Apollo 11 astronauts next month, thinks the United States ought to plant a sanitized American flag on the lunar surface.

"Why not, just as a change as Americans and government, display our pride in our own accomplishment, suggested the Utah Republican in a letter to D. Thomas O. Paine, administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, last week."

Bennett proposed that the flag be decontaminated before it is placed on the moon.

NEW YORK (UPI)—Tessell, Patrick & Ostrau Inc. says "the present minor dip" in the "current" intermediate rate "could be more severe" than others which have appeared "insofar as many issues have risen substantially since March and are 'valuable' in the face of near-term uncertainty, the company says, traders should use protective stops on all positions, and keep some cash available to purchase recent favorites at points under the market.

The Janeway Service says it does "not" believe the stock market is "likely" to lead the credit markets in either direction, or that the stock market is "likely to part company" with the prevailing bullish trend of the credit markets. The credit markets (should be) able to assert their force of leadership over the stock market, if not, "the stock market will become a different place to make money during the next six months," the analysts add.

Business Today

By DEAN C. MILLER

NEW YORK (UPI)—Inflation diary:

Monday: Calm induced by a relaxing weekend shadowed by this headline: "The price of everything is going up." Didn't she go through this a couple of months ago? Or was it January?

Tuesday: Mike, the barber in the third chair, broke the sad news that haircut is up 50 cents starting next week.

Wednesday: Edith announced firmly she'll need $10 per week "more grocery money" because "everything's going up." Didn't she go through this a couple of months ago? Or was it January?

Thursday: A letter from the landlord, stating apartment lease runs out in a few months, advises there will be a 26 per cent increase in the new one.

Friday: Maybe the answer is a house or a condominium. Many not satisfied with the members of the Glaziers Union in New York negotiated a $20 per day package increase over the next five-year term.

Just the first of 23 building trades union contracts in the works this summer.

Also remembered that economist Pierre Rinfret told the American Iron and Steel Institute convention a few weeks ago an "interesting" inflation, just hit the brakes hard," said Rinfret.

Also remembered that Rinfret and other members of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology agreed this is unlikely to happen for reasons other than the fear of dislocating the economy.

No party facing an off-year election likes to go into it with high unemployment. And Republicans are anxious to gain control of Congress and expand their strength in state legislatures. Many government officials face just such a situation if inflation pressure were slipped on tightly. Even a 1 per cent increase in unemployment would raise the number of thousands of marginal workers affected.

Sensitivity to ghetto unrest also causes them to tread lightly on this inflation. Any rise in unemployment hits the ghetto worker about twice as hard as any other group. And there's another summer ahead.

Maybe that's why Bill Martin, boss of the FED, put on a stung-up meeting at a 500-seat banquet when he said he saw some cooling-off of his economy which has been bubbling for 10 months. There's a new inflationary cycle since the middle of 1965.

He noted that the consumer price index for April rose only six tenths of one per cent against eight-tenths of one per cent in March. A comforting thought.

Sunday: Or is it? That "improved" consumer price index figure means inflation still is cutting up every dollar at a 2 1/2 per cent figure. And that's what he's a good idea to humor the wife and visit her relatives on vacation rather than renting that beach cottage.

Stocks

NEW YORK (UPI)—Stocks headed lower as trading moved into the final hour Monday. Turnover was moderate.

The market opened 45 minutes late with many traders and demonstrators which disrupted transportation facilities. But once activity got underway, it was as smooth, as was case last week.

Major depressants again appeared to be Vietnam and the domestic money front.

There was little hope for Vietnam peace progress until President Nixon meets with South Vietnam President Nguyen in Vao Thien Thursday. And traders still were concerned over possibility of a boost in the prime lending rate with its record high of 7 per cent.

Near 1 p. m. the DJIA stock market indicator, measuring all stocks traded, showed a loss of 0.44 per cent on 1,934 issues and the S&P 500 index declined .425 and advanced.

The Dow Jones average of blue chip industrial stocks dipped 4.14 in Volume—approximated 7,000,000 shares.

Business Today

By DEAN C. MILLER

NEW YORK (UPI)—Inflation diary:

Monday: Calm induced by a relaxing weekend shadowed by this headline: "The price of everything is going up." Didn't she go through this a couple of months ago? Or was it January?

Tuesday: Mike, the barber in the third chair, broke the sad news that haircut is up 50 cents starting next week.

Wednesday: Edith announced firmly she'll need $10 per week "more grocery money" because "everything's going up." Didn't she go through this a couple of months ago? Or was it January?

Thursday: A letter from the landlord, stating apartment lease runs out in a few months, advises there will be a 26 per cent increase in the new one.

Friday: Maybe the answer is a house or a condominium. Many not satisfied with the members of the Glaziers Union in New York negotiated a $20 per day package increase over the next five-year term.

Just the first of 23 building trades union contracts in the works this summer.

Also remembered that economist Pierre Rinfret told the American Iron and Steel Institute convention a few weeks ago an "interesting" inflation, just hit the brakes hard," said Rinfret.

Also remembered that Rinfret and other members of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology agreed this is unlikely to happen for reasons other than the fear of dislocating the economy.

No party facing an off-year election likes to go into it with high unemployment. And Republicans are anxious to gain control of Congress and expand their strength in state legislatures. Many government officials face just such a situation if inflation pressure were slipped on tightly. Even a 1 per cent increase in unemployment would raise the number of thousands of marginal workers affected.

Sensitivity to ghetto unrest also causes them to tread lightly on this inflation. Any rise in unemployment hits the ghetto worker about twice as hard as any other group. And there's another summer ahead.

Maybe that's why Bill Martin, boss of the FED, put on a stung-up meeting at a 500-seat banquet when he said he saw some cooling-off of his economy which has been bubbling for 10 months. There's a new inflationary cycle since the middle of 1965.

He noted that the consumer price index for April rose only six tenths of one per cent against eight-tenths of one per cent in March. A comforting thought.

Sunday: Or is it? That "improved" consumer price index figure means inflation still is cutting up every dollar at a 2 1/2 per cent figure. And that's what he's a good idea to humor the wife and visit her relatives on vacation rather than renting that beach cottage.

Community Prays For Missing Girl

NEW CANAAN, Conn. (UPI)—Outside the Congregational Church near the center of this town on Tuesday night a group of 100 people prayed for the missing girl, Mary Mount.

The sign summed up the sense of despair which has gripped this affluent community. Ten-year-old Mary Mount disappeared Tuesday.

A party of some 400 visitors searched the 270-acre area of Waveny Park Sunday hoping to find a clue to the missing girl police feared was abducted by the kidnappers. Before the search started at Waveny, a half-mile from the supposed abduction site, a policeman saluted a never-known boy might turn up.

Four hours later there was nothing to report. Not a clue was uncovered. The police were offering no hint of a solution of the mysterious disappearance.

Leads to the fifth grader's parents are few—only a letter and the report of a white car near the sand pile in Kowans Park near where Mary was playing Tuesday.

The girl belonging to Mary was found by police near the sand pile. All efforts to trace the white car have failed.

A police Chief Henry Keller, whose 35-man force has been working round-the-clock, said "We must be realistic, every day that passes lessens the chances that she's alive. I can't stand by his theory of the suspected abduction. It had to have been done by a husband or someone looking for money," he said. Whichever abducted Mary Mount is a pretty sick guy.

FBI and state police are assisting in this commuter town 30 miles from New York City. Mary's father, Joseph J. Mount, an IBM executive, reported his daughter missing after she failed to return for dinner Tuesday evening.

The last person to see Mary was her father's brother, Mary had stayed behind in the park when he returned for dinner. She was playing with a friend. The pet has not been found either.

Clay Faces Court Today In Attempt To Gain New Trial

HOUSTON (UPI) — Former heavyweight boxing champion Joe Clay will go to court Monday to determine whether government wiretapping was a factor in his conviction for refusing induction into the Army.

The hearing is scheduled for 9:30 a.m. in the court of Dist. Judge Joe Ingraham. The hearing will have to decide whether Clay and his attorney should have 30 days to study the wiretapping evidence which they have never seen.

How much of the wiretapping evidence the attorneys will be allowed to see.

Whether the wiretapping was a factor in the conviction. If the judge rules it was, Clay would get a new trial.

Clay's attorneys asked for the 30 day extension Thursday, but Ingraham had already left for a Memorial Day vacation and could not rule on the motion. The attorneys said they needed to see the information before they could argue the case.

"The argument cannot be made in a vacuum," they said. "Should Ingraham grant the extension, then the other two questions would not be argued in court until a later date."

The U.S. Supreme Court sent the case back to district court this spring after the government admitted the eavesdropping. The government contended it did not use any information from the monitored conversations to get the conviction and therefore Clay should not get a new trial.

Clay was convicted in Houston last June and was sentenced to five years in jail and fined $10,000. He is out on bond.

Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell said in a brief filed in district court June 16 that five telephone conversations involving Clay were monitored in June 1965 to gather foreign intelligence information. He said one of them would not be revealed because it jeopardized national security.

"Clay and his attorneys will be allowed to see four of either in the U.S. attorney's office or in court, but not the one involving national security," Mitchell said.

Clay's attorneys have asked to see all five, saying the forbidden tape probably dealt more with politics and race than foreign intelligence.

Charles Morgan Jr., of Atlanta and Chauncey Eskridge of Chicago, who represent Clay, asked for tape recordings of all the conversations and the date, place and time of the conversations.

Morgan and Eskridge also wanted to know who was

Grid Owners Resume Talks

NEW YORK (UPI) — Football owners from 13 National Football League teams resumed meetings here Monday aimed at completing realignment for the 1970 season.

The Monday session with Commissioner Pete Rozelle is continuation of the marathon meetings held two weeks ago during which time three NFL divisions on a 3-4 basis — Cleveland, Baltimore and Pittsburgh, agreed to move to the American Conference of the NFL beginning with the 1970 season.

The 13 remaining NFL teams will be grouped in a new National Conference. Purpose of the now meeting with Rozelle is to split the 13 National Conference teams into three divisions on a 3-4 basis.

Rozelle has indicated he will keep the owners in session until their mission is accomplished.

Several plans were studied during the previous sessions but the owners were unable to agree on a new format.

Once realignment is settled, the NFL and the American Football League, scheduled to operate in 1970 as the National Football League with National and American Conferences, will discuss other business such as waiver and trade procedures and scheduling.

Bases-Filled Walk Sinks Giants 5-4

NEW YORK (UPI) — Joe Gibbon walked Ron Swoboda with the bases loaded and hit the pinch hitting Sunday to force in the winning run and give the New York Mets a 5-4 victory over San Francisco on a sweep of their weekend series with the Giants.

Gibbon, who had pitched without a hit since coming on in the sixth inning, walked Bud Harrelson to open the ninth. Tommie Agee sacrificed and Wayne Garrett grounded out, Harrelson moving to third. Cleon Jones was walked intentionally and Gibbon then walked Amos Otis to load the bases and passed Swoboda, on-five pitches to end the game.

There were nine extra base hits in the three-hour, 20-minute contest with Willie McCovey hitting his 16th homer for the Giants.

The Giants took a 1-0 lead in the first inning on Jim Hart's sacrifice fly. They increased their advantage to 2-0 in the second when Hal Lanier doubled and came around on two walks and a wild pitch. Singles by Swoboda and Ed Charles and Jerry Grote's triple got the Mets even in the second, but they fell behind again in the fifth on McCovey's homer. McCovey also had a double and a single and two intentional walks for a perfect day at bat.

ADENAU, Germany (UPI) — Jo Siffert of Switzerland and Britton Brannen of Britain won the 1,000 kilometers of the Nuerburgring auto race for Porsche Sunday.

Porsche 908's filled the first five places to clinch the 1969 world manufacturers' title for the German maker.

A crowd estimated at 250,000 saw Siffert and Brannen lead from start to finish and set a new record for the race of six hours, 11 minutes, 2.3 seconds. The average speed of their Porsche 908 was 101.91 miles per hour.

Second, four minutes behind, was the Porsche 908 driven by West German Hans Herrmann and Rolf Stommelen.

For third place was West Germany's Kurt Ahrens and Briton's Vito Elletti. Fourth went to Austria's Rudy Linz and Britain's Richard Attwood and a 908 driven by Willibert Kauken and Karl Von Wendt of West Germany completed the Porsche sweep.

The win over the tortuous 14.5 mile Elft Mountain course gave Porsche its 11th year's manufacturers' title, although three more races remain on the sports cars and prototypes makers' championship calendar.

Prince Gives First Speech In Welsh

ABERSTWYTH, Wales (UPI) — Prince Charles ignored demonstrators Welsh nationalists Saturday night and became the first member of the British royal family to make a speech entirely in Welsh.

Most of the crowd of 5,000 hissed at the small group of demonstrators and loudly cheered the 21-year-old son of Queen Elizabeth and heir to the British throne.

The demonstrators carried signs announcing their opposition to Charles' July 1 investiture as Prince of Wales.

But the crowd shouted "Arddechog! (excellent)" after the prince delivered his 300-word speech at the Urdd National Festival.

Vigorous applause and cheers greeted the Prince's promise not to let the Welsh language die. "Having spent so many hours in the language laboratory here, I shall certainly never let it die without offering stout resistance," the Prince said. "He is studying Welsh language and history at Aberystwyth University."

Nearly 100 young demonstrators stood up and held posters when the Prince left his seat to go to the restroom. As they walked out, they scuffled with detectives and stewards. Once outside, they tried to drown out the speech by banging ropes on the wall but police stopped them.

'Chute Buffs Pledge Troth After Jump

TURNERS FALLS, Mass. (UPI) — A sheetmetal worker and a legal secretary parachuted to their wedding Saturday at the Pioneer Valley Sports Parachute Club jump site. The bride was a little late — she landed 1,200 yards away.

But Norma Murray, 26, a legal secretary, and Richard Burt, 26, of Concord, exchanged vows and jade rings at the airport after the bride made an unscheduled arrival at the altar by helicopter.

"I thought you were going to stand me up," the groom joked. "The bride just before the ceremony got under way. 'I'm sorry' she said."

The best man, Robert Hobbs of Springfield, jumped with the couple from 7,200 feet and took pictures on the way down.

Before the ceremony, Hobbs commented, "For them, I don't think it's very unusual." The groom said, "Jumping is our whole life."

About 250 persons, some a little damp-eyed, watched the marriage, performed by the Rev. Harvey Raymond, clergymen of Grace United Methodist Church.

The Burt's met a year and a half ago at a jump in New London, N.H.
