TEN CENTS

MISS WORSENCROFT—MISS ISU figured a car trip to Boise with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Worsencroft, would mean a "class-passing" time in Boise.

CAROL BRODEEN—MISS BUHL is just a little nervous as she says goodbye to her father, T. W. Brodeen, at the Twin Falls airport Tuesday morning.

DIANA HOPPERSTAD—MISS T. F. eyes miss Idaho Fareham as climax to exciting year, as she receives farewell kiss from her mother, Mrs. Charles W. Green.

Solon Fears Major Boost In Prices

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Against the banks. Across the nation Monday, bankers raised their prime rates for loans to their best business customers from 7.5 per cent to a record 8.5 per cent. Since the 8.5 per cent rate will be a floor above which all other rates are stacked, the cost of borrowing to buy a home and car will be going up. Patman said the higher cost of borrowing by inevitably will be reflected in higher costs of various consumer goods, from appliances to food, to pay for the higher interest charges.

Escapeses Captured In Nevada

ELKO, Nev. — The sheriffs of Goshute and Lincoln counties said they would return later today with two brothers who broke out of the Lincoln County Jail last week in a bid for freedom. The two men were identified in Elko Monday by the law enforcement officers. Sheriff Thomas (Wid) Conner of Lincoln County and Sheriff Earl Brown of Goshute County made an identification of two men held in the county jail. The two men were apprehended Sunday after they were seen attempting to break into a car. When they were arrested by Nevada authorities, the two men refused to talk. The identification by the two Idaho sheriffs was necessary, it was reported. The two brothers were arrested in Hagerman last March and charged with first degree burglary. Last month they escaped from the temporary jail facilities in the old tuberculosis hospital in Gooding. Sheriff Conner captured them the following day and the pair was lodged in jail. The two brothers again took flight, this time by breaking through a jail door then climbing their way out of the basement of the Shoshone jail. A car was stolen from the escape and it was later found in Wells, Nev. Sheriff Conner went to Wells to check the car, then returned to Shoshone. This was Saturday. Sunday he was informed two men were in custody in Elko and they might be the two brothers.

Is One Of Them Miss Idaho? They'll Know Soon

Three young women from Twin Falls left Tuesday morning for Boise where they will pit their charms against each other and 16 other contestants for the title of Miss Idaho. The three local girls, Jan Worsencroft, Miss Idaho State University, Carol Ann Brodeen, Miss Buhl, and Diana Gail Hopperstad, Miss Twin Falls, compete in Boise Tuesday through Saturday, with the winner announced Saturday night. Miss Buhl and Miss West left by Air West about 9:30 a.m. from Twin Falls City County Airport, and Miss Isu accompanied her parents in the drive to Boise.

"I was going to fly," Miss Worsencroft said, "but my parents were going anyway, so I decided at the last minute to go with them." And, being a practical 16-year-old, Miss Worsencroft determined there wouldn't be so much clothes pressing to do if she hung her present wardrobe in the car instead of packing it into a suitcase. "The whole family is going—just everybody," Miss Worsencroft said. This includes her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Worsencroft and a younger brother and sister. Miss Isu was chosen to represent her college in a contest with nine other coeds. She stands five feet, five and one-half inches tall and weighs 115 pounds. She will play the piano and present a modern dance for her pageant talent presentation. A 1968 graduate of Twin Falls High School, she is majoring in psychology at ISU. RUPERT — Decorations are up and all plans are set for the annual Elks State Summer Convention to be held June 11 through 14, for the first time, in Rupert. The convention chairman Louis DeWald said crews were busy this week preparing for the opening social, a Western jamboree to be held Thursday night at the Rupert Lodge. A huge western tent, constructed of wire and canvas, covers the ceiling and mobile fences supplied with assorted "western" equipment surrounds the party room. Guests are expected to dress in Western attire to complete the theme. Registration Wednesday is expected to see some 400 state delegates and their wives sign in. Mr. DeWald noted that all local members are invited to attend any or all of the sessions of the convention. Included in the list of delegates expected to attend the four-day event are William S. Hawkings, Coeur d'Alene, Past Grand Exhibitor; Patrick J. McArthur, Pocatello, Past Grand Exhibitor; and Joe McArthur, Wallace, present Grand Exhibitor. The annual business session begins at 8:30 a.m. and will include the normal preliminary of the Mayor's welcome and addresses from the police chiefs of Burley and Rupert. That afternoon delegates and their wives will be free to golf and participate in other sports. The jamboree will highlight the evening's activities. Business Friday will be followed by a talent show sponsored by the Ladies of the Elks. A luncheon will be served. A woman See ELKS MEET, Page 3, Col. 4

B52s Pound Communists In Fierce Battle At Tay Ninh

SAIGON (UPI)—U.S. B52 bombers dropped nearly 300 tons of bombs and Allied troops killed 108 Communists in an effort to break up a red drive against Tay Ninh city, a key provincial capital, military spokesmen said today. They were the heaviest B52 raids in Tay Ninh province northwest of Saigon since April 24 and followed a day of fighting around Tay Ninh city by U.S. infantrymen riding tanks and South Vietnamese forces sweeping through the jungle. Allied communiques said at least 548 Communists had been killed and 19 Americans killed and 89 wounded in the fourth day of a Communist offensive in which fighting flared from the northern quarter of the country to the Mekong Delta.

U. S. Intends Troop Ouster Despite Reds

PARIS (UPI)—The United States is determined to go ahead with the withdrawal of 25,000 troops regardless of whether the Communists make good their threat of a summer offensive, Allied sources at the Paris talks said today. President Nixon announced the withdrawal plan Sunday after a Midway Island meeting with President Nguyen Van Thieu of South Vietnam. A communique said the withdrawal would "be carried out in compliance with security situation prevailing at the moment." Allied officials emphasized there were "no conditions attached" to the planned pullout of what would amount to the equivalent of a division of U.S. troops. Allied sources said the Communists were on the verge of a new offensive and there had been some question whether Washington might call off the withdrawal if the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese struck in force.

Buhl J.P. Charged With Misusing Funds

Suspended Buhl (Jack) of Peace, Karl R. (Justice) Lewis, has been charged with misuse of public monies and a warrant for his arrest has been issued. The complaint against him alleges, in four counts, that he misused a total of $2,256.50 of public money between Aug. 9, 1967, and last May 20. Mr. Lewis was charged with issuing an insufficient funds check last month and is presently free on $1,000 bond on that charge. The complaint against him at that time, was signed by County Clerk Harold Lancaster. A preliminary hearing on the first charge against Mr. Lewis, that of issuing an insufficient funds check, has been set for July 22. A hearing on the misuse of public monies charge here had not been set. Judge Turner witnessed the complaint and ordered a warrant be issued for Mr. Lewis' arrest. Nurse Dies SAIGON (UPI) — A 25-year-old Army nurse who wrote her father she "wanted to help in Vietnam" was killed when a rocket smashed into a field hospital, military officials said today. Lt. Sharon A. Lane of Canton, Ohio was the first woman in the U.S. armed forces killed in action in Vietnam. Miss Lane suffered shrapnel wounds in the throat when a 122 mm rocket exploded near a ward of the U.S. 31st Evacuation Hospital at Chu Lai Sunday.

An Editorial... 'Yes' On The ABM

The arguments pro and con have gone on for weeks. A solution agreeable to all is not in sight now and probably never will be. So this leaves the task of selecting the solution that is best for the nation, best for the citizens, best for the world. Based on conclusions advanced by trusted leaders of this nation, based on conclusions advanced by equally famed and well qualified scientists, and based on conclusions of common sense and our experience with Russian negotiations, the best program right now would be to go ahead with the prototype phase of the so-called "Safeguard" system of anti-ballistic missile defense advocated by President Nixon. We are in full agreement with Rep. Gerald Ford who today termed this system "a lifesaver." It is a life-saver whether or not the United States is ever attacked by another nuclear power. It would be a life-saver if it simply deterred an attack. It would be a life-saver if the United States ever suffered a nuclear attack. But above even this it might well facilitate our reaching an arms control agreement with the Soviet Union.

Strike Talks Deadlocked

BOISE (UPI)—Negotiations between striking ironworkers and union members and contractors broke off Monday night when talks reached an impasse over wages.

The Knights Needed Them!

If saddles hadn't been invented in France in the early Christian era, the bold knights of the Middle Ages could have stayed on their horses, let alone fought battles. Today saddles are used by nearly every one who likes to ride horses. Once your family may have enjoyed riding, too, but if their new pursuits have left all your old ones and other equipment (perhaps a horse) behind, sell them with a Times-News. We can give you just good horse sense to dial 733-0931 now! Here's the first ad received in the Want Ad department today. 1968 Jittery Chevrolet 4-wheel drive, 1968 Buick Wildcat, 1968 Buick Wildcat, 733-0931 after 6.

Canal Bridge Collapses Near Rupert

RUPERT — A two-lane canal bridge collapsed Monday when the support structure ripped out by a canal dragger. The bridge, located eight miles west and four miles south of Rupert, collapsed at 2:52 p.m. when the Windoka Irrigation Dragger cut through the supporting struts on the bridge, according to Ruben Kraus of the Windoka Highway District. "He said he anticipates the bridge will be repaired within the next couple of days, depending on the availability of the needed replacement struts." There were no injuries when the bridge collapsed. The flow of irrigation water was not impeded. Traffic has been re-routed from the bridge site.

Viets Cost $1,200 Per Man To Equip

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The first 25,000-man withdrawal announced by President Nixon at Midway will be "heavily weighted" with Army and Marine combat units. The U.S. support forces including jet fighters, helicopters, supply and transportation units, meanwhile, would remain behind to assist the South Vietnamese as they take over the fighting. Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird said in an impromptu news conference Monday that budget cutting Pentagon spent $23,000 at the start of this year. They had received $45,000 in March and $57,000 in April, and are scheduled to go to $75,000 by the end of 1969. This would be the equivalent in population ratio to an army of more than 15 million in the United States. Even if national police and militia are included, to bring the South Vietnamese strength to the equivalent of a 100-man budget would provide approximately $1,200 per man for equipping them during the 14 month period.

CHRONICLE OF A sheared head shows Mark Bayless, who started out with a full head of hair (top), finds his long locks falling to the floor (center) on the way to his vacation-time "Mohawk" haircut. Cutting his hair is "Mod Barbershop" owner Bob Geer.

Gooding County Planning Commission Hears Report

WENDELL — Clyde Petersen, Wendell, chairman of the Gooding County Planning Commission, stated that all committees finalized their reports and were reviewed by the ASC and Farmers Home Agency, Gooding, June 8.

A public hearing has been scheduled for 8 p.m. June 17 in the American Legion Hall, Wendell, to acquaint the public with the program, review the plans and to create better understanding.

Mr. Petersen stated there is a great deal of confusion in the minds of many people as to the real meaning of comprehensive county planning. He stated further the Planning Board has no powers except those delegated them by the State Legislature and local governing bodies concerned. The Planning Board represented a cross-section of the county population — such as businessmen, housewives, farmers, and public officials.

This plan has three closely related parts, each of which is made up of numerous plans and proposals, he explained.

Part I deals with social, economic and civic improvements. Part II, with land use, and Part III, use of natural resources.

A great amount of work and fact gathering was done by each committee, therefore, it is not difficult to envision the benefits that will result from the implementation of this comprehensive plan, economic and otherwise, he added.

He feels that as great as the United States is now, what a country we can have when it has reached the point of having been planned county by county, resourced area by resource area.

Mr. Petersen expressed his appreciation to all committee chairmen and workers who have helped the Gooding County far out in front of the country as far as future plans are concerned.

Committee chairmen include Mr. Petersen, minerals and resources; Bob Stewart, Gooding, public and semi-public improvements; Don Simis, Gooding, present economic base; Carl Cassler, Wendell, people; Marie Owsley, Hagerman, government and finance; Bob Bolte, Gooding, range; Everett Daubner, Gooding, water resources; Vernon Ravenscroft, Tuttle, and Don Fredrickson, Gooding, recreation; Ralph Miller, Hagerman, climatic data; Harold Bown, Wendell, agriculture.

The RAD (Rural Area Development) Committee, with Allan Johnson as chairman, helped considerably by gathering information for the all over plan.

Mr. Petersen stated if every one works as hard, following the recommendations as they have gathered facts and compiling them, a great many of the county's problems will be solved.

A good start toward solving existing problems, Petersen stated, is to attend and urge all county citizens who are interested in the growth of our area to attend the Public Hearing which is scheduled at the American Legion Hall at 8 p.m. June 17.

"Just because school's out" was the only explanation offered by a trio of long-haired barbers who went under the barber's shears recently and emerged with "Mohawk" haircuts.

Taking action on a summer whim, the three didn't seem to have time to consult their parents. They marched into the "Mod" Barbershop, owned by Bob Geer, and asked him to perform the services.

"I was taken by surprise," said Mr. Geer. "I hadn't done one of these haircuts for years." He went on to express doubts about how the parents of the brave trio would feel at sight of them.

Hardest hit (because he had the longest hair) was Mark Bayless, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bayless and a student at Lincoln School.

Second in the chair was Randy Knigge, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Knigge, who attends Morningside School. "It gets awfully hot and sweaty," says Randy, commenting on the former state of his hair.

The fact that his family will soon attend a family reunion in South Idaho and a nagging fear that his "mother would slaughter me" deterred the third boy.

Kenneth Conradi, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Conradi and a student at Memorial Lutheran School, probably made a wise decision.

While clipping Randy, Mr.

Geer stated some opinions on men's hairstyles.

"I feel these various hairstyles come and go. Already I can see a swing back to more conservative, medium-length styles. Because we work on these kids so much, I can say for sure that regardless of their long hair, 99 per cent are fine!

Prison Board To Clean Up Back Cases

BOISE (UPI) — Idaho's new Board of Pardons and Paroles plans to meet each afternoon this week to clean up a backlog of cases, Chairman Mack Redford said Monday.

Redford said the new agency completed about 80 per cent of its work last week but, because of the heavy backlog of cases, would need additional time this week to finish the task.

He said the board had some 100 applications to consider at its initial meeting and that "We're finding people who hadn't been acted on."

One prisoner, he said, would have gone over his "good time" maximum June 28 but not the board caught the oversight at its meetings last week.

After a prisoner has served two years, he said, he can earn six days a month "good time" for good behavior and thereby get out of prison earlier.

Classification personnel at the prison are going through every convict's records to determine which should have action by the board. He said the board plans to meet every two months rather than quarterly for the next six months so it can handle all the cases that require handling and eliminate the backlog.

decision must be made. And the decision will be made in the United States Senate.
Safeguard's total cost is estimated at $8 billion, including $4 billion to build the whole system. The President is asking approval to go forward on two prototype installations for completion by 1973. Cost of the prototypes is estimated at $2.1 billion — which is just about one-half of one percent of our total defense budget.
We admit that we could use these funds for our internal problems. This theme is carried along by those who are against the limited ABM program.
But in all earnestness we must point out we will have no problems — either external or internal — to WASHINGTON — If you look closely, you will discern a glaring incongruity in those ardently moralistic prechantments of Sen. Edward Kennedy against the Vietnam war, the Safeguard anti-ballistic missile system and other politics-rife issues.

The 37-year-old eager-beaver presidential scambler is the last man to do any hectoring, thus stone throw. For him to assume a lofty ethical stance is comparable to the pot-calling the kettle black.
As a Harvard student, Kennedy, in effect, was expelled for cheating.
Doing poorly in Spanish, he ducked an examination by inducing another student to take it for him. The deception was discovered, and Kennedy and his accomplice were "asked to withdraw."
The sorry affair came to light in the spring of 1962 when Kennedy rocked Massachusetts politics by announcing for the U. S. Senate.
Until then, the Democratic nomination was considered certain to go to State Attorney General Edward McCormack.
Annapolis graduate, nephew of Speaker John McCormack, popular and able, had worked his way up the political ladder. Kennedy, 30, had no political service or experience. But he had four unimpeachable assets: his father's immense wealth, an older brother who was President of the U. S., another brother who was U. S. Attorney general, and the family's highly organized and well-oiled political machine.

Intrepidly, McCormack fought this insuperable combination down to the wire. The bitter campaign cost the Kennedys more than $1 million. But in the end, "Teddy" got the Senate seat.
During the scorching fray, McCormack charged Kennedy with cheating in college. Kennedy admitted it in the following statement:
"It was having difficulty in one course, a foreign language. I became so apprehensive that I aranged with a fellow student to take the exam in that course."

The dean learned of this and my friend and I were asked to withdraw, with the understanding that we might reappear for admission after a period of absence, provided that during the time we could demonstrate a record of constructive and responsible citizenship.
What I did was wrong, have forgotten it ever since. The unhappiness I caused my family and my friends, even though years ago, has been a bitter experience for me. But it also has been a very valuable lesson. That is the story."
Kennedy was later readmitted to Harvard and graduated in 1958. But he did not attend Harvard's famed Law School. Instead, he graduated from the University of Virginia Law School in 1959.
His vehement moralistic denunciations of the Vietnam war came not to be venerated by broadcast by Hanoi and Moscow radio. In these castigations, Kennedy carefully says nothing about the fact that his late brother, President John F. Kennedy, initiated the policy of sending combat troops to Vietnam to avert a Communist takeover.

Soviet Spy Ships

In disclosing that the Soviets have resumed spy ship operations close to American shores and Pacific bases, U. S. intelligence officials have reemphasized that spying in its varying forms remains a very real instrument of modern cold war strategy.
Soviet spy vessels in the past have mainly conducted their surveillance operations in groups instead of by single vessels. Apparently this is the method they will continue to employ.
For more than a year — ever since the Pueblo was seized in January, 1968 — the Soviets have refrained from bringing their own spy ships close to U. S. territory, apparently in fear of reprisals for the Pueblo. But now they obviously feel the heat from that incident has died down and it is safe to begin whole-

Arthritis

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I would like some information about arthritis. For the past couple of years I have had painful swelling of hands, arms, legs, feet, and even my eyes. It seems to be in the fingers and muscles more than in the joints themselves. I enclose 35 cents and a self-addressed, stamped envelope for your booklet, "How You Can Control Arthritis." — Mrs. D. S.
Booklet on its way — but the most important single bit of advice in it may be, for you, to start by getting a careful diagnosis.
The painful swelling you describe does not fit the arthritis picture. That is to say, you may have something other than arthritis, or you may have some other disease in addition to it.
There are arthritis centers in various parts of the country, gradually increasing in number. There are also physicians, (rheumatologists) who have made a specialized study of the various arthritic diseases. Arthritis isn't one disease. It is many!
Perhaps your regular physician or your booklet, "How You Can Control Arthritis," or the county medical society can refer you.

A New Breed

It doesn't really take one of the numerous polls to inform Americans that college students today "are indeed a new breed." But some of the answers compiled in a Gallup poll are interesting — and tragic. The fact that one student in five admits trying marijuana, for one.
Not so surprising is that seven in 10 college students believe a "generation gap" exists, and the same proportion of older persons agrees. The biggest complaint by students of their parents is that they are "too set in their ways." Adults' pet peeve is the "undisciplined behavior" of young people.
One gets the impression that if both the young and the not-so-young stopped trying so hard to convince themselves and one another that there is an irrevocable chasm between them, most of the misunderstanding would evaporate.
It hasn't been long since the over-30 crowd was the lost generation to their parents, nor will it be many years before the young radical will be despairing the rebellions of his youngsters. As the man in the White House says, maybe if each of us stopped shouting so loud he could hear what the other fellow is saying.
Some of the best minds of the ages have said it is the listener, not the talker, who earns the most points in life. Perhaps absorbing that gem would be a starting point for the combatants to begin acting like people again.

ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK The Great Czech Slowdown

PRAGUE — An unplanned but corrosively destructive form of passive resistance to Soviet-backed repression here can be seen in the bizarre spectacle of hundreds of autos getting in line at filling stations around noon on Fridays to gas up for the weekend ahead.
Actually, that weekend isn't supposed to start until Saturday morning (under the five-day week began in September following the Soviet invasion). But workers and managers alike start knocking off Friday morning to shop for the weekend, and factories are deserted by midday. Nor is there any rush back to work Monday — not until noon in many cases.
Unofficial reduction of the work week to four days or less is part of a massive slowdown by the working force that is bringing the economy to a weary limp. "If an American worker came to one of our factories on a normal day now, a government technician told us with some disgust, "he would think a sit-down strike was in progress. Industrial productivity, poor for 20 years, has been dropping to new lows since the hard-line Czechoslovak politicians, following Soviet instructions, ordered us to squeeze all life from the liberal revolution of 1968."
"Why should the workers do any work?" a government official scoffed. "They no longer have a stake in the system. When I can get away with it, I quit work early myself."
"Thus, the Communist dogmatists back in the street forget his brief moment of freedom by giving him more bread."
This goal requires immediate economic reform to curb rampant inflation and pervasive shortages in consumer goods through higher productivity and better quality for Western exports — the newly-controlled press and radio each day pounds the drum for economic reform and a moratorium on political conformity.

PAUL HARVEY The Student Backlash

There is an unmistakable student backlash. When the politicians and the school administrators and the repentant militants start claiming credit for decreasing campus turbulence, let's remember it was the student majority in most cases, which averted itself.
The politicians, for the most part, talked either tough or condescendingly, but did nothing.
The school administrators, with few exceptions, knuckled under or gave up. In one year, one in 10 college and university presidencies changed hands. Seventy major universities are still without presidents.
Most militants were dedicated disciples of revolution, many of them expertly trained in utilization, exploitation and subversion.
Others of the misleaders were paranoids. Dr. Bruno Bettelheim, a University of Chicago psychology professor, a "y a "Man ruler" related how he and his colleagues were hated themselves. Felt useless."
The masses of students who rallied around the proponents of violence did not want violence; they wanted peace. And when President Nixon recommended modification of the draft law and when anti-war protests in Vietnam began to be phased out, it was this student majority which restored order without presidents.
Recognizing an ludicrous the pyramiding demands of the extremists, in campus after campus, disillusioned students counter-marched.

MR. SPECTATOR Don't Count The Candles

A funny thing happened on the way to the cemetery!
Always an avid reader, Mr. Spectator picked up a copy of Everybody's Money for the Summer of 1969 — a little booklet which, the intelligence said, came through the compliments of the Credit Union.
But it ruled Mr. Spectator's day. It shortened his overall planning and it raised a doubt as to whether everything was worth all the struggle.
In the back of this booklet was a page devoted to four columns. There were an inflation table, a monthly savings schedule, a retirement savings fund and last, but not least, a life expectancy table for men.
Well, it was the life expectancy table that floored Mr. Spectator. Now he will not any just how old he is but that table told him he had just 19 more years to live! That's right, only 19 years to live! What a way to ruin an otherwise lovely day — to read something like that!
Mr. Spectator remembered that it took him about that long to get out of the baby stupa and onto a school system — not that through high school — if he had to do over again he might make the high school grade but no college. He'd be dead before he could get there.

MR. SPECTATOR Don't Count The Candles

Only 19 more years! That is unless he is run over by a car, killed in a car wreck, struck by a falling object, felled by a portion of a disintegrating building or shot by an irate husband!
It just isn't right!
Now the decisions to be made. Should he continue to work day in and day out or should he quit right now and enjoy those last remaining 19 years? Should he save his money or spend it? Should he ignore his family or accept the responsibilities of being the head of one?
Well, he will probably never know what would happen to him because he will just keep working tomorrow as he worked yesterday. There will be no change in the setup.
And so it goes. Only 19 years! Mr. Spectator is certain the whole thing cannot be ignored and that every breath means one more closer to that fatal 19.
But knowing the statistics makes it just a little harder to get up in the morning and just a little easier to go to bed.
And just think — 19 more Christmases and 18 more birthdays — every 14 days — 19 more Christmases and 18 more birthdays.
And, like the man said,
Don't count the candles — some of them may not be lighted!

Seven Bodies Still Missing From Yacht

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A complete search by divers of the wreckage of the $500,000 yacht schooner Goodwill has failed to locate bodies of the seven persons still missing since the yacht crashed into a reef off Baja, Calif.-Mexico, coast two weeks ago.

In addition the yacht is reported breaking up in heavy seas.

Among those missing is the vessel's millionaire owner, Ralph Larrabee, owner of the I. F. Machine Shop in Huntington Park, Calif.

"Divers were able to go throughout the vessel," spokesman for the firm said. "No additional bodies were found and it was breaking up badly."

He said the divers and salvage experts were due to return to Tuesday.

"Then after we get their complete report it will be determined if any kind of salvage is possible."

The Goodwill, twice first-to-finish winner of the Los Angeles-Honolulu yacht race, left Cabo San Lucas, at the tip of Baja, Calif., May 24 for a seven-day cruise to Ensenada, Mexico.

The 101-foot Goodwill is believed to have struck Sacramento Reef 200 miles south of San Diego, Calif., the night of May 25.

Two bodies have been recovered since the wreckage was discovered June 1.

Employment In May Shows Slight Jump

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Total employment in the nation increased only slightly in May, the third consecutive month of moderate gain, indicating an easing of the economy, the government said today.

The jobless rate for May was 3.5 per cent, unchanged from April. Howard S. Hamberg, of the Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics said the overall employment picture for last month "probably reflects an easing in the economy."

Nonfarm employment in May was 73.3 million, a slight drop from the 73.4 million in April. Total employment, however, was 77.2 million, up slightly from the 77 million jobs held in April.

Somewhat offsetting Stambler's optimism about an easing in the economy was the continued high-level in the average work week for manufacturing industries, a figure used by the government as the leading indicator of what the economy is apt to do.

The average manufacturing work week in May was 40.8 hours, unchanged for the third consecutive month. Although this figure has not risen, it has reached stability at a very high level.

Stambler asserted: "We're seeing a continuation of the easing off in the job growth. The employment gains in 1969 have been substantially slower than 1968."

The May unemployment rate for nonwhites continued more than double that rate for whites. The nonwhite jobless rate in May was 6.5 per cent compared to 3.1 per cent for whites.

Unemployment among adult men was 2 per cent compared to 3.2 per cent for women. Joblessness for teenagers was 12.5 per cent, a slight decrease from April.

Hourly earnings of rank and file workers rose an average of 2.7 per cent in May, compared to 2.5 per cent in April.

Monterey Bay Teachers Have Walkout

MONTEREY, Calif. (UPI) — More than 400 members of the Monterey Bay Teachers Association and nearly half of the area's 18,000 pupils did not show up at school Monday.

The one-day walkout, dubbed "frustration day" by the teachers association, was a protest of the collapse of salary negotiations.

The teachers are asking a 7.4 per cent pay increase. The association represents 80 per cent of the 817 teachers in the Monterey Peninsula Unified School District.

Parents, substitute teachers and other volunteers filled in for the protesting teachers. There are 29 schools in the district, in Monterey, Seaside, Fort Ord, Marina and Del Rey Oaks.

The association said it would accept the 4 per cent salary increase unconditionally. But the teachers walked out of negotiations last week when school authorities insisted that the pay hike be contingent on obtaining additional state and federal subsidies.

The one-day walkout, according to the association, has the full support of the California Teachers Association, the Monterey Peninsula College Faculty Association and organized teachers in nearby Pacific Grove.

2nd Lawsuit Dismissed On Plane Crash

A second lawsuit in connection with the death of an Idaho gubernatorial candidate and other men in the fall of 1968 has been dismissed, Fifth District Court records showed Monday.

The suit was settled out of court.

Recently a lawsuit involving the widow of Charles Herndon, the Democratic candidate for governor in 1968, was ordered dismissed. The case was settled out of court, but the details of the settlement have never been made public. Mrs. Herndon had asked $1,004,000 in connection with the death of her husband.

Monday another case, asking $25,500 in damages, was dismissed.

The plaintiffs in that action were Mrs. Jeanne B. Crutchfield and her children, Cheryl M. Crutchfield and Christine J. Crutchfield.

Defendants are William F. Bir, William C. Bonney, Fred Frazier, Liberty Plan of America, Sierra Life Insurance Co., Idaho Investment Corp., Pioneer Savings and Loan and Consolidated Credit Corp.

Mr. Bir was the pilot of a plane that crashed in the Stanley Basin Sept. 14, 1968. The plane was carrying Mr. Herndon, Lloyd Crutchfield and another passenger. Bir escaped alive.

The pilot and owners of the plane were charged with neglect in connection with the crash.

In asking for dismissal of the Crutchfield-Bir suit, attorneys said the matter has been "amicably settled" out of court. Details of the settlement were not reported.

White Cloud Hearing Set Wednesday

CHALLIS (UPI) — Another public hearing will be held Wednesday into the controversial proposal of American Smelting and Refining Co. to set up a strip-mining project for molybdenum in the rugged wilderness of the White Cloud Peaks area.

The proposal has met with strong opposition from conservationists across the state. Similar hearings were held last month in Boise and Twin Falls. The Challis meeting will be held at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday in the Challis American Legion Hall.

Regional Forester Floyd Iverson said, "Several citizens of Challis and the Challis Chamber of Commerce have requested the meeting. In view of the apparent public need, the meeting was set up."

He noted that the hearing was not a formal one.

Meanwhile, Iverson announced that public discussions will be held this weekend on development of the Upper Salmon River.

The discussion-type hearings will be held in Boise Friday morning, Challis Friday evening and in Salmon Saturday afternoon.

Reuther Shirks Fears Of SDS

WASHINGTON (UPI) — United Auto Workers President Walter P. Reuther predicted Monday efforts by Students for a Democratic Society to extend their racial activities to the nation's factories this summer would be unsuccessful.

"They are trying to establish confusion and chaos," Reuther said. "The impact is not that great."

He told newsmen the UAW would "not make any special effort to deal with SDS."

"We shouldn't ignore them, but we shouldn't panic," he said.

Officials of the new-let student organization have announced plans to "infiltrate" industrial plants this summer in an effort to win over the workers to their radical program.

Melbourne Nearly Hit Second Ship, Aide Says

SUBIC BAY NAVAL STATION, Philippines (UPI) — An Australian aircraft carrier Melbourne nearly collided with another American ship three days before the disastrous collision with the USS Frank E. Evans that killed 74 Americans.

The surprise testimony came from Rear Adm. G.B.B. Crabb on the opening day of an official inquiry into the "near collision" last Tuesday which cut the Evans in two during maneuvers in the South China Sea.

On May 31, Crabb said another U.S. Navy vessel which he did not name "passed within 50 feet of the Melbourne" in the night and exercise which involved in a "near collision" with the big flattop. Sources outside the hearing room identified the ship as the USS Everett F. Larson, also a destroyer.

Testimony on the Evans-Melbourne collision, Crabb said he was awakened at 4:12 a.m. and told the two vessels were on a collision course. He said he went to the bridge and saw the American ship moving from right to left directly across the bow of the carrier seconds before the impact.

Crabb said he saw the Evans nearly beneath the Melbourne's bow.

"In less than 10 seconds after that there, I suggested Melbourne's ship moving through the sandy-haired admiral said.

The maneuvers were conducted under the auspices of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization (SEATO), and Crabb was in overall command.

Crabb said he discussed the night collision on May 31 with his American destroyer commander and told him it was his own personal rule that destroyers must turn away from a carrier when changing position in the screening pattern designed to protect the flattop from attack.

Crabb said he told his line officers he would "sack them on the spot if they turned their destroyers toward the Melbourne."

Crabb stressed repeatedly that the collision occurred under bright moonlight and "anyone could see a ship at 2,000 yards without binoculars."

He described the sea as "glassy calm," a factor which he said helped in the rescue of the 199 Americans who survived.

Michigan Killer Claims Sixth Victim

By JANE K. DENISON
ANN ARBOR, Mich. (UPI) — A pretty brunette with a gaily striped coat was shot, stabbed and raped before her killer left her in a cold spring rain. She was the sixth young woman slain in the area of this fear-stricken university community over the past two years.

Her death was called by a sheriff "a carbon copy of the others."

She lay today in the Washtenaw County morgue as baffled police sought her identity and clues to her death and the other unsolved slayings.

The discovery of "her body

Monday brought to four the number of similar unsolved murders since March 21.

Shirley Douglas Harvey said the latest "murder contained many similarities" to the previous killings in this University of Michigan city 45 miles west of Detroit. But Harvey declined to speculate whether the slayings were the work of a single rainy-night killer.

"They were females; they were naked; they were stabbed," he said. "We're grabbing at straws. All we know is that they were slain on rainy nights."

"They mister, they mister," three teen-aged brothers yelled Monday at Dale Higley, 41, at his home about seven miles north of here. "We found a body. We found a body."

Higley said they found the nearly nude body of the 17-to-20-year-old girl Monday afternoon behind a small bush on an abandoned farm just a block from busy U.S. Route 23. The 5-foot-5, 130-pound girl was found in the "strown remains of her colorful wardrobe."

"She looked like she had just lain down there but there were signs of pain on her face," said David Christie, 17, one of the brothers who found her body "almost in the road. I almost ran over her."

A preliminary autopsy showed the girl had been shot twice in the head, stabbed six or eight times across the throat. Doctors said any of the wounds could have caused her death. Police said the body was not as badly mutilated as some of the others in the gruesome series.

Highly paid authorities the abandoned farm was a frequently-used lover's lane.

Sen. Church Says Poverty Hits Many

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (UPI) — Sen. Frank Church, D., Idaho, said Monday poverty afflicts one out of every three elderly Americans.

"The retirement income problem for today's elderly is serious and it is growing worse," Church told a hearing of his special Senate Subcommittee on Aging.

"The gap between the incomes of young and old is widening, not narrowing."

"Today's workers—those middle-aged and younger—will also have serious retirement income problems unless major, comprehensive action is taken on several fronts," he said.

The subcommittee held a one-day hearing here in an effort to find answers to questions about consumer economics and the elderly.

"When we consider that there are 20 million Americans now past age 65 and that many more millions will soon be of retirement age, we can see that such questions are not significant," Church said.

Harvard Ousts 16 Involved In Riots

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (UPI) — Harvard University Monday expelled 16 students and handed out suspensions and warnings to 119 others involved in the April 9 takeover of an administration building.

The sentences were recommended by a special student faculty "Committee of 15" and confirmed "overwhelmingly" by the faculty of arts and sciences.

The university dismissed outright three students, ordered withdrawals of up to two years for five students and one term withdrawals for eight others for their part in the occupation of University Hall.

In addition, Harvard ordered the withdrawal of 20 students, but suspended the sentence, and gave official warnings to 99 others.

Six of the students told to leave were seniors who will not receive their degrees at commencement on Thursday.

Prof. James Wilson of the government department explained that all those told to leave were convicted by the committee of violent acts against university personnel or against the building.

The students were warned that future actions similar to the takeover of University Hall would be dealt with severely, and might include summary dismissal from the school.

The students undergates and graduates and men and women, were from Harvard College, Radcliffe College and various of the university's graduate schools.

Pope Pleads For Peace In The World

GENEVA (UPI) — Pope Paul VI, warning "the peace of the world is at stake," appealed in nations today to end the "war of attrition" and suffering that still afflict much of the world's people.

The 71-year-old pontiff delivered the appeal in a 3,500-word speech to the International Labor Organization (ILO) of the United Nations.

The Pope spoke shortly after arriving from Rome in the first visit of a Roman Catholic pontiff to this historic Protestant stronghold in more than 500 years. The crowd that turned out were the smallest he has encountered on any of his seven trips abroad.

"How many and what terrible evils; how many deficiencies, injustices, sufferings, laments, still rise up from the world of labor," he said.

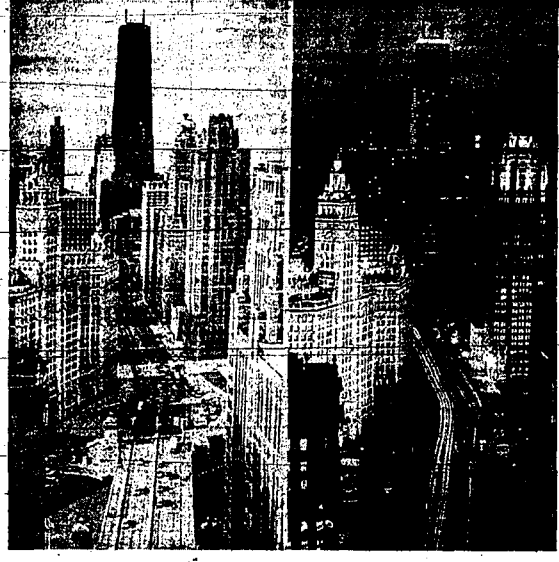

"Henceforth you must master the rights of strong peoples and favor the development of weak peoples by creating the conditions, not only theoretical but practical, of real international laws of labor on the level of peoples," the Pope said.

In his plea for social justice for workers, the Pope urged the ILO to "persevere tenaciously in their mission of justice and peace."

"For it is the peace of the world which is at stake," the Pope said, "and the future of mankind."

"This future can only be built up by peace among all the human families at work, between classes and peoples, a peace which rests upon an ever more perfect justice among all men."

Nixon's Decision On Troops Triggers Partisan Reaction

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Republican congressional leaders Monday praised President Nixon's decision to withdraw 25,000 GIs from Vietnam as the first step to "de-Americanize" the war. Democrats mostly saw it as a token action and some members of both parties called it risky.

Senate GOP leader Everett McKinck Dickson and his assistant, Sen. Hugh Scott, said the decision announced Sunday at the Midway Island conference between Nixon and President Nguyen Van-Thieu was the first action towards turning over the House GOP leader Gerald R. Ford said the decision "is undoubtedly the first of a series of steps aimed at giving greater and greater responsibility to the South Vietnamese."

But Sen. George S. McGovern, D-S.D., a leading Senate dove, called it "tokenism" and said "it doesn't fundamentally change the character of our involvement."

Others, like Sens. John Stennis, D-Miss., chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, and a senior member of the committee, Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., had some misgivings. Stennis said he had some doubts about South Vietnam's ability to take on more war responsibility. Thurmond called the withdrawal a "risk."

Sen. called the withdrawal "a first step" and said, "we have every right to hope for some type of equivalent response" from Hanoi.

The GOP whip also criticized Democratic doves who said Nixon's plan was meaningless.

"The President's approach is to do exactly the same things the doves have been demanding," Scott told reporters, "now they have their feathers ruffled because they're not in the seats of power."

Sen. Stephen M. Young, D-Ore., another dove, said Nixon's announcement fell short of the President's promise to "end the war in Vietnam and bring the boys home."

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, a leading critic of the administration's conduct of the war, said he hoped Nixon's decision "signifies a change in U.S. policy" and that it meant more withdrawals would follow.

Town Parley Debates Prayer In Schools

LEYDEN, Mass. (UPI) — A special town meeting called to consider the future of prayer readings in the tiny town's only public school, Monday night apologized without taking any action after some 70 persons spoke vehemently both for and against the controversial U.S. Supreme Court barred practice.

By limiting the meeting to discussion only, the town put off until their next meeting a decision on whether or not to reinstitute prayer readings in the fall.

During the meeting held in the Town Hall across the street from Leyden's only church, one person asked, "What was ever learned from the Bible? Where was the President's hand when he took the oath of office?"

Another resident, speaking in opposition to the readings, charged, the school committee was "using our children, dragging the Bible in the mud to consider the future of prayer." The school committee, led by chairman Raymond C. Ainsworth, Saturday ordered the readings stopped pending a decision by the town.

The prayers began last week after school committee member Gerald F. McCarthy introduced a resolution reinstating Bible and prayer readings on a voluntary basis.

However, the practice aroused a furor, including a threat Friday from State Education Commissioner Neil V. Sullivan to turn the matter over to the state attorney general if Leyden officials refused to comply with "the law of the land."

Saturday, after two emergency sessions, the school committee decided to halt the controversial Bible readings and prayers for the rest of the school year.

Women's Section "Have Nots" Featured in Pictures for Photo Expo 69

BY PATRICIA MC CORMACK
The barefoot girl there are these from the pint-sized sharpshooters in disadvantaged neighborhoods: "A broom—and a brush leaning against a brick-wall. On the wall: "Invited to Become Involved." "A blind woman, in cup in one hand and other hand rubbing her eyes as she looks toward the darkened sky. It is night. The sign around her neck says: "Do You Thank God You Can See." People rushing by appearing to be ignoring her. "A man waving and smiling, full of friendly feelings—in the background, a church, obviously, it is Sunday and time to be cheerful. "Another man, almost snarling and putting up his hands to indicate "no" to the photographer. In the background this time, a jewelry store with its windows covered by iron gates. There were many pictures of children — crying, laughing, standing in line, but none so pathetic as that of a little boy standing behind a barricade marked "Police Line." Joseph T. Morris, chairman of photography for the President's Council on Youth Opportunity, said in an interview that 300 photography projects are under consideration for disadvantaged youths this summer. Many will continue throughout the year—movie pictures, too. "We've found," he said, "that with a camera a lot of youngsters learn to communicate and are helped to find something meaningful about life. "For others, it is an outlet for steam. Morris, exhibition director and executive vice president of the National Association of Photographic Manufacturers Inc., said the youngsters aren't just given cameras and films. They get instruction once the shooting starts, they have ground rules to follow. For some, paying attention to the rules holds the promise of opening the door to a career in photography. That's a pretty big door for a child who never had a camera of his own—not to mention professional advice on how to "shoot" like a pro.

long. What would YOU do? WORRIED
DEAR WORRIED: I would explain to my daughter exactly what was "wrong" with going into the woods with this boy or any other boy, and I would tell her that she was to have nothing more to do with him. Then I would visit the parents of this neighbor boy, and tell HIM in their presence that he was not to come near my house, or my child again. And finally, I would keep a sharp eye on my daughter.
DEAR ABBY: Lucy's letter got to me. She said a friend of hers gave up smoking, but took to chewing tobacco. Instead, what, what's so bad about that? There are clean chewers and dirty chewers, and I happen to be a clean chewer. I am 72 and I still have a chewer. Chewing tobacco since I was in the fifth grade, and my wife first found out about it only a year ago when she went through my jacket pockets before sending a suit to the cleaners and found a plug of tobacco. I have been on planes, trains, and elevators when I wished the smokers were chewers. A tobacco chewer doesn't pollute the air for everyone around him.
KIRK
DEAR KIRK: Either you did all your chewing in private or you disposed of the tobacco juice as only a Houdini could. Please chew me out.
DEAR ABBY: How about a word in your column about these so-called "parties" where guests are invited to view certain products and are expected to buy some so the hostess can win prizes? I have received several invitations to dish parties, toy parties, lingerie parties, and clothing parties. I feel it is in poor taste to try to sell anything to your friends, let alone using a party pretext for doing it. What is your opinion, Abby?
ALAMEDA, CALIFORNIA
DEAR ALAMEDA! It is "poor taste" only if the hostess invites her friends to such a party without letting them know what to expect. One can always decline if he doesn't care to attend.

Traffic Mishap

TRIGGERS SUIT—A $76,000 damage suit stemming from a traffic accident which occurred in June 1967 has been filed in U.S. District Court in Pocatello.

The suit involved the death of Christine Swin, a Pocatello high school student who was killed in the crash.

She was riding in a car with Charles D. Anthony which collided with a Buick Wildcat driven by Jerry Glassman. Glassman is currently serving a term of one year in the Bannock County Jail on an involuntary manslaughter charge stemming from the accident.

Similar charges had been filed against Anthony but in a court case they were dismissed at the request of the prosecuting attorney because of a lack of evidence.

The suit was filed against families of the drivers involved.

Plans Are Formulated For "Parade of Homes" in T. F.

Members of the Builders Association of Magic Valley are making plans for its first "Parade of Homes" in Twin Falls.

The parade, a project for several years of the National Association of Home Builders, which the valley unit is affiliated, will feature homes ranging in price from $15,000 to $85,000.

Members of the association heard a report Monday night at a meeting at the Holiday Inn from Alex Brehm, chairman of the "Parade of Homes."

Mr. Brehm, who also was elected second vice president at the meeting, said the parade will be Sept. 19-21, with July 1 set as the tentative final date for builders to register.

He said eight homes have been committed for the show, with a possibility of a total of 11 being entered.

The homes will feature a variety of architecture and building materials. He said some of the styles will be new to the Twin Falls area and that test drives of the area-taking-advantage of the free tour will see some of the newest ideas in home building.

The parade chairman said individual builders are making arrangements for the houses to be furnished for the tour, but it is anticipated most of the homes will include furniture.

The houses will be staffed with people to explain design and features, and Idaho-Power will provide staff members in all-electric homes.

The eight houses now committed will be in Twin Falls and also outside the city limits. Besides the builders, members of related building trades, building material suppliers, utility companies, Equitable Savings and Loan, and possibly others, will be contributing to the success of the project.

The parade will be the first large organized project for the Magic Valley unit, which is only about four and one-half months old, and Mr. Brehm said he believes it will be the first parade of new homes ever held in Twin Falls.

Paul Sheller of Twin Falls was elected to the board of directors at the dinner meeting attended by about 25 members and guests.

Two films on the home building industry were shown.

Carl Schuyler, president, conducted the meeting.

Mr. Brehm said a special meeting, with the date to be announced, will be held for all interested parties in the "Parade of Homes."

Comedian Claims CBS Trims Shows

NEW YORK (UPI)—The battle between the Smothers Brothers and the Columbia Broadcasting System continues, not on the air, but in the pages of a national magazine where Ron Smothers claimed that 75 per cent of his shows were censored.

Smothers said that of the 28 programs he and his brother made for CBS, 75 per cent were cancelled by the network, which has since cancelled the "Smothers Brothers Comedy Hour," the top-rated Sunday night program which won an Emmy Award Sunday.

The article, which was accompanied by a rebuttal from CBS, said that Smothers has reason to believe that CBS' rival networks will not pick up the discontinued program.

"I don't have it on tape or anything like that, but I've been told NBC assured CBS they wouldn't pick us up," he said. Smothers said that ABC, the third major network, "is interested, but they're a little gunshy."

Claiming that the television industry is "afraid of controversy," Smothers said that aides of the programs were sliced out, not "bleeped" out. "That's because they don't want

Storm Causes Outages Around Glens Ferry

GLENS FERRY—Curtis A. May who manages the Land Creek Farms here, measured seven-eighths inch of rainfall in Sunday afternoon rainstorm.

"Lots of water, very welcome," he reported. He saw one bolt of lightning strike about a quarter-mile from the shop door where he was standing, but there was no damage.

Power was interrupted for 50 minutes in the area, as well as farther west towards Boise. According to the Boise dispatcher for the Idaho Power Co., outages were fairly consistent throughout the entire area.

The wind whipped limbs from trees but no particular damage was reported Sunday.

IOC Decides To Leave Ski Advertising To National Federation

WARSAW (UPI)—The International Olympic Committee (IOC) decided Monday to leave it to national ski federations to decide how they handle the choice and publicity of skis used in winter olympics.

Despite opposition by its president, Avery Brundage, the IOC gave unanimous support to the International Ski Federation which permits some publicity in ski events.

An IOC spokesman told a news conference there was no suggestion in the discussion on winter games to eliminate alpine skiing, where the advertising issue has been most heated.

"The IOC welcomes the steps taken by the International Ski Federation at its recent congress in Barcelona to control the eligibility of skiers," the committee said. "The decision on the type and make of skis to be used by all competitors and any publicity connected therewith will be exclusively taken by the National Ski Federation.

"This will avoid manufacturers dealing with competitors and therefore prevent abuses," the IOC said.

In the light of this, no action is being taken on medals or any pending matter at this time," the spokesman said.

Asked if the majority of members were against Brundage on the ski issue, an IOC spokesman said the decision was approved unanimously. Brundage has scheduled a news conference for Tuesday, he said.

In answer to another question, the spokesman said it "certainly was not the intention of the text" to rebuff Brundage.

The IOC also decided that the 1972 Olympic Games in Munich should last 16 days and the Winter games in Sapporo, Japan should last 11 days.

The IOC set a maximum of eight teams for all team events.

wait until Tuesday afternoon when they are picking a special date at which our expansion committee could meet and make concrete plans."

Campbell added, "no price has been set for the new franchises but we will add another two teams. Vancouver is definitely one of them and the NHL owners are as anxious to settle the case of expansion as Vancouver is to find out when they will be admitted."

"There will be no realignment of the teams. We will keep the 72 game schedule," Campbell said.

The governors also approved the change of ownership of the Oakland Seals. This was announced at a special meeting last week but was formally concluded at Monday's session.

NHL Bosses Mull Over Expansion In Meeting

MONTREAL (UPI)—Several minor league teams were changed and the National Hockey League Board of Governors discussed expansion Monday as their annual four-day meeting started.

The Pittsburgh Penguins of the NHL announced that they are dropping the sponsorship of Amstar in the Central Professional League in favor of Baltimore of the American League as their development club.

Minnesota North Stars are switching their Central League team from Memphis, Tenn. to Waterloo, Iowa. The Montreal Canadiens officially told the board that they are suspending operation of their Houston, Tex., franchise in the Central League for one year. They are moving into the full time operation of an AHL team.

Canadiens president David McNeil who was the playing coach of Houston would talk over as the coach of their new AHL entry. The team was going to be called the Muskies but the Montreal organization has now decided to hold a contest among its fans to choose the nickname.

Once again, NHL president Clarence Campbell pointed out that no definite date has been set for the future expansion of the league. He said, "Invariably expansion and realignment of the teams came up for discussion but it was decided to wait until Tuesday afternoon when they are picking a special date at which our expansion committee could meet and make concrete plans."

Campbell added, "no price has been set for the new franchises but we will add another two teams. Vancouver is definitely one of them and the NHL owners are as anxious to settle the case of expansion as Vancouver is to find out when they will be admitted."

Tolan Paces Reds Past Chicago 4-1

CHICAGO (UPI)—Bobby Tolan doubled twice and scored each time Monday to spark the Cincinnati Reds to a 4-1 victory over the Chicago Cubs, snapping the Cubs' seven-game winning streak.

George Culver was the winning pitcher, evening his season record at 4-4, though he needed three innings of relief by Wayne Granger, who faced only 10 batters.

Tolan doubled in the first inning and scored on Alex Johnson's single and doubled again in the sixth, scoring again on Tony Perez' second double of the game.

The Reds got single runs in the seventh on Johnny Bench's single, a sacrifice and singles by Culver and Pete Rose and in the eighth on singles by Lee May, Bench, a walk to Tommy Helms and Darrel Chaney's single.

Cubs' starter Ferguson Jenkins gave up nine of the Reds' hits and three of their four runs to take his third loss against eight wins. He was relieved by Hank Aguirre in the seventh while Phil Regan finished.

Chicago's lineup: 1-Bench, 2-Culver, 3-Regan, 4-Helms, 5-May, 6-Tolan, 7-Jenkins, 8-Rose, 9-Ferguson.

Reds' lineup: 1-Perez, 2-Tolan, 3-Regan, 4-Aguirre, 5-May, 6-Bench, 7-Helms, 8-Chaney, 9-Ferguson.

Thomsen Shares Pro-Am Honors

POCATELLO — Twin Falls professional Clyde Thomsen nabbed a double bogey on the last hole and still tied with host professional Mike Reinshaw in a pro-amateur golf tournament at Highland Golf Course Monday.

Thomsen, who wound up the first nine with four straight threes, was coasting until a pour approach shot betrayed his side under 67 effort.

Assistant pro Marv Storey of Nampa led a largely Pocatello amateur team to first in the best ball with a 23-under par 123. Keith Martindale of Montpellier posted low amateur gross with a two-under 71.

ERNE ALLEN, who lost the use of both legs in an accident, drove his stock GTO down the straight in the Banbury Hill Climb. Despite the handicap, Allen took his second straight class B title Sunday afternoon with a best of 54.018.

HEADING DOWN THE hill, Jim Carroll pilots his Lotus Elan to the bottom of Banbury Hill after his second official run. Cornering at near-60 m.p.h. speeds, Carroll breezed to a time of 51.020 seconds to win the class A and overall titles.

Boise Man's Lotus Tops Field In MVSCC Banbury Hill Climb

By PAUL BUKER
Times-News Sportswriter

BUHL — A nifty little Lotus Elan that corners at unbelievable speeds, eight colorful and costly Porsches—just a shade slower, and a man who is paralyzed in both legs yet amazingly walked off with his second straight title provided the highlights Sunday afternoon in the Magic Valley Sports Car Club's annual Banbury Hill Climb.

Four hours of high-speed action greeted just a handful of spectators, but sports car owners were out in force as three different clubs entered the competition, sending some 20-odd cars up the twisting, 1.3 mile grade at Banbury Hill.

Jim Carroll of Boise, owner of the competition-green Lotus that walked off with the overall trophy in addition to the class

A prize, clicked off an official time of 51.020 seconds over the course, which includes three hairpin turns, a canyon drop-off, and one small straightaway near the finish. In a run which did not count in the official standings, Carroll gunned his car to an even faster 50.352 for the day's best effort.

Among the classy field, which incidentally was a comprised mostly of Boise area cars, were several Fiats, Porsche 911's and 912's, Carroll's Lotus, one Camaro, a Pontiac GTO, and a Corvair, along with a modified Volkswagen converted into a souped-up dunebuggy.

Driving the GTO was Ernie Allen, a local entrant who walked off with his second straight class B championship with a low time of 54.018. The thrilling thing about Allen's performance is the fact that he lost the use of both legs in a car accident several years ago.

Any driving at all for Allen would be next to impossible if it were not for his special equipment, which permits him to operate the car completely with his hands. Handling his four-speed Pontiac with surprising skill, Allen usually finishes at the top or near the top in his class. One could see what kind of person he was when he slid out of control near the start of his second run and bumped his car against the rail.

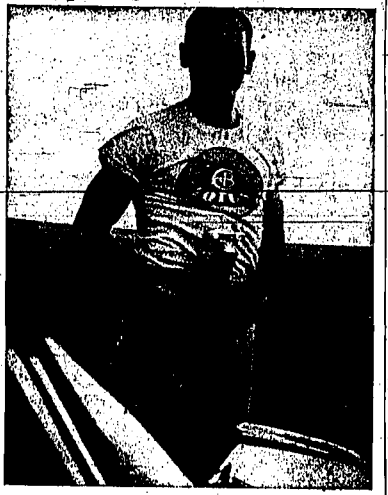

Ernie promptly drove back down to the starting area and proceeded to clip a full two seconds off his previously best time in his next run, a time which eventually proved to be his winning margin.

Sports Car Graphic, a national magazine avidly read by sports car enthusiasts, ran a full-page story on Allen not long ago while he was living in Sun Valley. He was once employed by KLIX radio in Twin Falls.

The cars in the climb were divided into A, B, C, and H classes. The A class cars are the high performance models, such as the Lotus and the Camaro. B class entrants include the Porsche 911's and cars comparable to Allen's GTO. Cars in the C class run from Porsche 912's to a stock Corvair. Stock Fiats were the only models entered in the H class. Engine size and overall horsepower provide the main basis for classing, as Sports Car Club of America (SCCA) rules are in effect.

Each car begins its run at the bottom of the hill and is electronically timed. Three officials runs are allotted to each driver, with the best of the three entered in the official standings. A remote-control road-blocker from the starting area at the bottom of the hill, to the finish at the top, about 1.3 miles, insures accurate starts.

OVERALL WINNER OF the Magic Valley Sports Car Club's annual hill climb, Jim Carroll, of the Boise Lotus Club, poses with his trophy. In an unofficial run, Carroll flashed down the track in 50.352 seconds.

Ex-Champ Tops Britisher In Bid For Amateur Title

HOYLAKE, England, (UPI)—Richard Davies of Pasadena, Calif., opened his bid for a second British Amateur golf championship Monday by taking a 5-and-4 triumph over Les Walker of England in a match played on the same course in which Davies won the title in 1962.

Davies and Dale Moroy of High Point, N.C., trading will back a spot on the U.S. Ryder Cup team, posted easy triumphs as a strong contingent of American players sought to break British domination of the competition.

Moroy, a former U.S. Amateur Cupper, crushed fellow American Jim Castleman 3 and 9.

Some 35 Americans are competing in the week-long, match play tournament over the Royal Liverpool Club's 6,954 yards, par-72 course. Several U.S. players are scheduled to play Tuesday when the first round will be completed. Davies beat Walker, a 22-year-old English competitor, despite being off on his putting.

The Californian went out in a three-over-par 39, yet managed to make the same course because of his opponent's errors. "I reckon I had 10 short birdie putts and missed them all," he said.

Moroy covered the first nine in a one-under-par 35 and then birdied the 10th hole to clinch the victory.

"I played just great and if I can retain this form I'll be real happy," Moroy said. "The greens are very fast. That's how I like them—the faster the better."

Moroy, runnerup in the 1953 U.S. Amateur to Gene Littler, had three birdies in his 10-hole round and the only bogey on his card was a bogey five at the 454-yard fourth hole.

While Davies and Moroy were winning easily, other members of the U.S. contingent weren't as fortunate.

Jim Vickers of Wichita, Kan., one of the top U.S. hopes, lost a nip-and-tuck battle to Bob Borton of England on the 23rd hole. A disgruntled Vickers said after the match "I should never have gone to a playoff. My putting was lousy and I missed a series of short ones."

class A run was Bill Dunn, who drove a modified Volkswagen dunebuggy to a top time of 53.442 seconds. Following Dunn came John Jenkins' Camaro with a best of 53.968.

Wilke Myers of Boise drove his Porsche 911 to a top time of 55.552 to take second behind Ernie Allen in the B class, while Nick Williams' Porsche took the course in 55.909 for third.

Skip Prusha of Boise drove Fiat to a best of 1:01.528 in taking the class H title, while Dennis Sanders drove his Fiat to 1:02.097. Dave Alsager took third in the time of 1:05.933.

Ernie Pyle, driving a Porsche 912, walked off with the title in Class C with a top time of 56.132. Bob Banta, in another Porsche, took runner-up honors at 58.488, while Jerry Wilcox of Jerome, and a member of the MVSCC, took a third in a time of 1:00.911 in his white Corvair.

Director John Jenkins, who along with Glenn Reddick runs all of the club's events, says the next MVSCC action will come the first Sunday in July at the Gooding Airport. As always, spectators are more than welcome.

Namath Insists He's In 'Right', Wants Meeting With Grid Boss Rozelle

STALELINE, Nev. (UPI)—Retired quarterback Joe Namath, insisting he is in the "right," said Monday he would like to discuss his situation with pro football commissioner Pete Rozelle.

Stating emphatically he would not compromise his position, the ace signal-caller of the world champion New York Jets said, "I don't want to go to court to examine his case in depth with Rozelle. It indicated that playing football still weighs heavily on Namath's mind."

"I'd like to get together again with Mr. Rozelle," said Namath. "I haven't talked to him since last week."

Namath tearfully announced Friday he would quit pro football rather than give up his one-third interest in a New York nightclub. Rozelle told him to sell his interest because the club is "ought for certain undesirable."

The football commissioner said refusal to sell would mean suspension.

As things stand now, said Namath, "I won't reconsider going back though I love pro football."

"I'm willing to reach any type of agreement to allow me to play next season," he added,

"but I don't think Mr. Rozelle will back off one inch."

"Rozelle shouldn't have the power to do something to a person when the person's right. I just want to know the reason for my suspension."

His long hair matted by rain, Namath met with newsmen after playing a practice round of golf at the Edgewood Golf Course near Lake Tahoe in a warm-up for Tuesday's opening of a celebrity golf tournament sponsored by William Harrath, one of Nevada's top casino operators.

"Lots of ballplayers have restaurants and bars and what's going to happen to them?" asked the 6-foot-2 bachelor.

He said he was a "little disappointed" with the "front office of the Jets for failing to help him out of his current predicament."

"They were furnished with a list of the so-called undesirable characters requesting the bar. I asked them to hire someone to help keep these people out. I even offered to pay the salary of the guy but they did not try to help."

He noted the Federal Bureau of Investigation had given him a "clean bill of health."

The colorful quarterback said he had changed his mind "nine different times" before deciding to quit football.

"I wanted to play football but it got down to being right or wrong," he said.

Clad in a blue mock turtleneck sweater and plaid trousers, Namath said his plans for the future were indefinite.

For the next six weeks, he said he would be working in Hollywood on a movie in which he has a bit part.

If his retirement sticks, Namath said it would cost him about $5 million in potential income.

Noting that his Jet teammates, George Sauer and Pete Lammons were still in the game, Namath said:

"I don't think they should quit but they probably make more money in their business ventures."

Jeff Thomsen Leads Boise Golf Tourney

BOISE — Jeff Thomsen, a 19-year-old junior at the University of Idaho, led the 18-hole Twin Falls Brains Golf and Country Club tournament on Monday, finishing with a 67 to lead a field of 100 players.

Thomsen, who is a member of the same high school team, went over par with a 74 to stay behind Thomsen for second place. Jim Blandford, another Twin Falls entry, shot an 83 and was well back in the pack.

The hand-picked field went another 18 holes this morning, with the top 12 scorers including ties going another 18 holes in the afternoon for the title.

Thomsen, a junior this year at Twin Falls high, started his round by sinking a birdie on the par-five first, but bogeyed the par-five second. He quickly picked up a stroke three holes later on the fifth with another bogey and made the turn in one-under fashion.

On the back side, Thomsen had bogies at 10, 16, and 18, but he picked up birdies on the par-five 12th and par-three 13th to remain at even par at the end of his round.

A four-way tie for third came at 75 after a round of 75. Steve Sharp, Brad and Scott Masling of Payette and Moscow's Kim Kirkland, all had the same total.

Dean Smith of Boise and Mike Taylor of Ontario were four shots back at 78.

Prince Lost 40 Pounds. In Losing Belmont Effort

BELMONT, N.J. (UPI)—Majestic Prince, beaten Belmont Stakes favorite, files to California early Tuesday to rejoin trainer Johnny Longden. They may return East for the August meeting at Saratoga Springs, N.Y.

Majestic Prince's handlers reported the brilliant chestnut colt was "tired" and that all would be done to help him regain the 40 pounds he lost in running the 1 1/2 mile Belmont, in which he finished second to Arts And Letters.

The defeat was the first ever for Majestic Prince in 10 starts, including the Kentucky Derby and Preakness.

"When we get home, we'll let him relax and rest up," said trainer Mike Bao, Longden's assistant. "He's eating well. Nothing can make him lose his appetite. But he went down from 1,120 to 1,080 pounds. We'll weigh him again when we get back to Hollywood Park."

There's a chance Majestic Prince will get a return crack at Arts And Letters in the $100,000-added Travers at Saratoga. The score is 2-1 in favor of the Prince, but Longden and owner Frank McMahon would rather not count "at the moment."

As a warmup for the 1 1/4 mile Travers, Longden may allow Majestic Prince to run in the Aug. 8 $25,000 added Jim Dandy at a mile. This event is eight days before the Travers.

Bao was still puzzled over the slow pace in Saturday's Belmont.

"I couldn't see the actual running of the race," Bao said. "Because I got hung up in the crowd. But I watched the board. When I saw a 1:16 1/5 for six furlongs and 1:40 1/5 for a mile, I figured the machine was broken."

Longden left for California Sunday to set up Majestic Prince's training schedule.

Lolich Fans 16 But Falls To Seattle 3-2

—DETROIT (UPI)—A rubbering single by pinch-hitter Don Mincher, and Gus Gil's line drive, gave up a homer to Dick Simpson on his first pitch but then went on to strike out 15 and equal the team record he set May 22.

Lolich was lifted for pinch-hitter Gates Brown with the bases loaded and two out in the ninth but Brown hit into a force and reliever Pat Dobson was tagged for two runs in the top of the 10th while suffering his fourth loss against one win.

Rodriguez Blow Nets 7-1 Victory

NEW YORK (UPI)—Elite Rodriguez fifth inning homer in a three-run shot off the rightfield foul pole—highlighted a five-run rally Monday night that carried the Kansas City Royals to a 7-1 victory over the New York Yankees.

Mike Kekich retired the first 12 Kansas City batters to face him before Mike Fiere, Lou Piniella and Jerry Adair lined consecutive singles with—none out for one run. Rodriguez then lofted a towering fly which glanced off the outside portion of the foul pole to boost the score to 4-1. It was Rodriguez second homer of the season and second in two days.

Two outs later, Jackie Hernandez doubled and scored the fifth run of the inning at Pat Kelly's single. Jack Aker relieved Kekich and got Joe Foy, his ninth player to bat in the inning on a pop up.

Roger Nelson pitched a five-hitter in evening his record at 4-4. He allowed the Yankees to score three runs in the first inning. Nelson also knocked in the final Kansas City run with a sacrifice fly in the ninth inning.

Rozelle Is Agreeable To Meeting

NEW YORK (UPI)—Pete Rozelle, commissioner of professional football, said Monday night that he'd be happy to sit down with Joe Namath and discuss his return to the NFL.

Rozelle said he would be glad to meet with Namath and discuss his return to the NFL.

"However, we still have the problem we had," Rozelle added, referring to his earlier decision that Namath either sell his interest in his local bistro or face suspension.

Rozelle said that he had talked to the Jets' officials but was not aware that Namath had asked them to hire a man to police his nightclub in order to keep out the unsavory element.

"The Jets are very concerned over this matter, and they should be. Namath's a great football player. But this is the first I'd heard that he had asked them to hire a man to police his place," he added.

The commissioner made it clear that he hoped the problem could be solved.

"I'd like to see Joe Namath play football next year," he said.

Alvis-Led Indians Top White Sox

CHICAGO (UPI)—Max Alvis hatted in three runs with a solo homer and a bases-loaded single Monday night to back the Indians' pitching ace Steve Hargan and Juan Pizarro and lead the Cleveland Indians to a 5-1 victory over the Chicago White Sox.

It was the 16th win in the last seven games for the Indians and extended the White Sox losing streak to five games.

Alvis' homer, his first this season, came in the eighth inning off Wilbur Wood, the third Sox pitcher and the loser Tommy John after two bases were filled on a single by Tony Horton, an error by Bill Melton which enabled Chuck Hinton to reach base and a walk to Cap Peterson. The hit drove in two runs.

Alvis' second homer, a two-run shot, came in the ninth inning off Wood. The hit drove in two runs.

Other batting leaders by league include Atlantic: Harr, 594; G. Brubaker, 586; Erickson, 576; Binkley, 571; Brown, 563; J. Dale, 559; DeBore, 552; Reese, 550; and L. Brubaker, 545. Pacific League leaders behind Morris include Williams, 607; Rine, 581; Browning, 576; Reese, 571; Root, 571; Schmeier, 567; Pratt, 565; Coggins, 548; and Pratt, 548.

Petrocelli Raps 20th; Boston Wins

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI)—Carl Yastrzemski's 14th homer in the first inning, a two-run blast, and Rico Petrocelli's 20th homer in the fourth inning, a solo shot that started a three-run rally, powered the Boston Red Sox to a 3-1 victory Monday night over the Minnesota Twins.

Petrocelli took over the major league lead in homers when he hit his 20th homer off Dick Woodson leading off the fourth inning. The Boston shortstop had been tied with Willie McCovey of the Giants.

After Petrocelli homered, Joe Lillard walked and went to third on George Scott's single. Woodson then wild pitched Lillard on his first pitch to Russ Gibson and was taken out of the game.

Jerry Crider replaced Woodson and Gibson greeted him with a run-scoring single that made it 3-1.

Yastrzemski's homer off Woodson in the first came after Dick Schofield singled.

Minnesota scored a single run in the second when Rich Reese tripled and came home on an error by Schofield.

The Twins rallied for two more in the seventh after two errors by Red Coward and Tony Oliva singled and Harmon Killebrew walked to load the bases. However, Steve Ryan was relieved by Sparky Lyle, who gave up a two-run homer to Yastrzemski.

HAVE YOUR CAKE AND EAT IT, TOO

Here is another Eddie Kantar hand that illustrates the desirability of losing a trick early in the play rather than later on.

You look at your 31 high-card points and realize that you have never learned what to bid with this sort of hand. Then you decide to open five no-trump and are pleased when your partner raises you to six. You are less pleased when you see the dummy but you do win the diamond lead-in your own hand. Obviously you want to preserve dummy's one entry.

Then you run off your four good spades and discard a small club from dummy. You had hoped for some help from East and West but West just followed suit while East jettisoned two diamonds.

Of course, you have a good play for your slam. A 3-3 heart break or a successful club finesse will give you your 12th trick and if only one of these two plays is available, the club finesse is the better percentage. A finesse is 50 per cent, a 3-3 break only 35 per cent.

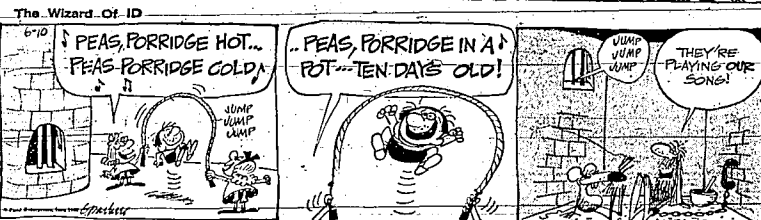

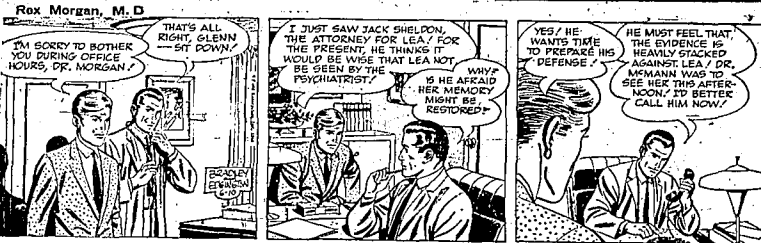

The correct play is far better since it gives you a chance to have your cake and eat it, too.

You simply lead out your duck of hearts. If East returns a diamond you will win with your queen. If he returns a club you rise with your ace, cash your ace and king of hearts and smile happily when both opponents follow. If either one had shown out you have entered dummy with the king of diamonds and finessed the club.

Idaho Town Boasts Doctor With Name Of Bonebreak

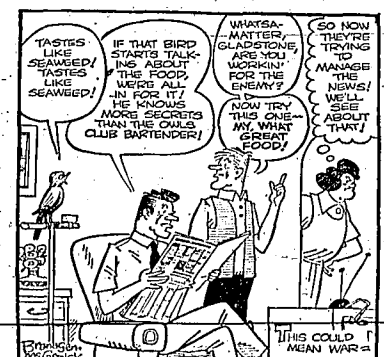

"WHEN LOSS of hair is hereditary, contends Don Quimby, that trait is transmitted through the mother, not the father." IN PRACTICE at Kellogg, Idaho, I'm told, is a doctor whose true name is Bonebreak. . . . AVERAGE AGE of all men and women who receive paychecks in this country now is 39.

MILITARY MIND — Mister, here's a little test to see how kind of a top kick you'd make in the army. Two soldiers are standing back to back at attention. You're in charge. You're required to maneuver them into shoulder-to-shoulder position, facing the same direction. But you're only allowed two commands to do so. Quick, now, what two commands would you give? Turn in your stripes if you didn't say, "Fall out!" then "Fall in!"

IT WAS THAT Swiss poet, Johann Lavater who advised, "If you wish to appear agreeable in society, you must consent to be taught many things which you already know." Astute fellow, Johann. . . . OVER THE YEARS in this country, the men who have killed themselves have outnumbered the women who have done so by nearly three-to-one.

LOVE AND WAR — Have received number of complaints by wives about inattentive husbands, but this one is extraordinary. Writes a Kenosha woman: "After 17 years of marriage, I became a little weary of being taken for granted, especially at breakfast. So this morning I tried an experiment. My husband came downstairs when I was called, picked up the paper, sat down across the table from me, finished his breakfast, put on his jacket and hat, waded goodbye over his shoulder, and left. If he noticed, which I doubt, he made no comment at all about the fact that I was wearing a gas mask."

THE OREGON "TOOTHPICK," which is en route to Louisville, Ky., for the National Jaycee convention, made a stop Sunday in Twin Falls. The huge Douglas Fir log will represent Oregon at the national meeting. The log left Twin Falls with a key to the city attached to it and the Oregon Jaycees were treated to lunch by the local club members. The log is said to have enough wood to construct a modern three-bedroom home and the "toothpick" idea is reminiscent of the Pan-Bunyon tales.

Rodeo Queen Judging Postponed, Events Listed

RUPERT — Judging of the Rupert Rodeo Queen contestants, originally scheduled to begin Sunday with riding competition, has been postponed until the regular nights of the rodeo July 3 through 5.

Vying for the 1970 title are Cathy Casad, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Casad; Vicki Kent, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Kent; Kathy Crawford, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. H. W. Crawford; and Barbara Allen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Randall Allen.

The contestants are required to practice each Monday and Thursday nights and are selling tickets to the annual Chuckwagon Jamboree scheduled for June 28.

During the feud at the civic building in Rupert, ticketholders will be eligible to cast a vote for the girl of their choice. That judging will count 25 percent of the overall points in the judging.

The girls will then compete in a division of the drills each night of the rodeo, with the new queen named the final night, July 5. Also named will be two attendants, Gill Stoller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Stoller, Paul, is the reigning queen.

Seven Youths Are Lectured For Drinking

No action has been taken against seven youths accused last week of illegal possession and consumption of alcohol.

The youths were arrested at an apartment at 415 Third Ave. N. following high school graduation ceremonies. The party at the apartment was broken up by police after a complaint from a resident in the area was called.

Apprehended at the time were three 17-year-old boys, two 17-year-old girls and two 18-year-old girls. They all were released to the custody of their parents, pending further action.

It was learned each of the youths involved was lectured by a police officer, then released. Court officials said legal actions have not been filed and it was doubtful if any would be.

Disappointed Latin Americans Don't Dispute U.S. Intentions

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

If Latin American governments were to sum up in a single sentence their feelings toward the United States, they could do it by recalling the proverb which says the road to hell is paved with good intentions.

What Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller has been hearing on his learn-and-listen tour and what a critical document to be presented to President Nixon this week in the names of all Latin American foreign ministers, except Cuba, will say is, being said more in sorrow than in anger.

Student and leftist violence which has marked the Rockefeller tour is something else.

Its roots are in the past and it plays upon the sense of frustration and helplessness common across the borders both to the north and south in the face of the U.S. colossus.

With the exception of Peru's military government, no one in Latin America has questioned U.S. good intent.

Nor are questioned the goals of the Alliance for Progress to which the United States has contributed a billion dollars a year in loans and grants since its beginning in 1961.

What has been questioned is the policies which have directed it.

There is, further, disappointment that — not since its beginning has the continent as a whole been able to reach its development goal of 2.5 percent per year against a population growth rate of around three per cent.

It was with a felling both in Washington and Latin American capitals that the alliance somehow had stagnated that Nixon requested the Spanish-speaking New York governor to make his four-part tour and Latin American foreign ministers met at Vina del Mar, Chile, to draw up their own list of recommendations.

The document makes a wealth

Methodists Call For End To War

SALEM, Ore. (UPI) — United Methodists of Oregon and Idaho are calling for an immediate end to the war in Vietnam.

In a resolution adopted during the weekend near the conclusion of a week-long meeting, delegates to the two-state conference urged the president "to end hostilities in Vietnam immediately and to withdraw our military forces from Southeast Asia."

In other resolutions, the conference called for an end to the draft as soon as the war in Vietnam is ended and went on record opposing the antiballistic missile system proposed by President Nixon.

Trip To Craters

A busload of Twin Falls County Historical Society members and their guests took a trip to the Craters of the Moon Sunday.

The group had a picnic lunch at the Craters before making the seven mile tour. A guide from the Craters accompanied them and pointed out the interesting features.

GOVERNOR KILLED
ADEN (UPI)—A Yemen provincial governor was killed Sunday when he tried to separate two quarrelling soldiers, Sanaa radio announced. The governor, 45-year-old Abdulkarim Aluli, ruled Haidha province.

special note of Latin fears that a protectionist U.S. Congress not only will trim foreign aid but will impose new restrictions on imports from Latin America.

It asks for commitments against new restrictions and special treatment for such Latin American exports as cotton, textiles and beef.

The foreign ministers ask elimination of special conditions which require that U.S. loans be used to buy U.S. goods which can be purchased more cheaply elsewhere and that U.S. ships be used to transport the goods.

Foreign investment, they say, ideally, should be with participation of the nation involved and used to generate national income.

The foreign investment issue is especially touchy in view of Peru's seizure of American-owned oil properties, and rising demands in other Latin nations for a greater government share in income from oil, copper and the continent's other mineral wealth.
