Brandt's Coalition Will Install Him Chancellor

BY WELLINGTON LONG
BONN (UPI)—Foreign Minister Willy Brandt won the unanimous approval of his Social Democratic party today in a vote with the balance-of-power Free Democrats in return for their support in toppling Chancellor Kurt Georg Kiesinger.

Parliamentary leader Helmut Schmidt told reporters the 224 deputies voted unanimously, "without abstentions and without opposition" to approve the program, negotiated with the Free Democrats.

But Walter Scheel's 30 Free Democratic deputies considered Brandt's offer through a forenoon meeting, then recessed for lunch only to resume their caucus afterwards. Schmidt reporters he was "optimistic."

Brandt and Scheel had reached agreement during the night on a program to offer their deputies.

Negotiations have been under way since the results of Sunday's parliamentary elections gave no party a majority to form a government.

Brandt and Scheel expected to call on President Gustav Heinemann during the day to report the agreement. The president then would submit Brandt's name to the new parliament as the man he thinks is able to form a government. The legislators elected Sunday will vote on the nomination Oct. 21.

The Social Democrats and Free Democrats have a combined total of 254 seats in the parliament. This is 12 more than Kiesinger's Christian Democrats—who have held power for 20 years—but only five more than the 249 votes needed to elect a chancellor on the first ballot.

The party leaders announced agreement on the new coalition at the post-midnight conclusion of their talks in an office building next to parliament.

"The delegations have agreed on the structure and aims of the new federal government," Brandt said.

Political sources said the negotiators agreed to name [Scheel foreign minister] and to give at least two other portfolios to the Free Democrats, who won only 30 parliamentary seats on their own.

The new government probably will sign the nuclear weapons nonproliferation treaty within a few months, the sources said. Kiesinger has been unwilling to approve the pact.

Brandt was expected to continue the dialogue he opened several years ago with the Soviet Union on mutual reconciliation-of-the-use-of-force. He also was expected to press for a more flexible attitude in Germany's relations with East Europe.

6 Candidates Have Filed In City Race

A sixth candidate for the November election of three Twin Falls City Council members was on file at city hall Friday morning.

Paul H. Ostyn, now serving as vice principal of Twin Falls High School, filed his petition late Thursday afternoon. City Clerk Constance Leiser announced.

Other candidates who have filed for office include Lloyd Cox, owner and operator of the local Yellow Cab Co.; Earl Faulkner, owner of The Pacific Dress Shop; John Christopher, owner of John Chris Motors; Tom Nelson, local attorney; and Winston Jones, retired army officer now representing Financial Programs Incorporated.

A total of 11 petitions have been taken out, the city clerk said. Monday at 5 p.m. is the deadline for filing the petitions. Mrs. Leiser said each petition must contain the names of at least 40 registered and qualified voters of the city.

Those filing petitions Monday will stand a chance of being dis-

Lunar Crash

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI)—The Apollo 12 astronauts plan to crash their lunar module into the moon before starting home next month to create an artificial moonquake that may tell scientists more about the moon's interior makeup.

Alan L. Bean said he, Charles Conrad Jr. and Richard F. Gordon will try to aim the takeoff section of the landing craft 3,000 feet from a nuclear-powered escarpment left behind during the astronauts' two surface excursions.

"This would be a beautiful thing to do," Bean said at a lengthy briefing Thursday night on the Apollo 12 moon-walk plans.

Nixon Will Block Strike On Railroads

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon, intervening for the first time in a major labor dispute, will block by the day a strike threatened by midnight against seven railroads, the Labor Department said today.

A spokesman for four shop-employees said the union would abide by the presidential order for a 60-day cooling off period, and pledged there would be no wildcat strikes.

Hey, Man, That Grass He Sold Really Was Grass

A 17-year-old youth who allegedly sold a packet of dried leaves on the pretext it was marijuana, has been arrested and charged with obtaining money under false pretenses.

Tim Qualls, detective lieutenant with the Twin Falls Police Department, said the alleged sale took place last week. The youth was taken into custody Thursday night and will appear in probate court on a juvenile petition.

The packet of weeds, which allegedly was sold to high school youths, was analyzed and found to contain marijuana, but leaves from weeds which were believed to have been picked at Devil's Corral.

L. Qualls said he estimates about 50 per cent of the high school youths in Twin Falls would make purchases from sellers operating in the area are not purchasing narcotics, but substitute and charged with obtaining money under false pretenses.

He said there have been cases of teen-agers purchasing grass clippings and weeds such as those connected with the latest arrest.

This is the first such arrest made for a person allegedly selling bogus marijuana. Obtaining money under false pretenses is a misdemeanor, while illegal sale of marijuana is a felony.

Committee Expands Funds To Combat U.S. Water Pollution

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The House Appropriations Committee Thursday nearly tripled President Nixon's budget request for funds to fight water pollution.

However, the committee cut Nixon's request for the Atomic Energy Commission, citing a need to head off inflationary pressures by reducing spending.

The total bill for public works and the AEC for fiscal 1970 was $4.48 billion, a $300 million increase over Nixon's requests, but a $178 million decrease from fiscal 1969.

The committee justified the $48 million increase in anti-pollution funds by saying there was a "widespread urgent need to study sites and localities in achieving more effective water pollution control."

The total voted for water treatment grants for control of water pollution was $300 million. Nixon had requested $214 million.

However, the AEC's budget was placed at $2.2 billion, a decrease of $118 million from what Nixon requested and a decrease of $38 million from fiscal 1969 budget.

The principal cut in the AEC budget was from construction funds for a giant nuclear research accelerator already under construction at Weston, Ill. The committee gave the project $24 million instead of $36 million to continue construction during the year.

The breakdown by sites with the first figure showing what amount requested and the second the amount approved by the committee, included:

- Idaho—Corps construction: Dwarshak Dam $44.7 million, $44.7 million; Ririe Reservoir $200,000, $700,000; Corps Planning: Blackfoot Reservoir $30,000, $300,000; Bureau of Reclamation construction: Teton Basin Project, Lower Teton Dam $1 million, $1 million; Mitchell Flats $40,000, $40,000; Bureau of Reclamation construction: Central Utah Project, Bonneville Unit $8 million, $8 million; John Canyon Unit $10 million, $10 million; Construction $450,000, $450,000; Ver-nal Unit $200,000, $200,000; Emery County Project $350,000, $350,000; Bureau planning: Jonn Sen Unit $100,000, $100,000; Up-alco Unit $100,000, $100,000.

Rupert Man Found Innocent Of Murder

RUPERT — James E. Murphy smiled on his way out of the Fifth District Courtroom here Thursday night a free man.

He was found innocent of a first degree murder charge.

A jury of nine men and three women deliberated three hours, then returned the verdict of acquittal.

Mr. Murphy was accused of shooting to death his step-son, Daryl Hunter, 24, last Oct. 18 at the Murphy home.

In testimony during the two week trial, both Mr. and Mrs. Murphy testified that the shooting was accidental.

The trial was held before Judge Sherman Bellwood.

The defense rested its case late Wednesday and Thursday final arguments in the matter were heard. The jury was given 12 hours to reach a verdict.

Mr. Murphy was arrested after the shooting, but was freed on $10,000 bail last January.

His attorneys were Roger Ling of Rupert and Lawrence Duffin of Burley.

Nuclear Device Tested On Island

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (UPI)—A nuclear device was tested with the force of more than one million tons of TNT was triggered on the barren Aleutian island of Amchitka Thursday, creating a cloud of radioactive dust that escaped from the bottom of the 4,000-foot shaft where the device exploded.

A group of 152 scientists, technicians and other personnel at a camp 20 miles from the explosion reported "considerable ground roll." The blast measured 6.5 on the Richter magnitude scale on seismographs in California and Hawaii.

Vermillion said there appeared to be only "superficial" cracks in the concrete containment building over Ground Zero. He said trailers containing instruments nearby also appeared to be in good condition.

Dr. Marshall said a "precautionary" evacuation of the island was ordered. The local official said he felt this was the first test for a program that brought $5,000,000 to Idaho in addition to five to 10 thousand dollars in tourist trade.

Dr. Marshall said he felt the auditor's criticism of the test was nothing more than an attempt to politically embarrass the government.

"Finally, I would like to say I am only one of dozens of dedicated Scouters in the Pacific Northwest who have given time, effort and money during the past five years working not only to bring these 'inheritors' to the state of Idaho, but to participate in them with the boys to whom they are successful in helping develop and mature boys," the local scout official added.

Supreme Court Rules On Case Heard Here

The Idaho Supreme Court has delivered its first decision in connection with the county's bid for the highway in Twin Falls this week ago.

The decision involves the Mountain States Telephone and Telegraph Co., plaintiff, against James P. and Yvonne Kelly, defendants and appellants.

The court came to Twin Falls Sept. 25 and heard cases over a week. In all, 15 cases were heard.

In the decision reached by the court in Boise recently, the defendant, the District Court, was affirmed. This means Mr. and Mrs. Kelly of Jerome lost their case.

The defendant also asserted the background of the case, according to Court records, the plaintiff, Mountain States Telephone Co., constructed a telephone line along the south edge of Highway 12 in 1942. In 1948 the defendants, Mr. and Mrs. Kelly, moved onto land which abutted this highway and they have lived there since. The defendant received a patent for this land in 1950.

In 1953 and 1958 the plaintiff telephone company installed underground equipment on the north edge of the highway and sought to remove its old facilities on the south edge. The defendant refused to allow the removal of the old equipment. The District Court judge granted a judgment for the telephone company and ordered it be reached and abandoned in the near future. It was expected.

IT. COL. JACK PRUETT, an Army Investigator, testifying before the Senate Permanent Investigations subcommittee Thursday, accused Maj. Gen. Carl C. ## Hearings Continue In Army Scandal

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sgt. William D. Woodridge was boosted for the Army's top enlisted job by a general who may have shared with Woodridge the booty from a worldwide "Blinki Coca Nosi" scheme, it was learned today.

The general, Maj. Gen. William A. Cunningham III, retired Army major, testified after Woodridge was named with much fanfare as the first sergeant major of the Army in July 1969.

The Senate permanent investigations subcommittee has been holding hearings this week on a "service clubs scandal" allegedly involving a ring of who was the only man court-martialed for participating in the Augsburg scandal, said other sergeants told him at the time Cunningham was cut in on the $3,000, $7,000 weekly "skin" from rigged slot machines.

Cunningham, now a 17,500 a month retired pay, denied it in an interview.

Mr. and Mrs. Kelly appealed the District Court ruling, alleging their Constitutional rights to a jury trial were denied.

Mr. Kelly acted as his own attorney before the "high court" when it met in Twin Falls.

The Court held the portion of highway right of way in question, not used for actual road purposes, is not forfeit to the owner. It said the telephone company had clear legal right to place and maintain the facilities on highway right of way and added the facilities imposed the added burden on the owner.

Decisions on other cases heard in Twin Falls are expected to be reached and announced in the near future. It was expected.

8 Oklahoma Women Leave Paris Meet

PARIS (UPI)—Eight Oklahoma women headed home today from a meeting with North Vietnamese officials and vowed to go to Hanoi if it would help their husbands and sons in Communist captivity.

They were the second group of women to win assurances from the North Vietnamese that they would receive letters on the fate of their men, missing in action or captured in Vietnam.

A third group of American women and a male headed for a similar meeting with Hanoi officials—a meeting the Communists said could be held very soon, possibly Friday.

One of the departing Oklahomans, Mrs. Carol Monlux of Tulsa, said "I'd love to go to Hanoi as long as I could have a two-way ticket back—one for myself and one for my husband."

"I know that sounds flip, but I'm serious," Mrs. Monlux said. "I would go there even if I could only see my husband and help him in any way I would be willing to go anywhere if it would help our husbands," added Mrs. Barbara Pleszel, also of Tulsa.

Golda Meir Fails To Fill Shopping Bag

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Golda Meir, prime minister of Israel, said Thursday she is returning to Israel with something less than a full shopping bag.

Mrs. Meir, who is said to have come to the United States with a shopping list which included military planes, told newsmen she received no concrete promises from the administration.

She said the government had been "kind and sympathetic" but she cannot say that she is going back with a shopping bag full.

But the United States had expressed its "strong support" for the question of the balance of power in the Middle East between Israel and her Arab neighbors, she said.

Mrs. Meir said Wednesday night that peace in the Middle East depends on the strength of her country and Arab willingness to live in peace.

New Theater Group Formed For Drama Presentations

Formation of the first legitimate theater group in Twin Falls and selection of their first dramatic production has been announced.

The Magic Valley Little Theatre Group will be sponsored by the Magic Valley Chapter of Churches. It will confine interest strictly to drama and thus not duplicate the work of such existing groups as Dilettantes of Magic Valley which presents a Broadway musical each year, or the Children's Theatre, which concentrates on children's story productions only.

Their first production will be "The Mousetrap" by Agatha Christie. It is a comedy and suspense play that has been running on Broadway the past 16 years.

Members will meet Sunday at 8 p.m. at the home of Helen Gee, 203 Sixth Ave. E., Twin Falls, to make initial plans for the production and to begin selection of a cast. All persons interested in the production or just a membership in the Little Theatre Group are urged to attend the meeting.

Mrs. Gee who was elected chairman of the board of directors last week said the organization plans to use persons of all ages in their productions and she said there is the usual need for those who will perform the many "behind the scenes" tasks.

Directors of the new organization include Miss Gee, Robert C. Harvey and Carrol Dowd, business manager is M. Jay Burke and Neal Barth has been selected to direct the production.

Additional information about the coming production and the new organization may be obtained from Mrs. Thad Scholes as well as members of the board of directors.

Some Edgartown People See No Profit In Kennedy Mishap

By TOM TIEDE
EDGARTOWN, Mass. (NEA)—Not everyone in normally placid Edgartown agrees with Police Chief Dominick Arpa's view on national exposure resulting from the tragedy on Chappaquiddick Island. Many here, especially those others connected to the Sen. Kennedy incident, see no profits at all in publicity.

Jared Grant, for one. He runs the ferryboat which connects Edgartown to Chappaquiddick Island, the boat which hauled Kennedy and companions on July 18.

"Profits," he scoffs. "Sure, I suppose I've profited. We got a lot of phoos around here this summer who wanted to go over to Chappaquiddick to see ghosts. I guess my ferry business went up about a fourth or more."

But "It hasn't been any big deal carrying phoos. I'd rather they stayed home. What are they looking for anyway? They took their cars, they took their water in containers from Pogue Pond where Mary Jo Kopecchine died; they carved 'Mary loves me' in the Doyle tree (where the car drove off). It's sickening. And I'm sick of answering questions about it."

Others here and about feel differently. Russell Peachey, who owns the motel where Kennedy stayed, says he spent the summer dodging questions and accusations. Since he won't answer questions, the accusations are he's a Kennedy pawn. Peachey asserts he's fed up. "It's taken all the fun out of running the motel. It used to be a looked-forward to the summer crowds. But this has been a nightmare."

F. Remington Ballou. He was vacationing in Edgartown the night of the Kopecchine death (his home is Providence, R.I.). He says he heard a motorboat cross over from Chappaquiddick about the same time Kennedy says he swam the night. "I reported what I saw," says Ballou. "But I've not been happy because of it. I wish my name would just be left out of all future publicity."

Helen Missud. She is the office manager at the edge of town motel where Kennedy stayed. "At least a hundred times," she says, "people have asked me: 'Did you see him?' 'Did you speak to him?' 'What can I say?' I wouldn't have known her from Adam. But still, even now, when it's all dying down, they come out here and ask me those same old things."

John Farrar. He is the scuba diver who recovered Miss Kopecchine's body. He said there was a "50-50 chance" the girl might have been saved had he been summoned sooner. For this he has been dismissed as "selfish," by some local and national law. "I've been hounded all over the place," says Jimmy Kelly, Ago 10. He's not actually associated with the case; he's only a fateful bystander. "It was at the accident scene when the car was recovered. Thus, he too has been on the griddle. "I don't want to say anything," he now tells newsmen parroting his parents' instruction. "I don't understand anyway. What's all the excitement about?"

Christopher Look. He's the deputy sheriff who claims he saw Kennedy's car (or one like it) just before the accident. He says it looked as if there might have been two girls in it. Today, he has had his phone temporarily disconnected and his personal feelings are this: "I'm worn out. I'd just like to find a little peace and quiet again."

This latter statement, perhaps, best echoes the majority sentiment of the few thousand natives in the Edgartown-Chappaquiddick community.

Simply put, they seem exhausted. This is a region where the size of the fish is normal conversational fare, where television sets are considered a nuisance, where a native's idea of a hot time is a toddy and stroll.

This summer, however, John Connelly's bathroom was rented by wire service (at $15 a night) for photo development. The maid in at least one hotel was propositioned by a visiting slick-

At Edgartown, however, a $10 for a buzz over the bridge. And even hippies with their marijuana have avoided the place.

A few, such as Police Chief Arpa, have vented their art is better than others. Dr. Donald Mills, who was first to examine the Kopecchine body, says he's been too busy to be ruffled—"making a big, big scrapbook."

And some others. In this so-called Republican-Protestant bastion, are crying for answers, "come what may." "Investigate," urges conservative Inkeeper Fred Chirgwin, "or this Kennedy will try to get away with anything."

Still, the majority here seem fatigued by the furor. "I've gotten so tired of it all," says ferryman Richard Hewitt (he was on duty that night) "that I just lie to anybody who asks about it. I tell them I'm not Richard Hewitt. I tell them I'm taking his place because he had a nervous breakdown answering all the stupid questions."

And almost everybody hopes the worst is over. "We don't really know what's next," says Lew Selecciman, John Hathaway. "There may be an inquest or there may not. All we know is right now it's autumn here, the inquest time when the year on Cape Cod. All we know is that the tourists and the newsmen have left. And all we know is that we have an old saying here. We're always glad to see people come, but we're always especially glad to see people go."

Retired Sorority Founder To Speak Thursday In Burley

BURLEY — Robert Palmer, Loveland, Colo., retired Sorority founder, will be the guest speaker at 7 p.m. Thursday during dinner meeting of Burley, Robert Kniff and Fork Club at Burley Elks dining room.

He will likely tell the group that one of the best ways to prolong life is to keep busy. He is apparently a living example of the saying that it "is better to wear out than rust out."

Palmer brings a delightful message that contains something to think about as well as something to laugh about. He is Loveland, Colo., number one citizen and is a popular favorite with his home state's leading organization.

Born and reared on a cattle ranch in Western Kansas, miles from a railroad, school or church, he is chairman of Board of Directors for Epsilon Sigma Alpha, international non-academic sorority. It was only an idea when Palmer sowed the first seed in forming the business women's sororities. # Shultz Says Day Here For Minorities

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (UPI)—Labor Secretary George P. Shultz says while construction workers should realize a "new day" has arrived for America's minorities and how to avoid a "confrontation" with Negroes demanding more jobs in the building industry.

Shultz told the AFL-CIO convention Thursday that some building trades unions "had made unusual efforts" with notable success in bringing more Negroes into the industry, but said "justice and reality demand that we provide equal opportunity for minority group workers in greater numbers."

He made no direct reference to the construction boom in white workers and Negroes demanding more jobs in Pittsburgh, Chicago and other cities, but noted that the AFL-CIO Building and Construction Trades Department convention here last week had denounced the Labor Department's Philadelphia Plan.

This pilot program requires bidders on construction projects involving federal money to hire minimum numbers of minorities. The Buildings Trade convention said this amounts to setting "illegal racial hiring quotas."

"I need not tell you a new day has arrived," Shultz said in his speech to nearly 1,000 AFL-CIO convention delegates representing nearly 14 million union members. Indeed, our country feel that the new day has been far too long in coming and it has been too slow in producing equal shares of the American dream."

He urged the union members "to embrace, not to confront, but the new day."

The labor secretary said the present inflation was due to the deficit financing and loose money policies of past administrations and not to "exorbitant wage increases or exorbitant profits." But he said some of the recently negotiated long-term wage contracts, especially those in the construction industry, were running as high as 15 percent, "seem unfortunate."

Human Rights Group Probes Prejudice

BOISE (UPI)—The president of Idaho's Commission on Human Rights has announced an investigation of an alleged discriminatory act indicated that the incident was a "common dispute" and that no further action will be taken.

Richard Cooke, Boise, referred to an allegation by Philemon Watts of Boise that a Mexican American woman was unable to file a complaint after her neighbors verbally abused her.

The investigation concluded that the incident was "conducted by a lack of communication and agitation for publicity reasons and has grown out of proportion to its importance."

Stanley Crow, Boise, a commission member, added that the investigation was started before Watts filed complaints alleging discrimination in a general Ada County Prosecutor Elton's Matthews and a city prosecutor.

Crow said any dispute between the two parties in the neighborhood conflict would have to be settled in court.

He said "it is up to the courts to find out who is right and who was wrong."

Chrysler Announces Layoffs

DETROIT (UPI)—Decreasing profits after seven straight years of increasing sales have been blamed by Chrysler Corp. for the layoffs of some of the 40,000 white collar workers in the Detroit area in the next four to eight weeks.

It was the second announced retrenchment by the nation's third largest auto maker which said in July it was placing a moratorium on new hiring, halted completion of a new $200 million assembly plant and cut back general and administrative budgets to their 1968 levels.

The layoffs were labeled a move "to slow down or defer activities not essential to the immediate future." Hourly workers are not involved in the cutback, a Chrysler spokesman said Thursday.

The retrenchment will involve a department-by-department review of all corporate programs and programs will be deferred or eliminated without laying off persons where possible.

During the first nine months of this year, Chrysler's sales were off 8 per cent from 1968. The domestic market slipped 1 per cent from 18 per cent in 1968. The third quarter financial statement, expected later this

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI)—Mormon Church President David O. McKay today encouraged renewed emphasis on the individual in what he called an age of "swiftly shifting human relationships."

Israel Sends Warplanes Across Suez

At least two overnight guerrilla raids in Israeli occupied territory—an ambush on an Israeli convoy and the seizure of a power line—caused no casualties, Tel Aviv said.

Senate OK's Coal Mine Safety Law

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Senate has adopted a strong coal mine safety law intended to make 1968's Hominy Falls disaster the last in the long series of mine tragedies that have blackened America's industrial history.

It would be the most sweeping coal health and safety legislation ever passed.

Other committee members pointed out that the people in public hearings spoke out against the public instruction superintendent — on the ballot.

"I don't care whether the people adopt it or don't adopt it," Murphy said. "I'd like this committee to have some guts and do what's right."

Rep. Paul Worthen, R-Boise, said if the legislature did not change anything else in the proposed new constitution, "this one thing needs changing."

"We've heard the no needs who come to meetings," Murphy said. "We haven't heard from the thousands and thousands of people who want to let the people vote on this."

Legislative Study Committee Shoots Down Proposed Short Ballot Of Elected Aides

By RICHARD CHARNOCK

BOISE (UPI)—A legislative study committee shot down a proposed short ballot of elected state officials and called in addition Thursday for election of the state board of education, in rejecting the proposal of the constitutional revision commission, most members of the committee on criminal code and constitutional revision said they felt it would kill the proposed new state constitution.

Earlier Thursday, the committee recommended the legislature put the proposed new constitution with some changes before the people for ratification before the people on a next year's general election.

Deputy secretary of state Dryden Hiller told the committee this would cost at least $100,000 in state funds and $50,000 to publish the proposal and $50,000 for pamphlets about it.

Hugh A. Wilson, Boise, executive vice president of the state chamber of commerce, said there was a constitutional question about whether the full extent could be presented to the people at the next election. He urged the lawmakers on behalf of the chamber to put the revision before the people on a pre-emption basis year after year.

Sen. Arthur Murphy, D-Mullan, and Rep. Patricia Mc Dermott, R-Boise, urged the committee to consider the short ballot of three elected officials as proposed by the revision commission. They even suggested the committee go one step further — cut the list down to the governor and lieutenant governor.

Under the commission proposal, the secretary of state would be elected.

"The secretary of state is nothing but a glorified bookkeeper," Murphy said. "Why should he have to campaign for his job? He isn't a politician."

Other committee members pointed out that the people in public hearings spoke out against the public instruction superintendent — on the ballot.

"I don't care whether the people adopt it or don't adopt it," Murphy said. "I'd like this committee to have some guts and do what's right."

"We've heard the no needs who come to meetings," Murphy said. "We haven't heard from the thousands and thousands of people who want to let the people vote on this."

What are we scared of?" Rep. Clyde Keithly, R-Nampa, said he did not want to defeat this proposition — "I want to see the proposition go." He said he felt the ballot was an "emotional" issue and that some of the questions raised therefore were unanswerable.

Miss Mc Dermott said she felt lawmakers sometimes underestimated the intelligence of the voters.

"I want this to pass but I think maybe we'd be taking the easy way out," she said.

After the committee voted to keep the secretary of state as an elected official, Miss Mc Dermott successfully moved that the committee ask the commission to substitute an elected state board of education for the superintendent of public instruction.

Under her proposal, board members would be elected from geographic areas of the state in districts formed on the basis of population. Then the committee would keep the present constitutionally elected officials except the public instruction superintendent — on the ballot.

In other action, the committee also voted to ask the commission to substitute registered voters for population in setting up criteria for formation of legislative districts.

Series Of Discussions On Communication Planned

A course in communication for today's educators, churchmen, parents and all interested adults and youth, series of seminars and workshops in communication will be offered this month and November by the Magic Valley Council of Churches, at the Evangelical Training Center of Idaho.

A session on life styles will begin a series of four discussion meetings on communication designed to promote better communication and therefore better understanding among subscribers to different priorities in life. The first discussion meeting will be held at 8 p.m. Monday in the College of Southern Idaho's Fine Arts Center. Leading this first discussion will be Rev. John Langfield, Bonanza Federated Church.

Some of the life styles that Rev. Langfield will discuss are the blue collar and the white collar, the suburban and the hippy. Some closer to home may be a mini-skirt and a knee skirt, long hair and a crew cut, and the individual against the crowd.

Leading the second series of discussion on Oct. 21 will be

Dr. James Taylor, president of the College of Southern Idaho. He will speak on adult-youth communication. The extent of non-communication, the reasons for and how to improve dialogue will be considered.

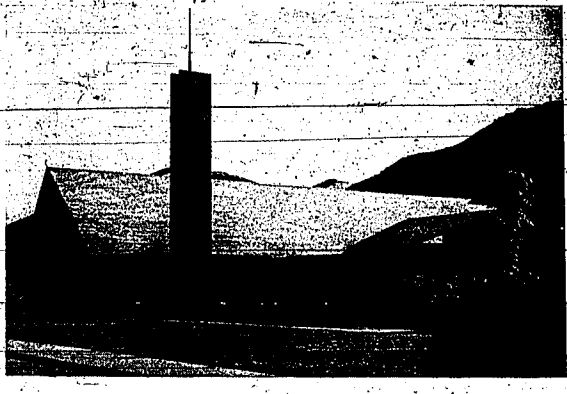

The third session will be led by Gene Dorsey, editor of the Idaho Statesman, including political polarization, right, left and middle. This meeting is planned for Nov. 5.

Winding up the series will be an afternoon and evening workshop on Nov. 16, directed by Dr. Fred Kolchup, University of Utah's medical school, psychiatrist. This will be a general workshop on communication in two sessions with dinner served between. These two sessions will be in the Twin Falls Presbyterian Church.

Those interested in attending these series of discussions entitled "Communication and Understanding" should contact Mrs. T. M. Robertson, Twin Falls.

Cost of the series will be $4 per family on initial registration or $1 per individual per session.

Religious Writer Says Preaching Is Not Dead

By REV. LESTER KINSOLVING

Should churches—and synagogues—abandon preaching? Elimination of the sermon was tried recently on an experiment at basis at All Saint's Catholic Church in Portland, Oregon. And in Hertfordshire, England, one person announced that he was giving up preaching for Lent—in order, he contended, to increase church attendance.

Such action is undoubtedly appealing to some people for whom the very word "preaching" has become invidious ("Don't preach to me!"). This can usually be blamed on fire-and-brimstone preachers who angrily shout moralisms from the pulpit, exhorting "you sinners," a category in which they never place themselves.

This kind of preaching is at least comprehensible unlike a preaching technique often heard on radio, the shouting of Bible quotations to no apparent logical purpose. Understandably, too, are the recently ordained idealists (intent on converting the entire world by tomorrow morning) who try to solve all of today's problems in one sermon—a sort of farewell speech to the human race. At the opposite extreme is the long-ordained clergyman who is either too tired or too scared to preach on any relevant topic for fear it might be regarded as controversial—and whose preaching therefore resembles a hippopotamus in hot pursuit of a pea.

Clergy are faced with congregations who for the most part are used to a daily dosage of TV or radio announcers selling soap flakes as if their lives depended on it. But many preachers who wear dramatic vestments, sing dramatic hymns and lead in the recitation of dramatic liturgies are in their preaching about as lively and dynamic as casket salesmen. They appear to be devotees of England's 10th century Bishop Joseph Butler who once prayed for deliverance from enthusiasm.

This is primarily the fault of many theological seminaries in which homiletics (the art of preaching) is a "cut" course that nobody ever flunks. And if seminaries took homiletics as seriously as they do the writing of scholarly papers (and most clergy preach far more than they ever write) they could among other things utilize video tape. This would give the student preacher the immediate experience of having to watch himself preach, which can do wonders for improvement.

Could It Happen Here?

By: C. W. HOOD
Pastor, Trinity Southern Baptist Church

Could it happen here? is a good question for us to be thinking about these days.

What is it that could happen? First we can say that our complete privilege of free speech, writing and many other things can be denied to us. People have said in the past nothing can hinder our nation in anyway. Now the color is beginning to turn the other way.

Already we are not allowed to read the Bibles in our public school before a class begins. We are seeing today a decline in church attendance, only at special times of the year. We are seeing more and more churches with their doors closed on Sunday evening. We notice more and more people who are not a part of our school's, also a soft nonstirring type of message.

Second we will notice that our nation is being torn up by riots of many kinds led by those that are trained revolutionist. Where sex is a very hot subject both in and out of our school's, also a subject which the church is having to take a new look at.

and see where it has fallen in the proper teaching on this subject. Our nation has come to the point that moral standards of dress has lost its value.

It could happen here that we would not be able to speak or write against these things, and speak to the moral standards of these subjects and many others. You say it will never happen here?

Might we shall look at some things from the word of God. Moses said there was going to be a flood and destroy the world, the people said no it won't happen. Well it did and the only ones saved was inside the ark. Are you in the ark of safety?

Israel was warned that it could be captured and placed in the hands of the enemy. They said it would never happen, but it did. Christ said he would rise on the third day. They did not believe him; now we see he did. History tells us a story too. The Greek Empire thought they were strong enough to stand against anything; and yet it happened. They were the careless of life. The Roman empire thought they were the big power, sin ruined them and they fell. They thought it couldn't happen to them but it did.

Germany thought—nothing could happen to them but yet it did. Why? Because they forgot the word of God. As all of the other nations have that fell before them. Take a look at other nations that are having a great problem and you will see it was sin in many instances that has caused them to be in the state they are in.

Yet we say it couldn't happen here—Don't read—the word of God is just as true today as it was a hundred years ago, or even fifty years ago. God says any nation that will allow sin to control the nation as we are doing in our nation, it will be destroyed. Yes, you will see God's word is true as you reach out into the next ten-year or more.

God is trying to warn us today through his word and ministry. Christ said "today is the day of salvation." If you repent you can be saved. Joel 2:13 "Render your heart and not your garments and turn unto the Lord your God; for he is gracious and merciful, slow to anger, and of great kindness."

It is time we stood up and took a stand against the many things that are going on in our nation as well as here in our own area, for if we don't we will have nothing left.

It would be like listening to New's fiddle while America was being destroyed. The only way we will answer for it in the Judgment Day to come.

Where do you stand before God on these things?

Panel Slated On School Problems

WENDELL — "Discipline in the Schools" will be the topic of a panel discussion at the quarterly meeting of the Men's Council of the Wendell United Presbyterian at 7:30 p.m. Sunday in the social hall of the church.

There will be a coffee hour and all Presbyterian men are encouraged to come and bring a guest.

While it is virtually impossible for preacher to be fascinating and inspiring every Sunday, the level of interest might well be raised if (1) pastors could be spared the obligations of excessive administrative trivia in order to devote more time in sermon preparation; (2) pastors could specialize in the study of two or three of the contemporary social issues — and then exchange pulpits at least once a month — though some clergy fear to have

Dear Abby

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: For the first six years, my marriage with Hank worked from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m.—a civilized shift. I always got up first and prepared a good hot breakfast for him. Suddenly, two years ago Hank decided that he HATED to get up in the morning, so he got on the 4 p.m. to midnight shift. He gets home about one o'clock in the morning! Abby, he insists that I be up waiting for him—so we can have coffee together while he "munches." This takes at least an hour. I still have to get up early with the children, and I just can't get along on four or five hours sleep.

I have never been able to "nap" in the afternoon. I've tried, but it just doesn't work for me.

I think Hank is being selfish and inconsiderate, so what is your advice to me?

HANK'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: Hank's reason for working the 4 p.m. to midnight shift strikes me as being somewhat childish. Tell him if he wants you to "unwind" with him, he should get up early to get back on the "civilized" shift, otherwise he'll have to unwind by himself.

DEAR ABBY: Is it true that if a person buys a ring which has a birthstone in it, and it does not match the birthstone, it will put a curse on him?

PAULA

DEAR PAULA: Only if that person can't meet the payments.

DEAR ABBY: Why would a 36-year-old woman get together with a wife who adores him, and two lovely children, keep obscene pictures of himself and a former conquest being around in plain view in his workshop? Aren't decent men usually ashamed of such pictures?

Does he want to humiliate me? Or does he want our children, or anyone else who happens to come in, to see them? We are both college graduates and very good families. I am not looking for trouble, Abby, but I don't know how much longer

Three of the six were featured speakers at the "Look to the Future" Beef Conference held this past week at CST's Fine Arts Center. ## Hundreds Attend Local Beef Conference

More than 450 cattlemen, businessmen, veterinarians — all interested in the beef industry — attended the "Look to the Future" Beef Conference this week in Twin Falls.

There were people from Washington, Oregon, California, Nevada, Utah, Wyoming, Montana, Idaho, Canada as well as one livestockman from Australia and young Japanese men. The conference was held on the College of Southern Idaho campus.

The future of the beef industry, the type of animals needed in the future and the value of beef animals were the main items discussed and discussed during the one-day conference in the Fine Arts Center.

The Australian was Slemen Rowe who is visiting the Tom Callens at Rogerson. The Callens became good friends of Mr. Rowe while visiting Australia a few months ago and now Mr. Rowe is in this area, visiting with the Callens and other livestockmen in the area.

The Japanese is a farm exchange delegate at the Asiel Zolinger ranch, Malta. He has been in this area since May.

One of the three main speakers, Dr. W. T. Berry Jr., Kansas City, Mo., executive secretary of American Hereford Association, discussed the beef importation situation and a new tax structure for agriculture that is being proposed.

Robert Leverette, standardization branch, Consumer and Marketing Service, USDA, Washington, D.C., spoke on the relationship of fat to lean and the returns from different degrees of fatness of the animals.

Featured speaker of the day was Dr. Val Brungardt, University of Wisconsin on his three-year research work on body type and profit in beef cattle.

Dr. Brungardt also outlined his study of the five body types being produced in this country.

Members of this panel were Wayne Naugle, Nampa, president of the American Hereford Association, on the future of beefing cattle; Arsen Autola, Gnamere, on commercial cattlemen's choice; Blaine Ramey, Blackfoot Livestock Commission, on the marketing of Ralph Olmstead, Olmstead Cattle Co., Twin Falls, on feedlot operators needs; Elmer Florence, Fire, on packer demands, and George Riggs, meats division, Albersson's Stores, Boise, on retailing and merchandising.

After giving their views, these panelists answered several questions from those in the audience.

A stimulating panel also asked several questions to the livestock industry panel members.

Members of this stimulating panel were David Little, Emmett, commercial cattlemen; Byron Bayers, Twin Bridges, Mont., purebred breeder; John Hayes, Rockland, purebred breeder; Bill Wiseman, Burley Livestock Commission Co., and Bob Henderlider, Boise, Idaho.

Dr. Berry noted the "No. 4" type is more flexible and "fits more of the industry's needs."

Even though the No. 5 type steer did not find the greatest acceptance to those attending the conference, this type in the Wisconsin study, did return the greatest amount of profit.

One study showed that even if only half the No. 5 graded choice—the profit would be about 40 percent more than the No. 1 steers, on the other hand, would return only 34 percent.

Members of this panel were Wayne Naugle, Nampa, president of the American Hereford Association, on the future of beefing cattle; Arsen Autola, Gnamere, on commercial cattlemen's choice; Blaine Ramey, Blackfoot Livestock Commission, on the marketing of Ralph Olmstead, Olmstead Cattle Co., Twin Falls, on feedlot operators needs; Elmer Florence, Fire, on packer demands, and George Riggs, meats division, Albersson's Stores, Boise, on retailing and merchandising.

After giving their views, these panelists answered several questions from those in the audience.

Cattlemen's Association, Herschel Boydston, head of the agricultural department, College of Southern Idaho, said those attending the conference went away with a clearer image of the most desirable kind of beef animal needed to fill the beef industry's demand—perhaps has been the case previously.

He said the research data presented, the study of live animals of various types, plus the steel ball and cow pictures drawn to represent the composite of the "ideal" animals as suggested by 200 breed followers provided a very vivid image of what the modern day beef animal includes and will be for the near decade.

Potato Specialist Offers Storage Recommendations

BURLEY — Potato storage recommendations are announced by Gene Rinebold, area potato specialist, for "before" harvest during harvest and after harvest.

Mr. Rinebold says all potato cellars should be cleaned and disinfected before harvest time. The floors are to be wet down, insulation checked and repaired where needed and fan motors and controls checked, at a 10 degree F.

During harvest time, he said, all measures to prevent bruising of the tubers should be taken. All rotten and frosted tubers should be removed, humidity kept at about 90 percent and the temperature should be maintained at 45 to 50 degrees F.

"After harvest the proper temperature and humidity should be maintained, by proper airflow through potatoes at rate of 10 cubic feet per minute per ton. Do not handle cold tubers, he warned.

The relative humidity in the potato cellar should always be above 90 percent. A high relative humidity is most important during the first month of storage to promote healing of cuts and wounds.

It also prevents dehydration and weight loss.

Substitution (wound) healing will take place best at temperature of 45 to 50 degrees F.

If the relative humidity is above 90 percent, these temperatures can be used the first month of storage. When water rot, field rot or leak are present, storage temperatures should be lowered and held to 40 degrees F. immediately after harvest.

"Potatoes that will be removed from storage before December can be held at 40 to 45 degrees F. to prevent a sugar build-up," Rinebold noted.

Potatoes to be removed after Dec. 1 should be cooled to 40 degrees F. and held. A rapid build-up of sugars occurs at temperatures below 40 degrees F. Potatoes will freeze at 28 degrees F.

Tuber temperatures of 55 to 60 degrees F. for varying lengths of time are necessary to reduce sugars. Sprouting and rots become serious problems when tuber temperatures are warmer.

"Seed potatoes should be warmed for two weeks at 55 to 60 degrees F. to promote sprouting. Before removal from storage, tubers should always be warmed to 45 to 50 degrees F. A cold potato bruises very easily.

A constant and uniform tuber temperature is desirable in the potato storage. A constant temperature will prevent sprouting longer than will fluctuating temperatures. Forced air ventilation is necessary to maintain uniform temperature.

There are several chemical disinfectants which may be used in sanitation of the potato cellars. For a recommended list farmers are urged to contact their local county agent or Mr. Rinebold, area potato specialist, at Cassia County agent's office.

Along Fences And Canals

RICHFIELD — Fleeba cattlemen have brought their cattle in from the Dry Creek Unit. Some Richfield cattlemen have been bringing in heifers and calves from the Dietrich unit which closes in October. Dry feed is blamed for cattle weighing less than usual.

The Hainline threshing crew is still at work in the North Richfield area and have seed to thresh at the Bev Flora and Wendell Johnson ranches.

Birk Albert raised a 22-pound cabbage in his Richfield garden this year. This reminds residents of numerous earlier dry Richfield cabbage raisers, including Jim Kodesh, who never failed to produce a good crop each year.

Clouds at Richfield Monday hastened the final threshing of beans for some farmers who finished up that day. Donald Walker's 68 acres of beans averaged about 20 sacks per acre with the highest yield being 22 sacks an acre. Several northwest ranchers are having their third cutting of hay.

Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Blaylock, who live southeast of Shoshone, have had all-electric heating installed in their home.

Forty 2-month-old Holstein heifers were delivered by truck to Mr. and Mrs. Bob Robinson, Tuttle, from Otto Vandenberg in Wisconsin. ### Social Security Question Box

Potato Growers Warned About Bruising; Damage Is Affected By Soil Temperature

If you have any questions about your Social Security, address them to Jim Davis, Box 1239, Twin Falls, Idaho 83301.

Q. If I do not elect to start receiving monthly benefits at age 65, can I add on to my total earnings and receive a higher benefit later?

A. Your benefits can be figured and your earnings you have after age 65 (or age 62 if you start earlier) can be averaged in. If this increases your overall average, your benefit amount will be increased. However, you should still file a claim with the social security office three months before you are age 68 in order to have Medicare coverage. You should do this even if you plan to continue working as you are eligible for Medicare even if you are working and earning too much to receive a monthly benefit.

BURLEY — Potato producers are warned by Gene Rinebold, area potato specialist, that a crop in excellent condition in the ground can be ruined by the time it has been harvested and stored.

The primary losses of potatoes quality are due to bruising. This costs the industry approximately $70,000,000 a year. Rinebold said. Each bruised tuber is subject to soft rot and mold that develop during storage.

Listed are the amount of loss in storage due to various types of injury:

Digger cuts, 6.4 per cent weight loss, 50 per cent rot loss, and 66 per cent total damage; serious bruises, 5.7 per cent weight loss, 45 per cent rot loss and 59 per cent total damage; hard bruises, 4.7 per cent weight loss, 20 per cent rot loss and 23 per cent total damage, and slight bruises, 2.5 per cent weight loss, 10 per cent rot loss and 4 per cent total damage.

A major cause of injury by bruising is due to tuber temperature during the harvesting operation.

The effect of soil temperature on the rate of bruising has been studied at the Aberdeen Branch Experiment Station and research indicated the temperature of potatoes in the row will be the temperature of the soil. Therefore, soil temperature changes, tuber temperature changes.

Experiments also show cold tubers (less than 45 degrees) are much more subject to bruises damage than warm ones (more than 45 degrees).

Growers are encouraged to abandon the traditional hours of harvesting, which has been from daylight to dark. Modern technology no longer restricts harvesting to the "horse" establishment working hours.

Mr. Rinebold said the modern grower should adjust his working hours to correspond to higher soil temperature and thereby reduce tuber bruises. Also, damaged potatoes bring a return of only a small fraction of undamaged potatoes. The adjustment of digging hours is probable.

TEMPERATURE METER BOX, for reading the soil temperature in adding Magic Valley potato growers, is being installed. Here Gene Rinebold, left, area potato specialist, puts a shovelful of dirt around the meter reading device as Bill Nichols, KBAR Radio Station announcer, and Lloyd Graybill, Kimberly, agricultural meteorologist, U.S. Weather Bureau, hold the device. This is one of 10 such devices set up throughout the valley that will furnish temperature readings to potato growers to aid them in harvesting the tubers.

Adjusting the hours for harvesting to substitute early evening hours for the early morning can avoid the high rate of the bruising injury.

The best 12-hour period for harvesting from the standpoint of reduced bruising is from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. The rate of damage would be lowered about 35 per cent from that of a 6 a.m. to 6 p.m. schedule.

For example if the per cent of tuber damage is 23 per cent to 6 a.m., the following will be applicable: 22 per cent damage at 9 a.m.; 11 per cent damage at noon; 3 per cent damage at 3 p.m.; 1.5 per cent damage at 6 p.m.; 10 per cent damage at 9 p.m. and 15 per cent damage at midnight.

The soil resistance data clearly shows that the extremes in soil temperature, lags behind the extremes in air temperature.

A good general rule of thumb is that for each 10 degrees change in temperature there is about 10 per cent change in tuber resistance. However, the extremes in temperature are more severe. Idaho research has shown that as much as 30 per cent tuber bruising occurs at temperatures of 40 degrees when compared to 45 degrees. Lowering temperatures from 45 degrees to 40 degrees reduces bruising 90 per cent.

In order to assist growers the Potato Specialist Programs in cooperation with the U.S. Weather Bureau will give Magic Valley growers a soil-temperature report each day. Also an estimated soil temperature for each day in advance.

This report will include recommendations as to the most favorable hours for digging potatoes, and the most favorable times to plan their harvesting operations in order to increase the number of potatoes marketed in the premium price category.

During the past week the temperature meter boxes have been placed in 10 different places throughout Magic Valley. They are located at Castleford, Buhl, Tuttle, King Hill, Kimberly, Ruff, Burley, Oakley, Raft River and Kamela, Idaho.

The best three hands with the black hand pointing to current temperature: red hand, maximum temperature, a red hand, the minimum temperature.

The three readings from the meters will be taken daily at a scheduled time and broadcast on the U.S. Weather Bureau Snake River Conservation Research Center, Kimberly, where the report will be compiled and released to all newspapers, radio and TV stations daily.

Q. My husband's birthday is Jan. 11, 1905, which makes him 65 years old after the first of the year. Since he is farming and has some crops like potatoes which likely will not be sold until after the first of the year, how will these earnings be applied for social security?

A. If the potato crop is sold in 1970 it will be credited in that year rather than 1969. Your benefit will likely be figured up including all of your earnings through 1969. Your benefit could be refigured later to include the earnings from your potato crop sold in 1970. This is done later by the Social Security Administration and no action on your part to have your benefit refigured.

Q. How long after applying for social security benefits is it before I could expect to start receiving my benefits?

A. The average time is about two months. If you bring the required proof to us when you come to file your claim, it will speed up the processing of your claim. You should bring the following proof of your age in the form of a birth certificate or baptismal certificate recorded before your fifth birthday or one that still exists. If not, some other public records are good, such as marriage license affidavits, voting records, child's birth certificate, military discharge old life insurance policies, family Bible records, etc. You should also bring proof of your prior year's earnings such as your tax return and W-2 forms.

60 4-H'ers To Attend T.F. Meeting

Sixty delegates from 39 Idaho counties will exchange ideas on keeping their towns safe and sound at the 1969 Idaho 4-H Community Fair & Conference in Twin Falls next week.

The conference, scheduled Friday and Saturday, Oct. 11, at the Holiday Inn, is coordinated by the University of Idaho extension service and sponsored by the Standard Oil Company of California.

Miss Idaho, Diana Hopper, will address the group. The boys and girls at the second annual meeting devoted to "community beauty" will give their reports at Shoshone Falls park, display projects from their points of landscaping interest and have a fish fry.

The group also will hear talks on community development, horticulture and public relations.

According to Mrs. Dorothy Hols-Moscow, assistant state 4-H agent, the program will include plans for new activities to beautify Idaho, review of accomplishments and presentation of district awards.

Cattle Official Says Hike In Prices Needed Next Year

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Cattle prices will rise next year, says a spokesman for the industry.

Bill House, president of the American National Cattleman's Association, told newsmen here production could fall off in 1970 if cowmen don't get better prices.

Cattle prices rose sharply during the first half of this year. The average weekly price of choice steers at seven major markets leaped from 47 cents a pound Jan. 18 to a peak of 54 cents June 3.

At that point, House indicated, settlement was in for a price drop. He said the industry would have to accept a price of 47 cents to 48 cents for finished slaughter cattle, being looking forward to a "break-even" or better return for their calves this fall.

But prices for slaughter cattle broke sharply after early June and dropped to below 20 cents by early September, House said. That cost off price prospects for the calves which feeders buy to restock their feedlots.

"As a result, House said, the price of calves will have to be paid fair value this year."

"What about the future?"

"From now through the first of next year, House said, the price will be close to present levels. Then there will have to be an increase if we expect to have a normal year."

House and other ANCA leaders have indicated the cattle group currently is giving only a second priority to its long campaign to persuade Congress to tighten controls on beef imports.

"This is only a tactical step," ANCA officials said, designed to allow them to concentrate their attention for the moment on the fight to win off proposed changes in farm tax regulations. The fight for lower import levels will resume after the issue has been settled on Capitol Hill, a spokesman added.

Despite this vow to return to the import-control fight, House said, the industry demands for really drastic cuts in imports are still in the air. He said in the near future as in the past, House told the House Agriculture Committee last week.

100 Students Take Part In Conservation Workshop

DIETRICH — Some 100 Lincoln County fifth and sixth grade students took part recently in a conservation workshop in the Dietrich area.

During this outdoor education workshop, held on the Jack Edwards, Cliff Doris and Anderson farms, the students learned how man manages the natural resources.

The BLM, Soil Conservation Service, Forest Service, Idaho Fish and Game Department and the Lincoln County agent cooperated to provide five stations in forestry, range, soil, wildlife and recreation and archeology.

The students were shown various types of grasses and the uses of the range plants, such as livestock grazing, prevention of erosion and wildlife habitat. Other aspects of the dryland range outlined to the students were fire control, wind erosion, weed control and insect control.

The students saw a soil profile — a vertical section of soil prepared to expose the layering that is called a profile — at the soil station. A water demonstration also was shown to the students. This demonstration showed the effects of water on soils with various coverings — grass cover, mulch cover, and no cover.

At the wildlife and recreation sites, various aspects of wildlife habitat and the types of wildlife in the area were explained to the visiting students. It was also explained how man improves the habitat and how man benefits from the proper habitat management.

Helping with the tour at various stations were William Mabbutt, Art Gerly, Edward Savaria, Scott Packer and Dean Durfee, all with the BLM; Hal Mickelson, Dave Lee and Darwin Jensen, Forest Service; Leo Senten and Charles Case, Soil Conservation Service; Harland K. Blackburn and James W. Pate, ASCS; Larry Keeney, Fish and Game Department; and Ivan Hopkins, extension service.

VACUUM CLEANER LICKS HORNETS: Hornets and wasps have a way of getting into homes these days, even through the finest openings...

Point the wand near the entrance and presto! the hornets are drawn in to meet sudden death. After things have quieted down, but see, they putty into the entrance. Pretty soon more hornets will be attempting to gain entrance...

It's a good idea to spray a little pesticide from an aerosol can into the end of the sweeper's nozzle to quickly and positively finish off the hornets inside the sweeper bag.

CRABGRASS FOR LAWN? Recently a writer suggested that crabgrass leaves are the answer to lawn problems. It was suggested that crabgrass and annual ryegrass be used for a easy-care, self-perpetuating lawn.

Since many have written to ask me where crabgrass seed can be purchased, I feel we should comment on this new idea. First, it looks good on paper, but the crabgrass lawn doesn't work out so well in practice.

Gardeners spend nearly $4 billion a year and a lot of this goes for crabgrass eradication. The first thing you should do is get a good cover until well along in May.

Also, it starts turning purple in September, which is well ahead of the first frost. It's a short-season hot-weather grass. Another thing, you couldn't buy crabgrass seed because nobody dares to handle the stuff.

There are many opportunities for crabgrass not coming back next spring, and you'd have a bare lawn. It was suggested that annual ryegrass be sown after the first heavy frost kills the crabgrass in fall.

NEEDLESS PLAY TAKES FINESSE

There is a certain type of play that occurs regularly in columns and books and we have even seen it in actual games on maybe two occasions. The play has no name but it might be called "The Unnecessary Finesse."

he cashes his ace of spades? leads a spade to dummy's king and ruffs another heart. This leaves only one heart out against him and one more lead from dummy will give him a chance to establish dummy's play has no name but it might be called "The Unnecessary Finesse."

North is certainly entitled to go past game after his partner jumps to four spades and he chooses the five-club cue bid. South shows his diamond ace and North settles for the small slam. If South held one more club and one less diamond, the slam would be a clinch. With the actual holdings, there is no real play for it but South finds a line of play to give him a chance.

IS THIS FAIR?—Take a New York City cab driver who marries a fellow named Fred Jones. After the wedding, should she sign her name Mrs. Henrietta Jones or Mrs. Fred Jones? Which is correct? That is the question, in substance, frequently asked of this department. It turns out to be an expert on the matter contends the lady's legal name is Mrs. Henrietta Smith Jones. And she should be so identified on documents—such as Last Wills and Testaments. But in instances wherein she approves check account slips, her proper signature is Mrs. Fred Jones so the bills can be directed to her husband. Is this fair? If she stands to come in some money, she should sign her name as Mrs. Fred Jones, she is Mrs. Fred Jones. But if she owes some, she is Mrs. Fred Jones. No, it is not fair.

Lucky Or Good, Bengals Meet First Healthy Passer Saturday

By FRED McMANE

Another Reason Why . . . YOU CAN DO BETTER AT WILLS

THE HORNET - THE LITTLE RICH CAR

The little car you're looking at is our Hornet. We hope the owners of the little Ford car aren't too jealous. The Hornet weighs about one and a third tons. That's a lot of expensive weight to pack onto a little frame, but worth it for the extra stability and security it gives you.

The Hornet is a full six feet wide. With a stance wide enough to handle like a sports car on a turn. Its 108 in. wheelbase helps smooth out bumps in the road and gives you a ride you wouldn't believe in a car this size.

The Hornet offers more unbridled luxury per square inch than any other car of its size. Choose it with anything on display in any show room in Magic Valley and you'll soon see what we mean.

ALL THIS AND MORE FOR $1 less than $1995

Red China Sends Official To Moscow As Friendly Gesture

By K. C. THALER
 LONDON (UPI) — Communist China has sent the head of its trade mission back to Moscow in the first conciliatory gesture in years of Sino-Soviet conflict, Communist diplomatic sources said today.

It was the first tangible reaction to the recent Sino-Soviet summit in Peking between Premier Chou En-Lai and Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin. Red China had called home its trade mission from Moscow several years ago.

Moscow is still waiting for a sign that Communist China is prepared to enter talks with the Soviet leadership on possible ways to ease their serious differences, the sources said.

The Soviet Union expects no easy or fast solutions even if Peking does respond to the Soviet initiative for limited, step-by-step conciliation, the diplomats said.

There was no prospect of any understanding in the foreseeable future in the sphere of conflicting Chinese and Soviet Communist ideologies. That much emerged clearly from the Peking summit, the diplomat said.

Chances appeared better the political conflict would be eased and an armed clash between the giants of communism prevented, they said.

China apparently divided its opinion expected to reach a decision on the future course of relations with the Soviet Union sometime after the nation's 20th anniversary celebrations now in progress, the diplomats said.

In a broad sense, the events leading up to and surrounding the Peking summit developed on these lines, diplomats said.

The initiative for the summit came from Moscow and Peking's response was slow and reluctant.

The first actual confrontation at Peking Airport between Chou and Kosygin after 4 1/2 years was polite and both seemed embarrassed.

Soon the atmosphere livened up with hefty mutual recriminations.

Diplomats said Kosygin put forward these suggestions as possible stages toward an improvement of mutual relations.

A general cooling off of mutual attacks in press, radio and by leaders.

Bottomless Dancers Are Acquitted

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) — A predominantly male jury early today acquitted two bottomless go-go dancers charged with indecent exposure after a five-week trial in the municipal court of Judge Earl Warren Jr.

The jurors deliberated 11 hours before returning the innocent verdict in the trial that shifted from Warren's wood-paneled courtroom to two nightclubs and a movie theater to gather evidence.

Warren moved the trial first to the Pink Pussy Kat beer bar, where one of the girls performed the stark naked dance that got both of them arrested.

He then shifted it to another site for a performance by Carol Doda, the creator of the topless craze which eventually led to bottomless dancing.

Autopsy Set In Death Of Coast Woman

An autopsy was called into the death of a Seattle, Wash., woman who died on a Trailways bus while en route from Denver, Colo., in Twin Falls.

Twin Falls County Coroner Clyde Edwards said the woman who was pronounced dead on arrival at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital, has been identified as Mrs. Doris Robbins, probably in her early 30's.

He said there is no indication what Mrs. Robbins might have died from. City Police were notified of her death by the driver of the bus, Orville Cole, Twin Falls, when the bus arrived in Twin Falls about 7:30 p.m. Wednesday.

Lt. Mary Lynn Casper, Wynonah Air Force nurse, was attempting to revive Mrs. Robbins with heart massage and mouth to mouth resuscitation. She told officers she had become acquainted with Mrs. Robbins near Rock Springs, Wyo., when the woman complained of being ill.

She said the attack which apparently took the life of the Washington resident came about 20 or 30 miles from Twin Falls.

It is believed prior to being in Denver Mrs. Robbins had been in Arkansas.

No relatives of the victim have been located, the coroner said.

—A halt to frontier clashes and mutual withdrawal of armed forces in critical frontier areas.
 —Resumption of trade and a Soviet offer of economic aid to China of unspecified magnitude.
 —An eventual summit to review ideological differences.
 Chou declined commitment on any of the points and said he would talk with China's other leaders.
