last day in office here.

Herb Derrick's city hall office was empty Friday, but his name was heard throughout the building as his former employees reminisced about his past nine years as Twin Falls city manager.

Mr. Derrick spent his last day at city hall Thursday and next week he will be in Boise to assume the duties as director of state's new Comprehensive Planning Division of the Department of Commerce and Development. He will open his office there Wednesday.

His last day as city manager was spent wrapping up office business and receiving personal calls from well-wishers. Mr. Derrick cleaned out his desk and informed his secretary, Mrs. Evelyn Humphrey, and Jean Milar, acting city manager, where all the important papers, studies, etc. could be found.

At noon he attended a luncheon with Mr. Milar and members of the council. They met with some of the local industry leaders to discuss and consider preliminary steps necessary to comply with the State Board of Health's requirements for secondary treatment of domestic and industrial waste treatment.

Carl Reynolds, Boise, a consulting engineer with Cornell, Howell, Hayes, Merryfield, met with the group. Officials from Idaho Frozen Foods, Young's Dairy, Swifts, Independent Meat and Amalgamated Sugar Co. attended the session.

They discussed the requirements of a preliminary study and methods of financing studies and the requirements of the state. It was the consensus that the city and industries would work jointly in the conduct of the studies. Mr. Milar said this will be discussed further at the next regular council meeting.

When Mr. Derrick returned from the meeting, the employees at city hall hosted a coffee hour. See DERRICK, Page 2, Col. 8

Idaho Power Co. To Build Wyoming Generator Plant

BOISE (Special)—Idaho Power Co. announced Friday that it will join Pacific Power & Light Co. in building a new coal-fired, steam-generating complex near Rock Springs, Wyo.

Company president Albert Carlsen, disclosing plans for the joint-venture complex simultaneously with an announcement by the Wyoming Gov. Stan Hatheway, said it will require an extensive high-voltage transmission system and related terminal facilities located principally in Idaho.

He estimated the total cost of the generating facility, the transmission system and coal-field development for the plant's fuel at $300 million.

The 15-million-kilowatt complex according to the president will be the second largest coal-fired steam facility west of the Mississippi River with its completed in 1972.

Engineering will begin immediately, with initial construction scheduled to start in 1971.

Carlsen said the first of the plant's three 500,000-kilowatt generating units will be built for Idaho Power and will start producing electricity by 1974.

The second and third units, planned for 1975 and 1976, respectively, will be for Pacific Power.

Carlsen pointed out that the joint-construction agreement is "the best interests of our customers and will benefit all of Idaho as well."

"This agreement, which is the newest in a series negotiated by Idaho Power to secure adequate supplies of electricity, will provide a reliable source of energy at the lowest possible cost," he said.

He said the transmission system will include 750 miles of high-voltage circuits and related terminal facilities. Three lines, each scheduled to operate at 245,000 volts, will interconnect the plant with Idaho Power's transmission grid in Idaho and thence to the Northwest Power Pool.

One line from the plant will terminate at a substation in the vicinity of Idaho Power's Don substation in Pocatello, while the other two will end at American Falls.

The new plant's three units will utilize coal underlying approximately 18,000 acres, some 25 miles northeast of Rock Springs. The two companies acquired mining rights to the properties following exploration started in 1959.

The coal field, about 15 miles long with seams up to 30 feet thick, lies entirely in Sweetwater County. Coal field arrangements with the Union Pacific Railroad and various Federal agencies have been completed.

An application has been filed with the state of Wyoming for water rights from the Green River for cooling which will be utilized at the plant so that no heated water will be returned to the river.

Starr Adams, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Adams, Rupert, died at Minkola Memorial Hospital, Rupert, about half an hour after the 1964 Volkswagon, driven by Richard Schaefer, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Schaefer, Rupert, in which she was a passenger, struck another car at the intersection of the Baseline and 500 west.

State Patrolman John Brewer said the Schaefer youth failed to stop for the stop sign. The Volkswagon collided with a 1967 Buick driven by Esteban Vasquez, 29, Paul. After the collision, the Volkswagon bounced against a fence on the west side of the road, while the Buick went into a field on the east side of the road.

Miss Adams was thrown from the vehicle. The Schaefer youth, Vasquez and his passenger, Robert Rivera, 48, Rupert, all were treated and released at Minkola Memorial Hospital.

Both cars were demolished. Citations are pending further investigation. The body is at Walk Mortuary.

Judge Draws Praise

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon said today he stood strongly behind his nomination of Judge Clement F. Haynsworth and predicted the South Carolinian would be "a great credit to the Supreme Court."

Nixon was asked at his news conference whether he might withdraw Haynsworth's nomination in view of strong opposition from labor and civil rights leaders, and allegations the judge had a conflict of interest in at least two cases he decided.

"No, I do not intend to withdraw the nomination," Nixon replied. "I believe I believe the Senate will confirm him."

Haynsworth, 55, is now chief judge of the U.S. 4th Circuit Court of Appeals in Richmond, Va. Nixon nominated him for the Supreme Court seat vacated under fire by Abe Fortas.

Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell said in an interview today he found "not the slightest problem" in Haynsworth's nomination. He predicted Senate confirmation.

Chairman James O. Eastland, D-Miss., of the Senate Judiciary Committee, said he hoped to wrap up hearings on Haynsworth today so the committee could consider it in closed session next week.

Forest Service To Allow Mine Road

BURLEY (UPI)—Gov. Don Samuelson says the U.S. Forest Service has agreed to allow American Smelting and Refining Co. to build a road to its White Clouds molybdenum claims as soon as engineering is completed.

Samuelson told Idaho County commissioners and county clerk Thursday he learned that at a meeting with Forest Service officials in Washington, D.C., Monday.

He said officials also assured him there would be no further "misrepresentation" which he said occurred in the agency's dealings with the proposed mining venture.

Samuelson accused the Forest Service of "deception" in saying the mining was in the center of the White Clouds area.

Meanwhile, the commissioners and clerks voted to seek repeal of a 1969 law which limits revenue increases by local units of government to four per cent a year.

Approving the resolution without debate, they called the law "unworkable—inconsistent with the democratic process of government and an unbearable shackle on local government."

At a banquet session Thursday night, State Rep. Vernon Ravenscroft, D-Tulsa, spoke out about what he called "serious deficiencies" in the administration of state lands.

"For years we have managed our state timber lands on a cut and pray policy," Ravenscroft said.

Jury Seated

CHICAGO (UPI)—A jury of 10 women and two men will hear the trial of eight radical-charged youths in a conspiracy to incite riots during last year's Democratic National Convention.

The panel was seated Thursday with unusual haste despite defense objections that U. S. District Court Judge Julius J. Hoffman "wants to force a jury down our throats."

Opening statements were to be presented today.

Both cars were demolished. Citations are pending further investigation. The body is at Walk Mortuary.

30 Persons Queried In Rupert Case

RUPERT—About half of the original group of 65 prospective jurors have been called to stand as the first degree murder trial of James E. Murphy, 40, Rupert, begins its fourth day Friday.

About a dozen of the possible jurors have been dismissed, but the exact number was not known until final selection of the jury. Each person is questioned first by the defense, prosecution and then defense for "Cause."

Then either the prosecution or defense can dismiss any juror who has been approved during the initial questioning without giving any reason. It takes nearly an hour to complete questioning of each prospective juror.

Murphy is charged with the gunshot death of his step-son, Jeffrey Lee, 16, in a drive-by shooting on Highway 101, Oct. 18, 1968. The defense attorneys are questioning prospective jurors about their feelings on justifiable homicide, which is what they are expected to claim for Murphy.

Commissioners Seek Repeal Of Bill Limiting Tax Levy

BURLEY—Idaho county commissioners and clerks have asked the 1970 Legislature to repeal House Bill 304, which limits property tax revenue increases by local government units to no more than four per cent.

The resolution, adopted at Thursday's session of the 89th annual meeting of the Idaho Association of Commissioners and Clerks at the Ponderosa Inn, termed the law as "unworkable, inconsistent with democracy and a shackle on local governments."

Delegates also approved a resolution asking the legislature to eliminate all tax exemptions, but noted that exemptions could be provided in hardship cases by each county commission acting as a board of equalization.

In other resolutions the commissioners and clerks: —Asked the state for permission to allow counties to levy up to two mills for collection and disposal of solid waste.

—Asked that consultants be required to contact county officials before airlines be granted certificates to serve county airports.

—Asked the legislature to return to the counties a portion of the money obtained through fish and game licenses to reimburse them for cost of search and rescue operations for lost hunters and fishermen.

Defense Says Abrams Used 'Influence'

LONG BINH, Vietnam (UPI)—The defense in the Green Beret murder case filed a legal motion today asking President Nixon that the case be dropped because of alleged "command influence" by Gen. Creighton W. Abrams.

(State Story, Page 6) Henry Rothblatt, one of the attorneys, said Abrams pushed the case against the men on the basis of an erroneous account of the murder from the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA).

"They misled him, they lied to him, they presented a picture to him," Rothblatt said.

Six Green Berets are charged with murder and conspiracy to murder a Vietnamese man who was a "double agent." The defense has said the CIA bribed the picture to under-estimate the case.

AAUW Hears I. F. Artist At Burley

BURLEY — Fred Oehl, well known Idaho Falls watercolor artist, was the featured speaker during an evening meeting of the American Association of University Women in the conference room of Idaho Bank and Trust.

Mr. Oehl spoke on the enjoyment to be found in painting and he displayed several paintings he has completed. He donated one of his paintings to the association to be used as a fund raising project. The painting is valued at $125 and is entitled "Upper Mesa Falls," a well known scenic place near St. Anthony.

The painting may be seen at the Jolley's House of Gifts, in downtown Burley. Proceeds from the project are for the local mental health program.

Alene Judd discussed "Human Use of Urban Space." Mrs. Ruth Reid spoke on "This Chamber of Commerce We Serve," and Mrs. Rebecca Sirey discussed "The Academic Community."

Special guests were members of the Desert Art Guild. Hostesses were the association officers. The next meeting will be held Oct. 20 at home of Mrs. Bonnie Dalley, Rupert.

Farmers Fete Slated Nov. 1 At Shoshone

SHOSHONE — Further plans for the Nov. 1 Farmer's Night event to be sponsored by the local Chamber of Commerce were made this week at the bi-monthly meeting, President Ivan Hopkins reports.

News was made by the group that the stop signs at the West B street have been re-set. The vacant lots north of the Wood River Convalescent Center have been cleared of weeds by city crews and work has begun on the new postoffice for Shoshone. Interested individuals took copies of a petition to circulate for signatures to oppose the wage granted legislators at the last session of the Legislature. The chamber as a group did not act on the matter, however.

SHUNS AUSSIE DRAFT — ADELIADE, Australia (UPI) — Clifton Parker Comey, 20, of Adelaide, who came here with his parents 3 1/2 years ago from Rancho Santa Fe, Calif., was sentenced to seven days in jail Thursday for refusing to undergo medical examination under terms of the Australian National Service Act.

THESE FOUR MEN officially announced their candidacy and filed their petitions Thursday for the three seats on the Twin Falls City Council. From left is Tom Nelson, local attorney; Winston Jones, a representative of Financial Programs

Inc.; John Christofferason, owner of John Chris Motor Co., and Earl Faulkner, owner of the Paris Co. They are being supported by a Twin Falls citizens committee and were presented at a special luncheon meeting Thursday at the Regerson.

Burley Library's Budget And Financial Problems Are Outlined By Board President

BURLEY — Mrs. Lucille Nielson, Burley Library Board president, announces that after a study into the finances, the library has received its two mill levy over the past several years, but charges that repeated errors by the city have caused a serious financial problem this year.

"This year the city of Burley paid the library $8,860.02," reported Mrs. Nielson. "The rest of the budgeted amount was taken by the city to make up for overpayments in preceding years. The library board was not aware of the errors at the time they were made, nor has it had satisfactory explanation as to why this mistake was repeatedly made," stated Mrs. Nielson.

"A recent conference with the city auditor revealed that over the past seven years the library presumably received during the time they were made, nor has it had satisfactory explanation as to why this mistake was repeatedly made," stated Mrs. Nielson.

"After our meeting with the mayor in March we were advised that funds would be made available to adequately run the library. It has been pointed out that the taxpayers do not know how the library spends its money," said Mrs. Nielson.

Following is a summary of the 1968 Burley Library expenses: Salaries, $7,902.52; part-time help received $125 an hour, head librarian received $25 per month and has 21 years experience, custodian's salary was $1,533.50, taxes, social security, federal and state withholding $1,943.69 and retirement $80.

Books $2,924.81; newspapers and periodicals $123.50; audio-visual equipment $134.15; Utilities $97.90 (with $407.84 for the City of Burley); Janitor supplies and light fixtures $404.86; general repair, $179.68, and yard spraying $11.00.

Insurance $313.00; library supplies $124.22; binding $9.39; Library association dues and meetings for staff $116.50.

New stacks $259.05; and the grand total of expenditures was $17,007.27. This amount was met by the library board with $14,256.24 from city tax money and $1,500 from non-city resident cards, fines and cash on hand from 1967.

The only additional expense incurred this year was contracting the retirement program for two employees. This was long overdue in view of the years of service at the library, said Mrs. Nielson.

The bank balance was $1,804.14 on Aug. 31, 1969. "Our problem is to stretch approximately $1,000 over the next three months where the usual expenses is over $4,000 for a similar period," Mrs. Nielson said.

"A local CPA has reconciled our account with the city of Burley account. The library board agrees that the library books should be audited regularly, but we do not feel that this can begin until we have the money available," added Mrs. Nielson.

Logger Killed When Truck Rolls

LOWMAN, Idaho (UPI) — Claude Benson, 47, Banks, died Thursday when a logging truck rolled over him while he apparently was trying to pump air into a rear tire.

State Patrolman Bill Morgan said Benson was crushed beneath the tires when the vehicle apparently rolled backwards about six miles west of Lowman on the road to Crouch.

He said tire marks at the scene showed the truck rolled backward for 76 feet before the trailer jacked against an embankment.

Cooperation To Develop Resort Area Urged At S. V.

KETCHUM — "We must consider this as a 'Resort Area' rather than 'Sun Valley, the Resort,'" Jerry Jones, manager of Sun Valley lodge, told 30 members and guests at the Ketchum-Sun Valley chamber of commerce meeting Wednesday noon in the Redwood room in Sun Valley Lodge.

"We all need each other and must work together for the good of the entire area," Jones said.

Mr. Jones, in discussing plans for the winter season, said a new ski week will be held especially for residents of the state and will be called "Idaho Week."

Mr. Jones stated he has been attending meetings at Idaho Falls to assist in working out more cooperation in transporting people from Yellowstone to Sun Valley. Also, he said the Janss Corp. is pushing for more air transportation, and is holding meetings with representatives of the large airlines. It is an endeavor to obtain satisfactory connections with their planes.

Wesley McDorman, Sun Valley Travel, discussed the discontinuance of service by Air West to the Friedman Memorial airport in Hatley, and said Janss hopes to have flights to take place of those being discontinued.

Ivan Swanner, Beverly Carr and Mrs. Vern O. Thomas, Wagon Days committee, met with the chamber to discuss dates for the 1970 event.

Helplessness Over Runaway Inflation

Friday, September 26, 1969... PHONE 793-0931

WASHINGTON — When a private survey on Tuesday forecast a shocking rise in corporate spending next year for plant and equipment, the nonchalance displayed by Nixon administration spokesmen was simply a cloak to hide their deep feeling of helplessness over runaway inflation.

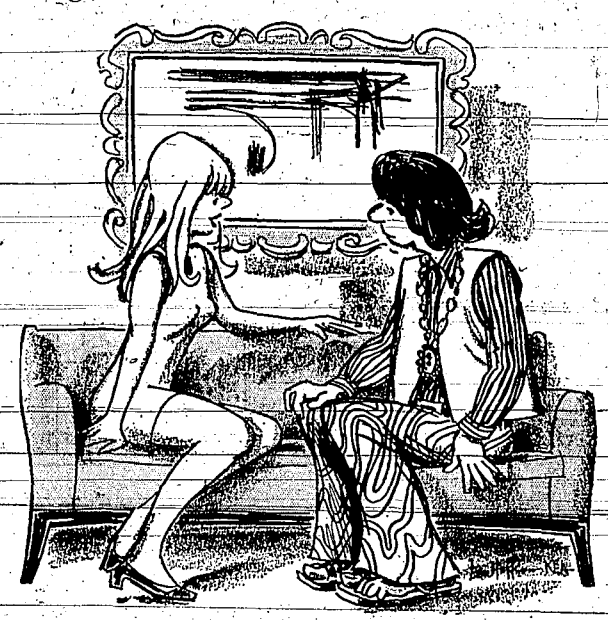

A highly secret, experimental survey of business investment conducted by the Commerce Department forecasted what one economist there described as a "huge surge" of spending next year. So inconceivable is this information that the report has not yet been released and will never see the light of day.

Given this advance warning, the administration would have announced the results of both its own and the Rinfret-Boston survey, expressed alarm over the inflationary pace, and called for more drastic action in the calculated decision to play it cool.

No Exploitation

Who says the frontier has vanished? It is always out there, somewhere, waiting to challenge man. And man, providing the prize is right, is ever ready to accept the challenge — as he has just done so spectacularly with the voyage of the giant tanker Manhattan.

"We Could Never Be Happy Together, Roger. You're Too Much The Conformist!"

It is in fact the Federal Reserve Board that overreact to the bad news and further tighten the already tight screws on the economy, inducing an economic crash.

Commuter Airlines

Not only "The Milk Train Doesn't Stop Here Anymore," as the title of a Tennessee Williams play informs us, Passenger trains no longer serve a growing list of cities. These cities may be small or not so small, but in any event they are not large enough to be on the routes of national or regional airlines.

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Some of the news items that have been read a bleak significance into Soviet Premier Kosygin's "summit" visit to Peking.

Dear Dr. Hosteson: I am very concerned about my 10-month-old granddaughter. Her teeth are present keeping lifting her up by the throat.

I have protected and begged them not to, for fear of injuring their shoulders and arms; but they continue doing it. Please advise me what I should do. I think I am a NEUROTIC GRANDMOTHER.

ART BUCHWALD Hurricane Spiro

WASHINGTON — With all the excitement going on in Washington these days, hardly anyone notices that President Nixon has a com o o against hurricane. In one of the strongest statements he made since he took office, the President said that his Administration would do everything in its power to eradicate the threat of hurricanes in the United States.

Dear Dr. Hosteson: I am very concerned about my 10-month-old granddaughter. Her teeth are present keeping lifting her up by the throat.

I have protected and begged them not to, for fear of injuring their shoulders and arms; but they continue doing it. Please advise me what I should do. I think I am a NEUROTIC GRANDMOTHER.

$1 Million Check Found On Sidewalk

NEW YORK (UPI)—William Nelson, 26, went job hunting with $1 million in his pocket. Nelson, leaving his current job and looking for a new one while on vacation, found a check in the street a couple of days ago. He didn't pay much attention to it until he got home that night and then found it was for $1,000,000—drawn by the American Bank & Trust Co., to the order of the French American Banking Corp. at the request of the Swiss Israel Trade Bank of London, for the account of British & French Bank, Ltd. London.

He and his 23-year-old wife decided it would be a waste of time trying to cash such a complex item. Wednesday, Nelson brought the check to the New York Daily News, who put him in touch with the American Bank & Trust Co.

The bank said they already had put a hold order on the check but would appreciate it if he would bring the check back which would save them a lot of paperwork.

Nelson did—and received $50,000 in expenses from the bank.

"The one thing they didn't do was offer me a job," Nelson added.

Sen. Proxmire Avers Viets Sell Weapons Given By U.S.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The South Vietnamese government selling weapons given it by the United States on the "open market" is a "disgrace," Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., on the basis of a document that has fallen into his hands, charges it is and asks what assurances the U.S. government has that its own arms will not be sold to agents of the Viet Cong.

He asked the Pentagon and the State Department to come up with answers "at the earliest possible time."

Proxmire made his charge in a Senate speech Thursday.

"I am informed that these sales are occurring," he said. "My understanding is that the arms offered to private arms dealers included over 5,000 M16 rifles as well as grenade launchers, Browning automatic rifles, submachine guns and pistols."

Richard F. Kaufman, a member of the staff of Congress' Joint Economic Committee, of which Proxmire is vice chairman, said the Senator's charge stemmed from a mimeographed document written in Vietnamese.

When translated into English, he said, it turned out to be a flyer advertising the weapons for sale at the highest bidder.

He said the South Vietnamese Embassy acknowledged the weapons were being offered for sale.

"It would be an outrage to the taxpayer," Proxmire said. "If U.S. arms intended to be used against the Viet Cong are instead being sold by the South Vietnamese."

He addressed these questions to the defense and state departments in letters to them.

"What are the names of the private arms dealers involved in these sales and from what countries do they come? How many sales have occurred so far? What assurance is there that once the sales are made the arms will not turn up in the hands of the Viet Cong or of extremist groups in the United States?"

"What is the nature of the agreement between the government of South Vietnam and ourselves with respect to the disposition of arms which we provide to them?"

"Has any U.S. official checked to determine the condition of the weapons being sold? If the arms have been declared surplus, could they be reconditioned and put back to use? If they could not be used again as weapons, why would arms dealers be interested in purchasing them?"

Laird Cites Volunteer Army Need

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird believes a volunteer army to replace the draft is possible if the American people are willing to pay the cost.

Laird told the National Press Club Thursday $41 billion of the present $80 billion defense budget is for pay, allowances, retirement benefits and medical care of military and civilian personnel. This finances a military force of 3.5 million men.

Laird said if the Armed Forces were reduced to 2.6 million after the Vietnam War, the personnel cost would be reduced to $33 billion.

He said the "minimum" cost of increasing military pay and benefits enough so that men would be willing to join volunteer Armed Forces would be $4.5 billion, according to studies so far made available.

But the cost would more

Lee Bailey Will Ask Army Prove Murder Allegations

BOSTON (UPI)—F. Lee Bailey, who will defend a Green Beret officer charged in the alleged execution of a South Vietnamese agent in Vietnam, said today the U.S. Army will be asked first to prove someone indeed was killed.

Bailey, who got his start as a lawyer while a cadet in the Marine Corps in the 1950's, declined comment on whether the controversial case involving the murder of a reported South Vietnamese agent was "typical" of clandestine intelligence operations throughout Southeast Asia.

"Well, it's hard to say because these murders aren't publicized," he said in an interview in his penthouse law office across from Boston's government center. "We know how many death warrants were handed out?"

"The question here is 'was anybody killed?' That may be the first issue the Army has to uncover if it is certain that a single agent was killed in a single action."

Extensive digging operations in Nha Trang harbor and off the coast of South Vietnam earlier this year failed to uncover any sign of the body of the agent.

Laird said he would likely be $8 billion, Laird said. "So you put your $8 billion right back in," he said. "It's a question of priorities, not the government of the United States and the people are concerned."

'Life' Ordered Atom Blast Brings Threat Of Lawsuit

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Two Chicago brothers will serve life prison terms for the torture murder of Roman Novarro, 62, the silent movie star who drowned in his own blood after he was beaten with a cane in his Hollywood mansion.

The jury of seven men and five women who convicted Paul and Thomas Ferguson of first degree murder recommended Thursday that Paul, 23, be given a life sentence instead of death.

Thomas was 17 at the time of the killing last Oct. 30 and will receive life in prison, the maximum sentence for a juvenile in California.

Paul, who blamed Thomas for killing Novarro while he slept off a fifth of vodka, appeared relieved when the clerk read the verdict in the penalty trial.

He said he "was very worried" about the intentions of the jury until Thomas took the stand one last time Wednesday and took sole blame for the murder.

Atom Blast Brings Threat Of Lawsuit

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (UPI)—A federal court case was threatened today in connection with the scheduled Oct. 3, underground nuclear test at Amchika Island in the Aleutian chain, about 1,400 miles southwest of Anchorage.

Marlin Farrell, an attorney and head of an organization called "Save Our State," said he probably will file suit to stop the 1.2-megaton blast.

Farrell said court action will be brought not later than Monday or Tuesday in Washington, D.C., or Anchorage, Alaska, before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee does not act to postpone the test.

Sen. J. William Fulbright, has scheduled a hearing for Monday on a resolution by Sen. Mike Gravel, D-Alaska. Gravel wants a review of implications of the nuclear tests would have on foreign treaties or international agreements involving the United States.

Pope Paul Turns 72 Amid Chaos

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—Pope Paul VI turned 72 today, faced with a worldwide upheaval inside the Roman Catholic Church on issues ranging from birth control to priestly celibacy.

Gold and white Vatican flags fluttered not only above St. Peter's basilica but above Rome's principal churches, in tribute to Giovanni Battista Montini, who was ordained a priest May 29, 1903 at Brescia in northern Italy, his home.

The Pope was too busy to take any significant note of his birthday. He has been working on plans for the World Synod of Bishops opening Oct. 31, the second such meeting in the church's history.

The Pope also has been occupied with the day-to-day affairs of the church, which is going through a worldwide series of challenges of "its authority and its tenets."

The Pope's handling of issues such as birth control and organizational reform has made him one of the most criticized pontiffs of modern times.

It was a little more than a year ago that he denounced artificial forms of birth control.

Disturbed by the criticism and the controversy, Pope Paul has frequently referred to the ferment within the church in speeches over the past year, sometimes in dramatic terms.

In extending his annual birthday greeting to the Pope, the Vatican newspaper L'Osservatore Romano avoided direct mention of the criticism.

L'Osservatore Romano hailed Paul for his handling of the papacy "in a difficult hour for the church and all humanity" and predicted he would overcome "the ferment and elements that shake the spirit of the church."

Vatican sources said the Pope was in sound health.

He showed no sign of strain in a busy three-day visit to Uganda this summer, the latest in a series of trips abroad that have made him the most traveled Roman Catholic pontiff in history.

Since he took office June 21, 1963, Pope Paul has visited the Holy Land, India, the United States, Turkey, Portugal, Colombia and Uganda.

Mrs. Gordon Cox gave the author's sketch and the gilded thought was presented by Mrs. Veri Meacham.

Guestesses were Mrs. Cox, Mrs. Hansen and Mrs. Jim Dodds.

Dear Abby

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My husband was recently elected president of his lodge. A woman I know came up to me and said, "Congratulations. So Morris accepted the presidency of the lodge. That was real nice of him—I heard nobody else would take it."

What answer would you have given her to put her in her place? MORRIS' WIFE

DEAR ABBY: I was told that in order to be a bridesmaid in a church wedding, you have to be a virgin. Is that true? MUST KNOW

DEAR MUST-KNOW: (Fortunately.)

DEAR ABBY: Please print this in order to clip it out and send it to my boss's wife when it appears: Dear Mrs. ...

Welcome home! You went away for most of the summer and left your husband all alone saying your children needed a vacation. What did you expect your husband to do? Go home to an empty house every night, hear up a TV dinner, and curl up with a good book?

I work for him. He was lonesome. He asked me to have dinner with him and I said yes. I also asked him to have dinner with me and he said yes. I cooked for him at HIS house, and mine, too. We had a ball.

But you don't have to worry. Nothing serious happened. I'm not the type to steal another woman's husband, although it would have been too handy.

And now I am going to give you a tip you really don't deserve. You have a wonderful husband. STAY AT HOME AND TAKE CARE OF HIM. He needs you more than your children need the mountain air. The next girl may want to play for keeps. SQUARE SHOOTER

DEAR SQUARE SHOOTER: Thanks for your letter. A word to the wise ...

DEAR ABBY: I have a relative who loves to play gin rummy. When HE wins he says it's 85 per cent skill and 15 per cent luck. When the other fellow wins he says it's 85 per cent luck and 15 per cent skill. The problem is that he is a very poor loser and when the game is over and he has lost he always wants to play one more hand, "double or nothing."

I don't like this, but I don't want to look like a poor sport so I go along with it.

What can I do when he's put on the spot this way? NO GAMBLER

DEAR NO! Get off the spot by saying "no dice."

Everybody has a problem. Write your "Dear Abby" person reply word to Abby, Box 9291, Los Angeles, Cal. 90089, and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Mrs. Udell Robinson presented the program by demonstrating methods of making fabric flowers and grape-esters. Mrs. Agnes Powell received the club souvenir package and Mrs. Edward Schlar a Pollyanna gift.

Children Also Are All "Eyes," Says Local Pastor

By PASTOR L. J. LAMANCE, First Assembly of God. Who was it that said the children are all "eyes"? If anything, they are all "eyes," as equally well. It is a well-known fact of educational processes that visual material is remembered by a child much better than something that is merely heard. What does this mean to you, parent? Simply this, that as a parent you have no doubt given some thought to your child's moral and spiritual education. . . . For I cannot believe that anyone would deliberately want his child to be bad. But why is it that so many parents pacify their consciences in this by telling junior what he should or should not do, but do not show him what he should or should not do. Do you tell him not to use foul language, yet you do it? Do you tell him to get to Sunday school and church each Sunday, but you don't go? Do you tell him not to steal, or lie, or cheat, yet you do so. Do you even tell him that tobacco and liquor and such should be abstained from, but you partake? Honestly, parent, who are you trying to kid, anyhow?

Orchards Yeilding Good Crops

LOOKING OVER 20-bushel bins of apples is Richard Kelley, owner and operator of the Gooding and Orr orchards. The Orr orchard is mainly an apple orchard and the apples are currently being picked. The fruit crop this year at most all area orchards are "best ever," according to some orchardists.

...and that year rubbed out enough land to plant trees. During the next few years while the fruit trees were growing, his grandfathers raised chickens, hogs and sold them to area residents.

After the fruit trees started bearing fruit, Mr. Gourley started raising chickens and started in the fruit business. He shipped fruit until the local market built up.

Now Mr. Kelley ships out his apples to other markets throughout the country. He said most of his apples from the Orr orchard are shipped out. He said there is, however, the local market which he keeps supplying until all the apples are gone.

Mr. Kelley says trying to improve the quality of the apples grown at the Orr orchard, during the winter months he and his sons hired help prune the trees. Then, during the summer months, high school boys thin the apples. Mr. Kelley said thinning the apples pays off. "You can tell that thinning is a must by the size of the apples and the color of the apples," he said.

"Color is the number one factor in raising apples, he said. He said everyone believes that apples must be red to be any good, thus to sell an apple, it must be mechanical means to harvest his apple crop.

This past spring he planted 1,000 apple trees with the idea that in 10 years when the trees are producing fairly well, the trees will be harvested with some sort of mechanical picker or shaker, which would be used in the orchard.

He said the major orchards in other fruit-growing areas, such as those in Yakima, use the mechanical means to harvest the crop.

Mr. Kelley said the apple tree's peak production is from 15 to 22 years of age for peaches, four to 10 years and for cherries, 10 to 40 years. After these peak years of production, the trees are pulled and replaced with young trees.

The average apple tree will produce during its peak years from 15 to 22 bins of apples each year. This year Mr. Kelley

Idaho Wheat Group's New Film Released

BOISE — The Idaho Wheat Commission has completed production on a new color motion picture which will be released this fall. It was revealed here recently at a "meeting" of the commission.

Titled "Big Grains," the 15-minute film tells the story of how Idaho wheat is grown and marketed to consumers in the United States and foreign countries. Prints of the film will be distributed to educational institutions, and copies for loan will be available on request from the Wheat Commission office in Boise. The film was produced by Pat Wolfe Pictures.

Harold West, Wheat Commission administrator, reported that a previous film, "Old Mr. In Between," had so far been viewed by more than 22,000 persons in television and meeting audiences throughout the country.

In other business, the Wheat Commission approved a request from the University of Idaho for a grant of $8,128 to purchase a plot combine for use at the Botany Branch Experimental Station.

West was authorized by the Commission to attend a Wheat and West Food Foundation in Chicago. This organization promotes domestic consumption of wheat products, and at the Chicago meeting managers will consider proposing legislation to fund the Foundation for an aggressive promotional campaign.

Wheat Commission members noted that the Idaho State Wheat Growers Association 1969 convention would be held in Boise, Dec. 1 and 2, at the Downtown.

Peas Estimated

BOISE (UPI) — The Idaho Crop and Livestock Reporting Service said prospective production of dry peas in Idaho is estimated at 2,038,000 cwt.

The estimate compares with last year's crop of 1,578,000 cwt. and the 1967 crop of 1,533,000 cwt.

Production of lentils in Idaho at 183,000 cwt. compares with 168,000 cwt. last year and 176,000 cwt. for 1967.

Steps Outlined For Potato Vine Killing

BURLEY — Mechanical and chemical methods can be used to kill potato vines when they have not occurred or when early harvest is desired, states Gene Rinebold, Burley area potato specialist.

"Mature potato tubers are less susceptible to injury or harvest and will also store better than immature tubers," said Mr. Rinebold.

...and the amount to use per acre are determined by variety and vigor of the vines, speed of kill desired, and weather conditions. The disadvantage of dinitro lies largely in the danger of obtaining stem-end discoloration.

Burning potato vines is preferred by some farmers and has certain advantages. These advantages are a sure vine kill, sanitation by removing old potato vines that may help perpetuate the disease, and causing early blight and early dying.

It is recommended that vines be killed by several light applications over the field when using flame killing. The disadvantage of flame might be destruction of organic matter.

The amount of leaf roll spread can be reduced by early vine killing.

The main items to remember are: vines should be killed in the stage of growth, moisture level, prevailing temperatures and availability of equipment are factors which influence vine killing decisions," stated Mr. Rinebold. A gradual kill is recommended regardless of method employed.

When mechanical equipment is used, care in the adjustment of the equipment is necessary. After vine killing, roller-cultivators should be used to fill the cracks in the soil to avoid light greening and frost-spots on the potato tubers. If the soil is moist at the time the vines are killed, the specific gravity of the tubers may be lowered, Rinebold added.

Dinitro-L can also be used. The concentration of the sprayed...

...the chemicals more effective. In some areas where the potato vines are more directly exposed to the consumer the skin and maturing the tubers. When to kill vines is a question to many potato growers. Mr. Rinebold recommends the following:

If the vines are green, the soil moisture is great, less than 50 percent available, the temperature is cool, and chemicals or roto-beaters are used to kill the vines, at least three weeks must be allowed for the skins to set.

If the vines are partially dead, the soil moisture is less than 50 percent available and the temperature is warm, roto-beating or vine killing chemicals will produce set skins in seven to 14 days. If the soil is very dry, the vines are pulled or undercut when the vines are partially dead, the soil moisture is less than 50 percent available and the temperature is warm only five to ten days are required for the skins to set.

The time interval between vine killing and skin setting increases with cooler temperature and higher soil moisture content.

Success with vine killers depends largely upon the amount of soil moisture and vigor of the potato vines. Timely termination of irrigation will help help mature the tubers as well as help prevent a loss in specific gravity when the vines are killed and even, in certain instances, aid in the prevention of stem-end discoloration.

Stem-end discoloration is commonly associated with rapid vine killing. This type of discoloration is caused by a fungus that due to the leaf roll virus by the depth of penetration. Discoloration associated with stem-end discoloration does not penetrate more than one-fourth inch whereas necrosis due to leaf roll may extend much deeper.

The time interval between specific gravity depends upon the moisture level of the soil and the stage of growth of the vines. The vines are killed.

This in turn depends upon the time of planting, amount of the soil moisture level is about 50 percent available and the vines are killed quickly without killing the roots, the roots continue to absorb water and cause a reduction in the specific gravity.

When a high soil moisture level is present, a slow kill is especially recommended so the roots will die at a rate comparable with the tops.

Many farmers in Magic Valley prefer the mechanical method for killing potato vines. Better results are obtained with these methods if the soil moisture content is lower than 50 percent available.

If the vines are still very green and actively growing, best results have been obtained by undercutting, with vine pulling next.

Rolling the potato vines can be used in combination with vine-killing chemicals, making

Cattlemen, BLM Sign Area Plan

SHOSHONE — The Shoestring Cattle Allotment users have signed into effect an allotment management plan with the Bureau of Land Management.

This plan will use a rotation grazing system on 2,500 acres of land located in the Shoshone and Wendell. The operators running a total of 183 head of cattle on this allotment will help prevent a loss in specific gravity when the vines are killed and even, in certain instances, aid in the prevention of stem-end discoloration.

The effect of this system is to allow for maximum forage production; then maximum harvest of forage by livestock. This system will increase overall call production, produce more pounds of beef and increase the carrying capacity of the allotment.

Also it is designed to change the type of vegetation to a more palatable perennial grass type. The plan is very flexible. Turnout dates, gathering dates and proper stocking are decided by the allotment show and approved by the allotment manager, Dean Durfee.

This allotment management plan was developed by the efforts of the livestockmen in cooperation with the BLM.

The Shoestring Cattle Allotment show and approved results with the beginning of the operation of this plan. This will repay the users for their hard work and cooperation in cooperation put into this allotment.

Idaho Is In Top Physical Condition For Centennial Battle With ISU Saturday

FLEET-Ed "The Flea" Bell, wide receiver for the Idaho State Bengals, will be one of the major players facing the University of Idaho defense when those two clubs meet Saturday in Pullman, Wash.

MOSCOW — The Idaho Vandals will be in top physical shape this week when they host the Idaho State Bengals in the Football Centennial game at Rogers Field in Pullman, Idaho, Saturday. Game time is 1:30 p.m.

Special ceremonies, with Governor Don Samuelson, Paul Ostyn, state Football Centennial chairman; Laura Shikasho, Idaho's ceremonial queen; and Charles Smith of Pocatello, Idaho's oldest living former football player, all taking part.

Coach Y. McNease indicated he hoped the game plan which is primed to stop the passing attack of Bengal quarterback Jerry Dunne and his two first receivers, Ed Bell and Carlis Harris, has been worked on with extreme care this week and he feels that the team is ready for the invasion from the cross-state rivals. Idaho has never lost to Idaho State in eight previous meetings.

McNease said that Steve Olson at quarterback, Mike Wiscombe and either Jim Willard or Jeff Gullity at running back, and Jim Wickboldt at flanker, would be in the starting offensive backfield. Up front, Jerry Henning and Wayne Marqueste, co-captain, and Steve Henderson would be at the cornerback positions and George Smith and Doug Clark at the safety spots.

McNease said with both teams planning on a sure-fire passing attack, the fans could look for exciting games never played by these two teams. Idaho is looking for its first win of the year, while the Bengals are looking for their first win since last year.

After the game, the Vandals will be taken to Oklahoma City Tuesday after pain developed in the leg following the game. It was there that a second diagnosis on the injury indicated that surgery would be required.

Dawson Vetoes Idea Of Knee Operation

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI)—Len Dawson, the Kansas City Chiefs' star quarterback, decided Thursday not to undergo surgery for a ligament tear in his left knee after hearing a second diagnosis on the injury.

Coach Hank Stram said Dawson was examined by Dr. Fred Reynolds of St. Louis and "Dr. Reynolds confirmed the earlier diagnosis by Dr. Don O'Donoghue that Lenny has a slight tear of the medial collateral ligament."

"He felt however, that the knee did not need surgery, and with proper care and rehabilitation, it would mend and he could possibly be ready to play in six weeks," Stram said.

Stram said "Lenny and I discussed the matter completely and I told him the decision on whether or not to have the surgery was up to him, for he did not want to undergo surgery."

Dawson was injured in the Chiefs' 31-0 victory over the Boston Patriots last Sunday.

Dawson expressed no regret that he could play prior to the estimated six weeks recovery period. He said the knee does not feel very bad at the moment and is not very painful.

Joe Louis Hit By Breakdown

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI)—Former heavyweight boxing champion Joe Louis, the "Brown Bomber" as he was known to millions, is being treated in a Detroit hospital for several mental breakdowns, it was reported Thursday.

Dr. Robert C. Bennett, Louis' personal physician for more than two decades, told Milwaukee Sentinel sports writer Ray Grody in a telephone interview that Louis had been under "constant care by a team of two doctors" at Henry Ford Hospital since Sept. 18.

"They are trying to evaluate the many examinations taken of Joe in an effort to find the cause of his breakdown," Bennett told the Sentinel.

Ohio State-TCU, Purdue-Irish Battles Top Nation's Grid Fare

CHICAGO (UPI)—Defending national champion Ohio State opens the football season at home against Texas Christian University Saturday, and the Buckeye inaugural has to share the spotlight with an intra-state clash between Notre Dame and Purdue.

The Bollermakers, a 42-35 winner over Texas Christian last week, were a slim one-point choice to defeat the Irish, 15-10 victors over Northwestern Saturday, an upset of their sixth win in the last eight games between the schools.

Notre Dame, ranked eighth in early this week, hasn't played since 1961 and then by only two points. Purdue held a No. 14 rating going into the scrapp. 42-point loss.

The match should hinge on whether the Irish defense can get to Purdue quarterback Mike Phillips, who set a school record with 390 yards of total offense against TCU and who was responsible for 30 of the Spartans' 42 points last week.

Equally important will be whether Purdue's big line on defense can stop Notre Dame's tight ends, Ed Ziegler, and contain the Irish passing by Joe Theismann.

Ohio State, with almost everybody back from last year's undefeated team and Rose Bowl winner, was a 21-point choice to defeat the Herd Friday.

Eight Big Ten teams will be at home with only Illinois and Northwestern on the road, and both of the travelers were underdogs.

Illinois, beaten by a last minute field goal last week, was a 19-point underdog for its home game.

Goossen Hits Pair, Pilots Drop Twins

SEATTLE (UPI)—Greg Goossen drove in three runs with a double and two homers and Steve Barber struck out 10 Minnesota batters as the Seattle Pilots beat the Twins 5-1 Thursday night.

Goossen, acquired from the New York Mets in a mid-season trade, raised his average to .300. Barber, who needed relief help in the ninth-inning from John O'Donoghue, notched his fourth win of the season against six losses.

Goossen' homer off left reliever Jim Kat (13-11) in the first inning after a walk to John Kennedy. The first baseman then slugged his eighth homer of the year with the bases empty, in the bottom of the eighth.

In the fourth inning, Goossen scored on a sacrifice fly by Steve Whitaker after setting up the rally with a double. The Pilots' other runs came in the seventh, when Kennedy tripled home Fred Stanley.

The Twins could muster only singles off Barber, except for Rich Banick's fifth homer of the year for Minnesota's lone run in the eighth. The Twins drove Barber from the mound with two runs on and none out in the ninth, but O'Donoghue took the hill and set the American League West winners down in order to end the game.

Seattle (10-12) and the Twins (10-12) were tied for eighth in the division. Goossen (.300, 2 HR, 2 RBI, 2 BB, 2 K) and Barber (.280, 1 HR, 1 RBI, 1 BB, 1 K) were the top performers.

Sox Complete Series Sweep Over Yankees

BOSTON (UPI)—Home runs by George Scott and Jerry Moses and Al Lyles' relief pitching carried the Boston Red Sox to a 4-3 victory and a four-game sweep over the New York Yankees Thursday.

Scott hit his 15th homer after a Syd O'Brien single, to the score in the fourth, 2-2, and Moses added runs in the fifth, the bases empty in the sixth. The Red Sox had scored the go-ahead run in the fifth on Billy Conlig's single, double and Don Lock's single.

Boston starter Mike Nagy gained his 12th victory against two losses despite giving up four Yankees runs in the first. Horace Clarke walked, stole second, advanced on Moses' error and scored on Roy White's single. White advanced on an infield out and scored on Joe Peplone's single.

Lyle took over for Nagy with two on and one out in the sixth and pitched a scoreless ball thereafter for his 17th save, while Yankee starter Al Downing was suffering his fifth loss in 11 decisions.

Clarke homered in the ninth for the Yanks.

Bears Nip Burley In Last Seconds

BURLEY — A 30-yard pass from Bob Gooding to Blake in the final two minutes got the decisive points Thursday night as Robert Stuart's Bears nipped Burley 12-6.

Jerome Is Winner Of Grid Jamboree

GOODING — The Jerome Jamboree was won by Jerome Gooding Thursday night to win up the only undefeated team in a three-way football jamboree.

Gooding defeated Duhl 20-6. In the first 24 minutes of action as Steve Dennis scored twice and Gooding had a 10-yard TD pass to Jim Thompson went off tackle for the other touchdown. Joe Watson scored for Burley.

Jerome then bounced Duhl 22-8 as Jerry Walters ran back an interception for one touchdown, and Greg Jewell sneaked in for another. Rick Thompson scored for Burley. Larry Gardner got another and Dale Goffman got four extra points. Kendall Meier took a touchdown pass for the only Burley points.

In the final action, Jerome nipped Gooding 24-14 when Thompson won in a 10-yard counter and then picked up the two-point on the same play.

who may not be at full strength for Sunday's game. Tackle Tommie Smith is expected to miss the game because of a knee injury. Linebacker guard Duane Bostick and receiver Gene Washington received a hyperextended knee and a sprained ankle, respectively.

Each week offers a different challenge—and it isn't wise to look back on last week's problems. Both the Minnesota Vikings and the Baltimore Colts are aware of this fact, but it is the mark of a champion to eye only the present.

The Vikings and the Colts, pre-season favorites to win their respective divisions in the National Football League, meet Sunday at Minnesota and both are anxious to find out if they are made of championship caliber. Both lost their opening last weekend and really can't afford another loss so soon.

most regroup and prepare to play a great football team. And the Colts are just as disappointed as we are after their opening loss to the Rams. At New York we didn't finish off the scoring opportunities presented themselves. Against a team of Baltimore's ability we can't afford to be out again," Grant concluded.

The Colts, who lost to the Rams 27-10 last Sunday, are not in as bad shape physically as the Vikings. They suffered no injuries and guard Dan Sullivan and running back Jerry Hill are expected back for Sunday's game. Sullivan was out last weekend with a pulled hamstring muscle and Hill has apparently recovered from a surgery. Baltimore is a two-point choice.

In other NFL action, Atlanta (1-0) is at Los Angeles (1-0), Washington (1-0) at Cleveland (1-0), Dallas (1-0) at New Orleans (0-1), San Francisco (0-1) vs. Green Bay (1-0) at Milwaukee, New York (0-1) at Philadelphia (0-1) and Chicago (0-1) at St. Louis (0-1).

The Redskins, who won their opener for coach Vince Lombardi, will be seeking to snap a 14-game Cleveland winning streak in their series which stands 29-51 in favor of the Browns. Cleveland's running back Leroy Kelly, who suffered a pulled hamstring against the Eagles last weekend, is listed as a possible starter, but the Browns won't be hurting if Kelly can't start. Rookie Ron Johnson impressed with 118 yards in Cleveland's first year game. Receiver Milt Brown filled in admirably for Kelly with 48 yards in 16 attempts. The Browns are six-point favorite to return at quarterback for the Cowboys against the Saints, even though substitute Roger Staubach performed well in a 21-3 victory over New Orleans. Morton, who has had a dislocated right index finger, was the only seeking to snap the Cowboys and his expected presence makes Dallas a 13-point choice.

THREE-CUE BIDS
PUSH GRAND SLAM
 In the good old days when men were men, cue bids were cue bids and always showed first-round control of the suit bid.

We have no intention of discussing what men are today but cue bids have become nothing but nondescript forcing bids designed either to get information from partner or just to show a general good hand.

These modern cue bids are complicated but they work mighty well in expert hands. Cliff Russell of Miami, who sat North, held an old-fashioned cue bid and made it over West's two-diamond overall. East interposed a four-diamond nuisance bid which gave bridge teacher Edith Kemp a chance to pass and give Cliff an opportunity to define his cue bid further.

Cliff was delighted with the opportunity to bid a grand slam. He was ready to show she had a good club among his souvenirs. She bid six clubs!

They were more up to the level but Cliff was interested in going further. With an ordinary partner, Cliff would almost surely have gone right to seven hearts. With Edith, who is one of two women to have won both the Vanderbilt and Spingold Cups (the other is Helen Sobel Smith), Cliff felt that he could ask her to make the final decision.

He bid six diamonds — his two-diamond overall. In reason he did not bid the grand slam was that Edith could hold a very sound opening bid and not have both the ace and king of hearts.

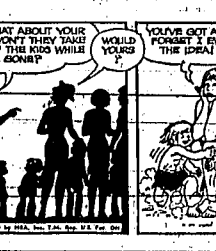

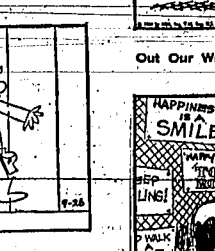

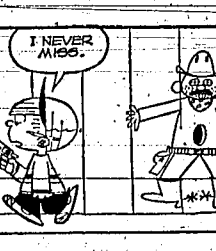

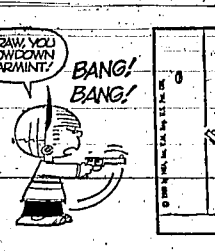

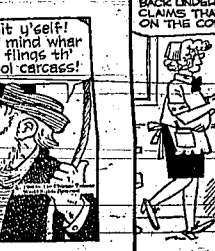

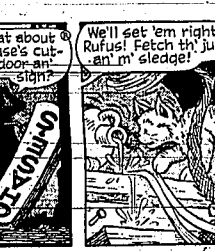

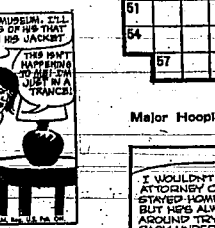

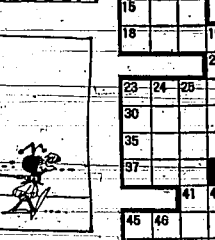

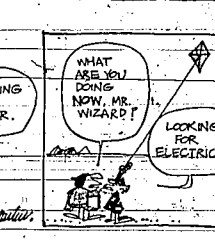

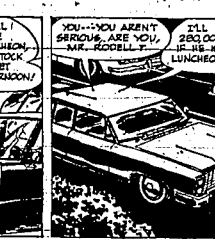

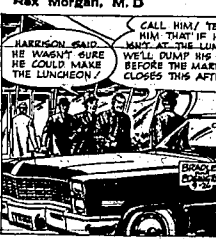

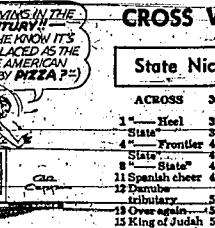

The third cue bid gave Edith no problem at all. Cliff was interested in a grand slam and she had the cards to bid it.
