

Mariner Beers At Mars, Apollo Depicts Earth In Dual Space Epic

610 N. Julia Davis, 83705 Comp.

Boise, Idaho—PASADENA, Calif. (UPI)—Mariner 6 began taking a second series of television pictures early today as it hurtled toward a near-encounter with Mars to find out whether life can exist on the Red Planet.

The first batch of 33 pictures was broadcast live on home-television screens. Tuesday night, showed a small, egg-shaped orb with the white south polar cap standing out clearly from a mottled, light gray surface.

It was the United States' second space triumph—this time, coming on the heels of the Apollo 11 mission that landed men on the moon. The Soviet Union has been plagued with communications failures in their own Mars probes.

Mariner 6 began snapping the second series of pictures at 12:23 a.m. PDT today. They will be beamed back to earth starting at 8 p.m.

Mariner 6 will fly past Mars at a distance of 2,000 miles tonight at 30:03 PDT after a voyage of 24 million miles through space. Despite the vast distance, the spacecraft will be only 99-seconds late for the rendezvous.

Mariner 7, the 850-pound twin of Mariner 6, will make its flypast five days later.

THIS PHOTO OF MARS, taken by the Mariner 6 spacecraft at a distance of 463,250 statute miles from the "Red Planet," shows the equatorial region which will be covered in the near-encounter phase of the Mariner 6 pass. The bright area at the top is Sydara, and the prominent dark feature parallel to the equator in the right-hand part of the photo is Meridiani Sinus and Subarctic Sinus. (UPI telephoto)

Between them, they will photograph the entire surface of Mars twice as it rotates beneath the two television cameras aboard each spacecraft.

Mariner 6 will have only 25 minutes to perform its scientific experiments, and take two dozen television pictures of a region near the Martian equator which should show areas as small as 900 feet across.

At the same time, instruments aboard the spacecraft will go to work making chemical analysis and mapping the surface by measuring thermal radiation.

Of particular interest is whether the air contains nitrogen, oxygen and hydrogen—all present in earth's atmosphere—and if there is water on the planet.

The scientists in Jet Propulsion Laboratory's Mission Control confessed Tuesday night they were rather disappointed in the first of the 33 pictures that slowly unfolded, line by line, across the television screen.

The principal objection was the low contrast, but Dr. Robert B. Leighton of the California Institute of Technology said the later shots were much finer than I've ever seen MARS, Pg. 2, Col. 5

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI)—Biologists injected lunar dust into germ-free white mice today in a crucial test of whether chunks of the moon brought back by the Apollo 11 astronauts harbor infectious organisms or poisonous chemicals.

So far as the pilots' two doctors are concerned, all evidence indicates the moon material is safe and that Neil A. Armstrong, Michael Collins and Edwin E. Aldrin should be released from quarantine on schedule Aug. 11.

But they agreed Tuesday night that the start of biological testing on the white mice, tissue cultures and bacteriophage supporting substances today was the key to whether microscopic organisms thrive in the rock—and soil samples Apollo 11 brought back last week.

Dr. William R. Carpenter, one of the two physicians living in isolation with the moon pilots, said the astronauts and 12 other persons housed in the $11.5-million Lunar Receiving Laboratory "continue to appear in excellent health."

The astronauts have been in the quarantine building since Sunday. They were to be joined late today by their command ship Columbia, which served as a base station in orbit around the moon while Armstrong and Aldrin explored the Sea of Tranquillity 10 days ago.

The scorched module, sealed since the July 24 Pacific splash-down, was on route by cargo plane from Honolulu where it was drained of fuel and decontaminated. It will remain in quarantine so long as its pilots do.

The second batch of photographs snapped by the moon explorers was released to the public after a decontamination process late Tuesday night. It showed Armstrong smiling in the cabin of the landing craft Eagle; a pilot's-eye view of the landing site; the earth 250,000 miles away; and rocks on the moon's surface.

The world got its first look at the moon pictures in color earlier in the day and saw Armstrong take the first step on the moon; the trampled footprints around Tranquillity Base; the American flag; and the two scientific instruments left behind.

The movie sequence, which lasted eight minutes, showed Eagle skimming only a few hundred feet above the lunar surface, dodging rugged West Crater and descending in a

ALL OF AFRICA and Europe and most of Asia can be seen in this photograph of earth taken by the Apollo 11 astronauts from more than 115,000 miles in space, during the moon-landing mission. Greenland can be seen at the upper left; Ireland, England, Spain and Italy stand out, and India is near the terminator, the line between daylight and darkness. Applications On Desert Land Entries Granted

BLISS—The Bureau of Land Management has approved 35 applications for desert land on the Bull Rapids desert land project in the Snake River Valley. The project is located in portions of Elmore and Twin Falls counties near Bliss and Hagerman.

The project is the first of its kind to be approved in Idaho since setting up of criteria by former Secretary of Interior Stewart Udall nearly three years ago.

Udall had ruled against the project in the so-called Indian Hill Development Case in Owyhee County, setting off a storm of controversy.

Bliss was authorized for 4,790 acres of the total 18,000 acres classified for such use in the area.

The approval, limited to the first segment of applications, is based on a total plan of development which includes 55 preference right applications.

Notices of allowance of claims by the 15 persons filing under the plan were published in the ENTRIES, Pg. 2, Col. 7.

GOP Leaders Veto Surtax Compromise

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Republican administration has rejected the Democratic proposal for a short-term extension of the income tax surcharge and said a "deeply concerned" President Nixon will take his case to the American people on his return from a world trip Monday.

In a dramatic 10 p.m. EPT announcement Tuesday, Vice President Spiro T. Agnew said he had talked by telephone with Nixon in Thailand and was told the Democratic proposal was "unacceptable."

Agnew accused the Senate Democratic Policy Committee of applying a "pocket veto" to Nixon's request for a one-year extension of the surcharge and denying the Senate a chance to vote on it.

The Monday appearance apparently meant the 10 per cent surcharge, which would expire Thursday night at midnight, a development immediately would begin getting large paychecks.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield had told Republicans that unless they agreed to his compromise proposal for a five-month extension coupled with a wage tax reform the surtax would die as scheduled at midnight Thursday.

Burley Petitions Ruled Not Valid

BURLEY—An election calling for a city manager form of government in Burley appeared to be stymied again this week when City Clerk Charles Shaddock ruled invalid 258 signatures on petitions calling for the election.

Of the 777 signatures on the petitions submitted, only 410 were declared to be legal by the city clerk. A total of 425 signatures are needed for an election.

Mr. Shaddock said many of the names on the petitions did not appear to be the same as those on a numbering on the city's registry of voters. (For example, John L. Doe in the last election might have signed the petition J. L. Doe.)

He ruled those signatures invalid. He also said the signatures of those who did not vote in the last city election were also invalid.

The ruling was the second major stumbling block thrown at proponents of the special election. Last week, Mayor Joe Peters said there is not enough

Hot 'Pot'
KANSAS CITY, Kan. (UPI)—Police arrested David Allen Brunk, 18, and a juvenile, and charged them with possession of marijuana, after officers found between 20 and 30 pounds of pot wrapped up in the youths' clothing.

Officers arrested the pair Tuesday night as they went to pick up their car-loaded sheets from a coin-operated laundromat.

Soviet Novelist Sought

LONDON (UPI)—The Soviet Embassy broke a 48-hour silence today and said it has asked the British Foreign Office and Scotland yard to help find Russian novelist Anatoly V. Kuznetsov, 40, who disappeared from his London hotel Monday night.

Kuznetsov's novels on the imperfections of life in Russia won the acclaim of the public and the condemnation of the Communist establishment. He had been in London since Thursday working on the London portion of a book ordered by the Kremlin on the life of V. I. Lenin.

The embassy had refused to discuss Kuznetsov's disappearance, but a spokesman said today: "Unfortunately we have heard nothing from Kuznetsov and he already is two days missing." He said the embassy had not helped.

He walked out of the Apollo Hotel in London's Kensington District Tuesday at 11:10 p.m., leaving his luggage in his $5,450-a-night room. With the keys in his hand, he dismissed the desk clerk's comment that his interpreter was looking for him, and disappeared into the night.

"He did not say anything and was not carrying anything," said John Eickhoff, 23, the night clerk at the Apollo. "He was wearing a dark brown jacket, heavy trousers, but did not wear a tie."

The Soviet Embassy asked the Foreign Office to order a search for him.

Kuznetsov first got in trouble with Soviet Communist officials during his 1967 documentary film "The Year." It tells of the slaughter of 100,000 Jews by the Nazis in 1941 in Kuznetsov's native city of Kiev in the Soviet Ukraine.

Soviet critics said it dwelled too much on the Jewish nature of the atrocity and implied that non-Jewish people of the Soviet Union cooperated with the Nazis.

Battle Flares Near Border; 63 Reds Die

SAIGON (UPI)—A second day of heavy fighting between Saigon and the Communist border left 63 North Vietnamese soldiers dead on the eve of President Nixon's visit to this war zone today.

The South Vietnamese irregulars and the Communist Vietnamese unit Tuesday morning and quickly called in American troops, dive bombers, helicopter gunships and artillery strikes for close-in support.

Military spokesmen described the government losses as light but the Communist pulled back at nightfall.

Spokesmen said eight-eighth Staroforts dumped 180 tons of 500- and 750-pound bombs onto Communist base camps, bunkers and weapons positions 50 miles northwest of the city.

Boise Plane Crash Kills 6

LARGE DRUMS of explosives (underwater mines) were strewn across Interstate 80N early Wednesday morning just east of the Twin Falls interchange. The mines were being transported from Seneca, Ill., to Bangor, Wash. The two men in the truck were treated and released from Magic Valley Memorial Hospital early this morning. William Van Dyke, state patrolman, said the driver apparently went to sleep. One of the mines is shown here in the lower left corner of the photo.

Aircraft Collide Over City

By PAUL M. QUINN
BOISE (UPI)—Two light planes collided in flight over North Boise today and crashed, one of them into a residential area. Officers said six persons were believed killed.

Authorities said there were two persons in one plane and four in the other. All six perished in the crash. Both plummeted into residential areas—one into the yard of the Joffe Yarn business, where 14 children were playing at the time. The other struck five feet from the back yard of the Joffe Yarn business home in an exclusive residential area on the outskirts of the city's North End.

Authorities identified the murdered pilot as one of the victims— from papers found on the body— tentatively as attorney Eugene Smith of Boise. A former prosecuting attorney of Ada County, Smith was the son of retired Chief Justice E. B. Smith of the Supreme Court.

This plane was recovered from the wreckage of plane that came down at Fifth and Union Streets. The plane landed in the middle of Fifth Street and most of the wreckage stayed in a crumpled mass.

A piece of the plane struck the home of Mrs. Gardner Park. See PLANE, Pg. 2, Col. 4.

Naval Mines Scattered As Truck Flips

Two truck drivers miraculously escaped serious injury Wednesday morning when their tractor-trailer rig loaded with Navy underwater mines overturned just west of the Twin Falls interchange on Interstate 80N.

State Patrolman William Van Dyke, investigating officer, said the driver, Charles S. Bligg, 32, apparently went to sleep. The officers were called to the scene at 2:05 a.m.

Mr. Bligg and his roll-off driver, William T. Wilmoth, Welsh City, Mo., were thrown out of the cab. They were treated and released at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital.

Mr. Van Dyke said the transport truck was on route from Seneca, Ill., to Bangor, Wash., with the explosives. None of the large 3,200-pound drums of class A TNT was damaged.

Personnel from the Mountain Home Air Force Base were called in to reload the explosives. They said the drums will be taken to the air base ammunition depot until another truck can come for them.

The 1966 GMC tractor-trailer, belonging to Tri-State Motor Transport Co., was completely demolished.

Officer VanDyke said he expected to issue a citation as soon as he could talk to the two men involved.

One of the pair involved in the accident was contacted Wednesday morning at their motel. He said they were not authorized to give out any information about the accident or their cargo. He said they were both resting at the motel and were not sure how long they would be in Twin Falls.

Wife Of Iraq Immigrant Is Injured In Utah Explosion

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI)—The young wife of a recent immigrant from Iraq remains in critical condition here today following an explosion Tuesday that police believe may have been caused by a dynamite wired to the ignition of the family car.

Mrs. Kinsey R. Rahaw, 24, Granger, suffered multiple injuries to her legs and abdomen when her car was torn apart as she attempted to start it about 8 a.m. in her carport.

The Mahawi family has been the object of threatening and abusive phone calls, vandalism and prowling around the family home. Earlier this year, James Kinsey, chairman of the legislature, said this would cover such items as movement of planes and raising or lowering the thrust stage.

The building opened last September, has had 153 nights of use. Of that amount, 27 were for public use. The legislature, educational use, and 12 others.

During the meeting at the Holiday Inn, the CSI board of trustees extended its approval to the advisory committee for its help and support in changing the public use of the building.

THE WHEELS WERE MADE OF WOOD?

Yes, when roller skates were invented in the 1800's, the wheels were wooden. By the 1900's, they were made of rubber. Children do love their toys and games but they seem to outgrow them while the skates still have years of use in do-it-yourself projects.

Arts Center Fee Schedule Is Reviewed

Costs of operating the College of Southern Idaho Fine Arts Center additional were reviewed Tuesday when the advisory committee held a luncheon meeting at the Holiday Inn.

The committee agreed to re-evaluate the fee schedule for the next fiscal year. At that time it is anticipated more data will be available on which to base any needed fee change.

Battle Blazes Along Salmon

SALMON (UPI) — Firefighters today had established a dirt levee around the Shell Creek fire on the Salmon River but faced the threat of the timber and brush blazes closing nearby.

The Salmon Forest fire dispatcher reported the burn area as of this morning covered some 900 acres with 475 men fighting the flames.

Four helicopters and five TBM retardant bombers were working on the blaze.

An attempt was made to divert the river to cover a hill which has been blocking the lower cut of the Salmon airport runway since a crash-landed Monday night. The blazes had been dropping fire retardant on the blaze 50 miles downriver from the town of Salmon.

Petitions Circulated To Cut Solons Expense Funds

A former chairman of the Idaho Republican Party was in Twin Falls Tuesday circulating petitions which in effect demand cuts in the amounts of money Idaho State legislators receive.

W. C. Burns of Idaho Falls said he is after 25,000 to 30,000 signatures on the matter that can be placed on a referendum ballot in the next election.

It all started with a vote last fall. The Legislature asked for a constitutional amendment which would give the right to raise legislative salaries and expenses, with a 20-day limit on special sessions of the legislature.

"The people voted this down 114,070 to 85,735," Mr. Burns said the legislators chose to ignore the mandate of the people and increased their income by calling for "expense allowances."

He said the increase which would amount to about 80 percent of the salary would amount to $200 a month allowance, and $35 a day expenses and the regular salary of $10 a day in lieu of living Sunday. He said it is also an increase of 20 percent in salaries paid to legislators between sessions.

He said the petition has already circulating would return the lo-

Wrong Guess

WOLVERHAMPTON, England (UPI) — Police officers, Bill Peace hid from police all day in his mother's mop closet.

6,000 Acres Burned In Kimama Area

SHOSHONE — Crews Wednesday morning were still patrolling a fire which burned some 6,000 acres nine miles west of Kimama before being brought under control Saturday by midnight Tuesday.

Richard Beckman, Bureau of Land Management official here, said 60 men and nine tankers, including three from the Burley district, were used to fight the blaze which is believed to be man-caused. The fire started about 2:30 p.m. Tuesday along the Union Pacific right-of-way at Sid crossing.

The fire fighters were hampered by a strong southwest wind per-hour wind which fanned the blaze early in the evening, but later shifted so that the wind was blowing against the fire.

Three aerial tankers made 10 retardant drops on the fire before it was officially termed under control. Beckman said the land included some heavy grass land, but part of the area is in rugged lava rock.

The rough terrain caused ground tankers to get bogged down, the ground tankers, around the area.

A mop-up crew of 20 men was sent to the site about 5 p.m. Wednesday, officials said, and some difficulty was experienced in mop-up along the east side of the fire.

Tuesday afternoon the Shoshone fire department was called to extinguish a grass fire on the Shoshone, which threatened some horse corrals. No damage was reported from the blaze which began at 10:30 p.m. Tuesday along the ground tankers, around the area.

Nelson's Cafe At Filer Gets New Owners

FILER — Nelson's Cafe, on Highway 20, has been sold by Neil and Hazel Nelson, owners, to Jay Sample of Kansas. The name of the restaurant will be changed to Jay's Cafe.

The Nelsons had operated the business the past several years. They have been Magic Valley residents for many years. Mr. Nelson came to Buhl in 1923 and has had a long career in logging, farming, and dairying, besides the cafe business.

Jay's Cafe will continue the same schedule as the former cafe, which includes opening on Sunday through Friday at 4 a.m. and closing at 7 p.m. each day with an earlier closing time on Saturdays.

It did little damage, however, except to carve a furrow through the trees.

Mrs. Parsop, who was visiting a neighbor several doors away at the time of the crash, said she did not hear the crash but saw the fire engines and sirens.

The wreckage at Fifth and Union did not burn. The impact of the crash pushed the front wheels and part of the propeller and most of the engine into the cockpit.

This plane was a red and white Cessna 109, believed to be part of a charter of Comco (1) a tour which left Boise earlier this morning. Although just a few short feet from at least four houses, and many trees, this plane missed power lines and branches when it plummeted to earth.

Several hundred spectators gathered at the scene of this crash, but law enforcement officers had in use ropes to keep them back from the wreckage.

Program Given On Band Concert

Program for the weekly concert by the Twin Falls municipal band, slated for 8:15 p.m. Thursday, is announced by Dr. Staughter, director.

Numbers include "The Green Briers of Westley," Nestler's "Thanks To Thee," Handel's "Vivante Overture," W. T. Jones' "March of Picardy," Haydn Wood; "In a G Major," Rimsky-Korsakov, Gardner, and "The Dam Busters March" Conley.

After intermission the band will play "The Blue Tail Fly," Grundman's "Country Gardens," and English dances "Scarlet Ribbons," Segar's "Cavacas," "The Ballerina," "The Blue Tail Fly," and "The Ballerina."

seen in photographs and much finer, I think, than ever seen before, he said.

He said the pictures showed details never before seen in such a ragged edge of the moon's surface.

The police believed made out of frozen carbon dioxide-dry ice were the clearest details in the initial batch.

The photos taken this morning and to be transmitted back to earth tonight were expected to show greater detail than the first batch.

These photos were expected to knock down once and for all the supposed existence of "so-called canals" that for years have been the stuff of science-fiction writers and stirred scientific controversy.

Viewers of the approach pictures also may see at least one of the two tiny moons that circle Mars. Scientists said the photos will be as sharp as light to be discerned on the screen although the pictures probably would have to be projected to remove distortion before the "moon world" show.

The primary mission was to determine whether the Martian atmosphere could support an earthlike life, not to find out whether life actually exists.

Lighting was asked anyway whether it thought there was life on the Red Planet.

"I would say that the possibilities are 1 per cent or more of 1 per cent, but the important thing is that we can find out if there is or not," Leighton said.

spray of dust to a relatively smooth, brownish gray area of the vast desert.

Dr. Walter W. Kemmerer, chief of operations at the Space Center, said biological technicians spent most of Tuesday making finely ground moon rock powder with sterile water for study's biological testing.

For the initial tests, biologists were using a small group of mice and human tissue cultures to give reasonable assurance of whether it was caused by bugs or chemicals.

"Before we commit this very precious stuff to larger numbers of animals or other test systems, we run through smaller numbers—to assure ourselves we're using it most wisely," Kemmerer said.

Outdoor Art Show Slated For Sunday

FILER — Magic Valley residents will be given again the opportunity to view the paintings of Darwin Taylor, well known artist from Palm Springs, Calif., who will hold an outdoor art show from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Sunday at the Barnard Art Gallery, one-half mile north of the Twin Falls County fairgrounds.

Mr. Taylor, a dramatic realist, has held shows the past two years and will display dozens of scenes, seascapes and some modern art. A painting demonstration will be held at 2:30 p.m. Sunday. The paintings also will be on display from 4 to 8 p.m. the following week.

Mr. Taylor has been painting for more than 15 years and is well known in art circles. He has won many awards for his work and at the Idaho State Festival last year was awarded the first prize in the "Best of Show" category which received the popularity vote at which more than 30,000 people viewed the paintings and cast their votes.

A three-day art clinic will be conducted by Mr. Taylor for interested persons applying for the class. Those interested in attending the clinic should contact Mrs. Emil Bernardi, Filer.

Surtax

The 43 Republicans in the Senate had scheduled a meeting on the compromise today.

If the surtax is adopted after Thursday and made retroactive, it would mean taxpayers would end next year owing the government more in taxes than was withheld from their paychecks.

In the House, Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., said his Ways and Means Committee would have a sweeping tax reform package ready for vote next week, with a floor next Thursday. Mills said the bill could go immediately to the Senate, where it could be added to Nixon's surcharge extension bill, approved and sent to the White House before Congress starts its summer recess Aug. 1.

But Mills' proposal was not likely to be acceptable in the Senate, which probably will demand hearings of its own on tax reform.

Applications received at the Idaho ruling in Indian Hill case required meeting the following conditions:

It must be affirmatively shown that the proposal is feasible from an engineering point of view.

It must be shown that the project is economically feasible over a sufficient period and that soil conditions and other physical characteristics are such as to give reasonable assurance of continued production under proper conservation management.

Each entry involved in a proposal must independently be able to carry its share of the total project — economically and physically.

Full disclosure regarding the arrangements, financial and otherwise, must be revealed in order for ILLM to make informed judgment on the application.

Indonesians Show Feelings Toward U.S. In Nixon Visit

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

When President Nixon around the censure of his own bodyguard and President Suharto by plunging into milling throngs of Indonesians shake their hands, he was experiencing what may well turn out to be the most pleasurable moments of his world tour.

The Indonesia is a nation that saved itself from communism and therefore is a symbol of what the President hopes other Southeast Asian nations can accomplish as the U.S. seeks to lower its own profile in the Pacific.

Its population of 115 million people on islands stretching 3,000 miles on either side of equator give it a fulcrum position equal to that of India in determining Asia's future.

It was the first visit by a U.S. President to those lush islands but with the lowest per capita income in Asia—about $32 annually.

The cordial reception accorded Nixon was a mark of the Indonesian relations since the anti-U.S. diatribes of the toppled President Sukarno and the abortive Communist coup of 1955.

It was not wholly without difficulties. There was Suharto's soft-spoken regret over the billions spent on the U.S. moon shot while so many of the world's millions starved—an echo of the criticism heard in the United States' own poverty belts.

Nor could Nixon promise U.S. help in replacing the rusting weapons supplied to Sukarno by the Soviet Union or any increase in U.S. financial aid now running at $20 million a year.

But on the whole Nixon could derive satisfaction from the trip. A nation which less than five years ago seemed on the verge of falling into the arms of Red China now had eliminated most of its Communist leadership, although at considerable cost in blood.

The Sukarno excesses had left it desperately poor and around $2.5 billion in debt, a debt which since has risen to $3-billion.

But the country had achieved stability. Inflation which had jumped as much as 600 percent in a single year, last year was held to 85 per cent. Huge imports of rice, most of it from the United States, had steadied prices and economic planners foresaw the day when Indonesia

If War 'Dies Of Old Age', What Of Peace Conference?

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI)—There are growing indications that the war in Vietnam will become the first major conflict in modern history to die of old age.

Such a possibility has been suggested recently by a number of military and diplomatic experts, the latest being former Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

Rusk said this week there is now about an even chance the war would end by "withering away" rather than by negotiated settlement.

Granted that Rusk has not been blessed with 100 per cent prescience in previous utterances on Vietnam. Nevertheless, the prospect that the war will succumb to senility is interesting to contemplate.

In times past, of course, it was nothing uncommon for a war to drag on until everybody lost interest in it and it expired of natural causes. Let's assume, for purposes of conjecture, that something of that sort will happen in Vietnam.

Let's assume that by 1983 all 10 American troops have been withdrawn from South Vietnam—and only 14 North Vietnamese soldiers remain

World War II Casualty Found

LESLIE, Mich. (UPI)—For 24 years, Mrs. Kenneth Evans waited, not knowing the date of her son, Donald Seger, missing in action in World War II.

She died in April, never knowing the fate of PFC Seger, 19, an infantryman, missing in action after the storming of a German machine gun nest in 1945. The German government gave up looking in 1951.

"She wouldn't eat," her husband said. "She just worried herself to death."

Last week, the body of her son was found by diggers near the hill he charged on the volunteer mission 24 years ago. His remains were identified by his dogtags and a dental bridge.

Evans said he will be buried beside his son—in the Ingham County community, three months after she finally gave up hope.

Lewiston Girl Wins Log Title

HAYWARD, Wis. (UPI)—Cindy Cook, Lewiston, is the women's world champion log roller for the third consecutive year.

The amazing Miss Cook, who is 15 years old, won her title Sunday by defeating Diane Rowe, Tustin, Calif.

The championship match looked like an instant replay of last year's contest as Miss Cook took Miss Rowe two straight again in the best of three match.

Monday Miss Cook added to her honors when she was named Athlete of the Week by the Inland Empire Sports Writers and Broadcasters at their meeting in Spokane.

below the DMZ. Meanwhile, the South Vietnamese on both sides have long since returned to rice farming.

For all practical purposes, the war will be over. Then the only question will be how to stop the peace conference.

I have a feeling that ending the peace conference may prove even more difficult than ending the war. It wouldn't surprise me if the peace talks outlived the war by 10 years or longer.

Indeed, a situation could arise where the peace talks would be the only thing standing in the way of peace.

Long after the fighting has ceased, U.S. negotiators in Paris will still be demanding that the Communists agree to take certain actions to show their good faith as a necessary first step in the bargaining.

And the North Vietnamese, for their part, will still be denying they have made any concessions that would permit a let-up in hostilities.

A stalemate in negotiations to end a war that already has been over for a couple of years undoubtedly would generate pressure for another international conference, to settle the peace conference.

In fact, it sounds like just the sort of thing that should be turned over to the United Nations.

The GI Bill

A generation ago, something like one out of every two returning World War II veterans took advantage of the opportunities offered by the GI Bill to further their formal education in colleges or technical schools or on-the-job training.

Today, only one in five veterans participating in the GI Bill. Nearly 20 per cent of the 2.7 million Vietnam war veterans mustered out so far have not finished high school, yet only 4 per cent of them have applied for a special high school studies subsidy provided in the 1967 bill.

Federal officials would like to know the reasons for these startlingly different records.

The explanations may be numerous, but two of them seem fairly obvious.

The World War II GI Bill was a magnificent package which a grateful nation presented to its citizen-soldier heroes. The government not only picked up the full tab for tuition but paid for books and materials and gave veterans a living allowance as well.

Under the present bill, veterans receive an allowance only, the amount depending upon marital status and number of dependents.

A more important difference, however, would seem to have to do with the general backgrounds of the two groups of veterans.

World War II saw near-total mobilization of the male population. There were no deferments for ordinary studies beyond high school. When the war ended, not only were those whose educations had been interrupted or postponed ready to take them up again, but they were joined by millions of middle-class Depression youths who suddenly possessed the financial means to go to college.

By contrast, the Vietnam war might be called a "poor boys" war. The young men who have neither the inclination nor the aptitude for college are taken first. A larger proportion of the nation's soldiers are groups than in any previous war. The middle-class youth, who goes to college as a matter of course these days, is drafted-exempt until he has completed his degree work and thus has little need for GI educational aid when his period of service is completed.

No one has measured the tremendous gain to American society by the mass higher education of millions of World War II veterans, if it could be measured. Likewise we can only guess at the loss to the nation in so many Vietnam veterans passing up the educational chances open to them.

Government concern was manifested in President Nixon's setting up of a Presidential Committee on Vietnam Veterans last month. Composed of high administration officials, such as the secretaries of Defense, Labor, and Health, Education and Welfare, its purpose is "to find new programs for a new generation of veterans."

The committee has yet to hold a meeting. It should begin its work soon for it is charged with a vital task. The nation cannot afford not to find ways to motivate a greater percentage of its service veterans to better themselves educationally.

Gone With The Wind?

WASHINGTON — The liberal wing of the Nixon administration, led by Robert Finch, is showing no decision in the administration is finally buttoned up until the moment it is unveiled to the public. Consequently, foes of the Finch plan are working hard to drastically revise the proposal before President Nixon announces it following his return from abroad.

Nevertheless, the tentative decision at the White House is a clear and badly-needed victory for Finch, Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, on the most important domestic legislation to be initiated by the Administration this year.

Indisputable is the fact that the welfare reform constitutes a major encounter in the foggy struggle for domestic policymaking power inside the Administration.

Besides rehabilitating Finch's influence, the tentative decision — if it sticks — will build Dr. Daniel P. Moynihan's reputation as a considerably more than just a liberal potent in the White House. It will point to further deterioration of Dr. Arthur Burns' administration as a policymaker there. Most important, it will correct an apparent Nixon drift rightward and reaffirm the Administration as essentially centrist.

In establishing Federal welfare standards for the states, the plan proposes payments to supplement the Federal welfare income maintenance program advocated by Finch and Moynihan.

However, to avoid offending conservative sensibilities and overly-rebuffing Burns, the program will not carry the income maintenance "budget" over to some conservative camouflage has been supplied by George Schultz, Secretary of Labor.

But stripped of conservative image-making, the apparent defeat of the welfare reform is victory indispensable for Finch to force after as a Washington force. After Finch's fiasco in the Kennedy health care bill, private officials have said privately that another loss in the welfare question would send Finch packing back home to California. President Nixon has openly denied by Finch. What is indisputable is that his humiliation over the rejection of Dr. John Knowles as the government's chief health officer greatly strengthened Finch's hold in the infinitely more important welfare battle.

On a smaller scale, that battle revolves upward the status of Moynihan, the former Democratic White House aide of subdue Democrats. When Moynihan became Mr. Nixon's urban affairs aide, it was widely assumed that he would be a source of publicity and then, shortly, quit over policy. Instead, Moynihan has impressed the President as a prudent, loyal, and effective in the intra-administration dispute over welfare.

The most surprising offshoot, however, is the continued decline of Burns' influence. A distinguished professional economist and long Mr. Nixon's economic tutor, Burns' influence is being eroded by the "assistant" who outranked all other aides given the title of "assistant" with Mr. Nixon's concentration on Burns' role in the administration.

It hasn't worked out that way. Burns has lost out on his supremacy on the staff has proved more a matter of protocol than political reality.

The Administration began, for example, Burns presided over regular 5 p.m. staff meetings attended by White House assistants. In time, the assistants, in the place and finally just ignored the meetings. They were discontinued some time ago.

Burns' influence was also weakened by two much younger White House aides — still generally unknown beyond the Potomac — John Birchman and Paul McClellan. The scholarly, carefully reasoned conservatism of Burns and of Martin Anderson, a brilliant young economist who was Burns' principal adviser, has proved an impediment in the Nixon White House.

Man Against The Sea

It is often said — with greater truth now than ever before — that we know more about the surface of the moon than we do about the bottom of the ocean.

Yet even though there has been no "giant leap for mankind" in the last 40 years of earth to compare with that of Apollo, a major scientific investigation into man's native environment continues apace.

At about the same time as the 300-foot-tall Saturn V rocket was lifting the Apollo and its crew of three off the pad at Cape Kennedy on the most adventurous voyage ever made into space, 40 miles to the east the 50-foot-long research submersible Ben Franklin with six men aboard was dipping into the ocean on a Gulf Stream Drift Mission, the most ambitious attempt yet made to unlock the secrets of the great current of warm water that sweeps past the coasts of North America and Europe.

The ship, commanded by famed undersea explorer Dr. Jacques Piccard, is scheduled to drift northward in the current and emerge around August 11 at a point 200 to 300 miles southeast of the tip of Cape Cod. It will operate at depths ranging as deep as 1,400 feet — and will use the case with the man on the moon, should anything go wrong there will be no chance of rescue.

Another inquiry into the mysteries of the ocean is nearing completion. This is BOMEX — the Barbados Oceanographic and Meteorological Experiment. Begun last May, BOMEX involved the participation of seven federal departments and independent agencies, 20 universities and six industrial laboratories and the co-operation of the government and the co-operation of the government and the co-operation of the government.

An immense "cube" of sea and air, stretching from the ocean floor 18,000 feet down to the stratosphere 100,000 feet above and covering 99,000 square miles of the Atlantic off the West Indian Islands, was stacked out of the experiment. Into the cube converged an armada of 10 ships, 24 planes and 1,500 scientists and technicians to mount what the Environmental Science Services Administration calls "the most difficult and complex scientific effort ever conducted over a large ocean area."

The purpose of BOMEX was to study the links between the sea and the air and their interactions with the energy radiated from the sun. This mechanism is almost unknown, yet it is the primary process which drives the world's atmospheric circulation and its weather systems.

The hope is that when this process is better understood, it will be possible to extend weather predictions beyond the present few days.

In quite concrete terms, the nation's efforts in both inner and outer space are part and parcel of one grand assault on the vast unknowns of the universe man dwells in. This space company — Grumman Aerospace Corp. — built both the Ben Franklin and the Eagle lunar lander modules, and BOMEX utilized the aid of a 10 earth-orbiting satellites.

OLD MAN MOON Dear Mr. Spectator: I took a good look at that moon last night. It looked so close I don't know why it took so long for those three guys to get there. They must have stopped on a moon or a planet along the way for a coffee break. Will you please tell me how come a great big thing like that in the air could dodge all those stars? There is one bright star so close to the moon. Do you suppose Luna 15 dodged that star and hit the moon? I'll bet there has been a lot more people looking at that beautiful moon the last few days than ever before. Wouldn't it be great to live long enough to see what is going to happen in the next 100 years? Even 50 would be great!! E.H.

WASHINGTON — Contemplating the House Ways and Means Committee's vote to reduce the oil depletion allowance from 27.5 per cent to 20 per cent, I am charitably reminded of a remark by the late Dorothy Parker, still the only female humorist in America's literary Pantheon. "One day when a male congressman sent her one red rose every day for a month, Miss Parker reacted with an acid witticism. "Oh, red roses! I'm not interested. Why not one Cadillac?"

Ways and Means has done a little better by the ordinary taxpayer. Its recommendation, after all, is the first serious reducing of the oil tax structure since the present law went on the books in 1926. Let's call it, then, a red rose. Let's call it only a start, while finding comfort in the expectation that a stiffer slash could very well be enacted by the House and Senate floors during the next few weeks. Enough members of Congress, both liberal and conservative, have felt the heat of a taxpayer revolt to put such an eventually very much in the realm of political possibility.

The recommendation would bring in a fairly hefty piece of extra tax revenue by cutting 7.5 per cent off the surpluses of the oil and gas industries now deducted from its income before computing Federal income taxes. Since the committee also voted to reduce the allowance on most other minerals — on coal, for example, from 10 to 7 per cent — Federal revenues could be raised by about $400 million, if the depletion allowance is reduced.

This is a personal victory for a sort for this space, which since 1963 has been campaigning for a 10 per cent depletion allowance. More important, it is a personal victory for Main Street, the committee's 187 vote exploded the myth that the oil and gas industry, even Rep. Hale Boggs, D-Tx, was forced to go along with what a few years ago would have been deemed a sacrilege.

Boggs' acquiescence was revealing of a new attitude on Capitol Hill. Last November he voted for the larger oil production in the nation, and as Boggs noted he has been a "life-long friend" of the oil industry. Yet it was Boggs who offered the final motion on rolling back the allowance.

Boggs, of course, paid lavish tribute to the industry as "vital to the economy of this country" and even gave it a big share of the credit for the successful moon landing. But he acknowledged that the allowance "has been a matter of continuing divisive national controversy." It is a personal victory for a sort for this space, which since 1963 has been campaigning for a 10 per cent depletion allowance. for depreciation taken over a period of from five to 25 years. The bill also should take a hard look at the practices that permit a tax reduction not only for the industry but for investors in oil stocks, whose interest in exploration is purely financial.

There will be some foot dragging during this process by an other Louisiana, Sen. Russell Long, Democratic chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, who has always opposed tinkering with the allowance. But Boggs' action should be a broad hint to Long that times have changed. That is to say, the ribbon clerk has decided that if he can't have a depletion allowance, he's a government at least should be a tough singer with the fat cats who do.

WASHINGTON (NRA)—A by-product of the moon program currently will bring hope to millions of the world's farm poor and save untold suffering for the thousands each year who lose crops because of drought. The potential annual savings in agriculture, shipping, fishing, forestry, flood control, mining, hydroelectric power cost and other planning in the billions of dollars and tens of thousands of lives.

The program calls for launching a series of satellites capable of monitoring, with a variety of sensors, what is happening on the oceans, under shallow waters and on and beneath the surface of the earth.

It is not possible to overstate the importance of this program. There is no reason an expanded system could not cover the world, once the program proves itself technically. These earth sciences satellites could thus provide a sort of technical aid program of great value to both developed and developing countries at a relatively small cost. The United States or for a co-operating group of the technically advanced nations.

Perspiration

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My son has trouble with sweating feet and it causes him embarrassment. His socks collect dirt from the shoe lining and it is impossible to wash out.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I was decided by a physician that I am allergic to tetanus. As a child I had two bad reactions from shots and I have never forgotten about it, as I am a secretary, but I want to do some camping on my vacation and would like your opinion as I do not feel safe in case of accident. V.P.

Frequent boosters of tetanus toxoid have been found not to be necessary, since the immunity produced by it lasts longer than formerly had been supposed. Do you can have your vacation camping without a booster and still feel safe.

Note to No-Name: Emphysema is a chronic, progressive, different ailments. Emphysema is a loss of elasticity in the lungs.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Instant non-fat milk has been on the market for a number of years. Has daily use of it had any harmful effect on users? Has it caused any weight reduction? J. H. E.

Nothing harmful about it. It is equivalent to fresh milk, but with the butterfat removed. Removing the fat reduces the calorie count, so it is helpful in reducing to the extent that it has fewer calories than regular milk.

Oregon Governor Asks 'Cons

SEATTLE (UPI)—Gov. Tom McCall of Oregon asked the Western states today to join in a landmark "conservation compact" to make the region more livable.

"We've met a national goal to put a man on the moon by 1970," he said. "Now let our goal be to ensure man's living on earth."

The Oregon Republican, in remarks prepared for delivery to the annual Western Governors' Conference, urged a new multi-state conservation compact "to protect and enhance the livability of the West."

Such a compact, he said, would spell out areawide standards for air and water quality, control of dangerous pesticides, removal of solid wastes, recreational development, land use and even vandalism.

"The oil in the channel of Santa Barbara, the DDT in the salmon of Alaska, the soft shells of the eggs of the brown pelican — these are all joint problems of the family of the West," said McCall.

McCall, chairman of a natural resources seminar at the conference, noted the West already has compacts for marine fisheries, nuclear energy and higher education.

"The land, the space, the water and our abundant resources offer an unparalleled opportunity for the West to be effective in population redistribution by providing the place for the new cities of this nation," McCall said.

He added, "It makes no sense at all to provide for more and more people—and then find our states not fit places in which to live."

Gov. Ronald Reagan showed up for the first time Tuesday. And, as usually happens, the Californian almost immediately found himself in the middle of a critique on campus arrest.

Reagan said he agreed with his former lieutenant governor, Robert H. Flinch, that Congress should not withhold federal funds from riot-torn colleges.

"There's no way you can do that without penalizing the great majority of students," Reagan said.

Flinch, secretary of Education and Welfare, had told the governors Congress was "overreacting to campus turmoil. We're planning it down to California. Reagan was asked whether he likewise believes there has been overreaction."

"No I don't," he replied.

Reagan explained universities and colleges actually play a continuing campus unrest. "When outright eruption it's easy for people who know what led up to it to say it was spontaneous eruption."

Reagan chaired Tuesday session, a seminar on transportation and traffic safety.

It was announced that President Nixon within 10 days receive from Transportation Secretary John Volpe a proposal for a 12-year mass transit program costing $10 billion.

Rogers Says Reds Reject Saigon Role

TOKYO (UPI)—U.S. Secretary of State William P. Rogers told Japanese cabinet officials today that North Vietnam continues to insist on the overthrow of the South Vietnamese government as a condition for further progress in peace negotiations.

Rogers' statement came in opening remarks at a three-day conference between American cabinet officers and leaders of Japan's conservative government.

The North Vietnamese so far continue to insist that the South Vietnamese government be displaced by what they call a coalition. Rogers was quoted as saying by State Department spokesman Robert McChesney.

"They want this without any expression of public opinion on this question. In effect, they want to impose a government and then have an election to ratify it."

Rogers told the Japanese the United States is cautiously hopeful for better relations with the Soviet Union, but sees only continuing hostility from Red China for the time being.

There is some evidence from Moscow of at least a flickering sense of mutual respect with the United States and other nations in moving toward a less dangerous and somewhat less hostile state of international relations, Rogers was quoted as saying.

Solons Warn Of Lacks In Defense Setup

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Congressional investigators have warned that the same "serious deficiencies" which resulted in capture of the USS Pueblo and the EC121 intelligence plane have impaired the nation's ability to meet a nuclear attack.

Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird, responding to the criticism, said steps have been taken to correct intelligence deficiencies. He noted that tips like the Pueblo now have orders on how to defend themselves against an attack such as the one which snared the intelligence ship.

The congressional criticism came in the form of a report from a special Armed Services subcommittee which conducted a five-month investigation into both the Pueblo capture and the downing of the EC121 by North Korean fighter planes. In general the report said the military brass was more at fault than the Pueblo's crew for that incident.

"There exist serious deficiencies in the organizational and administrative military command structure of both the Department of the Navy and the Department of Defense," the report said. The deficiencies, it added, rest in the fact that while the military can gather intelligence, it is unable, in the case of the Pueblo and EC121, to relay this information in a timely and comprehensible fashion to those charged with the responsibility for making decisions.

As a result, the report said, "our military command structure is now simply unable to meet the emergency criterion of instant response to nuclear attack laid down by President Nixon."

Rep. Otis G. Pike, D-N.Y., chairman of the investigating subcommittee, said: "We have never demonstrated any capability to get a message from a scene of crisis to the President, and a message back."

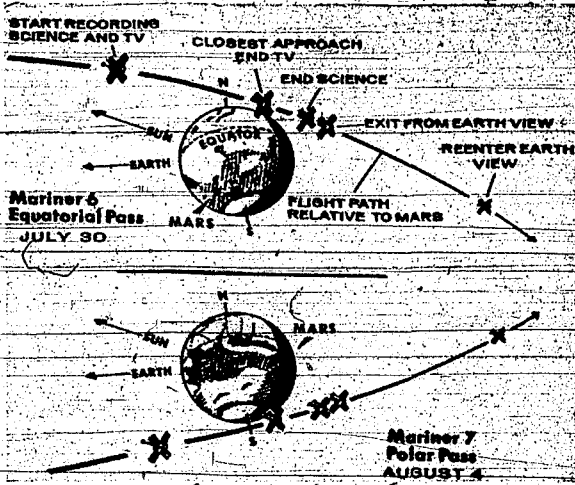

Truck Is Burned At Glens Ferry

GLENS FERRY — A 1969 International Truck pulling a trailer for hauling pickup campers was damaged by fire on Highway 201, east of the west of the King Hill Port of Entry Station at 3:20 p.m. Saturday.

The driver, Rainey Jensen, 25, Newport, attempted to extinguish the blaze, using three fire extinguishers. It started back of the cab on the main part of the truck, reported Elmore County deputy sheriff Chester Taylor, who could give no explanation of its origin.

The Glens Ferry Volunteer Fire department sent the city's sprinkling truck with its load of water and extinguished the blaze before the gasoline tanks exploded. Traffic was routed around the area for about an hour.

Presidential Commission Asks Curb On Gun Ownership

By EUGENE V. RISHER
 WASHINGTON (UPI)—A presidential commission has recommended a state-federal attack on gun ownership that could take as many as 21 million handguns away from persons who presently own them.

The suggestion was made Monday by the President's Commission on the causes and prevention of violence, a panel established to investigate the background of assassinations and urban violence.

"The commission recommended that states be given four years to pass laws deciding which of their citizens should be allowed to possess handguns. At the end of four years, a federal law would take over requiring all pistol owners not so protected by state laws to surrender their arms, for compensation.

There are an estimated 24 million handguns—such as revolvers and automatic pistols—owned by Americans, the commission said. The combined state-federal attack could take 90 per cent of those out of circulation, the panel said. Owners would be compensated at an average of $20 per gun, about a half-billion dollars, total.

Police, security guards, small businessmen in high-crime areas and those with a special need for self-protection would be allowed to keep handguns. The commission estimated that most of the handguns now possessed by private citizens are kept for household protection.

The panel specifically recommended, however, that home-protection would not constitute a sufficient cause for pistol ownership under the federal statute. Long guns, such as rifles and shotguns, would also be affected in that owners would be required to have an identification card and anyone under the age of 18, as well as certain types of criminals or others adjudicated as incompetent, would be barred from ownership.

The Federal Gun Control Act of 1968 prohibits most interstate firearms sales and all interstate mail order ammunition sales. Measures have been introduced in the current session of Congress to require federal registration of all guns and licensing of their owners.

Factions Split Over MD Chapter

Is there a Magic Valley chapter of the Muscular Dystrophy Association? Two and a half weeks ago the answer might have been "no." Today the answer might be "yes."

Clouding the controversy are the opinions of people from two factions.

One faction represents the Magic Valley chapter of the MDA. They say the organization was never disbanded and work is going on.

The other faction headed by Larry Mambert, who has two children with muscular dystrophy, claims the Magic Valley chapter was disbanded two and a half weeks ago.

In spite of this, a meeting of the Magic Valley chapter was held last week. Dewey Shady, listed as vice-president in a news release, is reported to have conducted the meeting.

Mrs. Wilson Churchman of Shoshone was introduced as secretary. Tuesday it was learned, a president will be appointed to represent this Magic Valley chapter. The appointment will be made by the local board of directors, it was reported.

At the meeting last week, Mrs. Clifton Peterson, Jerome, presented the annual audit of the chapter. She said the chapter spent $322 last year. Of this amount, $69.84 was for fund raising and administration, she said. The annual appeal showed a 72 per cent. net went to the national association. $307.88 last year while the chapter collected $340.53 last year.

Of the amount raised, it was reported that 72 per cent went to the national association.

Mrs. Barbara Carpenter, Jerome, patient service chairman, said 72 per cent of the money sent to the national association is to be used for research and the balance for administration of the MD association.

Mr. Mambert said, "Forty per cent cannot be used for research if what happened to us is any help."

What happened, according to Mr. Mambert, is the local chapter of the Magic Valley chapter was disbanded because the local chapter was forced to pay $500 in bills run up by the local chapter, said a representative who brought a television personality, Kent McCord, to the benefit. Mr. McCord's wife also attended the benefit.

Mr. Mambert said that left a profit of $200 and of this, 75 per cent or $150 was sent to the national association.

He said $50 went to the local chapter.

Mr. Mambert proposes a Magic Valley Muscular Dystrophy Chapter be organized which is not affiliated with the national association.

"This chapter then could use its resources in direct aid to stricken MD children and in direct grants to researchers," he said. "It has no quarrel with local people working for muscular dystrophy children as long as their efforts are not on behalf of the national association."

"We're all trying to do what is best for the stricken children in this area," about 70 to 75 people were present.

of them — and for the MD children throughout the nation," he said.

Mr. Mambert said he would like to create national attention to this problem and get a federal investigation into the operations of the national association.

Some of the representatives of the national association draw more in an annual salary than is raised in the entire state of Idaho in one year," he said. He added that the first class "five-days-a-week 52 weeks a year rent cars and go through donated funds like it was water."

He said when it is all over, "I doubt if there is very much left for research into this disease."

Mrs. Carpenter has a boy stricken by muscular dystrophy. She said local funds have been used to purchase several wheelchairs for children in the area, including a wheelchair for her son, and several camperships to Camp Eastern Seal have been purchased with funds from the local chapter.

"In addition we have sent three or four patients to Portland for examination at the clinic there. I think we spend our local money wisely, but I'd like to see more money go for research," she said.

In referring to the basketball incident — Mr. Mambert said when actor McCord and his wife arrived in Twin Falls and realized their expenses were being drawn from the local chapter, the couple began to pay the own expenses. He said the Holiday Inn also helped.

He said the McCords were brought to Twin Falls by a national representative and a chapter continues, Mr. Mambert says he will fight any effort toward affiliation with the national association, while the other faction pledges its support of the national association.

Burley Takes Action To Improve Streets

BURLEY — The Burley City Council overruled a protest and went ahead to form a local improvement district designed to improve city streets north of the railroad tracks to Eighth Street on the east side of the city.

The protest, in the form of a letter, was entered by F. B. Nelson, Burley, Twin Falls, and several promotions and pay increases among city employees were approved by the council during the Monday night meeting.

Leon Bedke was promoted to assistant city engineer, replacing Neal Eagar, who resigned several months ago. Ronald Nelson was advanced to assistant to Mr. Bedke and both received $50 a month salary increase.

In the police department, Kirby Harkness was advanced to first class, and Leslie Stimpson, George McAdams and Cherlie Harkness to second class, and received pay increases.

Other city employees granted salary boosts were Paul Monroe, Vern Schaefer, Lamont Dudley, Roger Wageman and Robert Mounce.

Two assistants for the city swimming pool will receive $1 an hour, and swimming pool temporary summer help will receive a 10 cent per hour increase, according to action by the council.

Phil Payne Airways airport business operations lease was approved to March 31, 1971, with a five-year renewal option. Councilmen reported on complaints they had received about weeds growing at the Y-Dell intersection on the airport roads. This area is a park development now under way by the Kivwina Club.

A complaint on a traffic hazard at 24th Street and Overland Avenue was discussed and Mayor Joe Peters, said city crews will be instructed to paint curbs red along Overland Avenue back from the 24th Street intersection to eliminate parking and the clearance for oncoming traffic.

Lawsuit Filed Over Snake Bite

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A 5-year-old boy who lost his lower right arm after a rattlesnake bit him, has filed suit for $750,000.

Peter Scharer, 9, Richmond, was bitten Aug. 3, 1968, while he and his father were at the Lake of the Pines Country Club near Auburn.

The suit filed in Superior Court asserts that the club knew, or should have known, that there were rattlesnakes on its property and over from their natural habitat due to construction of an artificial lake on said premises.

After the bite, the complaint asserts that the boy was hospitalized at Auburn Faith Hospital for a month, then transferred to Pacific Presbyterian Hospital, where the amputation was performed.

GEORGE D. NEWTON — a firearms specialist for the National Commission on Violence, told the Senate Juvenile Delinquency Subcommittee on Tuesday that the government should confiscate at least 30 per cent of all pistols owned in the U. S., but should allow all persons, "except a small group of prohibited persons," to own rifles and shotguns.

He said the McCords were brought to Twin Falls by a national representative and a chapter continues, Mr. Mambert says he will fight any effort toward affiliation with the national association, while the other faction pledges its support of the national association.

BATHROOM DIVIDED — Among the most popular bathroom design trends is the compartmented bath. In such a divided bathroom, the facilities — shower, tub, lavatory and vanity — are partitioned from each other to permit their simultaneous use. Ceramic tile is often used to decoratively tie these separate compartments together.

Nixon Urges Banks To Aid Collegians

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Nixon administration today proposed giving banks an incentive payment to spur loans money for loans to students before colleges open in September.

James E. Allen Jr., education commissioner, told a House Education subcommittee "emergency legislation" is necessary to encourage banks to make the loans for which they receive a lower rate of interest.

The student loans are guaranteed by the government but presently have a maximum interest rate of 7 per cent. The banks now charge 8.5 per cent to their preferred customers.

Under the administration bill, the government would pay an incentive fee of up to 3 per cent above the current 7 per cent interest limit and would review the amount of the fee each six months to determine if it should be adjusted.

Banks recently raised their prime interest rate—charged to their preferred or most important customers—to 8.5 per cent. Earlier testimony from bankers indicated that interest on student loans would have to be at least 9.5 per cent a year.

Under the loan program, the government would pay all of the interest for the student while he is in college. After he leaves college the student starts paying on the loan and assumes the full 7 per cent interest rate with the government handling the interest above 7 per cent.

Dear Abby
By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My sister's husband has an incurable disease and according to the doctor he can't last more than six months. Believe it or not, he is a lawyer and my husband doesn't know if he has a will or not. And listen to this. After he had one of his bad days she hinted around that maybe he should put his affairs in order, and he said, "What for? I'm not going any place!"

Is it possible that he doesn't want to face the facts? There's a lot involved, as he had a first wife by whom he had children, and even grandchildren and my sister hasn't the faintest idea of where she stands. Who should tell him how much time he has? We think it's wrong to tell her husband, but the doctor says he doesn't believe in telling his patients things like that.

BATON—ROUGE

DEAR BATON: From the way your sister "hints around" I doubt if anyone will ever tell her husband anything. Perhaps he knows, and his affairs are sufficiently "in order" to suit him.

DEAR ABBY: In answer to "BOTHERED" whose husband looks at other women and comments on them. This is not an irritating problem, it's a healthy one. What does she want—a dead man to live with? I've been married to a "looker" for 35 years, and I wouldn't have him any other way. If Harry quits looking, he's no good to me either.

My husband loves people, and in his business he has come in contact with lots of them. You should see the older ones light up when Harry calls them "Dear, Honey, and Doll."

As long as he comes home to me every night, I'll meet my own needs. Do you know who's responsible for it? His WIFE! A jealous, nagging, bawling wife will drive a man to other women quicker than anything I know.

So tell "BOTHERED" to be glad her husband looks at other women. It's not an irritating problem, it's a healthy one. What does she want—a dead man to live with?

MRS. N. IN PHOENIX

DEAR ABBY: What factor do you consider the most essential if a woman is to have a lasting marriage?

ELLEN

DEAR ELLEN: A lasting husband.

DEAR ABBY: A mother signed "WORRIED" wrote that her six-year-old daughter had been taken into the woods by a 12-year-old neighbor boy three times, but she (the mother) was told that she could do nothing about it until she had medical proof of actual damage. Whoever told her that was wrong! If there is a juvenile department in her town or county, that mother should talk to them about her problem. She should also consult her county attorney who will inform her of her rights in regard to trespassing and molesting. Trespassing involves the right to keep people off one's property (either owned or rented), and "molesting" involves "bothering" a person, mentally or physically. It includes just "speaking" to a person against his will.

In most states, a person who is being molested can take two witnesses and go to the molester (or in the case of a minor to the presence of the two witnesses tell the molester to stay away from the family and property of the molester. If the molester does not stop, the molester can file charges with the county attorney.

If the molested person feels there is any danger when he goes to serve notice on the molester, he should take a policeman along with him to protect him and his witnesses.

Ruby Gerke Is Bride Of Crystal

FILER—The Lutheran Church of the Good Shepherd, July 29, was the setting for the July 29 wedding of Ruby Gerke to Crystal. Ruby Gerke is daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Gerke, former Filer residents now living in Idaho, and Keith Leon Crystal, Pocatello.

Rev. Gerald Hoffman performed the double ring ceremony before a background of yellow and white flowers in baskets and on the altar, and tapers in candelabras.

Mrs. Joan Paradis was organist and accompanied, Carol Grooms, soloist.

The bride wore a tiered floor-length white gown, and a veil of illusion. She carried a nosegay bouquet of yellow and white flowers tied with streamers.

Mrs. Wanda Salisbury, Meridian, aunt of the bride, was matron of honor, and Susan Lutz, Filer, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Laura Littlefield, Pocatello, and Brenda Littlefield, Marsing, cousin of the bride.

Rocky Lynn Watson was best man. Ushers were James Gerke, brother of the bride, Val Leuven and Ron Littlefield, all Pocatello.

Kovan Crystal, nephew of the bridegroom, was flower girl. Candlelighters were Jerry Billock, Marsing, and Paul Coome, Pocatello.

A reception followed at the church fellowship hall, Mr. and Mrs. August Gerke, hosts, were among the special guests.

STRETCH LEFTOVERS

Here's a nifty way to stretch leftover pork. Slice tops off 6 small green peppers; remove seed and membranes. Cook in boiling water until tender; drain. Meanwhile, prepare 1 package fried rice mix according to package directions. Add 2 cups of cooked pork (1 can (8 ounces) tomato sauce and 1/2 cup chopped onion. Place peppers in shallow baking dish; top with rice mix. Bake for 20 minutes. Makes 6 servings.

BONNIE LEE BLAKESLEE
Miss Blakeslee Engaged To Wed Chamberlain

FILER—The engagement of Bonnie Lee Blakeslee to Bruce Chamberlain, son of Mrs. Lucille Chamberlain and the late Harold Chamberlain, San Mateo, Calif., is announced by Mr. and Mrs. Leon J. Wright, Filer. Miss Blakeslee is the daughter of Mrs. Wright and the late Roy R. Blakeslee.

She was graduated from Twin Falls High School and the University of Idaho and had one year's training at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital. She now is employed as a nurse at the University of Idaho Medical Clinic, Palo Alto, Calif.

Mr. Chamberlain was graduated from San Mateo High School and attended the College of San Mateo for three years and has served four years in the Navy. He is associated with Moonlight Electric, Sunnyvale, Calif.

A Sept. 30 wedding is planned at Mountain View Club, where the couple will reside.

Capucci Leaves Nothing To The Imagination

ROME (UPI)—Roberto Capucci left nothing to the imagination in daytime clothes for winter. He slit maxiskirts right up to the waist and put them over nothing more than light weight wool flirts.

Maxicoats came over matching lights and little dresses that were only belted. Coats were another winter offering from Capucci, who lavished tweed gowns and coats with fox hems, collars, and cuffs.

Cocktail gitters were skinny little crepe or glen knit minidresses with huge bead trim. They were slit up each side of the hip.

For evening Capucci preferred a covered up look in satin. Long flowing skirts, a n matching blouse, and long sleeves were worn beneath floor-length maxicoats in white or in black, edged in matching fox.

Unadorned satin evening gowns blossomed into opulence with huge satin stoles heavily embroidered with beads and jewels.

His fox trim followed the trend to lots of fur which all designers have followed the first six days of the Italian fall and winter fashion shows.

Limo-Cheese Salad
1 package lime gelatine
2 eggs, separated
1/2 cup sugar
1 pound cottage cheese
1 cup whipping cream
1/2 cup hot water
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla
1/2 cup milk
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 tablespoon grated lemon rind

Heat water and lemon juice and dissolve gelatine. Set aside to cool. Beat egg yolks slightly in top of double boiler, add salt, sugar and milk. Cook over hot water until thick, stirring or beating constantly. Remove from heat and add gelatine mixture and mix thoroughly. Cool.

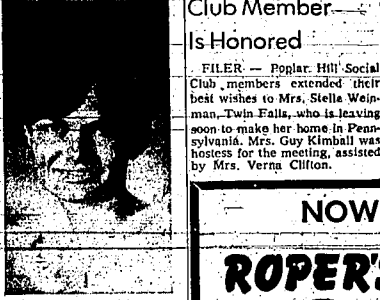

Add cheese that has been beaten and blended until creamy. Add lemon rind and vanilla. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites and whipped cream. Mold in individual forms, chilling in refrigerator at least an hour. Garnish with maraschino cherries and pineapple cubes. May also be set in flat dish, then cut into serving pieces. Pick up 8 pieces.

(The Times-News will pay $5 each week for the best recipe submitted for Magic Valley Favorites. If you have a favorite recipe, just mail it to the Recipe Department, Women's Page Editor. This recipe becomes the property of the Times-News and cannot be returned.)

SANDY SKINNER
Sandy Skinner Reveals Truth

BUHL—Mr. and Mrs. Jack Skinner, Buhl, announce the engagement of their daughter, Sandy, to Wayne Hoag, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hoag, Twin Falls.

Miss Skinner was graduated from Filer High School in 1969 and is attending St. Mark's School of X-ray Technology, Salt Lake City.

Mr. Hoag was graduated from Filer High School in 1969 and is serving in the U.S. Navy. No wedding date has been set.

Make Foreign Affairs Your Specialty

If you are ever asked to entertain a foreign dignitary, avoid serving him the foods of his country. The tastes he wants to talk about—back home—are American—hot dogs, Ju Reusevelt, barbecues, etc. Johnson, a Republican clam bake.

But your neighbors will welcome foods not of their native land. World-wide traipsing has attuned palates to specialties from other countries, andavoring them on one's shore brings back glorious vacation memories.

In years past, finding delicacies in every language was often an impossibility; at least a chore. Today, a stroll along a single aisle of a specialty food shop reveals countless exotic makings for a successful foreign affair. Added to the shelves ready to go—entertainment. In the interest of showmanship, and for your own entertainment, you will probably want to personalize the fancy foods with tempting distinctive touches.

Garden Variety Plants May Be Irritating

CHAMPAIGNE, Ill.—Poison Ivy has hogged the spotlight but chrysanthemums, daisies, feverfew, philodendrons, nettles and buttercups can be equally irritating, according to Dr. Albert H. Stepany.

The University of Illinois dermatologist calls these plants "bad actors"—botanical irritants which provoke skin and eye reactions in sensitized people.

The irritating chemicals may be anywhere in the plant from leaf to tuber, and the poison capacity depends upon the weather, the season, the terrain and the stage of development.

Unfortunately, once you develop a sensitivity to one plant, you're likely to become sensitive to other irritant plants as well.

SPECIAL TOUCH
If you're about to paint your home, add a special touch to wooden trim. Coat window sashes, shutters, and doors with colorful exterior semi-gloss or high gloss enamel.

FASHION FOOTNOTES FOR FALL

For an extra dish on a buffet table, France's baked lentils make a change from Boston's contribution to our repertoire. Japan's pliant barbecued mushrooms, are a perfect flavor contrast. Toss the lentils with the barbecue sauce from the mushroom can (and extra bottled barbecue sauce if necessary), arrange in a bowl, and garnish with the mushrooms.

HOW MUCH TO BUY?
"How much beef should I allow per serving?" This is a question homemakers often ask. Here's a guide for boneless beef such as boneless round steak, ground beef, stew meat and rolled roast, allow 1/4 pound per serving. For beef with average amount of bone such as bone-in roasts and steaks allow 1/2 pound per serving; beef with more bone, as short ribs, allow 3/4 to 1 pound per serving.

Club Member Is Honored
FILER—Poplar Hill Social Club members extended their best wishes to Mrs. Stella Weinman, Twin Falls, who is leaving soon to make her home in Pennsylvania. Mrs. Guy Kimball was hostess for the meeting, assisted by Mrs. Verna Clifton.

Mrs. Alda Ortel read an article on "The Grand Canyon." Mrs. Fred Reichert and Mrs. Weinman received game prizes. Appreciation was expressed to Cheryl and Jeanne Chambers for making the club yearbook.

The annual club picnic will be held at 12:30 p.m. Aug. 17 in the Twin Falls City Park. Mrs. Arnold Gier and Mrs. Ruben Lerman are in charge of arrangements.

Pre-Season Games Begin Saturday Night; Unitas And Colts Face Chargers

By WILLIAM BERIGAN
The Baltimore Colts would probably like to forget their first meeting with an American Football League team. That was in the Super Bowl of course, and the Colts found themselves losing to the New York Jets 16-7. It had to be an even more humiliating experience for the Colts because they were 17-point favorites in the game.

But in their first exhibition game on Saturday night, the Colts find themselves facing the San Diego Chargers of the AFL. Overshadowing the game itself, however, is the question of whether quarterback Johnny Unitas has fully recovered from an elbow injury that put him out of action most of last season.

"The famed No. 13 came off to a rousing start against the Jets," Namath, and even the New York players could feel the electricity Unitas generated.

But not even the master could put the game out for Baltimore. Earl Morrill, the man who took-over for Unitas when he was injured and won the National Football League's Most Valuable Player award, will be around to help out again this year. Morrill has said he is considering retiring, and Unitas and Morrill might both be reaching the end of their careers.

Unitas and Morrill open against one of the AFL's top passers in John Hadl, who threw for 27 touchdowns last year, and the Chargers' Lance Alworth is the leading receiver with 58 catches last year.

Backfield injuries in the Colts' training camp have forced all-pro tight end John Ramsey to try his legs as a running back and Barry Lee Dunn, a veteran who carried the ball 72 times for 219 yards with the Atlanta Falcons last year, was acquired in a trade this week.

The Colts will feature a few changes with Roy Hilton and John Williams vying for the defensive end spot left vacant by the retirement of Ordele Browne. Charlie Stokes probably will win the left corner back slot.

In other exhibition games Saturday night, the Minnesota Vikings of the NFL tackle the AFL's Miami Dolphins at Tampa, Fla.; the Chicago Bears face Vince Lombardi's New York Jets at Washington in an NFL clash; the AFL Buffalo Bills invade Houston to play the AFL Oilers and the Kansas City Chiefs of the AFL meet the Oakland Raiders of the AFL at Birmingham, Ala. The Vikings won the Central Division last season with a 13-3 record behind a stellar defensive line including Jim Marshall, Gary Larsen, Alan Magee and Carl Eller and the running of Bill Brown. The Dolphins' promising quarterback, Bob Griese, has Karl Noonan and Jack Clancy back as targets.

Lombardi, the builder of Green Bay's championship dynasty, returns to coaching with Washington after a year's retirement. Quarterback Sammy Jurgensen, who has perhaps the best arm in the NFL, has recovered from rib injuries to lead the Redskins' attack, but wild receiver Charley Taylor is nursing a fractured wrist.

The Oakland-Kansas City clash probably will preview the AFL's Western Division title race between the top contenders. They tied for the Western title last year and Oakland took the crown in a playoff.

It might seem a little early, at the end of July, to think about which team is going to win the AFL's championship. But, after all, baseball's All-Star game got out-of-the-way last week. And that means football's season is on the way.

District Slow-Pitch Tournery Begins Friday

Bud's Duds is the favorite Friday night when the Fifth District Slow-Pitch Softball Tournament gets underway at Harmon Park, which will host the state meet at Coeur d'Alene on the line.

Seven squads will make up the tournament, including Blizz Beer, Bob's Husky Service, Royal Lounge, Varsity Olympia Beer, and the Turf Club in addition to defending champ Bud's Duds.

The Twin Falls City Slow-Pitch League, as no other town in the area, has a slow-pitch team.

This year Bud's Duds made the best showing of any Twin Falls squad, finishing fourth and topping defending champ Post Falls in the process. Turf Club

Leo Settles Beef With Owner

CHICAGO (UPI)—Chicago Cubs Manager Leo Durocher and his boss Tuesday settled their dispute over Durocher's recent trip to Eagle River, Wis., which had left the pennant happy Cubs without a manager and the club's owner in a fury.

"We got our signals all straightened out. Everything is all right," Cubs owner Philip K. Wrigley said after a conference with the perpetually Durocher.

On Saturday, Durocher excused himself from Wrigley's field during the Cubs' spring training in Los Angeles. He said he had a stomach upset.

DUPLICATE PLAY MORE COMPETITIVE

Today's hand is taken from a match point quiz in Jeff Rubens' new book. We have filled in the East and West hands so that you can see that the spade finesse is going to work. Therefore, it is easy to see that it will pay declarer to take it at his one no-trump contract in a match point game.

The play starts with West opening the queen of diamonds. East takes his ace and returns the suit. South wins the trick, cashes four hearts and then starts on the spades. He can be sure of one trump by simply taking the ace and king. He makes an overtrick with a successful finesse and goes down if the finesse fails.

There is no problem in rubber bridge. He takes his contract.

In match point duplicate, he must go after the overtrick. He has responded one no-trump to his partner's heart bid, and knows that many other players will have raised to two hearts. Playing at two hearts, either North or South will make eight tricks without trying the spade finesse. He needs that high trick at no-trump to transfer a poor score of plus-90 to a good score of plus-120.

Think of another reason to take the spade finesse at this one no-trump contract. It is possible, but not probable, that some East-West pairs will get into the bidding. They could have eight spades and almost half the high cards in their hands. Two spades will make if West holds the queen and go down one if East has it. Thus, one no-trump, down one, won't be a bottom score if the spade finesse loses, while you will need that plus-90 for two no-trump to beat any pair that beats a two-spade contract one trick in the event the spade finesse wins.

Daily Shaving Saves Men From Wrinkles Around Chin

WRINKLES — "Did you ever years back "Off to one side a female watched," said "The wrinkle around the mouth more two crouched head to head, then men do?" writes Don They moved in sort of slow motion. "Shaving makes the hair, their eyes looked dead, different. The daily abrasion—every gun—drops. Every on a man's face takes a sub- now and then one or the other epidermal thickening, thus bol- would rip a bite as big as your fist. Finally, the legs of one buckled, and he fell, and the other backed off and waded a little, then "just" aukled away. Funny thing all through it, they were absolutely silent, not a growl, not a snarl!"

ONE SURVEY indicates approximately one young man in six was named after his grandfather. . . WISH SOME MIS-SOURIAN would tell me which is correct — St. Louis or Saint Louis. . . OUR LANGUAGE MAN points out the meaning of the word "nasturtium" is "pain in the nose" . . . NOW HAVE a feminine reader in a fast washing machine. . . YOU KNOW that Lee Neve, bumped into one of the boys before. . . ODDS RUN a feminine reader in a fast washing machine. . . YOU KNOW that the ball player will burr his leg next tradition of celebrating Christmas.

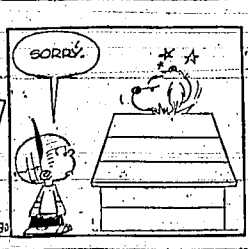

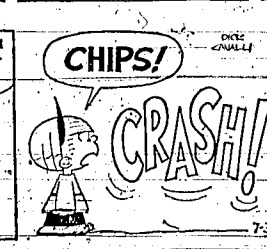

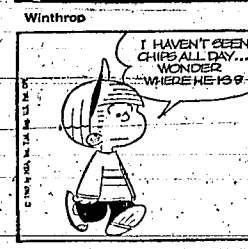

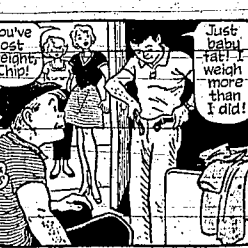

REMEMBER—All right, let's get personal. What was the first car you ever rode in? What was the brand of cigarette you first smoked? What kind of razor did you use first? What was the name of the first movie you ever saw? First car I remember to be entrapped. Therefore, if you met a wife who likes red and Philip Morris shortly thereafter her husband likes blue, says he, report was a Gillette. As for the first movie, can't remember, so romance. Am turning this theory over to our Love and War man for further analysis and ridicule. . . MAYNARD and McCoy are still around although I don't know where.

CUSTOMER SERVICE: Q—Gray wolves do. Once went out to clean trails for the United States Forest Service under the old woodman named Henry Up. Address mail to L. M. Heldeman. He said he had seen two male gray wolves fight Seattle, Wash. 98199.
