Minidoka Advised To Ignore Bill 304

Minidoka county commissioners will meet Monday to decide what action to take on the opinion given them by Donald Chisholm, county assessor, to ignore House Bill 304.

In an advisory statement requested by the commission, Mr. Chisholm said he believes the bill, limiting the tax revenue received by cities and counties to more than four per cent in excess over last year, is unconstitutional.

Two Officers Trapped In T.F. Elevator

Two law enforcement officers were trapped in a four-story building in the Twin Falls County courthouse.

The elevator is slow-moving. After a few minutes it just got tired and stopped. Twin Falls County Deputy D. B. N. Hayes and Twin Falls Police Officer D. B. Wilson pushed some buttons and stamped on their feet.

The elevator, headed down by the door, the fourth-floor complex floor failed to bud from its position between the third and fourth floors.

back to bed, he said. The sheriff has an apartment on the fourth floor of the courthouse.

The three men used tiny pieces of tin foil from cigarette packages to hide their faces from the sheriff.

"The way the foil was placed it would have been almost impossible to spot. It blends in with the silver paint," the sheriff said.

The sheriff called a shake-down search of the jail early Friday. The working tools were in his cell, under a shower stall in the cell.

Damage To Home Caused By Fire

Extension heat, smoke and water damage was done to a home at 730 Grant Ave. in a fire of undetermined origin Friday afternoon.

Twin Falls firemen said the home owned and occupied by Mr. and Mrs. David McAdams and family, caught fire about 1:30 p.m. Saturday. The fire was covered burning in an upstairs bedroom, caused by one of the McAdams children.

Correction

The information on the fire in Thursday's Times-News stated the vehicle was owned by Evelyn Hoffman.

Minidoka Advised To Ignore Bill 304

The bill violates both the U.S. and state constitutions, according to the county attorney.

The county budget was fully set prior to the enactment of the bill last April 7 by Mr. Chisholm. The attorney said adding the budget is a contract legally binding the commission.

The county commissioners, taxpayers and citizens of the county since no objections were raised to commissioners at the county budget hearing last February.

Downtown 'Facelifting' Kindles Memories

Twin Falls is gradually getting a new face, but the old isn't being forgotten. The remodeling work goes on at the Hudson-Crowley building on Main Avenue South, people remember the turn of the century building. They are so sure that they are all buildings that are so much a part of the pioneer past of Twin Falls, local historians reported. The first downtown landmark to go when the facelifting started last year was the Perrine Hotel. Now the Bank of Idaho is being remodeled. The building was owned and developed by the McCracken Investment Co., headed by W. S. McCracken. A bank used to operate in the building that now houses Alexander's Clothing Store. According to Harry Eaton, president of the Twin Falls Bank and Trust.

file said the bank, owned by Falls, C. O. Andersons moved into the building and it was followed by Skaggs and in 1943 by Mr. Hudson. Although not the oldest building in downtown, the Hudson-Crowley building is one of the oldest and part of the history of Twin Falls. It was pointed out that the building was one of the first in a new Twin Falls and now the building is one of the first to be remodeled in line with the coming new look of downtown Twin Falls.

Field Day Set Friday At Tetonia

BURLEY — A Field Day at the Tetonia Branch Experiment Station is being planned for Friday, July 18. The day-long field tours to begin at 10 a.m. July 18, announces J. Wayne Cole, Cassia County Agent.

During these field tours, specialists will discuss their work and distribute summaries of their projects. Discussing their work will be Dr. Don Sunderman, vegetable specialist; W. A. Thieszen, extension soils specialist; Dr. Dick Ohms, extension potato specialist; Truman Massey, Snake River Soil and Water Conservation Station; Dr. Warren Pope, University of Idaho, Moscow, and Bruce McCallister, Tetonia Branch Experiment Station.

Next door, across the street, is the Bank and Trust building, dedicated Labor Day of 1910. The building now being remodeled in that block, the Hudson-Crowley building, went up in 1910. Now the top two floors are being removed. A roof will be put over the top of the main floor and a new face will be put on the building. The bricks are being saved and will be used in the new downtown, keeping alive the historic tradition of the city, says Hudson, a downtown business man.

Three stories tall, it housed the first Elks Club in Twin Falls. C. O. Andersons moved into the building and it was followed by Skaggs and in 1943 by Mr. Hudson.

Malta Sagebrush Spray Project Said Completed

MALTA — Aerial spraying of 1,300 acres in the Malta District, Ratt River Division of the southwest National Forest was completed this week. Ranger Frank McElwain said Friday.

He said the spray program was aimed at sagebrush control and consisted of hot-spot spraying of 2-4-D and dieldrin oil directly on the plants. Contract for the spray work was held by Vern Haney as pilot. Joe Clements, Twin Falls petroleum products distributor contracted for the spraying.

Mr. McElwain said about 23 gallons of oil and one-half gallon of dieldrin were used per acre. Aerial work was on two days in July. Spraying work began Tuesday morning and was completed Thursday night. Only about eight hours of actual flying time was required but Mr. McElwain said it was necessary to wait for ideal wind and range conditions.

Elevation of the area covered is between 8,500 and 9,500 feet, he said, which made wind conditions a problem. While this is a suitable late July spray, the high elevation range is well behind conditions at lower elevations, making it possible to spray successfully at this time of year, he said.

Ron Walters, assistant range conservationist, was in charge of the spray project.

SPACE DISPLAY to go on exhibit at Lywood Shopping Center Wednesday will feature a replica of a wingless "lifting body," shown at right, which will permit astronauts to re-enter the earth's atmosphere and land their spacecraft like a conventional aircraft at standard airports. At left is a hollowed-out Titan missile shell which houses various displays of space equipment, including astronaut's food, navigating equipment, a fuel cell and rocket thrusters.

INSIDE AIR FORCE space exhibit to appear in Twin Falls next Wednesday is a wide collection of space artifacts, including samples of space food and a drinking-water generating fuel-cell and a tiny space engine weighing less than one pound. The display will be at the Twin Falls shopping center from Wednesday through Saturday.

Space Display To Visit Twin Falls

Area residents will get a chance to "step into space" when the newest U. S. Air Force space exhibit arrives in Twin Falls Wednesday.

The three-part exhibit, which will be displayed through Saturday at the Lywood Shopping Center, will include an exhibit of space equipment housed inside a hollowed-out Titan missile shell, a wingless "lifting body," and a replica of the Air Force's most powerful space booster, the Titan-III.

The display is sponsored jointly by VFW Post 2138 in cooperation with the Air Force.

The space exhibit, shown from 10 a. m. to 6 p. m., will feature samples of space food used by astronauts, space tools used to repair a spacecraft in orbit, a fuel cell providing electricity and drinking water and navigational instruments.

One display shows a "resistor jet thruster," a miniature engine weighing less than a pound, used to propel satellites after they reach space.

The wingless lifting body that derives aerodynamic lift from its own shape is one promising prospect for future earth-orbit shuttlecraft. A full-size model depicting this concept is included in the exhibit.

The lifting body craft would be far more versatile than the capsule type used in present space flights. According to the Air Force literature, lifting-body space pilots would be capable of considerable maneuverability during re-entry and could make airplane type landings at any of several alternate landing sites. In addition, the craft could be used more than once, thus cutting space activity costs.

A similar lifting body, the X24, is being readied for testing by the Air Force.

The one-third scale model of the Titan III booster on display gives a clear visual picture of the giant booster. The Titan booster is taller than a 12-story building and six times more powerful than the Atlas rocket which carried the Mercury 2.5 million pounds of thrust, can hurtle more than 10 tons into a precise 115 mile high orbit.

Peace Corps To Administer Test

Peace Corps placement tests will be given at 1:30 p. m. July 19 at the civil service room of the Twin Falls Post Office for Magic Valley residents.

The Peace Corps uses the placement test to determine how an applicant can best serve overseas. The test measures general aptitude and the ability to learn a language, the education of achievement. The test requires no preparation and is non-competitive and an applicant can retake the test as often as desired.

Persons interested in serving with the Peace Corps must fill out an application, if they have not already done so, and present it to the tester before the test.

Application forms are available from post offices or from the Peace Corps in Washington, D.C. 20525.

Four Youths Are Hurt In Burley Crash

RUPERT — Four Mini-Caslin residents were seriously injured early Saturday morning when the car in which they were riding overturned end over end three times near Burley.

State patrolman Bob Brown said Royal Thompson, 18, Gary Critchfield, 19, and Max Glinesman, 21, all Burley, and Dale Holsinger, 23, Rupert, were thrown from a 1965 Mustang when the Thompson youth, who was driving, failed to negotiate a curve five miles west of Burley.

The car was headed east and went over the shoulder, hit a highway and then flew through the air for 65 feet before flipping end over end three times. Patrolman Brown said the car traveled 400 feet after leaving the highway.

Investigation is continuing. The patrolman said he has been unable to learn any details of the one-car accident because the boys are all under 21. The crash occurred about 3:30 a. m.

Jamboree

SHOSHONE — Lovers of fiddlers music were gathering here Sunday morning for the annual Oldtime Fiddlers Jamboree to be held all day today in Mary L. Gooding park.

Some 50 musicians, plus the usual large crowd, is expected. The event is sponsored by the Shoshone Chamber of Commerce, Marnie Shaw, Corral, is in charge of music.

Jackpot Airport Bid Opening Set Aug. 1 In Elko

JACKPOT, Nev. — Elko County Commissioners, acting as the Jackpot town board, will open bids for improvements at the Jackpot Airport at 3 p. m. Aug. 1 in the Elko County Courthouse, Elko.

The bids will be for the base treatment, surfacing and sealing of facilities at the airport. The work to be done consists of runway, taxi-strip and parking apron improvements.

Bids received will be publicly opened and read.

Faculty Still Has Four Vacancies

Trustees of Twin Falls School District No. 411 will review a batch of applications during their regular meeting Monday night.

J. T. Anderson, business manager, said there are still four vacancies to be filled in the Twin Falls school system.

Elmer Sommer, board chairman, said there may be some discussion on the school dress and morals code. He said, however, the board still is studying the matter and no final decision will be made until a later date.

Mr. Sommer said most of the business will be routine.

Death Said Due To Heart Attack

The death of Eldon C. Miller, 51, Idahoan, died of a heart attack, Cloyd Edwards, Twin Falls County coroner, reported Saturday.

It was reported Tuesday Mr. Miller was struck by lightning while working on a power line while working for Peter Kiewit Construction Co. in the area.

He was pronounced dead on arrival at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital that day by Mr. Edwards.

The body has been taken to Pocatello for funeral arrangements.

T. F. Girl Chosen For Training

Patty E. Hackett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hackett, 835 Fairway Drive, has been selected to attend the mathematics summer science training program Monday through Aug. 15 at Utah State University.

She is one of 38 high-ability high school seniors from throughout the nation participating.

Students from 21 states are taking part in the program, which is supported by a $14,000 grant from the National Science Foundation. The purpose is to augment and broaden the mathematics and science training of these capable students, according to Dr. Lawrence O. Condon, associate professor of mathematics at USU and director of the program.

Hansen Cautions Prospecting May Destroy Scenery

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The scenic attraction of Stanley Basin and the White Cloud Mountains is "threatened with destruction" by billboards and White Sulphur prospecting, Rep. Orval Hansen, R-Idaho, told a House subcommittee.

Hansen said this week, "The public interest in preserving the unique scenic and recreational values in this area is of paramount concern in Idaho."

His testimony supported a House bill to create the Sawtooth National Recreation Area. Hansen said the bill "represents the collective effort of many persons who want the Valley floor and the peaks of the Sawtooth and White Sulphur prospecting, Rep. Orval Hansen, R-Idaho, told a House subcommittee.

Young Doctors Voice Preference For Slum Service Over Army Duty

By GLORIA WOLFORD
United Press International

Many young doctors and medical students agree they would rather be drafted into slums than into the armed forces, a UPI survey indicated Saturday.

Dr. Roger O. Egeberg, soon to become the nation's top official of the American Medical Association, said "it is just that—with some doctors, many of whom are required to go into the armed services, spending 10 or 12 years in school."

"I think most of us would rather work in a ghetto than in the Army," said John Young, a senior at Northwestern University Medical School.

"Not because we don't want to go into the Army—which is a relatively easy service—but because we want to do something more," Army bases, he said, are usually overstaffed.

After Egeberg announced his proposal before a Senate Labor Committee this week, the University of Chicago posted a questionnaire to 100 of its medical students to get their views.

Egeberg's plan was favored 30-0.

"I want to go where the need is," he said. Lloyd Dood, 21, of Las Vegas, Nev., a freshman at Baylor Medical School, said "I don't want to go into the Army. I want to go to California. I concur completely."

"I offered a choice between working with the poverty program and serving in the armed forces. I would work with the poverty program," he said.

Under Egeberg's plan, some of the new physicians, chosen by lottery, would donate their services for one year to city slums, Indian reservations or other places where doctors are in need.

"I see this as a step forward in helping our national health," said Richard Wulfsberg, a fourth-year medical student at Southern California. "The only reservation I would have is that it might not provide the teaching aids that a large military hospital might."

"The question is how are you going to get doctors to go where you need them," he said. "You may have to make them."

A 22-year-old student from Birmingham, Ala., agreed. "There should and must be legislation before the doctors will go where they are needed," he said.

Other students, however, said they had planned to go into slum practice anyway.

"I personally plan to enter that type of practice after I get out of medical school anyway," Ed Connelly, 28, of Boston, Mass., a student at Temple Medical School in Philadelphia, said.

"I certainly would be receptive to the idea of alternative to the military service."

"I feel that the draft should be abolished altogether but since that probably won't happen, I'd much rather be drafted into medical work than into the military," David Wren, 26, a student at the University of California Medical Center in San Francisco, said. "Good medical care is something that's urgently needed in minority areas."

Dr. Malcolm L. Peterson, new director of a health research center at Johns Hopkins, expressed concern over the disruption of medical training.

"The present military demand placed on graduates from medical schools have been responsible for disrupting too many careers," Peterson said. "If Egeberg is talking about an alternative to the military service then I think the imposition of a national service commitment upon young physicians would be most proper—allowing for non-interference with post graduate training."

Peterson said military service for young doctors was often "inconsistent with their goals in the service of humanity."

But one student, D. Schavel, of Birmingham, Ala., believes "war is a very good training for a surgeon."

"I don't see how any surgeon could object."

There was one other dissenting voice in a survey of medical students from coast to coast on Egeberg's proposal, Linda Aron, 21, a senior at the University of Iowa. do not want to see the young doctors drafted into the slums or anywhere else.

"I think it might do more good to send out some of the old, fat doctors and let them help a little," she said.

Soviets Expected To Reply On Arms Limitations Parley

WASHINGTON (UPI)—U.S. officials expect the Soviet Union to respond shortly to an American prodding and deliver the Kremlin's answer on when strategic arms limitation talks may begin.

The officials said the answer probably would come through the Soviet embassy in Washington.

Soviet Secretary of State Willyam P. Rogers indicated to U.S. Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin last month that the United States would be ready to take up the issue between July 15 and Aug. 15.

Dobrynin now is in Moscow, where he is believed to have advised Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko on the latter's major policy speech on Thursday.

'Antibodies' May Trigger Overweight

NEW YORK (UPI)—A body chemistry "clue" of human obesity unrelated to over-eating or lack of exercise was detected at the 29th annual meeting of the American Therapeutic Society.

A team of medical scientists gave laboratory and clinical proof that some fat people are victims of having become immune to their own thyroxin rather than of voracious appetites.

Thyroxin is the hormone of the thyroid gland which assists in regulating the metabolism process of the body's food into energy and substances for body repairs.

Plans by way of the blood serum of the sites where it is needed, said Dr. Irving B. Perlstein, the team spokesman.

Rogers indicated to U.S. Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin last month that the United States would be ready to take up the issue between July 15 and Aug. 15.

Dobrynin now is in Moscow, where he is believed to have advised Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko on the latter's major policy speech on Thursday.

Agencies Eye Future Use Of Corps Sites

BOISE (UPI)—Representatives of several state agencies met with the Office of Economic Opportunity Friday to determine a future use for the vacant Job Corps facilities at Kootenai and Mountain Top.

Herb Whitworth, director of the state OEO, said that while a private agency would have to buy the buildings, the state could waive payment and lease the facilities for the upkeep.

The clinical proof was in Perlstein's treatment of a small group of grossly obese patients (body weights, 300-pounds and upward) with chemicals to reduce the transport of thyroxin by blood serum proteins despite the presence of antibodies.

"These patients lost 100 weights of them specifically without resort to starvation diets," he said.

"He said his team was as yet unable to explain to any person's body chemistry could produce antibodies to its own thyroxin. Inbred genetic factors must be at the root of it, he said—and these factors could be triggered by stress."

Whitworth said he had tentatively made a tentative decision on the buildings at the end of July for the agencies to "get together and get a plan whereby they can all cooperate and would not be at an angle for anyone to come up with the funds."

"He said there was no possibility of making an immediate decision on the buildings since there were too many ideas with a lot of finance involved and any probability of financing by any one agency."

South Koreans Kill Infiltrator

SEOUL (UPI)—South Korean border guards killed one of two Communist North Korean intruders Saturday after stalking them for six hours in the western sector of the 151-mile Korean truce front.

A government spokesman said the North Koreans were spotted cutting the wire-fence barrier along the southern edge of the demilitarized zone. A South Korean patrol detected the intruders and opened fire.

Forest Service Will Lower Price In Sale Of Timber

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sens. Frank Church and Len D'Amico announced that the U.S. Forest Service plans to lower the appraised prices of timber sale offerings in national forests to reflect more accurately the current poor lumber and plywood market.

"They said the new action will affect new timber sale offerings, the reoffering of a number of timber sales which resulted in no bids during the last fiscal year and a number of sales originally advertised for bid since this month.

The Idaho Senators said the action does NOT constitute a change in the basic appraisal procedure followed by the Forest Service but rather only a change in the method of updating selling prices of lumber and plywood on which all appraisals are based.

They added that the net result of the new action is to bring about a substantial decrease in the price of timber in a typical

OPINION

QUESTION

For a vacation, would you rather go to the mountains, seashore or travel abroad—and why?

LOCATION

Interviews in this case were taken in the Blue Lakes Shopping Center.

ANSWERS

RUSSELL MCCREA: "It would be a lot more exciting to travel abroad. I've been in the mountains—and would like to do something different."

MRS. HAROLD FLINN: "I prefer to go to the mountains. If I can find a place to park."

SHIRLEY LOCKARD: "Go to the mountains."

ROBERT J. POPE: "I'd like to go to the seashore. I lived in San Francisco for some time and enjoyed it very much."

McCrea Flinn Lockard Pope

DEBI JOHNSON: "I would rather go to the seashore. This is something we can't see or do near here."

ED WORTH: "I would like to spend my vacation at the seashore. It's fascinating to just watch the ocean. There is something intriguing about it."

NORMA GRIFFIN: "I would rather travel abroad. I've been to the mountains and to the ocean, but never abroad. I would like to see how the people in other countries live. I think it broadens one's education to travel."

MARY TOUCHETTE: "I prefer to go to the mountains. I just think they are prettier than anything else."

Dr. Edwin Aldrin To Renew Acquaintance With Space

SPACE CENTER.—Houston (UPI)—"Sooner" after Edwin E. "Buzz" Aldrin was named to the crew of Apollo 11 he called a family meeting.

"I did make a point of getting them all together and explaining this was going to be, because I did want them to remember that particular moment," he recalled later of his session with his wife and children.

But Aldrin could call his home and he is not overly anxious for the public acclaim expected to follow a successful landing on the moon.

"I think this is something that does go along with the mission—that we've been assigned to do. But I'm not convinced that this will be of lasting nature."

Woman Searches For Lost Father In Twin Falls

A SUNRAY, Tex. woman is looking for her father, a man she hasn't seen in 24 years, and she thinks he might be in Twin Falls.

Mrs. Louis Amador wrote a letter to Twin Falls Police Friday, saying she believes her father is in the city.

Her maiden name is Isabel Inez Vaquera and her father's name is Pedro Vaquera. She enclosed a snap shot of her father, taken in uniform during World War II.

A quick check in the city directory and the telephone book reveals no one of that name living in Twin Falls. Officers are now conducting a more intensive investigation.

Anyone knowing the whereabouts of Mr. Vaquera is urged to contact the police station or write to Mrs. Amador in care of the sheriff at Sunray.

Second Doctor Joins Staff At Blaine County Hospital

HAILEY — After five years of operation as a "one-man" hospital, the Blaine County Hospital now has another doctor.

Dr. Robert A. Gwinner, who has practiced in Toledo, Ohio since 1959, has joined the hospital staff, reports Dr. Alden M. Packer, who has been the only resident physician since the hospital opened in 1964.

Dr. Packer said the hospital has long needed another doctor. The new physician is a native of Denver, Ohio, and received his B.S. degree in 1959 and his M.D. and there is a full staff of degree in 1963 from Ohio State Medical school. A Navy veteran of World War II, he served in destroyers in both the Atlantic and Pacific from the time he enlisted in 1941 until his discharge in 1946.

He enrolled at Ohio State University upon leaving the service and was active in football. For 10 years he served as team doctor for the Toledo Central Catholic high school.

Mrs. Jessie Reynolds is administrator of the Blaine hospital, which has 15 beds. Duane Benz is laboratory technician, D. A. degree in 1959 and his M.D. and there is a full staff of degree in 1963 from Ohio State

A NEW DOCTOR, Dr. Robert A. Gwinner, left, has joined the staff of Blaine County Hospital at Hailey, which has long had only Dr. Alden M. Packer, Dr. Packer, who has recovered from a heart attack earlier this year, said the hospital has long needed the services of two doctors.

Final Meetings On Idaho Highways Set

Highways department announced the second and final series of meetings designed to study the functional classification of streets and highways in the Gem State will be conducted in August.

Mr. Sheesley also said on July 31 a meeting to outline results of a road classification study would be held in the State Highway Headquarters building in Boise with Ada County and Meridian officials as well as Boise city policy and technical committees to be present. The remainder of local units of road and street government will meet Aug. 19 to discuss the classification of city streets.

Meanwhile, the Department of Highways is preparing a classification study for all city streets, roads and highways within the state. The results will be submitted to local officials for review and approval during the August meetings.

The work of the state highway departments will be coordinated on a national basis by the Bureau of Public Roads and is to be completed by Nov. 1. It is then to be presented to Congress for further study and evaluation.

Two Teachers Are Hired At Hagerman

HAGERMAN — Two new teachers have been hired by the Hagerman school board, Joint School District No. 233.

Supt. Roy Strayser reported Leon Sant, formerly of Wendell and Jerome, has been hired to teach math and science. He will also be assistant coach Benjamin Dunn, Culesac, was hired as head coach for the athletic department. Dunn will also teach math and science.

Sawtooth Fire Crew To Return To Home Forest

Inter Regional fire crew members, based in the Sawtooth National Forest are expected to return sometime Sunday from their first fire trip of the season.

The crew, consisting of 25 fire fighters, mostly college students, will be returning to the Big Smokey north of Fairfield with Bill Williams as crew foreman.

For the past week the crew has been in Arizona working control fires in both the Prescott and Coronado National Forests. Don Hansen, assistant dispatcher for the Sawtooth, said barring additional outbreaks in Arizona, the crew will return Sunday.

New Phones Indicate Growth

The tally of Mountain States Telephone Co. service connections at the Twin Falls Exchange during the first six months of 1969 gives an indication of what areas of the local economy are requiring the most new phone connections.

Of the 748 connections made during the period, the largest segment was personal service connections, which jumped 184. Other segments, listed by the occupation of the connector of the business, making the connection, are:

- Retail and wholesale, 113;
- retired and pension, 80;
- agriculture, 73;
- transportation and communication, 66;
- public administration, 48;
- professional services, 44;
- food processing, 38;
- unemployed, 31;
- construction, 30;
- manufacturing, 26;
- theory, 25;
- students, 9;
- and many others.

According to the telephone company figures, 21 per cent of new customers were from out of state.

Of the total connections, 157 were from out-of-state customers and 591 were from Idaho.

Of the out-of-state customers, all but three had had previous telephone service. Of the in-state customers, 150 had had no previous telephone service.

News Of Record

CASSIA COUNTY
Burley Police Blotter
Edward M. Brown, 2, Route 2, Paul, was cited for an expired driver's license following a car and pickup accident at 4:50 p.m. Thursday at the corner of 11th Street and Oakley Avenue.

Mac Brown was driving a 1965 Ford pickup which skidded 22 feet before colliding with a 1958 Buick driven by Lydia Sierra Barajas, 24, Burley Labor Camp. Mrs. Barajas' vehicle skidded 31 feet before the impact.

The Buick was traveling north on Oakley Avenue, and the Ford was traveling east on 11th Street. Damage was $150 to the Barajas vehicle and $150 to the pickup. Passengers in the Buick were Elda Sierra, 18, and Diana Sierra, 19, both Burley. Mr. Brown was traveling alone.

VFW Post To Erect Peace Memorial

Twin Falls VFW Post 2138 voted to erect a Peace Memorial at Bliss during a regular meeting Thursday.

The memorial will be 50 feet in diameter at the base and approximately 32 feet high with a flag flying above. VFW member Foster Young has offered to furnish land on the main highway overlooking the Snake River.

Construction will start within a week and the memorial will be completed in 12 to 14 months. The memorial will be highlighted by an artificial waterfall dropping from the top point of the structure.

Commander Rny Crandall welcomed four new members who received their obligation during special ceremonies. They are Mr. Young, Bliss, and Holly Walker, Leo Jensen and Jack Alenworth, all Twin Falls.

A report also was given on the "Voice of Democracy" program. The post also discussed the showing of Titan III missile which will be Wednesday at the Lynwood Shopping Center.

The group discussed the project of getting furniture for the High Street School and Toys for Mentally Retarded Children, Nampa.

Commander Crandall said the next meeting will be at 8:30 p.m. July 24 at the Bowldrome.

War Fears, Economic Setback Jolt Mart For Sharp Losses

NEW YORK (UPI) — News on the international and domestic fronts was depressing and jolted stock prices down in one of the sharpest losses of the year.

Growing fears about the Middle East situation, touched off by remarks of U.N. Secretary General Thant and about the domestic economy indicated by remarks of Treasury Secretary David M. Kennedy, were the major depressants.

The market turned down on each of the first four days, but finished a mixed day Friday. What analysts described as a technical reaction to the prolonged slide during which many issues became overvalued.

Analysts noted investor despondency over the market's action for the week—virtually ended the chance of a "summer rally" which had appeared promising in the first week of the month.

spired with turnover remaining under 10,000,000 shares for the first time since rising above this level for the first two days. It was one of the slowest weeks this year. Some analysts noted investor despondency over the market's action for the week—virtually ended the chance of a "summer rally" which had appeared promising in the first week of the month.

A CHECK FOR $175 is presented to Marsha Lambert, seated, chairman of the Twin Falls chapter of the Young Americans for Freedom. The check is presented by Mrs. Donna Mauldin. The money was raised from a dance review held in May at the Donna Mauldin Dance Studio. Miss Lambert said the money will be used to purchase essays on liberty. The essays will then be donated to area high schools. Young Americans for Freedom are opposed to unrest in American college and high schools. There are about 20 students in the Twin Falls chapter. Students who belong, fight unrest through education, according to Miss Lambert.

Man Rides Conveyor, Breaks Leg

BUHL — Roger Griffith, 21, is in fairly good condition at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital with a broken leg suffered in a farm accident south of here Friday.

He got his leg caught in a conveyor belt and it took workers about 45 minutes to free him, it was reported.

T. M. (Bus) Kendrick, Twin Falls, county sheriff's deputy who investigated, said Mr. Griffith had been loading sacks of grain onto the belt. The belt led into a hay-loft at the Jim Shields ranch.

"Apparently he rode up on the belt and when it came to the end he got his leg caught and it went under and into a roller, breaking it between the ankle and the knee," Deputy Kendrick said.

WENDELL — Members of the Wendell High School class of 1933 held its 36-year reunion with 17 members and their families attending.

The picnic was to be held in the Wendell City Park but members were driven into the basement of the Masonic temple because of the rain.

It was reported five of the 42 class members are deceased. Martin Mink, Dallas Hartwell, Jim Higson and Harry Foote were killed during World War II and Clifford Wray was killed in an auto accident in October, 1968.

Mrs. Tom Frith and Mrs. Gray Zolnager were chairmen of arrangements.

Officials Explain New Gem License Plate System

Idaho residents can begin purchasing new license plate stickers Oct. 1. Lt. Dean Bennett, head of Idaho State Police District 4, said today.

The stickers purchased between Oct. 1 and Dec. 31 will be effective from 6 to 17 months, depending on the date of purchase.

According to the staggered system, Lt. Bennett said, one-tenth of all passenger and pickup truck licenses will expire the last day of each calendar month, excluding November and December.

Clifford Thompson, Twin Falls County assessor, whose office handles license sales in the county, said he had received so little information from the state regarding the staggered system, he had no comment about the worth of the program, enacted by the last legislature.

He did say, however, he probably will need to add one full-time employee in the license plate bureau. Normally, extra part-time employees are kept only through the December and January rush period, Mr. Thompson said.

If new stickers are purchased in October, they don't begin effective until Jan. 1, 1970, Lt. Bennett said, and will be valid for the prorated period for which they are purchased.

The prorated license fee is based on the last number on purchasers' license plates. Numbers ending in 6 expire

June, 1970; in 7, July, 1970; in 8, Aug., 1970; in 9, Sept., 1970; in 0, Oct., 1970; in 1, Jan., 1971; in 2, Feb., 1971; in 3, March, 1971; in 4, April, 1971; and in 5, May, 1971.

According to this system, licenses ending in 6 are purchased during the coming period for only six months, and those ending in 5 are purchased for 17 months. After this first purchase, the plate sales will be in the staggered system and will be purchased for the usual 12-month period.

According to the prorated fee structure during the first purchasing period, licenses are paid for at a per-monthly rate, ranging from the six month's minimum to 17 months maximum.

Vehicle models from 1968-1971, will cost $1.50 per month; to license models 1967-1966, $1.25 per month; models 1965 - 1964, $1.00 per month; models 1963-1962, 80 cents per month; and models 1961 and older, 60 cents per month.

The plates purchased in 1968 will be kept for five years, until four stickers are attached to them. Stickers for 1970 will have red letters and a silver white background.

Only passenger cars and pickup trucks under 8,000 pounds gross weight will be included in the staggered system. All other licenses, such as trailers, motorcycles, buses, cabs, hearses, ambulances and special licenses, such as Air National Guard, National Guard and radio amateurs will be issued on the calendar year.

People owning more than one vehicle will be able to purchase stickers for all of them at the same time, Lt. Bennett said, and will be purchased on the prorated fee.

Lt. Bennett said he anticipates some enforcement problems during the first purchasing period, but does not expect the situation will continue, as the public becomes educated on the new process.

Jacklin Becomes First Briton To Win British Golf Open In 18 Years

LYTHAM, St. Annes, England (UPI)—England's Tony Jacklin, 25, won the British Open golf tournament today, becoming the first Briton to win the title since 1951.

Sports FROM ALL ANGLES

Things are starting to line out on the Magic Valley Cowboys now and there are some points to this team that we haven't seen before.

By Larry Hovey
The 25-year-old Jacklin, who had never before distinguished himself on the pro golf circuit, surprised a pressure-packed final round showdown with Charles by a 72 and became the first Englishman since Max Faulstich in 1951 to win Britain's most-prized golf title.

Not since England's Roger Bannister became the first person to run the mile under four minutes in 1954 did an Englishman create as much excitement as Jacklin did on the final round. With the partisan crowd screaming with delight, every time he hit the ball, Jacklin battled Charles head-to-head down the final 18 holes and refused to buckle under the tremendous pressure.

In fact, it was Charles who became the more unnerved on the final holes as he failed to take advantage of his lead. Jacklin on both the 15th and 16th holes.

Coming to the final hole, Jacklin who had a two-stroke lead over Charles and Ireland's Christy O'Connor after 54 holes, still had two strokes against Charles. The 16th hole, New Zealand then took the pressure off Jacklin when he missed a 45-foot putt for a birdie on the final hole.

American with a 69 that left him eight strokes behind Jacklin with 288.

Harmon Pool Hosts T.F. 'B' Meet

Twin Falls B swim squad placed 18 entrants into the state qualifying finals Saturday afternoon while Jerome and Rupert each placed four in the Twin Falls Open B meet at Hatfield.

These 23 are not listed in the actual meet results, as swimmers who make a time of 23 minutes or better in the qualifying meet are automatically eliminated from placing in the final standings in their qualifying event.

At one point when I missed the cut five times in six weeks claiming a 30-30 record. I found myself wondering if I was wasting my time. But I know I was just gaining experience necessary to win this championship," he added.

Saints Sign Temperamental Looney

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—Joe Don Looney, the temperamental running back who has ledged with coaches through college and three professional football teams, has signed with the New Orleans Saints, it was announced Saturday.

Looney has been the center of controversy since former coach Bud Wilkinson kicked him off the Oklahoma team following his loss to Texas in the Cotton Bowl in 1963.

Looney has been considered one of the most powerful running backs to ever carry a football and an excellent punter, but he has never quite reached his potential.

Question: What are you buying today at 1962 prices?

ANSWER: ELECTRIC SERVICE from Idaho Power

Question: How can this be true with the effect of inflation? Answer: It can't continue much longer. Despite stringent economies and modern automated equipment, inflation hits us in the solar plexus just as it does every other business — every individual.

For example — since 1962, our taxes are up 39%; our operating wages in total are up 34%; our cost of materials and supplies is up 14%; cost of borrowed money is up over 80%.

Giesler Has No-Hitter In T.F. Sweep

EDEN — John Giesler, making only his second start of the season, twirled a no-hitter at the Magic Valley high school Friday night at Twin Falls.

In the first game Mike Chandler threw a three-hitter and whiffed nine as Twin Falls used a combination of timely hitting, walks and Valley errors to put the game out of reach early.

Looney played a year on the Colt specialty squads before being sent to Detroit in a trade that gave the Colts linbacker Dennis Gausz.

Looney has been considered one of the most powerful running backs to ever carry a football and an excellent punter, but he has never quite reached his potential.

Salt Lake City Scores 5 Unearned Runs In Ninth To Topple Cowboys 8-4

Magic Valley's infield dissolved with two out in the ninth inning Saturday night, preventing the Salt Lake City Bees with five unearned runs, an 8-4 victory and a return to the Pioneer League lead. The Cowboys, who came within one strike of winning it 4-3, lost a six-game winning streak and sole possession of the league lead, earned Friday night at a double from behind, ninth inning 13-11 decision over Idaho Falls.

Feldman Cops Early Lead In State Amateur

IDAHO FALLS (UPI)—Dave Feldman, Idaho Falls, took the first-round lead Saturday in the 1969 amateur golf tournament held at the Idaho Falls Pinecrest Golf Course. Feldman, who is on a golf scholarship at the University of Utah, shot a four-over-par 74. This, combined with his qualifying round, gives him a total of 142. Joe Marino Jr., Idaho Falls, is close behind Feldman with a 144 and defending champion Mike Sweetser of Boise trailed in a 79 Saturday to give him a total of 145. Dale Peterson of Nampa is at 146 and G. Hastings of Payette is at 147. The final round will be played Sunday.

Santorini Hurls Padres Over Atlanta

SAN DIEGO (UPI)—Right-hander Al Santorini drafted by San Diego at Atlanta last Friday night, started with his former teammates and, with the help of home runs by Bobby Pena and Ivan Morrell, pitched the Padres to a 7-5 victory over the Braves. The win was Santorini's first after six straight defeats and put his record at 4-8. The Padres snapped a five-game losing streak. Santorini needed help from reliever Frank Robinson, who came in in the eighth inning when the Braves scored three runs to narrow the San Diego lead to 6-5, and Billy McCall, who replaced Reberger in the ninth with one out and the tying run on base.

Junior Net Winner

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI)—Sixth-seeded Harold Solomon of Silver Springs, Md., charged back from a near defeat Saturday to show fourth-seeded Steven Kravitz of Baltimore, Md., 3-6, 7-5, 6-1. In the semifinals of the U. S. Junior Clay Court tennis championships.

MAKING THE STRIKE: In San Francisco Giant Willie McCovey, but Los Angeles Dodger's (left) Willie Davis, leading first base safely during the third inning of a game at Dodger Stadium.

Salt Lake scored in the second when Randy Elliott homered after Gary Law had walked. The third when Rowland Houston doubled and rode in on Jim Napolitano's single. Three innings later, Houston scored on a single walk and came home on Blanks' double. Magic Valley took the lead on a three-straight-inning seventh, Wilson opening with a single and taking third when Houston doubled again. John Myers played error with a hit and Houston scored on an error. Friday night, Adkinson made his first appearance in a professional game, drilled a three-run homer in the bottom of the ninth to lift the Cowboys past Idaho Falls. That blow counted as the final out of the game. Salt Lake scored with Idaho Falls scoring 39 and not winning a game.

Bell, Dehoney Earn Berths At Provo

PROVO, Utah (UPI)—The BYU Dolphins captured team honors here Saturday night at the Intermountain AAU Junior Olympic Swimming and Diving Championships. Twin Falls swimmers earned spots in the regional meet included Chris Bell, who was also named Most Outstanding swimmer in his age, 9-10 bracket, and Frank Dehoney, who earned a berth in the freestyle. Officials said the meet drew over 1,000 individual entries from Utah and Idaho, who vied for positions at the regional AAU meet in Albuquerque, N. M., during the middle of August. Some 73 Intermountain records were shattered and three were tied during competition at the Brigham Young University.

Cubs Edge Ogden In 13 Innings

CALDWELL (UPI)—Joe Urbanovich lined a two-out base hit in the eighth inning to give the Ogden Dodgers a 4-3 victory over the Ogden Dodgers in a tight Pioneer League game. Neither team had scored from the seventh inning until the 13th when Caldwell tied the game with a walk-off home run by Bill North and Rufus Holton. Left-hander John Meyer gave Ogden only one hit in the last six innings to pick up the victory as the Cubs pitcher, Al Birdsall, suffered the loss. In the 13th inning Ogden broke the gates when Phil Reser and North set the stage for Urbanovich. Ogden led off with a three-run lead in the sixth on a walk, a double by Chris Manning and a single by Terry McDermott. However, Caldwell tied it up in the seventh. Caldwell opened the game scoring with a run in the third on singles by North, Steve Cuckette and Holton.

Three T.F. Men Grab National Golf Spots

Three Twin Falls youngsters, headed by Jeff Thomson, won berths in the national pro-amx tournament during a two-day competition at Boise. Thomson, who will be a junior at Twin Falls High School this fall, wound up with a 140 total, shooting 74-75 on the Crane Creek course. Two strokes behind him was Larry Malone, who will be a Bruin senior this fall, and brother Curt Thomson carded a 152 for fourth place. Malone was tied for second by Jeff Jernam of Pocatello. Also qualifying for state were Aug. 1-3. Upon arrival they will be assigned to play with a touring pro and, if they make the cut after the second round, will play the final two days with one of the game's big name players. # Special Concert To Honor Band Members

A special concert honoring old time members of the Twin Falls Band will be held at the City Park band shell July 24. Four active members of the band have nearly 50 years of experience, and the musical talents of retired members reach back to the turn of the century. The band will be 60 years old July 24, and to commemorate the event all active and retired old time members of the band will be honored.

The concert starts at 8 p.m. During the 60 years, 176 sounds of marches and overtures have spread out on the summer nights, and the time span between horse and buggy and a mangled orb of the moon has been crossed.

Del Slaughter, music director for the Twin Falls school system, is the director of the present city band. But there have been others.

Some old timers remember the band back in 1909. Old timers like J. G. (Jack) Thorpe. "We had a director then. Heck of a nice guy—but this music was slower than the second coming. We finally got the pace livened up a little later on and we used to kick out real good music. Live stuff, you know!"

In 1911 members of the band revolted. They didn't like their bandstand, and in a fit of civic pride tore it down. They then built another.

The floor in the present band shell is made from beams of the bandstand that group built back in 1911.

Doner Bertsch, a member of the band for 40 years, remembers some of the old days, too. "We worked on a farm then. We worked right up 'til 6:30 every night except Thursday. My dad would quit work at 5 p.m. and we'd come four miles into town to listen to the band. I know as a kid I wanted to play in that band."

Even today, in this age of television, evening baseball games and more leisure and more things to do, there is always a good crowd in the City Park on Thursday nights during the summer.

Chamber of Commerce officials, organizing this 60th anniversary concert, expect a large turnout July 24.

Petitioners Ask Tribunal To Delay El Paso Gas Order

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Requests continue to pour into the Supreme Court to delay its June 16 order to El Paso Natural Gas Co. to cut away the Pacific Northwest Pipeline Corp. properties it owns.

The court is in summer recess, but a single judge can act on such petitions meanwhile. However, the justices have refused to make such a move and the rehearing petition apparently will have to wait until the court reconvenes Oct. 6.

The Supreme Court ruled that El Paso must sell its Northwest properties outright to a new owner because its 1956 merger with Pacific Northwest threatened monopoly and was illegal.

Joint and unsuccessful pleas were made Thursday by one group made up of Cascade Natural Gas Corp., Intermountain Gas Co., Washington Water Power Co., and Washington Natural Gas Co., and another group formed of Arizona Corporation Commission, Arizona Public Service Co., and Tucson Gas and Electric Co.

Justice Hugo B. Black turned down the requests.

Friday, El Paso itself and another group asked for the delay. The latter group included the Utah Public Utilities Commission, the Public Utilities Commission of Oregon, and the Washington Utilities and Transportation Commission. Black turned them down, too.

One petition before the court asserted that El Paso should be allowed to go ahead with its previous plans, blocked by court ruling, to sell Pacific Northwest to Colorado Interstate Gas Co.

Otherwise, it was asserted, the public will suffer and pay more as many potential customers are denied gas service.

El Paso Natural Gas contended it had not been given a full hearing on the merits of the case. The court acted on petitions from people not even parties to the original case.

El Paso said it should give El Paso another day in court.

The Justice Department told the court Thursday that its decision will cause gas rates to rise by as much as 8 per cent unless the ruling is changed.

Other recent petitions for rehearing have come from San Southern California Gas Co., South Counties Gas Co. of California, and Electric Gas and Electric Co., forming the State of California, Pacific Gas and Electric Co., and Southern California Edison Co.

Jerome Corner Gets New Clock

By COLLEEN ALBERDI, Times-News Correspondent

JEROME — The northeast corner of Main Street and Lincoln Avenue was modernized this week when the First Security Bank of Jerome replaced the unique four sided clock with a new clock and sign.

The old clock has served Jerome since 1933, but reportedly it is beyond repair. Six years seem like a short life span for a clock such as this one, but it served the Pacific branch of First Security for nine years before Jerome acquired it.

The clock gave the time from four different directions. Each face represented a separate clock — all working inside one unit. The clock was originally purchased from McClinck Safe and Lock Co. for more than $1,000 and was at that time placed on the Poentello branch.

According to C. R. N. Shepherd, bank manager, the clock will be "permanently retired."

It was returned to Salt Lake City on the Express Star Co. truck and will probably be salvaged for any usable parts.

Health Board Trims Budget To Meet Legislative Level

BOISE (UPI) — The State Board of Health, working with its first jump-sum appropriation budget, has trimmed the $31.8 million in requests down to the $25.7 million allotted by the legislature.

Meeting in special session, the board appropriated the funds to divisions in the department on a lump-sum basis, hoping for more flexibility of programming.

The major divisions in the department will be allowed to set their own goals, and develop the budgets and action plans under their jurisdiction.

The $25.7 million appropriation was broken down to $14 million for administration, $12 million for preventive medicine, including the Idaho Tuberculosis Hospital, $0.2 million for mental retardation and child development, $665,000 for the laboratory division, $875,000 for continuing and continuing $440,000 for youth rehabilitation; $1.8 million for child health; $201,000 for adult health and health facilities; $2 million for mental health; and $2.7 million for local health departments.

Dr. Merrill Sharp, Poentello, said he wanted to make it clear. "We don't have more money. We have less than we need, but we have more flexibility."

Alaskan Land Sale May Set New Record For Oil Industry

JUNEAU, Alaska (UPI) — Alasko will offer 47,000 acres of land totaling 47,000 acres on Sept. 11 in what is expected to be one of the largest lease sales in oil industry history.

The land to be offered for lease is about one-third of the 1.2 million acres of unleased North Slope land the state holds. Most of the land to be leased will be offshore with only a few offshore tracts to be offered.

Commissioner of Natural Resources Thomas E. Kelly also said that the proceeds for the lease sale will remain at 20 per cent as in previous sales. The state had been considering requiring a full payment of the bid. However, successful bidders will be required to pay the remaining 80 per cent within 30-15 days, considerably less time than the 45 days allowed in previous sales.

Kelly also said a proposed sliding bid plan would not be in effect for the Sept. 11 sale. The sliding bid arrangement would allow an oil company to be able to add money from unsuccessful bids to its bid for another tract Saturday.

Kelly said the state is with holding about two-thirds of its North Slope land and is not conducting a checkered bidding. In which the seller holds back key acreage in order to sell it at higher prices if oil strikes are made on adjoining land, is unpopular with the oil industry.

The lease sale is expected to bring in several hundred million dollars. Oil industry officials say they are only assuming a $1.5 billion but that figure was assumed on the premise the state would lease all the North Slope land.

If plans of early-day land developers of Southern Idaho had materialized, many towns and small cities would dot the area, and one of them would be Clover.

As developers planned their sale of irrigated land, they made preparations to serve the new residents with all necessary facilities and services on the particular tract they were developing.

As a result, records in the Twin Falls County Recorder's office contain plans of such townsites as Hollister, Berger, Amsterdam and many others.

In Clover they went a bit farther. Developed by the High Line Seed Company Farms, the Clover tract included a townsite in which streets were not only platted, but named, and large rocks, some of them still resting in fields or near fence lines, were used as sign posts.

Developers of the Clover area planned for a hotel, which the town did have, a bank, drug store, blacksmith shop, church, school and a few business establishments.

For a town that started out to have a fully developed main street and ended up with a church that is its landmark for a wide area, Clover isn't making apologies to anyone.

Like many early developments, the original intent of a rich farm area was realized, but transportation facilities improved and the already established towns of Twin Falls and Dubl grew to encompass the needs of surrounding areas.

Hotels in the small communities were soon empty or converted to other uses.

You couldn't say Clover is a ghost town, it just never was. Some of the early landmarks are still there, while others have disappeared. The old hotel, built

In late 1914 or 1915, was an imposing two-story structure and contained a part of community life until wiped out by fire late one September night. In 1955, Mrs. Laura Jagels, who lives near by reported the fire, but by the time it could be seen the building was lost.

At the time of its demise it was known as the community grocery store and was operated by Don Anderson, now of the King Hill area. The upper portion of the building was used only for living quarters as by that time very few hotels "guess" required housing in Clover.

Articles of Incorporation for the Clover Townsite Co. were filed in Twin Falls County Nov. 13, 1914.

The townsite company was incorporated for $10,000 with plans to have 100 subscribers, each with $100 in stock.

At the time of filing, only Harley J. Hooker, P. D. Wegener and C. M. Smith had paid their $100, but apparently two other shares were collected at the last minute as the names of Robert A. Ljormann and Henry C. Reinke are penciled in on the papers.

Just why nearly all of the early land purchasers of the Clover area were of German descent is not clearly explained, but apparently officials of the High Line Farms had faith in these "frugal" and "hard-working" people and contacted German families of Nebraska, and Missouri.

Nearly all of the early settlers were German, and as a result German was the accepted language even in the school. Minutes of the Trinity Lutheran Church, Clover's dominating feature, were written in German until at least 1923.

In 1910, during a special meeting of the church board following June 2 services, it was unanimously voted to discontinue German language services in view of existing world conditions.

Residents of the area recall there was much unrest preceding

RELIQS OF EARLIER DAYS in Clover include the front steps of the old hotel that burned in 1955. Mrs. Kenneth Howard, present owner of the property, and Ed Jagels stand on the steps. In the background is Mrs. Howard's chicken house, built from the rear portion of the building that escaped the fire. A water wheel, built in 1930 to lift water from the canal to the garden on the Emil Bohr property is still in relatively sound condition, notes Mr. Jagels. Center right is the old land office, also on the Bohr farm. Not only did the now unused building serve as headquarters for land sales, but it housed as many as four to five families in its two rooms. Early settlers were promised housing until their homes could be built, and often this meant crowding into the two rooms and office into several other pioneer families. At right is the bridge and what was once a roadway leading into the original school grounds. Now a pasture, the site is located a short distance north of the Clover Trinity Lutheran Church.

Teaching Sagebrush Style In 1912

Even before there was a community of Clover, in 1912, a young girl who had just finished a two-year normal school education and passed a test required for school teaching in Iowa came to Idaho for a visit.

She had graduated from high school at the age of 18 and was still somewhat young to assume the "responsibilities" of teaching eight grades, especially since some of the students were a year or two her senior.

But Ella Bowen spent the winter of 1912 as the school teacher for what is now the Clover area, in the west end of Twin Falls County.

"It was an experience I would not have missed for anything, but certainly one I would never be able to face up to again," she said of her one-year Idaho teaching career.

Now Mrs. William Chase, she is able to laugh about the experiences of 57 years ago although they seem a bit grim.

The school house, built along the design of a railroad box car, was a tiny one-room frame structure with the proverbial pot-bellied stove and a wood pile for heat.

It was located near a development of early-day land settlers, mostly of Mormon religion who were attempting to clear sagebrush from land in the area.

Located just southeast of the present Clover farm area, the settlement was known only as the "pump plant."

Many years later the little building was moved from its original site to a nearby farm and until a few years ago at any rate, was still being used as a farm building near the original site.

The young Iowa resident had come to Twin Falls to visit an uncle, M. C. Kappeler and his family. The school for the Clover area was completed about the middle of September of 1912 and a teacher hired for the year could stand the conditions no more than a week and left.

Somehow they learned of Miss Bowen's presence and persuaded her to replace the young teacher who had given up. She did just that and determined not to give up, made friends with her 20 students and had no difficulties with them.

George McGregor who resides in Hollister and two Garrison youngsters are among the only students she recalls who remained in this area.

Another student, a young Austrian about 20 years of age, and three older than the teacher, had left his native country to avoid being in the army. He enrolled in the school to learn the English language.

"He was much better at arithmetic than I, so actually was quite a help and he diverted many of the dull days as he was quite handsome and interesting," she said.

"I never could have married him. I heard later he had married, was the father of nine children and had proved up on a large amount of land, so apparently did well for himself," Mrs. Chase added.

Living conditions were almost intolerable, Mrs. Chase recalls. She paid $20 a month for board and room that consisted of food that was not too appetizing and a room that was not comfortable.

A Mr. and Mrs. Methven, who were here with some other members of a land clearing crew, also agreed to house another teacher. Mrs. Chase said she moved in with the Methvens in a small shack.

Her room, one of two small cubicles added to the building was much like a closet. Her bed was between two boards between them and a straw mattress.

Coyotes, of which the young teacher was most afraid, would run across the porch at night as did the Methven's three-legged dog.

The different sound made by the three-legged dog, she said, was just the family pet or a wild coyote.

She walked several miles to the school house, taking a lunch box with her and a can of coffee. She was so cold that she was forced to put up with conditions that were the regular weekly trips to Twin Falls to visit her uncle.

The men would draw straws to see who took the school truck to Filer in the lumber wagon. There, I boarded the train and went to Twin Falls to sleep in a clean bed and have some decent food at least for the week end.

There were other good times, however, as she played the depilated organ and one of the cowboys working on the land-clearing crew played the fiddle in the evenings and the group sang popular songs of the day.

"At night she would try to read by candle light as all of the few candle lamps the Methvens had were broken during the winter."

After her year of Idaho teaching she returned to Iowa but she was very homesick for this time for Idaho. She and her family moved to Idaho in 1914 and William Chase, whom she had met at the school, followed her the next year.

They were married a few years later and have since resided at their present home, between Twin Falls and Filer, where she and her family settled.

Pioneering on the farm had its pleasures too, she said. Mr. Chase recalls the family had come to Idaho in an emigrant car, which was an early day cart involving renting a box car from the railroad and moving at emigrant rates to the new land.

"I had to qualify for this land and bring some of their farm machinery. The Bowen family purchased two pieces of farm equipment, necessary to them to be able to use equipment, and were accepted. Their household goods, farm machines and other possessions were placed in the railroad car while they traveled in the passenger cars of the same train."

The Old Oregon Trail crossed the north end of their farm, and in early spring, before planting, tracks can still be traced through the fields, in recent years, Mr. Chase says, it has become almost impossible to detect them, however.

"The family had two small buildings on the bottom end of the farm and general living, and the other divided into bedrooms."

"We had lots of fun in those days," Mr. and Mrs. Chase say of the first difficult years of "proving up on the land," but there was a lot of hard work too.

"It is hard to visualize in today's green farmland valley that early day residents found only sagebrush and dirt."

Mrs. Chase said she often wondered what her early hours as a school teacher were never clean, but looking back she can understand how it was impossible to live in the makeshift building filled with so many people.

TEACHING FOR THE FIRST school was Ella Bowen, now Mrs. William Chase. Younger than at least one of her students, the teacher walked through sagebrush and dust to her one-room school and some 20 students of families attempting to clear land in the Clover area known then as the "pump plant."

Oregon Grants Protection To Steelhead

BY JIM HUMBIRD

THEY'RE FISH GAME. Department of Oregon Steelhead. A point late when the Oregon State Legislature declared steelhead to be a game fish, rather than a food fish, Sunday change in legal philosophy marks the turning point in a long uphill battle sportsmen have waged to stop commercial fishermen from catching steelhead to be sold to canneries and quick-freeze markets.

Steelhead have been recognized as a game fish in the states of Washington and Idaho, but nothing could be done to protect them in Oregon until the state Legislature reversed its stand.

In signing the bill, Gov. Tom McCall issued the following statement: "The fishery is of great importance to the state. It seems to me that legislative intent concerning House Bill 1302 is extremely clear."

It is to be considered a game fish. However, since it does migrate with other species in the river, and the chairman of the continued healthy commercial fisheries, an incidental catch is provided.

The Oregon Fish Commission recognizes the legislative mandate to regulate the commercial seasons on salmon in such a manner as to accomplish the "protection" of the steelhead without crippling our commercial fishing industry.

Commenting on the bill, Fish Commission member Joe Eoff commented: "The commission does support the bill if it passes as proposed for the first time. It would have a management tool it never had before."

Commenting on the bill, Fish Commission member Joe Eoff commented: "The commission does support the bill if it passes as proposed for the first time. It would have a management tool it never had before."

Small spawning runs of the steelhead exist in the lower Columbia River, and 70 percent of the catch during the first eight days made up of steelhead. Of course, the season, set primarily for fall chinook and coho salmon, goes on through September and October, with the "incidental" catch of steelhead dwindling to almost nothing by late fall.

The average annual catch of steelhead at the outlet of the fall chinook seasons between these two years, excluding commercial fishing seasons opening the past few years reduced the catch to about 16,000 steelhead.

"Woodworth explains that the new Oregon law still allows "incidental catches" of steelhead without defining what is allowable. However, there are options for minimizing the incidental steelhead catch, whether or not there is a biological need affecting the future of the species.

Under the proposed legislation, the first time these tools of resource management to reduce the controversial incidental catch of steelhead. The concept is workable as far as the commission is concerned. Should it become law, we will implement its requirements immediately.

"In sum, while the issues have not been resolved to the satisfaction of all concerned, a forward step has been taken. The law now provides that we recognize steelhead as a game fish, and the Fish Commission chairman, Ed Huff, said, had this to say:

The Money Box

BY FRANK SCHELL

From W. K. Jerome, Idaho: I have two coins that I would like you to identify for me. One is a silver dime and the other is a gold coin. Both are very good and I would like to know more about their history. I found them in a box of old coins I inherited from my grandfather. The silver dime is the reverse side of the obverse side of the coin. The gold coin is the reverse side of the obverse side of the coin. I would like to know more about their history. I found them in a box of old coins I inherited from my grandfather.

From Mrs. L. O. Bills, Idaho: I found a $2.00 bill, picture of Jefferson, a Legal Tender note. Does it have any value? Never saw a two dollar bill before. Answer: Until two years ago, the Treasury issued two dollar bills every year. They are no longer made -- but there are thousands of them still out. The value is about 25 cents over face value. Sorry -- they are not scarce at all. I notice you have a postscript. The Roosevelt dime are worth only 10 cents each. The 1920 Mercury dime is worth 30 cents in Fine condition. The 1937 Buffalo nickel is worth only about 15 cents.

From Mrs. F. F. Buhl, Idaho: I am from England and I would like to see my daughter's picture in your column in the local paper. I always carry around a lucky piece, a real rare coin, a commemorative affair or something. It looks like gold or has a gold color. I wonder if you could tell me its value and if any. I might be interested in selling it. Enclosed is a rubbing of the coin. I've just done, otherwise it would have taken a little explaining. It relates to King Edward, the VIIIth, the present Duke of Windsor. Answer: Thank you for writing. I'm sure your inquiry must be the one from our "Wanted."

Book Review

By LARREE CRAWFORD
Twin Falls Public Library

Any avid fan of Art Linkletter's House Party show knows that he is the author of a large number of books. His latest, "Linkletter Down Under," is a humorous account of his adventures in Australia. The author's first business venture in 500,000 acres of rice land at Humpty Doo in Australia's "Top End." Two years later, after he and his fellow investors had prepared themselves for dollars in the project, the land lay in ruins. Their enemies at Humpty Doo were many and varied. Water buffalos trampled through the rice paddies; the workers feared the 20-foot crocodiles that swam in the Alligator River; the biggest aboriginals were the worst; and the weather! For nine months (April to June) the rain fell heavily every day. Then for three months (naturally called "The Wet") it would rain 65 inches. Fifteen inches came down in two days. You can imagine what kind of damage this deluge did to their dams and dikes for the rice fields. Even after the devastating failure of Humpty Doo, Art Linkletter still decided to invest in another Australian enterprise—a 10,000 acre sheep ranch near Esperance in southern Australia. Buying land at Esperance had two strong advantages for Art—It cost only about 50 cents an acre and it was not under a mortgage. They are not more unusual and interesting than the people who live there. All five of her children attended the picnic along with Mrs. Renee has 23 grandchildren, 12 great-grandchildren and 15 great-great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Mae Cooper Renner BURLEY, celebrated her 95th birthday with members of her family at a picnic at Salmon Park. She was born June 13, 1873 at Tonic, Utah, and moved to OAKLEY in 1882 with her parents. The late Mr. and Mrs. Miles McBrine in 1888 she married Joe Cooper of Oakley. Following their marriage, the couple moved to the Basin, near Oakley, where they homesteaded. While living in the Basin, seven children were born including Wesley, Cooper and Wesley Cooper, both still living at Oakley. Don Cooper, a farmer, died in 1912. Mrs. Edna Rose Ingleday in 1915. ## Idaho County Clerks Meet Set In Burley

BURLEY — Cassia and Minidoka County commissioners will host the Idaho Association of Commissioners and Clerks Sept. 23-26 at the Ponderosa Inn. About 250 commissioners, clerks and their wives are expected to attend. Special guests at the planning committee meeting were M. C. Misenheimer, American Falls, or-been-with-egg-toast-and-coffee for 45 cents, while the old standby of hot cakes with ham, bacon or sausage or eggs was 30 cents. Lemonade drinkers can take heart, however, as that drink was 15 cents, not much different from current prices.

Announce Our Annual Storewide July Clearance

We have two storewide clearance sales each year - July and January. During these sales our objective is to move all merchandise that has been in our inventory over 6 months... merchandise that is slightly scratched or shopworn and merchandise where we are overstocked... also odds and ends throughout the store.

This year our markdowns are more generous than usual... WE HAVE MORE MERCHANDISE TO CLEAR THAN AT ANY TIME DURING OUR 23 YEARS OF BUSINESS.

LES HAZEN, our sales manager and buyer, has left for the Summer Furniture Market. He will take advantage of the market specials offered by our many manufacturers. Most orders will be carload or truckload shipments. We don't have long to make room for all of this merchandise in our warehouse and on our sales floors. We invite you in to look at the values we are offering in every department.

July is the time to buy that item for your home.

Clover Community Plans Called For Full Town

 One of the policies of the professional newspaper was to publish not only pictures of the land purchasers, but of the early day homes as they were completed.

Many of the young men of the community later entered the army and fought in World War I. Some of the large, two-story buildings, still recognizable despite the addition of large trees, lawns and some remodeling over the years.

Another, much smaller, building located on the site of the old hotel may have been used as a land office at one time, Mrs. Howard says. It is built over a cistern, has a small porch, and looks somewhat like a business structure.

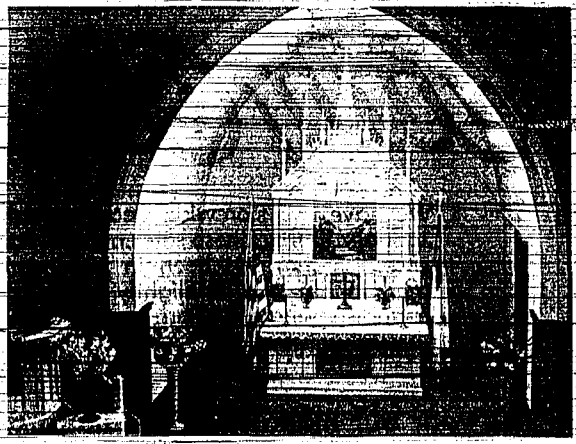

Most imposing structure in the heart of Twin Falls County is the Clover Trinity Lutheran Church. Most outsiders know little about Clover except that it has a beautiful church.

Early developers wanted their town to have culture and religion. In the downtown planning, the developers pledged $5,000 from the sale of land in the townsite toward construction of a church and another $2,500 toward building of a school.

The church was completed in 1918, and prior to its construction worship services were held in the hotel and later the school. Rev. J. A. Schilling, who served from 1915 to 1918.

Along with many other prominent residents, he is buried in the Clover cemetery adjoining the church to the west. Many early headstones in the cemetery have inscriptions written in German.

Little change has been made in the original church building except for the removal of a public arch over the altar and the removal of an ornate organ and staves from the pulpit. The ceiling, which is made of metal with ornate paneling, has been painted in white, but still shows the original design.

ORIGINAL INTERIOR OF CHURCH featured a gothic arch over the altar and similar structures at the rear of the sanctuary which were removed in later remodeling. For the 50 years it has been in use, the church has had few changes.

A large row of high poplar trees her parents built in 1918; Ted near the church was topped and Gebie still residing in the Clover later cut down to provide wood for staves in the church and school.

Some of the original settlers still living in the area include Mrs. Jagels, living in the home

17 Area Students Participate In European Study Program

By NORMA HERTZINGER

When you study foreign culture, what could be more perfect than to have on-the-spot classes and tours?

This is what 17 students from the Twin Falls-Hansen area are doing as they join the Utah area high school comparative cultures program, foreign study league, for a six-week study tour of London, Paris, Rome, Florence and Munich.

The teenagers, chartered by Mr. and Mrs. Peter Link, Hansen, left Wednesday for Salt Lake City where they joined other members of the charter tour. There are 183 students in all.

They arrived in London July 10 where they will stay until July 18 when they transfer by bus to Dover, then later by boat to Calais and then by train to Paris. On Saturday, July 26, they will transfer by train to Rome.

They will go by bus to Florence Aug. 3, then by train to Munich Aug. 12. They will depart from the Munich International Airport Aug. 19 and plan to be back in Salt Lake City the same day.

As one of the mothers commented during a recent bon voyage party for the teen-agers, "They will be traveling by almost everything except ox cart, maybe even that before they return."

The general objective of this academic program is to study foreign culture. In order to do this it is necessary to understand the historical, geographical, social, economical, aesthetic and ethnological heritage of the nation under discussion. These factors are related to the ability of a nation to meet its decision-making responsibilities. The students will carefully examine these factors and derive a clear picture of the governmental and cultural systems and contributions of the nations to be visited.

To compare cultures, students will study four areas of subject matter: history, political science, humanities and culture. Similar courses are scheduled to be taught in each city visited.

The young students will attend four classes each day, with a minimum of 25 days of class work plus excursions and field trips. While in London they will visit Windsor Castle, see a London play and a full day's tour to Stratford-upon-Avon, where they will see Shakespeare's

AT THE CLOSE of each camping session, a council fire is held, revealing the true names of the staff members, giving honors for special achievements and singing. Camp sessions began at Camp Tawankani with the Camp Fire Girls July 7 through 12. Three more sessions are scheduled.

MEAL CALL finds the campers standing in line, all very hungry. Camp Tawankani is located 40 miles from Twin Falls in the South Hills and includes a group of cabins clustered around a main dining lodge, playing area and recreation hall.

Great Outdoors Beckons To Campers

Young campers from throughout Magic Valley are eagerly awaiting specific camping dates so they, too, can participate in the fun of the great outdoors.

One of the larger groups with organized camping activities scheduled for July is the Magic Valley Council of Camp Fire Girls at its Camp Tawankani.

Camp Tawankani is located about 40 miles from Twin Falls in the South Hills and includes a group of cabins clustered around a main dining lodge, playing area and recreation hall. Several hundred girls, seven years of age through high school, participate in this camping fun each year.

Camping sessions this year include Camp Fire Girls, July 7 through July 12; Blue Birds, July 14 through July 17; Camp Fire Girls, July 21 through July 26; and Camp Fire Girls, July 28 through Aug. 2.

Activities include outdoor lore, nature lore, campfire progression, in outdoor living, hiking, singing, crafts, drama, safety and conservation with the older girls having an outpost unit and this year the Soroptimist Club has donated tents and camp equipment for this group.

The camp is approved by the American Camping Association and has had its renewal sealed this year. A trained staff, with a director approved by the National Camp Fire Headquarters, is provided, with the cooks being from the school and the program and a registered nurse on duty while camp is in session.

All counselors are college-age girls and receive a week of special training for their jobs prior to camp opening. All the young campers are covered with health and accident insurance from the time they board the bus for the camp to the close of the session.

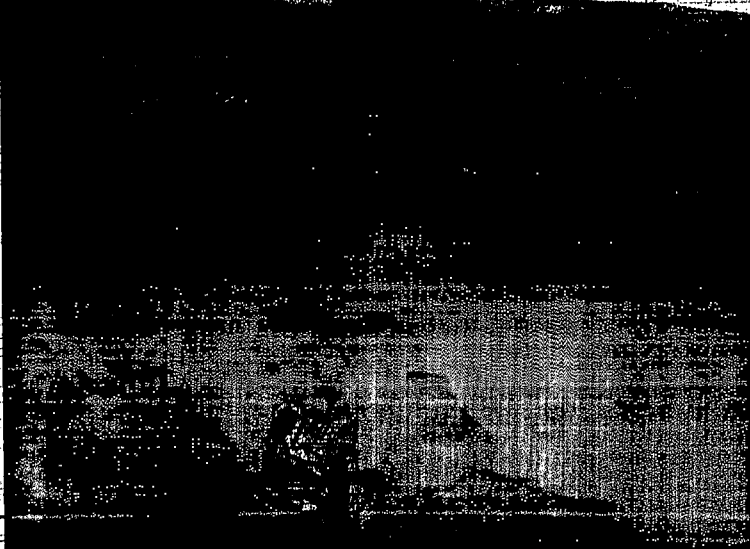

The camp is now a little buzzing with activity Thursday, July

Grilled Crab Sandwich Is Gooood!

It's barbecue season again! So get out the grill and the patio furniture and invite your friends over for a summer party. For the main course, serve a grilled crab sandwich loaf. Filled with colorful Alaska King crab, this fork-and-knife sandwich needs only to be accompanied by crisp, reliable and frosty glasses of iced tea.

The flavorful sandwich begins with a loaf of French bread which is cut partially through to make individual portions. Before adding the crab filling, the cut sides of the bread are spread with a savory mustard-butter.

For the filling, canned or frozen Alaska King crab is combined with chopped, hard-cooked eggs and minced with mayonnaise and chili sauce. Slices of cheddar cheese and tomatoes are placed into each cut of the French bread before spreading with a layer of the crab mixture. The loaf is then broiled hotly, a thin slice of bread may be removed from each cut.

The whole loaf is then wrapped in foil and placed on the grill over hot coals until heated through. For indoor cooking, the loaf can be heated in the oven.

The delicate flavor and fresh quality of Alaska King crab makes for tasty hors d'oeuvres, salads and main dishes. Fully cooked and free of shellfishes, Alaska King crab meat can be used right from the can or frozen packages for easy summer cooking. Enjoy the merits of this flavorful seafood throughout the year by often including Alaska King crab in your menus.

THIS BARBECUED SANDWICH LOAF, filled with flavorful Alaska King crab and thin slices of cheddar and tomatoes, may be heated over hot coals or baked in an oven. Serve with crisp relishes and iced tea.

- BARBECUE CRAB SANDWICH LOAF
- 2 (7 1/2 ounce) cans Alaska King crab or 1 pound frozen Alaska King crab
  - 3 hard-cooked eggs, chopped
  - 1 tablespoon chopped onions
  - 1/2 cup chili sauce
  - 2 tablespoons ketchup
  - 2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce
  - 1/4 cup butter, softened
  - 1 teaspoon prepared mustard
  - 6 to 8 slices cheddar cheese, halved diagonally
  - 3 loaves of French bread
  - Drain and finely slice crab. Combine with eggs, chives, mayonnaise, chili sauce, pickle relish and mustard.
  - Cut loaf of French bread crosswise into six to eight slices, cutting almost to bottom. Combine bread and mustard mixture on cut sides of bread. Place slices of cheese and tomato, and a layer of crab mixture in each cut. Wrap in foil. Heat on grill over four inches from hot coals for 15 to 20 minutes, turning once or heat in 325 degree oven 20 to 25 minutes.
  - Remove foil and turn through bottom crust. Makes six to eight servings.

Annual Birthday Party Set For DAV Auxiliary

The annual birthday party for the DAV Auxiliary will be held at the home of Mrs. Lydia Graybill this evening at the recent meeting in the DAV Hall.

The party will feature a potluck dinner and gift exchange. Mrs. Addie Radakovich was chairman of the business session and Mrs. W. E. Hagan was secretary.

Mrs. Arthur Patterson gave the opening and closing prayers and Mrs. Roland Christensen led the sing session.

Mrs. Ellen Beuchler, Pler, was a visitor. Mrs. T. M. Knight reported on the social meeting held in June at the home of Mrs. Myrtle Barto and of the housewarming for the Barrons. The auxiliary presented the Barrons a flower arrangement.

Members attending the department convention were Mrs. Radakovich, Mrs. Knight, Mrs. I. Roy-Rohwell, Mrs. Arthur Patterson and Mrs. Barron.

Mrs. Emma Stone was presented $5 from Mrs. Otto Rudolph, Pocatello, department ladies vice commander, for securing the most junior members for the year and the Stradley unit received $10 for securing the most senior members for the year.

It was reported Mrs. Knight, Mrs. Barron, Mrs. Ruth Selvera and Mrs. Alma McQueen, audited the treasury's books. The day was discussed, noting Mrs. Frank Harjo's served as secretary-at-large for 1969 and Mrs. McQueen was installed, concluding for 1970.

BETTY CANARY'S Wonderful World

Along about this time of year women are frantically thumbing through recipe books in an attempt to discover new, interesting, light and summery dishes for the dinner table. Usually, because her husband has said "One more Tomato Delight and you're OUT." Sometimes because she started screaming hysterically over the last batch of deviled eggs.

Whatever the reason, a few guidelines—some rules-of-thumb, in order. (An interesting note here is that a Thumb is about the only thing never recommended as a perfect ingredient for aspic salads.)

Remember that recipe hints are everywhere. Leave no stone unturned in your search for new ideas. While I have never seen a recipe offer on a stone, I wouldn't be surprised to find one. I did get an unusual hint from (I believe) a combined, chopped cucumber and liver sausage) by sending off the top of a facial tissue.

Actually, what I got for that hint was a $2.99 was a set of steak knives. I had to send off the end of the steak knife wrapper for the recipe.)

By trial and error you'll probably come to the conclusion I have, and that is, those offers requiring a mayonnaise jar label, pickle jar lid inserts and arrows of pulled-wheat boxes are the best bet. Those people seem to know more about food than do the manufacturers of tissue, shoe polish and stove cleaner.

(For the sake of fairness, the nylon stockings obtained with end flaps of butter boxes are of good quality so perhaps the rule isn't the same in reverse.)

It goes without saying that many interesting recipes are gleaned from magazines and newspaper food sections, so many that one dares not read without having a pair of sharp scissors handy.

With a bit of experience one learns that many recipes are to be used only as File Box filler, and are printed mainly for those women who feel insecure because they only have 78 Sunlight Hamburger Hills instead of the more common 102.

One grows more selective as the summers go by and the tendency is to hastily turn the page when faced with a recipe calling for ham-burgers topped with milk, lettuce and anchovies. Also there is less time to look for new recipes, especially those suggesting salads made with peach-hall faces, no matter how artistically designed, with parsley hair, black olive eyes and pimento-strip mouths.

To aid you in your search, the following tips—avoid clipping recipes headed "Culinary Magic" with these invariably include hot dogs and/or cold cuts. It's also best to pass up those promising "The Countess's Way With..." because most of these also use hot dogs and there isn't a gourmet alive who believes in steaming a frankfurter in grape juice or could face up to one wrapped in mashed sweet potatoes.

"Gustatory Delights" usually means something covered with mint sauce and shaved chocolate.

"Sensitively Sweet" means with canned fruit cocktail.

"Shimmeringly Savory"—all ways aspic.

Linda Coates Is Bride Of Steven Miller

FAIRBIDN—Baskets of turquoise and white gladioli formed the background for the wedding of Linda Leo Coates, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Coates, and Steven Miller, son of Mrs. Glenn Miller and the late Mr. Glenn Miller.

The double-ring rites were performed by Rev. W. James Post, June 12 in the Fairfield Community Church.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a 100 percent length gown of silk-organza with an A-line skirt, empire waistline and scooped neckline. A t-embroidered lace and tulle over-dress was held at the neck with a sashbow. The scalloped-panel dress fell in a chapel train. Her show-length veil was secured by a seed pearl and lace band. She carried a cascade bouquet of white ranunculus with turquoise lilies centered with an orchid.

Valerie Berriochon, Mountain Home, was maid of honor. Shanon Bean, Gooding, and Doris Graves, Tuttle, served as bridesmaids. Debbie Stewart, Boise, was flower girl and Cheryl Stewart was ringbearer.

Earl Hingston, Moscow, cousin of the bride, was best man. Richard Goloschea, Richfield, and David Coates, brother of the bride, were ushers and candlelighters.

Mrs. Dale Ready was organist. Mrs. Craig Carter, Wendell, soloist, and Mrs. Clell Merrill, Gooding, piano accompanist.

A reception was held in the church social hall. The four-tiered wedding cake was baked and decorated by Mrs. Edwari

Jerome Miss, Sieber Wed In Nevada Rites

Kathleen Grace Hills, daughter of Mrs. and Mr. Lester Hill, Jerome, and Jerry Sieber, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sieber, Twin Falls, were married in rites June 4 in Elko, Nev.

The double-ring ceremony was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace White, friends of the couple.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a street-length A-line wedding dress of white satin and tulle, fashioned with a cow collar and scallops at the wrists and on the gown hemline. White satin bows highlighted the scallops on the sleeves.

Her veil of English illusion was held by a tulle studded with seed pearls.

Serving as a colorful bouquet of pink and white carnations and a handkerchief belonging to her grandfather, Mrs. Grace Schuch, she wore a pearl necklace and earrings, a gift from the bridegroom.

Margaret Hayden, Twin Falls, was maid of honor, and the bridegroom's father served as best man.

A reception was held for the newlyweds June 14 at the Jerome Church of the Nazarene. Guests were registered by David Hills, cousin of the bride. Gifts were arranged by Mrs. Lyle Higgins and Mrs. Helen Wood. Gift bearers were Greg Hills, Dennis Hills and Jerry Hills, Buhl, cousins of the bride, and Mike Milant.

The bride's table was covered with white lace over pink and centered with a three-tiered wedding cake placed on a mirror. The cake was decorated with white roses and maiden hair fern and decorated with doves and wedding bells. A double wedding ring and cascade of lilies archway topped the cake.

Flanking the cake were arrangements in gold vases featuring white tapers flanked with pink carnations and white pom-pom chrysanthemums.

Cutting and serving the cake were Mrs. Ruth Hill, sister-in-law of the bride, and Mrs. Doug Olson, Mountain Home, sister of the bride.

Flowers were Mrs. Albert Hill and Mrs. Raymond Hill, Buhl, aunts of the bride. Other assistants were Mrs. Art Beem and Mrs. Howard Beem.

Guests attended from Twin Falls, Mountain Home, Shoshone and Jerome.

Social guests were Mrs. Schaub and Mrs. W. E. Hill, Twin Falls, grandmothers of the bride.

After their honeymoon, the couple reside at 424 4th Ave. E., Twin Falls. The bride and bridegroom are employed at the Holiday Inn.

Fair Exhibits Explained For Women's Units

SHOSHONE—The women's department at the county fair Aug. 8 and 9 will be under the direction of Mrs. R. B. Kelley. There will be handwork and food divisions.

All needlework, embroidery, crocheting, quilting and such will be accepted for exhibit and will be judged providing there are enough entries for a class.

A banister will be provided to keep the public back far enough so that the work cannot be handled.

Prizes of $1 for first and 75 cents for second will be made in all classes judged in which there are three or more entries.

Awards of rosette, plus $2 first, $1.50 second, and $1 for third, will be offered to the three exhibitors receiving the greatest number of first awards.

Entries will be received from 1 to 5 p.m. Aug. 6. All articles must be in the hands of the directors of the fair groups at that time and shall not be removed before 8 p.m. Aug. 6.

All articles must be the handwork of the exhibitor and must have been made within the past three years.

Exhibits must be finished articles. Competition is confined to Elmore County residents.

All articles entered in this department must be clean, and names will be placed on exhibits after judging.

Articles will be judged on workmanship, general appearance and design.

All baked goods must be displayed on disposable plates or the exhibitor must be responsible for own container. Cakes must be covered or frosted with saran or a similar type of material.

Plain cakes may be frosted but not decorated and in decorated cake division, the cake must be real, not a false filling provided for the decoration alone.

All classes not mentioned will be judged if there are more than one entry, and judging will be done on appearance, texture and flavor, where applicable.

Egg Dish Ideal For Patio Party

WHETHER you're an after-dark swinger or just a porch-sitter, your party friends and neighbors with a first-of-the-season patio party. Your menu can be as extravagant or simple, your party large or small and you're still sure to be back at it when it's over with a hot meal with friends.

Perfect for the occasion is an egg dish that is easy to prepare, good to eat, and can be brought out to the patio and kept at serving temperature on an electric tray which will keep the dish an "always warmer" heat.

Dear Abby

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Our son just came home from Viet Nam and announced his engagement to a girl he met while he was in the States. She comes from high society people.

Her mother asked me for a list of people on our side who were invited to the wedding. My problem is we have a lot of relatives we never see except at weddings and funerals and most of them would not get along very well with each other.

DEAR ABBY: I am 11 years old and I am ashamed of my mother. She tells the biggest lies and pretends to be her best friend when she is really her worst enemy.

DEAR ABBY: I have been asked to be a bridesmaid and I am very excited about it, but I am also worried. You see, I want very much for my boyfriend to be invited to this wedding and so far my girlfriend (the bride) hasn't said anything about it.

DEAR ABBY: I don't know whether she plans to invite my boyfriend or not, but I am praying she is. Is there some subtle way I can find out? And if she isn't planning on having my boyfriend, how can I get him invited without seeming biased?

DEAR BRIDESMAID: A bride asks her closest friends to be her bridesmaids, and obviously you are one of hers, so come right out and TELL her that you hope she doesn't overlook you.

DEAR ABBY: My husband was married briefly before he married me. I understand he was very much in love with his first wife who left him for another man.

DEAR HURT: Only your husband can answer that question. Ask him. And while you're on the subject, ask him for one small favor. To keep quiet about it in the future.

FOR LOVELIER LOOKS
Every woman needs two kinds of social security: the financial kind and the personal kind. Personal "social security" is the assurance of good grooming to meet all social situations.

GREASE REMOVAL HINT
For grease stains on clothing, sprinkle talcum powder on the stain immediately. Let the powder soak up the grease, wait until it's entirely dry and then brush away the powder lightly. The stain will be gone.

Valley Girls Participate In Camp Sessions

featuring the Tawakani symbol design, and the other the Camp Fire Girls' insignia.

An excellent program of activities has been planned by the staff, adapted to the various age groups of girls attending.

Since the Blue Bird session began July 14, scheduled for four days, only has room for those wanting to attend a short session. They will be able to earn honor bands, although there will not be time enough to accomplish the requirements.

Camp Fire Girls is a membership agency of the United Fund. According to Mrs. Vandenberg, the camp is available for rent by church and youth groups when not in use by the Camp Fire Girls.

Rebekahs Host Potluck Meet

FILER — A potluck dinner preceded the business meeting of the Rebekah Lodge at the OOF Hall.

Donations were voted to be sent to the assembly president home furnishings fund and the World Eye Bank Visual Research Foundation fund.

Mrs. Harold Blakely was presented her 25-year veteran jewel by Mrs. Ted Sierer.

The annual family picnic is scheduled for 1:30 p.m. July 27 in the Bull Park. Members should bring covered dishes, service and juice for punch.

Local Woman Will Attend Convention In Minneapolis

Mrs. Frank Depew, Twin Falls, district treasurer of the Alaska, Idaho, Oregon, Washington and three Canadian provinces, Alberta, British Columbia and Saskatchewan.

The convention is set July 20 to 24 and consists of 50 clubs in 13 countries comprising the pioneer service club organization for executive and professional women.

Delegations will represent the University of Mississippi and Henry Walter, mayor of Milwaukee.

Reports show that two main projects unique with Atrusa International are Grants in Aid and Founder Fund.

Mrs. Seeley, will be International membership chairman for the next two years, will coordinate 12 membership workshops.

Mrs. Joella Terrill Butler, Wichita Falls, Tex., who visited the district in May, will be installed as president for a two-year term.

Take a Fresh Approach to Service — is the theme of the convention in Minneapolis.

Keynote speakers will be Mrs. Elizabeth Duncan-Koontz, first negro woman to be named director of the Women's Bureau, U.S. Department of Labor.

Reports show that two main projects unique with Atrusa International are Grants in Aid and Founder Fund.

USE SOAP FOR BATH
Begin your bath by collecting all the things you will need. You should have a personal wash cloth and towel — and never share them with anyone else in the family. Protect your hair from the water and steam by wearing a shower cap, and be sure to use plenty of soap. Water alone cannot remove dirt.

Summer Coffee Hour Slated

Welcome Wagon Club will host its annual summer coffee party on Tuesday, Aug. 19, at the home of Mrs. Gilbert Allen, 1305 Fremont Drive.

Board members and new residents of Twin Falls are all invited to attend. Those who have not been contacted, but want to attend, should call Mrs. Forth at 733-2460, or Mrs. Gilbert Allen, 734-3371.

INDISPENSABLE SPRAY
If you're a neat-fiver, a can of hairspray at your desk or somewhere in the office is indispensable. It's great for touching your hair or for quick retreat before an evening engagement.

BAD MOUTH CAPS ATROCIOUS PLAY

West had started with both king and queen.

However, West played the three-and-nine was played on dummy. East made and very good play, letting it go. This held declarer to two diamond tricks.

South abandoned the diamond-led a club from dummy and East right up with king after East showed out. Then he cashed the ace of spades and led a second diamond. Once more West should have put up the king—but he played low. South went up with dummy's ace and threw West in with that well-preserved king. West was in a double-barreled ent play and had to give South his ace-queen of spades and jack of clubs.

While South was scoring the rubber, West said to declarer, "Could you have taken your queen of diamonds the first time the suit was led?"

Here is where Trask won the prize: He replied, "Sorry, partner. I pulled the wrong card."

Doreas Gibby, Anderson Wed

VIEW — Doreas Dee Gibby, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elvira Gibby, and Joseph Lytle Anderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Lytle Anderson, were united in marriage in rites June 27 at Sall Lake City LDS Temple. Elder Milton C. Hunter officiated at the public ceremony. Accompanying the couple to the temple were parents of the bride and groom; the bride's grandmothers, Mrs. E. Fisher, her brother, Edward H. Gibby, uncle and aunt of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Gibby, the bride's grandmothers, Mr. and Mrs. Bennett Lindsay, brother and sister-in-law of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. E. Fisher, brother and sister-in-law of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Delores Stoker, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Fowler, Mrs. Kent Tracy and Mrs. Nancy Mickelson.

The bride wore a floor-length empire-styled gown of silk nylon tulle, de sole, fashioned with lace and flowers. Her veil was enhanced with lace and flowers and fell from a beaded crown. She carried a cascading bouquet of stephanotis centered with a Cornishium orchid, and white ribbon and pearl beads, streamers.

Donetta Gibby, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Alice Anderson and Ava Anderson, sisters of the bride; Shanna Gibby, sister of the bride; and Ed Christianson and Julia Tracy, friends of the bride.

Clark Chipman, former roommate of the bride, and Ed Williams, brother of the bride, were groomsmen. The bride's attendants, Brothers of the bride, Elvira H. Gibby and Von Gibby, were ushers.

Guests were registered by the bride's friends of the bride.

The bride's table was covered with lace and centered with a pale blue floralized wedding cake decorated with white lace trim and pink roses. It was topped with a miniature bride and groom, the same ornament used on the wedding cake.

The cake rested on a round mirror and was cut and served by Mrs. Leslie Dana and Mrs. Thelma Fowler.

The banana nut wedding cake was made by Mrs. Elton Hatch and Mrs. David Moffatt and decorated by Mrs. Dana.

Reception assistants were Mrs. Cron Bronson, Mrs. Avel Rasmussen, Elma Hatch, Larice Pasket, Irene Rasmussen and Mrs. E. Fisher. Gifts were arranged by friends of the bride, Rhonda Wrigley, JaNna Stoker and Louise Hewart. They were carried by Reed Gibby, Annette Searle, Gavla Searle and Mitchell Searle.

Clark Chipman was master of ceremonies for the program. The bride and groom were in the bride and groom.

Special guests were Mrs. Fisher, grandmother of the bride, and Mrs. Linda Christianson, grandparents of the bride.

After a wedding trip to Montpelier, the couple takes and the couple resides in Provo, where both are employed. They plan to attend Brigham Young University this fall.

Magic Valley Area TOPS Rally Held In Twin Falls

Members of 16 area TOPS Clubs participated in the two-day rally held in Twin Falls, Idaho, July 11-12.

Deloris Sims, area supervisor from Pocatello, was the speaker. She spoke of her trip to Columbus, Ohio, to the International Recognition Days and the question and answer period that followed was beneficial to everyone who attended.

Afternoon registration was completed by members of the Hollister TOPS Club. The Sims and Toni Todd Club, Hansen registered for the evening session. A corsage was presented to Deloris Sims by the Twin Falls TOPS Club.

Arrangements of the Twin Falls Toastmistress Club gave her speech, "Decoy, In Be Rather Than To Be Caught" that was given at the regional speech contest in Lewiston.

One of the highlights of the evening session was the KOPS graduation. Four members of the Twin Falls Trimmer TOPS, Mrs. Marjorie Kramer, club secretary, Mrs. Georgia Hartwell, club treasurer, and Mrs. Dorothy Tierman, were honored. They received banners, engraved bracelets and six long-stem red yellow roses.

Mrs. Wilma Eastman and Mrs. Grace Tucker, club secretary from the

County Fair Flower Show

Is Scheduled

SHOSHONE—The flower show at the county fair Aug. 8 and 9 will be under direction of the Civic Club, with Mrs. Frank Dallas as general chairman.

All exhibits must be in place by noon Aug. 8. Exhibitors must enter his own flowers and must have grown his own flowers; except in the case of arrangements.

There is just one entry per class allowed per person. Three entries of flowers will constitute a class for judging for cash awards.

There will be identical classes for women, men and children under 15 years of age.

Exhibitors will be responsible for containers, and aside from arrangements, flowers should be exhibited in glass fruit jars.

Any question not covered by the written rules, will be determined by the committee in a blue ribbon and $1 for first, the most blue ribbon, in case of tie, a red ribbon will be awarded. The queen will receive $1 for each division. Bouquets of the queen of the show will be a special award from the Civic Club while the other awards will be received by the fair board.

Magic Valley Favorites

Week's Recipe Winner
MRS. W. A. POLLARD
 Route 2 Box 51, Kimberly

Three In One Dessert
 Line a deep pie plate with rich cream and fill with the following mixture. Combine in a bowl, one cup sugar, two heaping tablespoons of fat, 1/2 cup milk, 1/2 cup butter, 1/2 cup heavy cream, 1/2 cup melted butter, yolks of two eggs, one cup milk, two beaten egg whites, beat to a cream and add to this the juice of two lemons.

Bake one half hour in a slow oven. The result is a crisp crust on bottom, delicious filling between and layer cake on top. You can frost for a cake, make a sauce for a pudding or serve as is.

(The Times-News will pay $5 each week for the best recipe submitted for Magic Valley Favorites. If you have a favorite recipe, just mail it to the Recipe Department, Women's Page Editor. The recipe becomes the property of the Times-News and cannot be returned.)

Lose 10 Lbs. in 10 Days on New Grapefruit Diet

NEW YORK (Special)—This is the revolutionary new grapefruit diet that everyone is suddenly talking about. It's really thousands upon thousands of copies have been passed from hand to hand in factories, plants and homes throughout the U.S. and Canada. Word of its success has spread like wildfire, because this is the one diet that really seems to work for most overweight people. A well-known Toronto columnist recently praised it to the skies. He reported losing 20 pounds quickly and easily on the diet. He is a man of 40 who has been plagued since he was a child with the problem of never getting down to his wartime weight of 165 pounds. All this without cutting out the occasional beer or eye.

If it is followed exactly, the average overweight person should lose 10 pounds in 10 days. There will be no weight loss in the first four days. But you will suddenly drop 6 pounds on the 5th day. Thereafter you will lose one pound a day until the 10th day. Then you will lose 1/2 pound every two days until you get down to your proper weight. Best of all, you will be no longer hungry. Now revised and enlarged, this new diet plan lets you stuff yourself with foods that were formerly "forbidden." Such as big steaks trimmed with fat, Southern fried chicken, rich gravies, mayonnaise, lobster swimming in butter, bacon, fats, sausages and scrambled eggs. You can eat until you are full, until you cannot possibly eat any more. And still you should lose 10 pounds in the first 10 days, plus 1/2 pound every two days thereafter until your weight is down to normal. Be sure you try this new "quick weight loss" diet. It is not generally known, but it has been highly successful for many fat men.

Perhaps the "fat" figure fat. And the grapefruit juice in this new diet might act as a catalyst (the "trigger") to start the fat burning process. You stuff yourself on the permitted foods listed in the diet plan, still lose weight. When the fat and blood are gone you will cease to lose weight, and your weight will remain controlled. A comprehensive and excitingly successful diet plan can be obtained by sending $2 to The KANE ASSOCIATES, P.O. Box 846 Grand Island, Neb. 68801.

Unconditional money-back guarantee. If after trying the diet plan you have not lost 7 pounds in the first 7 days, another 7 pounds in the next 7 days, and 1/2 pound every two days thereafter, simply return the diet plan and your $2 will be refunded promptly, and without argument. Tear out this message as a reminder. Decide now to regain the trim figure of your youth, while still enjoying hearty breakfasts.

County Fair Flower Show

Is Scheduled

SHOSHONE—The flower show at the county fair Aug. 8 and 9 will be under direction of the Civic Club, with Mrs. Frank Dallas as general chairman.

POLLY'S POINTERS

DEAR POLLY—My lovely white tablecloth with several stains on it was made usable again by painting over the stained area in simple but attractive designs with a paint for such purposes which comes in many lovely hues. I did clusters of flowers and was pleased with the result. —EUGENIE

DEAR POLLY—Went a squirrel-proof bird feeder? Suspended it from a wire hung between two trees or a tree and the house. Thrued a 3 3/4" phonograph record on each end of the wire about two or three feet from each tree. A large knot tied in the wire on each side of the records will hold them in place. The records even the slightest squirrel-awful from the feeder. —BILL

DEAR POLLY—When the light bulb burned out in my sewing machine, I replaced it with a Christmas tree bulb, I scraped the colored paint off so it gives a brighter light. —CORINNE Polly's note: They do not fit all machines, but are great when they do.

DEAR POLLY—Clip some of those interesting magazine articles you never have time to read and tape them in the breakfast cereal box. This certainly makes a more interesting reading than "Hey, kids, get one free." —MRS. K. I. R.

DEAR POLLY—To remove rust from the corners of cake tins that have not been in use for a long time I dip a piece of raw potato in cleaning powder and then scour. —P. L. L.

I CUT TWO PLASTIC BLEACH BOTTLES IN HALF AND INSERTED ONE INTO THE OTHER!

DIDN'T COVERING IT WITH GAY ADDRESS BACKED PAPER MAKE A PRETTY HOLDER FOR MY WIG?

MAYBE I PRANCED IT TOO MUCH, SAYING THE WORD LOOKED BETTER ON THE HOLDER THAN ON ME!

DEAR POLLY—I used an old pole lamp for a shower curtain rod. The wiring and socket was removed. It just fits across the five-foot span from wall to wall after the one section with no spring was removed. The strong spring holds it up on the walls. This looks nice with our new shower curtain hanging from it. —MARGARET

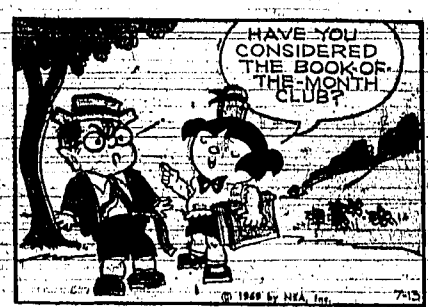

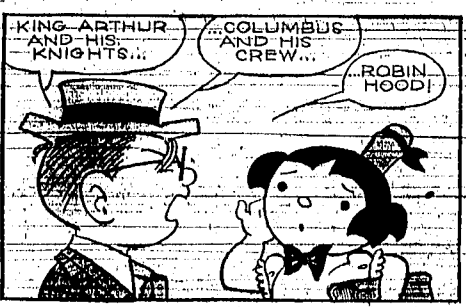

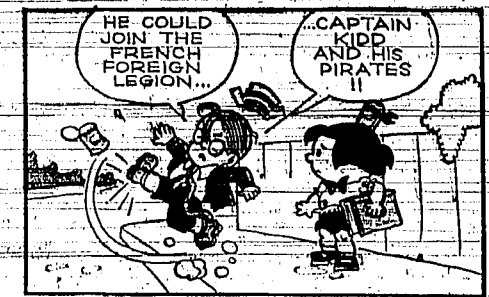

DEAR POLLY—Roll linen or damask tablecloths on an old window shade rollers to prevent wear from folds and so it will lie flat when put on the table. —GERTRUDE

DEAR POLLY—When traveling I pack a square of heavy cardboard and a small bag of balloons and leave my bulky wig block and case at home. When I take off my wig at night I blow up a balloon to the head size of my wig, tie a knot in the balloon and slip it through a slit cut in the cardboard. This holds my wig nicely. —NANCY

DEAR POLLY—To remove rust from the corners of cake tins that have not been in use for a long time I dip a piece of raw potato in cleaning powder and then scour. —P. L. L.

FOR WILHELMINA, founder of Wilhelmina Model Agency
Is a model's life as glamorous as it seems?—Vincent Briet, Los Angeles, Calif.

● The glamorous part about modeling is the chance to impress friends with beautiful clothing, travels, and your photograph on a magazine cover. Because the work is hard, your social life is limited. Evenings are used for beauty treatments and going to bed early.

The "Friendly" Stranger. The National Safety Council has these tips for children: "If any stranger stops his car and asks you for directions, stand several feet away from the car door. Never play alone in parks. Keep both of empty buildings or alleys. If bothered by a stranger, scream and make as much noise and fuss as you can to attract the attention of other people." Finally, every parent should always know the answer to this question: Where is your child now?

Ring-a-ding! About 200 years ago there was a bored teenager in the Bishop's Palace at Wells, England. She passed time by training swans in the palace pool by feeding them every time they rang a bell outside her bedroom window. The tradition has persisted through generations of swans and palace residents. Nowadays Albert Smedley and family feed the swans—who have added a gimmick. They ring the bell at 2 a.m. and won't stop until given a late snack.

Reading Beauty. This year's Miss U.S.A., Wendy Dascomb (who will compete for the Miss Universe title Saturday night on CBS-TV), got to know her predecessor, Didi Anstett. Just as well, for Wendy's physician-father was reluctant to have his youngest daughter interrupt her schooling for a beauty contest. Didi convinced Doctor Dascomb it was okay because she herself went right back to school when her reign was over. Besides, Wendy's school—Stratford College for Girls in Danville, Va.—postponed the freshmen exams until she was free. So Doctor Dascomb agreed on one condition: that Wendy read two hours every day while on tour. "And good mind. lol!" Says Wendy, gracefully, "I don't mind. I like to read."

Blackout Memories. Comedians Jerry Siller and Anne Mearns are a husband-and-wife team in real life. Though he's short and Jewish and she's tall and Catholic, this has never been a problem in their marriage or as a show-business team. Anne recalls that famous New York blackout, when all electricity went out for hours. "I was pregnant with Benjamin. Amy was about 4, and enjoyed the excitement. Jerry somehow drove downtown to fetch Grandpa (Anne's widowed father) and off we went, over the bridge, to eat and drive around New Jersey, buy candies, watch the blackened skyline, and wait for the lights." Weren't you ever scared? "I felt good with all the family around."

Shrinking Oldsters. Does your grandfather look shorter? A man 5 feet-8 at 30 may dwindle down to 5 feet-5 by 65. Recent research at Brookhaven National Laboratory found that adding two grams of a calcium-replenishment medicine to the diet produced a positive calcium balance and acted to inhibit bone resorption. "Just two little grams!"

The ones who know what they want in a car. And when to get it.

They want style. And they know Pontiac Catalina's style will stay in style year after year. And that it'll pay off when they finally do part with it.

They want performance. They know that Catalina's standard 400-cube V-8 is the largest engine in its class. And that it may be a long time before anybody else offers anything to equal it.

And they want value. To the extent that they've waited all now for the best possible price.

Family Trips Can Boost Your Child's IQ

With these tips, your vacation travel can become a lifelong learning journey for your youngsters

By VIRGINIA WARREN

Author of "New Ways to Help Your Child Learn"

CHILDREN with high IQs tend to come from families who travel—who go places and do things with them. Their family car is a classroom on wheels.

On the other hand, some youngsters with learning problems have never been out of their own neighborhood—never have been farther than a few blocks from home.

When we expose our children to new sights, sounds, and activities, they not only pick up new information—their ability to learn is enhanced. That's why educators encourage family trips, both to nearby spots and across the country.

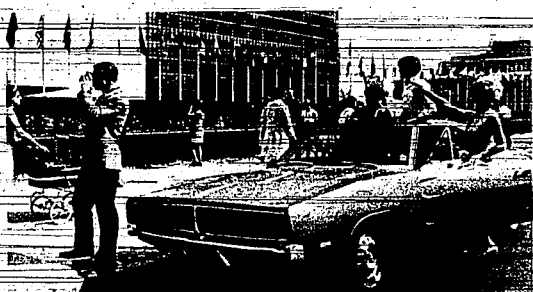

But they warn parents that trips don't automatically result in learning. It takes a little planning and forethought. Just a little extra effort can make your trip not only more educational—but more fun, too.

Here are some steps teachers suggest to ready your children for a travel expedition.

Visit the library for articles and books about the places you'll be visiting. (Be sure the books are at your child's reading level.) One Washington, D.C., father did this before taking his children to Chesapeake Bay. A book on the Bay revealed that the oyster shells the children were picking up had been left there by pre-Columbian Indians. The shark's teeth they found had been deposited there before man appeared.

Get a map showing places of interest on route: historical sites, museums, planetariums, factories, dams. Sit down with your children and decide which to visit—places that may tie in with their special interests.

A few pieces of simple "field equipment" are helpful to have along. For example, carry a variety of containers. Children may want to collect rocks, shells, arrowheads, plants—even such "livestock" as polychaete frogs, crickets, fireflies, Glass Jars and milk containers make excellent carryalls. Plastic bags with their twister tops are good carriers for aquatic life.

Take a notebook that can serve as a trip diary. One child may enjoy being the official recorder of the exciting events of each day. This helps him to observe and remember.

Include paperback-reference books on birds, trees, animals, insects, wild flowers. It's fun for Tommy to whip out that reference book when Mom sees an unusual bird or flower. It helps your children to develop the "Let's look-it-up" habit.

Read maps can be a great and easily accessible source of learning. Dave Garrows, in his book, "Fun on Wheels," says that after you teach the kids what the various map symbols stand for, what the scale of distance is, and how to locate different points, they should be able to: 1) tell the distance from one place to another; 2) find historical sites, state parks, Indian reservations; 3) identify the different kinds of roads indicated on the map: freeways, good state roads, secondary roads, or gravel-and-dirt spring-busters; 4) locate airports, lakes, rivers, mountains; 5) tell the population of cities and towns which may be visited.

According to the National Council for the Social Studies, what happens after your children come home from that trip is very important. Help them build on the travel information they have gathered in this way:

Encourage them to make scrapbooks containing snapshots, mementoes, and information folders taken at points of interest.

Using the trip diary, have them write letters to friends and relatives describing the trip's high points.

If they brought back plants, insects, shells or other specimens, help them set up a home "museum."

If they showed unusual interest in something they saw—airplanes or farms—or marine life—ask your librarian for books on the subject, at the right reading level.

Dr. Richard C. Brown says, "A trip to Cumberland Gap, Tenn., could inspire a study of the westward movement across the Appalachians, or perhaps to read about Daniel Boone. A visit to Hyde Park could lead to reading on almost any aspect of the life of Franklin D. Roosevelt, and Gettysburg could lead to a number of areas of research, all the way from Lincoln to Eisenhower."

In fact, with just a little forethought, that vacation trip could be the start of a learning journey that would never end for your child. ♦

NEIL ARMSTRONG:

He Thrives on Danger

This astronaut will be the first man on the moon—an adventure that pales even being shot down in Korea, near-death as an X-15 rocket pilot, and a Gemini 8 mishap

By JIM SCHEFFER

INCHING SLOWLY and clumsily down the spidery Lunar Module's forward ladder, a space-suited American astronaut approaches the ultimate moment. He pauses at the dish-shaped footpad, peering downward.

His left foot moves, feeling cautiously for the alien surface of the moon. Then it touches . . .

If man and machine work smoothly, as planned, history will be made in the next few days. After a journey across a quarter-million miles of space and a narrowing, 3,000-mile-per-hour descent to the moon's craggy face, Astronaut Neil A. Armstrong will step down to meet destiny.

But it will not be the first time Armstrong, 38, has faced danger with his own life in the balance. Frequent brushes with tragedy and violent death have marked his career for nearly 20 years. Other pilots, including some astronauts, have called it the "Armstrong Jinx." To Neil Armstrong, it is a way of life.

The man chosen to be first to walk on the moon learned to fly at 16. At 19, he earned his Navy wings. At 21, he was flying sorties from the carrier U.S.S. Essex, jockeying a Panther jet on strikes into North Korea. Wheeling and twisting through enemy skies, Armstrong earned a reputation as a hot pilot. His daring nearly killed him. "We were bridge busting in September, 1951," Armstrong recalls now. "The flak was pretty bad."

The future astronaut swept in low, triggering cannon fire into a truck convoy. Almost instantly, flak enveloped him. Chunks of wing and tail section tore away. Shards of metal ripped through control cables and severed hydraulic lines. "The plane's control system was knocked out," Armstrong says. "I could stay in the air, but I couldn't land."

Judiciously applying the throttle, he kept the Panther airborne over more than 100 miles of Chinese-controlled territory. Just behind U.S.

Neil Armstrong's career reflects the advance of modern aviation from "hot" fighters to space vehicles.

lines, the jet coughed its last, and Armstrong ejected. He was back on the Essex within a day.

But his troubles weren't over. A few months later, Armstrong spotted enemy troops in a narrow Korean valley. Rocketing into his straining run, he smashed through a taut cable strung across the valley. The Panther jolted sideways, nearly crashing. Then it uprighted, leaving a wing tip falling behind.

The valley had been cleverly booby-trapped by the Chinese, Armstrong learned later. It had nearly worked. But this time, the pilot nursed his crippled plane home.

There were other close ones, but says Armstrong, "All the pilots had close calls." After his 78th and last mission, Neil counted the bullet holes in his torn Panther. There were 78.

The next few years were quiet. Armstrong earned a degree in aeronautical engineering at Purdue. He also met and married Janet Shearon, an aloof, dark-haired beauty.

But it was too quiet. Neil hired on with the Air Force as a civilian test pilot. His test record reads like a catalog of 1960 American air power—the F-100, F-104, B-47, and F-102. He shifted to even more advanced aircraft and flew the rocket-powered X-1 and X-14. Then came the experimental X-15 and its B-29 mothership. Armstrong logged more than 100 flights in the B-29. On 25 of these, he was aircraft commander, responsible for both the B-29 and the X-15. He flew the X-15 itself twice in 1960, once in 1961, and four times in 1962.

It was on one of these flights that the Jinx returned. Armstrong fumbled through the procedure for starting the X-15's rocket as he dropped away from the B-29's mammoth wing. It didn't start. In the tense moments following, Armstrong tried again.

This time the rocket fired. "I didn't know what was wrong at first," Armstrong says with relief. Whatever it was, he went on in the X-15 to reach the edge of space at 207,000 feet and 3,818 miles per hour.

Just five months later, in September, 1962, NASA tapped Neil Armstrong for training with the second class of astronauts. For nearly two years, it looked like Neil had left the Jinx behind. He assisted in getting trainers ready for Gemini astronauts, sweated through the regimen, and studied geology with fellow astronauts. On weekends, Neil flew light planes and gliders, or joined Jan at the site of their new home in El Lago, south of Houston.

But the Armstrongs had barely settled into their dream house when violent death brushed them again. Neil awoke with a start at 3:30 on a chilly spring morning in 1964 to find the bedroom filled with smoke. Flames crackled throughout the house, already eating through the roof. Choking and gasping, the Armstrongs plunged down the hall to rescue their boys, Eric, 7, and Mark, 1.

Shivering outside in the damp night air, they watched the fire gut their home. Had he not awakened when he did, the Armstrongs may not have lived to see the house rebuilt. Again the Jinx had struck and missed—this time in the form of faulty wiring that started the fire.

Armstrong himself does not recognize any Jinx. The least vocal and most intense of all the astronauts, he shrugs off close calls and grimly continues with his chosen work. But it is not easy on his wife and family.

Jan Armstrong viewed the coming Gemini 8 flight in March, 1966, with foreboding. Neil was commander, with Air Force Maj. David Scott as copilot. Their flight plan was ambitious—the world's second space rendezvous, the first docking with an Agena rocket, and a lengthy space walk.

A few days before lift-off, Jan belated her apparent calm by predicting that her husband "probably will" have unexpected problems in space. It was a unique revelation from that hard breed of women who become the astronaut's wives. And the prediction was to come true.

Gemini 8 was scheduled for March 15, 1966, but was delayed for one day after minor troubles showed up in Armstrong in his X-15 plane that almost developed a fatal malfunction.

A movie camera records Armstrong's ejection from a lunar-landing vehicle moments before it crashed and exploded.

the countdown. At 10 a.m. on March 16, the Atlas rocket carrying Gemini 8's Agena target began its journey into orbit. One hour and 41 minutes later, Armstrong and Scott rode their Titan rocket skyward.

During the next six hours, Armstrong and Scott pursued Agena four times around the world. Precisely planned firings of their Gemini thrusters changed their orbit until the Agena was clearly visible. Over Hawaii, Armstrong reported that they were 150 feet from their target and were flying formation with it.

After inspecting the Agena for nearly half an hour, Armstrong closed in to perform the world's first linkup of two orbiting spacecraft. "It was a real smoothie," the astronaut radioed. Docking was complete, and the two vehicles were stable. That condition didn't last.

Suddenly the docked Gemini and Agena combination began to buck and roll like a rodeo mustang. Armstrong was convinced the problem lay with the Agena. He ordered Scott to shut down the Agena's control system while he used the Gemini thrusters in an attempt to master the wild ride. It didn't work.

Scott reactivated the Agena several times, with some lessening of the bucking, but the gyrations could not be completely stopped. Both astronauts were puzzled. Then with Agena again shut down, the ride became so violent that Armstrong became convinced of danger and blew the seal between the ships in an emergency undocking.

Now the tumbling and twisting became severe. Freed of Agena's restraining influence, Gemini 8 went into a wrenching roll and yaw that reached one full turn every second. Control was impossible. As the forces built up, Scott reached over to pull the circuit breaker supplying power to the Gemini thrusters. The motions stented.

The problem obviously was with Gemini. (Engineers later determined that a short circuit caused a thruster to fire wildly. Thrusters on the Agena had been automatically trying to correct the unwanted motions.) Neil activated the small reentry thrusters in the Gemini's nose, and the craft responded. For the time Armstrong and Scott were safe.

But under strict mission rules, activation of the reentry thrusters means a mandatory end to the mission. A few hours later, with Scott's long-awaited space walk cancelled, Gemini 8 splashed down in a contingency landing area in the Pacific.

Disappointed but alive, the astronauts returned to Houston. It was the only Gemini flight to have a true emergency, and the only manned spaceflight yet conducted that ended before the planned time. It also was Armstrong's only space flight to date.

When Gemini ended in late 1966, Armstrong joined other astronauts in training for Apollo. But even that training nearly meant the end for the potential moon-walker.

Armstrong was practicing the critical phases of a moon landing with a specially designed Lunar Landing Research Vehicle (LLRV) at Ellington Air Force Base, near Houston, in early May, 1968. It was his 21st flight in the weird-looking flying machine—more than any other astronaut. Nicknamed the "Flying Bedstead" because of its resemblance to Granny's Four-poster, the LLRV uses a down-thrusting jet engine to remove five-sixths of the force of gravity during training for moon landing.

A typical flight in the machine involves a near-vertical climb to 700 or 800 feet, then reducing jet power until five-sixths of the vehicle's weight is counter-balanced. For the remainder of the seven-minute flight the astronaut uses two lift rockets and 16 smaller attitude-control rockets to glide through final descent, hover, and touchdown.

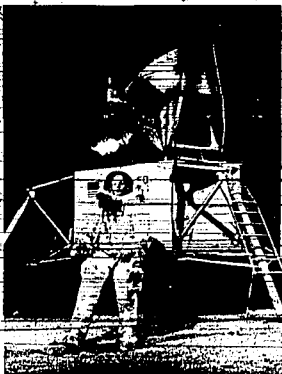

Armstrong's flight that day went according to plan for the first five minutes. Then films show the bedstead dropping vertically to a point near the ground, hovering momentarily, then climbing straight up to 200 feet. Still under Armstrong's control, the machine hovered for a second, then darted rapidly to the left and stopped again.

In the next four seconds, the LLRV gyrated over the runway. Its nose pitched sharply downward, then swung steeply upward and rolled to the right.

"Better get out of there, Neil," shouted a ground-controller.

But Armstrong was already on his way. Activating the power ejection seat rocket (in its very first use with human subject), he shot sideways away from the crippled trainer. As he floated beneath his parachute, Armstrong watched the $2.1 million vehicle drop edgewise to the ground and explode.

The astronaut touched down moments later, suffering only a few bruises from being dragged by his parachute.

A NASA investigation board cited "a loss of attitude control" as the primary cause of the accident. This loss, according to the board, resulted from an early depletion of pressurizing helium in the fuel tanks caused, in turn, by gusty wind conditions requiring extra fuel use, and by Armstrong forgetting to shut off the throttle to his lift rockets as he neared a landing.

Lack of warning was a contributing factor that "caught the pilot by surprise and undoubtedly added some confusion," the board said.

It was the last time anything caught Neil Armstrong by surprise. Along with crewmates Edwin E. "Buzz" Aldrin and Michael Collins, he has been training for the Apollo 11 moon landing for more than a year. If all goes well, he and Aldrin will be on the moon in a few days.

And if something does go wrong well, our first man on the moon has proved he has the quick reaction and self-control to handle any possible emergency. ♦

Outdoor Grilling for Fun and Flavor

MELANIE DE PROFT Food Editor

There's nothing to compare with the mouth-watering flavor of food cooked over an open fire. So, put your grill in action often and enjoy the fun of grilling with food at its best. Use decorative paper, mats, plates, and napkins, and get the most out of lazy summer living.

Chef's Note: In these recipes, cooking times and distances from coals are given only as a guide. The final judgment must be that of the outdoor chef and will be influenced by the type of grill, the intensity of heat, and the direction of wind.

Spicy Grilled Chicken

A bottled Hawaiian barbecue sauce may be substituted for the marinade-brushing sauce in this recipe.

- 1/2 cup lime juice
- 1/2 cup soy sauce*
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 1 teaspoon ground ginger
- 1 tablespoon ground coriander
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 1/2 cup cooking oil
- 3 ready-to-cook broiler-fryer chickens, about 2 lbs. each, cut into halves

1. In a screw-top jar, shake lime juice and soy sauce; add seasonings and shake vigorously. Then add garlic and oil and shake. Set aside.
2. Crack thigh and wing joints of chicken so they will be flat.
3. Put chicken halves and pineapple in a shallow pan. Shake marinade and pour over all. Cover and marinate at least 2 hours, turning and basting occasionally.
4. Thread chicken halves and pineapple onto long skewers. Brush with marinade. Grill, cut side down, 4 in. from hot coals. Turn every 6 min., brushing with marinade. Grill 40 min. or until chicken tests done (meat on thickest part of drumstick will cut easily).
5. Accompany grilled chicken and pineapple with chutney, salted peanuts, cherry tomatoes, banana chunks, and hot French for dipping. Serve with hot French bread and a salad of bite-sized curly endive topped with slices of avocado and mandarin orange sections.

Han-Hawaiian

Slice a fully cooked, shaped, boneless ham (allow one 1/2 in. slice per person). Grill slices 3 in. from hot coals about 10 min., turning and brushing frequently with a bottled Hawaiian barbecue sauce.

Quickie Kabobs

Make the entire meal a "quickie." Serve the kabobs with corn and potato chips and icy cold canned or bottled beverages. For dessert, chilled, ready-to-serve pudding from a can and packaged cookies are a delight.

Allowing 1/4 lb. meat per serving, cut canned luncheon meat or bologna into 1- to 1 1/2-in. cubes; green pepper and bacon into 1- to 1 1/2-in. pieces. Alternately thread onto skewers along with pitted olives. Grill on greased grill about 3 in. from hot coals about 5 min., turning and brushing constantly with your favorite salad dressing (bottled or prepared from a mix) or a bottled barbecue sauce.

Double-Treat Frank-Burgers

The excellent bottled barbecue sauces available in the market today impart such wonderful flavors that these burgers are positively irresistible when brushed with any one.

- 2-lbc. ground beef
- 2 tablespoons salt
- Black pepper
- 2 tablespoons catsup
- 6 frankfurters, cut in halves lengthwise
- 6 1/2-in. strips cheddar cheese
- 3 dill pickles, cut in quarters lengthwise

1. Lightly mix the meat, seasoning and catsup together. Form into twelve flat patties of equal size.

2. Place two frankfurter halves, cut side down, on each of six patties; place a strip of cheese and two pickle strips between the frankfurter halves. Brush lightly with barbecue sauce. Top with remaining patties and brush with sauce.
3. Place Frank-burgers sauce side down in a basket broiler. Brush tops with sauce and close basket broiler. Grill about 3 in. from coals 10 to 15 min., frequently turning and brushing with barbecue sauce.

Sauce-Painted Spareribs

- 4 lbs. meaty spareribs or back ribs, cut in serving portions
- 1 cup catsup
- 1/2 cup lemon juice
- 2 tablespoons brown sugar
- 1 tablespoon soy sauce
- 1 tablespoon prepared horseradish mustard
- 1 tablespoon grated onion
- 1/2 teaspoons salt
- 1/2 teaspoon black pepper
- 1/2 teaspoon oregano, marjoram, or thyme
- 1/4 teaspoon Tabasco
- 1 clove garlic, minced

1. Partially moist meat in a 350° F. oven about 30 min.
2. Meanwhile, combine remaining ingredients in a saucepan. Simmer over low heat at least 10 min.
3. To Grill—Place ribs, meaty side down, on grill. Slowly grill about 3 in. from hot coals. Turn about every 5 min., brushing with sauce. Grill until meat is deep brown and crisp, about 25 min.

Note: This brushing sauce improves with age; it may be prepared in advance, then heated on the grill.

Pork and Bean Casserole on the Grill

- 4 slices bacon
- 1/2 cup finely chopped onion
- 1/2 cup chopped green pepper
- 2 cans (14 to 17 oz. each) pork and bean with tomato sauce
- 1 tablespoon dark molasses
- 2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce
- 3 tablespoons dark brown sugar
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon black pepper
- 1/2 teaspoon oregano

1. Fry bacon in a skillet; reserve 2 tablespoons drippings. Crumble bacon and set aside.

2. Heat the reserved drippings in skillet. Add onion and green pepper and cook them about 5 min., stirring occasionally.
3. Turn beans into a 1 1/2 qt. heat-resistant casserole. Mix in onion, green pepper, bacon, molasses, Worcestershire sauce, and a mixture of seasonings.
4. Cover and set on top of grill and allow to cook until thoroughly heated.

Vegetables in Foil Packets for Grilling

Choose contrasting vegetables—fresh, frozen, or canned—for the packet mixtures. Accentuate natural flavors with salt, mild-seasoned pepper, and exotic spices and herbs. Let your imagination and your personal taste be your guide.

Mixed Bean Packet. Partially thaw 1 pkg. (9 oz.) frozen cut-green beans; 1 pkg. (9 oz.) cut wax beans; and 1 pkg. (16 oz.) lima beans; lightly toss with 1 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon black pepper, 1/4 teaspoon ground rice, 1/4 cup chopped onion, and 1/4 cup butter or margarine. Wrap, seal, and grill.

Zucchini Packet. Combine 6 small zucchinis, sliced; 1 onion, sliced; 1 tablespoon brown sugar; 1 beef bouillon cube, crushed; 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon black pepper, 1/4 teaspoon crushed fennel seed, and 3 tablespoons butter or margarine; toss lightly to mix. Wrap and seal as for a large packet; grill.

Individual Packets

Cut 8- to 12-in. squares of heavy-duty aluminum foil. Put equal amounts of any or a suggested vegetable mixture onto each square. Wrap loosely and seal securely using a dragroator fold. Turning packets, grill 15 to 20 min. or until vegetables are tender.

Large Packets

Using 18-in. squares of foil, wrap, seal, and grill vegetables as for Individual Packets, allowing 20 to 35 min. for grilling.

Don't let a major, catastrophic illness or accident wipe you out financially! Read these facts now about...

How To Collect Up To $10,000 In Extended Benefits On Top Of Your Present Hospital Insurance

Now! Whether you are in the hospital or not, Americare® Major Medical Plan pays 80% of all eligible health care expenses over the deductible amount for which you qualify... pays as much as $10,000 in tax-free cash for doctor, hospital and other bills... even helps pay many "extended care" costs that regular hospital insurance may not cover at all.

Shut your eyes for a moment, and imagine yourself in this kind of catastrophic situation: Yesterday you were ~~very~~ happy, with no thought of an impending accident. Or, perhaps last week you felt some tiny twinge, yet did not connect it with coming health trouble.

Now suddenly you are in a hospital bed. Flat on your back. Perhaps being prepared for surgery. Perhaps under intensive care in a recovery room.

Your first thought naturally is: Will I be all right? Will I get well?

And next: How much is all this going to cost me? WILL MY HOSPITAL INSURANCE BE ENOUGH?

If you are faced with a long period of costly treatment and convalescence—and have only "regular" hospital insurance—the answer has to be NO.

That's because regular hospital insurance, the kind most families have, was designed to help pay for shorter hospital confinements. And, as great a blessing as these plans are, most simply were not designed to provide for really long-term hospitalization, or the kind of extended care at home that usually goes with "catastrophic" illnesses or serious injury accidents.

It is this long-term need—with expenses that can run into thousands of dollars—which American Republic's special Americare® Major Medical Plan was designed to fill—in simple terms, the Americare® Major Medical Plan starts where regular hospital insurance usually stops.

Yet its cost, for qualified persons or families, is remarkably low—indeed, often LOWER than some forms of ordinary hospital insurance.

Excepting only the usual exclusions—and after the deductible amount for which you qualify—your Americare® Major Medical Plan PAYS 80% OF ELIGIBLE EXPENSES UP TO $10,000—for each separate accident or illness.

Eligible expenses covered under this Americare® Major Medical Plan include:

- Hospital room, board and general nursing care—up to $36 per day (80% of $45).
- Medical or surgical diagnosis or treatment by a doctor, in or out of hospital.
- Anesthetics, and anesthetic administration.
- Drugs and medicines requiring doctor's prescription.
- Private duty nursing by a registered graduate nurse, when prescribed by a doctor.
- X-ray services and diagnostic laboratory procedures.
- Artificial limbs or eyes, casts, splints, trusses, braces, or crutches.

- Oxygen and equipment for its administration.
- Rental of a wheel chair, or hospital-type bed, for use at home.
- Professional ambulance service to or from local hospital.

You are covered for eligible expenses which result from any accident after the date your policy is issued, and as a result of any sickness that is first manifested more than 30 days from date of issue and which begins while the policy is in force. Unless, of course, such expenses result from war, mental disorder, attempted self-destruction, maternity, dental work, except as required because of injury to sound natural teeth, injury or sickness for which benefits are payable under any workmen's compensation, occupational disease or similar law; birth irregularities or cosmetic surgery unless occasioned by injury; eye refractions, eye glasses or the fitting thereof; hearing aids or the fitting thereof; or when services, supplies, or treatments are provided by or are covered under any federal, state or other governmental plan or law.

FREE: If you send now for information about the Americare® Major Medical Plan, you will also receive this valuable Americare® First Aid Kit. Contains tape, bandages, antiseptic cream, and other first aid needs. No obligation, mail card today.

Did Cliff Robertson "Win" His Oscar?

WE'D HARDLY settled in the Beverly Hills Hotel for lunch when the waiter scurried to our table and beamed, "Congratulations, Mr. Robertson! You deserved to win the Oscar!"

Cliff Robertson appeared surprised at the ready recognition. "Why, thank you," he said. "Thank you very much!"

Turning to me, he said, "I can remember a time, not too long ago, when no one would have known my name, let alone congratulate me. And that's the nicest word he could have used—'deserved'."

But was he "deserved"? Or did Robertson "buy" the 1968 Academy Award through paid advertising and promotion, as Vina magazine has implied.

When I asked him outright about the article, Cliff said vehemently, "I personally didn't put one red cent into advertising!"

There was paid publicity, Cliff admitted, but he pointed out that every nominee advertised. Most were backed financially by wealthy studios, Cliff's film, "Charly," had only a shoestring budget.

Since a nationwide publicity campaign was financially impossible; "Charly's" producers used the Hollywood trade papers, supported by a full-page ad in the Los Angeles Vina, and a sign board. "They spent a lot less than the other studios," Cliff grinned, "but I guess the double-page gatefold in Daily Variety made the greatest impact in voting."

Ironically, Robertson was deep in the Philippines on location making "Too Late the Hero," when the golden statue was being awarded. Frank Sinatra received the Oscar in his behalf.

Yet it was only after he returned to the States that he met Frank Sinatra for the first time. Cliff learned that Sinatra had asked to accept the Oscar for him, because he had known right along what a long struggle it had been for him.

No one can agree more with Sinatra that Cliff's entire career has been a tough climb uphill than Cliff himself. "I feel like I've just come out of a dark tunnel," he exclaimed.

"Till 'Charly,' I was always more proud of my 'ly roles,'" Cliff admitted. But he also rejected the idea that awarding him an Oscar was a sentimental gesture of the Academy voters who, each time, had seen his highly acclaimed TV roles go to other actors, when they were made into movies.

I didn't have to pin Cliff down to tell me what prompted him to want to be "Charly," the 34-year-old retarded janitor, who becomes a genius with tragic consequences.

"I was obsessed with the thought that someone else might get the role," he said.

Cliff Robertson's "Charly" won an Oscar

"Then suddenly I knew I couldn't sit back and be a stand-in this time. I was going to do it, no matter what!"

The next morning he called his agent and said, "I don't care how crazy you think I am, buy that property for me! I am going to be 'Charly!'"

Except for the lead in "PT-109," for which President Kennedy himself chose Cliff to portray him in the film, life has never been easy for Robertson.

After Cliff's mother died of a ruptured appendix, his father took off and was seen only rarely afterward. Cliff grew up with a grandmother in La Jolla. He did everything from mowing lawns to working in a hospital preserving appendices in a hospital where his grandmother was a nurse. After high school, he joined the merchant marine and survived his ship sinking during a North Atlantic storm.

He has a 19-year-old daughter by an early marriage. Two years ago he married actress Dina Merrill, heir to a great fortune. She attended the Academy award presentations in Cliff's absence, but hasn't the slightest idea what went on there.

When Cliff's name was announced as the Oscar winner, Dina bursted her head in a niece's lap, crying and laughing all at once. As a matter of fact, Cliff still doesn't know what Sinatra said in accepting the award—when he met Frank, he was still too excited to remember to ask.

Hollywood rumors claim that Cliff, now that he's an Oscar winner, intends to ask $1 million a picture. He scoffed. "Good Lord! I've never measured anything by money! I didn't take any salary for 'Charly'—just a percentage—And I'd do it again!"

"That doesn't sound like a man who would 'buy' an Oscar. But it does sound like a man who would battle seven years to play a role he believes in—Oscar or no Oscar."

Ding-a-Ling

Want to know if you've reached middle age? Here's a guideline I've tried, and it's true: When the telephone rings on a Saturday night, do you sit there hoping it isn't for you!

—Dorothy B. Bennett

QUIPS AND QUOTES

An egotistical man was having difficulty with just about everyone he came into contact. After a long while, his wife persuaded him to see a psychiatrist.

After his first visit, the man came home in a rage. "That head-shrinker is trying to give me an inferiority complex!" he told his wife.

"What makes you think that?" she asked.

"He told me nobody's perfect!"

—Robert Brown

Away at camp, our youngest grabbed tearfully on the phone, "I miss you with all of my heart and my whole stomach."

—Dot B. Bennett

"A tall, bronzed six-footer flew into a violent rage in a hotel lobby one night because, for one reason or another, all the elevators were delayed on the upper floors.

Finally one descended, operated by a wisp of a girl. The six-footer stamped inside and bellowed, "Where the devil have you been? Do you realize I have to get packed for a mountain-climbing expedition tomorrow? Second floor—and make it snappy."

—Dorothea Kent

"Perhaps no hardship was so difficult for Adam and Eve to bear as their inability to blame the state of the world on an older generation."

—Franklin P. Jones

Little Lenny had been going to kindergarten for several weeks.

He was walking along the street one day with his mother when they passed another small boy.

Paul greeted him with "Hi, Lenny." As they continued along, Mother asked Lenny what the other boy's last name was.

"It's Paul Sitdown," replied Lenny. "At least that's what the teacher calls him."

—A. T. Outing

Fisherman: a guy who thinks a fish should bite on a fancy lure just because he did.

—Lane Olinghouse

Ear Today and Groan Tomorrow

Give ear to your six-year-old daughter.

The benefit couldn't be greater. You'll learn to answer the question.

Your four-year-old will ask later.

—George Starbuck Galbraith

"You're all dead!"
