Local MD Group Disbands With Blast At National Hq. "Parasites"

By RICHARD HIGH JR.
Times-News Staff Writer

The Magic Valley Chapter of the Muscular Dystrophy Association of America was dissolved last night in the wake of a fund-raising disaster which local officials blamed on national association "parasites."

Mr. Mambert, Twin Falls, president of the Magic Valley muscular dystrophy group, said he has resigned from the organization as president and secretary, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Erdesz, Twin Falls, following what he termed a "series of failures" by regional officials of the MD association in connection with a benefit basketball game held March 20.

"At this point we have dissolved the local chapter," Mr. Mambert said.

"According to Mr. Mambert, the local association received only about $50 from nearly $800 proceeds from the benefit basketball contest that pitted the Magic Valley Eagles against the City League All Stars.

He said the local association was dissolved last night in a meeting run up by a national association representative who brought a television personality, Kent McCord, to the benefit chapter which is not connected with the national organization. He said such a chapter should use its resources to direct aid to stricken MD children and in direct grants to researchers.

He said that under the earlier program, in which 75 per cent of funds received by the local association were sent to the national level, very little aid was given to local MD children.

He said of the 20 to 25 stricken children in Magic Valley, the Muscular Dystrophy Association purchased wheelchairs for only one of them last year.

He said, at the same time, total contributions from the state of Idaho are less than the salary and expenses of one of the national association employees.

In response to the vacuum left by the inadequacy of the MD association, the Crippled Children's Association and the Easter Seal Association have stepped in to provide more care to MD patients than is the MD agency itself, he said.

Mambert said the way in which the benefit basketball game was handled is typical of the actions of national staff members.

Mambert said the way in which the benefit game had been arranged by the local chapter without interference on Saturday night, when Robert Herberger, assistant district MD director, informed the local unit that he had arranged for actor McCord, star of the Adam-12 TV series, to be present at the benefit.

According to Mr. Mambert, Mr. Herberger said the cost of flying Mr. McCord to Twin Falls, as well as the cost of food and lodging, would be prohibitive. They said that whatever extra money was raised would not warrant the additional expense.

According to Mr. Mambert, Mr. Herberger then told the

$6 Million Suit Is Filed Against Oil Firm Here

A counter-claim suit asking more than $6 million in damages has been filed in Fifth District Court by Twin Falls Oil Distributor Joe Clements. The suit, against the Sinclair Oil Co., is the largest claim filed in an Idaho court in recent years, a check with state records shows.

The counter-claim alleges that the counter-claimant, Joe Clements, has not been operating according to its written contracts. Walker attorney for Mr. Clements, said the claim alleges Sinclair Oil has been giving at least two jobsbers, Caribou, Four-Corners, Oil Co., and the Little America Oil Co., a secret preference in pricing and as a result discriminated against the Clements Oil Co. of Twin Falls.

Mr. Walker said the two oil companies mentioned are located in Wyoming.

The counter-claim alleges that over a period of 10 years the Clements Oil Co. purchased 19 million gallons of oil products from Sinclair and was charged more than $15 million in gasolene more than the two competitors mentioned.

"A suit of this kind is usually brought under the federal and trust law, but this claim has been filed under the Idaho law which is similar to the federal statutes," Mr. Walker said.

He said the claim provides for triple-damages plus attorney's fees if it is successful.

Mr. Clements was sued last year by Sinclair Oil Co. Mr. Clements was a Sinclair distributor at the time. Sinclair officials said they were changing the form of distribution of products in the area and Mr. Clements would no longer be allowed to distribute their products.

The company attempted to put locks on several bulk tanks being used by Mr. Clements. When this failed, the company sued Mr. Clements. They asked their property be "released to their control."

In turn, Mr. Clements filed a claim asking the company for $6 million in damages and $20,000 for the value of the business Mr. Clements built up since 1955. The claim was denied by Sinclair. Mr. Clements then was charged with a criminal offense for which he was delayed until the counter-claim was filed in court today.

NGUYEN VAN THIEU, president of South Vietnam has issued an invitation to the National Liberation Front (the Viet Cong) to participate in national elections in South Vietnam.

Thieu Asks Cong To Take Part In Vote

PARIS (UPI) — President Nguyen Van Thieu's new proposals on free elections in South Vietnam will be presented to the Communist delegates to the peace talks in Paris immediately, a spokesman for the Saigon Delegation said today.

There has been no response from the North Vietnamese, Viet Cong or other Communists to Thieu's offer broadcast by Saigon Radio and relayed around the world by news agencies.

Thieu invited the Viet Cong to renounce violence and take part in national elections to determine South Vietnam's future and pledged the Saigon government would accept the results if the Communists did.

Observers here said that no official Communist response could be expected until the next session of the peace conference on Thursday.

Russ Flotilla Nears U.S.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (UPI) — A Soviet naval task force of 10 ships was located today, 200 miles southeast of Jacksonville. This is closer to the U.S. East Coast than the Russian navy has ever operated in the Atlantic Ocean.

The flotilla, shadowed by U.S. ships and planes, was reported moving southwest toward Cape Canaveral, Fla., where a Russian warship has never before called.

U.S. Navy "P-3" patrol planes out of Jacksonville kept the Soviet vessels under intermittent surveillance.

The U.S. aircraft carrier Independence, which has been conducting training operations 80 miles offshore, also sent up the RAG-5 Vigilante and Hawkeye for a first-hand look at the ship. The destroyer escort, Thomas J. Gary, was sent out to monitor the movements of the flotilla.

The Navy arranged special flights today to carry reporters and camera crews over the area for a first-hand look at the warship. Russian fishing vessels often operate within a few miles of the U.S. coast but this is the closest Soviet warships have come to the mainland, he said.

The U.S. Navy regards the voyage as one more step in a gradual expansion of Russia's naval presence into the world's major oceans.

The United States also contends the Soviet ships have every right to be where they are and to go where they are going as part of freedom of the high seas. The U.S. jealously exercises its own right to operate in international waters regularly — sending destroyers and other ships to the Black Sea about as close to the Russian homeland as if the Russians sent their ships into the Gulf of Mexico.

The Soviet ships are modern, though not the most modern in the Russian navy. The biggest is a Kynda class guided missile cruiser of 5,600 tons. It is 465 feet long, with a maximum speed of 35 knots and heavily armed with anti-aircraft missiles, anti-aircraft missiles and guns, rocket launchers and torpedoes.

The task force includes two guided missile destroyers, one designed for attacks on shipping and one designed primarily for air defense.

The force also includes two Fox Troop class torpedo attack submarines — the latest of Russia's diesel-powered submarines. They have been running on the surface every time they have been observed.

Also along is one submarine tender — in effect a floating depot — which allows Russian submarines to operate far from home without having to be based in port. Two others are also with the fleet.

They were first placed under surveillance by a Canadian destroyer nearly one week ago and were monitored periodically by U.S. Navy patrol planes from bases along the East Coast.

The Soviet news agency Tass announced the task force will arrive in Havana July 20 and stay through the celebration of Cuba's revolution July 26 and Soviet Navy Day July 27.

Rock Hounds Happy Over Garnet Ruling

Twin Falls rock hounds Friday greeted with jubilation the announced ruling by state officials to establish a concession at Tule's major hunting grounds for official gemstones of the "gem state," the garnet.

Ray E. Moon, prominent Twin Falls rock hound and current vice president of the Magic Valley Gem Club, said he and other rock hounds were pleased to see the decision to cancel Emerald Creek permit fees proposed last August.

The fate of the garnet beds near Coeur d'Alene became a center of controversy after plans were revealed by the Bureau of Land Management to establish a concession on the garnet beds, which would permit limited digging for the precious stones for a fee.

Rock hounds objected that the plan would deny them access to the only garnet beds in the state where they dig the state's official stone, the six-ray star garnet.

Mr. Moon said he favors "having an open digging area so people could go in there and do what they want." He said the license would make it unprofitable for amateur rock hounds to make the trip into northern Idaho to the garnet beds to dig for their stones.

According to Mr. Moon, the

Fiddlers Fete Set Sunday At Shoshone

SHOSHONE — The annual Old Time Fiddlers' Jamboree to be held at the Mary L. Gooding park here Sunday is expected to bring about 200 musicians to the usual large crowd, committee members said.

The event is sponsored annually by the Chamber of Commerce and the Shoshone Community Chamber committee members are Howard E. Adkins, chairman, Herb Love, and Kenneth Blackburn.

Mr. Shaw will handle installation of necessary electricity for the music stand area; and John Thomas and Roy Hubert will erect a movable platform for the musicians to use while playing.

This will elevate them so that spectators can see them during the performance.

Kenneth Blackburn and M. J. Dilke are in charge of arranging for microphones for the performance and Dilke will handle costs on music for the event.

Ivan Hopkins, J. R. Churchman and Gilbert Pierson will secure two pianos for the event. Love and Blackburn are in charge of publicity.

A guestbook will be kept again this year and Regi Newby will handle the snow cone machine. Though a food stand is to be provided by the Lincolnettes, especially for the musicians' use, picnic menus are expected to take picnic lunches and enjoy the park area for their dining.

The public is invited.

Israelis Admit Arab Foes Stage 'Successful' Raid

By United Press International

Israel tanks damaged. The raid which began at 7:30 p.m. before dark was the second of the day and the first within the past 23 days, an Egyptian spokesman in Cairo said. The special attack force moved into the Gaza Strip, stormed enemy positions and held them for an hour while destroying all enemy weapons, tanks, equipment and personnel inside their bunkers and ditches.

Observers believed the raid could in turn lead to Israeli retaliation and another escalation of the conflict, which Secretary General Thant of the United Nations called a return to open warfare.

In other action Arab guerrillas hurled two grenades at Israeli jeep in Gaza Thursday, injuring a soldier. Guerrillas also blew up a pump-house 14 miles south of the Sea of Galilee. Two miles away, Arab mortar fire blasted a farm settlement, causing the fired bazookas at Israeli troops along the Lebanese border near Hasbaya. There was no casualty report.

Israel said the Egyptian commandos who attacked Pott Tower were repulsed after "a slight battle."

It was the fifth Egyptian raid across the canal in the last 23 days, Israeli army sources said. Israeli and Syrian army commandos exchanged tank and small arms fire across the cease-fire line in the Israeli-occupied Golan Heights Thursday, Army sources said.

Floods Deluge Midwest

By United Press International

The twin rivers "went" swollen to its highest ever crest, and they wanted to continue it. They couldn't.

The river gauge is under water, officials said, reporting the Iowa had risen to at least 10.5 feet at Marshalltown, Iowa, Thursday and drove 800 people from their homes.

Many areas of the water-logged Midwest have suffered flooding because of weeks of rain. More thunderstorms poured more water into swollen streams Thursday. In the South, the next wave continued. Flooding or the threat of flooding continued today in Iowa, Missouri and Illinois.

Apollo Crew Given Final Checkup

By CHARLES E. TAYLOR

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — Apollo 11's astronauts underwent their final major pre-flight medical examination today and are expected to confront their flight conditions when they are fit for launch Wednesday on America's moon-landing adventure.

The examination wasn't so different from the "big" one the family doctor might order, with one big exception — the pilots are going to the moon and astronauts want to make certain they know what organisms are going with them so they can identify any moon bugs they might bring back.

Nixon Taps Conservative Californians

By ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Two highly conservative intimates of Gov. Ronald Reagan of California are about to fill key slots on President Nixon's White House staff, the latest indication of a right-wing trend in the administration, that has aroused Republican liberals.

Soon to be assigned permanently as first-rank assistant to White House Congressional lobbyist Bryce Warrick is Franklyn (Lynn) Notziger, 45, formerly Reagan's press secretary, and now an independent political consultant in Sacramento — one of the national political correspondents here for the Coploy Newspapers. Notziger left Reagan's staff last year to manage right-wing Republican Max Baucus's unsuccessful campaign for the Senate.

The second White House appointment is for a new member of Thomas C. Reed, 35, California Republican national committee member, a key operative in Reagan's gubernatorial and 1968 presidential campaigns. Reed, a nuclear engineer, is the son of oil millionaire Gordon Reed, Greenwich, Conn., a major contributor to Barry Goldwater's 1964 presidential campaign. Reed's new job, a short-term assignment, will be as first assistant to White House political aide Sen. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina.

Notziger will add an expected political background. He is expected to be Aug. 1. Underground mechanical work also is progressing at the building which is situated on a 20-acre site.

WALL PANELS AND roof panels at the site of the new building in Twin Falls are going up this week. The hollowed roof and surrounding area on the south side of the building is shown in this Times-News photo. The shell of the modern E. structure is expected to be hit up by Aug. 1. Underground mechanical work also is progressing at the building which is situated on a 20-acre site.

CSI Still Shy 5 On Faculty

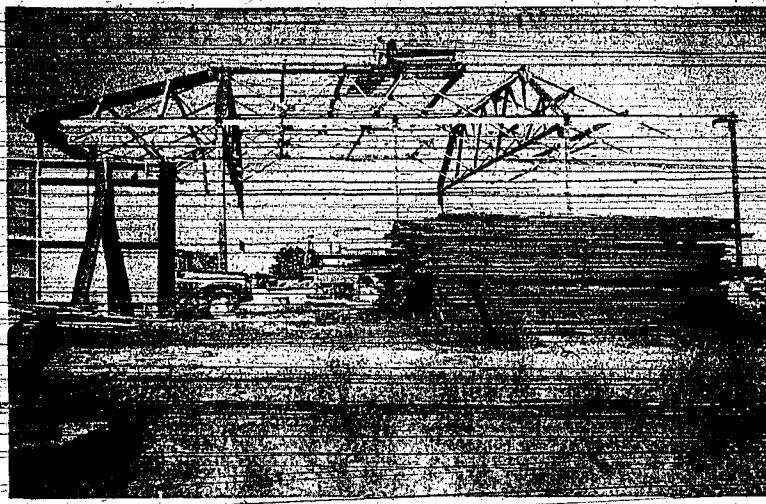

The College of Southern Idaho still is shy five teachers for the fall semester, Dr. James L. Taylor, CSI president, said Thursday.

He returned this week from a recruiting trip, hiring seven instructors in Colorado, Nebraska and Kansas.

The need for instructors is partially because of resignations and the addition of several instructors for the 1969-70 school year.

Dr. Taylor said eight instructors are being added in the academic department and two in the vocational school, leaving 100 instructors in the Kellwood program.

The in-service workshop for instructors begins Aug. 18 and school opens Aug. 27, Dr. Taylor said. An enrollment of 2,100, excluding Kellwood students, is expected this fall.

WHEN COMPLETED, THIS will be the largest single structure at the Twin Falls city-county airport. It will be used in connection with the fixed base operations of F-4E fighters and will be 81 feet wide and 105 feet deep. It will be able to handle multi-engine aircraft with ease. The structure is located east of the terminal building and is a part of the more than $300,000 improvement projects under way at the field at the present time.

Pool Owner Ponders Car 'Taking Swim'

GLENDALE, Calif. (UPI) — Mrs. Helen Howe has a small problem — an automobile in her swimming pool. And some of the suggestions on how to get it out are as off-beat as the way it got in.

Last Saturday the unoccupied 1968 Austin America rolled over a cliff above her house and plummeted down into the pool.

"One person thought we might be able to get it out by buying an inflatable raft and placing it under the car, in an attempt to float it up," Mrs. Howe said.

"And some scuba divers called and offered to disassemble it under water," she added.

A troop of Boy Scouts wanted to make a summer project out of removing the car from the swimming pool. All Mrs. Howe had to do was pay for the cost of materials.

"They were really sincere about it, but I don't think I could take a full summer of boy scouts working in my back yard," she said.

Mrs. Howe has three small children and is now charging five cents admission to look at the car on the bottom of the pool.

Consultations with the owner's insurance company have revealed the only practical way is to lift the car out by helicopter.

Work-Burdened Congressmen Disobey Adjournment Law

By ROY McGHEE WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congress broke the laws of the United States. It will continue to break them every day it stays in session the remainder of the year — and the violation is premeditated.

There will be no arrests, no indictments, no prosecution of lawmakers. They will not even be reprimanded. Even if a member should raise the question of illegal meetings, either the speaker of the House or the presiding officer of the Senate will follow custom and rule the objection out of order.

The 1946 Congress was weary after spending the World War II years in almost constant session. It also realized many of its procedures were too creaky for modern requirements.

After an exhaustive series of hearings and investigations, it began the congressional reorganization act of 1946, requiring among other things that except for national emergency, Congress should adjourn each year by the end of July.

The law is still on the books although Congress promptly forgot it after enacting it.

The law also required a reduction in the myriad committees that sprouted uncontrollably over the years and both the House and Senate did some cutting. But both houses then proceeded to divide the reduced number of full committees into subcommittees so that within a few years there were more legislating units than ever.

On the subject of congressional sessions, the reorganization act said that "except in time of war or during a national emergency, proclaimed by the president, the two houses shall adjourn sine die not later than the first day (Sundays excepted) in the month of July each year unless otherwise provided by Congress." Note those last five words.

Only twice since the law was passed has Congress made it out of the Capitol by the July 31 deadline in 1952 and 1956. And it has never provided "other wise" by any formal resolution or declaration.

Congressional apologists for this record of ignoring its own strictures contend that by the mere act of meeting after the deadline adjournment date, Congress is providing "other-wise."

Others say that the country is in war, even if it is undeclared. Still others point to obscure national emergency proclamations by past presidents that either through design or oversight have never been rescinded.

There used to be one congressman who observed the law. Former Rep. Noah M. Mason, R-Ill., would pack up and leave every July 31 no matter how long his colleagues stayed around.

Water Requests Filed In Idaho

BOISE (UPI) — The Idaho Department of Reclamation has announced that applications have been filed with it to appropriate 1,800,100 acre feet of water per year in the Gem State.

State Reclamation Engineer R. Keith Higginson said the largest application was to appropriate 1.3 million acre feet annually for irrigation and 15,000 cubic feet per second for power production from the Snake River in Bonneville County to be used in the Lynn Crandall Project.

The water would supply 680,372 acres of land within Water District 36.

Another application is to divert 220,000 acre feet from wells in Madison and Fremont Counties to irrigate 162,582 acres of land in the two counties.

DAVE STIEFEL

BURLEY—The comedy western play, "The Death and Life of Sneaky Fitch," will be presented under the lights and outdoors at 9 p.m. Sunday at Cassia County Fairgrounds, under the sponsorship of the Burley Soroptimist Club. Tickets are available from all Soroptimist Club members.

Dave Stiefel plays Sheriff Jack Oglesby in "The Death and Life of Sneaky Fitch" of the Antique Festival Theatre production. Stiefel has lived most of his life in Colorado. He was graduated from Aurora High School second in a class of 350 and is attending college on a National Merit Scholarship, majoring in dramatics.

The play is written by James L. Rosenberg, and Sneaky is a confused cowboy first cowardly, then overconfident as he believes himself to be immortal and in his "second life."

Proceeds from the play will be donated to the Burley Soroptimist Club at the Cassia County Fairgrounds, will direct this summer's program, and the full company of scholarship lecturers will perform.

The title role of Sneaky will be played by Alan Greene, Boise.

Aldrich Bowler, producer-director of the Antique Festival Theatre, said that the play seems to attract students of talent, but this summer our students also have had experience and we are delighted with our company of actors this year.

"We are looking forward to coming to Burley for the second time for last year's show at Cassia County Fairgrounds was a great outdoor performance and it whetted our appetites for more."

Veterinarian Credited With Saving Penny's Life

By MARJORIE LIERMAN
Times-News Correspondent

FILER—Penny is a small brown dog that lives at our house. She is mostly Chihuahua, although somewhere back in her ancestry a toy Manchester must have appeared on the scene.

Penny is a bit of a ballpoint pen, chases the bantam chickens, and thinks she can protect us from anything 10 times bigger than she is. She has a bark that is pure fake and a tail that is perpetual motion.

Several weeks ago Penny ate something that had been poisoned with strychnine, and except for the skill and competence of our veterinarian would not be alive today.

Penny had been her usual exuberant self all day. That evening, though, she fell over on her side for no reason. We thought perhaps a stick had caused her fall as she seemed all right a few minutes later. But when the attack kept recurring, each one a little worse, we became concerned and called our veterinarian who told us to bring her right into his office.

We had suspected a fall, a heart attack, or even distemper, but never thought of poisoning; however, even with describing the symptoms over the telephone, he immediately diagnosed them as "strychnine" poisoning. He told us to bring her in as soon as possible.

Two other small dogs that we had for the same thing. Poisoned grain is set out by some people to get rid of rats. They poison papers and ruck checks. But a cat or dog can pick up a dead bird and chew on it, or the family dog can dig up and bring home a dead rooster which has crawled into its hole to die.

Penny thinks she's "people." We know better, of course, but everyone who has pets understands what we mean. She's Connie Roderick, Dayton, Ohio, who is Maroon, the dance hall gal. The rollicking entertainment provided by this play should prove to be a delight for all ages.

Proceeds from the play will be used by the Burley Soroptimist Club for a service project. General chairman for the Soroptimist Club in sponsoring the play is Vivian Odnev.

Other club members working on committees are Mrs. Edna Bailey, posters and caravan; Mrs. Jack Mason, tickets; Mrs. Fred Sherrod, treasurer; Mrs. LePage Layton, publicity; Mrs. Gay Jones, advertising; Mrs. Wayne Kozak, president; and Mrs. D. C. Fuller, past president.

FIRST ANNUAL SWAP MEET and car show of the local club of the Horseless Carriage Club of America is planned for Sunday in Twin Falls. Checking local entries for the event are, from left, committee members Lloyd Persons, Clinton Kerr, Don Wolverton, and Gary Wolverton, chairman. The 1915 Model-T car will be entered in the show by Don Wolverton. Open to the public at no cost, the show will be held throughout the day on the Soars-Parking lot. Several out-of-state exhibits will be featured.

Antique Car Show, Swap Meet Scheduled Sunday In Twin Falls

Collectors and restorers of antique cars from Idaho and several surrounding states will be participating in a Swap Meet and Car Show Sunday on the Soars parking lot, 403 Main Ave., N. W.

Not only will the show be of interest to old-car buffs, but to the public in general, and there will be no admission charge, says Gary Wolverton, chairman.

He said the public is invited to inspect the restored vehicles. At least one, a 1903 Oldsmobile, will be on display in the process of being restored, to show the work process.

The meet and show is the first such annual event here and is sponsored by the local regional chapter of the Horseless Carriage Club of America.

In addition to automobiles, displays will feature radios, stoves, stage coaches, sleighs and motorcycles, and clothing, jewelry and accessories of the era. Old vehicles also will be exhibited.

Not only do the club members restore the old cars to their original condition, but part of their display and parade appearance is to dress in styles typical of the year of the vehicle.

Mr. Wolverton will be displaying a 1907 Thomas Detroit, and his brother, Don Wolverton, will display his 1915 Model-T Ford sports roadster. They say other vehicles of the local area will be shown and some will also be coming from California, Nevada and, probably, Utah as well as Salmon, Bonanza and Boise.

Some of the vehicles to be shown are valued as high as $50,000 by their owners, the committee members explain.

Value depends on the age and scarcity of the particular vehicle and the authenticity with which it has been restored.

Most of those on display will range in value from the approximate cost of a modern 1969 model vehicle to the $50,000 or $60,000 figure.

About 75 door prizes will be given away during the day and plaques and prizes will be given exhibitors.

Mr. Wolverton, who has been a member of the Horseless Carriage Club of America in Los Angeles, said collectors and restorers of this area are attempting to build a stronger organization in the local region and displays, swap meets and other special events will be scheduled in the future.

Organized in 1936 by 16 members of the Los Angeles area, the club now has more than 10,000 members and 146 regional clubs throughout the country. The local club, known as the Gooding Regional Club, reorganized in 1968. The Young and Working with Mr. Wolverton on the committee are assistant chairman Lloyd Cooper, Clinton Kerr and Lloyd Persons; all Kimberly, and Don Wolverton, Hansen.

Sen. Church Rakes County Zone Laws In 'Clouds' Airing

WASHINGTON (UPI) — If the National Recreation Area depends on county commissioners for zoning regulation, the scenic values of the area would have been ruined, Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, said Thursday. Church testified at a hearing of the House Interior Subcommittee on National Parks and Recreation concerning a Senate-passed bill to set up the national recreation area. A House bill is sponsored by Rep. Orval Hansen, R-Idaho.

Rep. Hansen Cites Need To Protect Area

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Orval Hansen, R-Idaho, said Thursday legislation on the Sawtooth National Recreation Area represented the collective efforts of persons attempting to protect the scenic areas from encroaching commercialization. Hansen told the House Interior subcommittee hearing on the national recreation area "subdivision development along U. S. 93 through the center of the valley would obstruct views of the Sawtooth Peak. Mining interests have recognized the public interest in preserving the beauty of the White Clouds. But anyone who consent a bulldozer can dig into the side of any mountain in the area."

Von Braun Warns Of Failure Chance

HUNTSVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — Space scientist Werner von Braun says the United States has had such an unprecedented string of space successes "the public may not be prepared for the shock if something goes wrong." The German-born scientist, now director of the Marshall Flight Center here, said at a press conference Thursday he is confident the Apollo 11 mission will be successful. He said the Apollo 11 crew will be able to journey into space. "This business of space flight being available only to young heroes is probably on its way out. A space station will be inhabited by all sorts of people. These people will ride into orbit as passengers although the crew will still be composed of astronaut-trained men," he said.

Suspect Ponders Lawsuit As 'Nightmare' Ordeal Ends

VERINGTON, Nev. (UPI) — David Goldsmith, 30, of Reno, Wyo., released after 17 months in jail for conspiracy to murder his two business partners, said Thursday the experience has been a nightmare. Goldsmith said he planned to return Thursday to Moline, Ill., his former hometown, where he has relatives. He indicated he might file civil damage suits in connection with the case but said he would have to talk with his lawyers. Goldsmith pleaded no contest to the charge of conspiracy to commit murder and was judged guilty. District Judge F. A. R. Cherry, Wednesday, not Goldsmith had been in jail 17 months, allowed him to go free. The maximum sentence was one year in the county jail and a $1,000 fine. Throughout the case, Goldsmith maintained his innocence in the death of Larry Olinger.

THIS IS THE TRUE STORY OF THE SELF-CONFESSED BOSTON STRANGLER.

20th Century-Fox presents THE BOSTON STRANGLER

Carol Barker, Louder Wed

The First Methodist Church was the setting for the June ceremony which united in marriage Carol Sue Barker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Barker, Ogden, Utah, and Kenneth E. Louder, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Louder, Twin Falls.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Harold E. Dehoney, officiating minister, before an altar backed with white tapers in three brass candelabra which were braced with pink pompoms. White bouquets of pink pompoms tied with white satin ribbon provided a background for the candlelight ceremony.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore her mother's wedding dress which was a floor-length gown of candlelight tulle trimmed at the sweetheart neckline and puffed, three-quarter length sleeves with ruffled rose-point lace. The long, fitted bodice was belted in the back with satin buttons and trimmed with matching buttons down the length of the waist in front. Her full-length veil of candlelight illusion fell from a satin bow which matched her gown.

She carried a colonial nosegay of pink sweethearts, roses surrounded by pink sagebrush and trimmed with satin ribbon streamers.

Attending the bride were her sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Barker, matron of honor, Barbara Barker, sister, as maid-of-honor, and Beverly Heller, Renee Hansen, niece of the bride, as flower girl, and a basket filled with pink rose petals.

Roger Louder, brother of the bridegroom, was best man, and Mark Phillips and Dick Williams, nephews, served as ushers. Groomsmen were Lennie Louder, brother of the bridegroom, and Bob Dehoney, John Louder, brother of the bridegroom, and Frank Dehoney assisted with ushering.

She Wonderlich was in charge of the guest book. Ruth Dehoney, Jan Miller and Kathy Magaw were in charge of gifts.

A reception was held in the church fellowship hall. The refreshment tables were covered with white linen and full, white ruffled nylon skirts. The bride's table was decorated with these: colored forget-me-nots and topped with white doves in white net, holding double rings. The bridegroom's table was centered with an old-fashioned flower arrangement created by Mrs. Harold Stoll. Both centerpieces were flanked by white tapers held in silver candelabra.

Mrs. Eugene Dehoney and Mrs. Vern Routh cut the cake. Mrs. Albert Dougherty, poured coffee and Mrs. Rich Dehoney, aunt of the bride, served punch.

Guests were seated at tables covered with white linen and decorated with silver trimmings with ruffled, aqua net collars, holding old fashioned nosegays.

MR. AND MRS. KENNETH E. LOUDER (Dudley photo)

and matching centerpieces holding Parents of the bridegroom held a dinner at their home after the rehearsal.

Deborah and David Routh distributed rice favors held in aqua net and tied with white satin ribbon.

A shower for the bride was hosted by Mrs. Eugene Dehoney, Mrs. Vern Routh and Mrs. Thomas Kelly. A back yard supper, following the ceremony, was hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Dehoney, assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Vern Routh and Mr. and Mrs. Keith Wiedenhef, and Denver, Colo.

Dear Abby

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I are going around round because our 17-year-old daughter has said that after she graduates from high school she wants to get a job and move into an apartment with another girl.

My husband hits the ceiling whenever she mentions it. He thinks I want to be a mother-in-law as they can orientate boy friends without parental supervision, stay-up-until-all-hours, and go wild in general.

I don't feel that way. I think our daughter has good sense, good moral values, and her choice of friends has always been a good one. I think parents can teach their children only so much. The rest they have to learn by standing on their own two feet.

How do you feel about this, Abby?

MOTHER-IN-LAW MIDDLE

DEAR MOTHER: I think you are right—by the time a girl graduates from high school, the twig is bent the way it will be. I would say you daughter will not disappoint you.

DEAR ABBY: Is the bridegroom responsible for paying the doctor bills for his bride-to-be just because she wanted a physical examination and control pills?

This happened to my son and I say he was not responsible for my bills his wife-to-be ran up. Am I right or not? My son wrong? I apologize to his wife.

NEW IN-LAW

DEAR NEW: Technically, the bridegroom is not responsible for bills his bride-to-be "ran up" before their marriage, but if your son willingly paid the bill you made an issue of it, apologize.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I are going married 33 years. We live modestly and have never been big spenders. We have a comfortable income and bank account and my husband is an honest and decent man, but here, in my problem, he hides money all over the house. I find it when housecleaning.

Last month I found a surprising amount in the cellar. I asked him why. He never answered. I finally got him to put that money in the bank and he was already getting molly, but he wouldn't do it. He just took them to hide somewhere else.

Today I found more money under the sofa cushions, and I am feeling very depressed.

Please don't write me a personal letter as my husband gets the mail first since he is now retired. Thank you.

WORRIED

DEAR WORRIED: Get your husband to a doctor for a "routine" checkup as soon as possible. Be sure to tell the doctor (quietly in advance) what you have told me. Your husband needs help.

DEAR ABBY: I think you were a bit negative with your "HATES SAILING." A seafaring wife is no fun for a husband who loves sailing, but neither does she pose insurmountable problems.

An old-time round dance will be held at 9 p.m. Saturday at the Moose Hall in Twin Falls. Music will be by recordings and the public is welcome.

Having solved that problem, I had to woo my wife in sailing, slowly and carefully, and here are the steps:

1. Use seakickness pills—but sparingly, as they can make one drowsy.
2. Short sails at first.
3. Give her something to do so she won't be bored. (Catching zepes, or managing one of the sails. Even swabbing the deck. Women love to clean!)
4. No bickering, arguing, or squabbling on board. (This induces seasickness.)
5. Teach her to sail. If you make her feel welcome and useful, she'll be much more fun than the most glamorous passenger.

I don't say this will work for everyone, but it worked for me.

"LOVES SAILING" WIFE TOLD "CONFIDENTIAL" TO "SCORPIO" I have a seven-letter, one word "solution" to your problem. FORGIVE. For forgiveness is the fragrance of a violet on the heel of the one who crushes it.

"Good" Samaritan

By VIRGIL D. WEIMER
Pastor, Twin Falls Church of the Brethren

The parable of the Good Samaritan (Luke 10), although centuries old is contemporary, for it graphically delineates into common life policies which are still very much with us, namely, "beat 'em up, pass 'em up, lift 'em up." The first two seem to be more widely practiced than the third. At least the first two are treated to more publicity than the third policy. The "beat 'em up" policy, illustrated by the thieves who beat and robbed the man traveling from Jerusalem to Jericho, is in the form of crime in our streets, personal brawls, riots and court judgments, lawlessness in numerous forms outside the law and under the protection of law, the threat of force, international warfare, and so on.

The most common expression of the "beat 'em up" policy is physical violence. But the means limited to this form. This policy is also practiced through race and class prejudice. In subtle forms, economic controls and oppression, unjust laws and the misuse and abuse of the power of law, false accusations and slander, a twisting and misaligning of facts, a desire for condemnation, carelessness and perhaps other means you may call to mind.

The "pass 'em up" policy, however practiced, leaves behind victims who are further victimized by the "pass 'em up" policy. The "pass 'em up" policy is not limited to expression by actual ignoring of a physically passing by the victim.

The "pass 'em up" policy is also practiced through apathy and indifference, shunning, withdrawal, thoughtlessness, self-centeredness, self-righteousness, hardness of heart, resentment and other similar feelings and attitudes. While churchmen have no corner on the practice of this policy, as in the parable, the church and its leaders should know better and of whom more is expected, are all too flagrant, and frequently guilty of practicing this policy.

In the parable help for the victim of the "beat 'em up" policy came from an unexpected source—a Samaritan who was disliked, despised, and rejected by those who did the passing-up. Here was a person who from his own essential nature was no love or goodness and from whom little righteousness was expected, yet who did more of love and mercy than the "lift 'em up" policy—the ninth thrust of the parable.

We turned to the victims of the "beat 'em up" policy, the Christian faith would bid us work at this problem in two ways. First of all it bids us do all we can to downgrade, minimize, decrease and eliminate the acceptance and practice of the "beat 'em up" policy. Yet we know that this latter policy will not quickly be diminished or eliminated because of the present state of our civilization and world. Man is not easily persuaded to change his ways. Therefore, for a long time to come we will be confronted by the victims of the "beat 'em up" policy. And we shall consequently be faced with the choice of either "passing 'em up" or doing out best to obey the injunction of Jesus to "lift 'em up."

By making the Samaritan the hero of the parable, Jesus reproaches churchmen for not living up to their profession of faith and points out that all goodness and love does not reside within the church, but that more mercy is often found and generously practiced in the hearts of those who are sometimes snubbed, despised and rejected by self-righteous churchmen.

Jesus also teaches that test-involvement in practicing the "lift 'em up" policy. Cost in time, effort, money, and other resources, as expended by the Samaritan who spontaneously and willingly incurred them. Also, while we know that many victims of the "beat 'em up" policy will require permanent help and care, the help given by the Samaritan is designed to enable the victim to reason and stand up on his own feet once again.

Finally, as well as answering the question, "Who is my neighbor?" Jesus, in the closing dialogue of the parable, turns tables on the lawyers and confronts him and us with the question, "Who is my neighbor am I?"

NATHANIEL URSHAN, national radio speaker of the United Pentecostal Church, will be camp-meeting speaker for the Idaho District Camp to be held at the Bethel Park Camp in McCall July 11 through 15. Graham's "Super Church"

By REV. KINSOLVING

Leaders of the National Council of Churches have for years been accused of trying to maintain a super-church—often by those who at the same time are willing to support the Billy Graham Evangelistic Association.

But if you want to see a real super-church, look at the Billy Graham Evangelistic Association itself.

The 1968 budget was $15,782,174 which amounts to a million dollars more than the annual budget of the Episcopal church, over 900 radio stations ("The World of Decision") and a television network which has been broadcasting over 30 stations since 1967; syndication of the Billy Graham column "My Answer" in 40 secular newspapers; "Decision" magazine (circulation: 3.5 million); ownership of a film company in "Hollywood" called "World Productions"; which, according to a Graham Association press release, has produced more than 100 films in the past year; ownership of the Grayson Company which distributes such literature as Billy Graham's book "The Millionaire's Secret" and his sermons (35 million copies); and his sermons (35 million copies).

This massive communications thrust indicates that Billy Graham is, in actuality, the head of a new denomination. So does the existence of eight "Associate Evangelists" who conduct Crusades because in the words of an Association press release, "Mr. Graham receives far more invitations than he is possibly able to accept."

The world-renowned evangelist is still an ordained minister of the Southern Baptist Convention. But he was not present at this year's annual meeting in New Orleans, despite heated controversy over doctrine, including the message embodied in the title of a new book by Billy Graham, "Sovereign Grace." Baptist President W. A. Criswell, "Why I preach that the Bible is Literally True" and when questioned about this book, Graham smiled and replied, "I haven't read it."

Both the Rev. Dr. Graham and "association" officers are likely to deny that they have established a new denomination. For if it were so classified, the massive support necessary to keep the organization going in one of them, Shakespeare in one sense is present at every moment in every play. But he never present in the same way as Falstaff or Lady Macbeth.

If God does exist, he is related to the universe more as an author is related to a play than as one object in the universe is related to another. To look for him as one item within the framework which he himself invented is nonsensical.

The three great theistic cosmologists, the late Yuri Gagarin returned from space confirmed in his atheism because he saw no physical evidence of God while whirling around 100 miles above the earth.

Gagarin's public comments on the matter prompted a Christian theologian, the late S. Lewis to say:

If God does exist, he is related to the universe more as an author is related to a play than as one object in the universe is related to another. To look for him as one item within the framework which he himself invented is nonsensical."

God Isn't Found In Galaxy

By LOUIS CASSELS
The Religion Writers

Will man, in traveling to the moon and beyond, find anything that will confirm or discredit belief in God?

This question has been asked since the early days of the space age and is sure to bounce in on renewed discussion when man lands on the moon.

His persistence suggests that Bishop John Robinson was right in saying—in his best-selling book "Honest to God" that many people even in this enlightened era have extremely naive and anthropomorphic conceptions of God.

In order to think that space travel could furnish any evidence for or against the existence of God, a person must conceive of God as an objective entity located at some specific point "out there" in space.

It would have to come from a understanding of what the theistic religions mean when they speak of God. It is held not only by some believers but also by many atheists.

One of the first Soviet cosmonauts, the late Yuri Gagarin returned from space confirmed in his atheism because he saw no physical evidence of God while whirling around 100 miles above the earth.

Gagarin's public comments on the matter prompted a Christian theologian, the late S. Lewis to say:

"Looking for God by exploring space is like reading all Shakespeare's plays in the hope of finding Shakespeare in one of them. Shakespeare in one sense is present at every moment in every play. But he never present in the same way as Falstaff or Lady Macbeth.

... are moving here from Dover, Okla. Rev. Brown will preach his first sermon at Valley Christian Church, July 20 at 11 a.m., to be followed by an all-church potluck dinner in their honor. The couple and their son Brian are expected here early next week. Rev. Brown served his student and intern ministries in Oklahoma and in Texas.

Religions—Christianity, Judaism and Islam—are united in the affirmation that God transcends space and time, and is equally present in all parts of the universe from the tiny planet called earth to the remotest galaxy.

They also teach that God is not an objective entity to be seen, touched, weighed or measured, but a personal spirit who communicates his reality to men through personal encounters with them in the innermost depths of their minds and spirits through historical events, and through the testimony of a material universe in whose ordered regularity scientists discover something analogous—although infinitely superior—to human intelligence.

It was their awe at the majesty and scope of the universe that prompted three American astronauts to read

CANADA CONVENTION
An eight-day convention of Jehovah's Witnesses will be held in Vancouver, B.C., beginning July 12. Members of all of the church are asked to attend, and local congregations from the West are expected to supply some 200 people for volunteer help at the convention. Over 40,000 Witnesses are anticipated at Vancouver by convention leaders.

the first Chapter of Genesis in their broadcast from a lunar orbit last Christmas Eve.

The immensity of the universe, which amazed the astronauts—to reverence, in glorifying to others who would like to believe in God but find it hard to stretch their imaginations to conceive of a deity who is the ground of all being.

A Scottish theologian, the Rev. Dr. Geddes MacGregor, points out that the size of the universe—really has no bearing on the question of God's existence.

"What is astonishing about the universe is not that it should be as large as astronomers have discovered it to be," he says. "The puzzle is that anything exists at all."

In other words, the fundamental philosophical question is why there is something instead of nothing. Ever since God is religion's answer to that question and the answer becomes more rather than less meaningful as man ventures further into the awesome expanses of space.

Along Fences And Canals

N. E. Silvey, Richfield, bought the hay from the LDS Church farm. Ten men from the church hauled the hay to the Silvey ranches last Saturday. Relief Society officers served lunch and the men enjoyed a watermelon feed after the work was done.

Nelson Erdrickson, Richfield, was low bidder for a fence building contract in the Challis National Forest. His son, Doyle, 13, will accompany him to build 11 miles of fencing.

Tommy Gibson, stationed with the Navy at Long Beach, Calif., is assisting his father, Tom Gibson, with his farm work since Mr. Gibson was injured in a farm accident, on the farm he leases at Tuttle.

The Frank Rustien family has returned to California after a short trip to Richfield to look after ranch interests. Jim Trowbridge, Gooding, is running the farm this year. It was formerly the Theo Oltus east Richfield ranch.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Sams and Gary and Ross Wynn Swainston have been stacking hay for Richfield ranchers during the evenings. The men are Richfield creamery employees.

Local Boys' Town Graduate Rents, Stocks Cattle Ranch

HAGERMAN—Orville Hagerman, son of Mrs. Gerald Duncombe and Ivan Akers, The Dalles, Ore., and a recent graduate of Boys' Town, has been given special recognition at the graduation services.

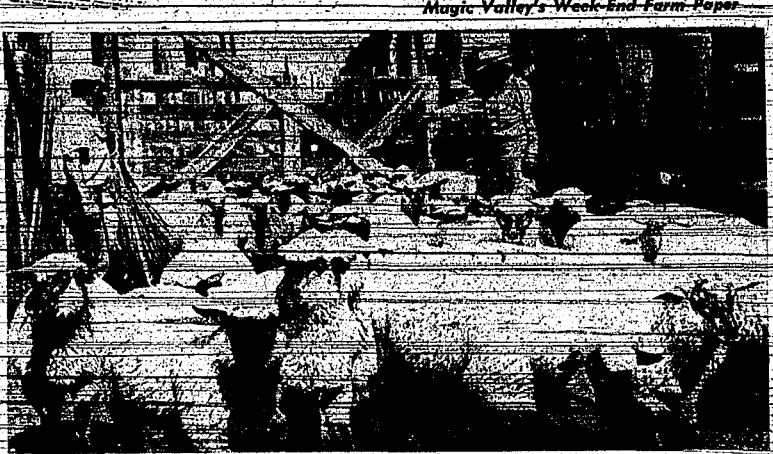

Father wept in presenting Orville with his diploma, stating that Orville was taking more money out of Boys' Town than any boy ever to graduate from there. The money that Father Weiger referred to was the money that Orville saved during his five years there from both working and showing livestock.

Since graduation, Orville, in a partnership with Bill Scott, a math instructor at Boys' Town, has rented a 780-acre ranch at Rockville, Noh, about 150 miles from Boys' Town and will make his home there.

To help stock the ranch, Orville purchased 48 head of cattle from Boys' Town for $750, number 24 are registered black and angus cows and one is a registered black angus bull.

The bull is the same one that had won Orville two prizes in Nebraska and two prizes in Ne-

THESE FAT LAMBS are part of the 472 sold to Wilson and Co. at the lamb pool of the Twin Falls County Livestock Marketing Association held Tuesday. Each year the Marketing Association does from $40,000 to $70,000 of business for member farmers and ranchers. The Tuesday lamb pool is the last one for the 1969 year, says Donald Youtz, Twin Falls County agriculture agent.

EACH FARMER marketed from two to 75 fat lambs in the recent lamb pool. The sheep sold for $28.67 per hundredweight. About 60 farmers in Twin Falls, Jerome and Gooding counties participated in the pool.

Association Has Final Lamb Pool

Nearly 500 fat lambs were sold to Del Dickinson, Twin Falls, representing Wilson and Co., through the Twin Falls County Livestock Marketing Association's lamb pool Tuesday.

A price of $28.67 per hundredweight was paid at this pool as compared to a price of last year's final lamb pool of $25.00 per hundredweight. In 1968 a total of 1,690 lambs were pooled; this year the total numbered 2,300 fat lambs.

This was the fourth and final 1968 lamb pool sponsored by the association, with the number of lambs marketed by each farmer ranging from two to 75. The 472 fat lambs sold at the Tuesday pool went for $28.67 per hundredweight for a total price of over $12,000.

"Each year the Marketing Association sells from 400,000 to 500,000 of lambs and wool each year," says Donald Youtz, extension agriculture agent for the county. The association also holds a wool pool once each year. Held this year in May about 3,000 fleeces were pooled.

In the last lamb pool for this year, about 50 farmers in Twin Falls, Jerome and Gooding counties participated.

The purpose of the non-profit Marketing Association, formed in the 1930s, is to enable farmers with small numbers of sheep to market them at a good price. The association directors are responsible for marking the sheep to be marketed, obtaining the bids and recording the sale.

Moist grain's primary advantage is more efficient digestibility than dry grain, according to company representatives. Two authorities will speak on the subject to the public and representatives will be served afterwards for use if still left at the meeting.

Beef Weigh-In Held This Week

Sixty-three head of cattle, participants in a beef evaluation program sponsored by the Magic Valley Cattlemen's Association, had their 14-day weigh-ins this week at Olmstead's Cattle Co.

Twenty head of steers will be slaughtered and evaluated at Independent Meat Co. from 4 to 6 p.m. Wednesday, and the others will continue to be fed until late September, a full 180 days after the inception of the program in March.

A filmed record and taped comments on the steers are to be used later with information on the carcasses from Independent Meat Co. The end results of the program will be presented to the public this fall.

To date the steers have averaged a daily weight gain of 3 pounds. The program is a cooperative venture among Magic Valley Cattlemen's Association, Independent Meat Co., the College of Southern Idaho, the University of Idaho Extension Service and Olmstead's Cattle Co.

Over the first 90 days, the steers averaged 3.2 pounds in daily gain and over the 121-day period averaged 3 pounds. Thirteen fancies are participating in the beef evaluation, each with five or more cattle initially entered.

The pen of five owned by Jim Henry, Kimberly, continues to lead the test at 3.8 pounds per day average daily gain, followed closely by the pen of five Angus owned by Noh Cattle Co., Rogerson, and the pens owned by Truman and Jim Clark, Castleford, and Martin, Big Lost, Bluff. Says Harschel Boydston, head of the agriculture department at CSI.

The interest displayed by cattlemen in this venture indicates that they have continuous future evaluation perhaps on a larger scale than this one. In the near future we may be able to come up with a genuine cattle feeder gain program," concludes Mr. Boydston.

All cattlemen and breeders are urged to attend the evaluation, scheduled at Independent Meat Co. from 4 to 6 p.m. Wednesday. Following the evaluation, a picnic will be held at Olmstead's Cattle Co. area.

Officials of the Idaho Wheat Commission and Idaho State Wheat Growers Association urge wheat growers in the state to attend a July 18 Field Day at the University of Idaho's Teton branch experimental station.

The Field Day open house is being held in celebration of the Experimental Station's 50th Anniversary, according to officials. The wheat organization official noted that a great deal of research work on their crop had been completed over the years at the Teton Branch Experimental Station.

On the Field Day program are Dr. E. B. Hartung, U of I professor; Dr. James Kruse, U of I College of Agriculture dean, and Hugh McKay, superintendent of the Experimental Station.

Association Will Host Sheep Day

A field day with sheep fitting and showing demonstrations and talks will be held for 4-H and FFA members at the Experimental Station in Caldwell beginning at 9 a.m. July 19.

Washing, clipping, proper equipment, proper showing procedures and medical care are among subjects to be covered at the field day sponsored by the Snake River Valley Purebred Sheep Breeders Association, according to James Olson, president.

"The reason we're putting this sheep handling day on is to give the boys and girls knowledge of fitting and showing sheep," he commented. Anyone interested in the sheep business is welcome to the state-wide demonstration day. Some judging will take place also.

Those attending will have the opportunity to work with sheep in such aspects as clipping and will undergo critical sessions for their handling, he added.

AT WORK GREASING a tractor are Vincent Munyasa, 22, Kenya, Union of South Africa, and Hawley Harrison. A student arch farmer who hosted the African farmer as part of the International Farm Youth Exchange program sponsored by the National 4-H organization. After spending time in Idaho Munyasa will travel to New Hampshire.

HANDLING AND CARING for a steer are, left, Lee Harrison and Vincent Munyasa. Harrison is staying with the Harrison family. Munyasa is involved in 4-H work in his own country and Mr. and Mrs. Harrison are leaders in local 4-H clubs.

3,300 Acres Of Sagebrush Treated In Copper Basin

CHALLIS — A total of 3,300 acres of sagebrush has been treated in Copper Basin in a program aimed at putting land in the area on a rotation and management system.

The project was finished recently. It is being done jointly by the Forest Service and the Bureau of Land Management.

A total of 3,300 acres of sagebrush was eradicated in the Little Lake area. The area is in the basin, and another 1,000 acres of sagebrush was eradicated on the Fish Hatchery Unit. Spraying on the land covered was done by helicopter.

The project was done in a system of patches so that only big sagebrush was sprayed.

Other stands of vegetation which support small game and birds have not been affected by the spraying.

The projects are part of a resource development program in Copper Basin. Officials said the program started in 1939 and will continue through 1972. When completed, the area will be under an intensive rearing plan.

This system is designed to provide a continuing yield of cattle forage while retaining and enhancing other resources and uses present in the area, it was reported.

Store Visited

WENDELL — 4-H groups led by Mrs. Ivan Millers, Mrs. James Archibald, Mrs. Laver Peterson and Mrs. Minnie Smith, visited the Reperture in the Lynwood shopping center, Twin Falls.

Mrs. Loren Wheeler gave tips on good wardrobe planning and suggested some of the latest New York styles. Terri Hobdy acted as model.

Feed Cost Down

BOISE (UPI) — Idaho farmers paid less for feed on June 15, 1948, than on the same date in 1947.

The mid-time price paid index was 85 per cent down 8 points from the mid-May index.

28-Year-Old Kenyan Stays With Local Farming Family

RUPERT — Vincent Munyasa, 28, Kakamega, Kenya, Union of South Africa, stayed with a local family during the first leg of his six-month visit to the United States as part of the International Farm Youth Exchange program, sponsored by the National 4-H organization.

Munyasa arrived at the Harrison home near Emerson, June 21 and spent his time with the family helping with the farming operations and especially with the 4-H projects there, as well as making numerous public appearances.

Munyasa has a diploma in agriculture from his country and a B.S. in agriculture from the University of Nairobi, Kenya.

Munyasa holds a diploma in general agriculture from an agricultural school in Kenya, and there is employed as an assistant in the 4-H program, similar to a county agent's job. He has always lived on a farm growing maize, coffee, vegetables, and raising cattle, goats, sheep and chickens.

His host family is active in 4-H work since both parents serve as leaders and each of the three older boys participate in 4-H activities.

After his time is up at the Harrison's, Munyasa then visits another host family in Idaho until July 25, when he travels to farms in New Hampshire and finally home in November.

Man Attends Appraisal School

A school in ranch appraising is being attended by Julien S. Blave, Twin Falls, at the College of Idaho, Caldwell, from July 7 to July 12.

Mr. Blave, along with 11 appraisers from 13 states and Canada, is getting five days of intensive training covering rural appraisal problems including field work.

Two California authorities in the field are conducting the school. They are R. Dean Schar, Napa, and Allen E. Thode, Stockton.

Black And White Holstein Show Set For July 19

RUPERT — Holstein breeders from throughout Idaho will gather at the Minkidoka County Fairgrounds July 19 for the annual state black and white show beginning at 9 a.m.

Roid Lewis, state president of the Idaho State Holstein Association, said 100 animals were shown last year and a larger number is expected for this year's event. This will be the third year that the event has been held in Rupert.

Lewis said that the state board of directors has voted to continue the event annually in Rupert.

A district show will precede the event on Friday at 8:30 a.m. at the Fairgrounds. Animals from throughout Magic Valley will be judged by Ed Coster, Gooding County extension agent, and agriculture engineer of the University of Idaho extension service.

Tractor Fatalities Attacked

The educational program will emphasize the importance of prevention and protection — a campaign known as TOPP. Nearly all of Idaho's nine accidental farm fatalities last year were connected with tractors. In many of those accidents a tractor upset was the cause of death.

Therefore, Mr. Taylor says, it is appropriate that TOPP be a matter of concern to farm people throughout the state. Action will be needed to avert tractor accidents throughout the year as well as during the special safety week.

The National Safety Council estimates that about 600 of the 1000 annual tractor accident fatalities in America involve overturned tractors. TOPP are helping to reduce the toll — one point is that tractors be equipped with frames that will give a driver an upset. Another point is regular review of safe practices such as staying clear of ditches and embankments and hitching only on drawbars.

1969 Apple Crop Will Quadruple Idaho's 1968 Crop

BOISE — Idaho's apple crop in 1969 is predicted at nearly three million bushels, according to the July 1948 estimates of the National Apple Institute.

That is more than four times the 1968 harvest of 687,000 bushels. The Horticulturist of the University of Idaho extension service, said the crop this year is developing under favorable conditions.

The National Apple Institute estimates that the total apple crop in the United States will be about 184 million bushels. Last year it was 172 million bushels.

Idaho's apple crop is the largest in prospect in Washington, is expected 30 million. New York anticipates 21 million, Michigan 19 million, and California 11 million.

Portland University Group Visits

Glenn Nelson Farm During Air Tour

For the second year, David Smith, professor of geography at Portland State University, brought a party of students to Twin Falls to tour and inspect the Glenn Nelson farm on the Salmon Tract near the Twin Falls city-county airport.

The professor, another professor at the university, and four students arrived by private plane. They are touring the northwestern Pacific states to familiarize themselves with geographical resources of the area and, also, the different aspects of agriculture.

The first trip to the Nelson farm was made last year after Professor Smith had asked the Idaho State Soil Conservation Service for a farmer who practiced conservation, had a crop rotation program and raised also weeds which, Mr. Nelson told them, "give us a battle every year."

He told them the origin of the term "Magic Valley" and pointed out that without irrigation the area would still be in the desert state.

In addition to Professor Smith, those in the party included Professor Ray Owens, Miss Beverly Weatherhead, Tony Troxell, David Helgren and Larry Price.

After leaving Twin Falls they flew to Sun Valley where they were scheduled to be briefed on recreational resources.

Vintage Car Is Oldtime Fun On Summer Evening

In the middle of the week on a "warm" summer night, when everything is quiet and it's too early to go camping in the hills, there's nothing like a ride through the city in an old-time automobile.

Robert Kroush, Idaho Probation and Parole officer for the Twin Falls area, likes to do this for a hobby.

"It keeps life from getting dull," he said.

Group Fusses Over Welfare Of 'Big Cats'

CHICAGO (UPI)—The Animal Welfare League thinks little of taking in abandoned beasts, but the latest bunch in its care for bears is a real problem.

It is supposed to be fighting an animal shelter. League Director John Blum says "anyone who says anything about a bear is a troublemaker."

Two African lions, a mountain lion, a leopard, a black bear and a hyena—all grouped with big cats—were brought in Wednesday after state police investigated a flushed truck abandoned on the Tri-State Parkway.

The truck, which carried circus-type cages in which the animals jumped out, passed and first noticed by police Tuesday morning near the O'Hare Airport oasis on the tollway. Its license plates were registered in a fairground near Chicago.

A service station attendant told police the driver had used a gas pump to start a broken axle. By midnight Tuesday, police seized the animal to give the animals some winter shelter.

"I'm not sure they can help. Police, seeking the driver and owner, Wednesday summoned a tow truck and pulled the flatbed about 10 miles. Then two tires went flat on the flatbed. The trip continued after the tires were changed, causing traffic jams on the Eisenhower and Dan Ryan expressways as motorists gawked at the circled circus wagon.

The tow and flatbed really made it to the animal league, where the animals were fed and pronounced physically fit.

House Panel Rejects Plan On Voting

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A House subcommittee rejected Thursday President Nixon's proposal to revise the 1965 Voting Rights Act and approved legislation for a simple, five-year extension beyond its 1970 expiration.

A Judiciary subcommittee vote described the vote 1999 as overwhelming.

The bill now goes to the full Judiciary Committee, which is expected to accept the act without change. Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., is chairman of both panels.

Both Celler and the ranking Republican member, Rep. William McCulloch, Ohio, endorsed the simple extension in hearings just ended and criticized the Nixon plan as a step backward from the objective of the 1965 act to guarantee full voting rights for Negroes and other minorities.

The 1965 act outlawing literacy tests where they are ascertained to be a discriminatory device was applicable to seven southern states. It also required that any changes in voting laws be cleared first with Washington.

Under the Nixon Administration proposal the literacy test ban would be broadened to nationwide level and the section on new voting laws would be relaxed.

EXPERTS MAKE IT LOOK DIFFICULT

The better the quality of the play, the more likely the fire works. This does not mean that experts always get the best results. Sometimes, we have seen a club contract, baited around like a card club suit and expert East had overlooked that possibility.

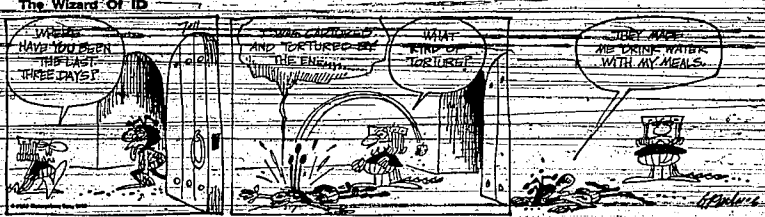

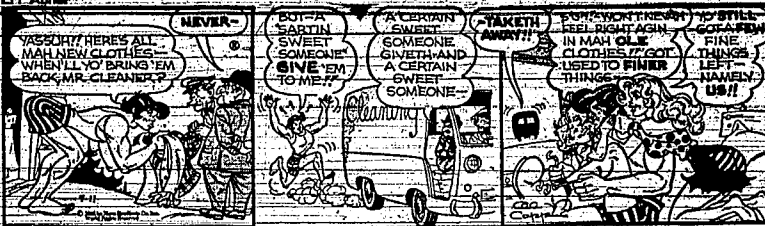

West played his 10 of hearts as a trick one after South had played two from dummy. South took the king and led the king of clubs. West won with the ace and played the nine of hearts.

What should expert South do? Expert West was capable of leading that nine-spot from ace-nine-eight if that were his holding. South did guess wrong. He played dummy's queen.

East was in with the ace and any ordinary player would have led back the three of hearts. Not this East! He wanted more. He led back the jack of spades. This play could not cost anything. South had to take a five-card club suit and expert East had overlooked that possibility.

He could run out enough tricks for his contract but South was also somewhat of a hog. He wanted overtricks and it appeared to South that he could well take a diamond finesse if it lost, he would take the rest of the tricks and make four odd.

The overtricks looked good to South. He promptly led his queen of diamonds and to his credit took the king and produced his little heart to collect the two-trick penalty he had hoped for earlier.

Indian Chief Won't Sell Ball Club

CLEVELAND (UPI)—Cleveland Indians owner Vernon Stouffer Thursday said he had rejected several offers to buy his ball club but that he rejected them, declaring he is in baseball on a "long time basis."

Stouffer said he has told several interested parties the ball club is not for sale, and scoffed at reports he has been strapped for money because of the stock market decline.

The Indians owner, a long time chief leader, appeared disappointed when he was asked that he has been financially strapped by a 60-per cent decline in the value of Ligon Industries stock.

The food and restaurant magnate merged his company into the conglomerate two years ago, a year after he started a large loan to buy the stock of a publisher.

Great Falls And Salt Lake Split

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI)—Rick Gallinger wielded the big stick here Thursday night and led Great Falls to a 8-1 victory over Salt Lake in the second game of a doubleheader.

The Bears won the first game, 6-0 on the four-hit pitching of Don Boudreau.

Gallinger found the range in the eighth and hit a home run, triple and double. He drove in three runs as the Giants won the second of three at Darks field this week.

A's Sink Sox 12-2 With 8-Run Inning

CHICAGO (UPI)—All-Star Sal Bando's three-run homer wrapped up the Oakland Athletics' biggest scoring inning of the season, eight runs, and John Odum pitched a three-hitter in a 12-2 triumph over the Chicago White Sox.

Odum worked his eighth complete game and ran his Oakland record to 12-2 as he struck out eight and walked five. Chicago's only runs were homers by Luis Aparicio, his first, and Buddy Brantner.

The Athletics routed Tommy John in the fourth inning and knocked him out after collecting five singles and a double to score five runs. Gary Bell took over and, after a walk to Reggie Jackson, surrendered Bando's 15th homer of the season to cap the eight-run rally.

Odum's previous best inning of the year was seven runs, and the attack Thursday was by far the worst the White Sox had suffered in a single inning this year. Previously they had given up five runs in an inning seven times.

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—Leonard Tose contended Thursday that Jerry Wolman lost his right to buy back the Philadelphia Eagles when he failed to agree to a $37 million stock deal and said he would go as far as the U.S. Supreme Court to keep the franchise of the team to Wolman.

Wolman contended he has until Aug. 1 to buy back the club from Tose under a buy-back agreement between the two and that he will have the veto right to re-purchase Tose's franchise. Tose said he plans to keep the team.

Marichal's performance was credited to Wolman, the order of the present management from buying, selling or trading players, and presented a copy of the contract to Blair. Jack Nicklaus, the pre-tournament favorite from Columbus, Ohio, had three birdies on the front-nine against only one bogey but slipped to one-over-par on the back nine. He finished with a 70, which gave the burly veteran a two-day total of 145. "I reckon I played more or less the same as Wednesday," Nicklaus said. "But the only difference was I had no really bad holes. Barber, who was in contention Wednesday with a 69, had the most trouble of any of the Americans. The Alabama veteran shot a 74, which gave him a four-over-par 75 which left him in strokes behind the leader with a 141. Actually Barber, who had rather steadily but ruined his game when he double-bogeyed both the third and 18 holes.

T.F. Filling 60 Slots For WIN Program

The Twin Falls office of the State Department of Employment is working on filling its 60 slots under the Work Incentive Program.

John Leinen, office manager, said Richard Robertson is working with the Department of Public Assistance in finding women who are receiving payments under the program.

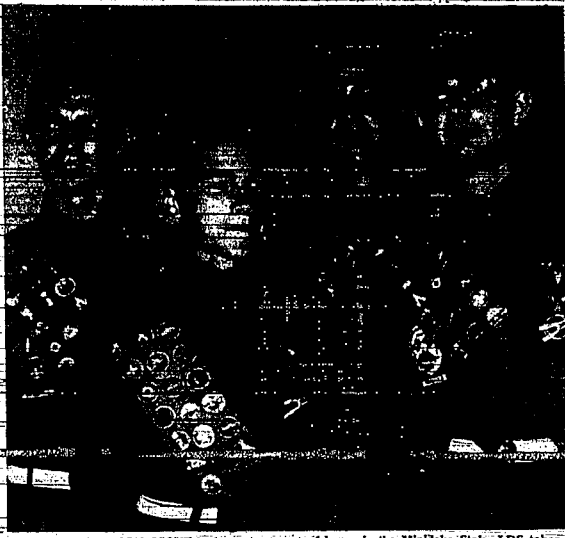

The purpose of the program is to place these women in jobs. They will receive a $30 incentive payment per month, in addition to their regular welfare check.

Mr. Leinen said the program was administered last year by the State Department of Public Assistance. But, the name of the program was changed and it has been put under the jurisdiction of the employment offices under provisions of the Social Security Act Amendments of 1968.

The funds are 80 per cent federal and 20 per cent local. A total of $92,000 was given to Idaho for 450 women to participate in the program.

The participants receive the broad spectrum of services available through the Labor Department's comprehensive manpower program, including personal and vocational counseling, orientation, work experience, skill training on the job or in the classroom, remedial or basic education, job placement and follow-up services.

Mr. Leinen said seven women who were in the Work Experience Program have been transferred into the WIN program locally.
