Soviet Craft Orbits Moon

Apollo 11 Continues Easy Trip

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI)—Apollo 11's astronauts are carrying today on their epic journey to walk on the moon. Russia's unmanned Luna 13 was already orbiting there in an apparent bold bid to beat the Americans back to earth with a sample of lunar soil.

Neil A. Armstrong, Edwin E. Buzz Aldrin Jr. and Michael Collins, half way to the moon, are shortly after 8 a.m. a terse report from the ground on the progress of Luna 13.

"The Russian satellite went into lunar orbit today and both Soviet and West German sources said it might try to land Friday.

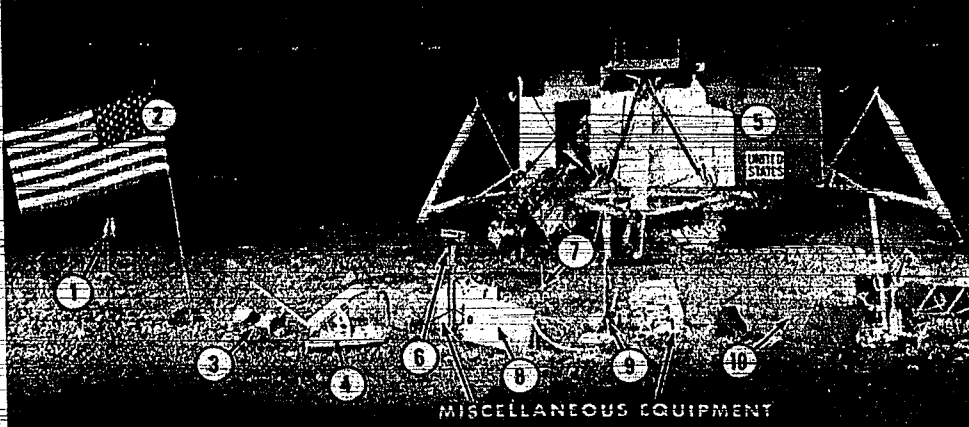

"I believe they will keep it in orbit for a while—possibly all day—and then will attempt to land the spacecraft, or a bit of it, and bring back a piece of the moon's surface," said Sir James Lovelock, director of Britain's Jodrell Bank Observatory.

The U.S. spacemen ran through systems checks with ground control, but were plagued again by noisy radio communications which more than once halted their conversations. They ran a series of star sightings at mid-morning for navigational purposes but all reports were that the spacecraft was on a dead accurate course to touchdown on the moon Sunday afternoon with Armstrong and Aldrin scheduled to walk on its surface early Monday.

After the spectacular launch from Cape Kennedy Wednesday on the moon-landing trip, the U.S. astronauts had a quiet day today coasting through space at speeds as high as 3,600 miles per hour.

They had a brief rocket firing on their schedule to make sure the course was correct, and television transmission at 7:32 p.m. EDT from 161,000 miles above earth.

The Luna 13 "moonscraper" means the Russians rejected the moon and dropped into orbit around it today, Russian scientific sources said. The spacecraft will be seen again Friday.

WHEN THE ASTRONAUTS leave the lunar surface after becoming the first men to set foot on the moon, they will leave a wide variety of "litter" and equipment behind. The items, arranged for display on a simulated moonscape, include, by number: 1, rod support for Solar Wind Composition experiment; 2, Amaltek flag; 3, two pairs of lunar boots; 4, Laser Ranging Retro-Reflector; 5, despatched to reflect a laser beam from earth and allow precise measurement of the moon's distance; 5, lunar module descent stage; 31 feet in diameter and 10 feet high; 6, black-and-white lunar surface camera; 7, a "gaomon" to assist in color identification of televised lunar photos, and to permit a measure of the sun angle at the moment of sample collection; 8, one of two Portable Life Support Systems (PLSS in short) left behind (the other is not visible); each with accompanying remote control unit; and one PLSS re-water collection bag for measurement of unused coolant water; 9, collection handle for use with water collection bag; and one pair of footprints; 10, a Passive Seismology Experiment set up by the astronauts for earth recording of lunar quakes, or other tremors. Other items to be left behind, but not pictured, include armrests from the lunar module, two "fill" cameras and one motion picture camera and used food and waste bags. (UPI telephoto)

Honduran Attack Snaps Cease-Fire In Latin America

By United Press International
Honduras launched a counter-attack against El Salvador today and claimed air domination in the four-day war as an Organization of American States (OAS) ceasefire collapsed in a dispute by the belligerents over its terms.

A Honduran army spokesman in Tegucigalpa told UPI correspondent Lawrence W. McGarry that Honduran troops had counterattacked Salvadoran positions at Boleros and were threatening other cities in northern El Salvador, including Ciudad Barrios.

Honduras and El Salvador accepted a cease-fire plea from the OAS Wednesday but a snag developed when El Salvador demanded that the OAS guarantee the safety of Salvadorans living in Honduras with troops remaining at present positions until such guarantees were effective.

Units today virtually all ground fighting had been in Honduran territory with Salvadoran troops reported as deep as 45 miles inside Honduras. The army spokesman told McGarry, however, that Honduran troops with air cover and using captured artillery and tanks in some instances have taken the initiative on the southern and northern fronts and were counterattacking on the eastern front.

"They are advancing steadily," he said.

"The Honduran air force dominates the air over both countries and continues to bomb Salvadoran (grouped) positions.

In one day, one Honduran pilot downed three Salvadoran fighters. So far, nine enemy planes have been shot down.

OAS peace teams in both capitals relayed the results of their efforts back and forth by radio. Separate talks at OAS focused on the plight of Salvadorans living in Honduras—one of the causes of the war.

Honduras accepted the OAS ceasefire proposal first. El Salvador claimed victory in the war and said Honduras wanted peace to avoid having to surrender. Then El Salvador turned to the standstill.

El Salvador warned that it would resume the fight unless the safety and property of 200,000 Salvadorans living in Honduras were guaranteed. Honduras backed a proposal by three OAS states that would remove all El Salvadoran troops from its territory.

Viet Cong Reject Offer Of Joint Elections

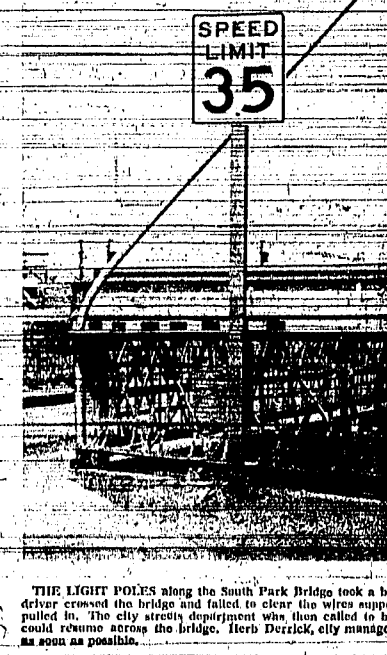

PARIS (UPI)—The Viet Cong rejected the 26th meeting of the delegation to the Paris peace conference. "I say to the supreme interests of the nation and the country, the delegation of the Vietnam War through jointly controlled and internationally supervised elections," the Provisional Government of the Republic of South Vietnam categorically exposes and rejects the so-called "solution for free elections" as a treachery of the U.S. and the Saigon administration.

Before the formal rejection, South Vietnam chief negotiator Pham Dang Lam and U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge had urged the Viet Cong to deliver the clinching Vietnamese delegations to accept the proposal as one means of ending the war.

Chief North Vietnamese negotiator Xuan Thuy called the proposals "unreasonable" even before they were formally rejected. He said they rejected or refused to accept the Saigon offer.

"We believe that the government of the Republic of South Vietnam has taken a momentous step towards a negotiated peace," he said.

"The U.S. would have grave doubts the Communists really wanted a negotiated settlement before today's 26th if they rejected or refused to accept the Saigon offer. They would discuss the Saigon offer. Then Mpa-Binh delivered the clinching Vietnamese Lodge had called the Saigon offer a "remarkable proposal" which "certainly deserves very careful consideration." He said the election offer, Lodge said.

Monday Is Proclaimed "Moon-Day"

Almost all government of offices—local, state and federal—will be closed Monday in honor of the historic moon landing mission of Apollo 11.

Gov. Samuelson has proclaimed Monday a national day of participation in Idaho and ordered state offices closed officially in honor of the moon landing. He said he was "proud to comply with President Nixon's request for a national day of participation."

"I share President Nixon's joy that the nation's banks, stock exchanges and other places of private employment will close their doors on Monday following the moon landing in the historic events of that day," said Samuelson.

Fire Protection Is Pondered At Buhl

BY PAULINE DAY
Times-News Correspondent
BUHL—Plans for a more realistic enforcement of city ordinances related to fire protection are being made by the Buhl city council following a request from Buhl Fire Chief Leo Monroe. Four major fires in the past three weeks have destroyed several homes and businesses.

Several suggestions were made by the council including an outright burning ban in the city and the replacement of all incinerators in the city which are not in compliance with the fire code.

Chief Monroe noted that several businesses in Buhl consistently violated the burning code. Councilman Dale Christensen was authorized to contact these firms and advise them of the code provisions governing their action was taken by the council.

Chief Monroe also urged the council to develop plans for a private contractor on a bid basis to keep lots, alleyways, and other areas of the community free of weeds and other debris. Present city code places this responsibility upon the property owner but there is little or no effort to enforce the owner's liability.

The private contractor to the city will be closed Monday in honor of the historic moon landing mission of Apollo 11.

Lost?

BURLEY—A race horse has to have an owner, but Cassia county sheriff's officers are looking for the owner of a sorrel race horse which, for want of better accommodations, is in "custody."

Officers found the horse about midnight Sunday on the westbound lane of Interstate 80 about seven miles east of Burley. The animal has both front legs wrapped and officers think perhaps it fell out of a horse trailer.

Sheriff Ray Mitchell said he will be glad to "release" the horse if the owners can be identified.

Assessor At Cassia Gets State Post

BURLEY—Alma C. Clark, Cassia County Assessor, has been appointed to the new State Board of Tax Appeals by Gov. Don Samuelson, announced Joe Preston, Cassia County Senator.

Others appointed to the board include Gilbert D. Thompson, Caldwell, a Republican, three year term, and Herbert A. Bergman, Moscow, a Democrat, two year term. Clark is a Republican and will serve a one year term.

He has served Cassia County Assessor for 12 years.

Lull In Conflict Trims U.S. Losses

SAYON (UPI)—American headquaters today reported 148 GIs killed in Vietnam last week, the fewest since the first week of the year when a cease-fire was in effect.

The drop in U.S. deaths was attributed directly to the fall in Viet Cong and North Vietnamese attacks, now in its fourth week. Another 1,612 Americans were wounded.

Chief U.S. military spokesman Gen. Eugene G. Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, got his investigation of the lull under way today for President Nixon's "trying" to determine if the withdrawal of more U.S. troops was feasible.

U.S. headquaters reported 148 GIs were killed in the first home Friday—all of them U.S. 9th Division troops whose base camp was shelled overnight. No deaths were reported.

The command's weekly casualty report said the 148 GIs killed was the fewest since 101 GIs were killed in the first week of the year when a cease-fire was in effect.

Stifling Heat Plagues Nation

By United Press International
Stifling heat fell over much of the nation again today.

Daytime temperatures climbed today into the 90s or 100s in many areas. In the Southwest, and from the Gulf States to the Northeast, the humidity made the heat worse.

"Quite considerable loss" of cattle has occurred in western Missouri because of "high humidity and terrific heat," an Iowa Agriculture Department spokesman said Wednesday.

Wednesday's heat held most of the nation. Boston's 84 was the second-hottest day of the year. Temperatures at 3 a.m. EDT today ranged from 40 at Arcata, Calif., to 92 at Las Vegas, Nev., said Needles, Calif. in history books.

Cooler air lay over the Northwest, scattered thunderstorms occurred from the Great Lakes to the Southern Rockies. Two inches of rain fell in two hours at Dike, Iowa, during the night.

"—And The Band Played On!"

CHARLES ALLEN

In 1935 a young musician walked up to the director of the Twin Falls Band, claiming to be a prodigy. Charles Allen started his 30-year career with the band then, in 1965 decided to quit because, as he puts it, "it was getting difficult to read the music and I decided it was time for another generation to carry on the fine tradition of the band."

Now, at the 60th anniversary celebration of the band, he and other "old time" members of the band will be honored. The special concert is 8 p.m. July 24 at the City Park band shell.

Mr. Allen remembers the dedication members of the band have had. There is one man Mr. Allen remembers, Paul Bowman, who used to drive woolly from Stanley Basin to play in the Thursday concerts.

Another man used to return from his bread route just in time to get on stage.

"We used to play for the county fair and radio, and some nights it would be so cold we couldn't move our fingers. But we played anyway, and no one complained. I've hit a spanner now and then."

Mr. Allen remembers the discipline of the director, a man who often told a young musician either to "cut" the music or take the instrument home and "woodshed" it. That meant practice.

Mr. Allen is just one of several to be honored at the concert July 24.

Drug-Dazed Youth Survives 275-Foot Dive From Bridge

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A 20-year-old hippie high on LSD, who examined him, Dean loves," she urged. "Goodbye," said the youth told attendants. The youth had been taking LSD for more than a year and had into San Francisco Bay with his sandals in his hand Tuesday. The California Highway Patrol came up singing from a plane that has taken 364 lives. He suffered only bruises. The high-dazed youth dived in flowered pants was identified as James G. Layton of San Francisco. He was the fourth person to "dive" the 275-foot equivalent to a leap from a 23-story building, since the bay was opened in 1937.

Layton was rushed to the Providence Letterman Hospital where he grinned at television cameras and entertained his attendants by reciting "The Lord's Prayer" and singing "America the Beautiful."

"He is suffering an extreme psychotic reaction from a drug overdose," said Dr. Nolan Dean, who examined him. ## Scouts Plan To Honor Apollo With Displays Of 'Rockets'

By WILLIAM J. STANFIELD

FARRAGUT STATE PARK, Idaho (UPI)—Tommy Hammit, 11-year-old Boy Scout from Huntsville, Ala., hopes to be an astronaut some day and had a special interest in Wednesday's launching of Apollo 11 space ship toward the moon.

"So did Mark Blasingame, another Huntsville scout whose father works for Army Air Corps Command. Mark also plans a career in the nation's space program.

"They and thousands of other Boy Scouts and leaders at the 7th National Scout Jamboree took time out from traditional opening activities to follow the progress of the Apollo 11 launch on hundreds of transistor radios. No television sets were available for the boys to watch Sunday's scheduled moon landing.

Mark and Tommy are members of Jamboree troop 41 which plans to put on elaborate displays of rocket power during the Jamboree in cooperation with two other troops from Northern Alabama.

Using tapes of the actual Apollo countdown, the three troops will shoot and launch scale models of the Saturn V launch vehicle to a height of 700 feet or more on three separate days during the week-long Jamboree.

They also set up a 36-foot scale model of the Saturn V rocket which has been a popular attraction for space-minded scouts.

Tommy, whose father works for NASA, has been building and firing scale model rockets for several years and recently acknowledged that his bedroom rocket is filled with rockets, space maps and books regarding interplanetary travel.

"Some day," he said, "I hope to qualify as an astronaut and maybe fly to the moon or to another planet."

Several other troops also featured space and rocket displays and NASA donated a one-third scale model of the lunar landing command ship.

Another interested spectator was the launch of the Loc Gruss of Malvern, Pa., who was council executive at Lima, Ohio, when astronaut Neil Armstrong joined the boy scouts in the early 1940's.

He reminisced Tuesday about Armstrong's progress through scouting until he became an Eagle Scout and that Armstrong had named the lunar landing vehicle "Eagle."

"He was a good camper and scout who showed he had excellent leadership qualities," Gruss said.

Also tied in with the Apollo launching was the visit to the Jamboree Wednesday by one of the nation's newest astronauts, Dr. William Jenior.

The Jamboree got off to an official start at 8:45 a.m. Wednesday with a traditional ceremony at Avenue of Flags and then the boys settled down to a trip of fun, adventure, and developing new friendships while taking part in activities centered around the theme, "Building to Serve."

By Tuesday night the last of the scouts had arrived here successfully completing the movement of an equivalent of three Army divisions into this camp in five days.

Some 11,000 scouts arrived at the Spokane International Airport during the final 24 hours

Mexican Girl Gains Rescue From 'Prison'

CANOGA PARK, Calif. (UPI)—A half-starved 13-year-old Mexican girl, who was brought here to be a maid, was rescued Tuesday from a padlocked shed where she had been imprisoned for three days without food by her employers.

Garner Rodriguez, 39, was in poor condition at County-USC Medical Center, suffering from malnutrition, a hospital spokesman said.

She was found in an outbuilding at the home of Bernarde and Theresa Gonzales, who were booked on suspicion of endangering the life of the child.

The Gonzales have eight children.

Police were called to the home by neighbors whose children had heard someone whimpering and crying and then sighted a waving hand in the window of the outbuilding. Police said they found in the shed only a small can of water and containers the girl was forced to use because there were no plumbing facilities.

They described the conditions as "horrible."

The girl told a policewoman she had been brought here from Mexico to work as a maid and had been locked up three days ago. She said she thought she was being imprisoned because she was unable to care for the eight Gonzales children while the parents were away.

Police transferred her to a Coast Guard cutter for relay to Letterman.

Layton, who suffered only bruises on his head and ankles, was one of the four survivors to make the plunge without serious injury.

Boisean Listed Highest Bidder For Bar Permit

BOISE (UPI)—C. A. Butts, Boise, has high-bidder for a liquor license owned formerly by Oliver B. Turner, the state employee accused of taking more than $300,000 in highway funds.

Butts bid was among those opened Tuesday by the State Tax Commission after advertising of the license which was originally provided for Italian Gardens restaurant in Boise.

A spokesman for the tax commission said it would be impossible to disclose the amount of Butts' bid because of financial technicality which will determine the price due to a lien on the property.

Although the commission put up the license for bid, attorney Allen R. Derr of Boise, Turner's lawyer, has brought suit to obtain the license for himself. He said he is entitled to proceeds from the sale because Turner assigned the license to him.

The Strange Survival Of Robert Finch

Pollution

Although no human beings were killed by the poison that turned the picturesque Rhine river into a deadly stream filled with the bodies of untold millions of fish, the incident is more serious than the famed disaster in Donora, Pa., in 1948, when a chemically laden smog asphyxiated 20 persons, or the killer gas in London in 1952 which caused or hastened the deaths of an estimated 4,000 persons with respiratory ailments.

WASHINGTON—The fact that Robert Finch, Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW), actually scored a tentative victory in the bitter struggle over school desegregation can be proved only by contrasting the Nixon administration's July 3 policy statement with an earlier version that Finch managed to block.

"You Know, This Sort Of Thing Could Run Into Money!"

those guidelines would be radically amended because they lacked the force of law; old deadlines—for desegregating schools (this coming school year) were to be met, except those with Negro student populations in the majority would be lifted.

Whether Finch would have accepted the earlier version is questionable. If he had, several of his aides at HEW would have quit on the spot. Moreover, the earlier version of the policy statement leaked to civil rights leaders, liberal Senators, and former HEW officials, triggered an immediate outburst.

But what administered the coup de grace to the earlier version was a coincidence that occurred at the moment when Finch was struggling over school desegregation.

San Francisco Police Start 'Ticketing' Minor Offenders

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Two city police officers are carrying a new weapon in their crime-fighting arsenal — tickets. The officers are armed with citations which they can issue to thieves, beggars, gamblers, litterbugs and other law violators rather than haul them to jail for booking after their arrest.

The tickets — similar to those issued traffic violators — are designed to free policemen from time-consuming custodial chores and allow them to spend more time patrolling the streets.

Under the citation plan, officers can issue the tickets at the scene of the crime to suspects who meet 13 criteria and sign an agreement to appear in court.

Backers of the new system hope it will help the poor and members of minority groups who sometimes spend long periods in jail on minor charges because they can't post bail.

Chief Thomas Cahill and other Police Department officials expect ticketing to allow officers to spend more of their time protecting property and preventing crime — instead of hauling suspects to jail.

The city's policemen were issued general orders last week telling them when and to whom they could give the tickets. The final decision whether to tag or to jail was left to the arresting officer.

He may issue tickets to suspects in cases of petty theft, a s-a-a-l-t or battery, crimes against public peace or welfare, disorderly conduct, loitering, begging, trespassing, gambling, crimes against health and safety, abandonment of property.

The officer must jail suspects in all felony cases, sex crimes, narcotics violations, continuing crimes (such as drunkenness), violations requiring a physical examination (such as prostitution) or when the lawbreaker offered resistance or was armed.

He must issue a citation for all other misdemeanors — thousands of laws covering everything from littering to fortune-telling — unless given permission by his commanding officer to jail the suspect.

However, all ticketed suspects must meet several qualifications — local identification and residence, no outstanding warrants, no prior record of nonappearance in court or issuance of bench warrants and a willingness to sign the ticket.

The officer will check a suspect's record with police headquarters by radio. If he qualifies for a ticket, the patrolman and suspect will reach a mutually agreeable date — at least five days away — for the suspect's court appearance.

The meeting was the annual "Father-Son" day and 38 sons and grandsons were special guests.

Three Deaths Boost Idaho Highway Toll

By United Press International

Three more deaths — two in eastern Idaho and one in the central part of the state — raised Idaho's traffic toll Wednesday to 151, just two fewer than at this time a year ago.

Latest victims were Charles J. Sims, 42, Boise; James Raymond Leaton, 24, Pocatello; and Francis M. Porman, 25, Pocatello.

Sims died about 8:10 p.m. Tuesday when the car in which he was riding skidded off a rain-slick U.S. 30N and overturned in Caribou County between McCammon and Alexander.

Ireton died at 10:55 p.m. Tuesday when his car failed to make a curve one mile south of Pocatello. The car careened from the road, over a rock cliff and dropped 40 feet. Ireton was thrown from the car.

Idaho State Police said that Porman was riding a motorcycle at high speed on U.S. 93 eight miles south of Challis in Custer County when he went out of control, traveled 100 feet on the shoulder of the road, went off the shoulder and came to rest some 225 feet from the side of the road.

The accident occurred on July 13 but his body and motorcycle were not discovered until July 15, when his parsons went looking for him.

Flat-Earth Society May Be Doomed

DOVER, England (UPI) — Man's conquest of the moon could finally mean the death knell for a tiny band which since Queen Victoria's day has maintained the earth is flat.

The space achievements of American astronauts have so far failed to change the beliefs of the International Flat Earth Research Society, which holds they have only been circling around over a flat surface instead of soaring thousands of miles into deep space.

"What happens up there on the moon doesn't really concern us," said Samuel Shenton, the 59-year-old founder of the society and its secretary.

Shenton said, "It's a great effort by the American chaps but I would be wrong to speculate what might result."

Shenton's world resembles a huge pit. The bottom of the earth, absolutely flat and motionless and shaped like a dinner plate. Above the earth, but still in the pit, the moon and the sun zip about. Both are only about 32 miles across, he maintains.

"Science can't shut us down," Shenton said in 1961. Today he hesitates to be so specific, but says, "It doesn't really matter what's up there. It's all relative to the earth."

Carrier Prepares To Host 'Most Important People'

ABOARD THE USS HORNET Tuesday to urge his 2,115-man crew to be "doubly vigilant" in performing their recovery duties.

Sieberlich told his crew, "We are the last link in a very important chain."

Steaming through the South Pacific, 1,700 miles southwest of Honolulu for her launch-time position, this prime recovery carrier for the Apollo 11 astronauts ran through recovery exercises and prepared for the biggest welcome ever.

Even the President of the United States — a former Navy aviator — would be aboard.

President Nixon will fly to the Hornet to watch the July 24 splashdown from the carrier's flight deck.

Later he will go down to peer into the mobile quarantine trailer on the deck and congratulate astronauts Neil A. Armstrong, Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. and Michael Collins.

Sieberlich, 48, of Palos Verdes, Calif., went on the ship's closed-circuit television screen to be "doubly vigilant" in performing their recovery duties.

Sieberlich told his men every effort would be made for everyone aboard to witness the splashdown, recovery and the President's wish.

By in addition to a sailor in the brig and several in sickbay, the men in the engine room for running the ship. It's a thrill for us to have the opportunity to play a vital role in the recovery of the first men on the moon.

The Hornet sailed from Pearl Harbor last weekend to be on station today in case the Apollo 11 spacecraft had to abort its mission in a specified area topside and see the big show, but the engine room gets paid.

Apollo Moon Mission May Help Unlock Mysteries Of Solar System

By PAUL R. HARRAL

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI)—Apollo 11 is carrying what scientists think may be the keys that will unlock the mysteries of the solar system.

The spacecraft's primary mission is to land men on the moon, pick up samples of the lunar surface, and set out experiments that will work after the men leave for earth.

The experiments and rock and dirt samples brought to earth may tell how the moon and the earth was formed. They could provide information about whether the universe is expanding, what causes earthquakes and what the sun is made of.

Astronauts Neil A. Armstrong, Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. and

Michael Collins sped toward the moon, their main chores were a maneuver to line them up more accurately for their course and 15 minutes of television at 7:23 p.m. EDT from about 150,000 miles out.

While the romance of the first moon landing on the moon has captured the imagination of most people, Armstrong, Aldrin and Collins know the scientific benefits of their flight will be overlooked.

"Probably the most significant scientific piece of data that we can bring back is some material from the moon," said astronaut Don L. Lind prior to the flight.

The astronauts plan to bring back more than 100 pounds of rocks and dirt for scientists to study of the moon likely will be similar to geological study of the earth, said John W. "Jack" Smith, chief of the space agency's lunar surface projects office.

"By studying the earth, you can get at the processes that formed the earth," he said. "By studying the moon, you do the same thing."

Dr. Albert A. King of the Lunar and Earth Sciences Division of the space agency, said recently the density of the moon was different from the earth, leading to speculation it may have formed somewhere else in the galaxy and was "captured" by the earth's gravity.

Or, he said, perhaps it was cast off from the earth after the earth was almost formed

Another possibility is that it formed separately from the earth but always has been nearby.

"These things are still a subject of speculation and probably won't be solved at least until we see some direct samples from the lunar surface," he said.

Among the experiments the astronauts are carrying toward the moon is a seismometer one scientist says is sensitive enough to detect the impact of a meteorite the size of a garden pea if it hits within half a mile.

The objective is simply to measure the seismic activity on the lunar surface, said Dr. Garry Latham of the Lamont Geological Observatory.

"We expect two sources of seismic activity, earthquakes which have their counterparts in the familiar earthquake, and meteoroid impact."

Latham said earth studies with seismographs have "been the most successful in establishing the internal structure of the earth and we expect them to enjoy similar success in the study of the moon."

Another scientific package is a target for laser beams from earth. It will reflect them back over exactly the same course they arrived. Scientists hope to use this device to measure the distance between the earth and moon as accurately as to within six inches.

"You know, the moon wobbles, and by measuring very accurately those wobbles, we can tell things about its interior of mass and tell how the mass is distributed inside the moon," Lind said.

Small said the measurements also could help predict and explain the moon's effect on earth's ocean tides.

"We will be able to study the wobble of the earth's axis, which has been ill understood but recently has been thought to be associated with the occurrence of major earthquakes," said Dr. C. O. Allen of the University of Maryland, one of the men who designed the experiment.

Another experiment will examine the composition of the "solar wind" particles of matter thrown off by the sun.

Dr. Johannes Geiss of the University of Bern, Switzerland, said the results of this experiment should help determine exactly what the solar wind provides—more knowledge about the makeup of the universe.

The "solar wind" experiment looks like a piece of aluminum foil and the astronauts place it on the moon so it is directly in the rays of the sun.

"By the time the crew will retrieve the foil about one billionth of an ounce of material should have been collected," Geiss said.

The foil will be returned to earth aboard Apollo 11 and Geiss plans to analyze it in Switzerland.

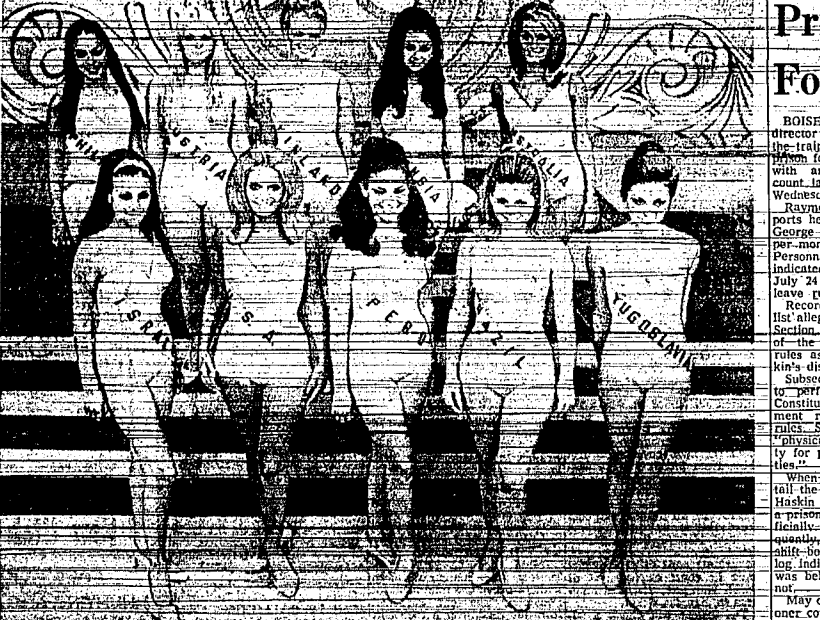

"The general aim of these experiments will be in supplying information about the origin of the solar system and the origin of the earth and its atmosphere," Geiss said.

Citizens Of World Express Delight Over Moon Flight

By United Press International

The world reacted with delight, wonder, praise and prayers today to the U.S. Apollo 11 departure for the moon. A few said they regretted the monumental cost of the lunar voyage in a world still plagued by hunger and disease.

From Buenos Aires to Bangkok and Moscow to Montreal, people sat by radio and

Mars Trip Asked By Agnew

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI)—Vice President Spiro T. Agnew said Wednesday that the United States should resolve "to put a man on Mars" by the end of this century.

Agnew and hundreds of dignitaries, including former President and Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson, gathered for the launch of the Apollo 11 moonshot, widely applauding the liftoff of the giant Saturn rocket.

"I don't know whether we say it or don't say it, somebody is going to do it (go to Mars) anyway," Agnew said. "He sat with the Johnsons on a wooden bench put up for the occasion."

Agnew, the Johnsons, members of the cabinet, 250 House and Senate members and more than 200 of their dependants viewed the launch from the unshaded benches. Jets flew overhead from Washington at government expense in the biggest junket in the memory of political observers.

Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., who ran against Johnson in 1964, gave his former opponent a hearty handshake and a bear hug and playfully yanked the hair of Mrs. Johnson's summer hat.

Johnson, in an interview with Walter Cronkite, said he thought of three things when he left the viewing area: "Concern for the men and their safety; the great awe for what has just been seen; and something you don't hear much about these days, great pride in this country."

"I seemed like a half million people who had worked on this program were there lifting this thing," said Johnson, who added that among Americans there was "greater potential for peace" than the space program.

Girls Discover Body Of Man Lost In Canal

KUNA, Idaho (UPI)—Two girls found the body of Albert Adams, advertising executive Vernon Cary Wednesday, 11 miles downstream from where his car was found in a narrow canal.

Cary's car was found in the New York Canal at Dolgo, located against a foot bridge.

The 42-year-old Cary, who identified through papers, had floated past a screen set up near Cloverdale Road. The body was found four miles beyond the screen.

The girls, aged 11 and 12, notified Kuna Police Chief Al Hill and Ada County resident Deputy Glen Caskey, Hill, Caskey and two youths pulled the body from the water onto a sandbar, but wanted to remove the body completely until after they had notified the authorities.

Divors, from Boise City and Ada County stopped their search for Cary around July 1. The search was conducted on a 10-mile area of the stream.

Trenhaile Suspends Kennedy In Dispute Over Conclave

By RICHARD CHARNOCK

BOISE (UPI) — Dr. C. H. Kennedy, Meridian, Idaho's sometimes chief state meat inspector, is off the payroll again, Stanley J. Trenhaile, agriculture commissioner, confirmed reports Wednesday that he had suspended Kennedy without pay for seven days for absence without leave — the suspension effective Tuesday.

Trenhaile said Kennedy was out of the office in Boise without permission June 23 through June 27 — dates of the State Veterinarians' Convention, in Coeur d'Alene — and the afternoon of June 24.

"He had asked permission to attend it (the convention) and I checked over the program with the people and there was nothing pertaining to any inspection," Trenhaile said.

"I couldn't justify spending meat inspection money, and I don't have any convention that doesn't pertain to his work," he said, adding he refused permission for Kennedy to attend.

However, he said, he understands Kennedy attended the meetings anyway.

Agnew said Kennedy, an chief meat inspector for the department in April 1967 after suspending him for a month to investigate charges Kennedy was not performing his job properly.

Contending the dismissal was "political," Kennedy sought help from the state's new merit system law. After a series of personal commission and court hearings, Kennedy won reinstatement with full back pay last Oct. 8.

Since then Kennedy has brought a $300,000 lawsuit against Trenhaile and two insurance companies for "damages" arising from what he alleged to be his wrongful dismissal.

When Trenhaile put Kennedy back to work he laid down a number of rules for the meat inspectors to follow — including one requiring him to obtain permission for travel.

Later, the legislature revised the personnel commission law to include 17 reasons for discipline or dismissal of covered employees by their superior officers.

State Personnel Director William H. Petersen, whose commission proposed the changes after the Kennedy case, said Trenhaile violated one of the 17 in suspending Kennedy.

William R. Edgett, Meridian, one of Kennedy's attorneys, said he would intend to appeal the suspension. But Petersen said that under the law an appeal may be sought only after an employee has been suspended for 30 days in any one year — and Kennedy's suspension was for 7 days only.

Prison Aide Ousted For Error In Tally

BOISE (UPI) — Idaho's new director of correction has fired a training officer at the state prison for coming up, allegedly, with an inaccurate prisoner count last month. UPI learned Wednesday.

Raymond May confirmed reports he had dismissed Russell George Haskin from the $317 per-month position on June 30. Records of the merit system indicated Haskin's pay will stop July 24 when his accumulated leave runs out.

Records of the merit system list alleged violation of Rule 19, Section 3, subsections A and C of the personnel commission rules as the reasons for Haskin's dismissal.

Subsection A concerns failure to perform duties under the Constitution, state law, department rules and commission rules. Subsection C deals with "physical or mental inability to perform assigned duties."

When asked to explain in detail the charges, May said that Haskin had failed to note that a prisoner had been released officially from the prison. Subsequently, he said, Haskin's shift boss (three times signed-off) indicating the prisoner still was behind bars when he was not.

May called an inaccurate prisoner count in the judgment of a penologist the "unforgivable sin" and said he felt Haskin was taking too much for granted — that he was "preoccupied in his thinking" about the Haskin, first key officer at the penitentiary to be dismissed. Haskin was not the originator of the error under the new Board of Correction, was not immediately available for comment.

Coral-Hungry Starfish Chew Chunks Out Of Pacific Isles

AGANA, Guam (UPI)—A large, spiny starfish with 16 arms and an appetite for coral are eating up large chunks of Guam's coral reefs.

The starfish can eat up one-half mile of coral reef in one month's time, he said in an interview.

"They are killing off the reef in Guam and other islands off the main to the north at that rate. Already a 24-mile stretch of the reef along Guam's northern coast has been eaten away leaving nothing but dead coral skeletons.

Chesher is heading a $500,000 research and eradication program conducted by the Westinghouse Ocean Research Laboratory and the University of the Pacific and the U.S. Department of Interior.

"The starfish" also have attacked the coral at Palau Island.

"The starfish were first noticed in Guam waters about two years ago. Part of the research program is aimed at finding out what caused the invasion.

The biologist said it was vital to save the coral reefs of the Pacific Islands to prevent damage from storms and waves. Once the live coral is eaten away, waves can knock down the reefs.

With a starfish "injector" and hard work by some divers, there is hope, Chesher said.

In the Marianas, starfish hunters are using the gun to shoot a chemical into the sea creatures and they are trying to feed confident the problem is licked in Palau and it is optimistic that we will win the

"It appeared, the pathologist's oral report said, the body had been in the water from two months to a year, or possibly longer.

Pathologist Says 'No Foul Play' In Death Of Woman

BLACKFOOT (UPI)—Dr. E. Webb, a Pocatello pathologist, has disclosed four possible causes of a young Indian woman whose decomposed body was recovered from American Falls Reservoir.

Dr. Webb said there were no wounds or skull fractures and added that while he was unable to determine the cause of death, apparently no foul play was involved.

He said the person was probably a Navajo Indian woman about 20 years of age. He said she was slightly over five feet tall and had a slight build.

Stocks

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stocks moved ahead at the outset today in moderately active trading. The Dow Jones industrial average was mixed, but there was some belief an extension of Wednesday's rally could be in the offing. The news background was mixed, but early this week's recent losses generally were traced to uncertainty over the economic and fiscal stimulus as a potential bullish influence. However, a renewed Vietnam peace hopes and reaffirmation from the Nixon administration that the war would be fought on a limited scale, and that inflation does not include wage and price controls could provide support.

Shortly after the opening, the UPI stock market indicator showed a gain of 0.88 cent on 316 issues on the tape. The Dow Jones industrial average edged higher, while stocks generally tracked on fractions. Electronics and motors showed scattered strength.

Ogden Uses Two Unearned Runs In Ninth To Topple Magic Valley By 11-10

A routine inning error proved too costly for the Magic Valley Cowboys to overcome Wednesday night as they dropped an 11-10 loss to the Ogden Dodgers in the first of a three-game series. The clubs meet again Thursday and Friday night at Ogden Park.

The error struck just seconds after Rowland Houston had literally stolen the tying run from Ogden in the ninth inning. It left Jim Kirk survive and after one out, Randy Bayer singled and Craig Lanning walked to load the bases. Relief pitcher Clint Compton then fanned Lacey but grooved on O.J. pitch and Bob Randall bounced it up.

Lindgren Is Healthy Again And Looks Forward To Track Meet

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Milo Gerry Lindgren, who gained his biggest fame while running against the Russians, is healthy again and looking forward to the first race of his Russian meet.

The former Washington State University long-distance star was plagued by an ankle and leg injury in the last two years and failed to make the U.S. Olympic team.

"I couldn't wait to do anything," Lindgren said, "but I've been working for the last two years to get the ankle back in shape. Now I feel pretty good," he added. "The ulcer has cleared up an awful lot and I hardly ever hear from it now. By staying off for a long period of time, I've been able to slip out of the ankle back in shape. So right now I'm just keeping it out of my mind and I can keep trying."

Lindgren, who has continued high altitude training this year, will run the 5,000-meter Saturday.

The 5-foot-6, 120-pound athlete won a two-mile race in 8:45.5 at the Hayward Invitational at Honolulu last weekend.

"I was a little bit sore," Lindgren said. "I should have run a little faster. But I really didn't want to run too fast. I wanted to have a good race. I want to have a good race. I want to have a good race."

Second behind Tracy Smith of the U.S. Army in the National AAU three-mile run, the 19-year-old runner spent a night in his Russian apartment.

"Both of the Russian runners, Reginald Sharafutdinov and Ivan Kabanov, were very nice. They were very nice. They were very nice."

Smith Names 5 Veterans To American League Club To Complete All-Star Roster

BOSTON (UPI)—American League All-Star manager Mayo Smith Wednesday added a clutch player to his squad including five veterans headed by greybeards Brooks Robinson and Harmon Killebrew with 37 years' All-Star experience. American League headquarters announced the additions for Tuesday night's All-Star game in Washington and noted at least one and possibly two unprecedented choices were among the largest All-Star squads in the history of the game. Mike Killebrew, the first baseman and the only representative of the expansion Seattle Pilots, became the first son of a former All-Star player to be chosen. Hegan, son of former five-time All-Star catcher and current Yankee coach, was chosen to replace the 12 players picked by Smith. In addition, the choice of rookie Chicago outfielder Carlos May, the lone White Sox delegate to the 1969 All-Star game, establishes the possibility that for the first time players will oppose brother on the night game at Robert F. Kennedy Memorial Stadium. Selection of May's brother, Los Angeles outfielder Paul Blair, of Baltimore and Reg. Smith of the Red Sox. The eight starters named Wednesday will oppose brother Johnson, of Baltimore, and Jim Fregosi of the Angels, rookie catcher Elie Rodriguez of Kansas City and outfielder Paul Blair of Baltimore and Reg. Smith of the Red Sox.

Salmon Swarm Back To Rapid River Plant

BOISE—Spring chinook salting and maintenance costs. About 100 tons of fish are being run at the Rapid River Hatchery to spawn in such numbers that facilities cannot take care of them all, the Idaho Fish and Game Department disclosed today. Five years ago, 354 adult spring chinook salmon were transferred from Snake River to Rapid River Hatchery. The hatchery, which was built in 1964, has a capacity of 500 salmon. In 1968, a count of 3,416 adult spring chinook salmon returned to the hatchery, which normally migrates to the Rapid River Hatchery for spawning. The hatchery is being expanded to 1,000 salmon. The expansion will be completed in 1970. The hatchery is being expanded to 1,000 salmon. The expansion will be completed in 1970. The hatchery is being expanded to 1,000 salmon. # Buoniconti Signs To End Hassle

BOCA RATON Fla. (UPI)—Inhabitor Nick Buoniconti, who retired last week in a sultry dispute with the Miami Dolphins, signed a new contract with the team. Owner Joe Robbie said the former Boston Patriots star agreed for a third year on his current contract. Buoniconti was in the second year of a two-year contract when the Pats traded him for two players and a draft choice.

Namath Officially Reports To Jet Camp, Hopes To Settle Dispute By Weekend

HEMPSTEAD, N.Y. (UPI)—Joe Namath officially reported to the New York Jets training camp at Hofstra University Wednesday night after holding a closed door meeting with his teammates over his differences with pro football commissioner Pete Rozelle. Namath, following his discussion with the players, was accompanied by his attorney, James Walsh at a meeting with coach Weeb Ewbank in the university supervisor. Ewbank immediately granted Namath an extension of his absence from practice so the Jets quarterback could continue his discussions with Rozelle. Namath indicated to the players earlier he hoped to settle his differences with Rozelle by the end of the weekend. Johnny Sample, the Jets' cornerback and defensive captain, acted as Namath's spokesman. Namath refused to discuss the situation with waiting newsmen. Rozelle called him at 5:30 p.m. and asked him to meet him in the field house, Sample said. Namath said he has been talking with Rozelle daily for the last three or four days, but that Rozelle still hasn't presented any offer that indicated anything was being done. Namath, who announced his retirement because he refused to give up his ownership in a night club in face of a suspension, did not relate to his teammates how he felt, Rozelle, the situation. Rozelle, called upon to make a statement by the platoon of newsmen who have kept a constant vigilance at the Jets camp since Sunday, said by phone: "I will acknowledge that I have had private conversations with Namath the last couple of days. Beyond that, I can't say anything more."

Boston Tips Yankees For 6-2 Victory

NEW YORK (UPI)—Carl Yastrzemski and George Scott each homered and between them collected seven hits and five RBIs as the Boston Red Sox defeated the New York Yankees 6-2 Wednesday night. Scott's two-run homer, his sixth of the season, with a RBI, gave the Sox a 2-0 advantage. Yastrzemski held his 28th of the season, a solo shot in the fifth. Scott opened the sixth with a single, and shortstop Gene Michael booted Tom Seaver's ground. After pitcher Mike Nasy sacrificed and Mike Andrews struck out, Joe Lahoud walked and Yastrzemski hit a home run. The Red Sox scored in the third with two out, which Lahoud walked, went to third on Yastrzemski's single, and hit back to the home plate. Scott's right-hander, Nazy, walked the distance scattering five hits, walking three, and fanning seven to gain his sixth win against two defeats. The Yankees' pitcher, Ron Perranoski, was credited with the second on Roy White's double and an error by Petrocelli. In the third, White's second double scored Horace Clark who had walked. # SAVE Almost HALF The LABOR COST

On a New VOLCO COMPONENT HOME!

You'll Be "Under Roof In A Day"
The VOLCO Way

Our $100,000 plant constitutes an expansion of the Volco Value Homes division of the company. The entire idea behind this new plant is to save you, the home buyer, money . . . lots of money.

By building components of houses by precision factory methods, using jigs and machines instead of individual man-hours at the job site, saves almost half the labor time required to construct a House opposed to old fashioned, "stick building" methods.

Component parts or assemblies built in our new factory include wall panels, roof trusses, cornice and gable ends, pre-hung doors, pre-hung windows and pre-built kitchen cabinets.

The new division's slogan "Under-Roof-in-a-Day the Volco Way" dramatizes the fact that with component building methods the average home can be constructed in one day using only four men on the job—and be ready for shingles the following day.

Component building should not be confused with prefab housing.

Pre-fabricated houses, most often, are constructed like boxes with little consideration to design.

But, with component building, the house can take any form or design limited only by individual preferences and budgets.

Once a Volco Custom Component Home is built, it is impossible to tell the difference between it and a house built by traditional methods.

Also, the new installation contains a Structomatic truss machine which is the largest in the entire intermountain area. With this machine Volco can manufacture conventional gable trusses up to 60 feet in length, clear span.

This new venture means a lot to you, if you are interested in building a new home.

Now, you can have your new home designed and built the way you want it without sacrifice as to quality, design or style in about one-third of the time it takes to build by conventional "stick" methods and, most important of all, save yourself a considerable amount of money.

Component construction methods also lend themselves to building of all types of farm buildings with similar savings to the cost-conscious farm operator.

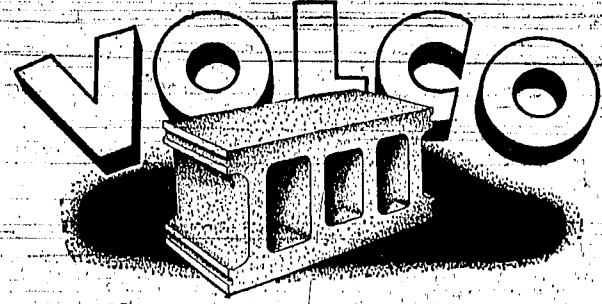

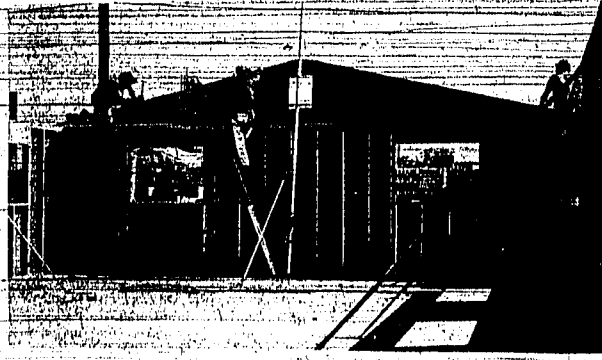

One more point of emphasis is that kiln-dried lumber is used exclusively by Volco.

Volco is also selling component homes to contractors and lumber dealers in a two-state marketing area.

New door machinery has been installed which not only pre-hangs doors but fashions ordinary flat door "blanks" into any of 60 different styles.

Although brand new to Idaho, component built houses now comprise about 60 per cent of new home construction in America last year.

The lumber industry predicts that in a very short time, over 90 percent of home construction in our nation will be by the component method.

Dear Abby
By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am a faithful husband of 15 years. I always enjoy it when you make a reference to your husband. Does he help you with your work? And if he does, I would like to know in what way. Would you mind very much if I wrote a letter to him seeking some advice on my problem? I do not need the help of a kind, gentle, intelligent man. With your permission, of course, I could have a box number so we could correspond. I would appreciate this so much.

NEEDS A MAN'S ADVICE

DEAR NEEDS: Occasionally I'll consult my husband for a man's viewpoint, but I'm careful to avoid it lest I kill the goose that lays the golden eggs. I can't offer you any advice, but I'll be glad to serve as "Mrs. In-Between."

DEAR ABBY: My daughter is 18 and Gloria is beautiful, but not just because she is nice. She was Homcoming Queen and got several other honors because of her looks. Well, Gloria got an engagement ring from Rick in May and they plan to be married, although no date has been set.

Gloria has been hearing that Rick has been running around with other girls, so she has been crying her eyes out. When she asked him if it was true, he said, "Sure, I just want to get it all out of my system before I get married."

Do you think Gloria should let him get away with this, or is this what men do nowadays.

BIRMINGHAM

DEAR BIRMINGHAM: A man who is serious about marrying a girl gets everything "out of his system" BEFORE he becomes engaged. Gloria should give Rick the gate, and let him not to come back until his system is drained.

DEAR ABBY: I received two identical, lighted make-up mirrors as graduation gifts, but I didn't need even one, as I received one for Christmas last year.

A friend of my mother's KNEW I had a lighted make-up mirror because my mother has a big mouth, but she sent me one anyway. Now I am wondering what I should say to this lady in my "thank you" letter?

WENDELL—Mrs. Carl Doramus attended the Baptist Women's Conference Sunday through Wednesday at the North Western Nazarene Campus.

The group toured the State School at Nampa and Mrs. Doramus stated the school is in dire need of used furniture, lamps and other household items in order to initiate a new program.

Officials of the school report that the patients will be divided into groups of about fourteen which will be a simulation of "family groups" with a house mother and father to each group. They feel it will be beneficial to the adjustment of the children and create a more normal surrounding. Groups and individuals are encouraged to write to the patients as recognizing mail is of great therapeutic value.

Others from this area attending were Mrs. Keith Stein, Mrs. Robert Cooper, and Mrs. Ernest Campbell of Towner.

BIDDING ASSISTS IN OPENING LEAD

What do you think of my partner's opening lead?

A letter from Florida reads: "My partner opened the eight of spades against the six-heart contract. I covered dummy's 10 with my queen as a rather hopeless false card. South won the trick with the ace, drew trumps and led the nine of spades through me. I covered with the jack, whereupon the ten (that trick with the king). He noted that my partner's seven had dropped. "South went back to dummy and led another spade and finished the four against my five. He discarded dummy's 10 on a club and wound up with an overtrick. "It is, our considered opinion that it was a bad lead. The bidding again in the box is as given by our correspondent and West should have realized that South's 8 of spades was really showing spades and not designed to stop a spade lead. Furthermore, West had a fairly natural trump lead. He really couldn't be hurting his partner, and for all he knew any other lead might."

Officer Handcuffs Wife To Cure Her Of Biting Her Nails

A CORRESPONDENT with a highly reliable record reports that a woman in the middle class is paying about $2,000 each for the experience of being a chain compensation for hearing loss. I AM TOLD the loss. The woman, who lives in Gloucester, England, has not fired an employe in more than 10 years. "Incredible! Can you not fire an employe?" a policeman in Los Angeles says she intends to divorce the fellow if she doesn't stop hand-cuffing her wrists behind her back to keep her from biting her fingernails in bed. But you can't tell just how far a woman can go. A league ball players who never played in the minors? A Can any particular unit? Like too much red, for instance? Or do you much blue? If so, that's significant. Or, better, Professor Max Lusher thinks it is, any Hunter is an undertaker. In view of the opinion the more than 3,000 funerals. Don't know if that is the record for funeral attendance, but the might be Townsend just gave Hunter an award for meritorious in a "n g service." Some distinction, that. I say there are more dogs in the world than hairs on any one dog. All right, fact is you can't carry on a conversation in such a situation. Your own voice will confuse you. # Despite Automation, People Are Still Needed As Spies

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst
The machine still has not replaced the man in the spy business. Electronic devices litter the ocean floors, reporting the passage of potential enemy submarines. American spy-in-the-sky satellites regularly photograph military and nuclear installations in Red China and the Soviet Union. Computers analyze the same thing over the United States.

Russian fleet units on a visit to Cuba can be counted upon to have added to the Soviet store of information on Apollo II. But, still, even a casual reading of the newspapers illustrates that the spy business for the individual still is pretty much a man's world. The latest disclosure comes from Italy where government sources reported the expulsion of a senior Soviet diplomat on spy charges. A newspaper identified him as First Secretary Konstantin Monoshev. He was said to have been "checking out" information on Western nations with military agreements with Italy. He was the fourth Soviet diplomat to be expelled from Italy since 1966, which also was a tough year for Communist spies in the Americas.

Bids Listed For Projects In Gem State

BOISE (UPI)—Several bids have been announced by the Department of Highways. Bannock Traving Co., Inc., Pocatello, was apparent low bidder at $32,800 for construction of a plant-milk overlay on 1.4 miles of U.S. 20N in Bannock County.

The United States expelled two members of the Soviet Embassy in Washington, U.N. member ousted four Soviet diplomats from Argentina and a Yugoslav and two Czechs. But it has remained for West Germany to furnish the most peculiar evidence of chances for employment in the spy trade. "It is officially estimated that Communist East Germany has 1,000 spies operating in West Germany. The West Germans are overhauling their intelligence apparatus after a series of

He has performed in London, Munich, Amsterdam, and La Hagu and was the first American to win a prize at the Concours Marguerite Long in Paris. Elaine Riehy, concertmaster of the Seattle symphony, will play "Adagio and Rondo" by Mozart, and "Sonata in D" by Prokofiev. Both Mr. Shapiro and Miss Riehy will be accompanied by Carol March, pianist with the Boise Symphony.

Illness Proves Hale Offspring

JOHANNASBURG—South Africa (UPI)—Johnna Duplexis, an 8-year-old granddaughter with a rare, undetectable, was pregnant, gave birth to a five pound girl, doctors said today. Available records here indicate the child's mother, the mother was Ruth Kleier, an American who gave birth at the age of 37 to a daughter in 1956. Mrs. Duplexis, who turns 59 in October, said she felt faint Tuesday and thought it was an illness for which doctors had prescribed pills. A short time later the baby was born, she said. Mrs. Duplexis has five other children, the eldest 36, and 10 grandchildren.

Cancels Contract For Gas Testing

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI)—The University of Utah has terminated its contract with Dugway Proving Grounds for geological testing effective Oct. 15. President James C. Fletcher said the university had not received a proposal to extend the contract from the Desert Test Center, operations center for Dugway. The cancellation came in the wake of national interest in nerve gas testing, done at Dugway Proving Grounds. In March 1968 some 6,400 sheep died at Skull Valley near Dugway. The Army later admitted to having tested nerve gas in the area and paid ranchers for losses. Utah contracted for geological and epidemiological testing of plants, animals and environment. Fletcher wrote Gen. John G. Appel, test center commander, Monday terminating the 17-year project as of Oct. 15.

ABM Opponents Fear Effect Of Lengthy Debate

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Opponents of the Safeguard antiballistic missile system are becoming concerned that the no-holds-barred public debate on the ABM will heighten U.S.-Soviet tensions.

Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., said Tuesday that backers of the system are becoming so anxious to prove a capability in trying to prove a capability that they are jeopardizing arms control talks.

The debate on the military procurement bill now is in its second week. There is no indication whether the ABM issue will be decided.

Symington has asked for a secret session Thursday to present classified figures he says will prove the ABM would be virtually useless in thwarting a Soviet effort to destroy U.S. nuclear-tipped missiles before they can strike back.

Chairman John C. Stennis, D-Miss., of the Senate Armed Services Committee, said he would present his own classified arguments in support of the ABM.

"I'm opposed to closed sessions," he said.
