TWIN FALLS, IDAHO, TUESDAY, JULY 8, 1969

TEN CENTS

A GIANT CRANE ROLLED into downtown Twin Falls Monday, and by late afternoon workers had it up and working. The crane is being used to rip off the roof of the building housing Hudson Shoe Store and Crowley Pharmacy on Main Avenue South. The building is being remodeled to fit in with the total plan of downtown Twin Falls development. The work is financed by T.V. Hudson and S. L. Crowley. When this section of roof came down late Monday a crowd of about 100 was on hand to watch.

Downtown Businesses Raising The Roof Over "Face-Lifting"

Workers began Monday razing the top two stories of the building which houses Hudson Shoe Store and Crowley Pharmacy on Main Avenue South. The building is being remodeled to fit in with the total plan of downtown Twin Falls development. The work is financed by T.V. Hudson and S. L. Crowley. When this section of roof came down late Monday a crowd of about 100 was on hand to watch.

Apollo Crew Hones Skills For Voyage

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI)—The Apollo 11 astronauts sharpened their reflexes for takeoff emergencies in practice flying exercises today for next week's launch to the moon. With blast only eight days away, Neil A. Armstrong, Michael Collins and Edwin E. Aldrin devoted their training time to the most critical phases of the eight-day launch, landing mission. Mission Director George J. Hage said the pilots' training schedule was designed to give them a sure knowledge of the "normal" flight plan and then prepare them for the worst types of possible emergencies. Today's agenda called for all three pilots to practice, in their controlled command, ship training, various types of launch abort situations in prime the pilots for the launch and six minutes from the training building, technicians were preparing the towering Saturn-5 rocket and its three moonships on the start of the long countdown at 8 p.m. EDT Thursday.

Bloodmobile Tops Quota Here Again

The bloodmobile came to Twin Falls Monday and when the first pint had been donated the total came to 170 — 29 more than the quota. It was the fifth time in two years Twin Falls has exceeded its quota. Nixon Asks More Unemployment Insurance

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon today urged Congress to expand unemployment insurance to 4,800,000 more workers and to increase benefits. Nixon said that while over 57 million workers are now covered, almost 17 million are not—more than half of them employed in state and local governments. The President said the additional 4.8 million workers he wants covered "are in need of protection against unemployment." He asked that the following be brought under the insurance: 1,600,000 workers on small farms with fewer than four employees; 200,000 on large farms employing four or more workers in each of 20 weeks; 200,000 in agricultural processing activities; 200,000 in nonprofit organizations; 600,000 in state hospitals and universities; 200,000 in retail trade and others not currently defined as employees.

Recuperating

Herb Derrick, Twin Falls city manager, is receiving therapy treatments for injury to his back received when he fell back while picking cherries. He is not expected to be back at work for several days. Derrick was hospitalized for several days after his fall, but was released from the hospital several days ago.

Space Monkey Is Dead

HONOLULU (UPI)—Bonny, America's space monkey, died early today after being brought back from orbit Monday on the fifth day of a scheduled month-long mission to determine the physical effects of a long space voyage. The terse National Aeronautics and Space Administration statement said only that an extensive autopsy had been started immediately on the 14-pound rhesus monkey. Bonny was taken from his spaceship shortly after it splashed down in rainwater seas 25 miles north of the island of Kauai. NASA scientists pulled him back 21 days early from space after he showed a deteriorating physical condition. A lower body temperature was blamed on a combination of low metabolism and a capsule temperature on the low side of the temperature limits. "But a NASA spokesman had been optimistic that the monkey suffered no injuries in reentry or recovery," the statement said. Howard Arrington is supervising the autopsy. He said the monkey was being assisted by Silar's Tow and Crane Service. The work has no funds from the Urban Renewal program, he said. "We feel Twin Falls has the greatest potential and prospect for development of any city in the state," Mr. Crow said. The building at one time housed the Booth Department Store.

Hoover Says Foundations Help 'Left'

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Director J. Edgar Hoover says many individuals and tax exempt foundations have made substantial financial contributions to "New Left" groups since a new apogee in the movement. Hoover disclosed in testimony made public Monday that the names of those giving large sums of money had been turned over to the Internal Revenue Service so that they cannot deduct the gift from taxes as charitable contributions. He said that before the House Appropriations Subcommittee on April 17, Hoover described the "New Left" as "a newly established subcategory of fringe organizations dedicated to the complete destruction of our traditional democratic values and the perpetuation of a new apogee in the western world." "As for SDS, Hoover called it a Communist anarchist group."

Invoy Arrives

LACARICA (UPI)—U.S. Ambassador Francis Pickens arrived Monday to take over the diplomatic post from President Nixon, appointed by President Nixon as acting secretary of state for East Asian and Pacific Affairs. Also arriving during the day was a 30-man reduction party to make arrangements for Nixon's scheduled visit later in the month.

U.S. Begins Withdrawal As 814 GIs Leave Vietnam

SAIGON (UPI)—The withdrawal of U.S. troops from Vietnam began today. Their longest war began today. Their Vietnam commander told the vanguard of 814 homebound troops: "You occupy a significant moment in history. Pretty South Vietnamese girls waved signs reading 'We will not let you go.' The C-141 jet transports carrying the men rumbled down the runway at Tan Son Nhut Air Base for the 18-hour flight home. "I didn't really get the feeling in my heart that we were leaving until we got to the airport," said Specialist William Clemons, 21, of Baltimore. Helicopters brought them from a Mekong Delta base camp. Clemons said he and his fellow 2nd Brigade, 9th Infantry Division stood at attention through two air-to-air refueling operations, then boarded the silver transports for the flight to McChord Air Force Base, Wash. "This is only the beginning," President Nguyen Van Thieu of South Vietnam told them. "You shall have just as much to demand the supreme sacrifices in blood and human lives from Allied nations in this struggle as we do."

The battalion was the vanguard of 25,000 U.S. troops to be pulled out by the end of August under President Nixon's withdrawal plan scored by the Communists in Paris as a "token pullout" and by critics as "honorable surrender." All of the men who left today had completed at least 10 months in Vietnam and were due out after a period of clean jungle, fatigues, and their boots flecked with delta mud. About 80 per cent of the battalion's personnel were transferred out shortly after the withdrawal order to make room for men who already had served most of their time in Vietnam. A total of 158 of those who went home were officers and 3rd Battalion members. "President Nixon and Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky gave the officers and noncommissioned officers a light-hearted and cheerful signature, a token of thanks from the Saigon government. "It was moving, very inspirational," said Lt. Col. Robert E. Blumstein of Arlington. "I was the battalion commander, who led his men aboard the first C-141. "I don't cry often, but I had tears in my eyes. My men felt the same way. "A total of 12,000 men from the 9th Division are scheduled to leave before September, leaving most of the combat in the Mekong Delta south of Saigon to South Vietnamese infantrymen.

should again change its mind. The Council also is expected to add the Bank of Idaho to the list of banking institutions at which the city can conduct business. The council will meet at the meeting of 25 students of a Twin Falls High School American government class who made up most of the request, including the audience. "I heard a report from Councilman Frank Feldman on the recent Association of Idaho Cities meeting, he attended in Boise, Mr. Feldman reported the meeting was primarily concerned with the possibility of a request for repeal of House Bill 304. "Gave final approval for a request that Air West, the proposed jet contractor of the Twin Falls City-County Airport by Oct. 27, upon completion of the runway extension. The city is requesting the airport be closed for jet traffic at the local airport. "Authorized invitation for bids for construction of curb and gutter on Falls Avenue between Harrison Street and Blue Lakes Boulevard North. The curb and gutter will be installed at the College of Southern Idaho campus. Project cost is estimated by Mr. Miller at about $15,000. "In the case of the company,

State Kicks Back City Bid For Tax Ceiling Relief

Twin Falls City councilmen Monday re-established cordial relations with the state, many, but found a less pleasant reception at home from the Idaho State Tax Commission. L. Passmore, State Tax Commission chairman, said in a letter received Monday that the city's petition seeking emergency relief from the new four per cent increase ceiling has been ruled "insufficient." Mr. Passmore said the city has until next Monday's deadline to amend the petition to include additional data needed by the tax commission. "City Clerk Constance Leyer said Tuesday her office, with the assistance of the city auditor, is preparing additional data needed in the report to the tax commission. "She said the problem is not a serious one as the city sent in the information last week. The city manager, James H. Harrison, when legal agreement was presented to Mr. Harrison, Mr. Harrison notified the city clerk that he had changed his mind and did not change the alley vacated. "City Engineer Gene Miller reported to the council that he had informed Mr. Harrison that the agreement would be put on file in case the company,

County Still Mulls Voting Machine Deal

Purchase of voting machines for Twin Falls County still is a foremost question for the Board of County Commissioners. In August a price increase on the machines is anticipated and Commissioners say they must make their decision by that time. "Peter Loughmiller, county commissioner chairman, said Tuesday the county may take advantage of an opportunity to lease the machines for a two-year period with the price to apply to the final purchase. "Mr. Loughmiller said this could be done as the county would purchase the machines on a lease-purchase contract at any rate. "County Commissioners Loughmiller and William Chancey are talking favorably about the possibility of automation at the Twin Falls county polls. Commissioner Morris Callahan, while not opposed, has questioned the wisdom of the purchase. "Mr. Callahan said he feels this might be the last major step in relieving the personal touch from the election and the human contact between the voter and the candidate. "The addition, he said, the county might be taking on a tremendous task in the way of education of election workers and the voting public. "League of Women Voters members have indicated they will assist with the public education program. "The voting machine manufacturing concern have agreed to assist in training election workers. "Mr. Callahan said the question of economy is not a major concern. "The machines would, he said, require only one-third the present election cost when used for elections. They also could be leased to municipalities, school boards and others holding elections in the county. "The cost of three election years would probably pay for themselves.

Arizona Plans U.S. Appeal On Election

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI)—The U.S. attorney general will be asked to seek a U.S. Supreme Court order directing 14 Arizona counties to stop the practice of limiting bond elections to property owners. John Driggs, chairman of the 1969 Phoenix Growth Committee, told the city council Monday night that Gov. Jack Williams had asked the attorney general to file a writ of mandamus with the U.S. Supreme Court. The meeting would be held in Washington.

Israelis Drop Seven Arab In Air Battle

Israel's fighter planes shot down seven Syrian MIG21 jets in a 30-minute air battle today. An Israeli spokesman announced that the Syrian jets suffered no losses. It was the fourth air battle within a week. In previous engagements during the week, the Israeli planes shot down five Egyptian jets in dogfights over the Gulf of Suez and the Red Sea. Today's battle was the biggest aerial battle between Israeli and Syrian forces since the end of the 1967 Six-Day War and brought to 34 the number of Syrian jets shot down. The Israeli planes reported shooting down six of the Syrian jets. The flight represented another major escalation of the Middle East crisis. United Nations Secretary General Thant told the Security Council Monday that he had turned into "open warfare." The Tel Aviv military spokesman said today's dogfight took place at altitudes between 10,000 and 13,000 feet above the Israeli-occupied Golan Heights. The Syrian jets were shot down by the Israeli planes. The spokesman said the battle began at 2:30 p.m. (10:30 a.m. EDT) when Syrian planes penetrated Israeli-controlled airspace. In total all seven of the Syrian planes shot down crashed into Syrian territory. "The situation was so serious that the Israeli government in Rome reported Egypt was calling up reserves. "Earlier today Egyptian commandos snatched several million U.S. dollars and destroyed 30 Israeli soldiers and destroyed military equipment in a Sinai Desert base, Israel said it had shot down the raid. The loss of its own and killed eight in the attack force. "The air battle coincided with new airpurs of fighting along the Israeli-Syrian border. See ISRAELI, P. 2, Col. 3.

Teen-Age Musicians Head For National Competition

Five Twin Falls-area teenagers who like modern music will leave for Raleigh, N. C. Wednesday to represent the national "Battle of the Bands." The rock and roll group goes by the name "The Fifth Wave." It was formed by three members who worked up a few tunes, and launched a career with auditions before relatives. Dave Bolster, Len Fairchild and Dinah Williams, all of Twin Falls, John Mal, Miller, and Louie Owens, Castleton, are the members of the group. They walked off with Idaho honors at a "Battle of the Bands" in Twin Falls last May. Since forming the group, the "Fifth Wave" has played at various high school functions and several dances at the National Guard Armory in Twin Falls. "We'd like to go professional someday," Dave Bolster said.

GOT AN OLD IRONSIDES AT YOUR HOUSE? The term "Old Ironsides" is usually applied to a wooden vessel that has sailed "experiences" and is bogged and bogged in the U.S. The term originally meant the U.S. battleship Constitution, which saw much warfare but was never sunk. It was used to refer to a boat used to sports equipment that's been with him for years but is now no longer used. "I have a boat for sale with a lot of iron in it," says Ad. Bob 733-0911 for all the details. Here's the list of items received in the wheel of department today: FINDER, AD, super repair, 1968 Dodge, excellent condition, $2,400.

Snake River Area Council delegates to the National Boy Scout Jamboree at Farrington took one final item into the large truck donated by Young's Dairy to take their equipment and gear to the jamboree site. The final item is a large snake emblem that will mark their campsite during the 10-day national event.

Mideast Peace Talks Recessed Indefinitely By Big Four

by PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

At the United Nations, the Big Four peace talks indefinitely recessed Monday in the Middle East, the fighting edged up another notch toward full-scale resumption of the 1947 war.

Actually, the situation is not quite so bad as such a bare summary would suggest.

The final Soviet talks on the Mideast will continue and a certain amount of agreement has been reached between the two powers in a position to influence Mideast affairs.

On the other hand, while the Israelis remained confident of their ability to deal with the Arabs, the British and the United States were less so.

They also declared they would keep the Golan Heights of Syria, the Gaza Strip, and the West Bank of the Gulf of Aqaba.

Law enforcement authorities are becoming concerned over rising private purchases of chemical spray weapons for self-defense on the order of the well-known "Mace," which thousands of police departments now have in their riot-control arsenals.

According to Joseph A. Page, associate professor of law at Georgetown University, at least 20 firms are capitalizing on the current widespread fear of crime and are selling a tremendous number of spray weapons to anyone with money to buy.

As could be expected, it is not just the police or the law-abiding citizenry who are arming themselves chemically. The New York Times reports that FBI bands used at the chemical spray to momentarily blind two armored car guards in a Brooklyn department store to get away with $350,000. The same technique was used by robbers who raided a Manhattan bar and grill. Page is urging Congress to impose some stiffer restrictions. "At the present time there is no control over the quality of materials used in the sprays," he says. "Very little is really known about their effect on people. And there is virtually no control over who is buying them."

It will be interesting to see if the gun lobby leaps into the fray. After all, it would seem that the same arguments that apply to firearms apply to chemical arms. For instance, "The American people have the inalienable right to keep and bear arms," says the Second Amendment.

The American people have the inalienable right to keep and bear arms, says the Second Amendment. It includes chemical arms, all the more so since they do not kill but merely maim.

Take chemical weapons a way from the people and the only people who will have them will be criminals.

Sprays don't spray people; people spray people.

Generous Heart

Americans continued their tradition of philanthropy in 1968 to the tune of more than $15.8 billion in gifts to causes of their choice.

The amount was 8 per cent above the total in 1967 and represents an all-time high in contributions, reports "Giving, USA," the annual yearbook of philanthropy of the American Association of Fund-Raising Councils.

In 1968, living individuals gave $12.1 billion, while $1.3 billion came from bequests by individuals. Grants by philanthropic foundations totalled $1.5 billion, and corporations gave $925 million.

Who were the recipients? Religious causes received nearly 47 per cent of the total, or $7.4 billion. Hospitals and health causes received $2.74 billion; educational institutions, $2.05 billion; welfare and social services, $1.1 billion; civic and cultural causes, $710 million. About $1,225 billion was given to other causes, including aid to citizens of foreign countries and contributions to foundations.

The Water Rushed In

It was termed the most important engineering feat in the history of the state. It was the construction of the dam at Milner and the closing of the dam gates which resulted in water pouring into the only recently completed low line canal.

But back in the issue of the Twin Falls News of March 3, 1965 it was the big news of the day. "The Gates of Dam Closed" the headline on page one announced. And then the lead story related that the gates were closed on March 1 and told all about it in detail.

How about a few quotes from the original story — and a little known fact that gold miners up and down the Snake River didn't get the gold they sought when the water level of the river dropped because the dam was closed.

"At 11 o'clock," the story read, "the roar of the water was stifled. Hundreds of people were walking dry shod across the bed of the river below the dam, picking up strings of fish and probing among the rocks in search of nuggets, and the water above the dam was creeping up the bank toward the mouth of the great canal at the rate of four feet an hour."

"Less than 24 hours after the gates were closed the water was flowing over the top of the island and into the mainstem canal, reaching the canal gates at 10:23 p.m. at 11:30 p.m. It was an engineering triumph of the highest quality — not a simple defect of any kind development."

And so, Twin Falls was to get the water it had been waiting for. But the miners who thought the low river would reveal a lot of gold were all wrong.

For years, a story said, everyone had wondered what would happen if the flow the Snake River was stopped. They found out. It was not dry through Milner and the City of Twin Falls although it did lower considerably. But the known — and unknown — aspects between Milner and Shoshone Falls had been pouring over the great falls at the rate of about 2,000 second feet.

But the miners lined the river the entire distance just in case it went entirely dry. They were disappointed, as in a story on March 3, 1965 told: "Placer miners were struck out all the way from the dam to the falls and were working in vain, but they were not getting results. "At Springtown, the site of an old placer camp in the canyon, there was a large gang. They thought they would find much gold there but so far as known they did meet with much success.

"They have rockers and are working over the bars diligently in search of something that will pay."

Another story, on March 17, 1965 in the Twin Falls News, says that the water returning in the River made the "Snake run up hill."

But perhaps the best — and little known — fact of the whole thing was that a couple of the men who were probably more close to the Twin Falls project, and the dam, than many others were not even there to see the dam gates closed. They were late.

The two were F. H. Buhl, president of the Twin Falls Land and Water Co., and L. J. Kimberly, a director. They arrived on the scene sometime after the water had been shut off.

But they did accomplish one thing, even if they were late on that important occasion.

They left their names on a couple of Magpie Valley communities — Buhl and Kimberly.

So that was a little the way it was the day the Milner gates were closed and the water started toward the Twin Falls tract.

Tomorrow we will relate the story of the establishment of the first bank in Twin Falls. That was in 1905.

WASHINGTON — What with one thing and another, the Pentagon has already spent "slightly under $5 billion" in developing a defense against missiles. That is the staggering price tag which is being supplied privately to interested congressional committees. It represents research and development expenditures over the years by the Army, Navy, Air Force and the Defense Department's Advanced Research Projects Agency.

This heavy developmental investment which has led to the Safeguard ABX system is, in itself, one of the reasons why military experts want to begin a thin deployment. They want to start getting a bit of a bang for the many "manny bucks" expended on research.

One of the main reasons for the cost is also one of the reasons that Defense Secretary Melvin Laird is opposing all but a thin deployment. He is of several Safeguard show-downs approaches in the Senate. It is important, however, to distinguish between the proposed compromises.

One compromise plan, the one most publicized, would provide for deployment of a Safeguard site radar (MSR) and perimeter acquisition radar (PAR) on the proposed site in Montana and North Dakota. It would bar deployment, now, of the actual defense missiles, Sprint and Spartan.

Approval of that plan, pushed by Sen. Edward W. Brooke, R-Mass., and Thomas J. McIntyre, D-N.H., would be a bloodless victory for the administration, not forward on missile deployment yet, according to the current Safeguard timetable.

Another proposed compromise would provide for full Safeguard deployment — with missile tests — but on one of the islands in the Pacific. The missile tests would be conducted without doing anything to augment the nation's defenses.

It would, in short, provide many millions of dollars in research, a thin anti-missile defense for an unprepared piece of coral in the Pacific.

As soon as he published testimony Laird has said it would be "a mistake to build one of these PAR radars at any site where it would not serve a useful purpose."

Safeguard supporters disclosed last week, without comment, that Dr. Jerome Wiesner, a leading scientist-opponent of the presently favored ABM deployment, had favored an anti-missile system in the late 1950s when the missile race was just beginning.

Wiesner, professor and provost of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, was one of the experts recently commissioned by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., to prepare a book-length attack on President Nixon's Safeguard program.

Wiesner's former view was disclosed with the publication of a pro-Safeguard statement by Robert C. Sprague, founder and chairman of the Sprague Electric Company. Sprague succeeded H. Rowan Galtner as director of the so-called Galtner Committee which studied defense posture in 1957.

The Galtner Committee, after an exhaustive study of deterrent forces which involved more than 100 days of part-time participation, made a top-secret report to President Eisenhower and the National Security Council.

It is particularly interesting at this time that one of the highest priority recommendations to protect our SAC (Strategic Air Command) bases against a possible future Russian missile attack — in other words a "Safeguard" missile defense system — was to build a "Safeguard" missile defense system.

Sprague's statement, asserting that the Galtner Committee's position appears to be "even more valid" today, did not stress Wiesner's participation. The MIT professor was listed in an appendix however as a member of the unanimous steering committee.

Oddly, Wiesner's reversal reverses that of Dr. Edward Teller, the physicist who is often described as the father of the H-bomb. In his 1957 Safeguard statements, Teller has stated that he opposed an ABM system until its projected costs were shown to be less than they would be the cost of augmenting defenses.

Wiesner's statement was further offered for publication in the Congressional Record by Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., a leading Senate supporter of Safeguard deployment. It is fair to assume that Wiesner's change in position will be noted with more fanfare when the Safeguard debate begins later this month.

In closed-door testimony Gen. William C. Westmoreland, Army chief of staff, has made it clear that the Joint Chiefs of Staff reviewed their position this year and shifted to support of President Nixon's Safeguard proposal.

The Joint Chiefs had originally favored a thicker ABM system, but they supported President Nixon's Safeguard system in 1968.

Westmoreland says the chiefs changed their stand after reviewing new intelligence information. He said the system is a "terrible" mistake and it is "not the world's missile system."

Doves: They Won In Russia

WASHINGTON (NEA)—It has now been learned that a number of years ago, the leaders of the Kremlin seriously debated the preemptive bombing of Los Angeles and other Communist, Chinese nuclear facilities in Sinkiang Province.

The story is going the rounds in Western Diplomatic circles that Nikita Khrushchev was ousted in part because of the role he played in this fight. Khrushchev reportedly was in the bombing. But in that round, the doves won.

There is some evidence reaching here (in very small amounts to be sure) that this same debate is now again going on within the Soviet Politburo.

The Red Army's voice is stronger now. But the operation would be infinitely more difficult than in Khrushchev's time. Mao Tse-tung has dispersed his nuclear and missile facilities widely.

Any actual raid on Communist China's critical nuclear and missile facilities would almost certainly have to use hydrogen weapons. The raids would need to be extraordinarily precise.

The high winds would have strong effects in North and South Korea, Japan and the United States.

Pure reasoning would seem to indicate that under these circumstances the Russians would not carry out such an operation. But such logic proved wrong when applied to the intelligence indicating a Russian invasion of Czechoslovakia last summer.

The stakes are high. It is not the Sino-Soviet border clashes or disputed territory that is at stake in this kind of bluff. It is that Russia's leaders feel they are need almost daily with some new evidence of Red Chinese "blackmail."

The Moscow moves in Eastern Europe, as in Czechoslovakia, Peking, indicates military reprisals in Asia.

China is using its underground to undercut the Soviet Union in the delicate Middle East.

Peking in 1968 has revealed a crude, but to be developed, evidence to develop a nuclear capability within the reach of the Soviet empire.

The situation is bad in 1969. It will become "impossible" by 1972 when Red China may have 15 intercontinental or 15 atomic line-launched nuclear missiles.

With 15 well-placed ICBMs Red China could take out a tenth of Russia's population and close to a third of her industrial capacity.

Because Red China's population is so dispersed and because (as the U.S. discovered in North Vietnam) an agricultural country is relatively easy to destroy by industrial destruction, Moscow would have no credible retaliatory threat to offset Red Chinese blackmail.

On balance, some top analysts here are convinced the Soviet Union will in the end decide not to risk this operation. Other equally competent men have their fingers crossed.

But there's a wide and considered belief the Soviet Union must do something militarily or politically — the alternative being that Russian leaders in the past have been willing to tolerate for long without some major attempt at a solution.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have what they call a "food allergy" and my biggest offender is wheat. I have to live with this. I would like your opinion. — Mrs. R. E. S.

You have to live with the fact that you have an allergy, but that doesn't mean you have to live with the cash.

Accept the fact that you are hypersensitive (allergic) to wheat. A certain number of people are sensitive to foods for other items that are perfectly harmless to the average person.

In your case, wheat bread, from which my allergy comes, this means cake, wheat bread, biscuits, macaroni, spaghetti, noodles, anything made with wheat flour.

You may well find that some other cereals do not bother you. Many products are made for example, and safely eat bread is other products made of rice flour. There are rice crackers, cornmeal, natural cereals, and various forms of corn, rice, or oatmeal.

It is not too unusual for a person with a food allergy to find that if he stays strictly away from the offending food (or foods) in time he may develop a little tolerance. That is, he may reach a point at which he will get by but he will not be able to get a full amount of his food. However, however, that he is "cured" and begins eating quantities of the food in question, he usually soon finds himself back where he started — unable to eat any.

So after a time, test yourself, but cautiously. You may be able to determine how much wheat you can eat and get away with it.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Please send your booklet, "God, the Modern Way to Stop It," (one dollar 25 cents and a long envelope stamped envelope).

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Please publish a list of foods that have potassium in them. — Mrs. R. E. S.

Most foods contain potassium, so a list would reach from here to there and halfway back. But those especially high in potassium are dried fruits (apricots, raisins, figs, prunes),

Also high in potassium are wheat germ, oatmeal, molasses, lentils. In general, meat, fruits, juices, cereals, and vegetables have a substantial potassium content.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: After having tried the habit of being up during smoking, I pass along for whatever it is worth the system used at the Jewish Hospital in Minneapolis, the project Denny Thomas helps for diseased children.

I have not smoked for a year and a half. I am money made, feel a lot better, and have made a contribution to a worthwhile charity. — R. E. S.

"Tis On How To Stop Smoking" by Dr. Thosteson, will help me give up the habit. To receive a copy of the booklet, write to Dr. Thosteson in care of this newspaper, enclosing with your request 25 cents in cash and long self-addressed stamped envelope.

Nixon Flavor

WASHINGTON — Approval of President Nixon's resignation of the case of Dr. John Knowles vs. the American Medical Association, the Nixon report is a report of a conversation between Nixon and Health, Education and Welfare Secretary Johnston.

Finch, of course, was horrified and angry when the President, dumped, B's to a 10 in 10 Knowles. And giving the fact that the HEW chief had been backing Knowles for assistance, he says the fact that since long before Nixon's inauguration, only a week before the President had told a press conference he was okay, any nonline Finch wanted.

When Nixon lowered the boom on Knowles, therefore, Finch felt the President he was submitting to him. Finch said, "You've dumped me."

Nixon, says the report, snapped his retreat. "Nononsense" he told Finch, "I'm not going to let that from a professional politician you lost a battle, there's all I've lost out of the number of battles I've lost over the years. But I stayed in there, and fought back. That's what you've got to do, Bob. It's what separates the winners from the losers."

Finch stayed. Later, he said, Nixon would be no less of a politician. It is now a good bet that the President stands for resignation in 1972. After all, as a political man, he had nowhere to go. He had no money to run for senator from California, nor Sen. George Murphy had indicated he'd seek reelection in 1972. Nixon's money was gone. ing aspects of the AMA campaign against Knowles. Frank Roosevelt did political business with some unattractive labor union leaders. He had a close relationship with the late Sen. J. Lee Rankin, who had Arthur Schlesinger Jr. and a passel of other deep thinkers in the White House. He named John Kenneth Galbraith ambassador to India, his brother Bobby to the Attorney General job, and his brother-in-law Sargent Shriver to head the Peace Corps.

Nixon's error was in walking too long to "settle the issue." He knew in January that the AMA was solidly against Knowles. If he feared the AMA's wrath, he should have turned thumbs down on the Boston 4-0-4-0 — immediately. There would have been considerable support for a resolution would have the furor would have died down.

Conversely, Nixon could have gone along with Finch at the very outset by naming Knowles, the doctor and chairman of the board, to head the committee to rise up in arms and its champion, the unctuous Sen. Ev Dirksen, would have gone into a beautiful walk. But the AMA that early on, also had nowhere to go. It could hardly have switched to Teddy Kennedy, and Nixon's political career would have the party to withstand a whole sale medical defection to R.A.C. California's Roy Romo, Sr.

Yes, Mr. Baldwin, Nixon guarded. He not only got himself into trouble by walking so long, but in trying to exhibit a quality which is disappearing in our time for a resolution of the quality of procrastination. This was not the Nixon who is reputed as lecturing Bob Finch about the political nature of sickling in there and fighting.

Former Convict Charged

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (UPI)—A 27-year-old ex-convict was arraigned Monday on a charge of killing the pretty daughter of a Michigan graduate student who was attempting to rehabilitate him.

Police had hoped that the arrest Sunday of Ernest L. Bishop Jr., 28, would lead to information about the sex slaying of six young women in the Ann Arbor area over the past two years.

Police Chief Walter Krasny said Monday, "There is a probability that (the slaying of) Margaret Phillips, 25, is an isolated case."

The statement appeared to discount his own words earlier that, "We hope that when we get this wrapped up we might be able to connect something to the others."

If a verdict later Monday, Krasny said, "This does not rule out the possibility that there are connections. We are not going to pursue all the possibilities and either prove there is a connection or there is no connection."

Bishop, a doctorate candidate in the university's Sociology Department, was shot in front of his Saturday night apartment, near the campus. She died Sunday without regaining consciousness. Two of the bullets penetrated her brain and only one could be removed by surgery.

Bishop, who served a prison term for rape, was arrested Sunday night. Police said they found his fingerprints in Miss Phillips' apartment.

During his brief court appearance, Bishop, a wiry, 5-foot-8-inch Negro laborer and handyman for a business, looked straight ahead and sometimes shut his eyes. In a barely audible voice, he asked District Judge E. J. Eiken, "Could the court appoint me an attorney?"

Bishop's attorney, prethorpe, hearing for July 11 and ordered him to either enter a plea of innocent or stand mute at that time. Michigan law prohibits a guilty plea on a first offense.

Krasny said that shortly before she was shot, Miss Phillips wrote to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Phillips, Cantonville, Mich., and told them she was attempting to rehabilitate an ex-convict.

Krasny said Bishop could not have had any connection with the first two of the Ann Arbor area sex slayings because he was in prison at the time.

Houfburg, Schinn To Join

Two of Magic Valley's best known radio personalities, Juneau H. Schinn and L. (Holly) Houfburg and center, have purchased stock in Sawtooth Radio Corp., owners of KLIX, and will be assuming positions there. At right is C. N. (Rosie) Layne, executive vice president and general manager of KLIX. The two new stockholders are presently associated with KEEP Radio, which was sold last week to an Oregon firm.

Their association with KLIX came on the heels of an announcement last week that KEEP Radio has been sold to C. N. (Rosie) Layne, now executive vice president and general manager of Sawtooth Radio Corp., owners of KLIX, said he has long been acquainted with Mr. Houfburg and Mr. Schinn and has hoped for such an association.

Mr. Layne said it is anticipated at an upcoming corporate meeting that A. R. (Bob) Spaulding, Prater will be named chairman of the board; Mr. Layne, president and general manager, and Mr. Schinn, news and advertising director.

It also is expected that Warren B. Murphy will be retained as vice president.

Mr. Houfburg, presently general manager of KEEP, and Mr. Schinn, news director and advertising salesman at KEEP, have tendered their resignations to the subsidiary of Idaho Investment Corp., which currently controls KEEP Radio. The subsidiary announced the sale of KEEP last week to Inland Radio, Inc.—an Oregon firm.

The investment corporation, however, will retain control of the station until such time as the sale is approved by the FCC.

Mr. Houfburg and Mr. Schinn will assume positions with KLIX Radio as soon as possible, within 30 days or less.

KLIX Radio also is planning to move its studios from the KMVT building on Eastland Drive, Mr. Houfburg said. It was not announced, however, when the move will take place or where the radio station will locate.

Nixon Commends Scout Jamboree

FARRAGUT STATE PARK, Idaho (UPI)—A telegram from President Nixon wishing the Boy Scouts of America a successful 7th National Jamboree was read today and Scout officials expressed doubt that the President would attend.

About 35,000 Scouts and leaders from the United States and foreign countries will arrive at Farragut State Park next Sunday.

The park, which is on the shores of the Pend Oreille Lake, 55 miles northwest of Spokane, has served as the site of the world Boy Scout and world Girl Scout round-up in the past year.

The Scout officials said it was felt the President would be too busy to attend the Jamboree before his trip to the Pacific for attend the splashdown of the Apollo 11.

Pravda Slams Billy Graham

MOSCOW (UPI)—Pravda threw the book of metaphors at American evangelist Billy Graham today.

In a lengthy report from New York on a Soviet newspaper article, the Soviet newspaper slammed the American evangelist for leading cattle to the slaughterhouse—what it termed a "bull program"—and "filling sheep pens with garbage" and "steep into the gates of paradise."

Graham is a "having straw to be crushed" by the "ruling elite in America," which lacks high ideals of its own, Pravda said.

Pravda usually leaves anti-religious propaganda to the official atheist journals and such criticism of religious leaders is rare in its columns.

ABM Faces Uncertain Future In Senate

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon's proposal to deploy the Safeguard antiballistic missile system went to the Senate on an uncertain fate Monday. White House might well accept a warning from opponents that it might prove to be a multibillion-dollar waste of money.

Floor debate on the $20 billion military procurement authorization bill, containing $355 million for initial deployment of the ABM probably will begin Tuesday, and could last the rest of the month.

There are a lot of pent-up speeches waiting to be delivered, said Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield. He told newsmen he considered the final ABM vote "still a toss-up with the possibility of a compromise evidently slim."

The bill was cleared by the Senate on a 54-45 vote, which voted 10 to 7 last week in favor of deploying the Safeguard. Published Monday, it was a minority report signed by Democratic Sens. Stuart Symington of Missouri, Stephen M. Young of Ohio and Daniel K. McIntyre, D-N.H.,—thommas compromise — continued research and development but no Safeguard installation for at least a year—which he said the White House might well accept to avert defeat in a showdown Congress "should not be frightened by renewed cries of a Soviet threat into spending money unnecessarily on additional weapons systems."

They gave three reasons for their opposition to the Safeguard:—There is reason to doubt with a lack of testing that the long and short-range radars and more especially the computers, will work properly in the event of an attack.

—The ABM is vulnerable because the radars comprising the system are in the line of sight and could be knocked out, leaving the entire system "blinded and therefore worthless."

—Any improvement in U.S. missile defense with an ABM deployment could be overcome with relative ease by the Soviet Union, which would only have to make "minor" increases in its production of its big $89-intercontinental ballistic missile. The Defense Department answers ABM critics by saying that there has been enough testing to convince its research and development work.

The total ABM funds in the bill call for $750 million in 12 months that began July 1, including $100 million for research and development and $12.7 million for construction of the test facility at Kwajalein in the Pacific. Only the $35.5 million for actual deployment is for sites in Montana and North Dakota was disputed.

Negro Leader Takes Oath As Mayor Of Southern Town

FAYETTE, Miss. (UPI)—Negro leader Charles Evers has sworn in Monday as mayor of Fayette with a plea to end racial hatred and a pledge to build a dream community where blacks and whites can live in harmony.

"Let's bury all the hate and mistreatment and let's make Fayette a great place to live," he asked thousands of spectators lining the city streets of this southwest Mississippi town.

Evers, 46, state field director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, is the first Negro mayor of a biracial community in Mississippi since Reconstruction.

He and five Negro aldermen elected with him May 13 lined up in a parking lot behind Town Hall and were sworn in by Willie Thompson, a black justice of the peace. Although Fayette now has an all-black board, Evers vowed it will become an all-biracial community.

He said Fayette's 1,000 blacks and 600 whites have been "so far apart." He told his predominantly Negro audience that the time has come for racial harmony.

"Men have gone and given their lives that all men—black

CHEESE BISCUITS

Thin cheese biscuits can be made from pancake mix. Cut 1 tablespoon of shortening and 1/2 cup of grated cheese into a cup of pancake mix until the mixture resembles coarse crumbs. Add 1 1/2 cups of milk and stir until mixture is smooth. Turn out on lightly floured board or canvas; knead gently. Roll dough to 1/2 inch thickness. Cut into small rounds. Bake on ungreased cookie sheet in preheated 425-degree oven 12 to 15 minutes. Makes 24 tiny biscuits.

Dear Abby

BY ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I work in the same office with a woman I'll call Mary. Mary's son-in-law, the son of his fiancé (I'll call her Joan) is living with Mary and her husband. Almost every morning Mary brings a letter to me, and she says it's Mary's son, to be stamped and mailed with the company mail. Mary routinely opens the letters, reads it, types a new envelope, and sends it on its way. She has also bragged that when Joan has gone out she has read the letters her son has written to Joan.

Is there an anonymous way to inform Joan of what is going on?

CO-WORKER

DEAR CO-WORKER: Someone could send Joan this column. And someone should tell Mary that it's not cricket to bring personal letters to an office to stamp and send with the company mail.

DEAR ABBY: I'm having a problem with my 11-year-old daughter who is an only child. Debbie thinks she's old enough to stay by herself when my husband and I go out for the evening. She says she is the only one in her class who still has a silver.

DEBBIE'S MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: "Age" is not always the most important factor. (Some 11-year-olds have more common sense than 21-year-old sisters.) I would not be influenced, however, by what the "other kids" in her class do. You yourself will have to decide whether your daughter is able to stay by herself.

DEAR ABBY: Would you please write something in your column about young girls becoming involved with married men? I have reason to believe that my beautiful 18-year-old daughter has entered into such a relationship. This man is handsome and charming, but he cruises after her riding his back street motor scooter. My daughter is pretty and adventurous and I regret that our influence is not as strong as it might have been. She has never been in any trouble. Since my information is confidential I cannot very well give her the recipe for warning and "motherly" advice. Perhaps a word from you

Miss McRoberts Is Bride Of Keith Kennison

RICHFIELD — A Richfield couple was married in a ceremony at the Richfield High School Auditorium where the young people were high school graduates in May. Karen McRoberts, the bride, of Keith Kennison in the June 16 rites. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred McRoberts, and the bridegroom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Dave Kennison, all Richfield.

An archway setting was formed at the front of the auditorium. The arch was centered with a wedding bell and entwined with ivy and Paris daisies. Floral arrangements of pink and white were displayed in large white crocheted baskets belonging to Mrs. Carl Paulson.

The bride, escorted by her father, wore a floor-length gown of white satin designed with long lily point sleeves and a lace-trimmed, shoulder-length veil was held by a satin-covered hilt. Her bridal bouquet of red roses was carried on a white bibble.

The couple was attended by her sister, Gayle McRoberts, and her brother, Richard Kennison. Jerome Ushers, were Michael McRoberts and James Kennison, brothers of the bride and bridegroom. The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Ellis McRoberts, uncle of the bride.

The bride, almost without exception, the most painful, enduring and hopeful relation ship a woman can experience. But unfortunately most women have to learn the hard way.

DEAR ABBY: That letter from a reader who complained about the disrespectful manner in which her fiancé's fiancée with her dress bled way up, showing more than folks cared to see, reminded me of how we had a similar problem. We had a big fat aunt who was guilty of the same fault, but she was such a good soul she hated to hurt her feelings by mentioning it to her. So I, her eldest daughter, who was real good with a camera, took a candid shot of her in the worst and I do mean "worst."

We showed it to Auntie along with some others, and we never had on bit of trouble with her after that. PROBLEM SOLVED

MR. AND MRS. KEITH KENNISON

Boise. Mrs. Ralph Maxwell, aunt of the bride, played the wedding music. Sherry McGoffin was vocalist, with Pamela Appell as piano accompanist.

A reception was held after the ceremony at the school cafeteria. The bride's table was covered with ecru lace over pink. A three-tiered white wedding cake was made by the bridegroom's mother and cousin, Mrs. Vernon Hall, Shoshone. Decorations were pink and white roses, doves, and bells, with a miniature bride and bridegroom topping the cake. The cake was flanked by arrangements of three bell-shaped cakes centered with tall pink tied with pink and white ribbon.

The cake was served by Mrs. Delbert Beem, sister of the bridegroom, Jerome and Mrs. Richard Kennison, Mrs. Earl Kennison, mother of the bride. Buhl, poured coffee, and Mrs. Sterling King served punch. Serving tables were centered with snifters holding roses.

Kathy Kennison, sister of the bridegroom, presided at the three-table gift tables were attended by Rene King, Dorothy Akins, Mrs. Gilbert Sluder, and Carl Robinson, classmates of the newlyweds.

The 150 wedding guests attended from Pocatello, Boise, Twin Falls, Jerome, Eden, Hazelton, Buhl, Ellier, Shoshone and Richfield. Special guests included Mr. and Mrs. George Reddick, Jerome, grandparents of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Main Wright, grandmother of the bride, Buhl. The couple resides at the Bridgmore Apartments, Richfield.

Salt Lake Tips Billings 5-4 In Series Lidlifter

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI)—The Salt Lake Cubs rallied for three runs in the ninth inning to defeat Billings 5-4 Monday night in the opening game of a three-game series at Denver Field.

Trailing 4-2 going into the final inning, the Cubs capitalized on wildness by a pair of billings pitchers, and a rare incident in the field.

Billings pitcher Dave Jacobs and John Baca walked to lead the bases. Losing pitcher Jeff Leman then replaced eventual losing pitcher Steve Sprague.

With the bases full, pinch hitter Eddie Rundle walked to force in one run and then Tom Zarta's easy pop fly in the infield was dropped as pitcher Leman and catcher Loran's stick collided.

The infield fly rule was in effect and Jacobs raced home with the tying run.

Gi Yulter led a fly ball to center and Larry Doyle, a pinch runner, raced home with the winning run.

Left-hander Ken Davis was the winning pitcher for Salt Lake, although he pitched about two innings.

John Preston started for Salt Lake late Saturday evening before being relieved by Allen Anderson, who pitched to only one man, and then Davis.

Billings pitcher Steve Sprague pitched to two men, and committed two errors, but Salt Lake capitalized on the wildness of the Billings pitchers.

Despite Bad Health Archer To Be Among British Open Field

LYTHAM, ST. ANNES, ENGLAND (UPI)—U.S. Masters champion George Archer Monday defied doctors orders and declared himself ready to make his challenge for the British Open golf championship.

The 6-foot, 3-inch cowboy from Gilroy, Calif., arrived here from Scandinavia suffering from a mild attack of gastroenteritis and a heavy cold.

But the 29-year-old Archer arrived at the Royal Lytham and St. Annes course Monday after spending all day Sunday in bed.

"You can't get to know a golf course sitting on your butt," the Rocky Archer said. "The doctor said I could put a bit and that's all, but I'm feeling much better. He proceeded to prove his or the first hole which he drove his tee shot through the green into a little sand trap on the par three, first blasted out his left foot and then sank the putt.

Competitors for the 72 hole tournament which starts Wednesday went round the 6,849-yard, par-71 course Monday in bustling conditions.

The other co-favorites, reigning champion Gary Player of South Africa and former and Jack Nicklaus, going through a bad period—just practiced.

"But I'm pleased with my game at present and I feel I'm in the right frame of mind to win a third event in this tournament and used my driver on certain holes—just to experiment," he said.

"The only other bas-relief work out top well and Nicklaus still is obviously worried about his game."

Wilson K's 14 Giants; Astros Win

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Fireballing Don Wilson turned in a 14-10 victory over the Houston Astros on a 2-0 victory over the San Francisco Giants.

Peters Halts Oakland On Two-Hitter

MILWAUKEE (UPI)—Gary Peters pitched a two-hitter in the first and third innings after singles Monday night, leading the Milwaukee White Sox to a 2-0 triumph over the Oakland Athletics.

Peters struck out a personal best—seven—in the first and only a blip double by Danny Carter in the second and Joe Rader's double in the eighth.

He allowed only one walk in the third and fourth innings.

Apriello singled in the first inning and eventually scored on the White Sox a 1-0 lead. The Sox scored their other run in the third when Apriello singled and rimped home on a double by Matt Hopkins.

The losing pitcher was Lew Krause who allowed only five hits in seven innings but suffered his fourth loss against two wins.

Wilson K's 14 Giants; Astros Win

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Fireballing Don Wilson turned in a 14-10 victory over the Houston Astros on a 2-0 victory over the San Francisco Giants.

Wilson pitched a six-hitter, yielding four hits over the final five innings, to up his record to 12-2.

Wilson faced 20 men, retiring the side in order in the seventh inning through three batters.

The 14 strikeouts—the only Giant batter he failed to whiff—were: Monte Altamirano, Tony Oliva, Tommie Agee, Willie Davis, Fred Davis, Willie McCovey, (the 14th), Willie Wilson, (the 15th), Willie McCovey, (the 16th), Willie Wilson, (the 17th), Willie McCovey, (the 18th), Willie Wilson, (the 19th), Willie McCovey, (the 20th).

With Full-Time Holtzman, Cubs Can Win It All

ST. LOUIS (UPI)—Ken Holtzman, 22, already compared to Sandy Koussal as a steady pitcher for the first time enjoying a full season with the Chicago Cubs.

His 10½ record this year is a major reason for the Cubs' five-man rotation, headed by National League's Eastern Division.

Holtzman credits his high school coach, his coach at the University of Illinois, and now Joe Becker, pitching coach for the Cubs.

Holtzman's high school coach at University City, Mo., a St. Louis suburb, says—Ken was when he decided to try Ed Mickelson said Ken was already a polished hurler when he pitched in high school.

"It was hard to find any mechanical faults in Ken's style," Mickelson said. "He had perfect rhythm and could get his curve ball over the plate consistently, which is unusual for a high school pitcher. He had a hop on his fast ball which made it away from right-handed batters. In addition to this, Ken had confidence."

"I use it because with a window you may—wind up differently for different pitches and give away what type of pitch you're going to throw," Ken explained.

What's different about the Cubs' rotation was the good spirit and momentum this year," Ken said. "We've matured as a team, and we're better man to man. I think we can take it all."

During the 1966 season Ken said he loved coming back to the Cubs' town to see the Cardinals. "There is more pressure, and you may try too hard. You have to try not to let it affect you."

Winning the pennant this year and playing in the World Series are foremost in Holtzman's hopes.

Holtzman said, "Right now, I have no personal goals. I just want to see us get into the World Series. I'll do anything to help the team."

Messersmith Fires Angels Over Pilots

SEATTLE (UPI)—Andy Messersmith scattered four hits and retired 21 of the last 24 men he faced and Leo Rodriguez hit a two-run homer to cap a four-run inning.

Seattle's pitcher, Andy Messersmith, gave up only two hits after the second inning, a single by John Donaldson in the seventh.

Steve Hovak hit a home run in the eighth and walked four.

Seattle's 2-0 victory over the Los Angeles Angels.

QUESTION:
How does a power company operate in times of inflation like these?

ANSWER:
Very carefully—and must keep expanding at the same time!

Inflation affects everyone, usually in an adverse way. That's why so many efforts to curb it are being made. In the meantime, most costs of doing business—or of running a household—are at record-breaking high levels.

You might think a power company could halt new construction until cost conditions improve, but we simply can't stop building—that is, if we continue to render the service required by our customers.

We know today that we must invest $130 million within the next five years—in spite of high construction costs and high interest rates—to provide electric power for area progress, abundantly and on schedule.

Completion of the T. E. Roach Hells Canyon Development last year gave us a breathing spell before the first unit of another new generating complex must go on the line in eastern Idaho within a few years—but we must make multi-million dollar investments every year in other kinds of facilities to serve you well.
