Highway Burns At Burley

BURLEY — Two traffic accidents resulted in a fire on Interstate 80N near Burley Thursday that even the highway caught fire. Flames from a load of baled hay which ignited when a tire on a trailer caught fire, became so intense that the oil on Interstate 80N began to burn and spread to the highway.

All four lanes of Interstate 80N, two miles west of Burley were closed for a number of days after the fire because of the fire and resulting smoke from the burning oil. The fire occurred as wreckers were trying to upright an overturned tractor-trailer rig in the westbound lane about 1:30 p.m. from an accident earlier in the day.

As the flames engulfed first the trailer and then the hay truck, all eastbound traffic was halted for more than an hour until fire men controlled the blaze. Even after the fire was extinguished, traffic was restricted to only one lane as cars crept slowly through the still-dense smoke. Traffic remained choked down to one lane until 1 a.m. Thursday to permit the softened roadway surface to harden.

The unlikely chain of accidents began at 4:30 p.m. when the westbound 1968 Kenworth truck driven by Alfred Wells Sharp, 51, Murray, Utah, towing a 1968 Fruehauf trailer, went off the right side of the roadway.

According to investigating officers for both mishaps, state police officer Brian Braggley apparently went to sleep. When the truck left the roadway, the driver apparently attempted to pull it back onto the highway, causing the vehicle to turn over on its right side. The trailer was loaded with boxed merchandise. After the trailer's contents were transferred to another rig, the truck-trailer was righted and the road was cleared.

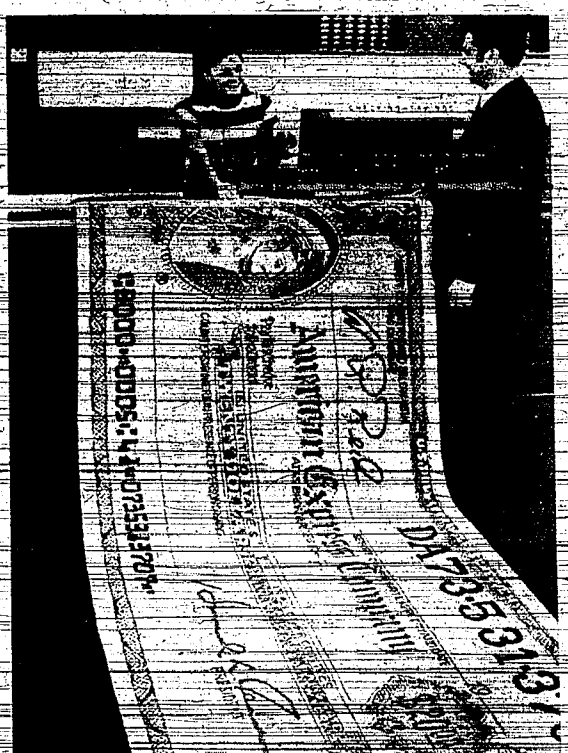

But before the first vehicle was cleared from the roadway, the second truck carrying 22 tons of hay caught fire across the median strip.

According to driver of the 1955 International Truck pulling the 1951 home-made trailer, one of the tires on the trailer caught fire. The driver, 18-year-old James W. McCann, Fairfield, stopped the vehicle to disconnect the truck from the inflated trailer. He pulled the truck about 100 feet away to prevent it from catching fire, but sparks from the burning hay ignited the load on the truck.

Both the truck and trailer were destroyed, along with the $450 worth of baled hay.

Hospitalized

BURLEY — Mrs. Ray Brown, View, mother of two small children who were killed in a fire which demolished the family home Wednesday afternoon, will be in Glindora Memorial Hospital, Friday. She was taken to the hospital by neighbors after the tragedy, suffering from shock. Bruce Young, Cassia County coroner, said Friday no further arrangements can be made on whether to call an inquest until he is able to talk to the mother.

A MOST UNUSUAL "CHECK," presented by Gary Toller of Los Angeles, is duly stamped and recorded by bank teller Louie Courcyer in a Los Angeles bank. The "check," carefully reproducing a $20 American Express travelers check, came in the form of a five-by-eight-foot rig weighing 25 pounds. After Toller went through the proceedings with the funny check, he produced a normal-sized paper-travelers check, rolled up his carpet and left with the $20 in his pocket. (UPI telephoto)

Jamaicans Welcome 'Rocky' Without Demonstrations

KINGSTON, Jamaica (UPI) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller headed today for Guyana on the north coast of the South American Continent, the second to last stop of his tour of Latin America and the Caribbean. The New York governor's visit to Jamaica was the most relaxed of his entire fact-finding tour — for President Nixon. There were no demonstrations, threats of terrorism or, for that matter, important talks about American aid.

As a former British colony, Jamaica looks toward Britain for most of its aid. Jamaican officials reportedly discussed possible U.S. assistance for urban renewal projects. The impression was there would be no bitterness if none was forthcoming.

Rockefeller flew to Jamaica from Santo Domingo, where four persons were killed and two persons wounded in two separate incidents. The Dominican Republic government attributed the shootings to nervous and inexperienced security guards.

Rockefeller's last stop before flying home Sunday was in Bridgetown, Barbados. About 1,000 persons gave Rockefeller a cordial welcome on his arrival in Kingston. At his home, a party was held in his honor. "Being here to Jamaica where the rum came from... relax and have some fun."

Thursday night, Rockefeller held private talks with Prime Minister Hugh L. Shearer and attended a working dinner. Guyana is about the size of Idaho and has a population of 600,000. It is one of the few countries in the hemisphere to

Boise College To Get Loan Of $3 Million

BOISE (UPI) — Boise State College has been granted a loan of $3 million from the Department of Housing and Urban Development for campus construction. It was announced by HSC officials Thursday. The construction will include a seven-story, 300-student dormitory and an expansion of the student union building to twice its size.

Ketchum Deputy Marshal Trapped In Wrecked Car

KETCHUM — No one was injured in a spectacular automobile accident here which caused an estimated $7,000 damage and saw a deputy marshal trapped inside his auto with a live 12,000 volt line. At about 1:15 a.m. Thursday a car driven by Donato N. Ianni, 37, Sun Valley, failed to negotiate the highway curve south of the Ketchum city limits. According to Deputy Marshal Eddy Ains, the car, which apparently was traveling too fast to negotiate the curve, traveled along the highway on the west side of the highway some 400 feet across the road, clipping it in half and dropping the 12,000-volt lines across the highway. Ains said the car was smashed at the Warren Motel parking lot, causing one of the unoccupied vehicles to collide with a car

U. N. Security Council Censures Israeli Tactics

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — The 15-member United Nations Security Council voted unanimously Thursday night to censure Israel for its provocative actions in the Arab quarter of Jerusalem, which it captured during the 1967 Middle East war.

The council immediately rejected the resolution, saying "political or military harassment will not solve Israel."

The council resolution, sponsored by Pakistan, Somalia and Zambia, was a watered-down step from the full condemnation of Israel, which Algeria and Nepal had demanded. In a resolution introduced earlier, the United States obtained in a 14-0 preliminary vote on a paragraph of the resolution which "largely calls for more upon Israel to rescind forthwith all measures taken by it which may tend to change the status of the future of Jerusalem and to refrain from all actions likely to have such an effect."

U.S. Ambassador Charles W. Jones subsequently voted for the resolution as a whole. The measure censured Israel for all its measures taken to change the status of the six-square Arab quarter of the Old

Jerusalem. The resolution demanded that the Israeli government "reconcile with the case (the council) will realize (against Israel) go now the only remaining alternative."

Astromonk Cleared For 30-Day Jaunt

MOUNTAIN VIEW, Calif. (UPI) — America's space monkey got a "go" for a full 30 days — in orbit Thursday and responded with a sleepy-eyed yawn.

The 14-pound monkey named Bonny was blasted into orbit last Saturday by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration to test the effects of a long-space voyage. Charles W. Bissell, manager of NASA's Biosatellite II project, said data from Bonny's capsule pointed to a full mission. It is orbiting 225 to 245 miles above Earth.

Bonny began sleeping during the day in the 24-hour period ending Thursday, according to the crew. He is the principal experimenter on the biosatellite tests.

Adey said changes in sleeping habits occurred very rapidly in the astromonk. He spent 20 seconds in a deep sleep in 30 seconds. He said Bonny has gone from a state of wakefulness to a deep sleep in 30 seconds.

"This is quite unlike sleep on earth," he said. Bonny, who can earn food pellets by doing tasks, has been working much less than expected. During the fifth day, he ate 29 food pellets — five-and-a-half times more than he had been expected to eat each day, for a total of 60.

Planning Funds Voted

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Len Jordan and Rep. James McClure, R-Idaho, said Wednesday a $5,250 public works planning advance for water and sewage systems for Kuna was approved by the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

Kennedy Clan Rides Utah's Green River

VERNAL, Utah (UPI) — Members of the five-member Kennedy clan spent Thursday night camped under the towering walls of 2,500-foot-deep Todor Canyon on the first leg of a 63-mile river-rafting trip.

Bonnie today loaded 2,400 pounds of assorted gear, food, swimming suits and towels into three 35-foot pontoons and one 16-foot, two-man raft for the "about" across-river rapids in Upper and Lower Disaster Falls and the foam-crested Triplet Falls.

The three-night and four-day trip was to terminate Sunday near Dinosaur National Monument, about 12 miles east of here.

The party included 20 children of various ages and sizes and 12 adults. Among the group was Sen. Edward Kennedy, his wife Joan, the late Sen. Robert

Series Cites Potential Of Earth's Moon

Starting Sunday, the Times-News will feature a five-part series, "The Moon — From Genesis to Conquest," by Dr. I. M. Levitt, one of America's leading astronomers and space-science writers.

The illustrated series is designed to provide background for this month's Apollo 11 lunar mission — and also a glimpse into the future, discussing the rich potential of the moon as a base for scientific study and further exploration.

Dr. Levitt is director of Philadelphia's famed Fels Planetarium. His bestselling book, "Target for Tomorrow," predicted many of the developments of the Space Age seven years before Sputnik and 11 years before the first man went into space.

Lull In War Cuts Losses For Allies

SAIGON (UPI)—The U.S. Military Command today reported a lull in fighting in the northern part of South Vietnam, casualties in preliminary fighting falling from Thursday a rarity indicating the extent of the lull on the battlefield.

Morning communique from headquarters said Allied troops in those skirmishes had killed 20 Communist soldiers Thursday without a loss.

All reports conclude intercepts from the front of fire spots or wounded but provided a fair indication of the accuracy of U.S. Command reports that the Communists have begun infiltrating suddenly.

Military spokesmen said Viet Cong and North Vietnamese gunners shelled nine towns and hamlets overnight with no damage or casualties reported. One of the targets was Hui Nghia, 20 miles northwest of Saigon.

A Man You Never Knew

I doubt that you ever heard of a fellow named Chris Studer. But he is one of those individuals who put his stamp by western life by dying for it.

WE THANK HER

Readers will be interested in knowing that the Owyhee County book from which the interesting historical items were borrowed was loaned to Mr. Spectator by Mrs. Lee Howard, 830 Ninth Avenue, Buhl. She said that an old man, who had been a miner in Owyhee county, gave the book to her eldest son back about 1925. So he says thanks to Mrs. Howard.

Americans count the years of independence from 1776, but it was not until a hundred years later that the brave assumptions of the Philadelphia Declaration became facts. They were five years of alternating hope and despair. The War of Independence was a fought not only with meager resources but with deep internal division. Not all who supported the war were patriots. Many who actively opposed separation. These were the Tories, who comprised a determined and dangerous fifth column which gave much aid to the British. They acted as saboteurs and spies and guerrillas and spread harmful propaganda. In the government there was confusion and bickering. There was incompetence, and finally there was

Demoralizing Reason of a Famed and Trusted General

It was a general who stretched thinly along the Atlantic seaboard and joined by the finest of his kind, challenging one of the world's great military powers. Except for France, which intervened largely for its own reasons, there had no friend in Europe, where revolution was regarded with horror. Never was a cause less promising. The parallels between the perils of more than nine score years ago and those of today are startling but reassuring. We made good our Declaration of Independence under the least hopeful of circumstances and went on to establish a tradition of human freedom and equal justice. We have de-cad ourselves to maintaining that tradition. Maintain it we shall, and at any cost.

The Operation is an Expanded Version of One that Took Place Last Summer in Which Seven "Nader's Raiders" Law Students from Harvard and Yale Produced a Highly Critical Report on the Personnel and Performance of the Federal Trade Commission.

This summer's studies will be much deeper and detailed, says Nader. While the students are expected to work long hours and proceed with full propriety, "bureaucratic secrecy is not going to be tolerated." Suits will be filed under the Freedom of Information Act to gain access to material, if necessary, he warns. In fact, one of the key purposes of the project is "to show how much change can be brought about by citizens if the doors of secrecy are opened."

Mission? Impossible? Maybe. But damn the bureaucratic torpedoes and full speed ahead.

Mr. Studer was a plain, unassuming man, and held in high esteem by all his acquaintances. Mr. Spectator believes that someone has erected a new marker at Mr. Studer's grave, but the day Mr. Spectator stood there the hundreds who attended the burial were all gone and the marker was a boot gone.

So much for the early days of Owyhee County.

Dear Abby

BY ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: "TRAPPED" now, but are still young enough to discover after 25 years of marriage that her husband had been unfaithful, asked for advice from other wives who had lived through the same experience. Equally, and here is my advice:

Because your husband has been unfaithful after 25 years doesn't mean it hasn't been a happy marriage. A man can love his wife and family and still not love her. This is usually his age showing, and makes him easy game for other women. You may not be a perfect wife, but neither is he a perfect husband.

Don't run to a lawyer until time shows that it is not a flake. If this divorce news breaks before the wedding how should the wedding invitation be worded? IN A RUSH

DEAR IN: I suggest you make a deal with your husband and postpone the divorce announcement until after your daughter's wedding. If you've had a miserable marriage for 22 years, another few months won't make any difference.

DEAR ABBY: I have something to say to the husband who likes to be chased around the room once in a while. I called this letter to your attention.

I used to chase my husband around the bedroom, too, but we had a very short honeymoon. How long would YOU chase a guy who sleeps in thermal underwear and puts STICKS up his nose before he turns out the light? IN HASTINGS, NEB.

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 9700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069, and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Public Law 623 Describes American Flag Etiquette

NEW YORK (UPI) - That American flag you fly today ought to be hoisted briskly and lowered ceremoniously - it's the law. Don't raise it before sunrise and please take it down before sundown. That's also the law. It's raising, don't fly it - against the law.

Public Law 623, adopted in 1942, contains other guidelines on flag etiquette. The sunrise, sunset and rain rules are part of the federal flag code. The flag should be clean and unwatered. If you've replaced a worn and torn one with a new flag, there's always the question of how to dispose of the old one. Don't make a disaster out of it. That's against the law, too. You're supposed to dispose of the flag in a dignified way, preferably by burning it and burying the ashes.

When displayed, the flag should always have stars to the left. Other tips from the flag code: Don't drape it over hood, top or back of a vehicle or body. When displayed on a car the flagstaff should be fixed firmly to the chassis. No other flag or pennant should be placed above the American flag.

The flag never should touch anything beneath it, ground, floor or water, merchandise, shrubs. The flag should never be used as a receptacle for receiving, holding, carrying or delivering anything. It should never be fastened, displayed, used or stored in a

Cutting of the first crop of alfalfa hay has been delayed because of the recent heavy rains in the Almo valley. Some ranchers who cut hay a week ago haven't been able to bale it. But with fairer weather, haying operations are now in full swing. The rain was a great help to grain and rangeland.

A well is being drilled on the R. G. Campbell place just east of the Wesley Fink ranch, King Hill.

Ted Eisle put 15 head of cattle on the Joel Young pasture, near King Hill, on the James Bellegante Jr. farm.

The spring round-up is being held by the King Hill Pitch Fork Ranch crew, in the north hills. The Denny, Donahue family and Jane and Ann Knox are doing the riding.

Corn is being cultivated, and melons hoed for the second time on the Wesley Fink farm, King Hill.

About 14 acres of corn have been cultivated and sprayed on the R. D. Graham ranch. Several King Hill farmers are trying to get the first crop of hay trucked, and some even baled, after having to turn it twice, because of the rainy weather.

Mrs. Ray Hubsmith, Richfield, has been irrigating at the Earl McCarter ranch after he had the misfortune to break an arm in a tangle with a cow.

Victor Cenarrusa is irrigating again this year at the Wilking ranch in north Richfield. His family has moved back to the Pete Cenarrusa ranch home from Glenns Ferry where Mrs. Cenarrusa was a teacher.

Two Marley farmers had the misfortune to lose some of their beans by frost Saturday night. Delmar Hardy and Gail McGee were the only Marley area farmers with frost damage. Hardy stated his beans had been frosted eight years in a row, now, with losses of part of the crop each year. Temperatures dropped to 35 in Richfield with no official readings in rural areas.

Roger Golcochea and his sister, Mrs. Charles Buttane, Richfield, rolled a hay bale and found rattle snake rattlers sticking out of it. Fortunately the snake was dead. Their dad, Rupert Golcochea, foreman of Riverwood Ranches, got the job of stacking the bale.

Ray Taylor, Jerome, and Ralph Taylor and sons, Kenneth and Pat, Hagerman Valley, helped vaccinate cattle for Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Taylor, Tuttle.

Tom Gibson was injured while moving a grain drill on his leased ranch at Tuttle. The ligaments were pulled in an ankle and he is wearing a cast.

Prevent Bad Soil Problems

BURLEY—In the 17 Western states more than seven million acres of irrigated land have become saline or alkali. This has inevitably resulted in poor crop growth and low yields.

Farms in Magic Valley and other irrigation projects are faced with some of these soil problems due to poor irrigation practices and inadequate drainage. Spotty crop growth, ponds of waste water, and crusts of salts on the surface of the soil can be avoided by following these practices:

Saline and alkali soils develop from one of two ways: (1) from the application of very salty irrigation water, and (2) a high ground water table. When irrigation water containing excess salts is applied to the soil, the water is used by plants or evaporates, and the salts are left behind. A high ground water table, which can be caused by poor drainage, allows salts to saturate the soil zone causing saline and alkali soils.

Salt and alkali cause a poor physical condition in soils, toxicity to plants and reduced availability of water. Sodium disperses the soil aggregates and sodium carbonate and bicarbonate dissolve organic matter. This will cause a surface crust to form, which slows water and air movement and causes the soil to break into hard clods when plowed. It returns to prevent root emergence and results in stunted plants. Beans and fruit trees are highly susceptible to salt and alkali. The reduced availability of water is caused by the high attraction of salts for water.

It is much less expensive to prevent this problem than it is

THE SURFACE CONDITION of a saline-alkali soil is shown here. The white fluff crust is made of soluble salts brought to the surface by a fluctuating water table. The black staining is the surface residue of an excessive amount of exchangeable sodium. The black staining or deposit occurs because the sodium displaces organic matter in the soil and the fluctuating water table brings the dissolved organic matter to the surface. to correct it. Irrigating with a high degree of efficiency will help prevent the problem. To do this, water must be applied according to the crops and soils. Shallow rooted crops should be irrigated more frequently and more frequently irrigations than deep rooted crops. Likewise, sandy soils should receive lighter and more frequent irrigations than clay or clayey soils. Irrigation runs should be short enough so that the upper end is not saturated while the lower end is dry.

Drainage must be adequate to remove excess surface and subsurface water. Soil efficiency due to the application of excess irrigation water leaches plant nutrients. Also, if soils are slowly permeable and do not have good under drainage, oxygenation can create a saline alkali problem. Preventive measures will keep the salt and sodium quantities at a safe level. If the soils are already affected, then reclamation measures are needed. For soils affected by soluble salts, leaching the soil will reduce the salt concentration. If there is good subsoil and substratum drainage.

For soils affected by exchangeable sodium, first apply a chemical amendment to reduce the sodium and increase the water intake rate, then leach the soil. Follow this by subsoling or deep plowing. The chemical amendment, such as gypsum or sulfur, will reduce the sodium, and the physical and chemical condition of the soil will be improved. Certain salt and sulfur tolerant crops such as sweet clover and barley, may be grown to assist in soil reclamation.

Technical assistance in laying out and designing proper irrigation management systems and in reclamation of soils may be obtained from your local Soil Conservation Service district office.

Tim R. Adams, Soil Conservation Service official, prepared this study on saline or alkali soils while he was with the SCP office, in Burley.

Gooding Tour

GOODING—The Gooding County Wednesday Tour will be held Wednesday. Tour members are to meet at the Wendell Bank corner at 10 a.m. and the tour will leave for Gooding at 10:30 a.m. The winner will be announced at the end of the tour.

Rains Damage Alfalfa

BURLEY—The development of alfalfa crops was generally slowed by rains and low temperatures according to a crop reporter release from the Boise office of the U.S. Department of Agriculture. For the week ending June 27 was the wettest in five months.

The rains cause an increased amount of damage to the first cutting alfalfa crop, which was about one-half complete at the time of the release. Generally, soil moisture supplies are adequate with some areas still reporting short supplies. The major portion of the winter grains was heading or headed with some blooming, and a trace turning. Spring grains are still in the early stages of development from not yet in the boot to blooming.

Pointers varied from emergence to only coming up. Farm activities were delayed by the inclement weather, but some haying, irrigation and showwork still occurred, concluded the release.

Glenns Ferry July 4 Fete Is Planned

GLENN'S FERRY—All residents of Glenn's Ferry and King Hill who are 65 years or older will be honored at the Fourth of July celebration. The event is an annual feature of the community.

They will be honored at a picnic on July 4 at the Glenn's Ferry Club. The picnic will be held at 10 a.m. and will be held at 11:30 a.m. A flag ceremony will be held at noon.

Kids races are scheduled from 2 to 4 p.m. and a girls softball game will be held at 3 p.m. The first will be held at 8:30 p.m. and a boy's baseball game will follow.

A fireworks display at 9:30 p.m. and a dance in the Glenn's Ferry City Hall, set for 10 p.m., will culminate the day's activities.

Members of the park area will be done by the local Boy Scouts and Cub Scouts, and all members are requested to be at the park at 8:30 p.m. for a hamburger fry after the cleanup is completed, reminded Jim Carpenter, celebration chairman.

Members will be free popcorn for all contestants in the Kids' Races, but no firecrackers, parades or other devices will be allowed in the park during the celebration.

Boy Scouts Visit Local Grazing Areas

SHOSHONE—Rest rotation grazing was studied by 20 Boy Scouts from throughout Magic Valley on July 1-3. The group was led by William Magbuhit, district leader of the Shoshone area.

The rest-rotation grazing view of the area was given the attention near Wendell and Magic Reservoir conservation area and west of Magic Reservoir. Other stops included the range management experimental plot near Wendell, the Richfield Canal and a wildlife project.

The purpose of the rest-rotation system was given the boys along with talks on other agencies which are beneficial to the camp, including the allotments and the way in which they are used.

Examples were pointed out to them where grass is now growing when little if any was growing in this system was pointed out.

Bureau of Land Management personnel conducting the tour were: Fred Van Dusen and Lawrence Barsley.

BLM Is Preparing For Fire Season

BURLEY—H. Max Bruce, Burley district manager of the Bureau of Land Management, says that district personnel are preparing for a busy fire season this summer. A million and a half acres of public land are protected by BLM fire crews in the Burley district. The district extends from the Wyoming border west to the Owyhee County line and from the Snake River to the Utah-Neveda border.

Bureau Personnel put out nine small fires started by lightning last week. Mr. Bruce urged the public to pay primary attention to fire during the month ahead. "Two fires out of three in this district are man-caused and, therefore, could be prevented," he said.

The Bureau of Land Management official also reminded landowners who plan to burn on their own land to obtain a burning permit from the nearest BLM district office.

This Idaho law applies to all land outside the national forest. Burning without a permit is a misdemeanor punishable by fine of up to three hundred dollars. The purpose of the burning permit is to help fire lookouts and fire wardens identify controlled burning in their area.

This climate, many costly fires, and the fact that the fire crews would otherwise have to check out, "More efficient, economical fire protection for our valuable public lands requires possible when people comply with the burning permit regulations," according to Mr. Bruce.

Mr. Bruce also announced appointment of 45 young men to summer fire crew positions. The men, mostly college students, include Lynn Anderson, Ed Egan, Rex Carlson, Lindsay Crawford, Steven Dameron, Jim Dickson, Kenneth E. Dilworth, Clyde Ewer, LeRoy Fink, Tom Garrard, John Haight, Dennis Hanks, Lloyd Hann, Bob Holm, Mark Johnson, Kris Larson, Bruce Loveland, Rex Maloney, Russel McLaughlin, Minshew, Ron Rich, Kim Rawlings, Victor Rodriguez, Hal Stock, Bob Turner, Bob Wagoner, Jay Wardle, Kenneth White, and Fred Wood, all Burley.

James Emery, Mike Johnson, Kurt Maugin, Dennis Mendenhall, and Kenneth Stephens, all Burley. Other crew members include: Gerald Baker and John Hadden, both Paul; Joe Baughman, both Paul; Rick Caple, Albin John; George J. DeLoe; George Nix, Oakley Kelly Lake, Boise, and David Sears, Ogden.

The fire fighters are currently undergoing an intensive program of training and physical conditioning before being assigned to crews stationed at Burley, Pocatello, Hollister and Teton.

Scattered Frosts Cause Minor Loss

BURLEY—Scattered frosts last week in the Burley area caused some damage to potato and corn crops in outlying districts, it was reported.

There was some bean and corn damage reported in the Decio and Springdale areas and the Kenyon area south of Burley reported bean damage due to the unseasonal cold. Corn was damaged in the Pella area and in the Malin. Area spuds and radishes were reported hurt in the area as was termed not serious, but it is expected to set growth back. Beans may have received more serious damage.

There was some frost in Burley itself, but the leaves of young corn were white as if scalded. A later corn seemed relatively unaffected while young corn six to eight inches high showed white leaves because of the cold temperatures.

If you have any questions concerning social security benefits or qualifications, address them to: Jim Davis, Box 1238, Twin Falls, Idaho 83401.

Q. Last night one of the girls in my bridge club said that anyone who is 65 is entitled to Medicare insurance coverage even if he has never paid a cent into the social security system. I had always thought to get Medicare insurance a person had to have fully contributed to social security. Which one of us is correct?

A. You might say that you are each half right. Medicare insurance consists of two separate plans—Hospital Insurance and Supplementary Medical Insurance. Anyone age 65 may apply for Supplementary Medical Insurance. This will cost him $4 each month. If he meets all requirements, he will be eligible for this coverage even though he has never contributed to Social Security. The supplementary coverage will be provided to anyone age 65 who has paid into social security. Those who reached age 65 before 1966 did not need to have worked under Social Security to qualify for Hospital Insurance under Medicare.

Q. Will the work requirement for Hospital Insurance under Medicare always be easier to meet than the regular benefit requirements?

A. No. The requirement for Hospital Insurance increases by three quarters each year starting with 1968. The work requirement for retirement benefits increases 1/4 quarter each year after 1951. A person attaining age 65 in 1968 would need 39 quarters of work under Social Security to be eligible for Hospital Insurance and six quarters of work under Medicare. In 1969 and so on by 1975 the same amount of work will be required for hospital benefits as for monthly benefits. It will be the same from 1980 on.

Horse Shoe Class Set At Pocatello

POCATELLO (ISU)—Although Bill (Abe) Bill of Kila Canyon would have preferred the thought of taking a class in shoeing horses, Idaho State University has decided to reserve the honor.

Horse owners interested in the do-it-yourself shoeing class should contact the 180 Office of Continuing Education as soon as possible because enrollment is limited to 12 persons according to Dr. Richard Merriman, director of continuing education.

Classes will meet July 7-10 from 7:10-9 p.m. in Room 347 of the Education Building. The fee for the non-credit course is $25.

Don Applegate, a reading specialist at the Snake River Center for Improvement of Instruction, will teach the course. He has graduated more than 100 men from horseshoeing classes in Idaho Falls, St. Anthony, Rexburg and Blackfoot. An owner and trainer of race horses, he began shoeing horses when he was 14 years old. Recently he taught a class for the Wilderness Patrol of the U. S. Forest Service in Pinedale, Wyoming.

Applegate will use slides and visual aids for his lectures, which will cover the anatomy and structure of the animal's foot and leg, instruction on the care and maintenance of the hooves will be given, as well as principles involved in corrective shoeing.

As a practical application of the instruction, each student will shoe his own horse.

Additional information may be obtained by calling the Office of Continuing Education, 238-3405.

20 Foreign Farmers Tour Magic Valley

Twenty young men from parts of the world as distant as Ethiopia and the Republic of China visited the Twin Falls area briefly Wednesday morning on one of their first stops on a seven-week tour of the West's irrigated lands.

Selected and sponsored by the Agency for International Development through Utah State University, the 20 men are agricultural engineers representing 11 different countries. Most of them, General Manager of the Twin Falls Canal Co., the foreign farmers toured some of the facilities here.

"After meeting them in the lobby of the hotel Monday morning we first gave them a demonstration of Xylene, a chemical used for killing pests in canals," said Mr. Peters.

"We also showed them how we measure irrigation water. It seemed to interest them very much." The tour members were required to be able to speak English in order to participate in language was not a problem, he added.

The highlights of the Twin Falls Canal Company's project were shown to the engineers. The fact that the company provides irrigation for 205,000 acres at a rate of 4,000 second-feet of water per day is a real delivery according to the manager.

Following this the group traveled by road north to the lobby of the hotel Monday morning. They viewed a diversion dam designed to regulate the water in the late lateral of the canal system from the river. The dam traveled on to 80'.

Following a similar visit in the Boise area the group departs for the Columbia Basin, then through Oregon and Washington to the Pacific Coast, down as far as San Francisco, and finally into Arizona and New Mexico before returning home. The tour began in Utah.

Two Local 4-H'ers Get State Posts

MOSCOW — Bill Hunt, Carey, and Sunnie Sweet, Fairfield, won office duties at the second 4-H Club Congress held recently at the University of Idaho campus.

Bill was elected vice president of Gen. State 4-H and Sunnie Sweet was named state secretary. Other officers elected were Steve Wetzel, American Falls, president; Janet Hitt, Boise, editor; Kathy Daniel, Meridian, historian; Lyla Siddoway, Teton City, sergeant-at-arms, and Diane Elman, Idaho Falls, song leader.

Gary Freeman, Shoshone, won the annual tractor-driving contest. Andy Smyth, Parma, was second, and Jack Southwick, Bull, was third.

Cure For Yellow Leaves On Fruit, Shade Trees Told

A yellowing of leaves of backyard fruit and shade trees is often caused by a lack of available iron and in some cases zinc. This condition, called chlorotic calcium, is an attempt of the tree to correct itself.

After three to five years, a dying back of the limb extremities. Iron and zinc are present in our soils but the high concentration of calcium ties these elements up in an insoluble form which the tree cannot absorb. Several controls are available to correct this condition, he says.

In commercial orchards iron-containing solutions are injected into the root area by high pressure equipment. They extract iron solutions into the tree trunk as well as an iron solution.

They were all very much interested in what we were showing them," commented Mr. Peters. "They were most surprised at the crops and the way things looked in the valley. Most of them are looking for data in their own countries."

Tolerance Is Demanded By New LDS Magazine

A bright young "liberal" Mormon writer, Thomas Schwartz, and Mrs. Vern Cox, Twin Falls, is seeking to apply central tenets of the LDS Church to modern-day social problems of the day.

Through his quarterly magazine, "The Carpenter," Thomas Schwartz hopes to bring church members to a new understanding and involvement in such ticklish social problems as race, anti-war, pollution, feminism, and the transition from a rural to an urban Mormon society.

"The Carpenter" is directed equally between poetry, fiction and art work on the one hand, and incisive essays on the other. The author, a graduate of the former Central High School in Twin Falls, is a graduate assistant of philosophy and a law student at the University of Wisconsin, and has many contributors fall in the over-30 bracket. Many hold high church positions, either in the LDS hierarchy or as university faculty members.

According to Mr. Schwartz, the "liberal" thrust of the magazine's first two issues is a response to new challenges facing the church, especially from the secular world.

"Many Mormon students have become disillusioned with the church after having to allow themselves to be convinced by some of the more liberal writers of the former Mormon-God is a Republican conservative wearing a Norman Vincent Pea. I am a god, speaking in an army of men, and students are not both a graduate assistant of philosophy and a first year law student at that university. He is spending the summer with his wife, Charlotte, in Twin Falls.

"LIBERAL MORMON" EDITOR Thomas Schwartz, son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. Vern Cox, Twin Falls, seeks through his quarterly magazine of literature and social commentary, "The Carpenter," to apply the relevant central tenets of the LDS faith to such contemporary social problems as race and anti-war, pollution, feminism, and the transition from a rural to an urban Mormon society.

"The Carpenter" will testify to the fact that the God of Jehovah is a God of compassion and tolerance. Unfortunately the God who is presented to many students by many teachers is a God of intolerance and injustice.

"The Carpenter's" approach according to Schwartz, is to present Mormons that morality should always be a matter of asking what should I do, never one of asking what should anyone else do for me.

"At this time when so many middle-class American students want middle class America burned to the ground, we need more than anything else a cry of tolerance. We need more of the tolerance that 'The Carpenter' is differentiated from other Mormon publications because of greater emphasis on literary expression and art. Each issue presents a number of drawings by a single Mormon artist and presents background material relating to the artwork.

"Moreover, the quarterly publication welcomes writing that is a reflection of those parts of the Mormon experience that are not 'optimistic.' It said expressions of alienation," and personal suffering are welcome.

Mr. Schwartz holds that there is a close relation between the publications' "M or M" and its goals.

He argues that there is something in the Mormon experience which is best not abandoned, and would be better served by avoided making his publication simply a secular collection of literature and prosody.

"We are attempting to isolate those experiences and frames of reference which are uniquely Mormon," he said.

The Church And The Militants

By REV. J. KINSOLVING

More and more people and angry church people wonder why so many denominations have been so outspoken on white racism. It is not tolerant about black racism and segregation. Many blacks consider this tolerance a form of condescension in itself.

There is also considerable soul-searching as to whether this tolerance is a denial of the continued subsidizing of programs and clergy who tolerate or even encourage disruption of worship. A situation of racial segregation and of racially segregated black organizations by denominations who have appealed to racial segregation on the basis of race alone is unfair.

The Episcopal Church is a case in point. After resolving its general convention in 1952, 1955 and 1961, the denomination's Executive Council recently appropriated $25,000 to an organization known as the "Council of Clergy and Laity."

Among other reactions, the Foundation for Christian Theology and Practice, a group of progressive Episcopalians, has called the diversion of church funds to black militant organizations as cause for its demand that the denomination's ranking Presiding Bishop, John E. Hines, resign his office.

The appropriation to the Black Caucus was made through the General Convention Special Program for the Black Caucus. It is not the Episcopal Church Headquarters have some very interesting declarations.

His general declaration is "God is black-white-another advertisement the Black Manifesto conference. There is a small picture of Jesus Christ in the center of the declaration. But by contrast the offices are dominated by a picture that is 12 times the size of Jesus'—a photograph of a man who said that the election of President John F. Kennedy "makes me glad" — a man who had ordered hundreds (white) people from Atlanta had died in a plane crash. In this section of the multi-million dollar "General Convention Special Program for the Black Caucus" James Malcolm X is much bigger than Jesus Christ.

Postal Preacher Sentenced To Jail

SAN JOSE, Calif. (UPI)—The Rev. Kirby J. Hensley, the mail-order preacher, was sentenced to a year in jail Tuesday for peddling $20 "honorary doctor of divinity" degrees.

Hensley, a louquacious, illiterate, who has ordained more than 45,000 preachers, into the Universal Life Church for the price of a postage stamp, was sentenced for once after the sentencing.

The 57-year-old North Carolina native was sentenced for violating the State Education Code by making a divinity degree to a San Jose Policeman who sent Hensley a $20 "free will offering."

Hensley, who also was fined $200 and placed on a year's probation, won a one-month stay of execution from Municipal Judge Edward J. Nelson pending an appeal.

"I'm innocent of the charge," Hensley told newsmen earlier in his hillbilly twang. "I'll go all the way to the Supreme Court. It assure you."

"It's all legal," he added. "I had an old boy read it to me out a law book."
